BRAVERY RECOGNIZED.

Distribution of Bronze Medals to Life-Savers.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Mayor Kennedy yesterday morning distributed several bronze medals and parchments on behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane Association. The medals were given as follows:

First, to Miss Maud Anderson, of Toronto, for saving a woman from being burned to death at Guelph.

Second, to Maitland Ackroyd, boat builder, who has saved over 40 persons from drowning in Toronto Bay.

Third, to Master Frank Ward, who has a record as a life saver, and saved a child last summer from drowning at Island wharf.

Fourth, to Albert Brown, an employe of the Grand Opera House, who last summer swam out and rescued from drowning two men whose boat had capsized, and immediately afterwards plunged in after a drowning boy, for whom he had to dive three times, finally rescuing him.

Diplomas were also given to Rev. J. C. Mockridge and his younger brother, William, for saving a life at Windermere, Muskoka, last summer.

OSCAR'S HEALTH BROKEN DOWN.

London, Nov. 26.—It is learned from a Prisons' Board official that there has been a serious collapse in Oscar Wilde's health. He is utterly broken down, and it is regarded as improbable that he will live through the winter. His wife has been assiduous in calling at permitted intervals since his sentence.

DR. BARNARDO AND HIS BOYS.

London, Nov. 26.—Dr. Barnardo today procured affidavits from two doctors who examined Green, the waif, for causing whose death Miss Helen R. Findlay has been held culpable at Owen Sound. He has also obtained a letter from the matron of the home where Green was house boy, in which the latter testifies to the boy's excellent character. Dr. Barnardo indignantly denies that he is sending imbeciles out to Canada, and states that the medical examination is stricter than is the examination of soldiers enlisting in the British army.

CARDINAL LOGUE'S COMPLAINT.

Dublin, Nov. 26.—Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, has issued a pastoral letter on the eve of his departure for Rome, in which he censures the British ambassador in Italy, Sir F. Clare Ford, who, he says, is also the representative of Ireland, for having beflagged the British embassy at Rome during the recent celebrations in the Italian capital, which sought to outrage and insult the head of the church. Cardinal Logue declared that the Pope never stood in greater need of the consolidation and support of the Irish than now.

FIGHTING IN CRETE.

Athens, Nov. 26.—Reports have been received here of a collision between the Turkish troops and the Christians in Crete. Several of the Turks are said to have been killed and wounded. It is estimated that 30 persons have been killed and wounded.

London, Nov. 26.—A dispatch to the Times from Athens says that the fighting in Crete took place on Wednesday at Campos, near Canea, a fortified seaport, and the principal commercial town of the island. The military governor at Canea commanded the Turks, while the Christians were led by a committee. The Governor at Canea was wounded.

AWFUL STORIES.

London, Nov. 26.—The Daily News prints a letter from its Constantinople correspondent, in which he dilates upon the horrors of the latest massacres, the most awful stories of which are contained in the official reports of the consuls. The massacres that have occurred during the last three or four weeks put those which occurred some time ago at Sassoun and Moosh entirely in the background. More persons were killed than were murdered during the Bulgarian atrocities in 1876, and the massacres are only paralleled by that which took place at Chio.

SEVENTY KILLED.

London, Nov. 26.—A terrible accident, resulting in a sad loss of life, occurred yesterday at Palma, capital of the island of Majorca, 120 miles south of Barcelona. Eighty persons, most of whom were women, were emptying old cartridges outside the walls of the town, when one of the cartridges exploded in some unknown manner. There was a large quantity of powder that had been taken out of cartridges lying about over a large area, and this was ignited by the discharge of the cartridge. The bodies of many dead have been found, their bodies being blown almost to atoms.

It is known that 37 women and 14 men were instantly killed. Thirty-five women and five men were seriously injured, and of this number 20 have since died.

GETTING JAPANIZED.

London, Nov. 26.—A dispatch from Shanghai states that the Japanese on Monday began to evacuate the Island of Liu Kung Tao, the garrison removing to Port Arthur, where twenty transports are waiting to take to Japan these garrison troops and part of the army occupying the Liao Tung Peninsula. The forts on the Island of Liu Kung Tao were completely destroyed by the Japanese before they evacuated, and a great quantity of heavy and other guns were removed. The dispatch adds that the Chinese on the Liao Tung Peninsula are applying by wholesale to the Japanese for naturalization, and their request to be made Japanese citizens is being acceded to. It has been decided that henceforth Tainan Fu shall be the capital of the Island of Formosa instead of Taipeh. Governor Kabayama has already fixed his headquarters there.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST TERRELL.

A special from Jefferson City, Mo., says: Rev. J. T. M. Johnston, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, of this city, who has just returned from a three-months' tour of the Turkey and the Holy Land, last night, in a sermon on the Armenian troubles, made the sensational statement that American Minster Terrell ought to be hanged.

He declares that the Minister to Turkey has joined the Mohammedan Church and is aiding in the persecution and killing of Christians instead of protecting them; that the situation is far worse than has been reported to the papers, and that Terrell prevents true reports from being sent out, sending out false reports himself.

Rev. Mr. Johnston and his entire party of 34 members have signed a petition to President Cleveland, begging him to remove Terrell.

QUIETER.

London, Nov. 26.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfort Zeitung telegraphs that he has had an interview with Halil Pasha, the Grand Vizier, in which he was assured that order would be restored in a few days if foreign influences ceased to operate. The Pasha added that the threatened naval demonstration by the powers and the sending of a second guardship to Constantinople by each of the powers would be political mistakes which would only give the disturbers fresh scope for agitation, in which case the Porte would decline all further responsibility for the security of foreigners. The Grand Vizier added that the Sultan was much gratified by the attitude of Emperor William. Several Berlin papers report that the recall of M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador to Turkey, is impending.

The latest dispatches to the State Department at Washington from United States Minster Terrell state that he is now officially assured of the protection of the three ladies at Hadjin; that the provinces have been quiet for the last three days, and that the outlook is better. He adds that telegrams from Aintab and Marsovan report that the missionaries are safe and protected, and that he is able to report that all our 172 missionaries in Turkey are now protected. The Porte, he adds, gives assurances that tranquility will soon be restored.

GREAT BRITAIN'S BIG ARMY.

There Are Over Two Hundred Thousand of Tommy Atkins.

The annual return of the British army, issued recently, contains some very interesting figures. On June 1 last there were 222,151 men and officers in the regular army—that number being the highest reached during the twenty years for which statistics are available. The army reserve numbered 82,674, being slightly in excess of the previous year; the militia (enrolled), 121,667; yeomanry, 10,014, and volunteers, 231,382 enrolled, or 224,525 efficient, the latter figure being 5,414 above that of 1893, the highest yet reached. In the event of a great national emergency, we could raise the regulars to 300,000 men, and besides have over 300,000 militia and volunteers.

A GRAND TRUNK COLLISION.

On the Air Line—Five Cars and a Caboose Telescoped—Engineer Gray's Narrow Escape.

St. Thomas, Nov. 26.—A serious accident occurred on the Air Line division of the G. T. R. last evening, west of Paine's, which fortunately terminated without loss of life, although Engineer Gray and his fireman had to jump for their lives. A work train, in charge of Conductor John Campbell and Engineer Stanfield, of this city, were picking up old iron along the track, and a flagman had been sent out to warn approaching trains. No. 92, fast freight, from the tunnel came thundering along at 35 miles an hour, and not noticing the flagman went flying past. Engineer Gray, when within 50 yards of the work train called to his fireman to jump for his life. He then hastily threw the throttle over and closed the lever, and jumped just in time to save himself from meeting a horrible death. No. 92 went crashing into the work train, completely telescoping the caboose and five cars and badly damaging several others. The engine and several cars toppled over into the ditch. The fast freight was in charge of Conductor Rigney and Engineer Gray, of Sarnia, and the accident occurred about 5 o'clock. Traffic was badly interrupted.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

The Sum of $325,358,218 Earned by American Roads Last Year.

The earnings of the C. P. R. for the week ending Nov. 14 last show an increase of $71,000 compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Owen McKay, civil engineer L. E. and R. R. R., was in St. Thomas Saturday making another survey for the proposed line from Ridgetown to St. Thomas. The survey which is being made runs through the Wilson farm.

The G. T. R. Company intend building a bridge over the river and harbor at Port Dover to connect with the N. and N. W. division, thus shortening the coal route from Dover to Hamilton and Toronto, which at present is via Simcoe and Woodstock.

Tilsonburg people are agitating for an extension of the Port Burwell branch to connect with the C. P. R. at Ingersoll, a distance of eighteen miles. It is not unlikely that the C. P. R. will build this branch, which will give them connection with an excellent shipping point.

The new agreement between the Canadian Pacific Railway managers and their engineers is for five years. It has been signed, all parties expressing themselves as being satisfied with its terms. The changes made from the old agreement, which expires next month, are not important.

The interstate commerce commission has made its report on the finances of 650 railroads, having 164,529 miles of track, or 92 per cent of the total mileage of the country. The gross earnings were $1,003,022,853; operating expenses, $677,667,635, leaving net earnings of $325,355,218, as compared with net earnings of $320,137,670 for the same roads in 1894.

MUSIC FOR MERMAIDS.

Fifty-Six Woodstock Organs at the Bottom of the Sea.

Woodstock, Nov. 26.—D. W. Karn & Co. received a cable message yesterday stating that the steamer Nessmore, of the Johnson Line, had gone to the bottom with a consignment of 56 of the firm's organs, which were shipped three weeks ago to the European markets. The total value of the shipment was $3,000, fully covered by insurance.

The boat went aground off the New Hebrides, and will likely be a total loss.

TRACED TO CLEVELAND.

George Walters Follows His Runaway Wife and the Boarder

Who Is Alleged to Have Eloped With Her—Went to Buffalo and Then to Cleveland.

The Cleveland Leader, while slightly off color in some of its references, throws some light on the disappearance of Mrs. Geo. Walters and Wm. Martin, English street, who were alleged by Mr. Walters to have eloped some weeks ago. It says:

A heart-broken husband has been in this city for several days looking for his runaway wife. George Walters, of London, Ont., was at the central police station on Saturday asking the police to aid him in his search. He told a very pitiful story to Lieut. Schmunk. He said that he was married nineteen years ago in London, Ont., and has until two weeks ago lived happily with his wife. He was the proprietor of a large confectionery store, and was always prosperous.

Some time ago his wife proposed to keep a boarding house, and Mr. Walters, with great reluctance, said she might. Two men applied for board soon after an advertisement had been inserted in a London paper, and everything seemed to go well until two weeks ago. Returning from his place of business on that evening, he discovered, he says, that his wife had disappeared with a boarder named William Martin. It is also claimed by Mr. Walters that this boarder took clothing and jewelry belonging to him valued at $20.

As soon as Mr. Walters could close up his business affairs he started for Buffalo. Arriving there, he found that the couple had shortly before left for Cleveland. Lieut. Schmunk put several patrolmen on the case, and they scoured the city, but were unsuccessful. It is believed that they are not now in the city.

Mr. Walters will leave for his old home soon. He is now stopping at the Streibinger House.

THE FOT POLITICAL.

Open Rebellion of Conservatives Against Sir Adolphe Caron.

Mr. Charles Angers has consented to run as a Liberal candidate for Charlevoix county, the seat of Mr. Simard, deceased.

Mr. Pelletier, M.P.P., declines to take Hon. Mr. Angers' seat in the Dominion Cabinet. He hates to let go a sure thing for a job of a few months.

OPEN REBELLION.

