GERMAN WARSHIPS WILL LIKELY BE DESTROYED, WHILE HELGOLAND WILL BE RAZED TO WATER'S EDGE

English Press Expresses Opinion That Proposal Is Almost Certain To Be Accepted by Peace Conference—Sinking of Ships Would, It Is Argued, Eliminate Heartburnings Due to Their Division.

BRITAIN INSISTS ON DESTRUCTION.

Paris, Feb. 22.—(By the Associated Press).—Out of the great number of contradictory statements being made public concerning the disposition of German warships which have been seized, this much may be accepted as a definite official fact:

Great Britain insists that these ships be destroyed.

This proposition, it is understood, will be put before the supreme war council as a part of the British proposals for definite peace terms. The published assertion that these ships will be destroyed would seem premature, since there is considerable opposition to the plan, especially on the part of France.

Opposition has been voiced in various quarters to the destruction of ships on the ground that they present, not only a military force, but also material required for industrial purposes. In this connection, one important feature of the British plan has not been published.

Great Britain does not propose to destroy the engines or other parts of the ships which have industrial importance. She would remove these parts before the ships were sunk.

London, Feb. 22.—The proposal to sink the German warships now in the Scapa Flow, it is now generally stated in the English newspapers, is practically certain to be accepted by the peace conference. It is also proposed, it is said, to raze the Island of Helgoland to the water level. According to the Mail, both proposals, which originated in the British admiralty, will be discussed at Paris in the next few days. The destruction of the ships is advocated on the ground that their division among the victors would cause heartburnings. The question of dealing with the surrendered submarines will be considered separately, whether they shall be sunk or preserved.

Another point for which the British naval delegates will press at the peace conference, says the Mail, will be the razing of Helgoland. This would be a stupendous undertaking, as the Island is about one-fifth of a mile square and at its highest point one hundred and ninety feet, while the coast is fortified with concrete and steel. An enormous quantity of explosives would be required, but, continues the newspaper, "it would be the best way of consuming the German reserves of high explosives."

After destroying the fortifications at Kiel, assuming the British contention for this action is accepted, the canal, the Mail says, could be handed over to a private company on the same lines as the Suez.

CLEMENCEAU'S PHYSICIANS ORDER ABSOLUTE QUIETNESS FOLLOWING FATIGUE AS RESULT OF TALKING

French Premier Held Long Conferences With Officials, But Suffers Fatigue Later—Displays Impatience Because of Enforced Idleness, and Expresses Desire To Resume His Work at the Conference.

CLEMENCEAU OVER-EXERTED HIMSELF.

Paris, Feb. 22.—Alexandre Millerand, former minister of war, was one of Premier Clemenceau's earliest visitors today. "The premier," said Millerand after his visit, "is rather more tired today. He over-exerted himself yesterday. However, his condition is generally satisfactory."

The official bulletin on the premier's condition issued this morning reads:

"The premier is a little more fatigued, and will receive none today. He is absolutely forbidden to speak. Temperature 98.7 (Fahrenheit) pulse normal, 72.

Paris, Feb. 22.—"Premier Clemenceau is somewhat fatigued, and will receive no one today," said Dr. Cautra of the medical staff attending Premier Clemenceau after the examination of the premier shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. "He is absolutely forbidden to talk," Dr. Cautra added. "His temperature is 37.1 centrigrade, and his pulse normal 72."

The doctor's statement was understood to be a synopsis of the official bulletin which at this hour, 9:30, has not yet been issued.

AGED PREMIER WITH BULLET IN HIS BACK CONFERS WITH FORTY PERSONS

Paris, Feb. 22.—Premier Clemenceau was able to rest well during the night, and seemingly suffered no adverse effects from his exertions yesterday, which caused considerable anxiety to his physicians and family. During the day he saw no less than forty persons, which the doctors considered excessive for a man of his age with a bullet in his back, but M. Clemenceau is an arbitrary gentleman, who does exactly as he pleases.

All the physicians agreed that the action of the premier's lungs should be reduced as much as possible, as movement causes the edges of the wound to rub against each other. The only way of effecting this was an injection of morphine, which no one cared to propose to the premier, foreseeing how he would oppose the suggestion. At last Dr. Laubry volunteered, says the Petit Journal. He appealed to the premier as a "brother doctor," but M. Clemenceau sprang up, seized the physician by the shoulders and shouted: "What! What! Morphine! You want to finish me? Are you in the pay of the Bolshevik?" Dr. Laubry threw up his hands and said: "There you are. We want to give your chest rest, and you've nearly burst it!"

PRESIDENT POINCARE CONFERS FOR SOME TIME WITH PREMIER

PRESIDENT POINCARE— mof mafo

Paris, Feb. 22.—President Poincare called on Premier Clemenceau this afternoon and finding M. Clemenceau in excellent spirits, was able to remain for quite a long time. The premier is uneasy over being confined to his home and is impatient to resume his work at the peace conference. He talks of presiding at Monday's meeting, if his improvement continues. In the meantime he is following the work of the conference with close attention. During the day he twice asked that Stephen Pichon, foreign minister, and Paul Dutast, French minister to Switzerland, be summoned. He also conferred with Louis Klotz, minister of finance, Capt. Andre Tardieu, one of the French delegates to the peace conference, and Louis Louicheur, minister of munitions.

LIQUOR CAN BE LEGALLY BROUGHT INTO HURON COUNTY

If Secured On Doctor's Prescription, Law Has Not Been Violated.

JUDGMENT OF MAGISTRATE

Question of Importance Is Decided in Goderich Court This Morning.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Goderich, Feb. 22.—The right to bring liquor into the County of Huron, a county under the Canada temperance act, upon a physician's order, was settled by Police Magistrate Reid, in the local police court this morning. Bert Townsend, who was charged with this offence) was acquitted by the magistrate. As the question is one of great importance, the following is the magistrate's judgment in the matter.

Magistrate's Judgment.

"I find the defendant, Bert Townsend, went to London on or about the 23rd of December, 1918, with four prescriptions marked exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, and bearing the signature of Dr. J. Benson Whitely. There is no disputing the fact that these four prescriptions for liquor were filled at the vendor's in London and brought by the defendant to Goderich, one for himself and one each for the three other parties who asked Townsend to have them filled for them.

"The question of right of the defendant to bring liquor into a Canada temperance act county, as the prescriptions say, for medicinal purposes, is covered in section six of the order-in-council passed at Ottawa on the 11th day of March, 1918, the last paragraph of which says 'nor prevent a licensee in a

Sir Wilfrid Laurier

So long he bore, with rare and courtly grace,
His noble part in all our nation's life,
We scarce can deem how empty in his place,
That throbbed with toil and strife.

Unveiled by Death, our eyes are quick to see
God's gentleness, that made him truly great,
His eager soul, his patient chivalry,
His heart that mocked at fate.

Our great Sir Galahad, upon whose brow
No breath of scandal raised the blush of shame,
Has left the richest gift he could bestow—
A pure, unsullied name.

Proud of his Gallic blood, but swift to boast
His fealty to the British Crown and State,
His golden voice bewailed, from coast to coast,
The sin of racial hate.

Let bitterness and rancor disappear!—
Meet tribute to our country's honored son—
Saxon and Gaul clasp hands above his bier—
Hearts pledged to beat as one.

Philipp Scheidemann Sees Trouble Ahead as Result of Internal Disorders.

CRIME IN ASCENDENCY

Nation Is Menaced With Lack of Food Supplies and Non-Employment.

London, Feb. 22.—"The young German Republic will, in a very short time, be faced by a severe upheaval, if not a breakdown," said Philipp Scheidemann, German chancellor, in addressing the national assembly at Weimar yesterday, according to a German wireless dispatch received here.

"The state and the nation are menaced as to food supplies and the conduct of industries, not only by our enemies, but by our compatriots, who are now threatening our most important industries in the Rhineland and Westphalian regions," he continued.

"The ground upon which we are standing shakes, and perhaps will sink if we are unsuccessful in ending this madness and crime in the Ruhr region."

The chancellor is quoted as saying that "notwithstanding all the good the soldiers' and workmen's councils accomplished during the first weeks of the revolution, I have often blushed with shame at their violation of the liberty of the press."

FUNERAL OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER WAS GREATEST CANADA HAS EVER SEEN

Thousands of Canadians of All Walks in Life Pay Last Tribute to Beloved Statesman—Remains of Dead Liberal Chieftain Are Laid to Rest This Morning in the Notre Dame Cemetery in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Canada's capital today honored [illegible] dead in worthy fashion. There was a tremendous display of solemnity in the funeral cortege of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which formed a fitting climax to a life which would have been noble in any of the great nations of the world, ancient or modern.

This dignity made itself manifest, not so much in the arrangements, which had been made for a state funeral, but in the grand, spontaneity with which the people flocked in the streets to pay a last tribute. Unquestionably this was the largest funeral, the grandest and the noblest, that Canada has ever seen.

40,000 View Remains.

During the eve of the funeral, when the body was lying in state in the Chamber of the Parliament, in which the great tribune had won his mightiest triumphs for the people, nearly 40,000 people filed past the catafalque. It was late in the night before the last of the long line could be admitted, and from the earliest dawn this morning, thousands more streamed down to the Victoria Museum. The doors, however, had to be kept closed so that the preliminaries for the funeral procession to the Roman Catholic Basilica on Sussex street, a mile and a half away, could be adequately arranged.

Thousands Line Route.

Soon after 8 o'clock great numbers of spectators had assembled along the line of route, taking advantage of every position which would give them an unobstructed view. The city had filled with visitors as if by magic overnight, special trains running from distant points and at times congesting the large railway station. The mayor of Ottawa had to issue an appeal for those with rooms to offer accommodation, and a central bureau for this work was opened at the city hall. Almost every window and balcony in the spacious square wherein the Victoria Museum is situated was filled with onlookers. Promptly at 10 o'clock the arrangements for the departure of the cortege were completed, despite the complexity of having to make up a procession composed of horse-drawn sleighs (for the streets in Ottawa are deep in snow), and of scores of dignitaries of state, national societies, returned soldiers' societies and political bodies, closing with a vast unclassed stream of simple citizens from nearly all parts of the Dominion.

These, of course, were in addition to the specially-invited state guests, including the governor-general and staff, Gen. Gwatkin (representing H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught), the lieutenant-governors, archbishops and bishops, members of the Cabinet, the speaker of the Senate and senators, and speakers and members of the House of Commons, with whom the members of the Parliamentary press gallery walked.

Honorary Pallbearers.

The following gentlemen acted as honorary pallbearers: The Hon. Sir Thomas White, Hon. Sir James Lougheed, Hon. Sir William Muloch, Hon. Sidney Fisher, Hon. Senator Belcourt, Hon. Senator Aylesworth, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. Charles Murphy, Hon. R. A. Dandurand, Hon. Senator Edwards, Hon. L. O. David, Jacques Bureau, Esq., M.P.; J. A. Robb, Esq., M.P.; Hon. Sir Lomer Gouin, Monsignor Dimaria, representative of the Pope in Canada, officiated at the church, assisted by other high dignitaries of the church. Mgr. Routhier was assistant priest. Canons Campeau and Fladin, deacons of honor, and Father Myrand of St. Anne's, deacon of office. In the sanctuary were several archbishops and bishops and representatives of all the religious communities. A touching requiem mass composed by the Abbe Perosi was rendered by the choir, and at the conclusion eloquent eulogies of the dead are to be pronounced in French by Archbishop Mathieu of Regina and in English by Rev. Father John Burke Paulist, of Toronto, son of the late Mr. Denis Burke of Ottawa.

Interred in Notre Dame.

After the final absolution, the body was taken to its last resting-place in Notre Dame Cemetery. At the grave the last rites were performed by Father Lajeune of the Juniorate of the Sacred Heart.

Throughout it was necessary to restrict admission strictly to ticket-holders, but the fullness, and indeed the grandeur of the nation's tribute was seen more especially in the vast concourse of those who did not wait for ticket or invitation to show their admiration for "the grand old man." This was the dominant note of Sir Wilfrid's funeral.

From the Victoria Museum up the broad residential maple-lined avenue of Metcalfe street, into the heart of the city of Ottawa, the procession slowly wound its way. Every intersecting street was densely packed for yards away with those who had poured in to view the last rites. Across Sparks street, which is the capital's chief business thoroughfare, the cortege wound, and slowly and with magnificent dignity into Wellington street facing the now almost complete new parliaments on Parliament Hill, where for nearly 45 years the late Sir Wilfrid had been a familiar and honored figure.

Thousands View Cortege.

Descending Wellington street towards the station, the procession, headed by eight Dominion policemen of giant stature, turned to the left through Major Hill Park to the printing bureau, and then by the short stretch of St. Patrick street practically to the door of the church.

The congestion was great, especially at the junction of Wellington and Connaught place, with the magnificent setting of the Chateau Laurier on the north side, the chaste stonework of the

Will Dedicates All Tokens of Honor To Capital City

Clause in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Will Shows His Pride in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier maintained his pride and interest in Ottawa to the last. It is understood that a clause in his will dedicates to the capital city all the tokens of honor bestowed upon him during his distinguished public career.

Many of these are of almost priceless value. They include the testimonials covering the freedom of cities in the United Kingdom. The casket containing the freedom of the city of Edinburgh, one of the most beautiful of the collection, is solidly encrusted with diamonds. The intention is that the souvenirs shall find a place in the war memorial building which will doubtless be erected in Ottawa before long.

UKRAINIANS RESUME VIOLENT ATTACKS ON THE CITY OF LEMBERG

Polish Garrison Succeeds So Far in Repulsing Attackers.

Paris, Feb. 22.—The battle of Lemberg has been resumed, according to a Havas dispatch from Cracow, filed on Friday. The Ukrainians attacked violently. They are credited with capturing the city before the arrival of the inter-allied mission. A Warsaw dispatch, under Thursday's date, received yesterday, stated that the members of the inter-allied mission to Poland were fired upon by Ukrainian soldiers while on their way from Cracow to Lemberg, and that the delegation returned to Cracow. So far the small Polish garrison of Lemberg has beaten off all the Ukrainian attacks.

After beginning an attempt to open negotiations for an armistice, the inter-allied mission left Cracow for Warsaw, where it will continue its efforts.

REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN MUNICH AND BUDAPEST; MOBS ENGAGE IN STREET FIGHTING AND THIEVING

Troubles in Bavarian Capital Assume a More Serious Turn —10,000 Workmen Summoned From Suburbs by the Ringing of Church Bells.

London, Feb. 22.—The troubles in Munich took a still more serious turn yesterday afternoon, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Church bells began ringing, while 10,000 workmen from the suburbs marched into the centre of the city, and a short time later violent firing was heard, it is said. The mob is reported to have begun plundering shops.

COMMUNIST REVOLT IN BUDAPEST

Paris, Feb. 22.—A communist revolt broke out in Budapest on Thursday night, says a dispatch to the Matin from Zurich, quoting a Swiss agency message from the Hungarian capital.

Paris, Feb. 22.—Hungarian capital. The revolt is under the leadership of agitators, who are, for the most part, Germans and Russians, the dispatch stated. The insurgents stormed the offices of the Socialist newspaper Nepzava, and occupied the telegraph office and the railroad station.

Count Karolyi, the provisional president, immediately called a meeting of the cabinet. The ministers sat far into the night and decided to take all necessary measures to quell the outbreak. Martial law was proclaimed.

Government troops, the message adds, have already captured the railway station.

LONDON HOUSES KEEN TO SECURE OVERSEAS TRADE

Expect To Share in Orders Secured by Agents Sent to England.

60,000 SUITS FOR RUMANIA

Clothing, Shoe and Candy Makers Among Those Interested in Development.

Indications are not wanting that London manufacturers, in common with those of other parts of Canada, will have an early opportunity to establish excellent export connections as a result of the need existing in Europe for manufactured goods of all kinds. In practically every line of industry the factories have already arranged to co-operate in securing foreign trade and to distribute orders received among the factories represented in proportion to their capacity for filling them.

The clothing manufacturers are sending two representatives, one from Quebec Province and one from Ontario, to England to submit samples and, if possible, secure orders. E. L. Carley, who went to England some time ago as the representative of the Canadian clothing manufacturers, has cabled that 60,000 suits will be needed, principally for Rumania and Serbia.

London Firm Interested.

The two men who are now to go to England will sail on the Olympic on February 28. They will represent, respectively, fourteen Quebec and ten Ontario manufacturers, including the local firm of Greene, Swift & Co., which if the contract is signed, will receive at least one-twenty-fourth of the total order.

The manufacturers of confectionery, chocolate and biscuits, including the London firms, are at present co-operating in a movement to organize an export company, with a view to securing foreign orders. The movement is as yet only in its infancy, but it is essentially a co-operative one, and orders received will be distributed pro rata.

Send Agent to England.

The Shoe Manufacturers' Association has taken the matter in hand on behalf of the shoe manufacturers, and a representative left about ten days ago for Europe. In this case also competition will be eliminated, and contracts divided among the various manufacturers.

The McClary Manufacturing Company and other similar corporations are similarly co-operating in an endeavor to secure export trade for Canada, and they have agreed to pool expenses for the purpose of sending to Europe a representative who, in fact, is already on his way.

MAGISTRATE DESIRED TO SHOW LENIENCY, LAW IS IN THE WAY

"It Is a Calamity," Says Court to Returned Soldier.

PLEADS FOR HIS COMRADE

Man Who Served in France Is Assisted by "A Friend Indeed."

That the protective spirit and good fellowship which prevailed in the Canadian army between officer and man when they were fighting side by side in France, still holds good in civilian life, was demonstrated in police court today when a member of the Dominion police spoke in behalf of one of his old comrades. The soldier was charged with having liquor in his possession.

"This man just got out of the army the day before yesterday, your worship," said Mr. Lane. "I never knew him to take a drink in England or France, and he is as clean living a boy as I ever met. He was wounded, and I was in the same hospital with him. After he was discharged in Canada he enlisted again and went overseas to fight once more. I don't think he is quite responsible for his condition as he received a bad skull wound and at times loses track of things."

"Do you know where you got your liquor, George," continued the Dominion policeman, turning to the prisoner.

"No, sir, I don't," was the reply. "I don't remember anything about it."

"I'm very, very sorry," stated the magistrate, "but as long as the act is as it is I have no power. What can I do? It is certainly a calamity."

"If there is any suggestion that the man is not capable of looking after himself, I think it should be looked into. I do not want to be unfair in any way to any man, especially one that has fought for his country as this man has," declared R. G. Fisher, who was prosecuting the case.

The soldier was remanded until Tuesday in order that all the facts in the case may be looked into.

VAUDEVILLE AT GRAND IS TO BE INAUGURATED WEEK OF MARCH 10

Management Announces Opening of Small-Pantages Circuit.

The date for the inauguration of vaudeville at the Grand Opera House has been set for Monday, March 10. Manager J. R. Minhinnick states positively that the policy of this popular playhouse will be changed on that date, and that local playgoers will have the opportunity of witnessing the best vaudeville procurable and at popular prices. As announced in last week's press, the date for the commencement of this popular form of amusement was set for March 3, but owing to the many details in connection with the change it has been found impossible to start this policy before Monday, March 10.

As formerly announced an alliance has been formed of the interests of A. J. Small, owner of the Ontario circuit of big theatres, and Alexander Pantages, the Western vaudeville magnate, who, in conjunction with Charles H. Miles of Detroit, controls the largest chain of vaudeville theatres on the American continent, by the new alliance, London will become part of this large circuit of vaudeville theatres. There will also be theatrical companies on tour this season.

CANADIANS IN BELGIUM CHAFE OVER INACTION

Pte. over Wonders If People of Canada Have No Say.

The Advertiser has received a letter from Pte. B. Laner, who went overseas with the 142nd Battalion, and is now serving with the 18th in Belgium, expressing dissatisfaction at the slowness with which the Canadians are being brought back to their homes.

He says he is only one of a good many who are wondering why they have to stay over there six months longer than the others, and whether the people of Canada have not a say as to what they should do. He expresses the opinion that imperial troops could do the work which the Canadians are doing, and that they would not be so far away from home.

He points out that there are men now in Belgium who have not seen their relatives in Canada for four years, and he thinks such men should be given the opportunity to return to the Dominion without delay.

MAN WHO HELD CORK PAYS $200, MAN WITH BOTTLE IS LET GO

Toronto Youth Claimed Whiskey Was Handed to Him.

ANOTHER PAYS BIG FINE

Caught With Goods On Him Rather Than In Him, Faces Inevitable.

