HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Breadmade from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.

only once, and eagerly, fiercely, as he drew her closer to him. She yielded to his embrace for a moment; then, as if terror-stricken; she uttered a faint cry, and sprang to her feet and ran to the gate.

CHAPTER XV. OTTIE, kneeling beside the bed, with her head pillowed on Geoffrey's breast, where it had sunk in sheer exhaustion, woke suddenly in the morning, and in terror: for Geoffrey was sitting up and clutching her.

They had both been dreaming, and they had gazed at each other, first with a lively dread, which gradually changed to gratitude and relief.

'It's all right, all right, Ronnie!' he said as he released her. 'I dreamt that those devils had stolen you from me: but you're here all right, thank God! They're welcome to the gold as long as you're left.'

'That's as much as to say that I'm a milk-sop; thank you, Geoff!' 'Not you,' he retorted. 'Catch a milk-sop behaving as you did yesterday, and dropping your man as if you were a full-grown digger! No, Ronnie, I'll own your pluck, for it did me good service, and I'm not likely to forget it. You rest now, and let me get the breakfast for once.'

'A pretty kind of breakfast it would be!' she threw back at him over her shoulder as she went out.

Notwithstanding the loss of the gold, which she regretted—the young girl of women do not like to lose money, bless them!—and her own packet and notes, she felt strangely happy. She knew that she had saved Geoffrey's life, and the knowledge was inexpressibly sweet to her.

tempt of her sex—and Geoffrey, after a short turn of inspection, returned with the report that there were no signs of rangers.

They sat over their breakfast much longer than usual, and every now and then she felt, with a woman's intuitiveness, that his eyes were resting on her with a tender affection, which made her heart beat warmly.

CHAPTER XVI. 'I mustn't leave you again, Ronnie,' he said. 'Good Lord, I should never have forgiven myself if I had come back yesterday and found you hurt—or gone! I never thought I should grow so fond of a plaguey boy!'

'Oh, that's all right!' he said, carelessly. 'So it may be, but I'm going to see!' she retorted; and she made him take off his coat and bare his arm.

'You wouldn't make a bad nurse, Ronnie!' he said. 'You're a queer mixture!'

She made no retort—for once—and suddenly stopped and started, her head on one side listening. Geoffrey also had heard footsteps, and he caught up his gun and went to the door.

'We've had some tough visitors lately,' he explained after he had greeted Moser; and he told him about the rangers.

Geoffrey paused as he dug up the gold under the table and looked at Ronnie interrogatively; but she shrugged her shoulders and shook her head behind Moser; and Geoffrey replied, as he placed the gold on the table:

'No; I know; those devils got some of it,' explained Geoffrey. 'But we'll call that my share. Put Ronnie's aside and take the rest.'

Geoffrey's face darkened; butottie advanced to the table with her arms akimbo and took her part in the discussion.

'Oh, I don't want a share, and I won't have it. But don't you forget, Moser, that you objected and I waived my claim.'

'You've got cheek enough for twice your size,' growled Moser; 'and we ain't likely to forget that!'

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I have been asked by one of my readers to express my opinion as to whether an engaged girl, whose engagement is not yet announced, should or should not accept invitations from other admirers in the absence of her fiance.

I should really think the opinion of the fiance in the case would be infinitely more important than mine or any other third person's.

Doubtless he has already expressed his and perhaps mine has been asked in the hope it will contradict it.

I wonder. The way it looks to me is just this—When a girl loves a man enough to promise to marry him, I think her love should make all other men sexless to her.

That is, an invitation from the presence of any man should mean no more to her than an invitation from or the presence of any of her girl friends.

If she doesn't feel that way she ought not to be engaged. And if she does, he ought to trust her to go anywhere with anyone.

It is understood, of course, that she grants him equal privileges with his feminine friends.

You surely wouldn't want to go to sleep between soiled sheets, even if you knew that during the night they would become clean, would you? Then why go to sleep breathing soiled and stale air, even if you know that your open window will cleanse it during the night?

Why not for five or ten minutes before you go to sleep, open all the windows wide and fill the room cram full of fresh air to start off with?

Tuck your head under the clothes and let the air just howl through the room. It won't hurt you and it probably will help you.

In one family where I visit they not only do this at night, but through the day when several people are sitting in a room together, everyone vacates from time to time and the room is thoroughly aired.

I fancy if there were more families as sensible as this one there would also be more as healthy.

Not long ago I wondered in one of my chit chats if it were really necessary for singers to make the terrific grimaces they so frequently do.

A reader has enlightened me on the subject so I hasten to pass it along to you.

