CHAPTER XX
LOVES TRIALDOM.
"See, Iris, I will make you do not fear, Iris, I will make you happy! We will leave England! In a new world!" He stopped suddenly, as if smitten by a great dread, and his grasp of her arm tightened. "Iris," he said, and his voice was full of this dread; "did you say 'no' because—"
He paused, then forced himself to go on—
"because you do not love me, and cannot give me any hope? Is that the reason?"
Silence fell upon them. Paul's voice could be heard singing behind the trees; the roll and rattle of the carriages came from the distant street.
Iris could almost fancy that she could hear the quick, sharp throbs of her aching heart.
"Is that the reason?" he demanded, fearfully. "Have I counted too much upon the hope of your loving me? Oh, Iris, answer me!"
Then she forced herself to speak the lie that was to save him.
"I do not love you," she said, in a cold, set voice.
She saw him shrink back as if he had struck him, and she could have cried aloud in her anguish.
His hand fell from her arm, and he sat staring before him for a moment in silence. Then he raised his head.
"Forgive me!" he said, and his voice sounded harsh and broken. "Ah, forgive me! In my great love for you I had taught myself to hope that—"
"Heaven!" he broke off. "What a mean bound you must have thought me! All this time I must have seemed as if I were taking advantage of your helplessness!" and he put his hand up to his brow.
Iris turned with a cry upon her lips, but she forced it back. Better that he should suffer now for this short space than she should by a murmur of tenderness condemn him to lifelong misery and degradation.
"I—I beg your pardon!" he said, with a start, as if awaking from a stupor. "Will you give me a moment?"
He rose, paced up and down with bent head and aching face, wrestling with the effects of the blow she had dealt him; then he came and sat down again.
"Miss Knighton—Miss Howard," he said, slowly, as if he were trying to speak calmly and dispassionately. "I have been a vain fool! The depth of my love for you had, somehow—Heaven! knows how—deceived me into thinking that I might—might win your love! I—I thank you for speaking so plainly. Your voice, more than your words, has told me that there is no hope for me! No hope!" He sighed.

"Well,"—as he drew a long sigh, as a man might do who had received a burden upon his shoulders almost too heavy for him to bear—"well, I am not the first man who has had to suffer in a like fashion, and"—he forced a wan smile—"and I must do the best I can."
"That is enough about myself," and he moved his hand as if he had put himself and his suffering behind him. "You will listen while I speak of yourself?"
Iris remained silent. His words fell almost meaningless on her ears, for she was repeating to herself, in dull,
rapt reiteration:
"Dearest, I love you; be my wife!"
"What I wished to be to you—I cannot be; that is past," he went on;
"but I can still be your friend. It is as your friend that I speak now. You will not deny me that poor consolation?"
The lips formed the word "No," but she could not speak.
"Let us think that it was as your friend I sought you," he continued,
"and now that I have found you, let me tell you what—still as your friend—I would have you do. Iris—will you let me call you so? I have called you by that name since I learned that it was yours."
There was something piteous in the request so simply put, and Iris made a gesture of assent.
"Thanks, Iris. You will need all your patience, for I am going to say that which you will dislike. Iris, you must take back the Revels—"
She shook her head.
He laughed grimly.
"Do you think that I could keep the place, the money, that should be yours, that are yours by right? If you could have consented to share them—" he stammered, and bit his lip. "Think for a moment! But yourself in my place!
If you stood as I stand, could you endure to remain the mistress if they belonged to me, and I were wandering helpless and penniless about the world?"
"I am not helpless, nor penniless,"
she said, in a low voice.
He looked at her keenly; then broke out bitterly, passionately.
"What friends have you—what help?
Have I not seen you with my own eyes
this afternoon singing for gain? You, who ought to have repudiated the belle,
the queen of the mob that plagued you,
as if they had paid for the right to do so?"
"I was paid," she said, quietly.
He crushed back the oath that rose to his lips.
"For Heaven's sake, don't put more upon me than I can bear!" he cried.
"Do you think I cannot read the story of your life since the night you fled?
Do you think I am so ignorant of the world as not to know that you are trying to earn your bread—your life—
—I usurp your place? Iris, if your heart is not made of stone, you will grant me this, at least—you will take from me the burden of this wealth of which I have robbed you, and which is a curse to me! You have no right to make me suffer more than the loss of your love!" and his voice broke.
Iris turned her face to him as he sat
with his head bowed, her hands clinched.
"Lord Coverdale," she murmured,
and her voice, though firm and resolute, was soft and gentle; "it is not I who make you suffer. You have not robbed me. The Revels was never mine—I have no shadow of right to it!
Even in the past, I was the usurper, and while I thought I was mistress, I was but an impostor and a fraud!"
"For Heaven's sake!" he breathed.
"Listen!" she went on in a low voice,
her hands linked together tightly. "You would have me forget that I am—what I am! I cannot! If my life depended upon accepting one shilling of the wealth that is yours—yours by right!

—that never was mine, and never should be mine—I would rather die than take it!"
The words were emphatic, but the voice, the expression of unflinching determination, rendered them insurmountable.
He drew a long sigh.
"Then neither will I touch one shilling, nor own one rood!" he said sternly.
"Hush!" she said, and she touched his arm. "You have said that you are my—friend."
"If you would but let me be," he reorted, with a groan.
"Then, my friend," she said, and she gave to this word a sweetness that touched and tortured his heart, "let me speak to you as I would to my brother.
You wish to do something for me—to help me—"
"Yes!" he said. "And you will not have it so! Iris, when I leave you tonight I go down to the Revels for the last time. The place shall be closed, every penny of the money that is a curse to me shall be set aside—I will never set foot in the place again, nor touch a penny."
"Hush! Hush!" she murmured, the tears filling her eyes. "I am going to ask you to do something for me—a good thing! A thing hard to do. But you will do it! Yes, I know that you will do it! Heron"—the name passed her lips unwittingly, and she started and turned to her; she forced her face into stone and went on—"Lord Heron
—my brother—though the past is gone from us forever, I cannot forget it. I cannot forget the dear old place, every inch of which is made sacred to me by memories of the days when I played, a happy child, beside him who—who is now in his grave."
He groaned, and made a gesture of entreaty.
"Bear with me—my friend!" she went on. "You say that you will shut
the old place up, and leave it to destruction and decay! Ah! I could not bear to think of that! Don't do that! I ask it as a—favor! I love the Revels, Lord Coverdale, and"—she paused—"I am proud of it still, though I shall never see it again! Never again, I hope!
Don't let it be left to ruin and decay!
Go and live there among the people,
your people, and let me, who have left it forever, think it smiling and prosperous as I remember it, as I recall it in dreams! This is what I ask of you.
Will you refuse me?"
His lips trembled.
"You ask too much of me!" he said, hoarsely. "To live there, where every inanimate and living object reminds me of you, Iris!"
"I ask it of you!" she said, firmly.
"It is your duty! It is not your fault that fate has thrust me out and put you in my place! If I had been left mistress there I would have done my duty by the dear old place—do yours!
Go there and live the life that befits
one who bears an old and honored name, stainless and without reproach."
"And you?" he demanded, almost in-audibly.
"I?" she said, looking vacantly before her. "I, too, will do my duty. I am a wife and stray in the great city—"
"By Heaven!" he broke in, with anguishing impatience.
"Fate has dealt hardly with me, but I shall play my role as best I can. Our paths lie widely apart, Lord Coverdale. Don't put me too much—don't think of me"—her voice almost broke —"forget me, or, if you remember me, recall me as one who crossed your path for a moment, and was then lost in the crowd!"
"Forget you!" he cried, his endurance broken down. "You know that I cannot. You know that you are as my very life, Iris!"
"Hush!" she murmured; "my little friend is coming. Go now, please, Lord Coverdale. I know that you will do what I ask. As for me, rest assured that I can carry the burden fate has laid upon me."
He had looked a bit alarmed at the pause, as if he feared no one would give him his chance, but having received it he launched forth with one of those oft-told tales elderly people do so enjoy telling.

SIGNS OF WINTER.
The trees stand naked in the woods, their leaves beneath
them lying, and to the warmer neighboring hills the honking geese
are flying. And I must quit my book and lyre
and occupations
sweeter, and dig up miles of rusty wire, and wrestle with a heater. The skies are gloomy overhead, with swarthy clouds carrying, and all the goosebarn seers have said that stormy days are nearing. I wish the summer days were back, the sunny days and pleasing,
for I must go and bank the shack, to keep the spuds from freezing. And I must take some liquid glue and splice the roof together; oh, there are many things to do before the wintry weather. The frost falls white, the cold winds rant, and I am most dejected; for everything reminds my aunt of something I've neglected.
"Now, go you forth," she cries, "with haste, ere snow is falling thickly; the cabbagheads will go to waste, unless they're garnered quickly. You haven't brought the popcorn in, the pumpkin vines are wilting, and you continue, with a grin, your everlasting lilting." And now I take my slender roll I've been so long in earning, and buy about a peck of coal to keep the home fires burning. The balmy days are gone and lost, stilled
in the woodland chorus; oh, winter, winter, you're a frost, and you are all before us!

