

ROUND THE WORLD.

The railroads in the United States give work to 630,000 people.
Manitoba, Mich., has an orchestra composed of fourteen young women.
A four-inch dead smooth file has 864 teeth to the face, or 216 to the inch.
For the first time in its history the Dutchess county (N. Y.) jail has not a prisoner in it.

Bunkies of brass of the modern form are found buried in the prehistoric mounds of England.
There has been more snow and ice than in any season since the year 1850.

It is said that throughout the world the continent last year not less than 500,000 pounds of willow leaves digested as tea.

The value of the contents of a barrel of crude petroleum ranges from 36 cents to $1, while the value of the barrel itself is $2.50.

At St. Helena, California, a few days ago, several thousand gallons of ten-year-old California wine sold for three cents a gallon.
In Paris it costs $3 to cremate a body, and this includes coal and labor with an urn thrown in. In Milan the cost is only $1.40, but they give an urn or chrome.

A druggist at Louisville advertised his store as a "free warming place" for the public during the very severe weather of a few days ago.

Statistics of last year's shooting in the Grisons show that the chamois are increasing rather than diminishing in that part of Switzerland.

Angus, Iowa, could not rest until it was incorporated as a city; but the city government costs so much that the citizens are petitioning to have the city charter revoked.

A silver box, about at a wedding in Hartford, Conn., the other day, is to be kept under seal, like that of Pandora, till the time for the silver anniversary, twenty-five years hence.

School teacher Brink, of Nile, Iowa, will be tried for manslaughter. He whipped a 12-year-old child so severely that it is asserted the child died from the effects of the punishment.

Mrs. W. P. Miller, of Buchanan, Mich., is the first mother of six children who were all born within the past thirty-four months. They came two at a time, and all but one are alive and thriving.

A newspaper of Bloch, Kansas, says that in Clark county during a recent snow storm a large flock of sheep crowded close together, and the snow, melting for a while and then freezing, fastened the entire flock together.

George Leib, a colored carpenter of Savannah, Ga., fell backward from a high story scaffolding the other day, turned a complete somersault, struck squarely on his feet, looked around to see if any one was hurt, and quietly climbed back to his work.

Capt. Tom Gregory of Winchester, Tenn., has a unique pair of gloves. They were made by Miss Nannie Phillips, who snared a lot of rabbits, carded and spun their fur as if it were wool, and from the yarn knit the gloves. She decorated the back of each glove with the ear of a full grown rabbit.

A runaway team in St. Paul dashed into a funeral procession, just missing the carriage containing the pall bearers, and striking the hearse squarely. The driver was thrown to the ground, the hearse overturned, its glass sides shattered, and the coffin horses were killed and his mate knocked senseless.

Wyoming hunters are excited over reports that come from the head waters of Snake River of a band of fifty head of white, or snow elk. Hitherto there have been traditions of snow elk, in which they are described as being as white as the snow, from which they get their name, and larger and swifter than the common elk. Now and then one has been seen, but never a herd.

Moody and Sankey are a revelation to New Orleans, and the effect they are having is remarkable. One Sunday they held seven services and addressed 10,000 different persons. Over 500 attended their inquiry meetings, of whom, the Times-Democrat says, "it is carefully estimated over 300 confessed Christ. Such an interest in religious exercises was never before seen in New Orleans."

A year or so ago James Hawkins, a respected colored man of Denver, with his wife, went to the opera house owned by ex-Senator Tabos, and handed the tickets under two first-class tickets. He was told they could not occupy the seats called for by the tickets, and the money for the tickets was offered to him. He refused to accept it, and brought suit for damages against the ex-Senator. A jury brought in a verdict awarding Hawkins $4 damages and the price of two tickets, $4 in all.

Samuel J. Piper and Albert G. Herndon were life prisoners in the Albany penitentiary for robbing a mail coach in Texas. When the recent epidemic of typhus fever broke out in the jail they volunteered as nurses, and both rendered valuable services until Piper himself was taken ill. He is just recovering. Their heroic conduct induced Albany officials to ask for their pardon, and a telegram has been received saying the pardons had been granted.

In a slugging match between Jack McGee and Tom McMannus, in Boston, the other evening, McGee knocked his man out by a blow which is described as novel and surprising to all the sporting men present. McGee faced his opponent and "turned to the right like a flash, pivoting completely around, gaining in force as he revolved," until he caught McMannus on the jaw and dropped him. McGee says Jack Stewart of Glasgow taught him the blow.

There have been two or three runaways of unbroken horses in Chicago recently, the police were ordered to "bring in" every rig found in the streets where the horse was left alone or unbroken. The new order went into effect the other day, and over fifty haggles, cabs, wagons, and drays were driven to a livery stable where their owners found them and redeemed them by the payment of half a dollar each. Lots of profanity followed the enforcement of this ordinance.

In three or four months you will wish you had botched up some of this weather.

AN EGYPTIAN ROMANCE.

A Story of Love and Wild Adventure, founded upon startling Revelations in the Career of Arabi Pasha.

By the Author of "NINA, THE NIBELUNG," "THE RED SPOT," "THE RUSSIAN SPY," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER XXXV.
FRANK, DISGUISED AS AN EGYPTIAN, DEPARTS ON A PERILOUS MISSION.

"The mole, and get the names changed in the books and on the passenger list, because they all know me, and were you to simply go on board and take your place at the table, you would be recognized."

"I have already on more than one occasion described an Egyptian crowd, so there is no need of a repainting of the picture. The only difference was that this one was to be more excited than they usually are, and to be eagerly awaiting the arrival of something, while naked eatons, looking at the provided mummies, or plucked birds, and the usual Egyptian accompaniments, were all around them."