It is not. "My vocal instructor," says this person, "insists upon my breathing exercises being practiced facing a mirror. He says that if one would bear in mind, while singing, this mirror lesson, it would be a pleasure to the auditor to watch the face as well as listen to the voice."

I should think that might be a good suggestion for singers whose masters are less strict, to adopt of their own accord.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Mr. Fred Newman died on Sunday last after a long illness. He leaves a widow and six children. Mr. M. was 58 years of age.

At a meeting of King Edward Branch of C. B. B. S., on Wednesday night, 33 lads signed the roll. The election of officers was railroaded through by the lads in a style that would cause the adults to think, and resulted as follows:—

Alex. Parsons—President. Jas. Myrden—Vice-President. Howard Trapnell—Treasurer. Ambrose Parsons—Secretary. Chesley Butt—Chief of Committee.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday night, when a prize will be given to the lad bringing in the most propositions for membership.

Rev. N. C. Hannay occupied the pulpit in the Kirk yesterday and delivered two very forceful sermons that were much appreciated and enjoyed by the congregation of St. Andrew's. The rev. gentleman will deliver a lecture in Victoria Hall to-night.

Death is always sad, but to pass away in early manhood is doubly so. On Friday night last Mr. Lorenzo Dove, youngest son of Mr. James Dove, passed away at the early age of 23 years. Mr. Dove had been working at Sydney, but returned some few weeks ago in failing health. Notwithstanding all that medical skill could do he gradually grew worse, until the end came on Friday. The funeral took place yesterday and was attended by the members of the C. B. B. Society, of which the deceased was a member. A large number of other sympathizing friends also attended, thus paying the last tribute of respect to this well known young man. We tender our sympathy to the bereaved family.

A shebeen case was heard before Judge Oke on Saturday last when the accused was convicted. Being an old offender, he was sentenced to a fine of $200 or six months in the "Pen."

Would the party who picked up a photo wrapped in paper, on Water Street, a few days ago, kindly leave it at the bookstore of Mr. John Cody. The photo is greatly prized by the owner.

Another old citizen has passed away after a long illness—Mr. John Davis, of the West End. Mr. Davis had reached his 90th year, and many years ago he followed the occupation of cabman here. He was one of the oldest members of the C. B. B. Society, and his body will attend his funeral to-morrow.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. H. F. Shortis, of the General Post Office staff, has consented to deliver his lecture on "Conception Bay" here shortly.

The S. A. had a most enjoyable supper at their hall on Thursday evening last, which was fairly well attended.

"Expected to Die."

Biliousness, Dizziness, Vertigo and Pain in the Back. Owe His Life to the Curative Powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known and most influential citizens in Woodstock. In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness that I despaired of ever getting well. I was always tired and languid, had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so feeble that I ate next to nothing and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale and had dark rings under my eyes that made me look like a shadow."

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and best of all I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. Today I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

The regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills keeps the system clear, healthy, and thereby prevents all manner of sickness. One pill when retiring will make you feel like new. For health, strength, comfort and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarhzone Company, Kingston, Ont.

per at their hall on Thursday evening last, which was fairly well attended.

A very pleasant evening is in store for those of our citizens who attend the Academy Hall, on Thursday night next, when a 3-act comedy will be set before the public. Suffice it to present to give the names of the ladies and gentlemen taking part as a guarantee of success:—Mrs. M. T. Jones, Misses Madeline Cody and Azgie Thomey; Messrs. W. H. Kennedy, M. O'Brien, J. A. Power, T. Hanrahan, Jr., and W. Hayes.

It is said Rev. T. B. Darby, at present ministering to the Methodist congregation of Carbonar, will succeed Rev. J. W. Bartlett in the same capacity here. If such be true the congregation is to be congratulated on having secured such an able preacher.

CORRESPONDENT. Hr. Grace, Mar. 14, 1910.

BAD CONDITION OF STREET.—We would draw the attention of the Council to the wretched condition of Parade Street. It is almost impassable and pedestrians have to take to the drain to pass either up or down. The depth of mud on the sidewalk is worse than in the middle of the road. The Council should either drain the water off the sidewalk or deposit some stone or plank there until such time as they are enabled to permanently repair the street.

A VOICE FROM NOVA SCOTIA

States that Dodd's Kidney Pills Surely Cures Bright's Disease

Ellie J. Mirk Suffered from this Terrible Ailment for Four Years, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Her a Well Woman.

Miscou Harbor, Gloucester Co., N. S., March 15.—(Special).—That any remedy that will cure Bright's Disease will cure any form of Kidney Disease has long been admitted by the medical profession, and this place furnishes one more undoubted proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease. For Ellie J. Mirk, well known here, had Bright's Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

"I suffered for over four years from Kidney Disease which developed into Bright's Disease," Miss Mirk states. "I had pains in head and back and stiffness of the joints. I lost my appetite and suffered from dizziness and shortness of breath. I was weak and languid all the time."

