

MACKENZIE KING MOVES WANT OF CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT OF CANADA

Amendment Offered by the Liberal Leader Brings Brilliant Reply from the Premier—Amendment to the Motion to Adopt Speech from the Throne is Seconded by Hon. W. S. Fielding—Galleries Packed for the Clash of the Party Chiefs.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—The Prime Minister and the leader of the opposition joined in a battle in the House today on the direct issue of appeal to the people. It came during debate on the address. The mover and seconder had made their speeches along usual lines when Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, moved an amendment expressing direct non-confidence and declaring that the present government is a "reversion to a type of Toryism such as this country has not known for a great many years."

Galleries All Crowded.
The debate was followed with the keenest attention. Public galleries were packed. Practically every seat in the House was filled and, as point after point was made, there were cheers and counter-cheers from either side of the House. Mr. King described the Meighen administration as a "bundle of inconsistencies and ineffectualities," a "reversion to a type of Toryism such as this country has not known for a great many years."

Premier's Good Reception.
Mr. Meighen's reply was his first speech in the House as Prime Minister. He was greeted with a more restrained applause than usual. He made it clear that the government had no intention of an immediate appeal to the electors. "Under the circumstances that prevail, the clear-cut duty of the government at all events for the present is to carry on, to carry out its policy as long as a majority of the members of this House support it."

Cannot Stampede Government.
If a war government should go out of power when the war ended, Mr. Meighen argued, presumably a peace government should go out when a war started. "So long as a government retains the confidence of the country, it is its duty if it allows itself to be stampeded by party press or party politicians."

Tribute to Dead.
A tribute to the memory of members of parliament who died during the recess was paid by Premier Meighen. The Prime Minister said parliament and the country had sustained a larger number of losses resulting from death during the recess than was usual. He also referred to the death of the late Hon. A. L. Sifton and J. E. O. Gladu former member for Yamaska.

Moves the Address.
James McIsaac, (King's P. E. I.), then moved the adoption of the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. In opening, he spoke of the high quality of the new Prime Minister and praised the work done as Premier by Sir Robert Borden.

Dealing with Trade Conditions.
Mr. McIsaac said that Canada did more business per capita than any other country. Her national wealth was $2,500 per head, as shown by the bank figures, and this country also led in patriotic investments. Canadian people held more Victory Bonds per capita than did Americans of Liberty Bonds.

Great Ship Industry.
Through the development of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Canada's produce was being carried to all parts of the world in vessels which had as part of their name the word "Canadian."

Wants Dominion Unity.
J. A. McKeown, (Yale-Cork, B. C.) was given a hearty reception as he rose to second the speech.

Referring to Hon. Mr. Meighen's elevation to the Premiership, Mr. McKeown said the Premier's forceful position of policy as regards fiscal matters during his recent tour of the west had given complete satisfaction to a very large majority of the constituency which he, the speaker, represented.

The seconder pleaded for a closer consulting of the French and English races in Canada. In his boyhood he had lived in Acadia and had always maintained a respect and appreciation which he had then formed of the French Canadian people. The plea made by Premier Meighen for more amicable relations touched the chord

The Assailed

RT. HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN
Premier of Canada, the right of whose Government to continue is questioned in a motion made in the House of Commons yesterday.

GERMAN CLAIM OF CANT PAY IS PURE BLUFF
Will Reject Any Proposal No Matter How Generous.

EXPECT THEM TO CRY BABY AT LONDON
Reparations Commission Are Still Working Out Total of Damage Done in France.

Claims Tariff Excluded
In the speech from the throne reference was made to a revision of the tariff, presumably as the present session of parliament. The Union Government expressly excluded the tariff as a question with which the Government would be entitled to deal, without first giving to the people of Canada a chance to voice their approval of the policy proposed.

Entitled to Election.
The people were entitled to express their will at the polls without further delay. The franchise on which the Union Government was returned to power did not give a representative parliament. Thousands of electors were robbed of the rights of citizenship and other thousands of women, especially favored, received rights previously enjoyed by them.

Patriotism the Appeal.
"Patriotism was the cry which elected the government in 1917. The people thought they were returning patriots to power. They find in office today only those who love the leaves and fishes, who make bread their profession, who make the border of their garments, who love the upper rooms at feasts, and the chief seats at the synagogues, and greetings in the markets, who make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within are full of extortion and excess. Confidence in government will never be restored until the people regain the confidence over the executive which they have lost."

The Amendment.
The leader of the opposition then moved the following amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the Throne:

"We respectfully submit to your Excellency that your Excellency's present advisers do not possess the confidence of this House or of the country, and that their retention of office constitutes a usurpation of the powers of popular government."

The Premier.
Hon. Mr. Meighen got a great reception when he rose to speak. The prime minister congratulated the mover and seconder of the address in reply to the speech from the throne. He also acknowledged the complimentary references to himself on his accession to the premiership. He also acknowledged particularly the congratulations of the leader of the Opposition.

Road Probe Ending.
Halifax, N. S., Feb. 15.—Argument by counsel engaged in the investigation by the Royal Commission of the road expenditures made in Nova Scotia in 1920 under the provisions of the Canada Highways Act, will commence tomorrow. It was announced at this afternoon's session of the inquiry with possibility that it will be completed by tomorrow night. One witness who finds it impossible to attend this week may be examined on Monday of next week and in this event the summing up of counsel for the Bedford Construction Company, will be postponed.