"I will tell you what would make you doubly safe, monster," said the landlord of Hotel Orient. "A slight wash of tincture of iodine over your face and hands, and a red tannin on your head. That dark blue flannel jacket and trousers are exceedingly like an Egyptian officer's uniform, and the tannin would render it undetectable, while the iodine would stain your skin to the exact tint. I've some remaining that I had to paint a swilling with, and I'll lay it on with a camel's hair brush and make a first-rate job of it."

"The landlord's offer having been accepted, Frank Donnelly's face, throat and hands were quickly rendered as dark as a real Egyptian's, and as the natural color of his eyes and hair very well corresponded, nothing but a red tannin was wanted to complete his disguise, and this Monsieur Boncour was also able to supply him with."

"Now, Nellie, don't you think that I am quite safe?" exclaimed her husband.

"Yes," replied his wife. "I think you look much more Egyptian than English. I'll try not to be frightened whilst you are away. Nevertheless, do not be gone long."

"You may depend on that, my love. Well, farewell for the time, gentlemen, and thank you very much."

He said this because he wished to pay his adieu to his bride in private, and both the Frenchman and the Jew took the hint and departed.

"Nellie," said Frank, then, "you must ring for Marie, and see if you cannot somehow purchase clothing sufficient for the voyage and have it already packed against my return, for I shall smuggle you aboard this French steamer as soon as ever she has alongside the quay. Procure a yachmack, also, if you can, so as to look as much like a native woman as possible. I dare say one of the hotel servants has one as a curiosity, and would part with it for an adequate consideration, but if one isn't to be got procure as thick a veil as possible and her attention was only given to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

CHAPTER XXXVI.
PREPARATIONS FOR FLIGHT—THREE DANGEROUS RECOGNITIONS.

After her husband had departed the time passed very slowly to Nellie, that is to say, when once she had made, assisted by Marie the French chambermaid, all necessary preparations for flight, and had bought half her wardrobe and box as well, for now that the girl saw the urgency of the case she offered to go out and do whatever shopping was necessary, Nellie would not allow her to run the risk of leaving the hotel.

So, after the little box containing just sufficient necessaries for the voyage were packed, packed and labeled, the hour-old bride had nothing left to do but to gaze out of the window of the prettily furnished sitting room and watch what was going on in the streets, for though she had entrusted Marie to stay with her for company, the lively little French maid could not neglect her work any longer, and was compelled to go.

But the prospect from the window was not an uninteresting one to Nellie; indeed, it was exactly the reverse, for the mob had dwindled away by degrees until the long, broad and not altogether unattractive thoroughfare was almost deserted, and encouraged by this the shopkeepers had for the most part, taken down their shutters again, and were conducting business as usual, the cafe, whose name is legible in all parts of Alexandria, following their example and the banks in like manner.

All this made her hope her husband was not in peril, more especially as he had disguised himself so very like an Egyptian, but even while she was hugging this comfort to her heart the hoarse boom of a cannon from the direction of Fort Tabarah brought back all her fears with redoubled force, and she clasped her hands together in terror.

"Boom, boom, boom!" went the cannon, and she was not experienced enough in the sound of artillery to know that such a dull, leonine roar could never proceed from a shot-gun.

That it was Egyptian ordnance she did not know, however, because the reports came from a landward direction.

From this she jumped to the conclusion that the massacre of the Christians had commenced, and she pictured them as being blown from the months of cannon just as Sepoys were blown during the Indian mutiny.

Then, presently, the roar of artillery ceased, but only to be succeeded by rattling peals of musketry and a continuous and prolonged cheering that seemed each passing minute to be nearer and nearer, and while Nellie wondered what it could all the street without began to fill again, a narrow thoroughfare that opened into the square, which was presently filled each side of the long Rue de la Colonne Pompee as far as the eyes could reach.

"I have already on more than one occasion described an Egyptian crowd, so there is no need of a repainting of the picture. The only difference was that this one was to be more excited than they usually are, and to be eagerly awaiting the arrival of something, while naked eatons, looking at the provided mummies, or plucked birds, and the usual Egyptian accompaniments, were all around them."

"I will tell you what would make you doubly safe, monster," said the landlord of Hotel Orient. "A slight wash of tincture of iodine over your face and hands, and a red tannin on your head. That dark blue flannel jacket and trousers are exceedingly like an Egyptian officer's uniform, and the tannin would render it undetectable, while the iodine would stain your skin to the exact tint. I've some remaining that I had to paint a swilling with, and I'll lay it on with a camel's hair brush and make a first-rate job of it."

"Now, Nellie, don't you think that I am quite safe?" exclaimed her husband.

"Yes," replied his wife. "I think you look much more Egyptian than English. I'll try not to be frightened whilst you are away. Nevertheless, do not be gone long."

"You may depend on that, my love. Well, farewell for the time, gentlemen, and thank you very much."

He said this because he wished to pay his adieu to his bride in private, and both the Frenchman and the Jew took the hint and departed.

"Nellie," said Frank, then, "you must ring for Marie, and see if you cannot somehow purchase clothing sufficient for the voyage and have it already packed against my return, for I shall smuggle you aboard this French steamer as soon as ever she has alongside the quay. Procure a yachmack, also, if you can, so as to look as much like a native woman as possible. I dare say one of the hotel servants has one as a curiosity, and would part with it for an adequate consideration, but if one isn't to be got procure as thick a veil as possible and her attention was only given to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

Nellie was now in a kind of daze, or mental lethargy, in which her brain slept though her eyes were open.

Had it not been so she would assuredly have guessed who was approaching and retired from the window to have escaped the chance of having been seen by him.

But her thoughts, still running on the Khedive who was nothing to her, she forgot all about the war minister, who was everything or all events destined to be every thing to her, and his existence was first recalled to her mind by the sight of his face looking directly upward, with his fierce, eager eyes fixed upon her with a glance of mingled surprise, recognition and triumph, or so, at least, the poor girl read it."