Angus Dunsmore, a youth who hails from Toronto got the scare of his young life in police court today when he was charged with having liquor illegally in his possession. Magistrate Marshall Graydon warned the young chap to be more careful in the future, and let him go.

According to Dunsmore, after finishing his evening repast in a hotel last night, he walked into the washroom, and a drunken man whom he afterwards identified as Robert Andrews, handed him a pop bottle. He took it and at that very moment the law in the person of constable Jim Oakley stepped in and dropped a heavy hand on his shoulder.

Chucked the Cork.

All that saved Dunsmore from a $200 fine was the fact that Andrews was holding the cork of the bottle and tried to toss it away without being seen. Mr. Andrews objected strenuously to the whiskey being wished on him. He admitted that he was drunk.

"You must have been pretty close to the bottle if you held the cork," observed R. G. Fisher who was prosecuting the case. Andrews told of meeting two returned soldiers on the Grand Trunk station platform yesterday morning. They had two quart bottles of whiskey and he had helped to "kill" them. However, Magistrate Graydon informed him that he would take the word of Dunsmore who was sober, and fined Andrews $200.

He Packed It Outside.

Frank Navin was fined $200 for being caught with liquor on him but not in him, on the street. He pleaded guilty right off the bat.

"You know what that means, a $200 fine," said the court.

"I had it on me," replied Navin in a tired voice.

Six drunks also graced the docket today. None would tell where they got the burning fluid that got them into trouble. They were all fined the usual $10 and costs. It was a black Friday evening for them.

DON'T HAWK, BLOW, SNEEZE OR COUGH, USE "CATARRHOZONE"

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag—when later on they infest the bronchial tubes—how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

But Catarrhozone goes everywhere—gets right after the germs—kills them—heals the soreness—cures the inflammation—makes Catarrh disappear. Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Large size, costs $1.00, and contains two months' treatment; smaller sizes, 25c and 50c, all druggists and storekeepers.

CLEMENCEAU IS UP AND DOING DESPITE WOUND

Has Conference With His Ministers of War and Food, and Others.

SOON AT PEACE TABLE

Expects To Be Out Monday—His Own Doctor Says He Is "Excellent."

PARIS, Feb. 21.—M. Clemenceau spent a short time in his garden this morning. He had luncheon at mid-day and his appetite was good. After luncheon he rested for a while and then received General Petain at two o'clock.

During the morning M. Clemenceau requested to see Inspector Decaudin, who sat beside the premier's chauffeur when Cottin made his attack. The premier received the deputy in his ante-chamber, shook his hand vigorously, and congratulated him on the courage he had shown.

Cardinal Amette, archbishop of Paris, went to the premier's residence today to transmit to him a dispatch from Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, on behalf of Pope Benedict.

This afternoon the premier's visitors included Major-General Mordacq, head of the military cabinet of the ministry of war; Victor Boret, the French food minister, and Captain Rene Fonck, the French "ace of aces."

Dr. Florant, whose name headed today's morning bulletin, is M. Clemenceau's personal physician. Dr. Florant recently had one of his legs amputated. His visit to the premier today was the first time he had been out since the operation. When leaving M. Clemenceau's residence, Dr. Florant declared that with his intimate knowledge of the premier's temperament he considered M. Clemenceau's condition excellent.

"I consider M. Clemenceau out of danger," he said. "As for the extracting of the bullet, this need not be thought of, at least for the present."

For lunch M. Clemenceau ate soup, vegetables and a baked apple, and drank mineral water. This has been his menu for many years.

He hopes to be out on Monday.

HONOR ROLL HUNG IN WABASH CHURCH

WABASH, Feb. 21.—An honor roll, containing the names of all the soldiers who left this vicinity, has been hung up in the Wabash Methodist Church.

Mrs. (Rev.) Barker and Mrs. Jeffs of Dresden, will speak on the subject of missions next Sunday afternoon in the Methodist Church.

Pte. John McKerracher, who returned from overseas last week, will go to London on Wednesday to receive his discharge. He and his wife intend going to British Columbia to reside.

Mrs. Harry Neaves of Chatham Township spent Monday afternoon with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKerracher and her brother, Pte. John McKerracher, whom she had not seen for about nine years.

F. J. Purdon, C.A.M.C., of Thamesville, was one of a party of overseas men to arrive in Halifax this week, coming in on the transport Princess Juliania.

At the last meeting of the Wabash Farmers' Club quite a number of orders were taken for binder twine and salt. These are to be sent in to the Kent Bridge Club, where these things are shipped in by the carload.

HYDRO RATES ARE SAID TO DISCRIMINATE; WILL ASK FOR A CHANGE

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 21.—An effort will be made at the meeting of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, when the adjourned meeting resumes at Toronto in March, to have more universal rates in this district and for all other towns in the Niagara Peninsular, according to information given out today. It is claimed that places near the distributing point get far cheaper power than those residing in the distance, and consequently conditions are far better for industries.

PROBE INTO GRAHAM APPOINTMENT TO ELGIN TREASURERSHIP STARTS

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 21.—The committee appointed recently to investigate the question of whether the appointment of Reeve B. B. Graham of Rodney as treasurer for the county of Elgin, was legal or not met yesterday. It will be some time before the official report of the committee will be ready for the council.

The whole question now rests on the point of whether Reeve McCallum of Dunwich voted for Graham or McFarlane of Dutton. This may never be decided definitely for the records show that he voted for Graham, while he declares that he voted for the returned soldier, C. McFarlane.

SILENT TRIBUTES TO SIR WILFRID PAID BY CITIZENS

Railways Stop For One Minute as Part of Nation-Wide Remembrance.

MANY HEADS ARE BOWED

Advertiser Employees Cease Work as Old Chief's Funeral Takes Place at Ottawa.

London, like every other city from coast to coast, paid silent tribute this morning to the passing of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose funeral took place at 10:30 o'clock in Ottawa. From 10 o'clock to 10:01 there were many bowed heads in London's places of business. All activities ceased for the prescribed minute in practically every factory in the city, the employees standing silent as the machines they operated, as with bared heads they paid their respect to the memory of Canada's greatest citizen.

In the stores, many purchases were stopped mid-way. Purchaser and clerk alike showed the affection and esteem in which the aged statesman was held by adding their little tribute that was nation-wide.

Railway Wheels Stopped.

Not a wheel turned on the two great railway systems of the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific from 10 till 10:01 o'clock. Telegraph instruments that had been busily clicking were silenced. Divisional superintendents, clerks, engine-wipers, they all turned their thoughts towards Ottawa, where the imposing funeral cortege of Sir Wilfrid was slowly being formed.

The noise of The Advertiser linotype machines, and all business in connection with the institution was stopped at 10:30 o'clock. Street railway motormen stopped their cars, in fact everyone in all branches of life, spent a minute, some a great deal more, in a manifestation of regret and sorrow experienced in the passing of the most beloved man Canada has ever known.

Liberals Go To Ottawa.

Among the Liberals of London who left last night for Ottawa to attend Sir Wilfrid's funeral were George M. Reid, A. T. Little, George S. Gibbons, Fred Mitchell, J. M. McEvoy and Samuel Stevely.

Professor L. A. Woods of the Western University shortened his lecture to the students this morning in order that he might pay a tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Professor Wood spoke briefly on the ideals that had been set for the Canadian people by the great national statesman, and dealt with the love for education that Sir Wilfrid possessed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had always had well-educated men surrounding him in his political activities. The late premier showed a great fondness for history, particularly the works of Macauley, whose charming style his own resembled.

LIEUT. CEDRIC McLEAN BACK FROM SERVICE

Advertiser Illustrations.

Among the London officers who arrived in the city on Wednesday after having come to Canada on the Metagama, which docked at Halifax on Monday, was Lieut. A. Cedric McLean, of the Canadian Engineers, son of Manager A. D. McLean of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The young officer, who enlisted in 1915, was accompanied by a charming bride, whom he married while overseas. He was wounded on October 2, 1918, but returned to duty.

Lieut. Athol A. McLean, a brother, was killed on July 1, 1916. He enlisted at Winnipeg with the "Little Black Devils" at the commencement of the war. While overseas he transferred to the imperial forces. He was serving with the 11th Suffolk Battalion at the time of his death.

Another brother, Ronald, went overseas with the tanks.

Jug Handle Cracks and Five Gallons Flood Sidewalks

Physician's Supply of Whiskey Lost Within Sight of Port.

Five gallons of whiskey, in other words twenty perfectly good quarts of nose-paint, went floating way down the sidewalk in front of a Dundas street physician's office Thursday afternoon.

How did it happen? The doctor told how between warm words, as the crowd gathered. It had been a defective five-gallon jar. He had gone to the licensed vendor's and deposited the jar in the tonneau of his car by the sweat of his brow, on arriving in front of his office he yanked the jar with its precious contents out on the sidewalk and had just nicely lifted it when the handle gave way. It was to weep.

Can he hold the licensed vendor responsible for the accident? This is the question that is bothering the doctor, who may yet bring the case to court.

LESSON IN SPELLING.—How do you spell motor? Correct! Go to the head of the class. But at least one corporation in the city has adopted a new spelling of the word. Prettily decorated tables presented an inviting appearance. The boys and girls were alternately allotted places. A short program consisted of a violin duet by Mrs. Letteney and Miss Margaret Letteney, a reading by Miss Helen Hardy, and a solo by Miss Mildred Pocock. Perhaps the catch of the evening was the singing of a number of popular songs, which were accompanied on the piano by Miss Dorothy Cahill. A. band.

BOYS GRUB FOR FUEL.—Citizens traveling from South London by way of the Ridout line have been interested to see, at the corner of Ridout and Horton streets, a group of small boys doing salvage work on the waste ground opposite the Gas Company's building. The boys, provided with express wagons, bags and other containers, may be seen of a morning industrially digging into the heaps of waste matter searching for pieces of coal or coke which may have been thrown out with the valueless residue of the materials used in producing gas. That their search is not a vain one was evidenced this morning by the fact that several of the young economists had already gathered full bags of what they, at least, presumably thought could be used for fuel.

BETTER EXPRESS SERVICE.—The meeting to be held in the Technical Art School, London, Ont., evening of Tuesday, February 25, 1919, for the purpose of arranging for a betterment of the express service from London and for discussing various matters, such as proper packing, addressing and handling of express shipments to avoid as far as possible loss and damage to such shipments and disappointments to shippers and consignees, should be attended by a representative number of shippers. The London Chamber of Commerce is giving the campaign their support, considering it is to the interests of manufacturers and merchants to have shipments reach consignees in good condition, and thereby encourage ordering from London. Mr. McMullen, inspector, bureau of explosives, will demonstrate by lantern slides, the serious results from improper packing of shipments, consisting of or containing acids or explosives, and his instructions will be of benefit to all parties interested in handling of such. Those attending this meeting will be invited, at the close of the meeting, to inspect the Technical and Art School, and no doubt many will be pleased to avail themselves of this opportunity.

OPPOSITION DEVELOPS TO SCHEME FOR ERECTION OF NEW CITY HALL WITHOUT A VOTE OF CITIZENS

Indicated That Pressure Will Be Brought To Bear Upon Legislature If Council Persists in Attitude—Views of Some Aldermen.

Alderman S. R. Manness is strongly against the action of the council in erecting the city hall on the Spencer site without first getting the expression of the citizens on the question. In fact he opposes the erection of the new hall until some disposal has been made of the Federal square. In the event of the city not being able to sell that property he would build the hall on it and sell the Spencer site.

Mayor C. R. Somerville would say nothing in defence of the council changing the site of the hall without first consulting the citizens. "It is the council that is doing the work and I have nothing to say on it," said he in answer to a statement that the citizens were demanding some reasons for the action.

Favors Spencer Site.

Ald. F. E. Harley places the blame for not taking a vote on the economical side. He thinks that it would take too long to put the proposition to the people also. That the hall should be built on the Spencer site he has no doubt.

That the citizens should be given a voice in the question is the opinion of Ald. G. B. Drake. "If the utilities building had not been erected on the Spencer site there would have been no agitation to erect the city hall there; it would have been placed upon the Federal Square," said he.

Blames Lack of Time.

Ald. O. G. Keene intimates that the citizens will be given sufficient reasons for the change to the Spencer site before the hall is erected. He would not say that the electors would not be given a chance to vote on it before it is built. The reason for using the city of London bill for getting authority to raise the debentures, he stated to be on account of the lack of time to get the opinion of the people.

Since the utilities commission has broken away from the Federal Square, there is no reason for the council erecting the city hall there, in the opinion of Ald. W. A. Wilson. He thinks the citizens would approve of the change, and therefore it would be an unnecessary expense to take a vote on the question.

May Go To Legislature.

Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles reiterated what he has repeatedly said, that the council has not the authority to change the site of the hall when the people voted in favor of the Federal square. "If the council places the proposition before the citizens and they reverse the former decision, and now favor the Spencer site, there could be no objection," said he. "If the council persists in ignoring the citizens and attempts to push the scheme through, it will be strongly opposed by the public." He intimated that there would be pressure brought to bear on the Legislature with a view to having this section of the bill thrown out.

LONDONERS URGE MOTHERS' PENSIONS UPON GOVERNMENT

Commissioner Riddell Hears Suggestions as to Proper Administration and Application of Proposed System of Gratuities for Widows and Deserted Wives.

That the community is intensely interested in the question of mothers' pensions was indicated this morning by the large gathering of men and women at the council chamber of the court house, every one of whom was charged with such an abundance of questions and suggestions that the hearing given by Dr. W. A. Riddell, commissioner appointed by the Government to investigate this matter throughout the province, stretched out from 10 o'clock until 12:30. It will be necessary to continue it throughout the afternoon, beginning at 2:30.

The whole gathering seemed unanimous as to the advisability of establishing pensions of some sort, which would provide for the proper bringing up of the children of the state. Whether those opposed to such a scheme remained silent or were zero in quantity is difficult to tell. However, there was great diversity of opinion as to what form this pension or allowance, as some preferred to call it, would take, and under what conditions it should be given.

Suggests Danger in Name.

Mrs. John Gemmell of the Mothers Clubs objected to the name mothers' pensions on the ground that, should the pension include unmarried mothers, it might encourage rather than discourage this class of people in the community. She suggested that the name be pensions for dependent children, and that the case of each child be considered separately, whether the mother be married, unmarried or a widow, or whether there be no mother living.

The question was asked: "Should the pension cease at a certain age of the child?" The opinion was almost unanimous that the child should be pensioned until it had at least reached the age of fourteen, during which time it would be attending school. Lieut.-Col. Graham, however, was of the opinion that the pension should not cease until the child had attained the age of eighteen, and would be adequately prepared to earn a living wage.

Bishop David Williams brought forth the suggestion that hand in hand with the pension scheme should go a national insurance plan, whereby the family when in good circumstances should help provide for the time when the bread-earner might be taken away.

Must Watch Extremes.

"This," he declared, "would make the pensions not such a financial burden to the country." He also advised that a close check on the granting of pensions would be necessary, to prevent people from exploiting the action of the Government. On the other hand, Bishop Williams did not want this supervision to be too close, so that the beneficiaries would have reason to resent prying into their affairs, and feel that they were being meted out charity. "We shall have to exercise a great amount of trust in these matters," he concluded.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor felt that any new pension scheme of the Government should be devoid of that red tape which so often refused to allow needy cases any consideration. The economic aspect of the plan was brought out by him when he declared that it was not so expensive to have children cared for in the home as in institutions. He pointed out that, with the utmost care, it took 45 cents a day to provide for one child in the Children's Aid, mentioning at the same time that a pension of the same amount would enable a mother to provide for her child to a much greater advantage.

Favors General Tax.

"Should the tax for mothers' pensions be general or local?" asked Dr. Riddell. Mr. MacGregor was of the opinion that it should be general, decidedly, as there were bound to be communities which hadn't as yet a wide enough vision to see the advantage of the pension system. He was also of the opinion that the community should likewise bear its share, part of the pension being provided by the Government and part by the community. "The community would show a greater interest in the plan, if it had its share to bear," he declared. Mr. MacGregor also believed that the sum should be fixed in some way, perhaps a maximum fixed, otherwise it would seem too much like charity. That was the difficulty with the manner of distributing the patriotic fund, that, when the amount of the pension was determined by the local committee in charge, it savored too much of charity.

The question of a widow owning her own house was another much-discussed matter. It had been suggested to Dr. Riddell, that in such a case the Government should take a loan on the house, foreclosing the mortgage at a time when the pension ceased. This plan was not considered at all favorably by those present. It was thought that the mother who had the advantage of possessing a home, would be able to bring up her children in a much better way, and should therefore not be submitted to the possibility of having to surrender her home. In this connection, it was suggested that a maximum pension might be given to the mothers in greatest need, and who had to pay rent, while a smaller pension, taking into consideration the house, might be awarded the mother who was better off, thus bringing both up to the maximum.

For Deserted Wives.

Mrs. Donald McLean of the Women's Canadian Club brought up the question of the deserter husband, stating that the wives of such should be pensioned as well as widows. "How long would you say the father must be away before the pension is forthcoming?" asked Dr. Riddell. "The father who has deserted his wife and children should never be reinstated," she declared.

Miss Hilda Keene of the Soldiers' Aid Commission asked that the fund include families where the father is partially incapacitated, and therefore unable to support his family, stating that many worthy cases of this nature had come under her notice.

Dr. Riddell attempted to find what sort of pensions' adminstrative committee would be acceptable to a city like London. A commission was favored, on whose membership would appear representatives from the various social service bodies in the city, such as the Salvation Army, mothers' clubs, etc. Mrs. J. F. Thompson of No. 1 Nursing Division suggested that at least two women be appointed to this commission.

Many Want Orphans.

Canon Tucker spoke briefly on the advantages of establishing a pension system in Ontario. Joseph Sanders of the Children's Aid suggested that the pensioning plan should not interfere with the placing of orphan children with foster parents, as it is done at the present time. He felt that if a pension were offered with the child, the type of foster parents would be lower. He made the statement that at the present time there were more people wanting children than children to be supplied.

CHARGED WITH DESERTION.—Wm. J. Wall of Kitchener was charged in police court today with having deserted from the Canadian army on May 21 last year. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded till Tuesday, when the Dominion police will submit their evidence.

A KEENLEYSIDE WAREHOUSE.—In connection with the wholesale warehouse at Pottersburg, which was yesterday reported to have been discovered by the assessors, Keenleyside & Co., who use the abattoir as a grocery warehouse, say that it has been in use for more than one year. The building was utilized on account of the lack of space in the firm's city warehouse, which was becoming cramped on account of the growth of the business.

LONDONER PRESIDES AT GREAT SALE OF BULLS

S. W. Paisley Will Dispose of 856 Blooded Animals.

A clipping from an Alberta newspaper, brought into The Advertiser office by Mrs. Cattermole of 27 Regent street, contains details of a record-breaking auction sales of bulls, to be held at Calgary from March 26 to 29, at which a former Londoner, S. W. Paisley of Lacombe, Alta., will be the presiding auctioneer.

Some idea of the size of the sale may be gathered from the fact that altogether 856 bulls, contributed by 246 breeders of pure-bred stock in Alberta, will be offered for sale, and that 130 cars will be required to take them to the sale from the different parts of the province.

Mrs. Cattermole is a niece of Mr. Paisley, and three brothers live in the city. They are John Paisley, 27 Regent street; Henry Paisley, Byron avenue, and Robert Paisley, 7 Ingleside avenue.

COUNTY CLERK GOES INTO JUNK BUSINESS

Barter for Old Jail Furnaces on Efficiency Basis.

County Clerk John Stuart is the only man in the County of Middlesex who is allowed to carry on a junk business without having a license. A committee of the county council has given the county clerk this authority.

Yesterday afternoon the committee which was chosen for the purpose of deciding what was to be done with the old furnace and heating system of the jail decreed that they should be sold by the county clerk to the highest bidder. A few enterprising junk men, believing that the early bird gets the worm, came to the county buildings about three weeks ago with canvas bags under their arms. However, they were sadly disappointed when they heard that a committee was investigating the matter, and that the old iron would probably be sold to the highest bidder.

Mrs. A. R. Hardy of Orillia, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. C. MacGregor, Queen's avenue.

Murphy of Montreal, formerly of this city, who for many years represented the Hudson Bay Tobacco Company, and Philip Morris, cigarettes, is in the city renewing acquaintances. Mr. Leitchliter who is engaged just at the present time in evangelistic work was formerly in charge of one of the most progressive Baptist churches in Dayton, Ohio.