"I was always nervous and could not keep my thoughts from wandering. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. To-day I have not one of these distressing symptoms."

Neglected Kidney Complaint develops into Bright's Disease, Heart Disease or Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure any and all of these. But it's easier and safer to cure the earlier symptoms by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

LABRADOR: Its Discovery, Exploration and Development.

By W. G. GOSLING. With numerous Illustrations and Maps. A new chapter in the history of our Colonial Empire, embodying the results of much laborious research in an exceedingly readable narrative. Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecent. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. Sick Women Well. You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition.

CLOSING NOTES.

BY I. C. MORRIS.

With this article we must again say adieu to our readers. If what we have said so far has been worth their time, and they have learned a little, then the effort of writing has not been wholly in vain.

In our first article we described, or at least we tried to describe, the grandeur of our local rivers. Our words were simply our feelings; and as the scene impressed us, so we gave it to the public. We could not do it full justice, it is beyond us; hence our imperfect description. Several persons who have read that article have written us about it, and others have spoken to us of it, and all have given us words of encouragement for which we thank them. George Herbert says that "Good words are worth much and cost little." A good word is ever in order, and when spoken in sincerity seldom fails in its mission. Would that we had more good words in the common rounds of daily life.

Our second article was descriptive of the sea, and of its fury. In its angry mood we beheld its strength, and whilst being its helpless victims, we were none the less its admirers. Such scenes and such surroundings make us feel our own nothingness, and though any description that one may strive to give them must fall far short of their reality, yet it may not fall in doing some little good.

Our third article was one of piracy. Happily those tyrants of the sea are now unknown, and we enjoy a heritage of freedom and protection—a heritage bought for us at a price that cannot be computed. If the tales of piracy that have happened in the eighteenth century along the coast line of Newfoundland and the New England States were written, the volume would be no small one; but we know enough of the mto make us thankful for our present blessings; therefore, we desire to rise higher than those things, and if possible to make stepping stones of them to that which is better and nobler. The horrors of piracy was one of the dangers that the early colonizers of the New World had to face in order to procure for us the territory and privileges that have fallen to our lot. They paid the price, and we enjoy the fruits of their labours.

Our fourth article was that of Child-life—a topic at once edifying and important. The question involved is one that sooner or later must be dealt with by those who are responsible, and one that is worthy the very best co-operation of all who have charge of children. In this connection it is very gratifying to note that the matter of better school houses, and their surroundings, has been considered by the Government, hence we may expect to see a marked improvement along these lines. Let us hope also that with better schools may come a better salary for the school teachers, and a stimpler lesson for the little ones.

Our two closing articles were of a more domestic and social character than the others, and if the reader saw anything in them of a pleasing or helpful nature, then our little dialogues were not written in vain.

With this summary of our six articles we must close. We have a lot to write about later on; and so long as we feel that what we say is for the benefit of our country or its people, we will give our views to the press. Our local press has done much for the people, and if the press and people act as one, and if the good of our land be given first place, and we do our duty as countrymen, then we see for our children "a better day than yet hath been." With this vision before us, we bow low and kindly bow to all our readers, and for a while say adieu.

PETROLEUM AGREEMENT.

The Premier moved the House into Committee of the Whole to consider the ratification of an agreement between the Government and the Newfoundland Oil Fields Co., Ltd.

It provides for the imposition of a duty on imported oil to enable the Company to compete with imported oil. The rate is to be settled by the Governor in Council and proclaimed when the Company are in a position to supply the local market.

All machinery, plant and material for installation, etc., are to be entered duty free. No duty, export or excise, is to be imposed, for a period of ten years following the beginning of sales in the local market.

The Premier read a number of opinions of authorities on the oil at Parsons' Pond, and gave a history of that enterprise.

Mr. Clift also spoke. The resolutions passed the Committee and a bill embodying them was read a first time.

LICENSING BILL.

This bill was read a second time yesterday on the motion of the Minister of Justice. It deals with: (1)

If coffee tampers with your heart or nerves, suppose you break away for 30 days and see how much better you feel. You can make the job easy and pleasant if you take on Postum in place of coffee.

Be sure to have it well boiled, according to directions on package, to bring out the rich flavour and full food value.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

There were no prisoners in court to-day.

A man was summoned by the S. P. C. A. for whom Mr. Greene, K.C., acted. The accused was charged with working his horse which had sores on its body. He admitted the fact but showed that employees without his knowledge took the beast out. He undertook not to work the beast again until Vet. Donnelly gives him a certificate of fitness. Sentence was suspended. Mr. Kent, K.C., for defendant.

