

BUDGET DEBATE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

F. B. Carvell Shows a Change of Front on Tariff Question.

BLUSTERS NOW FOR VERY LOW TARIFF

Dr. Edwards, Replying, Shows Carleton County Member has been Most Inconsistent—Finance Minister Aply Answers to Critics.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, May 22.—The budget debate came to an end in the Commons this evening with the reply of Hon. W. T. White to the criticisms of Liberal members raised during the last two days. He admitted that the present tariff, which was adopted under Liberal rule in 1907, contained many anomalies which should be removed. But he reiterated his declaration that tariff revisions should be made only at stated intervals and that then they should be general revisions. He commented upon the fact that the opposition had in general terms accused the ministry of extravagance but had avoided criticism of any specific items of expenditure. He also expressed the opinion that under the present tariff, the cost of living in Canada had produced a world wide cost of living and that the phenomenon in Canada was not due solely to the Canadian tariff.

F. B. Carvell of Carleton, N. B., found himself able to sing the old low tariff songs which for fifteen years he could not sing. He called justly for tariff reductions to send the farmers higher prices and to the consumers cheaper food stuffs. He spoke at both morning and afternoon sessions and occupied about three and a half hours.

Hon. Frank Oliver took the safer course of explaining "We are not asking for free trade, but for freer trade and lower duties."

A feature of the day's debate was the vigorous manner in which Dr. Edwards of Frontenac replied to Mr. Carvell, the arch-blusterer of the house. Some time was spent in committee ways and means and changes proposed by the Finance Minister.

The house then resumed the consideration of the Bank Act. The charge that the Canadian Pacific Railway was importing Russian laborers under contract and transporting them under armed guard was brought to the attention of the house at the morning sitting by W. E. Knowles of Moose Jaw. The charge was made by the Trades and Labor Council of Moose Jaw, the allegation being that only in April the C. P. R. took through the district of Boharn a trainload of Russian laborers in locked cars, under guard by armed men in uniform, that the men were improperly fed and refused their liberty and attempted to escape by jumping from the moving train, some of them being injured, that the guards fired upon them, that seventeen died, and that the facts were admitted by the C. P. R.

Premier Borden replied to Mr. Knowles that he had not investigated the case before but would investigate it. F. B. Carvell of Carleton, N. B., who said that in the first place he could not comment on the paying off of the national debt, if it meant injuring the people. At the same time, he announced that the Conservatives intended to eat up the surplus as fast as they could and not to pay off the debt.

He said that the expenditure of ten millions on the militia was downright robbery. He did not believe that the two million dollars of the appropriation went to the men; the bulk of the vote went to the "dukes and warlords now running the militia." (Laughter) Dealing with the argument that a protective duty on agricultural implements was necessary to offset the duty on raw materials; Mr. Carvell said the duty did not amount to more than $2 per ton, and there was not a machine that weighed half a ton. Of course," he added, "they do pay also a few cents to cover up the defects." (Laughter).

Strong for Free Trade.

"Who made the tariff?" asked Col Currie. "Why we did," Mr. Carvell replied, "and I'm finding fault with it. What may have been necessary five years ago is not necessary today. When we have a big surplus it is not necessary to tax the people to that extent."

"Reduce the duty and put the people in a better position to buy and they will buy more," concluded Mr. Carvell. "It will be better also for the manufacturers themselves, and more honest than acting as they do now as highway robbers so far as the laboring man is concerned."

Mr. Carvell pointed out that con-

ARCHITECT PLANS WILL NOT TAKE RESPONSIBILITY

For Possible Damage by Montreal's New Filtration Plant—Says Designs and Plans Do Not Ensure Safety.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, May 22.—Charging that the designs and plans of Montreal's big filtration plant, being built at Verdun, are not such as to ensure the safety and permanency of the structure, Mr. Norman McLeod, the contractor, is, this afternoon serving a protest on the city.

Mr. McLeod declares that in proceeding with the work according to the designs, plans and specifications furnished by the city and its engineers, he does so under express repudiation of any liability for any failure of the structure in whole or in part, or lack of efficiency of the same when completed, due to defects in the design or plans, and holds the city liable for any damage which may be suffered or sustained by him by reason of such defects in the design or plans.

Conditions were different in 1913 as compared with 1907 and what was good in the earlier year was not necessarily good now in the way of tariff policy. He alluded with pride to British preference, which he said was the best of the most of Canada in the reduction of the cost of living. The Liberals had rested content with that, but had decided to go further when they were driven from power. "But I do not regret that," said Mr. Carvell, "I would rather be in opposition on a principle of reducing the cost of living to the people than be in power taxing them more than is necessary."

Mr. Carvell was in the middle of his speech when the house rose at one o'clock.

A Play for the Farmers.

Mr. Carvell resumed his speech in the afternoon by referring to the reduction of duty on farming machinery. Last year such machinery, including traction engines, represented the value of $13,028,327, with wagons at $772,025, and gasoline engines $2,864,692, a total of $16,665,044, which $3,372,000 had been paid in duty. That meant that farmers were paying one fifth more than they ought for their machinery. Referring to engines and automobiles, Mr. Carvell claimed that they should be on the free list as automobiles were cheaper in the United States than in Canada. His attention was called to the fact that the duty on automobiles was much higher in the States than in Canada but he failed to see the point.

After a further attack on the tariff committee that the Fielding duty of 12 1/2 per cent on farm implements had been reduced to 10 per cent, he made a plain motion in regard to a single clause of the tariff, made in committee, to reduce the duty on eggs and butter when he was reminded of his promise to say what he would do.

Abuse But Not Argument.

"The first thing I would do," said Mr. Carvell, answering Mr. Thoburn, the woolen manufacturing member of Selkirk, "would be to give you one half duty on cheviot wool." He next declared that he would make every item of foodstuff imported from the United States free. He would increase British preference but not at the cost of Canada's life blood. Mr. Bonar Law and the Unionist party of England had been obliged to relinquish the scheme for taxing the people's food in order to give preference to colonial products.

Mr. Carvell further said he would increase the duty on wool to that of a one-horse woolen mill with antiquated machinery so that he would have to put in new machinery and do business on sound business principles or go out of it altogether.

As to the question how much to reduce these duties I don't know," admitted Mr. Carvell, "that is the duty of the minister."

He went on to ridicule the modifications in tariff especially on sugar, saying that the West Indian trade treaty was a runaway team turned upon the free list for the next ten years. Canada, he declared, was the civilized country to tolerate high protection.

Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, the free trader, put several questions to Mr. Carvell to make clear some points in his speech, but the member for Carleton did not accept this invitation and continued his discourse.

Carvell Roundly Scolded.

Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, congratulated the Finance Minister upon the excellence of his budget speech, which was such, he said, as to render serious criticism impossible from the opposite side. As was to be expected, however, Mr. Carvell in his remarks upon the condition of the woolen industry had made a personal attack

NOW SEEMS SURE THAT LIBERAL SENATE WILL KILL "NAVY AID BILL"

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Ont., May 22.—The Laurier agents in the Senate are encountering difficulties. The group of Ontario Liberals who, from the first, have been disposed to stand up against the slaughter of the Navy Bill are threatening to revolt. They do not relish the responsibility which has been thrust upon them by the Laurier emissaries. They do not like the activity of the Nationalist allies of those who sought to kill the bill in the House of Commons and are now determined that actual aid should be done to death in the Senate.

The presence of Armand Laverne feat.

In the lobbies of the House, the increasing activity and prominence of the Dandurand wing in the Senate have made the task of the Ontario Liberals a difficult one.

The result of the threatened revolt has been the postponement of the debate on the Naval Bill till next week. The Senate will talk for several days while the Laurier whip gets after the men who are threatening trouble. It looks as if the Laurier Laverne efforts would in the end be successful. The Ontario Liberals seem likely to do as they are told and the Naval Bill is up against defeat.

SCIENTIST STARTS TO JOIN STEFANSSON

Dr. Anderson, Zoologist, Leaves New York for Victoria—Will Spend Brief Time in Ottawa.

New York, May 22.—Dr. R. M. Anderson, zoologist and second in command on the Stefansson Arctic expedition, left here today for Victoria, B. C., to join the party gathering for the northward voyage next month. He went by way of Ottawa for a brief stop at the capital of the Dominion, where government is financing the expedition.

Mrs. Anderson accompanied the scientist, and will travel with the expedition as far as Alaska. Stefansson is buying himself with final preparations for departure and will leave in three or three days for the Pacific coast.

Mr. Thoburn, when whom," added Dr. Edwards, "no more respectable than the man who has a house," and when reproved for it the member for Carleton had answered, "Well I stand for that," said Dr. Edwards, "was characteristic of Mr. Carvell, as was his talk of highway robbery" and the like. Mr. Carvell was heard to say his generosity either in the house or out of it. The hon. member's largeness of heart will never rapidly evaporate.

Carvell's Inconsistency.

Dr. Edwards went on to say that Mr. Carvell had declared he had never had a chance to ask for a reduction of duties on farm machinery on its merits, but that he had taken part in a mixed up with motions of non-confidence in the government.

The record showed that in April, 1907, Mr. Carvell had moved in committee that the Fielding duty of 12 1/2 per cent on farm implements be reduced to 10 per cent, and that a plain motion in regard to a single clause of the tariff, made in committee, to reduce the duty on eggs and butter when he was reminded of his promise to say what he would do.

Mr. Carvell had voted against it. When the Fielding duty was reduced to 12 1/2 per cent in the duties on farm implements it made up for the reduction of the duty on eggs and butter. The farmers had seen through the device and would no longer be fooled in that way.

The member for Frontenac recalled the sneer of Mr. Carvell at Conservative lives who wrapped themselves in the Union Jack. "I, as one British subject," declared Dr. Edwards, "am not ashamed to wrap the Union Jack around me at any time or place. It becomes a matter to sneer or jeer whenever the British flag is mentioned." (Hear, hear).

Hon. Frank Oliver said that the Senate had not killed the government's bill to establish a tariff commission. (Laughter). It had merely amended the measure to require that any interest asking an increase in protective duties should show its profits and give its reasons. The Edmonton member said that the budget was satisfactory in so far as it disclosed the prosperity of the country. When there was stringency in the money market, a high cost of living, and a lack of individual prosperity, aid by side with the property of the treasury, the Finance Minister should make some enquiry.

Finance Minister's Reply.

Hon. Mr. White said at the outset it was the orthodox position of the opposition to make the charge of extravagance against the government. There had not, however, been any exception taken to particular items in this regard and the junior member for Halifax had not objected to what was proposed for Halifax in the way of terminals.

In regard to Mr. MacLennan's ideas on reduction of taxation, Hon. Mr. White pointed out that Canada was a low tariff country. "We have a large and comprehensive program before us," he said, "and it seems to me that to attempt to reduce taxation to any extent, in any way, would do us more harm than good."

Highway Bill Strangled By Same Methods As Last Year.

SENATOR DOMVILLE BOLTS ON VOTE

Liberals Amend Bill to Have Money Spent as per Population of Provinces—Sir George Ross Usurps Functions of Government Leader.

Special to The Standard.

The Senate Liberals today carried out part of the programme set for them by their friends in the lower House. They strangled the Highway Bill. The method adopted was the same as was employed successfully last session. The measure was amended to provide that the appropriations must be spent according to population.

Senator Domville bolted when the votes were taken. There was considerable discussion on the constitutional question as to the right of the Senate to amend such a bill at all, being in a sense, a money bill.

Senator Baird, the chairman in committee, ruled against an amendment, but was promptly overruled by the Liberal majority. Finally, when Senator Loughheed refused to move the third reading of the bill as amended, Sir George Ross took upon himself the responsibility of government leader and moved the third reading. His right to do this was immediately attacked on a question of order, and Speaker Lantry will decide the point tomorrow.

Ottawa, Ont., May 22.—The Senate spent today with the government's bill for the improvement of highways. In the morning, after a long discussion, it gave the bill second reading. In the afternoon it took the measure up in committee and proposed an amendment along the lines of that which offered last year, providing for the distribution of highway aid money among the provinces, according to their population.

In the evening the amendment was adopted and it will be for the government now to say whether it will accept the amendment or drop the bill as it did last year.

Senator Bostock asked a series of questions concerning the Rainbow and was given answers by the government leader, Mr. Loughheed. He inquired: "Are the instructions given to abandon the Rainbow as an active unit on the Pacific coast?"

The reply was "No." The same answer covered the question, "Are the men to be paid out of the Rainbow?" He inquired: "Are the guns to be removed from the ship? Are the guns to be dismantled? Is it the intention of the government to sell the Rainbow?"

The bill amending the railway act by increasing the salary of the chief of the railway commission and providing compensation where railway terminals are moved was slightly amended in committee by Hon. Mr. Loughheed. The bill was put through committee.

The bill amending the Conservation Act and the bill creating the national gallery of Canada were put through committee and given third reading.

The Highways Bill.

In committee on the highways bill, Sir George Ross said the senate had not rejected the bill but had amended it only Senator Daniel had hardly quoted sufficiently to be altogether fair. Sir George said he had not stated that this bill would be used for corrupt purposes. However, as presented to the senate, it seemed capable of being so used and the government should thank the senate for amending it so as to remove temptation from its way. Sir George said that the Liberals in the senate did not blindly follow their party. He himself, when the late government was in power, had moved the rejection of a government bill for co-operative banks fathered by Hon. Mr. Lemieux and that bill had been rejected by the senate. The opposition in the senate would not act in a partisan way in making a proper amendment to this highways bill.

