CAPTURE OF ESKI-BABA BY BULGARIAN FORCES MAY BE CRUSHING BLOW

Control of Railway at This Point Means Cutting of Communications Between Constantinople and Saloniki —Bulgarians Are Planning to Drive the Enemy Into the Sea.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(Can. Press.)—A brief Sofia despatch tonight announces what may prove to be the most important move the victorious Bulgarian army has yet achieved—the capture of Eski-Baba. The despatch describes this town as an important position on the main line between Adrianople and Constantinople, but omits to say whether the Bulgarians are in actual possession of the railway station. If they are astride the railway at this point they have cut the communications between Constantinople and Saloniki, and with 40,000 troops now in Adrianople it had been supposed that the Turkish forces after the fall of Kirk-Kiliseh, were holding the line from Kuleli Burgas to Luleh Burgas, a short distance east of Eski-Baba.

The Bulgarian plan of campaign, according to the well-informed correspondent of The Vienna Reichspost at the headquarters of the second Bulgarian army, will be the complete destruction of all the Turkish forces along the Maritza River and those retreating across the Eskiene River.

To Drive Turks to Sea.

The correspondent says that there are still large forces of Turks north of the railway line with others at Chori and Istrandis. Detached Bulgarian forces have been despatched in the direction of these places and Midia, on the coast. The intention is to cut the Turkish army off from the capital and force it towards the seashore and there compel it to capitulate. He describes the attack on Adrianople as making excellent progress and predicts its successful conclusion within a week. A Bulgarian column from the Arda Valley has occupied Salpiatar and Emiri. Another report announces the occupation of Bushmali. Naim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war and commander-in-chief, is said to have reached Chori. A despatch from Constantinople at midnight declares that the army is preparing to take the offensive and that the cabinet has decided to prosecute the war with the utmost energy and prepare for a winter campaign should the present operations result unfavorably for the Ottoman army.

Retreat is General.

There is no indication yet where the Turks will make a stand. They are everywhere falling back before the victorious allies. They evacuated the Town of Isip in Macedonia without resistance, although it occupied a strong natural position.

In the Bulgarian diplomatic quarters in London it was stated tonight that Bulgaria, far from assuming that the war is approaching a conclusion, has summoned another 30,000 of reservists to the colors.

Turkish diplomats do not conceal their disappointment and surprise at the results of the campaign, but they point out that the main Turkish army has not been engaged yet, much less defeated.

TWO ITALIANS WERE SHOT AT GUELPH

Shooting on Street Results in One Man Being Fatally and Another Severely Injured by Mysterious Assailant —Police Are Holding Four Italians.

GUELPH, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Joe Veroni, a baker, and Mike Pazzara, an employee of the pipe mill, both Italians, are in the Guelph General Hospital as a result of a murderous attack shortly after midnight Saturday night. Veroni is not seriously injured, although he received two bullets, but Pazzara is in a precarious condition. He was shot in the back and his death is expected at any moment.

As a result of the double shooting the Italian section of the city in St. Patrick's Ward, is greatly excited as both men are well-known.

The shooting occurred between midnight and one o'clock, the first victim being Veroni, who was shot in the arm and face as he came out of the door of his bakery on Alice street.

After he had been in the hospital nearly an hour a message was received that another man had been found lying near the edge of the sidewalk in a more dangerous condition than the first. The ambulance made a quick run to the spot and found Pazzara unconscious.

The police were not notified until nearly five o'clock, or four hours after the shooting took place, and when they arrived on the scene everything was fairly quiet.

Victims Were Friends.

Pazzara must have been shot a few moments after Veroni as he came up the street, for Veroni admitted today that he had heard a shot fired.

The two men were friends and both were interested in a mining property in the Porcupine, but had not been together during the evening.

Pazzara was carried into his boarding house, kept by George Carreer, a few steps from where he was found. After working on the case all day the police brought four Italians, Geo. Carreer and Frank Longo, both local men, and Giuseppe Poeschi of Toronto, who has been doing some mining business here, and Joe Rosso of New York.

The police are questioning these men very closely and are convinced that they know more than they are willing to admit. Their stories differ in many details and before the police are thru arrests may follow. Pazzara regained consciousness at the hospital today and his statement was taken by Acting Crown Attorney Morat and Chief Constable Veroni also made a statement of some sort, but both claimed that they did not know who did the shooting as it was dark on that street at the time.

Mrs. Charles Rowe May Die From Burns Received When Her Husband Poured Oil on a Coal Fire—Four Months Old Baby Badly Injured.

Mrs. Charles Rowe, aged 35 years, was probably fatally burned on Saturday night as the result of an explosion caused by her husband throwing kerosene on red hot coals in the kitchen stove. Her four months old child was badly burned on one foot and one leg, but will recover and will not be seriously maimed.

The accident happened at 11:45 Saturday night. Charles Rowe thought that there was not sufficient fire in the stove to carry it thru the morning if a fresh scuttleful was thrown

Mr. and Mrs. William Manewrang of Ellsworth Avenue Found By Edmund Grummitt, After He Had Forced an Entrance to the House.

DOG DEAD IN ANOTHER ROOM KITTEN LEFT HOUSE ALIVE

Theory Is Advanced by the Police and Coroner That Poisoned Food Was Eaten and Fed to the Dog, or That Gas Leaked and the Couple Were Asphyxiated After Husband Attempted To Open a Window.

Tragedy in its darkest form visited a home at 16 Ellsworth avenue early Sunday morning and blotted out the lives of two young people in some mysterious manner yet unknown to the police. The victims were William Manewrang, aged 25, and his wife, Ina Grummitt Manewrang, aged 26. The couple had been married only a few months.

A brother of the dead woman, Edmund Grummitt, 42 Helena avenue, forced an entrance into the house about 6 o'clock last night after all attempts to wake the couple had failed. Accompanied by two neighbors, he searched the place, and found his sister and her husband both dead in a back bedroom. The man was lying in a crumpled heap in the clothes closet; the woman was partly dressed, but still in bed with the covers over her.

The little spaniel dog of the home was discovered dead in the parlor. Several people who first entered the house after the bodies were found detected a smell of gas, and the deaths were generally attributed to gas poisoning. The fact that the brother struck a match when he first entered the room, and that there was no explosion disproves this theory, and Chief Coroner Dr. Jukes Johnson will today perform an autopsy to determine the cause of death. Dr. E. B. Hardy will open an inquest tomorrow morning at the morgue. The authorities are doubtful as to whether the couple were suffocated or died from another cause.

