Fire destroyed the plant of the Independent Brewery Company, Cincinnati, Firemen Charles Jennings and Charles Hollis were caught under a falling wall and were severely injured. Jennings probably fatally. The loss is estimated at $100,000; fully insured.

Vacant Seat in Quebec.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—At Ste. Scholastique Justice Taschereau gave judgment in the Two Mountains contested election case. J. A. C. Ethier, M. P. for Two Mountains, was unseated, and his election was annuled for corrupt practices. Mr. Ethier thereupon tendered his resignation, and a new election will shortly be held.

W. J. Stanley, one of the telephone construction gang, had a narrow escape from serious injury at Chatham the other morning. He was working at the top of a 25-foot telegraph pole, removing the wires, when the pole, which was rotten at the base, fell to the ground, throwing Stanley on a pile of steel rails. Luckily, he was not badly injured.

THERE SEEMS VERY LITTLE HOPE OF HAVING CHEAP COAL

Consumers Must Expect to Pay High Prices.

LINES ARE TIGHTLY DRAWN

Strike Has Entered Upon Its Eighteenth Week—Operators Look for a Break.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—The anthracite mine workers' strike enters upon its eighteenth week today, with the lines between the operator and the miner drawn almost as tightly as when the suspension was inaugurated on May 12. There were many predictions that the contest would be over by the first week in September, but if the officials of the Mine Workers' Union are to be believed, the struggle will continue for months unless the coal companies grant concessions. Some of the operators looked for a serious break in the ranks of the men weeks ago, and admit they are surprised at the way the strikers are holding out. Rumors are current and, in fact, statements have been made by prominent men both in and out of the coal trade, that the strike will be ended this month. President Mitchell, of the union, maintains he knows nothing of any meetings on foot looking to that end.

EXTRA LEGISLATURE SESSION.

The only move now in contemplation is the suggestion that Gov. Stone call an extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of passing a law that would have the effect of amicably and speedily ending the deadlock. Gov. Stone has given the matter considerable thought, and has announced that if a bill can be framed that will have the desired effect he will immediately convene the Legislature.

Last week more coal left the mining region than in any previous week since the strike began. Statements have been made by mining officials that the shipment for the last six working days aggregated 100,000 tons. The normal weekly output is a little more than 1,000,000 tons.

COST OF STRIKE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers, on Saturday gave out this statement on the strike situation which completed the seventeenth week:

Approximate loss, $100,000,000.
Length of strike, seventeen weeks.
Number of miners involved, 147,000.
Miners' average weekly wages, $7.
Average weekly output of mines, 1,250,000 tons.
Normal price of anthracite coal, $4 50 per ton.
Normal cost of production, $1 50 per ton.
Had mines been operated 21,500,000 tons would have been mined in the period covered by the strike.
Market value of this coal would have been $93,625,000.
Total weekly wages of strikers, approximately, $1,029,000.
They would have earned in seventeen weeks, $17,493,000.
Total cost of producing coal ready for market would have been $31,875,000.
Operators profit would have been $63,750,000.
Loss to mining property during idleness, $6,000,000.
Operators have spent $1,000,000 in policing and protecting property.
State of Pennsylvania has spent $300,000 to keep troops in the field.

COAL HELD BY THE RAILROADS.

All the fuel that is leaving the coal fields is not reaching the markets. A considerable quantity is being taken by the railroads for their own use. The coal companies say they have long lists of names of men who are ready to return to work, but are unwilling to take the chance because they fear violence. With the coming of cooler weather the companies look for a break.

Company officials do not look for a rapid decline in the price of coal after the strike is over, because the demand will be greater than the supply. It is estimated that not more than 75 per cent of the mines will be in condition for immediate operation when the strike is ended.

KING EDWARD CARNEGIE'S GUEST

His Majesty a Visitor at the Home of Steel King.

ROYAL BRIDE IN BORIS COTTAGE

American-Made Golf Balls Are Introduced at English Links—Tailors Capture Boers.

London, Sept. 8.—King Edward on Saturday took a trip in a motor car to Dornock, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, accompanied by the Duke of Sutherland, the Marquis of Soveral, the Portuguese Minister to Great Britain and Austen Chamberlain, the postmaster-general. His majesty proceeded from Golspie, by way of Skibo Castle, where he visited the Carnegies, and thence rode to Dornock station. The King looked particularly well.

CARNEGIES AT SEA.

On Friday the Carnegie house party was invited to tea at Dunrobin Castle to meet King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The party consisted of United States Ambassador Choate and Mrs. Choate, Mr. and Mrs. James Bryce and several others.

At the visit to Skibo Castle, King Edward's suite took tea with the Carnegies and drove through the grounds, admiring the gardens and grounds. "God Save the King" was played on the organ as the royal party entered and the pipers repeated it as his majesty drove off.

King Edward expressed great delight at the attractions of Skibo Castle.

IN BORIS COTTAGE.

The St. Petersburg season is over, and there is a general rush of court and diplomatic society to Yalta and other Crimean resorts, or to Denmark and France. The Empress is going to Moscow to visit her sister, the Grand Duchess Sergius, before proceeding to Yalta with the Emperor and children.

Prince Nicholas and his bride, instead of driving on the night of the wedding to the distant Repsha Palace, as was the programme, sped behind four long-maned, flowing-tailed Giroff trotters to an ideal snuggery in the middle of Sarskoeselo Park, which the Grand Duke Boris built. It is an English house, with English furniture, and moved to Ropsha Palace, which the Emperor loaned them.

ON THE LINKS.

Golf circles in England are excited over the advent of the American-made golf balls. The present trend of argument here is that unless the American balls are suppressed, the golf links will have to be enlarged. But it is only the extremists who go so far. Sensible followers of the ancient and honorable game do not anticipate any radical changes will be necessitated by the use of more lively American balls.

CAPTURED BY TAILORS.

It is interesting to learn, says the Tailor and Cutter, that when Gens. Dewet and Botha came to London they recognized the superiority of British tailoring by placing orders with London tailors for black frock coats and suits. The time was short, but the garments were tried on board the boat before they sailed, with instructions to send them on to Amsterdam as soon as finished.

"We have no doubt," continues the journal, "that the generals will present a very much smarter appearance than would have been the case had they placed orders on the continent."

THE BOER CONFERENCE.

What transpired at Friday's conference is little more than what happens when one member of the cabinet receives a trade or other delegation in support of its particular views. No topic really vital to the conquered republics, so far as their relations to the outside world are concerned, could be admitted to discussion; such points were irrevocably settled when the terms of peace were signed. The concessions which the Boer generals urged Mr. Chamberlain to make were almost vitally important to individual Boers, especially to land owners, but of comparatively small importance to the rank and file in England, except to those who, through investment or otherwise, are directly concerned in South Africa.

The British Government will give the Boers all it can, in a desire to gain their co-operation in the establishment of the new regime, but already there is a good-sized storm brewing among the Boers of Cape Colony, Natal and Rhodesia and among the British residents of the South African colonies over what is termed "the Imperial Government's anxiety to reward disloyalty and aggression." One of the colonial premiers recently said to a representative of the Associated Press: "Mr. Chamberlain is more scared now by the South African loyalists than he ever was by the Boers. With such conditions prevailing, it is obviously impossible for Mr. Chamberlain immediately to secure any important concessions for the Boers, even though he may recognize the justice of their claims."

DUKE'S FAMOUS STABLE.

The Duke and Duchess of Fife, who are now at Mar Lodge, Scotland, have been exciting much admiration by the magnificent stud of horses they have acquired. They are remarkable for their style and speed. The stud numbers about 20 riding and carriage horses.

CANADIAN LAND BOOM.

The Investors' Review, in an article on the Canadian land boom, refers to the rapid rise of certain shares, and says newspapers have done their utmost to help on the boom by statements and interviews, which fairly bristle with optimistic, even enthusiastic, views. The paper, continuing, says: These are part and parcel of the game. The whole thing is very largely of the nature of a fake originated by unscrupulous financiers, who thus agree to enrich themselves and who care not a brass farthing for the misery their schemes are certain to bring on their victims.

PUT TACKS ON RACE TRACK.

The frequenters of trotting meetings round Paris are interested in an affair the principal person concerned in which is a wealthy bookmaker, Paul Blain, who placed a green board studded with nails on the bagatelle training track. When he was arrested he stated that his purpose was to puncture the pneumatics of the sulkies and spoil the chances of heavily backed trotters and thus win money.

Many officers used the track for riding exercise, increasing the gravity of the affair. Further proceedings were postponed.

NEW IDEAS OF RELIGION.

Rev. Wilson Carlisle, honorary chief secretary of the Church Army, which he founded in the slums of 1882, is introducing what is designated here as "American ideas of religion," with a vigor that startled his more orthodox brethren. His latest is a moving picture service, commencing next week. The pictures will be the chief attraction of the midday service at his church in East Cheap. Only sacred representations will be allowed, accompanied by a short address. By this means the Rev. Mr. Carlisle hopes to attract Londoners to his church. At the conclusion of the service all the worshipers will be given a free cup of coffee. The Rev. Mr. Carlisle will precede this service Sept. 10 with a surpliced choir and band procession through the graveyard opposite Billingsgate Market, where he will deliver an address on the deliberations of the Trades Union Congress. Thence he will return to his church for the moving picture service.

ALPINE ACCIDENTS.

According to recent statistics, Alpine accidents this season registered over sixty victims, thirty-six above the average, from Aug. 10 to 24. Seventeen fatalities took place, including three deaths, on Mont Blanc; six on the Wetterhorn, two in the Calton Vatais, two in the Grisons and two in the Alps of the Canton Vaud.

The Wetterhorn thus holds the record.

The majority of the accidents were due to natural phenomena and occurred in districts not usually regarded as dangerous.

HAVE EYES ON CANADA

United States Industries That May Have Branches Here.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Mr. Charlton, M.P., who is in the city, said yesterday: "I am devoting my energies just now to securing reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States."

The General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y., has over 200 hands at work sorting and shipping mica. The management state that within a year machinery will be installed for additional treatment of the mica, which work is now carried forward at the American headquarters. This work, the managers say, can be done to better advantage and at cheaper rates in Ottawa, hence a decision to transfer operations. The plan of work for the Ottawa factory when finally realized will call for the employment of over 1,000 hands. New mines are being secured and developed in the Gatineau region and at Carp, and large quantities of the mineral are being secured in the neighborhood of Sydenham, Frontenac County.

The Collins Cigar Company, of Pittsburg, is conducting negotiations with Canadian officials for the establishment of a Canadian branch at Ottawa. The manager of the company is expected in Ottawa shortly.

Negotiations with a New York rubber tire company for a location in Ottawa are also in progress.

BOER DEMANDS WERE REJECTED

General Appeal Will Be Made for Aid.

THE SWAZIS ARE THREATENING

Rumors of Changes in Mr. Balfour's Ministry—Differences With Lord Curzon.

London, Sept. 8.—Brussels telegrams state that the demands of the Boer generals have been rejected by Mr. Chamberlain, and that on Saturday Gen. Botha received merely polite assurances of the colonial secretary's good-will. It is reported that the generals will issue a proclamation asking for financial aid from Europe and America.

THE SWAZIS THREATENING.

The Swazis are threatening trouble in South Africa. They are unable to understand that, as a consequence of the conquest of the South African Republic, the administration of Swaziland has passed into the keeping of the British crown. There is no doubt about Great Britain's intentions; she does not mean to allow the Swazis to have independence, but there may be some fighting before the sovereignty is recognized. The population of Swaziland is about 70,000, and the people, who speak the Zulu dialect, are well armed and have large reserves of ammunition.

CHANGES IN THE CABINET.

There are already rumors of changes in Mr. Balfour's stopgap ministry. Lord George Hamilton will not, it is stated, remain many weeks longer at the India office, and Lord Balfour of Burleigh is freely named as his successor. Lord Balfour of Burleigh is an extremely astute Scotch peer. He has had a good deal of administrative experience as secretary for Scotland, and his transfer to the India office would undoubtedly strengthen the Government.

DIFFERENCES WITH LORD CURZON.

Lord George Hamilton has always been a weak spot, and it is an open secret that he has not worked cordially with Lord Curzon. The Indian Viceroy's influence is very considerable, and the recent rumors of his impending resignation were possibly traceable to dissatisfaction with the conduct of Indian affairs at Whitehall. At any rate, Lord Curzon has since announced his intention to retain the viceroyalty, and it is significant that this decision should be made just when rumors are current of changes in the India office.

FAILED TO SWIM THE BAY

Madam Liljens Attacked by Cramps After Going a Mile.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Madam Marian Liljens, the Swedish high diver at the exposition, attempted to swim across the bay Sunday under most discouraging weather conditions, but was forced to quit, after swimming a mile, because of an attack of cramps.

A southwest gale, which kicked up whitecaps in the bay and capsized several boats, prevailed, and the water was very cold. As it was plainly impossible to swim in the teeth of the gale and against the sea, the swimmer was taken to Hanlan's Point, where, against the advice of Commodore Loudon, of the Queen City Yacht Club, and the members of the club who went over to see the start, she began, accompanied by L. E. Marsh. Though the seas broke over the plucky swimmer's head and the gale shifted around to the northwest in her face, Madam Liljens stuck to her task. Twice she was attacked by muscular cramps, but still she swam on, until an attack which rendered both legs useless forced her to give up. She was hauled into the boat, after covering a mile. Marsh swam on, but the icy water tied him up when he was only 300 yards from the goal, and he, too, was hauled into the boat. Madam Liljens says she will swim across and back some day this week, if the weather is favorable.

TOBACCO FACTORY BURNED

Destruction of Erie Company's Works at Kingsville.

Jesse Robinson Burned to Death—Other Conflagrations.

Cincinnati, Sept. 6.—Early today fire destroyed the plant of the Independent Brewery Company. Two firemen were caught under a falling wall and severely injured. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 7.—A disastrous fire occurred at Latimer on Thursday, when the residence of Thomas Sherwood was destroyed. About 11 o'clock the building was discovered to be on fire, and the inmates barely escaped with their lives.

Carberry, Man., Sept. 6.—Last night John MacFae, a farmer living twelve miles away, lost his large barn and granary, together with some other buildings, by fire. Loss $3,000, no insurance. The careless dropping of a lighted match by a harvester is the alleged cause.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Kingsville, Ont., Sept. 7.—A destructive fire, accompanied with loss of life, occurred in this town last night. At 11:45 p.m. the alarm was given that the Erie Tobacco Company's plant was on fire. Although the fire department responded promptly, the flames were soon beyond control, and in a short time the plant was in ruins.

Fred Fox, secretary of the company, and Jesse Robinson, the professor, occupied a room adjoining the office, on the first floor. Mr. Fox, being ill, retired early, about the same time Mr. Robinson left the building to visit some friends. At the hour above mentioned Mr. Fox was awakened by the crackling of flames in the office. With the assistance of the watchman, after sending in an alarm, they fought the fire until driven from the building by the smoke.

Up to this time Mr. Fox had no idea that Robinson had returned to the building. A search today, however, resulted in finding his charred remains near the rear door, which he was doubtless trying to find when overcome by the smoke and heat. Robinson had been with the company since its organization, coming from the Globe Tobacco Company, at Detroit, with which company he received his expert education. He has a widowed mother living in Detroit.

The building was owned by Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville, was erected two years ago especially for the Erie Tobacco Company, and was valued at $15,000. Amount of insurance, if any, unknown. The tobacco company's loss is about $20,000; insurance not yet ascertained.

AUTOMOBILISTS FORM ARMY CORPS

Lord Roberts in Favor of the Proposed Scheme.

RICH OWNERS MAKE THE OFFER

Soldiers Take Kindly to the Idea—Police Made Weary by Cunning Drivers.

