THREE MEN KILLED THREE BADLY HURT IN BIG EXPLOSION

Dynamite Blew Up Prematurely
When Gunpowder Was Put in a Hot Drill.

Victims Were Blasting for New
C. P. R. Line Near Belleville.

Belleville, May 26.—Three men were killed and three injured, two probably fatally, by the premature explosion of a dynamite blast in a Canadian Pacific Railway construction camp four miles from here at noon today. It is said that the explosion resulted from the detonation of a quantity of gunpowder which had been placed, as a fuse, in a hole which was still hot from drilling.

The dead:—

John H. McLean, foreman, Antigonish, N. B.

A. Holland, powder helper, Cornwall, Ont.

D. Armistead, Italian laborer, Toronto, Ont.

The injured are Thomas McKinnon, locomotive engineer; Mr. Andrea, Italian laborer, and Harry Wake, brakeman. Little hope is entertained for McKinnon's recovery, and Andrea's condition is decidedly critical.

The victims were members of a gang employed by the Dominion Construction Company, engaged in preliminary right-of-way work for the Canadian Pacific's new shore line through this city. They had prepared a hole for blasting in a deep rock cut, and it is alleged that powder was poured into the hole before it had sufficiently cooled. A detonation immediately followed, involving the explosion of a large quantity of dynamite which lay close by.

Such was the force of the blast that bits of the bodies of the victims were found over a hundred yards from the spot. The two railwaymen who were injured were on a construction train near the scene of the explosion. McKinnon was blown from the cab of his engine.

The injured were removed to the hospital here, where every effort is being made to save their lives. An inquest was commenced tonight before Coroner Dr. Boyce.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Elmira, N. Y., May 26.—In a head-on collision of two freight trains on the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern Railroad, two miles east of Angeleno, today Engineer George Cooper, of Hornell, was killed instantly, and Engineer Pitzer, of St. Marys, Pa., was fatally injured.

NEW SENATORS NAMED TO FILL FOUR VACANCIES

Two Anglicans and Two Roman Catholics—One Is a Member of the House.

Col. James Mason, Alex. Mc-
Call, E. D. Smith, and J. J.
Donnelly Chosen.

Ottawa, May 26.—The four Ontario vacancies in the Senate were filled today. The new men are: Col. James Mason, of Toronto, president of the Home Bank; E. D. Smith, of Winona, former member for Wentworth; J. J. Donnelly, the sitting member for South Bruce; Alex. McCall, of Simcoe, former member for Norfolk.

Col. James Mason, of Toronto, has had a long experience in business affairs, and is recognized as an authority on banking and financial matters. He is president of the Home Bank of Toronto, which has been built up to its present high position largely through his efforts. He is also a director of several important companies. He is also widely known in connection with military affairs, and served in the Northwest Rebellion in 1885, and was severely wounded at Datcha. At the Diamond Jubilee in 1897, he was second in command of the whole colonial infantry drawn from all parts of the Empire. Col. Mason is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

A Former Member.

Mr. E. D. Smith was a member of the House of Commons from 1900 to 1908, representing the County of Wentworth. He is a well known agriculturalist and fruit grower of Ontario. While a member of the House of Commons he took a commanding position, and was recognized as one of the most important members of the Liberal-Conservative party then in opposition. He will bring to the Senate a wide experience in public matters and a comprehensive knowledge of the industries with which he has been associated for so many years. Mr. Smith is a ready speaker, and will be a strong acquisition to the debating power of the Senate. He is a member of the Anglican Church.

Alex. McCall.

Alexander McCall, of Simcoe, is a well known lumberman, and has been engaged in mercantile operations for a number of years. He represented the County of Norfolk from 1908 to 1911, and is well known throughout the western portion of Ontario. He is a man of high character and excellent business ability. He is a member of the Anglican Church.

James J. Donnelly, member for South Bruce, represented that constituency in the House of Commons from a by-election in 1904 until the general election of that year, when he was defeated. In 1908 he was elected, and the general election of 1911 he was again elected. He is a practical farmer with wide experience. He is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Some Londoners Go Away for the Summer; Hundreds Know Better

WEEK-END, lakeside outings, and our beautiful parks in and out of the city, with the pleasures and comforts of home, is by long odds the best with most of us, if properly arranged to make the most of what we have. When we consider we are almost within an hour of the shores of the two great lakes, Huron or Erie, with electric cars to the nearest port, what more summer resort do we need than our own beautiful city, which is a forest itself? In fact, the city of London is an ideal summer resort.

Opening Display of Summer Furniture for Your Cottage, Porch or Lawn

FOR months we have been planning for your summer comfort, and the great stocks are assembled now for your inspection, exactly at the right time, and buying will begin in real earnest this week.

We have all the best and most artistic kinds, standard and reliable, wicker willow, prairie grass, etc., in great variety, natural or finished in artistic colors, including many novelties.

DOUBLE CANE Furniture for porch or cottage.
WILLOW and WICKER Furniture for porch or cottage.
REED and PRAIRIE GRASS for porch or cottage.

Roll-Up Carpets and Heavy Rugs

Put down "Crex," cool down your house, banish heavy curtains and draperies, put chairs and rugs on the porch. Let us help you.

VUDOR PORCH SHADES outlast many seasons. They give a finish to your porch and an air of homeliness to the house that are very attractive.

They will make your porch a place you will seek during the hot, sultry days of summer. They are so different from the ordinary bamboo screens. They repel the sun's rays but let in all the light and air you want. You can see out but no one can see in. With "Vudor" Curtains you may make your porch a comfortable sleeping place for hot summer nights, and a secluded, cool place for the hot days. Pleasing colors to harmonize with your house, indelibly stained and lock-stitched with heavy rot-proof twine. A child can raise or lower, and they will stand the sun and rain for many seasons and retain their newness.

Built
For Your Convenience

In order to lighten woman's work in the kitchen, to give her greater convenience in cooking—this Gurney-Oxford has been so constructed that all the burners and oven-linings can be instantly removed by hand and thoroughly cleaned.

The all-one-piece steel top does away with loose, unsteady shelves, and gives 5 inches larger cooking surface each way and more spacious double ovens than any other range of its kind.

Its unrivalled workmanship and staunch construction indicates strength and quality which will never deteriorate.

The valves and pipes are connected in an exclusive manner of our own design which absolutely prevents any leakage of gas.

There can be no burnt fingers from the porcelain handles of the valves, no puffing, exploding, or firing back, no rough edges in the ovens to scratch the hand—everything about this range is perfectly smooth, sanitary, and convenient.

The double-lined oven doors are counterbalanced, no heat can escape, and there are no springs to get out of order.

The system of double circulation for both ovens secures quick, even heat and insures a wonderful economic saving of gas.

You will be convinced that "Cooking with Gas" has reached the limit of household economy with a Gurney-Oxford.

We will gladly demonstrate the unequalled merits of the Gurney-Oxford. Furniture Department, Third Floor.

LONDON, TUESDAY, MAY 27.

OUR DEBT TO BRITAIN.

