CHAPTER LVII.

"THE TIEER HAS COME!"

"Yes, sir, quite so," said Mr. Wiley. "My plan acted frantically, and he's working away every day—almost too hard, as I tell him—to pay for the doctor and the delicacies he thinks he owes me for."

And Joe chuckled. "The secretary nodded. "Thank you—thank you. I shall not trouble you much longer—only a few days."

"All right, sir; I've got his word of honor that he won't pass the gates till we're squared up, and I know he'll keep it."

"To the death!" exclaimed the secretary, with a toss of his head.

"It's lucky I see you, sir, just now, for he's wrote a letter to-night and I've got it here to post."

"A letter?" said the young gentleman. "Let me see it," and he took it eagerly, but checking himself as he commenced to read the direction and dropping it into his pocket. "And he is well, you say. Does the doctor see him still?"

"Oh, no, sir; he gave him up three days ago! Said as he was all right if he didn't have too much exertion."

"Thank Heaven!" exclaimed the secretary.

Then hearing footsteps he drew his shawl closer over his face and, thrusting something crisp into Mr. Wiley's hand, glided away.

Joe Wiley, with a chuckle, closed the gate, and the secretary, keeping well in the shadow, gained the next lamp.

Then he took out Hugh Darrell's letter and read, with a start, the direction:

"Sir Harry Darrell,
The Dale,
—shire—"

"Ah," he exclaimed, "here is direct proof! Oh, Hugh, dear Hugh, poor Hugh!"

And kissing the letter twice with a passionate earnestness he replaced it in his pocket, called a cab, and was soon far away.

CHAPTER LIX.

THE STOLEN PACKAGE.

Tremble, then wretch, Thou hast within thee undivulged crimes. Unwhipped of justice, —SHAKESPEARE.

Like his secretary, Reginald Dartmouth had not been idle.

Time was pressing on, his well-laid plans must be brought to a consummation, and he was on the alert.

First and foremost he had to arrange for the count's journey.

That matter cost him but little thought.

Forgery came easy to Reginald Dartmouth, and with all the materials shall join us in ruling the people you have helped to freedom."

Reginald Dartmouth grasped his hand with overwhelming gratitude.

"My dear count, think not of me, but of yourself and Lucille. I am rewarded sufficiently for my poor services by the priceless boon of her love. When do you start?"

"In four days," said the count.

"So soon?" said Reginald Dartmouth.

"Yes. The dispatch says at once," said the count. "And, Dartmouth, when can you manage to let me have the money you promised?"

"The morning you start," said Reginald Dartmouth, promptly. "I will call at the house when I see you off. How will you have it—notes or gold?"

"Gold—gold," said the count. "Gold is best. Ah! I must not linger. Much is to be done."

And, with another hearty shake of the hand, the deceived Italian hurried away.

A wicked smile played over the fowler's face, and he lounged to the open door with his hand in his pocket to see his victim go, loath to lose the merciless delight the evidence of his credulity gave him.

Then he closed the door and, with a thought-marked brow, muttered:

"There is, indeed, much to do. Three days only; well, well, the overture has nearly finished, now for the drama! First to Lucille. Poor girl, it cuts me to the heart to deceive her, but all is fair in love or war, and I know how slender the thread is by which I hold her."

Then he drew his gilded writing-table toward him and penned a short note.

"My Dearest Lucille!—The moon will be full on the third night from this. Yours till death.

"REGINALD DARTMOUTH."

"There, she can not mistake that," he muttered.

And calling his new valet, he sent him off with it.

Now all was arranged save one thing.

That, the darkest and basest deed of all, could not be done save in the darkness and secrecy of night.

When that came the man who had not shrunk from murder and forgery, but with white face and shaking hands, glancing fearfully round the padded walls of the sound-tight room, and almost shuddering at the shadow of his own evil self thrown by the shaded lamp.

All was ready, he repeated to himself over and over again. This thing alone remained to be done. Why did he shrink? Did he fear the consequences? Did he know them? Yes, too surely. Treason was to be followed by death!

"Bah!" he murmured, with a faint, scornful laugh. "What have I to fear? Who is to recognize the hand that deals the blow? It is simple—simple as the alphabet. Here before me lies the list of the members of the society

"I Wonder Would It Help Me?"

THIS question has been answered by many thousands of women who have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Sleeplessness, irritability, nervousness, gloomy forebodings of the future, depression and discouragement—these are some of the symptoms which tell of exhausted nerves.

In order to avoid nervous prostration or some form of paralysis it is well to get the building up process established at once by use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The tone with which the Italian said this showed that he already in fancy wielded the scepter of Italian power, and the listener laughed in his heart with pitiless scorn at his duped credulity.

"Yes," he said, "you must come—and soon, Dartmouth. We will marry you to Lucille. We will give you titles and wealth—any, more, you

In Italy and England, so written that no expert in the world can trace the hand who wrote it. I have but to send this to the government at Rome and the bolt falls upon all of them, while I, safe and sound, can wait till all is blown over and then claim my reward."

As he mused the cold perspiration poured off his face, and he started with a cry, for in his ears seemed to ring the words he had used with a chorus, solemn and dirge-like:

"Treason—death! Treason—death!"

With a gigantic effort he threw up his hand and uttered a light laugh of bravado.

"Away, childish fears; away! Who needs the gabble of a pack of geese? Death! Who is to deal it? Who is to know that I merit it? No, no; it is but a childish nurse legend! Let me be brave and go on my way to victory!"

So musing he sat himself down again, folded the paper containing the fatal names and inclosing it in an envelope, looked for some wax wherewith to seal it.

There was none in his inkstand, none in his drawer.

With an impatient exclamation he stretched his hand toward the bell, but before it had rung he arrested it and, with a muttered "No, I will do it myself," rose from the chair and left the room.

No sooner had the door closed with its secret spring than a thin, snake-like head with a white face bruised and livid on one side, protruded from behind the curtains and a viperish pair of eyes were fastened upon the desk!

Then, with action as serpentine as his look, the spy darted at the package, quick as thought replaced it by another exactly its counterpart in outward appearance, and clutching the genuine one in his claw-like fingers glided behind the curtains again.

The eyes, hands, snake-like form, the bruised face were those of Vigues, the discharged valet.

CHAPTER LX.

A LAWYER OF THE OLD SCHOOL.

I will fight with him upon this theme. Until my eyelids will no longer wag.—SHAKESPEARE.

Sir Charles was so filled with satisfaction and so greatly relieved at seeing his way to a little open and above-board work toward unmasking and foiling his quondam friend, Captain Dartmouth, that with his old impulsiveness he was for digging up the well then and there; that is to say, five minutes after Rebecca had shown him the anonymous note which in curt and coquette language bid them search there.

But from this injudicious precipitancy Rebecca saved him; and Sir Charles, still obedient and tractable, consented to wait until Mr. Reeves could be consulted and taken into confidence.

The following morning, that is to say, the morning after the conversation which we have recorded some few chapters back, the baronet mounted his horse—now thoroughly rested and invigorated—and rode off to the next town, where Mr. Reeves had a residence.

He was a solicitor of the old school, a school that is unfortunately becoming somewhat unfashionable.

Ultimatum From Roumania to Russia.

Failure to Comply Will Mean War -- Poland Holding Her Own Against Reds -- Summary Justice For Ireland -- Canadians Challenge For America's Cup -- Negroes Plan African Republic.

ROMANIAN ULTIMATUM TO RUSSIA

VIENNA, Aug. 2. — Roumania has served an ultimatum on Soviet Russia giving the Soviets three days to withdraw their troops from Rumanian territory, according to Belgrade despatch received here today. In the event of Russia's failure to comply it is added, Roumania will declare general mobilization.

FRENCH EXPERTS OPTIMISTIC OVER POLAND

PARIS, Aug. 2. — Military experts here were still inclined to-day to view the situation in Poland optimistically. The reports they received indicated that the Soviet army had not advanced further than yesterday's advances indicated, being only about seventy-five miles from Warsaw. The other developments were regarded with satisfaction where action taken towards reconstructing the Polish army, including the re-arming of General Menziesky by General Haller, the activity of the Southern army which is counter-attacking with good results, and the regular arrival of great quantities of munitions from Dantzig. The principal menace to the Poles at present is considered to be at the centre of their front where concentrations of Soviet troops are reported.

THE POLISH PEACE

LONDON, Aug. 2. — A Warsaw despatch to the Times states that the cardinal points in the peace between Soviet Russia and Poland must include independence of the Polish state and the right of self-determination for the states separating from Poland. The Poles are pressed by the advice of the British, U.S. and French to all their nationals except officials to leave the country.

JUDGE OF PROBATE COURT GIVES TANLAC STRONGEST PRAISE

After Long Struggle Judge M. F. Short Regains Health — Makes Public Statement in Hope of Benefiting Others.

