"I Was Terribly Weak After Baby Was Born"

Mrs. H. McClure, Norwood, Ont., writes: "After my baby was born, I was terribly weak and run down, with pains across my back. I had heard so much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that I decided to try it. Three boxes proved enough to make me quite strong and well again. I also used Dr. Chase's Ointment for a rash which broke out on the baby, and the rash disappeared completely in a short time."

At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXX.

Presently a sound roused her and sent the color in a hot flush to her face. It was the noise of the waves on the shore. She opened her eyes and in their depth there was a look of keen pain.

A few minutes later she was on board the "Queen of the Seas." An elderly lady, plainly dressed, she passed unnoticed. How vividly she remembered the time when, from the moment she had stepped on board until she had left the steamer, she had been the one great attraction. All that was ended now. She had, as it were, been dead and buried all these long years.

The waves beat against the vessel, and the winds wailed her onward; whilst Mrs. St. Ange's heart each moment grew harder and colder. The white cliffs rose before her at last. She alone knew why it was that she trembled and faltered when her feet touched English ground. On landing she took a ticket to London, intending, after resting one night there, to go to Deeping on the morrow. It was so strange to hear English spoken all around her, to see English faces again. She felt bewildered.

"I have been buried so long," she said to herself. "I feel like one risen from the dead." Arrived in the metropol, she went to a hotel that long years before Mrs. de Ferras had made her home. It had changed since those days, and the proprietor had little time to spare for the plainly-dressed, elderly woman who asked for a bedroom and wanted nothing more.

By the earliest train in the morning Mrs. St. Ange went on to Deeping. There was no closing of the eyes now. She sat quite upright, watching the familiar scenes. She knew every field, every clump of trees; she saw in the distance the Fielden woods, the gray towers of Scarsdale, and the forest near Deeping Hurst. Ah, Heaven, the path that rent her heart was like the stinging of a poisoned arrow! Bitter anguish filled the dark eyes; the expression on the changed countenance was one of mute misery. Once, with some of her old impetuosity, she threw herself back in the carriage.

"I cannot bear it!" she said. "I was made to come!" But she had more to suffer yet. She stopped at the station, every brick of which was familiar to her, and on the platform of which, with her kindly, loving mother, she had been hundreds of times, always happy, triumphant, blithe, and gay. Now she came to it alone, unloved, with the seeds of death and a life-long hate in her heart.

There was an omnibus waiting to take passengers to Deeping. The conductor looked at her as she entered.

"Where to, ma'am?" he said, with a touch of his hat. She remembered the name of only one place.

"The Rhysworth Arms Hotel," she answered; and her blood grew cold as she uttered the words.

At the Rhysworth Arms there were new faces—no one recognized her. She wanted a sitting-room and a bedroom—she could not tell for how long. She was on her way to the North of England, but wanted a rest. She might remain two or three days, or a week—it was uncertain.

Those who attended upon Mrs. St. Ange noticed her curious manner, her bewildered looks, her strange face and wild, burning eyes. Still she seemed to have plenty of money, and that was the chief consideration.

After partaking of some slight refreshment, she went out, saying that the hour of her return was uncertain. "What does she call herself?" asked the landlady of the chambermaid. "I do not know. She is a married lady, and I think she said her name was Onge. I did not quite catch it."

CHAPTER XXXI.

The morning air was blowing freshly, the rooks were cawing in the great oaks, the blackbirds were singing in the hedgerows, the whole earth lay smiling and glad, when Mrs. St. Ange, left the hotel to revisit the places she had once loved so dearly. They were all in the vicinity of Deeping Hurst. The old home of her rival was nearest; then came Scarsdale; Beaulieu lay at some little distance to the west, and Fielden Manor toward the south. It was a neighborhood singularly rich in grand, old historic houses. Mrs. St. Ange decided to look first of all on the home of her youth—Beaulieu—again; she attracted no attention as she went through the streets.

Once more she trod the old familiar paths winding through the grounds round to the side-door. In her mind's fancy she could see her mother's face, as she had seen it hundreds of times, looking out of the great bay-window, with its wreath of passion-flowers around it, waiting with loving words to welcome her. "There is no love like a mother's," Lois thought; and a great, tearless sob rose from her heart to her lips. Could it be that but a few years ago she had been a beautiful, happy, innocent child? She could remember so vividly the day when Mrs. Clifden came from White Cliffe, bringing with her Dolores, and how madame had said they were to be friends and to love each other always.

A cruel, bitter smile curled her lip. "Well," she said, "if I have suffered, she has suffered more; and that was all-I asked."

Her heart grew hard and cold again. She looked into the old hall, nothing was changed. It might have been only yesterday that she placed the flowers she had gathered on the hall table, and laughed at her own fancy for calling herself a red rose.

She walked back to Deeping. In the High Street she saw a fruit-shop where some fine grapes and peaches were for sale. She was thirsty and faint from fatigue, and she thought that nothing would be more delicious and refreshing than a bunch of purple grapes. She went in to purchase them, and sat down. There was some little delay in serving her, and while she was thinking that this would be a good opportunity to ask a few questions without attracting attention, a smart, little pony carriage stopped at the door, and a beautiful girl in a blue dress descended from it.

Mme. St. Ange, watching eagerly, with eyes full of pain, fell back with a low, startled cry when she saw the girl's face, and clung to the chair, as though to prevent herself from falling. It was Sir Karl's face under another guise; there were Sir Karl's clear, blue eyes, with no shadow of guilt or guile in their depths. There were his clustering waves of hair, there was his mouth, at once so gracious and so proud. For a few moments it was as though the slight had stricken her dumb. Then the girl was by her side, and a sweet, silvery voice was saying—

"I should like some of those nice grapes, Mrs. Grey, for a sick woman whom I am going to see."

The low voice was like Sir Karl's. The soft blue eyes glanced carelessly but kindly at the bent figure in the black dress. If each could have but have known! If some good spirit could have told Gertrude that this was the woman for whom she had sought, the woman with whom rested the knowledge of her father's fate, what grief and trouble might have been spared her.

Mme. St. Ange watched each movement of the graceful girl. She listened to each word she spoke; she could have cried out, "Karl, Karl!" She was nearer losing her senses and reason just then than she had ever been. Karl's yes, Karl's voice! Her head drooped on her breast; she could not hold it up. "I am afraid you are ill," said a sweet, kindly voice; and the eyes like Karl's were bent upon her compassionately.

"Thank you, I am quite well," madame answered, coldly, and the young girl drew back with a chilled and disappointed air.

Mme. St. Ange did not hear what else passed; it seemed to her that her mind was all chaos. That some one spoke of Lady Fielden she knew, then the beautiful girl was gone, and she sat there with her grapes before her.

She raised her miserable eyes to the woman who had just served her. "Who is that young lady?" she asked. The woman replied coldly. She had been displeased by the stranger's repulse of Gertrude's well-meant kindness. "That is a visitor of Lady Fielden's—Lady Fielden of Fielden Manor," she said.

"But who is she—what is her name?" cried Mme. St. Ange. The voice was so earnest that the woman felt compelled to answer. "Her name is Allamora," she replied. "She is the only child. I have heard of Sir Karl Allamora, who ran away from his wife and his home many years ago."

"He—what?" asked a voice that was hardly human.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Hemford, N. S.—"I am the mother of four children and I was so weak after my last baby came that I could not do my work and suffered for months until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Since taking the Vegetable Compound my weakness has left me and the pain in my back has gone. I tell all my friends who are troubled with female weakness to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I think it is the best medicine ever sold. You may advertise my letter."—Mrs. GEORGE I. CHOUSE, Hemford, N. S.

My First Child
F. Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA RYS, Glen Allen, Alabama.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Copley, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women."

MODERN MARVELS.

The world is full of wonders I'm glad I've lived to see, before the Reaper sunders this happy life and me. I've lived to see men travel as swift as lightning stroke in cars that kick up gravel and leave a trail of smoke. And no one ever bothers to think of olden days that saw our patient fathers behind their plodding bays. The might of science reaches around me everywhere; I hear great songs and speeches come sifting through the air, the comic and the tragic, the spiel by frenzy warmed—I've lived to see the magic of radio performed. My good old Uncle Peter, he died long, long ago; the angels watch him feckle where Eden's roses grow; had any person told him that his name would arise, I wonder who could hold him, for he detested dies. I often wonder greatly what long dead men would say, if they, severe and stately, could from the churchyard stray, and hear the purring, sighing, of countless motor cars, and see the airmen flying among the clouds and stars? I often wonder vainly what sights my eyes might view, if I should leave, insane, my grave beneath the yew, when I've been calmly sleeping a hundred years or three; the outcome of my peeping would sure astonish me!

Funchal Did
Thriving Trade
UNTIL SPARROWS SHED PAINT.
FUNCHAL, Madeira, July 26—(A. P.)—Canary birds are much sought by tourists on the various liners which stop at their crossroads of the ocean. Birdsellers rush to greet incoming steamers and do a thriving business. But tourists have recently found that many of the canaries purchased here began, after a few days to fade. They were sparrows which had been painted a bright yellow. Disgusted purchasers reported the frauds to their consuls in Funchal, and crews of the passenger steamers now warn passengers to look out for hand-made canaries.

Settlement of Outstanding Questions Before Conference in Sight.

Anglo Irish Treaty to be made Effective—Persians Promise to make Amends for Imbries Murder.

WILL SETTLE IRISH QUESTION.
LONDON, Aug. 1. The House of Commons, upon re-assembling this morning, at once took up the Irish question. Colonial Secretary Thomas said the Government proposed immediately to introduce legislation giving effect to the Anglo-Irish Treaty and to press for the passage of that legislation through Parliament regardless of the consequences to the Government.

FRENCH PROPOSALS ADOPTED.
LONDON, Aug. 1. Experts of the Inter-Allied Reparations Conference indicated early this afternoon they expected to settle all outstanding problems of the Conference up to them for solution before the afternoon was over. The Experts, who did not leave Downing Street until 2.15 o'clock this morning, returned to their work at 11 o'clock, and during a two hour session adopted the French proposals for modification of the Dawes Reparations plan. They then adjourned to re-assemble later in the afternoon.