The Moniteur de Levis (Conservative), the organ of Hon. A. R. Angers, asks: "What has become of the Conservative party under Sir Adolphe Caron? There is one distressing fact, which no one can deny and which shows up the profound incapacity of the Postmaster-General, if it does not prove something worse. That is the disunion which reigns today in the ranks of the Conservative party and which separates, on the eve of an election campaign, those whom recent victories held so closely united. As far as we are concerned, we have had enough of it and we refuse peremptorily to march in the steps of Sir Adolphe Caron. A man who has betrayed can betray again; he who has betrayed twenty times has contracted a habit which renders him dangerous and contemptible. The Premier was warned last February. He knows that the Conservatives of the district of Quebec refuse to go into the fight with Sir Adolphe. We repeat to him openly our determination." All of which Mr. Foster might use for a text for another address on the harmony which reigns amongst the party.

FOOTBALL DREAM IN CHURCH.

Sleeping Seltzer Tackles a Worshipper and Startles the Bishop.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—F. T. Seltzer, a Northwestern University student, is a football player. Sunday morning he went to the First Methodist Church and fell asleep in a pew directly in front of Bishop Foster. The bishop was well into the depths of a profound sermon when the gridiron frenzy seized the sleeping student. He seized the man next to him, and tried to throttle him. Then he kicked a derby hat and sent it sailing towards the pulpit.

By this time the pious worshippers thought the man mad. The good bishop ceased speaking and looked frightened. The tackle and kick had aroused the slumbering faculties of Student Seltzer and he sheepishly apologized to the man next to him—a solemn-visaged gentleman, who still believes the student possessed of the devil.

Seltzer said he had dreamed he was playing football. The bishop looked daggers and the young man hurriedly left the church.

The eldest was aged 15 years, and accused her mother of keeping her for immoral purposes. The children will be brought before the police magistrate for disposal.

MARTHAVILLE.

(Agents, Will and John Gregory.)

Marthaville, Nov. 2.—Wm. Barnes & Son have struck another big well on the town line. It was drilled by Ed Ivison & Son, and finished last week. It was tested only by the drilling rig, and gives an enormous amount of gas, and by what it has already done it will be good for six or eight barrels a day. The well now stands idle until a pumping rig is built. The drillers have moved their rig, and commenced to bore their third well. The latter have also bought the farm that belonged to Mr. Trum Dupee, town line, with the intention of drilling when they have finished their contract for Barnes.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS.

Death of Registrar Springer—Probably Fatal Accident—A Tramp Transformed.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—Dr. Lewis Springer, registrar of the county of Wentworth, died suddenly at his residence, 334 Main street east, shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning. He had suffered with inflammatory rheumatism, and it is supposed that his heart was affected by the malady. The deceased was a son of the late Oliver D. Springer, and was born on the old Springer homestead, now St. Peter's Infirmary, on Oct. 31, 1835. He studied medicine, graduating at a Cleveland college, but never practiced his profession. He was one of the original promoters of the Hamilton street railway, being manager for several years. He ran against the late R. R. Waddell at the Dominion elections in 1882 and was elected by a small majority. Dr. Springer was appointed registrar on March 21, 1891. He leaves a widow and three daughters.

Hiram Pfeiffer, while engaged with other men erecting the steel sections of the arch at Park street for the T., H. and B. tunnel, was struck by a huge piece of iron, which fell on his neck and shoulder. His neck and back were paralyzed. His injuries will probably result fatally. Pfeiffer is married, and has several children to support.

Maurice Barker, 23 years, who has been leading the life of a tramp for some time, and for the past five nights has been given lodging at No. 3 police station, received information from the old country yesterday morning that his father was dead and left him $8,000. Inclosed in the letter was a draft for $500 from the executors of his father's estate. Soon after receiving the draft he cashed it, and after taking a bath and shaving he donned a new suit of clothes, and was transformed, in looks at least, from a tramp to a gentleman.

Do You Like a Good Dinner?

See that the celebrated Windsor Table Salt is on the table. Every crystal alive with preservative and purifying power. Never cakes. Without an equal. Ask your grocer for it.

Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

PETROLEA PICKINGS.

Death of One of the Town's Oldest Residents.

A Pumping Rig on the Flats Burned—Y. M. C. A. Plans.

"Advertiser" Agents, Lowery Bros., and E. W. Atwood & Co.

Petrolea, Nov. 25.—Mr. A. Simpson, who is drilling on Pelee Island, was home for a few days last week.

Just after dinner on Friday, as Mr. George Ward was about to hitch up his horse to his oil wagon, the animal got away from him, but was caught before any damage was done.

Mr. H. W. Brown has moved into Dr. Lougheed's residence.

Messrs. Frank and John McDonald, jun., left on Saturday for the old country with a load of cattle.

Mr. Walter McDonald, of Toronto, was in town last week.

Died, here, on Saturday, Jos. A. Dunfield, aged 54 years, 8 months, 9 days. Mr. Dunfield was one of the town's oldest residents. He had run a grocery store on King street for a number of years. He was a very ardent Independent Forester, and held the position of financial secretary for fifteen years. The lodge here deeply regret their loss, as they feel that they will never be able to get one to fill his place. He was highly respected and esteemed by all who knew him. The funeral took place on Monday, and was very largely attended. The Foresters, in a body, followed the remains of their beloved brother to their last resting place.

On Saturday evening about 10:30 a pumping rig on the flats belonging to Mr. James W. McCutcheon was discovered to be on fire. The brake engine got to the scene, and succeeded in saving the oil tanks and coal, the rig being entirely destroyed before they arrived. The west end engine was unable to get to the fire on account of the steepness of the hill, and the road also being very slippery. Mr. Perry, the engineer, stated that about 9 o'clock he shut down the rig and pulled all the fire out of the furnace and put it out with water, he having to shut down on account of his water pump refusing to work. Mr. McCutcheon's loss on rig and contents will reach nearly $1,000; partly insured, but his actual loss will reach the thousands, on account of the well having to stand idle while a new rig is being put in.

Mr. G. A. Bayard, of the inland revenue department, left on Saturday for his new field of labor in Windsor. His successor arrived here on Friday.

The Y. M. C. A. intend to indulge in a basket ball team this year, and have rented a room in the Archer Block for the purpose. They also intend giving a reception to the young men of the town shortly.

The I. O. F. intended holding an "At Home" in their rooms shortly, but have decided to postpone it out of respect for their deceased brother, Bro. James A. Dunfield.

A union meeting of the young peoples' societies of the different churches will be held shortly in the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. M. Rogers is building a cottage on Huggard street, near Main, and it is rumored that he has the bird already for the cage.

WHAT TRAINED SENSES CAN DO.

How a Perfumer Can Readily Recognize a Delicate Perfume.

It is remarkable how well a perfumer learns to recognize scent. In testing a sweet smelling liquid he wets the base of his left thumb with a little of it. Then he rubs the place rapidly with his right hand. The alcohol in which the essence is dissolved, being the most volatilo, is at once evaporated and the substance which emits the odor remaining, he can smell it in its purity.

Of course it is an easy thing to recognize the principal odors which are in use, but when several are mixed, as is common, his task becomes more difficult. Yet a skilled man can not only tell you what three or four perfumes enter into the composition he is testing, but also roughly, the relative proportions of each.

It is easy to tell the relative amount of wool and cotton in a piece of colored underwear when you know how. Men who have made the subject a specialty can do this by holding the cloth in the light and looking through it. The cotton and wool can be distinguished by the difference in their colors, which exists, although the same dye was used for both. The untrained eye could hardly detect the fact that the cloth had two shades, but the skill that comes from long practice makes the thing simple.

There are many men, too, who are able to tell an English book from an American book by the smell. The books printed in England in nearly every case have a pleasanter odor than those made in America. The kind of paste, ink, paper and binding used has probably something to do with it.

There are ways of telling who the publishers of a given book are besides looking at the title page. Somehow every firm give a certain characteristic look to every volume which it issues, and a skilled man, in nine cases out of ten, merely by looking at the binding and one of the pages, can tell from whose presses and bindery the work comes. This, of course, applies only to the larger firms and to books printed comparatively recently.—Pearson's Weekly.

The regular officers of the British navy, as a rule, condemn the introduction of 100 officers to their ranks from the Royal Naval Reserve, but any other opinion could hardly have been expected.

Fruit as Medicine.

Why for ages have people eaten apple sauce with their roast goose and sucking pig? Simply because the acids and pectones in the fruit assist in digesting the fats so abundant in this kind of food. For the same reason at the end of a heavy dinner we eat our cooked fruits, and when we want their digestive action even more developed we take them after dinner in their natural, uncooked state as dessert. In the past ages instinct has taught men to do this; today science tells them why they did it, and this same science tells us that fruit should be eaten as an aid to digestion of other foods much more than it is now. Cultivated fruits, such as apples, pears, cherries, strawberries, grapes, etc., contain on analysis very similar proportions of the same ingredients, which are about 1 per cent of malic and other acids, and 1 per cent of flesh-forming albuminoids, with over 80 per cent of water.

Digestion depends upon the action of pepsin in the stomach upon the food, which is greatly aided by the acids of the stomach. Fats are digested by these acids and the bile from the liver. Now, the acids and pectones in fruit peculiarly assist the acids of the stomach. Only lately even royalty has taken lemon juice in tea instead of sugar, and lemon juice has been prescribed largely by physicians to help weak digestion, simply because these acids exist abundantly in the lemon.—Popular Science Monthly.

Catarrh can be successfully treated only by purifying the blood, and the one true blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TOO BAD.

Mary—Cease your flatteries or I will put my hands over my ears.

John (wishing to be complimentary)—Ah, your lovely hands are too small.

THE only besieged French fortress which was never occupied by German troops during the war of 1870 is the little fortress of Bitch. It is an impregnable rock. The Prussians shelled it from Aug. 23 to Sept. 15. Finally the Prussians got tired of wasting their ammunition. They packed off their siege guns and contented themselves with watching the place. In March 1871, the brave garrison departed, with all the honors of war, the place having been ceded to France.

HOT AS THE INFERNO.

The Red Sea is infernal in its heat. It does not look large on the maps, but it stretches for nearly 1,500 miles between the incandescent shores of Egypt and Arabia, and its greatest width is less than 200. For nine months in the year the mercury remains at about 98 degrees in the shade, and when there is a breeze from the torrid deserts to the west or east it is hot as the breath of a furnace. A year frequently goes by without a drop of rain falling. The water is very warm. It loses by evaporation each year enough to make itself an aqueous blanket 23 feet thick. Naturally it is one of the saltiest bodies of water on the globe. It is really a sort of an arm of the Indian Ocean, and receives no water to speak of from any other source. It has been estimated that if its supply were cut off by closing the Strait of Bab el Mandeb and the Suez Canal it would take only a few years for the fierce sun to dry it up entirely.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Addresses His Latest Sermon.

Lessons From Absalom's Conduct—Essentials to Success in Life.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—In his sermon yesterday Rev. Dr. Talmage, preaching to the usual crowded audience, took up a subject of universal interest to young men. His text was selected from II. Samuel, xviii., 29: "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

The heart of David, the father, was wrapped up in his boy Absalom. He was a splendid boy, judged by the rules of worldly criticism. But, notwithstanding all his brilliancy of appearance, he was a bad boy, and broke his father's heart. He had marshaled an army to overthrow his father's government. The day of battle had come. The conflict was begun. David, the father, sat between the gates of the palace waiting for the tidings of the conflict. Oh, how rapidly his heart beat with emotion. There is one questions that springs from his heart to the lip, and springs from the lip into the ear of the besweated and bedusted messenger, flying from the battlefield—the question, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" When it was told to David, the King, that, though his armies had been victorious, his son had been slain, the father turned his back upon the congratulations of the nation, and went up the stairs of his palace, his heart breaking as he went, wringing his hands sometimes, and then again pressing them against his temples, as though he would press them in, crying: "Oh, Absalom! my son! my son! Would God I had died for thee. Oh, Absalom! my son! my son!"

