Four men were taken into custody, a pad showing drawings of the wires, and an instrument were found by the detectives and held for "exhibits" in the evidence.

The prisoners gave their names as follows: — Frank Robinson, A. S. Walsh, L. J. Moran and P. Modorry. Robinson was formerly employed as an operator at St. Thomas and at Ottawa, but the other three belong to Detroit. Each man is said to be a telegrapher, but this is denied by some of the officials, who say that Robinson and Walsh "know the key," but the other two are broken-down touts.

EVANGELISTIC OUTING

At the kind invitation of the session which met recently in the Presbyterian Church at McKay's Corners, a number of the Evangelistic Unions of Chatham paid a gospel visit there last Sunday in two rigs—one supplied by Mr. J. C. Wanless, for which he has their thanks. They had the privilege of attending the regular Sibbath services of the church, and the evening service was entirely in their hands and partook of a revival character. Their service of song, tastimonies and exhortations, especially those from the Salvation Army soldiers, proved interesting and had the closest attention.

AUSTRALIA GETS BACK.

The tariff discrimination that has been declared against sus by the Commonwealth of Australia is much to be regretted, says the Mail and and Empire. Australia is a splendid market, and our business with that portion of the Empire has been growing in recent years. We have sent goods there to a value as high as $2,000,000 in a twelvemonth, and the outlook for even better things has been excellent. Now the Commonwealth, in its new tariff, places us on a high schedule, and our business is in danger of being largely reduced, if not altogether wiped

Not so long since a blunder by the finance Minister and the Minister of Agriculture resulted in our exclusion by tariff from the market of Japan. That mistake has been remedied through the intervention of the Home Government. But another error which has brought a heavy discrimination against us in Germany is still bearing fruit. We cannot export any of our products to the German Empire owing to the heavy levies that are made up. on them. At the same time the United States has favored treatment there, and is doing a rushing business. The farmers and the fruitgrowers of the Republic have practically the monopoly of the German market. In the case of Germany, and in that of Australia, the situa tion so injurious to our trade has been produced by the Act of our Government. When the preferential tariff for Great Ericain was under contemplation the proper course to pursue was the negotiation of a treaty with Garmany in advance of action by us.

That is to say, it would have been wise to have prepared for the new movement by arrangements with the other countries, Germany among them, with which we had treaty obligations that were to be affected by the change. Instead of entering into negotiations with Germany, our Government simply broke the existing treaty, and left it to the Imperial front with buttons and cord loops, and the coat sleeves are also cut in three sections, machine stitching diving a tailored finish. A collar of velvet or contrasting material in tab effect affords neck completion. The straight, gathered skirt is completed with a belt of the replied again, and ruled our products out altogether. The situation, in so far as Germany is concerned, is the result of bad management at this end of the dispute. The Ottawa Government should have negotiated a new treaty before entering into the preferential policy; or, having failed in that regard, it ought to have dealt with the question diplomatically, offering arguments to show, first, that we are justified in favoring our own Empire, and, secondly, that we make no discrimination against countries that are not of the British Empire. If a wise course had been followed the question with Germany would have been speedily settled.

In the Australian case our Government has been inviting discrimination by its treatment of the Commonwealth. While a tariff favor has been given to many British possessions, Australia has been excluding the control of the commonwealth. While a tariff favor has been given to many British possessions, Australia has been excluding the control of the c ed, although that part of the Empire is a very good customer of ours. The exclusion has rankled, and now we have the result. In their tariffmaking the Australians give us a taste of retaliation. The folly of the Ottawa politicians is gradually clos ing markets against us. It is not the principle of British tariff preference that brings about this de plorable situation, but the unwise and undiplomatic way in which it is carried out.

A LAW OF THE DESERT.

treme Measures Are Warranted.