The defendant in a case of leud and abusive language was ordered to pay costs. Mr. Higgins for deft.

Church to be Enlarged

We understand that instead of building a new church for the present, at least, St. Michael's Anglican Church will be enlarged. It will be lengthened in its eastern end about 20 or 30 feet, and will have a chapel of about 30 feet, so that the present congregation will have ample room for worship. It is the intention, however, to build a new and commodious church in the near future, when the old structure will likely be used as a parish hall.

A Protest Against Canine Depredations.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Allow me through the medium of the Evening Telegram to call the attention of the authorities to a matter that is assuming serious consequences to residents of the extreme West End of the city. For the last three months people residing on Leslie Street and vicinity have been annoyed and victimised by the depredations of hungry and vicious dogs allowed to prowl about at will, and it appears to be nobody's business to interfere with them. During the winter these animals have destroyed a number of valuable fowl. Four parties having lost as many as 47 fowl. This thing is becoming alarming and one cannot tell where it is going to stop. It is a very foolish idea that some people seem to have as to those dogs coming in from Petty Harbor. It is nothing of the sort. Those beasts are owned by people living in the West End who are perfectly unconcerned as to what injury they do their neighbours. Surely, sir, there should be some protection for people who at great trouble and inconvenience to themselves succeed in getting a good breed of poultry, only to find that they are to be destroyed by these hungry mongrels that are the pest of every community that are allowed to exist in it.

Trusting those whose duty it is will take some action in the matter.

I am, Sir, Yours, etc., A SUFFERER.

Overtaken by a Blizzard.

Two Women and Little Child Frozen to Death.

Aberdeen S.D., March 8.—Huddled down in their abandoned sleigh two women and a little child were found yesterday by the husband of one of the women frozen to death in the blizzard which swept the Standing Rock Reservation three weeks ago.

Mrs. Gilbert Major, her mother-in-law and her year old son, in trying to drive from their home to a neighbor's were overtaken by the blizzard eight miles from home. They turned the team loose and huddled down in the sleigh to wait for the storm to pass. They slept and never awoke.

The return of the team occasioned no uneasiness, because it was supposed the animals had escaped from the corral where the visit was made.

"THE IRISH GUARD!"

BY P. J. KINSELLA.
The Kingdom's massive door lay closed and fast,
Sealed by its golden lock, and fastenings done,
St. Peter sighed relief — "Thank Heaven, at last
The rush is o'er, and now to take a run,
For the mind grows weary, with such constant worry.
But yet if some one came and he not present,
Reports might reach inside, and in a hurry,
And that to say the least would be unpleasant.

Even now a stranger cometh up the way,
The Saint remarking that he walked with leisure,
He hummed a cheerful tune, one of the day.
A levity the Saint judged with displeasure.
St. Peter hailed him loudly from the gate,
"Get on a move, young man, 'tis getting late."
"Now, sir, what do you need? Your business? Let's hear,
Be brief, I'm off to get a little air."
"I want to know, sir, if St. Patrick's in?"
The stranger said—you see I'm up from Dublin—
He'll see me right enough—just mention "Tim",
An' after that, I'll need no further troublein'.
And at this crude conceit, the fellow winked,
St. Peter felt quite vexed, and told him flat.
That if he'd keep from trouble, get from that.

Or, hold, the Saint commanded, "let's agree,
I'll do this thing you want, if you for me,
Will guard this gate an hour, and for none,
Dare open yonder lock, not e'en to see
Yourself, what lies beyond, my son,
Be very careful, or I may repent
Such privilege to an Irishman had lent."

He passed the key, and spoke a few words more
And left the Dublin man on Heaven's door.
A little while had passed, Tim felt elate,
"Tis grand, he thought, this job upon the gate."
"Tis fine; and so it was, but why not open
And take a peep inside the golden portal?
A moment's thought, 'twas done, the gate swung wide,
Tim's courage waned, but yet he looked inside;

The next, he sought to lock the door again.
He failed. Again he tried, but tried in vain.
Distracted now, he saw his action fully,
The wrong, the meanness, and the promise broken
Which he had made to St. Peter, not to open.
Once more he tried the door. This time in terror,
But no, it would not close, 'twas plain to Tim
That now he'd have to summon aid within;

With this in view, he looked inside and low
The vision wrapt his soul in splendour's awe;
He gazed around, the music grand and slow
Called forth his native love, for song and air
But for that door; he could be happy there.
At last his heart beat fast and glad, for yes,
There sitting midst that splendid host enthral'd,
He saw his Saint, the best loved of them all,
St. Patrick—now he felt that he was safe—
For well he knew, he'd help him close that gate.
Encouraged, aye, e'en angels dare not seek
To stop his inward way, to where his own
Beloved Patrick sat upon his throne;
He passed up to the Saint—Ah, who can tell
His soul's great courage then—his superb Faith,
He clasped his hand, "St. Patrick, sir, I'm Tim."