Neighbors claim to have heard the dog barking early in the morning, and think that he was attempting to warn his master of danger.

The couple were last heard about 11:30 Saturday night, when they came home. They did not have the furnace burning, nor any stoves. When examined later, all the jets were found to be closed, and no gas was escaping.

On account of the dog being dead, and such a very faint odor of gas, it is suspected that the Manewrangs met their death by other means than at first thought, probably by poisoned food, upon which they had also fed the dog.

Several people who entered the house, however, maintain that there was a smell of illuminating gas.

WERE MARRIED ON JUNE 26.

William Manewrang and Ina Grummitt, daughter of Mr. W. Grummitt, 46 Helena avenue, were married in the Zion Methodist Church by Rev. John Coburn on June 26 last.

After the wedding they took up their residence at 16 Ellsworth avenue. The bride's brother and the other members of the family were in the habit of visiting the couple on Sundays.

Yesterday morning a cousin called about 10 o'clock. Receiving no response to his knock, he concluded that the young people were asleep.

This thought was borne out by the presence of the filled milk bottles on the steps. During the afternoon Edmund Grummitt made a trip to the house, but could get no answer, and the bodies were still on the steps.

FATHER BECAME ALARMED.

The father became alarmed when his son returned and ordered him to go back and get in some way. After several vain attempts to gain an entrance by the windows, Edmund drew the attention of J. F. Keane and M. H. George, who live at No. 14.

With the assistance of these men he climbed an apple tree nearby and opened a window fronting on the street. All the blinds were drawn, but Edmund stumbled along to the back room and struck a match. It went out.

Running down stairs he unlocked the door and Keane and George entered.

HUSBAND'S BODY IN CLOSET.

Grummitt went up the stairs again, and this time lighted the gas, revealing the ghastly scene. His sister was in bed, with the covers drawn about her. George and Keane soon saw the husband's leg protruding from the closet.

One hand stretched out before him, Manewrang lay in a heap. His head rested on some old clothing. That he had struggled desperately, was shown by his distorted features and his clenched hands.

The three men then proceeded down stairs. In the parlor they discovered the little spaniel dog, stretched out, dead.

The only sign of fire in the house was a small gas-heater under the water boiler, which was still burning. Everything else apparently was as it should have been.

HAD BEEN DEAD SOME TIME.

Dr. Tandy, who lives nearby, was soon on the scene and stated that the man and woman had been dead for some hours. Coroner Dr. Hardy immediately placed the home in the charge of Plainclothesmen McElroy and Todd. The bodies were removed in a patrol wagon to the morgue.

Friends of the dead couple advance several theories as to the cause of the tragedy. Some think that Manewrang awoke and detected gas fumes, that he awakened his wife and started to dress. While he was doing this the gas became so strong that he attempted to open the door and fell into the closet, by mistake.

Another is that the couple became aware of their danger, and that, in a weakened condition, the man staggered to the gas jet, turned it off, and searching for the door, got into the closet.

Out of the many stories circulated after such a sad occurrence, one at least seems reasonable enough. This is to the effect that the couple had lunch before they went to bed and also fed the dog.

START TUESDAY ON CATHEDRAL

Baptistry Will Be Completed Before the Winter and Fine Presentation Font Installed.

Announcement was made by Bishop Sweeney at the harvest thanksgiving services at St. Alban's Cathedral yesterday morning, that work on the enlargement of the cathedral will start tomorrow morning. Before the winter sets in, it is the intention to have the baptistry completed, and a fine font, which was presented to the cathedral, will be installed. Work on the transept will start in the spring.

The announcement that the actual work is to commence on the extension of the cathedral is very gratifying to the members, and to the diocese generally.

AGREEMENT ENDS MOROCCO PERIL

France and Spain, in Defining Territorial Zones, Careful Not to Offend Sultan.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—(Can. Press.)—A complete agreement between France and Spain has been reached on the subject of Morocco, and it only remains to engross the treaty, which will be signed by the two governments early next week. This agreement, the negotiations of which have extended over eight months, regulates definitely the position in Morocco of the two powers.

The treaty provides for all questions that might arise between powers taking under control a vast empire divided into two zones, the one French and the other Spanish, but which preserves by a diplomatic fiction the territorial integrity and the nominal sovereignty of the sultan.

ROOSEVELT NOW GAINING GROUND

Straw Vote of Past Week Indicates Growing Strength as Polling Draws Near.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The New York Herald's presidential election straw vote up to Oct. 27 gives Wilson 119,933, Roosevelt 52,575, and Taft 58,418. The past week has shown gains by Progressives.

The Herald says: "With election only eight days off and the campaign entering its final and perhaps vital stage, indications are that Governor Wilson still has a big lead in the battle for the presidency."

"For second place a desperate battle is on between the president and Mr. Roosevelt, with the latter leading."

"In several sections of the country it appears, according to The Herald correspondence's most recent reports, that a 'drift' has set in for the president. This is not reflected by the straw votes. It is possible that it developed after the last ballots, which figure in this week's computations, had been cast. Based on the test ballots, which now have reached the imposing total of 27,022, the situation in the spectacular race is as follows:

"President Taft has fallen off slightly and is now just where he was on Oct. 5. Mr. Roosevelt has gained, and is back where he was on the same date. He had slumped slightly in the tables of Oct. 13 and 20. Governor Wilson has fallen off and is at a point lower than at any time, though well in the lead."

Some Drift to Taft.

"The 'drift' to Mr. Taft has shown itself in parts of New England, in New Jersey, in Pennsylvania and in some sections of the west, but it is in states where the president has, according to the best information, only the slenderest possible chance of winning. Republican managers see in it cause for encouragement. Some of them declare that the president will make magnificent gains during the coming week. Others say that they fear that the tide has turned too late. They express but the slightest hope that the president can overcome the current which has been running against him and believe that he will do well to pass Mr. Roosevelt and land in second place."

A significant feature of The Herald's canvass to date is that the test ballots in all states are in nearly every instance borne out by the reports of the staff men who were sent into the different commonwealths to 'feel out' sentiment."