Hon. Robert Rogers Declares Result of Polling Shows Need of Drastic Changes.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—Hon. Robert Rogers in an interview here last night in reference to the West Peterboro by-election, said:

"There is no mistaking the voice of the electorate of Peterboro. They have spoken in tones louder than thunder demanding immediate return to party government, demanding the discontinuance in Canada of political obstructions, demanding real political surgery, demanding a major operation that will save Canada from the menace of the noxious growth of manipulators, of war profiteers and their solicitors."

Blames The People.
"Owing to the dawdling attitude of the Canadian people generally this major operation so essential to Canada's future has too long been deferred. If the rank and file of loyal and faithful Conservatives everywhere who have never yet failed Canada in any national crisis, are not quick to rise to a full sense of their duty to their country that stands today trembling in the balance at the parting of many ways as the result of three years of political obstructions, then they will, all the rest of their lives, feel that Canada lost by their failure at a critical time."

LLOYD GEORGE DEFENDS THE CROWN FORCES

Any Who Have Committed Wrongs in Ireland Have Been Punished He Declares.

LABOR RESENTS THE CORK INVESTIGATION
Premier Replies That Writings from Whom Evidence Sought Flee to America.

London, Feb. 15.—Lloyd George took the floor of the House of Commons this afternoon to defend the government from attacks on its Irish policy. The situation arose over the refusal of the ministers to make known the report of General Strickland on the situation in Ireland. This decision, the premier added, had been taken in the interest of the re-establishment of law and order in Ireland.

No Illegal Acts.
Mr. Lloyd George explained that there was enough in the report to satisfy the government that there had been acts in violation of discipline, but despite every effort, it was impossible to identify the individuals responsible for the destruction. The sternest action had been taken, however, with reference to the company involved. Seven men suspected of violating discipline had been dismissed, the officer commanding had been suspended, the rest of the company dissolved.

Labour Shouts Resentment.
The prime minister said the report was not really a report by General Strickland at all, but simply dealt with the occurrence for the purpose of informing the government on the subject.

The statement brought cries from the Labor benches that the civilian evidence on the burning of Cork had not been called, but Mr. Lloyd George declared it was not necessary to call it. "Furthermore, certain civilians of Cork, from whom the government is anxious to have evidence, have fled to the United States."

ALLIES OPEN TO SUMMONS FROM HARDING
British Delegation, Optimistic on Arrival, Sees Lugubrious Finish for Conference.

UNITED STATES CAN MAKE A REAL PEACE
France Again Urges Supreme Council to Take up Question of Harding Attitude.

Paris, Feb. 15.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, arrived in Paris just as the members of the Allied Supreme Council began to realize they were facing three situations over which they had no more power than mannikins. The first of these is America's aloofness and the uncertainty of what the Harding administration will do. The second is the inability of the British and English statesmen to agree on the most vital questions which are demanding solution, and the third is the economic and industrial difficulties which today are so manifold, universal, complex and unsolvable that they master international politics, finance, and business.

It is the old story of the lion and the mouse. The facts and problems which the world faces today are as powerful as the mice under the lion's paw. France, which was the first to suffer from the war, realizes more keenly perhaps than the other countries Europe's loss in America's detachment from European affairs. The British know but do not like to admit, the great, almost dominant influence which the United States today has in world affairs, despite its isolation.

France Acknowledges Helplessness.
France, however, admits it and is impatient to discuss "questions arising from the non-ratification of America of the Versailles treaty." Premier Briand has again proposed to Mr. Lloyd George that this conference discuss what attitude the Supreme Council should take toward the next administration at Washington. France admits that America today holds the balance of power and can dictate peace terms to the world if America wishes to be dictator. Mr. Lloyd George perhaps realizes it, but will not acknowledge it. He returned today from the highest source that Mr. Lloyd George told Premier Briand he was perfectly willing to discuss revision of the Versailles treaty or the American reservations with the Harding administration, but believes it inadvisable for the Allies to discuss such eventualities until Mr. Harding announces his secretary of state and until the Harding government first puts forward its foreign policy and the terms upon which America will participate in world affairs. From Sir Auckland Geddes, Mr. Lloyd George obtains first-hand information about America, and whether this conference discusses Europe's relationship to America depends to a considerable degree upon the ambassador's reports.

Amendment Offered by the Liberal Leader Brings Brilliant Reply from the Premier—Amendment to the Motion to Adopt Speech from the Throne is Seconded by Hon. W. S. Fielding—Galleries Packed for the Clash of the Party Chiefs.

(Continued from page 1.) "My desire," he said, "is to extract as fairly as I can what there is of substance in the attack on the Government delivered by the leader of the Opposition." Mr. Meighen said he would endeavor to extract this information in a manner, at least understandable, to the House. This would have to be done out of the House. It would require an effort, but must be done. The present Government was honestly doing its duty by the people. Mr. King's amendment, said the premier, did not mean anything and the reasons advanced last session by the leader of the Opposition were absent because they had all ceased to be true. The amendment this year did not advance any reason why the Government should go to the country.