My friends, the question which David, the King, asked in regard to his son, is the question that resounds today in the hearts of hundreds of parents. Yea, there are a great multitude of young men who know that the question of the text is appropriate when asked in regard to them. They know the temptations by which they are surrounded; they see so many who started life with as good resolutions as they have who have fallen in the path, and they are ready to hear me ask the question of my text, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" Just look upon society today. Look at the shipwreck of men for whom fair things were promised, and who started life with every advantage. Look at those who have dropped from high social position, and from great fortune, disgraced for time, disgraced for eternity. All who sacrifice their integrity come to overthrow. Now, what are the safeguards of young men? The first safeguard of which I want to speak is a love of home. God pity you, young man, if you never had a home. It may have been a lowly roof, but you cannot think of it without a dash of emotion. Fresco on palace wall does not mean so much to you as those rough-hewn rafters. But there and those here who have their second dwelling place. That also is sacred forever. There you established the first family altar. There your children were born. In that room flapped the wing of the death angel. Under that roof, when your work is done, you expect to lie down and die. Now, let me say that I never knew a man who was faithful to his early and adopted home, who was given over at the same time to any gross form of wickedness. If you find more enjoyment in the club room, in the literary society, in the art salon, than you do in these unpretending home pleasures, you are on the road to ruin. Though you may be cut off from your early associates, and though you may be separated from all your kindred, young man, is there not a room somewhere that you can call your own? Though it be the fourth story of a third-class boarding house, into that room gather books, pictures and a harp. Hang your mother's portrait over the mantel. Bid unholy mirth stand back from that threshold. Consecrate some spot in that room with the knee of prayer. By the memory of other days, a father's counsel, a mother's love, and a sister's confidence, call it home.

Another safeguard for these young men is industrious habit. There are a great many people trying to make their way through the world with their wits instead of by honest toil. There is a young man who comes from the country to the city. He fails twice before he is as old as his father was when he first saw the spires of the great town. He is seated in his room at a rent of $2,000 a year waiting for the banks to declare their dividends and the stocks to run up. After awhile he gets impatient. He tries to improve his penmanship by making copy-plates of other merchants' signatures. Never mind—all is right in business. After awhile he has his estate. Now is the time for him to retire to the country, amid the flocks and the herds, to culture the domestic virtues.

Now, the young men who were his schoolmates in boyhood will come, and with their ox teams, draw him logs, and with their hard hands will help to heave up the castle. That is no fancy sketch; it is every-day life. I should not wonder if there were a rotten beam in that palace. I should not wonder if that man's children grew up to be to him a disgrace, and to make his life a shame. I should not wonder if that man died a dishonorable death, and were tumbled into a dishonorable grave, and then went into the gnashish of teeth. The way of the ungodly shall perish.

Oh! young man, you must have industry of head, or hand, or foot, or perish. Do not have the idea that you can get along in the world by genius. The curse of this country today is genfuses—men with large self-conceit and nothing else. I should rather be an ox, plain, and plodding and useful, than to be an eagle, high-flying, and good for nothing but to pick out the eyes of carcasses. Satan is a roaring lion, and you can never destroy him by gun or pistol or sword. The weapons with which you are to beat him back are pen, and type, and hammer, and adze, and saw, and pickaxe, and yardstick, and the weapon of honest toil. Work, work, or die.

Another safeguard that I want to present to young men is a high ideal of life. Sometimes soldiers going into battle shoot into the ground instead of into the hearts of their enemies. They are apt to take aim too low, and it is very often that the captain, going into conflict with his men, will cry out: "Now, men, aim high." There are a great many men who start the important structure of life without knowing whether it is to be a rude Tartar's hut, or a St. Mark's Cathedral, and begin to write out the intricate poem of their life without knowing whether it is to be a Homer's "Odyssey" or a rhymester's botch. Out of one thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine have no life plot. Alas! that there should be on this sea of life so many ships that seem bound for no port. They are swept every whither by wind and wave, up by the mountains and down by the valleys. They sail with no chart. They gaze on no star. They long for no harbor. There never were grander opportunities opening before young men than are opening now. Young men of the strong arm and of the stout heart, and of the bounding step, I marshal you today for a great achievement.

Another safeguard is a respect for the Sabbath. Tell me how a young man spends his Sabbath, and I will tell you what are his prospects in business, and I will tell you what are his prospects for the eternal world. Our bodies are seven-day clocks, and they need to be wound up, and if they are not wound up they run down into the grave. No man can continuously break the Sabbath, and keep his physical and mental health. Ask those aged men and they will tell you they never knew men who continuously broke the Sabbath who did not fail in mind, body or moral principle. Oh, my friends, keep the Lord's day. You may think it old-fogy advice, but I give it to you now: "Remember the Sabbath day, and keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work; but the seventh is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work." A man said that he would prove that all this was a fallacy, and so he said: "I shall raise a Sunday crop." And he plowed the field on the Sabbath, and then he put the seed in on the Sabbath, and then he cultured the ground on the Sabbath. When the harvest was ripe he reaped it on the Sabbath, and he carried it into the mow on the Sabbath, and then he stood out defiant to his Christian neighbors, and said: "There, that is my Sunday crop, and it is all garnered." After awhile a storm came up, and a great darkness, and the lightnings of heaven struck the barn, and away went his Sunday crop.

There is another safeguard that I want to present. I have saved it until the last, because I want it to be the most emphatic. The great safeguard for every young man is the Christian religion. Some of you look forward to life with great despondency. I know it. I see it in your faces from time to time. You say: "all the occupations and professions are full, and there's no chance for me!" Oh! young man, cheer up. I will tell you how you can make your fortune. Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all other things will be added. Your great want is a new heart, and in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ I tell you so today, and the blessed Spirit presses through the solemnities of this hour to put the cup of life to your thirsty lips. Oh! thrust it not back. Mercy presents it—bleeding mercy, long-suffering mercy. Despise all other friendships, prove recreant to all other bargains, but despise not God's love for your dying soul—do not do that.

STILL DRAGGING ALONG.

The Hyams Murder Trial—A Barber's Remarkable Memory.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—When the Hyams murder trial opened yesterday, the defence called Matthew H. Ramage, a travelling engraver. He had known the prisoners for some time. On Jan. 16, 1893, he walked down to his office about 8 o'clock in the morning. He found the office locked, and strolled along Victoria to Adelaide street. On the corner he met Harry Hyams, who was waiting there for Willie Wells. Willie Wells came along just at that time with a parcel in his hand. Willie asked the witness to give him writing lessons, but he answered that he could not do so. Witness walked along Toronto street and Leader Lane to Colborne street, where at the warehouse, witness and Harry Hyams returned to Leader Lane, and the prisoner went into a barber shop. To Mr. Osler, the witness said that he had been called upon in Philadelphia by Lawyer Horn, of the defense, who reminded him that he (the witness) had seen Harry Hyams on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893. He told him to think it up, and he did so, with the result as at present given.

A. J. Gardiphy, a barber, swore that on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893, he had shaved Harry Hyams between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. This witness was extremely exact in a certain portion of his evidence. He had opened the barber shop, he said, at 20 minutes past 8 o'clock, and Harry Hyams had come in at 8:35. After being shaved he had gone out at 5 minues to 9 o'clock exactly. Witness used to shave Harry Hyams four times a week. It was 15 minutes after Harry Hyams left the shop on the morning in question that witness heard of the accident from another customer who came in. He could not remember anything about the other customer, although he had been most accurate in regard to Hyams.

John Neal testified to having seen Dallas Hyams at the King street office between 8:30 and 9 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893.

CANADA'S CLAIMS

For Damage to the Behring Sea Sealers—Congress May Refuse to Pay Them.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The officers of the revenue cutter Bear report that at the close of the past season 26,000 seal pups were found starved to death, owing to the killing of their mothers by the pelagic sealers.

The United States, which has never allowed the molestation of breeding grounds or killing females on land, made an effort last year to stay the slaughter going on by limiting the land killing to 15,000 immature males. It is questionable if in the face of existing conditions and the reports of treasury officials further restraints be exercised, especially as a request made last January by the United States to Great Britain for greater protection to seals has been practically ignored.

It was the attempt made by the United States to stop the barbarity practiced on the seals by seizing the schooners, that subjected the Government to claims for damages on the part of Canada. These claims, which were re-enacted claims, rejected last year by Congress, are again receiving attention from the State department, and the articles of a convention providing for a commission to sit at Victoria are being considered.

It is believed in congressional circles that unless a treaty, which must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the senate, confines the assessment of damages strictly to vessels passed upon by the Paris tribunal, and provides a penalty for injury on the part of all witnesses called by either government, it will suffer the same fate as did Secretary Gresham's proposition to pay to Canada $425,000 out of hand, despite the fact that a number of the schooners belonged to American subjects and nearly three-fourths of the claims are for prospective catches of seals.

THE M'ALL MISSION.

Fifth Annual Meeting of the London Auxiliary Yesterday.

Encouraging Report From the Secretary, Mrs. Jarvis — The Old Officers Unanimously Re-Elected.

The fifth annual meeting of the London Auxiliary of the McAll Mission was held in the "Y" rooms, Spencer block, yesterday afternoon, but owing to the unfavorable weather the attendance was small. Mrs. J. H. McMechan, the president, occupied the chair, and among the workers present were: The secretary, Mrs. (Dr.) C. E. Jarvis, Mrs. James Bowman, Mrs. John Callard, Miss Elliott, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. McKenzie, Miss McKenzie, Mrs. T. A. Rowat and Miss Hamilton.

After opening exercises, led by Mrs. McMechan, Mrs. Jarvis was called upon for her annual report, which was as follows: "Of the year, now drawing to its close, we wish we might bring to you a more encouraging account of its labors. But of this we feel assured, that God's blessing has been with us. Although we cannot point to many acquisitions to our membership roll, who can say how much good has been done to those who have listened, with rapt attention, to the many helpful lessons from his word, and the many answered prayers which have reached us through letters from the faithful workers in the mission halls of France? We have held four meetings (quarterly) this year, with an average attendance of about twenty. Although numerically not largely attended, we trust all have been amply repaid for coming. The Auxiliary has to thank Revs. Mr. Mihell and Mr. Cassidy for short addresses on the subject of home and foreign missions; also Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Tilley, and Miss McKenzie, representatives of the various denominations of the city, for such profitable Bible lessons; and likewise those who have so kindly assisted us in the service of song. We have held no public meeting, although we had hoped to have secured Mr. Gulick, representative secretary of the American association, who came as far as Toronto. In this we were disappointed. We can report subscriptions for nine chairs so far secured, but as the fiscal year does not yet close, let us hope for further additions to the number. The treasurer reports $42 70 in the bank, and money on hand to the amount of $60. Ere the year closes we hope to have $100, the same as last year. Our moneys are raised by membership subscriptions, donations from friends of the cause, and the chairs referred to above. To explain: The gift of a chair ($5) is the average annual cost per sitting of the lighting, heating, etc., of the mission hall. Special mention should have been given to the Y. P. S. C. E. of Knox Church, South London, for the gift of one chair; also to Mrs. Ware's offering of $10 in memory of a beloved daughter. A few words concerning the mission stations (La Rochell and Rochefort), in which we as members of the Canadian McAll Association, are most interested: 'Each year,' writes M. J. Durrleman, 'we have to thank God for the many blessings he bestows on us, and for the constant progress of the work. He supplies all our wants, and sometimes in quite an unexpected manner. Our meetings continue to be well attended. On Sunday evenings the meeting room is generally full, and even on Wednesday evenings, when the weather is favorable, there are few empty chairs. Our children's meetings are also very encouraging, and the children more and more numerous. In the month of January, notwithstanding the great cold, I had two meetings with 71 and three others with 69 children at each. What powerful attraction, and what mighty consolation do men find in the Gospel! What other kind of meetings could twice a week gather and keep together audiences as numerous and as regular as ours? Last summer M. Quebru undertook open-air meetings a little outside the town, on the border of a much-frequented street. There we preached to numerous passers-by, who perhaps never enter any place of worship. As last year some of our people left us for a better world, all testifying that God's spirit had touched their hearts and made them his own.' And so the good work goes on. As the Master calls his faithful servants home, he wisely raises others to fill their places. 'In conclusion,' writes Mr. Durrleman, 'I would add: Pray for us. Pray more for us, all you who already help us.'"