It is seldom indeed that men of prominence, especially men who hold high office, willingly express their indebtedness to a proprietary medicine. However, when a medicine obtains that singular purity and efficiency shown by the uniform preparation, Tanlac, statements from our best citizens are to be considered thoroughly commensurate with the good that is being accomplished among the people of our Commonwealth.

Judge M. F. Short, of 1228 South Hickory St., Ottawa, Kan., who has held the honorable position of Probate Judge in Franklin County for two terms and has been true to every trust imposed in him, said in a recent statement concerning the great good he derived from the use of Tanlac: "I have never used any medicine that went right to the spot like Tanlac did in my case. Nearly a year ago I had an attack of the flu, and was so weak after it that I couldn't walk even a short distance without getting tired and out of breath. I also had a severe cough that bothered me a great deal. My appetite was very poor and what little I did eat seemed to do me no good. I did not sleep well at night and just felt tired all the time. I tried several medicines said to be good for restoring strength and energy, but none of them seemed to reach my case.

"The statements in the papers about Tanlac so impressed me with their sincerity that I concluded to try it. The very first bottle gave me great relief, so I kept on with it until now after taking five bottles I am feeling even better than I did before I had the flu. I can now eat a good meal and have no trouble at all from indigestion. My old-time strength and energy have returned and my general health is better than it has been for years. I am only too glad to tell what Tanlac did for me, and hope by giving this statement that someone who suffers as I did may be benefited."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Ponch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avonville; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, Baine Harbor; W. A. Burdock, Belleoram; John Morey, Fermeuse; Mrs. Jos. Quinn, Renewa.—adv't.

Sydney's Welcome To Imperial Pressmen.

Sydney, N.S., July 27.—Mayor Fitzgerald extended a civic greeting to the members of the Imperial press party, which landed at the steel pier from the S.S. Victorian at 12.30 to-day.

The Victorian, which was first reported ten miles off Low Point, at 8.40 this morning, came up the harbor about 10.30 and anchored in the stream within a biscuit toss of Barrack Point at the southern extremity of Victoria Park.

A small party headed by C. F. Crandall, of the Montreal Star, had previously boarded the steamer and delivered to Lord Burnham, head of the visiting delegation, telegrams and messages that had accumulated here during several days past.

The landing was made at 12.30 by the Steel Company's tug, Douglas H. Thomas. The government armed trawler Arras brought off their baggage and equipment.

Waiting on the dock was a party of about two hundred persons, including representatives of all the leading Canadian newspapers, the Canadian and United Press Associations, and a battery of moving picture machines.

Mayor Fitzgerald and Ald. Colin McKenzie extended the freedom of the city. P. D. McNeil and H. F. S. Paisley welcomed them on behalf of the press of Cape Breton.

On account of the delay in effecting the landing, the projected trip through the steel plant was abandoned.

The afternoon was spent informally by the members of the party, some of whom played golf in Lingam Links, while others motored about the city or engaged in other activities.

At 2 o'clock the visiting journalists were the guests of the city at a luncheon held in their honor at King's Hall, Charlotte street.

The official welcome function in honor of the Imperial Press delegates took place at King's Academy on Tuesday after the motor tour of the city. Luncheon was served by the ladies and a toast to the King was drunk.

Following, Mayor Fitzgerald arose, and in a few words extended to the visitors a hearty welcome to Sydney, also stating that the decision to make the port their first stop in Canada was much appreciated.

Mayor Fitzgerald, who also acted as chairman, then called upon Senator MacLennan. Senator MacLennan emphasized upon the visitors the fact that Sydney possesses one of the finest harbors in the Dominion, and the importance of the mining and steel industry of the district. He also referred to the part the port of Sydney played in the great war in the handling of transports. In concluding he wished the party Godspeed from one end of Canada to the other and extended to them a right royal welcome to the Dominion.

The next speaker was Lord Burnham. Lord Burnham, in opening his address, said: "I rise with a full heart, and not only with a full heart (laughter) at the inconceivable welcome to what you call the Montreal of the East. This is a land of promise. From the moment we entered your harbor we felt we had the home touch, and we have grasped it with the firm grasp of friendship. Edmund Burke once referred to Nova Scotia as a hard-featured brat, but it must have changed since then. The coast is wreathed in smiles." Lord Burnham then spoke of the welcome received from the Mayor and Senator MacLennan and of 100 or more messages of welcome that he had received from all over the Dominion, which, as he said, indicated to him that the reception in Canada would be a hearty one.

Speaking of the mission of the Imperial delegates, he said that they did not come to Canada to tell the people how to lay down the law or how to run their own show, but to learn of the greatness and success of the Dominion. "It is a happy chance," he continued, "that has brought us to this city to-day. When I was in Canada 25 years ago Sydney was not even a spot on the map. We now see what she has accomplished, which is little compared with what she will do in the future. Some one in speaking to me of the city a short while ago spoke of it as being half finished, but I think God that it is half finished as it leaves so much more to be accomplished. It was indeed a happy chance that brought us to this place of infantile industry. During our voyage we have seen what science can do to bring us together. We have heard the human voice speaking at a distance of 2,100 miles." He then referred to the blood bond between the people of Britain and the Dominion, and of Canada's splendid part taken in the war. "We shall never forget the unimaginable heroism that stopped that first gas attack launched against our lines by the Hun. I have watched the attack on the Hindenburg line and I saw the blood bond that unites us. We are not a commonwealth of independent nations, but a commonwealth of inter-dependent nations. We are necessary to each other, and we are taking this opportunity of meeting in common council with you, and hope that it will be for the welfare of this great and ever greater empire," said His Lordship, in concluding, amid the prolonged applause of the audience.

Walter Crowe, K.C., was the next speaker. Mr. Crowe, in a few words told of the remarkable development of the Cape Breton coal and steel industries. "We are on the eve of an important development," he said. "We are in an unique position to enter the world's trade, and the formation of the British Empire Steel Company means a great thing for our city." In concluding, Mr. Crowe extended a hearty welcome to the delegates as a citizen of Sydney.

Mr. Langley, who is an Australian, thanked the city for the cordial reception on behalf of the overseas dominions. Mr. Langley referred to Canada's contribution in defence of the Empire, and that one of his own kin and kin had made the supreme sacrifice fighting with the first contingent sent over by the Dominion. He assured the gathering that if the visit was reciprocated that Australia would give to Canadians a like reception.

C. F. Crandall, representing the Canadian Press Association, expressed his hearty appreciation of the reception accorded here to the visitors, and gave them some instructions regarding their tour through the provinces. He also announced that owing to the three days' delay the visit to Prince Edward Island had to be put off the itinerary. All of the delegates expressed disappointment on hearing this. Mr. Crandall, however, said that if any time remained after the tour, that a visit to the island would be arranged on their way back.

The following were included in the list of guests:

Daughters of the Empire—Mrs. L. X. McDonald, Mrs. J. K. McLeod, Mrs. Jas. Bruce, Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, Mrs. Allan Jost, Mrs. Colin McKenzie, Mrs. Bruce Ingraham, Mrs. C. S. Cameron, Mrs. H. A. NOTES OF TRAVEL: And Reminiscences of a Pleasant Tour.

L. C. MORRIS. CHAPTER XXXVII. WE FINISH THE TOUR.

Leaving Boston our steps led us towards home. For six months we had strolled along, and saw sufficient to write for a year, but our story is now told, and our notes completed. Our journey from Boston brought us through the state of Maine, and into the Province of New Brunswick. For a few days we stopped off at St. John, the capital city; and we were well received by the good people of that place, and were entertained by the Mayor, and also by Mr. Anderson, the manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and by Mr. Holder. Continuing our journey we came into Nova Scotia, and visited the land of Evangeline and the Annapolis valley. For awhile we stayed at Kingsport, and were royally entertained by Mr. Isaac Cox and his good wife. The Annapolis valley is world-renowned for its apple orchards, and also for its beaches, and thousands of tourists annually visit these places. The beaches are well adapted to bathing and holiday recreation, and the neat hotels which one sees are sufficient proof that Nova Scotia is popular as a tourist resort. Among the different places which we eventually become one of the most popular. At present there is a drawback, inasmuch as the tides of the Bay of Fundy are so great, that some of the harbors are dry at the ebb; but it has been suggested that by a little

This may be but a dream; but sometimes dreams come true. With this vision of our future we close our notes. If what we have written has been of any benefit to anybody, then we are satisfied that our work has not been in vain. To those who have taken the trouble to write us kindly letters from afar, we record our thanks; and to those who at home have given us kindly words we say the same, and to those who by a little friendly criticism have helped us, we are also grateful. We have tried to speak kindly; because our experience in life has taught us that people need sympathy. This we have endeavored to give; and whatever we may yet write will be with the object of doing good, and cheering some heart. So for the present we say to our readers, Good Bye.

THE END.

Household Notes.