It was in the camp of Bullfrog that Mitchell, the big brick red mining man of Nevada, told me his view of law on the desert:

"If you are prospecting with an unreasonable tog of a partner who wants to eat three slices of bacon and half a loaf of bread for breakfast and lets the canteen gurgle down his throat while you get along with a strip of bacon and just moisten your lips when you take a drink, then you're all right if you kill him. I'd kill him if there wasn't anything else to do. It's a tough game, and it's your life or his when you're lost or your grub stake and water are giving out." and water are giving out."

These observations are suggested by the arrival in camp two days before of the bones of a prospector who had died of thirst some forty miles from Builfrog during the previous summer. He had been a carpenter, earning wages of $8 a day in the previous reasons. wages of $8 a day in the new camps during the "boom," but the gold fever led him away from this safe and profitable toll. He picked up a partner, they loaded their burros and trailed off south toward the Death valley country to prospect in the Funeral

Three weeks after the desert swallowed them up the partner wandered into a freighters' camp, half crazed with thirst and exhaustion. He was able to tell the freighters that the car-penter was somewhere out beyond, lost and without water, too helpless to move. The partner was too weak and fevered to go back with the rescue party of freighters, so they left him in camp. He directed them as well as he could, but the search was bootless, and Griffin, the carpenter of Bullfrog, was added to the long list of desert victims. Several months later a party of prospectors tumbled by chance across what was left of him. There were no traces of his outfit. He had thrown away his gun, his canteen and his hat. One shoe was found thirty feet from his body, and he had torn off and flung away most of his clothing. These were the ghastly evidences of the last great fight he had made to struggle on,

"When they're dying for water," said Mitchell, who knows the "desert game," "they throw away everything until all their clothes are gone, and you generally find them without a stitch on."-Ralph D. Paine in Outing.

Always In Season,

When Hiram Bassett went down on Cape Cod to pay a visit his friends provided him with every sort of fish they could muster, and for five days he was treated to mackerel, halibut, oysters, clams, scallops and many other varieties in the best possible condition.

"Well, Hiram," said his host on the day of Mr. Bassett's return to his home, "I'd like to see what you'll get Hannah to cook for you first thing when you reach home. I reckon you've had fish enough to last you for one

"Pooh!" said Mr. Bassett. "I guess you don't know anything about it. You haven't lived in Massachusetts long enough. Hannah 'll get me the same thing she always does when I've been away from home for a spell—a real good mess o' codfish an' potato hash. That's what Hannah 'il get me."

Zigzag New Yorkers

"Nobody in New York walks straight," said the fault finder. "Watch a score of pedestrians on the sidewalk, and not one of them sticks to a straight path. Those deviations are not always due to the crowded condition of the pavement either. During the rush hours a man either. During the rush hours a man is supposed to dodge this way and that in his efforts to make progress, but when given a clear road there is no excuse for so much sidetracking. Yet, no matter how favorable the conditions, the New Yorker algage just the same. He might have a stretch of sidewalk a block long all to himself. and be perfectly sober, yet in that distance he would veer from curb to stoop line and back again several times."-

An Odd Tug of War. Screw propellers, like most other inventions, had great difficulty in getting recognition from authority. For instance, Sir William Symonds, surveyor and principal designer to the British admiralty, could not be brought to be-lieve in them. He declared that steamships of any sort were "monstrous" and that the screw was impossible. The day came when choice between paddle wheels and screw propellers had to be made. The naval authorities tied two ships stern to stern, and when the screw propelled vessel had tri-umphed over the paddle steamer in umphed over the paddle steamer in this ludicrous tug of war the lords of the admiralty felt justified in model-ing the British navy anew.

"Salthorse said:
"In this first picture we've got a trading schooner in charge of a tug towing away from a rock bound or through a fearful jumble of sea. The schooner's maintop mast is gone, and all sails are lowered except her staysall, which is kept hoisted, though she is towing head on to the gale. Why that hoisted staysail? All hands, I suppose, are drunk.