Senator Kerr offered as an amendment to the Highways Bill a subsection providing that "The sum of money voted in any year to be expended under this act shall be apportioned among the several provinces of the Dominion in proportion to the population of such provinces respectively as shown by the preceding census."

He said that this was practically the same amendment which had been made by the Senate last year, and which the government had failed to accept, although it admitted then, as it did now, that the principle was a proper one.

AUSTRALIAN MEAT MARKET IN THE U. S.

San Francisco Gets Large Shipment of Antipodean Meats—Can Be Sold Lower Than Native Product.

Special to The Standard.

San Francisco, Calif., May 22.—One hundred and ninety-two thousand pounds of meat, veal, beef and mutton arrived at this port today on the steamer Sonoma from Australia. This is the third shipment of meat received from the Antipodes in the campaign to combat the high prices asked by local wholesalers. The meat is consigned direct to retailers, George F. Richards, who represents the Australian shippers, was a passenger on the Sonoma. He comes to this country to investigate the facilities for storing frozen meats on this coast and also will go to Chicago.

In speaking of the shipment of meats to this country, Mr. Richards said: "We are prepared to ship all kinds of meat from Australia to the United States and an unlimited amount of butter just as soon as we find it can be cared for. We can place Australian meat and butter on this market at present transportation rates so that it will sell at a good profit, at a considerably lower figure than the prevailing rates."

Among in lowest protest coming now are those from mutual insurance companies, conducted for profit, but the house amended the original bill as relating to insurance companies and insurance policies and the senators on the finance committee after a study of the bill, believe that it is sound.

Complaints from railroads and other holding companies that the law will tax them twice on dividends paid, are reported to have been held unavailing by members of the committee. The revision of the tariff on raw ivory proposed in the Underwood bill before the Johnson sub-committee disclosed an unusual situation. Representatives of cotton exporters in protesting against the proposed twenty-five per cent duty on tusks, declared it would break up their barter trade in cotton with African tusk dealers. For several years they have been shipping thousands of dollars worth of cotton to the African traders and bringing back in payment thereof ivory tusks which they in turn sold to piano manufacturers. It was claimed that with a duty on ivory Italian cotton traders would get this business.

MINERS IN COBALT WILL VOTE ON STRIKE

Cobalt, Ont., May 22.—The Cobalt branch of the Western Federation of Miners on Sunday next will ballot on the question as to whether a strike shall be called.

The proposal to take the ballot was twice voted down, but was eventually carried. Of the thousand men in the union, the great majority are opposed to a strike. The strike is being strongly agitated by the Socialist wing of the party, who are urging the men to cease work out of sympathy for the Porcupine strikers.

The statement that when the eight-hour bill comes into operation there will be no increase in wages, positive assurance is given by mine managers employing seventy-five per cent of the men that no reduction will be made under the next act. On January 1st next the men will have a shorter working day by two hours than they have hitherto had and without a sacrifice in wages. The oldest members of the union are very much averse to a strike but since the decision to take a ballot the socialists have been busy enrolling every new arrival in camp.

FARMER MAKES CLAIM FOR LARGE ESTATE

London, Ont., May 22.—James Plaskett, of London township, a wealthy farmer, is proceeding through his solicitors, Messrs. McPherson and Perrin, to obtain possession of certain lands near London, England, which he is firmly convinced he can establish his hereditary right to.

The lands are twenty-four miles from London, England, and for some years have been leased to Lord Alton. The estimated value of the estate exceeds $365,000, and the annual revenue is about $75,000. In addition to this there is a cash fund of more than $50,000.

Peculiar Situation Arises Out of Proposed Change of Tax on Raw Ivory—Cotton Exporters Claim it will Mean Death of Boston Trade

Special to The Standard.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—No amendment to the income tax section of the Underwood tariff bill is likely to be proposed by the Senate Finance Committee or Democratic caucus according to leaders who have considered that part of the bill in hand. Senators Williams, Shively and Gore have the income tax in hand. Though their room is piled high with protests and suggestions from many sources, the measure is believed to have been well handled in the house and the objections made to it in its original form are thought to have been sufficiently met in amendments before the bill passed the house.

TWO MEN CLINGING TO VESSEL'S HULL

Unidentified Sailing Vessel Wrecked Far from Oregon Shore—Several of Crew May Have Drowned.

Marshfield, Oregon, May 22.—An unidentified sailing vessel lies a wreck off the mouth of the Rogue river. It was reported late today that two men were clinging to the capsized hull, which is a mile and a half from shore, but the fate of the rest of the crew is not known. After the receipt of this news the telephone line between Marshfield, Oregon and the scene of the wreck, sixty-five miles distant, became disabled, and no further news is expected until the return of Capt. Johnsen and the Bandon life saving crew.

BASEBALL SEASON IN FTON OPENS TODAY

Capital team Home from Bangor and Ready to Put up Good Article—Mayor Hooper Will Pitch First Ball.

Special to The Standard.

Frederick, May 22.—The New Brunswick and Maine Baseball League opening, as far as Frederick is concerned, is slated to take place at Seely's Grove tomorrow afternoon with the pitcher for Frederick, Gansley's Pets. The pitcher for Frederick probably will be Gerrard, with Ingalls ready for emergency.

The home team arrived tonight from Bangor with the players in good trim. Manager Gansley is making no pretenses, but thinks the team will give a good account of itself tomorrow. The only doubtful feature of opening is the weather. Rain fell here all day and the prospects for Friday are not bright. Arrangements have been made for Mayor W. S. Hooper, league president, to pitch the first ball.

Bands will parade to ball grounds weather permitting.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT

Vancouver, B. C., May 22.—John Whitty, deputy shipyard master here, for the Dominion government, was killed in a runaway accident this afternoon. He was passing Cable street as a runaway team turned that corner to Hastings street, receiving injuries from which he died before the ambulance reached the hospital. Deceased was sixty years of age and a long resident of Vancouver.

OBEDIENT SENATORS BOW

TO WILL OF SIR WILFRID

No Local Undertaking.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed said that there appeared to be a great misconception in the minds of gentlemen opposite as to the scope and purpose of this bill. He declared that a great constitutional wrong was being done by the provinces in the Senate by this bill, and that an indignity had been put upon the Senate last year by the failure of the Commons to attach the importance to Senate amendments which some gentlemen in the Senate thought should have been attached to it.

It was an inter-provincial and a national undertaking and therefore did not come under Senator Dandurand's interpretation of the B. N. A. Act that roads were the exclusive affair of the provinces. The B. N. A. Act assigned to federal authority railways and other works and undertakings connecting provinces or extending beyond the limits of a province.

IN THE COURTS

IN CHAMBERS.

Before Judge Forbes in Chambers yesterday the settlement suit of the Sterling Realty Limited vs. Paul Levi was tried. The house in question is situated at No. 208 Duke street, West End. The defence claimed that after notice to quit had been served on him the plaintiff had made a verbal lease for one year. This the plaintiff denied. J. W. Morrison, agent for the plaintiff, testified, and for the defence his wife and two daughters gave evidence. His Honor gave judgment for the plaintiff, and Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., for the defendant.

IN CHANCERY.

Argument in the suit of Francis Kerr vs. Canard was presented before Mr. Justice McLeod in Chancery yesterday afternoon. Judgment was reserved. James King Kelly, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and R. G. Murray for the defendant. In the case of W. H. McBeath vs. Harry B. Clark and James, before Mr. Justice McLeod yesterday morning, Ronald A. McAvily, examined by C. that in his opinion the damage done to the drill for the recovery of which the suit was brought, by long storage was about $500. His Honor fixed the damages at $400, the amount asked by the plaintiff.

COUNTY COURT.

The case of the King vs. Wm. Morrison, charged with stealing or having in his possession wrongfully a bicycle, was tried before Judge Forbes under the Speedy Trial Act. The evidence showed that Morrison, while intoxicated, took possession of one of the C. P. F. messenger boys' bicycles and after walking about a block with it, was arrested. As he has a wife and family and bore a good reputation, His Honor suspended sentence and told him to return to his ship.

MUTT AND JEFF

A DECIDED HIT

Musical Comedy, Founded on Bud Fisher's Cartoon Creations, Greatly Enjoyed in Opera House.

Mutt and Jeff, a musical comedy designed to create laughs, was presented in the Opera House last evening before an audience that taxed the seating capacity of the house and the reception accorded the two heroes of Bud Fisher and the cartoonists was of a very enthusiastic nature.

While Mutt and Jeff represent the spirit of the performance, and are the life of the show, the comedy has a sort of plot, which revolves round a struggle for the possession of the land where grows the chewing gum tree and is an athlete in his own small way.

A party of clergymen attended the show and though they came late to get seats, they evidently enjoyed the performance as they stayed to the close. One of them when seen afterwards said it was their habit to occasionally attend a performance in order to see what kind of amusement the people enjoyed. Asked what he thought of the show, he said: "The vaudeville features were very respectable, and the jokes and antics of Mutt and Jeff—Well, I thought they were uproariously funny."

Mutt and Jeff will give two performances in the Opera House today and tomorrow and judging by the amount of enjoyment they provided last evening, the house will be crowded at each performance.

Beatrice Doane, as Senorita Rosna, daughter of the Nicaraguan president, was heard to great advantage in a song called "The Spanish Moon," and danced with considerable grace a stately Spanish dance, assisted by a chorus in Spanish costumes. Cecil Mayis, as Dorothy Meade, the daughter of a Chicago millionaire, sang a number of songs, which were well received, and Hazel Tupper, as Jessa, the maid, sang and danced her way into the hearts of the audience.

In the course of the performance Jeff, the diminutive, gave an acrobatic exhibition of a very clever kind, which showed that in spite of his stature he is possessed of considerable strength and is an athlete in his own small way.

The amendment, he said, amounted to a declaration by the Senate to the Commons that "we are going to dictate to you how you shall vote this money, and what proportion shall be assigned to the various provinces." While the constitution declared that the Commons had charge of the distribution of money by this amendment, the Senate said that it proposed to take charge of the distribution of money in this case now and for all time to come.

Senator Chouquet interrupted to say that in his opinion the proposal to vote money in this way was unconstitutional.

Senator Lougheed replied that if gentlemen opposite held this opinion they had the remedy in their own hands. They could reject the bill. However, they would not do that because they wanted the money for their projects, even if they were unconstitutional for parliament to give it to them. This bill provided for a plan which had to be worked out and developed between the federal government and the various provincial governments.

REQUEST NOT GRANTED

Mr. White replied that he was informed there had been a reduction of 20 cents per hundred pounds.

Mr. Carvell made the charge that the combine existed in sugar, and offered to furnish the evidence of it.

Mr. Nesbitt wanted the limit of $3,000 in value of ditching machines admitted free for the use of farmers, to be raised to $5,000.

The Finance Minister could not see his way to meet this request. To increase the limit as suggested would admit certain dredging machinery and other contractors plant free also, and the government was not prepared to go that far at present.

Mr. Sinclair wanted to know an amendment that twine (or marlin), for lobster fishermen's use be made free.

The tariff resolutions were then concurred in.

At midnight the third reading of the Bank Act was moved and the final debate upon it took place.

Nervous Sufferers Often Look Well

While persons subject to disorders of the nerves are frequently thin and weak, such is not always the case by any means.

Many are of ruddy and vigorous strength and so healthy in appearance that they receive little or no sympathy.

In such cases the symptoms which trouble the mind and spinal cord. Though strong in a muscular sense, the nerves are affected and spells of helplessness come over the sufferer. The condition is alarming, because the result to be expected is paralysis.

As in all forms of nervous exhaustion, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the treatment from which the best results are to be obtained.

You cannot sleep and feel restless and irritable; you gain strength, and then a little extra excitement brings on a nervous collapse, and helplessness and discouragement come over you again.

It seems impossible to concentrate the mind and to apply yourself to the duties of the day. Yet your appearance is such that people are inclined to think you shamming.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do wonders for you if you only give it a chance. Gradually and naturally it restores new vigor to the nerves and new hope and confidence to the mind.

COST OF REPAIRS.

It is estimated the cost of repairs to the schooner Forest City, which was run into in Vineyard Sound last month by the steamer Peter H. Crowell, will cost nearly $17,000. The schooner was formerly the Myrtle Tunnel and has figured in several accidents.

SCARCITY OF SAILORS.

Portland, Me. May 22.—The few vessels which have been in port the past fortnight have experienced no difficulty in securing crews, but a great scarcity of sailors is reported at Boston. Ship owners at that port are finding it extremely difficult to secure crews, particularly for deep water craft and vessels bound on long voyages, whose crews receive smaller wages than seamen on coastwise trade. One reason for the shortage is the approach of the excursion and yachting season which has created an unusual demand for men. Seamen find that work better than on sailing vessels, the pay being higher and they have more time on shore. After having loaded the bark Belmont, bound to Buenos Ayres with lumber, was delayed at Boston a full week before she was able to get a crew, finally securing 11 men from New York.

DANGERS TO NAVIGATION.

