must spend, or have expended for him, a considerable sum of money at every general election. If he puts up all this money himself, he is practically paying for the privilege of serving the people. If it is put up for him, he is under an obligation to the person or persons who put it up. Even the the money be furnished by the political party to which he belongs, the member of parliament so elected ceases to be a free man. He must be a party man, without regard to his individual convictions, or be regarded as an ingrate. Not only this, but he is soon made to understand that the party will not finance him at the next election.

POOR MAN TIED UP.

The Grain Growers' Guide, the farmers' mouthpiece of the west, points out that a member of parliament with little or no income beyond his sessional indemnity of twenty-five hundred dollars, cannot be independent. Should, therefore, only wealthy men be elected to parliament? Assuredly not. We desire, it says, our representatives to be wealthy in brains and rich in honor, but we do not require them to be landed proprietors, or big figures on the stock exchange.

Twenty-five hundred dollars a year is not to be sneezed at, and it may be that some members of parliament, when elected, were netting less from their profession or business. A frugal man with a frugal wife, living in a small town or village, could out of this income maintain his family and pay his board at the capital during the session.

But where is such a member to get the money to run an election? He is compelled to call on the party campaign chest, or the great corporations who are constantly haunting the halls of parliament looking for subsidies and all kinds of legislation, and, if all reports are true, according to The Guide, these corporations are permitted, if not invited, to contribute to party funds at every general election.

Unfortunately, some members of parliament, by their long absences from home, lose their practice if they are professional men, or are unable to attend to their business if they are business man, and at the same time perceive their expenses at Ottawa, especially if they bring their families to the capital, considerably exceeding the sessional indemnity. These men are subject to temptation from the lobbies and other agents of the big corporations who haunt the parliament building in search of such prey.

LET ELECTORS PAY EXPENSES.

The Grain Growers' Guide, in discussing this general question, suggests that the electors who desire a certain man to represent them in parliament, should carry on his campaign and pay all his election expenses. Then The Guide points out that such a member of parliament would be independent of party control and of corporation influence.

To increase the salary, so that men will seek election to parliament for the sake of the salary, would probably not improve conditions.

What, then, is the remedy?

To elect wealthy men is not to solve the riddle, because experience shows that the wealthiest members of parliament are seldom seen in their seats. But until the riddle is solved we can have few truly independent men in parliament. To increase the indemnity as it is now proposed, by $500, is the merest makeshift.

Some of the best men in parliament would find themselves unable to finance an election campaign, and are virtually forced to submit to a system which saps their independence and the vitality of parliament. They live economically, even meagrely. so far as their personal expenses are concerned, but they cannot get out of the rut. Perhaps many of them would not do so if. they could. Even should they go to the senate, or bench, they would not get away from the party influences which control them in the house.

dislomatic horizon clears up soon and completely, the resultant situation may become really serious. Bankers Are Very Cautious. There at London, no reduction in the bank rate is yet discussed, and in fact, it is generally admitted that the pre-sent indications justify the ultra-cau-tious policy pursued at the end of De-cember. It is still true, however, that the outlook is wholly obscured by European politics; the feeling being that if fresh complications were to be threatened in the Balkan settlement, it would mean trouble for the markets. Concerning New York, the bellef prevails that, barring reaction from your present trade activity, this year's average money rate in the United States is likely to be higher than that of 1912. Notwithstanding your large export trade, American credit balances in Europe are not so large as might possibly be imagined, and your posi-tion on foreign exchange is constantly being affected by the automatic ma-turing of that part of your railroads short-term indebtedness which was placed abroad. Some fear is express-ed, however, that your gold exports to Parjs may mean that your market can-short-term indecless which has placed abroad. Some fear is express-ed, however, that your gold exports to Paris may mean that your market can-not be relied on later, to help in pro-viding for Argentina's gold require-ments, which will be large. Big Loans Are Pending. It is still evident that very large foreign loans are only awaiting set-tlement of the peace negotlations be-fore seeking a market. All leading banker's agree that continuance of the present pace in general trade, together with an extensive boom in new securi-ties, would create a considerable strain. The past week's public announcements of such issues foot up several million pounds, while innumerable private placings of two and three-year obli-gations have occurred, including some from America. from America.

The BLACK, where the arrows point in Figs. 1, 2 and 3, shows how little of the disease, Catarrh, can possibly be reached by the usual methods of treatment and in Fig. 4 the BLACK shows the complete sweep made by Dr. Bicsser's Remedy.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. It is haracterized by a discharge through the nostrile or in-o the throat. It usually begins with a cold in the head. leginning in the nostrils it spreads to all the mucous

Beginning in the nostrils it spreads to all the mucous membranes of the body, even getting into the stomach and lungs. The nasty discharge being swallowed, it up-sets the stomach, and from the stomach it is taken into the blood, and poisons and deranges the whole body. The disease is all the time inclined to work its way from the nose back into the head—down into the throat —into the bronchial tubes and lung:. Herein is its greatest danger.

Dr. Blosser's Discovery Dr. Blosser's Discovery While engaged in the general practice of medicine Dr. Blosser had many patients suffering from Catarrh whom he was unable to cure, although he prescribed for them-by the rules taught in medical books and col-leges. He saw that the methods of treatment were wrong, and reasoned that as Catarrh is produced by breathing cold and damp air, so it should be cured by breathing a warm medicated vapor. After nine years of investigation he discovered a combination of healing herbs, leaves and flowers (con-taining no tobacco or habit-forming druga) which, when placed in an ordinary clean pipe-made into medicated cigarettes or burned on a plate and by drawing the medicated smoke into the mouth and in-baling into the lungs, or by sending it out through the medicated cigarettes or burned on a plate and by drawing the medicated smoke into the mouth and in-haling into the lungs, or by sending it out through the nostrils in a perfectly natural way, would speedily re-lieve all catarrhal discases. As shown in the accom-panying illustration the warm, healing vapor is carried directly to the very parts affected. This remedy fights and kills Catarrh where liquids, sprays, douches, salves and kills Catarrh where liquids, sprays, douches, salves is to reach the sick, weak and suffering; these who have failed with other treatments; those who have given up in despair; these in remote places who are not supplied with modern up-to-date and successful methods of ouring diseases.

I Want to Prove to Those People at My Own Expense That I Have the Real Remedies

I have, perhaps, the most successful method yet devised for the permanent cure of diseases of which I have made a specialty. I do not ask you to accept my word for this. I am a Specialist and I do not have one remedy that cures everything; no patent medicines; no "dope." My special treatments are made up of my own private prescriptions perfected after years of successful practice. My great success is due to knowing what remedies cure and treating my patients honestly. I count my cures by the hundred where a doctor in ordinary practice counts but one.

