GERMANY THE ENEMY OF EUROPEAN PEACE.

Kaiser's Ambition Threatens Every Other Power— Absorption of Holland and Austria Are Among the War Lord's Dreams.

(Special cable to the Star.) BERLIN, July 22.—The isolation of Germany in the foreign affairs of the world is just beginning to be understood here, as a German socialist, whose name is a household word had phrased it, "Our position is one of gloomy grandeur." But much that has been charged against the Kaiser really does not want war, that he would prefer peace things are not as bad as they have been, not as bad as they might be. It will be a long time yet before an understanding is likely to be arrived at, and it will be longer still before the profoundly unfavorable impression produced by the universally condemned proceedings of Germany has any chance of being effaced. But much that has been charged against Germany ought never to have been charged against her at all. On the principle of making hay while the sun shines a number of German aspirations have been brought forward which have little or nothing to do with Morocco, and which apparently could not hitherto obtain a hearing owing to the extremely reserved attitude of the French government towards Germany during the last years of M. Delcasse's tenure of office. One of these German wishes is concerned with the French colonies and particularly in Tunis. Franco-German commercial relations are based upon the most-favored nation clause of the Treaty of Frankfurt, but when that treaty was concluded the importance of colonial trade was not foreseen. There is now a desire on the German side to obtain a modification of the French practice, which has the effect of excluding German and other foreign trade from important markets like those of Tunis and Morocco. Towards these ends the agreement could be concluded between France and Germany it would be easier for the two governments to combat with success the British policy of colonial preference. THE INDIAN ARMY BACKS KITCHENER.

Friction Between Him and Lord Curzon Abated. Viceroy Will Not Resign—Commander-in-Chief is Very Popular With Native Soldiers.

(Special cable to the Star.) CALCUTTA, July 22.—Little is heard here of the friction between Lord Curzon and Lord Kitchener. So far as can be ascertained everything in official circles is running smoothly, and if the viceroy had any intention of resigning he has reconsidered it. Certainly if any open rupture occurred the sympathy of all connected with the army would be with the commander-in-chief.

LORD CURZON Viceroy of India who has threatened to resign.

whose great improvements in the force have made him highly popular, especially with the native troops. The manner in which Lord Kitchener has interested himself in the wants and the necessities of the native soldiers has been little understood at home. One of the greatest grievances of the native soldier for a long time past has been the question of kit money. The native soldier receives certain free issues of clothing periodically, and has to provide himself with the rest of his kit—namely great coat, boots, khaki suits, pagris, haversack, waterbottle, blankets, bedding, underclothing, etc. Towards these expenses the government has hitherto contributed a small sum on enlistment and annually thereafter. These amounts were totally inadequate and Lord Kitchener has succeeded in raising the amount. He is endeavoring to increase this amount and hopes to arrange matters so that the native soldier will receive a free kit, and a legitimate grievance will be redressed. The clothing regulations are also in course of alteration for the benefit of the men. Most of the work of the army is done in khaki, and the cloth uniform is seldom worn. The men draw cloth clothing under the regulation more often than they really require it, and there results loss to the state without corresponding gain to the men. Lord Kitchener has therefore proposed that a sum representing the annual value of the clothing now supplied shall be credited to the soldier, and that he shall in the future buy his cloth clothing from the clothing factory only when it is required. Two other important concessions to the soldier due to the personal appeal of the commander-in-chief in India may also be given as examples of the attention devoted to the native troops. Lines of India have permitted soldiers proceeding home on leave to pay single fares for a double ticket. Considering the distance between some of the regiments, and their homes this concession is important. It is additional to the permission granted to the thirty per cent of men in each regiment to proceed home for furlough each year without cost to themselves. The second concession is due to the Maharaja of Nepal, who has generously granted permission to all Gurka native officers, whether serving or on pension, to occupy the same position as the officers of his own army and to be exempt for life from forced labor.

ANOTHER MUTINY IN BLACK SEA FLEET.

Russians Hurrying Troops to Manchuria, 42,000 a Week—Rojestvensky Tells of Mutiny and Inefficiency.

(Special cable to the Star.) HARBIN, July 22.—Very quietly but very steadily Russia continues to pour reinforcements into Manchuria. The despatch of the troops has been much accelerated even during the supposed negotiations leading up to a proposed peace and despite the rainy season. In a single week forty-two thousand men passed a certain spot, thus showing the rapidity with which troops have been hurried to the front. As a general thing the soldiers travel in horse cars, 40 cars to a train and 35 men in each car, with a composite wagon for the officers.

BYELOSTOK, Russia, July 21.—A bomb thrown in the centre of the town today killed several persons and severely wounded a number of others, including the chief of police and his son. ODDESSA, July 21.—A report has reached here from Sebastopol to the effect that a mutinous conspiracy has been discovered among the crews of the vessels of the Black Sea fleet in consequence of which the summer manoeuvres have been cancelled.