London, Sept. 8.—The progress of automobilism has been well to the front the past week. Automobile owners are evidently taking the deepest interest in the proposal made by Mr. Mark Mayhew for the formation of a volunteer corps of automobilists, which commander-in-Chief Lord Roberts has decided in favor of. Mr. Mayhew has prepared a circular to be sent out to automobile owners shortly, with Lord Roberts' approval, with a view to obtaining recruits.

The proposal to enroll as large a number as possible of gentlemen who are willing to register one or more machines for military purposes when required and drive or provide a driver for them. The operations of the corps will be confined strictly to the United Kingdom.

It will, in times of peace, take part in military maneuvers, and in times of war the corps will be called upon to perform many duties, such as carrying staff officers from point to point, transporting signaling apparatus, taking dispatches and even moving light machine guns.

MANY VOLUNTEERS.

Mr. Mayhew anticipates being able to enroll at least a hundred automobile owners in the next few months, and that by next summer, when the duties commence in earnest, the numbers will be considerably beyond that.

The past has been a big week for the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland, which has been holding what are called reliability trials over various roads in the country. Nearly every day long runs have been made.

While nothing very remarkable has been achieved, there have been remarkably few mishaps. Much fun was got out of dodging the alert police, who were watching for fast drivers.

It was noticed on one particular ride that the muster of police was very strong. They were not so carefully hidden but that they could be seen by the watchful riders on the foremost automobile, and one of the riders dismounted and retraced his steps to warn those who were following.

MAKE POLICE WEARY.

The result was that the police had a weary day without being able to make out a single case. The Duke of Marlborough, who has taken up automobiling, believes in keeping the machine under his own control, even though he is not driving himself. To accomplish this result, the duke has fitted his fifteen horse-power Mors with an ingenious arrangement, designed by himself, which takes the form of an indicator on the dashboard similar to the telegraph used on board ship. On the dial are directions to stop, go on, turn to the left or right, go slower, or faster, turn right around, etc.

By means of an electric button the duke, serenely seated in the shelter of the limousine body, is able to direct the driver without exposing the occupants of the automobile to the weather.

CANADIAN FAILURES FEWER

Interesting Extract From Dun's Review of Sept. 6, 1902.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Returns from the Dominion of Canada covering insolvencies during August were conspicuously favorable in comparison with the corresponding month last year. Failures numbered only 83 against 132 a year ago, while liabilities were $469,349 against $1,045,514 last year. There were 14 defaults in manufacturing for $81,650, compared with 35 for $491,317 in 1901, and 68 in trading for $386,499, against 96 last year, involving $553,497. Numerically the decrease was very generally distributed, but the improvement as to liabilities was most striking in the division embracing failures of manufacturers. This was partly due to the fact there were no large disasters this year, while in 1901 two contractors suspended owing $280,000. Aside from this special difference, however, the exhibit is very much better than a year ago.

Jamaica Ginger Drunkards.

Millville, N. J., Sept. 6. — Although this is a local option town, and no license can be obtained for the sale of liquor, drunkenness is growing into a positive curse. The glass blowers and mill hands go on protracted Jamaica ginger sprees, have delirium tremens and engage in desperate fights.

Throughout this portion of New Jersey the "Jamaica ginger jag" is a recognized evil. The man who finds his whisky cut off and tries the stupefying effects of Jamaica ginger, as concocted in the country drug store, is lost. Comparatively mild Bourbon no longer tickles his palate; he pines for the fiery high spirits, frequently wood alcohol, and the peppery ginger root, which go to make up country Jamaica ginger.

There is one drug store in this town which does a tremendous business in making drunkards. The glass blowers, now out of employment through the shutting down of the glass works, hang about the place all day long. The casual visitor would imagine, from the outside, that it was an ordinary groggery. Women as well as men are addicted to the habit. The victims hold that they are not drunkards, because they do not touch liquor. But the physicians say that a Jamaica ginger drunkard is more helpless than the absinthe devotee or the morphine field.

GAS TURNED ON FULL

F. Waccheter, of Formosa, Ont., Asphyxiated in a Toronto Hotel.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 6.—F. Wrighter, of Formosa, Ont., was suffocated by gas at the Bull's Head Hotel. He went to bed about 11 last night, and was shown by the bellboy how to turn the gas out. At 10 a.m. today the porter opened the door and found the gas turned on full and fanlight closed. The man had been dead for three or four hours. His brother and tion, and the brother was in the exhibition, and the brother left in the exhibition grounds. The body will be taken to Walkerton for burial. No inquest will be held.

REMARKABLE PETITION

Sent to the Pope in the Interests of Society and Religion.

London, Sept. 8.—According to the Daily Chronicle's Rome correspondent, a well-known ecclesiastic has forwarded a remarkable petition to the Pope, "In the interests of civilized society and the honor of religion in Italy," he begs the pontiff to grant plenary indulgence to all priests or monks who shall wash themselves daily, with extra partial indulgence to those shaving regularly at the least three times a week, during a specified period.

"Students belonging to the Teutonic and Anglo-Saxon colleges at Rome," continues the correspondent, "are easily recognizable by their general neatness and cleanliness, but in the Italian seminaries and monastic novitiates the traditional sanctity of dirt still holds sway. In most of them, soap, hairbrush and looking-glass are worldly luxuries excluded by rule, and the clerics emerging therefrom perpetuate the tradition. The Pope on occasion has evinced annoyance at the unkempt condition of monks who have come in close contact with his august person. Visitors to Italy will heartily welcome the innovation."

MIMIC WAR IS OVER

Battle Between U. S. Land and Sea Forces Brought to a Close.

Block Island, R. I., Sept. 8. — The mimic war being over, the North Atlantic squadron, which mobilized here Saturday after the maneuvers of the week, separated, to go to various stations.

Before the flagship Kearsage left, Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson made this statement:

"I regard the maneuvers of the week as being most beneficial to the navy. We have been taught to know what to do under conditions of war and our experience has been of almost incalculable value. In my opinion these maneuvers should be held every summer. The presence of the naval militia added much to the interests of the occasion and the services of these men have been very satisfactory."

The admiral refused to give an opinion whether the army or navy had won in the war game, but he manifested great satisfaction with the manner in which the ships in his command had been conducted.

New London, Conn., Sept. 8.—Major-General McArthur has sent a telegram to all commanders, expressing his entire satisfaction with the work of the army during the war maneuvers.

COAL WASTED

Freight Sheds at Durand Burned—Sixty Cars of Coal on Fire.

Durand, Mich., Sept. 6.—The Ann Arbor and Grand Trunk Railroad freight sheds here have been destroyed by fire. Sixty cars of coal and a freight train half a mile down the track from the sheds are now burning. The loss will be at least $150,000.

CLEVER ROYAL AUTHOR

King Oscar of Sweden is Poet, Historian, Essayist and Critic.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The announcement that King Oscar of Sweden is shortly to publish his memoirs, following upon the recent French translation of the royal poet's verse, has drawn attention to the fact that, with the possible exception of Carmen Sylva, the descendant of Bernadotte is the most versatile of contemporaneous royal authors, for King Oscar is a man of letters in every sense of the word—poet, historian, essayist and critic.

A scientist of eminence, his attainments in this direction received public recognition some time ago, when he was elected an honorary member of the Imperial Society of Naturalists of Moscow. He is a member of the leading scientific societies of the world and a D. C. L. of Oxford University.

Like most of his royal confreres, King Oscar has been decorated with nearly every order in Europe—that goes without saying—but the honor he cherishes the most is the medal of the French Humans Society, presented to his majesty 36 years ago, when he was still crown prince. As he was walking along the Corniche road one afternoon, a runaway carriage and pair dashed towards him, whereupon the Prince, with his usual presence of mind, ran to the horses' heads, and, after being dragged several yards, succeeded in stopping them. For this act of courage he received the medal.

Potatoes Blighted.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 5.—It was reported by officials of Cornell agricultural department this morning that one-half of the potato crop of New York State would be totally ruined as the result of blight. The wet weather is held responsible for the result. Central New York farmers will suffer the greatest loss from this cause.

NO PERSON should go from home without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial in their possession, as change of water, cooking, climate, etc., frequently brings on summer complaint, and there is nothing like being ready with a sure remedy at hand, which oftentimes saves great suffering, and frequently valuable lives. This Cordial has gained for itself a widespread reputation for affording prompt relief from all summer complaints.

Economy may be wealth, but it doesn't cut much ice in a will.

A DEVASTATING RIVER OF LAVA

Is Flowing Over the Ruins of St. Pierre.

DETAILS OF RECENT ERUPTIONS

In the Islands of St. Vincent and Martinique—The People Are Panic-Stricken.

Kingston, St. Vincent, Sept. 8.—Authentic reports received here from various sources confirm the statements that the eruption of Mont Pelee, Island of Martinique, during the night of Aug. 30, was the most terrific experienced. The captain of the French Transatlantic steamer Salvador, which has arrived here, says:

"I left for Fort de France on the afternoon of Aug. 30. On passing St. Pierre at 7 o'clock at night Mont Pelee was in violent eruption. At 4 in the morning of Aug. 31, on approaching the Islands of Les Saintes, volcanic ashes began to fall. I arrived at Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadaloupe, at 5 o'clock in the morning, but was unable to enter the harbor until 11 o'clock, everything being obscured by falling ashes." Passengers who reached here on the steamer Dahome, and who witnessed the eruption, say that the discharges from Mont Pelee consisted of dense clouds of steam, and came out of a large hole in the side of the volcano at regular intervals of five minutes.

RIVER OF LAVA.

They add that while the Dahome steamed away out of the darkness and from the approaching volcanic cloud, which was emitting flames, they saw a stream of lava a quarter of a mile wide flowing over the ruins of St. Pierre.

SOUFRIERE IS ACTIVE.

Dispatches received here from every island of the Leeward group say that terrible detonations were heard during the night of Aug. 30, causing panics among the inhabitants, and that during the morning of Aug. 31 thick darkness prevailed. Ashes fell throughout that day. The Soufriere volcano on this island is greatly agitated today. It is discharging dense clouds of steam, accompanied by rumbling noises. The eruption commenced last night, and is increasing in severity this morning. The people residing near the fire zone have been notified by the administrator of the island to leave Georgetown, Chateau Bellair and the villages and estates in the northern portion of the island were evacuated this afternoon. There is no telephonic communication with the affected district, the operators having left their posts. From Kingstown, as this dispatch is filed, towering efflorescent, fleecy clouds are seen over the Soufriere and indicate a violent disturbance.

A press dispatch from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, Friday announced that there was a terrific explosion last Wednesday from the Soufriere, in St. Vincent.

DREADFUL ERUPTION.

Kingstown, Thursday, Sept. 4.—An appalling phenomenon was witnessed here last night. It lasted from 9 to 5 o'clock this morning. A dreadful eruption of the Soufriere volcano enveloped this whole island in an electric cloud and smoke. At 11 o'clock this morning the atmostphere is still unsettled, but the eruption is apparently subsiding. The sun is obscured, and oppressive heat prevails. The sea is slightly agitated. Sand had fallen ten miles from the crater. No sand has fallen here. The northern centers are deserted. Officials have been sent from here by boat to visit the northern parishes, and, if possible, to report the destruction of property and loss of life.

CHATEAU BELLAIRE SAFE.

An official who has just returned here found that Chateau Bellaire was safe. Only a small quantity of sand and stone fell there. An adjacent estate, Fitzhugh's, suffered generally, all cultivation being destroyed. The parish is being evacuated. There was no loss of life. Georgetown is also safe.

No one ventured within the fire zone, the Soufriere being still in eruption. The destruction of the Carib country is presumably completed. The eruption of yesterday was longer in duration and more violent in action than even the first dire outburst of May 7.

With a haunting recollection of the fate of the St. Pierre and the first disaster here, the people converged on Kingstown and ran to and fro, seeking the safest shelters from the threatening electric cloud spreading over the hills towards the town, while shocks of earthquake, though not severe, increased the panic. At two in the morning, loud, rapid explosions were mingled with the

and the darkness changed into a constantly glimmering firmament illuminated by forked lightning, balls of fire ascending from the crater and bursting into meteorlike showers. Such an awe-inspiring scene the wildest flights of fancy could not have imagined. This lasted till three in the morning.

The rumor that a tidal wave was expected caused increased agitation and hundreds of people fled to the hills adjoining the town. Super-heated clouds rose to an immense height and raineloud below sent down two showers. At 6 a. m., serene, silver clouds were issuing from the crater, and throughout the day they moved slowly northward. The heat was abnormal, and there were renewed indication of a further outbreak of the volcano.

Last night there were unmistakable signs of Mont Pelee (Martinique) being in eruption simultaneously with the Soufriere, distinct electric flashes being observed on the northwestern horizon.

PANICSTRICKEN PEOPLE.

Danish West Indies, Sept. 6.—Advices from the Island of St. Vincent report that a slight eruption of the Soufriere volcano occurred at noon of Sept. 3. The outbreak was accompanied by rumblings and caused an exodus of the population from Georgetown and Chateau Bellaire. On the 4th, at 7:30 in the morning and again at 10 o'clock last night, loud noises resembling thunder were heard. These noises were accompanied by electrical discharges from La Soufriere, which continued until 1 o'clock in the morning, when a continuous roar began, lasting until 4 o'clock. This was followed by a murmuring sound, which was heard until 6 in the morning. In a shore time the heavens were obscured by dust or smoke and the scene was fearful. No one slept at all during the night.

Dust and pebbles fell at Barronoille at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 4th. Reports from Chateau Bellaire are to the effect that there has been a heavy fall of sand there and that the arrowroot cultivation on the Sharpe Petit Bordel and Richmond Vale has been destroyed by the sand.

GUADALOUPE.

Washington, Sept. 6.—In response to a cable of inquiry made by the State Department in view of the recent volcanic eruptions in the West Indies, the following was received today: "Pointe-a-Pitre, Sept. 6.—Guadaloupe safe. (Signed) Florandin, Vice-Consul."

PROF. LA CROIX EXPLAINS.

Paris, Sept. 6.—Neither the partial nor the total evacuation of the Island of Martinique has been decided upon. The only instruction sent to the governor which may have given rise to the report are directions to avoid a conglomeration at Fort de France by the distribution of the fugitives in the southern communes. The Government will shortly again send to Martinique Professor La Croix, who was head of the last scientific mission, for the purpose of establishing a permanent observation station on the volcano.

The Temps prints an interview with Prof. La Croix, who defends himself for not having foreseen the new eruption. He says that a long personal study of Mont Pelee, extending from June 22 to July 31, convinced him that all the eruptions, large or small, of the preceding three months had been confined to the narrow region extending from Le Precheur to Le Carbet, southwest of the volcano. The region just devasted lies east, and there was no reason on July 31 to suppose that any new eruptions could work such devastation, as everything led to the belief that if one occurred it would be confined to the region already devastated.

MONT PELEE'S OUTBREAK.

An official account of the outbreak of Mont Pelee, Island of Martinique, during the night of Aug. 30, confirms the previous news on the subject, and adds that at the time the report was forwarded 1,060 deaths had been reported, that 150 persons were severely injured and that Morne Rouge and the greater part of Ajoupa Boulion had been destroyed. It is also announced that the country between the River Capote up to the valley of Campflore and Fonds Marie has been devastated, and that Mont Capote suffered severely. The hills around Basse Pointe were burned. At the time the report was forwarded the Governor of Martinique was taking steps to again cause the evacuation of the northern parishes of that island and to remove the numerous injured persons to Fort de France. The steamship Canada, which has arrived from Fort de France, reports that a tidal wave entered that town for about thirteen yards, causing a panic among the inhabitants. The heat in Martinique is said to be almost unbearable.

THROUGH THE RAPIDS

Charles Percy Navigated Niagara's Torrent in a Small Boat.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 7.—Chas. A. Percy, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., this afternoon successfully navigated the turbulent rapids of the Niagara River from the Cantilever Bridge to the whirlpool in a boat of his own construction. The feat was less exciting than that of Bowser, which was accomplished two years ago. Percy reached shore about 20 minutes after he started, while Bowser was hurled about in the whirlpool for some five hours. Thousands of spectators from the river banks and from the steel bridge witnessed the craft.

