REPORT.

IN approaching their constituents at the conclusion of another year, your Committee are happy in being able to report a good degree of prosperity in the important objects of this society.

ACADEMY-SCHOLARS.

The establishment of a Boarding House under the eye of the Preceptors, by affording comfortable accommodations at a low rate, has had the anticipated effect of considerably increasing the number of scholars, so that since the last report there have always been from fifty to sixty six young persons of different ages receiving their education at the Horton Seminary; and while there has been no remission of the most careful attention to the morals of the scholars, and a strict enforcement of the most Christian and pious principles in governing them, it is pleasing to observe, that, by judicious management and entire freedom from all mere sectarian influence, confidence has been given to persons of various religious denominations to seek here an education for their children. In the list of scholars during the past year appear Methodists, Presbyterians, Churchmen, and Catholics, as well as Baptists.

DISCIPLINE.

Your Committee continue to feel that the education of the scholars in moral and religious principles, without regard to the peculiarities of sect or party, is an object of paramount importance; and they are happy in being authorised to say, that this object has been foremost in the mind of the principal of the Institution, who expresses great satisfaction in the general orderly and moral conduct of the scholars. Such indeed is the watchful and paternal supervision observed, that gross immoralities are almost impossible.

STUDIES.

The course of study pursued at the Academy continues to be nearly the same as during the last year. For though the classes are necessarily very numerous, in consequence of the many different ages and degrees of proficiency, yet, the indefatigable industry of the preceptors has enabled them to preserve the number of separate branches of study undiminished, a statement of which will be found in the appendix.

COST OF EDUCATION.

The expense of education and boarding at the Academy continues as before, i. e. tuition from £3 to £5 per annum; boarding at the Society's Boarding House 7s 6d per week, making, with the deduction of two months vacation, £16 10 0 per annum, so that the whole expense of tuition, board, lodging and washing, is £19 10 0 at the lowest, and £21 10 0 at the highest, without any other extra charges, except that the scholars provide their own beddin in the bedding, books and stationary, and their proportion of fuel in the school room.

TEACHERS.

Since the last anniversary your Committee were called with regret to part with the valuable assistant Teacher, Mr. Soley. He was succeeded soon after by Mr. Borden the present usher.

FINANCES.

In the management of the pecuniary affairs of the Institution, your Committee have paid a strict regard to economy, and have been enabled thereby to make a considerable reduction of the amount of the debt of the Society, as well as to sustain the annual expenditure. In this, however, they must have failed but for the continuance of the legislative grant of £300.

Some monies of those originally subscribed in these provinces have been paid since the accounts were last made up, but to no great amount, nor has much as yet been realized from the increase of scholars, this being so recent an event.

The sum of £603 9s. in the whole has been paid on the original list besides some new subscriptions; upwards of £400 yet remains due;* and the Committee cannot refrain from taking this opportunity of pressing on subscribers the necessity of making speedy payments. They commenced their arduous duty on the ground of an implied promise, that they would be sustained in their expenditures to the amount subscribed; and in the conviction that they might rely on this promise, the Committee, without shrinking, have taken on themselves the large personal liability of the debt, still nearly \pounds S00, there being no mortgage on the property of the society.

NEW BOARDING HOUSE.

In order to the further progress of the Academy, both in its numbers, funds, and efficiency, your Committee have been deeply impressed with the necessity of erecting a Boarding House on the premises, larger and more commodious than that now hired, and containing apartments for the principal preceptor, who may thereby be enabled, together with his assistant, to reside under the same roof with the scholars, and carry into more complete effect the system of paternal government.

AGENCIES.

To make such an attempt they stand pledged by the terms of their last petition to the legislature for a grant of money; and accordingly have employed agents in different parts of the country to collect contributions to this object.

The Rev. J. E. Bill kindly consented thus to serve the Society, and in Cornwallis Horton and Wilmot obtained subscriptions to the amount nearly of $\pounds 212$.