LADY MULOCK CANNOT LIVE

Physicians Have Given Up All Hope — Sir Mackenzie Bowell Has Small Chance of Recovery.

The physicians attending Lady Mulock, wife of Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, stated last night that they expected her to live only a few hours. At an early hour this morning she was in a very grave condition. Lady Mulock was taken to the Wellesley Hospital, Homewood place, four days ago. For several months she has been suffering from an abnormal intestinal condition. Three weeks ago it was found necessary to perform an operation, which was done by Dr. Bruckner. The operation was successful in giving temporary relief. But two days later complications developed which are likely to have fatal results.

There is not much hope for the recovery of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, ex-premier of Canada, who is lying in a critical condition in Wellesley Hospital, Homewood place, suffering from an accident in the Albany Club a few days ago. At an early hour this morning it was stated by his physicians that he was resting a little more comfortably. Yesterday he had three bad spells.

Indianapolis Chief of Police Identifies Alarm Clocks, Dynamite Togs and Other Articles Placed Before Jury—President Ryan Protested Against Search Being Made.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26. (Can. Press).—Alarm clocks, gum shoes, nitro-glycerine cans, tags from dynamite packages and wires were produced before the jury at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today and identified by Martin J. Hyland, chief of police of Indianapolis, as having been taken from the vaults of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Workers on the night that J. J. McNamara was arrested. All the exhibits were piled in heaps on the floor before the jury.

Chief Hyland testified that on the night of April 22, 1911, when McNamara, secretary of the union, was arrested, President Frank M. Ryan and other of the defendants were present. The witness said Ryan, on advice of his attorney, had protested against a search of the union's vaults before a warrant was procured.

Out of a vault in the basement of the office building, the witness testified, four packages containing sticks of dynamite and other articles were taken. "One package contained 12 alarm clocks," said Chief Hyland, "when they were found." These were shown to the jurors. They are said by the government to be part of those used by the dynamiters in causing bombs to explode several hours after they had been planted, as was done in blowing up the Los Angeles Times building. Chief Hyland described how, on information given by McNamara, secretly held under arrest in Chicago, he drove to a farm four miles west of Indianapolis and there in a barn found nitro-glycerine and dynamite packed in sawdust.

Trade Marks Cut Off. "Did you notice anything peculiar about dynamite found in the barn?" Chief Hyland was asked.

"Yes, I noticed that the trade mark on each stick had been cut off."

McNamara in his confession said that J. J. McNamara, becoming uneasy over the loss of life at Los Angeles and fearing they would capture James B. had cut off the trade marks with a knife.

The witness said such anxiety prevailed in Indianapolis after the discovery of the explosives that it was necessary to send them to powder company outside the city limits. Among the other exhibits shown to the jury was a suit case referred to by the government as having been especially designed to carry a 12-quart can of nitro-glycerine on passenger trains and as having been brought by H. W. Leggett of Denver, a member of the union's executive board, from Pittsburgh to Indianapolis.

IMPERIALISTS NEED NOT FEAR

Colonial Secretary Harcourt Says Old Federation Problems Are Not to Be Revived.

LONDON, Oct. 27. (C.A.P.)—Presiding at the conference of Liberals at Waterloo yesterday, Colonial Secretary Harcourt referred to the naval question and Canada's prospective co-operation in it. British taxpayers, he said, had borne ungrudgingly the whole cost and expense of maintenance of the defence of the overseas dominion during the long years of their adolescence, and now in their day of maturity and prosperity they were asked to be allowed to contribute their quota to what was a joint need and common responsibility.

The Canadian ministers and people had a natural and laudable desire for a greater measure of consultation and co-operation with the mother country in the future than they had in the past. Such a course would not be intended to, and need not, open up difficult problems of imperial federation, which had made that policy for so many years a dead issue.

FEARS TURKISH WAR MAY UNDO ENTIRELY ALL MISSIONARY WORK

Miss Claribel Platt, B.A., of the Foreign Mission Office of the Presbyterian Church, a Returned Missionary Among the Turks, Says if War Continues Disaster Will Follow to Christian Faith in Turkey.

That the outcome of the present Turkish war may be disastrous to Christian effort in the mission fields there is the fear entertained by local mission workers. The thousands of dollars and years of faithful service that have been spent in carrying the gospel into Turkey, if the war progresses in the manner in which it has been started, may prove just that much sacrifice wasted. Such are the views, at any rate, of Miss Platt, of the foreign mission office of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and recently of Narsovan, Turkey, who addressed the scholars of Bonar Church yesterday afternoon.

Miss Platt's talk to the children consisted entirely of an account of her journey as a missionary to Turkey and interesting descriptions of the heathen habits of the Turks. She did not touch upon the danger overhanging the country at present, owing, no doubt, to the fact that her audience was composed of very young scholars, although there is probably no one in the room qualified to speak on the significance of the crisis.

In an interview with The World at the close of the service she expressed her views on the matter and the grave fear that she personally holds for the welfare of the interests she identified herself with for many years.

Serious Outcome.
"It is hard to say how serious the outcome will be," said Miss Platt, "for if that war continues it will be almost sure to undo the work of the Christian missionaries in European Turkey. The Turks I learned are easily turned against Christianity when they become possessed of suspicions. The effect of the invasion of the Greeks and their Balkan allies will be to prejudice more than ever the Turkish people against the Christian faith. They will regard the attacks of these Christian nations as positively significant and a timely warning against the religion."

"Among the greatest assets of the missionaries in Turkey are the young men who have been converted and are established in the faith, with the Christian institutions. There is a strong likelihood of their being called to the active service. This will cripple the present organization and render it less able to counteract the prejudice raised by the conflict."

Miss Platt stated that her association with the Turks had made her particularly fearful on this occasion that the native acting entirely on the defensive in the war will be further than ever from an acceptance of the Christian faith. With another people this danger might not be so great, but the Turks are easily influenced against a new religion. Their hatred of the nations attacking them may set up a bar of enmity that will take generations to upset.

Intimate Knowledge.
Miss Platt is a graduate of Toronto University and a keen student of men and affairs. She was able to discuss the various features of the present struggle as one who was thoroughly conversant with all the facts. Her address before the scholars of the Sunday school was more than usually interesting because of her intimate knowledge of the Turkish people and her power of description. She spoke to more than 400 children, the largest Presbyterian Sunday school in Toronto, and one of the most active in Canada.