Plunge a pinched finger into water as hot as can be borne. Recipes always call for sifted flour in their measurements. The grey and brown varieties of enamelware are the most durable. A pinch of salt added to coffee just before serving clears it nicely. A table or tea spoonful in cooking always means a level spoonful. To make good chow-chow, use more celery than any other vegetable. Brown sugar used to sweeten cereals makes them taste much richer. Try cooking the apple sauce without cinnamon for a change and use nutmeg. Two-piece mattresses will last longer if the parts are regularly turned about.

Digby's Inward Passengers.

S.S. Digby, Capt. F. W. Chambers, D.S.C., arrived from Halifax last evening after a good run of 52 hours, considering that dense fog prevailed most of the way. She brought a small freight and six passengers: Sir John Aird, Hugh Aird, H. A. Brown, H. and Mrs. Baird, H. A. Butler, Miss A. Carter, J. T. Davidson, O. W. French, M. Z. Irish, C. E. and Mrs. Jubion and 3 children, D. W. and Mrs. Ledingham and two children, A. and Mrs. Moulton, Miss E. Puddington, R. D. Sten-dale, L. B. Trebillock, Mrs. A. T. Wood and child, Miss M. Wood and Lt.-Col. Montgomerie.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

A CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

I was telling the Authorman a few weeks ago of the exceedingly indifferent service I had received in a shop once noted for its excellent service.

The clerk had handed out the article I asked for with a take-it-or-leave-it con give-a-continental air. Then she had stood with her back to me fixing her hair while I examined it. When I asked her if she had a darker blue she said, "No Madam" without turning around. And when I asked if she had anything less expensive, she turned around, gave me a supercilious glare, and said, "No, indeed. The best ones that come in will be at least $3 more."

"I suppose it can't be helped," said the Authorman. "There is such a shortage that they are sure of their jobs and such a shortage of clerks that they know they can sell things without trying."

Then he added reflectively, "But it's a great chance for a clerk who wants to make a reputation!"

Wouldn't the Clerk Who Tried to Please Stand Out!

Wouldn't a clerk who tried just as hard as ever to please, stand out against a background of that sort of thing like white against black? And when the time comes (as it surely will) when jobs aren't so easy to hold on, think of the friends she'll have!

An interesting point of view, don't you think?

And doesn't your experience bear out?

Shopping is nowhere near such a pleasant adventure these days as it used to be.

In the first place, simple little jobs take so much longer. Suppose on your list are half a dozen such little items as some more embroidery cotton, some pearl buttons of a certain shape, and an extra dozen of a certain size. In the old days they would have taken a half Watching Women Run.

Have you noticed how few women look graceful when they run? So general, indeed, is this lack of grace that the occasional sight of a woman running without awkwardness as "wobbling" from side to side. The woman or girl who runs gracefully has an easy swinging movement from the hips that makes her running delightful to watch.

The tight-skirt fashion is partly responsible for the awkward gait one sees so frequently for it is hardly possible to run easily in a skirt that restricts even one's walking movements.

Heels that are too high also prevent graceful movements, for by throwing the body forward they give a wrong poise and cause the wearer to tread too much on the forepart of the foot.

There is a mental reason, too, that acts against grace. "Young girls up to about fourteen years of age are usually delightfully easy in their movements," said a teacher of gymnastics, "but when they put up their hair and wear fashionable clothes they adopt a proud sort of attitude that is not becoming, and this is particularly noticeable when they do not know, or choose to forget, the principles of walking and running. An athletic girl, in the way she stands, walks or runs, is usually to be admired for her grace and freedom of movement and good carriage—who does not generally follow hampering fashions too closely—whereas a townswoman or one who allows modern ideas and modern clothes to cramp her movements, often stands badly, adopting an affected, possibly stooping pose that is decidedly ugly, and walks and runs in a way that is either too dignified or silly.

"I would not say that all sports girls are graceful. No, for some are inclined to exaggeration. In running only the toe of the foot should touch the ground, and the body should swing from hips."

RELIGION AND FRIENDSHIP.

"What's his religion?" quick says I. As we observed him walkin' by. An' slow, says Ezra Brown to me: "I've no idee jes' what it be. I've never ast him where he goes On Sundays for his soul's repose, An' I don't care so long as he Stands up as man to man to me."

That's how he got to talkin' then. Of churches an' the ways o' men. An' I jes' sat there listenin' while His tongue ran on in easy style. His tongue ran on in easy style: "All churches do the best they can, An' no church I was ever in Encouraged me to go an' sin."

"Cath'lic or Protestant or Jew Or Scientist or Thoughter New Ain't never raised a will so high That I can't climb, or jes' sneak by. To claim the good friends that abide An' wait upon the other side; Religion cannot draw a line To keep me from a friend o' mine."

"Supposin' you an' I were bound To live on Piscopalian ground, Or Baptist or whatever creed We thought was fashioned to our need, An' couldn't step outside or meet The folks upon another street, But from one faith alone must choose— Think of the good friends we would lose!"

"Why ask what temples they attend? In church or out a friend's a friend, An' dready this old world would be If men were slaves to bigotry; Run down your list o' friends an' see How many worship differently— There is no church, whatever it be, But what has given good friends to me."

THE REGATTA.

Politics are forgotten, Commissions of Enquiry may adjourn sine die in order to prepare their report of Act I. of the Affidavit Drama, picnics abroad by Government members are unconsidered, new appointments fail to create hostile criticism, the price of sugar and molasses even do not produce one word of protest, and the current price of shore fish, as per Act of Parliament, does not arouse the enthusiasm of the lieges as in the past months, nor do they fall over each other in showering blessings upon the present Administration, the members of which, led by the Minister of Finance, enacted the famous Bologna Sausage Tariff reduction, that the fishermen might enjoy to the full this substantial article of diet and purchase it so cheaply, because of the lessened duty, that it would form an item on the daily bill of fare, and thus win kudos and fame for the reigning Receiver General. The public pulse so far as all these matters of dominion importance are concerned does not increase one beat. Premiers and Ministers of Justice may go junketting and pleasure-seeking abroad at the expense of the taxpayer: members of the House of Assembly on the Government side may get all their indigent relatives appointed as Trade Commissioners or Fish Inspectors, and the populace cares not a whit. Instructions, orders and requests pour forth from the Department of Marine and Fisheries to the press touching the price of fish and the movements of certain favored individuals, who are about to travel abroad also at the public expense, for the purpose of discovering certain things, of which, in their ignorance, they must perforce seek knowledge from strangers, but notwithstanding, demos stands unmoved and uninterested.

Why is this thus? There was a time when excursions abroad by members of the Government were condemned by the high chief excursionist, in loud and thrilling tones. But now a silence, so deep that it can be felt, has fallen over the scenes, and concealment appears to be the order. So far as the people are concerned they are not, and have not been for the past week or two, troubling much about doings in Government circles. Tomorrow is Regatta Day. In those four words there is the secret of the apparent lack of interest manifested toward the recent official pronouncements on all matters from fish to trips across the herring pond. The Regatta—Newfoundland's one day in the three hundred and sixty-five, when all men meet on the same level by the classic Lake of Quidi Vidi, with social distinctions, for the nonce, forgotten. Employer and employee, master and servant, rich and poor, high and low, if that definition is permissible in this democratic age, mix in tomorrow all possessed of the one idea—to make the day one of success and geniality. The stage is set, the actors have been assigned their various parts, the dress rehearsal has, as it were, been performed. The committee in charge have written O.K. to their arrangements and schedules, and handed out their final injunctions. Remains now only the entrance of the performers themselves, who amidst the plaudits of the multitude will stretch limbs and crack muscles in supreme effort to bring their boats to the winning post, ahead of all rivals, appreciating the honor of being first across the line in a higher measure than the more tangible tokens of victory. And so with everything done and racing crews taut with expectancy, let us all hope that the weather tomorrow will be all that can be desired. Clear skies, a moderate wind, just sufficient to give the surface a ruffle, without creating any lops, and all St. John's and visitors lining the banks of the Lake, their actions reflecting the joy it gives them to be present. Ere another issue of the Telegram comes off the press, the 1920 regatta will be a thing of the past and will be numbered with those already gone by. Our one hope is that the conditions will be perfect and that the best crews will win.

Acting Premier.

During the absence of the Hon. R. A. Squires, Prime Minister, from the Dominion, Honourable William F. Conker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will fill the exalted position. Ad multos annos.

Capt. Gus O'Brien.

The friends of the late Captain Gus O'Brien, of the First Battalion, have recently received a certificate from the Secretary of State for War, as follows:—"The war of 1914-18, Newfoundland Regiment, Capt. A. O'Brien, 1st Bat., (died of wounds), was mentioned in a despatch from General Sir Douglas Haig, G.C.B., K.C.I.E., K.C. V.O., A.D.C., dated 13th November, 1916, for gallant and distinguished services in the field. I have it in His Majesty's high appreciation of the services rendered. (Signed) Winston S. Churchill, Secretary of State for War." The certificate is dated "War Office, Whitehall, S.W., 1st March, 1919." Captain Gus O'Brien was called to answer the great Muster Roll early in the war, but the memory of his gallantry and of his splendid personality remains bright and glorious. He lived and died, whether as citizen, soldier or officer, as a man and a gentleman.