LONDONER SECURES HERD OF BUFFALO REJECTED BY CITY

Arthur H. Keene Will Place Rare Beasts On Farm.

ONE BULL, THREE COWS

Animals Were About To Be Slaughtered When Purchase Was Effected.

Four buffalo, purchased by Arthur H. Keene of Keene Bros., Limited, from Robert Miller of St. Thomas for $450, arrived in the city via Grand Trunk this morning. They will be placed on a farm which Mr. Keene bought a few months ago. Mr. Miller offered to sell the animals to the public utilities commission, but the offer was refused, as the commission wanted to buy only a pair.

Eastern New York was the home of the herd until it was sent on its way to London. When the train on which they were being transported arrived at London, it was learned that London did not want the buffalo, and they were ordered sent to an abattoir to be slaughtered for their hides. On hearing of this, Mr. Keene decided to buy the animals. He mentioned the fact that he would be willing to sell them to the public utilities commission, but it refused to buy.

In the herd are three cows and one bull. It is said that a calf will be added to the herd soon.

LICENSE THE PLUMBER, IS LATEST PROPOSAL

Favored by Workers, Who Believe It Would Raise Standard.

Petitions are being circulated in the city with a view to asking for revisions in the bylaws governing plumbing and sanitation. There has been an agitation for some years for this, and the question is being taken up now in earnest.

According to Building Inspector A. M. Piper, while the work in this city is equal to that of any other city there is a feeling abroad that there should be a plumbing inspector appointed.

There is also some agitation for the licensing of the workmen in connection with the trade. The men are in favor of this, as it would have a tendency to raise the standard.

The petition will be presented to the board of health as soon as it is completed. That body will consider it and pass it on to the council with a recommendation. It is the general opinion that the bylaw will be amended in answer to the petition.

DEBENTURES MAY ADD MILL TO TAX RATE

City May Provide for $500,000 Debentures in Bill.

The sum of $41,839 will be added to the annual expenses of the city if the city hall debentures are issued this year in addition to the others which have already been approved. Ald. S. R. Manness thinks that instead of adding more to the debenture debt of the city, the council should do everything in its power to reduce it. The above amount will be necessary to take care of the sinking fund and interest of the $500,000 debentures that will probably be issued.

This includes $100,000 for the medical school, $100,000 for storm water sewers, $50,000 for an industrial area, $61,000 for the public utilities extensions, and $800,000 for the new city hall.

Ald. Manness says that if it is the intention to sell the Federal Square it could be disposed of and the proceeds used for the erection of the city.

WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE.—Rev. A. C. Bingham and Rev. M. S. McKechnie leave on Monday to attend the Baptist Conference of Ontario and Quebec, to be held in Toronto all next week.

The amount of $800 was asked for and the people subscribed over $330. On the Monday evening a chicken supper was served, and although the weather was inclement, the church was packed.

RED-HEARTED CARS WILL HELP SOLDIERS WHEN THEY RETURN

New Mark Decided On To Recognize Helping Autoists.

"The car with a heart" is the latest word in automobiles so far as London is concerned. Many of them will be seen upon the streets of the city from now on, and they will be easily recognizable, because each of them will bear on its windshield a small red heart. This is not the sign of a new make of car, but of any old or new car whose owner has expressed a willingness to place it at the disposal of returned soldiers, for the purpose of taking them to their homes or elsewhere when they arrive in the city.

The sign of the red heart was designated by the reception committee of the soldiers' aid commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon, and "the car with a heart" was adopted as a slogan. The intention of the committee is to provide a red heart, to be affixed to the windshield, to every citizen who owns an automobile and is willing to use it to help in the work of demonstrating to returned soldiers that the people of London are glad to see them home again and anxious to do everything possible for them.

The red hearts are obtainable from Secretary Ed. Lance or from any member of the committee, and the committee hopes that everyone who contributes the use of his automobile on the occasion of the return of soldiers from overseas will keep the sign on his car permanently as a sign to returned soldiers that the car is one in which, by simply hailing it, he can secure a "lift."

Under the new dispersal scheme, which is to go into effect on March 1, returned men, except hospital cases, will detrain at Quebec street and march to Tecumseh Barracks. The military authorities will provide buses to transport to the railway stations men who have to go to their homes by train, but automobiles will still be needed to take to their homes men who live in the city, and the committee proposes to systematize this work in such a way as to suit the convenience of automobile owners who provide cars. For instance, arrangements will be made for a given number of cars to be at the barracks when the first men to get through with the formalities at the district depot are ready to leave, and others as they are needed. This will obviate unnecessary waiting about by car owners.

Another matter the committee took under consideration was the transportation of men from the Convalescent Hospital to the railway stations or to their homes. Rev. H. B. Ashby was asked to take this matter in hand, and he will endeavor to arrange that all cars in which men are taken to the hospital on their arrival in the city will "stand by" until they are ready to leave. In this way it is hoped to avoid the possibility of any man having to carry his pack and walk or take a street car to the station or to his home.

Secretary Ed. Lance reported that, as a result of the large number of men returning from overseas, the supply of booklets, one of which is handed to each returned soldier and which explain what is being done to help him to resume civilian life, was running short. He stated that five thousand were secured in October, but the signing of the armistice and the resultant speeding up of demobilization had upset the original estimate of the number which would be needed in the next few months. He was authorized to endeavor to secure the promise of each of the churches and other organizations whose work for returned soldiers is outlined in the booklets, and which contributed to the original financing, of further pro rata financial assistance.

1ST DEPOT BATTALION PASSES TO THE TUNE OF OYSTER SUPPER

Bright Program Given at Final Gathering Before Men Disperse.

Today the 1st Depot Battalion, Western Ontario Regiment, practically ceases to exist, for although officially it has not been disbanded, all but a few of the men will leave for their homes today.

The passing of this, one of the largest and most efficient draft-giving units in the country, was marked by an oyster supper last night in the messroom at Queen's Park.

In a neat address, Major F. G. Stanbury, officer in charge, thanked all the officers, non-commissioned officers and men for the excellent way in which they had performed their duties. A number of other officers and n. c. o.'s also spoke.

A bright program was given, including vocal solos by Sergts. E. J. Swindall, J. H. McFarland and A. Oldham.

Lieut. Norman Zinn, the adjutant, and Major Stanbury with a few men, will remain here a short time to wind up the work of the unit.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

PREPARED TO SWEAR TO IT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

If either individually or collectively, President C. Currie, General Manager C. B. King, or Solicitor C. Ivey, of the London Street Railway Company will appoint a time for his worship Mayor Somerville to meet with myself and the chairman of the railway committee, in their presence before the local crown attorney, I am prepared to make affidavit on oath, that the statement of cash receipts, expenditures and profits of the London Street Railway as printed in the local press and submitted by myself to the said committee, is a true statement of the facts taken from the authorized records of the said company by myself. The city council to pay for the costs of the affidavit.

At the same time and place, I now challenge the above named officials of the said London Street Railway Company to make affidavit on oath, either individually or collectively, that the statements made by President Currie at the recent committee meeting at the city hall, and reported in the public press, are true statements, regarding the (1) investments, (2) Losses, and (3) Profits of the shareholders. I, Henry B. Ashplant, to pay for that affidavit. HENRY B. ASHPLANT.

A TRIBUTE TO SIR WILFRID.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Perhaps at this political crisis in the history and affairs of the Dominion, when another great man of action has been removed by Providence from the manifold and growing activities and responsibilities, which the needs of young Canada and his own ripe political experience and sagacity had thrust upon him, a last word from a representative of the common people may not be considered presumptious or inopportune. Some of us who have only known the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a public man, and mainly from press reports, of almost a lifetime devoted to the advancement of Canada and Canadian interests, can only have a blurred and one-sided mental picture of the great man, and anything we may say is apt to be regarded with the suspicion shown to second-hand goods generally. We must, however, cut the garment according to the cloth, or forever leave it alone.

I am fond of Bible themes and expressions, and two or three of these startling texts, which in their aptness and rugged simplicity, bespeak the inspired writer, come to one's mind at this juncture. The first is from the Genesis writer: "So Joseph died, and all that generation, and there arose a new king, who knew not Joseph." To understand the depth of the pathos in the expression one must consider the almost total lack of publicity in those days, when the memory of even the great national figures often died with their generation, or was handed over to the mists of oral tradition. The Pharaoh of that time, a representative of the milder shepherd king, who had befriended the sons of Jacob, had passed away, and a new dynasty, represented by the cruel, though energetic and worldly-wise king, Ramesis II, ruled the land of Egypt. He knew nothing of Joseph or his brilliant and humane public career, and cared less. And if the biographical retrospect of even kings in that far off time was so much foreshortened, how much would the masses of the people know about the lives and activities of their national leaders and benefactors? How grateful, then, we should be, thanks to the general diffusion of knowledge and the ever-increasing facilities for publicity and historical expression in our day, that the name of Canada's greatest statesman has been a household word for a generation of men and women, while his inspiring memory and influence will be green for many generations. The existing of public records and biographies will give him his rightful place in the historical gallery of Canada's mighty dead, while his benign influence morally, politically and socially will continue to throb in the increased vitality and moral vigor of generation of Canadians yet unborn.

Another Bible text pregnant with meaning just now is from the writer in Samuel, recording a public utterance of King David at a great crisis in his life, as well as in the national fortunes of Israel and Judah: "Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen in Israel this day, and I am this day weak, though anointed king." Abner, the great captain and military strategist of the house of Saul, and withal a sagacious political wrangler as well, through being grossly insulted by the then reigning king of Israel, whom he had befriended and put upon the throne, turned sharply about, and threw all his influence upon the side of David. After presenting the claims of the son of Jesse to the people of Gilead and Benjamin and Israel generally as their king, he with twenty of his supporters were feasted by David at Hebron at the royal court, where he reported the political currents in his favor, promising his royal host that he would bring all Israel in conference to appoint him king over united Israel and Judah. David dismissed Abner in peace, but he had not gone far when he was ordered back to Hebron, all unknown to the king, by Joab, the brilliant captain of David's host, and treacherously murdered, justifying his deed to the king on the ground of political spying and intrigue on the part of Abner, but really for killing his brother Asahel in battle. David's estimate of the sincerity of his newly found political friend is seen in his utter dejection and sorrow—he, the king, following the bier, weeping as he went—surely the greatest honor ever paid to the memory of an Oriental subject. It seemed indeed to David like "dropping the pilot" just as the ship of state was nearing the rocks of faction and disintegration. But Abner's great work was not lost, as the currents he set in motion, as the sequel shows, soon carried the ship of state into the harbor of tranquility and national unity.

How aptly all this illustrates the commanding position, the life and work and aspirations of Laurier holds in the memory and annals of Canada and the Canadian people, is only feebly emphasizing what is being said today from ocean to ocean. A great man has indeed fallen in Canada whose very atmosphere of geniality, constancy, sterling integrity and political sagacity and experience is contagious and seemed quite indispensable in Canada. But he is not dead; he has just gone away, and, like Abner, his influence will follow him. NON-CLERICAL.

THE CANADIAN CLUB FAVORS STONE TOWER AT SPRINGBANK PARK

Passes Resolution re Federal Child Welfare Bureau.

Yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, held in the Talbot Street Baptist Church, was one at which business was combined with social intercourse. The matter of greatest local public interest coming up at this meeting was the question of a soldiers' memorial, to take the form of a stone tower, situated on the spot where now stands the first summer-house overlooking Springbank Park and the city of London. This scheme, the suggestion of Miss Grace Blackburn, president of the club, was brought before the meeting by her. That Springbank was one of the most beautiful spots in the world was strongly emphasized, and the suggestion was made by her that its name be changed to "Soldiers' Memorial Park," with permission to erect memorial gates, granted to various organizations throughout Western Ontario.

The scheme of the tower would involve an expenditure of from $8,000 to $10,000. This tower, according to Miss Blackburn's plan, would be built of rough stone similar to many Irish towers, several of which were thrown upon the screen yesterday. Inside, memorial tablets to soldiers of Western Ontario might cover the walls, while a winding stairway might lead to an outside gallery above, commanding the country for miles around.

Club in Favor of Tower.

The club almost unanimously expressed themselves in favor of the erection of such a tower. A few objections to the changing of the name of Springbank Park were, however, made; Mrs. A. T. Edwards suggesting that such would not be courteous to the founders, one of whom in the person of James Egan, had died so recently. One member did not favor the scheme on the ground that the Canadian Club had been organized in the first place as a distinctly non-money-raising society. However, it was pointed out that war conditions had changed this to some extent, and that since the beginning of the war, $29,000 had been raised by the club.

Mrs. David Williams was strongly in favor of the scheme. She felt that London was lacking in memorials of beauty. That the useful things must be done and will be done, was the opinion of Miss Blackburn, at the same time, pointing out that Germany's downfall was partly due to the fact that she divorced herself from the beautiful.

Federal Child Welfare Bureau.

A resolution to the effect that a federal child welfare bureau be established in the country was yesterday passed by the club to be forwarded to the Government.

Two delegates, Mrs. Donald McLean and Mrs. Frank Leonard, were appointed to attend Dr. W. A. Riddell's sitting in the court house this morning, when the question of mothers' pensions will be dealt with.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the introduction to the members of the little French orphan girl whom the club has adopted for the period of two years, her photograph being thrown upon the screen along with that of her younger sister, the foster child of the Ottawa Canadian Club. This adoption, which entails the expenditure of $115 per year, was undertaken through the executive of the club at the instigation of Mlle. Guerin of the Franco-Canadian orphanage in Paris. A most interesting letter from the eleven-year-old child, expressing her gratitude at the action taken by the club, was read by Mrs. A. B. Greer.

Revised Constitution.

A letter was also read from Mrs. H. A. Booner, indicating that the question of a Dominion memorial to the soldiers of Canada would come up shortly at a meeting of the executive of the National Council of Women.

Miss Yeates presented the constitution of the club, the revision of which has been in the hands of the executive for some time. This was accepted as read by Miss Yeates, Mrs. Donald McLean putting the motion, and Miss Yeates seconding it. At the close of the meeting tea was served.

Western Ontario Women's Activities

The following shipment was made this week by the Wroxeter Red Cross Society to headquarters at Montreal: 12 suits pyjamas, 9 flannel shirts, 7 quilts, 6 towels, 29 babies' bonnets, 90 children's petticoats.

EAST HARWICH W. I.

The February meeting of the Harwich Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. James Nash, Creek road. There were about fifty ladies present, who spent the afternoon in doing refugee work. Quite a large amount of sewing was distributed for home work. An excellent paper was read by Mrs. E. Newcomb, entitled, "The Value of Self-Control." Miss Sadie Want also read an interesting paper relating to Mrs. Patterson, an energetic member of the W. I. Two piano selections were given by Mrs. Isobel McKinley, which were much enjoyed. The collection amounted to $10.65. At the conclusion a dainty lunch was served. The presence of several visitors was much enjoyed.

WARDSVILLE, W. I.

The Women's Institute of Wardsville shipped a box of clothing valued at $102.55 to the Belgian relief headquarters last week. The society also sent eight pairs of socks to the Toronto Red Cross Society.

Miss Bella Gardiner has just returned from Toronto after attending the big W. I. convention there.

TEMPO LADIES' AID.

The Ladies' Aid of Tempo Presbyterian Church held a very successful social in the church. A splendid program consisted of chorus, songs by Miss Amey Baker of Littlewood, and readings by Miss Blanch Shipman. very interesting number on the program was a chorus by the elderly ladies of the church and their rendition of "Old Folks at Home" and "Ding Dong Bell" was enthusiastically received.

After the program supper was served in the school-room. The proceeds amounted to $16.

AILSA CRAIG YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Young Women's Club received a letter from the Red Cross Society of London regarding the Ailsa Craig ward, with the result that the society decided to have the ward repainted. The following letter was received in reply:

"In acknowledging your check for $35 for painting, etc. in the Young Women's Club of Ailsa Craig Ward at Byron Sanatorium, we really feel we must express again to you the society's appreciation of the excellent work done for so long by your club. Your generous interest in the work of the Byron infirmary and in all patriotic work has given us all a delightful impression of the patriotic girls of Ailsa Craig, and we believe that nowhere has war work been more enthusiastically undertaken than in your club."

BRYANSTON SOCIAL EVENING.

The Presbyterians of this village held a social evening in the church to welcome home R. T. Needham, who recently returned from overseas, where he had been for over two years. He was formerly superintendent of the Sunday school here. A splendid musical program was rendered, local talent being ably assisted by the Misses Branion of Granton. Mr. Alps of Granton and Mr. Cosens of the Bryanston Methodist Church gave splendid addresses. The chairman, Hamilton Needham, called on A. Grant for an address, and he expressed the sentiments of the people regarding Mr. Needham's splendid sacrifice, tendered to him the welcome of the whole community, and presented him with a Book of Praises, leather bound. Mr. Needham replied in an interesting manner.

The ladies served an appetizing lunch at the close of the program.

LAWRENCE STATION PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.

The regular meeting of the Patriotic League was held at the home of Miss Maribel McLellan, with a good attendance of members and visitors. Roll call was responded to by the paying of the monthly fee. Several letters were read from the boys overseas. It was decided to purchase five pairs of flannel blankets and a bolt of towelling. It was announced that any one wishing to donate towels for the hospital shower might purchase same from Mrs. J. D. Campbell. After the meeting the hostess served a tea, assisted by Mrs. Dugald McLellan and the Misses Joiner. Hunter, Campbell, Evans and McLellan, $7.05 being realized for the league.

The next meeting will be held in the hall on Wednesday afternoon, February 26, when the mattress covers are to be quilted.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Anxious To Correspond.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am 14 years old and would very much like to correspond with a girl about the same age. Would you send me an address, or, as I'm sending a self-addressed envelope, could you please forward it to someone? I am a naughty GERLA.

P.S.—Who writes The Advertiser's daily short stories? Can anyone write them, please? Answer through Mail-Box. GERLA.

Ans.—Who writes the short stories? Why, people of course. You'll see their names at the top of the stories from day to day. The McClure Syndicate of New York City buys these from the various writers and in turn sells them to newspapers like The Advertiser.

White Corduroy Hat.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. What will clean a white corduroy hat? 2. Can you give me a good recipe for ginger cookies? 2. What are the meanings of Vietta, Eliza, Myrtle and Beulah? 4. What are the flowers and meaning of the months of May, July, August and December? Thanking you in advance, I remain. INQUISITIVE.

Ans.—1. An application of magnesia just slightly dampened with gasoline may help. Rub it well into the hat, leave for a few hours, then brush and rub out all the powder. May need a second treatment. Sometimes just to rub well with dry flour and coarse salt (equal parts heated in the oven before appying), then brush out thoroughly, renovates an article of this sort very nicely.

Ginger Cookies—Cup and a half of sugar, one cup shortening, one cup of blackstrap, one egg, one tablespoon giner, one teaspoon each cinnamon, alispice and cloves, two teaspoons soda, dissolved in half-cup boiling water. Mix stiff enough to roll out.

3. Eliza means consecrated; Myrtle, loving; Beulah, land of rest.

4. May, hawthorn (sweetness); July, water lily (purity of heart); August, poppy (indifference); December, holly (jollity).

Didn't This Time.

Dear Miss Grey,—I received song, also stocking-foot pattern, for which I didn't even ask. I only gave you a "dig," and you tumbled. Thanks, awfully. It will come in very handy, as my old one is very much worn from constant use. Am sending "Break the News to Mother." I suppose you remember who asked for it. Dear Miss Grey, if you squeeze this letter as much as you did my last one there won't be anything left. Ha, ha! MRS. ELL GEE.

P. S.—Where is "Luke McLuke"? I sure do miss him, even if he does make me good and sore sometimes.

Let's Forgive and Forget.

Dear Cynthia,—Here I come, repentant, on bended knee. I said I'd never come again, but under these conditions I will.

Listen, Miss Grey, and be merciful. One of the girls (should say, two or three) said they saw my letter in the paper, and are certain of it. I tell you I was thunder, lightning, rain and snow struck.

So, now, Miss Cynthia, I will humbly close, in sackcloth and ashes, sending my best love to Ura Kidd and feeling extra good on account of just finishing a delicious "hunk" of "the" chocolate cake. Ima Kidd, alias AN OUTRAGED DIANA.

P.S.—I mean the first letter I wrote that I thought didn't appear.—I. K., alias A. O. D.

"Dolly Dimples'" Desires.