Bury St. Edmunds
Thus Named.
November 20 is in the Prayer book calendar of the Church of England the festival of Edmund, King and Martyr.
He was not King of all England, but only of Anglia, its Eastern countries, Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex—and he became so through the Saxons, to which he belonged, invading that part of Britain. His reign lasted from A.D. 855 till 870. He was a Christian, and is said to have distinguished himself for justice and piety, and therefore Bury,
or the town of Saint Edmund, or Edmundsbury, in Suffolk, was, and still is, so named after him. The Danes, then still not Christian, had invaded England, and their sovereign, in a great struggle, defeated the Saxons, and settled in this country. Being taken prisoner, Edmund refused to save his life by apostasy and vassalage,
that is, by renouncing Christianity,
and submitting to them—so they fastened him to a tree, and killed him with arrows, then cut his head off. When Canute, a Danish King in England, became a Christian, he removed the remains of the Saint King Edmund and interred them in the great church of the place, that was afterwards named Bury St. Edmunds.

OPEN DOOR FOR CHINA.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. Great Britain had come to the arms conference, the British authorities emphasized to-day for the purpose of doing everything possible to enable China to assume here proper position in the commercial world. Great Britain is satisfied that this may be attained through the "open door," and by leaving China free to carry out her own destiny.

CHINA WANTS CLEAN SLATE.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. China is opposed to a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance and also desires nullification of the Lansing-Ishii Agreement. It was stated by the Chinese delegation to the Disarmament Conference to-day.

SEES ISOLATION AHEAD.
MONTREAL, Nov. 18. Japan will be isolated in ten years with Britain, America, Australia, New Zealand and Canada in concord and opposed to the wishes of the Japanese people, declared to-day, Akineri Ichihara, of the Japan Mail Steamship Co., who could not see anything agreeable to Japan in the Washington Conference, and thought the Chinese proposals unfair to the East Empire and not conducive to settlement of Far East problems.

IRISH SITUATION NO WORSE.
LONDON, Nov. 18. The Irish peace situation is not deemed in authoritative circles to have been actually worse by the Ulster Cabinet's determination to adhere to its previously declared position. The overwhelming majority given in favor of the Government's policy at the Unionist Party Conference in Liverpool yesterday, is looked upon as creating a better atmosphere for the continuance of Irish negotiations in some form although the possibility of the resignation of Mr. Lloyd George, or indeed of the entire Coalition Government, is not ignored. Morning newspapers, however, do not consider this contingency either imminent or inevitable. Ulstermen, while rejecting the Government's proposals, indicated a willingness to engage in formal conversations. The Daily Chronicle, which is probably close to the Ministry, says editorially, "Premier Craig's refusal to accept an All-Irish Parliament as the basis for negotiations is an exact parallel to Sinn Fein's refusal to accept the principle of allegiance as the basis and there should be in one case as well as the other no difficulty in getting the Conference started."

THIRD SESSION ON MONDAY.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. The Armament Conference was called to-day.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home
Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare and saves you about $5.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain simple syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, mix 2½ ounces of Pine in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 10 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly. You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Sufferers from bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment, will find Pine a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give relief. Sufferers of money refunded. The Pine Co., Toronto, Ont.

ed by Chairman Hughes to-day to meet at eleven o'clock on Monday morning for the third plenary session.

YACHT CHALLENGE.
LONDON, Nov. 18. British yachtsmen have decided to challenge Americans for another yachting contest for the British-American cup to be contested in American waters with a boat of the six metre class.

SOMEWHAT ARBITRARY.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. High official quarters intimated to-day that the American delegation regarded the relative strength of the navies, as fixed in Hughes' programme, as a fundamental principle, the alteration of which might seriously affect the whole armament negotiations. Although declining to comment on Japan's request that her relative strength be increased, United States officials pointed out that the ratio was the natural result of applying the principle that present relative strengths be maintained.

WILL HARDING SHARE WILSON'S FATE?
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. Congressional leaders to-day, while praising the British order stopping naval construction as indicative of whole-hearted espousal of the principles of the Hughes' naval reduction programme, said there was little prospect of action in either the Senate or House on any resolution designed to stop the United States 1916 programme, until the results of the conference are seen. It was pointed out that under authority of an amendment to the 1918 Naval Appropriation Bill, the President has authority to stop the present building programme without further authorization from Congress.

THE POPE'S DESIRE.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. Pope Benedict, in a cablegram to President Harding, has expressed the hope that Almighty God may "grant a happy issue to the initiative taken by the chief magistrate of the Great American Republic to tranquilize the trepidation of humanity."

THE HOOD SHIPS.
LONDON, Nov. 18. Contracts for the battleships were awarded only two weeks ago. Officials of the Admiralty, however, stated that the order would be absolute cessation of all warship work pending the outcome of the Washington conference.

SIX STEAMERS LAID UP.
MONTREAL, Nov. 18. Six Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamers, the Canadian Sailor, Trader, Adventurer, Faithfinder, Sower and Engineer will be laid up for the winter in a Great Lakes port.

CYCLONE IN ARKANSAS.
LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 18. Twelve persons were killed, thirty or more injured and considerable property damage done by two cyclones which struck widely separated parts of the State to-day.

WAGE REDUCTION.
CHICAGO, Nov. 18. Plant Committees of the Armour Co. to-day agreed to accept the wage reductions proposed by the Company, running from three to seven cents per hour.

New Church for Kilbride.
On Sunday last it was announced that the preparations for the building of the new Church would be undertaken immediately. The site has now been selected and it is the intention of the Parish to erect a building which will be both commodious and artistic. For many reasons the old site was deemed unsuitable, so that a more central location was decided upon. The plans are now in the hands of the architect and in a very short time tenders will be called for, and a contract entered into, and all preliminary matters finalized, so that everything will be in readiness to begin work in the early spring.

At a meeting of the Garden Party Committee, held during the week, it was decided to hold the Kilbride annual garden party next year on the usual date, the third Wednesday in July—July 19th.

S.S. Sheba is due to leave Montreal to-day for this port direct, bringing a large general cargo to the Furness Withy Company.
Schooner General Smuts, has sailed from Change Islands for Gibraltar for orders taking 4100 quintals of codfish shipped by Elliott and Company.
Schooner Novelty, 45 days from Toronto, arrived yesterday afternoon at laden. The vessel experienced head winds practically all the voyage.
S.S. Mapledawn, 7 days from Montreal arrived in port last night, bringing a full general cargo to Harvey and Company. The ship had a very stormy passage.
Schooner General Wood has cleared from Change Islands for Cadiz, taking 500 quintals of Labrador codfish shipped by Elliott and Company.

Burglar at Large.
So far the police have made no arrests in connection with the robbery of about $300 worth of jewellery from A. McNamara's shop, which was entered about two weeks ago. The detectives are at work on the case but having very few clues the possibility of capturing the culprit is very slight. It is believed that the person who burglarized the store of Messrs. Roper and Thompson on two occasions is connected with the McNamara robbery.

Fishermen! Here's the Boot for You-"EXCEL"!

"EXCEL" Made 'All in One Piece'

"EXCEL"

The Fishermen's Friend

All fishermen know from experience what happens to ordinary boots when used in fishing. You've seen how salt water seems to take the life out of rubber and how the uppers crack and the soles wear through in a surprisingly short time.

The "EXCEL" is a different and better kind of boot. It has been made especially to stand up under the unusually hard use a fisherman's boot gets.