WAS A RECORD-BREAKER

Fifty Thousand at the Toronto Exposition on Travelers' Day.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Commercial travelers' day was a record breaker at the exhibition. Fifty thousand people passed through the gates and the grounds presented a very animated scene. Montreal, Ottawa, London, Hamilton and other cities and towns sent large contingents of travelling men.

M. C. Ellis, president of the Commercial Travelers' Association, was on the grounds, and expressed much pleasure over the manner in which the delegations were taken care of. The grand stand was packed with the biggest crowd of the season for both performances.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte, who was in attendance, expressed his pleasure with the excellence of the fair, and talked freely of supporting any movement looking to an appropriation for the purpose of making the fair for all time in all-Canadian affair. He was quite enthusiastic on this subject. At the directors' luncheon speeches were made by J. I. Tarte and other leading spirits.

The official executioner of Tokio, Japan, in crossing a railway track, was struck by a train and decapitated as neatly as if by his own official weapon.

WM. STEVELY & SON, Agents, LONDON.

WESTERN ONTARIO.

Rev. Neil D. McKinnon, of Glenallan, has been asked to become pastor of Millbank and Wellesley. The call is practically unanimous.

Mrs. Henry House, residing at Middlemarch, upon going into the stable Thursday morning, was kicked by a horse and knocked down, receiving several scalp wounds, and having two ribs broken.

A young man named Sandford, 19 years of age, narrowly escaped death in a mine near Madoc village, Ont., a portion of the mine machinery falling on him. One of his legs was badly crushed, amputation being necessary, and the other was broken in two places. His recovery is doubtful.

At a meeting of the supervision committee of the Windsor Board of Education, Thursday night, the color trouble at the Mercer street school was settled by altering the school boundaries in such a way as to relieve the crowded condition of the Mercer street school, and shift some of its scholars to the Pelissier.

The law firm of Sutherland, Kenning & Cleary, acting for Albert Rogers, of Windsor, have entered an action against former Officer Hawthorne and Henry Maule, of Walkerville. Some weeks ago Hawthorne and Maule entered the Rogers home and ransacked it in search of a watch stolen from Mrs. Maule, of the Crown Inn, Walkerville.

The D. G. S. Petrel brought into Port Stanley on Wednesday evening 27 gillnets and a large quantity of fish, found off Erie, while the steamer was cruising along a short distance from land. The nets were placed there by American fishermen. Capt. Dunn, of the Petrel, is authority for the statement that there is considerable gill-net fishing by Americans in Canadian waters this season.

A steel bridge building industry will shortly rear its head in Sarnia, says the Observer, and will be located on River street on property belonging to the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Company. The firm of A. A. Dresser & Co., of Richmond, Mich., who have had a branch of their business at Windsor, are the parties interested in the establishment of the business here. The plant is being removed from Windsor to Sarnia, and already much of the machinery has arrived. The firm are large contractors in steel work of all kinds, and will employ quite a large staff of employes.

William King, caretaker of the armories of the Essex Fusiliers, disappeared a few days ago, leaving no word of where he had gone. His frantic wife was unable to find him. After two days it was found necessary to appoint a new caretaker to take charge of the building. Victor Le Blanc was given the position, but King turned up the next day. Now he wants his job back again. He has had charge of the armories since they were built, and will probably be reinstated.

While plowing the other day, Philip Englehart, who resides west of Dutton, unearthed some teeth which no doubt belonged to a mastodon. The teeth are in a perfect state of preservation, and must have been buried in the earth for thousands of years. The largest of the teeth is four inches long. It is probable that further excavations will result in exhuming the greater portion of the animal.

A wreck occurred on the St. Clair branch of the M. C. R. at Brigden about 3 o'clock Thursday morning. The engine of a train laden with steel rails from Sault Ste. Marie for use on the double track between Ridgetown and West Lorne, jumped the track, and ten cars were derailed and damaged. The auxiliary was sent out, and the line was opened up for traffic in the afternoon. The morning train for Courtright ran as far as the scene of the wreck, where passengers were transferred, and the train came back to St. Thomas. No one was injured.

Distressing Itching Piles

Especially Disagreeable During the Warm Weather—Mr. Hewson Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

If you go to a physician for a cure for piles he will probably tell you that a surgical operation is necessary, or else say that there is no cure for piles. Physicians who are not prejudiced will recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment.

We believe that the best testimony to the powers of Dr. Chase's Ointment is that of cured ones and the newspapers of this country are filled with evidence such as the following:

Mr. Thos. S. Hewson, blacksmith, Orangeville, Ont., writes: "I find Dr. Chase's Ointment the best thing I ever used for itching piles, for whenever I have been troubled with this disagreeable and distressing ailment it has brought prompt relief and cure.

"It is also excellent as a treatment for burns and sores, such as a person receives in my trade. I can fully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching piles and burns and sores."

MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED AWAY

The Dead Body of Bartholin Found in a Flax Field.

HE HAD CONFESSED HIS CRIME

Killed His Mother and His Sweetheart—He Then Took His Own Life.

Riceville, Ia., Sept. 8.—William Bartholin's body has been found. The suspected murderer of his mother and Minnie Mitchell in Chicago apparently killed himself in a flax field near Lowther. A bullethole in his head and a revolver at his side indicate self-destruction.

In a pocket in Bartholin's coat was found a letter containing a full confession of the murder of his mother and of Minnie Mitchell.

DEAD NEARLY A WEEK.

From the date of the letter, Aug. 31, the persons who discovered the body reached the conclusion that the suicide took place on last Sunday. Besides the confession, letters were found upon the body from Minnie Mitchell. Coroner Carpenter took possession of the confession and letters, and notified Chief O'Neill, of Chicago, of the discovery.

The body was in bad shape, but the identification was complete. The coroner refused to make the confession public in detail, a few simple facts being all that he would disclose.

CASE WAS A PUZZLE.

The Bartholin case has been one of the most mysterious that the Chicago police have ever had to deal with. The body of Mrs. Bartholin was found buried in the cellar of the house where she had lived with her son. Previous to the discovery, however, came the disappearance of Minnie Mitchell, who was known as Bartholin's sweetheart. When the police sought to find the young man, hoping to get a clue to the whereabouts of the Mitchell girl, they discovered that he, too, was missing. Search of the house brought to light the body of his mother. A body which was partially identified as that of Minnie Mitchell was found in another locality, but the identification was never complete and probably never will be.

NO TRACE FOUND.

As for Bartholin, not a sign of him could be found. He had not divulged to intimates any plans for leaving the city, if he had any, and the earth might have opened and swallowed him up, so far as any trace of him was concerned. It was brought out at the coroner's hearing that Mrs. Bartholin had been in deadly fear of her son, and good and sufficient reason was discovered why he should want to get his sweetheart out of the way.

He was indicted, but that was as far as the police could go.

P. M. ROASTED THE PRINCE

Lectured for Scorching With His Automobile.

Typhoid Inoculation Reduces Mortality Fourfold—Trades Congress.

London, Sept. 6.—Prince Francis, of Hatzfeldt-Wildenberg, who has become a keen devotee of motoring, received a severe lecture from country magistrates yesterday. His driver was accused of running a machine at the rate of 30 miles an hour near Haddon Hall. The prince swore that his twelve horse power car was unequal to such speed and vigorously protested against the prosecution. The magistrates refused to accept the prince's evidence, though corroborated, imposed a fine and reminded him that "less wealthy and influential people had an equal right to the safe usage of the roads," and that they looked on motorists of his position to set a better example.

VIRTUES OF INOCULATION.

London, Sept. 6.—Professor E. A. Wright's investigation of typhoid inoculation, covering five years in South Africa, India, Egypt and Great Britain, has resulted in the publication of voluminous statistics demonstrating both the preventative and curative results of inoculation which has reduced the mortality four fold. Professor Wright believes better results will be attained in the near future, owing to his experience in the dosage and standardization of vaccine.

TRADES CONGRESS.

London, Sept. 6.—The Trades Union Congress, at its final session here today, re-elected Sam Woods as secretary and appointed E. Edwards, of the Miners' Federation, and M. Arrandale, of the United Machine Workers, as delegates to the congress of the American Federation of Labor. The congress passed a resolution expressing sympathy with the American workingmen in "resisting trust and railroad presidents."

The resolution expressing sympathy with the American miners also urged furnishing them with immediate financial support. Another resolution congratulating the tin plate workers of America on "resisting the reduction of 25 per cent in their wages attempted by the trusts," and expressed the hope that everything would be done to prevent unfair competition in the wages rate of the men on both sides of the water.

Loss of Appetite

is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside till few remain. These are not eaten with much relish, and are often so light as not to afford much nourishment.

Loss of appetite is one of the first indications that the system is running down, and there is nothing else so good for it as Hood's Sarsaparilla—the best of all tonics.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. h

A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—The intrusion of uric acid into the blood vessels is a fruitful cause of rheumatic pains. This irregularity is owing to a deranged and unhealthy condition of the liver. Anyone subject to this painful affection will find a remedy in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their action upon the kidneys is pronounced and most beneficial, and by restoring healthy action they correct impurities in the blood.

TAMING TWO CANNIBALS

Boys From Darkest Africa Are Students at Tuscaloosa.

Come From One of the Country's Most Barbarous Tribes.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Sept. 8.—Two cannibal young men are being educated, and, perhaps, civilized, in the Stillman Institute at this place. They are from one of the most barbarous tribes of Central Africa. One—Kassongo Lusuna—is the son of a cannibal king; the other—Kondola Mukusa—is the son of a fisherman. Both were followers of Baron Dhanis, when he ascended the Congo, several years ago, at the head of the Belgian expedition, to punish the Arab murderers of Emin Pasha.

It is said that the tribe to which the boys belonged—the Ratetela—was so depraved that its members ate their own dead, as well as the dead of the enemy, and had a boneyard instead of the customary burial place. The boys were obtained by Samuel J. Verner, of the institute, while he was at Wissman Falls, at the head of navigation of the Great Kasai.

When Mr. Verner first made their acquaintance they were evidently unversed in laws or ethics, for they would lie, steal, fight, gamble and break numerous other commandments, but no great time elapsed before they were able to read and write in their native language.

The life of Mr. Verner was several times saved by the inventive faculties and ready wit of Kassongo, and before Africa was left behind both boys had become greatly attached to their "master."

Other small Africans wanted to come to this country and see the wonders of which they had heard, but the choice was made in favor of Kassongo and Kondola, chiefly on account of the fierceness of the tribe from which they came and their additional value as subjects for experiment.

They were astounded when they saw the works of civilized man, and could not understand why any sane person should wish to abandon such a life for explorations in Africa.

The process of the boys in their studies is said to be extraordinary. They already have a good understanding of geography, arithmetic and such simple studies, and have professed Christianity. Their education will be carried as far as the minds of the boys will permit.

Wanted to Cheer His Wife.

New York, Sept. 8.—With a grind organ on his shoulder Roganic Marcino walked into the Harrison street police station and asked if he couldn't play on the instrument to his wife, who is locked up at the station annex charged with murder. The entreaties of the organ grinder created sympathy, and he was told that he could talk with his wife if he wished. Leaving his grind organ behind, the man made his way to the stairs of the annex and held a long conversation with his wife, who is being held for the murder of Raphael Margenbarno, whom she stabbel to death with a stilletto, when he persisted in forcing his attentions upon her.

Midnight Swim from Sarnia.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 8.—John Osborne, a transient at present stopping in this city, Friday evening made a visit to Sarnia, across the border. After he had stayed there until the last ferry boat had crossed over he became homesick, and thinking of no other way to get there he jumped into the St. Clair River and swam across, clothes and all. Osborne landed at the foot of Butler street, where he was pulled out exhausted, but otherwise not much the worse for his experience. He was put to bed in a hotel to rest up.

Murder In Boston.

Boston, Sept. 6.—The sound of shots at 12:30 o'clock yesterday aroused people on Bullfinch street in the west end, and persons who were near the corner of Howard street and Bulfinch witnessed the murder of Mrs. Charles Himmerman by her jealous husband. The couple apparently had been quarreling as they walked together and had separated. A moment later Himmerman began firing a revolver at the woman, who was seen to fall. As she lay on the sidewalk the man fired at her twice, and then fled. A fireman caught him before he had gone 100 feet, and a policeman placed him under arrest. Mrs. Himmerman was taken to the hospital relief station, where she died in an hour. Himmerman refused to talk. At the hospital Mrs. Himmerman identified him as the one who shot her. Jealousy is said to have caused the trouble. Himmerman is 27 years of age, and his wife was 25. The police have learned that, although the couple claimed to be married, the woman was better known as May Ford. She had lived with Himmerman up to a short time ago. The cause of the separation has not been ascertained.

C. P. R. REPORT FOR PAST YEAR

Gross Earnings of the Road Reached $37,500,000.

PROCEEDS OF THE LANDS SALES

Amounted to $4,442,136—Earnings Show a Surplus of Over $14,000,000.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—The Twenty-first annual report of the C. P. R. directors for the year ending June 30, 1902, was issued yesterday. The financial statement, a summary of which has already appeared, shows that the gross earnings were $37,503,053 78; working expenses were $23,417,141 37, and the net earnings were $14,085,912 41; add interest on bonds, loans and deposits, total $958,826 64. Deduct fixed charged accrued during the year, including interest on land bonus, $7,334,825 09. The surplus for the year was $7,709,913 96. Deduct amount applied against cost of steamships, $150,000. Carried forward, $7,559,913 96. From this there has been paid and declared dividends of $4,496,840.

The surlus earnings account now amounts to $14,185,634. The working expenses for the year amounted to 62.44 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 37.56 per cent., as compared with 60.75 per cent and 39.25 per cent. respectively in 1901. The earnings per passenger per mile were 1.75 cents, and per ton of freight per mile 0.75 cents, as against 1.93 and 0.79 cents respectively in 1901.

The sales of the company's lands were 1,362,852 acres, for $4,442,136, an average of $3 26 per acre, as compared with $3 08 per acre in 1901. Four hundred and 80 miles of 80-pound rails are being laid on the main line this season, and before the end of 1904 the directors hope to have the light rails replaced on all the main lines. In these busy days it is very difficult to secure additional locomotives and cars to keep pace with the growth of your traffic. Contracts were made, however, for all that could be delivered during the current year. On the completion of the large locomotive and car shops at Montreal now in course of erection, the company will be able to prvide these facilities more rapidly and economically.

THE SUBSIDIARY ROADS.

The earnings of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway Company show some improvement, and the increase in the net revenue of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company is very striking, the net surplus, after the payment of all charges for the year, being $1,286,501. A conservative and prudent policy on the part of the directors of the latter company will beyond doubt have approval and commendation, but with this large income it is reasonable to expect that dividends on the shares in that company, held in the company's interest, will be forthcoming in the near future.

There will be submitted for approval an amendment of the existing bylaw to the election of directors, providing for the retirement of only a limited number of directors at the end of each year hereafter, instead of the whole board, as was the practice heretofore. The directors, in conclusion, referred with regret to the death of a fellow-director, Mr. John W. Mackay.

The expenditure for improvements on main lines and branches during the year amounted to $1,917,273, including $353,004 on Montreal terminals. There was further spent on the Ontario and Quebec line $285,803, of which $64,207 was for real estate in Montreal and Toronto.

The Ill-Willed Stranger.

Le Francais, of Paris, furnishes the following sketch of Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

"Sir Wilfrid is what is called a French-Canadian, since he was born in 1841 in the little village of Saint Lin, in the Province of Quebec, of a father whose origin was French and a mother whose religion was Roman Catholic. But while there are in that country many humble peasants and fishermen, many middle-class people, many lawyers and literary men who boast their descent from the former cultivators of the country, who preserve with love the traditions of our language, our arts, our whole civilization, there are also men who have become resigned to the Anglo-Saxon conquest, and who, like all neophytes, have even become in their position of British subjects even more demonstratively loyal and more attached to the throne of Victoria and Edward VII. than the latest immigrants from England.

