Desireous of making Choice, delicious Pickles, Catsup, and Sauces will do well to let us supply their Spice requirements.

Half the Battle

In getting Good results for your labor depend on the quality of the Spices, Preservatives, Corks, etc. you use.

The most tried and excellent Receipts, even when strictly followed, fail to gain the pleasant, full flavored product you anticipated, simply because your spice ingredients were of inferior quality, old stock. We use the utmost care in selecting our spices. A few cents a pound never keep us from buying the best. We store and keep our spices carefully, so as to retain their strength and flavor.

Letters from the Front

Letters from Our Boys Who Are Fighting for Us

Witley Camp, July 28, 1918.

Dear Friend,—
Just a few lines to let you know I am quite well. I was glad to hear that you are making so much money, as that kind of stuff is very scarce with me. We don't get very much, $15 per month, and that won't buy very much, anyway. I never felt better in all my life, the climate is dandy. We are having lots of rain at present, in fact it has been raining every day this month.

The crops over here are dandy, wheat, oats and rye look fine. They have not started yet to do their harvesting, but it has been so wet they can't get on the ground.

I see by your letter of July 4th (which reached me July 24th, it made good time) that Russell is married. Tell him I wish him all kinds of luck.

I have not seen any of the old Waterdown boys yet. I am the only one left in the C. A. S. C. that belongs to the 129th Battalion, but I saw Bill Chisman last Sunday, he had been up to Scotland on leave; he is very thin. I would give you his address, but I don't know exactly where he is. He is in Witley Camp not far from me and I am going over some night next week to see him and I will let you know later.

Now, I don't know of any more news to tell you. Everything is fine and dandy, lots to eat and drink, but very dear, but I see that things are very dear in Canada, also.

Give my best to all your brothers and sisters, and wishing you all a prosperous year, I remain, your old side kick,

J. A. SIMMONS.

The following articles are taken from a Canadian Battalion paper published "Somewhere in France."

THE MULE

This animal was born in Kentucky and was never educated. He was conscripted to do his "bit." On the voyage across the Atlantic the captain thought the ship had been torpedoed, but found out that the mule had simply been using his feet. For this the captain awarded him the Order of the Pick Handle.

His stubborn nature brings him no friends, and his small feet have caused several men to figure in the casualty lists. He is a good worker at times, but when a shell lights handy he believes in "Standing Steady." The dressing station will probably hear from him again.

THE LOUSE

Little or no credit has been given this unwelcome visitor to camp for the prominent part it has taken in winning this great war. It is a well known fact that disease amongst the enemy's troops has been caused by its presence there. It no doubt has caused our troops a great deal of inconvenience at times.

It was born in a seam which is on the south side of the underwear; educated at the Armpit College and specializes in the new art of crawling with a tickle. Being of a roving disposition he left home when quite young. Little is known of his ancestors, except that, having been forced out of the Ark by Noah, they made shore in a Ford.

He is small, but very active, and pursues his business on energetic lines. His photo may be found in any art gallery, and his footprints on any soldier's back.

For the good work he has done in keeping up the movement of the soldiers he has been awarded many decorations, including the Order of the Bath and the Order of Creoline. He is married and has a large family.

WEARING APPAREL

A young lady writing to her friend complained of the high cost of wearing apparel, and received the following answer:

My Dear Doris,—I am not surprised to learn the amount of your dress-maker's bill. Women's clothes are high these days and no doubt will be higher if present styles remain in favor. But don't you think the Scotch are responsible for the shortage of clothes. Yours, etc.,—

THE CALL OF THE MAPLE

As you sit in the semi-darkness,
In the evening, after tea,
You can hear, if you'll only listen,
The call of the maple tree.

As the breezes sing through the branches,
And go rustling through the leaves,
You must listen very closely,
While the maple her story weaves.

"We have overlooked the battlefields,
Where your fathers fought the fight,
Where they gave their lives so freely,
For their freedom and the right.

"We saw the glorious victory won,
On the plains of Abraham,
When Wolfe had gained the plains above,
And his army faced Montcalm.

"We witnessed all the battles
That were fought against the Yanks,
And the bravery of the Canadians,
Has pleased the greatest cranks.

"And now when war again is rife,
Though in a foreign land,
The British must uphold the right,
So Canada lends a hand.

"So our lads have gone to Flanders,
And are fighting till the last,
While the martyred mother knits and smiles,
Though the tears are falling fast.

"She would not keep her boy at home,
Though only a mother can know
The cost of saying that last farewell
And smilingly bidding him go.

"Yes, yes, we have given the best of our boys
To go to win this war,
But this is not all that we can do—
Our country calls for more.

"The allies have put their trust in us,
And if we are loyal at all,
We will lend a hand, and help at home
To answer the maple's call.

"The maple is calling for new recruits
To go and work on the farm,
To take the place of the farmers' sons
Who have died on the Aisne and the Marne.

"And those who cannot go on the farm
There is work that you can do;
You can give over raising flowers
Of every shade and hue.

"And spend your spare time gardening,
And working the lots nearby—
We can double our garden produce
If we only care to try."

So list to the call of the maple,
In the quiet after tea,
And help to raise the food supplies
That shall keep our nation free.
—Florence R. Bernhardt,
Walkerville, Ont.

A lady visitor to our town the other day remarked that she was greatly pleased with Waterdown and its surroundings. There was one thing she disliked very much, and that was the quantity of weeds that adorn our streets. She thought our Council should have them cut down. This lady is seriously thinking of coming here to reside.

Carlisle Garden Party

Second Annual Patriotic Garden Party will be Big Success

Carlisle's Second Annual Patriotic Garden Party will be held on Monday, September 2nd, and promises to be a grand affair.

The most interesting afternoon sports will be baseball games between the Colored Stars, of Hamilton, and Campbellville, Kilbride and Carlisle teams.

The evening program will consist of entertainment by Mr. Cowan and Miss Carton, of Toronto; the Golden Jubilee Colored Quartette, of Hamilton, and addresses by Rev. Banks Nelson and several returned soldiers, after which the award in the "Most Patriotic Village" contest will be made. The winning village in this contest will be presented with a handsome, large flag. The young ladies who are representing the contesting villages are Miss Jonnie Cummins, Millgrove; Miss Irene McArthur, Kilbride; Miss Dorothy Gartley, Freeton, and Miss Mabel Buchan, Waterdown.