Holds a Majority.
The present Government was in office by the same right as any other government, either of the Dominion or the provinces. It was in office by a majority of the votes of the people. Mr. Meighen attacked the leader of the opposition's argument that the government should go to the country because it had chosen a new prime minister and was therefore not in accord with the policies of the preceding administration. "In point of character, purpose and aim," Mr. Meighen said, "the present government was in full accord to the last just and title with the government it succeeded." There was no divergence; this government was a legitimate successor of the former administration.

Cannot Understand King.
Mr. Meighen said that he was not able to put in an understandable form the assertion made by Mr. King, that the government did not have a mandate from the people because several of the members of the former administration had retired. It might as well be argued that because a member of the government died that the government had lost its confidence of the people. Never before in the history of Canada has a government been so well supported by so many ex-ministers, he said.

Some New Duties.
In admitting that the 1917 election was fought on a carry-over issue, Mr. Meighen said that that did not mean that the government's work was done now. Many problems arising out of the war still remained to be dealt with. "This government's duty is not yet done," Mr. Meighen said. The prime minister referred to soldiers' re-establishment as not yet

DISARMAMENT IN JAPANESE HOUSE REPRESENTATIVE

Ozaki's Resolution Favoring Curtailment Was Defeated. Says Capital Ships Are Not Needed. Believes Time Ripe for Real Effort at Restricting Naval Programme of World.

(Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger.)
Tokyo, Feb. 15.—By an overwhelming majority the resolution favoring disarmament presented by Yukio Ozaki, considered to be Japan's most advanced liberal, was defeated this afternoon in the House of Representatives. The vote was 385 to 33. Ozaki's resolution was most conservative, proposing only that "Japan's naval construction programme shall be limited according to an agreement reachable between the governments of Japan, America and Great Britain."

No Need of Capital Ships.
Ozaki recently was read out of his own party, the Kenseikai, owing to his advocacy of policies regarded as too radical at the present day in Japan. The only supporters of Ozaki's resolution were members of the small Kokumintai party and a few independents, while the Seiyukai government party and the Kenseikai the chief opposition party voted solidly against it.

Not Intended to Stand.
Many doubts are being expressed as to whether this proposed settlement was intended as a settlement. It is held that the conditions that give color to the belief that the terms were not made in good faith. Germany is denied the right to make foreign loans except by the consent of the Allies; and the Versailles Treaty has been ignored, in as much as twelve years have been added to the terms of payment, and in addition, the 12 per cent export tax, which was a condition of the settlement, has been retained.

Victory For Briand.
The cables speak of the decision of the Council as a compromise, but from a distance it means a distinct victory for Briand. There is no man in France that better understands the mind of Briand than Briand. Both are courageous. Both are agile-minded and both have political intuition to a high degree.

Fishing Activities Around Shippegan

New Company Organized to Open up Freezing and Curing Plant.

Special to The Standard. Shippegan, Feb. 15.—Our fish merchants are hard at work taking in their supply of ice. It will take about 5,000 tons to fill our four ice houses. It is reported that a strong fishing company has lately bought the old Dog-fish reduction Stand and plant which has remained closed for a number of years and will transform it into a first class freezer and fish curing establishment. This means progress for Shippegan.

The smelt fishing was fair up to this date and prices paid for them also fairly good.

Low prices for cod fish and high price for labor was the reason that many of the fishing schooners were idle last summer, but now that wages are down our good fishermen will return to their lines again.

SIX BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE NEAR MONCTON

Mrs. Oliver Steeves and Five Children Perish When House is Destroyed.

HUSBAND AT WORK IN BARN AT TIME

Outbreak May Have Been Due to Saucer of Grease Used as a Lamp.

Moncton, N. B., Feb. 15.—In a fire which destroyed their home at Niagara road, 3 1/2 miles from Moncton, this morning, Mrs. Oliver Steeves, five children, two daughters and three sons were burned to death. The daughters were Hazel, aged 16, and Beatrice, aged 13; the sons were: Wetmore, aged 7; Emmerson, aged 6 1/2, and Gelsue, aged 2 years.

Everyone Perished.

All those who were occupants of the house when the fire started perished. There are three survivors, members of the family, Curtis and Orley, employed in Hag's mill, Albert County, and Clara, in Moncton.

O. Gelsue Steeves this morning stated that he arose early, lighted a fire and proceeded to the barn to feed his horses. Mr. Steeves stated that he left one of his daughters, Beatrice, engaged in getting the breakfast.

Heard Wife Call.

A short time afterwards he said he heard his wife calling "the house is on fire," and on looking out of the barn he observed the house in flames. He stated that they had no kerosene oil in the house and he was of the opinion that the fire originated from a saucer containing grease, in which was a wick used by his little daughter Beatrice as an improvised lamp. Other than this he could not understand how the blaze started. Neighbors were soon on hand, but the house was a total loss. It was a frame structure covered with tin.

Thomas F. Seely.

The death occurred yesterday of Thomas F. Seely, one of the oldest and best known residents of central Kings, who passed away at his home in Lower Norton. Mr. Seely was eighty-one years of age and came of Loyalist stock. He is survived by a son Walter Leslie Seely of St. John, and two daughters, Mrs. C. A. Hoyt of Lower Norton and Miss Helen, at home.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock.

HUN AIRPLANES APPEAR TO BE DEATH TRAPS

Machines Bought from the Germans Responsible for Many Deaths.