The Rev. E. Marsters visited Liverpool and some other places for the same object, and met with some success.

The Rev. R. McLearn undertook an extensive agency for the Society, and was much prospered in his mission.

In Halifax he obtained subscriptions to the amount nearly of $\pounds 160$.

In Wilmot, Annapolis, Granville, &c. about £115.

In the city of St. John, about £109.

In Fredericton, St. Andrews, and other places about £80.

By his labours, upwards of $\pounds 20$ had previously been subscribed in Windsor and Rawdon, thus raising the whole amount of the subscriptions to this object, to about £700; and with this sum, and such monies as may yet be obtained by private contributions or by a legislative grant to this especial object, your Committee hope to commence and speedily erect a suitable building.* In addition to this object, so highly important to the immediate prosperity of the Institution, your Committee cannot refrain from saying, there is pressing need of a more efficient philosophical apparatus, and that the time is come, when, if it were justified by the means of the society, an increase of the number of the teachers, and a corresponding advance of the classes in higher studies, ought to be effected.

BENEFICIARIES.

In the number of pious students aided by your society, there has been a diminution since the last report the present number being only two. Your Committee, however, rejoice to be able to state that through the unwearied labours of the Rev. Mr. Pryor, who has added continual preaching of the word of life to his other arduous avocations, assisted by the pious students,—God has graciously visited both the Academy and its vicinity during the past year with the influences of his Spirit, whereby a good many souls have been " added to the Lord."

By this means, perhaps the most promising of all, besides that of the munificence of your society in maintaining pious students, your Committee indulge the ardent and growing hope that Horton will yet become a favored nursery of "labourers for the Lord's vineyard," " a school of the prophets" whence shall proceed not a few faithful " heralds of salvation."

^{*} Since the meeting of the association at Bridgetown, the Committee have entered into an engagement with a contractor for the erection of the building, which is now expected to proceed without delay.

Your Committee have not sought to increase the number of your beneficiaries, from wan of means. The small sum of £60, being part of the money collected in England, has been appropriated to this object, as best meeting the intention of the donors. Beyond this sum, however, they have received few contributions; and they have judged it best to employ this amount in giving a more effective education to a few youths, than to dissipate it in affording inadequate assistance to many. Out of this small sum, your Committee have hitherto given all the direct aid which the society has bestowed; of course its amount is now greatly diminished; and as yet they see no prospect of the speedy enlargement of the fund. They feel it therefore their duty to address their constituents and the public on this subject, in the most distinct and earnest manner.

Is it, they would ask, the intention of the society, and of the denomination, that assistance to beneficiaries should cease? Is it their wish, that such pious youths as commencing their education with a determination to complete such a course of study as might make them, with the blessing of the Holy Spirit, competent to most of the services which the Church demands, should be under the necessity of stopping short in the midst of their course, and give up their hopes, and blight the anticipations of "Zion," because a few pounds are deficient from the amount needed to carry them through ?

Do they mean to say, " let us labour to establish an excellent seminary for the benefit of all other sorts of persons, all other offices in life, all other denominations of christians; let us bestow much time and labour, and money, to accomplish this object; but let us not advance a little more, to enable the cause of God to derive from it direct and immediate benefit amongst our own people, to provide for our own posterity a nursery for gifted and pious ministers of the gospel of Christ ?"

If they do not mean to speak this language, then, how obvious is it that some systematic appropriation of money must be made to this object.

The number of students at Horton, pious, promising young men, such as the churches would approve, might doubtless be easily augmented; but the Committee's hands are tied; the narrow limit of their means forbids advance; while, in the mean time, millions of Heathen are perishing, and hundreds of christian churches here and elsewhere, are destitute of adequate pastors; while only seven dollars annually, from each of the churches in this association would give a good English and Classical education to five students; and one farthing a week from each member would more than support twelve.