PARIS, July 19.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of La Liberté, Admiral Rojestvensky, in his report on the Battle of the Sea of Japan, which resulted in the practical annihilation of his fleet, says that his ships were had. Moreover, the shells were also had. Two-thirds of them did not explode. None of the ships was able to carry the necessary coal. None of them attained the guaranteed speed. Two-thirds of the crews, including those of Vice-Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron, were incapable. The gunners were ignorant of the elementary laws of firing. A mutiny occurred while the fleet was at Madagascar, and fourteen men were executed. Admiral Rojestvensky had to train guns on two of his ships, the Admiral Senilav and Admiral Apraxine, to restore order. There was another mutiny in Vice-Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron near Formosa Island, and Admiral Rojestvensky had difficulty in preventing the mutineers from seizing the greater part of the squadron. Admiral Rojestvensky saw from the outset of the battle that the Admiral Senilav and Admiral Apraxine were not fighting, and were ignoring orders. They only fired when he sent torpedo boats to them and threatened to sink them unless they obeyed. If Admiral Rojestvensky had not been wounded at the beginning of the battle the result might have been different. Almost simultaneously with his removal to a torpedo boat, Admiral Enquist disappeared. Admiral Foelkersma was killed, and Admiral Nebogatoff, who was unpopular with the sailors, was obliged to take command. Then the rout began. Admiral Nebogatoff's orders were ignored. It was everyone for himself. The crews of some of the ships threatened to kill their officers unless they surrendered.

REV. F. C. HARTLEY NEARLY MURDERED.

(Special to the Star.) FREDERICTON, N. B., July 22.—Rev. F. C. Hartley, the former minister of the Free Baptist church here, was last evening the subject of a violent and brutal assault at the hands of three ruffians. The reverend gentleman, who is now stationed at Houlton, Me., has with Mrs. Hartley, been spending his vacation in Fredericton, the guest of his father-in-law, Ludlow Yezzo. Yesterday Mr. Hartley walked out Maryland Hill way to a camp situated a short distance out on the invitation of some friends. About 9.30 in the evening he started to walk back to town. While passing "Frogmore" the residence of A. H. Randolph, he was accosted by three men, one of them stepping forward requested of the clergymen a match and when the latter put his hand in his pocket for the article, another of the trio with all his force struck Mr. Hartley in the mouth. The blow sent his victim to the earth. The whole three men jumped him, the fallen man and beat him in a most unmerciful manner, kicking him about the body and pounding him in the head. Having accomplished their diabolical work they left him. Mr. Hartley after a time was able to recover sufficiently to drag himself to Mr. Yezzo's home. He presented a most pitiable sight and it didn't take long to see that he had been seriously injured. Dr. Vanwart was sent for and endeavored to relieve the clergymen of his sufferings. On examination he found two of the ribs badly smashed and the other injuries of more or less extent. Mr. Hartley is resting a little easier this morning, but his physician says that he cannot tell as yet how serious the abuses are whether there is any internal injury or not. Mrs. Hartley told a reporter this morning that her husband has no idea who his assailants were. He is of the opinion that they had mistaken him for some one else. The police are working on the case and the people are highly indignant over the affair. Rev. Mr. Hartley is a son of the late Rev. Dr. Hartley of Carleton.

DIED OF THIRST IN SEARCH FOR GOLD.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., July 21.—Authentic information reached here to-day of the deaths of Earl Weller and E. M. Titus, formerly of Yellville, Col., in the Death Valley country. The men were two of a party of prospectors that perished from thirst while on a prospecting trip during the latter part of June. The two left Yellville June 29 with John Mullen and others on a prospecting trip through the Funeral Mountains, which skirt Death Valley, in the vicinity of which lies Weller and Scott's mysterious mine. They were together until June 28, when first one and then the other of the party went in search of water. Last Sunday an Indian brought Mullen into Yellville in a pitiable condition, his mind deranged and his health completely shattered by the fearful ordeal through which he had passed. For several days he was unable to give a lucid account of his experiences and not until to-day told full details of the awful trip. Nothing has been heard from either Weller or Titus, and it is considered certain they have perished from thirst in the treacherous wast of sand where so many have lost their lives in quest of gold.

BOY DYING FROM HORRIBLE BURNS.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 21.—A serious and what may prove a fatal accident occurred on the str. John L. Cann, while coming down the Strait of Canso today. As a result Dell Munro, the fourteen-year-old son of D. A. Munro, who was steward on the steamer, lies at the point of death, being terribly burned so that the flesh is literally falling from his face and body and his kitchen are badly damaged by fire and water. When coming down the strait the steward asked Dell, who was his father's assistant, to fix up the fire to prepare for supper. Miss Williams was in the dining room with the steward when a loud report was heard and the boy rushed out of the kitchen crying, "throw me overboard." Capt. Morris rushed down from the wheel house, thinking there was an explosion in the engine room and saw the boy running forward in a mass of flames. As quickly as possible the boy was wrapped in a blanket to extinguish the flames. Then it was found that the dining room was on fire and it was only by the prompt and energetic efforts of Capt. Morris and the crew that it was put out. A broken oil can revealed the fact that to revive the fire in the cooking stove the boy had used the kerosene oil can with the above disastrous results.

BOMB THROWN AT SULTAN.

COLOGNE, July 21.—A despatch from Constantinople to the Koenigsche Zeitung says: "As the Sultan was proceeding to the mid-day prayers, a bomb was thrown at his majesty, but he escaped unhurt."