FULL INVESTIGATION TO BE CARRIED OUT

Post Office Authorities Admit They Are Harder to Handle But Claim More Efficient.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Four of the sixteen pilots and three of the five mechanics killed in the Air Mail Service in the past two years, and Junker type motorplane bought by the Post Office Department from Germany since the war.

These facts have been developed from the records of air mail service fatalities called for by Congress as the result of the recent accident at Lacrosse, Wisconsin, where Pilot F. H. Rowe and W. H. Carroll, and H. H. Hill, a mechanic, were burned to death in one of the motorplane machines after a 500 foot nose dive.

Take Off German Planes. All four of the Junker motorplanes, now remaining in the postal air service, it was learned today, have been taken off of the Chicago-Omaha and Chicago-Minneapolis routes and will be subjected to a series of rigid tests before put back into air as possible death-traps for mail fliers.

Mr. Prager said that information received from Superintendent Majors of the Chicago field was to the effect that the Lacrosse accident was not due to the plane catching fire in the air, as was the case at Morrisstown and Pemberville, where two other German planes were burned up.

The Post Office Department originally used eight of the Junker planes, but four have been destroyed, two by burning at Morrisstown and Pemberville because of defective machinery, a fault, Mr. Prager said, had been remedied in the others.

Between May 25, 1919, when our first mail pilot was killed until the deaths of two pilots and a mechanic at Lacrosse, Wisconsin, Feb. 19, 1921, we lost a total of sixteen pilots flying with the mail and testing out their machines who accompanied the pilots.

It is the contention of the Post Office Department that the Junker motorplane, although admitted earlier to be a young woman about 18 years old and of demure appearance when she was arraigned yesterday in Tombs court.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep home without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, breaks the mucus, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat, chest, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Venezelos in Accord With King Constantine

This is Latest French Report on Greek Situation—Former Premier Fats Country First.

By EDYTHE WILLIAMS. (Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.) Paris, Feb. 15.—It is reported today that the latest Quai d'Orsay doctrine is that M. Venizelos has arrived at a "complete accord" with Constantine. It even is claimed that the deposed Greek leader never had broken with the so-called "pro-Turkish King."

It is considered in Paris that Venizelos holds the interest of Greece foremost and that his job with Premier Lloyd George is to help regulate the Greek problem in accordance with the British policy.

Thus far it seems that the Greek struggle will be set much easier than the Paris and London conferences. There is direct dealing with Athens, with Berlin in the dim background.

Battle on Between Blondes and Brunettes—Fair Sisters Claim Discrimination.

Special to The Standard. Paris, Feb. 15.—A battle of blondes and brunettes has broken out in Paris, and is being waged in every district and in every trade. It began with the election of queens in the different arrondissements for the great fête of M. Carême.

Blondes Not Content

But the blondes are not content. They feel that the judges have been prejudiced against them. At the same time a curious coincidence has been that golden locks have lost their popularity, and Paris hairdressers are being besieged by girls who want their hair tinted brown instead of peroxide yellow, as was formerly the fashion.

ENORMOUS CROWDS WATCH KING AND QUEEN DRIVE IN STATE TO OPEN FATEFUL COMMONS' SESSION

"Violence Will Not Solve the Irish Problem" Declares the King in Opening the Parliament—Prince of Wales Given Tremendous Reception All Along the Way to Parliament Buildings.

London, Feb. 15.—Violence will not solve the Irish problem, King George declared here today in his speech from the throne to the two Houses of Parliament in formally opening the session.

The King's speech was brief, but touched on numerous vital questions confronting the government. At the outset it referred to the coming conference to be held in London and attended by the representatives of allied nations, Germany and Turkey.

King George expressed himself as favorably disposed towards commercial treaty with Soviet Russia, saying: "It is my hope that negotiations for a trade agreement with Russia may also be brought to a successful conclusion."

In discussing the Irish question, the King said: "Arrangements for bringing into force the government's Irish act are now well advanced and I earnestly trust that in the near future the majority of the people will show their determination to repudiate violence and give effect to an act which confers upon them responsibilities of self-government, and provide as machinery by which they can attain Irish unity by constitutional means."

The Prince of Wales, King George and Queen Mary left Buckingham Palace shortly before noon, and entered a gilded coach of state drawn by eight black horses.

After arriving at the entrance to the Parliament buildings, following their drive down the Mall, along Whitehall and to Victoria Tower, the King and Queen were met by committees from the House of Lords, all the old-time pomp and circumstance being carried out.

They found that the judges have been prejudiced against them. At the same time a curious coincidence has been that golden locks have lost their popularity, and Paris hairdressers are being besieged by girls who want their hair tinted brown instead of peroxide yellow, as was formerly the fashion.

Another feature of the election of the queens is that the brunette, as the representative of Paris girlhood, has had to give way to the stenographer. In former years it was always among the employes of the fashionable dressmaking shops that the queens were sought.

A measure will also be introduced in the House of Commons dealing with the safeguarding of essential key industries of the country and with certain aspects of unfair and abnormal industrial competition.

The defendant did not appear to be disturbed by the proceedings. She pleaded not guilty and asked for an opportunity to consult an attorney.

Two years ago, on Lincoln's birthday, according to Detective McKillop, the defendant, who gave her name as Edna Fitzgerald, was arrested for having a revolver in her possession.