A gentleman who has done considerable book-making on Canadian affairs, and who is also an ardent imperialist, made a speech some time ago, which has been published, in which he undertakes to estimate our financial debt to the Empire. He has been getting the figures from the war office, he tells us, in relation to the cost of the conquest of Canada in 1759, of the revolutionary war of 1776-80, of the war of 1812-15, and of the Trent affair in 1861. He has analyzed these accounts, and proceeds to say:

"These figures enable me to estimate, and on grounds that I am absolutely certain of and am quite prepared to prove, so far as any estimate can be formed, that the acquisition and defence of Canada has cost the British taxpayer up to date $1,200,000,000. The figures are so large as to be astounding, and they are unfortunately not known to the great bulk of our people; I hope they will be."

We will admit the figures look somewhat astounding; but before accepting them implicitly we would like to be assured of their accuracy, and of the proportion of Britain's expenses in these wars that are properly chargeable to Canada. On what principle are the items separated? The conquest of Canada was a feature of the war between Britain and France; it was solely with a view to weakening the enemy, and without any consideration for Canada. In the revolutionary war, Britain was trying to regain the thirteen revolting colonies, and any expenditure in Canada was only a necessary incident of the affair, and was fully balanced by the loyalty of Canadians, without which Canada would have been part of the new republic when the war was over. In 1812, war broke out between Britain and the United States. Canadians had nothing to do with bringing on hostilities; their share was to defend their country, and without their loyal assistance Britain's war bill would have been larger, and possibly the results would not have been so satisfactory. The Trent affair was not a war bill; it was a dispute. And the chief result, so far as Canada was concerned, was to stimulate the volunteer movement that Britain was able to withdraw her regular forces from this country, and to be relieved from any special expenditure here. In trying to estimate the cost to Britain of Canada's defence, it should not be forgotten that our people have paid their full share, both in blood and in money.

We owe a great debt to Britain, no one denies it. We have received from the mother land our system of government, our common law, our language, our literature, our traditions of England's glory, the courage and fortitude of the Saxon, the love of civil and religious liberty, of law and order. But for these Britain's war expenditure has not been increased on our account. So, too, we owe to Britain, the sense of security we feel from her strength and power. But the cost of that power was necessary, not so much for the defence of Canada as for the maintenance of Great Britain's place among the nations.

We owe much to Britain, but the attempt to estimate our debt in dollars and cents is absurd. We owe much; but we have been trying to pay what we owe, and with some measure of success. We have built up on this western continent a British Dominion, loyal to the Empire, fitting itself rapidly to be Britain's strongest support. We have relieved Britain from the necessity of any military expenditure here in time of peace. For the first time in our history we sent our sons, at our own expense, to fight the battles of the Empire in South Africa, and that was under a Liberal Administration. For the first time in our history we commenced to organize a navy at our own cost that would, when completed, relieve Britain from a large share of her naval expense. And that, too, was under a Liberal Administration. For the first time in our history we gave the people of the mother land financial benefits under a preferential tariff. And that, too, was under a Liberal Administration.

We owe the Empire much, and we are trying to pay. None recognize our debt more than the Liberals of Canada; none have done more to pay it.

WHO KILLED THE HIGHWAYS BILL?

It has been charged by some of the Conservative press that the Senate killed the Highways Bill. Of course, it did not. The Senate has no desire to thwart so good a cause, and it has probably intelligence enough to know what is doing. It simply yawned the bill in a way that will be approved by anyone who thinks impartially about the matter.

It is interesting that for the first time in our parliamentary history a Government measure, as amended, was carried over the heads of the Ministerialists, on motion of the leader of the Opposition, Sir George Ross.

As passed by the Commons, the bill provided for Dominion grants to provinces, and for direct Dominion expenditure under provincial sanction for the construction and improvement of highways. The Senate endorsed the measure, except that it amended it, as once before, by the proviso that the grants should not be proportional to the population of the provinces. The aim of this proviso is plainly not to kill the bill, but to prevent the abuse of the system involved in it. No one province needs this development more than another. The Senate's amendment would simply contract some temptations to bribery or the exertion of undue federal influence.

As the Government persistently refuses to accept this reasonable amendment, it is not the Senate, but the Government, which, like an unnatural parent, kills its own offspring when dressed and improved by someone else.

AWAITING THE TURN.

An imperial conference on commercial and defence affairs is scheduled for the coming autumn in Canada. The following references appear in English papers:

"Mr. Herbert Samuel's projected visit to Canada in the autumn is connected with the question of the laying of a state-owned Atlantic cable to connect with the Pacific cable. Mr. Samuel will attend a subsidiary conference in the Dominion, at which will be discussed, among other questions of Imperial interest, the problem of defence in its later development. Ministers from the other dominions will also attend the conference."

"Mr. Fisher, premier of the Australian Commonwealth, has informed Mr. Harcourt that his Government desire to come to a proper understanding with the home Government on the question of the adequate protection of British interests in the Pacific. Mr. Harcourt has replied that consideration of the question must be deferred until the conference in the autumn. This decision, it is understood, has been come to owing to the present uncertainty as to what form of naval policy Canada will eventually adopt."

Evidently people at headquarters are awaiting to see how things will go in Canada. Perhaps there will be an election before the leaves fall, which will make it easier for Australia and the mother country to concert a rational defence of the Empire in the Pacific. At any rate, let us hope so, is the thought at London and Melbourne.

As for us, if so happy an event does not come to pass, Canada will need feel some embarrassment in relation to the projected "subsidiary conference." Australia keeps putting it up to us. Quietly she keeps us reminded of our understood obligations to her and Britain in the matter of naval arrangements on the Pacific. In this regard the Borden Government's only lucid stand is "in the hole." While Australia builds a navy, Canada is to pretend that she can't do that and to spend her money in equipping a flotilla in the Mediterranean. Having violated her engagements with Australia to co-operate on the Pacific, with what face shall she meet the Australian representatives next fall? But in the meantime something may drop on the present Government and its works.

EMERGENCY OUT AGAIN.

Just when it looked as though the Government party had decided to say nothing more about "Emergency" but to chide and bury him away privately, behold Senator Loughheed leads him out once more. After his tricks have been played out on the Lower House and the people, he is to impress the old Wise Men.

But the poor thing wheezed and limped so lamely that someone called out "Rubbish"—a new name for Crisis, Great Need, or Mr. Northrup's "Call it what you will." The effect was thereby marred. This Emergency show has become as tame as Uncle Tom's Cabin.

While Mr. Loughheed was talking, English and German diplomats were hobnobbing and kissing in Berlin. No wonder the Emergency nightmare azzies out in Canada. Mr. Northrup has called it "a something," and the Senate Daniels will now try to interpret the Dream.

Now, for Sir George Ross.

And Senator Loughheed is the man who tried to get the Senate to throw out the Laurier navy bill a few years back.

"Every shipyard in Europe is running dry and night preparing for the Armageddon, which cannot be far distant." Another end of the world prophet.

"If Canada refuses to answer the appeal of Great Britain or to show any sympathetic sentiment to meet the naval crisis now pending,"—Senator Loughheed.

What will a self-respecting Britisher think of this? It is almost as bad as Premier Roblin's slobber.

It is proposed that Hamilton should put up a $100,000 electric sign on the mountain, to advertise the light and power used by the city. The sign is to be a mile long, visible far out upon the lake, and perhaps across to Toronto. It would present splendid affront to the Queen City. Compare our London and Port Stanley electrification scheme, though, as an advertisement for hydro-electric. It will be thirty times as long, ten times as expensive, and a million times as unselfish, because of no particular good to London, but all paid for by this city.

"The protection of our coast cities as well as all our coastal interests are obligations peculiarly falling upon ourselves,"—Senator Loughheed. Why, then, postpone these first things to the patrolling of Gibraltar waters?