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous choice of the old board, which is composed of earnest workers for the cause with which they have identified themselves. The officers are:

President—Mrs. J. H. McMechan.

First Vice-President—Mrs. J. L. Frazer.

Second Vice-President—Mrs. Robertson.

Third Vice-President—Mrs. McKenzie.

Secretary—Mrs. C. E. Jarvis.

Treasurer—Miss Hamilton.

Talling, St. James' Presbyterian Church; Miss Fairburn, First Congregational Church; Mrs. Dickson, Dundas Center Church; Mrs. Evans, Queen's Avenue Church; Mrs. (Canon) Richardson, Memorial Church; Mrs. Callard, St. Paul's Cathedral; Mrs. (Rev.) Ira Smith, Talbot Street Baptist Church.

No Cobwebs Hang to Pinemalt.

"Old Reliable;" "old and tried," are words often used to recommend certain medicines. They are really words of condemnation. A medicine might have been the best ten years ago, but so rapid is medical progress that to day it is long in the rear and outrun by better remedies. Pinemalt, on the other hand, lays no claim to antiquity. It is a New Reliable, based on the latest discoveries of medical science. Pinemalt was not formulated under the mists and clouds which overhung medical practice in years, happily gone by. No; it was formulated rather in the glare of the searchlight of present-day knowledge and experience. Hence, one reason why this new remedy has leaped at a bound into public favor. In all throat and lung ailments it relieves always, and cures all curable cases. In chronic cases, and incipient consumption, asks druggists for Pinemalt and Hypophosphites instead of plain Pinemalt.

John Ormsby, the translator of the "Poema de Cid" and of "Don Quixote," died recently at Ramsgate.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, of Carswell postoffice, Ont., writes: "I have used Parmelee's Pills, and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

CANADA'S WONDERFUL NATURAL ENDOWMENT.

An Ottawa dispatch says:

"Mesrs. L. L. Watson, L. R. Cooper, J. R. Whitesides and Samuel Morris, the two former from England and the latter from Ireland, are here to see the Government relative to the development of a Canadian pulp wood industry to be established on this side. The idea is solely in the interests of paper manufacture and articles in the make of which paper enters largely, such as papier mache and other articles made of the same material, which is now taking the place of commodities formerly made of wood. The idea of these gentlemen is to establish themselves here in the interests of an influential clientele in Great Britain and erect an establishment of considerable size in which they would manufacture pulp up to a certain process that would permit of its shipment to any part of the world, but more especially to London, Liverpool, Southampton, Leith, and Glasgow. Mr. Whitesides admits the superiority of Canadian pulp, and prefers to deal with Canada rather than with either Sweden or Norway, as at present."

Observe that these gentlemen come to Canada for our wood pulp because it is the best offering. For this reason, too, our lumber has been much sought after both by British and United States capitalists.

This Dominion is indeed a land of boundless resources, and what is of the greatest importance is the fact that almost everything of which this country produces an abundance, or could produce in abundance under improved management, is of the very highest merit.

No country in the world produces better wheat. No. 1 hard Manitoba is the highest standard the world over.

Canadian barley has long been regarded as the best grown, as has been made evident by its export to the United States in the face of a heavy tax.

The same may be said of our beans. Better beans than those produced in the bean-growing district of Ontario are not to be found.

Canadian apples took first place at the Philadelphia and Chicago expositions, and our northern grapes always hold their own.

Canadian oats and potatoes cannot be beaten. Today, when potatoes can hardly be sold in Canada at any price, Prince Edward Island finds its best market for that product in Boston, despite the tax.

Canadian turnips would be sent to the New York market by the train-load if we had reciprocity.

Canadian cattle and sheep have firmer flesh, and, what is of very great importance, are much freer from disease than cattle and sheep from latitudes further south.

Horses from Canada, if well bred, bring the highest market price in both the United States and Great Britain.

Our Canadian bacon commands a higher price in the British market than bacon sent from any other transatlantic country.

Canadian butter, produced under proper care, will hold its own with any country, even with Denmark itself. Twenty years ago we exported millions of dollars' worth, and can do it again if Canadian dairymen are as careful to market good butter, as are their keenest competitors, the Dutch.

No country sends to Great Britain as much cheese as this country ships. And so long as care is taken that no adulterated or badly-made cheese is palmed off on the British purchaser for the genuine article, so long will our cheese hold its pre-eminence.

Where is there a country to be found with a record of natural production in food stuffs, in animals, and, let us add, in men and women of ability to hold their own throughout the wide world, such as Canada enjoys?

All that is needed to secure the highest and most profitable results from our wonderful endowment in natural resources is to have as few restrictions to commerce as possible. Our rulers in the near future must be men who will remove every tax on international commerce not necessary for revenue, and will enable the workers to enjoy every cent of their earnings, less that which is necessary to economically govern. They must not be men who with one hand will pay out one million or more dollars of public money to encourage international trade, and with the other will set up high tax barriers to make that trade as difficult as possible. When that change is effected, as it ought to be at the earliest possible moment, Canada's wonderful natural resources will be developed as they have never hitherto been, affording remunerative employment for a constantly increasing, happy and contented people.

The Dominion Government imposes a tax of 72 per cent in rice. But rice is such a luxury!

By the Way.

The Victoria, B. C., Colonist condemns the Toronto World for even suggesting that Chief Justice Meredith should leave the bench and re-enter politics. The Colonist, which is a stalwart Conservative journal, says the suggestion is sensational, and that its fellow-organ acted injudiciously in giving it publicity. And thus they quarrel all along the line.

* * * *

No uncultivated spot of earth, not under water, should be left wasted. Every acre of land should be made to yield a revenue—present or prospective. What can be done to make even poor and miserable neighborhoods prosperous, through tree planting, has been exemplified in the region of Landes, France, which 50 years ago was probably the most uninviting district in the republic. Through planting pines, the neighborhood has increased in value no less than 1,000,000,000 francs or about $200,000,000. Where there were 50 years ago only a few thousand poor and unhealthy shephards whose flocks pastured on the scanty herbage, there are now saw mills, charcoal kilns and turpentine works, interspersed with thriving villages and fertile agricultural lands. Plant trees; they grow while you sleep; they increase in value every year; they require little care once they have been given a fair start.

* * * *

The future King of Great Britain is somewhat of a democrat. He prefers to be addressed "Sir," rather than "Your Royal Highness," and in that choice he exhibits good taste. To a journalist who had occasion recently to see the Prince on a matter pertaining to yachting, he promptly remarked: "Please address me as 'Sir'; it saves time, and I prefer it. The reasons annexed are well stated.

* * * *

"There is no lack of talent on the Liberal side," says the Kingston Freeman, referring to the coming Dominion Liberal Government.

* * * *

Principal Grant, writing in the Toronto Week, comments on the anomalous position occupied by those people in Canada who are prepared to take British protection, through her frigates and gunboats, whenever they get in trouble, yet maintain a high tax policy to prevent the motherland from trading with them.

* * * *

John Morley's return to public life will be a distinct gain, not only to the Liberal party, but to the country. It is men of his ability and lofty ideals that make the British House of Commons the greatest governing body in the world.

* * * *

The population of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island increased ten times faster under a revenue tariff than under the N. P., says the St. Johns Telegraph. But as the figures upon which the statement is based were furnished by the present Dominion Government, they may be slightly inaccurate.

* * * *

It was really stupid of Lord Salisbury to so denounce protection when the Canadian high tax papers have been for years proving to their own satisfaction that it was Britain's only salvation.

Mr. Laurier's 54th birthday occurred last week. He will become Prime Minister in the prime of life.

Frank Leslie's opening article upon "Heroines and Heroine Worship" affords an excuse for nearly a score of reproductions from the old and modern master painters. A similar opportunity is found in the poetic story by A. Cressy Morrison of "The Man Who Resembled Christ," which in addition is illustrated with some original drawings of rare delicacy. In "The City of Dordrecht" George C. Haite fairly revels in the picturesque, giving us eight of his aquarelles. The literary feature of the number is Tolstoi's "Master and Man," specially translated for it.

The story in St. Nicholas for Christmas, of "A Christmas White Elephant" is for grown-up people—for the few who are silly and nonsensical and are quite willing to be so. Little Cecie, the heroine, is a real girl, a delightful girl, who will never be forgotten by them. The author will have the thanks of many for one of the quaintest, brightest, truest stories told since Anderson died. The number is brimful of holiday reading and beautiful pictures, including a gorgeous Christmas tree cover, and the frontispiece is an attractive home like picture by George Varian, "Ho, For the Christmas Tree."

St. Nicholas is printing Robert Louis Stevenson's letters to children. He was very fond of them and of writing familiar letters to them.

The December number of Harper's Magazine presents a holiday appearance in its cover of white, gray and gold, and the illusion is not dispelled by an examination of the contents, beginning with a frontispiece in color. This frontispiece is one of twelve illustrations of a series of four sketches by Howard Pyle, with which the number opens. Rarely has Harper's been embellished with more beautiful pictures than these, and they are worthily succeeded by the work of Frederick Remington, Albert E. Sterner, W. T. Smedley, J. R. Weguelin, F. V. Du Mond, R. Caton Woodville, and the other illustrations of the number. There are some fine pictures of far Northern Canada, with descriptive reading in this number.

TRIFLING WITH THE DROWSY COURT.

Georgia is in trouble. One of the justices of the Supreme Court went to sleep on the bench during an argument, and a graceless scamp snapped a kodak on him. The picture has got into circulation and the Supreme Court is so indignant that it has adopted a rule forbidding kodaks in the courtroom. With this rule strictly enforced the judge can sleep during arguments in safety.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Winners of Prizes.

Result of the "Advertiser's" Mystery Story Competition.

Names and Addresses of the Successful Eleven.

Many Hundreds of Readers Entered the Lists.

The result of the competition for the prizes offered by the "Advertiser" for the best solution of the Mystery Story, "When the War Was Over," is given in the report herewith presented by the Prize Story Editor, as completed last night:

With the judges associated with me, I have examined the many hundreds of guesses, sent in by readers of the "Advertiser," as to the solution of the Mystery Story, "When the War Was Over." Our duty, in accordance with the conditions laid down by the publishers of the "Advertiser," was to discover the solutions which approached nearest to the true solution as disclosed by the author in the final installment.