So full were her thoughts of him (though admiration for the fierce, extravagant and weak-minded prince she had none) that she took no notice of, and indeed, hardly saw the entire regiment of white uniformed, red-turbaned Egyptian infantry that closely followed the Khedive's carriage, and her attention was only again attracted to the street by shrill and vociferous cheering.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

THE MASSACRE IN THE GREAT SQUARE.

When some five minutes later Frank Donnelly emerged into the Rue de la Colonne Pompee, on his way back to the Hotel Orient, he found it almost empty, for the Khedival procession had swept by and the populace had followed it.

His caliche (he had endeavored to procure a close cab or other carriage, but in vain) had therefore not the slightest difficulty in getting along, and no sooner had it drawn up at the hotel steps than, first ordering it to await his return, he ran upstairs and upstairs to Nellie.

"I found her on the sofa with her eyes closed and looking deathly pale. No sooner did he burst into the room, however, than she sprang to her feet and throwing herself into his arms exclaimed: 'Oh, take me away from here. Take me at once, Frank!'

"That's what I've just come to do, my love. The carriage waits at the door, and I dare say Pat is already on his way upstairs for your box. It is ready for him!"

"Yes, Frank, there. And I have only to put on the hat and jacket that I got from Marie."

"And the yachmack that I advised you to procure. One was to be had I suppose."

"No, Frank, I could not get one, and I would not allow Marie to risk going out. I have, however, a very thick veil, and I hope that will do very nearly as well."

"I don't but that that will do quite as well, my darling; indeed, I believe that it will be just what you need. For the storm seems to have passed away, in proof of which all the shops and banks have opened again."

"The storm is at all events not over for us, Frank, for Arabi Pasha is in Alexandria. He recognized me at the window as he passed under in his carriage, and so did two others, the beautiful but horrible woman who like you saved and who gave you that opal ring, and the hideous black man who seems to be always with her."

"Well, my dear, it doesn't much matter, for in a quarter of an hour we shall be aboard a French ship, and a French ship is to all intents and purposes French territory."

Nellie said not another word, but rushed into the adjoining bedroom, and hurriedly put on the natty little hat and jacket that she had purchased from Marie.

Then she muffled up her pretty face in the hideous green veil and re-entered the sitting room just as Pat Monaghan was moving out of it with her box on his shoulder.

"A couple or three minutes later they were driving away from the hotel door, Frank and Nellie inside and Pat Monaghan on the box beside the driver."

"And so we are really on our way to a steamboat bound for Europe, Frank?"

Nellie spoke the words as though she desired to be convinced again of their truth.

This strange conduct of hers caused her husband to laugh as he rejoined: "Yes, Nell, we really are, and what is more she sails within an hour and so we shall sit down to dinner in all probability out of sight of land."

"Oh, that will be glorious," exclaimed the new made bride. "And Arabi Pasha could not tear me out of the French ship, even under the plea that it was to restore me to my parents, could he? That is what causes me most apprehension."

"Your marriage certificate proves that you no longer belong to your parents, but only to your husband, so of course he could not carry you from me, my darling."

"No, I am satisfied. Now I do not believe that I am one bit afraid, Frank."

Poor girl, she might not have expressed herself so confidently had she but known that the h's of such age, of the Khedive's age was within both eye and ear shot, and waiting but a favorable opportunity to pounce down upon and bear her off as an eagle scoops down upon a dove.

He was furthermore resolved to make that opportunity if he did not find it ready made.

Concealed behind one of the Ionic pillars that assisted to form a portion of the hotel door, he heard the route to the harbor gate, and the driver of the caliche by the landlord, Monsieur Boncour, as the one whom his guests would be least likely to meet with unpleasant interruption, and no sooner had he been thus made aware that the carriage would be driven through the Grand Square, or Place Mehmet Ali, as it is more generally called, than he resolved that it should get no further.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

A Born Soldier.

The death is announced of Sir George Udny Yule. He was only an able Bengal civilian of the older and more active type; but he once did a wonderful thing. In 1858 he was a commissioner in Bengal, when three regiments of Sepoys, breaking late into mutiny, marched across his district to join the insurgent army in Oude. Mr. Yule had no troops, no military authority, and no responsibility in the matter; but the impudence of the affair was too much for him. He was a hunting man, turned out his hunting equipment, borrowed more elephants from native friends, collected eighty European planters and clerks, and a small force of native "guards," and determined to stop the three regiments. After a pursuit of days, during which he exhibited all the qualities of a first-class General, marching often across a roadless country as fast as the Sepoys in retreat, he actually drove the three regiments—2,400 trained soldiers—in headlong flight out of Bengal and brought back his force without one shot man or the loss of one elephant. And that because he had not succeeded in his full intentions, which was to destroy the brigade, he offered to pay for his expedition out of his own purse. He had never been a soldier, and relied only on his hunting experience; but of the Europeans who rallied at his call, no one doubted that if the Sepoy brigade had ventured to turn on him, or had checked its flight for twelve hours, it would have been destroyed. It was a matter of life-long disappointment to him that the Sepoy's thought so, too.

Soleman was the first king that issued an order for the hair to be parted in the middle.

PERSONAL.

Judge Travis is erecting a fine two story stone residence in Calgary. He appears to intend to stay there.

A Tallahassee, Fla., despatch says: Sarah McDaniels, a colored woman living on Mr. Fish's plantation, one mile west of that city, has become the mother during her lifetime to forty-two children. She is now a robust, healthy looking woman.

The first Canadian woman who emigrated to the North-West, Mrs. J. R. Legimoniere, whose life has been written by the Rev. Abbe Dugas, has now, in Manitoba alone, 250 descendants, and a number of others in Quebec and the United States.

John Simmons of Ferrisburgh, Ga., in a sudden fit of insanity, thinking he was pursued by enemies, jumped into the Ocmulgee River, and remained there, with the water up to his neck, until discovered by a duck hunter, twenty-four hours later. He seems to suffer little inconvenience from his bath.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Joseph Aroh was a farm laborer supporting his family on $4 weekly wages, and he is now a member of Parliament. He is what is commonly called a self-made man, but as his wife taught him to read and write he may be considered a creditable specimen of domestic manufacture.