POLICE AFTER HIGHWAY ROBBERS.

The police are working on the alleged robbery by which Samuel Cummings says $250 was taken from him on Rockland road yesterday by two men, who struck up an acquaintance with him, afterwards knocking him down and taking the money from him.

THE OLDEST K. OF P. DEAD.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 14.—Richard Wareham, the oldest member of the Knights of Pythias, died of heart failure at his home today. He was the last surviving charter member of the original lodge organized at Washington, D. C., in 1828. Mr. Wareham was an engineer in the navy during the civil war.

NEW WORLD'S SCULLING CHAMPION.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 22.—The world's sculling championship was wrested from Geo. Towns by James Stanbury, on the Parramatta river, today, in a race over the championship course. Stanbury won by two lengths. The stage was $2,500 a side.

HOME FROM ENGLAND.

A. H. Hanington returned this morning from his trip to England, where he has been the last four weeks on legal business. Mr. Hanington was a passenger on the Tunisian and came down this morning on the special mail train from Rimouaki. Quick time was made on the trip over but the steamer was delayed twelve hours in the Straits on account of icebergs. Mr. Hanington greatly enjoyed his trip, most of his time being spent in London and Manchester. On the Tunisian also was Mrs. Freeman Lake and child on her way to St. John from South Africa. Mrs. Lake went through to Montreal where she will be met by her father and mother, Chief Justice and Mrs. D.

DR. S. H. LANGSTROTH DEAD.

One of the Best Known Residents of Sussex Passed Away This Morning After a Long Illness. The death occurred at Sussex at seven o'clock this morning of Dr. Samuel H. Langstroth, one of the most widely known residents of Kings County. He had been ill for about two or three months. Besides his wife who is a sister of Dr. A. A. Stockton, M. P., he leaves two children, Dr. Lee Langstroth of this city and Miss Langstroth of Sussex. The funeral will be held at eleven o'clock Monday morning. Dr. Langstroth was popularly prominent in all affairs that went towards the well being of Sussex, and sat in its council ever since incorporation. He was a splendid shot and his name could generally be found well among the prize winners in the various rifle competitions held in the province. He was an amateur taxidermist and ornithologist of great ability and his collection is an exceptionally fine one. Widely known not only at Sussex and the vicinity but throughout the province his death at the comparatively early age of fifty will be greatly regretted.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR McLEOD.

Mike "Twin" Sullivan will leave this evening for his home in Cambridge. He is well pleased with his visit to St. John and is ready to return at any time and give McLeod another go if the latter really desires it. Sullivan has no definite plans for the future but before long expects to arrange one more bout as he prefers keeping busy to loafing. The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Staples took place from her late residence at Millsideville today to St. Clement's church. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. Wilson and Rev. R. P. McKim.

PICNICS IN PROSPECT.

The annual picnic of the Sunday school and congregation of Carmarthen street Methodist church is being held at Westfield Beach today. Two extra cars were added to the local train this morning to accommodate the picnickers. Another train left at noon with a good sized crowd. The Carleton Methodist church Sunday school will hold their annual picnic at Westfield Beach on Saturday, 23rd of this month.

A Day With Several Kinds of His Remarkable Profession. Enthusiastic Promoters Who Make Themselves Believe 'Most Anything.' Plain Tales From the Wall Street Jungles of Five Robbers and Others

NO. 1 The Postulatory Promoter. By Julius Muller.

"There," said my friend, the promoter, "try one of these cigars. I think that, without doubt, we've struck the biggest thing of the century." He watched with shining eyes while we puffed at it. "Good, isn't it?" asked he. "You wouldn't suppose that the tobacco that it's made from was grown in a flower-pot on my window sill, would you?" I knew my friend the promoter so very well, indeed, that I said, coldly: "No, I wouldn't."

providing he will plant his patch of ground according to our directions. Then we'll send him a package of tobacco seed and the inoculating stuff mixed together, and when his plants are up we'll simply send around and collect them. "Now, see what we gain by that. In the first place, we don't need a cent for land. In the second place, the tobacco will grow ever so much better in small patches like that, both because the plants will have individual care and because the fences will protect them from cold winds. That'll give us a high temperature that we could never get in an open field. "The inoculating material breeds as fast as other microbes. Starting with a bottleful, we can raise enough to vaccinate every bit of soil in the United States, and it won't cost us anything. The seed we can get on credit. So, you see, we can have our crop growing without spending a dollar on it."

you'll be the only man who has them. It simply means that every one of the 200,000 odd smokers in this city will buy a box of cigars from you. "So that's a promoter. Well, well," said the cigar man afterward, "I'd never have taken that little, bald-headed, shabby man for a promoter. Why, I'm almost sure that he believed everything he told us. I always thought that promoters were breezy, big men, dressed to kill and throwing wads of money and language around promiscuously."