Quebec, Feb. 15.—This morning at nine o'clock a freight train on the Transcontinental line, ran down a zig which was crossing the track about two miles from St. Marie des Chênes, County Port Neuf, Geo. Hamelin, one of the occupants of the vehicle, was killed, and three other persons were injured.

Motor Displacing The Sail in Venice

Venetian Barges Are Adopting Modern Power Plants on Their Barges.

The motor boat, after entering into serious competition with the picturesque gondola, on the canals and lagoons of Venice, is now beginning to take the place of sailing barges on these waters.

More recent experiments, however, have given unexpectedly good results. One of the ordinary type of Venetian barges has been fitted with a Fiat 25 h. p. engine having four cylinders of 160 by 140 mm. bore and stroke, and on a voyage lasting eight days an average speed of 8.15 and miles an hour was attained.

For ease of installation, and also in order to avoid weakening the hull of the boat and to diminish the wash, the engine was set out of centre, the screw being placed to one side of the rudder. The results obtained by this method of installation are considered entirely satisfactory.

FUTURIST CHEF IS MISSED BY THE PARISIANS

His Cooking Was Pride of the French Army During War.

ANXIETY TO SERVE LED HIM TO DEATH

Brought His Kitchen Too
Near the Front Line and Hun Shell Ended Career.

Special to The Standard.
Paris, Feb. 15.—There once was a futurist cook who in the days before the war made his name as the most famous in Paris. He was called Jules Malacave and, naturally, he kept a restaurant in the Latin quarter at which his clients were artists with brush and chisel and not as he was with vegetables and meat. What had become of him had been often asked by old habitués of the quarter who have returned since the war to Paris, and in the Figaro today the story is told of his fate.

Three days after the war began he was mobilized and went to the front in the ranks of the Nineteenth Regiment of French Infantry. After some months of hard fighting, he was named cook of his company and at once his genius asserted itself.

He was not content to serve out the usual soldier fare of soup and stew. Besides his field kitchen, under a rain of shells and bullets, he kept intact his artistic soul. With macaroni, lentils and morsels of army beef he created dishes that were the envy of every other company in the line. With wild herbs gathered in the shell-hole woods he flavored his stews so subtly that officers from other companies used to invite themselves to dinner. His beefsteaks "à l'attaque" and cheese soup au grand were the joy of the whole trench.

Malacave's fame spread, and before the battle of the Somme he was summoned to prepare a meal for the division staff, at the head of which was General Gouraud. The general tasted his soup and expressed satisfaction. When he reached the delicious pastry he sent for the cook and asked him to make more.

Killed At Work.

"That gives me more pleasure than my Croix de Guerre," he replied as he departed to fulfill his orders. Alas, his eagerness led to his death. In the great battle of the Somme in 1916 he pushed forward his kitchen further than was wise in order to give his company the benefit of his art. When told to take his kitchen into a dugout he complained that he could not cook there. A few minutes later a shell fell within a yard of where he was working and the artist chef was picked up lifeless and buried with all the honors his company could render him.

DO NOT LEAVE HOSE IN FOR LONG MONTHS

Halifax Woman Was All Crippled Up With Rheumatism — Tanlac Restored Her Health, Husband Says.

"I had rather see my wife healthy and happy like she is now than have all the money in the universe and see her suffer like she did before she took Tanlac," said William A. Bowden, of 808 Robie St., Halifax, of which city he has been resident for the past thirty-five years.

"My wife was all crippled up with rheumatism for two or three years which seemed to be all over her body — up in her shoulders and arms, in her back, and down through her knees, ankles and feet. She could hardly get around the room, and couldn't even go up the stairs at all. She couldn't do any housework and had to sit in a chair nearly all the time. She had to go from chair to chair in getting to her bed, and didn't put a foot out of the house in four months. She wasn't able to wear her shoes, could scarcely comb her hair, and was in misery all the time. Her appetite was very poor and she was in a badly rundown condition.

"We saw so many statements from people here in Halifax praising Tanlac that my wife began taking it, and it has certainly done her a world of good. She has a fine appetite, and is doing all her household work. In fact she seems to get around as well as she ever did, and both of us think Tanlac is the most wonderful medicine ever put in a bottle."

PEACE FAILED BECAUSE ARMS WERE DEMANDED

Irish Bulletin Explains Why
Negotiations With Gov't
Agent Came to Naught.

ACCEPTABLE TO DUBLIN CASTLE

British Agreed Not to Make Any Raids During Time the "Armistice" Was in Force.

Dublin, Feb. 15.—The Irish Bulletin issued tonight, summarizes the report of the Daily Eireann, held in the last week of January, at which "there was a full attendance of available members, including the president."

Quoting from the speech of Eamonn DeValera which dealt largely with the peace negotiations of December, an account of which was printed some time ago, the Bulletin says:

"Perturbed at the effect on world opinion of his unrestricted Black and Tan warfare upon the Irish people, the British Prime Minister commissioned the Archbishop of Perth to come to Ireland as an official intermediary to arrange a truce."

Found Irish Fair.

The statement adds that Archbishop Clune came to Ireland and interviewed Arthur Griffiths, founder of the Sinn Fein organization, the "Minister of Finance," and others, and found that they were "fair and reasonable men," and so reported to Mr. Lloyd George.