Up to noon to-day it was uncertain if he could be replaced, though an effort was being made to have J. Caul of the C.C.C. Football team fill his place. Owing to there being only one race between the Amateur and Football, Caul's friends are not anxious for him to row in the former.

It is rumored that the Red Lion's crew will apply for the Cadet if a stroke cannot be found.

Judgment in "Possession" Case.

In the case of the seizure of liquor landed from a steamer at the South-side on June 13th, in which Police Sergeant Furlong was the complainant, judgment was handed down this morning by Judge Morris as follows:

"The question in this case turns upon what is meant by possession. The Section reads: 'If any one has in his possession any intoxicating liquors at any place in the Colony after the first day of January, 1917, manufactured or imported in or into the Colony after the first day of January, 1917, except in accordance with Section 8 of this chapter, he shall be liable,' etc.

I am of opinion the act of possession was done by defendant when he removed the liquor from the ship. His possession was continued whilst he had the liquor in the store under his control. It was in his personal possession when he carried the bag containing the keg of rum through the store in his endeavour to remove it back to the ship.

The defendant knew that the steward had purchased the liquor in St. Pierre; that he imported it illegally; defendant aided him in his illegal act by landing the liquor and taking possession of it.

Under the evidence I must convict the defendant of a Breach of Section 4 of the Act and impose a fine of one hundred dollars or thirty days' imprisonment."

On Regatta Day you can get a Quick, Light and Tasty Lunch at POWER'S (Lower Flat Empire Hall), Cor. King's Road and Gower Street. ASSISTING GERMANY.
LONDON, Aug. 2.—The vote for an advance of five million pounds to Germany, in connection with the Spa coal agreements, came up to-night in the House of Commons. It was not seriously challenged, and was agreed to without revision. Members welcomed in the proposition, what they characterised as a sensible change in Government policy toward Germany, and a practical revision of the unworkable Versailles treaty. In the course of his speech in defence of the plan, Lloyd George said the proposal for securing coal was much better than sending a large, costly army for it. He argued that Germany must pay her debts, either in gold or goods. She had no gold, but he declared that coal was the equivalent of gold and even more useable. However, added the Premier, Germany is unable to produce sufficient coal while her population is unit and ill-fed. Hence she must be helped. There is no doubt of the condition of Germany. We have impartial representatives there, who report that the people are not receiving within sixty or seventy per cent. of the food they consumed before the war.

SEELEY TO VISIT CANADA.
MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—It was learned here to-day from an authoritative source that Major General the Right Hon. J. E. Seeley will be a visitor to Canada some time in September. General Seeley was the British Secretary of State for War from 1912 to 1914, and commanded a Canadian Cavalry Brigade from 1915 to 1918. He is now Vice-President of the British Air Council.

CHALLENGE MAY BE ACCEPTED.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The challenge of Alexander Ross, Canadian yachting enthusiast, for America's Cup will be considered by the Committee of the New York Yacht Club a week from next Saturday. Officials of the club said to-day that they knew of no rule or saw no reason why the challenge should not be accepted.

ROYAL YACHT WON.
MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—The Royal Yacht Britannia, with King George on board, to-day won the race for craft over seventy-five tons, says a cable to the Montreal Star from Cowes.

NARROW ESCAPE.
MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—The Montreal Star published the following cable from London: "The Princess Royal and Princess Maud had a narrow escape from death while motoring on Fitchley Road, when the car, in which they were seated, collided with a private motor. The impact was severe, a shower of broken glass filling the royal car. Both Princesses were shaken up, but were unhurt, and were able to proceed to their destination."

IRELAND DISTRESSED.
BELFAST, Aug. 2.—Political gatherings have been banned by Cardinal Michael Logue in the Archdiocese of Armagh, on August 15, date of the Feast of the Assumption. The Archbishop says in his proclamation: "From day to day things are going from bad to worse; destruction of life, destruction of property, repression and retaliation, backing of towns by armed forces of the crown, and to complete our misery, outbreaks of sectarian strife, resulting in loss of many useful lives. From recent occurrences it appears that even the House of God is not spared from sacrilegious outrages and desecration, by the shedding of human blood within their sacred precincts."

TURKS WILL SIGN.
PARIS, Aug. 2.—The signing of the Turkish Peace Treaty has been definitely fixed to take place next Thursday, August 5, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

DEADLOCK POSSIBLE.
LONDON, Aug. 2.—Polish and Bolshevik armistice delegates met Friday evening at Kobryn on the railroad east of Brest-Litovsk, and negotiations began Saturday morning. Karl Radek, representing the Bolsheviks, says a despatch to the Daily Star from Berlin. It is stated that the Bolsheviks began by demanding the surrender of Brest-Litovsk, which was already in their hands.

CABINET FRIENDLY.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3.—Damad Ferid Pasha, Grand Vizier, has announced the formation of a new cabinet composed largely of members friendly to British interests, according to political observers, who are well acquainted with the affiliations of the new men.

FINED AND IMPRISONED.
CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Wm. Brass Lloyd, millionaire Socialist, and nineteen other members of the Communist Labor Party, were to-night found guilty by a jury, of complicity to overthrow the Government of the United States. The defendants were given various sentences, most of them getting from one to five years in the penitentiary, a few being given fines in addition, and several were sentenced to one year in jail. Lloyd received the heaviest sentence, being given one of five years in the penitentiary, and a fine of three thousand dollars in addition.

QUESTIONS WISDOM OF DECISION.
LONDON, Aug. 3.—Moderate opinion in Ireland, says a Dublin despatch to the London Times, is seriously questioning the wisdom of the Government's decision to exclude Archbishop Mannix, of Australia from Ireland. Many arguments are used against it.

LIPTON OFF HOME.
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Sir Thomas Lipton will leave for England to-morrow on the British steamship Olympic, which is scheduled to sail with two thousand four hundred passengers, making her second trip to Europe as an oil burner. Sir Thomas will be accompanied by Lord and Lady Ferguson and Lord Dewar, who have been his guests during America's cup races.

Quarter of a Million for a Horse.
Prince Palatine, a famous English thoroughbred horse, has been bought for shipment to the United States, for $250,000, which is said to be the highest price ever paid for a horse. Six other horses have brought over $100,000 each during recent years. It is interesting to note that in the older days Robert Bonner paid $33,000 for Dexter, the famous trotter, in 1867, while twenty years later he paid $40,000 for Maud S. Another well-known trotter in her day, Elena Temple, was sold in 1849 for $13, and nine years later, when she had become famous, for $8,000.

PRINCIPAL RETURNS.—Baird's premises and shipping were gaily decorated with bunting to-day in honor of the return of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baird, who arrived by s.s. Digby.

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.
The big event for to-night is the Cubs-Lion game for the Bowring Cup and Silver medals, and it's sure going to be some clash. There is nearly as much money bet on the outcome as there is on the football race and the odds are even.

Walter Callahan will be on the mound for the Cubs crew, while the Cubs are placing their dependence on their mainstay—Bat Hall.

The lineups will be:—

LIONS		CUBS
Callahan	pitcher	Hall	pitcher
Cahill	catcher	Clouston	catcher
Hiltz	1st base	DeMers	1st base
Callahan	2nd base	Duggan	2nd base
Power	3rd base	Manning	3rd base
Munn	Shortstop	Sawyer	Shortstop
Robinson	right field	Gosse	right field
Quick	centre field	Pheasant	centre field

Extra! Extra! what's the matiah. After this comes the Regatta.

Final arrangements have been made for the bringing down of the Sydney team and they will arrive here on Monday, August 15th. Manager John B. Orr of the St. John's All Stars, will start to pick and choose his clan on Saturday. We shall publish full details on Thursday of the trip. So many thrills we're getting now. From sports of many kinds! We're puzzled over what we like, But can't make up our minds.

We tumble out of bed each morn. And haste to glance the news; Tobin's out of the Amateur race. And Peddigrue can't lose.

Barnes's going to row them both. Consternation on all faces; Can he stand the awful strain? Of rowing in two close races?

Claudia Hall is in the bow. Fighting hard for Knowling's crew; Harvey's merris will give 'em fits, But we wouldn't bet on that, would you?

Both the Wanderers and C.E.I. are tuning up for the beginning of the second round, and Harvey has discovered a portside who can knock 'em a mile.

Snott will likely get a game with the Wanderers after all owing to the vacationists. We hope they will give Dusty his chance to go in the box.

FOR THE RACES.
The grocer to the youngster said, "You folks must eat a lot of bread; I never saw such use of yeast— You get ten cakes a day at least."

"My ma don't bake," replied the kid, "We eat McGuire's, always did; My dad is getting all your stock. He's making something in a crock."