New York, May 22.—Str. Campanello (Br.), from Rotterdam via Halifax, reports on May 13, Sabine Bank lighthouse bearing NW (true), about 2 miles distant, passed several large icebergs, but which was a large circular mark.

MR. CARVELL NOW ADVOCATES FREE TRADE.

Mr. Frank Carvell made a long rambling speech yesterday on the Budget which recalled the strenuous time of obstruction on the Naval Aid Bill. In some strange way the Liberal members one and all seem to have become possessed of a dilated form of speaking. Even the leaders are troubled with this humble form of loquacity and Mr. Carvell yesterday was determined to speak longer and less to the point than either Mr. MacLean of Halifax or Mr. Verville, who both travelled on the Budget at interminable lengths on the Budget.

The burden of Mr. Carvell's speech was that he did not intend any longer to stick to his party's policy of moderate protection. He wanted to stand alone as a free trader, even if all the members of his party went against him. He rambled over the tariff for three hours and a half, which almost constitutes a record for a Budget speech. He discussed farm implements and said he thought the duty should be reduced on farming machinery. It was the same with ploughs and other implements. He devoted some time to gasoline engines and automobiles which he said should be put on the free list. He pointed out that automobiles were cheaper in the United States than they were in Canada, but when his attention was called to the fact that duty on autos in the United States was much higher than in Canada he failed to see the point. Then he took up farm products and produce. He wanted the duty taken off farm products altogether. He said there should be no duty on eggs, butter, potatoes or on any foods.

Some questions put to Mr. Carvell by Dr. Edwards and Col. Currie brought out an enunciation of his policy which would mean the taking away of all protection on the products of the forest, the field or the mine, and the opening of the Canadian markets to the United States farmers and manufacturers. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Graham must have sat very uneasily in their seats while Mr. Carvell was speaking. The Liberals will be grieved about his speech, for the Conservatives of Ontario will use his speech with deadly effect among not only the artisan classes, but among the Ontario and Quebec farmers.

Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, the great Free Trader, must have sat uneasily throughout this free trade tirade. He put several questions to Mr. Carvell to make clearer some parts in the latter's address which Dr. Clark, with his political wisdom, knew would damage the Liberals in the West, but the Member for Carlton failed to see the point and left his friend, Dr. Clark, floundering worse than ever. The Liberal party is plainly divided and knows not whereof it speaks, and Mr. Carvell is the arch offender.

A SERIOUS CHURCH PROBLEM.

Rev. Dr. Ramsay, the distinguished pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, has resigned after a pastorate of sixteen years. It has been stated that his resignation was due to the fact that he did not believe that long pastorates were in the best interests of the church. This suggests an interesting problem in connection with the Presbyterian Church life of today. The mood of the age surely changeth in church circles as in other institutions of the people. Time was in Canada when many a Presbyterian pastor remained over his flock throughout his entire active life, the honored and beloved shepherd of souls. This life-long pastorate is not widely in vogue today. In all communications changes in the pastoral relationship appear to be of note or less frequency. Nor are these changes confined to city churches. The same restless spirit is to be observed in rural parishes.

Whatever causes may be contributory to this state of things the fact remains that not a few ministers of acknowledged efficiency for one cause or another have released their pastorates and have not re-entered into active pastoral duties. How serious this leakage from the ranks of the ministry of the Presbyterian Church is may be estimated from the report of the committee on the supply of students, missionaries and ministers made to the General Assembly at its Ottawa meeting, 1911, by the chairman of the committee, Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor). He reported that having responded to the various Presbyteries of the Church as to how far the present shortage of men was due to financial reasons, "the replies from them revealed the fact that for financial reasons thirty-nine men have felt compelled to leave the ministry during the past five years and that during that period twenty-six students have for the same reason given up the work of preparation for the Christian ministry." Then he adds, "as these replies are from 66 per cent. of the Presbyteries and from men fairly well in-

Augustus, a Prince of the line of Brunswick-Luneburg became the first Elector of Hanover. He married Sophia, daughter of Elizabeth, daughter of James I. of England. In 1698 he was succeeded by his son George Louis, who in 1714 became King George I. of England. Between 1714 and 1837 the Electors of Hanover sat on the English Throne. By the operation of the Salic law, under which women were excluded from the succession, Queen Victoria did not succeed to the Crown of Hanover. The Crown passed to Ernest Augustus, Duke of Cumberland, the fifth son of King George III. of the United Kingdom. In 1851 he was succeeded by his son George V.

It was during the reign of George V. in 1866, that Hanover in company with Bavaria, Saxony, Wurtemberg and several other States cast its lot with Austria against Prussia. A war was the result and at its conclusion Prussia annexed Hanover, while Bavaria, Saxony, and Wurtemberg preserved their independence. In that year the monarchy of Hanover was extinguished by the King of Prussia and it has since been a Province now under the reigning King Wilhelm II. Emperor of Germany. In consequence of Hanover's annexation a feeling of bitterness existed for many years against Prussia.

Prince Ernest Augustus, as the son of Ernest Duke of Cumberland, and the grandson of King George V., the last King of Hanover, who died in 1878, represents the dynasty which reigned in Hanover until 1866. It is reported that among the wedding gifts which Kaiser Wilhelm will bestow upon Prince Ernest will be patents investing him with the style and title of Duke of Brunswick and Grand Duke of Lüneburg. By these honors, and by giving his hearty consent to this matrimonial alliance, the Kaiser not only insures the happiness of his only daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, but expresses his desire that all "old unkindnesses" between Prussia and Hanover should be forgotten.

HISTORIC DAYS IN CANADA

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT.

Prince Arthur was created Duke of Connaught thirty-nine years ago today May 23, 1874, and the future Governor General of the Dominion, then a young army officer of twenty-four, thus became the first royal prince whose leading title was Irish. Four years later the Duke of Connaught's Establishment Act was passed, making the same provision for the Duke as for his other titles.

Connaught was long a nominal King, and the name, as a title of honor, is thus historic and royal. The O'Connors were the rulers of Connaught in Celtic times, and in the twelfth century Roderick O'Connor, of Connaught, became King of all Ireland. After the Anglo-Norman conquest of the Emerald Isle Richard de Burgh, called the Great, became Lord of Connaught. Later the title of Lord of Connaught passed to the Earls of Ulster.

The Connaught title in 1764 passed to Prince William Henry, brother of George III, who was created Duke of Gloucester and Edinburgh, in the British Empire, in 1789. The Duke of Connaught, in the Irish peerage, the title passed to his son, who died in 1834, when the Connaught earldom became extinct. Forty years later the Connaught title was revived and conferred on the Prince who is now Canada's Governor-General.

THE PASSING DAY

Just a year ago today the leviathan liner, the Imperator, took her first dip into the ocean at Hamburg. The first anniversary of that event finds the giant 900-foot, 11-story liner on the eve of her maiden voyage across the Atlantic to New York.

When she sails away for the new world, the mammoth German craft will be the largest liner afloat, but not the largest afloat. That supremacy has already been lost to her, and the German liner, the Aquitania, launched, are the Imperator's superiors in size. Another English liner, the Britannic, now under construction, will be somewhat shorter than either the Imperator or the Aquitania, but will have a greater tonnage. Still another German liner now building will be larger than the Mauritania and the Lusitania, but not so large as the Aquitania.

The Aquitania, the Imperator 50,000, the Aquitania 47,000, the Olympic 45,000 and the Mauritania and Lusitania 32,000.

The maiden voyage of the Imperator on June 11 will mark the beginning of another great battle for supremacy on the North Atlantic between British and German steamship companies. The sinking of the Titanic gave the German companies a temporary advantage, as the Olympic was withdrawn from the service in order that she might be fitted with double sides and additional watertight bulkheads. This work has been completed, and the Olympic is again in commission. The Lusitanias will soon rejoin the fleet of British liners, and then the odds will again favor the English companies.

Only a quarter of a century ago the largest liner afloat was the Umbria, with a length of 600 feet, and a tonnage of 14,000. Shipbuilders now set a limit of length at 3,000 feet, and it is likely that this limit will soon be reached—and passed.

STRONG SERMON AGAINST AGAMEMNON

"What God Hath Joined Together"

Malcolm MacLeod, of Broton, Growing Importance.

Brooklyn, May 18.—A sermon of a most attractive character was preached at the Collegiate Reformed Church of St. Nicholas, Fifth Avenue and Forty-eighth Street, Manhattan, by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Malcolm James MacLeod. His subject was "What God Hath Joined Together." The text was from Malachi 2:14: "What God hath joined together let not man put asunder." Dr. MacLeod said:

The Master, in these words, is speaking of the marriage tie. It is this to which the passage refers. This is His interpretation of the union between husband and wife: It is a life-union; it is to be severed by only two things—adultery and death. "What God hath joined together let not man put asunder."

But as Charles Wagner has pointed out to us in one of his books, it is what God hath joined. The pronoun is neuter, not masculine or feminine. And the thought arises in our minds if there was not possibly a general law referred to in this summing up of the great Teacher. Are there not other things beside husband and wife that God hath joined together? It may not be an altogether fruitless exercise if with this search in view we take a little pilgrimage out into the great field of nature, and note what things the Eternal Creator evidently meant to be forever, in some close inseparable touch, linked together.

1. And let us note first of all the Seed and the Harvest. God hath joined them together. We cannot divorce them without doing violence to the natural order. We reap what we sow. All admit that as we deal with Nature so she will deal with us. If we treat Nature right she will treat us right. If we play her false she will play us false. If we do her a wrong she will not overcome evil with good and do us a favor. There is no Christianity in Nature. Dear friends, let us be true for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. No amount of labor can make trees give a wheat. If a building is well and faithfully erected gravity is its friend, but if crookedness enters into the walls she is its sworn enemy. How she plays tricks with gravity when we build the worst of it. Granted nature's major and minor premises and we cannot escape her conclusion. They are linked together with bonds of steel. No bribery can induce fire to alter its action. The law of cohesion cannot be intimidated. Presbyterian Notes

Rev. A. M. Hill, of Yarmouth, formerly of Fairville, is Grand Chaplain of the Masonic Order for the Province of Nova Scotia. He will preach at Amherst on the 10th of June, when the Grand Lodge is in session.

Rev. J. C. Mortimer, who is under call to Hampton and Rothesay congregations, expects to be in this country in a very short time. He has spent most of the winter with his family in Scotland. He will preach in Hampton and Rothesay on Sunday.

Rev. H. R. McInnis, Ph. D., of Edinburgh, who preached at the anniversary services, sailed from Quebec on the 15th for the old country.

The Toronto conference of the Evangelical Alliance, which is at present in the conference at Toronto, which opens on Saturday afternoon, the 31st of May. Massey Hall has been secured for the meetings, and if this is not sufficient for the purpose, some churches will be at the disposal of the conference.

The City of Toronto is an ideal meeting place for Presbyterians. It has a central location. The denomination is well represented, and there are 40 self-sustaining congregations in the city, with several augmented charges.

The conference was first suggested by Dr. A. S. Grant, general superintendent of missions for the Presbyterian church in Canada. He has the same broad view that characterized Dr. Robertson, the pioneer of missions in this country.

HOW JOSEPH'S BRETHREN WENT DOWN INTO EGYPT

Shown Great Kindness By Joseph But they Were Much Afraid.

CONSCIENCE FLED FROM REMORSE AND FEAR.

Sunday School Lesson Contains Strong Truths and Interesting Story—Conscience Cannot be Dismissed at Will.

"Conscience Doth Make Cowards." The S. S. Lesson by Evangeline, May 25th. Gen. 43: 15, 19, 23-34.

Golden Text—"He that loveth his brother abideth in the light." Nine brothers had returned to Hebron, Simeon having been left as a hostage for their return with Benjamin.

On opening their sacks of grain which they brought back with them they were greatly disturbed at finding their purchase money. Their explanation with regard to the absence of Simeon wrung from the aged father the groan—"Me have you reaved of my children; Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away."

Reuben swore that he would bring Benjamin safely back, but Jacob still declared—"My son shall not go down with you." A crisis was reached when the sacks were again empty and Jacob persisted in his refusal to allow Benjamin to go, when the brothers refused to go without Benjamin. For weeks the matter was debated in family councils until the father, through dire necessity, yielded.

With sufficient funds to cover the two grain accounts and with gifts of balm, honey, spices, myrrh and nuts, they started on their journey. Robert Bird gives us a pen picture of them "mounted on strong camels, the came bells tinkling, and tassels of yellow and blue shaking in the wind, and followed by a string of asses with empty corn sacks, the ten brothers left the vale of Hebron, riding slowly across the hot desert to the gate of Migdol, in the great Egyptian wall. Again they saw the broad blue Nile as they went along the bank until they were opposite to the island where they were ferried over to the city."

The camel kneel in the wide marketplace where Joseph was sold as a slave twenty years before, to wait while one of the brothers went to the government house to give to the doorkeeper a message for the great Zaphnath-paaneah, that the ten shepherds of Canaan had returned with their brother.

After waiting a time they got word that the Viceroy would see them. Pulling his black wig down over his brow, he ordered them to be brought in; and as they came kneeling before him, he bowed to the older brothers, but upon Benjamin with his ruddy cheeks that he fixed his searching eyes. His brother had grown so much that he could hardly recognize the little boy who used to run about the camp holding his hand as he took him the rams, and the kids, and the chickens.