We have had no easy task. Manuscripts, some long, some exceedingly short, had to be examined from readers of the "Advertiser" all over Ontario, but more especially in London and in the district between Hamilton and Sarnia and Windsor. From every township, village, town and city came replies, and even from distant Manitoba and British Columbia, and from States of the neighboring republic. Some idea of the widespread interest of "Advertiser" readers in the story may be gleaned from the following partial list of places from which guesses were sent in by one or more competitors:

From this partial list of places from which replies were received, it was made evident to the Prize Story Editor and his coadjutors that widespread interest in the story was taken by the readers of the "Advertiser" in those localities, and on examination of the many hundreds of replies, it was found that a large number of them reflected the greatest credit upon the ingenuity and deductive skill of the writers. Nevertheless, not one of the guesses sent in "offered a complete solution, correct in all its details." There was a remarkable degree of accuracy in many of the answers, and the critical examination necessary was therefore very exacting. The task of the Prize Story Editor and his assistants, indeed, entailed much labor. Each of the letters received had to be read with care and assortments made that would permit a system of selection to be followed at the later stages of the examination.

As the contest narrowed down to a comparatively few competitors the difficulties became greater, as it was found that while some solutions were accurate along certain lines, others were more accurate in other directions, and the choice between them was a matter for the greatest deliberation and the most earnest thought. Weight was given in all this examination to every item of consequence that could possibly affect the result, and in the final work of classification details were taken into consideration that would probably have been disregarded had not the competitors shown such a remarkable degree of accuracy in their answers.

ORGAN IZATION OF FARMER

A FEATURE OF THE DAY.

James Rogers Speaks Earnestly.

The development of Farmers' Institutes and other means of education on successful practical farming has proven beyond a doubt that the present-day farmer requires to be a student of his work. The most successful ones are not as a rule those who do the greatest amount of manual labor, but they are found ranking first as prize-winners on all agricultural products. James Rogers, a resident of Tilsonburg, Oxford county, Ont., for 45 years, has taken numerous first prizes during the year. A successful, reliable man, his statement will be of interest to many:

"I have suffered for seven or eight years with Itching Piles; the torture and agony I cannot here find words to describe. Night after night was kept awake with the painful itching. I tried all the physicians and every known remedy all to no account not even relief. In talking over my curious trouble with Mr. Charles Thomson, our well-known druggist, he recommended Chase's Ointment. To my wonder and surprise I got relief from the second application. I firmly believe one box is sufficient to cure any case of Itching Piles, no matter of how long duration. I would not be without it for ten times is cost. In volunteering this testimony and my consent for the manufacturers of Chase's Ointment to use it as they wish, it is that like sufferers may know they can be cured."

RESULTS in 30 DAYS. Cures all Nervous Diseases. Failing Memory, Paresis, Sleeplessness, Nightly Emissions, etc., caused by past abuses, gives vigor and size to shrunken organs, and quickly but surely restores Lost Manhood in old or young. Easily carried in vest pocket. Price $1.00 a package. Six for $5.00 with a written guarantee to cure or money refunded. Don't buy an imitation, but insist on having INDAPO. If your druggist has not got it, we will send it prepaid. Oriental Medical Co., Props., Chicago, Ill., or our agents. SOLD by Anderson & Nelles, Druggists, 240 Dundas St., LONDON, ONT., and leading druggists elsewhere.

CHICAGO FUTURITY DECLARED OFF.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26.—The Chicago Futurity, the richest western stake scheduled for 1897, which was transferred to the St. Louis Fair Association when the Harlem track was closed, has been declared off. The association expected more entries than were received. It was expected to be worth $50,000.

ATHLETICS.

PALMER OUT-PUNCHES PLIMMER.

London, Nov. 25.—The fight between Billy Plimmer and Palmer at 112 pounds for a purse of $1,500 took place last night. The referee stopped the fight in the 14th round, and awarded the battle to Palmer, owing to Plimmer's brother entering the ring. The fight took place at the Bolingbroke Club. Both men fought fast from the beginning. The first and second rounds were in Palmer's favor, the third, fourth and fifth were pretty even. Thereafter Palmer had the advantage in nearly every round, and in the 14th round, when the fight was awarded to Palmer, Plimmer was dazed by the pounding Palmer had given him.

THE WHEEL.

NEW USE FOR THE BICYCLE.

The bicycle is being put to a new use in Manitoba. That unique prairie journal, the Pilot Mound Sentinel, tells us that as roads, dry, smooth, and level, extend in all directions over the prairie, sportsmen visit the woods and lakes on their wheels, going as near as possible to the shooting ground, and having enjoyed as much sport as possible, they return to their bicycles and return home with the game bag on their back and the gun strapped beneath.

JOURNEYING TO A STAR.

There Would Be a Fascination About It if It Were Possible.

There is a perpetual fascination about the stars and the immense distances at which they lie from one another and from us. To demonstrate the vast distance of Centauri from this planet, a popular scientist gives the following illustration: "We shall suppose that some wealthy directors, for want of outlet for their energy and capital, construct a railway to Centauri. We shall neglect for the present the engineering difficulties—a mere detail—and suppose them overcome and the railway open for traffic. We shall go no further, and suppose that the directors have found the construction of such a railway to have been peculiarly easy, and that the proprietors of the interstellar space had not been exorbitant in their terms for right of way. Therefore, with a view to encourage traffic, the directors had made the fare exceedingly moderate, viz., first-class at 1 penny a hundred miles. Desiring to take advantage of these facilities, a gentleman, by way of providing himself with small change for the journey, buys up the National Debt of Britain and a few other countries, and, presenting himself at the office, demands a first-class single to Centauri.

"For this he tenders in payment the scrip of the British National Debt, which just covers the cost of his ticket, but at this time the National Debt from little wars has run up to £1,100,000,000.

"Having taken his seat, it occurs to him to ask:

"'At what rate do you travel?'

"'Sixty miles an hour, sir, including stoppages,' is the answer.

"'Then when shall we reach Centauri?'

"'In 48,663,000 years, sir!'"

Every Garment "Cut" Personally

That's made up at this establishment—as well as fitted. We look after all the details. This is only one of the many reasons why satisfaction is always given. Goods shown with pleasure.

Big Wind Storm

Does Incalculable Damage in London and District.

Telegraphic and Telephone Services Badly Crippled.

Gangs of Repair Men Leave by Train and by Buggy.

An East End House Wrecked by the Storm.

A Brick Front Blew Down—Plate Glass Window Broken—Trees, Fences and Windmills Demolished—Buildings Unroofed and Chimneys Blown Down.

The wind storm which struck London and vicinity about midnight last night and continued with terrific severity until well on in the morning, was general in its effect, embracing a territory which reached from Chicago in the west (where it is alleged to have originated), to Toronto in the east, and including all the districts contiguous to the Great Lakes. In London and neighborhood Monday had been a day of an almost unceasing downpour of rain, which appeared to grow worse as night drew on. During the evening it appeared to come straight down with deluging force, causing several minor washouts on the street car lines. About 12 o'clock the wind began to blow, and for over an hour it was a pitched battle between the giant elements for victory. Finally the wind prevailed, the rain ceased, and the stars came out, but the wind had only grown stronger than ever. It continued to increase in force until it reached its maximum velocity between 5 and 7 a.m. In that space of time was the most damage done. Chimneys were demolished, houses partly blown down, shutters sent kiting through neighboring windows, awnings blown off, fences laid flat, telegraph and telephone services demoralized, and general havoc created.

TELEGRAPHIC DAMAGE.

Very little telegraph service was furnished the press today owing to the condition of the wires. The C. P. R. report that between here and Thamesford five large trees have been blown over the wires. The western service was badly crippled, it being found impossible to obtain direct communication with Windsor, Sarnia, Detroit or other places. They had to be reached in a roundabout manner. The telephone service was of little aid, as it was badly used up.

The Great Northwestern probably fared worse than their neighbor, the C. P. R.

"All eastern wires between here and Toronto were completely obstructed," said Mr. Murray, of the G. N. W. "At 10 o'clock this morning we began to get our first wire to Toronto. We had only one wire west to Detroit, and that was along the M. C. R. line. Every other wire is down. At 12 o'clock we began getting outlets to all points of importance, however. The storm did not appear to have affected east of Toronto. All lines east of that place are working. All Chicago lines are laid up, and we are getting into Chicago in a roundabout way."

TELEPHONE SYSTEM CRIPPLED.

"Where did the storm affect you?" was asked Manager Brown, of the Bell Telephone Company.

"Locally, and throughout the surrounding districts," replied Mr. Brown. "It is hardly possible to give a detailed statement of just what damage has been done, but we expect to have everything in good shape by tonight or tomorrow morning."

"Where was the greatest damage done?"

"Most damage was done west and north. We have sent out repair gangs by train, and by driving, in all directions. One gang went as far north as Wingham, and another gang went up to St. Marys."

"Locally, the most serious break occurred on Dundas street, where the iron crest blew down off the cupola of the Mechanics' Institute building and spoiled four wires on our main line. St. Thomas was one of the places shut off by this break. However, they have all been repaired."

FRONT BLEW DOWN.

At 5 o'clock this morning people living on Dundas street near Lyle were awakened by a heavy rumbling sound, as if a large building had collapsed. A hasty survey of the situation made it manifest that about fifteen square yards of the front of Mr. Alex. Shambleau's residence, 661 Dundas street, had been blown down. Mr. Shambleau said that he was not surprised, as he expected that the wind might blow the wall over. The building comprised a shop in front, a residence behind, and a dwelling place upstairs. It was two stories high, but the front brick wall continued up from the eaves until it was level with the top of the roof, which was built to a point, like most roofs. This made a rather imposing appearance, but gave the wind free play against the unsupported wall, both back and front. The wind this morning blew the wall away from the roof, and the sound of the bricks falling on the wooden sidewalk was the noise that awoke the neighborhood. The place had only been built twelve years, but the front had been altered once or twice. Mr. Shambleau was insured against fire, but not against storm. His loss will be between $200 and $300, as the whole front will have to be rebuilt. At present it is in a very dangerous condition, and the parts which did not fall bulge out threateningly.

PLATE GLASS WINDOW BROKEN.

The force of the wind drove a neighboring awning through the magnificent plate glass window at Cairncross & Lawrence's drug store. As the window was fully insured, the only inconvenience suffered will be the lack of protection from the weather, until the new pane, which has been ordered by telegraph from Toronto, arrives tomorrow.

The storm damaged several roofs. Coote block, facing the market, shows unmistakable evidence of having been moved, as it has settled back again in a very irregular line.

The chimney at Mr. Thomas Jeffrey's store, on the corner of Dundas and Ridout streets' was blown down. It fell on the sidewalk and also damaged the roof.

A chimney on one of the houses at Dr. Gardiner's terrace, on the corner of Dundas and Colborne streets, was blown down.

A large pine tree was uprooted in Queen's Park, and many of the fences and windows of buildings suffered noticeably.

The fence at the convent on Queen's avenue was moved out of line, and bulges onto the sidewalk.

LOST THEIR HATS.

Two young ladies were crossing Kensington bridge early this morning, when a sudden gust tore off both their hats and carried them down to the turbulent stream below. The hats were not recovered.

Two trees were blown down on Horton street, and one on Richmond street north, near St. James.

Dr. Eccles' big flag pole blew over and broke a beautiful tree in its descent.

The front doors were blown off the King Street Methodist Church.

The veranda on the house that used to be occupied by John Cooper, photographer, at the corner of Queen's and Park avenues, was razed to the ground.

The fence at the Lorne avenue school was partly torn down.

A fence belonging to Ald. Wm. Heaman was blown down on Elizabeth street.

Colborne street school loses several panes of glass.

A big tree on Mr. V. Cronyn's property was blown down.

A shutter of an adjoining house was blown through a window at the residence of Capt. A. W. Porte, Queen's avenue.

IN THE COUNTRY.