Will S. Hays, the song writer, made his debut on the minstrel stage in Louisville the other night to a crowded house. He personated Old Ike, the negro character he has made famous through the river columns of the Courier-Journal. Hays has not yet signed with the show, but he is thought he will.

Guida La Chapelle, the female pedestrian, now keeping a saloon in San Francisco, has accepted the challenge of Miss Kate Brown of England, who desires to walk against any lady pedestrian in the United States for $500 or $1,000 a side. Guida requires Kate to visit San Francisco as a condition of her acceptance of the latter's challenge.

There is now living on the Piedmont road, near Charlotte, W. Va., an old colored woman named Clara Brown, who is perhaps the oldest colored woman in West Virginia. Of course, she well remembers seeing General Washington. It was in Richmond that she met the Father of his Country. She says he entered the kitchen of the hotel where she was and spoke kindly to the cooks. She says she is 122 years of age.

Sam Small, the converted Chicago journalist, who is striking up Chicago preparatory to Sam J. Jones's advent, is described as a plainly-dressed, tall, slender man. Behind his gold-bowed eyes are small eyes, and above his heavy sandy moustache is a rather long thin nose. His forehead, high and narrow, is surmounted by very carefully smoothed dark hair. He looks rather commonplace, but when he speaks he is at once, shows strength. The Herald says: "His voice possesses that subtle, tranquil quality which makes men listen. It is a voice which invests the merest commonplace with interest."

William Gayton was a brakeman on the Evansville and Terre Haute Railway. There was a collision in which he was badly injured, but remembering that a passenger train was due soon he managed to extricate himself from the wreck, and mangled and bleeding, seized a red flag and staggered up the track. "I tried to fall from exhaustion, but I picked myself up and went on and flagged the train 500 yards from the place of danger. Then he fainted away and remained unconscious for two days. When he recovered he was a cripple for life. He sent the doctor's bill to the railroad company and payment was refused. Then he sued for $10,000. The jury has just awarded him $5,083 damages after four years of litigation.

Lord Walsley's refusal to pay fees to the Herald's College for his new title, and to the King of Arms and his officials of the Usurper of St. Patrick, calls up a story of how a similar exhibition of independence was dealt with by George IV. A certain Knight of Windsor received the order of St. Michael and St. George and after the investiture a bill for the usual fees was sent to him, which he swore nothing would induce him to pay. There was no precedent for such a case, so a memorandum was sent to Sir William Knightham at Windsor, in order that the King's pleasure might be taken. The document was returned with the following endorsement by the King himself: "Stop the damned fellow's pay until the claim is cleared."

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Thomas A. Hendricks has been considerably annoyed by letters and communications purporting to be from Mr. Hendricks which have been sent to her by Spiritualists. One of them pretended to be an autograph letter written by the dead Vice-President in the spirit land. Mrs. Hendricks is reported as saying that this was a "very close imitation of her husband's handwriting, but that she could easily detect its spuriousness. I do not believe in such things," she says, "and do not see that any good can come from encouraging them. That they do not come from Mr. Hendricks is clear to my mind, for the sentiments of none of the communications are expressed in language such as he would have used. They bear on their face the impress of an inferior mind, are inferior to his while alive, and certainly inferior now; if the spirit land, as I believe, elevates and embelishes the sentiments and aspirations of the soul."

For the first time on record the man with a remedy for frozen feet finds a welcome in the Southern States.

"Now, dear, did you ever try a ride on a toboggan?" "No, but I can imagine just how it must feel. Yesterday I slipped on the ice and kicked up my heels while a crowd of men were looking at me."

"Bothering a rich man by boasting of a set of malachite studs he just bought, a top asked him if he did not admire them. 'O, yes,' replied the man of wealth. 'Very much indeed, I've got a malachite like them at home.'"

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and the soul?" Johnny—"The soul is immortal and immortal."

Teacher—"What is the difference between the body and the soul?" Johnny (recently)—"The body is mortal and material; the soul—Teacher (impatiently)—"Yes; and

The Tasket.

ANTIGONISH, MARCH 11, 1886.

A reblegram has been received by the Baltimore Catholic Mirror from its Roman correspondent, announcing that the Pope has chosen Archbishop Tacheau of Quebec, as well as Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore for elevation to the cardinalate.

Confusion of ideas always results from the use of wrong names. During the past few years people got into the habit of calling the October-devotions a "jubilee," and now that a real Jubilee has come, they must be conscious of there having been a mistake somewhere. In the Cathedral on Sunday, the Rev. Father Gillis explained with admirable clearness the benefits to be derived from the fulfilment of the conditions enumerated in the Bishop's Pastoral. We have received a copy of an elegant translation into Gaelic of the Jubilee Encyclical by Prof. McDougall of St. F. X. College. It is printed by Mr. John Fraser, who does job printing in the office formerly occupied by W. H. Buchanan.

It appears from the Financial Returns submitted to the House of Assembly on Tuesday last, that the provincial revenue received during the year ending 31st Dec. 1885 amounted to $613,026, and the expenditure of the year reached $620,700, thus showing a deficit of $7,674 for that period. The items of revenue include $432,618 from Dominion subsidy, etc., and $119,300 from mines.

The sentence of death upon Gillis who was recently convicted of murder at Charlottetown, has been commuted to imprisonment for life in the "Dorchester penitentiary." He was greatly relieved at receiving the news of the commutation, as preparations were ready for hanging him on the 11th inst.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette, writing under date March 3, says: "Hon. Mr. Thompson was heard for the first time today, in introducing two Government measures, and especially their scope and purpose. The impression he created was a most favorable one, and the ringing applause with which he was greeted when he concluded his remarks, proved that he has at once obtained the ear of the House. A more graceful, easy and fluent speaker, judging by his utterances this afternoon, will not be found in parliament. He has a strong, smooth voice which penetrates the chamber without effort, a clear and distinct enunciation, and a great facility of expression. He has too, the faculty of expressing his thoughts tersely, getting at the root of a subject and of making his remarks readily understood. It was evident that he interested both sides of the House as a man of unusual ability, and he gives promise of becoming one of the first parliamentarians of the day."