Don't forget the orphans to-night; there will be no boats on the Pond.

Police Court.

For a breach of Section 4 of the Prohibition Act the defendant in a police case, was fined $100.

A trap berth case in which Jas. Roche was plaintiff and E. Thorn, defendant, was settled out of Court by Mr. Barron, the plaintiffs solicitor, who asked that the case be withdrawn as the defendants had agreed to remove the trap in question and pay costs.

A woman of Prince of Wales Street, the wife of a painter, was convicted of running a moonshine outfit and was fined $100. Mr. Higgins appeared for the defence and stated that in accordance with the notion that has got abroad, his client did not think it any more harm for her to make moonshine, or in other words brew, in St. John's than it was for people to do so in the Northern outports, where moonshining is known to be going on, and the department of Justice dare not interfere. Inspector General Hutchings took exception to this remark and stated that prosecutions were going on. Mr. Higgins replied, "What about the conviction? How about the Flat Island case?" The argument here became a little heated but was cooled by Judge Morris who sat contentedly watching the operations of the still which had been set up for a demonstration in the Court Room for his information. The brew seized analysed 58.65 per cent. of alcohol.

A man for having some of the above spirits in his possession, contrary to law, was ordered to pay the sum of $100 for the illegal privilege.

S. O. E. Celebration at Harbor Grace.

(Hr. Grace Standard, July 30.)

The visit of the Supreme Grand President of the S.O.E.B.S. on Monday last, brought out the members of the Society to give that officer a fitting welcome. Mr. T. H. Carter arrived in St. John's on Monday morning by the Sable Island, and after a short rest in the city, left by car at 2 p.m. for Harbor Grace. Nine of the city members, forming a deputation of the officers of the lodges there, accompanied Mr. Carter, two cars taking the company, that was made up of the President of the Grand Lodge, Messrs. T. Thompson, A. G. Williams, W. Butler, N. Andrews, C. Chaffey, J. Hennebury, W. L. Pike, C. Wiseman, G. Pike. The Prime Minister, the Hon. Richard A. Squires, LL.B., K.C., who is a member of the Order, purposed coming but was detained by pressing business, gave the use of his car for the trip. Six cars filled with a deputation of members of the lodge here, met the city cars at Clarke's Beach, and the visitors were welcomed to the Bay. This excursion by the local members was a surprise party, and the meeting of the two contingents was most happy and fully appreciated by the visitors. Eight cars were in the line-up, and the trip here was made in good time and the party was greeted with cheers and greetings along the route. The rain and fog that prevailed throughout the trip around the Bay marred what would otherwise have proved a most enjoyable drive. The cars reached here about 7 o'clock, the stop being made at the residence of Mrs. Bailey where the visitors were to put up during their stay.

At 8 o'clock the regular meeting of Diamond Jubilee Lodge took place, and nearly every member in town was present. The gathering was a most happy one, this visit of a Grand Lodge officer being the second since the formation of the Lodge. Nineteen years ago, the President and Secretary, Messrs. F. Cook and J. W. Carter, were down on an official visit, and were given a hearty welcome by the Sons. On this occasion, the local members decided to give the single representative as good if not a better greeting. The visit was looked upon as a red letter day in the history of the Order, and observed accordingly. During the session of the Lodge on Monday night, an address of welcome and congratulation was presented to the Chief Executive of the Grand Lodge, who in the course of his address to the members on the general work of the Society and its plans for the future, expressed the pleasure that he felt in receiving such token of esteem, and that he fully appreciated the fraternal spirit that prompted its preparation and presentation.

After the close of the business of the night, light refreshments were partaken of in the lower hall, Coughlan Hall, the Lodge meeting having been held in the larger hall. Some two hours were spent by the assembled fraternity, toasts being given and drunk with full honors. The visitor expressed himself as being highly pleased with his trip to Harbor Grace, and the hearty welcome accorded him. The gathering separated at 12.30 in the morning, the closing being the singing of the National Anthem. Coughlan Hall grounds were gaily decorated, and about town dwellings and premises showed flags in honor of the visitor. The cars left at eleven Tuesday morning for St. John's, and took the entire party. A meeting of the city Lodges, Dudley and Empire, took place on Tuesday night, and on Wednesday night a banquet was given by the members in honor of the Supreme President. Mr. Carter will take with him the good wishes of the friends that he met on this his first visit to this part of his jurisdiction.

A Clear Issue.

(From the New York Times.)
If Senator Harding has thrust a sword into his own party, he has given the Democrats a clear issue and great opportunity. It is no longer a question of balancing a set of Republican reservations to the Treaty against a Democratic set. The Republican candidate has thrown overboard the whole previous programme—or pretence—of his party. He is against the Treaty in any form; opposed to the League however amended. This opens the way for any positive plan which Governor Cox may propose. Anything affirmative by the Democrats will be better than this deadly Republican negative. Mr. Harding has cleared the field for his opponents and given them a stronger cause and a more favorable fighting ground than they could have hoped for.

The Wrong Side of the Bed.

In olden days it was believed to be very bad luck to see the new moon reflected in a looking glass or window-pane. Mirrors were regarded by our forefathers as the most effective means of divining secrets. There is a tradition that the Gunpowder Plot was discovered by Dr. John Dee, a famous magician of that time, with his magic mirror. There is much curious folklore about the bed. Bedsteads were always placed parallel to the planks of the floor, as it was considered unlucky to sleep across the boards. There is a belief among the Hindus that those who sleep with their heads to the north will have their days shortened. Yet some people say they always sleep sounder when their heads are placed to the north, and a Scottish physician once declared that, when he failed by every prescription to bring sleep to invalid children, he recommended their beds to be turned due north and south. The phrase "to get out of bed the wrong way" originated in an ancient superstition which regarded it as unlucky to place the left foot first on the ground when getting out of bed.

Sees Many U. S. Enemies.

Charging that Japanese Shipping interests were fomenting a propaganda against the recently enacted Merchant Marine Act, United States Senator Jones, who framed the measure, declared that Pacific Coast ports would not suffer in case embargoes were placed against them by either Japanese or British shipping companies. The shipping board has given assurance, he stated, that United States ships will immediately be allowed in sufficient numbers to replace foreign ships which are withdrawn, and "to insure uninterrupted movement" of Oriental exports and imports.

"The threats of foreign carriers to withdraw their ships have been noted," Senator Jones stated, "but they will not be permitted to divert business from ports through which is now moves. There is full authority in the transportation act of 1920 to absolutely control all import and export shipments in trans-Pacific trades, so that the Interstate Commerce Commission may require them to move under permit, thus making effective an absolute embargo which would prevent diversion of such cargo now moving through Puget Sound to other Canadian, Atlantic or Gulf ports."

Belgian Thrashed German.

Some of the members of the German delegation have complained to Chancellor Fehrenbach of aggressions of which they claim to have been the victims since their arrival at Spa, Belgium. One journalist attached to the German delegation came to blows with a former Belgian officer whose house he occupied at Spa during the war.

According to these claims one evening as the Germans were seated in a cafe the orchestra struck up the British National Anthem. When the Germans began singing in their native tongue a Belgian civilian took offence and ordered them out. They refused to leave, but was finally ejected after a sharp scuffle in which the same journalist received a blow over the nose with a cane.

The Belgian civilian ran out of the cafe just as Herr von Eckhardt, editor of the Hamburg Fremdenblatt, and Herr Stoklossa, correspondent of the Wolf Agency, were passing. Recognizing them the civilian struck Stoklossa in the face with his cane, injuring the correspondent so severely he was confined to bed for a day. The German delegation will make representation to the Belgian authorities regarding the affair.

Queens on Playing Cards

The invention of playing cards has been variously attributed to India, China, Arabia, and Egypt, but there seems to be little doubt that they originated in Asia, and were introduced into Europe about the close of the thirteenth century. There is a historical mention of the game of cards in Germany in 1275, in Italy in 1289, but not in France until 1293. In the sixteenth century the manufacture of cards was a flourishing business in England, and under Edward IV. their importation was forbidden to protect home industry. The marks upon the suits of cards are believed to have been chosen to represent symbolically the different classes of society. Thus the hearts stood for the clergy, clubs for the soldiery, spades for the serfs, and diamonds for the merchants. In the early French cards the kings were pictures of David, Alexander, Caesar and Charlemagne, representing the monarchies of the Jews, Greeks, Romans and French. The queens were Esther, Judith, Argine and Pallas.

Where Men Steal Not.

According to a correspondent, all property may be left unguarded in the Marquesas Islands, situated in the Southern Seas. He says: "I have had my trousers lifted from the second story room in a Manila hotel by the aged and fingered hunchback of the Tagalog ladron, while I washed my face, and stood aghast at the mystery of their disappearance with door locked. I have given over my watch to a gendarme in Cairo to fortend arrest for having beaten an Arab who tripped me to pick my pocket. In San Francisco, when robbed upon the public street, I have had the police suggest that I offer a fee to the "king of the dips" and a reward to certain saloon keepers to intercede with the unknown highwayman for the return of an heirloom. Yet through the darkest nights in Vailhua I slept serenely, surrounded by all the possessions so desirable in the eye of my neighbors, in a house the doors of which were never fastened. There was not a lock in all the village, or anything that answered the purpose of one."