Rev. Morrow is chairman of the day and Chas. A. Newell, of the Dundas Star reportorial staff, secretary.

Ryckman Funeral

The funeral of five-year-old Charlie Ryckman, son of Alfred and Mrs. Ryckman, Hamilton Road, who was crushed beneath a wagon load of gravel last week, took place last Sunday, interment being in the Union Cemetery here.

It was a largely attended funeral and the large amount of flowers from his many friends were evidence of the little fellow's popularity.

Those who paid their last respects to their little friend with so many beautiful flowers were Mr. and Mrs. Deans, Ruby and Walter Deans, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. O. Blain and family, Mrs. Fred Bolton, Ed. and M. Hammill, Mr. Norman King, Grandfather and Grandmother, Aunt Carrie, Aunt Ada, Gertie and Eva, Audrey, Grace J. and brothers Laverne and Elmer and sister Lena.

MOTORISTS HAVE RIGHT OF WAY

The Municipal World gives particulars of a case of interest to automobilists. It says a horse drawn vehicle must turn to the right of a beaten path or roadway and permit a motor car coming from behind to pass. Failure to do so makes the driver of the former vehicle guilty of negligence, in the opinion of a jury composed of farmers at Woodstock. This verdict was reached after a trial lasting three days. Mrs. Florence Reid filed suit against Lant Stevens, demanding $5,000 damages for personal injuries received in a runaway, caused as she averred when Stevens drove his car into her buggy when she ignored the repeated signal to turn out and give half the road. As Stevens drove past the buggy the car collided with the wheels of the former vehicle, the crash frightening the horse, which ran away, throwing the occupants of the buggy out. Mrs. Reid received injuries which she claims permanent. After a hard fought trial the jury decided in favor of the defendant, claiming that the plaintiff was negligent in not surrendering one half of the road. The decision establishes an important precedent, and one that will be of interest to every driver, whether of a motor car or a horse drawn vehicle.

THE BEST COFFEE.

How to Make It for the Finest Results.

Epicures, in love with trouble, and counting a palate-thrill worth any amount of pains, are advised that absolutely perfect coffee demands that there shall be no pause betwixt the roasting and the drinking.

That is to say, writes Martha McCulloch-Williams in Southern Woman's Magazine the bean, roasted a warm, delicious deep brown, and crackly-crisp all through, must be ground while piping hot, put into clean, newly-scalded pot, covered instantly with freshly boiling water, permitted to boil up once—say for half a minute then set aside to keep hot and settle for the space of 10.

The pot lid must be down tight, the spout closed with a wisp of soft paper or cotton. Pour into cups that have been filled with boiling water and let stand five minutes. There should, be either Domino sugar or rock-candy crystals at the bottom of the cups. It sounds incredible, but is none the less a fact, that coffee poured upon the sugar has a finer flavor and aroma than if the sugar is dropped in afterward. The reason may be that the sugar takes up the essential oil of the bean, which is extremely volatile. I do not know anything beyond the fact—which is attested by years of ardent coffee drinking. And though I have not gone to the trouble of roasting coffee, grinding it hot each time, I have taken to heart the lesson of the sugar, and, invariably, at my own table, put it in the cup before the coffee.

Coffee, common or breakfast variety demands four things. Namely, sound well-roasted coffee, reasonably freshly ground, a clean pot, fresh water and proper boiling. A level tablespoonful to the cup of water, with one over for the pot makes fairly strong coffee. If wanted very strong, heap the spoonful, and be sure not to exceed in water. It is best made very strong where hot milk is used—otherwise the resultant drink will be washy. Cream, moderately used, goes well with weaker coffee. But that which is very weak, or over-bolled, or not boiled at all, can by no doctoring ever be made into a drink fit for right human beings.

It is a crime against one of God's best mercies to clear coffee with eggs, egg shells, isinglass and so forth. It will clear itself beautifully, given half a chance. Use cold water, and after measuring set the pot where it will be 15 minutes in coming to the boil. Take care it does not boil over—nor longer than two minutes. After that, set it where it will keep boiling hot, but without simmering, for 10 minutes. The grounds will settle of their own motion, and the resultant liquid be jewel-clear, of a pure amber-brown. Any sort of coffee is better if poured into the cups from the pot it was made in—because at each decanting something of flavor escapes. Herein, I think, lies in part the reason for regarding drip coffee as better than boiled.

Some Things in Iceland.

Iceland is far from being a dreary waste, for it exports large quantities of the finest grade of wool in the world, besides quantities of hides, sheepskins, feathers, oil, fish and fish products and, curiously enough, many horses. The island has several natural resources that have never been developed, among them great sulphur deposits. One of them contains not less than 250,000 tons of practically pure sulphur. There are extensive deposits of copper ore. This, while of a low grade, could be worked at a huge profit, since the water power is unlimited and always at hand wherever the copper is found. There are also large deposits of geysers, which is equal to the best Arkansas hotspots. In addition there are several sections rich in agates and chalcodony, which are widely used in making jewels for the bearings of watches and electrical instruments. None of them has ever been worked.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in homes where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if these troubles come suddenly, the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE NEW HATS.

Latest Modes From Fashion's Centres.

Perhaps the most distinctive of the new hats is the wide-brimmed sun hat, a style that is particularly becoming to the young girl. Wider in front, the brim of white linen is bound with linen of cherry red. The crown, also of white shirred linen, has upon it flat cherries on applique, cut from linen of the same bright hue; round the bottom of the crown is a narrow band of velvet ribbon the same shade of green as the hat. The brim is of the mushroom type, also bound with velvet, and lined underneath with georgette.

Satin, again, is the material that is used to make a chapeau of a distinctly military type, and it is not unlike that worn by the French gendarme who used to greet the English boat when it arrived. Calais, too, is the rage woman it is very becoming, the brim inclining as it does softly over the face, and the lines that are formed when viewed from the side quite common.

First Glass in America.

Glass was first manufactured in America by the people of Jamestown, Va., during the year 1655. Commenting on this fact, John Smith lamented that "the labor of the colony has been misdirected in the manufacture of ashes, soap, glass and tar, in which they could by no means compete with Sweden or Russia." The inhabitants of Jamestown did not agree with this view, however, and soon afterward commenced the erection of a glass works, the completion of which was interrupted by the Indian massacre of 1622. The first glass factory in North America to attempt the industry on an ambitious scale was built in 1786 at Temple, N. H., by Robert Hewes of Boston.