Farmers report that miles of fences were blown down in every direction in the country. It is doubtful if any unprotected windmill in the direct track of the storm survived. One very expensive windmill, recently erected on Mr. Jackson's property near Nilestown, was overturned and completely wrecked. A barn, the property of L. Pearson, in the same neighborhood, was unroofed. A granary owned by Mr. John O'Brien, on con. 3, London township, suffered the same fate.

A Motion Which Could Not Be Heard at London's Weekly Sittings

Of the High Court—Must Go to Toronto—Concerning an Adelaide Man's Estate, Which Is Valued at $4,000—Other Motions.

At the regular weekly sitting of the High Court for London this morning, Mr. Justice Falconbridge was called upon to decide a motion which will be of considerable interest to the members of the bar. It was a motion by Mr. John Cameron, of Strathroy, asking for the appointment of a committee to manage the estate of Robert Parker, an Adelaide farmer, now confined in the asylum here as a lunatic. The estate is valued at $4,000.

Mr. T. H. Purdom, city, opposed the motion. He acted for Messrs. Edgar & Malone, Toronto, solicitors for Dr. Chamberlain, inspector of prisons and charities for Ontario, and who by virtue of his office is the statutory guardian in the case of Parker. Mr. Purdom objected to the motion being heard in London, and cited chap. 20 of the Ontario Statutes, 1894, sec. 1, the effect of which is that no motion of this nature can be heard in London at the single court unless the solicitors for all parties reside within the county or consent in writing, or (if they do not reside in the county) if they have their names registered in the book kept for the purpose or the motion is made ex parte.

Mr. Cameron contended that he had the right to make the motion ex parte and that the statutory committee could be disregarded. Mr. Cameron called attention to the fact that Mr. Parker lives and always had lived in the county; his property was in the county, and he was confined in an asylum in the county. Besides, a bond for his maintenance was given by relatives when Parker was placed in the institution.

Mr. Purdom further referred to sections 48 and 49 and following sections of chapter 245 of the revised statutes of Ontario, where the powers and duties of the inspector are defined, and it is shown that he has a right, where no guardian or committee is lawfully appointed, to take care of the lunatic's estate, whether it was considered necessary for the support of the lunatic or not.

"I will admit that these are the powers," said Mr. Cameron, "but I desire to re-call your attention to the fact that the lunatic has lived in Middlesex all his life, his property is all here, and a bond has been given to the asylum authorities for his maintenance."

"I do not think, however," said Mr. Justice Falconbridge, "that the motion can be made in London. I will enlarge it to Toronto, to be heard a week hence."

Short vs. Cline, a motion for the continuation of an injunction, was enlarged for a week by consent of the parties, who come from St. Thomas.

Garing vs. Hunt was a motion brought by Mr. Maxwell (St. Thomas) to have restored to the plaintiff a mechanic's lien which he held against the St. Thomas Opera House, but which was dismised by the master for Elgin. Garing had been engaged by the lessee of the building to paint scenery, etc. Judgment was reserved.

The Auer Light Company vs. W. J. McMurty was a motion brought by the plaintiffs to secure an interim injunction preventing McMurty from selling their lights. Injunction granted.

Through trains on the local railroads were very much affected by the storm, which blew down telegraph wires and poles.

The lattice work fence at the side of Mr. Patrick Murray's residence, corner of Wellington and Grey streets, was destroyed by the storm.

"Let Us Cross Over the River and rest in the shade of trees." Thus spoke the dying hero, Stonewall Jackson, a man whose conception of war was so heroic, so chivalric, that friends and foes praise him alike. How many dispirited women feel that they would indeed like to "cross over the river, and rest." Every day brings its measure of annoyance and pain. If only they could be made to realize the inestimable comfort and physical strength to be found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, they would soon feel that "their ways were ways of pleasantness, their paths were paths of peace."

Mrs. S. E. Bongey, of Red Oak, Stephenson county, Ill., writes "One of my neighbors was very sick during her 'change of life.' After advising her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I visited her a few days ago, and she could work all day long without getting tired, and says she was greatly benefited. I know many afflicted women who have been cured by your medicine."

THE STATES THANKSGIVING.

President Cleveland's Proclamation Governing Next Thursday.

The customary Thanksgiving proclamation has been issued by the President. It is as follows:

A proclamation by the President of the United States.

The constant goodness and forbearance of Almighty God which have been vouchsafed to the American people during the year which is ujst past, call for their sincere acknowledgement and devout gratitude. To the end, therefore, that we may with thankful hearts unite in extolling the loving care of our heavenly Father, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart the 28th day of the present month of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed by all our people.

On that day let us forego our usual occupations, and, in our accustomed places of worship, join in rendering thanks to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for the bounteous returns that have rewarded our labors in the fields and in the busy marts of trade, for the peace and order that have prevailed throughout the land, for our protection from pestilence and dire calamity, and for other blessings that have been showered upon us from an open hand.

And with our thanksgiving let us humbly beseech the Lord to so incline the hearts of our people unto him that he will not leave us nor forsake us as a nation, but will continue to us his mercy and protective care, guiding us in the path of national prosperity and happiness, enduing us with rectitude and virtue, and keeping alive within us a patriotic love for the free institutions which have been given to us as our national heritage.

And let us also on the day of our thanksgiving especially remember the poor and needy, and by deeds of charity let us show the sincerity of our gratitude.

In witness hereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

(Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND.

A WORTHY EXPONENT OF A WORTHY SHORTHAND SCHOOL.

We have just received from Messrs. D. McLachlin & Co., of the Canada Business College, Chatham, their new catalogue of the shorthand department. Simply to say that it is fine would not be doing it justice. It is a gem, and the handsomest issue of the kind we have ever received from any shorthand school.

It contains a number of letters from leading business houses and men of high standing throughout Canada and the United States, who have had pupils of the school employed in their offices, and all speak in most flattering terms of the efficiency of their graduates.

It contains undoubted evidence of the superior nature of the work done in the shorthand department of this school. It also contains half-tone engravings of all their medalists in this department since and including 1891. **

C. P. R. WORK.

Future Improvements on the Line—Statement by the President.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 26. — Sir William Van Horne, being asked today what truth there was in the reported works on the Canadian Pacific Railway, said: "Nothing unusual in the way of new work is contemplated for next year. So far as the substitution of permanent for timber structures is concerned, much the greater part of that has already been done, and the small proportion that remains will be distributed over the next two or three years. The word 'temporary' as applied to such timber structures as remain is misleading. They are heavy and substantial structures, and as strong as any that will ever take their place, and economy is the chief object of the substitution of masonry or iron, for timber structures have to be renewed from time to time. Outside of this work the line is now in such a condition as to require very little expenditure in the way of improvement. On two important sections the masonry for new bridges has for some years back been built with a view to a double track, but when the double track will be laid will depend upon the development of traffic. I would be happy to see it forced upon us within a year or two. In this connection I would like to correct the impression that seems to have got abroad that our economies during the bad times were largely at the expense of our permanent way. Our permanent way expenses have not been reduced at all, and the line is in better condition today that it has ever been."

MR. DE COSMOS, NEE SMITH.

A Noted Man of the Pacific Northwest Seriously Ill in Victoria.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 26.—Hon. Amor de Cosmos, one of the first members British Columbia sent to the Dominion Parliament, is very ill at his home here. The forty-niners of California will best recall him under the name of John Smith, an American, who was something of a globe-trotter, and who was the hero of many adventures. He grew to be "well fixed" while sojourning at the Golden Gate, and to wear an expansive white shirt front, about which a heavy gold chain meandered in connection with a flowing beard and locks that would put those of the poet-scout Crawford to the blush.

Comparative wealth spoiled him, and he sickened of the ancient family name of John Smith; so he sent a bill to the California Legislature praying permission to change it to the more modern one of Amor de Cosmos. Such bills generally pass without any attention whatever, but in this case a member, who was something of a wag, moved as an amendment that the name be changed to Patrick McFarlan McGinnis McGinty O'Rourke, and this amendment came within one of being carried.

Mr. De Cosmos carried his new name over the border to British Columbia, and there naturalized it. He left a record in the Dominion House of Commons of having on a filibustering occasion addressed the House for 72 hours, one of the longest speeches on record there. One of the resolutions he introduced, which created some laughter at the time, was that no man should be employed on the Canadian Pacific Railroad, then a Government undertaking, whose hair measured more than seven inches. This was aimed at Chinese labor. Mr. De Cosmos' hair was then seventeen inches probably, and the late Sir John A. Macdonald facetiously observed: "That settles the cosmogony of the road for all time."

MR. MOULTON'S FROG SPRING.

A Natural Curiosity in Maine That Promises Great Things to Its Owner.

Norway, Nov. 26.—A day or two ago George W. Moulton, of Denmark, took a bushel of live frogs from this spring. This is the second bushel he has taken from this spring within two weeks. The frogs apparently enter the spring through a subterranean tunnel, and have made an underground abode that is something new in natural history.

The spring is situated on a ledge, the water gushing through a fissure scarcely larger than the blade of a knife. Around the spring is a wall of split stone about four feet square on the inside, lined with small stones set in cement. The outside is banked with loose soil. When Mr. Moulton found that his choice spring was threatened with an invasion of frogs only equaled by the plague of frogs in the old Egyptian story, he went to work to ascertain how they got into the spring, and to remedy the trouble.

On removing the top soil he uncovered an underground tunnel five inches in diameter, extending entirely around the spring close to the wall of split stones, and on about a level with the water. Outside this tunnel, connected with it by shorter passageways, were several subterranean chambers, circular in shape, from ten to twelve inches in diameter, and two or three inches deep. In these chambers Mr. Moulton found a bushel basket of live frogs.

At one corner of these subterranean chambers was a tunnel extending to the ledge and connected with a fissure in the stone, which goes down to depths known. In another corner was another tunnel, extending to the surface. Mr. Moulton covered up the curious underground abode and supposed his troubles with the frogs were over. But a few days later he found another bushel of frogs in the same chamber. Where the second bushel came from is a mystery. Near the spring is a marshy place, in which frogs breed in large numbers.

Live Stock Markets.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 50 calves and 2,000 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the east end abattoir today. Trade was fairly brisk, with an active demand for the best cattle, some of which sold up to near 4c per lb, with pretty good stock at from 3c to 3¾c per lb. Common cattle were rather plentiful and sold at from 2c to 2¾c per lb. Good calves were in demand. Mr. Burassa paid $30 for three fine calves; others selling at from $3 to $7 each. There was no demand for old sheep. Lambs sold in lots at from 3c to 3½c per lb; and picked lambs brought 3½c. Fat hogs are numerous and sell at about 4c per lb.

CANADIAN LIVE STOCK EXPORTS.

The last shipment of Canadian live stock from Montreal was made by the Lake Huron last week. For shippers, the season was more satisfactory than for some years past. A contributing cause to this result was the fact that ocean rates did not go much over 40s or 50s per head for cattle. United States firms have been buying distillery and stall-fed stock this year, which has benefited the Ontario and Quebec farmers to some extent. A large increase in Northwest ranch cattle has been observed. The total shipment for the season, 1895, were 96,564 head of cattle, 215,508 sheep and 12,468 horses. Cattle show an increase of 8,960 head, compared with 1894, an increase of 13,242 with 1893, and a decrease of 2,167 with 1892. Sheep show an increase of 75,745 head, compared with 1894, and horses an increase of 6,845 with 1894. Last year it was estimated that the average price paid to farmers was $55 per head, while this year it is $60, which makes a total of $7,593,840 for the total number of cattle shipped this year, as against $4,808,220 last year. The quantity of hay shipped to feed the cattle was 16,000 tons, at an average price of $10 50 per ton, or $16,800 for the season. The attendants employed were 5,000, at $15 each, making a total of $75,000 for the season. The insurance on the cattle amounted to $96,564, and the amount paid out for freight was $365,640.