To Prove My Claims I'll Send a Treatment Free to Test

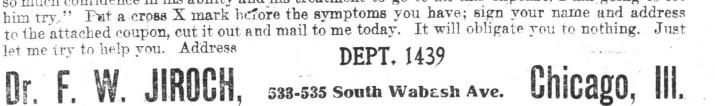

I want you to try at my expense, not yours. All I want to know is what you want to be sured of. I have made it convenient for you to tell me this by simply putting a cross X mark before the symptoms you have on the attached coupon, or write me a letter in your own words about anything of a private nature (man or woman) that you want me to know. I realize that I must help you and get your good will if I expect you to recommend me to others. And you must believe that my remedies are genuine, and that I do cure; otherwise I could not afford this expense of advertising.

The Vast Majority of Patients I Treat Are Those Who Have Failed With Other Treatments

You may feel discouraged on account of past failures; patent medicines may have proven worthless; your home doctor may have exhausted himself-even pronounced your case incurable-but this does not prove that I cannot help you and that I may cure you. The worst cases come to me. My treatment may be a surprise to you. Set aside your doubts; try once more. Try at my expense. You have nothing to lose.

Accept My Liberal Offer It Places You Under No Obligation Whatever to Me

I repeat-you are under no obligation to accept this offer. No contracts; no express charges. I will pay the postage myself and deliver the treatment right to your own door without one cent of expense to you. Do not delay; do not argue. Just say to yourself: "If Dr. Jiroch has so much confidence in his ability and his treatment to go to all this expense, I am going to let him try." Put a cross X mark before the symptoms you have; sign your name and address to the attached coupon, cut it out and mail to me today. It will obligate you to nothing. Just let me iry to help you. Address

s sure that he can cure such a disease and does not put it in the paper I am sorry. What a pity it would have been had this; doctor with his wealth of science and erperience, left him uncured. What a pity is would have been if the afflicted man had een so prejudiced against advertising as 10 ead the responsible certificate of the doctor and yet give him the go-by. What are the tewspapers for if not to circulte informaion! What more valuable information cas newspaper give than to tell a sick man where he can be cured! If man has deoted his life and labor to the study of a pecial class of diseases, the necessity of his saying so become all the more pressing. His duty to advertise becomes imperious. The emedy for lying advertisements of quaches s for honest men to tell the truth. A really able man whatever may be his gifts, makes great mistake if he fails to use those gifts rough want of advertising."

In treating disease by mail it is truly emarkable how successfully a sick person taken care of, although living hundreds of niles away from the doctor. By means of question lists, sympton blanks and the per tient's own description an almost perfect on picture of the ailment is given. Nor is there anything embarassing to a timid wome an or bashful man, as in the case of a personal visit. A doctor who treats by mail has perfected his plan, keeps his records accus ately, and selects his medicine accordingly, and can furnish more for the money. Be cause his valuable time is not wasted by per ients who sit around his office talking about the weather or their private affaire, The doctor must be polite; consequently hese matters not directly concerned with his work limit the number of patients he can eccive or call or.

But when you write a doctor who treate y mail you mark your symptoms and answer ertain questions. The doctor then has the mportant facts of your case before him for tudy and consideration. He can take care f many more cases in this way than one who must see his patients in person and therefore makes his charge correspondingly ower. Then the medicines must be thought f. Because the recovery of a patient often depends on how the medicines are comounded, their freshness, etc. While some ruggists are honest and do not substitute if hey have not what is called for, still lots of others are not so particular. It is . weil-known fact that doctors have failed and patients have died because some other drug was substituted in a prescription. A doctor rio sends his own medicine by mail knows that the sick one will get exactly what is needed; he can rouch for its freshness and purity.

Much of the discase that says the life of; humanity is due to neglect. Neglect because people don't realize how serious the first symptoms are. Neglect because of eage sultation expense. And here is where Dr. To W. Jiroch, the well known specialist of Ohlcago, whose announcement appears in this page and who offers his advice and com sultation free renders a service to humanity that is gratefully accepted by intelligent peor ple to the number of thousands of men and women who owe their lives to help received in this way. aggregations playing senior O.H.A. hockey today. Those wearing the green shirts have already a long list of vic-tories to their credit while Varsity have only one defeat against them and that was in Boston. As Varsity are the recog-nized leaders of the Intercollegiate Un-ion and St. Miques the fastesi resident team, considerable money was wagered on the result Saturday afternoon. The rooters' club and the band kept things pretty well stirred up all after-noon. oman's appear-

I had thought this hockey a sort. of dignified sport, don't ye know, like cricket or rugby-especially since it is rather the national game-and, as a matter of fact, I looked for particularly dignified play from the Ottawa team, because that town has the only royalty in Canada living in it. But by Jove, when that aggregation of convicts came on the ice in their striped jerseys and so forth, I. could scarcely keep my seat. That seemed almost too much to offer a fellow just over from the home land.

To me it was a direct insult, but it is extraordinary what you Canadians stand for. And. as a matter of fact, the game wasn't dignified at all. Before they had been on the ice ten minutes, the big husky fellow on the Tecumseh team was sent to the post for some bally thing or other and given a three pound fine into the bargain. He didn't seem to chop the ice any more than the other players, or to neglect the puck. Really, as a matter of fact, I think he was sent off for failing to trip up one of those convict chaps.

Huddersfield v. Sheffield II. Notes by Eocoer. It was a fateful day in England, was Saturday, for on the results of the first round of the cup games for the national championship depended the fortune of many. Victory meant further participa-tion in the competition, together with in-creased exchequer, whilst defeat meant oblivion, so far as the national struggle was concerned, and some serious anxiety to the officials as to how the finances cculd be maintained at a sufficient stan-dard until the end of the great race, and thirty-two must fall, and anxiety was great with regard to what clubs would be so fated. Locomotive Feed-Water Of late years there has not been so much discussion on the subject of treating locomotive feed-water as was formerly the case, states the Railway Gazette. This is largely due to the important progress made in dealing with the matter in a practical way, either by means of installing watersoftening apparatus or kindred mea-sures, or else by the use of service reservoirs, both of which systems are reservoirs, both of which systems are largely in vogue on the American railways. Important economies are also being effected in the operation of pumping plants. The experiments now being made with engines using crude oil and distillates of the latter give promise of further economies, and the standardization of pumps and engines on a railway simplifies the work of maintenance and repair. In the case of service reservoirs the first cost involved in the purchase and grading of land is somewhat high: but, on the other hand, the cost of op-eration is low, the water, generally speaking, requiring little treatment. On the other hand, the number of ond division teams have been steadily mending their fences in anticipation of the great fight to be put up for the second series champinship. Only one team had to be replaced so far sea-son, St. Charles Limited taking the place of St. Lawrence Limited, and mending their fences in anticipation of the steam had to be replaced so far sea son, St. Charles Limited taking the place of St. Lawrence Limited, and while regretting the departure of the latter, especially in the absence of their popular manager, Bob McKin-ney, still the change is all for the bet-ter and should wake up all other teams in regard to the proper conducting of