If ever in the ranks of educated men there have appeared such " burning and shining lights" as Baxter or Whitefield, such devoted Missionaries to the heathen as Schwartz, Elliot, Brainard, or Judson; is there any individual professing to know the love of Christ which passes all knowledge, who would not deem it a high 'honor to have contributed in any manner to the efficiency of these honored servants of the Lord ? Is there anyone who would deem a farthing a week too great a sacrifice to purchase the probability of raising up other men like them ?

Your Committee are aware of many objections that are made against educating young men for the ministry. That it excludes the necessity of pious character, of a divine "call," and suitable talents for the work of the ministry, is practically refuted by the committee only seeking as their beneficiaries persons possessed of these qualifications. And if the apparent removing such persons from immediate ministerial work is the objection; your committee would meet it, by a few simple questions.

May not, they would ask, a child of 12 or 14 years of age be marked out for the ministry by those inward qualifications which are generally considered as constituting a divine call ? Is he therefore not to be educated ? May not a young man conscientiously feel himself called to study in order to become a minister; may not such be the character of his call? and if so, shall he who feels himself called to go with his present means and preach the gospel as he may, and who obeys his conscience and goes, find fault with the other who obeys his conscience in going, as he feels his call to be, to a place of education, that there he may be fitted for more various employment in his master's service?

Your Committee feel themselves solemnly pledged to the Society, to the Churches, and to the world, to labour to meet every instance of conscientious devotion to ministerial education with the adequate assistance; and now earnestly call on their constituents and the public to enable them to do so.

But, at the same time, they desire, above all things, to implore the habitual earnest prayer, of private Christians and of the Churches, to invoke the favor and blessing of God on this especial object.

Great as the Committee esteem the advantages of cultivated intellect to the Christian ministry to be, if that intellect and culture be not sanctified by God's grace; if our Education Society and Academy are to become instruments of coldness in religion, of literary pride and indolence, instruments in the service of Satan instead of that of God; and this unquestionably they will become, if destitute of the divine blessing; then would your Committee be foremost in levelling to the ground, the present work of their own hands, and erasing, if it were possible, its memory.

As a desire has been expressed for a more extensive circulation of the history of this society contained in the last report, your Committee have collected together, in a short abridgement, some of the principal facts, and placed them in the appendix. And now, commending their labours and those of the Society, to the favor and blessing of the Lord Jesus, and of his Spirit, your Committee take leave of the Society, in the earnest hope, that another anniversary may give renewed and increased occasion of adoring the good Providence of God which has thus far guided and prospered their endeavors.

Brief extract of the Report for the year ending June 1832.

This society originated in June, 1828, at the meeting of the Nova Scotia Baptist Association, then convened at Horton, by the adoption of the prospectus below as the basis of a constitution; the officers of the society being then named, chiefly from the members of the association.

The measure was warmly supported by a number of speakers, ministers and others; and agencies were immediately commenced to collect contributions.

Wolfville was selected as the site of the proposed academy on account of its central position in relation both to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia ; and a tract of land was accordingly purchased there for £550 ; and a considerable sum being soon subscribed to the objects of the society, Mr. Chapin of Amherst College, Mass. was engaged as teacher, who commenced his office in March, 1829, and resigned it in June, 1830. Mr. Pryor the present principal was his successor.

In the summer of 1830, the present Academy Building was commenced on the property already purchased, and was completed by the autumn of the following year, the committee making themselves personally responsible for the necessary funds.

In the commencement of 1831, the society was encouraged by a grant from the Legislature of Nova Scotia of $\pounds 500$; and each succeeding year a grant of $\pounds 300$ has been voted to the support of this institution.

The amount subscribed by private persons in these provinces to the Academy, amounted to ± 1072 2 2 of which ± 502 2 2 had been paid by December 31, 1831. In England and America ± 480 currency had been collected, including expenses, besides books valued at 50 or ± 60 .

In the spring of 1832 a house was hired at $\pounds 40$ a year, as a boarding House, to be under the government of the preceptors, one of whom must reside under the same roof with the scholars.