HOPE REVIVED.
LONDON, Aug. 1. Premier Herriot's proposals have revived hope in the Inter-Allied Conference which is seeing ways and means of putting the Dawes Reparations plan into effect. Following acceptance of the proposals by the first committee of conference yesterday as a basis of settlement, the Experts went into session in an effort to reconcile views on certain important phases, and adjourned at 2.15 o'clock this morning after a lengthy sitting which left them tired and haggard. They agreed upon adjournment to re-assemble at 11 o'clock and Jas. A. Logan, Jr., United States official observer, expressed the hope that a settlement would be forthcoming to-day.

SOVIET DELEGATE OFF FOR LONDON.
MOSCOW, Aug. 1. After a series of hurried conferences with the Government respecting the present status of the Anglo-Russian Conference, H. Radovsky, principal Soviet delegate, left yesterday

Lockwood, New York, arrived at 2.15, 35 a.m. The Celebrities with a time allowance of the Revery which was scratched at one hour, fifty minutes and nineteen seconds, won the race by two hours, fifty minutes and nineteen seconds. The other three boats competing in the race have not as yet reached port. One of them, name unknown, was sighted before noon about ten miles from the finish.

Terrill, were instantly killed at Anderson's Crossing, on the second line to Trafalgar, West of Milton, last evening, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by the east bound Canadian Pacific passenger train.

GERMAN PRESS HOSTILE TO FRENCH PROPOSALS.
BERLIN, Aug. 1. The French proposals regarding the evacuation of the Ruhr area are severely criticized by newspapers here. The Die Weltung declares them unacceptable; the Krone Seelting complains they fail to provide even a basis for discussion, while Vervarts remarks they are repulsive and contrary to the spirit of Dawes report.

PERSIA WILLING TO MAKE FULL AMENDS.
TEHERAN, Persia, Aug. 1. The Press is generally relieved at what is regarded as the moderation of the United States' demands made in connection with the killing of Vice Consul Imbrie. The tone of the United States note is said to be greatly appreciated. The reply of the Persian Government to the United States communication apparently meets with the approval of the majority here. The reply states the government and natives are horrified and sorrowful over the Imbrie killing, that every effort will be made to find culprits and punish them, that proper compensation will be given the widow, and that in order to afford greater security to American citizens Persia is agreeable to an increase of the legion and consular guards. The reply concludes with a statement that Persia will respect as always the treaty of friendship between that country and the United States.

PERSIA WILLING TO MAKE FULL BY PROPOSED BOUNTY.
KINGSTON, Ja., Aug. 1. Considerable concern is being expressed among sugar planters over the proposal of the British Government to give a bounty of $10 per ton on home grown sugar. Planters assert such a bounty would give best sugar growers an advantage over the West Indian cane sugar, the preference of which already has been reduced by dollars a ton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. "If they want me up there, I am willing to go back without making any fight against extradition," declared Charles A. An Outstanding Screen Achievement

"GREEN GODDESS" AT THE NICKEL MONDAY.

"The Green Goddess" is coming! Hailed as the outstanding achievement of the screen, regarded by critics as a perfect picture of the famous stage success which ran for two solid years on Broadway, this photodrama will be seen at the Nickel Theatre on Monday.

Like the stage play, "The Green Goddess" in screen form instantly caught and held the attention of Broadway for a long run at the Sam. H. Harris Theatre, New York, where the world premiere took place on August 14. By reason of its plot, love story and highly melodramatic action, "The Green Goddess" answers every demand for a full evening's entertainment in the theatre. Starting with the swift flight of an airplane over the Himalaya Mountains the drama never for a minute loses momentum until its thrilling climax. In a manner of speaking, "The Green Goddess" starts and ends with a smash—the crash of the aviators in the opening episode and the crash of bombs in the rescue scene at the end—scenes never to be forgotten by picture goers.

"The Green Goddess" is the work of William Archer, noted dramatic critic and author. It was first presented as a stage play by Winthrop Ames at the Booth Theatre, New York, with Mr. Arliss in the same role in which he appears in the screen version. Broadway revelled in its splendor, thrilled at its mystery and jumped at its climax, and then laughed at its cynical flip at the end. Following the metropolitan run came a year in other big cities.

The Salt Miners at Prayer

In a quiet corner of the huge salt-mines of Akna Slatina, a small town on the frontier of Rumania and Rumania, one comes unexpectedly upon a tiny altar, writes Marjory Davis.

The altar itself is modest enough. An ordinary trestle table, covered with a fine linen cloth, beautifully embroidered in a primitive design, a few cheap brass bowls and candlesticks hardened with toll, and a crudely carved wooden figure of the Virgin and Child, garishly colored, is all its decoration.

But the setting of the altar is one of strange beauty. Towering walls of glistening salt, proudly lifting their Gothic arches in dim shadowy form its background. Highly powered electric lamps on high standards light the walls with a magic touch, and they glitter and scintillate, each facet of the salt rock catching and reflecting the light, until the whole seems one vast shining cathedral formed of living jewels.

As though hushed in reverence, the clang and clatter of the salt miners at work reaches this quiet corner as a low under-current of rhythmic sound, now rising to a higher note, now falling to a wistful murmur. All day long the quiet of the little shrine is at once stirred and accentuated by the softened music of the tolling men.

Occasionally a miner clad in flapping white trousers and voluminous blouse creeps away from his work and, doffing his broad-brimmed hat, lays with clumsy reverence a fresh rose in the hand of the Child. Kneeling for a little while with raised face and eyes softened with mystic fervor he prays audibly—fluently.

Morning and evening, as the miners begin and finish the day's toil, the altar is thronged. Daily, fresh flowers are brought from the world above and so great is considered the favor of arranging them that lots are drawn, the fortunate one retaining his office for a week. Jealously regarded by the rest, he adds half an hour to his day's work in joyful attendance to his labor of love.

General Weygand

CONTINUES TO RULE SYRIA FOR FRANCE.

BEIRUT, Syria (A.P.)—The recent return of General Weygand, the French High Commissioner for Syria, has had at least the effect of silencing the persistent rumours that he was not returning to his post after going to France on leave.

Reports that he would resign immediately before General Weygand turned his back to Syria. It was even asserted that on reaching Paris he informed the president that he would not return to Syria except at the head of several divisions of troops with which to put down the incursions of Turkish bands to the north, and maintain order within Syria proper.

Although his plans are not known, it is safe to assume that General Weygand will make no drastic changes in the French administration. The French system of governing Syria has been and will probably continue, one of conferring make-believe independence on the governed. The French have set up a native government with titles of independence for high officials. There is, for instance, a native "President of the Syrian Confederation" and a governor of Damascus. Actually, these officials are without power, all the authority being left in the hands of the French. The "President of the Syrian Confederation" may not sign an administrative order of any kind without approval of the French High Commissioner.

In the selection of men for posts with high-sounding names, the French have displayed great ingenuity. The idea seems to have been to buy off rebels and persons likely to make trouble. The "President of the Syrian Confederation" is none other than a former brigand leader in a revolt against the French. Together with his office the French conferred upon him the highest grade of the Legion of Honor.

In French administrative circles it is claimed that in a country like Syria, with 35 unequal religious groups represented to the population, the arbitrary power has to enforce its authority even though it frequently leads to accusations that the French have simply annexed Syria.

Terrorized by Rum Runners

EVERETT, Wash., July 26 (A.P.)—Boats smuggling liquor from Canada into the United States have put Camano Island in terror. This island, 15 miles long, is in the direct route from Vancouver, B.C., to Seattle. Some people living on the island reported the movements of rum runners, said the sheriff of Island county, Washington, but the firing of many bullets led these folks to adopt silence.

Mining Men May Oppose

MELTING OF GOLD COINS.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 23 (A.P.)—One of the major problems to come before the 27th annual convention of the American Mining Congress, when it meets here September 29 to October 4, is the huge loss the country is said to suffer every year through the destruction of gold coins. At present no law prohibits the melting down of gold coins and the use of such metal in the manufacture of jewelry and in the arts. Proponents of a ban on such melting contend that five, ten and 20 dollar gold pieces, minted at the expense of the taxpayers, are thus removed from circulation and from the media of exchange, to be turned into luxuries. Their opposition is based principally on the fact that gold has a fixed price, set by the government, unaffected by supply and demand, unlike other commodities.

An anti-destruction law for gold coins will be agitated at the convention and the attitude of the entire mining industry will be ascertained. If the sentiment is favorable, steps will be taken to have such a bill presented in congress.

Mexico May Ban Hunting

OF BIG GAME BY ALIENS.

TUCSON, Ariz., July 25 (A.P.)—The American big game hunter may find himself barred from Mexico, it was stated by Ben Tinker, who guards Mexico's game by appointment of the Mexican government and is back at his home here.

Tinker said there was a growing sentiment in Mexico against foreign hunters. He attributed this to the alleged ruthlessness of some of them in slaughtering deer and other game. He described Mexican officials as determined to prevent Americans from enjoying the big game hunting afforded in the mountains and plains of the northwestern states. Tinker predicted that with the opening of the fall hunting season no hunters would be allowed to cross the border.

Big game has been diminishing rapidly in Mexico, Tinker said, and President Obregon has determined to put a stop to wanton and useless destruction. A ten-year closed season on big horn and sheep was started more than a year ago. At the next session of the Mexican congress it is expected that a measure will be passed limiting the killing of all classes of game to a few months each year, with bag limits on deer, turkey and javali hogs.

Piano With Quarter Tones

BROUGHT OUT IN BRUNSWICK.

BRUNSWICK, Germany, July 6 (A.P.)—The quarter tone piano is an established fact. The inventor has personally demonstrated it to a large number of musical critics who came to Brunswick from all over Germany.