MOUNT CASHEL RECEIPTS.—It is understood that the receipts for the Mount Cashel Garden Party total $10,000.00. The good Brothers and the committee in charge and lady table holders must indeed feel proud that their efforts were so generously supported.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, June 19. THE PRINCE'S INDIAN TOUR.

Reports have been current that the date of the Prince of Wales's trip to India has been put back because of the state of India. I am able to say this is quite untrue. Arrangements are going very smoothly, and there is every prospect that the Prince will leave England for Bombay about the first week in December. Lord Cromer, who has been lent by the King to the Prince as Chief of Staff, is taking a short holiday before beginning his new duties.

GENEVA CONGRESS.

The delegates who have now returned to London from the Congress of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance at Geneva are greatly pleased with its success. It was the first fully international meeting of ordinary men and women held since the war, and they report that the delegates, representing every class and creed, from Allied, neutral, and enemy countries, got on together admirably. It was a curious assemblage, Bathonia, Germany, India, Palestine, Austria, France, Iceland, and Uruguay were among the thirty or forty countries represented. Mrs. Chapman Catt, the American suffrage leader, presided, and near her on the platform were Mme. Schlumberger, President of the French suffragists, Frau Marie Stritz, the German suffrage leader, who did good work for British prisoners during the war and who came as official delegate of the Wurtemberg government, and Mme. Furfjelm, one of Finland's first women members of Parliament. British delegates who had met many of the foreign delegates in pre-war years comment on their changed appearance, their evident loss of health and vigour. Lady Astor was one of the speakers at the crowded public meeting, which was addressed by women members of Parliament, and the British delegation were proud of the impression her directness and obvious sincerity produced.

AN AUTUMN SESSION.

Much as the Government would like to avoid the necessity of asking Parliament to sit during the autumn and winter months, it does not seem possible to do so. For one reason or another, the programme of business has been thrown out of gear to such an extent that unless members could be induced to sit well into September—and it would be difficult to induce them to sacrifice their holiday—the only alternative is an autumn session. Possibly Parliament will adjourn, therefore, about the second week in August, and reassemble in the third week of October. An additional cause of the proposed abandonment of an August prorogation is the intimation conveyed to the Government that the House of Lords will occupy some considerable time in considering the Irish Home Rule Bill. That measure will be passed through the House of Commons before the adjournment, but its examination will be deferred by the House of Lords until the autumn.

THE FORTY-EIGHT HOUR WEEK.

The Cabinet has approved the re-drafted bill to establish a forty-eight hour working week. No important changes have been made in the measure which, I understand, excludes seamen, whose position will be dealt with by agreement between the shipowners and the men, and includes agricultural workers. In the case of the latter, the machinery of the bill allows the agricultural industry to adopt any scheme to enable the principle of the bill to be carried out without expressly stipulating for a rigid forty-eight hour week in each week of the year. Thus an arrangement might be made by which over a period, say, of twelve months the average hours worked did not exceed the legal maximum.

ASCOT.

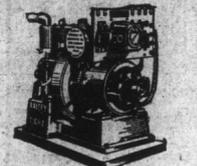

Despite inconveniences, the thousands of society women on the lawns at Ascot were justified in wearing their best attire without cloaks. Short capes were donned by many as a compromise. The chief surprise about the dressing was the supremacy of the very big hat, often with ospreys, often with lace. The small hat has had a long innings, and fashion has turned suddenly against it. In dresses the favorite colors, as last year, were black and white, used in maple effect. Sleeves are elbow length and skirts often to the ankle, with shoes and stockings exactly matching the color scheme of the costume. Beside the black and white brigade, one saw many ladies in grey, pink, or lemon, and even when the dress was demure in hue, for instance, a tulle sunshade would be carried, graduating from the palest rose to the deepest crimson. Handbags are more fashionable than ever, and the best idea is to make them entirely of artificial flowers, with a scented lining of taffeta. At Ascot the handbag is in tune with the wearer's frock, but in the dinner parties and theatre parties which followed in town, the most brilliantly colored handbags were carried by the most fashionable women.

ASCOT TOP HATS.

Society sportsmen and women have profited by their Derby experience, when many who went down to Epsom by rail were kept four in the car. This week at Waterloo Station it was plain that most racegoers had decided to go to Ascot by train. There was a continuous stream of private cars over Waterloo Bridge to the station and every train out was crowded. A noticeable feature among the men was the variety of colors in which their top hats were made. The conventional grey or brown racing topper seems to have given place to hats of every conceivable blend of these colors. One hat that was almost a yellow and others that were of so vivid a grey as almost to be blue mingled with the black ones of less original sportsmen. Although Guards officers had been told that morning coats should be worn, other sportsmen made it clear that the short black coat worn, with the gayest of trousers, is very much the fashion.

RIVER SEASON BEGINNING.

The regatta season up the river commences to-day at Marlow. A friend at Henley tells me that the holiday towns along the Thames are having daily thunderstorms and torrential rains just now, which are disconcerting to the early holiday makers, but ought to keep the gardens and groves along the river fresh for the great festival at Henley—Henley Regatta. The Leander Club is already there practising for the Grand in which they are likely to meet the Americans, but Harvard—the holders of the Grand Challenge Cup—are not to arrive in England until towards the end of next week, which only allows them a week for practice.

THE MAYOR'S COURT.

The disappearance of the old Mayor's Court in the city of London marks the end of a famous institution which has lingered on for years owing to the pertinacity of vested interests. It is now to be absorbed by a Bill introduced by the Lord Chancellor, into the City of London Court, which exercises county court jurisdiction for the city area. The Mayor's Court is a survival of the old Courts of Record, and the few which now remain in other parts of the country are seemingly under notice to quit. It has been the training ground of many men who reached eminence at the Bar in after life, and countless legal anecdotes of high vintage had their scene in its dusty precincts. Situated in a far corner of the old Guildhall, Gog and Magog glaring down upon the entrance to the court, it was the sort of place in which Dickens rejoiced and many visitors have been made glad. Odd characteristics at the Bar hung about its portals, which were the like-hat place to meet the successors of Solomon Pell and his tribe. That the dire need of destruction was the work of the Lord Chancellor himself would have grieved Mr. Pell to the heart, but the public service will be improved by the contemplated amalgamation.

CLEMENCEAU ON LLOYD GEORGE.

"The Tiger" during his holiday in Egypt, seems to have been ingenuously outspoken. They say he showed great friendliness to all British officers stationed on the Nile, and on more than one occasion dined in the regimental messes. There he generally gave his personal opinion of all the various members of the Peace Conference, and declared, with his peculiarly humorous chuckle, that the only person with whom he had had any serious difficulty was the British Premier. He was of the opinion, however, that in spite of Lloyd George's famous astuteness and versatility, the French had got the better on the whole of the Welsh Celt—which is the antithesis of what Paris professes to believe at present. In Egypt, M. Clemenceau gave the impression of regarding affairs of State as a tedious and rather childish business, of which he was glad to be freed, yet his friends would not be surprised to see his plunge into them again.

PRINCE'S RINK.

No doubt all the dancers will be delighted to learn that the C.C.C. have secured the Prince's Rink for their Regatta Night Dance, and in consequence of this will close the C.C.C. Hall Regatta night. Late last night our contractors informed us that they would let us know this morning at 9 o'clock if they could put the floor in good condition for Regatta Night, and promptly at 8 o'clock this morning we were informed that they had a gang of carpenters at work before breakfast, and they will continue to work Regatta Day if necessary in order to have the floor in good order, and that we could go ahead and advertise in to-day's papers, the big Regatta Night Dance, in the Prince's Rink, on to-morrow, Wednesday night at 9.30. This will no doubt be welcome news to the crowd who annually look forward to a real good old time Regatta Dance, Quadrilles and Lancers and for once in the year cut out all these fancy dances. The expense of this big undertaking will be heavy, as up to 12 o'clock last night things looked gloomy. However, the C.C.C. feel they will be well repaid for the extra trouble and expense to give the public one big old time Regatta Dance in a place large enough to accommodate all who are in the habit of ending "the day" happily. See the programme in all the papers to-day. Slogan: "Follow the Crowd."

The Golden Days.