It is asserted that the attitude of Mr. Lloyd George meantime had undergone a change as a result of a peace proposal of "six of the thirty-two members of the Galway Council and Father O'Flanagan's" telegram, both of which he pretended to believe were indications of a general break up in the moral of the Irish people and a cry for "peace at any price."

Willing For Truce.

De Valera, says the Bulletin proceeded to say in his speech that Archbishop Clune nevertheless was asked to return to England and report. On December 14, says the Bulletin, the British Government intimated its willingness for a truce extending over a month "on certain general conditions." These terms were reduced to written formula by Archbishop Clune and presented to Dublin Castle, December 16. The formula as given by the Bulletin follows:

Some of the Terms.

"The British Government undertakes during the truce that no raids, arrests, pursuits, burnings, shootings, lootings, demolitions, court martials or other acts of violence will be carried out by its forces, and that there will be no enforcement of the terms of the martial law proclamation."

"We on our side undertake to use all possible means that do not act against the spirit of the truce to prevent any such acts of violence from occurring on our side during the period of the truce."

"The British Government on its part and we on our side will use our best efforts to bring about the conditions above mentioned, with the object of creating an atmosphere favorable to meeting together the representatives of the Irish people, with a view to producing permanent peace."

Point of Divergence.

The statement says that Dublin Castle accepted the formula of December 17, "subject to the following conditions: that we should surrender our arms and leave ourselves without any means of resistance or defence."

Archbishop Clune paid another visit to the British Government on December 22 after inducing the castle to waive the surrender of arms, but the statement continues:

"Mr. Lloyd George thought that this could not be waived—an opinion endorsed by Bonar Law."

As the Archbishop, who wished to see the truce carried out, was asked to accept such conditions says De Valera's statement, "negotiations remained in abeyance until the 29th and 30th, when they were disposed of finally at a British cabinet meeting. To the Archbishop was informed on December 31."

Germany Ready To Capture Dye Industry

Output is Now in Excess of
Her Pre-War Production of Coal Tar Products.

(Copyright 1921, By Public Ledger.)
Paris, Feb. 15.—Reports issued in Paris by private industrial investigators confirm the statements by Government bureaus that the German dye industry is now more complete in personnel and equipment and more completely organized for world trade than it was before the war. Germany has now exceeded her pre-war output of coal tar dyes and it is estimated that by the end of this month she will have exceeded the pre-war output of chemicals. During the year before the war the German dye output approximated 15,000 tons or about 11,250 tons monthly. Coal tar colors produced during the first months of this year were more than 13,000 tons. The average monthly pre-war production.

Plenty for Export.

The new situation created is that while formerly certain proportion of Germany's present dye output was reserved for the reparations commission henceforth there will be a sufficient quantity remaining at the disposal of the dye cartel to enable the Germans to re-enter the old markets and offer effective competition with foreign manufacturers. This will be the greatest volume with the United States because of the existing combination of German and American financial, economic and executive matters. The export policy of the German dye amalgamation is to turn first to the country with a large demand which is the United States now that England has put up such a strong import license barrier against dyes.

Riviera Thugs Drug American Diplomat

Gang Got Away With Jewels
and Cash Estimated at Over $200,000 in Value.

(Copyright 1921 by Cross-Atlantic.)
Nice, Feb. 15.—Police along the Riviera are making a daring gang of some thieves who have terrorized the resorts. Their latest and biggest haul was from one of the largest hotels where they drugged an American diplomat and his wife and got away with over two hundred dollars worth of jewels and money. The jewels were hidden in a secret drawer in a desk, while the money was in the drawer of a table. Owners of the jewels who are vacationing along the Riviera are taking great precautions now, and there is a small army of the best detectives from all the capitals of Europe here on guard.

GREASE FIRE CAUSES BROADWAY CONGESTION

Special to The Standard.
New York, Feb. 15.—A cook in the St. Regis restaurant at Broadway and Forty-third street overturned a pan of grease on the avenue last night. The flames drove the kitchen staff into the dining-room and one excited dishwasher dashed to the fire alarm box at Broadway and Forty-fourth street, and sent a call that was responded to by every available piece of apparatus in that part of the city.

Broadway, crowded with Sunday night strollers, became traffic bound and the crowd remained the entire half hour consumed by the firemen in making sure the fire was out.

A hose that carried through the restaurant failed to disturb the diners. The damage was slight.

HONGKONG SLAVE STORY AROUSES HOUSE COMMONS

Chinese Watch Battle in British Parliament Seeking to Abolish System.

IS TERMED BLOT ON THE EMPIRE

"Adoption" of Girls by Wealthy Men Held to Be Form of Bondage.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)
 Hongkong, Feb. 15.—The public here is deeply interested in the battle which is being fought out in the House of Commons in England, on the issue as to whether a system of slavery exists in this colony.

Before going into the matter more fully, it would be well to explain that in Hongkong there are close on 700,000 Chinese inhabitants, the greater number of whom, being born in the colony, are British subjects. They live for the most part by themselves, in their own quarters on the island and city, though the wealthier of them, among whom are the so-called "slave owners," mix freely with the white population. The "slaves" are servant girls, purchased by wealthy Chinese, and they spend their lives, until of marriageable age, in domestic servitude in the homes of the rich.