Persons who are about to depart to the States should bear in mind the fact that the cheapest and by far the most comfortable route to Gloucester and Boston is via the "Palace Steamers" of the International Steamship Co., which now leave St. John every Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 8 o'clock for Boston via Esquort and Portland and arrive at destination the following forenoon. These elegant side-wheel steamers are the finest of their class afloat. Special attention is given to the comfort of second-class passengers and they are provided with Berths free of charge.

Travellers can leave any point on the Eastern Extension Railway Mondays or Wednesdays and connect the following mornings with the above steamers, and can make a saving of from two to three dollars and a half, and have their luggage checked through. Mr. D. McIntosh, the agent here, will be pleased to give all information desired and furnish tickets via the popular route.

A merchant in Montreal offers a large quantity of good butter for sale at 13 1/2 cents per pound.

English journals attach much importance to the fact that Bismarck has addressed Pope Leo as a sovereign, and accepted from him the Cross of the Order of Christ. Bismarck speaking in the Reichstag referred to Pope Leo XIII. as "that wise and steadfast opponent of anarchy, that most able exponent of the principles that underlie sound government."

After an absence of eighteen months, C. Chisholm, Photographer, has again returned to Antigonish and commenced business at Dufferin Hall, where for a consideration, he will be happy to wait upon those who favor him with their patronage.

Mr. M. Wilnot wishes to inform the public that he continues the tailoring business in the shop lately occupied by McGillivray & Wilnot, and that he guarantees satisfaction to customers favoring him with their patronage.

In the House of Commons, on Monday last, in answer to Blake, Thompson said that except in a few cases, the prisoners convicted with the rebellion were not regularly committed for trial, but were taken in overt acts of rebellion and held for trial or discharge. There were in all 46. Half of the half-breeds were tried for treason-felony, one for high treason and one for murder. These were all convicted. Eleven in all were discharged on their own recognizances of $400 each to appear and receive sentence when called upon. Eight were discharged on their own recognizances to appear and take their trial when called upon. One, Adolph Nolin, was discharged by order of General Middleton. In two cases a nolle prosequi was entered by direction of the minister of justice. Four were discharged at Battledore. Of the Indians 21 were tried for treason-felony, 1 for manslaughter, 11 for murder, 3 for arson, 5 for horse stealing, 1 for cow stealing, and 1 for breaking and entering. These were convicted of the crimes charged. Ten charged with treason-felony were discharged on promising to come up for trial when required. Three were acquitted. Twenty-one charged with various offenses were discharged at Battledore: Of the white men, Jackson, charged with treason-felony was acquitted on the ground of insanity. Thomas Scott charged with treason-felony was discharged.

In answer to a question as to whether the government had made enquiry with a view to ascertain the intention of the jury in the case of Louis Riel in recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court, Thompson said the government had no means of making such enquiries, except by addressing each juror, which was not generally considered a constitutional method. The government had received no document from the jurors explaining their intention recommending Riel to mercy.

In answer, Sir John said negotiations were entered into with Mr. O'Donohue about his entering the cabinet in 1882. Mr. O'Donohue found he could not bring strength to the government and waived further consideration in favor of Senator Smith, now in the cabinet.

In answer, Carling said the total number of immigrants reported to have settled in Canada in 1885 was 79,159.

At the request of Sir John, Landry's (Montmagny) resolutions of regret that Louis Riel was allowed to be hanged, was fixed for Thursday, then to be discussed from day to day until a vote is taken. In the meantime the government would not go on with the estimates or enter into the budget until they knew the result of the vote of Landry's resolutions.

OTTAWA, March 9.—The house at a short time to-day; several bills were introduced. The house adjourned over to-morrow, to meet Thursday. [H. Herald.]

BY CARLE.

LONDON, March 5.—Eight men convicted of taking prominent part in the recent Trafalgar square and Hyde Park riots were today sentenced to penal servitude from one to five years. The Judge justified the sentence by denouncing the "so-called popular demonstrations of working men." "It is well known," said he, "that those demonstrations naturally tend to tumult and disorder."

LONDON, March 8.—It has been ascertained by the press that Mr. Gladstone is confined to his room and that he has spent all his time since Saturday in bed.

The gov't. is relieving the terrible distress in the west of Ireland by money and seed potatoes.

BERLIN, March 9.—Prince Bismarck, who has been suffering for several days from muscular rheumatism in his shoulders and chest, is much worse to day.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Provision—As autumn wears a winter, slender, delicate youths become listless, languid, and debilitated, unless an alternative, combined with some tonic, be administered to quicken their feeble organs. This precise requirement is supplied in these noted Pills, which can and will accomplish all that is wanted, provided the printed instructions enjoining them meet with scrupulous attention. Holloway's Pills are especially adapted to supply the medical wants of youth, because his medicine acts gently, though surely, as a purifier, regulator, alterative, tonic, and mild aperient. A very few doses of these Pills will convince any discouraged invalid that his cure lies in his own hands, and a little perseverance only is demanded for its completion.

WE NOT ONLY USE GILES' Liniment Jodide Ammonia in our stables, but sell and recommend it to our trade. We have obtained wonderful results from its use, particularly in hard and obstinate enlargements around the joints. Unlike other Liniments it does not require rubbing, simply applying with a brush and allowing absorption to take place. P. A. DEXTER & SON, dealers in feed and coal, Yorkkers, N. York. Sold by Wendell Maclean, Antigonish.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth? It is so and at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers; there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

The ladies are all going in for the new "Electric Dyes." They are handsomely put up, and are said to be the pink of perfection.