What were the golden days of the famous Royal North West Mounted Police? Col. Gilbert Sanders, C.M.G., D.S.O., Police Magistrate of Calgary, veteran of the South African and the Great War, declares that these wonderful days were those just subsequent to the advent of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Western Canada, when the settlers had to be assured of adequate protection, and when the police were compelled to exercise personal oversight over the pioneers, visit them several times every month and secure a signed statement to the effect that this duty was efficiently performed. Then the whiskey runners and the Indians had to be kept under control, and for this purpose the flaming red tunic of the Mounties was of signal service, for wherever it was seen—and it could be seen for miles in the clear air of the prairies—law and order was almost instantly established, and the evil-doers were punished. True, they fed sometimes, but the police never gave up the trail until their quarry was run down. Along with the indomitable persistence with which criminals were followed, hundreds and even thousands of miles, was an even-handed justice at the trials, and hence the red coats became the immediate guaranty of the observance of the laws and the protection of life and property. Therefore Col. Sanders says: "The days I spent in the service of the force were the golden days of my life. The world will never know the hundreds of deeds of courage and valor that have been performed by those in the service."

America's Cup Remains in U.S.

Resolute Won Final Race in Eight Minutes 48 Seconds, Including Time Allowance.

Sandy Hook, N.J., July 27.—Defender Resolute gave the challenger, Shamrock IV, the worst drubbing of the 1920 regatta in the final race of the series to-day, winning boat for boat thirteen minutes and forty-five seconds—and the America's famous yachting cup remains in the United States.

Overcoming forty seconds' lead the advantage of a windward berth which Shamrock had taken at the start, the defender held a lead of 4 minutes and 8 seconds at the half-way stake of the thirty mile course, and crossed the finish line thirteen minutes and five seconds ahead, including her handicap of six minutes and forty seconds. Resolute won by 13 minutes and 45 seconds.

Cheered the Victor.

As the challenger crossed the mark her British crew let out three ringing cheers for the victor and the conqueror's responded with lusty cheers for Shamrock and her crew.

Sir Thomas Lipton announced immediately after the race that he would build another new challenger and come across again in 1922 to have another try at lifting the America's cup, provided some other yachtsman did not challenge and win the cup sooner.

"I was beaten by a better boat," he said. "I have no complaint to make, but I am greatly disappointed."

Shamrock won all the honors of the start. Resolute started in a very bad pocket underneath Shamrock, and the green boat had everything her own way for the first fifteen minutes.

Wind Three Knots.

The wind was scarcely more than three knots at the start and both yachts failed to reach the line before the handicap limit of two minutes expired. Shamrock was the first to cross followed forty seconds later by the defender. Both crossed to the starboard tack, and Shamrock being 50 yards to windward immediately tacked to port. Resolute followed, and to the surprise of all began to fall off to leeward. The yachts had not been sailing ten minutes before a row of barges loomed up ahead. Resolute had to tack to avoid them, but for some reason Shamrock instead of tacking also and following the old adage, "always keep between your opponent and the mark," kept on and Resolute, having her wind free, held off-shore and kept clear of Shamrock thereafter.

Shamrock was evidently heading for a better draft of air under the Jersey shore, but she failed to find it, while Resolute picked up a favorable slant off shore. Still an hour after the start Shamrock was well in the lead and seemed able to head a couple of points nearer the wind.

Everything seemed to be going unusually well for the green boat and hopes ran high on the yacht Victoria, carrying Sir Thomas Lipton.

Then Resolute began to pick up her heels and over-reach her opponent. Adams tacked twice before he succeeded in getting across Shamrock's bow, but he finally landed and after that, the race, as between the two boats, was over.

Story of the Race.

The wind had picked up off shore to about three knots, but few spectators believed the yachts could finish within the six hour time-limit unless it freshens considerably. Southwest winds usually blow stronger as the afternoon advances and this probably was the reason for ordering a start.

The preparatory signal was sounded at two o'clock for a start at 2:15.

Resolute carried mainsail, staysail, outer jib and club topsail. Shamrock carried the same sails, but did not break out her staysails until later.

The warning signal was blown at 2:10 and the sloop began jockeying for the start, with their baggy jib topsails up in stops.

Shamrock's Success.

Having beaten Captain Adams, of the Resolute for position for the first time in the series, Captain Burton crossed the line in starboard tack and then came about on the port tack apparently hunting for a better breeze under the Jersey shore. Resolute did likewise.

The sea was very smooth and there was little quartering wave from either yacht. A surprising feature of the first five minutes of sailing was the way Shamrock held herself on the edge of the wind. She pointed as well as Resolute for the first time in their fight for the America's Cup. She increased her gain as she moved inland and it seemed as if she was getting a better wind aloft than the United States boat. She was about fifty yards to windward of the defender.

Shamrock crossed Resolute's bow at 2:22. The challenger looked very fast in the light air and, contrary to his former tactics, her skipper kept her right on the edge of the wind. The air was streaky off shore, but Shamrock seemed to thrive on what the yachts were getting.

A 5 Knot Breeze.

After a short hitch Resolute came about in the port tack and the two yachts slipped along and headed in towards Seabright. The wind came in variable streaks and first one and then the other yacht would point better. Captain Adams, however, began to pick Resolute a little bit and she gradually worked out to weather of the challenger, which, however, at 2:30 still held a slight lead.

Although the breeze had increased to five knots, the sloop had her trouble breaking in shore, the fluky wind heading one and then the other, causing them to fall to leeward. Already observers began to express doubt if the yachts could finish before the six hour time limit expired at eight-fifteen.

Challenger Goes Better.

At 3:30 when both yachts were continuing their long board to starboard Shamrock had improved her weather position. Whether she was getting better slants of air or was being handled better than in previous races could not be stated but she certainly showed a surprising reversal of form in going to windward.

At 3:55 the challenger had widened her position and was several hundred yards ahead of the defender. The wind was just strong enough to keep the yachts' sails filled.

Shamrock to Weather.

Shamrock had worked still further out to weather and was leading Resolute by several hundred yards when at 3:50 the yachts had covered about 6 1/2 miles of first 15 mile windward of their 30 mile course. Both yachts were slanting out to sea on the starboard tack with the outer mark about 3 1/2 miles away.

At 4:06 Resolute ran into a favoring slant of air and quickly cut down Shamrock's lead.

Resolute by rapid footing fore-reached Shamrock and then came about on the port tack at 4:08.

The defender, however, could not quite clear Shamrock's bow and was forced to come about on the starboard tack, as Shamrock had the right of way, being close hauled on the starboard tack. Only a few yards separated the races at 4:10.

The yachts were not carrying as much wind as they formerly did and were making slow headway against the flood tide, as they raced to finish the contest before expiration of the time limit.

Resolute Slips Ahead.

Resolute at 4:19 began to slip out ahead of the Lipton craft and had taken the lead from the challenger, although it was a slight one.

At 4:22 Resolute tacked to port and crossed the Shamrock's bow.

Having crossed Shamrock's bows, Resolute came about again on the starboard tack. She was doing better work than she did in the early part of the race.

At 4:30 with six miles to go to the outer mark and nothing more than a three or four knot breeze blowing, it did not seem possible that the yachts could make the turn before 5:30 at the earliest, and with 15 miles home before the wind, it looked as though the race might be called off before the time expired at 5:15.

At 4:35 the yachts were almost becalmed.

Resolute Still Ahead.

At 4:48 when the sloop were about 3 1/2 miles from the outer mark they went about on the port tack with Resolute several hundred yards ahead of the challenger.

The wind increased to five knots as the two sloops neared the outer mark. Resolute drew constantly, though slowly, ahead.

Nearing the outer mark Resolute took in her jib topsail.

Round the Buoy.

Resolute spun around the outer mark ahead of Shamrock in to-day's international yacht race, which with the tally standing two to two, will decide whether the America's Cup is to stay in the United States or travel overseas.

Resolute turned the outer mark at 5:18:29 and started back on the last 15 miles of the thirty mile windward and leeward course after having captured on the first leg a lead of forty seconds, obtained by the Lipton craft at the start.

Shamrock was about half a mile astern when Resolute rounded the outer buoy. The challenger took in her jib topsail as she neared the mark and rounded at 5:23:22, unofficial time.

After rounding the mark, the defender set her balloon jib in thirty seconds and began a race for the finishing line against the time limit of six hours, which expires at 5:17.

To win the cup, Shamrock, four minutes and 8 seconds astern of the defender, faced the task of passing Resolute and finishing six minutes and forty-one seconds ahead, one second more than the time handicap of six minutes and forty seconds that she has to give Resolute. This task seem-

Apply Pepsin

Every Day to Your Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

To Fight Film

DENTAL SCIENCE has proved that the great tooth wrecker is a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. Most tooth troubles are caused by it. It clings to the teeth, enters the crevices, hardens and stays. And teeth will discolor and decay where that film stays, however much you brush them. That is why millions of tooth brush users fail to save their teeth.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Scientists have for years sought ways to combat that film, but the methods proved inadequate. Then one man, after extensive research, applied activated pepsin—a digester—to the film. And many clinical tests seem to clearly prove that he solved this great film problem.

We ask you to see for yourself. This pepsin method is employed in Pepsodent, and we offer a 10-Day Tube. See what it does when you use it. See the results in ten days. It will show you a way to clean your teeth as you never have cleaned them before.