"At the head of this latter class stands Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Not content with having always governed the Dominion in complete accord with the Marquis of Lorne and Mr. Chamberlain; not content with pouring out Canadian blood in one of the most detestable and least honest of causes, he has even recently expressed by his language his complete acquiescence in the policy of the London Cabinet.

"Even that was not enough for him; he judged fit on a memorable occasion to renounce his former fatherland, and even to heap insults upon it. During the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria he said at a banquet in London that he was 'English at heart, though French by descent,' and he continued in the following words:

"'There is not today a single man of French descent who is not perfectly assured that he has enjoyed under the British flag far greater liberty than he would under the flag of France.

"That is not the case, for we are acquainted with many French-Canadians who deeply regret, even after the lapse of a century, the loss of the flag which is no longer theirs. But it is a pretty role on the part of a subaltern thus to flatter the new masters from whom all favors come at the cost of the most noble remembrances.

"'Picture to yourself a prime minister of Alsace-Lorraine fifty years hence—if Alsace-Lorraine is still German—finding it necessary for him, old citizen of Strasbourg as he is, whose forbears had always known the dominion of France, finding it necessary to fawn upon the Kaiser and insult his old lost fatherland."

"Well, that is what Sir Wilfrid Laurier is doing. Let him then go his way as the ill-willed stranger he has become to us."

It would be senseless to reproduce such stuff in this country if it were not necessary to combat prejudice at home. A very different picture of Sir Wilfrid is drawn by the Tory press for the English-speaking electorate. He is represented as a Frenchman first, covertly hostile to the imperial idea, and even lukewarm toward British connection. The Parisian journals are doing the Premier a real service in this country, by simply telling the truth. That is more than can be expected of his enemies in Canada, perhaps.

"Should Women Work?"

An entertaining symposium on this question is running in the London Chronicle. The contributors are chiefly women, who, as a rule, retort very cleverly on the few men who have ventured to challenge the affirmative. The discussion was stirred up by a Mr. Gerald Mansel, who drew a sad picture of the "weary-eyed anaemic" working girls, lunching off milk and buns in Chancery Lane. He proceeded to point the familiar moral that woman's place was the home, and that if she would stay there, and not crowd the labor market, mankind would be better able to support her in the domestic sphere. Another correspondent, Villiers Lucas, has also provoked the ladies to wrath by advising them, if they must work, to keep to womanly occupations, which he appears to limit to drapers' establishments, companions, governesses, domestic service and nursing. Business training, he says, is not the training to make England's first necessity—a quiet, thoughtful, courageous, yet loving, wife or mother.

"A Business Man" affirms that he has had hundreds of men and women in his employ, and if he had to commence again he would not employ a man if a woman could do the work. He found women more trustworthy, more thorough and with a large amount of what might be called "stickability." "In my opinion," he adds, "if women did not work we should collapse as the modern business young man of today (as a rule) is an utter fraud."

"The wife of a city employer," declares that women of her station work harder than their husbands' typists (the English term for lady typewriters). She adds:

"If she (the employer's wife) is fortunate (?) enough to get a maid, or a couple of them, she has to study them first in the houshold, and do all the work they do not choose to, which means she has the brunt. As she is expected at the same time to take part in many social functions, to entertain her husband's friends and keep up her accomplishments, the strain on her is much greater than on the typist. The latter need not think that marriage is the remedy for work. The idea is really too amusing."

"The girl in the family who goes to work would not change places with her sister who is kept at home to be the family drudge," says the same correspondent. "A. E. J." remarks scornfully on "that precious chivalry which from age to age has deprived women of the right to earn their own living; thus making them dependent upon the favors of the stronger sex; thus making it imperative that they shall accept an offer of marriage sooner or later (if they get the chance), quite irrespective, often enough, of their natural preferences and feelings (they have the alternative of starving, it is true, if they can escape the lynx-eyed law)." "A Contented Working Woman" asks male readers whether they have not known countless instances where the earnings of wives, sisters, daughters, mothers, nieces, etc., have enabled an ill-paid, or a sickly, or an unfortunate, or an ageing man to keep the wolf from the door, to educate promising children, to brighten the last days of parents, to keep old businesses afloat till better times, and so on ad infinitum.

"What is to become of the girls?" asks one signing herself "A Teacher." "Has the advocate of men's rights any suggestion to offer? An orphanage for indigent daughters thus kept at home during their father's lifetime and thrown helpless on the world at his death might be endowed by the theorising philanthropist. Is he prepared to fall in with that scheme?" "A. K. M." suggests state-aided emigration of women to the colonies, adding:

"Surely it must be obvious that the main cause of the difficulties connected with women's work is the excess of females over males in this country. Of course, women cannot all get married if there are not men enough to go round. Then they have to crowd into the labor market, and often with the result of cutting down the rate of wages. Now, in our colonies the conditions are reversed. In most of them, if not in all, the male population exceeds the female. Women are in request, and often marry very soon after landing."

What do the unmarried women of Canada think of the scheme? Perhaps they prefer the suggestion made by "A Woman Breadwinner," who writes:

"If every unmarried man earning a reasonable salary were married tomorrow I think the market would be as clear of lady clerks, typewriters, etc., as it is of domestic servants; and then the men now unemployed would find plenty of vacancies to fill, and would soon be able to command higher salaries, enabling them also to maintain the few remaining women."

One male correspondent is chivalrous enough to come to the defense of the women workers by quoting John Stuart Mill:

"The same reasons which make it no longer necessary that the poor should depend on the rich make it equally unnecessary that women should depend on men, and the least which justice requires is that law and custom should not enforce dependence by ordaining that a woman, who does not happen to have a provision by inheritance, shall scarcely have any means open to her of gaining a livelihood, except as a wife and mother. Let women who prefer that occupation adopt it; but that there should be no option, no other career possible for the great majority of women, except in the humbler departments of life, is a flagrant social injustice."

"Spectator" says the old ideal of marriage as the only happiness for womankind has been set before them by the press, the stage and the novel, and openly taken for granted in the pulpit and on the teacher's platform. The American woman, however, recognizes that matrimony is impossible for all, and it has ceased to be her ideal. "Her education and the manners of her people," Spectator says, "have given her a wider view of life and a wider scope for her energies. She has before her the opportunities of a useful life of sturdy independence, of sterling friendships with many of both sexes, of a position as an 'old maid' respected by all, instead of being an object of derision, as is too often the case on this side of the water."

"A Maiden Manmocker," who is evidently a cynical old bachelor in disguise, advises all unmarried ladies to form a league and bind themselves by oath never to marry. "Thus the condition not merely of the ladies of England, but those of the whole world, would be immensely ameliorated. The silver tongue of woman would be heard in high places; and man, abject and despairing, would grovel at the feet of maidenly aloofness and recognize when too late the value of the pearls which until now have been cast before him in vain." A less flippant contributor is "X. Y. Z.," who says that in families where the girls go out to work, they invariably lead bright, interested and happy lives. Earning their own money gives them independence and contact with the world widens their ideas, besides giving the variety so dear to the young. But the lot of the single woman who has to earn her own living and be entirely self-dependent is very different. Her condition is sadder than that of a man in the same circumstances. It is a hard, empty, homeless life. "A few single women stand strong and self-sufficient like men in the battle of life, but such a few. The majority find the struggle a hard one, with nothing to fall back upon, and no hope of anything better." Another contributor invelghs against tight-lacing and tight shoes and holds these responsible, more than daily labor, for the existence of so many weary-eyed anaemic women. Henry Doyce declares that the man of the present day is not a marrying man, and for this reason, and because of the shortage of men, women must work.

"It is scandalous," writes W. P. B., "to think that women are working a man out of a possible 25 shillings a week for a wage of 10 shillings to 18 shillings. They are preparing a rod for themselves. Small wonder that men resent women in the field of labor when they work for such wage. By these means the employer of labor has greater power placed in his hands than ever he had, and is enabled thereby to beat down labor to a living wage for one. Let women combine and demand man's pay for man's work, and men will welcome them in the arena of labor."

In this country the problem is precisely the same. Many girls who are under no necessity of working and under no compulsion from their parents, prefer some occupation, from a spirit of self-reliance, which is wholly creditable. As to the economic results, it is a mistake to think, as many do, that every woman in the ranks of industry displaces a man. This arises from the popular fallacy that the amount of work is fixed, and that the fewer who seek it, the more there will be for each worker. The labor of women is productive, and if it could be withdrawn tomorrow the volume of production would shrink and the demand for labor would dimnish proportionately.

A Ballad Upon a Wedding.

[Sir John Suckling.]

Sir John Suckling (1609-1642) was one of the most admired poets and men of fashion at the court of Charles I., and an active spirit in politics as well as in fashionable gaieties. He came into a large fortune at the age of 18. His poetry has wit and fancy, and at times an exquisite felicity of diction. The happiest, on the whole, is "A Ballad Upon a Wedding," a portion of which is here printed. A descendant, Mr. Alfred Suckling, published a complete edition of Sir John's works in 1836.

Her finger was so small, the ring
Would not stay on, which they did bring,
It was too wide a peck;
And to say truth (for out it must),
It looked like the great collar (just)
About our young colt's neck.

Her feet beneath her petticoat,
Like little mice, stole in and out,
As if they feared the light;
But, oh, she dances such a way!
No sun upon an Easter Day
Is half so fine a sight.

Her cheeks so rare a white was on
No daisy makes comparison
(Who sees them is undone),
For streaks of red were mingled there
Such as are on a Catherine pear
(The side that's next the sun).

Her lips were red, and one was thin,
Compared to that was next her chin
(Some bee had stung it newly);
But (Dick) her eyes so guard her face
I durst no more upon them gaze
Than on the sun in July.

Now for the Western Fair.

King Edward has paid a visit to Andrew Carnegie. The author of "Triumphant Democracy" no doubt enjoys that kind of triumph as well as the other democrats.

Mr. Tarte admits that he is speaking only for himself when he advocates an increase in the tariff. The country spoke itself last year, and pronounced itself satisfied with things as they were.

Jamaican planters are clamoring for federation with Canada as the only hope for the island under the British flag. They want an outlet for their sugar, but it so happens that Canada is now developing a sugar-growing industry at home.

Two new chartered Canadian banks have entered the field in the past few months—the Sovereign and the Metropolitan. This not only reflects the present commercial activity but shows that the promoters have confidence that the country is entering a period of expansion.

Mr. Mulock announces that the Imperial conference unanimously approved the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures throughout the empire. The reform is badly needed, and would be a real boon to commerce. Some day Great Britain may abandon her clumsy currency and adopt the decimal system.

Sorrow.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

She stood before her glass and sighed,
Her big blue eyes were wet;
'Twas not a wrinkle made her sad,
'Twas no new gray hair that she had,
Which made the lady fret.

But, standing there, she sadly said:
"My nose and brow are white,
No tan is on these cheeks of mine,
And I'm invited out to dine
Where golfers meet, tonight.

"The other ladies there will be
All covered o'er with tan;
They'll flaunt their freckles gleefully,
And each will show strong arms, ah me!
To captivate her man.

"My arms, alas, are white and soft,
My muscles do not rise;
My throat is not a winsome black,
Ah, how thy'll pity me, alack!"
She sobbed and wiped her eyes.

Exceedingly Strange Conduct.

[Puck.]

Carr—Meekton was arrested last night while taking a spin on his new automobile.

Mortorleigh—What for?

Carr—Acting suspiciously.

Mortorleigh—How's that?

Carr—Why, he wasn't going more than six miles an hour, had his lamps lighted, kept sounding his gong at all crossings, and hadn't run over even a dog.

A Tip to Suburbanites.

[Puck.]

Subbub (of Seaview-by-the-Swamp)—Congratulate me, old man—we've got a permanent cook at last!

Newcomber—You've been drinking.

Subbub—Not on your life. I got our cook hopping mad while playing ping-pong with her last night, and she swore she'd never leave the town until she won a game from me. She can't do it—not in a thousand years.

September.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

September days are dreamy days,
September days are blue;
September ways are quiet ways,
September days are dreamy days,
The distant hills are blue with haze
That sunbeams sparkle through.
September days are dreamy days,
September hills are blue.

September is a lady fair
Whose smile is somewhat sad;
The first gray strands are in her hair,
September is a lady fair
Who has a sweet and gentle air—
But not the youth she had!
September is a lady fair
Whose smile is somewhat sad.

Canada and the Monroe Doctrine.

[Toronto Globe.]

Newspaper swashbuckling is easy and cheap, and we pray to be delivered from it. But we may be allowed to say that Canadians feel that they have something to say as to what their position on this continent is to be, and would decidedly object to being Monroed or put under any fashion or form of tutelage. If we decide to maintain our present relations with the mother country, we will have something to say should any third party practically object to that relationship. We are not on this continent on sufferance. Our title to it is the same as that of the United States to the lands of the Union. We regard the Monroe doctrine, as we understand it, with benignant approval, but do not see where it circumscribes our freedom of action as equal partners in the development of the new world. Not a word of this is uttered in the spirit of desiring to bite our thumbs at our neighbors, but is a simple assertion of self-evident facts. At no time in our history have our people been better disposed towards our cousins or felt that they had more well-wishers in every part of the Union. But it is well to have it understood that we require no guardian or protector, and we repudiate the assumption that we exist by virtue of anyone's forbearance or good will.

And It Worried Him.

[Exchange.]

Son—What's the matter, dad? You look worried.

Father (just retired from business)—Well, you see, I've never been without things to worry me before.

Tabloid Jags.

[Belleville Intelligencer.]

A company with a capital of a million dollars is being formed in New York, which will turn out compressed tablets of wine and whisky. This will complicate matters greatly. Even a man who on Sunday feels in his vest pocket for a cough lozenge will be viewed with suspicion.

The Abbey Filling.

[Boston Herald.]

By the way, great Englishmen who aspire to an everlasting repose in Westminster Abbey should lose no time. There is hardly room there for another half-dozen to lie in the British nation's Valhalla. Mrs. Gladstone and the sixth Duke of Northumberland were the latest to be interred there. Mrs. Gladstone being buried beside her distinguished husband, William Ewart Gladstone. Only one other woman has been buried in the Abbey within the last twenty years; two poets, Browning and Tennyson; one archbishop, two architects, the scientist, Charles Darwin, and a queen's printer, Sir William Spottiswoode.

Perilous Confession.

[Puck.]

Oh, no! The infant industries would not show their teeth except as a last resort.

"For that would be confessing that we have teethed," they prudently argued.

Pretty

Is an adjective which seems to have become monopolized by the young lady at the typewriter. It is astonishing what an array of beautiful women are found in stores and offices. In fact, the typical American beauty will be found sitting at the typewriter rather than lolling in a carriage in the park.

And yet this pretty young girl needs always to be reminded that "beauty is only skin deep," unless it roots in health. When the health is undermined by womanly diseases, the luster soon passes from the eyes, the cheeks grow thin, the body loses its plumpness.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases which weaken women and which destroy their strength and beauty. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Several years ago I suffered severely from female weakness, prolapsus and menorrhagia, and used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with splendid effect," writes Pannie Shelton, of Washington, Iowa. "Glad I have not needed it for a few years past, but if I should ever have any return of the old trouble would surely try 'Favorite Prescription.' I have recommended it to a number of my lady friends. I always tell them to try a bottle, and if they are not benefited by it I will pay for the medicine. In every case they have spoken in praise of it."

WEST INDIES WANT TO JOIN DOMINION

As a Means of Retrieving Their Fallen Fortunes.