The system by which these girls are procured and placed in bondage is one which is common to China, and it still persists in the Oriental republic, despite the fact that laws have been nominally passed for its suppression. Here in this British colony there is no specific law forbidding the system, though it is interesting to recall that the first law passed by the local Legislature when Hongkong came into the possession of the British some eighty years ago was one designed to end this and similar Chinese customs.

Victoria Disallows Law.

The law was, however, "disallowed" by Queen Victoria, on the ground that the common law of England, so far as it related to the suppression of slavery, extended by its own force and power to Hongkong.

Since those early days, there have been periodic agitations against this Chinese custom, but none of such intensity as that now being waged in England, which is largely directed by a labor colonel, John Ward, M. P., who knows Hongkong first-hand. John Ward, known as "the Navy M. P.," raised the British flag during the war, and the great war and later he was appointed to the command of a regiment sent out for garrison duty to Hongkong. It was while here that he looked into this slavery question, gathering facts and figures of which he has made full use since his return to England.

A woman actively engaged in the campaign also—a Mrs. Haslewood, wife of a naval officer, who also was posted in Hongkong during the war. When she learned of the system first-hand, she began an anti-slavery campaign in the press, whereupon her husband was informed that if she did not cease the activities in which she was engaged, he would see to it that she was daily posted to duty in Europe, whether his wife also went and since played a big part in the parliamentary campaign against this slavery system.

System Termed Slavery.

In the system by which these servant girls are procured and kept in domestic bondage rightly to be termed slavery? Taking the ordinary conception of the term, it is. These girls, who are invariably the daughters of the very poorest Chinese, are purchased under what is to all intents and purposes a deed of sale. They themselves have no voice in the matter. The transaction is put through by men and women known as "go-between," who make a regular trade of placing these girls in wealthy homes. From the deed usually describes the process as one of "adoption," but in point of fact the parents seldom, if ever, see the child again, and what is more, the girl does not in any sense become one of the household into which she is sold. She is there merely as a servant. She receives no wages; she gets her food and clothing, and she rarely leaves the four walls of the house. In the respect that she is a servant working without her own consent for others and is not regarded in any way as a member of the family, her status is altogether different to that of the child adopted.

Ah! Backache Gone! Rub Lumbago Away

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

Into a British or American home in England or the States. Moreover, when she reaches womanhood, she is generally sold again, without her parents being in any way consulted, into marriage. The system, too, has another evil aspect, in that there is undoubtedly a considerable traffic in girls who are sold into prostitution.

Problem Proves Difficult.

It is a difficult problem with which to deal. British colonial tradition is to respect the customs of subject races, but only to the point at which they do not conflict with British law. Registration of these "girl slaves" has been suggested, with a view to their interests being safeguarded by the authorities, but the idea has not found favor in official circles, possibly because its adoption would be a tacit recognition of a system which at any rate in principle conflicts with anti-slavery laws.

The London government is now urging the Governor of Hongkong to appoint a committee of leading Chinese to consider the problem and to see that the system is not abused. This does not satisfy the liberal campaigners in the House of Commons, where the fight is likely to be reopened and carried on until some definite steps are taken to remove what is regarded as a blot on British colonizing methods.

Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger. Rome, Feb. 15.—Contrary to doubts expressed in the London press, your correspondent learns that the Komalst delegation will reach England about the date fixed for the London international conference. This will be rendered possible by the fact that the Italian Government has undertaken to facilitate the journey of Mustafa Kemal's envoy, providing a man of war for their passage. The representatives of the nationalist government have already left their capital and are expected in Rome within ten days when they will proceed to London.

REVOLUTION IN INDIAN STATE

Tonk District is Scene of Violent Outbreak Against British Rule.

London, Feb. 15.—Revolution has broken out in the Indian state of Tonk, in Rajasthan, says a Reuters' despatch from Ahmedabad. After agreeing to demands of the people, the Nawab Muhammad ruler of the district, arrested leaders of the movement, whereupon rioting broke out. State troops are actively engaged and people are fleeing toward British territory.

Trouble in Capital.

The capital of the district is located in the city of Tonk, about fifty miles south of Jaipur.

Tonk is one of twenty-one Indian states included in the Rajasthan district, which covers a vast area in the northwestern part of the Indian peninsula. Tonk has an area of 2,553 square miles and in 1911 had a population of 515,181. Most of the population are Hindus.

Stabbed While Taking Prisoner

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—Stabbed in the hip by an Italian who followed him while taking a prisoner to the station, Constable Victor Dalpe, of the Montreal street station, escaped a probably fatal blow when Constable Cleroux grasped an arm of the assailant in mid-air as the other was about to strike Dalpe in the back with a dagger. The assailant was taken to the station by Constable Cleroux and charges of aggravated assault on an officer and of having a weapon illegally in his possession were laid against him. He gave his name as Giovanni Monaco, and his address as 11 Bridge street, Constable Dalpe, after taking his own prisoner to the station, was sent to the Montreal General Hospital, where his wound was treated in the outdoor department. Dalpe, according to the report made at the station, had arrested Fignetto Diacurio, of 118 St. James street, on a charge of loitering while under the influence of liquor at a corner on St. James street. Taking him to the station he was followed by Monaco, who, at the corner of St. James and Cardinal streets, drew a four-inch dagger and, as he was about to strike the constable in the back, Constable Cleroux appeared on the scene and grasped the man's arm, the blade landing in Dalpe's hip. Searched at the station, Diacurio was found to be carrying a 38-calibre revolver with three chambers loaded. Constable Dalpe, who was sent home after being treated in the hospital, joined the police force on January 20 last.