At the present state of civilization of the human ear, however, the critics believe it won't do to mix too many quarter tones with the half and whole notes to which the ear is accustomed. Their present advice to composers is to reserve the quarter tones for special passages in which melancholy strains are to be given expression.

One technical difficulty of the invention is that of keeping so minutely adjusted an apparatus in tune. Every player of the piano knows that when an ordinary piano has been treated to a number of fortissimos, the instrument soon needs tuning. If this be true of whole-and-half tone pianos, the critics ask, what will happen to an instrument adjusted on quarter tones? And where can piano tuners be found who can distinguish between intervals of only a quarter of a note?

TRINITY

THOMAS BEST OF EXETER, 1722.
Although the County of Devon was well and creditably represented in Trinity in the eighteenth century, there is only one man in the old Church Registers who is recorded as having come from Exeter in that county, and that man was Thomas Best. The city of Exeter is situated on the river Exe that empties into the English Channel at Exmouth. There was no ocean trade-route between Exeter and Newfoundland, and those who came to us from Devon were largely from Torquay, Brixham, Devonport and Plymouth; and the majority of those came to us as youngsters who had become attracted to us by the coming and going of the shipping between Newfoundland and those seaport towns of Devon.

Thomas Best was born in Exeter in the year 1722. His father was the owner of a wood working establishment that gave employment to a hundred workmen. He had served an apprenticeship under a former owner of the factory, and then bought the factory for himself and his boys. Those of us whose grandfathers came from the Old Country, know how deeply seated in their make-up was the idea that every boy should learn a trade before going out from under his parents' roof. This idea was handed down by them to the fathers of the next generation; and though it largely died out with them, yet there are a score of men in and around Trinity to-day who learnt a trade during a five years' apprenticeship, solely because their respective fathers said they had to do so, and their boys had been taught to obey. Yet of that score, the majority ceased to work at the trade thus learned, when they became men. Thomas Best served an apprenticeship under his father's foreman; and at the age of twenty-three found himself a skilled wood-worker, and a foreman in his father's factory. Then, during a period of trade depression, having decided to go far-ther a-field for employment, he was admitted to go to one of Britain's Colonies, where wood-workers were in demand.

miles from Exeter; and as he knew of a family there by the name of Goldworthy, of which two sons were living in some part of Newfoundland, he decided to go to Torquay, and to get in touch with them. Upon his arrival there he was pleased to find one of the sons at home on a visit, and prepared to return at an early date. He had been working for several years in the employ of Benjamin Lester & Co., at Trinity, Newfoundland, and he assured Thomas Best of regular employment there, as a joiner, if he would return with him. He decided there and then to do so, and within two months from that date he was working in the Joiners' Loft at Trinity, Newfoundland, in charge of the making of cabin furniture, etc., for two large vessels then on the stocks. Thomas Best became a well known man in Trinity, and highly respected as a sober, God-fearing citizen, and a tradesman of the first order. With the shipbuilding that was carried on in the dock-yard in those days, Thomas Best was conthat he could never make up his mind to break with it. Now, at the age of fifty-two the home he had been preparing for, came to him in a way that he had never thought of, and through the loss of a friend who was like a brother to him. Life went on with much of happiness and contentment for the next seven years, and then the following entry appears in the Burial Register: "1811, Interred: Thomas Best, of the City of Exeter, Devon, England, aged 69 years." With the death of his widow a few years later, the name Best ceased to be on the citizens' roll of Trinity. The thirty-four years of life, however, thus lived here by Thomas Best entitled him to a place in the grateful memories of those who were privileged to live in Trinity as his contemporaries. The good results of such a life as that of Thomas Best, though lived so many years ago, have come down to us, and have had more or less to do with traits in the fortitude of character, such as Trinitarians are proud of to-day. Hence in grateful recognition of all this, I bring him back from the dusty past in the old registers, so that we may think of him, and render to him the respect and thanks that are due to him. Peace to his ashes, and rest and refreshment to his soul.

VISITING SPORTS.
Last week some seven or eight of the Cable Staff of Hearst's Content, on pleasure bent, came to us in a fleet of motor boats, and spent the night and a part of the next day with us. We were delighted to have them sup with us at Garland Hotel, and by every means within our power we endeavoured to cause them to feel at home. A few of our citizens who had arranged for a private dance in the Parish Hall that evening, were more than pleased to extend an invitation to the visitors, and their present resulted in a series of mutual pleasures, and a good time for everybody. The next morning one of their boats was found to be taking a little, which necessitated the boat being beached. This did not take long to do, for the Chief of Police, the Magistrate, the Banker, the Parson, and a half-dozen of other prominent citizens were on hand to assist. Each gave orders in turn and out of turn and a few simple turns of the wrist and a monkey wrench by Mr. Stenastord did the trick, and the boat was declared to be as tight as a drum and as staunch as the church. Our visitors then left for Trouty, Pope's Harbour, and every other place where a trout was ever heard of on this side of the bay. They took with them our best wishes, and we shall be glad to have them come again.

His friend, Henry Goldworthy, with whom he had come to Trinity, had married and settled down in Trinity, and Thomas Best lived with them for years; and it looked as though he would remain a bachelor all his days. In the year 1808 (twenty-five years after Best had come to Trinity) his friend Henry Goldworthy died, and in the marriage register of the next year is the following entry: "1804, Married: Thomas Best, of the City of Exeter, Devon, England, and Jane, widow of Henry Goldworthy." Thomas Best thoroughly enjoyed life in Trinity and never regretted having come to it. He had always hoped to have a home of his own some day; though there was so much of happy home-life in the home of his friend, —Mrs. Jenkins, have had many opportunities to realise the fulness of truth as embodied in the saying that was familiar to the general public of Trinity sixty-five years ago, viz: "that to be as good natured, and obliging to everybody as William Jenkins was—was good enough." This reputation is well maintained. We congratulate you upon the fifty-years of your wedded life; and whilst we realize that they have been—Fifty years of married blessings, Which in fulness still abide.

We pray:—
Peace be with you in the gloaming,
And God's Light at eventide.
Kindly accept this little golden token of our love and respect, and good wishes.
July 30th, 1924.

Five years ago Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Earle celebrated their golden wedding in Trinity, by a family gathering; but this, of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins—owing to their long association with the general public—is the first time the citizens of Trinity have felt called up to act with the family, since the golden wedding celebration of Doctor Robert and Mrs. White nineteen years ago. After the reading of the address by Canon Lockyer, an offering of thirty-five dollars in gold was made by Mrs. Pittman to Mrs. Jenkins, and all present sang a verse of "Should auld acquaintance be forgot, etc." Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins then thanked the friends thus assembled, for their thoughtful kindness, and their kind recognition of the day, and of their private and public contributions to the best interests of Trinity. Refreshments were served, after which all went away with the feeling that they were the better for their kind interest in another's welfare, thus expressed by their actions during the afternoon; whilst Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins more fully realized that in the fight of fifty years: "Time has but added increase to its truth, and given to their minds what it took from their youth."

LOCAL ITEMS.
The next outstanding annual event in Trinity, please God, will be "the Flower Service and special commemoration of the faithful departed," on Sunday, August 3rd, in the Mortuary Chapel. And the eighty-ninth anniversary of Mrs. Pittman's birthday, on Saturday, August 9th, at her home.

Mr. Graham Balfour, of St. John's, who has been assisting Manager Rankin in the Royal Bank, owing to the illness of Mr. Freeman, returned to St. John's on Monday last. Mr. Balfour made many friends in Trinity during his stay, and we are sorry to have him go. Yet, no one is more sorry than Mr. Balfour himself, and we are willing to leave our reputation, and all that we claim for Trinity, in his keeping, assured of the fact that he will do us full justice, prove a good advertiser of us and ours, and will come back again whenever opportunity offers. "We are advertised by our friends," Mr. Freeman has reported for duty. Glad to see him.

Messrs. Joyce and Davidson registered at the Garland this week. They represent "the Newfoundland Silver Mines Syndicate," which controls areas in South Lorne, Ontario, and which, they claim, are the largest silver areas in the world.

Since our last report Mr. George Leagman of St. John's, and Mr. A. Haan, representing the Royal Stores, St. John's, registered at the Garland, and their many friends were glad to see them.

Another Aspect of the Strike

Nothing has caused greater surprise in connection with the critical situation which has arisen at Corner Brook than the action of the President of the F. P. U. in giving a political ticket to the dispute by his appearance on the scene. His hostility to the Monroe Party, and the fact that a bye-election is to be held in Bonavista Bay in the autumn, in the result of which he is closely interested, are sufficient to justify a doubt as to his sincerity in intruding at this juncture. The questions in dispute call a thorough investigation which must be settled entirely on their merits. It is a matter in which the whole country is concerned, and if a permanent and satisfactory agreement is to be reached, anything of a partisan nature must be ruled out of court. The threats which have been made involve property to which no party or section of the community has any greater interest than another, but in which every individual has a personal stake, and upon the safety of which depends the success of one of our greatest industries. The unprejudiced attitude of the Premier and his earnest desire to arrange a settlement agreeable to all parties have been generally approved, but in refusing to allow the Government to be dictated to by an individual who has yet to show that he has the confidence of the workmen, or has correctly represented their sentiments, Mr. Monroe has acted in a manner quite in keeping with his responsible position, and with the full concurrence of all right thinking people.