WASP STOPPED PATTI'S SONG

Insect Flew Into the Diva's Mouth and She Fled From the Stage—Sprigg Defeated.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 8. — At a representative meeting of the sugar planters of Jamaica, resolutions were passed condemning Great Britain's neglect of the West Indies, resulting almost in ruin to the sugar industry, setting forth the total inadequacy of the measures proposed by Great Britain for the relief of her West Indian sugar planters, and calling for federation with Canada as the only means of retrieving the fallen fortunes of Jamaica.

Although the subject has been much discussed lately, Saturday was the first time a definite proposal for federation with Canada was made.

STORY ABOUT PATTI.

A funny story about Mme. Patti, Baroness of Cederstrom, comes from the Welsh town of Brecon.

She and Santley, the tenor, agreed to sing at a concert there in aid of the Brecon Hospital. They had not been long on the platform when it was evident that the diva in the midst of her singing was becoming first disconcerted and then alarmed. Then she fled from the platform, followed by Santley.

Shortly afterwards Mme. Patti returned laughing and said: "I am very sorry. It was a wasp that got in my mouth and we couldn't go on."

The audience, puzzled by the flight from the platform, could not refrain from laughing, but afterward loud cheering drowned the laughter.

CRIME IN LONDON.

Since the Old Bailey sessions five weeks ago twenty people have been murdered in London. In the same time there have been 350 deaths from violence, including sixty suicides. It will be a long black list on the next Old Bailey calendar.

A well-known London specialist lays the blame on the weather. It ned not be too hot, he explains, to drive people mad. It need be only depressing, and it has been that. In his opinion there is nothing surprising in the large number of these serious crimes. He has a theory that a man's liver has a great deal to do with his destiny at such times: that excess in living has much to answer for, and that other cases, especially those of suicides, ill-nourished brains, tragically engaged upon the problems of how to live, too often seek, with the aid of the weather, how to die.

SPRIGG DEFEATED.

A Cape Town correspondent says the most important division thus far in the session of the Cape Parliament was taken in the Assembly on Thursday. On a private member's motion for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the position and emoluments of teachers, Chairman Theron, of the Afrikander Bond, moved in amendment that the scope of inquiry be extended to include the powers of school committees. The ministry opposed the amendment, which, however, was carried by 41 to 27. There was no cross-voting. The correspondent says the importance of the division lies in Sir Gordon Sprigg's repeated assertions that he had an ample majority, yet on this question the ministry were defeated by a majority of fourteen. The question arises: "How could Sir Gordon Sprigg state that he had an assured majority?"

RECEIVED BY THE KAISER.

A number of British officers and Generals Corbin, Young and Wood, of the United States, were presented to Emperor William on Saturday at the Markenorf parade field, near Frankfort-on-the-Oder, after the parade was finished. While introductions were taking place the German officers assembled in the vicinity to hear his majesty criticise the performance of their respective troops during the parade. Additional splendor was added to the scene by the presence of Lord Roberts, Mr. Brodrick, the British secretary of state for war, and a party in brilliant British uniforms, who had been presented before the American generals.

On the special train going to Frankfort-on-the-Oder was Prince Henry, who came up especially from Hamburg for the parade. Prince Henry conversed with the Americans all the way to Frankfort-on-the-Oder, speaking enthusiastically of his American trip and the friends he had made in the United States. He expressed his purpose to visit the United States again after his naval service is completed.

BATTLE REPORTED IN VENEZUELA.

Mr. Bowen, United States minister at Caracas, has telegraphed the department of state that an engagement between the revolutionists and Government troops occurred Friday on the mountain just behind the American legation, lasting four hours, and resulting finally in the route of the revolutionists. The noise of combat was heard distinctly at the legation.

Willemstad, Curacoa, Sept. 7.—The steamer Caracas, which has arrived here from Venezuela, reports that on Friday morning last a number of revolutionists, belonging to the bands which some time ago stopped the wife of United States Minister Bowen and Commander John A. H. Nickels, of the United States gunboat Topeka, succeeded in reaching the hills about Caracas, and engaged the Government troops. After four hours' fighting the revolutionists, who are said to have numbered 1,000 men, retired. The engagement was visible from the United States legation at Caracas. The inhabitants of the Venezuelan capital were panicstricken, and the children were dismissed from the schools.

PARIS PREPARED FOR GAY SEASON

Campaign of Circuses and Music Halls Has Begun.

THEATERS PRESENT NEW PLAYS

The Shah Enjoys Billiards—Hurt in an Auto Wreck—Novelty in Furniture.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The first signs of the reawakening of Paris to social life were observable last week. The autumn racing season commenced at Longchamps and despite the atrocious weather many society women were present. Theaters also are busy making preparations for the winter campaign. Most of the circuses and music halls opened last week. The theaters proper come next week.

Autumn is advancing rapidly and the days are shortening perceptibly. Summer migrants are now on the move. The swallows have started for the south and the sandmartins and spotted flycatchers are all preparing for their long journey. Men about town are seen carrying overcoats on their arms.

A series of storms is reported from various parts of France; a tremendous gale of wind at Royan and a violent storm at Cannes. The electric tramcars were unable to run, but there was no loss of life.

The late Comtesse Dandigne was one of the most benevolent and popular members of Paris society and the attendance at her funeral included the whole of social France. The young comtesse's mother was a Miss Butterfield, whose brother, H. J. Butterfield, was represented at the funeral by his son, F. W. L. Butterfield. The family of Comtesse Dandigne is distantly related to President Roosevelt.

By the way, Comte Christian de Berthier re Sauvigny, whose engagement to Miss Van Dussen was cabled last week, is quite a distinguished musician-composer. Miss Reed's sister maried two years ago Vicomte Pierre de Chemielles. The coming marriage is announced of the Rev. Pedro S. Mesny, assistant chaplain of the British Embassy Church in Paris, and Miss Minnie Harris, of New York. The wedding will take place in the Temple Church on Sept. 10.

SHAH ENJOYS BILLIARDS.

The Shah of Persia displayed his democratic qualities by playing a game of billiards with his Grand Vizier in the billiard room of the Elysee Palace Hotel. The "King of Kings" manifested great enjoyment when his opponent missed and he won easily. The Shah attended the Theater Francais to hear the classical drama, but was not greatly pleased. He prefers the Chatelet, where a big ballet of pretty girls wins his admiration. The other day he stopped a bridal cortege in the Bois and gallantly presented the bride with a Persian gold piece, for which the chowd cheered him.

HURT IN AUTO WRECK.

The automobile world was much alarmed to read a brief telegram from San Sebastian announcing the collapse of an auto conveying three members of the French embassy, Vicomte Saussay, M. Lefaivre and Comte Sala, all of whom, the dispatch said, were severely injured. The Comtesse Sala called at the New York Herald office, grief-stricken, asking about her son, but the Herald's dispatch dispelled her sorrow.

None of the chauffeurs, it proved, was injured, but three bystanders were hurt, which fact provided "auto velo" with a text for an editorial on the safety of automobiling for chauffeurs.

Oysters have made their official reappearance in Paris. The demand was not so large as expected, owing chiefly to the fact that many Parisians are still at the seaside, or mountains. However, 72,000 oysters, which reached the city on the eve of the opening day, were easily disposed of.

Gourmets coming to Paris will be glad to know that the oysterbeds are exceptionally well stocked this year. The dainty marennes are somewhat dearer than last season, whereas the democratic Portuguese variety is cheaper than usual. Six hundred million oysters will involuntarily emigrate from the French oysterbeds before the season ends.

NOVELTY IN FURNITURE.

The latest novelty in decorative furniture is a lamp composed of the great owl, a bird known in French as "grandduke." It is stuffed with an electric globe on the head. The novelty is only within the reach of grand dukes, for the great owl must be nearly extinct in France, like all other birds of prey. Here is a chance for enterprising transatlantic sportsmen to shoot them for exportation.

BAYLEY'S

THE KING AT BALMORAL

Changes in the Interior of Queen's Favorite Resort.

Princess Street Said To Be "Almost Like Fifth Avenue Promenade.

London, Sept. 8.—It must be about a year ago that it was mentioned in these dispatches how the Tartan upholsterings of Balmoral Castle, which were maintained during the life of the late Queen Victoria were to be removed. A Scotch correspondent says he has been though the castle and found the interior entirely transformed from old days. Even every bedroom is entirely refurnished, and it is not like the old, familiar place at all. While Scotch tartans often are very charming in their proper places, they do not, especially some of the most glaring patterns, lend themselves to upholstery.

Balmoral, now that it is upholstered, in most beautiful and artistic colors, and tartan is banished, looks more like a royal palace, whereas before it had the appearance of a big shooting box waiting for the King.

SWELLDOM AT BRAEMER.

Many parties of note are resting quietly at houses around Braemer. Lord and Lady Mostyn are staying at the Invercauld Arms near where Marie Corelli also is resting. On the other side of Chunie water, at the Fife Arms, are the Bishops of Cork, Mrs. Meade, Sir Edward and Lady Moon, Lord Peel, Lady Henn Collins, and Lady Blanche Baillie.

In Edinburgh, Scotland's picturesquely situated capital, American visitors, according to one correspondent, seem more plentiful than ever. Edinburgh always has been a favorite resort, but the present week the big hotels in Princess street have been taxed to their utmost. Princess street is described as "almost like the Fifth avenue promenade." The shopkeepers are jubilant for they naturally reap a harvest by the sale of such souvenirs as American visitors like to collect.

SHOOTING PARTIES.

Various large shooting parties are also in progress in the north, people moving about from one house to another. Lord and Lady Ancaster have had a continuous stream of visitors lately to beautiful Drummond Castle. Lord and Lady Cadogan, their labors in Ireland done, have been entertaining quietly on the Caledonian Canal, near Banavie. Lord Bute and his mother are receiving a succession of visitors.

Lord Hopetoun is likely to remain at Hopetoun House for some time to come, as it is generally believed that King Edward will visit them before returning to England.

RUSH TO SCOTLAND.

Ireland, or rather Dublin, was the scene of all the excitement a week ago. Now it is Scotland. Such heavy trains as have departed for the north, also such crowded steamers from Ireland to Clyde, have not been experienced since a few days before the "glorious twelfth," when grouse shooting enthusiasts made their dash for the rainsodden moors.

But it is questionable if the west of Scotland has been in such a state of turmoil and excitement for many years as has just been experienced. Great has been the speculation as to which piers—they could hardly be called ports—the royal yacht with the King and Queen aboard would put in. There has been great disappointment where the yacht passed without even coming within hailing distance, but the greatest woe of all was experienced at Oban, the picturesque capital, as it is called, of the western highlands.

It was thought the King could hardly miss such a place, whereas Oban, with its crowds of tourists and scores of yachts, was just the one place that the King, who wants peace and quietness, would most likely avoid. The excitement was great when one day a gunboat appeared on the horizon and anchored in the bay. "The King is coming," was the word that passed from mouth to mouth. The provost of the town woke up to the importance of the occasion, and in a remarkably short space of time the whole town was ablaze with flags and bunting.

The people were nearly frantic with excitement when the royal yacht was seen in the distance; but their hearts sank when the yacht passed on northward. The gunboat, having got the royal mails, weighed anchor. The poor provost's dreams of knighthood vanished and he went sadly home.

VESSEL SUNK; CREW DROWNED

Haytian Rebel Gunboat Sent to the Bottom.

FIRED ON BY GERMAN VESSEL

Crew of the Boat First Set Their Craft on Fire—Had Been Declared a Pirate.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Sept. 7.—The gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot, which was in the service of the Firminist party, has been sunk at the entrance of the harbor of Gonaives by the German gunboat Panther. The crew of the Crete-a-Pierrot left her before she went down.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Sept. 7.—The German gunboat Panther arrived here Sept. 4 and received instructions from the German Government to capture the Firminist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot. She left immediately for Gonaives, the seat of the Firminist Government. The Panther found the Crete-a-Pierrot in the harbor of Gonaives, and the commander of the German gunboat informed Admiral Willick, on the Crete-a-Pierrot, that he must remove his crew and surrender his vessel in five minutes' time.

Admiral Killick asked that this time be extended to fifteen minutes. This request was granted, on the ground that the arms and ammunition on board the Crete-a-Pierrot should be abandoned when her crew left her. The crew of the Crete-a-Pierrot left that vessel amid great disorder.

At the end of fifteen minutes the Panther sent a small boat, carrying an officer and 20 sailors, who were to take possession of the Firminist gunboat. When these men had arrived at a point about 30 yards from the Crete-a-Pierrot flames were seen to break out on board of her. She had been fired by her crew before they left her.

The Panther then fired on the Crete-a-Pierrot until she was completely immersed. Thirty shots all told were fired. There is much feeling here against the Firminists, and their cause is considered to be a bad one. Soldiers are leaving here to attack St. Marc. Port au Prince is calm.

REASONS FOR THE DEED.

It had been announced from Cape Haytien, Sept. 3, that the German steamer Markomancia (Capt. Nansen), belonging to the Hamburg-American Packet Company, having on board arms and ammunition sent by the provisional government to Cape Haytien, had been stopped Sept. 2 by the Firminist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot at the entrance to the harbor of Cape Haytien, and that an armed force sent on board the steamer from the gunboat took possession of the war munitions in spite of the protest of Capt. Nansen and the German consul.

The seizure of the Markomancia has been characterized as an act of piracy; but a press dispatch from Berlin, dated Sept. 6, said German Government circles did not take a tragic view of the seizure of the German vessel, but that satisfaction would be demanded. The foreign office agrees with the view held by the foreign representatives at Port au Prince, said the dispatch, that the action of the Crete-a-Pierrot was piracy, but it was not then known whether satisfaction would be demanded from Gen. Firmin or whether the result of the revolution in Hayti would be awaited.

CREW DROWNED.

Paris, Sept. 8.—A brief cablegram has been received here from Cape Haytien, Hayti, dated Sept. 7, saying the Firminist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot had been sunk by the German gunboat Panther, and that the crew of the Crete-a-Pierrot had been drowned.

FIVE FREIGHTS WRECKED

Two Men Killed on the Pennsylvania Railway.

Ten Passengers Hurt in Collision on an Electric Road.

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 7.—Five freight wrecks occurred today between Johnstown and Harrisburg, on the Pennsylvania Railway system. The first occurred at 2 o'clock this morning and was caused by a runaway freight train crashing into another freight train at McGarvey's station, three miles west of Altoona. Ten cars and the locomotive of the runaway train were derailed and broken. Fireman William G. Allison broke his left arm jumping from the engine, but no one else was hurt.

A short time later a freight train on the Cresson and Clearfield road, parted near Frugality, and the two sections coming together again with great force, several cars were wrecked. Brakeman J. L. Gutschall was taken from under the cars dead and Brakeman C. Steele died on his way to the Altoona Hospital.

Later there was a wreck at Port Royal, caused by a burned journal. Nine cars loaded with valuable merchandise are said to have been destroyed.

Shortly afterwards there was a wreck at Millertown and five loaded cars are said to have been broken to pieces, the result of a broken wheel.

Another wreck occurred at Ryde, and several cars were broken up.

TEN PASSENGERS HURT.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Two electric cars on the Fort Snelling line collided last last night and ten persons have been taken to the city hospital suffering from injuries received in the wreck. The accident occurred on the single track line. A motorcar and trailer were returning from the Fort heavily laden with passengers. Approaching from the city was a heavy single car, the headlight on which had been extinglished. It is not yet known who was to blame for the accident, but the cars met at full speed at Hamline avenue. The motorcar and trailer from the Fort were broken to splinters and the passengers were ground and crushed beneath the debris.

TWENTY PASSENGERS INJURED.

Glasgow, Sept. 8.—A tram car became unmanageable while going down the Renfield street incline Saturday night and crashed into three cars which were waiting at a crossing. One of the waiting cars was driven through the front of a shop. Twenty of the passengers who were injured were removed to an infirmary. The drivers of the cars and several of the passengers are in a critical condition.

The Metropolitan Bank will, as soon as a new building can be completed, have its Head Office at the southeast corner of King and Jordan streets, Toronto. Desirable premises have been procured for temporary occupancy at 7 and 9 King street east. Branches will be opened shortly in one or two other cities.