Senator Loughheed is flatly in favor of one centralized navy for the Empire. Only in case "the Opposition should come into office in the near future," does he allow that the three Dreadnaughts may ever be made the centre of a Canadian fleet. The Conservative policy is now clear.

"In the election of 1911 no plank in the Conservative platform was more clearly defined than the policy embodied in the naval bill now under consideration,"—Senator Loughheed.

Strange, then, that there was so much uncertainty among Liberal and Conservative journals alike, before Mr. Borden's speech last December, as to what policy he could possibly bring out that would satisfy both his jingo and his Nationalist supporters. And when his contribution policy was announced, it was something of a sensation.

MOST NEEDED.

First Office Boy—I told the governor to look at the dark circles under my eyes and see if I didn't need a half-day off.

Second Office Boy—What did he say?

First Office Boy—He said I needed a bar of soap.

SCARING HIM OFF.

The Post Impressionist I painted this picture to keep the wolf from the door.

"Well, why don't you hang it on the door where the wolf can see?"

LITERALLY TRUE.

"Old Captain Seabottle says he is going to sue for libel for saying he was an abandoned character."

"Why, he told me himself he had been left on a shipwrecked bark by the rest of the crew."

LUCKLESS HUNTER.

The hunter had but little luck. For he was out to shoot a buck. He shot a farmer's cow instead. Worth fifty bucks, the farmer said.

PROGRESSIVE COURTSHIP.

"No, Annabel (Green), I cannot marry you. My rich bachelor uncle declares he will cut me off with a nickel if I wed without his approval."

"The young man with a weak chin sighed forlornly."

"Very well," replied the determined girl, "I will go to your uncle. What is his address?"

"Don't go, Annabel!" cried the youth. "It would only prejudice him still more against me."

"You mistake my meaning, Clarence. I mean," said the girl, "if I can't marry you, I will marry your uncle."

POLITE MAN.

"Pardon me, madam."

"For what?"

"I inadvertently jabbed my eye into your jewelled hairpin."

SO HARD.

(Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.)

Clarice—"It must be awful to be married to a man you cannot love!"

Gaby—"I should think so! It is so hard getting a divorce from those goody-goody clergies."

WANTED TO KNOW.

[Harper's Bazaar.]

The teacher was reading the history of England to some of the little pupils. When she came to the statement that Henry I. never laughed, after the death of his son, she noticed one of the little girls had raised her hand and seemed very desirous of attracting her attention.

"Well, Amy," said teacher, "what is it?"

"Please, ma'am," said little Amy, "what did Henry I. do when he was tickled?"

PREPARED FOR PERIL.

[Newark News.]

"Have you made your will, John?"

"Yes, mother."

"Have you oiled and loaded your revolver?"

"And put on your bullet-proof jacket?"

"Yes."

"Is your prayer book in the pocket over your heart?"

"Yes."

"Then go where duty calls you, dear. There were no tears in the brave mother's eyes as she watched her son march away on his business trip to New York city. The women of her suburb, less Spartan sternness in these wild, murderous days."

WILLING TO YIELD.

[Washington Star.]

"Is your husband in favor of woman suffrage?"

"I don't know exactly. But he is very polite and chivalrous in discussing the subject. He says he is willing at any time to sit down and give a lady his place in a parade."

AT HIS EASE.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

"How does your husband put in his time since he has retired from business?"

"He puts in most of it worrying because he has nothing to do and fretting because he thinks the Government is likely to do something some day to injure the value of his securities."

THE WIDOW'S REPLY.

[Life.]

He—"Ah, darling, may I be your captain and guide your bark down the sea of life?"

The Widow—"No; but you can be my second mate."

SHAW ON MARRIAGE.

[G. Bernard Shaw.]

No one could say what a healthy man was, not even the doctors. In the end the only safe guide in the breeding of the human race was natural attraction. Hence the area of selection should be widened. After all, let an ordinary man walk through Oxford street and Bond street and he would find perhaps two or three who would seriously think of marrying. And one might be a charwoman whom he wouldn't marry, and the other a duchess who wouldn't marry him. Thus instead of a genuine sexual selection we had a money class selection, and a poor breed of human beings in consequence. If there were no other argument, the argument that equality of income would make the whole community intermarriageable must carry the day.

HER MOTTO.

[Puck.]

Magistrate—Why did you hurt a hot nation your husband?

Mrs. Pitt—My motto always was: "Strike while the iron is hot."

CAN HE STAND IT?

[Woman's Home Companion.]

This is Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale's latest suffragist story: "A negro woman was arguing and arguing with her husband, and when she had finished, he said: 'Dinah, if you don't affect me no more than a flea-bite.'"

"Well, Dinah," she answered, "I've gawwain keep 'er scratchin'."

Sunday School Work Steadily Expanding

Reports Received at Big Meeting at Dorchester Were Most Satisfactory.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Dorchester, May 26.—The annual meeting of the Sunday School Association of East Middlesex was held in St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, on Monday, and was well attended.

Rev. Canon Tucker opened the meeting, and Rev. Canon Craig occupied the chair. Mr. H. C. Light's report showing a balance of $10.17 to the credit of the association was read, and Mr. C. F. Percy gave an excellent report on the Adult Bible Classes of the association, but Mr. Percy had failed to take any notice of Rev. Canon Tucker's Bible Class, and after this mistake was corrected, Principal Waller, of Huron College, drew attention to the Bible Class of the Memorial Church Sunday School, and it was pointed out by Rev. T. B. Howard that this class did not conform to the requirements of an organized adult Bible class.

Rev. E. Appleyard, the secretary, presented his report which was as follows:

Schools	Sunday	1912.	1913.
Schools	2,075	2,535
Teachers and officers	276	306
Scholarships conferred	91	105
Font Roll Depts.	5	10
Members of Font Roll	103	299
Teachers training	1	2
Members	8
Home departments	8
Members of home dept.	429	472
Amount given to missions	$681.90	$665.47
Amount given to organized Sunday school work	$71.69
Registered organized adult Bible class	$2.22

Reports were also read by Miss Kingsmill and Principal Waller and Rev. C. R. Gundy's paper on the "Preparation of the Bible Class Lesson" was read by Rev. E. Appleyard.

The nominating committee then presented the following men as officers for the coming year: President, Canon Craig; vice-president, Rev. J. B. Sage; secretary, Rev. E. Appleyard; treasurer, Principal Waller; finance, Mr. C. H. Light; literature and supplies, S. Percy; home department, Rev. H. Sutton; missionary department, Mr. J. K. H. Pope; font roll and primary department, Miss Kingsmill.

Principal Waller spoke about the summer school that is to be held at St. Catharines this year and expressed the hope that many delegates would be present.

Oddfellows Are Doing a Great Work

Dorchester Pastor Praises Order for Caring for Widows and Orphans.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Dorchester, May 26.—To a very hundred Oddfellows attended dining at the Dorchester Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon. Among the number were representatives from various lodges in the district, and about ten lodges from the Canadian Lodge, No. 1, of London, with Captain Priestly, commanding. A large number of other brethren from London, lodges were also present.

Bro. Crawford, past D. D. G. M., and many other distinguished brethren were present. The evening was conducted by Rev. J. Smith, who paid a splendid tribute to the work being done by the society. He showed how the order exemplifies the teaching of the Divine Master in following His example of true brotherhood in visiting the sick, caring for the widows and orphans, and in various ways promoting unity of men, which will influence the whole empire.