"In the second picture, continued Captain Salthorse, the principal boat, an eighteen footer, is racing, yet has no flag flying. That's as incorrect as it would be for you to go to a dinner boat are getting in the spinnaker, and, if they lower away, both spinnaker and boom will be in the water, for they have neglected to let the boom go for ward. But I know what the trouble is with them. They, too, are drunk."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

His Visits to the Earl. There is a well known English bishop who writes a very bad hand. This bad hand caused a sad error to happen some years ago. A young clergym about a vacant curacy, and the reply that the young man got informed him that the salary was small and the work difficult. But there was one mitigating circumstance. The incumbent, among his other duties, would visit the earl his other duties, would visit the earievery morning and spend two hours there. The curate would have rejected the post but for the daily visit to the earl. That attracted him. There would, no doubt, he told himself, be many fashionable dinners to which he would naturally be invited. He would make many friends among the rich and powerful. These triends would be able to help him in his career. The earl, perhaps, had daughters. One of them—who knows?—stranger things had happened. And so the curate accepted the difficult and poorly paid curacy to discover on his first visit to the town that he had misread the bishop's letter and that his daily two hours' visit was not to the earl, but to the jail.

Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, lastbad of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Elllingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. "" It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachilit is a most efficient proparation of stomachilit is a most efficient proparation of stomachilit is a most efficient proparation of the faulient variety, and in ertain forms of chronic constipation, and excessive gastric acidly. It is useful in a chronic intestinal dyspectate, especially the faulient variety, and imministing the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hoot Horstity of Pa.; Prof. Laurence and Disparament. University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence and Disparament. M. D., Wedical Department H. Ottawa, Sept. 1—Weddell & Co., London, Eng., importers of dairy products, in a communication to the Trade and Commerce Department, pay a high tribute to the value of Canada's cheese. In their review of the last fiscal year they say that cheese on the British workingman's table was being displaced by frozen mutton and beef until the Chicago, disclosures came, which had the effect of driving the people back to cheese, of which all other countries and colonies combined contributed only 33,000 tons. The quality of Canadian cheese last year was improved. Ottawa, Sept. 1-Weddell & Co., Lon-

Lord Chancellor and Motorists.

Sitting in the Court of Appeal at the law courts, and giving judgment in a matter which arose out of personal injuries inflicted on a cyclist by a motor-car, the Lord Chancellor said it was desirable that drivers of motor-cars, as well as of other vehicles, should realize a that not only able-bodied people, but deaf, blind and nervous people, decreptit, old people and children, were quite as much entitled to the use of the King's highway as they, and that if anyone thought proper so to drive that there was no chance left of averting serious consequences, and a mistake of judgment or miscalculation be made by a wayfarer, the driver would have to pay for it in damages.

NO. 10. MASTER MINDS ON MUSIC

The man that has no music in Being the roth of a series of ten talks introducing sayings of great men, applicable to the Nordheimer Piano, the symbol to perfect music.

Interman that has no music in himself,
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils

In this last of our series of what the master writers have said about music we have quoted the familiar words of the greatest English poet. Many times Shakespeare has credited music with being the greateat of arts, and in his day music had not reached the summit of its magnificence that it has today with such instruments as

THE NORDHEIMER PIANO

The "concord of sweet sounds" is but another name for the NORDHEIMER TONE, only the concord is ismore perfect than can be realized in any other instrument, for the Nordheimer is now accepted by the Canadian people almost as a whole as the leader. Certainly it is the favorite among the most refined music lovers.

The Record

By MARGARET MUZZEY

Copuright, 1906, by P. C. Easts

midsummer golf tournament was about to begin at the Maston Country club. A handsome cup had been given to the president of the club to be played for by all the members, and a crescent pin set with pearls was put up especially for the ladies by "Millionaire Miller," a rich old bache-

Tom Price, aged sixteen, had de-clined to enter for the tournament. He stood no chance of winning without a big handicap and despised that sort of victory. If he were able to play scratch like Mr. Sloan—but that play scratch like Mr. Sloan—but that contingency was too far in the future to be considered. So, holding aloof from competition, Tom felt entitled to Indulge in disinterested criticism. Joe Smith, instructor for the club, was his chosen confidant,

"Mr.—Mr. Sloan ought to get the cup. He—he has bo-bogied the course

"He is a crackerjack," said Joe.
"Who goes around with Mi-Miss Benson—I mean to ve-verify her score?" "I'd send Mr. Sloan if he were not playing himself," said Joe, with a wink.