The stock is issued at 200, so that the Bank may be strong from the start. The protection thus afforded to depositors and note holders is obvious. The extraordinary success of Banks in New York and other large cities in the United States, which commenced business with large Reserve Funds, affords ground for the belief that investments in the shares of this Bank will prove very desirable.

Messrs. A. E. Ames and R. H. Warden have consented to accept the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the Bank respectively.

The appointment of a General Manager is under consideration and will be made at an early date, and it is intended that the permanent Board of Directors shall consist of seven.

The shares are of the par value of $100 each, and are issued at a premium of 100 per cent., payable as follows:

25 per cent. of par value and of premium upon allotment.
25 per cent. of par value and of premium on Oct. 15, 1902.
25 per cent. of par value and of premium on Nov. 15, 1902.
25 per cent. of par value and of premium on Dec. 15, 1902.

The Bank will start business with absolutely no organization expenses other than the cost of its Charter and of advertisements of this prospectus, there being no commission to be paid on stock subscriptions.

Applications will be made to have the stock listed on the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges, towards the close of next December, when the shares are to be fully paid.

The Directors reserve the right to make allotments of the whole or any part of shares applied for at their discretion, preference, if any, to be shown in the direction of wide distribution of the shares amongst bona fide investors.

Subscription Books will be opened at the offices of the undersigned, 18 King Street East, Toronto, on Monday morning, September 15th, at 10 o'clock, and will be closed at 4 o'clock of the same day. Subscription forms may be had on application.

We recommend the shares of the Metropolitan Bank for investment.

NOTABLE MEN DEAD

Demise of Rev. C. F. Zimmerman and Frank Tousey.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Rev. C. F. Zimmerman, editor of German Evangelical Magazine, Sunday school papapers, leaflets, etc., and for twenty years presiding elder of the Wisconsin Conference, died in this city last night. Rev. Mr. Zimmerman was very prominent in churches and he lived in Cleveland for seven years. He was 59 years old.

London, Sept. 8.—Sir Frederick Augustus Abel, an honorary secretary and doctor of the Imperial Institute, and former president of the British Association, the Iron and Steel Institute, the Chemical Society, the Institute of Chemistry and other scientific bodies, is dead.

New York, Sept. 8.—Frank Tousey, the founder of Judge and a nephew of the late Sinclair Tousey, founder and proprietor of the American News Company, is dead in this city from pleurisy. For several years he had conducted a music publishing house.

New York, Sept. 8.—The death of John D. Rockefeller's grandson, Jack, two years ago, has enabled two students, one at Johns Hopkins, and the other at the University of Pennsylvania Medical Schools, to discover what is believed to be the organism or germ of disease that carries off so many little ones every summer, and which is commonly called "summer complaint," says a Baltimore special to the World. When little Jack died Mr. Rockefeller is said to have offered a fund of $200,000 to be devoted to research. The outcome of this offer is the reported discovery of the fatal germ. In 42 cases the organism found is nearly identical with that which produces dysentery in adults.

WHISTLING IN CHURCH

Innovation at Vesper Services in Chicago—Great Drawing Card.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The innovation of a professional whistler in church has attracted to the Vesper service of the South Congregational Church a crowd that filled every seat of the auditorium and overflowed into the vestibule. Carriages stopped on the boulevards and passersby waited outside the doors. Three numbers were rendered by Robert Chisholm Bain: Rubenstein's "Voices From the Woods," Lasson's "The Loving Voice of Jesus," and "The Holy City."

Mr. H. H. Blake, the chairman of the church committee of music, was highly pleased with the result.

CANCER CURED WITHOUT PAIN

The old method of treating cancers by operations, pastes and plasters, all mean untold suffering, and besides, they give no assurance of a cure.

The new method of treating cancers and tumors by constitutional medication, whereby the cancer poisons are neutralized and destroyed, causes no suffering, and best of all, effects a cure where painful operations fail. Will be pleased to send full particulars on receipt of two stamps to pay postage.

A. STOTT & JURY, BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

NEARLY ALL INFANTS are more or less subject to diarrhea and such complaints while teething, and as this period of their lives is the most critical, mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. This medicine is a specific for such complaints and is highly spoken of by those who have used it. The proprietors claim it will cure any case of cholera or summer complaint.

Why are people so foolish as to want their own way when yours is so much better?

A LINIMENT FOR THE LOGGER.—Loggers lead a life which exposes them to many perils. Wounds, cuts and bruises cannot be altogether avoided in preparing timber for the drive, and in river work, where wet and cold combined are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular pains cannot but ensue. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, when applied to the injured or administered to the ailing, works wonders.

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system.

Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"My health was poor and I suffered much from hives and kidney trouble. After taking two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was cured. I regard this medicine as superior to all others." MRS. JOSEPH HOLLINSHEAD, Harrison, Ontario.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise

FIREMAN JONES KILLED

Train on Elmira Branch Derailed—Engine and Cars Ditched.

Waterloo, Sept. 8.—A train on the Elmira branch was derailed about two miles north of Waterloo at 9 o'clock Saturday night, while on its way from Waterloo to Elmira.

The engine, baggage car and one passenger coach left the track and pitched into the ditch. Fireman Walter Jones, of Stratford, was killed instantly, but Engineer Mitchell miraculously escaped unhurt.

About fifty passengers were on board, but none were seriously injured, the majority escaping with a few bruises and a rough shaking up.

The auxiliary from Stratford arrived on the scene at midnight and had the track cleared in a few hours.

Fireman Jones was about 25 years old and had been married only seven months.

By Forest Fire.

Laramie, Wyo., Sept. 8.—Persons arriving from the Rambler mine report a big forest fire just south of Holmes, in which district the mine is located. It is burning in the timber five or six miles south of the mine, and has destroyed the property of the White Swan Mining Company. The loss cannot now be stated. The fire is still ranging in the timber and is threatening properties in the Keystone district.

Bishop Has Black Eyes.

Montreal, Sept. 7. — Bishop Dart, of New Westminster, who started from home to attend the synod, arrived yesterday with a black eye and in a dilapidated condition generally. His lordship says he got off the train near Port Arthur, and when it started he failed to get on board and was knocked to the ground. The bishop was taken care of, however, by a sectionman, and proceeded along later on. He is now in the hospital.

PICKING THE NOSE is a common symptom of worms. Mothers who suspect their child is troubled with worms should administer Dr. Low's Worm Syrup. It is pleasant, safe and effectual. z

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

At This Time of the Year.

Everybody needs something to create and maintain strength for the daily round of duties. There is nothing better than an Ale or Porter, the purity and merits of which has been attested by chemists, physicians and experts at the great exhibitions.

ALD. CAMPBELL WOULD HAVE PARK COMMISSION

He Would Give It Control of All Trees and Flowers in Public Places.

The city council meeting this evening should be a short one, as there is little business of importance to come up. Probably the most interesting matter will be a motion, notice of which Ald. Campbell has given, to amend the bylaw respecting shade trees in public places. Dr. Campbell would have brought in the amendment he proposes last year, but found that the law under which the bylaw was passed was such that he could not secure what he desired. City Clerk Kingston, through the Ontario municipal convention held last year, secured an amendment to the law, so that now Dr. Campbell's scheme is feasible. He wants a park commission appointed, which shall be given control of trees, shrub and flowers in public places and thoroughfares, and shall consist of the mayor, the chairman of No. 2 committee and three citizens, men skilled in horticulture. The difficulty before was that only in cities of 100,000 or over could a commission cut down undesirable trees or shrubs; the owner of property had a vested right in them, even if on the city's lands, and under the bylaw in the event of him agreeing to the removal of them, he must be recompensed. This is now changed. A park commission in any city or town may remove undesirable trees or shrubs, and need not recompense the property owner. Taking advantage of the amended act, Ald. Campbell would have a commission appointed to act under its clauses. Other cities in Ontario have these commissions, and are sorry for it, but Ald. Campbell will no doubt avoid the difficulties which have followed its appointment. The commission is an independent body like the board of health and the board of education, and can estimate and spend limitlessly if inclined to extravagance.

CIVIL LIST A LIGHT ONE

Only One Jury and One Non-Jury Case Entered.

Former Is a Seduction Case and Latter a Mortgage Suit.

The time for entering civil cases for trial at the fall assizes, which opens on Monday next before Mr. Justice Lount, expired at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Up to 2 p.m. only two cases had been entered, one being a jury and the other a non-jury case. The list will probably be the smallest in years, but this will be more than made up by the gravity and probable length of the criminal trials.

The two cases entered are as follows:

Jury—John Doan vs. Angus Taylor. The plantiff, a North Dorchester farmer, sues the defendant, a Westminster Township farmer, for $1,000 damages for the alleged seduction of Minnie Doan, daughter of the plaintiff. Fraser & Moore for plaintiff, Meredith & Fisher for defendant.

Non-jury—Peoples' Building and Loan Company vs. Robert Stanley. Suit to recover $1,060 25 and interest, alleged to be due under mortgage. Ivey & Dromgole for plaintiff, W. H. Bartram for defendant.

SUNDAY EVENING RECITALS

Pleasing Innovation Made by Clever London Organist.

Mr. George Phelps, the talented organist of St. James' Church, South London, is introducing a new feature in connection with the musical services of the church. Every second Sunday he will give a half-hour's recital before the opening of the evening service. The first recital was given last night, the programme consisting entirely of excerpts from "Tannhauser," which were rendered with skill and feeling. The large attendance showed the appreciation with which the church members and others regard Mr. Phelps' innovation. The next recital will be given on Sunday evening, Sept. 21.

LONDON IS THE PRETTIEST

Mr. John Tracy Thinks This City Surpasses All Others.

Mr. John Tracy, formerly of this city, and brother of the late Thomas Tracy, has returned from Kansas City, and is in the city for a few days prior to going to New York with his daughter, who has shown no inconsiderable degree of talent as a singer. She will go to New York to study under some of the best singers in that city. Her career on the stage has been so far successful, and her friends in London will wish her continued success.

Mr. Tracy said this morning: "You have the prettiest little city I ever saw, and I can see much improvement since I was last here. You do not find many cities like London. The shade trees and well-kept lawns and houses impress me the most."

LATE SPORTING NEWS.

LACROSSE.

LONDON VS. ST. THOMAS.

Good material will be required to meet St. Thomas on Saturday at St. Thomas, and in consequence all local lacrosse players are requested to again don their colors and prepare for victory. St. Thomas will have the fastest twelve that ever handled sticks for the Railroad City. Practice starts tonight, from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock.

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

Brantford Expositor: William A. Mace, who has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of lacrosse in London, has taken a good position in Guelph, and will, no doubt, get mixed up in the game there. Mace is a decided acquisition to the sporting fraternity of the Royal City, and if they do not know him there, the sooner they look him up the better. He didn't make such a very good fist of getting together a team for London, but it might have been worse—a little worse.

The McClary baseball team, winners of the Wholesale League pennant, are after new worlds to conquer. The Advertiser has received the following challenge, which speaks for itself:

The McClary baseball team is desirous of arranging a post-season series of games with the Londons, of the City League, the winners to assume the title of champions of the city. I should be pleased to meet the managers of the London team at such time and place as they may select, to arrange the details. James M. Pirie, manager McClary Baseball Club.

ALDERMEN ARE IN HARNESS

All Have Returned From Seashore and Fishing Lodge.

Will Again Tackle Problems of Civic Government Tonight.

Even like many other sincere workers, the aldermen are now returning to their toil. Hard as it must have been, they have relinquished the gay delights of the holiday season, and tonight will see them gathered once more in the familiar semi-circle, delivering themselves of the eloquent masterpieces which so arouse the pride of their humbler and less gifted fellow-citizens. Each day recently has brought another wanderer back to the city hall, where the returned ones ruthlessly arouse the envious yearnings of the officials by recounting tales of joyous times spent amid the voluptuous charms of the Riviera and the other places, where aldermen usually spend their holidays. Why should they make a habit of thus planting in the minds of the Richmond street laborers the seeds of desire for similar pleasures has never been learned, for it stands to reason that a paltry $5,000 a year is not sufficient to let them taste the dizzy delights of yacht trips on the Mediterranean, and such other pastimes as the aldermen of this fair city while away the luscious summer hours with. But now they have turned their backs upon all this, they have locked the doors of their fishing lodges, have sent their yachts to be overhauled, and their autos to the repair shop, and are interesting themselves like worthy aldermen in the prosaic but necessary performances of municipal life. Tonight, then, they will give their first illustration of twelve aldermen trying to work after enjoying a period of champagne and terrapin.

DIRECTORS OPTIMISTIC!

Sanguine of Success of Western Fair This Year.

Entries Are Pouring In and Main Building Is Filled.

The Western Fair Board met last night and made their final arrangements for the fair, which opens Friday. The board appointed the same directors as heretofore to go to the Toronto fair to look after the Western's interest as regards entries. In the matter of entries it was a matter of gratification to the board to learn that they are pouring into the secretary's office, and that the number of them far exceeds that of former years.

Director Waterman had a pleasing bit of information to convey to the board. He reported that the main building this year will be completely filled; that, in fact, he has already had to refuse applications for space. The directors considered the advisability of supplying uniforms to the attendants, but this was left to the discretion of the various chairmen. The members of the board were entirely optimistic regarding the outlook for a big success this year. If the weather man acts anyway decently success is assured.

The Helpless Condition of a Young Lady and How She Was Cured.

Blind River, Ont., Sept. 8.—Miss Emily Liddell, of this place, suffered for a long time with Female Weakness and Backache. She is better now and writes the following statement:

"I would most heartily and conscientiously advise all young women troubled with Female Weakness in any form to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they cured me after everything else had failed.

"For months at a time I was so low and weak that I found it impossible to attend to my household duties and my back used to ache something dreadful.

"Now I feel strong and better than I ever did and Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all."

Assistant Fire Chief Heldig, of Berlin, accidentally set fire to curtains in his bedroom, and was suffocated before he could be rescued.

Her Recompense.

A beautiful flush overspread the face of Ida Montrose, her magnificent dark eyes grew tender, and filled with happy tears, when she was told that Arthur Halstead had formally proposed for her hand, and desired a personal interview with her.

And very lovely she appeared when, at the appointed hour, Arthur sought her to hear from her own lips that she was willing to become his wife.

She was sitting by a window that was draped with crimson, the warm, rich hue making a charming background for her graceful figure, which was clad in pure white, only relieved by a cluster of pink azaleas on her bosom, and another which she held in her small, slender hands.

Mr. Richard Halstead had sent those flowers to her that morning, and she fondly believed—as he had meant she should—that her lover (?) himself was the donor.

She looked frail and delicate from her recent illness, but the flush upon her cheeks, the happy light in her eyes and the smile on her lips, made her wondrously beautiful, and Arthur, as he looked upon her, told himself that he had seldom seen so lovely a picture.

She cast one glance up at him from her great, fathomless eyes as he entered the room, then they drooped shyly before him.

She saw that he was very pale, but she attributed it to his late sickness, and never dreamed that it was caused more from a feeling of guilt and pain, because he was about to ask her to assume the most sacred relation to him while his own heart was so cold and dead that it could not give one responsive thrill to the almost idolatrous affection which, he had been told, she had grown to entertain for him.

"It is a long time since we have met," he said, coming forward and taking her hand, but feeling almost like a criminal before his judge. "I cannot tell you," he added, "how sorry I am that through fault of mine you have had to suffer so much."

"Please, Mr. Halstead, do not blame yourself," she pleaded, earnestly. "I am sure I am the one to be censured, for I kept you from going with the party to the grotto, and then talked you into forgetfulness of time and place, and so the mischief was done."

And so the mischief was done! The words pierced him like a dagger.

"Well, regrets are vain, I know, at this late day," he returned, feeling that he must say something, and then, realizing with a power such as he had never felt before, how worse than vain they were, since he was there at that very moment to seal his own doom. "We are all very glad, however," he added, hastily, anxious to get away from the past, "that you are so fast recovering."