The workmen, 22 in number, were German deserters from the British army. The carelessness of a workman caused the destruction of the plant by fire in 1781. In 1882 a glass factory was established in Boston and since that time the industry has flourished.—Exchange.

Queer Names of Flowers.

The names of some of our prettiest flowers are so queer that they seem amusing to us. Nasturtium, for example, comes from the Latin word meaning "twisted nose." Verbena is from the Latin for "twig," and lavender is derived from the Latin word lavare, to wash and is really the same word as "laundry." Lavender probably got its name because it is put away with newly washed clothes.

Cornflower undoubtedly gets its name because it grows among the rows of corn. Goldlocks looks like a little yellow head. Honeysuckle is one of the sweetest blossoms and one of the easiest from which bees get their honey.

Anemone is our "wind flower." Its name comes from the Latin word anemos, which means "wind," and the anemos, is really a wind flower, growing best in exposed, windy places. Orchid is named for the Greek word orchis, which means "bag." Orchids always have curious little bags.—Kansas City Star.

Canadian Masons In England

H. S. Carmichael, Passenger and Freight Manager of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, was installed W. M. of the Canada Lodge at the installation banquet held recently in London, England, attended by the Rt. Hon. Sir Edward Clarke, Sir Gilbert Parker, General J. G. Ross and many other Canadians and English representative men interested in Canada.

The Canada Lodge No. 3527 on the Register of the United Grand Lodge of England was founded in 1911, in order to provide a Masonic centre for Canadians resident in Great Britain and Brethren from the Dominion visiting the Old Country. The object of the founders was also to form a bond of union between the Brethren of the Dominion and the Brethren of the United Kingdom in the strong hope and confidence that Freemasonry might so even still further assist in the great work of forming these bonds of "indissoluble attachment" which shall forever unite the component parts of the British Empire. The Lodge has now 282 members, many of whom are Dominion members resident in all parts of Canada. No fewer than 150 are initiates of the Lodge, 205 members of the Lodge are on active service in H. M. Forces.

H. S. CARMICHAEL, W. M.

Mr. Hugh Strain Carmichael, the newly-elected W. M. of Canada Lodge, is a native of Glasgow. He has been connected with the Transatlantic steamship trade since 1888, when he joined the staff of the State Line, which in 1891 was taken over by the Allan Line. In 1895 he commenced his long connection with the Canadian Pacific Company at Glasgow, transferring to its Liverpool office in 1902, when the company established its transatlantic passenger service. In 1903 he was promoted to be general passenger agent for Great Britain and Europe. Since the establishment, in 1915-16, of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Ltd., which manages the entire fleet of the C. P. R. and Allan Lines, Mr. Carmichael has occupied the position of passenger and freight manager, and has his headquarters at Waterloo Place, London, England.

Collectors of Prizes.

Two Irishmen, who had been boys together in the same village, did not see each other for several years, but finally met again.

"You remember my brother Michael?" said Pat. "He's turned out a fine athlete and has just won a gold medal for a 100-yard sprint."

"Good for him," replied Dennis, but, to your mind my uncle Maguire at Ballybentley?"

Pat was quite sure that he had never heard of him. "Well," resumed Dennis, "he's got gold medals for a half a mile, five miles and ten miles; three silver cups for swimming, a marble clock for wrestling, two silver belts for boxing and a heap of prizes for cycling."

"Shure, he's the champion athlete, indeed," said Pat, with enthusiasm. "Not at all!" not at all!" exclaimed Dennis. "He keeps the local pawnshop."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

PERFORATION OF STAMPS.

The perforation of stamps was first commenced in England in 1853 for receipt and draft stamps, and for postage stamps in 1854. Prior to that period stamps were separated by means of scissors or a knife or similar means and in some cases those who required many separated to the use of a roulette, a kind of cogwheel furnished with small cutters, making a series of cuts between the stamps.

Your Children at Table.

Teach them these manners in your would have them well bred: Not to take their seats at table until the grown ups do. To keep elbows off the table and feet off rungs of the chairs. Not to tip their chairs back nor sit with legs twisted around them. To be just as polite at home as abroad. To eat soup without a noise, moving the spoon away from instead of toward one. To break off and butter a piece of bread only large enough to make a bite, instead of buttering the whole slice. Never to talk with food in the mouth. If obliged to cough or sneeze, to turn the head away from the table. To place the knife and fork side by side on the centre of the plate when finished. Not forgetting to neatly fold the napkin. This seems like a long list, but by taking a few points at a time, as each point becomes a fixed habit, all effort ceases. Remember, really graceful table manners will never be accomplished unless begun in childhood. Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff. You never can tell. Dream Leave.

When the night is hushed and still, To the mothers wrapped in dream, Down the valley, round the hill, Through the heath, across the stream, Come the sixfoot fighting men Laughing little boys again. They have set away their swords, They have laid their belts aside; For an hour the battles cease, Go without their garb of pride, Lead their kay patrols no more, Kid them of the dust of war.

In the grass the sands run back, Backward spin the creeing years Down the dim and shadowy track, Through the wood of smiles and tears, To where boyhood bold and blithe Hides from Time his hungry scythe.

Youth her empire reaffirms, Bramble-torn about the knee, Grubby-handed gathering worms, Green and sticky climbing trees; Boyhood with its brown legs bare Takes the kiss of sun and air.

Up the stairs of old they crowd, Answering the mother-call, Merry sleep and laughing loud, Ringing back from roof and wall, While the mother hearts awake To the music that they make.

And the trophies that they bring! Not the spoil of any foe, But the bird with broken wing, Or a may-bough drooping snow; Or a wound to be made well Where some proud young climber fell.

Ah! the bugles blow them back, Long before the East is red, To adventure and attack, Round their sleeping brother-dead; Belt and sword they bind again, Boys no more, but fighting men. —W. H. O., in the Scotsman, Edinburgh.

ALLIED AIRMEN BOMB DARMSTADT

Four Killed, Many Injured,
Much Damage.

Huns Bomb Several French Towns.

London Cable.—The City of Darmstadt, capital of the Grand Duchy of Hesse, in Western Germany, was attacked by allied airmen Friday morning, according to an exchange Telegram despatch from Amsterdam. Four persons were killed and many injured as a result of the bombardment and considerable property damage is reported. The allied air squadron lost four machines.