getting modest orders at intervals of two or three days for Loyalty Gold Bond Investment Company stock. But there was none on the market—for the very good reason that it was all locked up in a safe. Being unobtainable, it assumed a certain value, like all other unobtainable things. When that happy state arrived, a curb broker who received an order for 200 shares was delighted by learning that a man was willing to sell that quantity. But he was not to be approached, and demanded a higher price than the broker's customer had authorized. After a brisk negotiation the customer agreed to pay the asked figure. Then small blocks of the jealously guarded stock began to appear. They were snapped up eagerly. The stock began to get a recognized position. For a year the sales and purchases continued. Of course, Wall Street didn't know that all the dealing was confined to the five promoters and their henchmen, and that all the stock sold and purchased found its way back to the same safe.

reproached their five clients for having become so cold and distant. The five clients replied that they were not against it; that they couldn't meet the over-certification, "but," said they, "you know you have lots of collateral, so you're all right." Alas! The banks found that they were all wrong. The buyers of Loyalty Gold Bond Investment stock, formerly the five promoters, had been temporarily, though they did this only from an excess of prudence, for the banks really couldn't dare to do anything except to bear their pain in silence. LEGITIMATE PROMOTERS. Between the first kind of promoter, who fools himself more than he ever does others, because his schemes require too much imagination for the average investor, and the second kind, who are common swindlers, there are all kinds and degrees. Promoting legitimate business enterprises has become a recognized profession, and there are many hundred prosperous, highly reputable and influential men in any large city, who pose frankly and unadvisedly as promoters. The day's visitors to a promoter of this class are a revelation of the wild, fantastic, Arabian Nights schemes that breed under the shabby hats of a city's impetuous strikers. The plans of nine out of ten would-be financiers built on the principle of gaining immense sums without investing a penny. "Now, here," says a seedy stout man with a double-breasted front of grease, as he fishes dubious papers out of the still more dubious lining of his ancient silk hat—"now here is the map of a little parcel of land down on Long Island, and that I can pick up for $5,000 cash, sir. Here's my scheme. We can cut this up into building lots—all on paper, of course—and plant a few surveyor's stakes to mark the streets: I've got a surveyor who'll do the job for $50. No, no; I don't want you to furnish the $5,000 to buy the land. My plan is to make a deal to buy it, and then, after we get the owner tied up, but before we close the deal, to advertise a sale of lots in our new home site, Riviera-on-the-Island (what do you think of that for a name, eh?) at $9 a lot, on terms of $1 down for each lot, and 50 cents a month till the balance is paid off. "Now, all we need for that is, say $500 for advertising. If you'll put that up for your share, I'll throw in my idea and my services for mine. We are certain to sell all the 5,000 lots in a month. People will jump at the chance. Think of the headline of the ad, 'A Home for $1.' That means that we will have the $5,000 paid in before we have to pay for the land. After that we haven't got to do a thing, not a single solitary thing, except to sit with our feet on our desks and take down $2,500 a month for about ten years."

have a marked predilection for coming in a flash. "I've figured and figured in it since then, and I can't see a flaw in it. Possibly you, with your greater experience, will see one at once. "Briefly, it struck me all of a sudden yesterday morning that there is an appalling waste of power in the skyscrapers. The point is this: In those huge towers, inhabited by thousands of people, there is never a moment of the day when the water faucets are idle. Waste water from the washbasins and the drinking fountains is perpetually falling through the pipes, and, of course, attaining an enormous velocity in its drop through two and three hundred feet of space. "No, what I've come to you for is this: My idea is to lease the right to install motors in each skyscraper to convert this force into power, and to collect the energy in a central station. If you will interest a first-class engineer in the project and raise enough money to build the plant, I am willing to give you a two-thirds interest in the matter. I have figured that we should clear at least a million a year."

"I have a spring of water on my place," said the red-whiskered man who was "next," producing a bottle. "It's the finest, purest water I've ever tasted. Just plain water, you know, no minerals or anything else—but just the thing that is needed in the big cities, with their bad water supplies. I've got the name for it, and my eldest boy, who is quite an artist, has drawn the designs. 'Hercules Spring Water' I'm going to name it. I've got advertising and all other matter all written out. We are ready to begin the campaign, sir, on a moment's notice after we buy the bottles. "My family and I will furnish everything—the water, the labor, the brains, everything except the bottles and what little money is needed for advertising. If you will furnish that, we will let you in on an equal basis, share and share alike, with me and my five sons and two nephews. I've measured the flow of that spring, and it flows ten million of dollars' worth of water a year, figuring the value on the basis of a two-gallon bottle for 10 cents, bottles to be returned. How is that for a good thing?" A burglar alarm personally conducted by a gentleman who looked unfortunately like a burglar himself; an epoch-making improvement in suspenders, presented by a society man, who was almost overcome with astonishment at his sudden inventiveness; an idea for a cannon, to be made economically of sheet tin on a new design that would enable it to throw 100 pounds of dynamite and infallibly destroy the navies of the rest of the world; and an elaborate scheme to give all the householders of the city shares of stock in an Old Paper and Rag Company, with the understanding that in return they would deliver all their refuse of that nature at collecting station to be established by a company—these and a score of others followed each other in rapid succession.