"You have been ill, too," she said, raising her dark eyes and searching his pale face anxiously.

"Yes; I took a violent cold while away on a—a business trip, and it proved too much for me. I am all right now, however," he hastened to add, and hurrying on toward the task he had set himself; "and—and, Ida, I suppose you know why I am here today. I will not excite you in your present weak state by saying very much, but I have come to ask if you will be my wife—if you can love me well enough to give yourself to me and let me care for you during the rest of your life?"

He felt like a guilty wretch to win her thus—to ask her to give her life and love to him and offer her not one word of affection in return.

His lips refused to tell her that he loved her—they would not utter the falsehood—his heart revolted against it, while he hated himself for the subterfuge which made her weakness his excuse for the brevity of his proposal.

Arthur's tone had softened to something like tenderness, for a feeling of pity for her took possession of him—it was like asking her to sacrifice herself in all her bright young loveliness to a dead man.

He was white to ghastliness, and had the young girl been less absorbed in her own happiness, she must have seen how he suffered.

She did notice his pallor, but she attributed it to his weakness and the excitement of the moment; but her heart thrilled joyfully to the tenderness in his tone, and went out to him with all the strength of its first as well as its deepest affection.

Reaching out one of her white hands, she laid it trustfully in his.

"I do not feel that I am worthy to be your wife," she said, with averted eyes and blushing face; "but if you deem me so, the devotion of my life shall be yours."

Arthur Halstead's hand closed over hers almost spasmodically. His doom was sealed, and she had thrown herself a willing sacrifice upon the altar of his dead heart.

To the trusting girl beside him that spasmodic clasp was but the involuntary expression of the rapture of an ardent lover—his silence, the speechless happiness like that which thrilled her own soul.

To her that silence, that hand-clasp, was bliss, perfect and unalloyed; to him it was absolute torture.

When he could endure it no longer, he gently laid her hand back upon her lap, saying, in a low, moved tone, for he could scarcely control his voice sufficiently to speak at all:

"They told me, Ida, that I must not stay to weary you, for you are far from strong even yet, and cannot bear much excitement. But," he added, trying to smile, and, had she been more observing, she must have seen how pitiful the effort was, "before I go will you give me one of these?" touching the flowers in her lap, "that I may wear the colors of—of my betrothed."

The beautiful girl smiled and flushed a rich carmine; but she selected the loveliest blossom of all, and with her own hands fastened it upon the lapel of his coat.

"Thanks," he breathed, and touched those delicate fingers with his lips.

Then he left her, and went directly to his own apartment, where he fought a battle with himself such as does not often fall to the lot of man.

The next morning he had an interview with Mr. Montrose, and begged that he would persuade his daughter to name an early day for their wedding.

As there was no reason for the delay, the day was fixed for just six weeks from that date; whereupon Mr. Halstead settled a handsome income upon his son, and informed him that he was henceforth to consider the homestead as his own, since he and his wife desired to have their freedom to travel a portion of every year, and the care of so large an estate was getting to be too burdensome to him.

But Arthur would not listen to this arrangement.

"I prefer to make some other place my home, at least for the present," he said.

"But, as my heir, it should properly belong to you," his father insisted, looking greatly disappointed.

"I cannot stay there—I must have a change," Arthur replied, somewhat impatiently. "I do not want the place. Reverse your will and give me Willow Glen, which you have always intended for Kate, and let her have the homestead."

"But, Arthur, what will people say to such an arrangement?" remonstrated Mr. Halstead.

"That is the least of my concern, and if my proposition does not please you, I can take my wife and go to the city to board," the young man retorted.

Halstead Farm had in some unaccountable way grown suddenly hateful to him; while, with the present state of his feelings toward his father, he felt as if he could not breathe the same atmosphere with him.

Mr. Halstead read something of this, and sighed heavily. Already he began to think he might be paying too dear a price for his obstinacy, and folly, and treachery in the loss of his son's confidence and affection.

But he conceded the point without further argument, gave him a deed of Willow Glen, a fine estate in a neighboring county, and then the party turned their faces northward, Mr. Montrose and family taking up their abode in Albany until after the wedding and the Halsteads returning to their own home.

LONDONS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Londons won their game on Saturday, and thereby practically landed the championship of the City League. Their victory was a well-earned one. Steady practice and a general enthusiasm which seems to characterize the older ball players, of which the London team is almost entirely made up, gained for them the glory of winning the pennant from such good teams as they competed with. Saturday's game was a walk-over for the Londons, who were pitted against their closest opponents, the Struthers team. Bert Sheere, strong as ever, was in the farthest point for London, and the fact that only ten hits were secured off him proves that his baseball qualities are very far from being on the decline. The rest of the team batted and fielded more than usually well. The Struthers played excellent ball also, but appeared to be unable to cope with the sturdy Cockneys.

Errors lost the second game for the Aberdeens, who struggled in vain against the Rockets. Waud, for the latter, pitched a splendid game, allowing only three hits. Many brilliant plays were made in the course of the game, all of which received hearty applause from the fair-sized crowd who attended. The scores follow:

AN AUSTRALIAN LACROSSE TEAM

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—The secretary of the Shamrock lacrosse club here has received a letter from the Sydney, Australia, team, saying the latter would tour Canada next summer and wanted to arrange a game.

OSHAWA, 7; ORIOLES, 4.

Toronto, Sept. 8. — The final of the home and home games between the Orioles of Toronto and Oshawa was played Saturday afternoon on the island oval, the Oshawa team winning by 7 to 4. As Oshawa won their game at home by 8 to 4, Barney Quain's team win the round by 7 goals. Oshawa must now play Coppercliff or Fergus for the intermediate championship of the C. L. A. It was a very fair exhibition of lacrosse. W. Irvine, of Brampton, kept the players in hand all through the game. The Orioles could not pierce the strong Oshawa defense.

THE TURF.

AT WINDSOR.

Windsor, Sept. 8.—There was plenty of excitement at Windsor Saturday, four favorites taking down the money and in every race but one the best horse was in front at the wire. Betting was extremely lively and two accidents in which Jockeys Jones and Dosh were injured added to the excitement. John J. Regan captured the City of the Straits stake for 2-year-olds at 5½ furlongs. He was a prohibitive favorite in the ring and proved to be pounds the best, standing a hard race to wear down Lorne, who got away running and had four lengths the best of it. Steele had to drive the favorite through the stretch to catch Lorne and then he outfinished Jockey Thompson. With a better jockey Lorne should have won, considering the advantage the gelding had at the start. The race did not show up well owing to the bad start and in the first furlongs Exapo stumbled, throwing Jockey J. Jones and breaking his collar bone. The accident caused Irven to pull Spinet up. Lady Winkle was all but left, but she ran a good race, finishing fourth.

The full course steeplechase was a spectacular affair and was an easy victory for Imperialist with Brazil up. The latter indulged McManus with the lead until the last turn at the field, when he drew away. Handvice might have been a contender but Jockey Dosh semed afraid to let him out. At the twelfth jump he made a bad landing, Dosh being thrown to the ground. The boy jumped up as though to catch his mount and ran directly in front of St Ellerslie, the horse's hoof cutting an ugly gash in his head. In the last event Mattie Spencer negotiated six furlongs in 1:14 flat and disposed of one of the best fields she has been called upon to meet. Sardine was installed as favorite and carried a lot of money, but she could not show the speed and had no excuse.

Boomcrack, at even, delivered the money in fine style in the first race, getting the best of the start with Lord Frazer and coming away at the head of the stretch. Frival and Tchula were equal favorites for the distance event and the former turned the track, racing Tchula into subjection the first part of the journey. Baffled was played for a killing, but had a bad leg and could not run. The second race, a six-furlong affair, went to Ethel Davis, a long shot, as she got away the best of the start and simply galloped in front. The Mirage was an odds-on favorite, but was practically left. She made up a lot of ground, but at the head of the stretch Gilmore pulled her, although he could have been inside the money. Frank Mc. also got the worst of the start, but Doyle rode him all the way and finished second, three lengths in front of Trio. Summaries:

First race, 7 furlongs, 4-year-olds and upward, selling—Boomerack, 110 (C. Kelly), even, won by two lengths; Maple, 112 (Irven), 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, 2; Long Flo, 112 (Doyle), 2½ to 1, 3. Time, 1:29.

AT THE WOODBINE.

Toronto World: Mornings are once more actively occupied at the Woodbine. Every day there is a goodly number of horses in anticipation of picking up a bit at the forthcoming meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club. As time goes by and the day approaches for the fall of the flag prospects of superior sport brighten until, if the weather be but propitious, the most successful autumn meeting ever held in Canada appears assured. Thursday next, when the following events close with Secretary W. P. Fraser at the offices in Leader Lane, will doubtless bring further assurances of success in the number of entries: Toronto Autumn Cup, 3-year olds and up, $1,000 added; Jockey Club Cup, 3-year-olds and up, $1,000 added; Champion Steeplechase, 3-year-olds and up, $1,000; September Steeplechase, 3-year-olds and up, $800; Dominion Autumn Handicap, 3-year-olds and up, Dominion breeds, $800; Michaelmas Handicap, 2-year-olds, $800; October Handicap, all ages, $750; Pheasant Plate, 3-year-olds and up, $700.

CALIFORNIA JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—The list of stakes to be run at the winter and spring meeting of the California Jockey Club has been made public.

Seventeen stakes are on the programme, ranging in date from Nov. 15, 1902, to April 4 of next year, and all of them have added money instead of the guaranteed value, except the Burns handicap, which is guaranteed to be worth $10,000. The total amount to be added money is $37,000.

ATHLETICS.

LONDON TRAVELERS' GOOD WORK.

Saturday was "Travelers' Day," at the Toronto Exhibition, and the Queen City was in the possession of thousands of gripmen and their friends. The London Travelers Club was particularly well represented, and in the athletic contests took about everything in sight. They brought back to London the beautiful Ellis trophy and the Hatch cup. The former is given by Mr. P. W. Ellis, president of the Toronto Commercial Travelers' Association and is to be competed for annually at the Toronto Exhibition, the contestants to be bona fide travelers of any city in Canada. The Hatch cup is a beautiful silver cup presented by Mr. A. Hatch, vice-president of the Toronto Association. The Londoners won practically everything Saturday, including the ball game and the game of rounders. They were, however, defeated in the tug-of-war. The Toronto gripmen couldn't hold a candle to their Cockney friends either in baseball or rounders. The following scores explain:

THROUGH OTHER SPECTACLES

RYTHMIC.

[The Horse Review.]

(Blind and with cotton in his ears wins every race).

The sun beats down—the way is long—
And yet no sunlight is for thee—
No friendly smile, no thundering throng
Telling thou'st won thy victory,
Blind—and in thine ears, for thee,
The eternal silence of the skies—
Blind—but, O, blind eyes that see—
O ears that point where duty lies!
So sang blind Homer by the surf—
Rythmic—thus Homer of the turf!

A RACE-TRACK INNOVATION.

[Toronto World.]

W. C. Whitney at the dinner he gave to his associates at Saratoga the other evening, made several novel suggestions as to the future conducting of racing, among which was the plan to provide spectators with field glasses so that all might see a race like the Futurity run down a straightaway course. Mr. Whitney, it is said, explained that under present circumstances it is impossible to see the early part of such a race, the struggle in the last quarter of a mile being the only part discernible to the naked eye. In order to facilitate matters, therefore, Mr. Whitney suggested that a powerful pair of field glasses might be attached to each reserved seat in the grandstand, after the style of opera glasses in a theater. It is said that next year the plan will be tried at both Sheepshead Bay and Saratoga.

THE WINDSOR MEETING.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Windsor's meeting is half over, and is proving a successful one, though the work that Secretary Laurence is doing should be better recognized. The club is introducing more novelties than any minor track in the country. The mile race for 2-year-olds, and the two mile race for Saturday, were novel numbers, calculated to give the bettors a chance to do some things to the ring. The demand for jumping races that shall better test the steeplechase horse was met on Saturday, when the full route was gone over for the first time. Mr. Laurence has done his work well, and has met every demand of the public. The single drawback to the racing, apart from betting odds that do not always meet with the approval of those who like to protect their money, is the class of boys riding at the track. Even with this handicap, the sport presented is far and away in advance of that at the new Buffalo course, which, unfortunately, has found its opening meeting far from successful. This is a pity, as the association has done everything possible, providing a fine and well equipped course, and offering good sized purses and stakes.

DEATH BESTRIDES SADDLE OF THE WINNING JOCKEY

Perilous Calling Is That Followed by Otto Wonderly—Boys Who Land Rich Stakes.

It was at the fag end of the Brighton meeting that a big field of horses was sent away from the post in front of the grand stand, says the New York Sun. As the thoroughbreds clashed around the lower turn one of them stumbled. Down under the flying hoofs fell a pale-faced boy, helpless. A cry of horror went up from hundreds of spectators who were sure they had seen a tragedy. Several men rushed out on the track and tenderly picked the youngster up. Blood from a gash over his left eye covered his face. He was apparently dead. Suddenly a woman, who sat in the front row of the grand stand, turned as white as a sheet. Her lips moved and her eyes seemed glassy.

"My God!" she cried. "It is my boy! My child! They have killed him!" and then she swooned.

The boy was Jockey Shea, who rides for R. T. Wilson, jun. The doctors worked over him successfully, and the next day he sat beside his mother in the grand stand with a patch over his eye.

"It was a narrow escape," said the little fellow, coolly, "but those things often happen. It's a part of the game, you know."

A PERILOUS BUSINESS.

Last spring Jockey Booker was killed in a race. He had the mount on Red Knight, and as the colt fell Booker was thrown directly in the path of the horses that were rushing along behind him. One of them kicked him in the temple, and for ten days the boy lay unconscious in the hospital. Then he died. It was only last week at Saratoga that Jockey Martin, who rides for Julius Fleischmann, had a narow escape from sudden death. He was thrown in the stretch from Wax Candle's saddle, and apparently was trampled by the rushing field. But on regaining consciousness it was found his only injury was a bruised knee.

WANT TO BE JOCKEYS.

It is possible to see almost any day at the track little boys in knee breeches who want to be jockeys. Some of them are not 10 years old yet they are learning the ropes by exercising horses. All of them know the fame and fortune acquired by Tod Sloan, Danny Maher, Lester Reiff, Tommy Burns, Willie Shaw, Otto Wonderly, George Odom and other jockeys known wherever a racehorse puts his head through a bridle. These little fellows, therefore, have fired in them from the first the ambition to ride winners, receive big wages and if possible sit in the floral horseshoe emblematic of winning a Brooklyn or a suburban handicap.

Some of them have influence with which to progress. They may be the sons of trainers or old-time jockeys, or they may have brothers who are deeply engaged in the turf game. Others have no influence at all, but possessing real American nerve push themselves to the front and succeed. But in climbing up the ladder of fame these youngsters find many a broken rung. Stable boys and exercise boys are always needful, but there are so many good jockeys working on the big tracks that there are few openings for inexperienced novices. The boys who take the hard knocks, persevere in the face of discouraging obstacles and care nothing for rebuffs are the ones who generally make their marks, but it requires a great deal of patience sometimes to keep from throwing up the task in disgust.

A LIFE OF HARDSHIPS.