"He—he wouldn't believe his eyes if he saw her tricks. It is a bloo-bloom-and after Sloan made a practice would not dare li-lie about her score."

"The very thing!" Joe exclaimed.
The clubhouse piazza was crowded with guests to see the players in the tournament drive. The "game with no age limit" included child rising against parent and grandchild against.

grandparent. The first to drive was Millionaire The first to drive was Millonaire Miller. He took plenty of time to arrange his knees, shoulders, elbows, wrists, hands and fingers, gave his body a mighty twist and, as if boring body a mighty twist and, as if boring for oil with the fees of his right foot, swung his club hissing through the air. The spectators were breathless. Shading his eye with one hand, Miller strained eagerly forward.
"I didn't follow through," he said excitedly. "Where did it go?"
"I see it, sir," said the caddy, surreptitioning picking im the hall a foot citedly. "Where did it go?"

"I see it, sir," said the caddy, surreptitiously picking up the ball a foot from the tee to find it 175 yards away. He understood his business. He was Miller's favorite caddy.

Pretty Mary Benson came next, looking the picture of innocent girlhood in white linen, the pulled up sleeves showing her piump arms below the elbow. "Mr. Morse, the earnest little curate, was delighted to keep her score and fellowed along, talking eagerly in his high pitched voice.

Tom had brought his huge concert hall graphophone to the clubhouse and set it up in one corner of the parlor to play band music for an impromptu dance in the evening, and he came out on to the plazza just as Mary Benson was about to drive; then he cut across the links on a run and when she and Morse reached the third tee was, to all human appearance, looking for a lost ball some distance off the course.

"Third" was a bad place to drive from, with the brook at the bottom of a sharp incline not fifty yards ahead, and Mary sent her ball—where? The caddy looked in the long grass at one side, and the curate, who admired her beauty, and Tom, who did not admire her at all, looked at Mary. She poked among the stones by the brook with her driver for a minute; then, glancing at Morse, who was apparently adding at Morse, who was apparently adding the score, but really watching her from the corner of his eye, she stooped over, and a ball emerged from the pull above her left elbow.

"Here it is," she called, and, sure enough, there it was on a little flat

"An easy lie," thought Tom, "in two

At that moment Mr. Morse had a surprising accident. He started toward Mary, stumbled at the top of the bank and, unable to stop himself, ran straight into her with such force that they were both hustled into the brook up to their knees and were spattered with muddy water to the tops of their heads. Tom rolled over behind the bushes in an ecstasy of delight.

"By—by jingo! That parson will be an ar-ar-archdeacon yet," he said.

Half an hour later Tom climbed in at the rear window of the clubhouse parlor. He had composed some verses that he meant to record in his graphophone and spring on the company later. He adjusted the blank cylinder, recorder and small horn and was about to repeat them when in walked the Rev. Mr. Morse looking like an evolution from a rummage sale in garments has tily snatched from various lockers. He laughed ruefully. "I suppose you saw what happened?"

he said.
"Wouldn't have missed it for a di-diamond sunburst.' "You did not see anything peculiar, of course, except the accident?" asked Morse anxiously.

"One accident—two de-designs," said

Tom promptly.
The curate groaned. "I simply had to throw her out of the game some way. I could not counte-nance her score and had not the courage to expose her deceit before so many

"It was grand," said Tom. "If she's the sli-sli"—
"She certainly is sly," interrupted the

"I shan't say a word, but he ought to know. He might marry her and fi-fi-find out afterward." "She will never marry him," said

Morse.

