(Time) paid Josephine Mansfield $2,000 to contribute to her suit. They were unwilling to compromise, but other parties implicated, especially certain Boston bankers in high standing, insisted on a compromise on the ground that the scandal that Erik and Mansfield's conduct would reflect on the court. Erik is declared to have paid witness, lawyers and malcontents very liberally to have the disgraced matter settled. She had made a good thing out of the scandal since leaving Boston, having a $40,000 house, a liberal bank account, no end of jealousy, and now this additional cause. It is generally believed that the last public appearance of the litigant was today, when it was set down for trial three weeks hence.

THE INTERNATIONAL F. H. HALL IN NEW YORK.

Preparing for the Sunday March.

Our New York exchanges of Sunday contain the programme of the Communist Parade, fixed for that day, with approbation of the authorities.

Permission having been extorted from the Police Commissioners by the members of the International societies to hold their parade and funeral procession in honor of the Communist leaders lately executed in Paris, the arrangements have been completed. The banners which will be carried in the procession are very handsome and bear appropriate inscriptions.

The order of formation has been settled upon: The military, having the right of the line, will form on 8th street and the Bowery. Hawkins Zouaves have been assigned to the guard of honor, and will form a hollow square, in which the catafalque will be placed, with the pall-bearers on either side, and the French refugees following on foot. On 7th street the workmen's union and all the trade unions which intend to take part in the procession will march. Here also the ladies who have crossed their determination to march on foot, have been assigned positions of honor. Among these will be Miss Victoria C. Woodhull and Miss Emma C. Chaffin, the broad street brokers, Miss Palmer, a reporter, and Mrs. Woodhull, a very handsome and very enthusiastic Communist. Citizen Mary Hall, delegate from London, England, will carry in her hand a red flag. Twenty or thirty flags of the same sanguinary color will be borne by the sections. Several rings will be in line for the use of ladies and children only. The catafalque will be large and tastefully built. It will be draped in black, decorated with red flags and streamers and drawn by six horses. It will be taken to the Cooper Institute by sections 2 and 29 of the International. In the march it will be surrounded by a guard of honor, composed of Zouaves. M. M. Deane and Mrs. (late) commander of Fort (sic), will be the pall-bearers, and with them will walk the refugees from Paris—about twelve in number. All the banners will not be red. At several points in the procession flags of deep black and having the following inscription in white letters will be displayed:

"TO THE MARTYRS OF THE UNREVEALED REVOLUTION."

The Cuban and Spanish secret societies will form on Sixth street. The other civic bodies will form on Fifth street, and the Internationalists, taking the left, will bring up the rear of the procession. The following sections of the Internationalists will take part in the procession: Sections 2, 6, 10, 12, 13, 25, 29 and 131 of New York, 18 of Newark, 29 of Philadelphia, and a sectional formation in Hoboken. Almost all the societies and colors, and all religions will be represented. On 3d street the carriages with private citizens will take up the rear. At least 10,000 Internationalists will be in line. Altogether about 10,000 people will take part in the funeral parade. The head of the column will start from the Cooper Institute at 1 P. M. An escort of police will be furnished the procession, and a large reserve will be in readiness to quell any disturbances that may occur. At a meeting this evening, Mr. Banks read a communication from the daughters of Cuba, expressing sympathy with the cause and approving the principles of the society. De F. Train sent a subscription of $40 to assist in paying the expenses of the parade. Mrs. Woodhull sent $100. Subscriptions were also received from several members of newspaper offices.

BRITISH POLICY IN THE FAR EAST.—THE ANNEXATION OF SUMATRA.—Great Britain still keeps stretching out her arms. One of our latest items of news is the fact that the lower house of the Dutch Parliament has voted the cession of the island of Sumatra, one of the largest and finest islands in the Indian Sea, to the British government. In spite of her so-called decay Great Britain keeps building up a grand oceanic empire. Let any man glance at the map, and looking at India, on the one hand, and Australia on the other, he will see the value of Sumatra as an integral portion of the British dominions. Java and New Guinea must follow; and then Great Britain in the Malay Archipelago will have no rival. Why should we be so anxious about the annexation when Great Britain is so anxious and so active?—N. Y. Herald.

The Herald editorially agrees with the President on the San Domingo question.

SEVENTY-ONE MILLIONS IN CHANCERY.—Among the many facts which are disclosed by the Judicial Statistics for 1870, which have just been published, it may be said that the vast amount of the funds belonging to suitors which are in the custody of the Court of Chancery. Through the operation of the various laws which have been passed since the year 1800, the amount of out of court money has increased to the extent of nearly $200,000,000 those paid in. Yet in spite of this immense sum, the securities held in the hands of the court amount to more than $100,000,000. The bulk of this is invested in consols, and a very large portion of it must be held by the court for long and indefinite terms. In very many trusts, however, funds are offered to be brought into court and investigated in the Accountant-General's name—the dividends being paid from time to time to persons entitled to receive them, and the principal being transferred after the death of those persons to the trustees. There are instances in which large sums in consols have thus stood for forty and sixty years in the hands of the Accountant-General to credit of certain suits if the state of the law should permit them to be made towards the reduction of the national debt by the substitution of tenable for permanent annuities. Mr. Lowe may find in the Chancery stocks a means of repeating the operation whereby most of the stocks held by the savings banks were converted into terminable annuities.

A London correspondent writes: "The quidnuncs are talking about another Royal marriage similar to the last. These omniscient gentlemen profess to know that an arrangement has been made for the archbishop Prince Arthur to the daughter of the Duke of Abercorn, the Duke of Argyll. This rumor must apply to the youngest daughter, all the rest being already happy wives. Such a marriage would connect the Prince with many leading families on both sides of politics. The Duke, of course, is a Conservative, and would balance the Liberal Duke of Argyll. His son-in-law is the Admiral Lord of Lichfield, the Liberal Earl of Durbach, the Conservative Lord of Dalkeith and Mount Edgemoor, the Liberal Marquis of Lonsdowne, and the Conservative Marquis of Blandford. Truly a good phalanx of pearls and strawberries."