In the message received from Mr. J. M. Alexander yesterday it was stated that W. F. Coaker had wired him to the effect that he was in close touch with the strike committee, and that if the Company refused to consider a raise in wages he would go to Corner Brook and advise the men to organize. Referring to our comments yesterday, Sir W. F. Coaker has sent the following message to the Telegram: PORT UNION, Aug. 2. Editor Evening Telegram, St. John's. Your issue of first August contains message from Mr. Alexander to Prime Minister. Referring my message to Mr. Alexander your comment insinuates that I have been connected with the strike. For your information wish to state that I knew absolutely nothing about strike until about 24 hours after it was called, and my first intimation of it in any way was message from Mr. Prince requesting my assistance on their behalf. I immediately look matter up by wire with Mr. Alexander, asking him if he would agree to negotiate with the men in their demand for higher wages, adding that if he would, I would wire men to return to work at once pending result of negotiations. Mr. Alexander refused to agree to negotiate and intimated that Company could not consider an increase in wage. In reply to this decision I intimated that I would advise men to organize into a union and properly deal with their own labor affairs. Kindly publish this as I assure you I knew absolutely nothing in any form of the strike until it had been in operation about 24 hours. W. F. COAKER.

In connection with the above we reserve further comment for the moment, beyond pointing out that we still fail to appreciate the motive which induced Sir W. F. Coaker to send this message to Prince before any investigation had been held, or to suggest organizing against the Company before it was first ascertained who were at fault.

Calcutta's Concert Party

AT SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE.

The concert given last night at the Seamen's Institute by the concert party of the H.M.S. Calcutta proved very enjoyable. By the special permission of Vice-Admiral Sir James Ferguson, K.C.M.G., C.B., Commander in Chief, the orchestra under the able baton of Bandmaster R. T. Jackson was an attraction that was very much appreciated by all. An overture was the signal for the commencement of two hours wonderful enjoyment. A sketch of the life of the navy in truly naval style followed. It represented any time between 1800 and 2400. C. P. O. Collins' solo came after this. Then the Quartermaster, Lieut. C. B. S. Swinley, who is the father of the party and the originator of the scheme blossomed forth in an old ditty, but with topical new words. E. R. A. Duguid sang "Sunset" and P. O. Turner in Service's "Dan MacGrew" made the half stand on an end. Then a five minutes sketch by Sgt. Maj. James R.M. and Lieut. Swinley entitled "The Understudy." Then E. A. Thompson rendered "Captain Mac." Sgt. Major Jones again contributed to the amusement in a "stirring picture of domestic turmoil. Paymaster Lieut. Wiggett then gave harmonious little ditties helped by his ukulele. A Soul-Shaking ballad known as "The Egg" brought part 1 to a finish. The second part opened with a very expressive description of the devotion of the "Jack Tar to the Dockyard Matey." A solo in costume by C. P. O. Collins entitled "Gypsy Love Song" followed and was well received. E. R. A. Longman told in a very interesting way how to compose a ragtime song, and this was voted grand by all. "We Three Men," a description of three fishermen in a boat and their experience with Lieut. Swinley Paymaster Lieut. Wareham, and Paymaster Lieut. Wiggett, was certainly well received. The final sketch, a "Naval Engagement," was well worth the admission price alone. This ended with a refrain in which all joined. "Don't let 'em scrap the British Navy."

Special mention is due Sgt. Jones and Lieut. Swinley for the former showed how it was possible to use swords in peace times to the delight of all. Spell bound he held his audience in an exhibition of sword swinging and exercises. This concert will be repeated to-night and the proceeds will be devoted to the same worthy cause. The Institute, the P. M. F. and the First Mid. Sea Scout. The prices are 50 and 30 cents and the hour enables everyone to attend as the show does not start until 9 o'clock.

To the Small Boy

Yes, the sidewalk that we have just placed in front of our premises, is intended for your benefit. We want you to use it for your bicycles, scooters, etc., as much as you can, but we are going to ask you not to deface the walls of our buildings, and what is, perhaps, more important, not to cause us unnecessary expense by destroying the work under construction. May we have your co-operation. IMP. TOBACCO CO. (NSB.) LTD.

His Lordship Bishop White at St. George's

We received the following message yesterday afternoon referring to His Lordship Bishop White's episcopal visit to the West Coast: Special Evening Telegram.

STEPHENVILLE CROSSING, August 1. The Bishop of Newfoundland has just concluded an episcopal visit of Bay St. George parish. Confirmation was held at the following centres: Sandy Point, St. George's, Robinson's, Crabbes, Port au Port and Stephenville Crossing, when 117 persons received the gift of the Holy Spirit through the apostolic rite in the laying on of hands. Bay St. George is noted for the beauty of its natural features, its great tracts of farming lands, and its many rivers teeming with salmon. The people of the parish, of which Rev. E. A. Butler is Rector, are devotedly loyal to their Bishop, whom they delight to welcome whenever he may be able to visit their part of the diocese. His Lordship leaves to-day for Bay of Islands, COM.

Shipping Facilities for South Branch

The Railway Commission are considering running the Sebastopol from Argentina to serve St. Mary's Bay and Fortune Bay. It is understood that the steamer will call at points in St. Mary's Bay and then proceed to Fortune Bay calling at Grand Bank and Burin. By operating from Argentina instead of St. John's, there will be a saving in distance of 140 miles. We feel certain that the South Coast will appreciate the action of the Government in their efforts to provide them with passenger and freight accommodation required. The Sebastopol is a vessel considerably better suited to this section of the coast than the Wren and by obtaining her coal at Sydney instead of purchasing it at the prices ruling in St. John's, as was formerly the case, a considerable saving will be effected.

Everything Quiet at Corner Brook

END OF STRIKE IN SIGHT. Messages received to-day indicate no change in the strike situation at Corner Brook. The sloop which has been ordered there was expected to arrive this morning. It is thought that the warship's services will not be required as the information received to date states that all is quiet and there is no reason to suppose that any acts of violence will take place. There is a rumor that the strike is ending, and the men will return to work on Monday. Later.—The Railway management received a message this afternoon saying that negotiations between the strikers and the company are proceeding, and it is anticipated that a settlement would be reached by Monday.

About Printing and Developing

The Kodak Store's Printing and Developing service is in a class by itself. The pioneer of the amateur developing business, it has a skill and efficiency in handling film in large quantities only achieved by long and steady experience at that particular class of photography. The Kodak Store's developing room is specially equipped for the efficient treatment of films, which are handled only by experts to whom developing, through constant effort, has become second nature. To be sure of the most careful development of your negatives, and the very best printing results obtainable from them, place a special 24-hour service (films developed, printed and ready for delivery in that time). Come to the Kodak Store. Thursday's west bound express arrived Port aux Basques 11.50 last night.

MONTREAL, Aug. 2. When Miguel Maluquer Consul for Spain in Montreal was arrested by Sergeant Salt and Constables of Royal Canadian Mounted Police he objected, argued and threatened Salt "as a piece of dirt" according to the evidence given here in the charge against the Consul and Roman Toy de Torrenita, the Spanish importer of smuggling alcohol into Canada and conspiring to smuggle narcotics. Sergeant Salt swore the Consul raised his ebony cane as if to strike, then the mounties pushed his elbow a little, using the Consul's energy against himself, so that he tumbled backwards. Child Welfare

HEALTHY BABIES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is worth a Pound of Cure." Toddlers.—We have been talking of Babies the last few weeks. We must give the Toddler over 1 year a turn; his food is just as important as baby's. A variety of foods, not the same every day. Hard foods. This is good for the teeth. A drink of milk, out of a cup every day. Plenty of water to drink. Regular meals every day. BREAK-FAST, DINNER, SUPPER. A teaspoonful of Cod Liver Oil, every day. There are 50 many Toddlers in the city who need Cod Liver Oil, come and get some from us. Maxims for Mothers.— 1. Train the children from the very first. 2. Rule them. Do not let them rule you. 3. Do not give them everything they ask for, but do your best to give them what they need. 4. Shield children from fear: if children are frightened, they will not be BRAVE, TRUE and OPEN. 5. Teach them to love beautiful things, FLOWERS, TREES, SKY, SEA, BIRDS, ANIMALS. 6. Gossip.—We thank our Association for the happy outing this week. We wish more could have come, and that means we wish more had attended the Welfare Centre regularly. But there's Xmas coming, and next summer! CHILD WELFARE ASSN. August 21, 1924.

Magistrates Court

A German stowaway on board S.S. Alfred Noble, given in custody of the police, was remanded to the penitentiary until the ship is ready to sail. A nine-year-old school boy arrested for vagrancy will be held on remand. Five young men were summoned into Court this morning charged with the larceny of three planks, the property of Harvey & Co., valued at $1.50. Sentence was suspended with the payment of costs. Const. John Walsh had four boys arraigned before the Juvenile Court charged with destroying a potato crop in the garden of Wm. Hamlyn near the old railway track. Mr. Hamlyn who gave evidence waived his claim for compensation. The judge in summing up, administered the boys a sound lecture, and let them go with costs. An assault case was withdrawn.

Legislative Council

OFFICIAL SYNOPSIS

FRIDAY, August 1.
House met at 4 p.m. pursuant to adjournment.
Hon. Mr. Morine tabled report of the Comptroller and Auditor General for Revenue and Appropriations Accounts for period ending June 30th, 1923. Report of C. and A. G. on Section 23 of Audit Act up to February 28, 1924 and Supplementary Report on same to date.

On motion the following Bills were read a third time and passed, namely:
1. Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 3 of 11 George V., entitled 'An Act to authorize the Montreal Trust Company to do business in the Colony of Newfoundland.'"
2. Bill entitled "An Act to amend 14 George V., Chapter 7, entitled 'An Act for the Encouragement of Shipbuilding.'"
3. Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 24 of the Consolidated Statutes (Third Series), entitled 'Of payment of certain fees and charges by stamps.'"
4. Bill entitled "An Act to further and protect the Activities and Interests of the Boy Scouts Association in the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies."
5. Bill entitled "An Act respecting the Department of Public Printing and Stationery."
6. Bill entitled "An Act respecting the Game and Inland Fisheries Board."

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on Bill entitled "An Act to confirm an agreement with the Newfoundland Milling Company, Limited." Hon. Mr. Milley in the chair.
Hon. Mr. Ellis asked if the place where the mill is to be erected was decided upon.