"For Hivin's sake, sir, come and close the gate."
They closed the gate secure, St. Patrick knew
Just how that door was worked—and then he said:
"Tim, Tim, you disobeyed, now that is hard,
They'll never trust an "Irish hand" to guard;
Tim winked—and such a wink—and then with glee
Replied: "That's why you have'n't got the key."

Wind on the Stomach

A Well Known Westerner Tells of Suffering, Misery and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into biliousness, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbled; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that my preparation could help so quickly. I took half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

NERVILINE STRENGTHENS WEAK STOMACHS.

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favourable opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved it simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large 25c. bottles; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Cattarrhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Fine Vessel.

The Galatea, which was badly burned in the big Baird, Gordon fire of two years ago, has since been rebuilt by her owner, Mr. John Taylor, and is one of the finest vessels of her class now sailing out of port. Monday she hauled down to the premises of Jas. Baird, Ltd., and has been chartered by that firm to take fish to Oporto. New sails are now being bent, and Capt. Connors has been given charge of the ship.

Under the distinguished patronage of the Governor and Lady Williams, The Cowan Mission Musicals will be held in the Methodist College Hall on St. Patrick's afternoon. Admission, 30 cents, including tea. Home-made candy for sale. Concert under the direction of Mr. Mawer, commences at 8:30 o'clock.—mar15,21.

B. I. S. Parade.

The Benevolent Irish Society will hold its 104th annual parade to-morrow, St. Patrick's Day. Headed by Bennett's and the C. C. C. bands, the Society will leave St. Patrick's Hall at 9:30 and will proceed down Theatre Hill to New Gower Street, up Hamilton Street, down Patrick Street to Water Street; up Cochrane Street to Government House, thence via Military Road to the Cathedral, where they will be present at last Mass. After Mass they will call upon His Grace the Archbishop. It is expected that there will be a big turnout of members.

Bible Class Meeting.

At the weekly meeting of St. Thomas's Men's Bible Class held at Canon Wood Hall last night Rev. E. L. Birchby preached an impressive address on the life of our Divine Lord. The text was from St. John, 19th chap. and 30th verse, and was most suitable to the season—"When Jesus therefore had drunk of the vinegar, he said, 'It is finished,' and he bowed His head and gave up the ghost." The Bible Class will not meet again till April the 6th.

BIBLE CLASS SOCIABLE.—The proceeds of St. Thomas's Bible Class sociable will be devoted to the organ fund and the East End school. Tickets are selling quickly and the event promises to be an enjoyable one.

The First Settlement in Newfoundland.

Mr. W. A. Munn Maintains That It Was Harbor Grace--He Criticizes Mr. Gosling's Contention for Cupids Severely.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of March 10th you give a most interesting article by Mr. W. G. Gosling on the "Earliest Settlements of Newfoundland." It is exceedingly well written, shows great research and the numerous authorities for his facts are the best obtainable.

It is a great pity that in writing such an able article he does not state all he knows.

He mentions Abbe Baudouin's reference to a man having been born in Newfoundland, but he tries to make us believe that this was the "lusty boy," born March 27th, 1513, referred to by William Colston. Mr. Gosling states he was a native of Cupids, but gives no authority. His arguments all go to prove that Cupids is the oldest settlement.

Why does he suppress the fact that Abbe Baudouin, in his diary of the French campaign of 1696, states that the inhabitants of Harbor Grace told him that their harbor was the first place settled in the country by the English. Also that he (Abbe Baudouin) had got the information to confirm this; that a man had died there in 1693 or '94 aged 83 years.

Here we find Mr. Gosling wrong on two points:

1st—We have the definite statement that Harbor Grace was the first place settled in the country.

2nd—There was a man born in Harbor Grace about 1610 or 1611, which is two to three years earlier than the "lusty boy," son of Nicholas Gre.

Why does Mr. Gosling suppress these facts? Is it because he is an ardent partisan of Cupids and has done his best to discredit holding any celebration at Harbor Grace or Mosquito?

There is one thing certain, he cannot explain these facts mentioned by Abbe Baudouin; therefore he leaves out part and tries to work in the rest with his own desires.

The people of Harbor Grace and Carbonear can explain these facts, because they have the tradition pointing to the very spot, where the first white child was born in Newfoundland. I am convinced this tradition is authentic and it was confirmed to me by no less an authority than Claudius Watts, who died last year, aged 97 years, whose information on the early history of our country was beyond any question.