A German War Office announcement issued on Saturday from Berlin says: "Our chaser airplanes shot down four large English battle planes that attacked Darmstadt with bombs."

FIVE FOE PLANES DOWNED.
London Cable.—The following official communication dealing with aviation was issued tonight:

"There was no feature of special interest in our air work on Aug. 17. The enemy's aircraft were inactive. We destroyed five German machines and a balloon. Three of our machines are missing.

"Thirteen tons of bombs were dropped by us during the day. Low clouds, rain and a high wind prevented any aerial operations being carried out at night."

FRENCH AIRMEN ACTIVE.

Paris Cable.—Eight enemy airplanes have been downed or put out of action and three captive balloons set afire. Our bombing machines in the night of Aug. 17-18 dropped seven tons of explosives on the railroad stations at Hazencourt and Arras.

It is confirmed that on Aug. 8 Second-Lieut. Boyau downed his thirteen enemy plane.

GERMANS BOMB FRENCH TOWNS.

Paris Cable.—German bombing squadrons have been very active in bombarding towns behind the front during the past two days. There were numerous raids on Rouen, where six people were killed and five wounded. The German Gothas flew as far as Havre, where no one was killed and no damage done. Two consecutive raids on Vernon caused only material damage.

Several warnings were given at Dunkirk and Calais during the period. At Calais some fifty heavy bombs were dropped on Friday night.

Simple and Sure—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub, and when used as a dressing, to apply. The directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by young or old.

TEUTON RULER IS INDEPENDENT

Carl of Austria to Name an Anti-Hun Premier.

Plan for Confederation Opposed by Germans.

Paris Cable.—The Czech newspaper in Prague says it is rumored that Emperor Charles has decided to create a commission to study the project of radically reforming the Austrian constitution, with a view to transforming the dual monarchy into a confederation of autonomous states, comprising the Czech kingdom, Austria, Bohemia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

The newspaper adds that the working out of this plan is to be entrusted to a new Cabinet, of which Prof. Lammasch, a noted pacifist with whom Charles separated at the first meeting of the two Emperors several months ago, is to be the head.

The Stuttgart Tageblatt reproduces this information with some reserve, and observes that the choice of Lammasch, whose antipathy to things German is notorious, appears improbable under present circumstances.

The Handels-Länder Zeitung, commenting on these rumors, says that a Cabinet formed by Lammasch would be exposed to the opposition of all German parties. The paper says these alleged plans are part of an Austrian intrigue against Germany's plan regarding Poland.

Paris critics are inclined to believe that in view of the German defeat in the west, Charles has become more independent of the German Kaiser.

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

ONTARIO FLIER'S DEATH.

London, Cable.—Reuter Despatch.—A verdict of accidental death has been returned as a result of the inquest into the death of Lieut. John Fredrick Meek, of Port Talbot, Ont., who fell into the sea from a height of several thousand feet while flying off the coast. An officer swam to the wrecked machine and found it partly submerged, with the lieutenant strapped to his seat, dead.

TANKS IMPRESS THE CANADIANS

Wounded in Hospitals Delighted With Their Work.

Stories Told by Several of the Men.

London Cable.—The Canadian hospital now commanded by Col. Perry Goldsmith has received nearly 200 Canadian patients, seventy-five per cent being merely flesh wounds, some, of course, will take some time in healing, but none is really serious.

The most striking impression that the new arrivals brought with them was the wonderful part played by the tanks. These engines, for one thing, drew the fire of the machine guns, which invariably is the biggest hindrance to the infantry's swift advance. There was no delay this time, however, several Canadians who were riding tanks were encountered.

S. T. Hawkes, of Golden, B.C., who holds the D.C.M., went forward in this fashion until a morsel of high explosive finished his advance. One of his brothers went down in a submarine. Another is back in Canada with shell shock. A third, who came with the first division, has never been hit or sick.

Pte. A. F. Chambers, of St. Thomas, went nine miles up the German line before he got hit. He says that the Germans have now anti-tank guns which are able to penetrate iron with a direct hit. Chambers is turned 40 years. He has been 2 1/2 years in France.

"Passchendaele was my first show," he said, "but this last was nearly a matter of jumping off and going on compared with Passchendaele."

Staff Trooper Mitchell, a salesman of Barwick Bros., serving in the Canadian Dragoons, remarked that the Dragoons had still several horses which went out with the first lot and were never hit. His own horse was struck and rolled on him.

"Horses just collapse when hit," he remarked. "They don't whine, but I have seen the tears rolling down their nose when laid out."

Pte. F. Anderson of the Fort Garry Horse was knocked out just before a charge which cleared a wood.

"We were working ahead of the infantry, who came along after us. It was just one long swinging stride of everything together, tanks, cavalry, infantry and machine guns."

Anderson also mentioned as an instance of how bucked were the wounded over the result of the fight that coming over on a hospital ship there was singing the whole way.

Driver H. Arrinball of the Horse Artillery, Toronto, a machinist, told how the artillery followed close after the infantry.

ARE GRADUALLY RINGING ROYE

Allies Steadily Closing in on Big Centre.

Signs Point to Hun Withdrawing Guns.

London Cable.—(Reuter Despatch.)

—Reuter's correspondent at British Headquarters, telegraphing under today's date, reports severe patrol fighting between Chauines and Roye has occurred during the past 24 hours, the allies gradually enclosing Roye. The French are within a few hundred yards of the railway station south of the town. The Germans have made heavy counter-attacks since Thursday, and the diminution of their heavy artillery fire suggests that they are withdrawing their heavy guns. The enemy attempt to drive out the Canadians from Damery was made by five battalions. Local guerrilla fighting continues north of the Ancre, our patrols steadily advancing in the region of Hazebrouck. The enemy is very vigilant, and there is considerable artillery activity, but it is uncertain at present whether or not this is merely a diversion. President Poincare visited Field Marshal Haig to-day and conferred a number of military medals. The British this morning attacked the Fourth Saxon Division holding Oversteen, and captured the village and ridge.

ESCAPED FROM BRAMPTON JAIL.

Brampton, Cable.—Thomas McEwan, aged 47, escaped from Brampton jail last night, where he was serving a six month's sentence for stealing. He made his escape by standing a couple of benches on end and climbing over the jail wall. About the time he gained his freedom a Ford car belonging to Mr. Smithers was stolen, and it is supposed he used this means to make a speedy getaway from town. He is five feet 2 inches in height and weighs about 135 pounds. A reward is offered for his apprehension.

Our Wounded Heros

On August 12th, Q. M. Sergt. A. E. Richards of the 2nd Can. Motor Machine Gun Brigade received a gun shot wound in the thigh and was admitted into the 12th Military Hospital in France according to an official message received by his parents here on Wednesday of this week.

No further particulars have arrived as yet.

Sergt. enlisted with the 86th Batt. transferring to the Motor Machine Gun Brigade recently. He spent Dominion Day this year with Hartley Allen of Burlington, whose death in action was reported in Wednesday's Spectator.

A cablegram was received by Dr. J. O. McGregor announcing the wounding of his son, Walker. We are pleased to say that his injuries are not considered serious. Mrs. I. Cook also received a telegram announcing the wounding of her son, Samuel. His case, we are glad to say, is not considered serious.

We are also pleased to state that Dr. J. C. Eager's injuries are not considered serious. A cablegram received by his father last week from the doctor stated that he was slightly wounded. We earnestly hope that all of these brave Canadian boys will be able to be about shortly.

VIKINGS OF THE NORTH

NAME IS GIVEN TO FISHERMEN OF CANADA.

American Traveller Tells of the Brave Men and Women Who Are Making the Name of Canada's Fish Famous in All Parts of the World as a Delicious Article of Diet.

HALIFAX is the eastern emporium of Canadian fish. If you could follow the zigzag path of her water front in and out among the docks where the schooners come up from the outports, some only a few miles down the coast, others up Canso and Sydney way, some along the Perce-Gaspe and Madeleine shore in the gulf; others westerly from the haunts and tides of Fundy you would see there going on one of the greatest war works to be seen on this continent. You would see codfish in all stages flying through the air out of vessels' holds on to barrows and scales, and into packing houses, piling every room and spreading itself sky-high on the roofs with church towers and the citadel looking down on it and in the harbor the waiting carrier for "across" looking up to it in patience and faith.

You would see mackerel coming out of barrels and going into barrels, swimming in brine; with coppers tightening, with bits of rush, any leak, however small, and setting the hoops (the nimbus of the mackerel-barrel heads) in place, tightening them with the tap, tap, tap that multiplied along the pier sounds like a feu de joie "O we've got these Germans beaten—tap, tap, tap." Did you ever think what an army of men it takes to make fishing, as seen in Canada, what it is—a world power? Shipbuilders and lumberjacks, carpenters and riggers, sailmakers and caulkers, tackle-spinners and all the makers of dories, lines, hooks, tubs, corks, floats, sinkers, nets, and in fact, the thousand and one odds and ends which go to make up the paraphernalia of a fisherman's outfit? Not to speak of the actual crew—from skipper to cook, fearless, adventurous—afraid of nothing?

Well, these men, many of them, are among the Canadians manning the first-line trenches of the Allies, are the heroes of Ypres and Vimy Ridge and are holding the "air" against all comers. These fishermen are the present-day "Vikings of the north," and nature, not schools and colleges, gave them their training. Nothing beats fogs, gales, ice, snow, oil-bate calms, currents, loss of reckoning, inability to find your ship on the banks, through the fog that comes up while you are fishing in a dory alone and without food, for finding out all about a man. Out of the fish boats there Canadians stepped to the deck of the men-o-war in the North Sea or into the ranks of the army, it mattered not to them which, but many stayed behind to fish and many young lads, not old enough for the army, came forward to fill the gaps in the fisherman ranks. So it is in Halifax one sees such a lot of old men and boys working with the fish, not to speak of the outports, which are behind the scenes so to speak, where the women work.

The fish wives of the outports are "the women's legion" of Canada. If there are 50,000 men working in the fish on the Canadian Atlantic coast there must be at least 100,000 women, helping husbands and sons with cod and mackerel day in and day out, washing, salting, padding in brine, laying out to dry on spruce bough stages, turning it at noon, taking it in at night, handling it time and again each day in all sorts of weather for a week or a fortnight, beside tackling every day's catch as it drops to the beach from the laden dory. I had no idea what an endless lot of work fish means till I began to follow its course all around the Canadian coast, east and west. To see the women at work on the Pacific makes one realize what real work means, and how few of us understand it. Fish work is not only hard, much of it is unpleasant, if the women stopped to be finicky—which they never do. Their spirit is too big for that. Your Gaelic woman from the Helands of Cape Breton, with "the second sight," the modern Evangelines from St. Mary's Bay or St. Peter's, the habitant woman of Havre Aubert or Perce, the Channel Islander from La Baie de Chaleur, the Scotch Nova Scotian from Digby way, are too sure of themselves to turn up their noses at fish.

The tale of the salmon on the Pacific coast is equally human. Here it is a tale of the Japanese and their families. Exiles from home. It is not within the scope of this article to say whether "yellow" labor is the right thing or not, we only know that at this moment of stress in the world's history, the work is everything, and by the fortunes of war these Japs of the Pacific coast fish-trade are for the moment "allies" with the Canadian east in placing Canadian fish to the world's otherwise hungry mouth.

The Japs have established themselves on Lulu Island at a place called Stevenson, commanding the entrance to the Fraser river. The island is lowland and it has had to be dyked. Beside the canals the Japs have established their little homes, bare boarded places devoid of paint, yet with every little old tin or paid or box filled with earth and blooming with nasturtiums and chrysanthemums about the doorways or by the little railed-off gang-plank crossing the canal. The Japanese women work in the fish as well as the men. The men in the boats with the salmon nets, the women in the canneries, their babies tied up in a shawl on their back. Canned fish is so easy to get in transportation that the demand is already great and this year more than ever, but for reasons unknown.

Hiding in the Woods.

Rumors persist that there are hiding in the forests of Northern Maine hundreds, if not thousands, of Canadians, who are either too proud or too timid to fight for their country. Some of these are from the Province of Quebec, a few are said to have come from the Maritime Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The fact that one of the big lumbering concerns was not obliged to come to Canada for its log drivers this spring indicates that a new source of labor supply has suddenly been developed.

"Starve the Cities."

Charles Stafford, a Yarmouth Township farmer, recently made the statement that he was not satisfied with the amendment to the Military Service Act, and he believed the farmers should take down their fences, turn their cattle into the grain, and starve the city people and the Government out.

HE KNEW NO FEAR.

Calgary Soldier Has Been Awarded Victoria Cross.

The Victoria Cross has been awarded to Lieut. George Burdon McKean, Canadian infantry, aged 30. He enlisted at Edmonton as a private in January, 1915. He won the Military Medal and was wounded in 1916 and received a commission in May, 1917. He is still in France. His mother lives in Calgary. McKean's party was held up in a communication trench by a most intense fire from grenades and machine guns. Realizing this block unless destroyed might mar the success of the whole operation, McKean ran into the open, leaped over the blockhead on top of the enemy. When a man rushed at him with a bayonet McKean shot him through the body, then shot the man underneath him who was struggling violently. This gallant action enabled the capture of the position.

McKean's supply of bombs ran out and whilst waiting a further supply he engaged the enemy single-handed. On bombs arriving he fearlessly rushed a second block, killing two and capturing four and driving the remainder, with a machine gun, into a dugout, which was destroyed. This officer's splendid dash and bravery undoubtedly saved many lives.

Talked of "Prussianism."

J. A. Cross, a prominent farmer of Tutela Heights, was fined $500 and costs by the magistrate at Brantford for making the observation, in criticizing the Government order-in-council calling out farmers' sons, that "We had just as well be under Prussian rule as under Canadian." Several witnesses told of Cross using the expression and the defendant admitted having said something to that effect when his son was called up for service after having been previously exempted. His counsel declares that he was but exercising the right of free speech common to Canadian citizenship. Magistrate Livingston, in giving judgment, stated that since the order-in-council of April 16, such a remark could only be construed as detrimental to the cause of the Canadians and the Allies, and was the very thing which it was desired to stop. When the life blood of Canadian young men and women was being poured out against the Prussians, such an expression of opinion was insulting, as well as traitorous, and the magistrate said as far as he was concerned it would be stopped. Cross took a prominent part on the farmers' deputation to Ottawa and participated in meetings of protest to the Government. Four witnesses, all farmers, gave evidence against him. M. W. McEwen, appearing for Cross, declared that farmers all over the country had used that kind of language, and stronger, whereat the magistrate replied that a lot of those farmers should have been put in jail and that there had been a laxity in law enforcement. Counsel further declared that the Act of the Government, aimed to stop criticism of its actions, was highly Prussian in itself.

Soils.

There are light and sandy loams underlaid by sand and gravel which need no sub or artificial drainage, but for clay loams it is essential for the best results, not merely to take away water in the spring, and allow early seeding, but to make the soil more moist throughout the season. No amount of surface tillage, no amount of manure or fertilizers, can ensure maximum crop production on a poorly-drained soil. Surface evaporation is slow in the early months of the season. Tile drainage is needed therefore that the heavier soils may be worked to advantage before the seeding time passes. Poorly drained soils are water-logged soils, and this means a condition absolutely injurious to growing crops, for the root system needs air. Crops can die of suffocation, even after they have got a fair growth. Poorly drained soils are cold and wet. — Royal Canadian Institute.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VIII—AUGUST 25, 1918.
SPEAKING FOR CHRIST—LUKE 12:
8-12; ACTS 1: 1-8.

COMMENTARY — I. Confessing Christ (Luke 12: 8, 9). 8. Whosoever shall confess me before men—it meant much to confess Christ when he was on earth, and it has meant much in all the ages since that time. To confess Christ is to acknowledge our utter dependence upon him for salvation and to trust him, having turned to him with all the heart. It means to let the world know that we are his followers. One confesses Christ by a life that is in full conformity to the divine will. The confession of Christ before men is for the benefit of others as well as of the confessor. Before the angels of God—Christ will acknowledge before the Father and the angels those who confess him before men. The contrast is striking between, "before men," and "before the angels of God." 9. Denieth me before men—To deny Jesus is virtually to deny the need of the atonement he made. It is to reject the offer of salvation that comes only through him. Shall be denied—To deny Jesus means that one's earthly life is far from being what God would have it to be. It means inevitable loss in time, but it also means infinite and eternal loss beyond this life. Before the angels of God—The regard that men have for the good opinions of their fellow men is amazing. One is wise who chooses to endure anything rather than to be denied before the company of Heaven.

10. Honoring the Holy Spirit (Luke 12: 10-12). 10. Shall be forgiven—The great mercy of Jesus is here proclaimed. His words point back to the terrible charge the scribes and Pharisees had made against him, that he was casting out devils by Beelzebub. Upon repentance they might obtain forgiveness for speaking simply against him, but to attribute to Satan the distinctive work of the Holy Spirit, would remove them beyond the possibility of forgiveness. Blasphemeth—To blaspheme is to revile God or to offer insult to him purposely. The Pharisees were in immediate danger of committing this sin, if they had not already done so. They had attributed to Satan what was in reality the work of God. Shall not be forgiven—When this insult to the Holy Ghost has been offered with full knowledge of what was being done, and has been offered as a finality, he resents the insult with a justice that knows no mercy. From the person who has done this the Holy Spirit withdraws forever and leaves him in a state of complete indifference. 11. Bring you unto the synagogue—Jesus gave his followers unmistakable warning that they would be persecuted for the gospel's sake. Magistrates, powers—Jewish or Gentile authorities higher than the synagogue. Take ye no thought—Be not anxiously careful. 12. The Holy Ghost shall teach you—It is the office of the Holy Spirit to illuminate and inspire the soul. A specific promise is here given of help in the emergencies that were to arise in the promulgation of the gospel.

III. The Holy Spirit's aid in testifying (Acts 1: 1-8). 1. The former treatise—The Gospel of Luke. In the opening verses of Acts Luke states that he is continuing the record of Christ's work for the world. Nothing is known of this man beyond what is written here and in the opening of Luke's gospel. Began both to do and teach—Jesus both did and taught. He wrought miracles and taught by parables and by direct methods. 2. Until he was taken up—Forty days after his resurrection. Had given commandments—The Spirit of the Lord was upon Jesus in all his ministry. It was "through the Holy Ghost" that he gave the great commission to his disciples recorded in Matt. 28: 19 and Mark 16: 15, 16. Apostles—Those sent forth. The disciples were somewhat called apostles after they were sent forth upon their mission by our Lord. 2. Showed himself alive—The apostles were certain that Jesus died on the cross, and they were as certain also that he arose from the dead. His passion—His suffering and death. By many infallible proofs—Proofs that could not be shaken; convincing proofs. Being seen of them forty days—During the forty days between Christ's resurrection and his ascension Jesus showed himself to his followers ten or eleven times.

4. Being assembled together—The place of the assembly of Christ and his disciples is not known. It was probably in Jerusalem on the day of the ascension. Commanded them—Jesus spoke with authority. Should not depart from Jerusalem—Jesus had given them a commission to go into all the world to preach the gospel, but they were not to go forth to the work until they were fully prepared. Wait for the promise of the Father—The promise is referred to in Luke 24: 49 and found in John 14: 16, 26. 5. Baptized with water—This was a baptism unto repentance. With the Holy Ghost—The Holy Spirit was to be given to the apostles to purify their hearts and to make them strong for the work before them. They were already converted and their names were written in heaven, but they needed the sanctifying and energizing power of the Holy Spirit, that they might be equipped for the weighty responsibility that Jesus had placed upon them. Not many days hence—The crucifixion took place at the feast of the Passover, while crowds of Jews were in Jerusalem from all parts of the world and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit was to be accomplished during the next great feast, that of Pentecost. 6. With you at this time restore, etc.—The disciples still retained their imperfect idea of the nature of Christ's kingdom. When Jesus spoke of the outpouring of the Spirit and the promise of the Father, they thought he referred to the establishment of a great temporal kingdom of the Jews. 7. Not for you to know—Jesus said nothing of the kingdom about which the disciples had made inquiry.

8. Ye shall receive power—Jesus turned the thoughts of his disciples from that which was gross and material to that which was spiritual. He continued the subject which was interrupted by the disciples' question. He called attention to their need of power for the great work before them, and showed them how it was to be received. after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you.—II. V. The Holy Spirit was to bring to the apostles holiness of heart and ability to live and speak as Jesus would live and speak. The power was to come from without. It was not to be from human or earthly sources. The power of the Holy Spirit was to be the permanent power in the individual believer and in the church of Jesus Christ. witnesses unto me—The gift of power was not to be merely for the comfort of the disciples, but it was to be for service. They were to be empowered to bear witness effectually to the power of Jesus to save from sin. In Jerusalem—The centre of the Jewish system and the seat of prejudice and hatred against Jesus and his followers. all Judea—The regions where the Jewish religion was at home. Samaria—The seat of a mixed religion, partly heathen and partly Jewish, unto the uttermost part of the earth—The testimony to Jesus' power to save is to be carried to all nations.

Questions.—What is meant by confessing Christ before men? What will be the result of denying Christ in this world? What sin can not be forgiven? What promise is given to those who are brought to trial for Jesus' sake? What command and promise did Jesus give his disciples just before his ascension? Where were the apostles to be witnesses unto Jesus? How may we witness unto him now?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.
Topic.—Confessing Christ, and other Christian uses of speech.

I. Confessing Christ.
II. Christian conversation.

I. Confessing Christ. Speech is the vocal expression of thought, and is the ordinary means of communicating it to others. No faculty involves greater responsibility or possesses greater possibilities for good or evil. The thought belongs to the individual, the word to the world. Once uttered, whatever its bare or blessing, it passes forever beyond our control. The fate of individuals and of empires may depend upon it. It reveals what is within. Supreme authority has declared, "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." No faculty is more difficult to control properly. Perfect mastery here assures complete dominion. "If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body." A true faith will control the tongue. Grace can conquer the "unruly member." Restraint in this is one of the surest evidences of true piety. Jesus declares, "By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." To confess Christ means a public declaration of our faith in him as our only and personal Savior; of love to him as our Redeemer, and of loyalty to him as our Sovereign. Such a declaration is inseparable from a true Christian life. In the lesson Jesus distinctly commanded it, and his claims are imperative. Failure is in fact denial. Neutrality is as impossible as a double moral relationship. "He that is not for me is against me." Confession is to be made first in the company of Christians for mutual instruction, comfort and encouragement. "They that feared the Lord spake often one to another." The psalmist invites all to hear: "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul." "Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another." Confession strengthens personal faith.

II. Christian conversation. To be Christian is to be Christlike. In conversation as in all else Jesus is the great example. Christian conversation will exclude uncharitableness. A word may blight or brighten the whole life of another. "He that repeateth a matter separateth very friends." True Christian love "hopeth all things." "Where there is no talebearer, the strife ceaseth." Mere trifling conversation can not be indulged without spiritual loss. Christian cheerfulness is equally removed from gloom and frivolity. Jesus said, "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment." Christian speech will not permit irreverent or corrupt conversation. Clean lips and chaste language bespeak the Christian life. The attributes of Deity are too sacred to be bandied about in careless remark. What are commonly called by-words are as unnecessary as they are unbecoming. Slang does not savor of sanctity. "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth." Simplicity attends saintliness. "Let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay." "In a multitude of words there wanteth not sin." We seldom repent of having said too little; often of having said too much. The apostle exhorts to "sound speech, that can not be condemned." Great truths of worldwide import await faithful advocates to hasten their triumphs. No higher use of speech is possible. W. H. C.

War times are teaching us that there is no economy in buying the cheapest goods nor the fancy high priced ones. We are depending on the solid values of the good standard brands—the brands that were good in peace time and have doubly proved their worth in war time.

Red Rose Tea—costing today only about 1/4 of a cent per cup—is one of the solid war time values that anyone can afford—and that everyone will enjoy.

Clean Stomach, Clear Mind.—The stomach is the workshop of the vital functions and when it gets out of order the whole system clogs in sympathy. The spirits flag, the mind droops and work becomes impossible. The first care should be to restore healthful action of the stomach and the best preparation for that purpose is Farmacia's Vegetable Pills. General use for years has won them a leading place in medicine. A trial will attest their value.

MARKETING VEGETABLES.
Growers of vegetables and fruits should cater to their markets. It is always best to feel the pulse of the buyers, for some vegetables that are staple on certain markets are quite often not so on other markets. These facts should be recognized when growing vegetables for any special market. To be informed on marketing conditions is indispensable to economical marketing of truck. Whether one sells on a local market or ships to a distant city or town, it is important to know something of the demands of the trade.

In some markets there is very little call for spinach, rhubarb, garlic, parsnips, etc., where in other places, especially with people of foreign birth, there is considerable demand for such vegetables. Those who have had experience in selling vegetables from the farm delivery know that people in certain districts have certain peculiarities. Where there is considerable wealth the city consumer may demand more service, a more expensive package, and better quality. But if in a locality where many of the people are poor, sales may show that the people prefer ordinary quality, or, in other words, the cheapest. Likewise one product will sell in one district when perhaps it would not in another near by.

The man who markets vegetables must be a very close observer, patient, kind and hopeful. One day may be very discouraging and require considerable produce to be brought back unsold. The next day sales may be excellent, even of products that would not sell the day before.

Experience has taught the writer that it does not pay to cut prices when sales are dull. If one is to stay in the business of selling vegetables he should strive to earn a reputation for honor, truth and justice. To charge the first customers that take fresh vegetables more than the last on the route is unjust and it is not likely to build up the reputation of the seller. The merchant's idea of "large sales and small profits" is not a bad motto. It is far better to sell as reasonable as can be afforded than to take advantage of the customers when any vegetable to find a poor market the farmer should be satisfied with a reasonable price for the article that is scarce with a view of selling the products that are abundant. This is good business.

Attractive packages with trademark showing the name of the farm and the manager's skill and originality will do much to build up a trade. It is worth while to produce an excellent article and then present it in attractive, appetizing manner. To sell readily and at good prices, vegetables on the delivery should appear better than those on the other fellows.

CARE OF HORSES IN HOT WEATHER.
A great many horses are annually laid up in summer with sore shoulders. By the use of good common sense and care much of this can be remedied. A good horse collar is the main part of the harness, and it should be of the very best kind and fit the animal's neck perfectly. The collar should be kept clean at all times and the horse's shoulders well washed and brushed daily.

Much dust and dirt arise in the higher price. If other vegetables are to be sold that are abundant and like fields and on the roads at this season, and these are caught and held on the moist and sweaty shoulders and collar, there to form hard lumps and ridges. Every time the collar is put on the horse it should be examined for these lumps and ridges. If any are found they should be brushed and rubbed away. After each day's work, especially if the weather is hot, the shoulders should be bathed and cleaned with a mixture of warm water, salt and soda. A little alum and tannic acid, the juice from the bark or leaves of oak or willow trees will heal and toughen the skin, and should be applied with warm water. Hot water is one of the best-known natural agents for relieving soreness, due to sprains, bruises and excessive pressure of the animal body. Salt and soda are healing and disinfecting agents.

In nothing does regularity of work count more than in the handling of animals. When a horse is worked regularly he acquires strong muscles and tough shoulders. It is cruel to allow horses to remain idle for several days or even weeks at a time, and then immediately put into hard service. Much hard is done in this. A horse that has been idle for several days should be given very light and moderate work for the first day or two, so that the muscles and skin will regain their strength and toughness. It is a better plan to arrange some work for the horse daily. In this way their bodies never become weak, hence they seldom become ill or injured and are always in training for efficient service.

When a horse is brought into the stable all tired out, he should be given a little hay to nibble at and allowed to rest for an hour or two before given any grain.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation warranted to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

ONTARIO STILL LEADS.

The Military Service Act Has Received Loyal Support.

As the Province of Ontario was enthusiastic for the Military Service Act, the citizens of the province have done their duty to the full under the act. It will be remembered that the act called for 100,000, and that these were allotted in proportion to the population without considering what the various provinces had done under the volunteer system. Ontario went right at the new task, and it was announced several weeks ago that the Ontario Military Districts, like some of the districts in the West, have already filled their allotments and are continuing to draft men. If the eastern districts had done as well, the full draft of 100,000 men would now be in uniform, but as the east has not done so, Ontario still continues to show her mettle. According to the last figures supplied, Ontario has given 28,000 men under the Military Service Act as compared to 8,000 from the Province of Quebec. Great interest was recently aroused by a statement regarding this matter made by Lt.-Col. H. A. Machin, director of the Military Service Act branch of the Ministry of Justice and member of the Ontario Legislature for Kenora. Col. Machin went overseas as a colonel in command of the 94th Battalion, having refused a judgeship in order to do so, and his present position, which he says he does not expect to hold, is worth $6,000 a year.

Col. Machin said: "I have been sent to Montreal to devise a means whereby the Militia Department will be able to handle more recruits than they have been able to do. At the present time there are over 11,000 eligible for call in this district; they have not been called because the Militia Department has not been able to take them."

"In the meantime, only those who have been requested to be called by the G. O. C. of Montreal and Quebec districts have been taken. This has resulted in only 8,000 under the Military Service Act being called in the Province of Quebec. The fact that Ontario has called 28,000 against 8,000 in Quebec was given out by the Militia Department last week. Immediately the Government became concerned and I was plainly told by Messrs. Sifton and Mewburn that unless I produced the proper quota from Quebec I could look for another job. I reminded these gentlemen that recruits had been called in the Province of Quebec as fast as the Militia Department could take care of them."

Alaska, the Superlative.

Alaska scenery is not scenery—it's nature's coup d'état.

Here glaciers as tall as the dome of St. Paul's gleam like meadows of glass.

And now and again, when a berg is born, great sheets of water seem to splash the very sky and angry waves toss the baby glacier about as if it were a cork in a basin of water.

Alaska's mountains out-Alp the Alps. A mountain under 12,000 feet is ignored as a mere foothill.

Alaska's trees out-giant California's mammoth specimens. Here a canoe capable of carrying sixty warriors has been made by the Indians from the trunks of a single poplar tree.

And Alaska's mosquitoes out-Jersey Jersey's fiercest. It is said that nothing short of a coat of tar and lard will discourage these man-eating animals. Ordinarily unguents prove to be nothing more than appetizing sauces. To kill a mosquito is mistaken judgment—so many relatives gather for the funeral. Huge, apparently self-reliant bears have been so badly stung about the eyes that they have become blind and unable to find food—murdered by these tiny pests.

A Giant Power Light.

The giant 50,000,000-candle power light installed at Niagara Falls is one of the largest in the world and makes of its vicinity an exceedingly brilliant spot, but it has been demonstrated that it would take 32,500,000,000,000 of them to do the illuminating work of the sun. The figures are not guesses, but scientific calculations based on long and elaborate experiments.