MARRIED

In St. Ninian's Cathedral, on the 6th inst., by the Rev. H. Gillis, P. P., Mr. Hugh McGillivray of Pleasant Valley, to Miss Cassie McKinnon of the North Grant.

By the same, on the same day, Mr. John McGillivray of Lakeville to Miss Joanna Walsh of the Hillbore Grant.

At St. Joseph's, on the 2nd inst., by the Rev. John Fraser, Mr. John Melanac of the Glen Road to Miss Ann Chisholm of the same place.

At St. Andrew's, on the 9th inst., by the Rev. J. V. McDunnell, Mr. Donald Melanac of St. Joseph's, to Miss Isabella, daughter of the late John McDunnell of Fraser's Mills 8 1/2 miles.

DIED

At the South River, on the 5th inst., in the 83rd year of her age, Janet, widow of the late John Boyd and mother of the publisher of this paper. She was a kind, considerate, patient and Christian woman; and reared a family of two sons and eight daughters, seven of whom survive to deplore their loss and revere her memory. Fortified by the last rites of the Church she peacefully passed away from this life in the full hope of enjoying everlasting bliss in the world beyond the grave. May her soul rest in peace.

At the South River, on the 2nd inst., after a brief illness, Roderick Fraser (John's son), aged 37 years, leaving a disconsolate young wife, four parents, brothers and sisters and numerous friends and relatives, to whom he was much esteemed for his many excellent qualities. May his soul rest in peace.

At the North Grant, on the 2nd inst., Catherine Melanac, widow of the late Angus Grant, in the 71st year of her age. She was mother of ten children, grandmother of thirty-two and great-grandmother of eleven children. As she lived piously and died peacefully, fasted by the last rites of the Church. R. I. P.

At the North Grant, on the 8th inst., of croup, Angus, aged 4 months, son of John and Janet Ann Grant.

At Meadow Green, on the 3rd inst., after a long and severe illness, Sarah Teresa, aged 13 years, youngest daughter of Joseph and Emily McDonald, deeply regretted. R. I. P.

At Ashdale, on the 27th ult., in the 33rd year of her age, Margaret the youngest daughter of the late William Chisholm of that place. The deceased was a model of patience and resignation in the whole course of her lingering illness; and thus offering cheerfully the sacrifice of her life to God, and fortified by the last sacraments of the Church, she calmly passed away. May her soul rest in peace.

At the South River, on the 6th inst., after a lingering illness, Annie, eldest daughter of the late James MacDunnell, in the 23rd year of her age, deeply regretted by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. May her soul rest in peace.

LOST—On March 8th, on the Old Gulf Road between Antigonish and Melissant Brook, A WATCH. The finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving it at the office of the Municipal Clerk, Antigonish.

HAY

To be sold at Auction, at the Stage Stables Marshy Hope, about the 20th inst. (see next issue), a large lot of first class Hay. Terms easy.

L. C. ARCHIBALD & CO.
Antigonish, March 10, 1886.

FOR BOSTON

VIA THE PALACE STEAMERS OF THE International S.S. Co.

Steamers leave ST. JOHN for BOSTON via EASTPORT & PORTLAND every

TUESDAY and THURSDAY at 8.00 a.m. For tickets and all further information apply to your nearest Ticket Agent, or to D. McINTOSH, Agent, Antigonish.

SWINE

The undersigned will have for disposal this Spring about 350 Young Pigs, Crossed from the following Thoroughbred stock:—BERKSHIRE, CHESTER WATTS, ESSEX and POLEMA CHINA.

Some of these pigs will be 4 weeks old 7th April.

Price, $3.00 each.

—ALSO—
Pure Breeds from above Stock. Prices on application.

Every Pig castrated and shipped in good condition.

P. M. WARD.
Bedford, N. S., Feb. 25, 1886.

FINAL NOTICE

Persons indebted in the subscriber, either by Book account or note of hand, are requested to pay up all remaining unpaid after the 15th of March next will be placed in the hands of an Attorney for collection. No further notice will be given.

BENJAMIN F. POWER.

Sealed Tenders

Will be received by the undersigned until the 1st day of May next for the sale of the Western half part of the lot of lot 1 and premises owned by Neil McConna, Esq., late of Antigonish, deceased, with the dwelling house on said Western half part. The lot fronts of the Main Street of the Town of Antigonish and runs to the waters of Briley Brook.

The subscribers do not bind themselves to accept the highest or any tender.

UOCH McDONALD,
ANGUS MCGILLIVRAY,
Trustees of Estate of
Neil McConna
Antigonish, Feb. 9, 1886.

Reliable Fire Insurance

"QUEEN"

Insurance Company
Of Liverpool, G. B.

CAPITAL, TWO MILLION POUNDS ETC ($10,000,000.)

Risks taken on Buildings of all kinds:—Merchandise, Hay, Grain, etc. Bills on Live stock taken which will include killed by lightning. The rates are equitable and as low as any reliable Company. Insured Dwellings, Furniture and Farms in one policy one per cent for 3 years. The "Queen" is noted for prompt and satisfactory payment of losses.

W. P. KING,
Agent at Antigonish, N. S.
18 1/2 A No. 19.

In the Supreme Court.

Between—Adam Kirk, Plaintiff,
and
John Chisholm, Defendant.

To be sold at Public Auction, by the Sheriff of the County of Antigonish, or his deputy, at the Court House in Antigonish, on Monday the twenty second day of March next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, pursuant to a writ of fieri facias and sale made herein, and dated the twenty seventh day of January 1886, unless before the day of sale the amount due to the plaintiff on the mortgage sought to be foreclosed herein, together with the costs to be taxed, be paid to him or his Solicitor, to the Sheriff, or into Court:

AI L the estate, right, title, interest and equity of redemption of the above named defendant, of, in, or to, that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being at Briley Brook in the County of Antigonish, and bounded as follows:—Bounded on the North by lands of Donald Chisholm, and lands of Daniel McGillivray, on the West by lands of Daniel Melanac, on the South by lands of Daniel Chisholm, and on the East by lands of Donald Chisholm, containing one hundred acres more or less, together with all and singular the appurtenances to the said land belonging or in anywise appertaining.