He also pointed out how the society shows the spirit of Christ by "going about doing good," and living the true spirit of unselfishness. In the spoken part of his sermon he spoke of the "brotherhood" as the influence which transforms lives.

The service was very largely attended by many from the surrounding villages, as well as from the vicinity of Dorchester. The Lyly Lodge is doing a good work, and is growing rapidly.

From Great Lakes To the Rockies

Women Sing the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Saskatchewan Lady Adds Her Testimony to What Has Already Been Said of the Great Work Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Doing.

Caesarville, Sask., May 26.—(Special.)—The scarcity of female help in a new country subjects the women of the prairies to unusual strain, and fact that this strain first makes itself felt in the kidneys. For this reason Dodd's Kidney Pills are making an enviable reputation for the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rockies.

Everywhere you will find women singing the praises of the great Canadian kidney remedy that has banished their pains and weariness, and brought them back to health. Among the many who have benefited by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is an estimable lady of this city.

"I have found Dodd's Kidney Pills very beneficial," Mrs. Cowen states. "Anything I can say will help any woman to what has already been said."

The kidneys strain all the refuse material out of the blood. If they are out of order this refuse remains in the blood, and becomes poison. That's why sound kidneys mean pure blood, and good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills make sound kidneys.

Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, or painful urination. Buy Dodd's Kidney Pills. No surgical operation required.

Strong Comment on Alien Land Bill

Governor Johnston Says Those Who Oppose Measure Are Idiots.

[Canadian Press.]

San Jose, Cal., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter G. Matthews, secretary of the San Jose Labor Council, Governor Johnston declares the anti-alien law enacted recently is "one of the most drastic laws upon the subject that has ever been introduced in the California Legislature," and as "favoring an alien land law that will sign a referendum against this law is either an idiot, or is bought."

Commenting on labor opposition to the alien land law, because it was regarded as less drastic than desired, the governor says:

"I have been shocked and horrified at the attitude of some of the labor people of San Francisco, but I am proud to say that those labor leaders whom we respect have taken the same position that your people in Santa Clara County have taken. We have done the big thing in this alien land legislation. We have laid the ghost to those who say that for so many years, and we have gone ahead and legislated on a subject that it was our legal and moral right to legislate upon."

SWALLOWED HAIR LOTION

Woman Rushed to the Hospital in Precarious Condition From Poisoning.

After swallowing a quantity of hair lotion, apparently in a fit of despondency, a woman who gave the name of Mrs. Carey, was rushed to Victoria Hospital about 2 o'clock this morning from a house at 263 Simcoe street. While she is in a precarious condition, it is understood that she has a good chance of recovery.

She was attended by Dr. Shaw, who was summoned to the house when it was discovered that she had swallowed the poison. He worked over her for some time before the ambulance arrived. She refused to give her name until after reaching the hospital, when she said she was a Mrs. Carey.

Two daughters, aged 11 and 17 years, occupy the rooms with her, and at the hospital stated that their mother had been feeling despondent ever since the father departed for the West taking his little son with him.

BACK TO LONDON

King and Queen End Their Visit With the Kaiser.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, May 27.—King George and Queen Mary terminated their visit today with a review of the Guards Army Corps, which was holding its spring parade at Potsdam. The review was followed by a gala luncheon at Potsdam Palace.

Their majesties left for England late in the afternoon.

No confirmation was obtainable of the report received from London that Emperor William is to visit Portsmouth in August and escorted by a squadron of German warships.

EXCLUDE MEXICANS

Parliament Wants to Know What Will Be Done in Arizona.

[Canadian Press.]

Mexico City, May 27.—A motion to interpellate the President was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies last night regarding what is being done or what the President proposes to do with reference to the Arizona bill, prohibiting Mexicans, as well as other foreigners, from owning land in that state. The motion was referred to a committee.

RARE BOOKS

High Prices Paid For Stevenson and Burns Volumes.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 27.—A London cable says: The sale of books and manuscripts at Sotheby's yesterday realized $5,390. The sale of the day was the extremely rare Edinburgh edition of Robert Burns' poems, brought $700. Quaintly printed, Robert Louis Stevenson's works, 24 volumes, the Edinburgh edition.

Virtue
SAYS
B.B.

[By Billie Burke.]

A college professor had the temerity the other day to tell a great audience of women, "If women wish to succeed in business, they must be more responsible and honest." I cannot understand why some clever woman in the crowd let that untruth go unchallenged.

In the first place, women ARE successful in business—all kinds of business—and statistics show that they are put into positions of responsibility and trust.

I sometimes wonder at the calmness with which we women allow ourselves and our actions to be incorrectly catalogued.

We are told we are extravagant, but I am sure that, while we may perhaps spend more than men, the other sex forgets that we are the great buyers of the world—it is the business of most women to spend the money just as it is the business of most men to earn it. Simply to buy many things is not extravagance, but is only extravagant when one buys things one does not need. I have never yet known a woman who did not get more for her money than a man. Their whole education teaches women how to do this. Almost every woman has had to make one dollar take the place of two, and this is quite as true of the rich woman as of the one who thinks she is poor.

Another foolish idea is that women are greater slaves to fashion than men. I hear this every day and it seems to me that any man or woman who thinks about it would know how silly this is. Since when, if you please, have men worn straw hats before the first of June and after the first of September, no matter what king of weather we have during May and September. Could you persuade a man to wear his evening clothes before 6 o'clock at night, and yet many of us have seen women in evening gowns at luncheon? Don't men wear cuffs on their trousers one year and leave them off the next, as Dame Fashion demands, and would any man, except a clergyman, wear a white lawn tie with his morning suit?

Another little pleasing fiction is that women do not stand up for each other. The greatest loyalty I have ever known has been of women to each other. Men are loyal to the women they love—as long as they love them. But women will be loyal to the memory of a lover even after love itself is dead. A pretty woman can break up a life-long friendship between men, but women friends seldom quarrel over a man.

Another polite falsehood that should be denied is that women are greater gossipers than men. Every woman who has a father, husband, brother or friend who is a member of a club knows that it is there more than half the gossip originates. More than seven-eighths of the gossip I hear is prefaced: "My husband heard this at the club." Men and women are just alike. There are loyal men and loyal women, and there are traitors in both sexes. No man has a patent on any virtue or is the sole developer of any vice.

Tea-Table Talk

"Sophie" writes me as follows regarding the matter of a girl and her yearly expenditures for dress: "Dear Nomad: I am much interested in your recent article in the Tea-Table Talks upon the subject of dress, and how much a girl should spend for it. I also note your kind invitation to tell how we manage, and am doing so, thinking it may interest and help some other girl."

"I am not able to dress on $50.00 a year like the one girl you told about, as I cannot make many of my own clothes, but I am always on the look-out for bargains, and never buy anything just because it is marked down but because I really need it to replenish my wardrobe. Out of my salary of $8.00 a week I allow $2.00 a week for dress, and try to make this cover everything. Looking over my last year's expenses (for I keep account of them all in a little book), I have summed them up as follows:

One suit	$25.00
Three shirtwaists	3.50
Tan silk, for special wear	10.75
Winter hat	5.00
Winter underwear and hose	5.00
One linen dress	4.75
One muslin dress	3.90
Summer hat	6.25
Summer underwear	3.75
Shoes for year	10.25
Gloves	4.00
Handkerchiefs	1.50
Neckwear	1.75
Raincoat	10.50
Incidentals	4.25
Total	$101.25

"You will see from my list that I have kept within my allowance. The suit will do me for two years, and next winter I intend to buy fur instead. Of course, as one always has something 'left over' from the year before, the older dresses and skirts come in for the principal wear and tear of every-day, and that helps quite a bit."