There is one way in which Mr. Gosling may try to escape, and that is to run down Abbe Baudouin as an authority. Therefore I will give my reasons for considering Abbe Baudouin as good an authority as Richard Hakluyt himself:

1st—They were both clergymen, and it is hardly the thing to question their truthfulness. Moreover the clergy are the ones who always kept the records of births, marriages and deaths.

2nd—The French are much more systematic in these affairs than the English. It is probable that Hakluyt's sojourn for several years in France helped him greatly to formulate the splendid work he left us.

3rd—It has been stated that none of our Newfoundlanders knew French, and were therefore unable to talk to him.

In the census we have of Newfoundland for 1675, just previous to D'Arville's campaign, we find there were several Jersey families living in Harbor Grace (Battens and Hibbs, well known Jersey families, who are still residents of Conception Bay); also there was close intercourse with the Channel Islands, as a Guernsey vessel loaded fish there that year. As these Jerseymen could talk English and French equally well, there was no loss for an interpreter if needed.

4th—Let us look at this from another standpoint. The French were looking forward to take possession of Newfoundland, hence they would have special reason for sending a competent man to keep a record of the campaign and one who could speak the language of the country, to gain all the information possible.

Charlevoix, the French historian, has quoted this diary almost word for word in his description of this campaign, so that Abbe Baudouin must be recognized as a reliable authority.

Any person can readily see that one thing would strike Abbe Baudouin as necessary for the French authorities to know for future proceedings or negotiations, and that is, how long can the English prove occupation of the country? (Just what Newfoundland is trying to prove on the Labrador boundary question today.)

Hence the fact, which he emphasizes, of Harbor Grace being the oldest settlement in the country was a very important matter for them to know, and he took special care to prove the fact by finding out that a man had been born there in 1610 or 1611.

Whether that was the first white child born at Mosquito I do not know, but I believe it to be convincing proof that Mr. Gosling is wrong in his deductions, and until he can give a different meaning to our traditions and explain Abbe Baudouin's statements satisfactorily, we must believe the facts we have, that Harbor Grace is the first place settled by the English in Newfoundland.

Broke Into Store.

The Deputy Minister of Justice, Mr. Hutchings, has received word from the Magistrate at Botwood that Saturday night last some thief broke into the store of Mr. Aitken there, getting in through a window, and stole a suit of clothes and several other articles. The police are working on the matter and hope to make an arrest shortly.

Mr. Gosling Replies to His Critics.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Although it might be advisable to wait until all the promised criticisms of my paper on the Early Settlement of St. John's have appeared, yet as my good friend Judge Prowe, and His Grace the Archbishop have both criticized it, I trust I may be permitted to reply to them now.

With regard to the Judge's criticisms, I can only request him to read my arguments again, for each of his points is confuted therein, and it is unnecessary to repeat them.

I asserted that there is not one single contemporary statement recorded to the effect that there were any permanent all-the-year-round settlers in Newfoundland prior to John Guy; and I quoted several direct and unquestionable contemporary statements that John Guy was the first Christian who settled in Newfoundland. The verdict must stand upon this evidence until some genuine testimony to the contrary is forthcoming.

Pending further criticism, His Grace to-night produces Sir Thomas Hampshire and his doings in 1582 as evidence. I may say I have had a gun loaded for Sir Thomas for a long time, but have not had an opportunity to use it. This evidence would go far to offset my conclusions, but for one serious drawback, for I beg to state that, not only is there no such voyage recorded in 1582, but in the words of the immortal "Betsey Prig," "I don't believe there ain't no such a person," as Sir Thomas Hampshire. This mythical gentleman appears first in the pages of Anspach, but where he came from I cannot imagine. Since then the story has been repeated in our histories until it is regarded as authentic; but having had occasion to examine most carefully every available authority on just this very period, and not finding any Sir Thomas Hampshire, I can only conclude that some egregious blunder was made in introducing a few places where he is not to be found. He is not in the Calendar State Papers from 1547 to 1675, (all I have) which may be taken as conclusive; but in addition, he is not mentioned by Hakluyt, and it seems impossible that the worthy Canon of Westminster should have failed to report such an important voyage. I cannot find him in the two great contemporary histories of the reign Stowe's Annals and Camden's Life of Elizabeth. He is not mentioned in any life of Raleigh (and I have half a dozen), nor in Corbett's "Drake and the Royal Navy," nor in the lives of Frobisher and Davis by the Hakluyt Society, nor in Oppenheim's "Administration of the Royal Navy," nor in Miss Strickland's "Elizabeth," nor in any of Martin Hume's scholarly works of the period, nor in any English History I have seen.