Hon. Mr. Morine replied that a site was under consideration on the South side of St. John's, and it was understood the mill would be erected there. The Committee reported the bill with slight amendment and with the unanimous consent of the House it was then read a third time and passed.
House went into Committee on the War Pensions Bill. Hon. Sir M. G. Winter in the chair.
Hon. Sir Patrick McGrath in reference to section one increasing the number of the commission from two to three, said that in 1920 when the number had been reduced he had strongly opposed the changing of the number from three to two. This he did on the grounds that at times one or other of the members would be absent from the country and sometimes both of them. On one occasion when this happened temporary appointments had been made and considerable expense incurred which would have been avoided had the number not been reduced. Sir Patrick asked if the members were to serve gratuitously and was assured by Hon. Mr. Morine that that was the case. He presumed one of the new appointments was at the suggestion of the G.W.V.A. and asked if anything was being done to bring the Pensions Act into conformity with the suggestions of that body at their recent convention. He was particularly interested in this Bill because he had had several years' experience on the Board, and had been instrumental in introducing legislation as regards this Pensions Board. Sir Patrick said that a good many hard cases had resulted from disagreement between the Pensions Commissioners and returned men up to the claim of the latter for pensions and as to their disabilities by which there were disputes regarding whether they were due to war service or aggravated by war service or preceded war service. He thought that while the Pensions Commissioners were doing their best to act generously, yet they suffered from the fact that the Pensions Act limited their powers and he thought the Act required more elasticity, and in particular with men suffering from tuberculosis. A good idea would be to do as has been done in Canada that is to appoint a legislative committee to go fully into the whole matter and give sympathetic consideration to the many hard cases that exist. Every week he has received requests from men for assistance from the Patriotic Association with which he had also been connected and some provision will have to be made immediately to look after their wants. Another question that arises is as to the Subsidy Hospital. He called attention to the increase of salaries at Subsidy Hospital referred to because this Government had put civil servants on the salary scale they had previously enjoyed before the cut last year. It is the Government's intention to revise had conditions, where found existing, and already they have appointed a Committee tee originally consisting of three members, but now of two, both members of the Executive. One of the original members has been dropped because as this commission was to report to the Government and he was not a member of the Government it was thought unnecessary. Added to this was the fact that it had been claimed in some quarters that he was one of the original accusers so it was thought best to proceed with the other two. The idea of the appointment of a Joint Committee of both houses to enquire into War Pensions conditions was one he did not favor as being an evasion by an Executive of its duties. Such inquiry ought to be by the Executive itself and if that proposed revealed necessity for inquiry into the Pensions Act it would be undertaken by the Government. With regard to the last speaker's remarks re hardships existing in some cases in the matter of claims for pensions, he felt the Government and Legislature would be disposed to give the most liberal treatment to all who went to the war and would look favorably upon unit men who did their bit, because they encouraged others to go and help in a great many ways by doing work that released a strong man for harder service elsewhere.

The Royal Stores, Ltd.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath with regard to the appointment of a Legislative Commission he did not agree with Hon. Mr. Morine, that such an appointment was merely the evasion of Government responsibility. In the case of the loggers Bill in the Lower House it was referred to a Legislative Committee and it was not proposed that the Government was shirking or evading responsibility.

Hon. Mr. Morine said this was a different matter altogether. The one was dealing with public money while the loggers' bill was dealing with money of a private concern. Referring to section 2 of the Act Mr. Morine stated it referred to bonuses which were granted two or three years ago for one year only, but were continued to be paid ever since and would be up to June 30, 1925 and probably thereafter. These bonuses which were after the Canadian system were being paid illegally and the amendment was to legalize the payments.

Hon. Sir Patrick McGrath said the same thing occurred in Canada which resulted in a conflict between the two branches of the Legislature. The pensions were increased 50 per cent and paid from year to year. Last year at Ottawa the Legislature decided to make the bonus permanent, but the Senate objected and thought two years more sufficient when the bonuses should be dropped. There was no reason why we should not adopt the Canadian system and if the Canadians reduced bonuses we would probably do the same, but we should not do so until careful investigation was made on all sides.

The Committee reported the bill without amendment and with the consent of the House it was read a third time and passed.

The House then adjourned until Tuesday next at 4 p.m.

House of Assembly Proceedings

FRIDAY, August 1.

The House met at 2 o'clock. Petitions were presented by Messrs. Ashbourne and Duff from their Districts in the subject of dredging a canal and a post office respectively.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. Hickman asked the Minister of Public Works if it is the intention of the Board of Works or his Department to ask for tenders for all supplies of foodstuffs, bedding and general merchandise required for the different Government institutions. The Minister tabled the following reply:—
The newly constituted Board has not yet met to consider this and other matters.

Mr. Hibbs asked the Minister of Public Works if the Labour Bureau is at present functioning, and if so, to name the officials in charge, and to state the nature and extent of the present duties. The Minister tabled the following reply:—

We have no Labor Bureau in the strict sense, but the services of certain officials who have been connected with that work are being temporarily retained by the Government pending a decision as to the Government policy in this connection. Capt. G. G. Byrne is the official in charge.

The Minister of Marine & Fisheries asked permission to reply to certain queries by Mr. Grimes re the dismissal of one George Roberts as a Lightkeeper at Manuels Island, Labrador. He said they discovered among other things that Mr. Roberts was a very expensive man. In addition to having free passage to Labrador Mr. Roberts was paid for 1921-22 the sum of $120.00 as passage money for his assistant. Who his assistant was he did not know and could not find out. Mr. Roberts was paid personally on April 18, 1923 the above amount for passages to Labrador two years previously. Then on December 12, 1923 he was paid $35.55 for passage money, and in 1922 he was paid the passage money of his wife and to and from Labrador, and the same thing happened in 1923, or $71.00 each year for his wife, which added to the other amounts make a tidy little sum. He hoped to save these amounts at least by the dismissal of Mr. Roberts.

The House went into Committee on resolutions relating to certain expenditures under the Loan Act 1923.

The Auditor General in his report asked for authority to sign a cheque for one million dollars to liquidate an amount outstanding at the Bank of Montreal in connection with the Pit Prop account. The resolutions passed the Committee and a bill was introduced.

The House went into Committee on resolutions in regard to a tax on goods imported in Newfoundland. This change has been recommended by the Assessor.

Mr. Hickman thought it an opportune time to discuss certain discriminations in the tariff on goods manufactured in Newfoundland. He said some industries were underprotected. He advocated a readjustment of the tariff to equalize matters. He instanced the protection on cigarettes. He had asked the Finance Minister to table figures showing the excise duties paid on the article last year. He found there had been manufactured last year nineteen million cigarettes. It was an industry very much overprotected. It took 2 1/2 lbs. tobacco to make 1000 cigarettes, and in the manufacture of the nineteen million 47,500 lbs. were used. The duty on imported cigarettes figured out at $14.60 per thousand while the duty on the locally manufactured article figured out at $8.12 per thousand, leaving a protection of $6.48 per thousand. In approximate figures the cigarette industry was protected last year by the country to the tune of $115,000.00. He thought no industry should be protected to this extent and he trusted the Government would see that better equalization of the tariff was undertaken. The resolutions were put through without further discussion and a bill was read a first time.

The House went into Committee on a bill relating to salaries of civil servants which repeals the old act, and civil servants will be paid the amount voted them in the estimates from July 1, 1924. The Bill was put through all its stages by unanimous consent and sent to the Legislative Council for concurrence.

The House then went into Committee on Supply.

House of Assembly Proceedings

told Sir John that they were attached to his correspondence and should be in the post office.

Sir John promised to have a search made for the documents and to again bring it to the attention of the House.

Mr. E. M. Brown also on a motion to adjourn, asked the Prime Minister what steps were being taken by the Government to bring about a cessation of the strike now on at Corner Brook. He said he had several telegrams asking him to go to the scene of the strike, but could not see his way clear to do so. On seeing the correspondence published in the Daily News he wired Mr. Prince a message which he read to the House and which appeared at the bottom of an editorial in the Advocate. He would like to be informed what action if any the Government proposed to take.

The Prime Minister in reply, told what had happened so far and stated the Government was most anxious to bring about a settlement, but in view of the insulting attitude of the spokesman, Mr. Prince, he did not feel as if the Government could do any negotiating with a man of that calibre. He had heard a lot of agitators of late and could not but think there was something behind the strike more than appeared on the surface. In fact he believed the Hon. Member who had just asked for information knew more about it than he admitted. He was well aware there was a place in town called "The White House," and he believed Mr. Brown and others associated with him lived there. He also believed the strike now in operation in Corner Brook and the proposed strike at Bell Island were being engineered from there. It was a meeting place for the Members and friends of the Opposition party, and schemes were being hatched to create strikes, to promote unrest and otherwise embarrass the Government. He was informed that Mr. Prince was a relative of Mr. Brown's and therefore well aware of what was going on. In short the whole motive behind the present strike at Corner Brook was an attempt to bring about dissatisfaction among the Bonavista Bay men working there and so have an influence on the Bonavista By-election to be held in the fall. And further the whole scheme was engineered from St. John's and Mr. Brown and others of the Opposition were behind it. He then read the latest message received and his reply thereto.

August 1, 1924.

To Prime Minister, St. John's.

Your country needs you at once Corner Brook, don't fail. If you do your Government is doomed immediately. Reply.

ALFRED PRINCE.

REPLY.

To Alfred Prince, Corner Brook.

In view of your insulting messages I refuse to act on your suggestions.

W. S. MONROE.

Mr. Brown disclaimed all knowledge of being a party to the scheme behind the strike as charged by the Prime Minister. He was not a relative of Alfred Prince and did not know if his intentions were good or bad. He was sincere in his motives and did not engineer any schemes. He did reside at the "White House" with Mr. Scammell and resented private matters being dragged into discussion. He thought Mr. Monroe should take back what he said.

The Prime Minister accepted Mr. Brown's word that he was not a relative of Mr. Prince and took back the statement.