Rev. Dr. Alexander MacGillivray, pastor of Bonar Church, acted as chairman. The superintendent, John McClelland, also spoke briefly.

Carlisle Indians Arrive For Today's Big Rugby Game

Visitors Were Welcomed by Large Crowd of Enthusiasts—Mayor Hocken Will Throw Ball Into Play at 2.30.

Big Chief Thorpe and his brave men, in town fresh from a victory over Georgetown University at Washington on Saturday. They are all in fighting spirits and claim they can duplicate Saturday's performance this afternoon. Rugby is an expensive luxury on the coast side of the world. Carlisle, the famous coach, carries twenty-five men with him, as well as several trainers and newspaper writers from all parts of the eastern states. There was great excitement at the station as the C. P. R. train from Washington drew in with a special car attached containing the Rugby team of the United States Indian University in full regalia of the United States army. They represent a splendid type of manhood with their bronze complexions, square shoulders and great physique. James Thorpe, the captain, and the champion athlete of the world, stands over six feet and weighs one hundred and ninety pounds. He is in the pink of condition, and as all the Carlisle players will drive to the grounds before two o'clock, and as the American papers say that to see the Indians in practice is a treat in itself it will be well to be early.

The team, picked by Hugh Gall, the captain of the Old Boys, is confident they are going to take the scalp of the Redskins. They have planned the method of attack and defence, and along with the plucking of Lawson and the punting of Gall, the students can see nothing but a sure victory.

The Carlisle players will drive to the grounds before two o'clock, and as the American papers say that to see the Indians in practice is a treat in itself it will be well to be early.

MR. TYRRELL RETURNS

J. B. Tyrrell, who was appointed by the Ontario Government to survey the district of Patricia, returned here Saturday after having been two months in the wilds of the north. He reports that the newly-acquired territory is rich in minerals, and will be in the hands of the government. At this point Mr. Tyrrell, with one companion and Indian guides, went into the district to look for gold. He will soon submit his report to the government.

QUEBEC CAUSE OF BILINGUAL WOES

Le Pays Says Miserable System of Education Has Led to Obnoxious Regulations.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Le Pays, Godfrey Langlois, has an article today of a "quite a different nature" from the usual ones, in which he criticizes the bilingual policy. The article, while blaming the Ontario Government, declares that the first blame rests with the Province of Quebec.

"Fifteen years ago, with the increase of the French-Canadian population in Ontario, our compatriots gave their schools for the most part teachers without diplomas, who had little or no knowledge of English, the result being that the day arrived when every one was obliged to limit the schools to French-speaking children."

"The Province of Quebec is responsible for the greater part of our misfortune. Not being able to send us teachers with diplomas, they sent a great number of incompetent people, the result being that we were given a system of instruction equal to that in many Quebec schools, which is absolutely of no value."

"The English said to themselves, the French-Canadians do not trouble themselves about the quality of their teachers and the teaching in the bilingual schools. We will, however, see that they get instruction of the first quality."

"It is the retrograde spirit of the Province of Quebec which has brought to us the pernicious influence of today. The French-Canadians of Manitoba would never have lost their separate schools if they had made them efficient. Under their old system, consequently, we are the architects of our own misfortune. The Province of Quebec, with her teachers at $120 per annum, her young girls in short dresses, her teachers and the teaching in the bilingual schools, and who have never seen the inside of a normal school, and who control, and which makes the French-Canadian a race absolutely inferior to the English, is not of a nature to assist in the saving of the French teaching in Ontario."

"The English said to themselves, the French-Canadians do not trouble themselves about the quality of their teachers and the teaching in the bilingual schools. We will, however, see that they get instruction of the first quality."

VARSITY WINS FROM QUEENS

Toronto Students Below Championship Form, and Are Closely Pressed by Presbyterians.

Varsity did not play championship Rugby when they defeated Queens by 11 to 0 on Saturday at the stadium. They won a game that was replete with thrills, a few good runs, some excellent punting and some bad fumbling. The game was never on ice until the final quarter was nearly over. It was close throughout, and almost any minute it looked dangerous for the Blue and White. There was a strong breeze from the north for three-quarters of the time. Varsity had the advantage of this for the last game. In the last quarter the breeze subsided, a place of good luck for Varsity, for it was then the Queens' turn to play with it at their backs.

Varsity's line was not as strong as the Presbyterians', but they managed to pull out of narrow squeaks when Queens had worked the ball close to the local goal line. Queens fell down on the half-back division. Erskine, Macdonnell and Hallett did not have the speed of Cusner, Genter and Brock, and they did not pass as well, though they had the better hands. Eddie Cusner played the star game. He was generally sure in passing. He caught well, and tore loose with a few big gains. The most sensational play of the day was when Cusner carried the pigskin right up the centre of the field for a gain of fifty or sixty yards in the last quarter. Mel Brock fumbled badly, but he has the makings of a superb Rugby player. He has speed to burn. Genter kicked an excellent game. Varsity did not seem to have the same snap as of yore and their catching at times was away below par. The local squad must play a better game to win the flag.

The wind had considerable to do with the scoring. Except for two tries, one by each side, all the scoring was the result of ruses, and most of these one-point plays happened by the wind carrying the ball. Both touches were scored in the first quarter, Varsity getting first blood, Gase carrying the ball over the line from a play five yards out. Queens got their only touch thru Brock's fumble behind the line.

ARGOS DEFEAT JUNGLE KINGS 7-5

Binkley Breaks His Arm, Disette Replaces—Tigers Are Out of the Running.

HAMILTON, Oct. 26.—About 700 Rugby enthusiasts saw the Argos beat the Tigers here again by the score of 7 to 5, and today Tigerville is walling, as they needed that game to stay in the running. Tigers were rather crippled without "Red" Dixon on the back line, but Argos lost their star man, Binkley, in the second half, when he broke his arm.

The teams lined up as follows: Argos (F)—Flying wing, Newton; halves, Lawson, Binkley and O'Connor; quarter, Jarvis; scrum, Sinclair, Mulligan and Murphy; inside wings, Whale and Kinsella; middle wings, Gale and Heather; outside wings, Murray and Beaune.