When a boy becomes a full-fledged jockey life is not so easy, after all. True it is that there is a salary of from $10,000 to $20,000 for a real star jockey, but he has to work for it just the same. In a word, the life of a jockey is one of extreme hardship, coupled always with a chance of being killed at any moment. The average jockey is a minor. His father or his mother or some near relative controls his habits and also handles his wages until he becomes of age. Then if he is not inclined to be wild he is "wise," and knows that a quiet, abstemious life is the best. Such a boy generally lives within hailing distance of the track. Down at Sheepshead Bay many of the best jockeys make their headquarters. They are up before sunrise, and most of them begin the day's work before dawn. They are up in the saddle, and they know just when a good thing is ready to be cut loose. Then they go to breakfast, and have royal appetities, too. As the sun blazes high in the sky it becomes time to look after the weight. If a boy has to reduce in order to make a certain figure he has several methods to employ. He can boil himself down in a Turkish bath or he can put on sweaters and work off his flesh either by riding a bicycle or by running on the road. If it seems to be a difficult task to keep to the necessary weight luncheon is passed by without so much as a look at the bill of fare. Then comes the bustle and hustle of the afternoon. The boys must report to the racing secretary at 1 o'clock sharp so that they may have their names and their mounts, as well as the weights recorded.

ALL HAVE VALETS.

And these jockeys, big and little as to ability, all have valets. Some of the valets are bigger and older than the riders and are unusually shrewd. In fact, they might be called business managers instead of servants. They have innumerable duties. They are compelled to look after the various costumes to be worn by the boys, they hold valuables, carry the saddles, bridles and lead pads from the scales and run errands. It was because they ran many errands between the paddock and the betting ring that there was talk some time ago of doing away with them altogether, and that may yet be done.

When a jockey's day's work is done he can enjoy a little lionizing, that is if he has ridden winners. Winnie O'Connor, who rides for A. Featherstone, is always in evidence when he has laid aside the silk and whip. He always appears with neatly combed hair, carefully pressed clothes, and inevitably smokes a big, black cigar. This boy is as steady as a clock as regards habits, but he is boyish in many ways, even though he has attained his majority. He is a great lover of athletics, thinks he can box, is a fair bicycle rider and is devoted to his automobile. He is a fine horseman and earning perhaps $30,000 a year.

SOME FAMOUS ONES.

Tommy Burns, who is the best of William C. Whitney's jockeys, dresses like a nabob when off duty. His clothes are made at one of the most fashionable establishments on Fifth avenue, and he associates with rich sporting men. There was a time when Burns was something of a reveler by night, but he evidently grew tired of that sort of thing and has settled down famously. Willie Shaw, the Keenes' regular jockey, is possibly the most modest boy in the profession. He seldom says a word, either in the saddle or out of it. He is a close student of horses and horsemen, however, and his habits are exemplary. When not actively engaged, Shaw can be found at the side of the noted plunger, "Pittsburg Phil," who brought him out. Wonderly and Odom are both quiet, unassuming chaps, the latter's improvement in form this year being a remarkable incident in the turf world. Odom, by the way, had a close shave last spring when he was thrown at Sheepshead Bay and was carried off the track unconscious.

Nash Turner and Henry Spencer are both too heavy to ride often nowadays. But they never miss a day at the track, and are always consulted by the talent, or rather those who can get their ears. Cochran and Redfern have their parents always within reach of them. It was only last year that Redfern made his bow on the local tracks, but now he is in demand and draws a fat salary from the Pepper stable.

"Father Bill" Daly receives credit for turning out more jockeys from his Hartford school than any other turfman. Danny Maher graduated from the Daly institution, and will never forget it. Daly has several youngsters in tow now, and says they are future stars. The latest graduate is Breman, who recently signed with Newton Bennington. "Father Bill," in discussing the development of jockeys the other day, said:

"If a boy is fearless that is half of it. He'll acquire the rest with experience. But he must have the heart and the nerve!"

So these youngsters fight their way to the top, where there is money, fame and perhaps death. But in order to reach the pinnacle of success all of them must follow the old saw:

"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

When Effie Ellsler was in England last summer she spent much time visiting scenes and places mentioned in "When Knighthood Was in Flower." During one of her trips over the older part of London she discovered that Duck's Foot Lane near Cannon street has nothing at all to do, so far as the origin of its name is concerned, with ducks, but was so named after the first Duke of Suffolk. This is the title which Mary wheedled from Henry VIII. for her humbly-born lover, Charles Brandon, hero of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." He and many of the subsequent dukes of his line lived in Duck's Foot Lane and their town house was called the Manor of the Rose. Effie Ellsler will be seen at the Grand tonight in the complete production of "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

WORKMEN ATTEND CHURCH

Members of United Order Parade to Divine Service.

Rev. Dr. Sowerby, of Talbot Street, Preaches Vigorous Sermon.

Rev. Dr. Sowerby's first Sunday at home was marked by an interesting service that he conducted, which was attended by the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Two hundred members of the order marched to Talbot Street Baptist Church, the lodges represented being Fidelity, No. 5; London, No. 18; Woodbine, No. 331; Star, No. 367; Electric, No. 402; Westminster, No. 404, and Grant, No. 407, and Lambeth Lodge.

They marched from their rooms at the corner of Richmond and Carling streets, Mr. James Armitage acting as marshal. Dr. Sowerby preached as usual a very interesting sermon, which was especially appropriate to the occasion. The choir rendered some delightful music, and, when the brethren returned to their rooms, they passed votes of thanks, both to the choir and to the pastor. A generous contribution was collected, and will be given to the Home for Incurables.

Letters to the Editor.

GOVERNMENT AND NORTHWEST LAND SHARKS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

From many quarters, and especially from the States, men at the head of syndicates have bought up many millions of acres in blocks of our Northwest, getting the even-numbered sections that were to be for actual homesteaders, as well as the odd-numbered sections. And if a man from old Canada went now to get a homestead for his family in vast districts of the unsettled parts he will have to go from one quarter to another for weeks amid hardships and expense before he can get entered in a land office for a homestead and be sure that he has it. Great Britain was blighted by the feudal system, established by tyrants like William of Normandy, who seized the lands for their earls and soldiers and drove the people they did not kill to the mountains and seashore. As a result many of our forefathers who had been sober, industrious people had to come in a penniless condition to this new world. And here and now a different form of villainous landlordism is seizing the best parts of our country, not with mobs and armies, but armed with heavy purses, and deceitful promises, led by human foxes, who seek to prey on their fellowmen. People voluntarily will enter the country, and the government should act as true warder to them, and in a paternal manner give homes directly to actual settlers, and sell to them of the odd numbered lands to enlarge their farms. And as lands rise in price let the public treasury have the benefit.

Some people seem to think the country is boundless, but having gone personally through all those provinces, the writer knows that the general wheat lands have very definite bounds indeed. And this, the fairest heritage that ever came to the lot of man, should be given to the people!

OPENING OF NEW ORGAN

Beautiful Musical Service in Memorial Church.

Large Congregations Listened to New Instrument.

The services in the Memorial Church yesterday had a special interest by reason of the inauguration of the new organ.

The morning programme was as follows: Woodward's Te Deum and Benedictus in D, Stainer's anthem, "What Are These?" Hammer's Kyries and Gloss' Gloria.

But it was the evening service that was specially interesting. Woodward's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis in E flat were given beautifully, the voices of the choir blending in the most perfect unison and harmony. The anthem was "Father, Keep Us in Thy Care," an arrangement of the "Lost Chord," by D. F. Hodges, with solos by Miss Rowed and Miss Beaumont and a cornet obligato very beautifully played by Mr. Court Irwin.

At the end of the service a short organ recital was given by Mr. Vivian Reeve, organist of the church. The Offertoire in F, by Batiste, was the initial number on the programme, and it displayed to the full the capabilities of the organ. "Une Fete a Trianon," by Henri Roubier, followed, showing the solo qualities of the instrument and then came "Silver Trumpets," by Viviani. The ever-popular Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," introducing that most beautiful of all sacred songs, "Ave Maria," was next given, and showed forth the delicacy and sweetness of tone of the organ; but it was not until the opening notes of the Hallelujah Chorus, from "The Messiah," pealed forth that the audience learned what the organ was really capable of. It was only then that the grandeur, richness and volume of tone were fully displayed. It is certainly a most beautiful and perfect instrument, and under Mr. Reeve's skillful hands cannot fail to become an added attraction to the Memorial Church services.

The Rev. C. C. Owen delivered a most helpful and inspiring sermon from the text "And Hezekiah went up to the House of the Lord and spread before the Lord" (II. Kings, 19, 14), dwelling most particularly on the importance of prayer.

Questions Answered.

Left When Japanese Came.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Acting Secretary Adee has been informed by the Japanese legation here that Capt. Rosehill, who undertook to lay claim to Marcus Island and take possession, arrived at that island on July 30 last. He was met there by a Japanese warship, the commander of which handed to him the letters addressed by the state department, pointing out the advisability of his avoiding any forcible demonstration to support his claim. The captain accepted these letters as sufficient and left the island about a week later. He has not lost any right he might have had, according to the state department officials, and if he has any just claim, it may be pursued to a conclusion in the usual diplomatic channels.

A Chicago Scandal.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Indictments were returned Friday against four men implicated in the Masonic Fraternity Temple Association tax-fixing scandal, which has taken up the time of a special grand jury all week, and which county officials believe will result in unearthing a conspiracy to mulct the county of hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxes annually. The men against whom true bills are returned are: Luke Wheeler, charged with forgery and conspiracy to defraud; Capt. Edward Williams, manager of the Masonic Temple, charged with uttering a forged instrument and with conspiracy; James B. Foy, conspiracy to defraud; John J. Healy, jun., conspiracy to defraud.

FACTS FOR BUSINESS MEN.

Roscoe Conkling said: "When a man climbs the ladder of fame, the fellows behind him catch hold and try to drag him down. The higher he gets, the more there are hanging on to his skirts." The same is true of the man who wins success in business. The greater his success the greater the number of the dogs of envy who snarl at him. But he can afford not to care. When they assail him in their advertisements, he safely may ignore them, since his hands and head have all they can do to hold together his prosperous undertakings.

LADY KILLED AT CROSSING

Soldier Loses His Life by Magazine Explosion—Three Drownings—Other Casualties.

Belleville, Ont., Sept. 8.—Patrick Wim lost his life in Tyendinaga, near this city, working with a threshing machine. Wims was descending a ladder with a pitchfork in his hand, when one of the rounds of the ladder broke and he fell to the floor beneath. The handle of the fork broke and penetrated his abdomen to a depth of over a foot. The poor fellow bled to death in five minutes. He was a married man of 45 years of age.

FOUND IN THE SLIP.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The body of an unknown man was found floating in the Yonge street slip Saturday morning. The body, which has apparently been in the water for some time, was that of a young man of about 22, of fair complexion, about five feet tall; black shirt and coat, and gray trousers with black stripe. There was a ring on his right hand. The body is at the morgue.

KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 8.—While driving across the G. R. and I. tracks, about a mile south of Plainwell, Saturday, Mrs. C. W. Hawley, one of the most prominent women of that place, was struck by an extra north bound engine in charge of Engineer Ames and instantly killed. The carriage was smashed to bits and the horse killed. Mrs. Hawley was thrown nearly 100 feet and when picked up a few minutes after the accident life was extinct. Mrs. Hawley was 8 years of age. Her husband, Dr. C. W. Hawley, died only three weeks ago.

MAGAZINE EXPLODES.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—One of the Government powder magazines at old Fort Winthrop, on Governor's Island, Upper Boston Harbor, blew up last evening with a detonation that was apparent all over the city, and which was heard at points 20 miles away. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by boys setting fires on the island. One dead man and five injured were brought to the city by the police boat, and while it is believed that this is the extent of the casualties, it is possible that others may be found suffering from the force of the concussion. The dead man is Cotter, but further than this nothing is known about him.

SUICIDE OF A PHYSICIAN.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 6.—A man known as Dr. D. S. Waterous, of 3713 Elmwood Place, Chicago, committed suicide here by taking morphine. He left a note to his employer, the proprietor of a news room in this city, saying that he would kill himself, but gave no reason. Waterous had lived here since last February. He was between 50 and 60 years of age. Nothing is known of his past history.

THREE DROWNED.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 8.—A triple drowning occurred at Gull Lake, near here, Friday night, the facts of which did not become known until yesterday afternoon. The victims are: A. C. Miller, of Battle Creek, aged 38; Herman Breuer, of Yorkville, aged 25; Henry Breuer, of Yorkville, aged 20.

The last two named are cousins. The circumstances surrounding the drowning of the three are shrouded in mystery, and will probably never be learned. It is not even known at what spot in the lake the accident occurred.

About 7:30 in the evening the trio appeared at Labelle resort, at the south end of the lake, and hired a 16-foot steel boat, stating that they were going to row to the head of the lake, seven miles distant. A gale was blowing at the time and the lake was very rough. The men were told that there was danger in their proposed trip, but they only laughed and rowed away. That was the last seen of them.

The men not returning that night or in the morning, their friends started a search for them, and found the oars and part of the seat floating on the lake near the shore at Wildwood Park. The boat was nowhere to be found, and the theory is that it capsized in the gale and sank.

Miller was a married man, and has a family at Battle Creek. He was foreman in the baking department of the Tryabita food factory at Yorkville. The Breuers were also employed in the Tryabita factory.

AN "EXPANSIVE" GIRL

Not Necessarily an Expensive One.

A little Kansas girl is called an "expansionist" because her clothes require "letting out" so often. She lives mostly on Grape-Nuts since recovering from a sick spell caused by too much greasy food.

Almost all ailments of children (and grown folks as well) are traceable to the wrong kind of food, and the surest cure is to quit the old sort, the greasy, pasty, undercooked or overdone things, that ruin the stomach and bowels.

Put the children and adults on the perfectly cooked food Grape-Nuts.

It is digested by the weakest stomach. Has the delicate sweet flavor of the Grape Sugar and surely and quickly rebuilds the body, brain and nerves.

There's a reason.

"PEWEE" JOHNSON

The Alleged Murderer Captured Near the Suspension Bridge.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 7. — "Pewee" Johnson, the negro, who is charged with having shot and killed on attendant at the Kenilworth race track last week during a quarrel over a game of craps, was captured at Suspension Bridge, N. Y., this afternoon. Johnson fled immediately after the shooting at Kenilworth and crossed to the Canadian side of the Niagara River early the next morning.

The fugitive was seen and recognized by the Canadian frontier police, and a chase began which lasted two days and two nights, the pursuers frequently coming into close quarters with the negro desperado and on two occasions exchanging shots with him.

Johnson fled west as far as Hamilton, where he turned and doubled on his tracks. He was traced back to Suspension Bridge this afternoon. The Canadian officers gave chase and Johnson ran across the bridge to the American side. Here a crowd joined in the pursuit, and Johnson, seeing that he was unable to escape, threw his pistol away and surrendered to an officer who drove up in a buggy.

Held Responsible.

Quebec, Sept. 6.—The pilot, Alphonse Asselin, who has charge of the steamer Manchester-Importer when she ran aground on White Island, was found guilty before the harbor commissioners and condemned to suspension from Sept. 1 to May 1, 1903.

FREEZING WEATHER AND HAIL

Heavy Frosts in New York State—Storm at St. Catharines.

Middleton, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Heavy frosts in some sections of Orange, Sullivan and Delaware Counties Friday night wrought destruction to the crops.

Hoosac Falls, N. Y., Sept. 6.—There was a heavy frost here last night. The thermometer fell to freezing point.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 8. — A severe electric and wind and hail storm struck this section about midnight Saturday, and lasted for about one hour. Fearing a repetition of the recent cyclone, the people rushed from their beds in terror and remained up till the storm passed over. The lightning was very vivid and made the hail resemble a snowstorm. Several large shade trees were blown down, while others were splintered by lightning.

In Thorold a number of chimneys were knocked off. The steamer Lakeside was about two miles out from Port Dalhousie when the storm struck, and had a hard time making the piers.

The fruit growers in Louth and Grantham Townships report some damage to their orchards, the hail having cut hundreds of bushels of fruit off before being properly matured. The ground in small sections this morning was strewn with sparrows and other birds, killed by the storm.

Will Not Merge.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 6.—Statements have been published in connection with the approaching completion of the Pacific cable that the Postal and Western Union Telegraph Companies would merge in the near future. To this story C. R. Hosmer, of this city, who is identified with Postal affairs, gives a positive denial.