So it was with no little degree of amazement that the authorities noted the wonderful burst of speed which carried Ty Cobb and his closest rival, Joe Jackson, across the seemingly impossible .400 mark. wave of prosperity and popularity. During the past two years many thonsands of new patrons have been drawn to it, and have become as en-thusiastic supporters of the sport as the many that have always footed the bill, when two men enter the ring to engage in a bout. This popularity will continue only so long as those who profit from and by it see that it is conducted on lines that elicit pub-lic approval. It is good to see well-trained, even-ly-matched men struggling for su-premacy according to the strict rules of boxing. But it is necessary that they be well trained and evenly matched. To pair men unequally, or to permit an ill-conditioned man to enter the ring against one who is thor-oly prepared, is nothing less than de-ceiving the public, and it would not take many such ill-conceived "con-tests" to kill a grand sport altogether. The skill required in "pairing" box-ers is not a gift, nor is it a knowledges that can be acquired from witnessing a few contests or having a speaking acquaintance with a few boxers. that can be acquired from witnessing a few contests or having a speaking acquaintance with a few boxers. It is the result of long experience and a study—psychological as well as physical—of the combatants that fits a man for the position of matchmak-er. There are men—even London has its couple—who, having a superficial knowledge of boxers, their capabili-ties and possibilities, arrogate to themselves superior qualifications as matchmakers, yet, when put to the test, their mistakes and lack of fun-damental ideas hold them out. Un-fortunately, the paying public is not made aware of the shortcomings of such self-constituted fistic purveyors

A may have qualities absolutely lacking in B, and altho they may appear equal to the novice in such matters, to the keen mind of the experienced match-maker it would be an absurdity to p.t the two together in a boxing match. Strong physique alone is no qualifica-tion. Many a man, such as "Kid McCoy" was, altho tall and broad of shoulder, looks delicate and frail be-fore a ponderous adversary. Comiskey's Home of Chicago White Sox Will Be Grandest

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11 .-- A baseball plant that will seat 45,000 fans, and give every one of them an unobstructed view of the game, is the goal at which President Comiskey, of the White Sox, is aiming, and some way to increase Comiskey Park to that capacity before the season of 1914, if possible, is being sought by its owner, now that the removal of the wrecking crews' property from that part of the lot gives the park room to expand. Plans and specifications were drawn Plans and specifications were drawn and submitted to the master of the White Sox for double-decking the two pavilions at each end of the present grand stand, but these plans did not satisfy Comiskey. possible in a drawing, especially if it is one depicting sport. We believe that Mr. Skuce has justly taken advantage of his license. Hockey is one of the most exhilarating Winter sports in the world. It is Canada's national winter pastime, principally because of a climate that is especially adapted to it. The sport has caught on elsewhere, even where there are unfavorable climatic conditions, and with the building of artificial rinks in cities where comparatively warm or rainy weather predominates, the game is being established on a solid basis. In most parts of Canada artificial rinks are unnecessary, but in the Pacific coast cities and Toronto ice is manufactured, and whether it rains or snows, freezes or thaws, the game can be played.

Being a healthy body-builder the game is much encouraged. When a boy is old enough to make the grade on skates a hockey stick is placed in his hands, and then begins a career of thrills. It is played anywhere-back yards, sidewalks, roadways, ponds and rinks, especially the latter two-so long as there is a coating of ice. The youngster usually starts on a pond, and the game as a general thing comes natural to a little Canadian. Every small boy who has hands and legs plays it. Hockey is as firmly fixed in Canada as baseball is across the border. For three or four months during the winter it is the greatest, most invigorating and exciting outdoor sport. It is a game that is thrilling to play and thrilling to watch, which cannot be said of some other sports.

Hockey is a survival of shinny. Shinny was about the roughout sport that was ever played. The weapons used were usually limbs of trees, or something as murderous, and they were handled like a golf stick, only one didn't aim at the ball, but at the man. A shinny stick was merely a shillalah. It was a great day when some wise humanitarian brought hockey to the fore-a game that is fast and furious, but if played properly, is clean. As in most sports, roughness creeps in, this largely depending on the calibre or character of the individuals who play it.

This is the most successful year for the game. Naturally amateur hockey predominates, but the professional brand has made great strides, both in Eastern Canada and British Columbia. Toronto has two professional teams this winter, it being about the first time that local promoters have made professionalism in hockey a success. The National Hockey Association in which are teams from Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec, furnishes tussels that are well worth seeing. It shall not be said here whether the

The strongest amateur hockey organization is the Ontario Hockey Association, which has done more for the game than all the combined forces of promotens. The O. H. A. brand is simon pure amateur. If a man plays O. H. A. he is not tainted by professionalism, but is out to play the game for pure love. This organization cradled hockey in the early days, has looked after the game wisely and systematically and today it could not be on a more solid footing. Other amateur associations principally on the prairies have followed the trail that was blazed by the O. H. A., and consequently amateurism is being fostered in a proper way. The professional league has brought out a new idea-that of playing six men aside, instead of seven, which rule in amateur organizations is universal. Opinions differ as to the benefit of the innovation. There is no doubt that with only twelve men on the ice a wider scope is given for individual pyrotechnics; but the prettiest thing in hockey is the combination rushes, and it is considered that it would not be wise to discard this kind of play.

But the public will decide whether or not the . six-man game will live, the N. H. A. having resolved to play this style for the first half of the season and soven-man the latter fail. This was be a splendid test of the feasibility of the news gamie.

The greatest feature of hockey is the speci-with which it is played. For the tired busi-ness man, who wishes to forget all about the dull, work-a-day world for a time, a contest of this sort is the best prescription. There is ma chance of thinking about anything but hockey, The flashes of brilliance by players, the corfe-screw individual rushes, the speedy three on two man, machine-like combination plays, the defence blocking an attack, and the cries of maniacal rooters. All this places hockey high above the average sport for sheer excitement.

To become a finished hockeyist a player must do constant training. He must be an expert on skates. He must have the stamina to stand the gruelling strain, because there is never a slackening of the lightning pace. He must be a good stick handler, able to carry the puck, and able to check back. A player climbs up the ladder, as in any other game, from the bush league. He usually starts as a youngster in school, juvenile city or church leagues. When he strikes the junior O. H. A. he is on a smooth road to success, and if he sticks he lands in intermediate, and then senior company. Some have been known to jump from junior to senior. company. A number of the fastest men have always stayed in the amateur ranks, despite ale luring offers from professional promoters. In the opinion of a great many, professional hockey is the most scientific game, but senior amateur is about as fast and thrilling, as a rule, as one would care to see. True, all the professionals have graduated from top-notch amateur, teams, but their vacancies are always filled by just as efficient players.