The trade in sheep has also considerably increased and improved compared with former years. The exports of sheep this year increased 75,745 head, compared with 1894, the total number being 215,508 head. This means that the farmer received $1,077,940, valuing them at $5 each. The insurance on them amounted to $4,000, and the freight $239,450. The returns to the shipper, however, were not so encouraging as last year. Nearly 15,000 Canadian sheep were stopped at Liverpool and London on account of scab. Shippers have suffered heavily on this account, and think that some vigorous system of inspection should be instituted in order to blot the trouble out, otherwise the English markets will be closed to them and the trade ruined, which means a huge loss to the farmers. On the sheep stopped at Liverpool and London, during the past season, there must have been a loss of nearly $1 each, so that the shipping of a few scabby sheep has practically cost exporters between $20,000 and $30,000.

The number of cattle lost this season up to the end of October was 133 head, which is an increase of 37 head over 1894, and the number of sheep were 829, as against 1,776 in 189.4 There were 44 horses lost.

BE THANKFUL THAT.

It was only a gale of wind. Worse things have happened. It might have been a visit from Dr. Montague.

That the wind will dry up the wet.

That your hat did not blow off into the mud more than four times during the morning.

That the wind did not rip more than four boards off the back fence. Half the fence might have gone.

That not more than three quarters of the nice lattice work arrangement facing your lawn was demolished. Four quarters might have blown down.

That your shop awning escaped with four rips each 36 inches in length. They might have been 37.

Broken windows make work for glaziers and that your banging shutters have stimulated trade.

That a limb of the law was not blown from the tree of justice. Branches of a great many maple and pine trees were broken off.

That the next great windstorm may be expected to strike Ottawa when the next session commences.

BOTH MEN CONVICTED.

"Taking all the circumstances into consideration, I cannot do other than find the prisoners guilty," said Judge Edward Elliott this morning, as he summed up the case of Samuel Graham and Granville Brooks, who were arrested about a month ago on a charge of stealing iron from the street railway company. "I have to conclude that at the time these men were in the act of taking the iron they were warned not to do so, and knew perfectly well that they were doing wrong."

The trial brought out no new developments compared with the hearing before the police magistrate, except an endeavor by the defense to show that the accused believed they had a right to help themselves to the metal, as it was scattered about the streets. In concluding the defense, Mr. R. M. C. Toothe held that the crown should have shown fraudulent intent on the part of the prisoners.

"Supposing, though," said the judge in reply, "that a man is intrusted by an individual to buy something, and instead he converts the money to his own use, would a case of theft not be made out on proving the facts?"

"These people honestly believed they had a right to the metal, as Graham swore," said Mr. Toothe.

Judge Elliott concluded by saying that the story of Graham in the box was very unsatisfactory. He had endeavored to shove the responsibility on to Brooks, but the court held he was equally guilty.

Brooks was sentenced to six weeks in the common jail, and Graham was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Brooks was convicted six years ago of stealing iron from the Imperial Oil Company. Mr. J. B. McKillop, deputy crown attorney, prosecuted. He was asisted by Mr. I. F. Hellmuth, the street railway company's solicitor.

THE DEATH ROLL.

The Number of the Sultan's Victims Estimated at 40,000,

And the Damage at $50,000,000—A Fearful Winter Ahead.

Constantinople, Nov. 26.—Now that matters seem to be quieting down again here and in the Asiatic provinces, people are beginning to form estimates of the amount of damage done and the number of lives lost during the recent disturbances. Well informed Armenians estimate the losses through the events which have just occurred in Anatolia alone at £10,000,000 and the number of victims at 40,000. Of course these are Armenian estimates; but there seems good reasons for believing that the amount of damage done, the number of lives sacrificed and the terrible outrages committed are far ahead of anything hitherto estimated or described. But this is not all. People competent to pronounce an opinion upon the subject say that with the coming of winter there will be many more deaths from exposure and famine, and that even the prompt collection of relief funds, food and clothing cannot avert much.

THE WORLD'S WEALTH.

$4,070,500,000 Hard Money on This Planet.

Interesting Figures by Uncle Sam's Mint Man.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The director of the mint reports that the value of the gold deposited at the mint and assay offices during the fiscal year was $87,482,082, of which $65,161,007 were original deposits and $22,321,022 were re-deposits.

The value of the silver deposited during the fiscal year was $15,714,365, of which $15,234,700 were original deposits and $479,665 re-deposits.

The coinage by the mints during the year was: Gold, $43,933,475; silver dollars, $3,956,011; subsidiary silver coins, $5,113,469; minor coins, $712,594, a total coinage of $53,715,549. In addition to the coinage executed by the mints during year, gold bars were manufactured of the value of $43,153,370, and silver bars of the value of $10,341,545.

The average London price of silver bullion during the year was 29 pence, equivalent to 63.8 cents. The highest price of silver during the year was 68 cents, and the lowest price 59.8 cents. At the average price of silver bullion during the fiscal year, the ratio of gold to silver was 1 to 32.5, and the bullion value of a United States silver dollar was $0.49.168.

The value of the gold and silver estimated to have been used in the industrial arts during calendar year 1894 was aproximately $21,541,652, of which $10,658,604 was gold and $10,883,048 was silver.

The estimated metallic stock in the United States on July 1, 1895, was, gold, $636,229,825; silver, $625,853,949, a total of $1,262,084,774.

The estimated product of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1894 was: Gold, 39,500,000 and silver 49,500,000 fine ounces, of the commercial value of $31,422,000, and the coinage value of $64,000,000. The estimated production of the world for the calendar year was, gold, $180,626,100; silver coining value, $216,892,200; commercial value, $106,522,000.

The coinage of gold and silver by the various countries of the world as this information has been received for the calendar year 1894 was: Gold, $227,921,032; silver, $106,383,952.

In his report Mr. Preston gives an estimate of the approximate stock of money in the principal countries of the world. He places the stock of gold at $4,086,800,000; the stock of full legal tender silver at $3,439,300,000; the stock of limited tender silver at $631,200, making a total silver stock in the world of $4,070,500,000; the uncovered notes are placed at $2,469,500,000.

Mr. Preston, in a review of the monetary legislation of the country, states that the real demonetization of silver took place in 1853, when the weight of the divisional coins was reduced about 7 per cent. This, he says, was not an accident or oversight, it was expressly declared in the House of Representatives that the intention was to make gold the sole standard of value in large transactions, and silver subservient to it for small ones. The act of 1873, he says, was only nominal.

Buffalo Partly Flooded — Wires in All Directions Down.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 26.—A gale of wind has been blowing since early morning succeeding a terrific downpour of rain. Great damage is done to telegraph and telephone wires. Communication with Canada is practically shut off, and only now and then a wire can be found working west. The lake is very high at this point. The water is over the breakwater at the entrance to the harbor, and freight is being taken up to the second story of the transfer houses, which are inundated on the ground floors. The harbor has risen to an almost unprecedented height.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 26.—At midnight a high wind cleared the sky, and descending, proceed to clear the earth. It came in a series of hurricane puffs from various directions. The storm swooped down and played havoc with roofs, shutters, signs and wires. On the river the mischief was even greater.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 26.—The heaviest gale that ever struck this city commenced blowing from the south shortly after midnight. The wind reached a velocity of 72 miles an hour. The water in the river and harbor is the lowest recorded in years. Telegraph and telephone wires are generally prostrated. Communication with Chicago was entirely cut off this morning until 9 o'clock.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The gale has impeded street car and railroad traffic, and a similar state of affairs prevails throughout Illinois.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 26.—The gale that is now sweeping over the city has downed the telegraph wires in all directions. No communication could be had with Chicago all night.

A King's Gentleman.

But the moments in which one remains on the pinnacle of a grand resolve are not minutes, and do not hold a second breath. Even as she spoke, a trouble began to shadow the girl's bright eyes, and dim the hero-light of her expresion. Like a cloud, the prescience of conflict and weary argument, and slow, crushing oppression, came over her, as she remembered her mother, who, for reasons of her own, had this marriage so much at heart, and who so well knew how to wear out her opponent in any struggle; and who never relinquished a point, though life was fretted away in fruitless opposition, as in the matter of her husband's religion. All this, and much, much more, passed through the girl's mind in that first prophetic flash; and then she set herself, with the dogged practicality inherited from her father, to consider the matter point by point, as it would probably develop; and not so much from her own point of view as from her father's, whom she loved far better than herself, and had of late unconsciously taken under the protection of her own young strength and resolute nature; for the years which sharpened Deborah's tongue and exasperated her temper, seemed stealing a little from the stone and iron of her husband's resistance,and a weary look was growing in his eyes, and a harassed wrinkle upon his brow, that made Molly's heart ache sorely when she noted them.

And in this matter she knew but too well that she herself should not be the only or even the chief sufferer; and here was the keenest grief, yet never a shadow of wavering. Did Anne Askew waver when she saw the rack, think you? or Jeanne d'Arc when she came to her funeral pyre? And this Molly was of their stuff and could not shrink, though dearer than her own flesh was to become the martyr.

But it was with a heavy sigh that she at last drew her hand across her brow and said:

"Oh, poor, poor father! If only I could take it all, and all at once, and never see your dear eyes look so tired again! But it must go on. Yes——"

She sank into a chair and sat motionless for a long hour; while the fire burned low upon the hearth and the sparkle died out of the burnished pewter platters, and the wheel, but now so joyous, stood mute and motionless, and the cat ceased her purring and moved uneasily about the room, muttering a discontented half mew. Without the clouds that all the morning had been trooping up from the under-world, and massing their forces far out at sea, found themselves ready to unmask their batteries and with a shrill blast of onset swept down in a terrific whirl of wind and sleet and sand from the beach, all hurtling together against the window and down the wide-throated chimney, swooping the ashes from the hearth far across the floor and into the cat's great golden eyes, until she arched her back and spit and miauled in angry terror.

Roused from her revery, Molly looked about her for a moment abstractedly; then, with a visible effort at self-command, resuming her usual manner, she rose and went to the window, and saw that the storm had burst in snow and sleet, with every appearance of continuance.

"All the better. The Hetherfords will keep away,' said she aloud; then, looking about her, saw that her careful father had supplied her with wood and water for 24 hours at least, and remembered that a man from the Hetherford farm was to look after the live stock at the barn until Amariah's return with the horse and wagon next day. Then she swept up the ashes, prepared dinner for herself and Tabitha, and when all was again in order, resumed her spinning, but not her song —no, not even her hymn. Four o'clock, and the outer porch was thrown violently open, the inner latch rattled, and a shrill voice cried:

"Molly! Molly Wilder! Let me in! It's me!"

"Why, Mercy! I never looked for you in this storm!" exclaimed Molly, hastening to undo the door and admit the whitened, disheveled figure of a girl about her own age, but bearing too much resemblance to Reuben Hetherford for beauty, although his scant red locks had developed upon his sister's head into an abundant chevelure of deep auburn, the eyes to a pair of blue orbs twice the size of his, and his thin lips to a pretty, if somewhat shrewish, mouth. Still the family resemblance, the intention of the face, was too marked to allow Mary Wilder, at least, to admire it; and her manner, though courteous, was certainly a little cool, as she relieved her visitor of her snow-laden cloak and hood, and placed a chair for her beside the fire.

"So you didn't expect me?" began the visitor, drawing the long, over-stockings from her feet and extending them to the cheerful blaze. "Well, mother said it was as much as my life was worth to come out; and if you hadn't acted so silly when Reuben called at noontime, I needn't have come, for she would have sent him to fetch you over."