Dear Miss Grey,—I hope there is room for another new-comer. Will you please send me the song called "The Mockingbird"? Some of the words are: "Listen to the mockingbird; 'tis singing o'er her grave." Also the song, "I Want to Kiss Papa Good Night"?

DOLLY DIMPLES.

Yes, Pretty Busy.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in your column where "Beth From Down East" had sent in some crochet patterns. I would like very much to get a few, and also the much-wanted stocking-foot pattern. It certainly must keep you busy mailing them. If I may call again I hope to be of some help, but not this time, as I am writing this with a six-weeks-old baby in my arms, and it's not a very easy job.

Well, Miss Grey, I would like to ask a few questions also: 1. What day did July 27, 1895, fall on? 2. Do you get many letters from here? 3. What do you think of my writing?

SNOWFLAKE.

Ans.—1. A Saturday. 2. Some. 3. It's vary good. Pleased to mail you a few patterns.

Lace or Doily.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a new-comer to the Mail-Box, and would be glad to get some crochet patterns for lace or a doily if you or any of the readers have them to spare. Wishing you success, I will close. FERN.

Lois This Time.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have written to your Mail-Box several times before, signing different names. The last time I sent "Bess" the recipe for curing beef, and signed "A. E. O. T. D." I wonder if she ever tried it? I read "Seventy-Years Young's" letter. She must have missed that little one. Some chance for you, "Ura." What did your "lonely" say when he got the photo? I am just going to try "Little Sarah Maud's Beau"—special. I have copied many recipes and found them excellent. I don't see Paw Perkins or Luke McLuke in the "Tiser any more, but they really did not interest me at all. But I do feel sorry for Lemuel Splutterfuss. Buddy sure is helping him out, though.

Well, this will never do. The wash-tub for mine. So long. Will sign hereafter, LOIS.

Here's Somebody's Mother.

Dear Miss Grey,—I wonder if a poor auld lady like me may come into your cosy corner, just to rest, and have a wee chat?

Well, I see that stockingfoot pattern is in great demand. Well, Miss Grey, I am not going to bother you for a pattern, as I have a stocking knitter, and can turn out a pair of stockings in less than an hour, finished all, but the toe to put together. I can knit heavy or light stockings. Oh, Miss Grey, they are beasts to understand, but once you know how, they sure are a treasure.

I am going to ask a favor. Could any one supply me with the recitation or reading, "When Mary and I Made Up"? A few lines read: "And then she came to me, her eyes all drooping with tears, and kissed me for the first time—first time in twenty years."

Here are a few household hints that I have found good:

If a teaspoonful of common salt is put into the coal oil lamps and lanterns, they will never explode if accidentally upset.

If you put a tablespoonful of vinegar in the stove polish it will shine brighter and last longer.

You can boil cracked eggs as well as whole ones, by adding a tablespoonful of vinegar to the water.

When ironing, I always heat two bricks with the irons, and set a hot brick on my board, and my irons keep hot much longer than if set on a cold iron stand.

When chopping fried potatoes, use an empty baking powder can; it is more quickly accomplished than using a knife.

Here is a nice way to use up small onions: Peel the onions, then in a saucepan put half milk and water, enough to cover the onions good, and add a tablespoonful of salt; boil until tender, but not soft, or they will break up. When done take out into another dish and cover with vinegar. These are real nice when cold, and don't "repeat" on one like raw or fried onions do.

A nice way to put down pork for the summer is to salt it slightly and then roast it until nearly done, and then pack in crocks, put on a weight, and fill up with hot lard. Put up this way it will keep any length of time if kept in a cool place, and it's so nice to have fresh meat in the heat of summer. Be sure to have an inch or more of lard on top of meat, so no air can get to it, otherwise it will spoil.

If the clotheslines are washed with strong salt water, the clothes will not freeze on to them in cold weather.

For cleaning fruit jars I use cut-up potato peels and a little baking soda; it saves soap and is very effectual.

When sweeping day comes I make a mixture of equal parts of kerosene, vinegar and sweet oil. After I dust I use this mixture on the furniture, and it brightens everything up just splendidly.

And now I'll be going, and may I come again, Miss Grey? Sure if I haven't done any good, I hope I have done no harm. Now I'll shut the door quietly, and just remain SOMEBODY'S MOTHER.

To Purify Syrup.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see where "Perplexed" is having trouble with her maple syrup. I think if she would beat up an egg thoroughly, mix it with the syrup, put it on to boil and skim when the froth comes to the top, it might help if anything will.

I would like—no, not the stocking foot pattern! My kiddies wear out the legs as well as the feet. My, I am glad to see the word it saves me—but would you please publish the recipe for your Christmas cake? I have used it for three years and we think it the best ever, but have lost it and wish to make it again. I will sign me CARELESSNESS.

Ans.—With such appreciation it can be nothing but a pleasure to reprint. Chirstmas Cake—Two pounds raisins, seeded and cut in half, 2 pounds currants, 1 pound dates, stoned and cut, 1 pound chopped almonds or walnuts, 1 pound mixed peel, cut fine, 6 eggs, 1 pound butter, 4 cups brown sugar, cup molasses, ½ cup preserved cherry juice, ½ cup ground mixed spices, 8 cups flour, heaping teaspoon soda dissolved first in a little hot water, then stir into the molasses. Stir all together thoroughly and bake in loaves in a moderate oven. Half the quantity may be made up if preferred.

Such Good Cookies.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you spare me a little space in your corner, and if so I am going to ask you to send me the much-sought-after stocking foot pattern. I inclose a cookie recipe which is so good: Three cups flour, 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, mixed with flour, 1 small teaspoon soda, dissolved in little hot water, add soda to sour milk, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup shortening, a little nutmeg, mix and add 1 egg and 1 cup sour milk. Yours truly COOKIE.

A Happy-Go-Lucky.

Dear Miss Grey,—One more happy-go-lucky to join your sociable column. I see where E. E. E. would like a knitted edge or crochet edge. I can help her out in the crochet edge, if knew how much she would like in length.

I am 12 years old. I am in the senior third and stand thirteenth in my class. I can crochet anything, and knit sweaters also. HAPPY-GO-LUCKY.

Ans.—Re the address you ask about, you are in error in thinking it appeared in this column. But I have asked the advertising department to trace it if they can and mail you the information.

A. C. BINGHAM SPEAKS ON "MOTHERS' PRAYER"

Rev. A. C. Bingham addressed the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club on "Mothers' Prayer" Thursday evening. He said that prayer was the soul's sincere desire uttered or unexpressed, that many men had been saved through mothers' prayers, and that people should always be in an attitude of prayer, so that when times of temptation came, they would be ready armed for the fight.

An interesting program followed, consisting of a vocal solo by Miss Carroll, and readings by little Miss Leff. Miss Stockwell also spoke briefly on behalf of the Women's Gardening Association.

On Thursday evening, February 27, a grand concert will be given by the Chesley Avenue Club in aid of the well-baby clinic. Several musical numbers, including a pipe number by Miss G. Comber, and selections by the Selby-Young Orchestra will be given.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 23, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.

Moses Praying For Israel. (May be used with missionary appliances.)—Exodus xxxii: 1—xxxiv: 9.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

Verses 15-20. When money is invested in that which is working the ruin of the people—like the liquor traffic, for example—why is it the duty of the government to confiscate the property in order to save the people?

19. Verses 21-35. Here is an account of a great slaughter through the sin of idolatry. What is the extent of the annual slaughter of the liquor traffic?

Golden Text.—The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working.—James 5:16.

THERE IS NO LIMIT TO THE ACHIEVEMENT OF PRAYER.

We hear a good deal about the fact that this is a world governed by law, and that laws are unchangeable, that like begets like, and the thing that has happened will continue to happen, and that, therefore, there is no use praying. When it is put this way it is only a half truth, for, while in a certain sense God's laws are unchangeable, there are an infinite number of ways by which God can answer prayer not out of harmony with law, but in perfect harmony with it. We say that the age of miracles is past, and while perhaps this is true, yet it is true only because of the scarcity of men who actually believe in the almighty power of God, and that this vast power is brought into action in answer to prayer. Hosts of people know that God has frequently done the impossible in answer to their prayers.

Farmer Does Not Profit From High Prices.

Solomon said "There is nothing new under the sun," and if the wisest man came to that conclusion, surely Margery will not be censured for failing to find a new topic for this week's letter.

Like some other things, these old topics come up with a somewhat new dress, every little whipstitch suggested by the old question, What do the farmers want anyway? What's the matter with them? Haven't they the earth, and didn't a beneficent Government supply them with an extra hour of daylight in which to till last year, and is not the same gracious gift in contemplation for the season so close at hand? Hard to suit this farmer, isn't it? Paper after paper that we pick up prates of the profiteer farmer. As if they expected to be believed for their much speaking.

Less Than $1,000 a Year.

But then along comes an editor who studies Dominion and provincial statistics and announces that "the average income of the farmer of this country is less than $1,000 per year"—less than many a buyer has made in a week out of the potatoes, etc., that the farmer has worked to produce. One paper especially "spluttered" over this announcement, but there were the figures. What does the farmer want? Well, he wants that the class to which he belongs shall know from these same "infallible" statistics that he and they are paying 89 per cent of the taxes of this country, while the really organized interests—Big Interests—spelled with big capitals, pay the other 11 per cent.

Manipulate Prices.

They want the people to wake up to the fact that the finances of this country of 7,000,000 or thereabouts are in the hands of less than 400 people, who manipulate the prices of everything found in the earth or sea to suit their own pockets; that nearly 50 per cent of the land of this country is in the hands of syndicates; that the price of any or every manufactured article is fixed by them, so as to insure a profit, and that the price of any natural product of the farm is not so fixed.

Were there a few weeks that you didn't pay—dear knows what—for bacon? Well, there were a few weeks when the price paid for hogs didn't pay for their feed.

Let People Get Together.

Let "the people" get together with big aims and let us stop this jangling over trifles and make ourselves felt. Let the producer and consumer co-operate to make conditions right. "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none," is our watchword. Do you know a better? Organize and co-operate, think, talk, work. Let not the opportunity for righting many conditions which certainly admit of improvement find us asleep. MARGERY MILLS.

London Lost First Semi-Final Contest to Seaforth, 7-4

Locals Must Battle Down Th ree-Goal Lead in Home-and-Home Series on Monday a t Jubilee Rink — Players Are Confident — Last Night's Game Played on Water-Covered Ice.

(Staff Reporter.)

SEAFORTH, Feb. 21.—Before a crowd of one thousand spectators Seaforth defeated London by a score of 7 to 4 in the first contest of a home-and-home series, goals to count, in the intermediate O. H. A. semi-finals at Palace rink here tonight. The ice was sticky and it was impossible for either team to display combination work. In the third period the ice was practically covered with water and the players lost the puck continually. The Londoners were not outplayed, but put up afirst class game, and the local fans were more than pleased with the exhibition of hockey. London will have a three-goal lead to overcome when the locals play back at London Monday night.

Boys Are Optimistic.

Manager Ferguson of the Forest City team stated that he is confident the London boys could work the comeback stunt on Monday and overcome the lead which Seaforth secured tonight. The players are anything but downhearted, and expected to go into the finals for the championship.

It was impossible for the London boys to get away on the Seaforth ice. The locals kept watch on them every minute, and before a player went a few feet he would be checked by the home team. The defence line of the London team was also good. Ferguson and Kelly used their weight and prevented Seaforth from scoring several times. Harry Sutter played a star game in goal for the visitors. The lad was on the game and stopped many hard shots. He came out to meet the Seaforth players when they managed to get by the defence men and saved the situation for London several times. Arthur Davenport covered centre for London. Davenport did not manage to score his usual one or two goals, but kept up to the Seaforth players and put up a plucky game. Fred Elliott and Art Gillies played wing for the Forest City team; both lads showed up well, Gillies scoring one goal. Bud Kelly was on the job per usual, and did not lose a single minute. Bud followed up his shots as he usually does and was one of the fastest men on the ice. Manager Ferguson assisted Kelly on defence, playing a good game.

Reids, Seaforth Stars.

The Reid brothers were the stars for the winners. Dot Reid played defence, and Reg. Reid was on the wing. Reg. scored three goals all by his lonesome. Reg. Waghorne of Toronto handled the game in a most satisfactory manner. It was clean, only five penalties being handed out. The two teams did not decide on a referee and Mr. Waghorne was ordered to take charge of the game by Secretary Hewitt of the O. H. A. The lineup:

Seaforth.	Pos.	London.
McGeoch	Goal	Sutter
Dot Reid	L. Defence	Kelly
Clay Huffman	R. Defence	Lougheed
Sills	Centre	Davenport
Reg. Reid	L. Wing	Elliott
Hoffman	R. Wing	Gillies
Waghorne	Sub.	Walden
Peck	Sub.	Ferguson

First Period.

Kelly scored the first goal of the game three minutes after play, on a pass from Davenport. This gave the visitors a start, and they went out after the game strong. One minute later Sills of Seaforth got the puck and cleared the ice, passing the visitors' defence and scoring. This tied the game up. Reg. Reid was next to score, giving the home team a one-goal lead. The boards around the rink on which the spectators were leaning heaved in and the game was delayed for a few minutes. Play was resumed, and for the next few minutes both teams were checked before they went any distance. Clarence Hoffman put in another goal for Seaforth. One minute later Art Gillies put the puck past McGeoch, making the score 3 to 2 in favor of the home team.

Second Period.

The Seaforth boys came back strong, scoring a total of three goals, and the Londoners were blanked. Five minutes and thirty seconds after the bell sounded Reg. Reid, the former London boy, scored. The Forest City boys took several shots at the Seaforth goal, but McGeoch was on the job, and stopped them all. Sills, centre man for Seaforth, put the puck in the net ten minutes after Reid scored. Reid came back and made his second goal when he received the puck on a pass by Sills. The score at the end of the second period: Seaforth 6, London 2.

Third Period.

London scored two goals in the last period and Seaforth scored one on Sills' nice shot. The game switched a little bit, and it looked as if the London boys were going to stage a comeback in the last few minutes. Kelly took the puck from Seaforth when they were about to score, and outskating the home players made a straight shot at the fence, making the score 6—3. Ferguson did a similiar stunt one minute later. In the last minute of the game Sutter fell in the net and was ruled off, Sills was also ruled off by Weghorne.

Final score: Seaforth 7, London 4.

Summary:

First Period—London—Kelly, 3 minutes; Seaforth—Sills, 4 minutes. Reg. Reid, 5 minutes, Hoffman, 15 minutes; London—Gillies, 16 minutes. Second Period—Seaforth—Reg. Reid, 5 minutes, Sills, 12 minutes; Reg. Reid, 17 minutes. Third Period—Seaforth—Sills, 5 minutes; London—Kelly, 17 minutes, Ferguson, 17 minutes.

Penalties—London, 4 minutes—Ferguson, 2 minutes; Sutter, 2 minutes. Seaforth, 6 minutes—Sills, 4 minutes; Hoffman, 2 minutes.

BRANTFOD BALL TEAM (?) TO HAVE CHOICE DATES

BRANTFORD, Feb. 21.—In their request for playing grounds for the Brantford team in the new Canadian-American League, the Brantford officials were entirely successful with the civic parks board here this afternoon. All holidays and Saturdays as per schedule were granted the Brantford team, the promoters of which promised to relinquish any claim to civic holiday in favor of the War Veterans, should the latter make a request. Representatives of the O. B. A. and other organizations practically withdrew their claims in favor of the professional team.

NOTES ON THE JUNIOR GAME

IF THE LOCAL kids had backchecked during the whole game like they did in the last few minutes the chances are Galt would have gone home on the short end of the score. However, what would this world be without "ifs"?

ON THE PLAY the Galt youngsters deserved the game. They know how to use their weight, back checked consistently, and were twice as aggressive as the London youths.

GUESS LONDON missed Art Gillies, who was playing with the Intermediates in Seaforth. Art would probably have turned the loss into a win on a few of his celebrated lone rushes.

SEVERAL OF THE fans were grouching, because Gillies was not there to participate in the semi-final game of the Northern League. However, as a semi-final match in the Northern is on a par with the preliminary round of the O. H. A. there is not much to worry about, Mr. Fan.

TEE HEE. IT IS to laugh. Just imagine playing your first game in the Northern League and being in the semi-finals. Hand me my powder puff, Hector. My nose is red with weeping.

MAYHAP THE SAID Northern is affiliated with the coffinmakers' union. The fact that substitutes are not allowed in the games possibly had a lot to do with the slowness of last night's contest, which was as slow as the Germans' march into gay Paree.

HINES MAY HAVE been the fastest player on the ice, but our own Dutch Logan was the cleanest. Dutch and McKay were the most aggressive of the locals, and we were glad to see Dutchy get a goal.

THERE WAS ONLY one goal judge on the ice. However, any old thing goes in the Northern League. What's the absence of a goal judge in our young life?

GALT BEATS LONDON IN NORTHERN LEAGUE

Local Juniors Trimmed 4 to 3 Before Small Crowd Last Night.

The London juniors lost the first game in the Northern League junior semi-finals to the Galt kids by the score of 4 to 3 at the London Curling Club Rink last night before a small crowd of fans.

For the first two and a half periods the winged "L" sextet played as if they were past grand masters of the undertakers' union. However, some life-giving fluid must have been pumped into them during the last few minutes of the game, for they woke up and scared the Galt youngsters pea-green.

Hines, the centre man of the visitors, showed up like a million dollars, and scored all four goals that were chalked up to the Galt crew. Todd, on left wing, also manifested considerable pep, and gave lessons to the local youngsters in body-checking.

A Sad Period.

It was just two minutes after the face-off that Friend Hines batted in the rubber after it had bounced off Hynds' pad on a shot by Keyes. Five minutes later Hines chased another one past the London net policeman on a lone rush from one end of the rink to the other. It was a pretty piece of stick-handling. Five minutes before the period closed he again beat Hynds on a high shoe from right wing. Most of the play in the first breath was around the London nets, and Mr. Hynds had no time for visiting.

Archie McKay, who had added his shores to the rest of the local's efforts in the first period, opened up with a goal in the second frame after two minutes of play. It was a hot shot from outside the defence. This seemed to peeve Mr. Hines, who stick-handled his way to another counter one minute later, making the score read 4 to 1 in favor of the opposition. It was the last goal for the visitors, although they kept the old rubber sniffing round the nets for the remainder of the period, with the exception of when young McKay planted his second goal past Stuart. It was another high shot from outside the defence, and it gave the fans another chance to cheer six minutes after the period started.

Dutch Did It.

The same sleepy tactics that prevailed in the first two frames bid fair to last until the bitter end. However, with about six minutes to go, Dutch Logan slammed one past Stuart while that young gentleman was enjoying a peaceful sleep. The score acted all the same as a good shot of dope, as far as the locals were concerned, and they played rings around the visitors for the rest of the game. Stuart was kept busy, and showed the crowd that he had a perfect right to be wearing goal pads by turning all shots aside, and the whistle blew with London on the short end of a 4 to 3 score. The return game will be played in Galt on Monday night.

The line-up:

London.		Galt.
Hynds	Goal	Stuart
McIntyre	R. defence	Keyes
Burgess	L. defence	Watts
Cline	Centre	Hines
McKay	R. wing	Todd
Logan	L. wing	George

U. T. S. WIN ROUND.

LINDSAY, Feb. 21. — Lindsay Midgets beat U. T. S. tonight by 7 to 2, but lost the round by eight goals. They started out on the herculean task of paring down a lead of three goals, and but for the wonderful work of Joe Sullivan, in goal for the U. T. S., would likely have tasted defeat. Lindsay bored in like worms all night and had the play in the U. T. S.'s goal at every stage of the game. The visitors played a defence game and were plainly handicapped by the small ice quarters.

DURHAM TAKES LEAD.

DURHAM, Feb. 21.—Durham, by defeating Mount Forest by 6 to 2 tonight, takes a goal lead to Mount Forest in home and home junior northern semi-finals.

LONDON-SEAFORTH GAME TO BE PLAYED AT WOODSTOCK

Local Hockey Officials Decide d at Meeting Today To Play Intermediate Semi-Final Game Away From Home Monday Night—Special Train May Be Secured for the Fans.

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the London Hockey Club, held this afternoon, it was definitely decided to play the return game with Seaforth in the intermediate O. H. A. semi-finals at Woodstock arena Monday evening.

The London Hockey Club and the London Curling Club did not come to terms, the hockey officials will take the game out of town.