Mr. Scammell was sorry the Prime Minister brought these private matters into the discussion. He did live at the "White House" with Mr. Brown. He knew of no schemes being engineered there to create an agitation. He knew Mr. Brown very well and believed he was sincere and was no extremist. He presumed the idea of the "White House" being headquarters for agitators arose from the fact that one J. Humber roomed there when he came to St. John's. He became acquainted with Humber about three weeks ago, and with the knowledge of him that he possessed he believed he was a dangerous agitator and did not want to have anything to do with him. He talked to him (Scammell) about a line of action he wanted the Opposition to take in the House, and when he went back to Bell Island wrote him a letter advising him to strike for a Labour Government. The time, he said, was ripe and the motto should be "Do it now." He assured the House that finished him with Humber. He wished to say he was not behind the agitation now going on at Corner Brook. Furthermore there was no politics in the matter as far as he knew.

Members Grimes, Hickman and Ashbourne each spoke a few words disclaiming any connection with this man Prince. Mr. Hickman said there were three of the Opposition members, Mr. Daif, Mr. Ashbourne, and himself who could not be said to have any connection with the F.P.U. party or the Government of Squires or Warren. Therefore he wished to have the responsibilities of those governments discussed apart from those three at least. Mr. Grimes advocated a commissioner or board of arbitration to effect settlement.

Mr. Long wished to back up the Prime Minister in his statements. It was a well known fact that certain schemes were being concocted in the place already referred to. He could not accept the Opposition members' assurance that there was no politics behind the agitation in the light of the editorial in the Advocate in its reply to the Daily News. Why the whole article from beginning to end was politics, and pretty dangerous politics too. It was no use for members to preach one doctrine in the House and another outside of it. Members of this House are responsible parties and their words are carefully followed. He believed firmly with Mr. Monroe that if there was to be no bye-election in Bonavista Bay this agitation would not be on. Sir John Creble believed also with Mr. Monroe that politics was at the bottom of the whole thing. He could not accept the assurances of the Opposition after reading the editorial in the Advocate. It was badly advised and certainly the Opposition could not say they were not behind it. He would not be a party to telling the workers at Corner Brook that everything would be lovely in a day or two to get the strike settled. The people of the country had been fooled for the past four years, and it was time to take a firm hand if the country was to be saved. He knew also something of the talk going on in the "White House" and he was aware also that an employee of the Customs was one of the leaders in the ideas promoted to try and embarrass the Government. This talk with that gentleman had to cease or something would drop.

The Prime Minister said he wished he could think the members of the Opposition were sincere in their professions. The utterances were contradicted by the editorial of the Evening Advocate. That paper was their mouthpiece and they were responsible for its utterances or they had to repudiate it. Then again there was the advent of Sir William Coaker on the scene. Did not the whole thing look like a plan. And he was firmly convinced the plan was to again defeat him and colleague in Bonavista Bay at the bye election and so hasten the day when Coakerism would again dominate the Government. This was his absolute belief and putting all the events that have transpired during the past few days together it bore out his belief in every particular. Mr. Monroe added that Prince had wired the workers at Deer Lake asking if he could go there and organize them and they had refused to accede to his wishes. The peculiar thing about the strike is that the only messages received here come from this man Prince, and he didn't know whether he really represented the men or only himself. His information was that a very large number of men were out on strike against their will and were anxious to return to work but feared intimidation. He had told Prince in his message that a thorough enquiry would be made as soon as the House closes. In view of the determination of the company to grant no higher wages, he didn't see that his going out now would do any good, neither did he think anything could be accomplished by Mr. Alexander coming to town, as he had informed that gentleman. He wished to remind the public that the taxpayers of the country were behind the Humber proposition to the extent of ten million dollars and it would be a serious thing for Newfoundland if the project failed.

The motion was then put and the House adjourned till Monday next.

Caplin Cove Fire Sufferers

SUBSCRIPTION LIST OPENED

Yesterday afternoon the Inspector General of Constabulary received an official report from Constable Forsey concerning the disastrous fire at Caplin Cove, Bay-de-Verde. The Constable reports that eight houses and eleven outhouses were burnt to the ground and a large amount of property destroyed. He also reports that six families are in destitute circumstances and in need of immediate assistance. On hearing this report the representatives for the district got in touch with the Colonial Secretary who instructed the Relieving Officer to look after their immediate wants; and in view of the circumstances Messrs. Cramm and Puddister have decided to issue a public appeal for assistance, and all amounts received will be acknowledged through the Daily News and Evening Telegram. They purpose leaving this evening for Caplin Cove to see for themselves the exact condition of affairs. From news received by the Inspector General yesterday evening it would appear that the fire is not yet out, his advice being that the wind had freshened the flames and that four other houses were in danger. Our Dumb Animals

REPORT CHIEF AGENT S.P.A. WEEK ENDING JULY 31.

Attended to the landing of 40 head cattle, 20 pigs, 17 sheep and 4 horses from S.S. Carolina Sayer; also a cartload of cattle and three horses at the Railway Station. I also attended two sales of cattle at the St. John's Abattoir Co. Everything was very satisfactory. Received complaints of cattle being in pasture without water. As far as I can learn and after seeing the people who own the cattle I learn they have been watered. I would like to warn all owners of cattle that if any animal is kept without sufficient food and water for six successive hours, the owner is liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00). An item appeared in a recent issue of the Daily News one morning about the load in the sprinkling carts. There have been no new carts made recently and these have been in use for quite a while. I am having the carts weighed with and without the water, and am investigating this complaint. In reference to lame horses, I am doing everything possible. Often team horses are permanently lame from physical defects like lameness and wounds, but I will see that all lame horses will get a square deal or order them off work to the care of the Veterinary Surgeons. Captain A. Kean of the West End, at the junction of Waterford Bridge and Topsall Roads, has a member of his household ill, and the dogs in the neighborhood are a great annoyance. He asked me to appeal to the authorities and I have asked the owners of the dogs to do their very best to keep them housed and quiet. Forty-one different complaints have been attended to. I was asked Thursday afternoon to go to the Cockpit Road to shoot a dog

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

COMPLETE AGREEMENT ON ALL POINTS BUT ONE.

LONDON, Aug. 1.
With the exception of one technical point, this relating to the reparations transfers from Germany, the Inter-Allied Conference this afternoon reached a complete agreement on how the reparations experts' plan should be made operative. This outstanding difficulty, it is said, will be cleared away to-night and the Allied delegates have been summoned to it in plenary session at the British Foreign Office in Downing Street at 11.30 o'clock to-morrow morning to pass judgment upon the committee reports which are to be embodied in a protocol for signature by the Germans to-morrow. Ramsay MacDonald, the British Prime Minister, who is chairman of the Inter-Allied Conference, will extend an invitation to the Germans to come to London as soon as possible. The mission from there is, however, not expected to arrive before Monday and possibly Tuesday, for it is anticipated that Dr. Stresemann, the German Foreign Minister, will delay its departure until he has had an opportunity to talk with Charles E. Hughes, the United States Secretary of State, who is to spend Sunday in the German capital.

WINNERS OF YACHT RACES.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 1.
Darkness settled over the harbor to-night with two of the entries in the New York to Halifax Yacht Race still below the skyline and three others riding at anchor off the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Squadron's Club House. Two of them winners in D class takes home the Halifax Herald trophy for her class, winning a close race from the Rev. L. V. Lockwood's New York Yacht Club entry, both boats having entered the harbor at dawn this morning. Caroline 11, owned by Roger Young, of the New York Yacht Club, won the schooner yacht race when the Northern Light, to which she had been orced to give six hours had not shown upon the horizon at 8.30 to-night. This morning the Chronicle trophy donated to the winner of the schooner class goes to the Caroline. The other vessel is a scratch entry, the Lismore, which is also unheard from. The Caroline crossed the finish line at 2.16.12 and her total corrected time was 114.00.28 which had been run over by a horse and carriage. The driver left the dog on the road with its leg broken and in a bruised condition. This is the fifth accident which has happened in this locality during the past weeks, and drivers have passed on taking no notice of it. I hope to secure sufficient evidence and summons the driver of the wagon. If accidents occur and dogs are badly injured the humane thing to do is to put the dog out of pain or 'phone No. 653 for me to relieve any animal in distress. The Horse Parade this year has been cancelled for the present.

THE NERVOUS WIFE.

Did you ever entertain the woman who is afraid her husband won't be perfectly comfortable or have just the kind of time he likes? Surely you recognize the lady!

She is always watching her husband with an anxious eye. Always trying to get things just the way he likes them. There is a constant nervousness in her manner, you feel that she is balancing on the tight rope of her effort to be a gracious guest, and at the same time a watchful wife.

James Likes His Egg Turned.
His egg comes to the table in the merest and you know from the worried glance that she casts at it, that there is something wrong. You inquire, and she acknowledges that James does like his egg turned. It's a perfect shame for you to bother, but he hates an egg that hasn't been turned, says it's so messy.

Or she comes forth after they have retired to their bedroom to tell you what a lovely room it is and how dainty, and would you mind, would it be too much bother, if she begged a higher pillow for James? Since he had that attack of asthma once. Oh, no, he never has it, but somehow he does like a higher pillow. Oh, yes, that will be perfectly fine. She is so ashamed to have bothered you.

James Must Have His Coffee.
Or she comes into the kitchen when you are preparing lunch, and asks if she can help. She sees that you are making tea, instead of coffee, and that worried look which you have come to recognize comes into her face. Presently you discover that James is all upset if he doesn't get a cup of coffee with every meal. "I wish he weren't so dependent on his coffee. I tell him it isn't good for him but he says he thinks that's all nonsense, propaganda for the people who make substitutes. Yes, he likes it strong. That's so good of you. You do make the most wonderful coffee. James was speaking of it this morning."

So with the coin of her graciousness; her almost abject thanks, her evident eagerness to please, she tries to pay you for the special service that James requires.