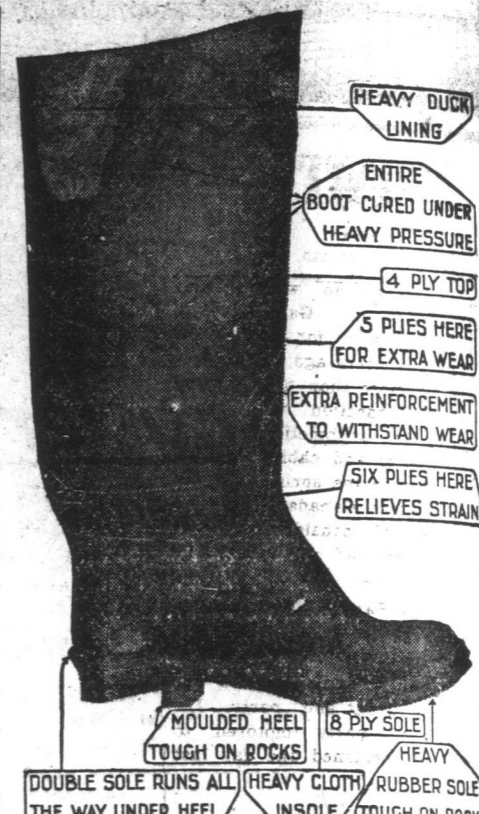

The rubber and fabric in "EXCEL" boots are of the very highest quality. But it is the special method of curing, under tremendous pressure, that makes the "EXCEL" so wear-resisting. The pressure forces the layers of rubber and fabric together so that they are actually "one-piece", without losing the least bit of the life or resiliency of the rubber. Salt water has practically no effect on "EXCEL" boots. The UPPERS remain pliable and weatherproof, and resist the drying-out action of sun, heat and extreme cold far longer than other boots. Consequently they don't crack anywhere near so quickly. The SOLES are almost wear-proof, because they are made like an Auto Tire, with 8 plies of rubber and fabric welded by tremendous pressure into a "tire-tread" sole that rivals an automobile tire for toughness and durability.

strain. There is not a single feature but what has been proved necessary and desirable by tests of severest use. Your own experience will tell you that a boot with these features simply must be a better boot.

Study this picture. Learn these features. Remember them when you compare "EXCEL" boots with ordinary boots. And remember, too, that very important point which the picture cannot show, namely, that "EXCEL" boots are cured under tremendous pressure, which leaves the rubber pliable, weatherproof and wear-resisting. It is only by the use of this tremendous pressure combined with highest quality materials that the best results are obtained.

Pliable Uppers. Weatherproof and Wear Resisting. Tough Tire Tread Soles. Made "All in One Piece."

"EXCEL" Boots are sold by all reliable dealers from Coast to Coast.

TRINITY.

Upon my return to Trinity, after a very pleasant six weeks amidst old scenes, and with old parishioners in Hantsport and Port Morien, Nova Scotia, I found several letters awaiting me the subject of Trinity Notes in the Evening Telegram. Some of the writers knew that I was away from Newfoundland, and they had written to assure me of how much they missed the weekly report, and that they hoped I would soon get to work again. This was kind of them and I thank them for their interest in it and me. Others did not know that I had been away; and though they did not say so in so many words, yet I could read between the lines that they were not a little put out about my sudden disappearance from the journalistic world. Whilst another, who addressed me as "The Trinity Antiquarian" was thankful for the past, and hopeful for the future.

Doubtless it is complimentary to Trinity, for so many people to take it for granted, that its past has been so fruitful in people and things of sufficient interest, and its present so full of activities in the religious, social, and business world, that it is practically easy for me or anybody else, to supply interesting copy every week, and like the babbling brook, "to go on forever." Far be it from me, through lack of interest in Trinity, to disappoint such people, but "I have me doots" about the inexhaustible supply. I shall continue to do my best to keep the dear old spot in the limelight, though sometimes I fear my reports will smack of the commonplace.

I had hoped that someone else would fill up the ellipsis during my absence, as there are in Trinity, those who are in possession of facts (historical and otherwise) unknown to me, which if treated from their viewpoints would at any time be deeply interesting. I am glad to find that several interesting and interesting people visited Trinity during the months of September and October, but I am sorry that the pleasure their presence gave to the people of Trinity, and the good impressions they took away with them, were not made public, as such publicity is usually accepted by our visitors, in the same kind spirit in which it is always offered; and the facts thus recorded, are mutually beneficial to Trinity and themselves. To all such I say, come again, and we will show our appreciation of your presence by a grateful acknowledgment of it in pink and black.

With the shifting of our population hither and thither, in and around Trinity, during the last ten years, he would have been a wise man indeed, who, previous to the taking of the census could have told the number of the present population, in respect of either increase or decrease. The census, however, which has just been completed and revised, shows a decrease of ten in the total population of Trinity (including Lockston and Dunfield) during the last ten years. This is accounted for by the following figures:

Trinity, in 1911, had 493 people; to-day it has 463, a decrease of 30.
Lockston, in 1911, had 63 people; to-day it has 112, an increase of 49.
South Side, in 1911, had 66 people; to-day it has 26, a decrease of 40.
Goose Cove, in 1911, had 74 people; to-day it has 88, an increase of 14.
Dunfield, in 1911 had 193 people; to-day it has 216, an increase of 23.

In the section from Lockston to Wrexman's Harbor, Smith's Sound, there has been a loss during those ten years of 388 people. This loss has been brought about by people who have left the district for other parts of the island, and for Canada, together, of course, with those who died, and a low birth rate. British Harbor has suffered most in this respect, and whilst it still has some "loyal souls and true" in its midst, to those of us who knew it fifty years ago, there is a sense of desolation about it, and other little places that have suffered in the same way. The present total population from Dunfield to Lockston is 899; and that from Lockston to Wrexman's Harbor, Smith's Sound, is 2,100.

Many of our people, who get letters from Canada, are suffering financially, owing to the fact that the new postage on a letter from Canada to Newfoundland is now four cents instead of three. Many of our Canadian friends are not aware of this, and they put on a three cent stamp as usual. This means a two cent fine for the receiver in Newfoundland, which of course he has to pay, before he can claim the letter. One way to stop this, is for our people to have slips printed or typed, with a reminder of this, and to put a copy in each of their letters to friends in Canada. We are using the following slip for this purpose, and with good effect: "Kindly take notice that postage on a letter from Canada to Newfoundland is now Four Cents."

The last time, in company with a party of visitors, I visited the Light-house on the Port Point, Trinity, Mr. Abel Rowe, the light-keeper, who so kindly took us up to the Light-room and explained the mechanism, also pointed out the defects in the plans of the structure. The room at the base of the tower, equipped for the Light-keeper's comfort during a stormy night, could not be used as such for two reasons. One was, because the back draught from the tower blowing down the stove pipe prevented a fire from being kept in the stove. The other—owing to the position of the room at the base of the tower, the person occupying it could not see the light without going out of doors. Consequently he had to go to his dwelling house, six hundred yards away, and watch the actions of the light from his bedroom window.

The flaring or dimming of the light, often resulted in his having to go back and forth between the Light-house and his dwelling house five or six times a night, in the roughest of weather. No wonder Mr. Rowe is now a paralytic wreck. A series of changes have recently been made. An iron structure of lower and smaller proportions, has been placed near to and connected with the base of the old tower, to the top of which the light has been transferred. The top of the old tower will be taken down, and the base of it will now be available for a really comfortable room for the light-keeper during a stormy night, and from which he will be able to keep an eye on the light, and regulate it without having to go out of doors. Mr. Henry Rowe, Mr. Edward Rowe's son, has been appointed Light-keeper, to succeed his uncle—Mr. Abel Rowe.

Every window in St. Paul's Church is now fitted with a strong and well-made storm window. In a country like Newfoundland, where we are subjected to such high winds, all leaded windows should be protected in this way, at the time when they are placed in the building. This protection prevents the leads from breaking, makes the windows water-tight, and the building warmer. Other necessary repairs have been made to the building, and collectors have been securing from the members of the congregation the necessary funds to cover the expenses. God's House should be the best house in the settlement, and during the poorest of times, love will ever find the way to keep it in this condition. With old St. Paul's Church in his mind, Rev. William Bullock wrote the words that welled up from his loving heart:

"We love the place O God,
Wherein Thine honour dwells,
The joy of Thine abode."
All earthly joy excels."

Our actions should reveal the presence of the same love that we say in ours, every time we sing that hymn, which now forms a part of every well known collection of hymns.

Following are the records of some marriages, and the names of those who witnessed them, which revive sacred memories of those to whom in God's great plans we owe so much:

- 1847. Married, George Lockyer and Mary Jones, by Rev. Bertram Jones. Witnesses: Jonah Jones, Sarah Lockyer.
- 1848. Married, William Crocker and Caroline Delaney, by Rev. Thos. M. Woods. Witnesses: Joseph Crocker, Elizabeth Crocker, Catherine Delaney, Sarah Clunn.
- 1849. Married, John Newhook and Harriet Curtis, by Rev. Thos. M. Woods. Witnesses: William Pilgrem, David B. Grant.
- 1850. Married, Henry Bartlett and Catherine Guppy, by Rev. Thos. M. Woods. Witnesses: Charles Field, John Guppy.
- 1851. Married, Aaron Bugden and Dinah Miller, by Rev. Thos. M. Woods.

Witnesses: William D. Cross, Benjamin Bugden.

1851. Married, Robert White and Esther Mayers, by Rev. Thos. M. Woods. Witnesses: G. W. Gent, W. H. Cross.

1854. Married, Richard Pelly, of Hant's Harbor, and Mary Ann Green, of Scilly Cove, by Rev. W. G. Crouch. Witnesses: Charles Granger, Charlotte Granger.