Tigers (F)—Flying wing, Galloway; halves, Burton, McNelly and McKelvey; quarter, Awey; scrum, Neville, Taylor, McCann; inside wings, Macfarlane and Wilson; middle wings, Isbister and Barron; outside wings, Glasford and Thompson.

Referee—Dr. W. B. Hendrie.

First quarter: Tigers chose to defend the north half. Binkley kicked off. Punting and running plays, with loss of yards for offside plays on both teams, kept things pretty even for the first five minutes. Argos scored the ball ten yards out and backed over. Argos 6, Tigers 0.

Second quarter: Tigers chose to defend the north half. Binkley kicked off. Punting and running plays, with loss of yards for offside plays on both teams, kept things pretty even for the first five minutes. Argos scored the ball ten yards out and backed over. Argos 6, Tigers 0.

Third quarter: Up-and-down play resulted in Argos losing the ball. Argos 6, Tigers 0.

Fourth quarter: Tigers worked hard with the ball. Argos territory, but a long punt, forced Disette to route, while McNelly kicked a minute after. Argos 7, Tigers 5.

RUGBY GOSSIP

Hugh Gall will have a busy day today, leading his Paddlers against the Alerts this morning at Rosedale, and also handling the Varsity Old Boys against the Indians in the afternoon at the stadium. Captain Gall will pick his team to play Carleton on the field immediately preceding the game. He will have twenty or more old boys in uniform and is assured a strong line-up.

Manager Kennedy states that the Argonauts had a rough time of it Saturday in Hamilton, the casualties including the stars of the half-back line, O'Connor being the only man to escape. Ross Binkley suffered a compound fracture of the wrist and has a black eye. He will be out for the year. Dr. Smirle Lawson had the cartilage torn from his rib. Mr. Hendrie says the Tigers scraped unmercifully. Price will replace Binkley at Ottawa next Saturday.

Montreal was no opposition to Ottawa on Saturday, and thus Argos are left almost alone in their effort to stop the Rough Riders. They meet next Saturday at the capital, and must win at to stay in the running, unless a miracle would force Montreal to win today at Ottawa. Saturday, Nov. 2, the Rough Riders play the Ospreys at Rosedale.

In the College Union, Varsity and McGill settled, with chances even for the honors. Each has a game at Queens, where a victory for either will decide matters. Should both win or lose, a play-off will be necessary.

The O. R. F. U. lies between the Torontos and Alerts. However, there may be a surprise today, as the Parkdale Paddlers are in the pink for the game at Rosedale this morning.

ROOTS IS WINNER

Capacity Crowd See Finish of Bicycle Grind at Arena Gardens—Six Teams Raced Last Mile.

The popularity of the Arena was again attested last night when the bicycle grind finished with the big amphitheatre filled to the rafters. Every seat was taken and the spectators stood two and three deep around the top promenade, there being about 800 in the house. A double shot of New York, hero of many grueling contests, was the first to cross the line in a thrilling finish. Andy Perchout, the popular little Frenchman, was second, and was only defeated by inches after a wonderful sprint, in which representatives of the six leading teams tore off lap after lap with constantly increasing speed. The lucky position was in doubt until the last jump, and the enormous crowd literally went wild as first one and then another rider took the lead and set a heart-breaking pace. In the final three laps, Root, who had been pulled along by a sensational sprint by Grassy Ryan, went to the front, and at the Perchout overtook him. Root managed to nose him out at the finish. W. L. Mitten, Davenport, Ia., was third, and Ernie Pye, Australia, who looked like the winner, only got fourth place. Geo. Cameron, New York, was fifth, and Ryan, Newark, N.J., who was all in from setting too hot a pace, trailed the bunch at the finish.

In the preliminary contest for seventh and eighth money, Diefenbacher strung along behind Drobach until the last lap and then went out and won handsily.

During the afternoon the Gardinelli-Diefenbacher and the Drobach-Lawrence teams tried repeatedly to regain their lost lap, but every attempt was frustrated by the other riders.

After supper, when the real crowd began to come, things were quieter, and each team seemed resigned to wait for the final sprint.

The 1000 ft. Coburn and Loftus made themselves popular with the crowd by occasionally tearing off a sprint, and regaining the lost lap, as the others did not seem inclined to stop them.

At 10.15 the riders left the track and the special events were pulled off. Frank Kramer equaled the world's record for one-quarter mile, in 15.45 seconds. Elmer Collins followed the motor to the line of one mile in 1.47, while in the crowd, Stein outkicked Hunter in 2.15 and 2.35 secs. for two miles.

It was particularly noticeable that the riders in the evening were entirely devoid of accident, the riders taking no chances, but waiting for the final sprint.

Gardinelli, the Italian rider, was released from his contract after the race and was not allowed to ride at Boston. He was not satisfied, and he loaded most of the time, leaving the hard work to his same little partner, Bob.

The Big Four have bought the arena track and will run a series of events all the six-day riders will be present to take part in the professional events, champion, will ride all the local amateur and four of Buffalo's best will be present for the amateur events.

The standing of the teams at the 47th hour was as follows:

| Hour | Miles | Points |
|-----------------------------|-------|--------|
| Root and Hehr | 500 | 100 |
| Perchout and Perchout | 500 | 100 |

PARKDALE VS ALERTS THIS MORNING

Parkdale held a final workout on Saturday afternoon at Little Vio. Bank and are all ready to play the game of their lives. From the outlook at the present time it should be well worth journeying to Rosedale this morning to see them tackle the Alerts, and those who undertake the journey will be well repaid for their pains, because the Paddlers have strengthened up, in fact this is the first time they have had a full line-up since they opened the season, and the fur should fly with that aggregation of ex-Varsity men and Geo. Barber, who will hold down flying wing. It certainly is worth the price of admission to watch Hughie Gall punt the ball and make those corker runs which even the most sensational tacklers find that he is a demon to stop. Gall will also play in the afternoon, which adds considerable interest owing to the fact that very few men would attempt such a feat, especially when he has to win the morning and he is the only punter on the team, and he is the only punter on the team, and he is the only punter on the team.

The line-up: Parkdale—Flying wing, Barber; half-backs, Gall, Adams, Mack; quarter, Berchout; scrum, Carlaw, Duncan, Jimmy Bell; inside wings, Simpson, Henry; middle wings, Stinson, Rankin; outside wings, Clark, Park at Eaton's.