"He—he thinks she will," said Tom.
"I started to tease her about him, and she made fun of him—imitated his slow way of speaking. A girl may disclaim or protest about a man she really cares for, but ridicule—never! Besides, she gave me to understand she is en-gaged to Mr. Miller. Here comes Sloan. I do not wish to meet him just now." And the curate escaped from the window.

The handsome young athlete found
Tom fussing over his graphophone, taking off the small horn and putting on the big "morning glory." "Who won the ladies' pin?" he asked.

"Your grandmother," said Sloan, laughing.

"My wh-what?"
"She had a handicap of forty-five on the nine holes and came out ahead of Miss Brown, the English girl, who played the whole course in forty-five."

The crowd on the plazza was cheering and calling for Sloan to present him with the cup which he had won.
"Bring me a drink, Tom, will you? I am choking with thirst and must go outside a minute," said Sloan, throw-ing himself on the divan.

isn't square."

"Round girls are prettier," said Joe.
"It is no joke. Something ought to be—be done. Listen. Why not send the cu-cu-curate around with her? He would not dare li-lie about her score."

"The very thing!" Ico.

When Tom returned the room was empty. Sloan had avoided them all, cutting across the fields to town, and neither Tom nor any of his fellow golfers saw him again until he returned from Europe a year later after Miss Benson was married to Millionaire Mil-

"You zee, sur," he said, "when they would ha' they, they wouldn't ha' they. Now they would ha' they, they won't ha' they."

A Curious Epitaph.
One frequently comes across curious pitaphs, but we have never before leard of that useful and necessary sitchen requisite, the "dripping pan," injuring upon a tombstone. The following curious lines, however, are to be found in Wooditton churchyard, near Newmarket, and let mot the head of the stone is a dripping pan:

Whirled Round Like Top.

Brockville, Sept. 1.—A boy named Coughlin, aged eight years, narrowly escaped being killed here yesterday. In escaped being kited nere yesterlay. In attempting to board a rig his right leg was caught in the spokes of the wheel and mangled to such an extent that lit-tle hope is entertained of saving it. He was whirled around like a top before the attention of the driver was directed to his cries.

No man likes to be surprised by men of his own level.

"Reboux" Vell New and Striking Sleeve Vagaries—Peke Bonnets. The reboux veil is fresh from Paris and is very striking. It is a bright colored dotted veil edged with a two inch plaiting and so draped over the hat that the upper plaiting is turned down to fall an inch or two below the hat brim, while the lower one comes just above the shoulder line. The new sleeves are very full at the top, and an important item to consider is the shortening of the shoulder seam, for nothing more ungainly can be imagined than a full puffed or gathered sleeve combined with a shoulder seam falling off the shoulder. The thin person looks thinner because of the sink-ing in where the sleeve joins the walst or coat and the stout person stouter because of the excessive depth and the fullness of the stout figure at that point. Thus the defects of both are emphasized.

LOW NECKED WAIST.

Children are wearing the most bewitching poke bonnets of lacy straw, trimmed with large, flapping bows. It is a relief to see that the heat producing strings are absent, the hat being held in place by a broad elastic.

R. L. BORDEN SPEAKS OUT

At Conservative Labor Day Gathering At Sydney C. B.

ATTACKS GOVERNMENT

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 4.—Graham Fra-ser, the steel magnate, threw open his ser, the steel magnate, threw open his grounds yesterday and several thousand Conservatives, men, women and children, roamed at will over the vast estate. The forenoon was devoted to sports of various kinds and from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 5 there were political speeches by R. L. Borden, M. P., and other prominent leaders of the Conservative party. Mayor McCormick of Sydney Mines presided.

Mr. Borden spoke from the broad verandah which encircles the Fraser residence. Some seven hundred Con-residence. Some seven hundred Con-servative voters stood before him, eag-er to hear and quick to applaud the speech. Beyond, within sight of the speaker, was a patch of the sea. Mr. Borden began as follows: Great Question.

Great Question.