GEMS IN THE RUBBISH. "Nine-tenths of my day goes that way," said the promoter. "But it pays me, just the same. I'm a god deal like a junkman, you know—picking over the rubbish till I light on something worth while. Now, last month I found nothing but rubbish. Last week was the same—every day clear waste. But last Monday the first man who came through this door brought me a good thing. It was simple enough—nothing except a patented tinner's shears that will cut tin and sheet iron straight without allowing either side to curl up. That doesn't seem like much, but you just ask any tinsmith what he'd give for such a tool, and you'll see. I have reason to believe that it'll clear $50,000 for the inventor and $10,000 for myself on that."

That is the real business promoter and how he gets rich, legitimately, with only his brains for capital.

TWO GIRL EDITORS.

(Kansas City Star.)

Down in the wild and undeveloped but picturesque part of Arkansas is situated the little town of Leslie. Its principal industry is the lumber business, consequently saw mill and stove mill employes constitute the principal part of the population. Despite the undeveloped character of the country and the rough mannerisms of its inhabitants, a former Kansas City girl have seen fit to locate in it and enter a field that in a country town has generally been regarded as belonging to maudlin sentimentalism.

The young ladies are the Misses Margaret and Lillian Walton, daughters of R. C. Walton, a mining engineer, who, until a year ago resided in Kansas City, at No. 1510 Brooklyn avenue. They are the editors and publishers of the Leslie News, a five-column folio and a very new country paper. They employ no solicitors or employees of any sort, doing their own typesetting and on press days one would not recognize in the perspiring and ink-besmeared young ladies two former habitués of the ball room. Both misses are young, Margaret being 29 and Lillian 18, the former being a member of the 1902 graduating class of the Kansas City high school. They were entirely without experience in the newspaper field, yet they have established the News upon a paying basis in a little over a year, having over 500 circulation at the rate of $1 per year. In addition to this they have a large job printing patronage, while the editorial columns of the paper are frequently quoted by the press of the state.

"We like the business fine," one of them said. "You see, it is so different from what we have been used to that we like the novelty of it, and it seems more like play. Of course, it is rather dull here socially. It was especially so until last year when we got the railroad, for we could never see any one but the local residents, but since its arrival Leslie is beginning to grow socially as well as otherwise. There is fine boating, fishing and swimming here, and my sister and I are enthusiastic lovers of these sports. We also have two fine saddle horses and go horseback riding, so it's not so dull here as one would think. Then there is a fascination about the newspaper business, and besides we are making good money."

Leslie is a town of about 300 population, and is the present terminus of the St. L. & N. A. railway.

GREAT BRITISH MOVEMENT FOR SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

(Special Cable to the Star.) LONDON, July 22—What promises to be a great movement in favor of Sunday observance has been started by the Canterbury diocesan conference presided over by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Resolutions were adopted requesting the Archbishop to appoint a committee of laity and clergy to coordinate the various forces now working in favor of the maintenance of the day of rest. The Non-Conformist churches have been asked to join the movement. Though not expressly stated, it is understood that the resolutions in favor of a more strict observance of the Sabbath were adopted because of the emphatic protests recently made in the most public of ways by the representatives of the Hebrews who object to observing Sunday instead of Saturday and the representatives of the shipping interests who insist that work along the docks and wharves should be continued on Sunday.

KAISER BUILDING BOAT TO GO 60 MILES AN HOUR.

(Special Cable to the Star.) BERLIN, July 22—According to a German sporting paper the Kaiser is now having built in a ship-yard in America a turbine motor yacht, which, if everything claimed for it be true, will revolutionize the building of such craft. The yacht is to be about 75 feet long, and her engines will be 3,000 h. p., which will give the vessel a speed of nearly sixty miles an hour. Her turbine motors and gearings apparatus are stated to be of an entirely new construction invented by a German American named Grant-Sellin who has also constructed turbines capable of making over 9,000 revolutions per minute. The boat will probably be used as a despatch boat on the Kaiser's cruise.

SIX YEAR OLD GIRL'S HEROISM.

(Special Cable to the Star.) BRUGES, July 22—An extraordinarily plucky rescue has just been effected by a girl six years old residing near here. She was playing with her little brother two years older than herself on a railway track when a train approached at full speed. Jumping aside the girl called to her brother to follow her but he evidently became confused and did not move. The locomotive was within a few yards of him when his sister dashed back on to the line and dragged him into safety. Both escaped with no narrow was the escape that a portion of the boy's clothing was torn away by the buffer of the engine.

TESTING BRITISH FLEET.

(Special Cable to the Star.) LONDON, July 22—Although the grand naval manoeuvres which had been arranged for this summer have been abandoned, long-distance battle tactics are being practiced under a large variety of conditions. A number of interesting tests are being made and results will be closely watched by the British naval authorities. The Mediterranean fleet, for instance, is expected to cruise along the Spanish and Barbary coasts. These operations will last until about the first of August, when combined manoeuvres will be carried out with the Atlantic fleet off Lagos, Portugal.

JUMPED FROM WINDOW AND BROKE HIS THIGH.

A man by the name of Jas. Humans, of Erin street, smashed a bed room window in the second story of the house of Miss Mary Doyle, Pond street, and jumped to the street below. He was quite badly hurt and Dr. James Christie was summoned, who found that besides a deep gash over the eye and a large number of bruises the man's thigh was broken. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

The reason for his behaviour is hard to discover. Miss Doyle says that the man entered her home about eleven o'clock, in company with one McDonald, who previously was a boarder with her. He went up stairs and entered a bedroom and when she asked him what he wanted he said he wished to sleep. When she entered the room she found him half out the window. She seized him by the hand and called for help. The man, however, slipped away from her and fell with a thud to the street below.