I rather expect to find that Sir Thomas Hampshire belongs to some other period of history, but so far I have only searched for him in the Elizabethan records.

In conclusion, I don't think His Grace meant "specious" when he used that rather derogatory word in reference to my argument. I base my conclusions on plain, direct contemporary evidence, and there is nothing plausible or imaginary about them. The theory I rebut, on the other hand, is purely imaginary and unsupported by any documentary evidence, and to it "specious" may be more properly applied.

Yours truly,
March 16th, 1910. W. G. GOSLING.

Lecture Last Night by H. W. LeMessurier.

Those who had the good fortune to secure a seat at the T. A. Hall last night enjoyed a rare intellectual treat in hearing "Mr. H. W. LeMessurier lecture on 'Placentia Bay.'" Mr. W. J. Ellis, President of the T. A. Society, introduced the lecturer, who began with a geographical and topographical description of Placentia Bay. He gave his own version of several names of places in the bay and adduced plausible reasons for their being named so. He believed that Placentia was first visited by the English and named by them. If the bay had been discovered by the French the name would not, he thought, have undergone so many changes in the old maps and charts. The residence in which Henry the VIII. was born was called "Placentia." It is true that there is a town named Placentia in Spain, but it is of no importance and is best known from the story of Lever, whose Charles O'Malley writes one of his letters from there. The French after they began to settle in Canada realized the advantage of having a basis of operations and a port of shelter for their ships on the South Coast of Newfoundland and lost no time in taking possession of Placentia, which they soon fortified. Placentia, thus for many years remained the capital of Newfoundland. The English settled at St. John's and vicinity, and raids soon began by the French on the English and vice versa. Several times the French seized St. John's by coming overland from Placentia. Raids continued to go on with varying fortune till the year 1713, when Newfoundland was ceded to England. Placentia remained the capital for many years after. In 1729 Capt. Osborne became the first Governor of the Island, and ever after St. John's was regarded as the capital. Mr. Le-

Messurier then went on to speak of the commercial growth of Placentia Bay and the rise of the different old forts, including Sweetman and Saunders, Walsh, etc. The description of the old customs was very interesting. The manners and the dialect of the people who came from England, Ireland and France were described. The crude mail service of the past, was compared with the present, and some of the most disastrous shipwrecks were described. The lecture was interspersed with wit and humor. At the conclusion His Grace Archbishop Howley, who was present, congratulated Mr. LeMessurier and expressed himself as being very much pleased. A vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Summers and seconded by Mr. P. Hanley was carried unanimously.

"The Irish Detective."

The above 4 act Irish melo-drama will be placed on the boards for the first time in St. John's in the Star Hall on St. Patrick's night, and judging from the sale of tickets a bumper house will greet the performers. The play in itself shows the success of an Irishman running down a gang of villains and murderers counterfeiterers, and gives a splendid presentation of the bravery, wit and humor of the Irish detective, especially in the counterfeiterers den, where amid showers of flying bullets he makes a clever capture and a clear hold-up. It must be seen to be appreciated, and as several new scenes have been specially painted, it goes without saying that "The Irish Detective" will be a great success.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Penian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dozing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment."

Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 4 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

S. U. F. Meeting.

Last night St. John's Lodge, No. 5, held a most enthusiastic meeting. Five candidates were elected and five propositions handed in. Since the beginning of Bro. A. Whycombe's term as Worthy Master the increase in membership is most gratifying. Bro. Oke, of Harbor Grace, was present and addressed the meeting. He is an old-time Fisherman, and the reception given him last night by the members proved that the "boys" are proud of him. Evidently 1910 will be a year to which St. John's Lodge, No. 5, will be able to point with pride and pleasure.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE.

"My face was paralyzed, I could not speak, five doctors failed to help me and I was in despair when hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used this wonderful restorative treatment and became well and sound in every way. I would not go back to my former condition for all the gold in the country," writes Mr. Wm. J. Brennan, Western Hills, St. Catharines.

To the Crescents.