"Take these men to my house for I shall dine with them at mid-day" said the Viceroy. The brothers were amazed when this order was explained. And when the gates of the courtyard closed behind them, they had grown so much that they were puzzled again, and sat down on the stone pavement to sigh and mourn.

At mid-day there came a loud knocking at the gate and the red and green chariot of the great Egyptian drove in, and soon they were summoned to meet before him. With their simple presents in their hands, they went through the garden into his beautiful house and kneeling, laid them at his feet.

"Is your father well?" The great man asked in a kind voice. "The old man of whom you spoke, is still alive and well." "My servant, our father, is still alive and in good health," they answered humbly.

"Is this your younger brother, of whom you spoke?" he asked, speaking as though he did not know, one from the other. Benjamin answered with a low bow, and Joseph added, "May the Lord be gracious unto these, my sons." When Benjamin looked up at him, Joseph fell the tears coming into his eyes, and raising suddenly from the chair, to the surprise of the men, he hurriedly left the hall. They did not know why. But if they had seen him in his own room weeping like a child for very joy, they would have been more astonished still.

The dinner came, and the ten brothers were surprised when the Egyptian ruler arranged them at the table all in order of their ages; and yet they did not suspect who he was. He sent plates of choice food to each of his brothers giving Benjamin five times as much as he gave to the others. Still they suspected nothing. The slaves put wreaths of blue convolvulus and red poppies around their necks, and kept their plates well supplied.

The next morning they were sent home to Canaan with their asses laden with corn sacks; they were glad to get away so quickly, and wondered why the great Egyptian was so kind to them, but even yet they suspected nothing.

Such is the story. The moral which admits the title may be found all wrapped up in the first verse—"And the men were afraid because they were brought to Joseph's house."

They were afraid in prison when "they said one to another we are guilty, concerning our brother." Their heart failed them and they were afraid of discovering the money in their sacks. "They rent their clothes" in terror when they discovered Joseph's silver cup in Benjamin's sack. They "could not answer him for they were troubled at his presence" when, in a subsequent lesson, Joseph "made himself known to them."

They were beginning to learn the great lesson which needs fuller recognition in our day: the conscience is not a servant that can be dismissed and summoned at the will or choice of its possessor. This truth had been well expressed by Paul Dunbar in the following lines:

"Good-bye," I said to my conscience—"Good-bye, for aye and aye." And I put her hands off harshly, And turned my face away; And conscience, smitten sorely, Returned not from that day. But a time came when my spirit Grew weary of its pace; And I cried, "Come back, my conscience, I long to see thy face." But conscience cried, "I cannot, Remorse sits in my place." In the lives of these men, not only remorse, but fear had seized the place of conscience. They were like the man in New York, who committed a murder and who, years afterwards when standing in a reading room of the Y. M. C. A., scanning the evening paper, was clasped good naturedly on the shoulder by a friend, which proved such a shock, when he thought that the last he had laid hold of, of him, that he fell on the floor in a fit.

Popular opinion has relegated hell and the devil to the region of myth and delusion. It depreciates the continuance of an effort to conserve what they designated "a medieval theory" in the modern world, but who can deny that these ten men did not live in a HELL OF THEIR OWN CREATING?

Who can deny that every sinner kindles the fires of mental anguish which shall burn through all eternity unless escape is sought through Christ?

God never provided a place of torment for man. He explicitly states that it was "prepared for the devil and his angels." If man chooses such companionship in this world, he can hardly cast aspersions upon the mercy and justice of God if he finds himself in the same companionship in the next.

"They were afraid" and well they might be. They had to do all intents and purposes killed their brother, when they shall look in vain for someone defend their case—when they shall plead "Not guilty, not having been present at the time, nor having taken any part in the execution of the deed."

Such evidence will not be accepted in the Supreme Court. Though ten pairs of hands did not participate in casting the younger brother into the pit, ten were punished and rejected him, and ten men were responsible for the crime.

The summons will come sooner or later to the man who has not appeared to appear and answer that charge to ARE YOU GUILTY?

OR NOT GUILTY of the death of the Saviour of the World—The Revealer of the Secret of Life?

Have you rejected Him or been reconciled to Him?

God pity you if through all eternity terror and remorse be your doom.

GRISH COMPLEXION Now Easily Acquired "A skin of blended snow, cream and rose" is the way an Ohio correspondent describes her newly acquired complexion. She is one who has adopted mercerized wash in place of cosmetics, massage, steaming and other methods. Many who have tried this marvelous wash report that its effects are quite different from those of any other treatment. It produces a complexion of exquisite grish naturalness rather than old bearing evidence of having been artificially "made over." One that is indeed "Nature's" result of gradually absorbing dead particles of surface skin, permitting the younger, healthier skin beneath to show itself and giving its pores a chance to breathe. Mercerized wash, procurable at any drug store in original one ounce packages, is put on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. I have also had many favorable letters from those who have tried the wrinkle-removing face bath which I recommended recently. If any have mislaid the formula, here it is: 1 oz. powdered saxolite dissolved in 1-2 pint, witch hazel—Julia Orff in The Clubwoman.

Had Stomach Rumbings Distress Before Meals Was Seldom Free From That Weary Droopy, Half-Dead Feeling. Now Cured, and gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies. If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience, which is told by Dr. Edward Dawkins: "When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour and always after eating there was pain and discomfort. I tried all the remedies I could get, but nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of being full of gas, they acted very mildly and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was able to eat and sleep again, and I feel like a new man. I have found that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a good food for one medicine to do, and I can say that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills I have ever used, and I will let you know, please."

BONDS

Investment News

St. John, May 23, 1913.

The Definition

Potential appreciation is the probability of increase in market value of a security as the result of growth in the competitive demand; and his demand will likely arise from a wider recognition of one or more virtues of the investment; usually that of security.

And Example

Maritime 6 per cent Ten Year Gold Bonds can be taken as an excellent example of a bond possessing "potential appreciation." To begin with, the security behind the bonds is unusually large—represented by assets over FOUR times the entire bond issue. Net earnings also show an unusual margin of safety—last year's record being FOUR times the bond interest. The sinking fund provision, requiring the retirement of one-tenth of the bonds annually and thus increasing the security on the remainder, is the third feature making for "potential appreciation."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

CLOSING LETTER ON COTTON MARKET MARKET BREAKS AWAY AND REGISTERS SOME ADVANCE

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, May 23.—The cotton market has shown increased firmness today and prices have made new high ground for the movement on continued covering and scattering buying for the trade on account. The early weather news did not seem to contain any feature to inspire particular apprehension as to the new crop outlook. There was talk of too much rain in the central belt but very few traders thought that the wet weather to have lasted long enough to be a factor of any great importance, while the showers in the eastern belt were considered beneficial. Had the market shown a declining tendency, an in view of prospects for clearing conditions for the next day or two in the western belt, weather and crop news would probably have been considered ideal. But after opening steady at unchanged prices to an advance of three points in response to the cables, prices continued to work higher and when the detailed weather reports came in showing heavy rains in the central belt the covering movement became more general than at any time so far since the movement set in. People who are disposed to look only at weather or crop conditions at this season of the year as the cause of fluctuations thought that the weather must be bad as the market was advancing although it is probable that the real factor is not so much the immediate situation from a new crop standpoint, as is the attitude of foreign spinners, the necessity for a large crop, the extensive short interest and nervousness over the July condition.

W. W. PRICE. tions there, in the shape of payments for exports of hides, wheat and other commodities which must be met at this season. In view of the efforts which are being made by the principal banks of Europe to build up their gold reserves, it was regarded as probable that this country, with its unprotected gold will be called upon to pay a larger part than heretofore in the shipment of gold to South America for European account. Bonds advanced after some hesitation in the early trading. There was a good market for the new issue of New York City bonds at 100. Total sales, par value, $3,000,000. U. S. 4's coupon advanced 3/4, the 3's 3/4, and the 2's registered 3/4 on call. The 2's coupon declined 1/4.

NEWSPAPERS ON SITUATION IN MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, May 22.—Herald—In view of the protracted period of liquidation and stagnation it is not surprising that no stocks are being "carried" in brokers' offices and that at present traders are bearish. Sun—The stock market has exhibited a satisfactory degree of underlying firmness considering the adverse contributions to sentiment made by the prevailing views of the City Bond sale.

PROSPECTUS OF PROPOSED Weeks Silver Black Fox Company, Ltd. Head Office at North Tryon, P. E. I.

Capital Stock The Company will be Capitalized at $100,000.00, divided into 1,000 shares of $100.00 each. The Foxes There have been secured five pairs of 1913 pups guaranteed choicest selection of the Dalton-Tuplin strain. This stock needs no further comment as they are the world's best. Terms of the Company The promoters of the Weeks Silver Black Fox Company have so much faith in the future of the Fox industry and in the stock they have purchased, that they guarantee ten pups from the five pair during the breeding season of 1914, and for every pup short of this number they will forfeit $5,000.00. This practically means a guarantee of upwards of 50 (fifty) per cent. for the first year. Taking into consideration the present price of 1913 pups and the fact that the five pairs are placed on the market at but $20,000.00 a pair, it will readily be seen that this company offers the most lucrative investment made this year in the fox industry. An-Up-to-Date Ranch Mr. Hedley B. Weeks has purchased the beautiful farm property of Mr. George H. Callbeck, North Tryon, where the most approved ranch will be erected which is now under construction. This property is favored with the handsomest hardwood grove in Prince County and is most suitably adapted for a Fox farm. All modern burglar-proof alarms will be installed and a day and night watchman, with the protection of tested man-trailing blood hounds, will always guard the ranch. Estimated Financial Returns From the five pairs there should be fifteen pups. At present prices this would mean a net profit of about $80,000.00 to the investors after deducting all ranching expenses. No Organization Expenses All the expenses incurred in the formation of this company, viz—the organization, including building of ranch, advertising, printing and all other incidentals will be paid by the promoters. Applications for Stock Applications for stock can be made to Hedley B. Weeks, Fredericton, P. E. I., or to any of the Directors. Payments: 10 p. c. of the subscribed amount must accompany application. Provisional Directors PRESIDENT—George H. Callbeck, Esq., North Tryon, P. E. I. VICE-PRES.—William F. Breaks Windows with Stones. Clarke Eagles was yesterday afternoon, reported by Police Officer Gosline, of the North End, for throwing stones and breaking windows in a house on Johnston street occupied by one Mr. Guy.

Slight Fire in Barn. About 9:30 o'clock last evening fire was discovered burning in a barn owned by Police Officer Gosline, situated in the rear of his dwelling, Main street. A still alarm was sent in and brought the North End chemical engine to the scene. Short work was made in extinguishing the blaze.

Bachelor Maids Give Play. A very clever and interesting entertainment was given last evening in Temple Hall, Main street, when the "Bachelor Maids" of the North End, with the assistance of Mrs. R. A. Corbett, delighted a large and appreciative audience with the production of a nicely arranged playlet entitled "The Chaparrone." The hall was crowded and the play was produced in capable manner.

Y. M. C. A. Annual Reports. The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening when, after the reports of D. D. Milligan, the boys' secretary, and the Ladies' Auxiliary, the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chair. Both these reports dealt in an able manner with the work and showed excellent progress in both departments. The reason of the adjournment was that W. C. Cross, the president, was absent owing to press of business. J. Hunter White, the vice-president, presided.

Slight Accident at Courtenay Bay. Two employees of the Courtenay Construction Company were injured yesterday afternoon while working on the new breakwater under construction at Courtenay Bay. Leo Plak, aged 24, while working with the dumping cars shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon, was accidentally caught between two of the cars, receiving a badly bruised leg. He was removed to the General Public Hospital where it was found that his injuries were not serious. No bones were broken but the flesh was mangled where the leg was jammed. The injuries received by the other workman who met with a mishap during the afternoon were slight and did not require his removal to the hospital.

Today's Fish Market. Fresh caught harbor salmon are beginning to make their appearance in the local retail markets. Although for the past few weeks the fishermen in the harbor have been landing an occasional salmon this is the first week that catches were made in quantities. The catch of abud this season, the dealers report, was small and consequently the price on this line of fish ranges a little high. The quotations at the retail market for today are: Salmon, 30 to 40 cents a lb.; haddock and cod, 6 cents a lb.; halibut, 15 cents a lb.; gaspereaux, 24 cents a dozen; smelt, 12 cents a lb.; bass, 15 cents a lb.; shad, 40 to 50 cents each; haddock, 5 cents a lb.; bladders, 30 cents a dozen; kippered herring, 30 cents a dozen; lobsters, 15 cents up; oysters, 75 cents a quart, and clams, 25 cents a quart.

Only Slightly Hurt. While engaged about the premises on Prince William street, now being remodelled by Armstrong & Bruce to a modern office building, William G. Stratton of T. McAvity & Sons, yesterday afternoon met with a painful accident. Two large radiators were resting against the side of a sloven standing in front of the building. While Mr. Stratton was nearby, the radiators slipped, catching him in the leg, inflicting a severe wound in the flesh. To outward appearance the injuries were serious, and it was thought that the bones of the leg had been broken. The ambulance was summoned and hurriedly removed the man to his home at 72 Waterloo street. On examining the wounds there it was found that no fracture had been received in any part of the body and outside a badly bruised leg no injuries had resulted.