The rink at Woodstock is large, and this will give the locals an advantage to overcome the three-goal lead obtained by Seaforth Friday night. The ice at Woodstock is also good.

The London Hockey Club is trying to secure a special train to accommodate the London hockey spectators. If the special train is not secured the game will be started sharp at 8 o'clock, and the Forest City rooters will be able to leave Woodstock about 10 o'clock.

A large crowd of rooters is expected to go to Woodstock to back up the London team. The spectators have given the hockey club good support all season, and the officers of the club are sure that they will continue to do so.

WOODSTOCK JUNIORS SCORE LAST-MINUTE WIN ON STRATFORD

Junior Semi-Final Contest Ends by 5 to 4.

VISITORS TO GO HIGHER

Stratford Led in Game For First Two Periods, and Then Faded.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 21.—Woodstock Juniors move up another round in the fight for the O. H. A. championship as a result of their win over Stratford Juniors in a fast fixture in the Arena tonight, in the third round of the semi-finals, by the score of 5 to 4, winning the round by three goals. The visitors played a strong game, and were right on the job the first two periods. They tied up the score on the round in the second frame, but faded in the last session, while Woodstock slapped in three goals and won out.

It was a grand finish. It was a fast and thrilling game, and one which kept the spectators, which filled the rink to capacity, on edge all the time. In the first frame the score was two to one for Stratford; the second period ended four to two for the Midgets, and the final stanza brought about their downfall, the locals scoring three goals and blanking the visitors.

ICE WAS STICKY.

The ice was sticky and prevented much combination, and individual work by both teams was principally indulged in. Kellerbourne played a wonderful game for Stratford, and although hurt in the eye, continued to stay on. His playing was very effective, and he was one of the best men on the ice. Lavelle was also good, while King and Bill Carson starred for the locals. Both goalers worked in fine form.

Stratford started strong and pressed the play in the first session. They did the same in the second, although they showed signs of flagging. They were unable to do anything in the third session. The team showed much better form than they did in Stratford, and the game was in doubt till nearly the last. The visitors brought down a big aggregation of rooters who seemed confident that they were going to carry home the "bacon." The game was quite clean, and Tackaberry of Toronto refereed capably. The locals showed no inclination to rough it, and the Stratford lads also played clean hockey. Only eight penalties were handed out during the entire game.

Summary: First period—1, Stratford, Kellerbourne, 4½ minutes; 2, Stratford, Seebach, 5 minutes; 3, Woodstock, W. Carson, 10 minutes. Second period—4, Stratford, Seebach, 7 minutes; 5, Stratford, Morenz, 1 minute; 6, Woodstock, W. Carson, 5 minutes. Third period—7, Woodstock, King, 5 minutes; 8, Woodstock, Trump, 6 minutes; 9, Woodstock, F. Carson, 2 minutes. Penalties—Woodstock, 5 minutes; Stratford, 5 minutes.

STRATFORD GIRL IN FRONT FOR BASKET BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

STRATFORD, Feb. 21.—By a score of 14 to 6 the Stratford Collegiate girls this evening defeated Woodstock in the John Whyte intercollegiate series, and thus step into first place in the league race. Their game to be replayed with Guelph gives them a decided advantage in the series.

Tonight's game was full of excitement, but the local girls started right in from the opening to run up a substantial lead.

Woodstock was limited to a lone field basket, their other points coming on foul shots. For Stratford, Audrey Hughson and Martha Wilhelm and Isabel Heath played well, while Lillian McCrimmon and Isabel Fraser were Woodstock's best.

The line-up:

Woodstock—Isabel Fraser, centre; Lillian McCrimmon, defence; Grace Hill, defence; Mary McKay, forward; Isobel Bain, forward.

Stratford—Enid Robertson, centre; Mary Miller, defence; Isabel Heath, defence; Audrey Hughson, forward; Martha Wilhelm, forward.

Woodstock Spares—Jean Douglas, Anna Russell, Winnie Harris, J. Douglass.

Stratford Spares—Valerie Todd, Evelyn Johnson and Josephine Monteith.

VICTORIA TAKES CLOSE GAME FROM VANCOUVER

Victoria, Feb. 22.—It would seem impossible to pick a hockey game more full of excitement than that played here last night between Vancouver and Victoria, which was won by the locals 3—2. Incidentally the record for over time since the league was started went by the board, the teams battling for an extra 37 minutes and 20 seconds after the usual three periods. Then the winning goal finally was netted by Clem Loughlin. There was nothing the matter with the visitors. They were playing first-class hockey all the time, but the locals were playing at top form.

OSHAWA INTERMEDIATES WIN.

Oshawa, Feb. 21.—The Intermediate O. H. A. game tonight between Oshawa and Kingston ended: Oshawa 5, Kingston 4.

NEWMAN HALL MAKE-SHIFT SQUAD LOSES TO KITCHENER CHAMPS

KITCHENER, Feb. 21.—Minus five of their regular players who are out on a barnstorming tour to Winnipeg, Newman Hall with a makeshift line-up, were defeated here tonight by a score of 5 to 2 before the smallest crowd of the season. The period scores were 4 to 2 and 5 to 2, with the cup holders always in the lead. There was no scoring in the last session. As usual the playing surface was juicy, but in spite of this handicap Kitchener completely outclassed the Torontonians who put up a creditable performance in the face of heavy odds.

The line-up:

Newman Hall.		Kitchener.

WEST GRAIN GROWERS, FARMERS AND "VETS" MAY BAND TOGETHER

Saskatchwan Bodies Make Move to Become Politically Active.

REGINA, Feb. 21.—The farmers' political platform, as revised by the Canadian Council of Agriculture, was adopted unanimously by the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, in annual convention yesterday, and a resolution making provision for direct political action has been drafted and will be considered before the convention concludes today.

The resolution provides for an amendment to the constitution to enable the association to become politically active, and for an invitation to the Great War Veterans' Association and organized labor to join. It also provides for a separate campaign fund for each federal constituency of at least $250.

The gathering was addressed by James Somerville of Moose Jaw, president for Saskatchewan of the labor party in embryo. He declared that the farmers' platform did not go far enough. He spoke approvingly of the aims of the Russian Soviet Government.

J. A. Maharg, M.P., was re-elected president of the association by acclamation; A. G. Hawkes of Percival being re-elected vice-president.

KINCARDINE MAN GETS 2 MONTHS FOR ASSAULT

KINCARDINE, Feb. 21.—The case in which Bert Duke was charged with assaulting Mr. Finn, proprietor of the bowling alley, was heard yesterday. The courtroom was crowded, but the case only lasted a few minutes. Mr. Duke said he could give reasons for the assault, but pleaded guilty to every charge.

The magistrate remarked that he had no right to take the law in his own hands, and gave him the option of a fine of $50 or two months in jail. The defendant chose going to jail. The constable took him to the town lock-up until ready to take him to the county jail at Walkerton.

It is about 13 inches thick and perfectly clear. There is not as much ice being harvested this year as the condensing factory is not storing any.

MICHIGAN ADOPTS STRANGE TACTICS TO STOP RUM-RUNNERS

Injunction to Keep Cars Off Road Latest Method.

EMPLOY STATE TROOPS

Fear of Jail Has, However, Put Majority of Illicit Dealers Out.

MONROE, Mich., Feb. 21.—Grim faced and determined, members of the state police forces stationed in Monroe, and reinforced by details from Detroit, waited the word from their leader, Col. Vandercook, which would send them hot foot for the border to choke life from the business of illicit whiskey runners.

This afternoon that word was given, the men piled into cars and the race to state line began. Warned by the arrest by federal officers in Toledo Thursday that the end of their day was in sight, and prevented from one last free for all dash to Detroit Thursday night by the slippery roadway, the rum runners had ceased to congest on the streets of Monroe Friday. An occasional car loaded to the top passed through, but alcoholic pageant that has provided excitement for Monroe for days had ceased.

Speculation as to action of state troopers was rife all day and the wholesome respect in which this handful of men is held by the illicit whiskey sellers was evidenced in the furtive sneaking by of the few cars that dared the cordon of Government officers.

Attorney General Grosbeck and Col. Vandercook of the state police, arrived in Monroe early this morning, and went immediately into conference with Monroe County officials to determine a plan of action.

An injunction to prevent the use of the Monroe County highways for the transportation of liquor illegally brought into Michigan was issued by Judge Root in the circuit court soon afterwards.

The police were instructed to stop all cars and to warn drivers against taking booze into Michigan, and if they violated this injunction to turn cars containing liquor back to Ohio.

The license numbers of all cars were taken, and if any car after returning to Toledo comes again on to the Michigan roads with its illicit load the driver will be arrested.

Men are told that there was to be no fine assessed but that violators would be punished with jail sentences.

EXCELLENT RECORD SHOWN IN REPORT OF INGERSOLL CLUB

Lieut.-Col. (Trooper) Mulloy Addresses Members of 3,000 Club.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 21.—A lively interest was manifested in the annual meeting of the "3,000 Club" held in the town hall tonight, at which C. Mulloy, "the blind trooper," gave a splendid address on repatriation.

The importance of the work done by the 3,900 Club for the various patriotic purposes was emphasized by the financial statement, which showed that from April of last year to February 19 of this year that the total collections of the club amounted to $15,775.66, an average of $1,470 per month. The total collections through subscriptions amounted to $35,022.26, while the total collections on behalf of patriotic work since the beginning of the war totalled $62,284.10.

President S. C. N. Summer presided, and reviewed the work of the club, paying a tribute to the interest manifested by the working men of the town as well as the worth of the women. A resolution was adopted continuing in office the executive of the club, and making it plain that instead of monthly contributions as formerly, they are to be made voluntarily when the occasion arises.

A vote of thanks was tendered Col. Mulloy on motion of Mayor Buchanan and L. Pickard.

INSURANCE CASE AT GODERICH WAS DISMISSED BY JUDGE

GODERICH, Feb. 21.—The only action at the assizes here was that of Merner vs. McKillop Mutual Fire Insurance Company. The plaintiff was J. J. Merner, M.P., of Seaforth, the member for South Huron, claimed that he held a policy with the defendant company for $11,450 on his house and contents of all outbuildings, all of which property was stated in the application for insurance upon lots 9 and 10, in 3rd concession, of the township of Tuckersmith.

The plaintiff also claimed he held under lease lot 11, across the side road from lots 9 and 10, and the barn on lot 11 was filled with grain, owned by the plaintiff. Fire on August 20 last, destroyed the barn on lot 11, with its contents of grain and some implements belonging to the plaintiff. The insurance company paid the loss upon the implements, recognizing the claim that the latter were ordinarily contained in the buildings on lot 11. But the claim for payment upon the grain was refused. The plaintiff claimed a loss of $1,820 on the grain and sued for this amount, with interest.

The plaintiff relied upon a clause in the company's bylaws which stated "where any person holds a policy in this company covering loss upon farm produce, such policyholder shall be entitled to receive from the company the amount of loss by fire in respect of any farm produce owned by the insured even though the said produce be on other premises other than the premises of the insured in respect of which the policy has been issued."

The company claimed that this had no application in this case, as the produce destroyed had no connection with the property actually covered by the insurance policy. The judge upheld the company's contention, and dismissed the action without costs, providing no further proceedings are taken, but with costs against the plaintiff if an appeal be entered. J. M. Best of Seaforth was counsel for the plaintiff, and Wm. Proudfoot, K. C., and F. Holmestead of Seaforth, for the defendant.

WHEN THE STOMACH IS WRONG LIFE SEEMS TO BE A BURDEN

Indigestion Comes With a Debilitated and Run-down Condition of the System and Can Be Cured Through Enriching the Blood.

There are many symptoms of indigestion, such as acute pain after eating, belching of wind, nausea and vomiting, bloating and pains in the region of the heart, a dread of food for the misery it causes. Dieting and the use of pre-digested foods may give ease, but can't cure—they only further weaken the stomach. The work of digestion depends upon the blood and the nerves, and the only way to cure indigestion is to tone up the stomach through the blood to do the work nature intended it should do. The very best way to cure indigestion is through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood, strengthen the nerves and enable the stomach to do its work with ease and comfort. Neglected indigestion means prolonged misery, and a more difficult cure. If you have any of the symptoms of this trouble try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, and you will be gratified with the results.

APPETITE FAILED.

Mr. Daniel Dexter, Liverpool, N. S., says: "For years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. I was troubled with gas on the stomach which caused disagreeable sensations. I was also frequently troubled with nausea and vomiting, which were very distressing. As a result of my trouble my appetite almost completely failed, and what I did eat caused me constant pain. I was continually doctoring, but did not get any benefit, and had about made up my mind that I would suffer for life. One day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and while I had not much hope of a cure I decided to do so. I had only taken a few boxes, however, when I found they were helping me. Very gladly then I continued the use of the pills, and in less than three months I was as well as ever I had been, able to eat a hearty meal, and to feel that life was again worth living. I had also been troubled from time to time with attacks of rheumatism, and the use of the pills cured this as well as the indigestion. It is now over a year since I took the pills, and in that time I have had no return of the trouble."

FOOD TURNED SOUR.

Mrs. J. Harris, Gerrard street, Toronto, says: "About three years ago I was seized with a severe attack of indigestion and vomiting. My food seemed to turn sour as soon as I ate it, and I would turn so deathly sick that sometimes I would fall on the floor after vomiting. I tried home remedies, but they did not help me. Then I went to a doctor who gave me some powders, but they seemed to make me worse. This went on for nearly two months, and by that time my stomach was in such a state that I could not keep down a drink of water and I was wasted to a skeleton and felt that life was not worth living. I was not married at this time and one Sunday evening on the way to church with my intended husband I was taken with a bad spell on the street. He took me to a drug store where the clerk fixed up something to take, and my intended got me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the end of the first week I could feel some improvement from the use of the pills, and I gladly continued taking them until every symptom of the trouble was gone, and I was again enjoying the best of health. These pills are now my standby and I tell all my friends what they did for me."

SUFFERED GREAT DISTRESS.

Mrs. Albert Hall, Sonya, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with wonderful results. For two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which almost made me a physical wreck. At times my sufferings were so great that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I had smothering spells at times and was afraid to lie down to rest. After every meal, no matter how sparingly I ate, I suffered great distress. I tried several doctors, but their medicine did not seem to help me in the least. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised to cure this trouble and decided to try them. I had not been taking them long when I felt somewhat improved. This improvement continued and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food and felt better than I had done for years. You may be sure I am very grateful for the wonderful relief these pills have given me. I know they are also a cure for anaemic sufferers, as an intimate friend of mine was badly affected with this trouble and after taking several boxes she was entirely cured."

If you are suffering from any form of sto mach trouble, or any of the many ailments due to weak, watery blood, do not waste time and mon ey experimenting with other remedies, but begin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once. These Pills ha ve proved a cure in thousands of cases, and should do so in yours. Sold by all dealers in me dicines or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Com pany, Brockville, Ont.

A. O. LORENZ ELECTRIC WORKS, 2240 Lincoln Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Former United States Senator Mason, Pioneer in Pure Food and Drugs Legislation, Father of Rural Free Delivery System Says Nuxated Iron

Increased His Power and Endurance So Much That He Feels It Ought To Be Made Known to Every Nervous, Run-Down, Anaemic Man, Woman and Child.

Opinions of Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author; Dr. James Francis Sullivan, Formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital; Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr of the City of Chicago and Others.

What Senator Mason Says—

Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:

I have often said I would never recommend medicine of any kind. I believe that the doctor's place. However, after the hardest political campaign of my life, without a chance for a vacation, I had been starting to court every morning with that horrible tired feeling one cannot describe. I was advised to try Nuxated Iron. As a pioneer in the pure food and drug legislation, I was at first loath to try an advertised remedy, but after advising with my medical friends, I gave it a test. The results have been so beneficial in my own case, I made up my mind to let my friends know about it, and you are at liberty to publish this statement if you so desire. I am now 65 years of age, and I feel that a remedy which will build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of one at my age, should be known to the world.

Yours very truly,

W. E. Mason

Senator Mason's statement in regard to Nuxated Iron was shown to several physicians who were requested to give their opinions thereon.

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author said: "I heartily endorse Senator Mason's statement in regard to Nuxated Iron. There can be no vigorous iron men without iron. Pallor means anemia. Anemia means iron deficiency. The skin of anemic men and women is pale; the flesh flabby; the muscles lack tone; the brain fags, and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, despondent and melancholy.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "Senator Mason is to be commended on handing out this statement on Nuxated Iron for public print. There are thousands of men and women who need a strength and blood builder, but do not know what to take. In my own opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for enriching the blood and helping to increase the strength and endurance of men and women who burn up too rapidly their nervous energy in the strenuous strain of the great business competition of the day."

Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago, says: "I have taken Nuxated Iron myself and experienced its health-giving and strength-building effect, and in the interest of the public welfare I feel it my duty to make known the results of its use. I am well past my threescore years, and want to say that I believe my own great physical activity is largely due today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron I feel it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country."

While Former Health Commissioner Kerr is not himself a physician, still his experience in handling public health problems must give his opinion more than ordinary weight.

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change your food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE.—Nuxated Iron which was used by Senator Mason with such striking results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all other druggists.

From the Congressional Directory published by the United States Government: "Wm. E. Mason, Senator from Illinois, was elected to the 50th Congress in 1887, to the 51st Congress in 1891—defeated for the 52nd Congress, 1892—Elected Senator to the 55th Congress, 1897 to 1903."

Senator Mason is now Congressman from the State of Illinois.

Senator Mason's championship Pure Food and Drugs legislation his fight for the rural free delivery system, and his strong advocacy of all bills favoring labor and the rights of the masses as against trusts and combines, make him a national figure at Washington, and endeared him to the hearts of the workingman and the great mass of people throughout the United States. Senator Mason has the distinction of being one of the real big men of the nation. His strong indorsement of Nuxated Iron must convince any intelligent, thinking reader that it must be a preparation of very great merit, and of which the Senator feels is bound to be of great value to the masses of people everywhere, otherwise he could not afford to lend his name to it, especially after his strong advocacy of pure food and drug legislation.

A ROMANCE OF HAPPY VALLEY" W. GRIFFITH'S MASTERPIECE HOWING AT THE MAJESTIC N WED., THUR. AND FRI. NEXT

hn Barrymore and Charlie Chaplin at Popular Playhouse Today, and Elsie Ferguson and Harold Lloyd on Monday and Tuesday — Sparkling Comedies and Interesting News Weeklies at All Performances.

o make simple folk do simple things matically, is the most difficult test cinema art, according to David rk Griffith. In commencing on his duction "A Romance of Happy Val- " which comes to the Majestic on ursday, Friday and Saturday next k, Mr. Griffith said:

"It is refreshing to return to good, est, plain American neighborhoods in, after working for so many ths with the grim tragedies of war. There is no war—not the least thought of war—in "A Romance of Happy Valley." But somehow plain people never seem to be dramatic in each other's eye.

It is hard to convince a farmer, or a person in a cross-roads settlement, for instance, that his neighbor's life is a dramatic thing; in fact, the very best of drama. It appears to be the pleasure of most of us to associate drama with persons about whom we know little. Yet it is true that most wealthy persons lead the most prosaic and uninteresting of lives, whereas the doings of our good friends in denim and calico, are filled with amazing romances and tragedies, and dramas of every kind.

"Everyone knows about a 'Happy Valley,' very like the one in which the characters of 'A Romance of Happy Valley' live. Without much difficulty they can identify the Logans and the Timberlakes as just good people, shaken out of the peaceful progress of their lives for a little while. The drama of 'A Romance of Happy Valley' can be heard in variation at every fireside in the country. The people telling it will call it 'strange doings' or 'The Troubles of the So-and-So's,' and yet they are the most delightful dramas, very earnest and magnificently human.

"Personally, I am very fond of 'A Romance of Happy Valley.' It was like a holiday to me to produce it. I only hope the public will enjoy the finished work as much as I did production. I have tried to make the characters human, just such persons as you and I. I hope what they do may hold the public's interest, for it certainly held mine."

"A Romance of Happy Valley" is the first production Mr. Griffith has made in five years in which he has oming to the Majestic soon in her st photoplay, "Captain Kid, nior."

confined himself to a social drama dealing with homespun folk.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Landlady's Pet," at Majestic Today Only.

Charlie Chaplin, that favorite, whose place in the hearts of the people no one could take, is to appear at the Majestic today only in one of the biggest laughs ever created by this comedian, "The Landlady's Pet." And he is some pet, and just like all pets, his entire energy seems to be taken up with causing mischief for others, for he sows strife and consternation wherever he goes, and provides laughs for audiences in everything he does.