In looking over those entries after recording them, I find there is to-day only one person living of those whose names are found in them, and that person is Charlotte Granger, now Charlotte Morris, of Whitney Pier, Sydney, C.B.

Mr. Gardner is spending the winter with his family in Halifax. Mr. Gardner was in the school for Deaf Mutes in Halifax fifty years ago, and in addition to his more than ordinary intelligence in connection with reading, writing and arithmetic, he is a skilled carpenter and cabinet maker. He will return in the spring to his home in Western Canada, where he is the owner of considerable real estate. We are glad to see him.

Mrs. (Capt.) Barbour returned a few weeks ago from an enjoyable visit to her sister in Toronto.

Mr. Samuel Grant and party, Dr. Fitzgerald and party motored to Bonavista and returned one day last week.

Mrs. Sexton, widow of the late Mr. Sexton, has gone to Bonavista to live with her daughter for the winter. We shall miss her, and we wish her a pleasant winter and a return to us in the spring.

Mr. Kenneth Somerton, of the Cable Staff, Heart's Content, is spending his vacation with parents and friends in Trinity. Glad to see him.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Parsons on October 31st, and at his baptism on Armistice Day was given the name of Ralph Austin. Mrs. Parsons was Miss Bessie Somerton.

The local Lodge of the S.U.F. has resumed its winter weekly meetings.

Mrs. Ethel Lockyer, with little Miss Jacqueline, were passengers by the express last week to Grand Falls on land Hotel on Monday last.

The Parish Hall, Head Constable Ryan, Mr. William W. White and Mr. Geo. W. Gent, monopolized the flags on Armistice Day. This, together with the two minutes' silence at eleven o'clock by some of our people, a special evening service in St. Paul's Church, and a bonfire on the Nudic by the boys, constituted our celebration of Armistice Day.

A letter from Mr. William Hart of Winnipeg, Canada, just received, is full of pleasant recollections of his boyhood days in Trinity, and grateful appreciation of the Trinity-Notes in the Evening Telegram. For this he has our best thanks. Mr. Hart is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hart of St. John's, and parents and son were born in Trinity. He enlisted for service in the great war, and the many wounds that his body bears to-day, and which he will carry to his grave, attest the stern realities of that service to him, and its value to us for whom he fought.

We thank the Editor of the Diocesan Magazine, for a page devoted to a cut and a reference to Old St. Paul's Church, which will bring a flood of sacred memories to Trinitarians at home and abroad. The November number, of which this page is a part, is in our opinion—on a literary and typographical standpoint—one of the best that has yet been published, and it should be read by every member of the Church of England in Newfoundland.

We are already beginning to feel the results of the notice that the Bonavista Branch is to be closed down in January. Mr. William George Tibbs, who is a postal clerk on the main line, has, in consequence, had to move with his family to St. John's in order to be on hand for his work. We shall miss them in several departments of church and social work, and we shall be glad to have them back again some day.

One of the fine days last week was a busy day beyond the ordinary, and a profitable day to our local shopkeepers. The large number of small boats from different parts of the Eight at the wharves of Ryan Bros. and Mr. Joseph Morris, took us back in memory to the time of Brooking & Co., when such activities were even in greater evidence every fine day during the fish shipping season. As we watched the cutters at work, we could not help recalling the time when Rev.

He enlisted for service in the great war, and the many wounds that his body bears to-day, and which he will carry to his grave, attest the stern realities of that service to him, and its value to us for whom he fought.

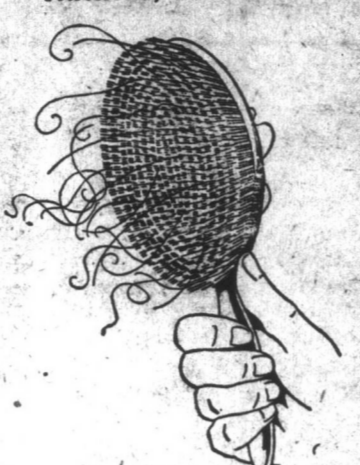

We thank the Editor of the Diocesan Magazine, for a page devoted to a cut and a reference to Old St. Paul's Church, which will bring a flood of sacred memories to Trinitarians at home and abroad. The November number, of which this page is a part, is in our opinion—on a literary and typographical standpoint—one of the best that has yet been published, and it should be read by every member of the Church of England in Newfoundland.

We are already beginning to feel the results of the notice that the Bonavista Branch is to be closed down in January. Mr. William George Tibbs, who is a postal clerk on the main line, has, in consequence, had to move with his family to St. John's in order to be on hand for his work. We shall miss them in several departments of church and social work, and we shall be glad to have them back again some day.

One of the fine days last week was a busy day beyond the ordinary, and a profitable day to our local shopkeepers. The large number of small boats from different parts of the Eight at the wharves of Ryan Bros. and Mr. Joseph Morris, took us back in memory to the time of Brooking & Co., when such activities were even in greater evidence every fine day during the fish shipping season. As we watched the cutters at work, we could not help recalling the time when Rev.

DANDERINE

Stops Hair Coming Out:
Thickens, Beautifies.

35-cents buys a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store. After one application you can not find a particle of dandruff or a falling hair. Besides, every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and abundance.

Benjamin Smith remarked to the old cutter, Clark—"I see you are busy Thomas," and Thomas replied: "Yes, Sir, I am separating the wicked from the ungodly."

St. Paul's congregation, Trinity, will always have cause to be thankful for the life and services of Mr. Orlando Morris, one of its members and Church Wardens, who was lost at sea some years ago. To-morrow, the Sunday before Advent, Thanksgiving Day, a beautiful brass mural tablet to his memory, will be unveiled and dedicated at Evensong, particulars of which will be given in our next batch of items.

The Proprietor of the "Trinity Enterprise" is preparing to issue a Christmas Number during the first week in December. This should be interesting to Trinitarians at home and abroad. Only a limited number will be printed, and those who wish to secure one, or more copies are requested to apply at once.

Brigade Week.

GOVERNOR INSPECTS BATTALION

At 8.30 p.m. yesterday His Excellency the Governor, attended by Captain P. Sittmarsh, A.D.C., inspected the first Cadet Battalion, Newfoundland Regiment, C.L.B.

The inspection was arranged by the Adjutant's Department as their share in the Brigade Week proceedings. Amongst those present were Mrs. E. F. Goodridge, Mrs. L. R. Bennett and the following officers of the Battalion:—Lieut. Col. R. F. Goodridge, Majors Tait, M.C. and Williams; Captains J. Snow, Rev. H. L. Pike, G. House, F. Miles; Lieut. R. G. Ash, G. Hunt, W. Reeves, M.B.E., L. C. Hayward, H. C. Hayward, M. G. Winter, Jr., F. Reid, P. B. Rendell, W. A. Motter, A. B. Percin, L. C. Colley, Lewis, Padre Clayton, Rev. Canon Jeeves, ex-Capt. N. Snow and Captain A. Morris.

His Excellency arrived shortly before 8.30 and was received by Lieut. Col. Goodridge and the Adjutant, Major Tait. After inspecting the Battalion, the Governor was conducted to a seat reserved for him in the Gymnasium, and from there he watched the various military evolutions and exercises which formed part of the programme. The Manual Exercises and Physical Drill were very well done and the gymnastic marching, of which C. Company always makes a special feature, drew forth considerable applause. After some marching by F. Company under Captain Miles, evolutions in Platoon Drill were performed. After the Battalion formed upon three sides of a hollow square and were addressed by His Excellency who complimented them on their splendid display. He gave the lads some very practical advice which was greatly appreciated. Orders were then read, announcing Duties for the week, and the Church Parade for Sunday. After the Royal Salute, His Excellency had a short, informal chat with the officers whom he congratulated on the success of Brigade Week.

A new member has been added to the Officers' Mess in the person of Mr. Maurice Taylor who will be given the rank of second lieutenant.

Several ex-members, incited by Brigade Week, have joined the Old Comrades, and many are sending substantial contributions to the Armory Repairs Fund with their subscriptions.

To-night, at the "At Home" in the Grenfell Hall, Major G. R. Williams, Quartermaster of the Battalion, will deliver an address on the History of the Brigade. It will be illustrated with lantern slides. Many of these slides are very interesting and will be well worth seeing. The Ladies' Auxiliary will provide refreshments during the evening. This is the Old Comrades share of the Brigade Week events and they intend to make it a success. The Church Parade which will be held to-morrow afternoon will take the form of a Thanksgiving Service. It is expected that it will be even larger than the Armory Parade as many more Old Comrades and lads prevented from turning out previously, will be out to-morrow.

Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor. C. T. JAMES, Editor. Saturday, November 19, 1921.

In a New Role.