1910 HOCKEY CHAMPIONS.
The following is the creation of Mr. S. Pearce, the well-known rover of the Crescents, and was sung by him at the supper given to the team last evening:—
The game came off last Monday night. On last night week to be just right; The Crescents and Feildians all lined up
To try and lift the Governor's Cup.
At half-past seven the whistle blew. And referee Higgins have in view. Then threw the puck, the game to begin.
Saying: "There she goes, may the best men win."
He kept us at it till half-time did ring. Which no score to either side did bring;
As Strang and "Burney" watched their goals And wouldn't let one pass to save their souls.
When "Gus" had passed around the milk. And all hands felt "as fine as silk." We all stepped on the ice once more. Determined then to "bust" or score.
We weren't long out when Trapnell shot. One from the wing that went in hot; The shout from the crowd would make one think That the roof came off the Prince's Rink.
It was when Marshall and Pearce were on the fence That Gus Herder began to show his sense; He gave the Feildians some hard knocks 'Till "Fatty" jumped out of the penalty box.
Soon Hubert got a pass from Stick. And notched up No. 2 right quick; Then we saw visious of medals and cup. And played defence until time was up.
We held our own till the gong had sounded. Then into the dressing room everyone bounded; I sat down, one hand on my throttle. While Ralph rushed in with the Thermos bottle.
Now "Herb" and Cyril deserve special praise About the shouting they did raise; They kept courage into the half-moon boys. And we walked off with the cup—"tis lies."
May we all be together in 1911 With the same old colors and same old seven. And bring the Crescents out ahead. Supposing we get carried off dead.
Boys, the fee is only half a dollar. The price of a tie and linen collar; So if you've fifty cents to spare Just pass it along to Tessier.

The Guilty to be Punished.

Special to Evening Telegram.
PARIS, March 15.
Far from causing a ministerial crisis the debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the scandal in connection with the liquidation of the religious orders resulted to-day in the adoption of a resolution three hundred and forty three to seventy-nine, condemning in the severest terms the manner in which the liquidations were executed, but expressing confidence in the Government's promise to fix the responsibility and punish the guilty whoever they may be. This was an overwhelming vindication of Premier Briand, who in a masterly speech made an attempt to plead any circumstances, for what had happened but contended that the Government was not responsible for individual breaches of trust in the great work of the separation of the church and state, which he said had freed the country from that which to-morrow other countries will be obliged to sever. The result in no wise compromises the programme which the Premier has mapped out which includes first the institution of appeals for the re-opening of all liquidations in order that State may save what is possible out of the wreck, and second the immediate transference of unjudicate liquidations into the hands of official administrators who will examine all accounts and procure testimony for the correction of irregularities and the punishment of the guilty, M. Pinet especially singled out Millerand, the Minister of Public Works, declaring that the Minister had obtained fees amounting to about twenty thousand dollars which his Secretary had received. Do you intimate that I divided with my Secretary? No, responded M. Pinet, your own fees sufficed.

Slaughter of Seals Must be Stopped.

One Dose Makes Indigestion Go.

Hearthburn, Gas, Headaches and other Stomach misery vanishes.
If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you, if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash, or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Stch Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after asking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any druggist the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out of order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all or any kind of food you eat.

To-morrow Night. "Peep'o Day."

All lovers of Irish drama and music are reminded of the treat that's in store for them to-morrow night at the T. A. Hall. The drama is the four-act sensational play entitled "Peep-O-Day" which abounds in typical incidents characteristic of the "troublesome times" in Ireland. The players are the "Old Favourites" which assures a faithful and artistic performance. The specialties are catchy and bright and includes Irish jigs, reels and songs. The Mount Cashel boys are contributing a dance, and the T. A. band has been secured to contribute Irish selections. The Orchestra under Miss Power's direction will also render appropriate Irish music, so that there is no possibility of even a dull moment cropping in to mar the enjoyment of the evening. There's a few tickets remaining which can be had at the theatre to-morrow.

Henna Leaves and Sage Will Grow Hair.

It has only recently been discovered that Henna leaves contain the ingredient to grow new hair. England and Paris have been flooded with preparations containing the extract of Henna to grow hair, and every one of these preparations have an enormous sale. All other hair tonics are practically at a standstill, and the ones containing the Henna are found in every home. Society ladies purchase them by the dozen bottles. On the streets of London and Paris can be seen women with beautiful, luxuriant heads of real, fluffy hair. The same women only a few months ago had their heads decorated with artificial hair. The first one of these preparations to reach Canada is called SALVIA, and is sold and guaranteed by your druggist. SALVIA will grow hair in abundance and Cure Dandruff in ten days, or your money back. A large bottle, 50c.

Charitable Society Meeting Last Night.

A meeting of St. Vincent de Paul Society was held last night. About 150 applications were received for food and coal. These will be relieved during the week. The Treasurer was called down for declaring that no woman knitting twine for the Society should get ten cents per pound. The Treasurer, who prides himself on his spirit of economy, paid only ten cents per fathom. The Society believes that the laborer is worthy of his hire and will not have starvation wages paid. The Government allows $500 a year, and the members of the Society believe that they are justified in paying the wages mentioned. The argument that the merchants get the work done for four cents less should not count. Hon. James Baird supplies all the twine required.