Like the Animal and the Trainer.
You like her but you find her obvious nervousness when James is about, as much of a strain as his special service. There is something in the look. She turns on him that suggests the furtive shrinking look the animal casts at the trainer who is never cross at him before the audience, but whose conduct behind the scenes may be interpreted from that look.

"I once had a woman of this type visit me with her husband, and then again with a woman friend. I felt, as if I had entertained two entirely different women, so marked was the change in her personality from the nervous, watchful, apprehensive wife to the light-hearted, pleased-with-any-thing friend.

A man once noted a change like this in another man's wife when her husband was not about. "I wonder if my wife is like that," he said thoughtfully.

It is a wonder that many a man might well entertain.

Thursday's Debate

THE BONAVISTA TRIO BOWL OUT THE OPPOSITION.

Thursday's proceedings in the House of Assembly on the motion for adjournment afforded spectators an opportunity of witnessing an interesting exhibition of the debating strength of the three members for Bonavista Bay. The complete trio, namely the Prime Minister, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Mr. Lewis Little, each and all contributed their share to the discussion over the disposal of the Mainkoff and other matters, and when it was all over, Mr. Hallyard, and those who attempted to help him out, presented the quite evident appearance of having been driven into knot holes and of having hauled the holes in after them. The fearless and independent criticisms of all three Bonavista members were in striking contrast to the feeble and feeble exhibitions of the sessions of the past few years when no matter of the Coaker-Bonavista trio, or for that matter any of the ten subservient followers of his, would attempt to say a single word except at the crack of a Coaker whip or a Collishaw digit. The Prime Minister of course, had been heard from often since the House opened when those who listened to him have always been impressed with the calm and dignified way in which he retorts to the Opposition's pretensions of being terribly concerned in a square deal for everyone, notwithstanding that for political crookedness in all manner of shapes and forms their records from the years 1919 to 1923 are the most shameful in the history of this or any other colony. Yesterday Mr. Monroe gave another dignified rebuke to Mr. Hallyard's impertinence and inconsistency of observations and again won the applause of the spectators. Capt. Winsor sailed in also and in that outspoken, vigorous and sledge hammer style for which he has been noted this session put it all over Mr. Hallyard and his colleagues. As he shot his penetrating darts he winged the Opposition "birds" one by one, just as on other occasions since the House opened, and certainly left them in a very chestfallen condition. But calm and dignified as was the Prime Minister, and slashing as were the retorts of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the speech of their colleague, Mr. Lewis Little, was equally effective. His capital defence of the actions of the Monrogo Government and the firm manner in which he clearly exposed the hypocrisy of those who when under the Coaker roost uttered not a croak even when such colossal crookedness was being perpetrated as was revealed in the Walker matter, notably the should not be forgotten, the raw dead providing for a haul of $70,000 by the mysterious Mr. Collishaw from the taxpayers of Newfoundland. This was Mr. Little's first contribution to the House of Assembly debates and although, as he remarked, he was not quite sure whether he was going too fast or too slow, not having had much time to study much of parliamentary procedure, he certainly made a "ball's eye" on the Opposition target and covered himself with a glory of which he may well feel proud. He delivered his speech with a sincerity which none could doubt and it was splendidly received by all who heard him, members and visitors alike. No doubt but for the circumstances which obliged him to study much of parliamentary procedure, he certainly made a "ball's eye" on the Opposition target and covered himself with a glory of which he may well feel proud. He delivered his speech with a sincerity which none could doubt and it was splendidly received by all who heard him, members and visitors alike. WHEN ALL IS WELL AT HOME.
I met a rich man by the way, a man with wealth to boast;
Said I to him: "Come tell me, pray, what joy delights thee most?
What pleasure has this life to give, what mirth or merriment?
Beat cheers the round of years you live and leaves your soul content."
"What is it makes a happy man?" he answered with a sigh
"I'll tell as quickly as I can, 'tis something gold can't buy.

"When they are well at home," said he, "then I am full content;
I met a rich man by the way, a man with wealth to boast;
Said I to him: "Come tell me, pray, what joy delights thee most?
What pleasure has this life to give, what mirth or merriment?
Beat cheers the round of years you live and leaves your soul content."
"What is it makes a happy man?" he answered with a sigh
"I'll tell as quickly as I can, 'tis something gold can't buy.

"Though rich or poor, 'tis truth I tell, contentment none can know
Save 'neath the roof where he may dwell are eyes with love astir;
The heart must join the lips that smile, the mind must be at ease,
Or pleasure has no charm worth while which mortal man can seize;
Whoever he be this truth he'll find wherever he may roam:
No man can come to peace of mind save all it well at home."

"The World's Applause"

A POWERFUL DRAMA FILMED AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Said to be one of the six best dramas ever screened "The World's Applause" will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Monday Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE CAST.
Corinne d'Ally... Babe Danala
John Elliott... Lewis Stone
Elsa Townsend... Kathryn Williams
Robt. Townsend... her husband
Adolphe Menjou
James Crane... Brandon Hurst
Maid to Corinne... Berdice Frank
Sue to Corinne... Maym Kelso
Waiter to Townsend... George Ferra
Valet to Elliott... James Holt

There are many scenes of great dramatic power in "The World's Applause." Corinne d'Ally (Babe Danala), a dancer, has a craze for publicity, and when Robert Townsend, a celebrated artist, paints a portrait of her and later exhibits it publicly, she is entranced, despite the warnings of John Elliott (Lewis Stone), her producer, that her passion for notoriety inevitably must involve her in trouble. At the exhibition of Townsend's picture his jealous wife (Kathryn Williams) slashes the picture, and in an attempt to prevent her from committing this vandalism Townsend is stabbed to death by his wife. Suspicion fastens upon Corinne. The newspapers present lurid accounts of the tragedy, with the result that Corinne's career is blasted. But all ends well when she finds happiness in Elliott's love.

The scene of Townsend's death is powerful, as is also that wherein Corinne realizes that she is indirectly responsible for Townsend's tragic passing. There are many other scenes—Mrs. Townsend's remorse followed by her confession, Corinne's anguish when her publicity dreams are shattered, Elliott's noble assumption of guilt to save the woman he loves; and the ultimate discovery that Corinne loves Elliott as ardently as he does will prove a source of delight to all spectators who have followed the varying fortunes of the hero and heroine.

Once Proud Yacht; Now Lowly Barge.
Was Owned by "Divine Sarah," Now Humble Cargo Carrier.

From the palatial steam-yacht of the late Sarah Bernhardt, famous French tragedienne, to a lowly cargo steamer, plying between Boston and St. John's, Nfld., has been the fate of the steamer Yankton which sailed from Halifax yesterday afternoon after being forced to put into this port on account of boiler trouble. Notwithstanding her fall from her former proud position, the ship still retains her old-time speed and she still can keep pace with any of the present day freighters.

Built at Leith, Scotland, some 31 years ago, the Yankton has enjoyed an interesting and checkered career. First known as the British steam-yacht Penelope, she later became the property of the great French tragedienne, who re-named her the Cleopatra. In 1889, the United States Government purchased her and, after converting her into a gunboat, changed her name to that of the Yankton. It was shortly after she was taken over by the United States government that she again came into prominence when she blazed the way for the world cruise of the American battle fleet. The Yankton demonstrated her seaworthiness during that cruise when she was caught with the other ships of the fleet in the China sea during a typhoon. When the order was given for the ships to scatter, the Yankton made port two days ahead of all others.

Leaving the spotlight of the U. S. navy, the Yankton was bought and sold many times. After prohibition went into effect in the United States she then owners of the vessel, operated her more or less successfully in the rum-running business, until May, 1920, when she was seized at New York. Last year the Yankton was operated in a service between Boston, Halifax and St. John's, Nfld., but since that time she has been taken over by new owners and is running between Boston and the Newfoundland capital—Halifax, Nfld.

Electrically Cooked Food Delicious

THE pleasure of cooking on an electric range cannot be imagined. It must be experienced. The steady, even heat of electricity with its unflinching power is a pleasure for the housewife. All the heat remains within the range and none of it outside.

No reason for food to be burned or overdone. Cook with Westinghouse ranges and enjoy all the flavor, lusciousness and the health and strength of food that nature grew into it. Cooking with electricity seals and condenses all of the natural juices in place of allowing them to evaporate.

Westinghouse dealers will be pleased to demonstrate.

This food is rebuilding the health of thousands like yourself

The example illustrated here is typical of thousands of similar tributes to Fleischmann's Yeast.

There is nothing mysterious about its action. It is not a "cure-all," not a medicine in any sense. But when the body is choked with the poisons of constipation—or when its vitality is low so that skin, stomach and general health are affected—this simple, natural food achieves literally amazing results.

Concentrated in every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast are millions of tiny yeast-plants, alive and active. At once they go to work—invigorating the whole system, clearing the skin, aiding digestion, strengthening the intestinal muscles and making them healthy and active.

MONTREAL TRAMWAYS. (Financial Times, July 18.)

Among Canadian public utility traction securities those of the Montreal Tramways Company rank high. This is due not only to the extremely satisfactory financial and operating position of the company, but also to the fact that it is permitted to earn a fixed rate of return upon its issued capital stock.

The Montreal Tramways Company owns and controls the street railway system of Montreal and suburbs, serving a population in excess of 500,000 without heavy or other competition. The city is directly interested in the prosperity of the company, inasmuch as the terms of the franchise contract provide that the company's right to receive its return on its capital value has priority over the city's right to receive $500,000 in annual rentals and a percentage of surplus earnings. Besides meeting the annual interest charges of outstanding debentures and mortgage bonds, dividends on the common stock are being paid at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum.

The company is assured of sufficient revenue to meet interest and dividends by the contract between the city and the company, which provides for the adjustment of the tariffs of fares to produce such revenue. This contract, which runs until 1956, has been ratified by legislative act of the Province of Quebec. Under the terms of the contract, the Montreal Tramways Commission, created for this purpose by the legislative act, is obliged to adjust fares to provide the company with sufficient revenue to pay all operating and maintenance and renewal fund payment and an annual return of at least 6 per cent. on:

1. The capital value of the company's property as fixed through the Franchise Contract.
2. Such additional capital expenditure as may be made from time to time.