VERDICT IN DALEY CASE LAST NIGHT

Coroner's Jury Decided that Daley's Death was Accidental—No Blame Attached to Anyone.

The inquiry into the death of David Daley, a longshoreman, was concluded by the Court House last evening by Coroner D. E. Berman. William Buckley, a watchman, gave evidence describing the accident, and stated that it was by Daley's own orders that the staging was moved which resulted in his death. The jury brought in a verdict that on May 2nd, while at work on the steamer Briarlene, David Daley was accidentally crushed to death between a staging and a doorpost, while in the performance of his duty, and there was no evidence of neglect on the part of any person. The jury recommended that guy ropes be used when moving staging so as to prevent accidents in the future.

ALL SORTS OF AMUSEMENTS FOR HOLIDAY

Ball Games Will Probably be Chief Attraction Tomorrow

OFFICIAL OPENING OF THE "BIG" LEAGUE

Large Crowds will go Off of Town for Holiday—Special Offerings at all the Theatres.

Victoria Day will be celebrated in many ways by the citizens of St. John tomorrow, when amusements ranging from fishing parties to a trip to Fredericton both by rail and water are offered. Baseball, it is expected, will receive a large share of the patronage, as in view of the fact that the weather men stopped the first contest yesterday an added interest is lent to Saturday's games. Although it was announced last evening that the militia would not fire a salute, the day will undoubtedly be remembered from a patriotic viewpoint by the youngsters who will be on hand with the usual big supply of firecrackers and amateur dynamite bombs.

During the past few weeks all who will benefit by the holiday have been busily planning different trips with the result that many enthusiastic fishing parties will be found enjoying themselves along the banks of the trout streams. The different railroad and river steamship companies are giving excursion rates and it is expected that many will take advantage of these. The steamer Hampton will run an excursion to Hampton, this entails a long trip up the beautiful Kennebecasis river and a day in the Kings county shiretown. The river steamer Majestic, owned by the Crystal Stream S. S. Co., will leave in downtown at her usual time and will connect with the steamer D. J. Purdy at Hampstead, giving an opportunity for a whole day's sail on the river.

Among the Victoria Day excursions popular with the public is that under the auspices of the City Cornet Band to Fredericton. It is understood that many will take advantage of this opportunity of visiting the capital and enjoying a musical programme during the trip. The suburbanites who possess cottages along the line of the I. C. R. will be accommodated with the usual suburban train which will stop at all the way stations. This train also offers a chance for anyone to spend a day in the country. Another excursion by rail will leave Hampton for St. Martin shortly after the arrival of the early morning train and will return in time to catch the evening train for St. John.

The St. John Power Boat Club and the Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club members are also planning the commencement of a summer of good times and it is understood that many yachtsmen will take advantage of the holiday to put the finishing touches on their craft for the season, while others, lucky enough to be all prepared, will put in a happy week-end cruising on the river.

The opening games of the Maine and New Brunswick League, however, form the chief item of conversation about the streets, and a large crowd is assured at both morning and afternoon games, when the Marathons will clash with the Fredericton nine. The league office here will be officially opened at the morning game, when at 10:30 o'clock Mayor Prink will toss the first ball across the plate. Keen snappy contests are assured, both morning and afternoon, and undoubtedly the St. John fans will give the team a big send off toward a successful season by attending in large numbers.

Besides the professional ball there will be several local amateur lines clashing during the afternoon and early evening, and from all reports fast games should please those who attend. In the evening the musical comedy production, Matt and Jeff, will undoubtedly secure a full house, while the moving picture houses will furnish their quota of amusement.

RT. REV. HENRY O'LEARY CONSECRATED BISHOP

Raised to Episcopal Dignity, Yesterday, at Bathurst.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY CLERGY TOOK PART

Mgr. Stagni, Papal Delegate, was Chief Consecrating Bishop — Ceremonies Most Impressive — Archbishop McNeil Preached Eloquent Sermon

Special to The Standard.
Bathurst, May 22.—The consecration of Right Rev. H. J. O'Leary, as Bishop of Charlottetown, took place today in the beautiful church of the Sacred Heart. Over one hundred and sixty members of the clergy were present.

The Papal Delegate, Monsignor Stagni, officiated, the following taking part: Assistant priest, Monsignor Sinnott; first deacon of honor, Rev. Dr. G. McClellan; second deacon of honor, Rev. F. X. Gallant; deacon of the mass, Rev. Dr. Curran; sub-deacon, Rev. P. McDougall; assistants to the Archbishop of Halifax were Father Lebestadt and Rev. S. J. Crowley; assistants to the Bishop of Antigonish, Rev. Wm. Roache and Rev. Alf. Trudel; assistants to Bishop O'Leary, Rev. J. J. McNeil and Rev. E. Sorman; first master of ceremonies, Monsignor Wm. Varrilly; sub-deacon of cross, Rev. E. P. Wallace;

Bishop-elect, to the consecrator, whose hand he kissed. The consecrator then began the Mass. The assistant bishops led the bishop-elect to his chapel, where he received the pectoral cross, and was vested with the tunics, dalmatic, chasuble and maniple, and began Mass himself. The consecrator sang portions of the Mass from his throne. The remainder of the ceremony was then carried out with all its customary solemnity until the Offertory.

From the Offertory to the Communion the new bishop stood at the Epistle side of the altar and acted and recited together with the consecrator; and after the benediction, the consecrator sat again before the altar and blessed the mitre and placed it on the new bishop's head.

The new bishop, with the assistant bishops, afterwards proceeded around the church, with mitre, staff, robes, gloves and ring, and blessed the people. After the new bishop concluded the blessing, His Grace Archbishop McNeil preached the consecration sermon, which was scholarly and eloquent.

Banquet to Clergy.

After the consecration services a banquet was tendered the visiting clergymen by the Rev. T. Albert, crosier bearer, Rev. R. Hawkes, book bearer, Rev. F. Dalgic, candle bearer, Rev. E. J. Conway, acolytes, Revs. McKinnon, E. Delagarde, thrifter, Rev. J. J. McLaughlin.

Hundreds at Ceremony.

The church was crowded for the ceremony. Arrangements had been made so that strangers were provided for, and extra efforts were made also to provide accommodation for the Catholics of Bathurst and vicinity, who flocked to the church long before 10 o'clock, the hour for the commencement of the ceremony. There was no vacant space within the walls of the spacious church. Wherever chairs could be placed for those not otherwise provided for they were placed, and the congregation was the largest ever within its walls.

The Consecration.
All being ready, the consecrator took his place at the middle of the altar, seated with his back to it; and the bishop-elect, vested and wearing his biretta, was led between the assistant bishops, and being seated before the consecrator, after a pause they rose with heads uncovered, and the senior assistant bishop said to the consecrator:

"Most Reverend Father, our Holy mother, the Catholic church, asks that you promote this priest here present to the burden of the Episcopate." The apostolic mandate was then read by the acting notary of consecration. The bishop-elect then knelt before the consecrator, and took the oath of office. The bishop-elect touched with both hands the text of the Gospels, and the consecrator said, "Thanks be to God."

This was followed by the consecrator reading the examination, the assistant bishops repeating his words in a lower tone. The bishop-elect made the usual replies. After this he was questioned by the consecrator on matters of belief and gave the customary answers. The assistant bishops then led the

WORLD PEACE IS UTOPIAN, SAYS DR. LYMAN ABBOTT

DR. LYMAN ABBOTT

Asserting that a "Utopian dream," Dr. Lyman Abbott, of New York, made what was interpreted as his reply to the action of the American Peace Society in severing his fellowship, when he made the opening address at the recent Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration. Three hundred delegates heard Dr. Abbott's speech as chairman of the nineteenth annual meeting.

In his opening address the editor of the Outlook asserted that "the blow of the fist, the gleam of the sword, the bark of the cannon would continue until some other power greater than that of armed men is found to protect innocence from injustice."

It was for his expression of similar sentiments that Dr. Abbott's membership in the American Peace Society recently was dropped.

The new oil process now being used on some of the streets is being found to work very satisfactorily, and is expected to prove of value, in cases where there is a substantial McAdam surface to cover with the substance. The oil is now being placed in Dorchester street, but other streets will be given a coating of it in the near future under direction of Engineer Hatfield, Waterloo, Victoria and many other streets being in line for the covering in question. It is said to be very durable and serviceable, and in use in other cities both in the States and upper Canada is found to be valuable both as a dust preventive and a road preserver. The oil, on being distributed, sinks well into the roadbed, and the surface is made smooth, making a splendid repairing process for roadways where the McAdam process had been used.

THE DYNAMITE CASE BECOMES INTERESTING

Man who Suicided said to be One who Supplied Explosive

WAS A WIDELY KNOWN BUILDING CONTRACTOR

Evidence Taken in Case Yesterday Brings Out Some Interesting Facts Concerning "Blasting" in which Magistrates are Implicated.

Boston, May 22.—Ernest W. Pitman, supplied the dynamite that was "planted" in Lawrence during the textile strike," according to evidence introduced in the state today. The suicide of Pitman the morning that he was to have appeared as a witness before the grand jury, which was investigating the alleged conspiracy to discredit the strikers, created a sensation at the time.

He was a building contractor living in Andover and was widely known. He built the wool mill at Lawrence, owned by the American Woolen Co., of which William M. Wood is president. Rumors that he had knowledge concerning the dynamite plot were met with the assertion by his intimates that the contractor had been driven to take his own life by business worries. When John J. Breen, who has confessed to actually "planting" the dynamite, had concluded his testimony at the trial of the alleged conspirators, Wm. M. Wood, Frederick Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, today the prosecution called William H. Rice a quarry owner of Milton.

Where Dynamite Came From.

Rice testified that Pitman came to him and asked for a quantity of dynamite for a construction job. The witness told of getting the dynamite from his quarry and accompanying Pitman to Boston, where he saw the contractor deliver the explosive to Breen, as Breen had already testified. Rice said that he knew Pitman well but never saw him after the night of January 19, 1912, when they came to this city with the dynamite.

Daniel H. Coakley, counsel for Atteaux, today completed his cross-examination of Breen. The latter admitted that he had lied repeatedly concerning the dynamite plot, but insisted that he had told only the truth on the witness stand. He admitted that he had had a quarrel for money with which to settle damage suits, which had been brought against him for false arrest by persons who had been taken into custody after the "planted" explosive had been found on their premises. He claimed, however, that he was asking only for money which he thought Atteaux should furnish because he was involved in the conspiracy. The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

The Italians advanced in three columns against Arab position where they met with a stubborn resistance and were finally compelled to retreat to Derna abandoning three field guns damaged during the fighting. GERMAN EXPLORES IN TERRIBLE HARSHIPS

SUFFRAGE IS A SEX DISTURBANCE, SAYS MRS. DODGE

MRS. ARTHUR M. DODGE.

With a declaration that the woman suffrage movement is a sex disturbance and its chief reliance a sex appeal, Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of New York, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, recently opened a new line of attack. Her statement, issued by the publicity agents of the association in New York, is as follows:

"In view of what is happening in various parts of the country, it is high time for every thinking man and woman to realize that back of the woman suffrage disturbance is the question of sex, or, rather, a distortion of the sex question. The suffrage disturbance is, in plain words, a sex disturbance. Many women who are suffragists do not realize this, but it is a fact nevertheless, just as the impulse of some other women to take foolish fancies and unnecessary movements is the result of that unsexed and straining after artificial happiness and an unnatural enjoyment which indicates an unsettled and unsatisfactory state of mind."

Artist's Diary Tells of Sufferings of Arctic Expedition

ABANDONED VESSEL IN SEPTEMBER LAST

Proposal to Leave Well Provisioned Craft Came from Captain — Party Lived in Hut, Made Lights from Fat — Weather Bitterly Cold.

Berlin, May 22.—A description of the terrible sufferings undergone by the members of the German arctic expedition commanded by Lt. Schroeder-Stranitz, which met disaster at Spitzbergen, is given in the diary of artist Herr Rave, who is one of those rescued. He telegraphed extracts to Berlin today from Advent Bay, giving details of the expedition after its members had abandoned their vessel, the Herzog Ernst, on September 21, 1912.

The despatch, while in some places incomplete and almost incomprehensible, says: "The proposal to abandon the ship came from Captain Ritcheil at the beginning of September. The vessel then had provisions for four months, besides a large supply of condensed food and she was otherwise well equipped. "The party started for Advent Bay and reached a hut on Wide Bay on October 4. Dr. Rudiger and I were without coats, sleeping bags, or lights. I melted some fat and made lights and fashioned some sleeping bags from salted skins which I found in the hut. "Dr. Rudiger's foot became worse, and there were no more bandage materials. "The provisions ran out and we left the hut on November 23, hoping to regain the ship. "We suffered severely, having nothing to drink, but we finally reached a hut at Moseel Bay where we found some hard and moldy bread. "We remained there several days during a storm, and then started again for the ship, guiding ourselves by the stars. We arrived at the ship on December 1. "Dr. Rudiger in the meanwhile had suffered greatly, two more of his toes and four fingers having been frozen, while his foot became so bad that it had to be amputated. "The guides and sailors of the expedition returned unexpectedly to the ship on December 24, reporting the loss of Eberhard. They had no news of Dr. Detmers or Dr. Meeser, the botanist. "They said Captain Ritcheil had gone on alone to Advent Bay. "Stave died on February 24 and the Norwegian relief expedition commanded by Capt. Staxrud appeared on April 21. "The expedition started last summer under the patronage of the Duke of Attenburgh with the object of endeavoring to find the Northeastern Passage."