I am glad to receive this letter from "Sophie," and shall also be pleased to publish further communications on the subject from readers of this column. I think "Sophie" manages her money very well, don't you? And the idea of jotting them down in the little book is most commendable.

If you are very fastidious, I should advise you not to read this for your sense of nicety will in all probability be disturbed. It happened between Toronto and Hamilton on the midnight train running from the first-named city to dear-knows-where. Among the weary passengers were a number of "new Canadians" (it sounds nicer than immigrants), men, women and children. The poor things, looking pathetically patient, were curled up on the car seats in various attitudes of repose, oblivious for the time of the loneliness and strangeness of the hour in which they had so evidently just entered.

Presently, above the jolting and rattle of the train arose the wail of an infant. Louder and louder it sounded until the "new Canadians" were craning their necks in curious glances up and down the car to discover the whereabouts of the infant. Just as the babe was noticed by the mother, sitting opposite, she suddenly, seized a small granite kettle from the seat beside her, and after taking a generous mouthful, bent forward over the crying infant. What was she doing? A question one could read in every eye.

By and bye the operation was repeated, and soon the child's cries ceased. What magic had soothed the unmanageable "hunger cry"? Simply this. The mother took a mouthful of milk from the kettle, held it there for a few seconds in order to warm the fluid, and then conveyed it gradually to the infant. And shall I tell you, contrary to all scientific belief, I never saw a rosier, healthier baby than that same little bundle of immortal humanity? Long live to the little "new Canadian" and didn't I tell you that you'd be shocked?

SMART COTTON DRESSES.

The Drygoods Economist says that the return of short coats to popular favor gives dress designers considerable leeway in working out novelty garments for medium and popular price distribution. For instance, many of the cotton and linen street dresses are supplemented with very short coats.

Eponge, linen, cotton Bedford cords and poplins are extensively used for skirts, and coats of these numbers, the waist usually being made of cotton crepe or voile, either in matching color or in white. This waist takes on much of the appearance of a separate blouse, inasmuch as it has many of the characteristics of the semi-tailored designs seen in the new shirtwaist. Touches of color in the trimmings, however, bring the white waists in harmony with the skirt, or the embroidery, which often appears on the fronts or sleeves, may furnish the color touch now considered so smart.

A FROCK WITH A "TIE-ON" BLOUSE.

Brandt of Paris has sent out a charming street costume of blue moire with a waist of blue and cream brocade silk. This waist is made very much as were the "tie on" blouses of last year. The fronts cross over and tie in the back with the moderately long ends. Filling in the neck is a shadow lace vestee, the ends of which show below the belt. The skirt of blue moire is made with shallow plaits about the belt and has a little draping at the bottom of the front breadth.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

The Price of Rooms.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please tell me if there is much demand for comfortably furnished, well-cared-for bedrooms, with modern conveniences, in this city?

Could you also tell me the price such rooms would rent for if moderately central and breakfast were provided? Also rent without breakfast?

Thanking you, I am,
A SUBSCRIBER.

A.—There surely is such a demand. Do you wish the "Rooms Wanted" advertisements on page 3 of this journal? It would be a good idea for you to insert an "ad" yourself, advertising your rooms. The prices range from $2 to $4 weekly, according to size, locality and comforts provided, and, of course, including light, heat, and in many cases bathing privileges. Where breakfast is given an extra charge of from $1 to $1.50 weekly is made.

They Disagreed.
Dear Miss Grey: I am 18 and met a young man over a year ago, with whom I have been keeping company until six months ago. On my account he disagreed and he went away. He says he loves me and treats me with respect. He is no flirt. Would it be all right to write him a short letter and explain? I think he must be offended as he has never written to me.

Is it delatone harmful for removing superfluous hair?
Thanking you in advance, I remain,
A.—1. If you started the quarrel naturally you should be the one to take the first steps towards "making up." You became a reconciliation I presume the best thing to do would be to write the letter you mention.

2. While I have no personal knowledge of this preparation, a correspondent wrote this corner not long since, stating that she had not found it beneficial and did not advise its use. That is all I know about it.

Would Learn Millinery.
Dear Miss Grey: After having helped so many out of their troubles, I am sure you can answer me.

1. Please explain fully what course will a girl have to take to learn the millinery trade?

2. I wish to become a land-owner in the West. Where will I write to get full particulars? Do you buy land from the Government?

3. Will you please ask "The Nomad" to publish her views on a reporter's life, because I want to find out if it really is as hard as people make it out to be?

4. Will you please get me the piece, "Havathat?" I will send a stamped envelope for it.

Thanking you sincerely. Hoping to see this soon in print, I am, yours respectfully,
G. W. ENIE.

A.—The course may differ in various establishments, and naturally the length of time for the apprenticeship depends upon a girl's ability to learn, and the deftness of her fingers.

I understand a milliner's apprentice is first instructed in covering bands and lining hats. The next step is making shapes, then preparing trimmings, such as tucking or shirring silk, wiring ribbon, etc. A knowledge of these branches is necessary before hat trimming commences. The time of apprenticeship runs from two to three years, and, of course, at first the pay is very meagre.

2. If you wish to become a "home-

Moire ribbon velvet now vies with broadened velvet ribbon for popularity and beauty, too. The moire velvet is edged with a plain stripe of contrasting color. Bright blue has an edging of gray, and golden moire velvet is banded on each side with black.

Four-in-hand scarfs of heavy silk in corals, leaf green or other bright hues, for use with the white tailored shirt waist, end in white knotted silk fringe.

Metal and rhinestone slipper buckles are mounted on strips of velvet the color of the gown with which they are to be worn. Some of them are arranged on tongues of plaited velvet.

Slipper buckles made of pale blue, pink and yellow satin and chiffon roses are worn on light colored satin evening slippers.

Shoe trees for brides are wound with white satin ribbon and decorated with bunches of small scented orange flowers. They are dainty and easily made.

Belts and sashes of Roman striped corded ribbon are more and more used. The belts close with buckles covered with ribbon. The sashes end generally in a fringed tassel of black.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

WHEN EXTRAVAGANCE IS WISE.

Writing of legitimate extravagance in dress, a woman says: The woman who wears an expensive suit, but who commits the extravagance of having it altered so that it fits perfectly is committing a judicious extravagance—an extravagance much more to the point than the woman who, having an expensive suit and wears it just as it is, regardless of sagging shoulders, tight hips and drawn back. How wise that is!

And this too—For some women expensive corsets are necessary, for without them the most expensive clothes would not look well. Stout women should always have their corsets carefully fitted—if necessary made to order. A dress of inexpensive material, simply made, worn over a well-fitting corset is better than a gorgeous dress worn by a woman whose figure is full of unexpected bulges. On the other hand the girl with the little and supple figure can well afford to economize on corsets. Little does it matter what sort of foundation, artificial at least, her clothes have: her figure is shapely without help from a corset. She had better be extravagant in the buying of shoes, or the getting of some trifle of feminine adornment. Good shoes, fresh gloves, a becoming hat, and fresh neckwear of good quality are extravagances which many a woman who makes a pretense to being well dressed should indulge in. Good shoes do not mean simply expensive shoes once bought. It means shoes provided with an endowment fund that they may be kept always up at the heel, always kept clean and black. The same is true of gloves. Nothing is poorer economy than to wear soiled white gloves no matter how poor their quality. Neckwear can be procured in abundance at moderate prices, a fact which put a big supply of neckwear at any woman's disposal. But a really good piece of neckwear—an expensive stock of embroidered, net with a lace-edged jabot attached, an Irish lace sailor collar, or a Cluny collar and cuff set, all these are extravagances that are really worth while.

On the same rules hold good concerning household extravagance that apply to personal extravagance. Scrimp on some things, to spend liberally on others. In the matter of the table, for example: Good butter is essential if you would live well.

But strawberries in December and peaches in May are unnecessary extravagance. Let common sense, in short, direct one in all things so-called extravagant and one won't go far astray.

ROMAN GIRDLES.

The vogue for generous waist lines has made women willing to encircle their waists with bright-colored sashes, and the one bit of color on an entire frock of a sombre hue will often be found in the girdle or belt of a vivid shade. The Roman striped girdles lend this much-desired bit of color so effectively that they are in great demand, and will become even more stylish as white lingerie serge and rathine frocks are worn. While it is easily possible to buy the silk by the yard and make one of these girdles at home, they are not expensive even in the shops, and to many women in the social whirl time is valuable.

The simplest girdles are finished with ends trimmed with silk tassels. The more elaborate girdles have their ends completed by jeweled fringe, the gold, ruby and sapphire beads being combined with baroque pearls to form a fringe three to four inches deep.

"Does your baby cry as much as it used to?"
"No, not quite," replied the tired father. "The nights are getting a little shorter now, you know."

The Poets' Corner

MARGARITAE SORORI.

A late lark twitterers from the quiet skies:
And from the west,
Where the sun, his day's work ended,
Lingers as in content,
There falls on the old, grey city
An influence luminous and serene,
A shining peace.

The smoke ascends
In a rosy-and-golden haze. The spires
Shine and are changed. In the valley
Shadows rise. The lark sings on. The sun,
Closing his benediction,
Sinks, and the darkening air
Thrills with a sense of the triumphant night—
Night with her train of stars
And her great gift of sleep.

So be my passing!
My task accomplish'd and the long day
done,
My wages taken, and in my heart
Some late lark singing,
Let me be gathered to the quiet west,
The sundown splendid and serene,
Death.

Veal and Ham Pie—Cut the veal into very small pieces and put a layer in the bottom of the dish; sprinkle over it a seasoning of salt, pepper, and powdered herbs; then lay on slices of cold boiled ham, a second layer of veal, and continue alternately until the dish is full. Pour in sufficient cold water to cover the meat, having sliced ham on top; cover with a thick puff paste and bake an hour in a hot oven. A dish of hot water in the oven will prevent scorching the crust.

Berry Pudding—Mix half a cup of sugar, two tablespoons of butter or shortening, 2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder sifted with it, a pinch of salt, 1 cup milk and 1 egg; cover a buttered pudding dish thick with canned blueberries or blackberries, or sliced apples may be substituted; pour the batter over and bake about 40 minutes; serve with sauce.

WHEN YOU ARE MEASURING.

Four heaping tablespoons of corn starch to one quart of milk.
Three heaping tablespoons of baking powder to one cupful of flour.
One teaspoonful of soda to one pint of sour milk.
One teaspoonful of soda to half a pint of molasses.
One teaspoonful of baking powder is the equivalent of half a teaspoonful of soda and one teaspoonful of cream of tartar.

Caroline Coe's Tested Recipes for Steamed Pudding.

Two cups of stale cake, put through the coarse grinder; one cup of bread crumbs, and cover with two cups of boiling water. Allow to stand half an hour. Three tablespoons of chopped suet, pinch of salt, one teaspoon vanilla and one cup of molasses. Beat all together. Add one egg, well beaten. Sift one even teaspoon of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of cinnamon with one cup of flour. One-half cup raisins, one-half cup currants, one-half pound of prunes, stoned and cut into four pieces each, dredge fruit with flour, turn fruit and flour into first mixture. Mix thoroughly. Butter tightly covered pudding dish, turn the pudding batter into the pan, cover and boil three hours.

NOTE.—Make this pudding the day you make soup stock and set the mold into the soup kettle and save one fire, if burning gas or gasoline.

CHELSEA GREEN LOTS ARE SELLING RAPIDLY

Twenty-Eight Lots on Which Workingmen's Homes Are To Be Built Sold During the Past Month—Mr. R. Franks Receives Offer of $20,000 for 95 Acres.

Chelsea Green is still on the boom, and land values in that section have doubled in the past few years. During the past few weeks 21 lots have been sold of the Robert Gracie estate, which was formerly a part of the Whetter estate, and as soon as possible the people who purchased them will start the erection of workingmen's homes. A number of new houses have been started already, and it is expected that before fall there will be enough to accommodate the workingmen of the factories over there.

Received Large Offer.
Mr. Richard Franks, who has a farm of 95 acres, has received several offers for it, but has not yet decided to sell. Last Friday a local man made a standing offer of $20,000 for the place. If he secures it he will cut it up into building lots and put them on the market.

Factories Are Busy.
All the factories are working with as big a staff as they can secure, and it is expected that the Mitchell Co., which is the pioneer institution of the Green, will have to erect an addition to their plant before long. The company's plants and store yards, which cover an area of twelve acres, are filled with material, and it is expected that the factory will be completed within a short time.

Street Railway Extensions Are Nearly Finished
Adelaide Street Line Is Finished, But Is Held Back by the C. P. R.

Work on the construction of the double track between Oxford street and Central Avenue, is being held up by the C. P. R., according to officials of the street railway company.

The extension of the line on Adelaide street between Oxford street and Central Avenue, is being held up by the C. P. R., according to officials of the street railway company.

The company has put the tracks down between the two streets, and will start work on the overhead wires this week, but so far the C. P. R. has not made any move to put in the cross-overs, which is absolutely necessary at the tracks.

When the Adelaide street line is completed the new schedule will likely be put into effect, and although it may confuse people for a short time, it will give a better service than is now given.

Playing Football Fractures His Arm

While playing football in Chelsea Green, Stanley Stabler, of Adelaide street, one of the best players on the team, fractured his right arm while playing.

Mr. Stabler, with a number of young men, was practicing, and in a scrimmage he fell, his arm doubling under him. Dr. H. Black was called and reduced the fracture.

Ornamental Light at Normal School Front

A cluster light, similar to the ones on the main streets, was erected in front of the Normal school on South London avenue, a few days ago by the hydro-electric department of the city.

The spot where the light was erected has always been a dark one on account of the many trees, and the light will be welcomed by scholars and people who have occasion to go to the school at night.

STEEL MERGER
Chatham Firm Will Be Absorbed By $2,000,000 Trust.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, May 27.—Richardson & Co., members of the Montreal Stock Exchange, have purchased the Ganacque Spring and Axle Company, Limited; the D. F. Jones Manufacturing Company, Limited, of Ganacque, and the Dowdley Springs Axle Company, of Chatham, Ont. The new merger will be operated under the name of the Steel Products of Canada, Limited, and will have a capitalization of $2,000,000, divided as follows: Six per cent bonds, $600,000; 7 per cent preferred stock, $750,000, and common stock, $1,650,000. It is understood that 75 per cent of the securities in the new company have been in lieu of cash by the holders of stock in the amalgamated companies, and that the rest will be offered to the public for subscription.

MADE A TEST.
[Canadian Press.]
Vancouver, B. C., May 27.—In a test action brought by the John Deere Plow Company, Justice Gregory intimated he would uphold the British Columbia companies' act as valid. The case will be taken to the privy council.

Tecumseh Avenue Residents Anxious About Pavement

Sent Petition for Cement Roadway to Council, But Nothing Has Been Done About It.

Residents of Tecumseh avenue, between the Wortley road and Ridout street, are wondering when the city council is going to take some action on the petition presented by them asking for a reinforced concrete pavement on the street.

The petition was circulated several months ago and sent to the council. Since then the residents have been watching the papers every day after a meeting of the council or the board of works to see whether instructions were given to begin work on the pavement.

"I cannot understand why it is being held up," said one resident. "The majority of property owners signed the petition. We are willing to pay for the pavement, and I think we should get it."

Several other petitions for pavements in South London have been circulated, one or two of them being sent to the city clerk, but as yet the residents have received no notification of any action.

Maitland Street Roadway Is In Bad Condition

Maitland street, between Simcoe street and the river, is in such condition that it is almost impassable. Deep ruts and holes are everywhere, and it is almost impossible to take their rigs over the street in some sections.

Numerous complaints have been registered by the residents, but they have yet received no assurance from the city that the roadway would be repaired. There is some talk of circulating a petition asking that the street be gravelled, but it is likely that it will be sent to the board of works within a short time.

Will Donate Two Acres of Land To the City For a Park

Mr. James Winslow Offers Piece of Property on River Bank—Residents of Green Want a Place of Recreation.

Residents of Chelsea Green are bound to have a park, and already several shady spots in that section have been suggested as available sites. They contended that it is too far for them to come up to Victoria Park on Sunday afternoons or evenings during the hot weather, and that they would be satisfied if the city would donate a few benches to be placed under the trees over there.

Offers Two Acres.
Mr. James Winslow has offered two acres of land, situated along the river bank, free to the city if he receives a promise that a little work will be done on it.

It is also understood that the owners of the "valley" property would give a section of the ravine, through which a creek runs and where there are a number of shade trees, if the city would consent to give a few benches and look after it.

The Green is growing considerably, and as practically all the residents are workingmen and their families, a few dollars spent in benches and flowers would provide a place of recreation after a hard day's work.

ASK MONEY IN BYLAW TO BUILD BREAKWATER

Front Street Residents Think People Should Vote on Wall For Them.

Residents of Front street are hoping that the city council will decide to construct a permanent cement wall to protect their houses and land from the river, every spring.

At the last meeting of the board of works, a petition signed by the owners of property on Front street, was presented, and on motion of Ald. Stein, the city engineer was instructed to make an investigation of the place and report back to the committee.

The residents are of the belief that a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the construction of a permanent wall should be incorporated in the bylaw asking for a sum of money to build the West London breakwater. They contended that a breakwater is needed there, and that instead of sending two bylaws to the people an amount sufficient to build both should be asked for in the bylaw.

BIG POWER PLANT

Great Britain Will Give Government a National Standing.

[Canadian Press.]
London, May 27.—Sir Edward Grey announced in the House of Commons, which reassembled today after the Whitsuntide recess, that Great Britain was ready to recognize the Chinese Government as soon as China had agreed to maintain the existing treaties.

Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George have not yet returned from their holiday, so that the debate on the Irish home rule bill will be postponed for a fortnight.

BOMB IN STATION
Suffragettes Blamed for Explosion Under Platform at Reading.

[Canadian Press.]
Reading, England, May 27.—Two loud explosions occurred and great volumes of smoke rose from the platform as the express from London to Bristol rushed through the station here at noon today.

AGITATION FOR SUBWAY IS TO BE STARTED AGAIN

Residents Are Working On the Scheme and Will Circulate Petitions.

South Londoners are not at all pleased with some of the aldermen. Several months ago when the agitation for a subway under the Ridout street tracks of the Grand Trunk was at its height, several aldermen promised to bring the question up in the city council. Apparently those aldermen forgot their promises or else something cropped up to attract their attention, for none of them even mentioned the matter, either in committee or council meeting.

Working on Scheme.
But the people of South London have not forgotten about the subway, and several prominent residents are quietly working on the scheme.

It is a recognized fact that such a subway would prove a time-saver to the residents of that section in coming and going to work, by providing a route for street cars, over which they would not be delayed by railroad trains.

Then the fire department would be benefited considerably by the reduction of a steep hill, and the elimination of a possibility of being held up by trains.

It is understood that the Street Railway Company would be only too willing to run a line down Ridout street, if a subway were built under the Grand Trunk tracks, and that the Grand Trunk would be willing to pay a part of the share of the cost of a subway as it would eliminate the necessity of a watchman at that crossing.

The residents are quietly working on the question, and several petitions will be circulated all over South London asking the city council to take some action towards the building of the subway.

Knollwood Park Lights Will Be Turned on Soon

Although employees of the hydro-electric commission of the city have been engaged for some months in erecting poles and stringing wires for the street lights in Knollwood Park the power has not been turned on.

General Manager Claubitz said today that everything was in readiness to turn on the lights, but that the work was being held up on account of a delay by the Westinghouse Company in shipping the regulators for the lights in that district.

He thought, however, that the regulators would be here in a short time and as soon as they arrive they will be put up and the power turned on.

The residents are anxious to have the power turned on as soon as possible on account of the condition of the roads in that section and the lack of sidewalks.

WOMEN MAY NOW BECOME MEMBERS OF ROYAL SOCIETY

Canadian Organization Is the First To Include Women On Its List.

Col. Denison, of Toronto, Was Strongly Opposed to the Course Taken.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 27.—Setting aside pretexts fixed by the Royal Society of Canada, the Royal Society of Canada today voted to admit women to its councils.

The chief champion of the move was Professor J. G. Adams, of Montreal, and the opposition was led by Col. Denison.

A motion was at first put that the constitution be amended to include females eligible for membership. It was then discovered that this eligibility was already indicated by the word "person," and it was accordingly decided that the society take this to mean both sexes.

Dr. Adams' View.

"I am no suffragist," said Dr. Adams. "In moving this motion, I suppose no one has come under the criticism of being a suffragist. I am still surprised that I should be so.

President Everett

In City Today

Head of Street Railway to Meet the Board of Directors.

Mr. H. A. Everett, Cleveland, Ohio, president of the London Street Railway Company, is in the city attending a meeting of the board of directors of the company.

It is not unlikely that the question of extensions of the present street car service will be discussed, but so far as could be ascertained, no definite plans were yet under consideration.

Sues Over Injury

To His Daughter

Hit by Automobile Which It Claimed Was Going Too Fast.

William H. Dingle, a teamster of this city, has commenced a suit against W. D. Thomas, of London, for $500 damages, sustained by his daughter when the defendant's automobile ran into her on a street in London.

The defendant claims that the accident was due to the complainant's own negligence, and that he was not liable for the injury.