On inquiry at the hospital this morning it was learned that the injured man was resting quite comfortably.

WHERE IT HIT HIM.

Speaking of the tribulations of the cross-examiner, Henry Woolman cites this experience. "In the progress of a murder trial near Kansas City he wished to learn from a witness just where the bullet struck the victim. "Where was this man shot?" was asked. "Right here in this town," replied the witness. "Yes, I know; but where did the bullet hit him?" "Near Sixth and Wyoming streets." "You don't understand me. Where did the bullet enter?" "It came in the window." "But in what part of the body did it lodge?" "It never hit his body." "Well, it certainly hit him somewhere—where—where?" "Hit him in the head," said the witness.

ST. JOHN, 21: TARTARS, 4. The locals defeated the Tartars yesterday by a score of 11 to 4. The game had some excellent features; two double plays, one from a thrilling catch by Harris in the left field, who in reaching for the ball ped and fell up on his feet and as he grasped the ball went over again, but triumphantly held aloft the ball and fished it to second in time to cut off the returning base runner. The Tartars also made a good double. Geo. Finnamore to Frank Hughes and then to Capt. Burden.

R. L. BORDEN VISITS TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 21.—R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition in the dominion house, was in the city today and called on Premier Whitney in company with D. Barr, M. P., of Dufferin and S. McCarthy, M. He would return to Halifax at once.

"Will you speak of the increased indemnity or say what effect it will have on the electric?" he was asked. "I do not know," replied Borden. "I have not had time to hear much about it, just having come from a long session."

TRURO BEAT AMHERST AT LACROSSE YESTERDAY.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 21.—Truro whipped Amherst at lacrosse in Truro today, securing a place in the final maritime league series. Truro defeated Moncton and was defeated by Amherst once. The game was fast and interesting, but Amherst lost largely by depending too much on Black, their star man, and also fagged the last quarter. Black is a fine player and Amherst put all the work to him, but he could not play the whole game. The score at the end of the first quarter: 2 to 0; 2nd, 2 to 1; 3rd, 2 to 4; last, 5 to 1.

PRESBYTERIAN GARDEN PARTY.

The Mission Band of the Fairville Presbyterian church held a successful garden party on the church grounds last evening. There were games of interest to hundreds of people observing her on piers, pleasure boats and passing ferry boats, a cloud of steam suddenly burst from a point just forward of the smokestack, out of which the spectators were horrified to see bodies and human fragments hurled high in the air and scattered over the surrounding water.

ROAR AS OF THUNDER.

The outburst was accompanied by a roar as of thunder and a shock that rocked vessels near by. In an instant the air was filled with shrieks of pain from the wounded, which could be heard ashore, and with flying fragments of human beings and pieces of the ship's superstructure. The next moment bleeding sailors were fighting, crippled in the water, against deafening waves, and a few had been driven to the rescue as fast as arms, wind and steam could carry them.

A HORRIBLE SIGHT.

Most horrible sight met those who approached. In the water men with bloodied faces were struggling, hand-capped by injuries; others on deck covered with blood and grim, some dead, some wounded frightfully, others fighting to rescue comrades who were yet below.

DR. FOWLER'S Wild Strawberry

This wonderful bowel complaint cure will do the same for you as it did for Mr. Chas. Durham, Toronto, Ont. He writes as follows:

"I was troubled for over four years with Weak Bowels and Diarrhoea and could not get any medicine to cure me until I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Since taking this medicine I have had none of my former trouble, and I feel as if I had a new person with the same complaint that I had."

left to face. Sullivan came back with the same hard blow. Britt backed away, stepped in on the kid and landed a hard right to jaw. Britt put a hard right to the face. Sullivan followed Britt around the ring but did not land effectively. Britt landed hard straight left on body. Honors even.

Round 3—Sullivan kept coming up to the scratch, always finding Britt ready to meet him. Sullivan received a stiff blow on the mouth that brought blood. Britt made the best showing, but no serious damage was done.

Round 4—The pace became faster. Britt paid frequent visits to Sullivan's bleeding nose and mouth and Sullivan directed blows against his opponent's body. Britt did the better boxing. Sullivan's rushes failed to connect. Sparring closed the round.

Round 5—Caution marked the opening work, but there soon was some heavy exchange. Sullivan put Britt's head back with a hard right to the jaw and forced the champion around the ring. Britt landed on Sullivan's jaw as the bell changed.

Round 6—There was more rapid work in this round, Britt playing to do damage to Sullivan's face and putting in several damaging blows. In the clinches Sullivan put some hits to Britt's stomach and kidneys. The honors were even.

Round 7—Furious fighting developed in this round and continued after the bell had announced the close of the round. The two went in staggering lefts to the jaw and attempted right blows to the body before they were separated and sent away to their corners.