BASEBALL PLAYERS EXCHANGED

New York, May 22—The New York and Cincinnati clubs of the National League today completed a deal whereby the Giants gave pitcher Leon Ames, outfielder Josh Devore, and infielder Groh to the Reds in exchange for pitcher Fromme. The 1912 records show Fromme's pitching average as .457 for 43 games, of which 23 were completed games. He batted .087. Ames started in 35 games, nine of which were completed contests, and his average was .658. He batted .244. Devore batted .275 and fielded .918. Groh, who was a substitute infielder, batted .271 for 27 games. Ames and Devore have been of little use to the club during the past three years, said Manager McGraw this afternoon in discussing the deal, "and I believe that they will play far better ball with the Reds. Groh is a good, fast fielder and a consistent batter, but I could not find a regular berth for him." Fromme will report to the Giants at the Polo grounds tomorrow morning and the trio of late Giants leave for Philadelphia tonight to join the Cincinnati club.

PLAYERS ARE PUBLIC CHARACTERS

MONCTON BASEBALL.

Moncton, N. B., May 22—Judging by the interest shown at the meeting of baseball fans last evening, a senior baseball league for Moncton this season is assured, although late in starting. According to the present plans, there will be three teams in the league and a professional player for each team will be engaged; also acting as coaches for local boys. A subscription list will be opened and with the cooperation of the Commercial Club it is thought the scheme will prove a success. Another meeting will be held Friday evening to consider the proposal.

OPENING TOMORROW.

The formal opening of the New Brunswick and Maine League in this city will take place tomorrow when the Marathons and St. Croix will play. There will be two games, the first commencing at 10.30 o'clock and Mayor Frink will open the season by pitching the first ball over the plate. There will be a band present at the game to furnish music between the innings. Manager Leonard has all of his three pitchers in shape to battle and the Greeks will strive hard to win from the border city team. A fast game is expected and if the weather is favorable there should be a record attendance.

BASEBALL PLAYERS EXCHANGED

New York, May 22—Baseball players are public characters and photographers may take their photographs in action without their consent, according to a ruling of Magistrate Butts in police court here this afternoon. The case decided was brought by the National Baseball Commission and the New York baseball club against a moving picture concern which had taken photographs of games without a permit from the management. The plaintiffs contended that the civil rights law had been violated. The pictures in question were taken during the world's series, Boston, Mass., May 22—T. L. McNamara, of Boston, today broke the tie for the Massachusetts open golf championship and won the title by defeating M. J. Brady, of Woolaston, on the links of the Braeburn country club. McNamara, who yesterday set a record of 72 for the course, won today with 78, while Brady took 82. They were tied at 513 for 72 holes, when play was finished yesterday. Both will leave tomorrow night for New York on their way to the international open championship at Hoy Lake.

GAMES POSTPONED.

The Marathons and St. Croix were on the Marathons grounds yesterday but owing to the rain storm no game was played. A number of people were on hand in case there was a game, and had a chance to look the players over. The men on both teams are smart looking, and look as if they could put up a pretty good article of ball.

NEW RULE FOR MILK DEALERS.

Beginning June 1, each can of milk sent to the city on the I. C. R. from milk dealers from points between here and Moncton, must be provided with a ticket, and the system of carrying the milk by weight will be abolished. The tickets will be attached to the cans, the coupon collected by the conductor, and the stubs will be good to carry the cans back to the sender.

A Nice Life.

I'd like to be a great dramatic star. And earn much pelf. And be intensely popular. With myself.

The Tires That Won

No-rim-cut Tires brought about the biggest single saving ever made in car up-keep. At one stroke they did away with the enormous waste of rim-cutting. They provided for overloading and that feature added 25% to tire mileage.

For 14 years we worked, studied, experimented, tested—always seeking and adopting ways in increase mileage.

Point by point we perfected these tires. Some of the things we accomplished you can see—the unstretchable base with 126 braided wires. The 10 per cent. oversize—the No-Rim-Cut construction. These features cut Tire cost practically in two. They won the Tire Market in the United States and Canada. But there are other things just as important that are revealed only in service. Here are two things that helped sell 2,000,000 No-Rim-Cut Tires to the shrewdest class of buyers in two countries.

A Casing Without a Weak Spot

Maximum mileage demands a casing of uniform strength over every inch of surface. Each layer of fabric must be stretched and laid on under unvarying tensions.

Every Goodyear Tire is machine built—that means absolute accuracy—that means a casing that bears the strain equally over every part of every layer of fabric—a casing without a weak spot.

The Goodyear Tire building machine was invented by us, to overcome the uncertainty of hand-stretching. It is controlled by our patents.

E. MARTYN.

Flo: Yes dear, smiling makes a crowd set as easily as worry, but don't stop smiling, or you will lose your beauty. Use our eye-troubles and eye-remedies. You can quickly remove wrinkles and keep the face velvety and smooth at very little cost by making a home and using regularly this ceaseless vegetable-jelly-cream, which never dries. Get from your drug store one half-pint of cold water or witch hazel, add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. Apply to wrinkles, and leave overnight. Then wash off and use more of the cream as a massage. This will remove dandruff, stop hair from falling out, and prevent the most obstinate wrinkles or finest row's feet, while softening the skin to a velvety texture.

Katherine: Don't be alarmed because you have become fleshy. Most of a gain weight in winter. To make a skin white and clear, get from our drug store 4 ounces of panacea, dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints hot water. Take a tablespoonful 3 times a day just before meals.

Allie: Your drowsy, tired worn-out feeling, which most of us have at the approach of warm weather, comes from being poisoned by impurities in the blood which generally lead to sickness or poor health. At the first signs of spring get good blood-purifying tonic should be taken by every member of the family. The expense of making such a tonic will be small if you get from the drug store 1/2 pint alcohol and 1 ounce cayenne, then mix these with 1/2 cupful of water, adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will soon clear the blood of all impurities, banish pimples and sallowness, and restore lost appetite and energy. No known remedy is so strengthening and energizing to a tired, worn-out system as this old-fashioned body-regulator. It is one of the best health-restorers known to medical science.

Corinne: A brisk walk in the fresh air will do a common headache lots of good.

CHATHAM

Chatham, May 21.—The Malediction was presented in the Opera House, Monday night, by the college boys and proved a great success. The boys deserve much credit for the able manner in which they handled their parts. The play was the heaviest that has been undertaken by amateurs in this town, and the way the boys managed their parts would have done credit to professionals.

Arthur Allen who took the leading role, that of Don Alonso, son of Don Vasco De Gomez, never showed to better effect. The part was a hard one, and the way in which Mr. Allen enacted it would have won plaudits for one of much more experience.

No less deserving of credit is Ralph McInerney, who took the part of Don Alonso's father, Mr. McInerney is just a beginner but he showed great ability in his part, which was one of the hardest in the play.

Rev. and Mrs. D. Henderson, Rev. and Mrs. George Wood, Rev. and Mrs. J. M. MacLean and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fowle leave next week for Toronto, where they will attend the Missionary Conference and General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

EMPIRE

NAVY PLUG CHEWING TOBACCO

The Captain

What the Captain Says:

"When a man is in charge of a ship he has to keep calm under all conditions. Empire Navy Plug Chewing Tobacco is a great help."

HEAR THE EAGLE SCREAM!

That raucous sound that will be heard today need not cause alarm, for it will be due to the atmospheric commotion caused by the screaming of the eagle in Charlotte, Not Charlotte, Mich., or N. Y., or Tenn., nor yet Charlotte, P. E. I., but the big Charlotte, the metropolis of all the Charlottes, the capital of Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, the historic scene of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, first document of its kind. It was on the twentieth of May, 1776, that the citizens of Mecklenburg county met in Charlotte and passed resolutions that served as a model for the charter adopted at Philadelphia on the Fourth of July of the following year.

Other municipalities may celebrate the Fourth of July as Independence Day, but Charlotte has long insisted that the Twentieth of May is the true day and date for making the eagle scream. The city is very prosperous and has gained eighty-eight per cent. in population in the last decade. For these and other reasons the people of Charlotte have determined to make today's celebration the most momentous in history. The mayor and the sheriff, and the editors of Charlotte's newspapers, and other leading citizens, have been touring New York, Philadelphia, and other villages, inviting the citizens thereof to come down to Charlotte and see what a real live town looks like. Many distinguished men who are unfortunate enough not to live in Charlotte will be that city's guests, and will sample southern hospitality.

And as for those iconoclasts who have cast aspersions and things on the authenticity of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence—jolly well for them it is that they are not in Charlotte today—jolly well, indeed.

Disconsolate Days.

AGRICULTURE

THE FEDERAL GRANT FOR AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

Journal of Agriculture.

In view of the enormous importance of the Agricultural industry it is not at all surprising to us to learn that the Federal Government has decided to give ten million dollars in the next ten years to the provinces of the Dominion for the extension of agricultural instruction. As a matter of fact we have all along wondered why action had not been taken years ago. The Hon. Martin Burrell reserves the right for grappling with the situation and demanding from his fellow members a proper recognition of the importance of the great industry which concerns very intimately every man, woman and child of this great country. Other men, however, have for years been fostering, often unduly we think, and it was high time that help be given to Agriculture.

We believe too that the Hon. Mr. Burrell has taken the right way of helping agriculture. While educational legislation is dealt with by the Provinces, there is nothing under the Dominion for aiding the Provinces in the development of their educational plans. With the aid of the grant the Provinces will now be in a position to carry out many schemes which were formerly impossible with the limited means at their disposal.

As we have frequently pointed out in these columns the great need of the farmer at the present time is a better knowledge of the best methods and practices that are based on recent advances in science. Science has run ahead practice, and there is urgent need for some effective way of bringing the results of scientific investigation to the farmer. Just how this is to be done may be a disputed point, but to our mind the best and only feasible way is through education as it is best done at the present time. Let us look for a moment at some of the newer instructional methods that are being employed—

1. The Agricultural Colleges are educating the young men to a knowledge not only of the scientific principles that underlie the practice of agriculture, but also of better methods.
2. By means of Short Courses also they are leading a large number of adults to see the value of expert knowledge in making farming more successful and at the same time more interesting.
3. By the appointment of District Representatives of Agricultural Instructors considerable enthusiasm has been aroused in rural districts. Improvement in crop and animal production.
4. For many years the only instruction given was in the form of addresses at Farmers' Clubs and Agricultural Societies, but it is now generally conceded that other methods such as those outlined above, involving actual contact and study of the objects under discussion, are producing better results.

5. During the last few years the Demonstration Train or Better Farming special idea had its advocates. No doubt much real good has been accomplished in the form of practical suggestion and enthusiasm.

In addition to helping along the agencies already in operation the Bill provides that assistance may be extended to "the initiation of agricultural teaching in the public schools," the "training of teachers in Nature Study, and the invaluable work of domestic science concerned with the women and girls of our communities whose influence will always constitute one of the most potent forces in solving the problems we are considering."

There can be no doubt that Mr. Burrell's bill will do a great deal for agriculture in Canada. Plans can be made by the Provinces for years in advance so that it is now possible to begin work at once with the expectation that it will be carried on for a term of years. The results will be cumulative; the longer the work is in operation the greater the results will be. Quebec's share of the Grant for 1913 is $108,482.46 with a yearly increase up to 1917 of $27,896. From 1917-1923 the annual grant is $271,068.32.

We look forward to a great development in the next ten years.

NATURAL INCUBATION

On many farms the number of fowls kept is too small to warrant the use of an incubator. When setting hens it is important that the proper surroundings be provided. Where eggs are used and poor hatching results are secured this can often be attributed to poor accommodation.

To get the best results from sitting hens the nest should be large and roomy, and not too far from the floor. A box about eighteen inches square and about a foot deep should be half filled with moist earth or an upturned sod, and care taken to hollow out the earth somewhat in the center. The moist earth approaches nearest to nature, and helps to retard evaporation of the egg-contents during incubation. See that the earth, in the corners of the box slopes towards the centre so that the eggs cannot roll out of the nest and get chilled. Then place a small quantity of fine cut straw, hay or excelsior in the nest. Care should be taken that sufficient straw or hay be placed in the nest so that the moist earth does not chill the eggs.

The room where the nests are placed should be well lighted, but cool. Lots of fresh air should be provided, and care taken when the hen comes off. Yearling or older hens are more reliable than pullets as sitters, and medium-sized hens are best for incubation purposes, because they are less liable to crush eggs than if large, heavy hens are used.

A dust box should be provided; said box should be at least eight inches deep and filled to within two or three inches of the top with earth or road dust mixed. A handful or two of powdered sulphur sprinkled in the dust box is also helpful.

The eggs should be examined frequently to see if they have been soiled. Should this happen, wash them in lukewarm water, and dry before putting in nest. Dust the hen when first setting, and on about the seventeenth day, with a good dust. The eggs should be examined frequently to see if they have been soiled. Should this happen, wash them in lukewarm water, and dry before putting in nest. Dust the hen when first setting, and on about the seventeenth day, with a good dust.