The whole expenses of a scholar was hereby reduced to $\pounds 19\ 10$ at the lowest, and $\pounds 21\ 10$ at the highest, varying according to the nature of the studies pursued.

The system of discipline proposed was to be mild and paternal without laxity, and religious without sectarianism.

There were four young men, steadily pursuing a course of study as candidates for the ministry; and two were occasionally visiting the academy for that purpose, all of whom were partly aided by the society.

 That a general meeting of the Society believed by the Presidents, two Secre That there be appointed a President, two Vice Presidents, two Secre That there be appointed a Disasters and a Committee of Managetaries, and a Treasurer, a Board of Directors, and a Committee of Management, to be chosen by the Board of Directors. 7. That of the Board of Directors, ten, at least, shall be ordained Baptist Ministers, and two thirds of the whole number, at least, regular Members of the Baptist Churches, in connection with the Nova Scotia Baptist Association. 8. That the Committee of management, shall consist of, at least, seven, and not more than twelve, Members ; of whom more than half shall be regular members of Baptist churches, in connexion with the Nova Scotia Baptist Association.

That the Board of Directors shall hold, at least, one meeting every 9. year, to consult on the affairs of the Society, ascertain and report its state and progress, review the proceedings and rules of the Committee, and make such general regulations as may be found proper for the advancement of the objects of the Society, and the Government of the Committee.

That as soon as means are obtained, the society will establish and maintain a Seminary for Education at Horton, under the direction and go-10. vernment of the Committee, subject to the supervision and controul of the Board of Directors.

That a principle object to be observed in the management of the 11. Institution, being to adapt the course of study to the state of the Society, and the wants of the people, and to place the means of instruction as much as possible within the reach of all persons, it is considered primarily necessary to attend to those branches of Education which are of more general use, at the same time that a wider range of literary acquirements shall be open to those who may have the ability to seek them, or to whose prospects in life they may be more suitably adapted. It is also considered desirable that as far as may be practicable, persons wishing to qualify themselves for the various callings of life, should have opportunity to receive instruction at their leisure seasons in the year, in the particular branches of study, more immepiately requisite for their respective objects.

With these principles in view it is proposed that this institution shall afford the means of instruction in the usual branches of English Literature, and of scientific, classical, and other studies, which usually comprise the course of education, at an Academy and College. It will, however, be the business of the Committee, to exercise their discretion from time to time, in adopting or discontinuing such branches of the course of study as circumstances may require, or render expedient, and progressively, as the funds of the Society shall permit, to adapt this Institution to answer all the ends above proposed. Provided however.

That of the Committee and Board of Directors, that part who shall 12.be members of the Baptist Churches, in connexion with the Nova Scotia Baptist Association, shall have the sole regulation of the Theological Department in the Seminary.

It shall be the care of the Committee to provide efficient teachers for this Seminary, to whose moral and religious character special regard will be had ; and it is considered an object in every department under the influence of this society, never to be lost sight of, that the scholars and students while acquiring information to fit them for their various stations in life, should be led to a knowledge of the true relation of man to his Creator, and of that faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, which alone can furnish a true pledge of their good conduct in this world, and their happiness in eternity.

14. That the Seminary be open to children and persons of any religious denomination.

15. That to the attainment of the objects of the institution, it is essentially requisite that the whole system should be conducted upon a principal of the most strict and simple economy, and no distinctions among the scholars and students, arising from wealth or external circumstances, permitted to appear ; the scholars will, as soon as practicable, be boarded at the Institution ; and it is thought adviseable to connect with the establishment a farm, under the care of some respectable person, for the supply of articles of provision for the use of the school, and for affording an opportunity of employing the boys during a portion of their leisure time, in healthful labour ; by which they may obtain exercise, acquire a habit of industry, and be less exposed to the irregularities which result from misemployed seasons of leisure. The diet and dress of the Scholars to be of the plainest kind, and to be regulated by the Committee, and made known as part of the terms of the School, to be conformed to without exception.

16. The terus of the Tuition and Board to be fixed at as low a rate as possible.