According to yesterday's public despatches from Canada, Dr. W. T. Grenfell, missionary-physician on the northern coast of Newfoundland and Labrador, has appeared before the public in a new role, that of advance agent for the Confederation of Newfoundland with Canada, or to put it in the euphemistic language of the learned doctor "the adoption of Newfoundland by Canada."

Political Rumors.

THE "BIG CHIEF" WILL RESIGN. It seems fairly certain that Mr. Coaker will announce his resignation as Minister of Marine and Fisheries when the P.P.U. Convention opens this month and it is practically certain that he will be succeeded by Mr. W. H. Cave, Minister of Shipping.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

NORTHCLIFFE IS CAUSTIC. Lord Northcliffe, yesterday, delivered an address before the Anglo-American Association in which he caustically scored Great Britain's Far Eastern policy.

The report of the Commission of Enquiry into the road-de-luxe and all correspondence in connection with the matter, have been placed in the hands of the Deputy Minister of Justice by the Minister of Public Works. The decision of Mr. Summers in the matter has not yet been received, but it is fairly certain that the prosecution of some of the parties concerned will result. Parlez-Vous. Rather an amusing scene occurred this morning at the store of Mr. J. A. Frenchman, the well known tailor. A Frenchman was seen hopping up and down and talking rapidly in foreign lingo. Mr. Strang showed him everything in the store without the slightest satisfaction until suddenly realizing the meaning of the Frenchman's actions he sold him a ticket for the Pettican Club Dance and "Froggy" was profuse with his thanks.—nov19,11. HERRING AT SPRINGDALE.—A message from chief Inspector Coyell, who is now in Springdale, states that there is a good sign of herring there and yesterday's boats took from one to three tubs. Sixty per cent. are full and forty per cent. fillings and empty.

Badger Road Completed. A message from Roadmaster Graham to the Minister of Public Works states that the road to Hall's Bay has been completed and that he is now at Springdale paying of the men. These men who completed the road were working out supplies. This road, which has been appropriately termed "The Road to Nowhere", was commenced last August for relief purposes and proved a complete failure as barely ten per cent. of the amount expended was worked out to the public advantage. The Labor Bureau. Quite a number of people are enquiring about the usefulness of the Labor Bureau, which was formed during the summer to deal with unemployment. Some eight or ten clerks are employed in this branch of the public service, but apparently there is nothing for them to do, as applicants for work have long since been exhausted. It is argued that the expense and unnecessary staff of this bureau should be abolished.

A Happy Thought. "I met Mrs. H.— this morning at the Royal Stores," my wife said to me the other evening. "Tell me you met your friend," I teased, "and I could tell you where you met her." "Well, everyone does meet there," she retorted, "and they are getting on splendidly." "Just what do you mean by getting on splendidly?" I inquired, somewhat perplexed. "With the Christmas decorations, of course; they are making quite a job of it too—the entire store seems to be already imbued with the Christmas spirit." "Everybody," continued she, "is kept busy, yet there is no suggestion of hardship. Customers are attended to with the usual quickness and courtesy. It argues a very high state of efficiency, I think. Don't you?" she queried. "Very," was my reply. My wife Nancy's attitude of personal interest and enthusiasm for the store of her choice always delighted me, and probably the success of The Royal Stores is built upon that foundation, for many Nancies are numbered among their patrons. "Mrs. H.—" continued Nancy, "was looking very well, but very busy with a shopping list as long as your arm. She asked me to accompany her to the Furniture Department, as she wanted my advice in choosing some articles for Christmas Gifts." "Did she get what she wanted?" I questioned. "Indeed she did. She bought a beautiful centre table in quartered oak, and a handsome Hall stand with an oval mirror. They have a big Furniture Sale on now, so she was able to save quite a lot of money on her purchases. And," continued Nancy, "with enthusiasm, 'do you know I have solved our own problem of a suitable gift for your mother—a love, J. Bastian Roeker, covered, with chintz Cushions—a really comfortable chair, which I know will please her very much. What do you think of that, George?'" "By Jingo!" I exclaimed, "what a happy thought. That is just the thing for her. However did you come to think of that?" "Oh, Brain, dear—just Brain," was her provoking reply.

International Rotary Club

TO ESTABLISH A BRANCH IN ST. JOHN'S.

Several months ago initial steps were taken for the formation of a Rotary Club for St. John's. In collaboration with some leading professional men in the city, a small organization committee was appointed. Several meetings have been held and matters are now in shape for the inauguration of the Club, which it is expected will be arranged in the early part of next week. District Governor R. Downing Paterson, of St. John, N.B., Rotarian Gower MacKay, of Sydney, son of the late Mr. MacKay, Supl. Anglo-American Telegraph Company, Rotarian Harvey Smith, of Halifax, and it is expected some other members of these Clubs, and possibly of the New York Rotary Club, are due to arrive on the incoming express or on the late Royal Mail to assist at the inaugural meeting. Rotarian Bond arrived on the last express and is busy with the local committee making necessary arrangements.

"What's Rotary?" will soon become a familiar question, and for the information of those professional gentlemen who may be approached, and for the public in general, we have pleasure in giving some facts about the Rotary Club movement. The Rotary Club movement was started some 16 years ago in the city of Chicago by some few business men, meeting at a weekly luncheon. The Rotary movement has grown in the leading cities of the world. Practically every city in Great Britain and Ireland to-day has its Rotary Club, and it is established in practically every part of the British Empire. Col. Layton Ralston, K.C., President of the Halifax Rotary Club, has recently returned from the Antipodes where with J. W. Davidson, of Calgary, as the special emissaries of International Rotary they established Rotary Clubs in Sydney, Melbourne and Hobart, in Australia, and at Wellington, in New Zealand.

The Convention of International Rotary was held this year in Edinburgh, when some 2,000 delegates, leading business men from all parts of the Continent attended—the strongest deputation of business men that the New World has ever sent to the Old. The International importance of the work of this Convention cannot be measured. His Majesty King George acted as Patron, and afterwards presided at the banquet at Buckingham Palace. The French Government arranged a special reception, and on all sides the significance of the event was appreciated.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

FINAL PEACE.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.
 Peace between United States and Germany was formally declared to-day by a proclamation signed by President Harding.

BECOMING SERIOUS.
 LONDON, Nov. 18.
 Four policemen killed and thirty seriously injured, were among the casualties in yesterday's rioting in Bombay, according to an Indian Office communique, which adds that the situation was well in hand, despite disorders in the centre and north of the city. According to another communique now in, operators are bringing pressure on Muslim members of the police force by intimidation and molestation to resign.

BOUND TO HIT SOMEONE.
 NEW YORK, Nov. 18.
 Albert N. Gary, Chairman of the Board of United States Steel Corporation, in an address before the American Iron & Steel Institute, to-day, hinted a suggestion that armament limitations would reduce the manufacture of steel. Mr. Gary said it seemed to be generally conceded that business conditions for the last six months had been steadily, if slowly, growing better. The volume of business in the steel industry had more than doubled in the last ninety days, he said, though the profits had been little or nothing due to high costs and low prices.

WILL BE APPROVED.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.
 Canada's proposal for holding conferences, with the object of perpetuating the idea of armament limitation, will likely meet with the approval of a number of British Empire delegates, it is learned by a Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

FARMERS NEED ASSISTANCE.
 WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 18.
 Farmers will require $10,000,000 to finance 1922 operations, the Winnipeg Free Press says. Government officials, the Free Press adds, are informed that not ten per cent. of the Western farmers received sufficient returns from their farms this year to pay for threshing and freight charges on grain shipments, and thousands will be unable to pay taxes.

STRIKE FOR MORE WAGES.
 MAYENCE, Nov. 18.
 Iron and steel workers in Dusseldorf area to the number of 60,000 have struck for an increase in wages amounting to one hundred per cent.

IRONMASTER DEAD.
 MONTREAL, Nov. 18.
 Sir Frederick Orr Lewis, who organized the Canadian Vickers Shipbuilding Company, died in the south of France yesterday.

REBELS EXECUTED.
 MEXICO, Nov. 18.
 In lower California thirteen Mexican revolutionaries were killed to-day in battle, and four more executed after a court martial, twenty miles from here, General Rodriguez, commander of the Federal forces, announced last night.

JAPAN DEVELOPING CAUTION.
 TOKIO, Nov. 18.
 With the fading of its enthusiasm, a spirit of caution has developed in Japan with inclination to look for possible advantages to United States, in a proposal for naval disarmament. Expressions favoring more equal balance of power have become conspicuous, but in public their expression, with a probable disturbance of labor conditions, a secondary consideration. The sacrifice of warships, aggregating 460,000 tons, by Japan, would be equal to the scrapping of 1,500,000 tons by the United States, Japanese analysts declare, on the ground that in an emergency United States could replace her lost tonnage within a third of the time required by Japan. It is also pointed out that the proposals would leave United States five capital ships, constructed between 1914 and 1916, while with the exception of the Nagato, Japan's would all be of the period prior to 1913.