Possessing such virtual guarantees of earning power, based upon operating revenue, the company is able to provide in advance for extensions and improvements, these being subject to approval of the Committee acting both for the city and the company.

To-night the lads of the Church Leads Brigade Camp leave at 8 o'clock for home. All kind friends who assisted the staff to motor the boys in are kindly asked to lend a car to bring them home. To-day Capt. House Camp Commandant is busy striking tents, cleaning camp grounds and overseeing the hundred and one jobs incidental to moving two hundred tents and kit, bags and baggage to Headquarters. Captain Geo. House deserves the thanks of all ranks for the responsibility and care of the biggest and best camp in history. Captain House and his able Lieutenant Quartermaster Mott with Captain Harold Hayward have the highest appreciation of Headquarters staff for their splendid efficiency. Grand Falls Company will entrain to-morrow on the 1 p.m. express for Grand Falls. Portugal Cove Company left for home yesterday by motor boat, whilst Bay Roberts contingent leave by the six o'clock train to-night after having all spent a happy holiday making new friends on their journey. The trip to Bell Island yesterday was cancelled by special orders of Lt. Col. M. F. Rendell Officer Commanding. The officers acknowledged with many thanks a kindly gift of ten dollars towards camp expenses from the popular chaplain of the Royal Nfld. Regt. the Rev. and Lt. Col. T. Nangle. Gifts made voluntarily are more than welcome and encourages those responsible in what is hard work and a real self sacrifice.

One accident yesterday—Edgar House son of the Camp Commandant injured his arm playing football. Chief Medical Officer Dr. Burden promptly motored him to hospital where an X-Ray was taken and Dr. Fox and our N.C.O. have him now on the road to recovery. He will be O.K. next week as its only a slight injury to his arm.

Last night being the last in Camp for 1924 the lads had a royal time. Tents mysteriously came down and even the guard got into trouble for this morning everybody saw coloured gentlemen on duty!

How to Judge Tobacco

The True Test Lies Inside the Pipe—Not in the Pedigree, Says Mr. Krob.

In the following letter Mr. Krob points out that once we are past the infantile stage of "taking the watch apart to see what makes it run," we learn that true happiness is a matter of appreciation rather than of analysis. How do you feel about it?

Lorain, Ohio.
Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

Most people who are buying Better Light look up at the fixtures near the counter or work-bench, where they actually use the light. They always want to consider it "P.O.B." the lighting fixture, instead of "Delivered" the working plane, where it is to be utilized.

Personally, that's the way I look at tobacco. Many manufacturers go into detail telling us where their product is raised, how it is blended, how long it is aged and how well it is packed, and place this information before the public in their advertisements.

Why should we care whether tobacco is raised in the Sahara or on icebergs, whether it is a blend of "57 Varieties" or run-of-the-mine, or whether it comes packed in cork or cast-iron containers? I buy my tobacco because of the way it tastes in the pipe. That's why I use Edgeworth.

Sincerely yours,
K. M. KROB.

As the producers of Edgeworth we are of course vitally interested in its pedigree. We are absorbed in the blend of Edgeworth and in its curing—in every detail of its development. But all our work and experiment and study has but one object—that Edgeworth may prove its worth "Delivered—Pipe."

And that's all we expect you to be interested in. aug23.136,m,w

BRAZILIAN TRACTION.

While the outbreak of a revolution in the richest areas of Brazil has created a state of uncertainty among shareholders of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company, Limited, such political demonstrations in the Republic must be viewed as merely transitory unsettlements common to all South American countries. The outbreak will have, of course, an adverse influence upon earnings for 1925 but falling really definite news from Brazil it is impossible to even guess at this effect.

Up to the time of the revolution, as during the past two years, the company made considerable progress with respect to development and earnings. The present 4 per cent. dividend was earned in 1923, and it is believed that the margin of profits has been even greater in the 1924 fiscal year, the financial statement covering which is due within the next few weeks.

The large Canadian investment in Brazilian Traction shares has always regarded management of the company, with favor. There is a distinct tendency on the part of directors to further bolster up their operating position, and the recent appointment of H. H. Couzens to the position of vice-president in executive charge of operations in Brazil is a further step in this direction. Entities behind the stock should improve steadily, under the impetus of improved working conditions in Brazil, a recovery in the Republic's trade and finances and a sympathetic strengthening in Brazilian Exchange.

Luxuries That are Necessities

When going on vacation every lady should be sure to take a generous supply of cosmetics—for the summer sun and the salt sea spray will ruin the complexion unless proper precautions are taken. Three Flowers, vanishing cream, so soothing before applying the face powder and cleansing cream to refreshen the skin before retiring—are both real necessities during summer days. You can obtain these dainty toilet articles together with a generous bottle of the delightful Three Flowers Perfume in a neat little traveling case called the Travellite, all for fifty cents at any drug or department store.

Playground Baby Show

Have you ever seen 197 babies together—all under thirteen months old? You have if you saw the babies yesterday at Banerman Park. And such bonny babies as they were. If you had asked anyone in the park what country has the best babies, the answer would surely have been "Newfoundland," for nurses, doctors and spectators agreed that there just couldn't be more perfect and more lovely babies than were shown at the Baby Show run by the playground authorities under the auspices of the Rotary Club, assisted by the Child Welfare Association.

The spirit of the whole affair was delightful. Every one present did all that they could to make the event the success that it was. There was apparently not the least hard feeling among the mothers because "my baby was not given a prize." Everyone realized what a difficult task the judges had and deepest appreciation is due to Dr. Mitchell, Dr. Grivee, Dr. Argeron of Heart's Content, Miss Janet Anderson, Superintendent of Child Welfare, and the Community nurses for their kindness in officiating as judges. Lady Allardryce graciously consented to pin the prize ribbons on the winners and made many mothers happy by her cheery words to their babies.

It was interesting to note that there were even some entries from the outports and that Baby Leo from Placentia captured one of the prizes.

Those present representing the Child Welfare Association were—Mrs. W. S. Monroe, Mrs. Thelma Cook, Mrs. W. G. Goobey, Honorary President, Miss Southcott, President Mrs. MacKeen, Mrs. Bradshaw, Miss Margaret Parker, Mrs. Leonard Outerbridge, Honorary Treasurer, Mrs. John Angel, Miss Furlong, Miss Duley Mrs. Angus Reid, Mrs. R. B. Job. Those present representing the Rotary Club were President and Mrs. Morris, His Worship, the Hon. Tasker Cook, Mayor, Hon. S. Miller, Mr. T. V. Hartnett, Treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Horwood, Dr. Baird, Dr. Mitchell, Mr. James Ayre, and Mr. Peter O'Mara.

Special prizes which included a five dollar gold piece, a silver baby spoon, a baby's Japanese silk under quilt, a silver hair brush, a gold pin, adorable baby clothing, etc., were given by Mr. Morris, Mr. Cyril Duley, Hon. S. Miller, Mrs. C. McKay Harvey, Mrs. W. G. Goobey, Dr. Mitchell, Mr. Reuben Horwood, Ayre & Sons, Mr. Charles Hunt, Mr. Peter O'Mara and others.

The prizes were as follows:—First group, 3 months old and under, a special prize for Billy Jackman, 3 weeks old. Also, Raymond Murphy, first; John Peters and Peter Geddes O'Mara tied for second; James Knight and John Adams tied for third, and Frederick Davis a close fourth. Second group, babies 4, 5 and 6 months old.—First, John Milley Gardiner; second, Donald Sinclair and John Taylor; third, Morris Doyle, and Isabel Patrick. Close fourths, Frank Lewis, Helen Pike and Shirley Taylor. A special prize given in this group for twins was won by Bernice and Marjorie Green. Third group, babies 7, 8 and 9 months old.—First, William Peddie; second, Armond Lee and Joyce Hoskins; third, Arthur Tansley and Eric Young. Fourth group, babies 10, 11 and 12. Arthur Squires and Anton Lang tied for first; Doris Tuff and Kevin Murphy second; Elinor Cotton and Marjorie Knight third.

It was deeply regretted that the time would not permit the giving of prizes for the most hygienically clothed baby and for the best decorated baby carriage as had been advertised, but babies, when it is time to be fed, are like the tide which waits for no man. Next Friday there will be a similar baby show for babies between one and two years old.

Dr. G. N. Murphy's Office will close August 6th, for two weeks. July 28.4

Popular Young Lady

GIVEN A SURPRISE PARTY.

On Thursday evening at 6 o'clock a very merry party of young ladies and gentlemen left Messrs. Ayre & Sons, Limited, by bus for Bowling Park, where a surprise party was held for Miss Kitty Lamb, who is leaving within the next three weeks for New York. The buses were very kindly supplied by Mr. C. P. Ayre, which gave an added touch of pleasure to the occasion. During the evening Mr. Charlie Giles, on behalf of this party, made Miss Lamb a money presentation as a token of her pleasant associations with her co-workers. Prizes were presented for various spots and a most enjoyable time was spent by all. Last week a linen shower was given Miss Lamb by Miss Mary Skinner. The shower was held in the form of a moonlight party on the grounds of Mr. Walter Skinner, Portugal Cove Road, which had been decorated with fancy lanterns for the occasion and gave it a very pretty appearance. A wheelbarrow decorated with crepe paper held the linen, and contained very useful and pretty gifts from some sixty friends who were present.

Quantity Price Fair and Unfair--

Any grocer who sells BABBITS soap loyally and faithfully is entitled to just as good treatment and just as fair a field for profit as any other grocer. Favoritism is what kills the independent retailer.

We have only one concession for quantity—that which the buyer actually earns in the freight saving. We don't give it to him; he earns it.

We agree with the Retail Grocers that differentials so great that they upset fair competition should be condemned. The wonderful popularity of BABBITS soap is built on fair sales policies and real value to the consumer.