John Barrymore in His Newest Comedy "Here Comes the Bride," Showing at Majestic Again Today.

Portraying the role of a poor lawyer who is in love with the beautiful daughter of a millionaire, but who weds an ugly widow "with a past" to win a reward of $100,000, John Barrymore, the talented Paramount star will be seen in one of the most humorous roles of his screen career in "Here Comes the Bride," which will be displayed at the Majestic Theatre again today.

Mr. Barrymore is one of the best-known actors in the country, and he is now appearing in Tolstoy's play, "Redemption," at a New York theatre with great success. Notwithstanding that much of his time is taken up with this attraction, he finds time to devote many hours to motion picture work.

Col. Harry Nelles Shown in Picture at Majestic Today.

Appearing in a popular series of pictures "Famous Canadian Regiments in France," at the Majestic again today, will be one of London's own popular officers, Col. Harry Nelles. Other views shown in this picture include the 4th Canadian Infantry Battalion, organized in Toronto, with many recruits from Hamilton, Brantford and London. The 4th Battalion left September 1, 1914, reached France, February, 1915, and carved an undying name for itself at the second battle of Ypres, where for a period it saved both the situation for the army and for the men.

BEAUTIFUL ELSIE FERGUSON IN "HIS PARISIAN WIFE" A LAVISH PRODUCTION SHOWING AT THE MAJESTIC ON MON. AND TUES.

Celebrated Screen Star at Popular Theatre in Her Latest Photoplay—Also Harold Lloyd in "Hustling For Help," a News Weekly, a Travelogue and Frank Bessenger in Vaudeville.

Are French dinner gowns, cut low, immodest? Do they harmonize with the views of elderly persons of Puritanical tendencies? Should young brides yield to parental opposition on problems of dress? These are a few of the questions which are brought to the attention of spectators who are fortunate enough to see Elsie Ferguson in her new Artcraft photoplay, "His Parisian Wife," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Fauvette is a girl reporter in Paris, when Martin Wesley, the son of stern New England parents, meets, loves and weds her after a hasty courtship. When he fetches his bride to the parental home, they treat her with great incivility, and when she appears at dinner in a French gown too decollette for their Puritanical tastes, an open rupture with her husband follows. Fauvette's husband quits her, and, forced to provide for herself, she becomes a successful novelist. Her husband finally returns to her after he is convinced that gowns do not make the woman nor affect her morals.

Miss Ferguson is said to portray this trying role with exceptional artistry. Her support is of the highest class, her leading man being David Powell, an actor of ability well known to screen fans.

Frank Bessenger, the silver-voiced tenor, whose singing has delighted Majestic audiences all this week. Today, as a special feature, Mr. Bessenger will render several of the latest song hits.

Mack Sennett Comedy, "Cupid's Day Off," at the Majestic on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Next.

Furiously funny and presenting noted screen comedians in unique roles, "Cupid's Day Off," the latest Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy, which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, is said to be one of the best laugh-provokers issued by the Sennett organization in many months. Ben Turpin, Charles Lynn and Alice Lake are the others.

The story deals with a couple of shoe dealers who pay more attention to their love affairs than they do to their business. When an indignant husband takes a hand and heaps vengeance upon Ben and Charles there is fun galore. Later, when the pair use loaded dice and clean out a gambling den, the comedy is of the screaming farce order, though natural and diverting. The story may not settle the "fourteen fundamentals," but it is a safe bet that it will delight all who see the picture.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Landlady's Pet," a screamingly funny picture, showing at the Majestic today.

Ethel Clayton in "The Mystery Girl," Showing at the Majestic Saturday, March 1.

Henry Woodward, who plays the leading male role in "The Mystery Girl," Ethel Clayton's new Paramount picture which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre on Saturday, March 1, is a young actor who has come to the front recently because of excellent work.

Mr. Woodward is seen as Captain Barnes, an American army officer, and he is particularly well fitted to assume that role, being good-looking and having the easy distinction of manner required. Also, he is an ex-army officer, he having served through the Philippine war, and was wounded several times in action.

He came to the films after gallant work in aiding his country, and curiously enough, he plays a part that offers a parallel to his own experiences, for Captain Barnes in the story is an officer, who is ordered home through temporary disability. Mr. Woodward has been seen in important roles in recent Paramount and Artcraft pictures.

MAJESTIC SCREEN NOTES.

A replica of the beautiful interior of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York has been erected at the Lasky studio for "Private Pettigrew's Girl," the new Paramount picture in which Ethel Clayton is star, directed by George Melford. The immense altar and other features of the edifice have been constructed with the utmost attention to detail, and when the film is seen upon the screen it will be difficult to determine any indication of its being other than the actuality.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation have decided to renovate the Fifty-sixth street studio in New York by tearing out the old floors and laying a cement flooring on the ground. The offices will be fixed over and made more convenient, with added improvements, and a new ventilating system will be installed in the main studio. The decision for altering and making the old place more attractive came after deciding that it would be more convenient to remain at the Fifty-sixth street location than to get a new place farther uptown.

Douglas Fairbanks has engaged Frank Condon of Saturday Evening Post fame as special scenario writer. Condon's success as an author of fiction stories attracted the attention of the Artcraft actor-producer, who feels that he has been particularly fortunate to make satisfactory arrangements with the writer of "This Way Out," "By Request" and "Blue Monday," which recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Condon just completed a series of five stories scheduled for early publication in Collier's Magazine.

With a real Salvation Army band dispensing the music, and a great throng of people seated before a flag-draped rostrum where real Salvation Army speakers harangued them, one of the important scenes for the new picture for Paramount-Artcraft, dealing with the activities of the great religious body, was put on last week at the Lasky studio on the big open stage. The set occupied practically two-thirds of the stage, and several hundred extra people participated, besides the featured players. Edward Jose is directing the production, assisted by Sam Wood. Eugene O'Brien, Catherine Calvert and Ruby de Remer each have important roles, while Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, will appear personally in a number of the scenes.

Harold Lloyd in "Hustling for Help," his latest comedy. At the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday next.

On March 16 "The Better 'Ole," a screen version of Bruce Bairnsfather's cartoons will be released throughout the United States. This will mark the distribution of the picture which in play form is an unquestionably big theatrical success. There are now five companies playing throughout the United States, including the organization at present running at the Cort Theatre, New York, to capacity houses. This is the first time in the history of the motion picture industry where a play and a screen version of the same subject will run simultaneously.

Though he has escaped from prison cells all over the world, freed himself from every make of handcuff and fetter known, opened every lock calculated to imprison him, Houdini has at last found something from which he could not escape—the motion picture. A serial, in fifteen episodes of two reels each, has been made by B. A. Rolfe from a unique mystery story written by Arthur B. Reeve and Charles A. Logue, with the handcuff king as the star, and the production under the title of "The Master Mystery."

Scene from Act 2 of the dramatic sensation, "The Man Who Came Back," showing at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings next and Saturday matinee.

Cabaret scene from "The Man Who Came Back," a drama of high life, which will be presented at the Grand on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next, afternoons and evenings.

"THE MAN WHO CAME BACK" A DRAMA OF REAL LIFE SHOWING AT THE GRAND NEXT THUR., FRI. AND SAT.

The Story Centres Around the Wild Son of a Wealthy Wall Street Broker, Who Is Brought Up in Idleness and Luxury and Forced Later to Earn His Own Living and Redeem Himself From a a Life of Debauchery.

"The Man Who Came Back," which begins an engagement of three nights at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, with a matinee on Saturday, possesses an extremely human story. Written in five episodes by Jules Eckert Goodman and based on a short story of the same name by John Fleming Wilson, it gains an accumulative interest from the start and sustains it till the end. The story centres around young Henry Potter, a wild son of the rich and important Thomas Potter, of Wall street, New York City.

Brought up in riches and surrounded with unlimited luxuries young Potter proves himself to be a worthless wastrel. The father, realizing the failure and the weakness of the boy, decides to force him to earn his own living.

Begins Life Anew.

He gives his son $500 to start with and sends him to San Francisco to begin life anew. There young Potter drifts to the cabarets and there begins his downfall. He meets one of the girls "Marcelle," who is of a different sort to the usual cabaret girl, and he falls in love with her. She learns that he is not sincere in his proposal of love and rejects him. He is then taken to Shanghai to escape the scenes of his debauchery, but this seems impossible until he meets "Marcelle," who has followed him. They meet in an unfamiliar den and how he "came back" every step of the way to his father's home is told in the play not only in an interesting, but in a thrilling way.

James Dyrenforth portrays the role of the son and Katherine Cornell is "Marcelle," the cabaret singer. Others in the cast are James Seeley, Jane Carleton, Richard Clarke, Esther Howard and Peter Lang.

"A Little Mother." at the Grand Twice Today.

The story of "A Little Mother," the remarkable attraction which will be seen at the Grand twice today, matinee at 2:30 and evening at 8:15, is a true one. That is why it rings so true to everyone who sees a performance of it. The author has simply taken the story as it happened in a little New England county seat, and offered it to the public as a timely illustration of the urgent question of war babies which is giving women's clubs and all thinking people so much concern and anxiety. Mr. Parker, the dramatist, has made excellent use of the quaintly funny characters of the New England county seat where the little heroine of the story lives.

Viola Dana, in "The Gold Cure," at the Grand, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Viola Dana's latest and most successful screen offering, "The Gold Cure," a delightful and mirth-provoking romantic comedy, will be presented at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 2:30, 7 and 9. This uproarious comedy originally appeared in the Woman's Home Companion under the title of "Oh, Annice, Be Careful." The story is an amusing jumble of ludicrous situations that all lovers of wholesome entertainment will enjoy, it is so deliciously absurd and so cleverly put together that it can't help but amuse.

Disgusted that there are no likable young men in the town in which she lives, Annice, the heroine (Viola Dana) sprinkles tacks on the highway and causes an automobile to stop. The hero, driving the car, is thrown and taken to Annice's home to recuperate. He is closely followed by a loudly-dressed man, who keeps insisting that the hero is a dissolute youth, who has stolen money from his uncle. He offers to produce the uncle. The hero then sends for his friend, when the friend arrives on the scene he takes a fancy to Annice. The loudly-dressed man abducts the hero and takes him to a sanatorium, so Annice dresses in man's clothes and goes to the sanatorium to take the gold cure in order to effect his escape. Uncle arrives upon the scene and insists he never saw him in his life. He has hired the loudly-dressed fellow to find his dissolute nephew, but the detective has tracked the wrong man. In the meantime a love affair has grown between Annice and the hero's best friend. "The Gold Cure" is a play which gives the clever little star full scope for her winsome and fascinating personality, the distinctly original idea is cleverly carried out, and the many adventures which befall the young heroine are both amusing and thrilling.

Porter and Butterworth Sisters at the Grand Monday.

Porter and Butterworth Sisters, in a pleasing offering of singing, dancing and piano selections, will be the vaudeville feature at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is a highly entertaining offering and one that is sure to please. The balance of the bill will consist of a two-reel Alice Howell comedy entitled "Behind the Front," and an interesting British Canadian Pathe News film.

Weekly Theatrical Letter

BY BRETT PAGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The day of the plotless musical comedy seems to have passed. Nor is it likely that musical comedy will again fall upon plotless days so long as good farces are written, or there remains a classic romance to be transformed with lovely ladies, tinkling music and a wealth of fun. Witness the latest Winter Garden offering, "Monte Cristo, Jr."

One who read the "Count of Monte Cristo" in callow youth and re-reads it frequently for the sheer zest of its adventure, might reserve the unequivocal commendation of the stage version, but let him possess a real liking for musical comedy and all his reservations will away on the winds of laughter. For "Monte Cristo, Jr." unrolls before you the harbor of Marseilles, the prison cell, the cave of jewels, a carnival at Rome and the ballroom in the house of Mercedes, as well as a thrilling moment when the wild sea rages upon the rock to which Monte Cristo clings. Back you are once more for an instant in each scene at the crossroads of adventure. Then you are swept into a world of gayety, kaleidoscopic color, bright music and fun, a true musical comedy of the best kind.

Among the Stars.

But stars there must be even in this better form of musical entertainment. The Shuberts have provided so many that the names of only a few can be given. Here are the more familiar names—Charles Purcell, Ralph Herz, Chic Sale, Adelaide and Hughes, William and Gordon Dooley, Tom Lewis, Audrey Maple and the Watson Sisters.

Mother love and the lure of melodrama, these are the bait with which "The Net" is set for its audience, but for the heroine the net is marriage, its written and unwritten laws and the problem of shielding a child from the consequences of the father's errors. Presented at the Forty-eighth street theatre by Lee Kuget, Marvene Thompson's play is one that undoubtedly will be talked about.

There are some who may dispute the validity of the scruples with which the wife of a ne'er-do-well husband troubles herself when he murders a man and she, because of her anxiety to protect her child's future, permits a stranger who is suffering from amnesia, to bear the onus of the crime. But this is precisely what the author and producer counted on, for they ask the audience not to be perplexed about who was the murderer, but to consider the situation and strive to foretell just what will happen to the victim of the situation.

"The Net" a Problem Play.

There are some mothers, of course, who bear and have borne even more than the heroine's husband heaps upon her. For the sake of their child and of his future good name these mothers have struggled in the nets that have caught them. Just what a mother in such a situation as "The Net" presents, would do, is the problem of this play.

There is, however, more than mere speculative interest—there's a romance which is unusual in a crime mystery as well as the mystery of the innocent man on whom is placed the accusation of murder. Yes, the emotional element is large.

There are two splendid roles in the play. There's the wife, well played by Kathlene MacDonell, and the innocent victim, well done by Charles Millward. The little schoolboy is appealingly played by Graham Lucas.

"Hobohemia" a Clever Play.

"Hobohemia" is a clever title for a play, isn't it? It offers so many possibilities in its play upon words. Then place the name in electric lights above a theatre set in the midst of the best advertised bit of Bohemia in America, Greenwich Village, and its curiosity-exciting value is heightened a hundredfold. It was inevitable that Sinclair Lewis's play would excite much interest.

Everyone who went to see "Hobohemia" spent all the time of the little journey from Times Square in speculating on just what kind of satire the villagers had prepared. But "Hobohemia" proved not to be satire. It was burlesque. There were plenty of poets and poetesses, novelists and artists, but the crux of the play proved to be the love that Dennis Brown bore for Ysetta Jones, and his determination to beat her at her own writing game by applying business principles to literature. So he hires the best writing talent of the village, invents a Russian novelist, and sets about turning out a masterpiece.

Those who adore "their village" may take exception to the way the characters are treated, and those who like burlesque may loudly laugh. But there's no doubting that while "Hobohemia" doesn't live up to the full measure of expectation the cleverness of its title excites, it's nevertheless amusing.

Marie Cahill Again.

For the first time in many a day Marie Cahill is playing on Broadway. Her return was somewhat of an ovation the first night, and the interest seems likely to continue, because in "Just Around the Corner," by George V. Hobart and Herbert Hall Winslow, Miss Cahill has an amusing role which gives her the opportunity to make the most of the fun she knows so well how to project across the footlights.

The story is of a woman impoverished through sudden mischance, who takes charge of a store she owns in a little town, determined to recoup her fortune. She gathers a staff of strange and funny misfits, and wins against the machinations of the narrow-minded and unfriendly forces arrayed against her. The basic plot isn't startlingly new, but it is funny in its working out.

What is new is the prologue, which is both pleasing and novel enough, perhaps, to deserve imitation in solving that sometimes perplexing problem of swiftly telling facts necessary to the action. In "Just Around the Corner," Miss Cahill is telephoning to a friend when in comes the marshal sent to dispossess her. While she chats the marshal's men move out all the furniture, and then come at last to the telephone, and take that also.

Miss Cahill's supporting company at the Longacre Theatre might in some instances be better matches to the star. Yet it is perhaps over much to expect a cast anywhere near as good as Marie Cahill, who is of the best of that sterling class to which she has so long belonged.

"Toby's Bow."

Greenwich Village is the setting for still another play. This time it is introduced in the first act of "Toby's Bow." It serves as the background against which is shown the reason the hero goes for inspiration and recuperation to Old Virginia. There he meets Toby and his fate.

The way to his fate is opened up by the literary aspirations of the young grand-daughter of the impoverished family with whom he makes his temporary home. For the hero is the author of a best seller, and, though he is incognito, he collaborates with the girl, and together they win success and acknowledge love.

But the best part of the story is the study of character the author, John Talbot Poole, has made of Toby, whose famous bow gives the title to the play. An irresistibly humorous character, he is most admirably played by George Marion. When he relents toward the young author and bows to him, nothing can stand in the way of his happiness with the heroine.

Of the chief role, that of the young author, that fine actor, Norman Trevor, makes the very most. John D. Williams, who presents the play, has given Mr. Trevor admirable support.

"Film Salesman's Routine."

Hugo Reisenfeld, who is now the managing director of the Rivoli and Rialto Theatres, besides being their musical genius, declares that he's going to compose a musical suite descriptive of his most recent terrifying experience. It is to be named "The Film Salesman's Routine."

It will open with "the approach," interpreted by the piping of flutes and fairy touches on the strings floating softly yet clearly over the distant rumbling on the drums which betokens the rising wind of "hunk." Then follows "the bluff motif," swiftly changing into the dolorous "supplication theme." Two closing measures are said to be under consideration—one the "exultation, contract signed," the other "the cancellation exit," to be rendered on the tuba, the lowest of all musical instruments.

"Dear Brutus."

On Friday evening there gathered at the Empire Theatre to see Barrie's most successful play, "Dear Brutus," a most unusual audience of famous writers, painters, sculptors and scientists. The occasion was the celebration by the American Academy of Arts and Letters of the centenary of James Russell Lowell's birth. In addition to the American notables, there were present John Galsworthy and Alfred Noyes, as representatives from Great Britain. It is of interest to note that the only actor who is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters is William Gillette, who plays so admirably in "Dear Brutus."

Gentlemen:
After the use of a single bottle of your Herpicide, it was plainly noticeable that my hair had improved to a marked degree. In every possible way the health and vigor, and beautiful luster of my hair were improved to the extent that my friends commented on it. My observation of many artists on the stage and screen, particularly the stars in Paramount Pictures, has taught me the value of beautiful hair. This attribute no doubt aids in the securing of opportunities for many artists.
Cordially yours, Lila Lee

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As a Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain in the Back are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-Intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Mr. Maxwell Suffered Years With Pimples Healed by Cuticura

"I suffered for years with pimples and blackheads on my face. The latter one could hardly get a pin point between, and the former itched and burned so that I could tear my flesh to pieces. I could not sleep at night, and my face was just a mass of eruptions.

"I decided to give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) R. B. Maxwell, Upper Sackville, N. S., August 10, 1917.

You may think that because Cuticura does such wonderful work in soothing and healing severe itching and burning eczemas it is not adapted to the gentle uses of the toilet. On the contrary, that is just where it is most effective in preventing these serious skin troubles.

Massage of the Muscles a Wise Cold-Weather Aid

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

When you have the impulse to move or to contract a muscle that impulse has an intellectual, a sensory or an emotional origin. It does not begin in the brain or in the spinal cord as old-time volumes and lectures tell you—not at all. The brain and nervous machinery are merely highways and byways, crossroads, central depots and exchanges through which go human pathways and switches.

Over the beaten pathways of the brain and spinal cord, medulla oblongata and the nerves, impressions and impulses of the real world are quickly and easily flashed to the muscles. Then each muscle fibre shortens and thickens. They scatter their jellylike substance into the lymph gutters which encircle them. Simultaneously they burn up fuel and absorb fresh oxygen and sugar from the lymph stream.

Exercise Tones Muscles.

If these muscle fibres are lazy or neglected they become pale, fat and flabby through a want of oxygen from the surrounding lymph and blood. On the other hand, by exercise, athletics, dancing and skating the muscle tissue increases in size and number, its containing sac is strengthened, the fibrous wall is invigorated, and fresh power, like an electric spark, is imparted to the bag which holds the entire muscle.

The result is an increase in the bulk, skill, sensitiveness and elasticity of the muscle.

When you are accustomed to being active and alert the muscles are in more or less tone and slightly contracted even at rest. Then the groups of muscles counteract each other, and one group of muscles balances an opponent group. Constant over-action and strengthening of one group makes the tension on one side greater than on the other until your accustomed pose becomes a habit.

Fallen arches, flat feet, resting the weight on one hip, the curved fingers of the oarsman and the bent arms of a weight lifter are examples of this.