Terms—Ten per cent. at time of sale; remainder on delivery of deed.

H. P. HILL,
High Sheriff.
C. F. McLELLAN, Plaintiff's Solicitor.
Sheriff's Office, Antigonish,
Feb. 5th, 1886.

Why pay higher when

WOODILL'S

2 oz. tins retail 7 cents.

German

4 oz. tins retail 12 cents.

Baking

8 oz. tins retail 22 cents.

Powder

And is so highly recommended!!

JOHN BISHOP,
Funeral Undertaker.

Has now on hand a full assortment of Walnut and Rosewood Caskets and Coffins; Coffin Mounting at all prices. Black cloth coffins made to order. Also on hand—Ladies' and Gents' and Youth's Shrouds.

Antigonish, August 25, 1885.

Mills! Mills!!

To be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, on Thursday the 18th day of March at 11 o'clock a.m., all the MILL PROPERTY owned by the estate of Murphy & Co., consisting of Grist Mill, Carding Mill and Cloth Mill, with machinery all complete and in first-class order. These mills are too well known to need any further description; and being the only mills of the kind in the county, a rare chance is offered to intending purchasers.

Terms, cash.

A. M. CUNNINGHAM,
Assignee.
Antigonish, Feb. 16, 1886.

RARE CHANCE.

TENDERS will be received up to the 1st of April next, for the purchase of the STORE owned by the subscriber. This is one of the best built Stores in Town, and located in the business center. The frontage of the premises is forty-eight feet, having two accessions, and good stabling in rear thereof.

The greater part of the consideration money may remain on mortgage.

BENJAMIN F. POWER.
Antigonish, 8th Feb., 1886.

TAILORING.

Our Cutter, Mr. Fred Lindsey, is now in New York, taking a thorough course in one of the best Garment Cutting Schools in America.

Referring to above, we beg to advise the public that we have engaged the services of the favorably known Cutter, Mr. Angus McGillivray, during Mr. Lindsey's absence. On his (Mr. L.'s) return about 10th April, Mr. McGillivray will also continue in our employ as cutter, and will be pleased to have a call from all his old friends.

We expect our NEW STOCK OF CLOTHS this week, when we will be prepared to show over 300 different patterns. Leave your orders early before the spring rush commences.

HATS.

Our Spring Stock of Hats is now about complete. Call and see the new styles.

L. C. ARCHIBALD & CO.
MARCH 10th, 1886.

BARGAINS!

Bargains!

The subscribers offer his entire stock at Cost, —CONSISTING OF—

READY-MADE CLOTHING, in Storm Coats, Over do, Reefing Jackets, &c.

Cashmeres in all colours, Coburgs, Lustros, Crapes and Dress Materials, Velveteens and Satins in all shades; English and American Prints; Grey and White Cottons; Gloves, Corsets; Hoses, Collars and Cuffs, Lace Ties, White and colored Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Dress Buttons, etc., etc.

Gents' Furnishings, White Shirts, Under do., Ties, Collars, etc.

HATS—Hard and Felt—at half price.

Boots & Shoes—the largest lot in Town.

Knives, Forks, Table and Tea Spoons, Wade & Butcher Razors, Jack and Pen Knives, Padlocks, Hinges, Scissors, Shoe and Sizing Brushes.

Glass, Pain, Fatty, Whiting, R. Tar, Rape, Herring and Mackerel Nets, Suoods, Salmon Twines and general stock of fishermen's outfit.

School Books, Room Paper, Stationery, &c.

Flavoring Essences, Sage, Thyme, Savory, Salt of Celery, Tapioca, Maca, Cloves, Ginger Root, Cinnamon, Mixed Spices, Mandioca, Maccheronis, White and Black Pepper, Coffee, Beans, Sardines, Baked Beans, Oysters, Salmon, French Capers, Curry Powders, Worcestershire Sauce, Chocolate, Dried Apples, Currants, etc., etc.

Crockeryware, Glassware and Tinware of all kinds.

Confectionery—a great assortment.

The subscriber is closing his business, and respectfully requests all intending purchasers to give him a call, as they will find it to their advantage to buy from him.

B. F. POWER.

Antigonish Dispensary.

WENDELL MACLEAN,
Druggist & Apothecary.

MEMBER OF THE—
Nova Scotia Pharmaceutical Society.

BEGS to announce to the people of Antigonish and vicinity, that he has commenced business in the shop owned by Mr. J. R. Graham, two doors east of the Halifax Banking Company, where he will keep constantly on hand a full and well assorted stock of British and Foreign DRUGS, PATENT MEDICINES, TOILET ARTICLES and PERFUMERY; as well as everything usually found in a first class Drug Store comprising in part—and everything required, in preserving and beautifying the complexion, and preparing the toilet of even the most fastidious, etc., etc.

Tabacco, Cigars, Pipes, Cigarettes, Tobacco Pouches, Cigar Cases, Spectacles, Fancy Soaps, Tooth Pastes, Tooth Brushes, Hair do., Combs, Razors, Eye Glasses, Perfumery.

Prescriptions carefully dispensed, from the purest drugs, at any hour day or night.

Deeds Not Words.

BY CHARLES SWAIN. It would be a pity to let the heart...

THE FARM.

Sulphur for Lice on Cattle. Soon after the young cattle go into their winter quarters...

Sundry Suggestions. A small amount of chloride of lime left in their troughs will keep away rats...

Two Thoroughly Soared Miners. During the great storm of a week or so since two miners started to ascend one of the mountains near Aspen...

Why the Boys Leave the Farm. "Why do the boys leave the farm?" writes a writer in an agricultural journal...