London has had many applicants from pupils who are anxious to have private lessons. The West London Cookery School, as it will be called, is established in Newman Street, W., and will deal chiefly with the principle of cooking on a stove that burns anthracite coal—a process which, it is maintained, is much more economical than ordinary coal, in addition to the labor-saving advantages entailed in its use.

The first course of lessons arranged by the principals includes lectures on French frying and Anglo-Indian cooking. Every pupil—not more than three may take private lessons at a time—provides himself with her own equipment in the way of apron, notebook, and similar requisites, but the ingredients used will be bought for her on condition that she purchases the cooked articles. The head cookery teacher, Mrs. Goddard, has won fame as the prize-winner for an omelet in a competition—held from the big London hotels being among the competitors—that took place before Queen Mary.

Perspiration — ruins silk stockings

Those unsightly perspiration stains that are so annoying denote a chemical action that spells ruin to your silk stockings. Why not decide to save them. How? After every wearing, give them a bath in a bowl of LUX suds. Easy and simple. They come out so fresh and clean that they look like new. And they will last twice as long.

How to Care for Silk Stockings

Never wring silk stockings. Wringing injures the fabric. Just squeeze the water out gently. Always use a warm iron, never a hot one. Heat injures silk fibre and yellows white and delicate colors.

Spread docked stockings on a towel and roll immediately to dry. Iron while still damp. This will prevent the clocks from running. Remember, LUX harms nothing that pure water itself may touch.

Mrs. Leonard Tilley presided and announced a lecture to be given shortly by Lt. Col. McCullough at the Grosvenor Hotel. It was stated that Mrs. W. H. Shaw had entertained Lt. Col. McCullough and the Club executive at her home, Duke street, yesterday afternoon. Roundtable conversations, Mothers' Pension and the Minimum Wage for Women were passed. Mrs. G. K. Bell sang two solos delightfully.

Introduced very charmingly by Mrs. Tilley, Col. McCullough told of Sumner Moody, one of Canada's early singers, and one who forever the greatness of the nation's heritage.

True riches for Canadians are dreams, and it is in the hands of Canadian Clubs to hold fast ideals for those who shall come after us. Much has been sacrificed for us, and we must pass on to the future a high vision. In Canada, we had good fathers and mothers who were not ashamed. From their noble example the men who went overseas, that whose no national ever gave better. These men showed initiative, resourcefulness. It is for the men and women of Canada today to show the same traits in time of peace. Instancing Sir Arthur Currie as an example of initiative, Col. McCullough said Sir Arthur sent greetings to St. John.

The address ended with a very fine patriotic appeal for Canada on one of the nations of the British Commonwealth to stand fast for her ideals.

Mrs. W. Edmund Raymond, moved a vote of thanks, which was seconded by Mrs. J. H. Doody, and spoken to by Mrs. E. Advertiser Smith.

Sensible Review of Hospital Problem

Hospital Commissioner Says Vacant Beds Are Available and More Soon Will Be.

Dr. G. R. J. Crawford, a member of the Board of Commissioners of the General Public Hospital, discussing with the Standard yesterday the much mooted question of hospital extension said: "It is my opinion that the public will not stand for a further heavy expenditure on Hospital Extension so long as vacant beds remain available for the use of patients. And there are such vacant beds at the present time, and there will be when the new Nurses' Home is completed. That new building contains seventy-three rooms. There are on the staff of the hospital now forty-seven enrolled nurses of whom five are kept permanently in Montreal and four are on duty in the Epidemic Hospital. This leaves thirty-eight to give accommodation in the new home, and how thirty-eight nurses are going to fill seventy-three beds is something that needs explanation. There are thus thirty-five spare beds in the Nurses' Home."

What Was Planned. When this Nurses' Home was first projected, plans were made for the rearrangement of the old home to provide fifty-five beds for patients. These plans were on exhibition, were submitted to the staff and commissioners and were approved of by those bodies. They were not submitted for the approval of the City Council, but are available now for examination by the Mayor and Commissioners. And they should be so examined before any definite action is taken towards discarding them. There is no reason in the world why the old Nurses' Home should not be used for patients as originally proposed, and unless this is done, the people of St. John City and County have no right to be called on to provide any more money.

More Room Available. Another point is this—that, because of the representations of the staff that there is not sufficient room in the hospital for the increasing demand for admission, the arrangement with the Government for accommodation for sailors has been cancelled, this cancellation to take effect in March next. This action is regarded as wise. This will release eight additional beds for the use of our own people. There are thus, even though the combined plan might not be feasible, fifty-five beds to be made available in the old Nurses' Home, the eight beds released by the cancellation of the arrangement regarding sailors, and thirty-five additional beds in the new Nurses' Home. This latter number subject to reduction for furniture at the start.

I am not in a position to say that the suggestion of using the new Nurses' Home as a permanent hospital annex is a practical one, but it is certainly one to which attention should be given to release temporary congestion.