Place a pan of whole corn or corn and wheat near the nest, some clam or oyster shell, and about every other day provide green food. Change the drinking water frequently.

Immediately after the chicks are removed the litter should be taken out of the box and burnt, the box washed or disinfected, and placed in the sun to dry before using again. Setting a hen in a nest that has been previously used is an unprofitable proceeding, for red mites will generally put in an appearance and they are easier to rear than chickens.

By having the nest box a foot deep the chicks are not liable to get out and probably get chilled; or, as sometimes happens, a hen will leave ten chicks in the nest to mother one that has fallen out.

Upon removal, which should take place twenty-four hours after the last chick has hatched, the first feed may consist of dried crumbs, crushed egg-shell, or oatmeal, with water to drink. Various other kinds of feeds may be used, such as commercial chick feed, hard boiled egg, bread and milk, (the bread being squeezed dry), etc. When buying chick feed, if possible purchase it without the grit added. The latter is very heavy, and some samples contain more grit than necessary.

The hen with her brood should not be disturbed too frequently during the first few days after hatching. As the chicks develop they require less restricted quarters but it is wise to keep the mother hen confined. Chicks should not be allowed to run through long wet grass, or grass heavily laden with dew. Where the grass is long it is advisable to cut about a small space around the chicken coop.

PERENNIALS

(Journal of Agriculture and Horticulture.)

A garden without perennials is no better than a flower window; it may be brilliant, exquisite, dainty, but it is as little characteristic of the home as every true soul seeks as hotel or camp life.

You need for the background of all your summer noisings the faithful trees and shrubs perennially. They come back every year, different only in that they have become stronger and more steadfast, or have taken on new variety of droop and charm during their sojourn underground with their mistress Persephone.

Through the heavy dead leaves in the chill early days of spring a purple pansy lifts her face to the sun. What joy the soft velvet sends through your finger tips! How many springs of other years she recalls, what welcome thoughts rush at her summons to your winter-weary mind! Past joys and griefs, with every year's recurrence, this tiny plant brings them anew to life. As you look into her quaint, earth-wise face, the old griefs seem dearer than the old joys. That is alchemy indeed, to change old griefs into new joy!

Soon the lilacs of the valley have thrust their tender, pointed spires through the past; unfurled their graceful banners and set their lovely fairy bells to ringing fragrance through the air. Then come the lilacs, white and lavender; heavy with bloom and orch. Above them the long slender birch branches sway in the breeze with the lightest breeze. Their tiny new leaves are the brightest green in the world, and with their white stems make delicate tracing against the sky. Two white birches and two lilac bushes—one white, one lavender—make a string quartette, the birches violins, the lilac viola and cello, and they play "Unfinished Symphony" every year.

The bridal month brings the syringa, heavy-scented and strong as young love; the petals whiten the ground, and the poline stains your hands and face as you gather big sprays, and all the old intoxication of youth fills your heart again.

July is the glory month of the hollyhock; leveler than ever every year; new colors, new tints of color, make you catch your breath every time you see them against the sun, a mass of rainbow flower on slender pale green stalks. The quick little summer warblers and the ruby-throated hummingbird whir drop them all day long, and nest might be hidden somewhere in the depths of the green bower, but the warblers prefer to build in the low shrubbery near by, and the hummingbirds skin away, high and far, beyond your seeking when you come too near.

So it goes all summer, and while you would not miss the sweetpeas—"on tiptoe for a flight," nor the sturdy generous nasturtiums, nor the asters and bright salvias, who are all so ready to send their characteristic selves to any new garden, to live there happily and die with the year, yet you need the perennials to give the comfort of some sense of permanence in the perpetual flux.

In the gardens of thought there are perennials that come up again and again. Like the flowers, they are good thoughts to live with and to nourish among the host of brilliant annuals we entertain nowadays. As you wonder at the fragility of neighbor Nature, at the carelessness with which she makes and kills, yet makes so perfect, so complete, so marvellously beautiful, so little bloom before it dies, you think of Blake's wisdom,

"To see the world in a grain of sand,
And Heaven in a wild flower;
To hold infinity in the palm of your hand
And eternity in an hour."

You perceive the marvel of life, the wonder and worship of the universe as it comes perennially fresh to the poets. To them

"the mearest flower that blows can give
Thoughts that do often lie too deep
For tears."

Is it not the same immortal flower of thought that Tennyson saw in the crumpled wall?—

"If pluck you out of the crannies
Hold you here, root and all, in my hand,
Little flower—but if I could understand
What you are, root and all, and all in all,
I should know what God and man is."

And like the flowers, they are good thoughts to live with and to nourish among the host of brilliant annuals we entertain nowadays. As you wonder at the fragility of neighbor Nature, at the carelessness with which she makes and kills, yet makes so perfect, so complete, so marvellously beautiful, so little bloom before it dies, you think of Blake's wisdom,

"To see the world in a grain of sand,
And Heaven in a wild flower;
To hold infinity in the palm of your hand
And eternity in an hour."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN HOW TO GROW OLD GRACEFULLY

By Frank Crane.

There is only one thing we have to do, and that is to grow old. That is the due business of life; it is that we are put in this world.

The art of living is nothing but the art of growing old.

Instead of looking upon old age as a lack of youth, the pitiful remains of a once valuable life, we should regard it as the masterpiece of life that for which all preceding stages were but trial errors.

When Fontanelle was asked what period of life he considered the most fortunate, he replied: "From sixty to eighty. At that age one's pleasures, ambition and desire have ceased to torment, and one reaps what he has sown. It is harvest time."

Whether you believe this or not depends upon the point of view you take as to the purpose of human life. If you think a human being is an animal, put in this world to get all the pleasure he can, then naturally you conceive old age to be a calamity. But if you hold that he is a soul, put here in a body in order to perfect and beautify his character, then you must see that old age, when the bodily fires are gone down, and nothing is left but the fine gold of the spirit, is best of all.

How can one grow old gracefully? How can he make his last years his best, and how can he behave so that he shall be a satisfaction to himself and a comfort to the people around him?

Old persons can learn, and ought to, as well as children. If they are teachable and willing to improve their minds, no reason why they may not in sweet loveliness approach those from whom they are separated in wisdom. In any belief is the assumption that, at any age, we cannot make of life what we will.

There are agreeable, happy old people who are welcomed everywhere; people who are a nuisance to all who have to do with them. There are nice and naughty grandfathers as well as nice and naughty children. What makes the difference?

It is upon this question that I undertake to give a few hints.

First of all, there is a difference between age and senility. An old person may be respected, a senile person cannot be.

And a senile man is one who stubbornly clings to his faults, obtrudes them and refuses to mend them. He is precisely like a boy who can be spanked, and a silly, selfish old man can not be spanked.

An old woman, too, should have the very tenderest love of all the family. Such a person should be the most treasured and revered of any who sit about the hearthstone. If he or she is not so, it is usually, though not always, his or her own fault.

Let us see now where is good and what is objectionable in old age.

Don't Be Ashamed of Your Age.

The art of life, so often said, is adjustment. The secret of power and of joy is to recognize the inevitable and accommodate oneself to it.

Therefore set it down, that whoever is dissatisfied with his age, ashamed of his birthday, tries to make people believe he is younger than he is, and is forever butting his head against fate and seeking to make himself younger in appearance, is essentially ridiculous. And

"Nothing is worse in the twilight of life than to be from hour to hour more ridiculous."

Only those old people are honored who frankly accept their years. The old woman who primpes and powders and frisks and gives herself the airs of a girl—well, "the reason we laugh at her is because we do not wish to be like her." The old man who tries to be a gay young beau gives us the same laugh as we have when we see a lad of six chewing tobacco.

All pretense is pathetic and none more than old age that persists itself up to rival youth; the world always loves a man who dares to be just what he is, without fear or favor, just as it always despises one who seeks to be what he is not. The boy of fifteen who is anxious to make you think he is twenty-one and the man of sixty who would deceive you by taking him for forty, are the same coin, heads and tails.

The first rule therefore for being an agreeable old person is not to be ashamed of being an old person.

As the first rule is honesty, the second humility.

Equanimity is a terrible affliction at any time, but nowhere is it so offensive as in the old. The boy or girl may get over it. The old man or woman never will.

The good Book tells us not to think more highly of ourselves than we ought to think. If one does not heed this advice he is surely going to be a sad neighbor.

If he believes the old man therefore to let the younger remember that he is thoroughly alone. He has made his own mistakes; let them make theirs. The old man has nothing but advice, while what they need is experience. A meddling grandfather is as bad as a meddling child.

This is rather bitter medicine, but it will do you a lot of good if you take it and look peasant.

One marked symptom of senility, which invariably makes the old person a bore or a pest, is pessimism.

If you have reaped nothing from life but hopelessness, and can frame no word of courage with your lips, at least you can keep them shut and frame a smile with them.

It is easy for old age to take up a habit of cynicism, of indulging in sneers and superior nods, just as it is always easy for human nature to do what it ought not to do. Whoever would make for his old age a welcome in all hearts, and receive from others love and gratitude, must pay for it in cheerfulness and optimism. Otherwise he may be sure to be what Dickens called "a demd, damp, moist, unpleasant body."

Know When to Quit.

In churches, in business, in politics, in clubs, and wherever men act in groups, it is important for the old man to know when to step aside from leadership. The rarest of all the good sense in the world the old man who knows when to quit.

There is in every man's life the psychological moment to resign. At that instant he can go away trailing clouds of glory. If he stays longer he begins to go down the road of discontent.

In illustration, it is interesting to compare Lincoln, who was so great a him off at the very stroke essential to his fame, and Garibaldi, who embarrassed the enthusiasm of Italy by not dying about the time his king was crowned.

But, to go to the root of the matter, almost all of the unpleasantness of age is due to one thing, to wit, a lack of appreciation of, and devotion to, the higher values of life.

To use old-fashioned language, the course of old-age is worldliness, and that which renders it discontented with itself and a source of unhappiness to others.

By worldliness is not meant simply lack of religion, though that may be a part of it, but something far more serious. The meaning of it is, a dependence upon the world (i. e. outward circumstances) and a lack of resources in one's self.

I have said that to grow old is our one business in life. That is to say that the great problem is to develop our inner resources and to make one's self independent of our surroundings. All the animal pleasures, all the delights that come from wealth, travel, art, fame and success are to be transformed, if life itself is to be made love, to give vent to the richness of character, that makes one a delight to himself. Only the man who has not done this can be called a failure. Only he that has succeeded in this is a success.

In youth one finds himself full of many forces, physical, intellectual and emotional. He is a bundle of desires. He ought to be. It means life's forces run rich in him. So he desires to make love, to go vent to the richness of character, to obtain money, to play, to do great works, to see the marvels of the world, to amass knowledge, and altogether to give vent to the steam and electricity which Nature has concealed in his make-up.

Hence he gives himself to varied activities. By gratifying all these wants he becomes somewhat in the world.

But whether he be a real success or not depends not upon how he gives away to these desires but upon how he controls them. It is not the things he does and the things he gets that make him a great man; it is the residuary deposit left in his soul.

All these pleasures of getting and doing have their place, but the real object of them is that they shall pass over into the higher values of character.

So it is pitiful to see the old man who was once a sensualist, a vigorous merchant, or a political leader, and who now has nothing left but regret for his lost vitality. Had he understood the art of living he would have gained from his more active days a wealth of inner qualities, of spiritual strength and beauty; and instead of old age leaving him poverty stricken of happiness, it would have left him with the harvest treasures of wisdom and joy in life.

Adopt the philosophy of Omar Khayyam, take for your gospel, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die," seek only to "get all the fun you can out of life," and you exhaust all your inner resources, and your old age will be that of a beggar.

But begin in youth resolutely to choose the higher pleasures, to train yourself in independence from the domination of "things," and no reliance upon the pleasures of beauty, thought and love, and old age will come as the golden prize of life.

It is a question of nobility versus meanness. It is not enough to have a religion; it must be an ennobling and not a gloomy and narrow religion. Neither poverty nor riches matter; it all depends upon whether you are nobly poor, or nobly rich. Sickness or health do not determine the temper of your age; that is fixed by your being nobly feeble or nobly robust.

It is in old age that all the higher truths of life shine undimmed by any deceiving circumstance. Then, if you are petty, selfish, egotistic, grovelling and small souled, there is nothing to conceal it. If you are patient, loyal, full of faith and love it is apparent.

Old age is the quintessence of life. It is life made bare, in all its ugliness or beauty. So that at last we reach the point where we began, that the problem of growing old is no more nor less than the problem of life itself, and that the only way for the old man to be a joy to others is for him to be a joy to himself.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

When peeling a pineapple always leave the top on to hold on by.

Rub a little lemon juice on tarnished faucets to brighten them.

If you wish to store silver so that it will not tarnish pack it in dry flour.

Save the fir needles of the Christmas tree for sweet smelling pillows. Lemon and orange rinds may be dried, grated and bottled to be ready for use.

Scattered grated white potatoes over the carpets if you wish to clean them and freshen their colors.