Death of a Nobleman Who Hated Horses. The death is announced of Count Emario Sommlsch, a Hungarian magnate...

About Creameries. A dairy authority says that a factory which will make the cream from a thousand cows...

A Child With Two Brains. A baby about a month old was taken by its mother to a dispensary at Balloves Hospital, New York city...

What is done cannot be undone, especially if it is a hard-boiled egg. "What are you waiting for, little boy?"

A FAMOUS FENIAN DEAD.

One of the Six Convicts Recaptured by an American Whaler. Michael Harrington, the eldest of the Fenian prisoners who were rescued from New South Wales...

PLANNED THEIR RESCUE, and a whaling ship was fitted out for the purpose. John J. Breslin, meanwhile, under the guise of an American millionaire...

ARMED AND DISPERSED. To the last degree. The sailors sided with the Irishmen, and Smith's advice was followed. The American flag was run up...

Porters or hangings for doorways and windows to be a favorite ornament for parlors and other rooms. A set of these of exquisite appearance is thus described...

Choice Recipes. SWEET PUDDING.—One cup of molasses, one of chopped nuts, one cup of raisins...

Good tea rinks are made in the old-fashioned way, with two cups of milk, one cup of shortening, one cup of sugar, two eggs...

What is Needed. By every man and woman if they desire to secure comfort in this world is a corn sheller. Putnam's Corn Extractor shells corn...

THE HOUSEHOLD. Milk that stands too long makes bitter butter. To remove scratches on furniture melt together beeswax and lard...

TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. WALDO

The Wife of a Yale Professor Jumps Over a Cliff. The novel spectacle of the students of a great university stopping work and rushing from their desks to join in the hunt for a missing person...

Opium and Whisky. There is no cure to the human family as great as the temperate use of either opium or whisky...

My gracious! You don't mean to say that you have another baby up at your house? exclaimed a lady, when informed by the happy father of the event...

A Flat Contradiction. Some one has told you that your catarrh is incurable. It is not so. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure it...

Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are scarcely larger than mustard seeds, but they have no equal as a cathartic. In all disorders of the liver, stomach and bowels...

Imperial Cough Drops will give positive and instant relief to those suffering from Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, etc., and are invaluable to orators and vocalists...

Medicines. The Duke of Edinburgh has been sent to the Mediterranean for playing the flute. If he played the accordion he would have been sent to Halifax.

Imperial Cough Drops will give positive and instant relief to those suffering from Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, etc., and are invaluable to orators and vocalists...

Medicines. The Duke of Edinburgh has been sent to the Mediterranean for playing the flute. If he played the accordion he would have been sent to Halifax.

TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. WALDO

The Wife of a Yale Professor Jumps Over a Cliff. The novel spectacle of the students of a great university stopping work and rushing from their desks to join in the hunt for a missing person...

Opium and Whisky. There is no cure to the human family as great as the temperate use of either opium or whisky...

My gracious! You don't mean to say that you have another baby up at your house? exclaimed a lady, when informed by the happy father of the event...

A Flat Contradiction. Some one has told you that your catarrh is incurable. It is not so. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure it...

Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are scarcely larger than mustard seeds, but they have no equal as a cathartic. In all disorders of the liver, stomach and bowels...

Imperial Cough Drops will give positive and instant relief to those suffering from Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, etc., and are invaluable to orators and vocalists...

Medicines. The Duke of Edinburgh has been sent to the Mediterranean for playing the flute. If he played the accordion he would have been sent to Halifax.

Imperial Cough Drops will give positive and instant relief to those suffering from Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, etc., and are invaluable to orators and vocalists...

Medicines. The Duke of Edinburgh has been sent to the Mediterranean for playing the flute. If he played the accordion he would have been sent to Halifax.

A.P. 870

$3,500. 600 Acre Farm—$9,000 136 Acre Farm—100,000 acre farm; instruments half-price. BURLINGTON, Ontario.

WANTED—10,000 Millmen and others interested in machinery to send name and address for a copy of my No. 12 Illustrated Catalogue...

A SUCCESS AGAINST ALL PREJUDICES! Mail or students attending our Academy will be all who have used it according to directions...

Crocker Roller Skates. The most perfect roller skates in use in Canada and U.S. Simplest, strongest, lightest and easiest running...

WATER STAR AUGUR. Has no superior! 25 feet per hour; hand or horse power; combined boring and rock drilling machine...

JAMES PARK & SON, Pork Packers, Toronto. L. G. Bacon, Rolled Spice Bacon, C. C. Bacon...

BRANTFORD COLD WATER. RICE STARCH. NEVER FAILS. I CURE FITS! When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them...

HEAP'S PATENT DRY EARTH CLOSETS. Are The Best in The World. Twenty-five of these Commodities were supplied to the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal...

Snow Drift FAVORITE

NO BETTER Baking Powder. The Snow Drift Baking Powder Co., Brantford, Ont. Manufacturers of the Celebrated Anchor GUELPH AXLE WORKS...

TREES—Packing for Nurserymen and Dealers a Specialty. Leading hardy kinds, in large quantities, raised on our own grounds...

New Orleans Wood Cart Co's GALT, ONT. Winters' Patent Wood Cart, Buggies, Carriages, Sleighs, &c.

ALIAN LINE Royal Mail Steamships. Sailing during winter from Port an every Thursday and Halifax every Saturday to Liverpool...

CONSUMPTION. I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind of long standing have been cured...

FREE LANDS AND CHEAP HOMES FOR THE MILLION. Along the line of the Chicago and North-western Railway in Central Dakota and Northern Nebraska...

PURE GOLD BAKING POWDER. Wm. Rennie, Toronto. Wearing, Fitting, Looking IN THE MARKET EVERY pair and every box bears this eagle, AS TRADE MARK. TAKE NO OTHER.

HEAP'S PATENT DRY EARTH CLOSETS. Are The Best in The World. Twenty-five of these Commodities were supplied to the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal...