BY HIGHWAY ROBBERY AT NOME

Son of Ex-Senator J. B. Allen in Hold-up Business

TOMMY DOLAN HIS PARTNER

Manager of N. A. T. & T. Co. the Victim—Each Robber Got 15 Years.

From Tuesday's Daily. From parties who have recently arrived from the outside, word is received of an incident which transpired in Nome last winter which had a disastrous termination for those connected with it, one of whom is well known in Dawson and another is one of the oldest and most respected families of the state of Washington.

The incident referred to was a hold-up of a typical Jesse James order which took place on the streets of Nome late one night during the month of March. The brigands taking part in the affair being "Kid" Hawkins, Tommy Dolan and George Allen, the latter being a son of ex-United States Senator John B. Allen, of Washington. Dolan is well known in Dawson. He is a brother of Eddie Dolan, the comedian, and was a partner of Dave Evans in 418 below discovery Hunker, who killed his mistress and then himself during the winter of '98. Of Hawkins nothing is known here.

On the night of the holdup a Mr. Elton, superintendent of the N. A. T. & T. Co. at Nome was returning to his cabin some what under the influence of Liquor. As he rounded the corner of one of the principal streets he was suddenly confronted by three men wearing masks who pointed guns at his head and commanded him to throw up his hands. He did so and was promptly relieved of $350 in cash and a few nuggets he carried as pocket pieces. It was some hours later when Emmelton reached his cabin now dead this alive from the fright he had received while in the mandin condition and it was several days before he fully regained his mental equilibrium. He at once gave the alarm, but his assailants had long since made their escape. For some reason suspicion attached itself to Hawkins, Dolan and Allen and they were arrested. Each protested his innocence and when the case came up for trial an alibi was sworn to in the case of the last two named. The case of the prosecution was principally circumstantial evidence, which, however, was substantiated by the testimony of a man named Cherry, who swore to having witnessed the entire affair. The jury found the culprits guilty and all three were sentenced to 15 years at hard labor. They will be confined at either McNeil island, near Tacoma, or San Quentin, California, both being United States penitentiaries. There is a strong belief among many of the residents of Nome that the men are innocent and a concerted effort is being made on the part of their friends to secure their release. It is said that when Senator Allen, now a resident of Seattle, first learned of his son's disgrace and the ignominy thrust upon his family he was so completely prostrated that for a time his life was despaired of.

O'BRIEN CLUB RAIDED LAST NIGHT

When All Paraphernalia Including Bank Roll Was Taken.

FIRST IN HISTORY OF DAWSON

Manager of Club and Several Other Persons Found Therein Heavily Fined in Police Court Today.

From Tuesday's Daily. If the O'Brien Club had been filled with old time sports last night shortly after midnight they would certainly have been reminded of home, sweet home, when the establishment was inside the apartments engaged in various occupations, some leisurely reading and others lost in profound thought as to what was coming next. In addition to the manager of the club and his bartender, were J. C. Douglas, C. A. Ingram, Harry Miller, John Anderson and Harry Woolrich. At the time no game was in progress though there was ample evidence that several had been dallying with the fickle maid a short time prior to the intrusion. The fare layout was in position, check rack and cases were evidenced and scattered about were checks and coppers. The officers confiscated everything in sight pertaining to gambling, seized the bank roll containing $1000, and ordered all hands to appear in the police court this morning at 10 o'clock. When the cases came up before Inspector McDonnell today, Capt. Scarth appeared as prosecutor and Wm. McKay for the defendants. Two charges were laid against the manager of the club, one that of keeping a common gambling house, and the other with having permitted gambling on the premises of which he was licensee. To the former a plea of not guilty was entered. Capt. Scarth, Sergeant Beys and a constable testified to the raid and what and who were found in the rooms at the time. The only contention of the defense was that the O'Brien Club was not a common gambling report as charged in the information, nor had it been formed for any illegal purposes whatsoever, and the charter issued to the club was submitted in evidence. The court announced that a private club was no more immune from arrest for infractions of the law

WHERE IS J. W. ROGERS?

He Has Not Been Seen Since Last Wednesday Night.

J. W. Rogers, who at one time was interested in 34 Gold Run, has recently disappeared and there are several parties who are seeking his whereabouts. Warrants have been issued for his arrest on charge of obtaining money under false pretenses by getting bogus checks cashed on the Bank of British North America. John Moe, of the Dominion saloon, holds one check for $100, Murray and Ross, of the Bonanza, another and Powell, of the Monte Carlo, a third, each for the same amount. Several other parties are also anxiously waiting for him to turn up and settle accounts which have long since become due and payable. The last seen of Rogers was last Wednesday evening, when he was interviewed by one of his creditors and he then promised to call the next morning and settle his account. During the night he disappeared like the mist before the wind and has not been seen since. Wires have been sent to Fortymile, Eagle City and Whitehorse for his apprehension should he attempt to pass any of those places. J. W. Rogers was formerly a partner with Nelson A. Soggs and others in 34 Gold Run, and the trouble that existed between them is still fresh in the minds of Dawsonites nearly all of whom were in sympathy with the latter.

POSTMASTER HARTMAN

Thinks Dawson Preferable to Outside for a Home.

Postmaster Hartman, of Dawson, accompanied by his wife and youngest son, were passengers on Monday evening's train on their way inside. Mr. Hartman has been enjoying a three months' vacation and is now anxious to get back to his post of duty. He has visited Eastern Canada and has spent a lot of time in the states of Washington and Oregon. In an interview with a Tribune reporter he said "Americans in Dawson have done so much talking about the poor roadways to the mines and the slow Canadian methods of development. Why I have in the past month traveled quite a little in Washington and Oregon over roads that are far worse than the roads in the Klondike have been at any time, and roads on the outside can be built so quickly and at comparatively little cost." He says the people in the east have a very vague idea of the country, and do not understand why it takes so much to accomplish so little, but the visit of the ministerial party about the middle of this month, he feels, will greatly facilitate matters in the way of appropriations. Speaking of the new buildings that have been erected in Dawson within the past year, he says the finest, from his point of view, is the postoffice and he hasn't found anything on the outside in that line quite as good. Mr. Hartman is a very enthusiastic Yukoner and says the outside is all right to visit about once a year, but for a desirable place to live he prefers Dawson. Mr. Hartman has endeared himself to Dawsonites by his conscientious fulfillment of duty as a postmaster and as a man of superior executive ability. He says he is going in now with the determination to remain there for at least five years.—Whitehorse Tribune.

A Judicial Trip.

Some time during the latter part of the month Mr. Justice Dugas will make a trip to Whitehorse, partially for the purpose of establishing a territorial court at that point and thus save to the territory and to litigants the expense of bringing cases and witnesses to Dawson for hearing. None of the officers of the court at Dawson will accompany the court, it being within the power of his lordship to appoint such officers for the various duties at the point where the court is convened. It is understood there are several cases ready for trial and final adjudication at Whitehorse as soon as the court is organized and ready to hear them.

More Mascots.

The firemen of fire hall No. 2 are anticipating the arrival of a couple of pet bears from Fortymile, which they propose shall be their future mascots. With the experience gained in their heretofore futile efforts to bring up cubs, they hope these latest importations will not so soon be cut down in the very flower of their youth as the others have been.

Small Fire.

Last evening the fire department was called to the new office of the Ladue saw mill where a fire had started in the roof. The chemical and hose cart from the fire hall opposite the N. A. T. & T. Co. responded quickly, but the fire was put out by a few buckets of water so that the chemical was not needed. It is thought the fire was caused by a spark from the mill alighting on the roof.

LONG RANGE MORALITY.

Consistency is at all times a jewel and it should be practised in Dawson as well as elsewhere. Move them a year ago and fully half a year before the authorities declared that the residents of Fourth and Fifth avenues would be ordered to vacate, the Nugget single-handed and alone, was conducting a warfare in behalf of common decency and against the brazen creatures, asking the authorities to either drive them out or fence them in from the gaze of respectable people.

At length the authorities acted and the women were driven out, some of them going to Klondike City and others to West Dawson. As is reasonable to suppose there are respectable people in both localities who are not pleased with their new neighbors and who desire to be rid of them; but where can they be driven that decency and morality will not be offended?

The News, after ignoring these creatures when they were flaunting their degradation openly and in the presence of all the residents of Dawson, now develops a streak of "long range" morality and says it is shameful to have such people across the river and in sight of Dawson. Of course it is. It is shameful to have such people any place on God's footstool; but when the News did not raise its voice against them when they occupied the heart of the city, is it not strange that it now employs field-glasses, looks across and beyond the broad Yukon and has its sense of modesty and morality shocked by what it sees. The News is evidently afflicted with what opticians call "long sightedness."

If the women are to be again forced to move, the move should be out of the country entirely and not from one suburb to another. However, in keeping with its past and present attitude toward these people the further away they are moved the more immorally will be seen by and the greater will be the shock to the News's sense of decency. Let the next move of the women be to the little island in Lake Bennett which marks the boundary between British Columbia and the Yukon territory.

The advertised prospectus of the embryonic Daily Sun says it will publish everything "except police court happenings, idle gossip and trumped-up sensations." In keeping with the past record of the Sun it should have added the word "news" to its list of exceptions. The man who wrote the advertisement is, to use a slangy expression, "dead next" for he closed the advertisement with: "Now is the time to sign contracts for advertising." Now is good, for after the Sun appears with all news matter eliminated it will not be a business time for signing contracts for advertising. For quaint humor the Sun has always been in a class by itself.

Without the blowing of trumpets or sounding of cymbals Commissioner Ross has put an army of men to work on the various roads on the principal creeks of the district, and by the time the summer is ended the public highways of this country, all things considered, will compare favorably with those of countries as old in years as is the Klondike in months.

ROYALTY AND BOREDOM.

Strife has arisen in one city in Canada over the projected visit of the Duke and Duchess of York. The mayor and city council of Ottawa are reported to be at loggerheads as to who shall have the honor of reading the civic address to their Royal Highnesses. It is a comfort to know that we shall never be disturbed by such unseemly disputes in Victoria. If there is to be any reading done there is little doubt as to who will do it. But why not settle the matter effectually by putting the address here entirely out of business? It is a bore to all concerned except the reader of the document. The shrinking manner and look of dismay with which distinguished people have been observed to approach the place of torture where the smiling executioner stood ready with his elaborately mounted instrument in his hands has often been observed. But that moment of agony is always forgotten by the time another victim is due. We beseech all concerned in this address craze to remember that some thousands of adulatory documents have already been read to the Duke and Duchess, that they have been flattered and plastered with praise until they are in danger of regarding a large number of their dutiful subjects as lumbags, that one ship has already been dispatched from Australia with a cargo of addresses to be used in lighting Royal fires in Great Britain and if the movement be not suppressed to some extent a whole fleet will be necessary to convey the remainder to the ancestral homes of the Royal party. Let us burn all the addresses and deputate someone who can speak English without the extraordinary "twang" which in certain circles is considered an infallible evidence of "culture" to say a few words of welcome to the visitors. It has been suggested that all the social bores should be arrested and temporarily placed in confinement to insure the peace and privacy which the Duke and his wife will surely yearn for by the time they reach this stage of their round-the-world tour. That would be an extreme measure and we cannot commend it. Another extremist suggests a cage known only to a few men who do not trouble themselves about society as a suitable place for a residence. That idea must also be set aside, and the matter left to the general good sense and correct taste of the people of Victoria.—Victoria Times.

Wrecked a Hotel. A short time ago W. A. Anderson of Bennett, bought the Yukon hotel building at that place with the intention of moving it to Caribou. The man who had the contract to move the hotel built two scows and Friday of last week succeeded in getting it on to them, but the weight was too much and one of the scows sunk, leaving the building with one end submerged in the lake and the other resting on the shore. Almost the entire population of Bennett witnessed the accident and it appears to be the general opinion that the building will be a total loss.—Whitcomb Star.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

A Dawson lady remonstrated with the Stroller a few days ago for asserting that in the rural regions of the far south the majority of couples among what is known there as the "po' white trash" marry before either party reaches his or her 20th year. But such is the custom and many is the poor "cracker" girl who is both wife and mother before she has passed her 15th birthday.

The young matrons of the far South, if they can be seen without their sunbonnets, are usually fair to look upon, maternity seeming to add to the delicate but unadorned charms of nature. It is not unusual for a girl to become the wife of a man within a week or less from the time he has first had a good look at her face. Long courtships are not the thing there. Marriage precedes courtship and as rule the latter is soon tabooed and the bride develops into a sullen, morose, stay-at-home woman, while the man never stays at home any more than he can help. He takes certain lectures as a duck's back takes water, whistles to his dogs and starts for his neighbors who live "over beyond the ol' field." Usually the neighbor is looking for him and together, unless billed for chills that afternoon, they go fishing or "possum bunting. The return home with a string of mud cats or a fat "possum invariably causes the "ol' woman to push her bonnet back until the point of her nose is visible and until after the "big feed" is over she is in a very amiable frame of mind.

As a rule the "cracker" women are religiously inclined and when in a talkative mood, never tire of telling about the time when "Old Pap Faircloth a'ridin' his buckskin mule aster come a'round every fo' weeks an' preach so real and loud till you could hear hell a popin'."

"Cracker" men as a rule get converted once a year, but when they chance to meet at some moonlight distillery it is all off until the next revival. So far as worrying about things either temporal or spiritual is concerned the average "cracker" knows nothing of the sensation, and were it not for being jewed by his wife every other afternoon when he is required to stay at home to have a chill he would be among the happiest of God's creatures.

"Voe ish me; don't id? You see id ish dose vay: Dat last lod of spoiled goods vot I purchased I now haf on mine hands unt der stores haf marked down goot goods till I can't ged halfu brace for mine spoiled goods. I tells you vot I do. I go down and jump dot rifer in unt lief behind a nod unt say dose pig gombanias drife me to suicide unt den dey pe arrested unt fined life tollar mit some gots dacked on ter pill. I swear by der forefingers on my fadders dot if I was able to got some insurance—how I lofe dot vord—I would come out ov dose dromble mit golors flying ad my masthead, ain't id?"

And having thus spoken he bottled a tear and took it home to sprinkle some onion plants in "dot garden."

An exchange tells of a lady who decided to scare her husband, who was a hard drinker, so that he would reform. To do this she procured the costume of a devil she saw at a masquerade. The next time the erring spouse came home feeling happy, she donned the costume. As he opened the door she stepped forward and said in a sepulchral tone, "Come with me, I am the devil." The reply to her greeting was, "Zat so? Shake, old boy, I'm your brother-in-law I married your sister."

T. H. Heath, Frank Berry and a balky horse made considerable amusement for a large crowd on Second avenue and Third street yesterday afternoon.

The horse is a new arrival and is one of the prettiest dapple greys ever brought into this country, but has a very disagreeable disposition and a disinclination to draw a buggy or even to be led by a halter.

The harness was put on at the stable and the horse led to the light spring wagon which was located on Second avenue in front of the Dawson Hardware Company. A great deal of difficulty was encountered in leading the horse to the wagon, but it was finally accomplished. The wagon was drawn up to the horse and the shafts securely fastened to the harness. Frank Berry got upon the seat and picked up the upon them that the horse was balky and blows were tried and every one had some suggestion to offer to make the thing go. One suggested tying his tail to the backboard, another the use of a big club, one thought a jump of sugar would do the job successfully, but they all proved of no avail and they had to "back up" and give the job up as a bad one.

The wagon was finally taken away and after three or four good blows on the flank the horse concluded to be led away while Frank Berry and George Noble each taking a shaft followed close behind hauling the wagon amid the cheers of the crowd.

Owing to receipt of immense stock we were compelled to move to more commodious quarters opposite S.-Y. T. Co., on Second avenue. Sargent & Pinsky.

Block the Highway Over Which Miners' Wage Protection Ordinance.

MUST TRAVEL TO FINAL PASSAGE

Councilman Dugas Sees and Points Out Many Difficulties.

AIM TO PROTECT ALL ALIKE

Held Over for More Complete Discussion—The Ordinance as Originally Presented.

From Saturday and Monday's Daily. The Yukon council held an adjourned session last evening at which all members were present, with the exception of Major Wood, who is away, and transacted another gist of routine business.

A petition was received asking for the imposing of a tax on express wagons and was referred to committee. The ordinance respecting the legal profession was introduced and passed its first reading. A long discussion as to the bill occurred and it was decided to refer it to the civil justice committee in order to give the members of the bar a further opportunity to discuss it before final action is taken.

The ordinance respecting the protection of bridges was read the third time and has become a law. The ordinance respecting unincorporated towns was discussed in committee of the whole. This ordinance has reference to small villages and is similar to the one now in operation in the Northwest territories.

The miners' wage protection ordinance which was submitted to the council at its meeting Thursday night and which was discussed in committee session last night, shows evidence of becoming as much of a stumbling block in the pathway of the councilmen by reason of its simplicity of construction as did its predecessor the miners' lien ordinance on account of its complexity.

Throughout the entire ordinance Justice Dugas could see difficulties arising which would have a tendency to work injustice to innocent mine owners in some cases and to the laborers themselves in others.

A clause was added in section 4 to compel the person making the affidavit asking for the appointment of a receiver to appear before the judge at the time of making such affidavit, for oral examination, instead of allowing him to go before a commissioner and make his affidavit and then go back to his claim without being submitted to examination which action Justice Dugas said often leads the judges to give him a decision to which the facts afterwards show he is not entitled.

The ordinance was discussed at some length but was finally passed up for further consideration at a subsequent meeting.

The ordinance as submitted is as follows:

The expression "miner" means a person who performs or has performed for wages work which produces or assists to produce an "output."

The expression "mining claim" means and includes any placer, quartz or coal claim.

The expression "output" means with respect to placer claims, the gravel and bed-rock obtained from such placer claim and the minerals in such gravel and bed-rock or abstracted therefrom.

To quartz claim, the quartz obtained from such claims and the minerals in such quartz or abstracted therefrom, and

To coal claims, the coal taken therefrom.

The expression "owner" means any person who has an interest other than a mortgagee, in a mining claim in respect to which work has been performed for such person, at his request, and includes every person claiming under such person by right accruing subsequent to the commencement of the performance of such work.

The expression "person" includes any body corporate, and the heirs, executors, administrators or other legal representatives of such person to whom the context can apply according to law.

The expression "wages" means money earned by a miner for work performed.

If it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the territorial court or any judge therefor, That any owner is indebted to any miner for wages, and That there are reasonable grounds for believing that such owner does not intend to pay such wages, or that there is danger of such wages being lost to such miner the court or judge intervenes, such court or judge may appoint a receiver on the output in respect to which such wages have been earned.

It shall not be necessary for such miner to issue any writ of summons or other process. He shall merely present a petition setting forth the grounds upon which he claims the appointment of a receiver and praying for such appointment. Such petition shall be verified by affidavit, and the person making such affidavit shall appear before the court or judge at the time of presenting such affidavit for oral examination.

The court or judge hearing such petition may ex parte or after notice appoint a receiver for such time and upon such terms as are just and proper.

Upon such petition the court or judge may, upon notice being given to the various parties interested, summarily determine and fix the liability of such owner for wages to the petitioner and to other miners who have assisted to produce the output and also his liability to any other person for supplies which have supported such miners or otherwise contributed to make possible the reduction of such output.

The court or judge may take into consideration all the circumstances connected with the production of such output and the condition of the parties interested, and may direct that by way of performance there be paid to such miners such percentage of the several amounts due them as will keep them from immediate want and that the balance due such miners and the accounts due such other persons for supplies be paid pari passu out of the remainder of the proceeds of such output before any other creditors of such owner are paid therefrom.

The receiver so appointed may, subject to the direction of the court or judge, carry on such work as may be necessary to obtain from such output all the valuable metals or minerals contained therein.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

The steamer Prospector, which arrived last night at 10:30, is not a thing of beauty to look at nor is her equipment as elaborate as some of the other up-river boats, but when it comes to speed she has proven herself the swiftest craft of the entire Yukon fleet. On her last trip up she walked right away from the Yukoner, which at one time held the record. The performance was repeated on her down trip, the previous record of 32 hours being smashed into smithereens. Leaving Whitehorse at 4 p. m. Thursday she arrived here 10:30 p. m. Friday, losing two hours at Five Fingers and one at Selkirk, and making her actual running time 27 1/2 hours. From this should also be deducted time lost in wooding up on three different occasions. Capt. Ritchie is positive his boat can make the run down in 24 hours or less.

The Dawson arrived yesterday afternoon with 250 tons of freight and two passengers. Almost the entire cargo in feed, principally oats, consigned to Macaulay Bros.

The Yukoner will leave at 4 o'clock on an excursion, making a short run up the river and return. She leaves for Whitehorse immediately on her return from the pleasure trip.

The scow brought in yesterday by the Crimmins was loaded exclusively with Cumberland blacksmith coal. There were nearly 50 tons of the black diamonds, part of the cargo being consigned to McLennan & McPeely and part to Thos. Dunn.

The Victorian passed Lower LeBarge bound down at 5:30 this morning, the Selkirk following two hours later.

At the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning services will be conducted by Rev. D. G. Cook, assisted by Rev. H. H. Turner, the latter having but recently arrived from the outside. The communion will be partaken of in the forenoon. At 7:30 in the evening Rev. Cook will conduct services. Rev. Turner will go to Grand Forks in the afternoon and conduct services there at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Sparling, principal of the Wesleyan college of Winnipeg, arrived in Dawson this week and will have charge of the Dawson M. E. congregation until the return of the regular pastor, Rev. Heatherton. Services will be conducted by Dr. Sparling at 11 a. m. tomorrow and 7:30 p. m.

At both the Episcopal and Catholic churches, regular services will be held at the usual hours.

A vacant Garter. According to the London Chronicle, there is now a Garter vacant, and if a plebeian decided on whom it should be bestowed there is not a doubt but that K. G. would be placed after the name of the field marshal commanding in South Africa, who most certainly merits the distinction quite as much as Lord Elgin, on whom it was so properly conferred by Lord Salisbury. In the last two centuries the Garter has only been thrice given for military services—to Marlborough, Wellington and Lord Anglesey—and strange to say, no naval commander appears to have had it, not even Nelson.

Longevity of Fish. There are some goldfish in Washington which have belonged to the same family for the last 50 years, and they seem no bigger and no less vivacious today than they did when they first came into the owner's possession. A few of the fish in the Imperial aquarium at St. Petersburg are known to be 150 years old, and the age of the sacred fish in some of the ponds attached to the Buddhist temples in China is to be counted by centuries, if we are to believe the priests.

COMING AND GOING.

From Saturday's Daily. L. Burwash, timber agent at Stewart, is shaking hands with all friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Ritchie returned Thursday evening from a trip to Indian River.

The first of the salmon are appearing. Several fishermen were out today with their nets.

C. Churchward has recently returned from a trip to Tacoma, Washington. He was accompanied by Joe Hunt.

Mrs. McKinney was taken to St. Mary's hospital Thursday. She is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. I. W. Dudley, traveling auditor of the W. P. & Y. line, arrived on the Dawson and will remain in the city a few days.

Walter Lyons, manager of the Ladue Co., left for the logging camps of his company on the steamer Whitehorse. He will return the early part of next week.

W. H. Whyte, formerly mining recorder at Fortymile, and his successor, R. M. Blair, are in the city for a few days. Mr. Whyte will shortly leave for the outside and Mr. Blair will return to his duties at Fortymile.

Charley Meadows left for Whitehorse Thursday afternoon. He is going outside to engage a stock company for the Savoy. It is his intention to produce two plays a week at his theater and will engage talent for that purpose.

Mrs. N. W. Long left Thursday afternoon on a trip to Seattle and California. Mrs. Long's trip outside is for the purpose of securing treatment for her son Bert, who has long been a sufferer from rheumatism. She will return to Dawson late in September.

Chief Isaacs with 25 of his dusky braves and squaws from Moosehide on the Fourth reached out after the silver sheekles of the hated pale face. Manager Mizner, of the N. C. Co., gave the use of the large warehouse on the water front for the purpose of holding a war dance and incidentally a theater in a few dollars. Four bits admission was charged. The warriors were all gotten up in the most approved mode, their faces being painted a checker board pattern with red and blue paint. The squaws joined in the choruses and likewise shook a leg or two when the occasion demanded it.

Mr. Howell Hinds, of Cleveland, O., arrived last night on the Yukoner and is at the Hotel McDonald. Mr. Hinds is the president of the company which is putting in the dredge under the supervision of E. B. Northrop upon Mr. J. P. Anderson's claim No. 42 below on Bonanza. The launch Melrose also arrived last night in charge of J. M. Elmer with four more scow loads of machinery for the dredge. It is expected that the machine will be in operation before August.

During the horse races Thursday one of the entries, Puzlet, owned by Hector Stewart and ridden by Bert Collyer, bolted the track just after crossing Third street, scattering the crowd right and left and knocking down four men who were unable to get out of the way. One of them, O. Beagton, was rendered unconscious, remaining in that condition over an hour before consciousness could be restored. Fortunately no bones were broken and today he feels but little worse for the encounter except for a general soreness. In the mixup the horse fell down and threw his rider, cutting his chin slightly and giving him a severe shock. The animal is said to be a brute with a nasty temper and Collyer can in no wise be blamed for the accident.

Trees and Land. Do not buy land on which the trees are small and of not very thick growth. You will see that men who are experienced in buying farming land always go on this principle. Land thickly covered with timber indicates good land, where the trees are scattered and not very tall indicates poor land.

A stray chimpanzee from Central Africa sometimes goes as far north as Morocco, where it is looked on as "a hairy man with four hands."

Street Car Riding For Insomnia. One of the most prominent physicians in the city is recommending a new remedy for insomnia, a cheap and pleasant remedy, which is at least worth trying. Two hours before bedtime, says he, put on your most comfortable clothes, your sanest shoes and your least chokey collar. Then walk over to the nearest car line, take a front seat in the first open car that comes along and sit there till time to go to bed, riding from one end of the line to the other with the cool night wind blowing in your face. An hour's street car riding, he says, scarcely ever fails to bring on a feeling of drowsiness, and he has actually been able to bring sleep to the most nerve-wrecked of insomniacs by his simple device.—Washington Post.

Card Playing in Church. Frequent cases of card playing occurred in churches in olden days in the high or curstained family pews that were to be found in several parts of this country. A case of card playing was mentioned by the poet Crabbe as having occurred in one of those pews in Trobridge parish church. Mr. Berensford Hope stated that card playing was not uncommon in churches having curstained pews, where those occupying them were screened from the observation of the rest of the congregation, and that one of the Georges is credited with taking part at a game of whist in the church he attended. The church at Little Stanmore, in Middlesex, has a luxurious room pew which is approached by a special door and staircase. The old St. Paul's cathedral before the great fire of London was used by business men as a sort of exchange. The portico was let out to booksters, and in those days gambling and cards are both said to have been indulged in without let or hindrance within the cathedral.—London Standard.

To the Miners. The best $1 meal and best bed in Dawson is served at the Martony Cafe, First avenue.

TIME'S DALL. When first I met the fair Marie, My sudden heart at once surrendered, And in a week, with eager haste, My love and all I have I tendered. ## SPORTING NOTES.

The preparation of the athletes for the events of the Fourth has taken a great deal of the activity from other sports during the last week.

From now on there will be a greater amount of interest taken in the field sports as the various clubs are getting better equipped for playing by the arrival of better paraphernalia.

The Gandolfo baseball team received its complete outfit, which has been so anxiously awaited, last night. It consists of one mask, four field gloves, three base mits, two catchers' mits and one dozen league bats. The next game of baseball will be played at Eagle City. An excursion to that place is now being arranged to be given in a few days, announcement of which will be made later.

The McLennan & McPeely boys recently received a number of lacrosse balls by mail and have signified their willingness to meet the civil service team in a match game.

The entries for the coming tournament of the Yukon Lawn Tennis Club closed tonight and the announcement of the handicaps will be made next week.

The Cricketers have been doing some practicing during the past week, but have not arranged any games as yet.

The football game Thursday evening was a good exhibition and a full account appears in another column.

Owing to the rain Thursday afternoon the baseball game between the Gandolfo and Grand Forks teams was postponed and the match will occur at some future date.

The tug of war between the anchor-men, Atkinson and Anderson on the night of the 4th lasted two hours, at the end of which time the pull was called off by the management of the house as other events were scheduled for the same evening. The referee declared it a draw for that evening. It was supposed to have been finished the next evening but the referee declared the decision of the previous evening was final and new articles would have to be signed before another meet. The tug of war between the Canadian-American vs. the Scandinavian teams was pulled off Friday evening and after 40 minutes' pull was declared a draw. The Scandinavians had the advantage of 14 inches at the expiration of the time limit. Frank Slavik refereed both tug of war events.

Whitehorse Warehouses Empty and Little Freight Coming That Way—Shippers Prefer Lower Route

From Saturday and Monday's Daily. A serious problem is confronting the up-river line of steamers, one that is causing traffic managers no end of uneasiness. The rash incident to the opening of navigation is about over and the warehouses at Whitehorse are now empty with but very little freight coming over the pass. The up-river fleet received a number of additions this year and from the breaking up of the river every boat has been taxed to its utmost. The result is, almost every line of goods in Dawson is overstuffed, the market is glutted and many of the merchants and brokers have already cancelled orders for future shipments.

The Prospector arrived last night without a pound of freight in her hold and it is said the B. Y. N. line will take the Bailey and several other of the smaller boats out of commission for the time being.

Along the water front the diminution in freight coming via Skagway is attributed to some extent to the figure "Black" Sullivan is cutting in the transportation line with his lower river fleet. Last winter when the transportation combine was effective with both the up and lower river lines, the latter being allowed a differential rate of $10 a ton, Sullivan steadfastly refused to become a party to the agreement, preferring to conduct his own business without any suggestion of interference from others.

He has had several immense barges built on Puget Sound and towed to St. Michael and it is proposed each of his boats, the Lightning, Tyrrell and J. P. Light, will tow two of them loaded to their fullest capacity to this point each trip. One of them is expected on her initial voyage with the barges next week. Sullivan's Dawson representative states that his line has 6,000 tons under contract for transportation this season, 3,000 tons being for one firm. The rate given shippers is not precisely known except among those directly interested, but it is generally believed to be at least 50c less than the through rates from Pacific coast points at present in vogue via Skagway. To a heavy shipper, delivery being guaranteed during the season this reduction would doubtless be a sufficient bait to cause him to divert his freight to the lower river route. Nor is the Sullivan line the only fleet which has cut into the business of the river boats. The Monarch a tramp steamer, has 80 tons under contract and it is also reasonable to expect that no small amount of Dawson freight will be carried by the Northern Navigation line, goods other than those belonging to the big companies directly interested in the combine. The N. N. Co. is offering outside shippers the same inducements as given some members of the company and to a consignee of even so small shipment as 100 tons the differential rate allowed the St. Michael boats would effect a saving of $1000 and delivery during the season is guaranteed.

If the lack of business via Skagway should continue it might be that a readjustment of freight rates would become necessary in order to counter-balance the effect being produced by the lower river lines. That the rates could be reduced very materially and still leave an enormous surplus for dividends there can be no doubt, and if Sullivan's refusal to enter the transportation combine should prove the means, indirectly, of cutting down the tariff via Skagway it would indeed be an ill wind which would blow no good to every merchant and miner in the Yukon territory.

KNOTTY PROBLEM.

To draw up an ordinance that would be satisfactory to the claim owner would be an easy task. To draw up an ordinance that would meet the hearty approval of the layman would be the work of a few moments. To draw an ordinance that would in every respect please the laborer would be only a before-breakfast task. But to frame an ordinance that is satisfactory to claim owner, layman and laborer alike would require much time and profound study on the part of some modern Moses who must be possessed of the wisdom of Solomon to frame it, and the pleading eloquence of David to pass it.

Several months ago the Wilson ordinance, in many respects a most able document, was before the council continuously for meeting after meeting. Finally it was decided that it did not meet the exigencies of the occasion, with the result that it was discarded and a new, broader and more comprehensive document was drawn up and substituted. The latter was introduced at Thursday night's session of the council, but when brought up at last night's session for consideration, it also was found to be lacking in the component parts which are intended to afford protection, to be equitable, just and fair to all alike, owner, layman and laborer, with the result that it was laid over for consideration, probable alterations and amendments and possible relegation to the shades of obscurity to join its predecessor.

No one doubts for a moment but that the council is striving to do the right thing in the way of passing a miner's law, but that all interests may be equally protected the task is far from being an easy one. The council is right in taking time for due consideration of the weighty matter, and when once an ordinance is passed there is little doubt but that it will meet all the requirements.

THE SHIP CANAL.

The New York Journal of Commerce advises going slow in the matter of the ship canal down in Central America. Our contemporary remarks:

The Republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica have bound themselves by treaty to give certain rights in any canal constructed through their territory to the shipping of most of the maritime powers of Europe, and the theory of absolute American control would seem to require that these two should be denounced. In short, the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is only part of a mass of international obligations of which we must take due account in dealing with the status of a trans-isthmian canal. It would, on every account, be safer and more honorable for our government to proceed with more deliberation in this matter than the majority of the popular branch of congress has shown a disposition to do. This country cannot, if it would, bar the construction of a canal through the isthmus to the citizens of any nation but its own. It has already conceded that point by allowing the construction of the Panama canal to be begun under foreign auspices, and the time has come for a calm and business-like consideration of the conditions thus created.

MONOPOLY'S IRON HEEL.

Prior to the opening of navigation the announcement was made that the W. F. & Y. R., including the railroad and steamboat line, the former connecting with the latter at Whitehorse, completing the route from Skagway to Dawson, had in sight all the business it could handle during the open season. Now after but one month of active operation boats are coming down the river with empty holds and blank manifests and still three months of the open season remain. This is one instance in which monopoly performed an act of contortion and got its heel on its own neck, choking life out of itself. The result is a natural one—boats are being taken off the route and tied up to remain inoperative. Employees are thrown out of work after drawing one month's wages and very meagre wages at that. And what has become of all the thousands of tons of freight, the transportation of which was to keep the company's steamers busy until the close of navigation in the fall? The answer is easy. Those who had ordered the goods have been brought face to face with the realization that after paying the present freight schedule they would necessarily be compelled to sell the goods at a loss with the result that the orders have been countermanded; written instructions have been cancelled by wire, dealers not desiring to worry, work and economize and have the profits that should be theirs all disappear within the rapacious maw of a corporation that pays its Dawson longshoremen six bits per hour when similar labor outside commands all the way from forty to sixty cents per hour. The natural results will follow. Development of the country will be practically suspended for the reason that until goods can be sold at living prices they will not be purchased and when not afforded a market they will not be shipped in from the outside. There is no reason why freight via Skagway should not be delivered in Dawson at as low a figure as freight via St. Michael, and yet, as stated in Saturday's issue of this paper, a preference of $50 per ton is obtained in shipping by the latter route. It is a small merchant in Dawson who does not import fully 100 tons of goods each year and one item of $50 saved on each ton means $5000, a prosperous year's profit, saved before one dollar's worth of goods are sold. The present is the occasion of a reality, a crisis in the history of the Yukon; and the question is: Shall the life's blood be sucked from the country by a monopolistic vampire until all growth and development is stunted, or will independent railroad and steamship lines be constructed and operated that will adhere to the old commercial and business adage: "Live and let live."

FOOLISH UNDERTAKING.

As will be noticed in the advertising columns of this paper Dawson still contains those who, blind to the recent and sad experience of others, continue to entertain the delusion that there is an aching void in the daily newspaper field of Dawson that is longing to be filled. Only four short months ago others entertained the same delusion and attempted to fill the long felt want—

"And the mocking bird is singing o'er her grave" —while unpaid bills and distress warrants, like spooks, haunt the promoters of the late enterprise. To most people this experience recently derived in attempting to fill a vacancy that does not exist would be sufficient, but by the Sun it does not appear to be heeded. Not content to believe the sign which says "Fresh Pair" the Sun must butt up against it in its Sunday clothes in order to be convinced that the sign tells the truth. There is no more field here for a third daily paper than there is for an ice factory and by the time the Sun has expended a few thousand dollars and the aching void is in the promoter's purse instead of in the Dawson newspaper field, it will realize that the prediction of the Nugget was pregnant with truth and that it takes more than government pap to support a daily paper.

Verbum sat sapiente.

An episode occurred at St. Louis the other day that proves that it is always a good thing to go armed, especially when attending a negro Sunday school picnic. The St. Louis colored Baptists would not have had a memorable time had they not all carried weapons. One old woman was killed by a shot not intended for her, and a good many of the brudders and sistrs were perforated by bullets or slashed with razors. The origin of the battle was a slighting remark made about a "sister," such as is made frequently in all church and other societies, but which seldom leads to such immediate and violent action. All the brethren and doubtless some of the sistrs were armed, so that it is presumed that the melee was not unexpected, if it was not part of the program of entertainment. When the colored brethren and sistrs down South get religion, they get it good and hot.

When the Pacific Mail steamer Rio de Janeiro went to the bottom of Golden Gate a few months ago carrying with her Captain James Ward, his sweetheart, Miss Lena Jackson, refused to be comforted and even talked of going to the bottom of the sea to join her lost love. But ere long the little birds once more warbled in her heart, and about the middle of June she was led, to the altar by James Gordon Bennett, an ex-convict, who three years ago stabbed his mistress and attempted suicide. Verily, a man in the bottom of the sea is a dead one.

Now that Seattle has had a sensational murder she congratulates herself that her moral atmosphere is purified and henceforth it will be a regular Sunday school town. And no account is published of a train load of sand-baggers, bunco men and petty thieves having been shipped out from that burg. How can a place reform so long as it harbors the element that has made Seattle its headquarters for the past three years? It will take more than a sawed-off shot gun and a revolver to make Seattle a safe place when the electric light plant is shut down.

Now that gardens are just entering the age of maturity, that flowers are just beginning to unfold their delicate petals, that several hundred grocers and fruit dealers have their wares sitting around their doors, the action of the Yukon council in permitting to be turned loose and at large in the city a few thousand dogs will be greatly appreciated—by the dogs.

The latest candidate for public favor in the journalistic field of Dawson and the Yukon is the Yukon Catholic, Volume 1, No. 1, of which is just out. McKord is editor and manager of the new publication. The Nugget predicts for the Yukon Catholic an era of both prosperity and usefulness.

August Boco was found asleep in the alley back of the Central Hotel Saturday afternoon and was taken to the barracks, and this morning was before Magistrate Scarth charged with being intoxicated. He made a very elaborate explanation of how he had been working on a building and becoming weary with his hard labor had laid himself down in a cool and comfortable place to take a quiet nap. The magistrate informed him to seek a more secluded place of repose hereafter and fined him $5 and costs.

Harry O'Graw was before the magistrate charged with stealing $21.60 from James F. Gill in the Aurora saloon. A man named Howard was with Gill at the time and laid the complaint against O'Graw, but Howard has since left town and gone to Montana creek, so the case was postponed until tomorrow at 10 a. m.

to such immediate and violent action. All the brethren and doubtless some of the sistrs were armed, so that it is presumed that the melee was not unexpected, if it was not part of the program of entertainment. When the colored brethren and sistrs down South get religion, they get it good and hot.

When the Pacific Mail steamer Rio de Janeiro went to the bottom of Golden Gate a few months ago carrying with her Captain James Ward, his sweetheart, Miss Lena Jackson, refused to be comforted and even talked of going to the bottom of the sea to join her lost love. But ere long the little birds once more warbled in her heart, and about the middle of June she was led, to the altar by James Gordon Bennett, an ex-convict, who three years ago stabbed his mistress and attempted suicide. Verily, a man in the bottom of the sea is a dead one.

Now that Seattle has had a sensational murder she congratulates herself that her moral atmosphere is purified and henceforth it will be a regular Sunday school town. And no account is published of a train load of sand-baggers, bunco men and petty thieves having been shipped out from that burg. How can a place reform so long as it harbors the element that has made Seattle its headquarters for the past three years? It will take more than a sawed-off shot gun and a revolver to make Seattle a safe place when the electric light plant is shut down.

MANAGER MIZNER OF N. C. CO. OUT WITH HIS AX.

FINALE OF STABBING CASE

Court Says Wingfield Had Considerable Provocation.

But Was Not Justified in Using a Knife—His Assaults on Trial This Afternoon.

From Monday's Daily.

The balance of the evidence in the Wingfield stabbing case was heard Saturday afternoon before Magistrate Scarth. Wingfield's story differed very materially from that of Gleason's and Longbery's. Wingfield said that at shortly after 12 o'clock on Saturday the 29th of June, four men in an intoxicated condition had come into the Regina hotel and taking seats in the wine room had called for drinks; he had informed them that the saloon was closed as it was after 12 o'clock and that they could not get any drinks. Then one of them had said "Let's go into room No. 4; that is my room," to which Wingfield had replied that room No. 4 was occupied by another party and therefore could not be his. They had then all left the wine room and went into room No. 5, which was vacant. While in the room they had made so much noise and were using such indecent language that he had been sent to request them to leave the house. When told they would have to leave they began to abuse him and had said that he had queered them from getting a drink and at the same time Gleason had caught hold of him and tried to hit him. He threw off Gleason's hold and ran out of the door and across the street with Gleason following closely behind him. Reaching down he picked up a stick and as he held it up to defend himself Gleason ran into it and stuck him over the eye. He then made his escape from the crowd and did not go back to the hotel for nearly an hour so as to give them plenty of time to get away.

He returned to the hotel in about three-quarters of an hour and found the gang in front of the hotel door. As soon as they caught sight of him they cried out "There is the Dutch"— "Let's kill him," and with that Gleason made a run for him. He turned and ran and at the same time pulled out his pocket knife and warned Gleason to keep away from him. Gleason still came after him, and believing his life to be in imminent danger, as Gleason is a much larger man and was supported by three companions, he had defended himself with his knife and in the scuffle Gleason had been cut. He had then run up town calling for help, with the mob after him. They had caught him in front of the Reception saloon, and while one of them held him another had beaten him and then had him arrested.

Several other witnesses were examined by the defense and while they did not see the affair from the beginning had witnessed the second attack in front of the Regina and substantiated Wingfield's account of it.

In summing up the case the magistrate said, "The story of Gleason to the effect that Wingfield, without any provocation, should deliberately insult, club and afterwards knife him looked preposterous. The evidence clearly showed that Gleason and his party had Fortymile, June 20.—Fortymile has recovered from the effects of the disastrous flood of several weeks ago and the trading houses and saloons are again doing business at their old stands.

The price of provisions is exceedingly high for the season of the year. Flour sells at 45 per sack, picks from $1 to $5, checkmate spuds 15 per pound, fresh beef at 75c, onions at 90c, eggs at $1.25 per doz. and all other commodities at proportionate figures. The large trading companies are expecting large shipments and these prices are not likely to stand long. It is conservatively estimated that there are 800 miners working and prospecting in the Fortymile district and it is anticipated that the number will be increased two-fold early in July. Jack Wade creek has been a bitter disappointment to many and therefore a set back to the country. Although there was considerable work done on the creek during the winter months and large dumps taken out, only a few claims paid expenses and several were obliged to settle with the wage-laborers at twenty-five cents on the dollar. There is little summer work under way there and there are about forty men working now. Chicken creek, about forty miles up the Fortymile, is showing up the best of any of the streams in the district. Some sixty men are working and taking out three cents to the shovel. The gravel of three feet thickness is found at a depth of sixteen feet. Pay on this creek was struck late in January of this year and over forty claims have been staked, many of which will be worked this season. On the whole Fortymile is quiet, with no prospect of an immediate awakening.

COMING AND GOING.

Col. Charles Claypool, United States commissioner at Circle City, has returned from the outside and will proceed to his house on the first boat leaving for down the river. He is accompanied by Mrs. Claypool and three children.

Mrs. O. Finstad has returned from a trip to Victoria. Mrs. Finstad's visit outside was for the purpose of purchasing new furniture and fittings for the Empire hotel to replace those destroyed by the fire several months ago.

Major Wood was amongst the passengers arriving yesterday on the Selkirk.

Steve O'Brien has returned from a flying trip outside.

S. W. Taggart and George Murphy returned on the Selkirk from a short trip up the river.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. N. Barrett, Wilfred Barrett, and the Misses Alice and Jeanette Barrett were passengers on the Yukoner Saturday evening for the outside. The Misses Barrett were prominent in social circles and will be greatly missed by the younger society set.

E. E. Hill, the builder of the Dewey at the Forks, has gone outside on a visit.

I. N. Davidson, the water man, left hurriedly on the Yukoner for Whitehorse.

Mrs. A. M. Kilgore has left for a visit to the outside.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Post (May Ashley) left for Skagway on the Yukoner. They are clever entertainers and have delighted Dawson audiences almost continually for over a year.

Good catches of greyling are now being made in the Klondike river. The best place yet found for the sport is in the vicinity of Rock creek about 15 miles up at which place one party caught 20 pounds yesterday.

Mrs. R. S. Richards, wife of Mr. Ralph Richards of the Nugget's composing room force, arrived in Dawson Saturday night on the steamer Ora. Mrs. Richards as well as the balance of the passengers are sounding the praises of Capt. Bailey of the Ora for the courteous treatment they received on the trip.

In the four cities of New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh there was a total of 387 deaths from heat and over 1000 prostrations yesterday. In the suburb of New York lightning killed 11 people and injured many others. It demolished a church in Brooklyn, the damage being $250,000. Three people were instantly killed and many injured by lightning in St. Louis.

Seattle, July 2, via Skagway, July 8.—The steamer Centennial just returned from Nome, says the steamer Elk City in spite of the ice landed freight and passengers 20 miles from Nome on June 19th and that the passengers immediately laid the sand spit out in a townsite which they named Elk City.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

Steamer Victorian arrived yesterday afternoon with 37 passengers and a heavy cargo of freight.

The Selkirk arrived yesterday with 11 passengers. She carried a full cargo, there being one consignment of over 2100 pieces for McLennan & McPeckley. The Yukoner left Saturday within an hour or two after returning from the excursion. She carried a list of 46 passengers.

The Dawson took her departure for Whitehorse yesterday afternoon with eight passengers.

The Ora left Sunday for Selkirk. She will bring back several rafts of logs for the local mills.

Three more scow loads of machinery arrived Saturday from Cassiar Bar, being a portion of the dredger formerly in operation at that point, but which is now being set up at 42 below Bonanza. Word was received from Bonanza today to the effect that the hull of the dredger is up and in position. The plant will be ready for operation within the next two months.

A Hot Sport.

Lacrosse enthusiasts will have an opportunity this evening of witnessing the play of the champion of British Columbia. Mr. E. A. Quigley, purser of the Selkirk, enjoys that distinction, and as his boat does not leave until tomorrow he will play this evening in a practice game with some of his old friends. Mr. Quigley wears a handsome medal won in a championship contest and also a valuable watch and chain presented him by admirers for his clever work.

They Love Their Governor.

Gov. John G. Brady was a passenger on Douglas City on the Queen. He had nothing to say for publication and seemed very busily engaged spinning missionary yarns to a gathering of old maid tourists, who were particularly interested in learning the true account of Sheldon Jackson's reindeer expedition and numerous other tales of pioneer tales of Alaska. The governor did not feel encouraged enough to venture up town and did not even come onto the wharf.—Alaskan.

Tom Lamat returned yesterday from a several months' visit to the outside.

The annual run of salmon is being daily expected. Generally the fish come up with the first boats. Several fishermen have been seining the river for the past several days to catch the first to arrive.

Mr. G. M. Taggart accompanied by his daughter, Miss Margaret, took his departure Saturday on the Yukoner for the outside.

Three Men Narrowly Escape Sinking With Scow.

Five Fingers, July 7.—Yesterday evening at 7 o'clock a scow containing ten tons of new potatoes struck a rock in the left-hand channel of the fingers. The crew consisting of Maasing and Peterson, owners, and one other man jumped on the rock and were later safely rescued by the cable men. The scow dipped and filled but passed here and on through Rink Rapids. There is no doubt but that the cargo is a total loss.

West Dawson Counter Petition.

To the Commissioners and Members of the Council of the Yukon Territory: We, the residents of West Dawson, on the left bank of the Yukon, opposite Dawson City, would set before you the following facts, re the so-called West Dawson petition of last Saturday.

1. Previous to the recent influx of doubtful characters there were not to exceed 30 residents of this place.
2. With the exception of one or two none of the signers of the petition referred to are bona fide residents of West Dawson, as shown on the map.
3. No lady resident of West Dawson is on the petition.
4. Mrs. Brown whose name appears on the petition resides on a farm nearly two miles down the river towards Fortymile and would have no occasion to visit the townsite but for the ferry boat maintained by George DeLion.
5. Mrs. O'Connor whose name also appears on the petition has no property in West Dawson, but erected a tent outside the limits some few days ago. Should the ferryboat be discontinued she would have no further occasion to visit West Dawson townsite and thus be subjected to alleged annoyance.
6. Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter maintain a roadhouse several miles back of town and do not live in West Dawson proper.
7. The bulk of the names on said petition are unknown to us, the balance non-residents.
8. The bona fide citizens of West Dawson would represent to you that the DeLion ferryboat is a great accommodation to them and yet could not be maintained by them alone. None others are at all accommodated by the recent arrivals. None others have occasion to visit the townsite but to use the ferryboat.

We therefore pray that no official action will be taken which would lead to a suspension of the ferryboat.

Ministers and Ex-Governor Generals Say "No No" at Dominion Day Dinner

WHEN CHAMBERLAIN MADE STATEMENT

That Thirty Years ago They Were Ready to Absorb With U.S.

COLONIAL SECRETARY INSISTS

That Such Was Then the Sentiment but England Now Wants Canada's Council, Advice and Arms.

From Saturday's Daily.
London, July 1, via Skagway, July 8.—Lord Strathcona and the Mount Royal presided at the Dominion Day dinner at the Hotel Cecil, which was attended by 300 persons, including Lord Chamberlain, Aberdeen and other former Canadian governor-generals; also Sir Louis Davis, David Mills, Sidney Fisher and the other Canadian ministers now in London, as well as Gen. Ian Hamilton and Rear Admiral Douglas Milhorn Parker. In speaking of Canada's material progress Chamberlain said:

"Thirty years ago your thoughts might have turned to the question of absorption with your powerful but friendly neighbor toward the south." (Received with cries of "No, no," by the Canadian ministers.) Continuing Chamberlain said: "Yes, you may say 'No, no,' but you would not have said it thirty years ago. Of one thing I am convinced: If our colonies desire closer connection and will assist us with their counsel and advice, in addition to their arms, there is nothing this country would more readily welcome."

That Forty Cents.

Before Mrs. Browley was married she scoffed at the misguided girls and women who kept personal accounts. Her argument was that if you know how much money you had and it was all gone what was the use of piling on the anguish by having your folly and extravagance in black and white to stare you in the face, especially as you had no more money at the end of the month than you had without an account book?

But since she has been running a house she has achieved not one but nearly a dozen account books. There is one devoted to the grocery man, another to the butcher, personal accounts take a third, and so on till she spends nearly all her glad young life balancing sums. It is a matter of pride with her that they shall come out even, and so there was woe last month when 40 cents refused to be accounted for. She and Mr. Browley had a grave and lengthy discussion over the missing 40. Each accused the other of frolicing the sum away and neglecting to enter it on the proper book, "Sundries." Mr. Browley insisted strenuously he was not guilty. Mrs. Browley looked pained and urged him to confess. He left for downtown vowing vengeance.

It was late that afternoon when Mrs. Browley was entertaining a roomful of aristocratic callers that a telegraph boy appeared. The maid brought in the fatal yellow envelope, and at once the bride knew her husband had been fatally injured and was sending for her. Someone revived her with smelling salts, a lady in purple velvet fanned her with a hastily snatched lamp shade, and a third visitor with more presence of mind than the rest opened the telegram. The message read: "Honest, now, what did you do with that 40 cents?"—Ex.

That Circular.

Editor Nugget:
The Miners' Union has sent a circular letter to the unions outside, advising laborers of the conditions of the labor market of the Yukon. Saturday's Sun has a connoisseur fit and falls in it over the circular and the statements it contains. In fearful threnodies and jejune jeremiads we are informed that the local union has forwarded to labor's ecumenical council what in plain language is a great big, whalloping "fib." The local union quoted some figures as to the cost of miners' supplies and the Sun ranges them up in a "deadly parallel" with prices as the Sun knows them; and then bubbles forth dolefully about "systems of false figures," "misrepresentation," "a wobbly-kneed cause," etc., until one would think the universe had slipped a cog or that the government had refused to "dig" any longer.

The union circular mentions rubber boots at $14 to $20. The Sun says "Liar! The prices are $8 to $14." Glad to know that they are coming down, I'm sure. But the fact remains that all last fall, last winter and this spring we most certainly paid $14 on Hunker. The man on Lower Dominion, Australia, Quartz, Eureka or Clear that got them as cheap as $20 was a wonder.

The union circular says "boots" $10 to $12. The oddities of English nomenclature introduce here an element of doubt as to what is meant. Taking "boots" as meaning "boots" other than rubber boots, (not shoes) we again find the union right and the Sun wrong. "Boots" are calf high or higher, and if the Sun knows where to get them for the $7 it quotes as the price, it had better go out of the publishing business at once, for it can make a fortune very quickly in the boot and shoe line.

The union circular says "overalls $2 to $4." The Sun shrieks out that the country is lost for ever and a day unless that life is nailed at once, and that the price is only $1.50. Doesn't any lilly-fingered, leptomachus friend know that miners wear miners overalls—which, by the way, are the best adapted wear ever invented for this country—and that the uniform price for two years past has been $4?

And so on through an entire list of shirts, tobacco, cigars, stage fares, picks, shovels and laundry. Take that last item for instance. The union circular very modestly says 25 cents to 50 cents per piece for laundering. The Sun looks up its napskin bill and declares 5 cents to be nearer right. By the great Sanhedrin why don't you be authorities on wash bills investigate a little before committing themselves to cold type? Of course it is but a small matter anyhow, for miners do most of their own deodorizing, but it is better to be right. Miners can't and don't run to Dawson's steam laundries with their weekly laundry bags. At intervals, along all the creeks, will be found the miners' laundry. The bill of fare is quite uniform, viz.: Shirts 50 cents, underclothes 25 cents per piece. The fact of the matter is that Dawson thinks she knows—and doesn't. Some fellow in a snug Dawson office, dressed in a pair of $2 tooth-picks shoes, a dollar nigger shirt and wearing thin muslin overalls for underwear at a dollar and a half "per," attempts to circulate a miners' list of prices when he doesn't know a pair of "drift" rubbers from a "leadman" and couldn't distinguish between a "California sock" and a stumppole if his life depended on it. In Dawson one may wear patent leather pumps and send his wash neckties to a five-cent laundry, but to quote his own apparel for a miners' guide on prices in the Yukon were like digging up a Second Avenue Japanese man and flaunting it to the world as a fair sample of hotel prices on the Dome.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Early yesterday morning three members of the N. W. M. P. had a very narrow escape from drowning in the river in front of the town of Whitehorse. Constables Hewitson, Robb and Potheringham were out in mid-stream in a Peterboro canoe endeavoring to swim a horse over to the opposite side of the river, the rope by which the horse was being led having been fastened to the center of the canoe. The horse refused to enter the water and while trying to force him

New York, July 2, via Skagway, July 8.—The Italian consul general has left here and fled to Italy as the result of many threats made against his life by anarchists. For several weeks he has employed a body guard and kept his place of residence a secret. It was he who exposed the plot to assassinate King Humbert and as a result he is much hated by anarchists.

Ottawa, July 2, via Skagway, July 8.—The secretary of state acting for the minister of customs has issued orders to Customs Transit Officer Busby at Skagway directing him to not insist on the display of the British flag contrary to popular feeling as he had originally had no orders from Ottawa to hoist the flag.

CUTTING CASE NOW ON TRIAL

Love for Oil of Joy Precipitates Trouble and Disgrace.

Harry Wingfield, porter at the Regina hotel was before Magistrate Scarth in the police court this morning charged with assaulting Daniel B. Gleason last Saturday night. Attorney Ridley appeared for the defendant. He asked that as there was one other assault case arising out of the same transaction that the evidence in the first be taken for the two which was agreed.

The case is the result of the disturbance which occurred at the Regina last Saturday night, a full account of which appeared in Monday's issue of the Nugget. Gleason was the first witness on the stand for the prosecution and stated that late Saturday night (he couldn't say exactly whether it was Sunday morning or not) he together with Messrs Lorey, Longberg and Hawkins went into the wine room of the Regina and asked for a drink. The porter replied that it was after 12 o'clock and no drinks would be served. One of the party had then asked if they had a room if they could get a drink to which the porter had replied that was different, and said it they were guests they could have a drink. The porter had then showed them into room No. 3 and had taken their order. The barkeeper came in and told them they could not have any drinks. The porter had returned and in insulting and abusive language had ordered them to leave the house. He called Gleason a name which witness had resented and tried to catch him to make him apologize. Witness had followed the porter across the street and was within a couple of feet of him when he (the porter) picked up a stick and turned around and hit witness over the eye. The rest of the crowd then came up and together they had gone to the fire hall to wash the wound and from there to Dr. Richardson's office to have the wound dressed. The dressing of the wound it was found necessary to take three stitches in it.

Witness accompanied by the other three men had gone back to the Regina to see the proprietors. He (Gleason) went into the hotel while the other three remained outside. Gleason was inside the hotel for about two minutes and then he came out again. Wingfield was seen some distance away and one of the party remarked "There he is now." Gleason had then advanced towards him and said, "Come here, I want to speak to you for a moment." Wingfield had then said "If you come near me I will rip you open." At the same time drawing a knife and making three lunges at him. The first two he warded off but the last one struck him in the shoulder making a severe wound. Wingfield had then run down the street and ex-Police-Larry had said "I will arrest him," and chased after him.

Witness accompanied by his remaining two companions started again for the doctor's office to get his new wound dressed. Passing in front of the Reception saloon he saw Wingfield in the center of a crowd and had reached over the shoulder of a man and hit him once in the eye. He had then continued to the doctor's office where his wound was dressed.

Cross-examined by Attorney Ridley, witness could not recollect the events which led up to the first altercation but remembered distinctly that in ordering them out of the house the porter had called him an improper name which he intended to make him apologize for. His only object in pursuing the fleeing porter had been to make him apologize and take back the name he had been called. While they had a few drinks before going into the Regina, they were not disorderly or noisy; to that he could swear, and his only object in going back to the Regina a second time had been to see the proprietor, although further cross examination by Attorney Ridley revealed the fact that he had neither seen or asked for the proprietor on his second trip.

Dr. Richardson was next put on the stand and testified as to the wounds which he had doctored. One was on the forehead just over the right eye which had been made by some blunt instrument presumably a stick of wood and the other a gash in the shoulder had been made with a knife.

Cross-examined the doctor said that from the conversation while the men were in the office he presumed they returned to the Regina to get even with the porter.

Longberg was next put on the stand and substantially told the same story as Gleason but his recollection was also a little dim as to the conversation and events which led up to the insulting language used by Wingfield and which created the disturbance. His only distinct recollection was the name which Wingfield had called Gleason. He had not heard Gleason call Wingfield any names or tell him to go to a warmer climate or anything which Gleason had done to justify the porter to use such abusive language.

The case is being continued this afternoon.

Taylor Wins Money

A hotly contested foot race occurred last night at Klondike City between George Taylor and E. D. Ralston for a purse of $100 and a side bet of like amount. The race was five miles on course measuring 16 laps to the mile. In the third mile Taylor gained a lap on his opponent and kept it until the finish, winning in 28 minutes and 52 seconds, excellent time when the condition of the track is considered. The first half mile was run in 2:07. At the conclusion of the race Ed. Smith, one of Taylor's backers, issued a challenge to run any man in the Yukon territory for ten miles up for a purse of $250 to $300. A well known cross country sprinter from England tried to arrange a three mile race, but Taylor refused to run less than ten miles. Bert Nelson acted as referee.

MANAGER H. TE ROLLER OF N. A. T. & T. CO.

W. H. Isom, vice-president and general manager of the N. A. T. & T. Co., arrived on the steamer Whitehorse recently and was seen by a Nugget representative today who asked him if the rumor was true that J. J. Delaney had resigned from his position as local manager of his company's interest in this place. Mr. Isom answered in the affirmative, stating that Mr. Delaney had tendered his resignation several months ago. He will still be connected with the company and will make several trips each year between the home office and Dawson, thus keeping the management in close touch with local conditions. Mr. Isom said: "We are in a splendid position to start the new season. Our warehouses are practically empty and I am more than pleased with the manner our affairs have been handled by Mr. Delaney, as shown by the annual statement handed to me upon my arrival. One thing I noticed which attracted my attention on this trip was the improved appearance of the men in Dawson. They are remarkably well dressed. We are going to spend a large amount of money prospecting for quartz. The future of the country demands it and as someone must take the initiative we have decided to start the work. There is no doubt but that quartz is here to be found. It is the history of almost every quartz country that it first starts as a placer camp. I do not think this district will prove an exception. We will put our diamond drill to work and see what we can find. We will have another boat added to the down river fleet this season—the W. H. Isom. She is now under construction at Seattle and will sail under her own steam up to Icy Inlet, from where she will be towed to St. Michael. She is a very large boat with great freighting capabilities as well as passenger accommodations. I have recently received advices from our Fortymile coal mine which is particularly gratifying. We have passed at last through the frost line. The depth attained is about 700 feet underground, we are working in the side of the hill some 1500 feet. We can now deliver coal in Dawson without a particle of frost in it and at the same time can take out the product in almost unlimited quantities. We are here to do business, you may be sure and intend to protect our trade."

Mr. Te Roller, the new manager of the N. A. T. & T. Co., needs no introduction as he is well and favorably known by the public in general, having made a most enviable reputation for himself as a public spirited, enterprising and energetic business man, being at the head of the S. Y. T. Co. at Dawson since it first began operations here. Although Mr. Te Roller modestly attributes the success of his former company to the policy of its officers and especially to Judge W. D. Wood its president, of whom he is a great admirer; yet it is a well known fact that it is largely through his efforts that the S. Y. T. Co. so rapidly forged ahead, ever increasing in public favor and enjoying the confidences of consumer and trader alike, until at the time of its sale to the Northern Navigation Co., it occupied a leading position among the large concerns operating here. Sufficiently so to make it an important factor in the undertaking of the new commercial arrangement. As noted before, its local success was greatly due to the personnel of its management here.

Under the general direction of Mr. Isom and local management of Mr. Delaney the past year the N. A. T. & T. Co. has done much to redeem its reputation from former disfavor and the appointment of Mr. Te Roller indicates its future policy.

Mr. Te Roller has always been in the lead in all questions of public interest. He is acting U. S. consul, chairman of the board of managers of the Good Samaritan hospital, a director in the Yukon General Trusts Co., an active member in the Board of Trade, and the principal stockholder and president of the Dawson Transfer Storage Co., as well as the Hadley's stage line. He is a central figure in social life and is universally liked and respected.

In an interview with Mr. Te Roller this morning as to what would be the future policy of the company he said: "First of all I want to say, I prize very highly the manifestations by the people with whom I have transacted business in the past few years, my friends and the press, in their voluntary expressions of congratulation and appreciation tendered me, and assure you that it has been a great source of gratification to know that my policy and methods in relation to the public in the past has met with general approval. I therefore feel not only justified but bound to pursue the same course. In discussing the question of the future policy with Mr. Isom I find that we are in perfect accord on this subject. It is my experience that the consumer in general and the miner in particular is not unwilling to pay a fair price for his purchases, but resents any treatment that savors of a "cinch."

The up-to-date and successful attorney is the one who has the full confidence of his clients. The conscientious and painstaking physician has the well being of his patient at heart. So also the modern merchant and business man must interest himself in the welfare, prosperity and success of his customers in order to expect their confidence and their trade.

"The company realizes that the prospector and miner are of first importance in the development of the country. The merchant and capitalist look to him to introduce possibilities in which they can co-operate with him for their mutual benefit. So it can be truthfully said that the merchant's success depends on that of the miner, therefore the former must foster and encourage the latter, and give him all the practical aid possible, accordant with sound business judgment.

"It shall be our aim to increase our facilities for doing business, thereby reducing cost of operating expenses to a minimum, in order that we may market our goods at the lowest possible cost to consumer, consistent with a fair margin of profit. The permanent merchant is interested in having mines operated and thus increase consumption of merchandise, and use of machinery, building material, etc. The merchant is interested in the prosperous continuance of the camp and thereby impelled to promote and foster further prospecting for new discoveries, and by so doing encourage extension of territory and expansion of business in all lines of trade.

"We have confidence in the permanency and stability of the camp, not unmindful, however, that the day of large profits are a thing of the past and from now on, with the increased transportation facilities offered, and correspondingly increased competition, all methods of saving will be devised thereby reducing cost to consumer. I do not wish to be considered presumptuous, but desire to state that it shall be my earnest endeavor to establish for the N. A. T. & T. Co. the reputation the S. Y. T. Co. enjoyed, thus assuring the public fair and equitable treatment at its hands."

A Correction.

In the report of yesterday's games the Nugget was slightly in error in regard to the horse races. In the No. 2 race C. R. McLeod's "Harry N." won first money instead of second and in the Derby the same horse won the first heat, the second being a tie with Stewart's "Panzler." When the tie was run off the McLeod horse won by a neck. In the pony race a protest was entered for second place which will be decided today. It is claimed the Flannery horse, which took second money, was over 14 hands, the standard established as the maximum height of ponies.

WHAT CAN A POOR MAN DO

College Professor Warns Men Against Society Girl.

Dorothy Dix Presents Some Good Arguments in Her Favor—She Makes an Economic Wife.

The earth is peopled by men, and women, and college professors. The latter constitute a distinct genus by themselves.

One of them has been bragging that he never kissed a woman. Another has been overtaken by trouble because he kissed too many. A learned professor of mathematics has employed his talents in making time guesses at the end of the world. The distinguished president of one of our leading universities, who has the gift of seeing spooks, has gone on record with the prophecy that the bogey of imperialism will get us, and that in 20 years the United States will be an empire. It is things like these that make the utterances of college professors so important and so well worth study by their fellow creatures.

It is their business in life to instruct youth, and what they don't know about life is a plenty.

In a Chicago university one of these inspired oracles has recently been advising the young men of his class about what kind of a girl to marry. This is an interesting and important subject, and the students heard him gladly, and the lecturer began by the assertion that the woman of today is in no respects equal to her grandmother.

As much as no man hopes to marry his grandmother, this seems unnecessarily discouraging, but it leaves one filled with the liveliest regret that the professor didn't see fit to explain what the modern woman's inferiority consists of.

Why isn't the strong, athletic, out-of-door girl, who can play golf all day and take a ten-mile tramp without fatigue, as good a specimen physically as her grandmother, who couldn't have walked a quarter of a mile without the sustaining arm of a cavalier and who swooned at the sight of a mouse?

Why isn't the girl who has had a good, solid education given her and who has supplemented that with travel, and who keeps in touch with the thought of the world through books and magazines and newspapers, as intelligent a companion as her grandmother, who had only an omelette some kind of schooling, and who wouldn't have dared to know anything, if she could, for fear she would have been called strong minded?

Why isn't the helpful, practical girl of today, who can roll up her sleeves and go to work, and support a husband, if necessary, as liable to be a real helpmeet to the man she marries as her grandmother, who were trained to do the clinging act from the time they were born, and who did nothing but fustoon themselves around some man as long they lived?

The truth is this grandmammas business makes one weary. Doubtless our ancestors were charming and delightful creatures, but they were not everything. There are others, and the pebbles on the beach have a very different polish now compared with those that formerly strewed the sands of time.

Not content, however, with this general discouragement—and it's really enough to make a man say, if I can't marry my grandmother I won't marry at all MacFarlane.

The professor comes down to the boys' own age and weight class, so to speak, and warns them in particular against marrying a society girl. He declares her to be a parasite, a useless creature, who can't make a comfortable home, and that she is a millstone about her husband's neck.

This is a sweeping indictment of an ornamental class, and in the main appears to be most unjust. You can no more generalize about society girls than you can about shop girls, or any other kind of girls. Every woman is an exception that disproves every theory about her sex. Doubtless there are women who will always keep solvent houses and swamp their husbands in a sea of debt, but they belong to no particular class. There are more illkept homes in the tenements than on Fifth avenue, and you can be as recklessly extravagant with five dollars as with five thousand.

This absurd idea of the society girl, though, has stood in the way of a deal of happiness. Many a poor, rich girl has broken her heart about the man who loved her, but was afraid to ask her to share his modest salary. Yet nine times out of ten a girl who has been to accustomed wealth makes the best poor man's wife.

Nor is this hard to understand. For one thing she wouldn't exchange a satin lined jewel box for a six room flat unless she was a woman of character. For another, she brings with her a certain satiety of the gay world that gives charm to a quiet life. It is not the person who fares delicately every day who gourmandizes at a feast. It is the poor, half famished wretch who has been looking on with hungry eyes and who is suddenly bidden in. The women who are insatiable in their thirst for society are not those born to it but those who have achieved it. The woman who is on the inside frequently steps out without one pang of regret for what she is leaving, but nothing but death or bankruptcy will stop the woman who has made up her mind to break into the charmed circle.

The same thing may be said of economy. To the girl who has had nothing a year, two or three thousand seem like the purse of Fortunatus that can never be exhausted, and she starts on a career of wild extravagance. To the rich girl it seems so little that she feels that she must economize and make it go as far as possible, and, as a matter of fact, a woman who is used to handling money is nearly always a better economist than a poor one.

It is one of life's ironies that only the rich can afford to learn how to economize.

Of course, no rule holds good all the way through, and perhaps there are many society girls who would justify the professor's strictures, but the poor young man is safe from them.

They would positively decline to consider love in a cottage—unless the cottage was located at Newport.

DOROTHY DIX.

CANADIANS VS. ENGLAND

Former Wins at Football by Score of 7 to 6.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large crowd gathered at the barracks ground. Thursday night at 8:30 to witness the football game between the Canadian and English teams.

The players were not at all deterred by the dampness of the ground or the pools of water which the rain of the afternoon had caused to form thereon, but played as strong a game as if they were on a dry, grassy field.

Some of the players would come out of every scrimmage covered with mud from head to foot and at the end of the game there was not a player but who had tasted his full share of mud but the game never relaxed for a minute until the call of time.

In the first half, played under English rules, the only score made was one try by Stevenson for the Canadians which gave them three points.

In the second half, played under Canadian rules, Bell for the Canadians scored one try, four points, which gave the Canadians seven points.

Van Milligan for the English scored one try which was converted into a goal giving his side six points which made 7 in favor of the Canadians.

Stevenson, quarterback for the Canadians, played a fine game as did also McMurray, Baptiste, Burwash, McAniff and Bennett. For the English team A. L. Hughes played the strongest game, but Van Milligan, Brimstone and Stephens were not far behind in their good playing.

Joe Clarke brought himself into prominence by getting into a dispute with the umpire for which he was suspended for five minutes for his loud talking.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

Canada—Fullback, H. C. Norquay; three-quarter backs, L. Cosby, E. C. Senkler, J. D. McMurray; quarter, F. C. Stevenson; forwards, W. H. Scarth, W. Baptiste, L. Burwash; wings, R. McLennan, J. McAniff, J. Bell, C. Inkster, E. Bennett, M. Scarth, A. T. MacFarlane.

England—Full back, J. A. Clarke; three quarter backs, W. D. Pettigrew, E. S. Searle, H. J. Stephen; quarter, A. L. Hughes; forwards, J. Stace Smith, O. H. Van Milligan, E. L. Gwillim, A. Gibbs, A. Grays, Geo. Brimstone, A. Howden, Percy Nash, A. N. Nom.

Referee—H. S. Tobin.

Touch judges—Messrs. MacRae & Finnie.

Scorers—For Canada, Stevenson and Jack Bell; for England, Van Milligan.

Copper King in Town.

Mr. A. F. Benton, of Whitehorse, one of the original locators of the copper mines at that place, and also one of the heavy stockholders in the "Anacoda," "Rabbit's Foot" and "Whitehorse" mines, arrived in Dawson Thursday night.

Mr. Benton is a miner of long experience and says that he never saw in any of the mining countries he has visited such a vast mineral deposit. The ore can be traced on the surface for 50 miles and is several miles wide. Mr. Benton as well as all the holders of property are very sanguine of its richness. "The fact," said Mr. Benton, "that a $100,000 offer for one of the claims was refused indicates the faith the holders have in the property."

Mr. Benton will leave on the first boat for Teller City and will return late in the fall.

WESTERN TRAFFIC

Is Now Being Reached Out for by Eastern Canada.

Ottawa, June 22.—It is the aim of both political parties in the Canadian parliament to leave no stone unturned to capture the carrying trade of the West and the Western states. The products of the West are concentrated at the head of the great lakes, transshipment of the vast preponderance of them taking place at Buffalo. So far the Dominion has not secured a very large share of the traffic, but the loan of $1,000,000 to the Montreal harbor commission by the Dominion government, together with the appropriation of various large sums for the improvement of the St. Lawrence route, furnish evidence of the government's determination to make that route adequate to meet the demands of the traffic which it is expected will soon be diverted into it.

Besides the efforts put forth in this direction, however, other projects are being worked on which are designed to make the port of Quebec the principal part for the export trade of this country and open for navigation all the year round, thus furnishing an important factor toward the solution of the Canadian transportation problem.

Archdeacon Vincent, of Stonewall, Manitoba, has been appointed by the government the commissioner for taking the census of the Keewatin district and the northern part of Canada in the vicinity of Hudson bay. For forty years Archdeacon Vincent has labored as an Anglican missionary in these regions. He will take the eastern portion of the territory, while two other parties will, under his direction, cover the more westerly sections. Mr. Charles Fisher, who is to take the census of the Athabasca and Mackenzie river district, has already started out from Edmonton upon this mission. So little is known of the country that Mr. Fisher is left largely to his own discretion in securing the enumeration of the Indians, the Eskimos and others of that region.

Sir James Grant, of Ottawa, who is president of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, agrees heartily with the action of Mr. Powderly, the United States superintendent of immigration, in refusing to allow entrance into the United States of any immigrants who are found to be affected with the disease of consumption. Similar action has been recommended to the Dominion government by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. It is thought here that the action of Mr. Powderly will prevent many consumptives from leaving Canada for milder climates in the Southern states, notably for Colorado and California. Although consumptives from Canada bound for the Southern states are not usually regarded as immigrants, nevertheless it is said they could be so classed under the order issued by Mr. Powderly.

Big Salmon Country.

It is the Big Salmon country that is now coming to the front. It is coming in leaps and bounds. It is a second Klondike in its infancy and will soon be full grown.

The district is full of prospectors who are turning up something new and rich every day. Hundreds of claims have already been located and recorded. Considerable development work has already been done on many of them and surface indications of depth of wealth are proving true. There are also hydraulic propositions on which machinery is in operation. About three weeks ago a new find was made in the Big Salmon district. Discovery was located on Lake creek and the discoverers took out $50 and $40 to the pan. A stampede resulted and the whole creek was staked out. Nothing as rich as that taken out on discovery has yet been announced, but evidence of approximate wealth has been obtained.

Among the lucky stamperds to Lake creek was Joseph Morton, of the firm of Joseph Morton & Co., of Whitehorse. Mr. Morton recorded two claims, both of which he is well satisfied. There are prospectors out in parts of the Big Salmon district that has never before been prospected and news of other valuable finds may be expected from time to time. Hootalinqua is the starting point for the Big Salmon placer fields and the little post has been the scene of considerable excitement of late. The firm of Taylor & Drury, of Whitehorse, who had the enterprise to establish a branch at Hootalinqua early this season, have reaped considerable reward by being on the ground at the right time. Dan Snure, who runs a hotel and stopping place has had such a rush of business that his stock of supplies became exhausted long before he had expected they would and this week he has been in Whitehorse making large purchases. —Whitehorse Tribune.

Dreaded Brigand Dead.

The death of one of the most notorious and dreaded brigands in the Caucasus parotride from Schuscha, says an Odessa correspondent.

For fifteen years ASarri Hassanbekoff, originally an escaped convict, has held the three adjoining districts of Dsheminaschira, Shuscha, and Bissavetpo at his mercy. In more than a hundred collisions with the police, gendarmes, and military the retouchable brigand and his and of desperate followers have come off victorious and made good their escape to the hills.

In the early years of this local reign of terror the natives were disposed to betray the freebooter, but he wreaked such terrible vengeance on the informers that they quietly submitted to his exactions and refused to impart any information to the authorities.

Some ten days ago the police tracked Sarri to a lonely hamlet, and at dawn a company of fifty mounted police had encircled the cottage in which he stayed. A rifle shot brought the brigand chief from his couch. Though he saw this all was up he replied to the captain's summons to surrender with three rapid revolver shots, and seriously wounded a couple of the police. The next moment he was riddled with a score of rifle bullets.

These Caucasian brigands fight exactly after the manner of the Boer guerrillas when pursued by the military or police.

An Athens correspondent relates a tragic story illustrative of the daring of outlaw in Greece. At Manolis, near Pyrgos, a judge, whom as hearing evidence against an outlaw named Scantzora, admonished a witness for his lack of truth. The witness replied that he had been threatened by Scantzora the previous day with death should he tell the truth.

At this moment, dramatically enough, the outlaw Scantzora was seen peeping in at the window of the court. Immediately there was a hue and a cry, and everybody, the judge included, went in pursuit of the brigand.

After a fruitless search they all returned to the court, when to their horror they saw the witness lying dead upon the judge's table with a dagger piercing his heart. —Ex.

ROAD BUILDING INAUGURATED

An Army of Men Began Work This Morning.

Work Laid Out by Engineer Thibedeau at Instance of Commissioner Ross - First-class Highways.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The constant prayer of the miners for better roads which has been uttered continuously for the past three years has at last reached the ears of the powers that be and today marked an epoch in the history of the Klondike, for at 7 o'clock this morning over two men began work on a system of roads, which by the time they are completed will relieve from Dawson like the spokes of a wheel and each every part of the city. To Hon. Wm. Cassiday, ex-commissioner, much of the credit is due for bringing about this changed condition of things, for he it was who first brought the matter so forcibly to the attention of Ottawa, and the work he began so earnestly has been most ably continued by Governor Ross, the present commissioner. Among the first expressions of his views came to the public, Governor Ross stated that good roads were one of the most essential features necessary for the rapid and permanent up-building of a new country, and he gave his word that he should do his utmost toward securing an appropriation of a sufficient amount from the federal government to build a public highway on every creek of consequence in this part of the territory. How well the promises made are being carried out is seen from the fact that this morning work was begun simultaneously on four different sections, to be followed as soon as boarding facilities are provided by two others. Before the fall rains have begun the roads will be completed and it will then be possible to haul machinery and supplies to almost every claim in the Klondike any day in the year.

The work as laid out by Mr. W. Thibedeau, the government engineer in charge, is at present confined to Hunker, including a road from the Klondike bridge to the mouth of the creek, Bonanza from the Forks up the creek to McCarthy's roadhouse on the ridge, from the end of the present road on Eldorado up to Chief gulch, thence up Chief gulch to the summit and down Calder to the junction with Quartz to Indian river, and from the mouth of Quartz to Bureka via Montana creek. The road to Hunker begins at the new steel bridge and follows the foot hills closely along the left limit of the entire distance to the mouth of the creek, avoiding the swamps below and above Bear creek and assuring a good solid road at all seasons of the year. Up the creek the road will follow the right limit in about the same position as the present high trail continuing up the left fork and across the divide, connecting with a road to be built later down Leonard and to Upper Dominion. Thirty men and several teams are now at work on this division.

Section 1 extends from the Forks up Bonanza a distance of seven miles, 40 men being put to work on this section today.

Section 2 connects with section 1 and continues on up Bonanza joining the ridge road near McCarthy's roadhouse, a distance of five miles. On this section 30 men are at work.

Section 3 embraces several small stretches which will be built one after the other by the same gang of workmen as soon as one is completed. The first, upon which 40 men will begin work tomorrow, is but one and three-quarter miles in length and will be built from Adams gulch to Chechako and Adams hill. When that is completed the men will move over to Eldorado and take up the work left off last fall on No. 32, the present end of the Eldorado road. This will be continued to Chief gulch, thence up Chief gulch to the divide and down Calder creek to the latter's junction with Quartz, a distance of seven miles. Section 4 extends from the junction of Calder down Quartz to the mouth of the creek, a distance of five miles. Sections 5 and 6 extends from the mouth of Quartz creek to Bureka via Montana creek, a distance approximately of 14 miles. This portion of the network of roads has not as yet been definitely located, but will be in a few days. Work on it as well as on section 4 will not be commenced at once, it being necessary to first arrange boarding facilities for the men, there being no roadhouse available in that vicinity. Work on the roads to traverse Dominion, Sniphar and Gold Run will also be deferred a few weeks.

When it became known that men desiring employment on the roads could secure it by applying to the office of the chief engineer Monday morning, the street in front of the old postoffice was soon thronged with a crowd anxious for a job, resulting one of small days in the boom times of '98 and '99. The late arrivals were greeted with a notice on the door that no more laborers were required for the present, it re-

TERRITORIAL COURT CASES

A Number Were Before Justice Dugas Yesterday.

Several criminal matters came up before Justice Dugas yesterday morning at the convening of the territorial court. In the case of King vs. Carlson, the defendant entered a plea of not guilty. The same plea was entered in the case of the King vs. R. J. Picard, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Picard elected to be tried before the judge alone. The case against the Huntington brothers charged with resisting an officer, also came up. All three of the foregoing cases were set for trial on the first Monday in August. The case against Terrence McGrath charged with assault with intent to commit great bodily injury upon the person of Harold Blankman was heard. McGrath is foreman on 40 Eldorado and the complaining witness is a co-owner in a hillside adjoining. There had been some dispute and litigation over the boundary line between the two claims and an agreement was entered into by the parties concerned by which each was allowed to inspect the workings of the other. Upon one occasion Blankman had descended the shaft on the creek claim for the purpose of enjoying the privilege granted him. He found McGrath there at work who in a menacing manner, ordered him to get out and advanced toward him with an uplifted pick as though to strike him. After hearing the defense the court adjudged no damage had been done and dismissed the case.

STANDARD THEATRE

Has Entire Field to Itself This Week.

The Orpheum theater has closed its doors for this week leaving the Standard the only place of amusement open to the Dawson public. Last night the large auditorium of the Standard theater was crowded to its utmost capacity to witness the production of E. S. Willard's four-act English drama, "The Middleman." This is a very strong play and is well produced by the Standard Stock Company. Vivian and A. R. Thorne take the leading roles and are very ably supported by the balance of the company which is made up as follows: Cyrus Benkarn, the Middleman; A. R. Thorne; Joseph Chandler, All C. Layne; Batty Todd; Robert Lawrence; Jesse Pegg; Wm. Mullen; Capt. Julian Chandler, C. W. Bohman Sir Seaton Umfraville, a Gus C. Saville; Dutton and Postman, Geo. Troxwell; Mr. Vachel, F. C. Lewis; Mrs. Chandler; Julia Walcott; Maud Chandler, Daisy D'Avana; Lady Felicia Umfraville, Lillian Grant; Nancy Benkarn, Mamie Holden, and Mary Benkarn, Vivian.

The scenes of the play are laid at the following places:

Act 1-Tetlow Hall, the home of Joseph Chandler; the lawn party; Capt. Julian Chandler leaves for South Africa.

Act 2-Workshop in Benkarn's home; a letter from London; my daughter! what of her! the curse.

Act 3-The pottery in operation; grief, poverty, despair; the secret of making old Tetlow was discovered by Benkarn; I've got you; you are mine! mine! mine!

Act 4-Tetlow hall; the wheel has come full circle; Capt. Chandler brings home a surprise; Mary!

The Coles are still with this theater and have a new act on the Spanish rings this week. Specialties are also introduced by Billy Mullen and Martin Egan.

The orchestra has an excellent program including: Overture, Raymond, Thomas; grand selection from the Mikado, Sullivan; grand march from Tannhauser, Wagner; descriptive, A Trip to Great Britain, Loesch.

The entire entertainment is a very good one and will undoubtedly have a large patronage throughout the week.

Made a Difference. A Dawson contractor yesterday morning engaged two carpenters to go to work in the afternoon. As they started to go after their tools the contractor called to them:

"By the way," said he, "what is your nationality?"

"The men, having no occasion to be ashamed of their country, supplied the desired information.

"I am sorry," said the contractor, "but I can not employ you."

And the two skilled mechanics are still looking for work.

Dismissed the Case.

Yesterday afternoon in the police court Magistrate Scarth dismissed the case against Wingfield, charged with assaulting Gleason at the Regina on the night of June 29. Upon being discharged Wingfield withdrew the charge against Gleason and Larry.

There is something about the forceful and plain language used by the editor of the Victoria Times which commends itself to all sensible people. Referring to the late trouble in Seattle the Times says: We have read of desperadoes camping upon the trails of enemies in the wilds of the West. The ex-chief of police of Seattle went on the war path in the streets of the town in which until few days ago he had been the principal instrument for the preservation of law and order. He did not go out with weapons which could be easily concealed either. A shotgun, even when sawed off, cannot be disposed of in a bootleg or in a hip pocket with comfort. The avenger went about his business openly and carried in full view of the men who were his former assistants the instrument which he proposed to use on the man who had been the cause of his deposition. The victim whom he proposed to offer up was fully aware of his purpose, as no doubt was also the whole of the police force. These two men with murder in their hearts and plenty of evidence as to their designs were allowed to scout around for days without any action being taken to place them where all such characters ought to be. The meeting finally took place in a drug store, with two efficient preservers of the peace as spectators. They did not interfere at all. Perhaps they wanted to see the fun. Maybe they were the seconds of the principals but were too modest to avow their connection with the tournament. The ex-chief fired first with his sawed-off. He did little damage, which served him right, for all people with even a limited knowledge of firearms are aware that it spoils any kind of a gun to mutilate it. It relieves it of all responsibility to shoot straight. But a man who cannot plunk another even with a sawed-off shotgun loaded with buckshot within the limited area of a drugstore has no business to let blood gather in his eye and go upon the war-path. So he suffered for his foolishness and the failure of his nerve. The brother of the man he was after rushed in and held him while his intended victim laid him low with three shots from a revolver, and the policemen, the preservers of law and order, let them. Some spectators of the affray were wounded. People deserve to be punished for living in Seattle anyway. The most reprehensible thing about this vendetta is the irregular manner in which it was conducted. If the thing had been properly arranged and the men taken out to kill each other where there was no chance of innocent suffering we do not know that the world would have lost much even if both had been slaughtered. A sure job might have been made of it by pulling off the event in Canada and then we should have been impelled by our strong sense of justice in this country to pull the neck of the surviving ruffian.