Soreness and stiffness of the muscles which follow a new exercise or "stunt" are due to slight ruptures of the fibres and walls with a flow of lymph and blood into the muscle cells. Indoor, sedentary, inactive habits make for stiff or sore muscles. The poor nourishment and irritative poisons imperfectly supplied to such sluggish, stagnant fabric prevents elimination of waste and congests the muscles with degenerative stuff.

An Ancient Advice.

Before exercising you should kindle heat in your muscles first by a brisk massage and light exercise. The lack of this preliminary precaution in cold weather may rupture a tendon, ligament or a muscle. Two hundred years after Christ, Galen knew this and warned against "the danger of breaks and sprains, unless beforehand you gradually warm, thin and soften the solid jelly in the muscles."

Answers to Health Questions

J. J. B. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for dry eczema.

A.—Apply a little of the following to the affected parts:

Salicylic	15 grains
Balsam peru	1 dram
Phenol	15 drops
Sulphur	1 dram
Petrolatum	½ ounce
Wool fat	½ ounce

M. L. R. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for grey hair.

2. Kindly advise me what to do for bunions.

A.—It is not often that the natural color of the hair returns after the hair pigments or melanin are gone. A darker hue may be given the hair by the use of burnt cork. In the form of crayon or of grease paint or home-made with vaseline this is very good. Different shades of red, brown, blonde and chestnut may be obtained by the use of henna tea in which powdered indigo has been added. But why attempt to change something that may be very beautiful?

2. Those enlarged gristle and bones of the big toe should be removed by a surgeon. If there is inflammation of the part, vaseline may do much good when applied. Also protect the bunion from irritation and rubbing by absorbent cotton pads.

A READER OF THE DAILY ADVERTISER, Port Burwell. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for pimples?

A.—Apply a little of the following to the affected parts:

Sulphur Loti	2½ drams
Balsam Peru	½ dram
Camphor	½ dram
Green Soap	1 dram
Lanolin	½ ounce
Vaseline	½ ounce

Miss J. M., London. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for high blood pressure?

A.— Perhaps you need more sleep and rest. Try not to over-exert yourself. Keep the skin and intestines active. Taboo hot dishes, salt, pepper, condiments, seasoning, rich foods, nuts, peas and beans. Be massaged daily. Drink copiously of water daily, lots of fresh milk and cream, and take a bulgaria tablet with your meals. Take ½ grain nitrate of soda in water every 4 hours. Do not try to treat yourself until a thorough diagnosis has been made.

M. T., Stratford. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for a tired feeling?

A.—Whenever a "tired feeling" or a worn out, exhausted, "weak" sensation comes over you, when you feel "so tired," the teeth, nose, eyes, lungs, skin and kidneys must be searched for a focus of infection, a nest of vegetating germs. Once the source is found and this cause removed, the tired feeling will disappear without drugs and so-called "blood purifiers" or "tonics."

Today's Fashion

By MME. FRANCES

This Panel Gown of Dark Blue Tricotine a Spring Forecast.

A youthful street dress for spring is made of dark blue tricotine. The front panel is outlined with black bone buttons. Box plaits pressed very flatly give a charming line from shoulder to knee, where they meet transverse lines set in tucks in the skirt border. A patent leather belt with a silver buckle slips through these plaits, Norfolk fashion, and lightly holds an easy fulness at the waist-line. The neck-line is very severe, after the fashion of the moment.

The sleeves are long and snug, but manage to attain distinction and originality in the novel cut.

That hat which accompanies this gown is navy blue straw trimmed with an unusually shaped blue wing.

Good Night Stories

HORSIE GRAY TELLS BOBBY ABOUT HIS GRANDFATHER.

Bobby perched himself on the fence and waved a big red apple at Horsie Gray.

Horsie Gray, who dearly loved red apples, came galloping across the field and took the offered fruit.

"I certainly do love apples," said Horsie Gray. "Wonder if they grow wild?"

"Sure they do," laughed Bobby. "What make you ask such a silly question? Everything has to grow wild before folks learn they're good for something."

"That just reminds me—have I ever told you about my great-great-grandfather?" Bobby shook his head and Horsie Gray continued. "Well, years and years ago, when his mamma was alive—of course, they're both dead now—they lived with a herd of wild horses. My mother often used to tell us children how he was caught."

"How do they catch wild horses, anyway?" asked Bobby, who always loved to hear Horsie Gray's tales.

"Usually with the lasso," replied Horsie Gray. "At least, that's the way he was caught. The lasso is a long plaited leathern thong about half an inch thick and 40 feet long, with a running noose on one end. They threw this over my great-great-grandfather's neck while other fellows threw another lasso over his four legs just above the fetlocks, and pulled his legs from under him. When he fell to the ground one fellow jumped upon his head and with a long knife cut off his mane and the end of his tail."

"What for?" laughed Bobby.

"That showed in those days that the horse had been mounted," replied Horsie Gray. "Then they forced a piece of leather into his mouth, to serve as a bit, and a hide halter on his head, and a fellow jumped upon his back and drove long, sharp spurs that were attached to his boots into my grandfather's sides. And try as hard as he could, my grandfather just couldn't upset the fellow. Every time he tried it the spurs would pierce him, so he finally cooled down and allowed himself to be tamed. And from that day all the horses that followed after my great-great-grandfather have been wonderful servants. Grandfather taught his children to be obedient to their masters, and they in turn taught their children, and I guess your daddy couldn't find a better slave than I am.

"I should say he couldn't!" laughed Bobby. "And we all love you very dearly, too."

"If all masters only knew love is reflected from love, even with the animals that work for them, and treat them with kindness, as your daddy has always treated me, they'd get better work and have no trouble at all with us," said Horsie Gray.

Then, bidding Bobby good-by and thanking him again for the apple, Horsie Gray trotted off toward the meadow to look for sweet clover.

What For?

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, FEBRUARY 23 AND 24.

Sunday is a day under sidereal influences that make for quiet and introspection rather than for any pursuits of an aggressive or important character, which, if attempted, would but result in disappointment or regret. It is, however, a favorable time for seeking favors or dealing with those in authority.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a quiet time, with affairs proceeding as usual. A child born on this day may be changeable and erratic, and perhaps be kept in employment.

Monday is another day with a single Lunar aspect with any of the planets, but this is one encouraging all ventures or enterprises dealing with corporations, combinations, with secret orders or any undertaking in which intrigues or diplomacy have a ruling influence, though they be wholly legitimate in their purpose. Success will come from the exercise of tact and finesse, rather than the cunning and sharp practice which come from the polar opposite of this reigning Uranian vibration.

Those whose birthday it is should have an active, prosperous and interesting year, with unusual or occult experiences. A child born on this day may be artistic and romantic.

MADE IN CANADA

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Mother Graham Squelched Cousin Agatha.

"Don't you think I had better make that lunch for four?"

Cousin Agatha purred the question in her meekest manner. The venom-tipped smile had faded from her lips, but her voice held a danger signal for me. Instinctively I knew that she meant to make mischief, but I was powerless to stop whatever unpleasant thing she had to say, for my mother-in-law's irritation burst forth in a question.

"What are you talking about—four? The rest of us will have our dinner at the usual time. We will take a cup of tea with Major Grantland, of course, but nothing more. It would spoil our dinner."

"Oh!" The monosyllable was packed with resignation and disapproval. "I had supposed that, of course, dear Margaret's father would accompany her to the city. A young wife cannot be too careful when there are so many censorious tongues about."

I saw Major Grantland's face redden with embarrassment and anger, and I was glad indeed that he couldn't see my flaming cheeks, gladder that his man, Adams, had gone out to attend to the car. My father uttered a suppressed exclamation beneath his breath, but my mother-in-law neither changed color nor spoke. But she slowly threw the covers back from the couch where she was lying, and as slowly rose and moved coplously of water daily, lots of fresh toward the door, where her vixenish cousin stood paling and flushing, her malicious desire to make me uncomfortable for the moment triumphing over her fear of Dicky's mother.

A Stinging Reproof.

As my mother-in-law reached her kinswoman's side she put out one thin hand and grasped the other woman's arm. I saw Agatha wince, realized with unholy pleasure that my mother-in-law's strength had not so far forsaken her but that she was able to put considerable force into a vicious grip.

"I am not going to compel you to apologize to Major Grantland, Agatha," my mother-in-law said in her most caustic tones, "for you haven't brains enough to frame a decent one. All your two-by-four jealous excuse for a mind can do is to store up venom under your tongue, like a poison snake so it will be ready to spit out at any time. Now you either get into that kitchen without another word out of you or get your duds and march out of here in the next fifteen minutes."

Her tones were low, but every word reached us distinctly. I knew that Cousin Agatha could have gladly strangled any one of us, but she was too cowed even to let a resentful look cross her face. Pallid, trembling, she scuttled out of the room the moment her cousin released the pinching grip upon her arm.

I have never admired my mother-in-law so much as I did in the minutes following Agatha's disappearance. With her head held high, looking every inch the grande dame, she came back across the room to Major Grantland.

For Madge's Ears.

"It grieves me exceedingly, Major Grantland," she said in her best manner, "that you should have been compelled to hear this unpleasant little contretemps. But my cousin is hardly responsible. She is one of the problems to be found in every family, not quite up to normal scale mentally, though able to do any menial task well. Please forget that she ever opened her mouth."

I had hard work to repress a start at my mother-in-law's characterization of Cousin Agatha, who, to do her justice, possessed a rather superior mentality, but a decidedly warped soul. If the younger woman could hear her kinswoman's speech I wasn't at all sure, I told myself whimsically, that it would be safe to eat the luncheon she was preparing. Major Grantland smiled the appreciation at my mother-in-law that his blinded eyes could not show.

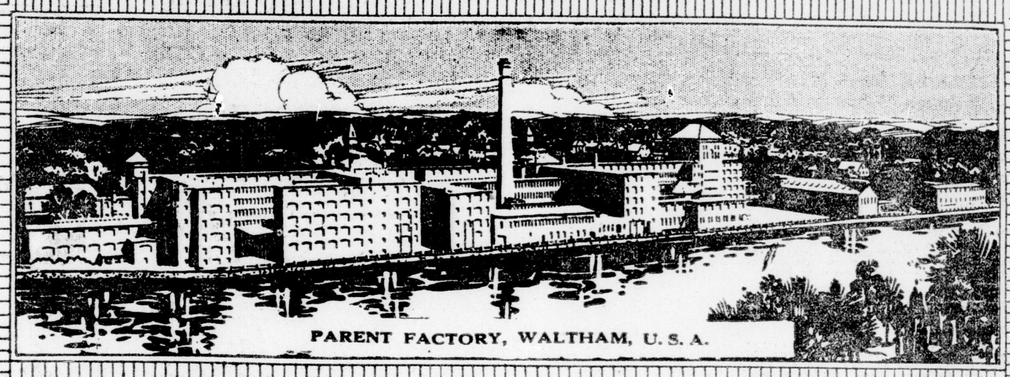

"Dear Lady," he said gently, "how can I have memory for anything except your graciousness?"

She stared at him a moment, then gave him a little tap upon the shoulder. "Get along with you," she said, gruffly, with a sudden change of manner from her grandiloquent attitude of the moment before. But I knew that the young officer's tender homage had pleased her, that henceforth Major Grantland would have no better friend, no stronger champion than my august mother-in-law.

She brought her strong sense of justice to bear also upon the subject of the recalcitrant Agatha.

"The anointed idiot won't be fit to be seen," she said to me aside at the first opportunity, "because, of course, she's crying her eyes out—I hope she won't be able to see out of 'em for a week—" she added with a vicious little click of her teeth. "But I'll tell her that if she gets the things on the table you and I will do the serving, so she won't have to show her face in the dining-room. Of course, Major Grantland can't see her, but—" with a shrewd insight into Agatha's thought processes, which I had not dreamed she possessed—"she'd rather anybody else but you would see her squelched, that's one reason I gave her what I did a few minutes ago.

"Now you get your things ready for your journey, and I'll attend to Agatha."

Waltham Opens Canadian Factory

ANOTHER instance of Canada's industrial progress is furnished by the decision of the Waltham Watch Company of Waltham, Mass., to open a factory in Canada.

This factory extension will be located in Montreal where, for many years, the company's Canadian sales and administration offices have been situated.

Hereafter, Waltham Watches sold in Canada will be assembled, adjusted and timed in Montreal, thus providing an additional convenience for both the trade and the public, and at the same time giving assurance that the greatly increased demand for Waltham Watches will be adequately provided for.

The reason behind the outstanding success of Waltham is found in a modern factory organization in which all the minute parts that enter into the intricate mechanism of a Waltham Watch, are produced and adjusted with marvellous precision. No other watch-making industry in the world can compare with Waltham in completeness and extent of factory equipment.

Jimmy Coon and His Friends

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

LITTLE WILLIAM IS SURPRISED.

While the Farmer Boy and his big dog, Ranger, were taking a nap, everything was very quiet in the Great Forest. Sammy Muskrat slipped down into his little bedroom for a little wink, and Teddy Possum and Jimmy Coon curled up in that crotch of the Locust tree; for Jimmy was just worn out. (He always slept in the daytime except when he had company). And Cousin Bruin, too, was as still as a mouse, resting.

Indeed, only the Yellow Warblers could be heard—saying, as they finished their nest, in the very sweetest tones, "Wee-did, Wee-did, Wee-did!"

Presently little William rubbed his eyes, sat up, and said: "Ranger, you lazy dog, get up! We've got to clean those fish, and cut for home, or Mother will worry. You wait till I sharpen my knife on my shoe; it is so dull it will tear those fish all to pieces."

Now, at the sound of little William's voice, all the little animals woke up and began to watch again. And soon little William ran down to the pool to get his fish—and there was the pool, so clear and fresh, and the water making little currents around the edges, and not a fish, not one, to be seen!

Not a fin or a scale was to be seen, and only the broken sticks on which they had been strung was left! Little William uttered a cry of rage, and the tears would come into his eyes, but he just swallowed them down. And Ranger was very anxious, and barked and wagged his tail every minute. They looked all around, and they could see not a sign of anybody, and little William did not know what to do.

"Oh, Ranger, who could be so mean? I don't know of anyone who would have taken my fish!" he cried. "All the farmers are plowing (and they wouldn't be so mean, anyway), and this place is too far away for a tramp."

And Ranger and little William looked and looked, and soon they found the marks of a big foot; it was flat and large, and yet it didn't look exactly like a man's foot. Ranger was very excited, and he began to bark louder and louder, and to sniff around and to whine. And little William looked at Ranger, and he thought: "Well, Ranger knows who it is, and he can't tell me."

The Huge Form of Cousin Bruin Was Seen Ambling Along.

Then the Farmer Boy looked up in the big locust tree and he saw the sharp eyes of Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum peering down at him; and he looked in the water and he saw Sammy Muskrat looking up at him, and poor little William thought, "Well, they all know who it is, and they can't tell me."

And suddenly there was a crackling in the bushes, and the huge form of Cousin Bruin was seen ambling along. And in the wink of an eye, little William grabbed all his possessions—his fish basket, his rubber boots, his pole—and, followed by Ranger, ran swiftly through the woods.

"Sel" Palmer Has Been With Road Since It Hit St. Thomas.

C. L. SINGER SUCCEEDS

Ticket Agent Will Step Up—Means Other Promotions.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 21.—S. H. ("Sel") Palmer, who has been in the employ of the Michigan Central Railway in this city since the road was built, and who has of late been chief passenger agent for this division, is to retire on pension, and Charles L. Singer, who has also spent the greater part of his business career as ticket agent with the local division, will succeed Mr. Palmer, according to announcement made by Superintendent J. Balkwell to The Advertiser tonight.

Mr. Palmer, better known among his friends as "Sel" Palmer, is one of Canada's best-known railway officials, and has a large circle of friends in this city and other places between here and Detroit. He started with the local road as a boy, and has served its interests loyally and faithfully since then; in fact, his services have been so pleasing to the officials that in the bulletin announcing the changes Chief Passenger Superintendent Lanniman of Detroit states that "Mr. Palmer has served the road loyally and faithfully during his service, and as a recognition will receive an adequate reward in a pension."

Mr. Singer has been ticket agent here for many years, but as Mr. Balkwell stated tonight, he has many ears to go yet to equal Mr. Palmer. "I have been here since the road was in its infancy, and Mr. Palmer was here before then," stated Mr. Balkwell. A successor to Mr. Singer as ticket agent will be named within the next few days. Most likely a promotion of one of the present assistants will be made to fill the office.

ENDEAVOR TO PREVENT WILSON DISCUSSING LEAGUE OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A resolution designed to prevent President Wilson from discussing publicly the proposed league of nations until he has communicated details of the plan to the Senate foreign relations committee was introduced today by Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican. Consideration of the resolution went over under the rules. The resolution declares that to discuss the plan and the proposed construction would be "unwise, undiplomatic and calculated to promote discord" between the Government's two treaty-making powers, and calls upon the president to "preserve an unbiased and impartial mind" until he has discussed the matter with the Senate.

Oxford County Fire Insurance Company Hold Annual Meeting.

The Western Farmers' Weather Insurance Mutual Company report has been published, and the annual meeting was held at Woodstock on Thursday, Feb. 13. It must be indeed gratifying to the directors and the policyholders to have such a record for the past year. When a mutual company can write up a total business of $5,500,000 in one year, which is an increase of $3,319,000, it is a record that any company should be proud of. A very large attendance from all parts of Western Ontario attended the meeting, and a number of the policy-holders addressed the meeting, expressing their confidence and satisfaction for the financial standing of the company and the business obtained. A report of the receipts and disbursements and assets of the company appears in another column of this issue.

WROXETER MAN DIES.

WROXETER, Feb. 21.—Daniel McTavish succumbed after a short illness of pleurisy at his home here Wednesday noon. While it was known his illness was serious, his many friends had hopes of an early recovery, and his death came as a shock to the community.

Mr. McTavish was in his 58th year, and the younger son of the late John H. McTavish of Howick. He had engaged in farming all his life with his brother Peter, whose demise occurred last August. They were most successful, only retiring to the village last spring. The deceased was a regular attendant of the Presbyterian Church, and in politics a staunch Liberal. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Dorothy and Helen.

WILL NOT LEAVE TESCHEN

Inter-Allied Mission at Prague Fully Informed of Situation.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—Official announcement was made today that the representatives of the Allies at their meeting at the Quai d'Orsay today decided that the Allies should recognize the Polish Government headed by Ignace Jan Paderewski.

It is officially announced that the question of the creation of a neutral zone between the Hungarians and Rumanians in Transylvania has been referred to the supreme war council at Versailles.

The council of ten today referred all transitory economic matters to the special economic commission and permanent economic measures to a new commission which is to be named shortly, according to an official communication issued tonight.

CZECHS ARE OBDURATE.

WARSAW, Thursday, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—During the session of the Polish National Assembly today M. Trompcynski, the president of the Assembly, read a telegram from the Polish National Council at Teschen, Austrian Silesia, to the effect that the Czecho-Slovaks had refused to evacuate Teschen despite the agreement made in Paris on February 3.

Previously, Premier Paderewski had been applauded when he declared that Poland would fulfil the decision of the peace conference regarding territorial ambitions.

The president of the Assembly then prepared a telegram for transmission through M. Paderewski, to the inter-Allied mission now in Poland concerning the incident. Allied representatives at Prague, the Czecho-Slovak capital, it is said, are fully informed over the situation at Teschen.

PADEREWSKI OPPOSED.

WARSAW, Feb. 20.—The campaign between Ignac Jan Paderewski and Gen. Pilsudski for the presidency of the new republic of Poland is in full swing. Paderewski, although he is probably more popular with the people than his rival, is not having clear sailing by any means. Pilsudski's strength lies in his popularity with the army. One factor in the election fight is the question of the responsibility for the failure to send the Polish army in France under Gen. Hailer to Poland.

Pilsudski's friends realize, however, that Paderewski is in favor with the Allied governments, but they are hopeful that some event will arise to diminish the pianist-statesman's popularity.

THE EQUITABLE

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE U. S.

120 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Of all the Equitable's sixty years of public service, 1918 was by far the most important and successful.

During that year the greatest epidemic in America's history carried off over 400,000 people, most of them in the young and healthful period of life.

Of the $27,799,026 distributed in death claims by the Equitable in 1918, to the beneficiaries under its policies, $5,200,000 was directly due to the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia, emphasizing the urgent need of life insurance and of securing it at an early age.