See How They Glisten

Analysis shows that the film is albuminous. Pepsin digests albumin. The object in Pepsodent is to dissolve the film, then to constantly combat it. But pepsin alone is inert. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed forbidden.

Now a harmless, activating method has been found. And that method, used in Pepsodent, makes efficient pepsin possible.

Able authorities have proved Pepsodent by convincing clinical tests. It has been adopted, and is now endorsed, by leading dentists everywhere. It does what nothing else has done, and everyone should use it.

We urge you to prove it yourself. Ask us for a 10-Day Tube. Look at your teeth and see what it does. See how they glisten. Do this for your sake and your children's sake.

Resolute turned the outer mark at 5:18:29 and started back on the last 15 miles of the thirty mile windward and leeward course after having captured on the first leg a lead of forty seconds, obtained by the Lipton craft at the start.

Shamrock was about half a mile astern when Resolute rounded the outer buoy. The challenger took in her jib topsail as she neared the mark and rounded at 5:23:22, unofficial time.

After rounding the mark, the defender set her balloon jib in thirty seconds and began a race for the finishing line against the time limit of six hours, which expires at 5:17.

To win the cup, Shamrock, four minutes and 8 seconds astern of the defender, faced the task of passing Resolute and finishing six minutes and forty-one seconds ahead, one second more than the time handicap of six minutes and forty seconds that she has to give Resolute. This task seem-impossible if the wind held steady and true.

Shamrock, which was nearly two minutes in breaking out her balloon after rounding the mark, immediately gybed over and headed for the Jersey shore on another luffing match such as marked yesterday's cancelled race. Resolute did not follow her as the wind looked light inshore, although shore observers reported that the breeze was freshening. To cover the course by 5:15 the Resolute had to sail five miles an hour. She seemed to be carrying a fair breeze as she came up the coast and her balloon was well filled so that hopes of her winning the race before expiration of the time limit increased.

Col. Martin to Lecture.

In connection with the Salvation Army Annual Congress for 1920, Colonel Martin, Territorial Commander, will deliver a lecture in the Methodist College Hall on Sunday afternoon, presided over by His Excellency the Governor, entitled "Impressions Gained in Germany During Nine Years of Salvation Army Officialship: the Causes of the War and Germany's Ruin." The lecture begins at 3 o'clock, and judging by the subject chosen, will be well worth hearing.

Regatta Jingles.

Asked about the preparations this morning, President Hiscock said: "Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

If the weather is unfavorable to-morrow morning, the Committee will meet at the T. A. Armoury at 8 o'clock and decide as to whether the Regatta will go on.

The Lakeside was a hive of industry last night, as beside the workmen putting up tents, there were thousands watching the boats practising.

The tent of the ladies of the K. of C. is a capacious one, and owing to its size, they have made all necessary preparations to serve meals and refreshments. The Committee will have their lunch there.

The number of tents this year will be the largest in the history of the Regatta. There will be over seventy.

If His Excellency the Governor arrives here in time, he will be with the people at the Regatta, and do all in his power to make the day a success.

The first race will start at 10 a.m. It will be the Amateur with four boats.

The final meeting of the Committee was held last night at the T. A. Armoury to receive reports. "All is well along the Potomac," was the summing up of the situation.

Nearly all the crews were on the Lake, having the final practice, last night.

There are three fishermen crews sure; two from Flatrock. It is yet possible that there will be four.

"Interest and enthusiasm are on the increase," says President Hiscock, and all that is required now is fine weather to have the record Regatta.

Several applied for space for tents but could not be accommodated. All the ground is covered except a narrow passage way between tents from the road to the Lakeside.

"The public," says Mr. Hiscock, "have been most generous in their donations."

The carriage and motor regulations, under the supervision of the police, are very perfect.

You will meet men whom you have not seen since this time last year if you go to the Regatta to-morrow. The question, "where have they been ever since," will never be answered.

It is well to keep in mind to-morrow that "Notty was forty on the pork, and lost it."

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. J. Ross, of the Cable office, Heart's Content, is in town on a visit to his home.

The schrs. Leander Gould, Frances Willard and Minnie Maud are on dock undergoing repairs; the schrs. Gordon W. Cape Pine and Marjorie McGlashen are in port awaiting dockage. The dock is being kept quite busy all along.

Miss Florrie Drover, daughter of Mr. Leander Drover, Whiteway, T.B., after spending a very enjoyable visit the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Davis, Woodville Road, left again for her home on Saturday morning.

Messrs. Moses Yetman and Graham Parsons, of the Cable Staff, Bay Roberts, spent the week-end in town at their homes.

The Lunenburg Banker "Donald A. Oresner" came off dock on Saturday last and left again for the fishing grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKay and baby girl, Helen, arrived by Saturday afternoon's train on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McKay and family. The party spent yesterday (Sunday) at Bell Island, the guests of Fred's sister, Mrs. George Stewart. The trip was made in the motor boat "E. L. Stewart."

The schooner "Mary F. Hyde" is discharging coal at the Government Wharf for Mr. Thomas Walsh, Riverhead. This is a fine class of coal, and now is the chance to get in a winter's supply.

Roads Commission.

The recently appointed Roads Commission met at the office of the Minister of Public Works on Friday afternoon when the policy of road rebuilding was decided on. The Board consists of Messrs. C. Collishaw, Reg. Harvey and T. Soper, representing the Newfoundland Motor Association; Road Inspectors Bambrick and Jas. Parsons; S. Churchill, Assistant Superintendent of Public Works; and Hon. H. J. Browning, P. Archibald, M.H.A., R. Hibbs, M.H.A., and W. B. Jennings, Minister of Public Works. The latter is Chairman and Mr. Hibbs was appointed Secretary. Already under direction of the Motor Association representatives the work of road repairing is being continued through the Topsall and Kelligrewa section and a new team is to be started on Holyrood to work down the Seal Cove line, fixing up the ditches and making the road passable. It was also decided to blast away the rock which is an obstruction on the upper end of Long Pond Road. The removal of the large boulder on the road near Manuels Station depends on the decision of Sir E. R. Bowring, who may undertake the work. An effort will be made to clear up the section near the C.L.B. camp prior to the annual brigade inspection on Thursday, when His Excellency the Governor will likely visit there. After consultation with the Minister of Works it was decided to erect a concrete structure instead of the present bridge known as Fowler's, near Chamberlain's. Drivers of vehicles, particularly motors, are requested to drive slowly and carefully when they come to the working gangs, as the men complain that owing to carelessness on the part of drivers, they do not get a chance to build in the road properly. Their partly finished work is sometimes ripped up by a swerving speedy car. The Commission also appeals to drivers to follow the warnings as to the approach of bridges and points where repairs are being made. The good work being done should be an incentive to all motor owners to join the Association.

Modern Type of Banking Schooner.

Several vessels have arrived during the last few days from the Grand Banks, most of them fairly well fitted. Quite a number of new vessels have been added to the Lunenburg fleet this year; one of which now lies at anchor in the Harbor. We refer to the banking schooner Clara B. Creasey commanded by Captain Henry Creasey of Riverport, Nova Scotia, a young, but very successful man, and with much experience. This vessel has been built under his instructions with splendid accommodation, and all modern conveniences. The cabin is finished in light oak, and is certainly a credit to the builders, Messrs. W. Mackay Shipbuilding Co., of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, who are to be congratulated on the splendid model and finish. She is a sister ship to the M. J. Parks which dragged ashore near Ferryland on Tuesday last. One could not help admiring her as she glided through the narrows on Saturday. We understand she is a splendid galley, of the knock-about type. This means of course very little canvas is outside the Hull. We wish the captain and crew abundant success, and a safe return home.

Queen's Garter and the Imp.

London, July 19.—Many amusing 'howlers' were perpetrated by the children attending the elementary schools at Kingston-on-Thames in the course of answers given at an Empire-day examination.

Lloyd George, "whose father was buried in Westminster Abbey," and Horatio Bottomley appear to be the greatest heroes.

"Mr. Bottomley is Prime Minister of England and also a Lord Bottomley—President of the United States," wrote one bright youth.

Other games include:—Milk comes from cows in China and also from Manchester and Sheffield. The Pilgrim Fathers discovered America. They went on the road called the Pilgrim's Way. They also helped us to win the war.

The meaning of the word 'Imp' on coins proved a terrible stumbling block. It was responsible, however, for the following imaginative but highly entertaining little story:

"On one occasion Queen Victoria dropped her garter. It was picked up by one of the courtiers and handed to the Queen, where-upon she said, 'Oh, you mischievous imp! The incident has been recorded on pennies ever since.'"

Mr. Geo. Kearney's Generous Gift.

Mr. Geo. Kearney, who has always shown his generosity in promoting local sport, has offered Christy Hays to the crew taking third place in the Football Race. Mr. Kearney's gift is a magnificent one, and it is rumoured that there will be a tough fight for third place.