As a winter sport in Canada hockey is sure to lead them all. Its popularity is the result of its greatness. It will never die. -J. A. MacLaren, EDTIORIAL Parcel Post and the High Cost of Living.

Unquestionably one of the causes of the high cost of living is the heavy rake-off levied by the "middlemen" who act as intermediaries between the producer and the consumer. It has been pointed out that in the United States sometimes as many as six separate and distinct concerns handle an article before it reaches the one who buys it for his own use-and each adds a profit to the first cost of the article. Unfortunately, this is particularly the case with the distribution of common food products. Not long ago the case of an Ontario farmer who received a moderate price for a barrel of apples several times exceeded when it reached a Manitoba consumer, received wide attention, and it was clearly shown that the great disproportion between the first cost and the ultimate price was mainly due to the middlemen. A comparison drawn between the prices paid producers for butter, eggs, and chickens, as reported by the United States department of agriculture for October I last and the prices in the market reports of the same day, showed the middlemen's profits to be, for butter, 11 cents a pound; for eggs, 18 cents a dozen; and for chicken, 91/2 cents a pound. That the profit in the case of eggs was excessive was shown by the success of the women's movement in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, and other United States cities, where the price to the consumer was immediately reduced when arrangements were made for independent distribution.

Every means by which the producer and consumer can be brought into direct relationship is of general advantage. Farmers and fruit and market gardeners suffer from a system which often returns them only a trifle for their labor, while the working classes in populous centres often find the prices for the same products prohibitive. Agriculturists are thus discouraged from using their land to its best advantage, while the people are deprived of valuable and health-bringing produce. Now, it has been distinctly proved that among the devices for bringing producer and consumer into direct relationship, none is more efficacious than the parcel post, which has been in use in all European countries, in China and Japan in many states of Central, and South America, in Australasia, and other British dominions and dependencies for years. Indeed, for quite a long time the United States and Canada were the only countries whose governments and legislatures withheld the boon of a package service from their people. British newspapers contain columns of advertising from small farmers, dairymen, market and fruit gardeners and chicken raisers, offering their products by prepaid parcel post and at prices that yielded them better returns and yet were cheaper to the purchaser than when disposed of thru intermediaries.

Let It Go To The Hague.

President Taft has signified his willingness to submit the Panama Canal dispute to arbitration and suggests that the case may not go to The Hague, but to a special tribunal made up of an equal number of British and American representa-

Britain will look with suspicion on such a proposal in the light of past experience. We have nothing to gain and everything to lose by allowing "jurists of repute" from the United States to decide big issues in dispute between the two countries. If the United States could be trusted to be fair, Great Britain would have nothing to fear, but if the United States representatives were selected because of their known views and their bias in favor of their own cause, as in the case of the Alas-I kan boundary dispute, the result might be a dead-The action of the United States Congress in pass ing the Panama Canal Tolls Bill was bitterly resented in many quanters in that country. All of the staid and sober journals described the action of congress as unworthy of the nation. President Taft, who was in the throes of an election, rather disappointed those who had large ideas of his high-mindedness and fairness, in supporting the view that the States had a right to impose tolls on foreign shipping. Now that he is to be retired from office in March next he resumes his normal self, and is willing to submit the dispute to a tribunal. Let the president go further and make it an absolutely impartial tribunal. That is all Great Britain wants, and may the decision rest with the side which has the just cause.

Adam Beck's Crowning Glory.

On New Year's Day the United States instituted a parcel post service on the zone system, so that Canada now occupies the melancholy position of being, with Spain, the only civilized nation without a post package service. Under the Postal Union, Canada has to carry parcels from the United Kingdom from eastern ports right across the continent, while prohibiting her citizens from mailing a similar package for their own convenience. Mr. Howard Florance, writing in the January number of the American Review of Reviews, notes that Mr. John Wanamaker, the wellknown merchant, himself a former postmaster-general of the United States, is quoted as having said many years ago that there were four obstacles to the establishment of a parcel post in that country. And he thereupon enumerated four companies which, were doing the greater part of its express business at that time. So it can be said that there are three main obstacles to the installation of the parcel post in Canada-the great railway systems and their subsidiary express companies. Its only other opponents are small country storekeepers, whose prejudice against a post package service, assiduously fostered by the express companies, is partly based on a misconception of its effect on their business. If British experience is any guide, they will find it a benefit, not an injury.

Prior to the introduction of the parcel post, the cost of sending a parcel by mail in the United States was a flat rate of one cent an ounce up to four pounds. Under the new rules, every postoffice of the United States government is a receiving station for parcel shipments up to a weight limit of eleven pounds. Anyone can mail a package for delivery in the city where he lives at a rate of five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound. This docal delivery is known as the local zone, and is really a sub-division of the first of the eight zones into which the country has been divided. These zones are again sub-divided into units or squares of approximately thirty-five miles a side the sides being lines drawn parallel to the lines of latitude and longitude. Every community is the centre of a special postal map prepared by the government, marked with concentric circles, whose radiuses are respectively 50, 150, 300, 600, 1,000, 1,400, and 1,800 miles. The first zone comprises the units included or touched by the first circle, and so on, between the circles, until the eighth, which includes all postoffices located beyond the circle of 1,800 miles radius. The rates of shipment in the first zone start at five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound; for shipment to the second zone, 6 cents for the first pound and 4 cents a pound increment; for the third zone, 7 cents and 5 cents; for the fourth zone, 8 cents and 6 cents; for the fifth zone, 9 cents and 7 cents: for the sixth zone, 10 cents and 9 cents; for the seventh zone, II cents and IO cents; and for the eighth zone, 12 cents and 12 cents for each additional pound.

The zone system was favored by the United States authores on account of the great distances between its boundaries, and that senders of packages to nearby points should not have to part of the cost for the longer hauls. As a result, the differince between the express companies rates and the postal rates is at its greatest in the case of the smaller weights-the minimum charge of the express companies being 25 cents, as against the postoffice .ive cents-and diminishes as the weight and distance increases. The charges payable for parcel post are easily ascertained from the map and accompanying postal guide, which gives all the postoffices, with the unit number of each. A shipper first consults his guide and obtains the unit number of the city to which he intends making shipment. He then locates the unit on his map and finds in what zone it lies. The rate for shipment on any package up to eleven pounds to that zone is found in the table of rates that appears on the lower left hand corner of his map. It is fully expected that before long the United States authorities will extend the service to permit of insurance, special delivery, and a cash on delivery service, by which the postoffice will collect payment and remit to the shipper. This latter system has been successfully operated in Germany.

The Commission on Trial.