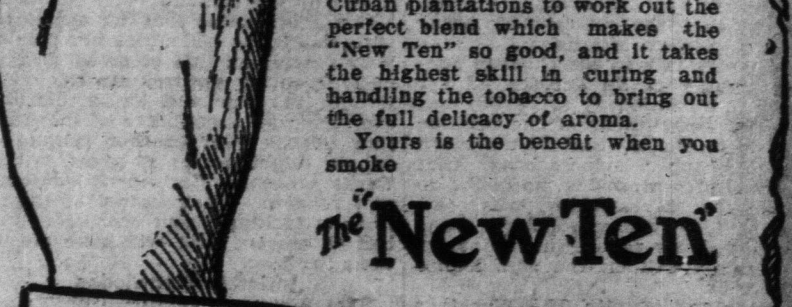

Alerts—Flying wing, Barber; half-backs, Berchout, Carlaw, Duncan, Jimmy Bell; inside wings, Simpson, Henry; middle wings, Stinson, Rankin; outside wings, Clark, Park at Eaton's.

ENGLAND BEATS GOVERN HOCKEY SCOTLAND 4-2

Before a good crowd of soccer enthusiasts, the picked players from local teams representing England defeated those of Scotland by the score of 4 to 2. In the first half Hunter of the Scots secured just after the whistle, and rushed down and scored. Play was continually being shifted from one goal to another, with the backs working desperately, especially Campbell, who saved many critical situations. Just before half-time, Rowe, for England, scored, and on a combined rush scored. Early in the second half England rushed and scored, and for the next ten minutes play was rather even, with both goalkeepers saving perfectly. After a mix-up in front of Scotland's goal, Parkin, on a second shot, scored. Scotland weakened owing to play being continually in their quarter, but a long pass by Campbell, who was playing a wonderful game, to Hunter, notched another for Scotland. England worked the ball up the wing, and finally scored, and Carter duplicated for them on a rush. Final score: England 4, Scotland 2.

The teams lined up: England (F)—Goal, Hardy; right back, Richardson; left back, Warhurst; right half-back, Teake; centre, half-back, Wright; left half-back, Nocutt; outside right wing, Carter; inside right wing, Parker; centre forward, Hopper; inside left wing, Walker; outside left wing, Rowe. Scotland (F)—Goal, McLaughlin; right back, Campbell; left back, Brownlee; right half-back, Marshall; centre half-back, Gilchrist; left half-back, McLean; outside right wing, Owens; inside right wing, McCrory; centre forward, Hunter; inside left wing, Corbett; outside left wing, Scott.

NOT THE REAL ISSUE.

If anyone besides The Toronto Globe took the tariff plank of the Baltimore platform seriously, the United States would be in the throes of a financial panic and the tariff would indeed be the "supreme issue" in the presidential campaign. The national Democracy, in convention assembled at Baltimore last June, declared all customs duties to be oppressive and unconstitutional unless levied for the sole purpose of raising the revenue necessary for the economic administration of the government. This means, if it means anything, that congress has no power to encourage manufactures by protective duties, and, implemented by Democratic success at the polls, would work an industrial revolution. But no one in the United States takes this well-worn and time-honored plank of the Baltimore platform seriously. In 1876 the Democratic national convention, held that year at St. Louis, declared in favor of a "tariff for revenue only"; this declaration was reaffirmed time after time and in 1892 the Democratic platform denounced all protection as "unconstitutional and a fraud." Yet the Democrats controlled the House of Representatives almost continuously from 1873 till 1893, they made no serious effort at tariff reduction. Even with a president of their own selection and with large majorities in both houses of congress, the Democrats contributed little to the fiscal legislation of the country beyond imposing an excise tax upon playing cards.

Hence, a free trade declaration in the Democratic platform is looked upon as mere ritual. All agree that the tariff should be revised and revised downward, but Mr. Wilson will be found as reluctant to say what duties should be reduced, and how much, as either of his opponents.

Does a high tariff make high prices? Nearly everything, except fine woollens, is cheaper in the United States than in Canada, yet the American tariff is twice as high as ours.

The issues at stake in this election are those presented by Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive party. They are very much the same issues which have been presented to the British electorate by Lloyd George. If Roosevelt is elected we may expect to find the people of the United States governing themselves in practice as well as in theory and we will find drastic control of the big corporations by governmental regulation of prices, of wages, of the hours of labor, and the like. The constitution will be recast so as to make congress supreme and the government of the United States, like that of New Zealand, will do many things that the unfortunate and the necessitous, which are now left to chance or charity.

In short, the issue in the presidential campaign is the issue of human conservatism, the assertion of human rights over property rights, the ideals of health and happiness as opposed to the ambition for national wealth—"The man above the dollar."

The Globe is against Roosevelt in the United States as it would be against Lloyd George were he in Canada. Hence, we are told that "The tariff is the supreme issue." There is no issue of any kind between the two old parties in the United States and there has been none since the free silver campaign of 1896. The only live issues in the present campaign are those presented by Roosevelt and the Progressive party.

WELL DONE, BRANTFORD.

Brantford has served herself well in voting for hydro-electric power, and Brantford has served her sister municipalities well in joining the league to cheapen power and light to the citizens of Ontario. The contest is between the welfare of the many and the favored interests of the few. Self-interest so frequently distorts a man's views that it is difficult for a shareholder in a company to realize that the payment of his dividends depends on the inconvenience of and the extortionate demands made upon large numbers of his fellow citizens. He may have no scruples about it if he be brought up to believe that right is might, and there is much to be excused in the ignorance of our capitalist friends in this connection. "The devil take the hindmost," is their medieval motto. The greatest good of the greatest number demands some compromise in the matter of dividends and the principle involved in the hydro-electric system is one that is admirable in every way, as it institutes by competition an automatic check on the subtle rapacity of the corporations, while it leaves them at the same time an ample field of activity.

The adoption of the system by Brantford will probably have the immediate effect of bringing about a reduction in the rates charged by the Western Counties Co. As in Toronto, no doubt strenuous efforts will be made to retain the patronage of citizens. The success of the hydro depends on the extent to which the citizens support it. The more they support it, the cheaper will their rates be. No reduction can be expected from the corporations on account of increased consumption. Citizens must judge for themselves in such circumstances. There is no constraint but that of self-interest, and most will no doubt decide to patronize their own system.