Window shades that have become cracked and broken can be renovated by laying them flat on the floor and brushing them with oil and paint. Paint one side, let dry thoroughly, then paint the other side.

Before using cabbage, cauliflower or lettuce, the heads should be washed in salted water, to which a few teaspoonfuls of vinegar have been added. If this is done, any form of animal life will crawl out in two or three hours.

To prevent chapped hands in cold weather always dry them very carefully after washing.

Use old catalogues for pads for the kitchen table or cupboard or to try the fasteners on.

Before ironing a tablecloth the edges should be pulled straight making the corners even. It should then be ironed with heavy iron. Always iron it half dry on the wrong side and entirely dry on the right side.

A good chiffon blouse if simply made and separate from the silk undergarment can be successfully washed. To wash the blouse prepare a light lather by adding a little soap to a bowl of warm water. Gently press the garment between the hands. When it is clean press the moisture out carefully with the hands and rinse in clear water. Stiffen it slightly in gum water and iron on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron.

CONDENSED MILK IN COOKING.

Modern Precigilla.

The contents of the condensed milk can be of more use to the housekeeper than is generally appreciated. In most houses it is used for the breakfast-palating for the coffee, and it does not appear again until the next morning.

Condensed milk may be used in making custards with as good results as though the fresh dairy product was used.

It may be used in boiled salad dressing, in rice pudding, in muffins, and in making cake, all with equally good results.

A teaspoonful added to canned corn, peas, or squash, just before cooking, from the stove, gives the sweet, rich flavor of the fresh vegetable. In fact, condensed milk may be used as a substitute in almost every receipt calling for milk and sugar.

There being a difference of quality in the brands of milk on the market, a definite rule cannot be laid down for its use, but the housekeeper may find the milk with water until it is of the richness she desires, and omit the sugar, or part of the sugar in the receipt.

A good cook, noted for her delicate ious rice puddings, uses the fresh product and stirs the pudding at different intervals. In the last stirrings, she adds a large tablespoonful of condensed milk. The result is a very rich and cream pudding.

In making chocolate or cocoa it is the best milk to use.

FILLINGS FOR CAKES.

By Christyna Bee

Cream two rounding table-spoonfuls of sweet butter with all the pulverized sugar it will take up, thin with sweet cream so it will spread nicely, flavor with vanilla spread between layers, leaving a generous amount for top, after spreading top make deep creases.

Every one that tries this excellent filling will want more.

For variety coconut or cocoa may be added or nut meats, but the plain recipe given is in itself most delicious.

Another filling which many like is jelly thickened with pulverized sugar, spread only between layers.

Chopped raisins beaten into finely with egg whites, and sweetened is excellent.

A Good Catch.

WINNIPEG KEEP CHILDREN OFF STREETS

Speeding Automobiles Make Prairie City Streets Unsafe

TWO ACCIDENTS IN THE PAST WEEK

And in Both Cases Boys were Run Down and Killed by Automobiles

Edmonton Sore at "Made in Canada" Train.

Winnipeg, May 22.—Business in general lines of merchandise is fairly brisk, although there is still considerable complaint among the dealers in various important lines, the money is scarce. This applies especially to the lumber trade and affiliated lines. Crop conditions seem favorable although the weather has been rather cold and backward for May. Real estate is reasonably brisk but business in this line is by no means elastic and sales are rather sticky, unless the property is an exceptionally good one. As at all times when money is scarce, there are many who are willing to sacrifice in order to get cash for immediate needs and the scarcer the cash the more numerous are those who will make sacrifices.

The board of trade of Edmonton has decided to ignore the Made-in-Canada train which will make its tour of the west during the next few weeks. The reason given is the assertion that this excursion is used by eastern manufacturers to exhibit and boost their goods. A Winnipeg business man suggests that the manufacturers of the Edmonton district have the same privileges and if they do not take advantage of it, that is their own fault. There have been two boys run over and killed by automobiles in Winnipeg during the week. The injuries from this source consisted of two lads more or less injured. It is becoming more and more unsafe to indulge in the pastime of walking on Winnipeg's streets. The jury which dealt with one of the above cases recommended that a by-law be passed prohibiting children from playing on the streets. Another jury some months ago, in connection with the case of an old man who was run down and killed, mentioned the fact that the victim was old, deaf and near-sighted and that the driver of the car was therefore not responsible. It seems possible that the man who first said "justice is blind" was run down by an automobile.

Rev. Mr. Batty Goes West.

The Winnipeg Free Press, in commenting on the acceptance of the call to Zion Methodist Church, Winnipeg, by the Rev. J. L. Batty, makes the following comment: Many churches of pulpits in the Methodist Churches of the city will take place after the next conference and most of these have been publicly announced. One that has not been announced, is the successor to Rev. Dr. W. A. Cooke, of Zion Church. The quarterly board of that church has invited Rev. J. L. Batty, of Moncton, New Brunswick, to be their minister in succession to Dr. Cooke, who becomes superintendent of the Methodist city mission, and extension committee. Rev. J. L. Batty is one of the best known ministers in the Maritime Provinces. He has always labored in the east and held many of the most important churches there. He is a man of high character, personality, one of the strongest pulpits and platform speakers in eastern Methodism, and should be an acquisition to the preaching force of the city. He comes recommended as a powerful temperance advocate, and is strongly interested in the conservation of Protestant purity. Mr. Batty is an Englishman but has lived in eastern Canada for a long time. The invitation was originally that Mr. Batty succeed Dr. Cooke in a year's time, but the new appointment undertaken by Dr. Cooke made it desirable that he should come this year. On the request being made, Mr. Batty consented to come and take up his duties at Zion Church after the coming conference.

Publicity Work.

That the tremendous volume of publicity work carried on by boards of trade and similar bodies in western Canada, as well as by the railroads, brings results is indicated by a number of conspicuous incidents and conditions. Two of these which have been noted during the past week, stand out above the more or less usual conditions of immigration and the constant pouring in of a stream of newcomers from eastern Canada and from the Old Country. One of these incidents was the arrival at Winnipeg of nine Austrian families from the Argentine Republic where they had been engaged in farming for the past ten years. The other incident was the removal from Massachusetts, of some three hundred French Canadians who had settled there some time ago and who have now set out for the west.

The election of E. H. Taylor, the Conservative candidate in the bye-election in the constituency of Gimli, was the political event of the week. It was not generally believed that Mr. Taylor's majority would be as large as turned out to be the case and a much harder fight was expected. The local Liberal Press has confined itself to caustic comments upon the rejoicing of the Conservative workers from Winnipeg, when returning from the election. The Free Press was shocked and horrified that these workers should have sung songs and cheered when they arrived in Winnipeg. The result of the election means the

GERMAN DIPLOMACY AS MARKLIKE SPIRIT IN THE

WORLD STILL GO, AS THEY DID IN ANTIQUITY, TO THE ARMY THAT FIGHTS WITH DEATH AND BRAVERY

Berlin, May 22.—The Crown Prince of Germany, Frederick William, has written a preface to "Germany Under Arms" which is attracting a good deal of interested attention. In view of the fact that this young man is destined some day to rule the German Empire. From the inscription on the fly-leaf of the book, "The world rests no more securely upon the shoulders of Atlas than Germany upon its army and navy," down to the last words of the preface of the Crown Prince, "If the whole German people are resolved steadily to stake life and property, then even though a world full of devils stand in arms against us, we shall conquer," the words of Frederick William are alive with martial spirit and show a keen appreciation of certain tendencies in modern society.

With some unimportant omissions, the preface runs substantially as follows: "Our Fatherland, more than other countries, is compelled to rely upon its strong arm. Situated in the centre of Europe, poorly protected by unfavorable geographical frontiers, not regarded with love by all nations, it is the sacred duty of the German Empire to keep its army and navy ever at the highest point of readiness, to strike, only so, and relying upon our good sword, can we maintain our place, the place that belongs to us, but is not willingly conceded.

U. S. TREASURY SUED THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

Washington, May 22.—The Commonwealth of New Hampshire has lodged a claim for thirty-five cents against the Federal Government of the United States, and the worst of it is the United States has to pay, notwithstanding that economy must be the watchword of the Administration in face of tariff revision. Zealous States authorities in an unrelenting campaign against pests invaded the backyard of the Post Office Building at Dover, N. H., and discovered three brownish moth nests in a hard-working postal employee of their during their rest periods. The State "bugologists" without much ado destroyed the nests of the pernicious bugs, and nonchalantly presented a bill for thirty-five cents, evidently at the established rate of fifteen cents for each of the first nest and ten cents for each of the others. The postmaster protested vigorously, with the declaration that he himself could have annihilated the moths without expense if the state had pointed them out. An issue was threatened, and the quarrel was referred to the Treasury Department, Sherman Allen, assistant secretary of the treasury, who learned diplomacy as an assistant secretary to President Taft, conceded the point. After a formal bill and voucher are rendered a treasury warrant will be sent to the State.

DECIDING TIES

In case there are ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. For instance, if ten people tie on the correct solution, they would receive the first ten prizes, and those having the next nearest correct answers would receive the remaining prizes.

AS TO DIVIDEND PRIZES.

Same will be divided between those who have the correct or nearest correct answers. ALL DIVIDEND prizes will be divided pro rata according to the amount paid in by the winner. For example, if there are two contestants who tie having the correct or nearest correct answer, they will divide the first and second prizes of $100.00 and $75.00, giving them $57.50 each, and will also be entitled to DIVIDEND prizes, which is forty times the amount paid in for the first prize and twenty times the amount paid in on the second prize, the two tying will then be entitled to divide sixty times the amount they have paid in, making thirty times the amount paid in on their subscription.

Now, if one paid $2.00 and the other paid in $5.00, the one paying in $2.00 would receive thirty times the amount paid in or $60.00 as his DIVIDEND prize, while the one paying in $5.00 would also receive thirty times the amount paid in, or $150.00 as a DIVIDEND prize.

This same rule and example will be followed throughout in the awarding of prizes in case of ties.

SOLUTIONS AND PAYMENTS.

THE ST. JOHN STANDARD'S BIG PUZZLE CONTEST

No Trick or Chance Involved. Only Accuracy and Patience Required. Old and New Subscribers Can Enter. Note Carefully the Plan of Dividend Prizes.

HOW TO ENTER

This contest is restricted to people residing in the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

A payment on subscription to The St. John Standard of from $1.00 to $5.00 entitles the contestant to submit a solution of the puzzle. The amount of money paid in will cover the subscription price for the paper according to the regular rate, whether the rate be for city delivery or by mail.

AS MANY DIFFERENT SOLUTIONS MAY BE SUBMITTED AS THE CONTESTANT DESIRES UPON MAKING AN ADDITIONAL PAYMENT WITH EACH ONE, BUT NOT MORE THAN $5.00 CAN BE PAID WITH ANY ONE SOLUTION.

It is not necessary to pay the same amount with each solution if more than one be submitted.

As the main prizes have an added value according to what is paid in on subscription with the winning solution, contestants should familiarize themselves with the DIVIDEND schedule before sending in their subscription and solutions.

Remit by check, money order, registered letter or in 1 or 2-cent stamps. Whatever is paid, whether on one or a number of solutions, will apply on a continuous subscription to The Standard.

Solutions unaccompanied by cash subscription will not be registered. This contest is open to both old and new subscribers within the territory designated.

DECIDING TIES

In case there are ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. For instance, if ten people tie on the correct solution, they would receive the first ten prizes, and those having the next nearest correct answers would receive the remaining prizes.

If there should be more ties than there are prizes offered a second puzzle will be presented. No money will have to accompany the solution of the second puzzle. The second puzzle will be practicable and solvable.

In the event of ties on the second puzzle, a third will be presented to those that have tied. The second and third puzzles will be used only in case of ties. Their purpose will be merely to decide ties, so that in the event there is a tie, the prizes can be awarded without having to divide them or without resorting to chance.

However, only three puzzles will be presented, and in the seemingly impossible event of still another tie, the prizes will be equally divided. If there are no ties, there will be only one puzzle.

AS TO DIVIDEND PRIZES.

Same will be divided between those who have the correct or nearest correct answers. ALL DIVIDEND prizes will be divided pro rata according to the amount paid in by the winner.

For example, if there are two contestants who tie having the correct or nearest correct answer, they will divide the first and second prizes of $100.00 and $75.00, giving them $57.50 each, and will also be entitled to DIVIDEND prizes, which is forty times the amount paid in for the first prize and twenty times the amount paid in on the second prize, the two tying will then be entitled to divide sixty times the amount they have paid in, making thirty times the amount paid in on their subscription.

Now, if one paid $2.00 and the other paid in $5.00, the one paying in $2.00 would receive thirty times the amount paid in or $60.00 as his DIVIDEND prize, while the one paying in $5.00 would also receive thirty times the amount paid in, or $150.00 as a DIVIDEND prize.

This same rule and example will be followed throughout in the awarding of prizes in case of ties.

Count the Circles

Copyright 1913, J. R. Colburn.

THE PROBLEM

The problem is to count the circles. Every circle is complete and intersects or touches one or more other circles. There are no parts of circles or shams or deceptions of any sort in the puzzle. In the event that no one counts the exact number the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. Accuracy and patience are the main requisites for arriving at the correct or nearest correct count. Those who display these qualifications to the best advantage will solve the puzzle best.