"The last occasion on which I addressed a Cape Breton audience was immediately before the general elections of 1904. A great question of policy was in issue at that time. We believed then and we still believe that the extension of the I. C. R. to the Georgian Bay and the construction of the new national transcontinental railway as a Government work would have served Government work would have served the Interests of the people of Canada infinitely better than the scheme which has been proposed by the Government infinitely better than the scheme which has been proposed by the Government and ratified by Parliament.

"The issue for the time being was decided against us. The contract with the Grand Trunk Pacific Co. became an accomplished fact and the country must in honor abide by it so long as the other contracting party fairly fulfils its obligations,
"But consider what the ownership of

They and not the capitalists and speculators, would in that case have shared and enjoyed the tremendous increment in value in the road from Winnipeg to the coast, which must ensue from the enormous development of the west. To that increment in value the country was justly entitled, because it is almost on the credit of Canada that the capital for the construction of that road is now being provided under the guarantee of the people of this country. The people well realize the loss more fully when a hundred millions of common stock in the Grand Trunk Pacific and its subsidiary companies sell at 200, although they will not represent one dollar of actual cash invested."

Mr. Borden denounced election frauds and recalled the graft and extravagance of the Laurier Government, including the supplies for the Montcalm and the notorious Arctic.

notorious Arctic. Mr. Tanner spoke briefly on provincial matters and was followed by R. H. Butts and J. W. Madden,

In late years men have made fortunes out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large, percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp-mill in this respect that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutriment contained in the food. That loss, when continuous, means the loss of man's greatest fortune — health. Science offers a remedy for this pondition n Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, it corrects the weakness of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutriment contained in the food which is eaten. KILLS CATARRHAL GERMS

Hyomei's Healing Air Reaches Every Part of Nose, Throat and Lungs.
Hyomei is the only scientific and thorough way to cure catarrh. Stomach dosing does not reach the catarrhal germs in the air passages and cannot possibly drive them from the system. By breathing air medicated with Hyomei the germs in the nose, throat and lungs are killed and all traces of catarrhal poison are effectually driven out.

Some people may think that Hyomei is simply for catarrh of the head and throat, but it is equally effective in catarrh of the stomach, it is remained in the missing their uncle, Mr. Cyderman.

Geo. Watts has shipped a carload of fine horses to the east.

Some people may think that Hyomei is simply for catarrhal germs are in the mucous membrane and Hyomei not only kills the germs in the air passages, but enters the blood with the exygen, thus killing the germs in the blood and freeing the whole system from catarrh.

Hyomei is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. A complete outflet costs but $1.00, extra bottles 50c.

For safe by all dealers. The R. T. Booth Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILL DELAY ELECTION

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 4 .- The Fielding election case counsel were heard in arguments on the question as to whether the election judges should send their certificate and report to the Speaker of the House of Commons or to the Supreme Court of Canada, to which the TRADE MARK RECISTERED.

of the House of Commons or to the Supreme Court of Canada, to which the present petitioner has taken an appeal on the ruling of the court respecting evidence tendered by the petitioner as to personal charges against respondent.

The judges have just filed their opinions and disagree on the point, the chief justice holding that there beging no appeal from the decision declaring the election void, the certificate and report should go to the Speaker, but Judge Russell holds that under the wording of the statute any appeal on any appealable matter arising during the trial requires the trial judges to report to the Court of Appeal.

It is said that the judges, though thus disagreeing in opinion will unite in a report to the Supreme Court of Canada, and consequently no election can be held in Sheburne-Queen's until the appeal on the personal charges against mr. Fielding are passed upon by the highest court in the Dominion.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—"From the evidence in my possession, the collapse of the Real Estate Trust Co. appears to be the result of stupendous looting. I intend to proceed to the limit against the persons liable."

This statement was made by District Attorney Bell, after a day spent in examining the evidence handed to him by Receiver Earle of the defanct Trust company.

That Frank K. Hipple, the suicide president of the institution, was not alone responsible for the crash, both Receiver Earle and District Attorney Bell are satisfied, and arrests may be locked for at any time.