In congratulating Brantford we must not forget to mention the hearty cooperation of The Courier with the citizens who worked for the bylaw. The Expositor, the Liberal organ, was a striking contrast on the losing side. And The Globe must feel like a barrel of frozen potatoes when it reflects on the support it might have rendered the by-law and didn't.

ANGLO-GERMAN AMITY.

In the assurance given by Dr. Gustave Stresemann at the luncheon given him by the Toronto Board of Trade and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, that the people of Germany, and more especially the commercial and business men of Germany had their faces set against war with Britain, there is the most welcome testimony that could be had to the friendship of the great Teutonic nation for her Anglo-Saxon cousins. An alliance between the three great Teutonic powers, Germany, the United States and the British Empire, would secure the peace of the world. The alliance need not be formal as long as the good sense and good feeling of the people prevail. "We all know the Kaiser, and you can get to know his friend of peace," Dr. Stresemann declared, and his twenty-four years' reign, in which he has kept the European concord intact so far as his influence and his control could extend, proves the emperor to be a man of the olive branch. The strained relations between himself and the crown prince are known to be due to the somewhat bellicose tendencies of the latter.

With peace, and not war as their object, Germany and Canada can find much in common along the pacific courses which commerce and industry are eager to suggest, and no doubt Dr. Stresemann's visit and his reception by the local trade organizations will tend to knit the two countries in closer relations.

STREET RAILWAYS FOR THE PEOPLE

At the eleventh annual conference of the Municipal Tramways (street railways) Association of the United Kingdom, held in the end of September at West Ham, a county borough of Greater London, several very interesting questions were discussed. West Ham has had for eight years a municipal car system, which during that brief period has earned $1,500,000 of gross profits and $400,000 of net profits. Upwards of $175,000 has been voted in relief of rates, the special reserve and renewal fund stands at $205,000 and the sinking fund at $285,000, according to the figures quoted by The Municipal Journal. In addition, the undertaking has paid over $270,000 towards the cost of street improvements. West Ham has also a large electricity undertaking, four public libraries, a technical institute, library and museum and many other institutions. It also manufactures artificial stone for street paving and conducts various other public enterprises.

Particularly illuminating were the remarks about the aims and objects of municipal undertakings. The speakers, all connected either as members of council committees or as officials with public street railway systems, were all concerned not about dividends to shareholders, but about meeting the people's need for cheap and good transportation. Thus Mr. Dalrymple, the manager of the Glasgow street railways, said the policy in that city had been to give the largest possible ride for the lowest possible fare and from time to time fares had been reduced. Last December, as The World noticed at the time, the one cent distance was increased from half a mile to considerably over one mile. Since the change, the street railways were carrying nearly a million extra passengers a week, and the income had slightly decreased. Mr. Dalrymple believed that in a short time the extra passengers would make up the loss.

Until a recent date, the two cent fare was believed to be the sheet anchor of British street railway finance. Mr. McCombe, manager of the city street railways of Hull, in the course of an address on street railway fares and their basis referred incidentally to the five cent uniform fare, a feature of the content, with the right of transfer attached to it, which, he observed, was not generally looked on with favor in the United Kingdom, the reason being possibly that as a uniform fare it was much too high. With this estimate Toronto folk will probably agree, since there is no reason to doubt that the street railway system of this city could be run profitably and efficiently on, at most, a three cent basis. Some systems in Britain indeed have a uniform fare of two cents, and Mr. McCombe remarked, it may be said that their financial results are not inferior to those of any other street railway. There is real enlightenment in the salient fact that this British conference busied itself with the public interest and not with schemes to increase profits for outside shareholders.

SIMILAR STREET NAMES.

In the changing of street names will the officials in charge of the matter any why, such an anomaly as Howland avenue, running north from Bloor west, and Howland road, running north from Gerrard street east, is perpetuated? It is had enough to have two similar names close together in the same locality, but to place them miles apart is a cause of suffering and annoyance to a large number of citizens and visitors.

GERMAN PREPARATION.

In a recent editorial, The Wall Street Journal comments on the accumulation of gold and silver in Germany, which, it says, has now reached a point that demands attention. On Sept. 22, the Reichsbank held $28,000,000 gold, and the local banks about $15,000,000, besides the war chest of the empire, believed to have been increased to approximately $50,000,000. The banks in addition held $34,000,000 in silver, and the local treasuries about $18,000,000 in both gold and silver.

After making certain reductions, The Journal holds that the general metallic circulation in Germany at the present time, exclusive of bank deposits and war chest, cannot be reasonably estimated at less than $500,000,000, giving a general result of $900,000,000 and adds: "In a country so closely governed as Germany, where every social and commercial movement is watched, it is not indeed surprising that these accumulations of specie in general circulation must have some significance. What does it mean? Germany believes with Hermit that 'the readiness is all.' The further interesting question is—What for?"

MUSKOKA'S GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

Editor World: Mr. Galbraith's unique scheme of licensing the drinker is one which should appeal to every thinking man.

The more I think and consider it the more I am infatuated with it as the best means of dealing with the liquor traffic. The province has, in fact, the drinker, and youth is protected by parental influence against the first glass. Where could a young man in the present competitive industrial age afford to take out a license to drink and let his employer know it? It seems to me that Muskoka has a golden opportunity to advertise itself by nominating and electing Mr. Galbraith as the first advocate of licensing the drinker.

Muskoka could then boast of electing the strongest drinker in the world on the new principle of licensing the drinker. This would be a great advertisement and it would certainly advertise Muskoka all over the world. Muskoka should not miss this opportunity. The election of Mr. Galbraith could not motivateally affect his position as a Conservative majority, and as an advanced thinker, as he is, would be an acquisition to the Ontario Legislature.

Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, was cross-examined by Senator J. W. Kern for the defence. Mr. Drew said the members of the association, in maintaining the "open shop" policy, always paid wages equal to those demanded by the union, and at the time of the explosion at Duluth, Minn., wages ten cents an hour higher than the union were being paid.

Senator Kern asked the witness whether Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, had not conferred with Theodore Roosevelt, then president, in an effort to settle the ironworkers' strike. Mr. Drew said he never heard Mr. Roosevelt's name mentioned, and the strike never has been settled.