Assessor Gets New

Tax Regulations

Exempts Householders From $1,500 Income Assessment Instead of $1,200.

New amendments to the assessment act, revised copies of which have been received by Assessors Commissioner Grant, exempt householders from $1,500 income assessment instead of $1,200 as formerly.

Non-householders in towns and cities are exempt from taxation on $600 income and in other municipalities on $400.

In cases where the cost of a building is in doubt, on account of the increased value of the land and where the cost of the building on the land may be less than the cost of the land, the assessor will be guided by the value of the land and the cost of the building.

Seventh Regiment

Going to Hamilton

Local Corps Will Attend "Old Home" Celebration at Ambitious City.

Spring training for the Seventh Regiment was concluded at the drill held at the Armouries Monday evening.

Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell presented a letter from the committee of the regiment, formerly hotelkeepers in Stratford, to recover the sum of $500, the value of certain articles of furniture which the complainant alleged were removed from the hotel after he had bought it.

He purchased the hotel by agreement in writing on March 20, 1912, and certain goods and chattels were removed from the hotel after he had bought it.

MUST PAY $1070 FOR PUTTING BOY'S EYE OUT WITH FIREWORKS

Toronto Man's Victoria Day Celebration Proves Rather Costly—Lad Picked Up Roman Candle and It Exploded in His Eye.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 27.—The fireworks display in front of the house of C. H. Rudd, at 78 Crawford street, on the night of May 24, 1912, will cost that gentleman $1,070, outside what he spent for crackers and rockets, according to a decision given by the appellate division at Osgoode Hall today.

A judgment for the above amount was awarded Arnold Arthur Pringle, a 13-year-old lad, at the trial of an action against Mr. Rudd and Chief Justice J. M. Meredith.

Arnold Pringle, who lives at 100 Crawford street, had gone down to see the display before Mr. Rudd's house shortly after 9 p.m. Mr. Rudd had tossed out into the street a Roman candle, which he thought was spent. Arnold picked it up and looked down the barrel. "If I had tried the case, I would have awarded $2,000," declared Mr. Justice Riddell.

Court dismissed the appeal without calling on the plaintiff's solicitor, E. E. Wallace.

Two More Months
For Old City Hall
Expected Spencer Block Will Be Ready For Occupation Sept. 1.

The city council, at a special meeting Monday afternoon, gave the Royal Bank three months' notice that the city would quit its tenancy of the old hall Sept. 1 next.

Two months, Mayor Graham explained, would be sufficient time to make the alterations required to the Spencer block, which will be gone ahead with as soon as the present tenants move out June 15. Ald. Robinson read a report of No. 2 committee, recommending that the Victoria Hospital contracts, amounting to about $12,000, be awarded to C. Insell and Noble & Rich, and that the contract for the Dundas street sewer extension, from Egmont street to the new McCormick factory district, be awarded to C. Leathorne for $2,000.

PLANNED TO PLAY
IN PROVINCE
Wanted to Take Sensational Drama on Tour of Ontario.

HAMILTON BARRED IT
Crown Authorities Were Cold When Proposition Was Made to Them.

Toronto, May 27.—The "Deborah" Company, the drama which was ordered off the stage of the Princess Theatre, left last evening for New York on instructions received from Advance Agent Bruner, who is in Hamilton, having gone there to arrange for a production of the play in the Ambitious City, a mission which, by the way, failed.
After the set-back in Toronto Manager Waite consulted with Mr. James Doughty, booking manager for the A. J. Small circuit, as to the possibility of playing in Hamilton, Ottawa and Kingston, London, however, was not considered because a stock company is playing an engagement at the principal theatre in that city this week.
The idea was to have the city crown attorneys of these towns notified that the indictment against "Deborah" was based on the unproven performance of the play in Toronto, that an appeal was pending and that, therefore, "Deborah" should be allowed production in Hamilton.

ton, Ottawa and Kingston, so that the play, as it were, might speak for itself.
Hamilton Authorities Cold.
This plan seemed feasible to Mr. Doughty and the management of the "Deborah" Company, and, accordingly, Advance Agent Bruner left for Hamilton and the other towns of the circuit, carrying with him notification of the appeal to the several crown attorneys, and asking them for permission to bill the towns and other places.
It all looked rosy, and the hope that is said to spring eternal in the human breast, turned somersaults of gaiety and cheer in the heart of Advance Agent Bruner when he struck Hamilton, the first city on the circuit. But in the colloquial phraseology of the day, he failed to connect.
At noon yesterday, Mr. Bruner called upon Booking Manager Doughty and explained that the Hamilton authorities were cold towards his proposition. Mr. Doughty then advised that in view of all the circumstances, and the good name of the A. J. Small circuit, despite the former rosy view of big business if "Deborah" were produced in Hamilton, that other towns, it was best to let the company be notified to proceed to New York.

WESTERN DRAMA
FULL OF THRILLS
"Under Arizona Skies," Breezy of the Plains and Frontier Life.

"Under Arizona Skies," a stirring drama of the western plains, was presented by the Stanley Stock Company at the Grand Opera House Monday evening before a large audience. The production was a pleasing one and merited the generous applause accorded it.
The scene was laid on a ranch in Arizona, whither Steve Morton, a wealthy young easterner (whose character was ably delineated by Mr. Arthur Stanley), had come to get over his disappointment at being refused by the girl he loved. In a moment of indiscretion he had married a half-breed girl, Pepita. She brought disgrace upon him by her intrigues with a Mexican, Mendoza. It was while things were at their worst that Mrs. Cannon, the owner of the ranch, invited her niece to visit her. The girl comes and proves to be the former sweetheart of Steve Morton. She has changed her attitude toward him, but discovering that he is married to Pepita, she realizes that the old dream is dead. In the meantime, Pepita, in a fit of jealousy, kills Mendoza. His body is discovered by Elsie Randolph, the eastern girl, who picks up a revolver and goes.

Your House is Worth More Attractively Painted

PAINT adds far more to the value of your house than the cost of the paint itself, and the labor of applying. It makes the old house look new—gives the entire premises that well-to-do air, and preserves the material which it covers. One householder painted his house with "High Standard" Paint, one coat. A few weeks later he wrote: "Before painting I couldn't get an offer. I have now been offered 50% more than I asked."

Thus good paint is economy and insurance in one. This economy—this insurance—increases with the quality of the paint. The finer the paint, the more it saves and the better it protects. You can readily see then, how Lowe Brothers "High Standard" Liquid Paint, which is the highest possible quality, is really less expensive, even at a somewhat higher price. Because of this extra quality, "High Standard" machine-ground-and-mixed paint lasts years longer than any other paint, covers more square feet per gallon, and is always uniform—an advantage which rule-of-thumb painters cannot possess. And it leaves the surface in good condition for repainting—a most important factor in cost. Measure your cost not by the price per gallon, but by the cost of the completed work compared with the years it will wear and the cost of repainting. You will find Lowe Brothers "High Standard" Paint the cheapest at first and in the end. There is a special product for every need.

For your floors, old or new, Vermicul Stain and Graining Colors, Hard Drying Floor Paint and Varnish. For your walls, "Mellotone"—a washable, durable, beautiful paint—a great improvement on wall paper and saves money. For your woodwork, Linduro—the finest enamel. For all kinds of fine finishes on inside and outside woodwork there is a High Standard Durable Varnish for every purpose, and many more "High Standard" Finishes—each the best for the purpose.