40 KILLED AND 100 HURT IN U. S. WARSHIP EXPLOSION.

Boiler on American Gunboat Blew Up With Awful Results—Everybody on Board More or Less Injured.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 21.—One officer and 29 members of the crew of the U. S. gunboat Bennington were killed, and nearly 100 sailors were injured, by the terrible explosion, which lifted part of the deck and compelled the beaching of the ship.

Steam was up and everything was in readiness for the departure of the Bennington when the starboard forward boiler exploded with a deafening roar. The explosion was terrific. People standing on shore saw a huge cloud of steam rise above the Bennington. Columns of water were forced high in the air. A dozen or more men were blown overboard by the force of the blast. Captain Westworth, who was looking at the Bennington when the disaster occurred, says he saw human bodies hurled over 100 feet upwards. The air was clouded with vapor, which enveloped the ship. When the haze cleared away only a few men could be seen on the decks, while a number were foundering in the water. A boat was lowered from the vessel's side and most of the men in the water were picked up and taken on board.

On board the Bennington were presented terrible scenes. The force of the explosion had torn a great hole in the starboard side of the ship and the vessel was already commencing to list. A section of the upper deck was carried away from stem to stern. Blood and wreckage were strewn over the entire ship, after cabin and that part of the ship adjacent to the exploded boiler resembling a charnal house.

Within a short time a score of physicians were attending the wounded. Most of the dead and injured were taken ashore, where the undertakers and physicians were assembled. The bodies of many of the men taken from the wrecked interior of the ship were mutilated almost beyond recognition. The faces of many were covered with blood and ashes. Some bodies may never be identified.

Temporary quarters ashore were arranged for the survivors.

George Garrett, in company with three other men, was bringing a row boat down from Indiantown yesterday, when they met a tug taking a small raft of logs through the straits. They seized the chance for a tow, and passed the bridges safely, but when just at the big eddy at the rock they saw a schooner close upon them. The rowboat turned over and filled. The rowboat turned over and filled, but was picked up later on the Fairville shore.

The Buster Brown girls and the Irish maids come in for their share and there a company of twenty-five people and a revelation in scenic and stage effects completes an altogether delightful entertainment. The tour is being personally guided by the masterful hand of Frank W. Nason, who bears an enviable reputation for his far-seeing ability in that direction. And with the names of Nason and Waters as the trade mark, we feel safe in saying that we will undoubtedly get the very best in the amusement line. Mr. Waters and company will appear here on July 31st.

Handbills calling an indignation meeting of the Fairville and Lancaster ratepayers for last night in the Orange hall, been assiduously placed under the doors of the houses in that part of the town, but when the eventful time arrived last evening, it was found to be the work of a practical joker, as the hall had not been engaged by anyone. A crowd gathered and C. Taylor, Jr. opened the hall door and let them in, but as there was no one present who was indignant enough to start the meeting the crowd soon melted. All the same the crowd turning up showed there are some grounds for the handbill being circulated.

The Ludlow was given her official trial trip yesterday afternoon and there proved a great success. The boat proceeded beyond Partridge Island, down nearly to Negro Head, about six miles from the city. She was driven at about ten knots an hour. After the boat docked at Long wharf before going ashore the passengers assembled in one of the cabins and were entertained for an hour or more with brief speeches from those connected with the building of the boat.

Stella—Why are you so positive that it is a love match on her part? Maude—Because she didn't even try to find out what the engagement ring cost.

"This paper says," remarked the callow youth, "that the bride was supported to the altar by her father." "Yes," growled the savage bachelor, "and I'm offering odds of 50 to 1 that he'll have to keep on supporting her."

OTTAWA'S PROBLEM.

The city of Ottawa, which recently decided to acquire the property of one of the competing electric light and power companies operating there and to establish a municipal lighting system, is puzzling over what form of management to adopt.

If Ottawa would make a success of its essay at municipal ownership it will avoid the pitfalls into which similar experiments have fallen and keep it away from politics of all kinds.

Whatever facts exist upon which arguments adverse to municipal ownership can be based are due to political interference with the management of the public enterprise.

If the city of Ottawa puts its new enterprise in the hands of one capable and honest man or of a commission of two or three, independent of aldermanic interference as to the details of management though responsible to the city government in matters of general policy, the results will undoubtedly be such as to boom the cause of municipal ownership.

(Continued from Page One.) Another question which demis-official exponents of German intentions like Prof. Schlegelmann are ventilating is the position of neutrals on the seas, and the definition of contraband of war.

Germany to-day is much as England was when she over-flowed her borders and sent her sons east and west to create an Empire on which the sun never sets. The German ambition is first of all to dominate in the councils of Europe, and that domination is a measure now being achieved.

M. DELCASSÉ, whose retirement from the French foreign ministry was a triumph for Germany.

PRINCE VON BUELOW, who is guiding Germany's policy in foreign affairs.

Germany's hands by taking away the possibility of an invasion of her eastern frontiers should she at any time embark upon another war with France. Not unreasonably the Berlin government reckoned without King Edward. The "entente cordiale" to some extent robbed the Kaiser of the advantage that the weakness of Russia gave him.

ROMANCE BEHIND ENGAGEMENT OF MAJOR GEN. HAIG TO MRS. DOROTHY VIVIAN.