Judge Anderson interposed, saying attorneys might show there was a conference, but must not enter into its merits. The government offered testimony about the strike as tending to show that a motive existed for the dynamite explosions.

FIGHT AGAINST WHITE PLAGUE

First of December Has Been Set Apart as Tuberculosis Sunday in Ontario.

Yesterday was observed as Tuberculosis Sunday throughout the United States, and in over 50,000 pulpits sermons were preached, in which the work of fighting the white plague was reviewed, practical instructions given as to home treatment, and warnings issued against the numerous fraudulent cures advertised for consumption.

The proposal to devote Sunday to this purpose received the endorsement of President Taft, Ex-President Roosevelt, and scores of prominent church dignitaries of both the Protestant and Roman Catholic faiths. The leaders of the fight against consumption in Ontario, impressed with the possibilities of Tuberculosis Sunday, decided to follow the lead set by the republic, and their proposal has been met with an encouraging reception.

The International Ministerial Association of Toronto on Monday last decided upon Sunday, Dec. 1, as the day upon which the clergymen of the city would be asked to deal with the subject of tuberculosis. A general appeal has been issued to the prelates of the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches, the heads of the other denominations, and the rank and file of the clergy throughout Ontario to have Tuberculosis Sunday, that determined all over the province, and judging by the replies already received by the office of Notification, that determination, the proposal will be endorsed almost unanimously.

"Open Shop" Firms Paid Higher Wages

Walter Drew, Counsel for Erectors' Association, Says That Employers Paid Wages Ten Cents Higher Than Specified by Jury.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—Letters written by the defendants to John J. McNamara, about the time the explosions occurred, were identified by Miss Irene Hermann, former stenographer for McNamara, at the "dynamic conspiracy" trial today.

The letters were written to McNamara when he was secretary of an International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. Many of these exhibits were signed by Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and they concern the government charges, explosions on the Pacific coast.

Only a few more identification witnesses are to be called. Then the letters are to be read in connection with testimony about particular explosions.

Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, was cross-examined by Senator J. W. Kern for the defence. REAL ESTATE NEWS

Dinnicks Buy Yonge St.
Property Below Wilton
At More Than $3000 a Foot

The northward tendency on Yonge street, which is leading at least a half dozen merchants around King street to secure themselves north of Shuter st., is again shown in the purchase of the land and buildings at 257 to 273 Yonge street, at what is said to be $3000 a foot.

The property was purchased from Mrs. Mary Jarrett, a beneficiary under the will of the late Charles E. Buga, by A. G. C. Dinnick and his brother, W. S. Dinnick. The deal was engineered by J. Lewis Burdett, 84 Victoria st. There is a frontage on Yonge st. of 67 feet by a depth of 120 feet. The two and a half story building on the plot was not counted in the sale price, the actual amount of which the broker refuses to divulge.

The occupants of the stores are all on monthly tenancies and are: No. 257, James Bouner, gent's furnisher; 267, William Bouner, liquor dealer; 271, Geo. McKee, tailor; 273, Canada Mailable Iron and Steel Co.

The land is situated on the east side of Yonge street, between Shuter and Wilton, and was owned by the late C. E. Buga for forty years. This is the second property of the Buga estate to be sold, the city buying a parcel on Elizabeth street for the new registry office.

Residents Oppose the House Scheme

Petitions asking the city council not to sanction the diversion of Bain and Sparkhall avenues, where they run thru the property that the Toronto Housing Company has laid out for its model housing scheme, are being signed up in Riverdale. The petition largely concerns the people who bought property from the city on Albemarle street believing that it would in a short time have a frontage on Sparkhall avenue as well. The housing scheme precludes double frontage possibilities, as Sparkhall avenue cannot be widened under the housing project. The residents are ready to assist the planning by the giving of land.

Another clause of the petition brings out the need for straight thru streets in this district, something which the proposed diversion in the housing company's property would prevent. The sharp curves, the petition says, would be very dangerous as they would be in a steep grade. Sewers, roadways and other improvements were installed in the assumption that the two streets affected would be run thru.

A reference is made to the fact that the city sold lands in the vicinity with a high restriction as to the value of the brick buildings to be erected, and comparison is made with the stucco houses that the housing company will construct.

If the city council takes the petitioners seriously it will mean the setting back of the scheme for many months, and possibly with the streets running thru the property as when they were first laid out the company might find it difficult to work out a proposition that would make it worth while proceeding with the work.

Chicago Fit Devoid of Feature at Week-End, But Ends at Small Advance — European Markets Higher — Sharp Decline in Provisions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Unrestedness that Turkey as a war measure might close the Dardanelles forced the wheat market higher today. Although the final tone was easy, latest figures were 1-4 to 1-4 above last night. The outcome in corn was unchanged to 1-4 to 1-4 higher, and for oats 1-4 off to a shade advance. Provisions finished at a decline of 2-10 to 2-10.

Success by the Balkan allies led wheat speculators to magnifying about the Dardanelles. The Paris market was said to be excited as to the effect on supplies if there was a stoppage of shipments from the Black Sea. Conditions in Australia and India owing to lack of rain. In addition, doubt had been cast on Dutch cargoes passing inspection under Anglo rules.

Nervous buying that began at the outset lasted throughout most of the day. Profit-taking and week-end evening up eased prices during the last hour.

Corn proved inactive. What strength there was came from wheat. Predictions are for a liberal run of receipts next week.

Owing to the rapid rate at which oats are going into consumption, that grain suffered no material set-back, despite absence of export demand.

Provisions sagged on weakness in the hog market.

WALL STREET COMMENT.

Ericksen Perkins & Co. wired: Stocks rallied in a reassuring way today. Reading led. It will be ex-dividend 1-2 on Tuesday and it looked as if the shorts were covering up today. Steel's strength was attributed to expectations that the quarterly report, to be issued after the close on Tuesday, will be better than is expected. On the whole the market acted in a conservative way and there was no effort to bid prices up rapidly. Facing unexpected developments in the Balkans and Sunday we think stocks should be deemed work higher up to Tuesday or Wednesday. Buy on all drives, gains and the improvement was probably continuing for the balance of the morning. The bank system showed a gain in cash of $16,200,000, and in reserve of $5,284,000, above what was expected. We rather anticipated further improvement in market conditions Monday.