The strength of the Dominion Railway Commission is being tested at Ottawa by the western freight rates case. This case arose upon an inquiry ordered by the Dominion Government, and counsel were appointed by the government. Subsequently M. K. Cowan, K.C., appeared on behalf of the provincial governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

It appears to be indisputable that freight rates are much higher in the west than in the east, and one purpose of this present inquiry is to ascertain why this difference exists. The railway companies with an army of lawyers, have submitted a wilderness of typewritten schedules and statistical memoranda

Will the commission be strong enough and intelligent enough to cut thru this matted undergrowth and arrive at some plan of decision? Is the commission big enough for the job? The commission should not forget that it is upon trial.

The Election's Coming?

The Globe thinks that the Liberals should force the government to the country on the naval question. Hon.; Mr. Lemieux has been visiting his newly found district Rouville, and declares that the people there are against the Borden Government, and its policy. Mr. Hugh Guthrie has been making speeches in South Wellington, and demanding that the Borden policy be submitted to the electorate. Upon what Mr. Lemieux found in Rouville and upon what Mr. Guthrie has said in South Wellington, The Globe bases a proposal that parliament should pass a redistribution bill, and a new bank act, with such expedition as to permit a general election in April.

The Globe, after a good deal of floundering about, has nerved itself to the point of opposing any contribution to the imperial navy. Upon this issue it professes to be willing to face the electorate. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when in power, never paid much attention to any suggestion from The Globe. Will he follow its councils now that he is in opposition?

About Tuberculosis. The city has voted $200,000 to the National Sanitarium largely for cura-tive purposes. What about a little preventive work? Are there ordin-ances against spitting on the pave-ments? Then should there be an en-forcement of them? I saw a police in-spector spit nastily on the pavement in front of the city hall the other day. I have seen scores of policemen follow his example. They may not be tuber-cular, but they are nasty. And there are plenty of people with tuberculosis who do spit. Toronto may be good, but it has fithier pavements than very many cities which do not pre-tend to a very high reputation. PEDESTRIANS BLOCKING STREETS

With the coming of the snow the regulation which compeis motor cars to stop behind street cars taking on or letting off passengers has become much harder on the motorists. On a good many of the streets on which the street cars operate there is very little room for a motor to pass a street car any time, and when the snow is two or three inches thick on the pavement, and has been swept from the tracks on to the roadway, the pass-ing of a street car becomes very difficult and dangerous. The bad wheeling on the snow is likely at any moment to throw the motor car up against the street car and cause a serious accident. Under these conditions the only chance the motorist has to pass a street car in safety is to catch the car just when it is slowing down to take on passengers, but before it is stopped altogether. This is made very difficult, however, by the per-cistency with which the people stand out in the middle of the road when they desire to get a street car, long before the street car is anywhere near them. At every street car stop it is a regular thing to see half a dozen people occupying the middle of the pavement while the street car is half a block away. If the motorist attempts to shove thru them he is usually sworn at, and he also takes a chance of injurying some one. If the people would also takes a chance of injurying some one. If the people would wait on the curb until the car has actually stopped in front of them it would make things much easier for the man who operates the automobile, and would greatly facilitate general traffic. Under present conditions, with the law which compels them to stop behind cars when the car is stopped, the heavy snow on the pavement, and people standing out on the road long before it is necessary, it is practically impossible for the man in the automobile to use a street on which there are street cars. The police should use some effort to prevent the road being blocked unnecessarily by pedestriana. As we have said before, altho very few people seem to think so, the motorist has his nights, as well as anyone else, and it is about time that some sttention was paid to them.

The dumping of snow from main thorofares on to side preets is another question which should be considered this winter. Some of the best residential streets in the city in the past have been made a dumping ground for enormous loads of mow, collected from streets on which the street cars operate. These side streets are thus made practically impassable, and the negotisting of one of them means a heavy strain upon a motor car. There is no reason why the civic authorities should not spend a little more money and cart the snow away somewhere where it will not be a nuisance to anyone.

Auto Editor, Sunday World: De Sir: I have read with great interes from time to time and followed the correspondence of your subscribers on the interesting points of the auto question. One very stunning hat shown is a medified mushroom of shirred black silk. It has two bands of sage green velvet around the brim, and is fin-ished at the left side in two square bows, above which is a small bunch of delicate pink roses. A very attractive coat in a drop sleeve model is of gray chinchilla cloth, having a shawl collar and cuffs of civet cat, and large buttons of the

Another attractive coat is a mixed blue zibeline in the conventionalized kimono model. It is lined with Hudson seal thruout, having collar, cuffs and buttons of the same fur.

Among the newest gloves shown are gauntlets of gray suede, lined with white kid. They are laced above the wrist close to the arm or worn loosely, as the wearer chooses.

England is a small canal which easily beats the big ditch at Panama as being the most remarkable canal in the world. It is underground from end to end, and is sisteen miles long. Many years ago the Duke of Bridgewate's manarers thought they could save money by transporting the coal under-ground instead of on the surface. The canal was constructed and the mines connected and drained at the same time. Ordinary canal boats are used, but the power is furnished by men. On the roof of the tunnel arch are cross pieces, and the men do the work of propulsion by lying on their backs on the coal and pushing with their feet against the cross-bars on the roof. For men the Angora mask cap seems to be gaining in popularity, as it is light and warm, and the mask may be rolled into the brim when not needed.

The following is a testimonial from one of a great many well satisfied customers using the Independent Security Tread Tire. This tire is creating a sensation, and will be the leading Canadian tire in a very short time. We would advise you to place your orders as early as possible, as we feel certain we will not be able to supply the required amount this year. These tires are built of the best material obtainable and by the best mechanics in the tire business. We are sparing no pains to make it the best tire on the market.

Gentlemen: In reply to your inquiry re tires, I purchased from you, would state I am very much pleased with same. The tires in question were placed on the rear wheels of my "White 30" early this season, and to-date have covered about thirty-five hundred (3,500) miles, over all kinds and conditions of roads, and at the time of writing are in perfect condition, and should the future wear be anything like the past, there is no question in my mind they will run eight or ten thousand miles. I have had other tires on this car which have shown more wear after covering five hundred miles (under same road conditions), than yours do after covering thirty-five hundred miles. I would recommend them to any eutomobile user who desires to reduce his tire trouble and expense.

Story of Early Heroic Missionary Effort and Suffering Told By Dean Harris.