POLICE FIRED ON MOB.
 BOMBAY, Nov. 18.
 The disturbance in the native quarter of the city, which broke out yesterday while a procession was escorting the Prince of Wales through the European section, was caused by mob of unemployed mill hands, who wrecked and burned tramscars at several points. After several police had been killed and wounded, the police fired upon the mob, inflicting a number of casualties. The mob was still carrying on sporadic demonstrations to-day.

GRANTING AN OPPORTUNITY.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.
 Committee sessions of conference delegates stood at adjournment to-day to give an opportunity for the preparation by the Japanese delegation of a general presentation of that country's views on the China proposal of principles for the settlement of Far Eastern questions at the committee meeting of all delegations to-morrow.

SUBMARINE TONNAGE.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.
 Although the preparation of the British viewpoint on the armament question, it is stated, will require two or three days for completion, a committee of the naval officers of the five powers is carrying forward its consideration of the United States proposal, and it is reported already to have made some progress. It is regarded that no early report from this body can be looked for, in view of the task it has in accommodating a strong British desire for a cut in the maximum submarine tonnage proposed, and the equally firm United States view that this maximum should be retained.

ANNOUNCEMENT!
Municipal Election.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF ST. JOHN'S LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—
 Swayed by the practical interest in the affairs of our City which, I believe, has actuated those who have already entered the Civic Election fight, I respectfully offer myself as a Candidate for election to the City Council. There are not many to whom I need introduce myself and, without self-conceit, I feel sure it will be admitted that there are few more in the field who know St. John's and its needs and problems better than I do.
 I realize that the present is not a time to talk of expensive plans for huge undertakings, but I sincerely believe in and stand for a progressive movement, designed in accordance with our means, for the improvement of the civic conditions of the day. In other words, I stand for a policy of careful expenditure and for full value to the taxpayers for every dollar spent on civic undertakings. I am confident that the electors will encourage practical interest on the part of the younger element of our citizenship by returning me to a seat on the new Council. I hope to meet most of the electors individually and request the honour of their support and their votes. Some I may not be able to canvass personally before election day. My appeal is to all voters to mark their ballots for REG. DOWDEN for a Councilorship and give him a chance of doing something practical in an official way to make St. John's a better, easier and more attractive city to live in.
 Respectfully yours,
 REG. DOWDEN.

TAXPAYERS!

At the request of numerous friends I am offering myself as a Candidate for Councillor in the forthcoming Municipal Elections. If honoured with a seat I shall use my best endeavours for city advancement. I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

W. T. PENNEY,
Carpenter and Builder.

To the Electors of St. John's Municipality!

After considerable deliberation and some advice, I have decided to add my name to the list of those offering for election as Councillors in the forthcoming Municipal campaign.

It has been expressed by one of the candidates for Mayor that owing to the condition of civic finances it will be impractical to do a great deal regarding city improvement.

I am personally of the opinion that a great deal can be done with very little expenditure to make St. John's a better city to live in, and I propose using a little newspaper space during the next few days to embody my suggestions in this respect, which suggestions, in the event of my being returned, I shall advocate strenuously, having always due regard for the taxpayers' pockets.

SUGGESTION No. 2.
THE PAVING OF NEW GOWER STREET.
If the pedestrian using Water Street has to put up with being splashed with mud, at certain seasons of the year the people doing business on New Gower Street have to wade in mud up to their middles. Some of the most enterprising and industrious of the city's merchants have their places of business on the "middle street" and these folks have been shamefully neglected in that New Gower Street has not been paved years ago. (By "paved" I certainly do not mean the mess of rough cobble stones which passes for paving on Water Street, but clean, durable, non-slippery paving such as is used on the business streets of many Canadian and American cities.)

Cordially soliciting the vote and support of every taxpayer who wants "A Better St. John's."

P. E. OUTERBRIDGE.

Fashions in Furniture.

Furniture fashions vary almost every season, there is always some newly-designed chair or lounge coming into vogue.

The present trend is toward upholstered furniture, a splendid selection of which we are now showing. Here—huge Cosy Chairs, Chesterfields and Lounges, overstuffed and beautifully upholstered in Silk, Tapestry, Damask, etc.—gladden the eye, and there is no lack of smaller upholstered articles.

Municipal Voters of the City of St. John's.

Having decided, at the request of many friends, to be nominated as a Candidate for the approaching Municipal Election, I therefore solicit your vote, and more particularly your influence, to help elect me to the Council Board. Owing to existing conditions, it is impossible at present to suggest any line of thought or action relative to the improvement of the city's condition, but if elected thereto, I shall endeavor to prove by studious and strict attention to my duties that your confidence has not been misplaced. I am as yet an untried man in public life, but it is my purpose to prove to you, if elected, that you have honored an individual who will prove his gratitude by head and heart and unflinching work.

Comrades.

Has a more romantic story of human devotion come out of the war than that of the British soldier who impersonated an American comrade and took his place in prison to serve a term for desertion?

There was an act of friendship worthy of Damon and Pythias. Harry W. Haley, a bachelor serving in the British army, has as buddy Thomas G. Jones, an American, married and the father of a child. When Haley fell in action with a bullet in his leg Jones dragged him to safety at the risk of his life. This battle-debt, to be sure, was not an uncommon one of the army association. It is the uncommon way in which it was paid which gives interest to the story. When Haley after his discharge, encountered Jones in Canada, a fugitive with a sentence for desertion on his head, he insisted on taking his place in a Leavenworth cell and had served most of the term when his identity was discovered.

Can self-sacrifice for a friend go much further than that? Whatever the ethics of the act may be, its spirit compels admiration. It shines out and illuminates the quality of comradeship in arms. Unfortunately military discipline is not amenable to such influences, and it is announced that the American soldier will have to serve his term notwithstanding. But it is good to have the example of devotion regardless of what casuists may think of the principle involved.—New York World.

The Other Side of the Case.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—There appeared in last evening's issue of your paper an article on a labor dispute between the Shoe Workers' Union and a certain manufacturing concern of this city. We must say that the article in question was misleading every way, as the men employed by the firm in question were receiving a wage, which in our opinion, was not sufficient to supply the necessities of life. As to the fact of the delegate not upholding the action of the men, we may say this is what happened. On arrival here the delegate called a special meeting of the Union, and the first thing done at that meeting was the passing of a strike sanction. The next thing he did was the giving of financial aid to the men who were on strike. Both these measures were passed by the delegate with the full approval of the Union, and at our next meeting he held before us the results of the interview. He said that the firm agreed to take back all the old hands without discrimination against any man, and further that in any case old hands were to be employed before green help was given work.

When this concern opened again some of the old employees were left on the street, whilst non-Union men were put in their places. We leave it to the public to judge as to whether this is discrimination or not. The result is that officials of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union are walking the streets of this city, whilst men from Harbor Grace are given employment by this firm.
Thanking you for space.
Yours truly,

TO THE
Electors of the Municipality of St. John's

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—
Having been elected by you as a Member of the Municipal Council in the year of 1910, and served you faithfully for four years until 1914, when the Government of that time appointed a Commission to take over the affairs of the City, I now offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages in the forthcoming Municipal Election.

The four years' experience I had at the Council Board will enable me, if elected, to perform the duties satisfactorily. My interests and yours are identical, and it is only from men who have a common interest with yourselves that you can hope for satisfaction.

At the recent session of the Legislature a new Charter was enacted, investing the Municipal Council with increased powers, which will be a source of benefit to the city and people in general.

I fully recognize that the affairs of the Municipality are such as to call for the earnest and unceasing attention of those who may be selected by you to administer the City's Government during the next four years, and so far as I am concerned I shall leave nothing undone to forward the interests of the people of St. John's, and to the best of my ability I shall strive to maintain an honest, upright and capable management of its business.

The health and cleanliness of the city are matters that shall have my most earnest attention.

I trust to be able to make a personal call on you, or meet you in public, when I shall be able to lay my views more fully before you.

I have the honour to be,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

RECENT DISCOVERY FOR THEIR TREATMENT.

An entirely vegetable product showing no trace whatever of Morphine, Cocaine or Opium, the various ingredients which enter into its manufacture being carefully and most thoroughly blended together. "Gastronal" gives a rapid and absolute relief. X-Ray examination has proven that there was no solid formation in the stomach during its action, this being essential to eliminate any danger of auto-intoxication, thereby proving the superiority of this famous product over any other similar preparation containing chalk, lime, magnesia, etc., which give a temporary but dangerous relief. The physiological action of Gastronal on the digestive organs is very simple. Its dissolution in the stomach causing a mild sensation of heat, which stimulates the gastric action, chemically changing the contents of the stomach, the gastric formations being immediately absorbed and neutralized. "Gastronal" has no effect on the heart as it contains no derivative of opium or coal tar. "Gastronal" is accurately and perfectly dosed for every one and for every age. "Gastronal" is on sale at all first class drug stores of the British Empire and North America. Sold in boxes of fifty "Gastronals" each bearing its name embossed. See that you get full count.