LONDON, July 22.—There was an "Ascot Romance," behind the engagement of Major General Douglas Haig, Inspector General of Cavalry in India, and the Hon. Dorothy Vivian, one of the two maids of honor of Queen Alexandra. By the King's special command General Haig, who has just returned from India, was present at the Windsor Castle for the Ascot races.

KAISER ATE SALT BEEF AND PEAS.

BERLIN, July 22.—Common peas and salt beef is what the Emperor of Germany had for his dinner when he inspected the frontier Lubek recently. The Kaiser arrived on board at dinner time, and sat down with the sailors. With a paternal air he is said to have exclaimed: "Well, my children, what have you for dinner today?"

TYPES OF LONDON LIFE.

By JAMES WATSON

The following is the seventh of a series of sketches of life in the great city of London, written by a member of the Star staff, who while engaged in newspaper work in that city was brought into intimate acquaintance with the types described.

No. 7.—THE PAUPER.

There is an old saying to the effect that one half of the people in London do not know how the other half live, and I can't think of nothing more strikingly illustrative of this than to spend a night in a London workhouse, for I am certain that not even a third of the population can have any idea of the life led by the pauper. After experiencing it for two nights and one day, I can assure the reader that the horror and dread in which the "House" is held.

Graphic Pen Picture of the Place Where the Gardens and Factories of the World Are Emptied.

(London Daily Mail)

The towers of London gray and square, stands sentinel at the most romantic spot in our empire city. On one side are the offices, the banks, the exchanges, the shops, the squares and the great, gorgeous residences of the rich, and on the other nothing but the roasting factories, the crowded, walled-in alleys, the long, interminable slums of the poor.

ROYAL DAILY LUNCH

Two minutes walk from the Union Depot, is the best place in the city to get a lunch or a bang up dinner for a quarter of eight. The waiter, the popular manager, will cater to the St. Anne De Beupre Grand Pique, and will be pleased to impart information to all who wish to take the trip.

It will very likely contain a nice looking beverage with a froth, for there are lots of men that make a practice of using it as a sort of toilet preparation.

As you must give 24 hours' notice of your intention to leave the house, I took good care to take this course after my breakfast, and I went to bed that night thinking only of the coming morning and my release. After a while I fell into a sort of comatose condition, and saw a most sumptuous meal spread before me, which I was vainly trying to eat, but somehow or other I was held back by a stern-looking man, whom I afterwards recognized as the taskmaster, while a nice old, benevolent looking gentleman was "putting away" the meal without any ceremony.

island set in the midst of the seas which does not grow something or make something with brew, fingers to send into the cold, gray port of London.

As you walk through the warehouses your nostrils will be filled with the scents of saltpetre, gunpowder, musk, vanilla, coffee, tea, tobacco—everything that once lived and drank the air in green and beautiful fields across the seas. There at your feet lies the melting trow from tea packages on which some Chinaman set strange marks with brush and ink, and there in the end are cases, cases themselves, with the number and weight cut in their sides by a scribbling iron. You look at over the nails in some strange package of goods out of the east, and picture to yourself the dark hands gripping them while the hammer struck home. All the nails and all the feet of the east seem to be going up and down the earth to keep the London of London full. From St. Francisco come the extracts of flowers for the gardener's scent.

WAR AGAINST STREET WALKERS

Two More Were Arrested Last Night—One Was a Pretty Girl of Eighteen Years.

Magistrate Ritchie took his seat this morning soon after nine o'clock but had to wait patiently for half an hour before the arrival of the officers who arrested the four prisoners awaiting attention.

Two ordinary drunks were fined $4 and $8 with the usual options. Another of the street-walking cases was before the court. The prisoners were Rachael Murphy, a woman of 49 years, and a pretty young girl, Flossie MacDonald who is only just eighteen. Officer Marshall said he and officer Lee arrested the prisoners last night about a quarter to nine outside the ferry door on Water street. He had watched them previously walking up and down Water street, looking at the men who passed them, also trying to attract the attention of sailors on the boats.

Two more men near Market square, crossing the road to do so. In the end the officers arrested them. The Murphy woman, whose daughter created a scene by her weeping in court, said she was not a low woman, but witness said they didn't live as man and wife, neither was her daughter known as Mrs. Beckwith. In answer to his honor witness said Beckwith ran a beer shop at her address, but worked in the cotton mills all day, during which her daughter looked after the shop. The MacDonalds also lived in the same house.

Mrs. MacDonald said Flossie was an excellent girl until the Murphys got hold of her. She left her last situation as a domestic about three weeks ago, since when she has done nothing but go about with the Murphy woman, she called the police in some little time back to caution Mrs. Murphy about harboring her daughter.

Flossie, who didn't seem to realize her position, asked no questions, and his honor remanded both prisoners until Monday, for the attendance of other police officers, who have seen the women together with Mrs. Murphy, and having been out with the girl more than twice.

James Stephenson, charged with encumbering the sidewalks on Westmorland road, was fined $8, the fine to stand over if the timber, etc, be removed this morning.

Yesterday the other two girls—Snodgrass and Goldworthy—charged with street walking, were before the court again. It is understood that Snodgrass has made a statement intimating that a certain police officer made indecent overtures to her one night on Brussels street. They were both remanded again.