Among the records of heroto misstonary effort, none is of more engrossing interest than the narrative of the first attempts to convert and reclaim the Indian tribes of North America to the Christian faith. The honor of initiating the enterprize belongs to the "Recollets, or Fathers of the Strict Observance." a commun. ity formed in 1605 by some French members of the order instituted by St. Francis of Assissi, Ten years later. in compliance with the wish of the great explorer, Samuel Champlain, four members of the community returned with him to New France, now Canada, and immediately began their mission. After another ten years of unceasing labor, the Recollets asked for help from the Jesuit order, and on the 19th of June, 1625, Fathers Charles Lalemant, Enemond Masse, and Jean

Lots of them say this will be done; but I doubt it. A Retrospect. Well, the curtain has been rung down on the work of the year, and we can take a retrospect of what has been tappening, and what is the strength of the parties at the present moment. Notwithstanding the severe shocks which have been inflicted upon the ministerialists, I should say they are stronger now, and in better heart, than they were twelve months ago. On the other hand, Unionists are not quite than they were twelve months ago. On the other hand, Unionists are not quite in the cabinet. so happy. The battle they have waged during the prolonged debates has been excellently fought, and from an argu-mentative point of view, the govern-ment has been constantly worsted. But the effect of all this on the country is doubtful. By-elections, which are al-ways indicative of the trend of pub-lic thought, have by no means reas-sured the opposition that if there was a general election next month they would be returned with a working ma-jority. Despite the explicit pledges of their leaders, they recognize that a con-siderable section of the democracy, who are influenced by cries rather than so happy. When the government made a small concession on the Welsh Disestablish-ment and Disendowment bill. so that the church in Wales should continue to receive Queen Anne's bounty, a sum of money which was voted by par-liament a century ago, the Welsh Lib-eral Nonconformists blazed with re-volt. They were humiliated; they pro-claimed that the yielding by the gov-ernment would be denounced with indignation in every Welsh village; they talked about the awful things they would do to the government for leaving them in the lurch. Yet, when the two amendments containing the concessions were before the house, not a single Welsh Liberal went into the lobby as a protest.

It is a pity so many electors ap-proach this question of preference with prejudice in their minds instead of as clear-thinking business men. But we have to take the world as we find it, and many of the clearest-thinking Un-ionist politicians have recognized that the prejudice and misrepresentation have been insurmountable barriers when pleading for the confidence of

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in pos session of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I Am Willing to Prove

I Can Cure You

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word. For twenty-five years-a quarter of a century-I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to cor vince people-they try a few things unsuccessfully and giv up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Hapi ly, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers a my own expense that I have a medicine that cures thes diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thou-mound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and I will do that; I am promising to standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for when this medicine is intended. I ask you to send me some of your lead ing symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will will directions Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me bout as follows: "Dear Dr. I notice symptoms, give your age, full address and send it to me: My address is Dr. T. Newest Etching by the Distinguished French Master of Dry Point Who Is Now in New York.

Paul Helleu, Noted French Etcher.

AUL HELLEU, of Paris, is probably the most successful and admired delineator of feminine beauty in the world. He became famous some years ago as the leading interpreter of the charms of the Parisian woman, but lately he has become equally well known for his portraits of beautiful Americans.

M. Helleu has recently come to this country and has established a temporary studio in the office of his friend, Mr. Whitney Warren, the New York architect. There M. Helleu has been making portraits of the most beautiful and fashionable women in New York. One of the latest and best examples of M. Helleu's work is the portrait of Lady Decies, which is reproduced on this page. It is published here for the first time in any newspaper. The few copies of this engraving printed are now among the most treasured possessions of the Gould family and their friends.

Lady Decies was Miss Vivien Gould, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gould. Her marriage to Lord Decies, a sallant British officer, was the great social event of the season two years ago. Lady Decies belong to a family distinguished for beauty. M. Helleu made a portrait of her older sister, Marjorie Gould, now Mrs. A. J. Drexel, Jr., a few years ago. The two pictures now form remarkably interesting companion pieces. Every woman portrayed by M. Helleu becomes charming, but this does not prevent him from portraying exceptional beauty.

"Woman's age of beauty is eighteen" is one of his most interesting dicta. Strange to say, the man who renders the exquisite delicacy of woman's charms with such skill draws his portraits directly upon a copper plate. Sometimes he paints pastels, but not frequently. Ordinarily he is a dry point etcher; making his pictures upon copper with a diamond point. Then he takes the proofs himself

A perpetual source of wonder are the hair-like lines and curves with which this master of the etcher's art reproduces on a flat surface the lineless masses seen in human faces and figures.

The most popular portrait ever made by Helleu was one of the Duchess of Mariborough. Unlike most of his portraits made now, the prints were placed on sale, and have now risen to a remarkable value. That portrait was an introfuction to American society. John Sarsent, the foremost of living portrait painters, accompanied M. Helleu on a visit to this country once before.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR READING

You, O serious student of many volumes, believe that you have a sincere passion for reading. You hold literature in honor, and your last wish would be to debase it to a paltry end. You are not one of those who read because the clock has just struck nine and you can't go to bed till eleven. You are animated by a real desire to get out of literature all that literature will give. And in that aim you keep on reading, year after year, and the gray hairs come. But, amid all this steady tapping of the re-servoir, do you ever take stock of what you have acquired? Do you ever pause to make a valuation, in terms of your own life, of that which you are daily absorbing, or imagine you are absorbing? Do you ever satisfy yourself by proof that you are absorbing anything at all, that the living waters, instead of vitalizing you are not running off as tho you were a duck in a storm? Because if you omit this mere business precaution, it may well be that you, too, without knowing it, are little by little joining the triffers who read only because eternity is so long. <text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text> they wakened him, for he had no place to go.

Guido remembered telling them this, and following them by their gestures as they retold it to the others in a strange language, and then the lights began to spin, and the faces grew distant, and he reached out his hand for the fat chief engineer, and felt his arms tightening iround him.
A cold wind awoke Guido, and the sound of something throbbing and beating like a great clock. He was very warm and tired and lazy, and when he raised his head he touched the celling close above him, and when he values the source of his eyes he found himset in a little room with a square table covered with olcloth in the centre and rows of beds like shelves around the walls.

Tou here have an opportunity to introduce into your needlework a delicate color scheme of pastel tints. Secure a good grade of white goods, mesh easily separated but not too firm. Work the punch embroidery first. Use Eastenberg linen thread or a good grade of stout crochet thread in cream or white, preferably cream and use the regular punch needle or a three-cornered carpet needle. Dampen the embroidery portion slightly, lay it on a Turkish towel and press the goods on the wrong side. Work the flowers in a tone of pink, blending petals from a rich pink base to a delicate pink the Use pale yellow for French knot centre. These flowers can be padded. Bring them up in full contour around the punch work por-tions. Lines bounding the punch work should be done in stem green, the same as the outlin-ing leaves. They can be worked in the over and over stitch, but the stitches should slant and not directed from side to side. This would be very handsome in sheer white embroidered wholly in white embroidery floss. In case floss 's used on the punch work many like the double thread instead of the single, but white linen is firmer, it does not snarl and fin-tished work has a more lace-like appearance.

TO TRANSFER

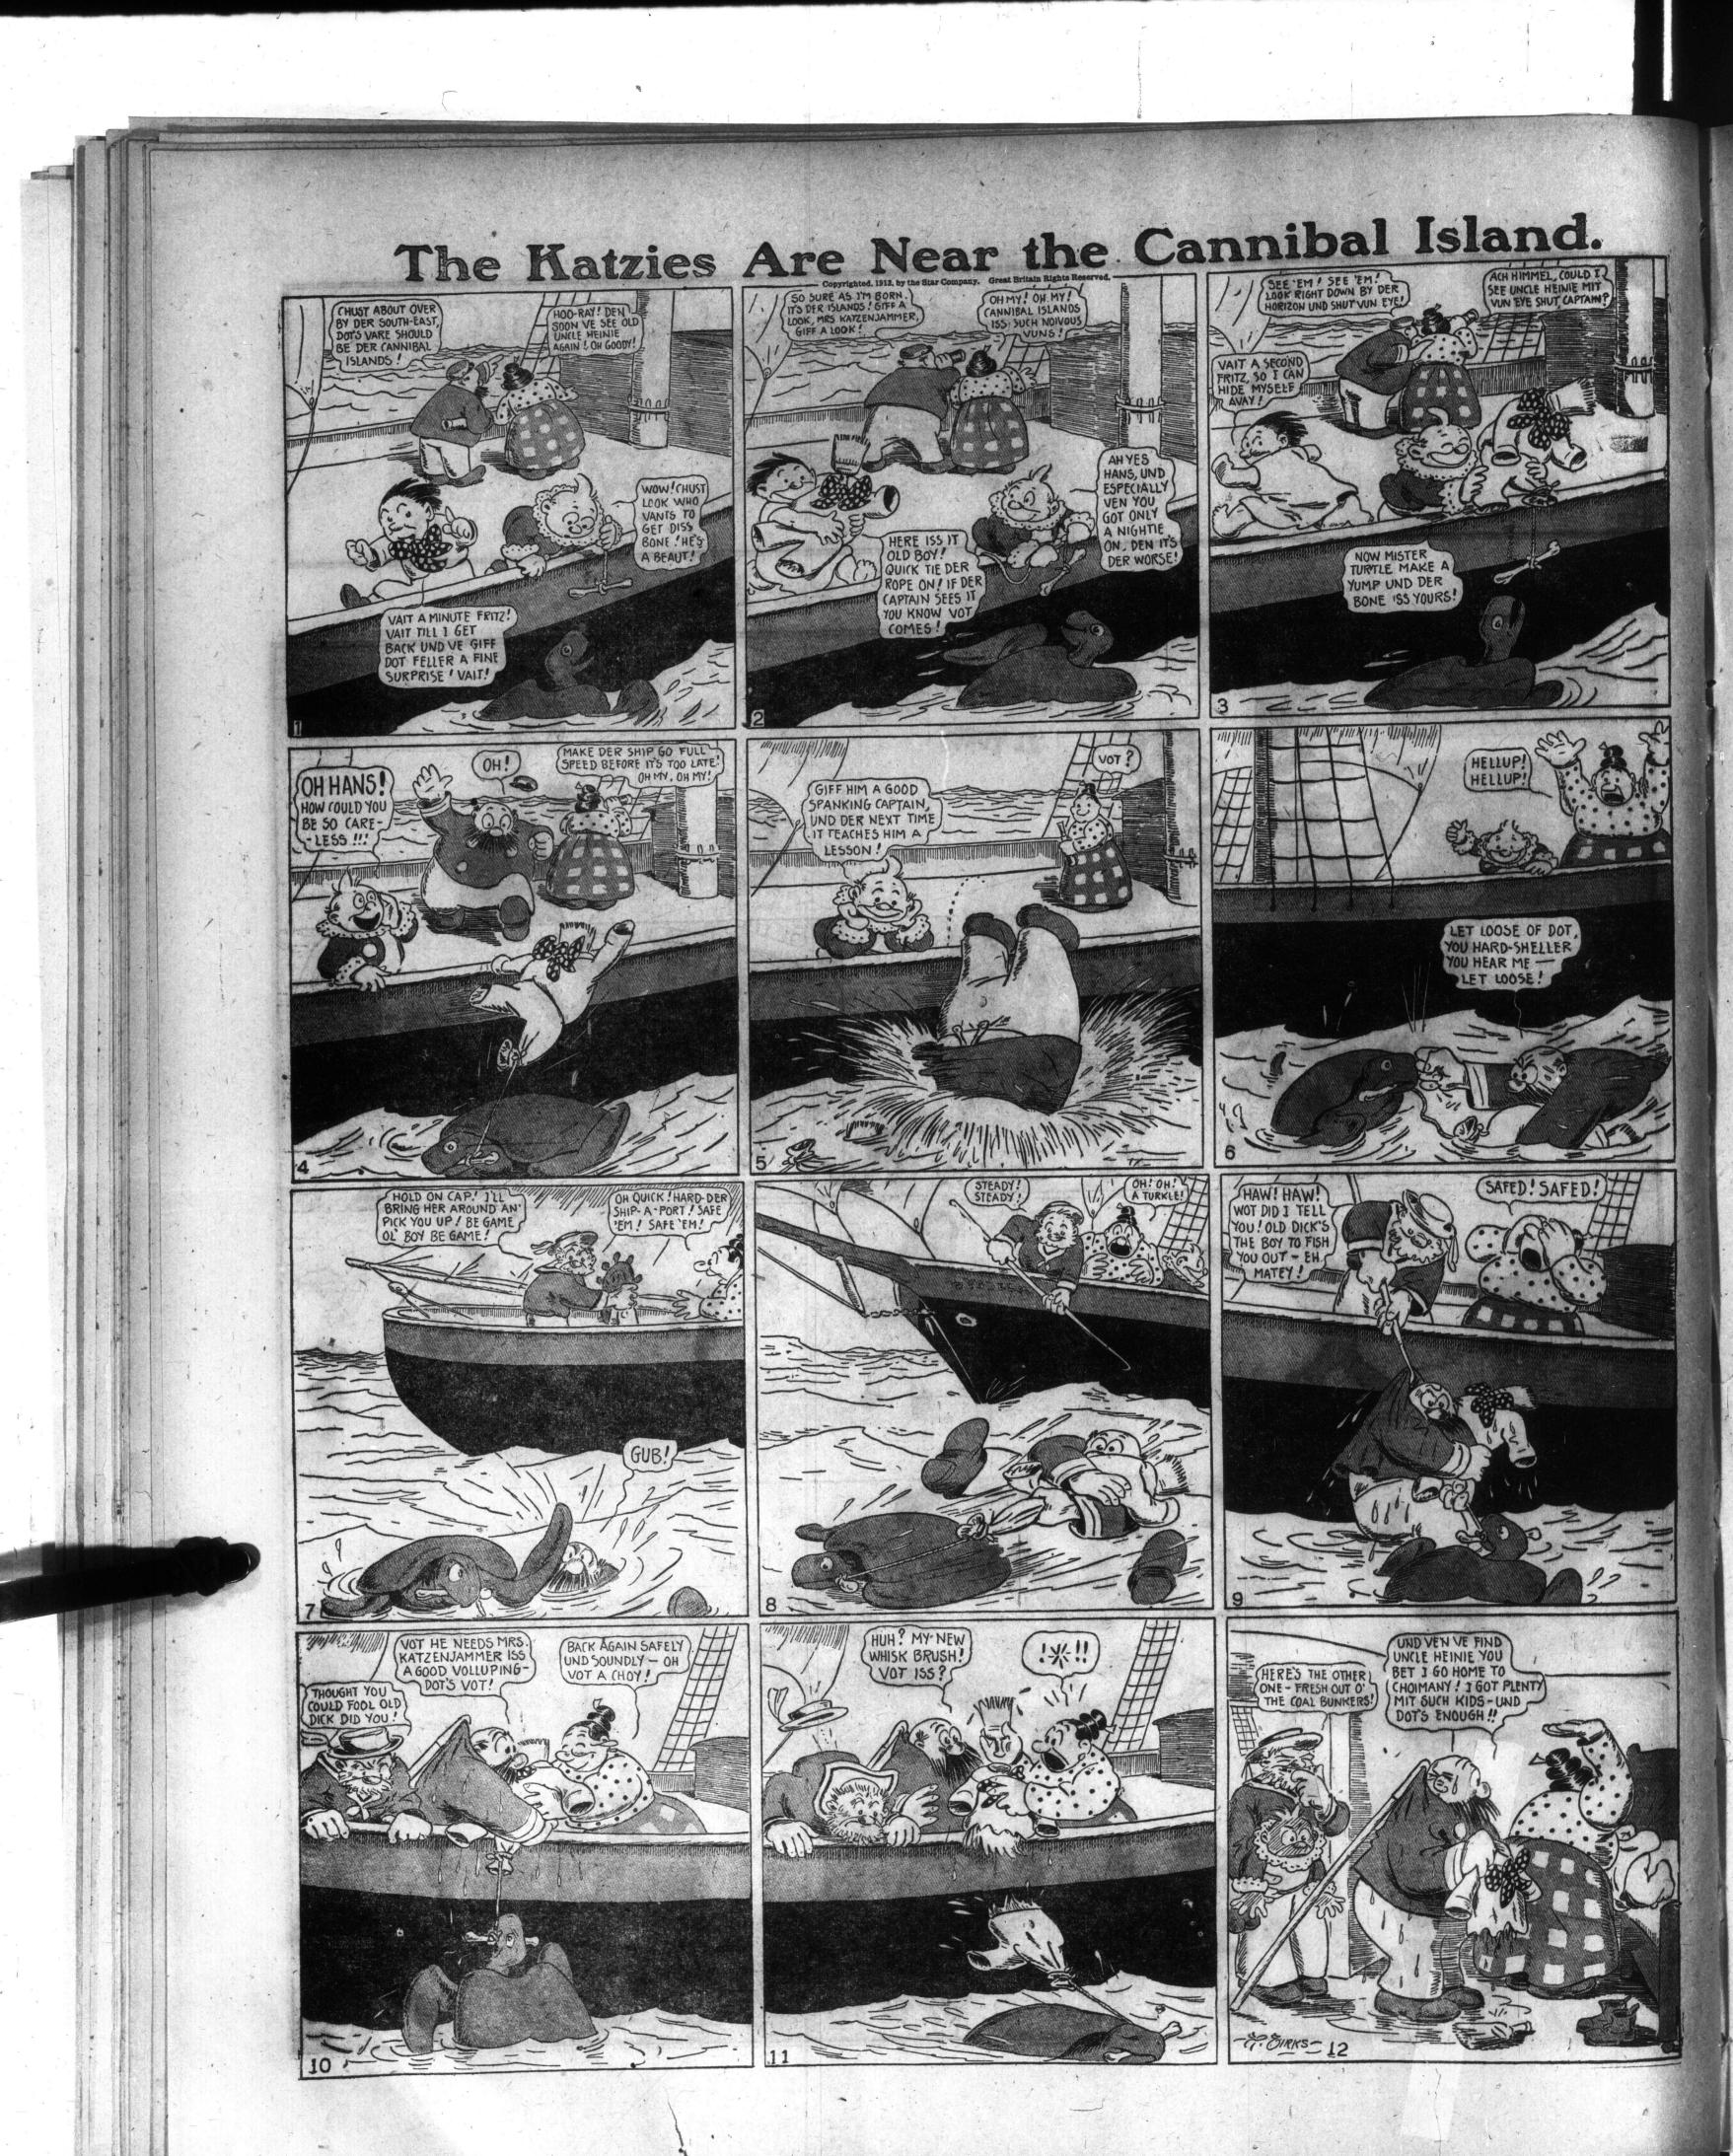

To transfer: Put a cake of soap in a pint of hot water, stir vigorously and remove the soap. Saturate the design with the mixture, then remove the ex-cess moisture. Place the fabric to which the design is to be transferred on a hard, flat surface and lay the design face down on the material. Cover with a dry sheet of thick paper and with the bowl of a tablespoon rub hard till the design is transferred, being careful to rub from rather than toward you. Do not wet the material or rub the face of the design with damp fingers. To re-move the design after the article is completed wash in warm water with soap.

TUNDREDS of rare bargains that cannot fail to command your attention. The bona-fide bargain giving character of this sale is evidenced by the constantly increasing public interest taken in the event. The daily increasing number of purchasers is creating a selling record in our Diamond Sales. No doubt you are familiar with our method of closing out the remainder of our holiday stock of diamonds, but we will repeat it because we want you to keep it in mind and talk about it. On Jan. 2nd we placed on sale in our show window our entire remaining stock of diamonds plainly marked at our regular factory price, which saves you all the middlemen's profits. During the month we reduce the price of every ring or pin $1 each day until sold. Consequently on Monday any ring that remains unsold may be purchased for $10.00 below the factory price at which it is marked. For example: A ring that sells regularly at $25.00 may be had on Monday for $15.00. This will enable you to buy a diamond in many cases below what they can be cut for in Amsterdam. We are determined to carry this sale on till the end of the month, no matter what the loss Already it is the most sensational bargain giving sale in diamonds in years, and now is the time to pick up the genuine bargains. DON'T WAIT UNTIL SOMEBODY ELSE GETS THEM, DO IT NOW. As a protection against dealers or jobbers, we reserve the right to sell but one ring or pin to each person. We-keep open evenings.