Own Your Own Home for Less Than You are Paying Rent.

For $600 cash down we build a nice plain 6 room $1,800 house and give 10 years to pay the $1,200 balance. Payments in principal and interest will average $14.40 per month for the 10 years, when payments cease and buyers own their own homes.

We build up to $3,500 house on this plan. We accept $900 on a $2,700 house; the monthly payments for 10 years to own this averages $21.60 per month.

The actual rent on the $1,800 house is $4.40 per month, as $10.00 per month or $120 per year applies to paying the principal.

On the $2,700 house, payments on principal is $15.00 per month or $180 per year, rent therefore only $6.60 per month.

See the $2,500 bungalow we are now erecting on Mount Royal Avenue—$800 down and $20.37 per month for 10 years is the price to own this beautiful home. We are in a position to give good service and value; we operate our own saw mills on the West Coast, also our own factory on Plank Road. We have one million feet of splendid sound, clear lumber of all kinds now in the city, including clear Fir Clapboard.

To parties wishing to build their own home, we supply lumber on 10 years' credit, taking first lien on the building.

Purchasers of lumber of all kinds will find our retail prices low. Stock sound and extra well sawn. Our clear West Coast Fir Clapboard is not equalled by stock sawn in any other part of the Colony.

Winter Joys.

Grim old winter's comin' on.
Golden autumn's almost gone.
Bleak and bare the hills appear;
Now the solemn time of year
Hovers round us and we turn Nightly to the fires that burn,
And the home begins to ring
With the songs the children sing.

Don't like winter and its cold?
That's a sign we're getting old,
Getting old and feel the sting
Of the blizzard's buffeting.
And the silence makes us feel
That the touch of death is real;
Yet indoors the wood fire snaps
Like the children on our laps.

Winter, and the trees asleep
Under blankets white and deep,
Yet behind our doors we stay
Watching merry youth at play;
Telling stories new and old,
Tales that never would be told
To the young in prose or rhyme,
Were it always summer time.

Here are joys we'd never know
But for ice and frost and snow—
Blaze of fire and light of song,
Love to make us brave and strong,
Peace that comes from little arms,
And a thousand other charms
Faint with radiance and delight
Only known to winter nights.

DIES WHILE AT WORK.
(H. F. SHORTIS.)

William J. Carroll, regarded as one of the best telegraph operators in the United States, died at his key in the Bankers' Trust Company office, No. 18 Wall Street, New York, a few days ago. He had started sending a message to a Western correspondent when he was seized with a heart attack. He was about fifty-five years old. Mr. Carroll was in charge of the day wire of the old Laffan News Bureau before it was taken over by the United Press Association; later took charge of the cables at the Sun office, and for a time was night manager of the Herald-Sun Syndicate. About a year and a half ago he joined the operating staff of the Bankers' Trust Company. Will Carroll served his apprenticeship in the Anglo-American Telegraph office in St. John's—his native city—and it was easy to recognize that he would become a first-class operator. He joined the Anglo a short time after I left it. Of all the operators who worked with me in my young days in the Anglo-American Telegraph Company on the old West Line and elsewhere, and who emigrated to the United States and Canada, I can only think of one now alive. His name is Peter Clendenning. St. John's, who resides in Kansas, U.S.A., and retired some years ago. All the rest, such as E. F. Howell, Jack Mitchell, Mike and Jack Kavanagh, Batty Doubtney, Mart and Red Brien, Mat and Jim Scanlan (two rattling operators), A. A. Thompson, and others have passed away, and everyone of them was recognized as an expert operator and held positions of great responsibility. The following extract from a letter which I received from my friend P. S. Scanlan, son of the late T. D. Scanlan, who I met in Newfoundland about thirty-six years ago, will be perused with interest by the readers of the Telegram, more particularly by those mentioned therein:—

"When I came to New York in 1885, I found all the heavy circuits at bid 195 Broadway, covered by Newfoundlanders, Mac Thompson, Jack Biddock, Chris Fallon, all of Harbor Grace. Gie Ward's Will Carroll of St. John's and Charlie Pike of Carbonara. Thompson, Ward and now poor Carroll passed on. Pike is chief operator at 24 Walker Street in the Western Union. Fallon is holding a responsible position with the Western Union at Kansas City, Mo."

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Patrick's Church, on Wednesday evening at half-past seven, by Rev. Fr. Sheehan, the contracting parties being (Kitty), second daughter of Mr. John Duff of Lakeside, Mundy Pond, to Mr. Patrick Kearney. The bride was attired in white satin dress trimmed with georgette and pearls, and wore a head worked veil with orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Isabel, who wore pink silk dress with hat to match, whilst the groom was ably supported by Mr. John Duff, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held at their future residence and an enjoyable time spent. The presents received were numerous and costly, testifying to the esteem in which both are held. We wish the popular young couple many happy years of wedded bliss.

ARE YOU SQUEEZED IN THE VISE OF EXHAUSTED NERVE FORCE AND IRON STARVATION?

Physician Says These Twin Monsters Are Daily Dragging Thousands Into the Torture Chambers of Ill Health, Wrecking Their Lives and Making Them Financial Failures.

YOU are born with just so much nerve force and your body can manufacture only so much each twenty-four hours. If you use it up faster than it is made through overwork, late hours, worry, too much excitement, grief, nervous strain or other excesses, your nerve cells become depleted of this life-giving fluid, and you are dragged into the torture chamber of neurasthenia, with all its nerve-racking, agonizing pains and anguish.

Your whole nervous system becomes "on edge" so to speak, and the least little thing upsets you. You may have an almost constant aching pain in the back of the head or neck, or an extremely disagreeable feeling of fullness in the front or back part of the head, which in some cases gets so bad that you feel almost as if your head would burst; there may be spots of local tenderness on the spine, pains across the back, heart palpitation, great weakness from slight physical or mental exertion, or sleeplessness at night; and the patient often complains that his thoughts chase one another through his head with lightning-like rapidity. Some break into profuse perspiration and suffer from such great debilitating weakness that they feel as if they were almost obliterated to the ground. Headaches and extreme nervousness are very frequent symptoms, and most persons are moody, irritable and easily depressed.

A physician formerly connected with a New York City Hospital says thousands of persons suffer from depleted nerve force and iron starvation of the blood without ever suspecting the real cause of their trouble, and that often their health, lives and success are completely undermined and wrecked before they find out what is the matter with them. On account of their multitude of symptoms they frequently think they are suffering from heart or kidney trouble or some other serious organic disease. In such cases it is often worse than foolish to take mere stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs. What you need is something to put more nerve force into your nerves and more iron into your blood. This valuable product quickly enriches the blood and thereby helps it to furnish an additional supply of new nerve force with which to revitalize and regenerate the nerve and brain cells. It also contains a product which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form most allied to that in the nerve and brain cells of man. Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be both a blood and a nerve food as it furnishes strength giving organic iron to the blood and the most important element of the neuro-vital fluid to the nerve.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually, and from the remarkably beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel so certain of its surprising efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes, look for the word "Nuxated" on every package. For sale by all druggists.

Miss Helen Channing supplied the music during the early part of the night and the B.L.S. orchestra completed the programme. At 11 p.m. an excellent supper was served by the Ladies' Association under the supervision of Mrs. J. V. O'Dea. The chaperons were Mesdames J. V. O'Dea, C. J. Cahill and W. H. Tobin. The dance concluded at an early hour this morning.

Our Philatelic Corner.
 CONDUCTED BY PHILATELOS.

Below, I am publishing an article from the New York Times of Sunday, October 9th, which should prove of interest to all philatelists. It deals with the auction of the great Ferrary collection and as it is rather long, I am dividing it up in instalments. I hope that during the winter I shall be able to have this column published at least, once a week, but latterly, I have not had the time to devote to it.

Commandered Collection Bequeathed to Germany Sold by French for Huge Sum.

The largest postage stamp collection ever gathered together in the world, and the greatest in respect to value that stamp experts believe ever will be made, is now being sold at auction in Paris. It is predicted that, on its final dispersal, a sum equivalent to $2,000,000 will be realized. The French Government is conducting the sale and the money will go into the French Treasury. It is the first time that a nation has ever embarked in the business of conducting stamp auction sale.

It is the Ferrary collection, which has been famous for years in philatelic circles. It represents the work of more than fifty years by Philip in Renottiere von Ferrary. It is estimated that he spent during that time at least $1,000,000, and no price was too high for him to pay for an exceptional rarity. The first portion of this unusual collection was sold in June. It consisted of only 172 lots, and brought a total of 1,000,245 francs.