In 1918, the Equitable distributed to its policyholders in Death Claims, Endowments, Dividends and other benefits, $65,412,490. It also promptly met all the obligations imposed by the Government during the great war. Liberty Bonds to the amount of $54,000,000 were purchased during 1918. To do this it was necessary for the Society to borrow $23,000,000.

The following figures are from the Society's 59th Annual Statement, which will be furnished on request:

OUTSTANDING INSURANCE, Dec. 31, 1918		$1,924,538,578

SPARTACANS SHOOT FOUR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AFTER KILLING OF EISNER

Deputy Osel Dies From Assassin's Bullet.

HERR AUER IS WOUNDED

Shooting Takes Place During Session of the Landtag.

MINISTER OF WAR KILLED.

London, Feb. 22.—A German wireless message received here quotes Philipp Scheidemann, the German chancellor, as saying that Herr Rosshaupter, Bavarian minister of war, has been killed.

Munich, Feb. 21.—Herr Auer, Bavarian minister of the interior, has been shot.

The shooting took place during a session of the Landtag, while Auer was alluding to the assassination of Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian premier.

Auer fell wounded in the left side, and Deputy Osel was killed and two other officials were seriously wounded.

The shots were fired from the public gallery, and caused a panic among the deputies.

The Diet building is being guarded by the military.

NUMEROUS SOLDIERS KILLED IN CLASHES.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 21.—Spartacan forces in Munich Thursday stormed the police station and arrested the chief of police and several other persons, according to reports from Berlin. The Government forces attacked the Spartacans, and by 7 o'clock in the evening had recaptured all public buildings.

Several soldiers were wounded in the fighting. Sailors who formed the Spartacan garrisons under the name of the "Committee for Protection," surrendered.

Early in the day the Spartacans had arrested the secretary of Premier Eisner and two members of the workmen's council, in addition to the chief of police. All those arrested were released later.

FOCH GIVES EBERT LEAVE TO MAKE WAR.

BERLIN, Thursday, Feb. 20.—By the Associated Press.—The strike in the Ruhr industrial region is still spreading, but it appears to be increasingly evident that only a small minority of the strikers are in sympathy with the Spartacans, and that a majority of them would go to work if they were permitted to do so.

Marshal Foch is reported to have consented to the sending by the German Government of troops against Dusseldorf, which is in the neutral zone fixed by the armistice. The majority of the Spartacan recruits come from Dusseldorf, and the cleaning up of that city by the Government forces will be a heavy blow for the communists who are reported to have 15,000 armed adherents there. There are said to be 3,000 armed Spartacans at Essen and considerable numbers also at Hamborn, in the Dusseldorf district.

Have Cut Railway.

The Spartacans have cut the railway from Oberhausen, north of Essen, to Dorsten, to prevent the transportation of troops. They are also occupying all the roads by which soldiers could come to the region. Armed Spartacans pass through all the trains in the Ruhr district, and refuse to permit anybody suspected of being a Government soldier to travel. Fifty in the district of Thy have been expelled from the Elberfeld Railway station by Government forces, but at Baimen there was a reversal of these conditions, the Spartacans seizing the railway station and public buildings and disarming the policemen.

The Government is reported to be purposely refraining from local offensives against the Spartacans, since it is the desire to wait until an adequate number of troops is available to clean up the whole district thoroughly.

PREMIER EISNER KILLED ON WAY TO LANTAG

Copenhagen, Feb. 21.—Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian premier, was shot and killed today by Lieut. Count Arcovalley as Eisner was on his way from the foreign ministry in Munich to the Diet, says a Munich dispatch. The shooting occurred in the Prannerstrasse, and death resulted from two shots fired from behind into his head.

Eisner's body was carried into the foreign ministry, where it lies in the premier's lodge.

Soon after the shooting the judicial and police authorities arrived to investigate the assassination. There was great excitement in the streets of the city.

The Diet, which was holding its first session today, adjourned indefinitely.

HERR AUER STILL ALIVE, BUT IS IN CRITICAL STATE

Berlin, Feb. 21.—Bavarian Minister of the Interior Auer was still alive this evening, according to reports received here from Munich. He is desperately wounded, however, a bullet having grazed his heart.

The assassination of Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian premier, caused a tremendous riot in Munich. The streets adjacent to the parliamentary building were thronged with crowds during the day, and the chamber, were the Diet was in session, was invaded by a mob. At the foreign office in this city, where the news was received by telephone shortly after noon, the assassination is deplored by officials.

KURT EISNER

Kurt Eisner, who seized the reins of government in Bavaria after the deposition of the royal family early in November, was a Socialist of the more radical type and recent reports from Munich have been that he was heading a Spartacan movement against the moderate and conservative factions in Bavaria.

The Arcovalley family has been prominent in Bavaria and Germany for years, a count of that name having died at Rio De Janeiro in 1909 while German minister to Brazil.

Eisner, a Jew, was born in Galicia, and at one time was editor-in-chief of the Vorwaerts of Berlin. He was arrested last April by the Bavarian Government and was reported to have committed suicide in prison. The report of his suicide, however, was proven false, when Eisner made himself the leader of the Bavarian revolution.

Opposed Socialists.

Eisner also had been opposed to the German majority Socialists, and since his rise to power in Bavaria had repeatedly attacked President Ebert and his colleagues. He even went so far late in November as to sever relations with the Berlin Government, and there always has been some question whether Bavaria, if Eisner could keep control, would join the German republic. Eisner was not a delegate to the German national assembly, having been defeated by an overwhelming vote in the elections.

Accompanied by guards in gorgeous uniforms and on a special train, Eisner went to Berne to attend the international labor conference there early this month. At the Berne conference he attacked the German majority Socialists, declared himself strongly against Bolshevism, and said that he knew of his own knowledge that the Germans had ill-treated French prisoners of war.

In discussing responsibility for the war before the Berne conference, Eisner declared that former Emperor William was undoubtedly directly to blame for precipitating the war. He said that documents found in Munich tended to support this view. He insisted that all of the German military cases should be tried by a German tribunal for their share of the responsibility.

HERR AUER

Herr Auer is a member of the majority Socialist party. He first came into prominence last November at the time of the revolt in Bavaria, taking the portfolio of minister of the interior in the new cabinet.

The following month, when the period of unrest in Munich became grave, Auer was compelled, at the point of revolvers of revolutionists who visited his house at night, to resign his portfolio. He was given two minutes in which to do this. In his written resignation, Auer declared that he was surrendering to force. This did not satisfy the revolutionists, who demanded a statement that the resignation was voluntary.

A short time afterward the ministerial council of the people of Bavaria expressed it anger over the forcing of Auer to relinquish his position, and declared that his resignation "naturally is void and the minister remains a member of the Government."

The document was signed by Kurt Eisner, as minister president.

Auer was the recipient of many expressions of sympathy from throughout Bavaria as a result of the incident.

Last December 17 prominent men, including one non-Bavarian duke, were arrested in Munich charged with having been engaged in a conference with the local soldiers' council. It was asserted that a revolutionary plot was on foot and that Auer was connected with it. In a speech in the Bavarian Chamber of Deputies January 7 Auer said he proposed to intervene with arms against Germany if the unsettled conditions in Berlin continued.

The Mutual in War-Time

IN adversity we discover our real friends. Life Insurance as a result of the war has been revealed as the friend of humanity. The grand total of monies disbursed among relatives of fallen soldiers by the life companies of the world if summed up would be beyond comprehension.

If the loss of life through the influenza were added to the war losses, the financial burden carried by the life companies would amaze the world.

Of these responsibilities the Mutual Life of Canada has borne its full share. The claims paid during the war years amount to

of which fully one-half were due to the war and the pestilence that came in its train. No one can estimate the blessing this money has brought to the widows and the orphans of deceased soldiers and civilians! Homes have been saved from extinction, women and children from disaster.

To-day our people are just beginning to realize what life insurance can do for them, and in many cases voluntarily seek the protection it affords without solicitation.

We have an agent in your district—don't wait for him! Look him up!

SIR WILFRID'S FUNERAL

right, and the grey and red stone building of the east block (wherein the departed had so long presided over the destinies of the Dominion) with far beyond in the hazy distance of an atmosphere that was somewhat dull to the setting of the Laurentian hills, the self-same range on whose Quebec slopes Sir Wilfrid had been born.

An Impressive Scene.

It was a scene which those who witnessed it and understood its significance will not willingly let die. From Major Hill Park onward the observant spectator would have seen something which is distinctly Canadian in the tenor and the bearing of the assembled onlookers. This is the district of Ottawa in which the French-Canadian race predominates. The demonstrativeness of old France, the striking reverence they show their great dead could easily be discerned standing out distinctly in the tribute paid by these descendants of the first settlers in Canada. Every window seemed to bear the drapings of mourning, every store and every office showed a portrait of their great compatriot with, in some cases, extracts from his greatest speeches of the past. These were heavily shrouded in drapings of black and purple. It was this part of the funeral which was most picturesque.

DISTINGUISHED MEN PRESENT.

Among the distinguished people noticed among the thousands who composed the funeral cortege were: His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general, attended by Col. Henderson, Lord Minto, A. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

The attendance at the local market today was much smaller than the usual Saturday attendance. Pork was fairly plentiful, dressed hogs selling at $23 per cwt. Pork by the quarter was in good demand; hind quarters sold for 25@26c per lb, and front quarters sold at 24@25c.

Eggs are a little firmer in price, and are quoted at 45c per dozen retail, and by the basket and crate at 42c.

One farmer was selling excellent looking onions for $1 per bag.

Hay is still quoted at $15@18 per ton, partly owing to the poor quality that many farmers are bringing to the market.

Apples are scarce. A farmer hardly reaches the market before he has sold his apples. Through the scarcity of help in the harvest season many farmers let their apples stay on the trees, and that is what is causing the great scarcity at the present time. All other vegetables are firm.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

New York, Feb. 22.—The stock market this week experienced its first consistently bullish demonstration of the new year, prices in the main advancing appreciably, and in several instances almost sensationally.

"From the character of the trading, however, together with prominence of the highly speculative issues it was evident that the market derived its support and impetus almost entirely from professional interests.

"High grade transportations and industrials of a similar type made little headway, although United States Steel rallied to its highest quotation since the reduction of the 'extra' common dividend and rails stiffened later on adoption by the lower house of another 'revolving fund.'"

Developments affecting the proposed "Victory" loan were helpful to existing Liberty issues, excepting the 3½'s or first flotation which yielded to fairly large offerings.

The metal workers of the city, it is said, are preparing an anti-communist manifestation.

ETERNALLY GULLIBLE

[New York Tribune.]

The sign in the Broadway window read:

"This Stock advances to $2 per share on February 1. Buy now at $1 a share."

That seems to have been enough. The concern took in something like $27,000 in six weeks. The other day it was raided. The company had no factory. The promoter of it was sentenced a few years ago for forgery. All the public had to expect was that the stock was going to double, not in value, but in price, and it handed over its money.

Every year the public squanders millions on these get-rich-quick schemes; but never was there a year, according to all accounts, like the last year. If the market was milk before, with the incoming of Liberty bondholders it became cream. The treasury department may issue its warnings, and the fraud order department of the postoffice may do its best, but the game goes right along. A thousand years ago good public securities were selling on a 5 per cent basis. But through the days of John Law and the Mississippi Bubble, or through the South Sea Bubble, through everything, there have always been those who were sure they could make their hundreds per cent if they only had a chance. It is said that there are wide districts out West where scarce a Liberty bond remains. Fake and frauds have subtracted them all.

And what can be done which has not been done? The enactment of a pure food law for financial flotations and a denial of the privileges of advertising to all concerns not submitting to reasonable public scrutiny.

NO NEED OF PLAN AS OUTLINED BY HON. C. J. DOHERTY

Leon Bourgeois Sees No Reason for Adoption For Time Being.

Paris, Feb. 22.—In expressing his opinion on the suggestion made by Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice, regarding the formation of an international parliament to assure the working out of the plans of a league of nations, Leon Bourgeois, president of the French association for the league of nations, told Excelsior today that the creation of such a parliament need not be considered until later, then the work of the delegates of the league and the league's executive council may be judged by the results obtained.

LIQUOR CAN

prohibited area from selling and delivering intoxicating liquor for sacramental, industrial, artistic, mechanical, scientific and medicinal purposes in accordance with the terms of his license.'

"There is no question but this gives the vendor the right to sell and deliver for the different purposes as abovementioned, and there is no direct evidence to show that this particular liquor was used for other than medicinal purposes. It has been shown, however, that two of the bottles were not delivered until the 18th of January, 1919, inferring that this was intended to be used as beverage, but, as I said before, it is only an inference."

"Now, the doctor has the right to prescribe liquor for medicinal purposes, and we have no evidence to the contrary, and the vendor having the right to fill doctors' prescriptions, and he not only has the right to fill doctors' prescriptions, but the right to deliver them for the different purposes mentioned, as in Clause 6 of the order-in-council passed on the 11th day of March, 1918.

Sees No Violation.

"I cannot see where the defendant broke the law by bringing in the liquor himself, rather than having the vendor send it, which he is entitled to do, but a doubt exists in my mind as to the defendant's right to bring liquor for others on a doctor's prescription; but it seems to me that if a doctor's prescription is regularly and properly obtained there should exist the right to send a messenger for the liquor, just as he could send for any other commodity—in other words, the messenger would simply be his agent.

Given Consideration.

"I have given this case my best possible consideration, and it has been intimated that an appeal will be made from my decision, and upon the grounds as above mentioned. I have decided to give the defendant the benefit and dismiss the charge."

Crown Attorney Seager, for the prosecution, applied for a stated case, while M. G. Cameron, K.C., for the defence, objected. P. M. Reid deferred his decision in the matter of granting a stated case.

Drama of War Takes Exceptionally Well With Audience.

Mother love, a lover's love, love of family and pride of birth, with a touch of a politician's love of office, are intertwined in the four-act play, "A Little Mother," from the pen of Lem B. Parker, which was presented to a good house at the grand last evening. The scene is laid in a New England town, and depicts life as one has read it in the news columns during the war. The characters were all well portrayed. That the play is an interesting one was evidenced by the increasing interest displayed by the audience. It was moved from laughter to tears, and from hatred of the work of the unscrupulous rival to love of the grandfather, who in his deep love for his granddaughter and her babe born out of wedlock, brings the child in his arms to his own fireside. In the play is presented for the first time on the stage the problem of the war baby.

One sympathizes with Leroy Bryant, the soldier-lover, who is called with a draft before he can get the consent of the guardian aunt to wed Mary Stevens. Returning three months later they determine to marry, as she is then 18 years old and free from her guardian's authority.

The slacker-lover appears on the scene and through cowardly tricks succeeds in having Bryant called to rejoin his regiment before the ceremony can be performed.

In due time a baby is left with an old lady of the town, and Mary spends the greater portion of her time at that home. This, of course, starts the gossips' tongues, and there is no end of perplexing situations arising.

Milo Stevens, the grandfather of the girl, is aspiring to the office of mayor, and his opponent, Henry Woods, who is the father of the slacker-lover, makes the most of the neighborhood talk. Finally he breaks the news to Milo Stevens that his granddaughter is the mother of the child. This the staunch heart will not believe until Mary reveals it to him.

Overcome with grief he folds Mary to his heart and tells her that she is still the child of his heart.

While the aunt, Martha Stevens, would drive the girl and her child from the house the heart of the grandfather rebels and he asserts his authority. When he carries the child on the stage, wrapped up warmly from the April blasts the audience is completely carried away. Her womanly heart overcoming her deep-seated pride of birth, the aunt immediately bestows on the infant all the affections of a motherly heart.

In the meantime Bryant has been reported "Died of Wounds," and George Woods, the slacker-lover, again appears on the scene and persuades Mary Stevens to consent to marry him for the sake of her family. He promises to take her away from the town and they will live where no one knows them. The soldier-lover arrives home just in time to stop the marriage ceremony.

As Milo Stevens, John Woodford ably depicts the New England gentleman of the old school, and Miss Esther Evans portrays the maiden aunt with a distinction that is admirable. Miss Cecelia Jacques as Mary Stevens portrayed the lover, mother, and wife, in a manner that left nothing to be desired.

Miss Constance Nelson, as Cheery Bash from Wyoming, added a touch of western life in her philosophical outlook. Charles Griener, as Johnny Sevens, produced many laughs with his comedy.

Earl Jamieson, as Bryant, portrayed the part well, while his slacker rival was well pictured by Charles Ohlmeyer.

Harold DeBray, as Henry Woods; Joseph Hanke and Edward Simpson, as elders, and George Clark, as Rev. Boggs, also took their parts well.

The play is being repeated this afternoon and this evening.

NEW IRON TONIC.

One of the latest discoveries in the drug world is Tonal Iron Capsules. This formula is put up in French gelatin and is really the finest nerve and system food in the world today. Practically all nerve foods are put up in pills, but scientists have discovered that pills instead of dissolving in the stomach rest on the linings, causing small ulcers, and very frequently being evacuated whole. Tonal Iron Capsules are soluble. They dissolve a moment after being swallowed and their contents, being in liquid form, are quickly assimilated by affected parts of the system.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

TONAL IRON CAPSULES, The Great Blood Maker, Nerve Tonic and System Builder, have cured others, and they will cure you, if suffering from any of the following: Anaemia (thin or watery blood), Impure Blood, Nervousness, Nerve and Muscle Twitching, Weakness or Palpitation of the Heart, Shortness of Breath, Excitability, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Pain in the Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Vital Weakness in Men, Diseases peculiar to Women, Mental Worry, Cold Extremities, Numbness, Poor Circulation, Lassitude, or any form of Physical Decline. Price $1.00 a box. If your druggist does not carry Tonal Iron Capsules, mail us $1.00 and we will send a box to you.

Story Reveals a Woman's Suffering Under Hand of Husband.

MASTER PRODUCTION

"The Woman Who Gave" a Human Interest Story.

The struggle of an artist's model, who was forced to marry a man whom she detested, and whose beauty was so exploited by her husband that she grew to hate her own charms, is picturized with tremendous dramatic intensity in a great photoplay, "The Woman Who Gave," which will be shown at the Patricia Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with Evelyn Nesbit in the title role.

This is the first of a series of master productions featuring this beautiful and accomplished star. "The Woman Who Gave" tells the story of a woman's sufferings under the hand of her husband, a Bulgarian prince.

How she finally revolts on account of her young son, and how fate intervenes, so that she is permitted to seek her own happiness and live for her son, is developed with unusual cleverness in this unique story.

Miss Nesbit brings to the screen all her compelling personality and the wonderful experience of her stage career, and she is surrounded with everything that helps to make this one of the important productions of the year—a big story—an all-star support and lavish settings.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN "PLAYING FAIR" AT STAR THEATRE

Super De Luxe Photodrama Is Showing on Monday and Tuesday Next.

"Playing Fair," a special super de luxe William Fox photo-drama, in which William Farnum plays the stellar role, will be shown at the Star Theatre on Monday and Tuesday only.

William Farnum as William Armstrong is an American of French descent, and is a successful businessman. He is left an estate consisting of an iron mine in France, and with his sister sets sail for the French village, and takes charge of the business. In the French town live a Marquise, her daughter and son. Armstrong falls in love with the beautiful daughter of the Marquise, but she tells him she is betrothed to her cousin. Later the cousin, learning that the girl has lost her fortune, jilts her and marries another. She then accepts Armstrong, but confesses that she does not love him.

Shortly after his marriage the cousin finds that he is still in love with Armstrong's wife. He inveigles her into a compromising position and is soundly thrashed for his conduct by the American. Stung by the beating, the young Frenchman attempts to shoot Armstrong, and in the struggle he is fatally wounded.

The People Have Their Way!

Numerous medical health officials in Ontario, as well as presidents of Mothers' Clubs and other women's organizations, have constantly appealed to the Canada Food Board to rescind its order of last March, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of wrapped bread in Canada.

The anti-wrapping regulations are now, happily, a thing of the past, and we have pleasure in offering the public a perfect loaf, perfectly wrapped and perfectly sealed.

NEAL'S ALOAFA BREAD

is WORTH wrapping to preserve its original freshness and purity. The waxed paper we use is conceded to be the greatest advance in hygienic food-covering yet produced, and protects the loaf from dust, dirt, soot, germs, soiled hands or any other possible means of contagion.

Try a loaf. You'll find the small extra charge a good outlay for the increased protection afforded by the scientific wrapper. Your grocer or our wagon service will deliver a loaf when you say.