"How was I silly?" asked Molly, calmly.

"Why, not letting him in, and running round fastening the doors and windows, as if he was a band of robbers at the very least. Ma'am says it's enough to put bad thoughts in a young man's head, when he wouldn't have had them himself."

"My father and mother both told me while Reuben sat by last night, that I was not to have him in the house except while you were here, and even so, he was not to stay after 9 o'clock. Your mother would not have me disobey my mother, I suppose," said Mary, quietly.

"Well, I don't care, I'm sure," replied Mercy, with a toss of her head. "But she's going to send him over, the minute he gets back from the Corners, to take us both home on the sled. She says maybe we'd get snowed up here by tomorrow morning; and anyway, it's better for you to be over there nights while your mother is away."

"Your mother is very kind, but I shall stay here," returned Molly, still very quietly, although a deep red rose began to burn on either cheek, and her lips closed a little tighter than their wont.

Mercy looker at her shrewdly for a moment, warming first one, then the other, of her chilled feet, then said, with a short, sharp laugh:

"My! Won't you and Reuben just fight when once you're married! You're mighty proud of never giving in, but I guess you'll find your master then. I used to try to stand out against him sometimes, but I got sick of it."

"Why, what could he do to make you afraid of him?" asked Molly, a little curiously.

"Stick pins in me, pull my hair, pinch little bits right out of my arms, put things to scare me in the dark, set a dog on me, make mother mad, and lots of things beside. You'll find out if you undertake any high and mighty ways after you're married." And Mercy smiled delightedly at the prospect of the future. Molly smiled too, a smile half contempt, half conscious strength, and said, in her calm and even tones:

"I shouldn't like to have my hair pulled, or my arms pinched, or to be made into a pincushion; and I think the best way to avoid it will be not to marry Reuben if those are his fashions."

"Oh, but you've got to marry him, you know," exclaimed Mercy, alarmed at the possible result of her revelations. "He'll be good enough to you, of course, especially if you don't contradict him. He thinks everything of you."

"Hear the wind! It will be a dreadful night at sea!" exclaimed Molly, going to the window, looking out for a moment, and then partially drawing the curtain; but as she did so the cat jumped up in a chair, and, putting her forepaws upon the window ledge, looked out intently. Molly laughed blithely, exclaiming:

"Well, Mrs. Tabitha, so I must leave the window uncurtained for your accommodation, must I? Well, there, you shall have a corner to yourself."

She adjusted the heavy moreen curtain in such a manner as to leave a small portion of the window uncovered, and then, drawing a little table in front of the fire, said cheerily:

"And now we'll have our tea and forget everything beside. Mother made a whole pantry-full of goodies yesterday. She did not seem to think I could take care of myself at all."

"Did she make any of her pound-cake?" asked Mercy, eagerly; for Mrs. Hetherford's larder was by no means so bounteous as that of Deborah Wilder, and Miss Mercy was both an epicure and a gourmand.

The pound-cake was produced and cut into great golden squares; the nut-cakes, the snap gingerbread, the pies, and the sweetmeats were all set forth; the rich cream toast was steaming upon the table, and Molly had filled the two glasses with milk—the innocent beverage not yet superseded in rural districts by tea or coffee—when a jingle of bells, a stamping of feet, and the sharp rap of a whip handle upon the door announced a visitor.

"It's Reuben, come to take us both home!" exclaimed Mercy confidently; and the next moment proved her prophecy correct, for as Molly opened the door, the shaggy, snow-dropping figure of a man entered the room, and, removing the flapping hat tied over his ears, showed the mean features of Reuben Hetherford.

BITTER ENEMIES.

H. B. Ashplant Claims This for the Socialists and Anarchists—They Have Nothing in Common.

Mr. Henry B. Ashplant spoke on "The History and Policy of the Socialist Labor Party" at the Labor Hall last night. Comrade Perrin occupied the chair.

"In my hand," commenced Mr. Ashplant, "I hold the small red card of the Socialistic Labor Party. But don't let anybody get into a big state of perspiration over the color of that card and go home and get yourself into a state of political nightmare and imagine yourself to have seen displayed here the blood-red flag of physical force and bloody revolutionary Anarchism.

"The fact that our party has the color which is adopted by the Anarchist physical force reform party is a matter for which the Socialists are no more to be blamed or criticised than the orthodox Christian should be blamed or criticised because he has accidentally chosen to wear a suit of clothes that is selected from a piece of cloth which happens to be of the same pattern of a well-known atheist's suit; whereas these ignoramuses, these foolish people who criticise and attempt to suppress Socialism have no knowledge of its principles and the science of its propaganda—they don't know anything about it to distinguish the difference between a bomb shell and the ballot box in electoral contests as a weapon of warfare for the accomplishment of a given purpose.

"Such people should close their mouths until they have posted themselves upon matters of fact."

Mr. Ashplant then quoted extensively from English, American and German authorities to show that Socialists and Anarchists were "bitter enemies," had "nothing in common." That supposition was the result of "prejudice born in ignorance and stupidity, and lack of information on the part of the public."

"Let no man in London," continued Mr. Ashplant, "then be ashamed to acknowledge himself to be out-and-out, boldly, a Socialist, if he is such. Let him be not afraid to say that he is a Socialist, affiliated with the Democratic Socialistic party of England, Germany, or any other country."

Then for nearly an hour the lecturer went into an exhaustive history of the Socialist movement, extending away back to the revolutionary period of the French Communist League in 1836. Some of the more interesting statements made were:

"Socialism conquered Bismarck, instead of Bismarck conquering Socialism."

"Don't you wonder that Old London has always been the home of these bombshell throwers and bloody revolutionists and Anarchists? They had their headquarters right in the heart of London, and the British Government was fool enough to say nothing and let them go ahead, and let them disturb the whole of Europe! Did it never occur to you, however, that the British Government had some sound common sense? Since I became a Socialist I find that the British Government had more common sense than I gave them credit for while I was in England. It had its informers and its spies from Scotland Yard, and what did it find? It found that these revolutionists were not what they were represented to be, because all the conditions of England were different from the conditions of the countries from which they were expelled. The British Government found them to be men of brilliant talents, and men with splendid university educations; they found that their objects were to establish economic societies, and the British Government let them go ahead. They were doing no harm."

Again, in reference to the Chicago Haymarket bomb throwers, Mr. Ashplant took exception to the name Socialists "tacked on to them," as he said, "by an ignorant capitalistic press. I don't know whether it was intentional or not, but it was done, just the same."

"We stand on the threshold of a new era in the history of the world," concluded Mr. Ashplant, "and the dawning of the brightest day that the poor, oppressed, robbed, hard-working classes have ever known. We stand at the dawning of that day, and there is hope and life—hope for the Socialist party (a class that has been made to feel at times in its history that there was no hope, and that there could be no happiness, and that there could be no freedom, from these economic conditions which bind them as chains never bound a slave)—there is hope for the Socialist party, and of all the political parties that have ever reared their heads, as I said before, above the storms of time, the Socialistic party is the only party in any country that stands pledged to bring about that state of things.

The future is ours. The past we can afford to forget—I mean we can afford to forgive it. We can afford to forgive the past, but in the records of history it will never be forgotten, and its lessons are impressed upon the minds of men who stand at the head of every Socialist party in every country.

"The capitalistic era is in the dim twilight of a closing day. Its day is past; its record is written. And the pathway of the progress of the capitalistic party up to the present time is strewed with the gore of many a revolution which it has produced abroad by opposing with the power of legislation and with its great army, and the rifle, and the bullet, and the sword—opposing the peaceful revolution of the Socialist reforming forces of the world. Its progress is strewed also with the bones, the bare and fleshless bones, of the myriad of workmen and workwomen and working children who have produced the wealth of this world, which God sent as a reward for their labor and as a blessing. But the blessings have been withheld. They have not been given to them. Not because God did not design it, not because God did not send it to them, but because their fellow-men misunderstood—I will not use a harder term—the Gospel of God, and have been instrumental in withholding from the great population of the world the real knowledge of God's Gospel as it was given to us by Jesus Christ."

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief in toothache, neuralgia and rheumatism as Nerviline, and its action in cases of cramps, colic, etc., is simply marvelous. Remarking this to a physician of experience, he stated that from his knowledge of the composition of Nerviline no remedy could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every household a bottle of Nerviline should be available for emergent demands. It is proposed at this meeting to form a permanent organization of members of this race into a national committee. Gravel and Kidney Disease.

One of the most painful results of neglected kidneys is known as gravel.

Lime and uric acid combine to form small stone-like substances.

These granules being sharp and rough set up local irritations in the urinary ducts and the resulting misery is indescribable.

Pain in the loins, straining cutting pains, and scalding during the passage of urine; chalky, and brickdusty sediments, are a few of the symptoms.

If the trouble is allowed to go on from worse to worse life is not worth living.

And yet we have testimonials of cures by using from two to six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Edwin Rakestraw, of Germania, Ont., endured this sort of misery fourteen years.

He had to be relieved with instruments from time to time.

He got relief in four days and was cured by two boxes in four weeks.

Another man was too ill and weak to work for fourteen months and was cured by a few boxes in two months.

You see a cure is easy when Dodd's Kidney Pills are used.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have never been recommended for anything outside of kidney diseases.

People have tried them in sheer despair for many diseases thought to have no connection with kidney complaints. When they cure, as they invariably do, the user learns something, for nearly every disease arises from deranged kidneys, and they learn this truth.

THE DEAD RAISED UP.

A Former Resident Thought to be Dying of Bright's Disease — Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Listowel, Nov. 25.—A dispatch reaching here relating to the recovery in Neepawa, Man., of Mrs. T. H. McKee, formerly living here, was a surprise to her friends and acquaintances. It was met by doubt, however, until confirmed by a reply from Neepawa. Her case was well known here, as this lady was treated by several of the local doctors for Bright's disease, and her friends thought, as did her physicians, that her case was hopeless, and it was as a last resort that she left here to try climatic change. That Mrs. McKee was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills in a few weeks speaks volumes in their favor.

GETTING AHEAD OF THE JOSTLE.

The New York Commercial Advertiser tells its Christmas shoppers to "go out now and escape the mad jostle." Christmas trading, under the best of circumstances, is a matter of hurry and hustle. But for the fact that the bulk of the business is done weeks in advance the jostle would be an annual mobbing, and there would be broken bones as well as broken nerves. It is judicious advertising that handles the crowds. They recognize no other influence in these ante-holiday times.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

"JACK HARKAWAY" TONIGHT.

"Jack Harkaway," a romantic melodrama of the upper realm, will be presented at the Grand tonight. Mr. Theodore Babcock, who enacts the title role, is said to have a very congenial role in the part of Jack. Among the notable scenes and incidents in the play are the deck of the Fairy Queen off the coast of Portugal; lashed to the mast, and the sinking of the Fairy Queen; Fort St. Julian on the River Tahus; wounding of Monday; Spanish tortures; the naval battle; bombardment of the fort by the British fleet; Harkaway's home after the war; the old mill at sunset; the duel—which are all shown in an extremely realistic manner.

GUY BROS.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the appearance of these old-time favorites in the Opera House last night. The entertainment was first-class, the singing, dancing and other specialties were up to date. The Guy Bros. have introduced a number of new specialties this year, which adds materially to the show. The statuary work of the Guy Bros. is excellent, and received much applause. The orchestra is second to none in the country, and they rendered sweet music. Their special feature was a day with the circus, in which they gave a musical description from the ticket seller to the menagerie.—Belleville, Ont., Oct. 10, 1895.