As the French Government's levies a tax of 17 1/2 per cent. on all auction sales, the bidders, therefore, were required to pay 1,201,012 francs. The French francs at that time was worth a trifle more than seven-tenths of a cent in United States money, so that the auction value of this first portion represented $99,713.45 in American money.

The second portion of the collection will be sold this week in Paris. It comprises 500 lots with some exceptional varieties, and it is expected to realize fully 2,000,000 francs, or practically twice as much as the first sale. Had it not been for the war, this great collection, which contained many stamps of which only single specimens is known, would have been in Berlin.

Ferrary died at Lausanne, Switzerland, on May 20, 1917, at the age of 67 years, and when his will was opened it was found that his collection had been bequeathed to the Berlin Postal Museum. The stamps, however, were in Paris, the greater portion being in the mansion formerly occupied by the Austrian Embassy, which had been presented to Austria by Ferrary's mother, the Duchess de Galliera. At her death, Ferrary renounced, his claims to the title, and became the adoptive son of an officer in the Austrian army, Ritter Emmanuel in Renottiere von Kriegerfeldt. During his life he preferred to use the simple name of Philip von Ferrary.

When the bequest of Ferrary became known, the French Government promptly commandeered his great collection as alien property, and announced that it would be sold at the close of hostilities. Representatives of the more prominent dealers and private collectors from this country and Europe were present at the first sale, but American bidders obtained very little. The greater part of the best stamps were bought by the wealthy French tobaccoist, M. Burras, and Theodore Champion, one of the best known stamp dealers of Paris, was the second largest buyer.

Ferrary had the reputation in philatelic ranks of being a man of mystery. He possessed a large fortune, and, becoming interested in postage stamps at the age of 15, the remainder of his life was devoted to that pursuit. It was more than a hobby with him, it was a business. He employed ten able secretaries, one of whom for nearly forty years had charge of the adhesive stamps, and the other looked after the stamped envelopes, wrappers and postcards. Besides these he had a force of twenty or thirty clerks.

He had standing orders with all the reliable dealers in every part of the stamp collecting world to send him any great rarity they might discover. As he always paid the price asked without quibble he was a highly desirable customer, and the cream of choice things in postage stamps naturally fell to his lot.

Unemployment Prevailing.

APPLICATION FOR RELIEF BEING MADE.

In comparison with other years at this season there is practically nothing doing along the waterfront. There are not more than forty or fifty schooners in port. The greater part of the number have discharged their fish cargoes and are ready for home. Fish handlers and casual laborers can get very little employment, and many have been walking around for weeks. It is feared that when winter sets in there will be a lot of distress. Numbers are already feeling the pinch. In on the country roads, able bodied men may be seen daily seeking work or looking for charity.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In reading the reports of the meeting of the Civic Commission published in your paper during the last two months, I find that certain decisions arrived at during those meetings are entirely omitted, and that other important deliberations have been misconstrued. I would respectfully suggest that your reporter, or one representing the city papers, attend the meetings to enable you to give the public a correct report or none at all.

Yours truly,
 T. HALLETT, Commissioner.
 Nov. 19, 1921.

(The Telegram does not make omissions deliberately, and if Mr. Hallett desires to have the actual report of the proceedings of the Council published, we shall be only too pleased to give him all the space necessary. Such reports of Civic Commission meetings as appear in our columns are furnished, and we accept the bona fides of the contributor. Newspaper reporters are not superhuman and require a rest from their multifarious duties occasionally.—Editor.)

Some of the Heroes of the Past

And the Ships in Which They Immortalized Their Names--Capt. Thos. Duff and His Bright "Guitar."

(H. P. SHORTTS.)

It was of those happy days I wrote about in the Telegram of a few days ago when I described the famous brigantine "Fanny Bloomer," and her brave commander, John Slivay, one of the most lucky vessels and most successful commanders of the fifties and sixties of the last century. And now I shall endeavor to give you readers a brief sketch of another famous brigantine, and an equally popular and successful commander—the Guitar, Capt. Thomas Duff, of Riverhead, St. John's. The Guitar was built in Prince Edward Island about 1856, and she was a splendid model, smart sailer, and one of the best known vessels of our great fleet.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

When a sick child loves the "Fruity" "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the tender, little bowels—and give you a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has all the directions for babies and children on the sides printed on bottle. Mothers! Do not say "California" or you may get an imitation. Be sure.

employed in getting a foreigner ready to leave port. By that time he had the foreign vessel cleared out of the harbor and his own vessel ready to start, the great fleet from further North passed Batteau, and amongst them was the little Guitar, Capt. Duff. The fleet had an hour and a half start of Power in the Glenlivet. Power left Batteau about noon, with every inch of canvas on her, even to the studding sails, and overhauled the fleet at Cape St. Michael's that evening. Capt. Power told the man at the wheel of the Glenlivet to keep quite near the Guitar, so that he could hail Capt. Duff. The Glenlivet ran up a little on the weather, and Capt. Power hailed Capt. Duff, and asked "how he was?" Capt. Duff replied, "Quite well," and then Power (who was a great joker and knew the bride Duff took out of his vessel) asked him "if he was in anywhere coming along?" "No" replied Capt. Duff, quite indignant. Capt. Power then picked up the end of the main sheet and shaking it towards the Guitar, exclaimed, "Stand by. Duff, I'll give you the end of this line and give you a lug along!" Oh! Oh! Oh! That was the unkindest cut of all—the last straw—and Captain Duff turned away in disgust—giving full expression to his feelings, and going to the weather quarter again he hurried back his defiance at Power with the retort: "By the Great Caesar, Power, if I get strong winds, I'll let you know if your old rat-trap can pass the Guitar." But Power sailed ahead of him out of hearing. The Glenlivet made the run from Batteau to St. John's in thirty-six hours, and the Guitar did not turn up until a few hours afterwards. But in justice to the tiny little Guitar and her gallant and popping Captain, it was no feat as to the sailing qualities of the ship, because the Glenlivet was a foreign-going vessel—never at the seal-fishery, was larger than the Guitar, her bottom metalled, and as smooth as glass, with all new canvas, rigging, etc., whilst the Guitar, which was lying up all the summer in steady water at Dominio, had her bottom coated with slime and kelp, which took off a knot to two knots in her speed. I make this explanation in justice to the plucky and experienced Capt. Duff, who, during his career, proved himself second to none as a seal-killer, fish-killer and ship-master, and the fact of the Guitar being defeated on this occasion by the Glenlivet, under such unequal circumstances, to my mind, takes nothing from her sailing qualities, which were recognized by every seaman and fisherman in the city of St. John's.

WHEN DUFF FELL OUT OF THE BARREL.

For some years before his death Capt. Duff occupied the position of door-keeper in the House of Assembly, in conjunction with the well-known physical giant, Capt. John Halley, and as they always expressed themselves in nautical phraseology, it was really amusing to hear them replying to Sir William Whiteway or Sir Robert Bond. One day Capt. Halley was getting the topicals on the House of Assembly (lowering the window-blinds), when a noise was heard in the gallery, Capt. Duff having slipped in going there to enforce silence on some unruly sailors, when Capt. Halley, looking up in His Hon. the Speaker's face, thundered forth, "Begob, Duff has tumbled out of the barrel!" On another occasion he was asked if the House was open yet? "Faith it is—because the skipper (the Speaker) is on the bow. They have all the canvas on her." One evening Sir William Whiteway asked Capt. Halley if he had seen Sir Robert Bond? "Oh! begob, he's just passed along with studding-sails set. Just drop the peak of your mail-sail and you'll find him in the bight (speaker's room) safely anchored." "Thank you," Capt. Halley replied Sir William, who understood his mode of expression, and off he went. To-day very little reference is made by our writers as to the acts of heroism and courage performed by those hardy and fearless Newfoundland sealing masters and their crews in generations gone by. The traditions of the past are a glorious heritage to the Newfoundlanders. All history teaches us that the greatest deeds performed by the human race were the outcome of a spirit of emulation, and which have gone before.

REQUESCANT IN PACE.

The old and worn-out heroes of the icefield are slumbering peacefully in the churchyard, and some rest beneath the ocean, on which they fought and gained their hard-won victories. Even the implements of their prowess and energy are fast disappearing. The historic flint-lock gun and the artistically carved powder-horn no longer take the place of honor on the kitchen rack. They are now relegated to some out-house or unfrequented place, and with the passing away of these, the best vestige of our illustrious forebears will have gone forever. This should not be, and it is with this object of keeping alive the memory of those heroes of the past, that these lines are penned for the Evening Telegram and its thousands of readers at home, and more particularly in the United States and Canada.

"Their glory shall never fade."
