The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

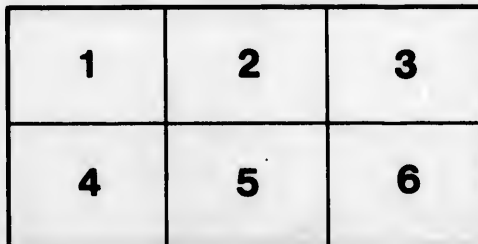

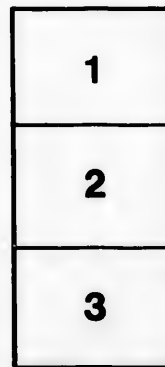

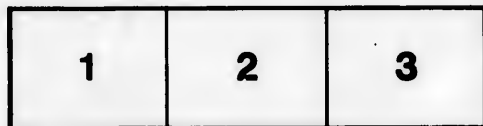

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

PRAYERS OF THE SOCIETY.

BEFORE THEY COMMENCE BUSINESS.

PREVENT us, O Lord, in all our doings, with Thy most gracious favour; and further us with Thy continual help; that in all our works, begun, continued, and ended in Thee, we may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.—Amen.

O God, from whom all holy desires, all good counsels, and all works of piety and charity do proceed, we beseech Thee to visit with Thy favour our Sovereign Lady Queen Victoria, and so rule her heart, that she may in all things seek Thy honour and glory. Prosper with Thy blessing the designs of this Society. Comfort with Thy grace those benefactors who contribute to its support. Bless the ministry of Thy servants, the Clergy; the endeavours of all who are engaged in spreading the knowledge of true religion in the dominions of our Sovereign, and the labours of those missionaries who are promoting the same in this Province. And may Thy Holy Spirit direct all our consultations to the advancement of Thy glory, and the good of Thy Church, through Jesus Christ our Lord.—Amen.

O MERCIFUL God, who hast made all men, and hatest nothing that Thou hast made, nor wouldst the death of a sinner, but that he should be converted and live: Have mercy upon all Jews, Turks, Infidels, and Heretics, and take from them all ignorance, hardness of heart, and contempt of Thy Word; and so fetch them home, blessed Lord, to Thy flock, that they may be saved among the remnant of the true Israelites, and be made one fold under one Shepherd, Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Spirit, one God, world without end.—Amen.

OUR FATHER, which art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever and ever.—Amen.

WHEN THE BUSINESS IS ENDED.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost, be with us all evermore.—Amen.

REPORT.

Among the occurrences of the past year with reference to this Society, there does not appear anything of marked interest to bring before its members. The last half year's report is in their possession, and exhibits, it must be admitted, many tokens of encouragement. It will be seen that the contributions for the half year largely exceeded that proportion of the usual annual amount, while the offerings from many parishes came up to, and in some instances exceeded, the sums sent in previously for a whole year. The Anniversary Meetings, held for the first time in July, were of a most interesting character. At the suggestion of the Lord Bishop, the General Committee made a small addition to the usual grants to some of the Missionaries, where it was felt to be absolutely necessary, especially in those cases where there had been a diminution in their stipends from other sources.

The demand for the publications of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge is still on the increase: it is found difficult, with the amount disposable for that purpose, to keep a sufficient supply of the Book of Common Prayer at the Depositories.

By reference to the Treasurer's accounts, it will be observed that after promptly meeting all demands upon the funds, there remained a considerable cash balance at the close of the fiscal year, in which no part of the contributions of the current year is included. The Loan Committee were enabled to invest the sum of £600.

The strict integrity, with which the Treasurer has always attended to his responsible duties, is unanimously acknowledged. A system of accounts by means of printed forms has been lately provided, by which it is thought greater clearness may be afforded, so that any member of the Society can easily understand the state of the funds, and observe the several items of receipt and expenditure. This is of the first importance; for every one interested in the Society should feel assured that all its operations are conducted with exactness, and the strictest economy.

With regard to the prospects for the current year, we must turn to the Reports of the Missionaries and of the Local Committees, of which an abstract is presented as usual. Many of these will be read with interest. The Society may well be thankful in contributing to the maintenance of so many zealous Missionaries. Year after year we mark the increasing amount of labour some of these devoted men are enabled to perform. Who can doubt but that their labours are watched and blessed by Him who has compassion on those "who are scattered abroad like sheep not having a shepherd"?

ANDOVER.—The Rev. W. Henry Street is happy to report that a desire for the welfare of the Society continues to be manifested by the people of this Mission. "I have endeavoured," he says, "to impress upon them the necessity of contributing to their utmost in support of a Society, which must ultimately be a main prop in the support of our Church in this Province.

"I entered upon the charge of this Mission in September last, and although my ability to labour in it has fallen far short of that of my zealous and experienced predecessor, still I trust no exertion shall be wanting on my part to carry forward the good work begun.

"The extent of this Mission is great, requiring much labor from the Missionary, and rendering it impossible to give that attention to all parts of it which they require.

"I may mention that in addition to the subscriptions to the Society, the people of Tobique have subscribed upwards of £40 towards the purchase of a bell for their Church.

"Thanking the Society for their liberal grant of books, we hope to be again remembered this year." Contributions are £22 7s. 1d.

BATHURST, &c.—Rev. C. F. Street writes as follows: "This Mission continues very extensive and laborious. As the labours of the Missionary increase his pastoral charge, so his duties become more abundant, his responsibilities greater; and consequently the Mission, which was very great when I was sent three years ago to it, is now entirely too laborious for one clergyman. For this reason I shall be obliged to lessen the number of my visits during the year to the Restigouche Mission, or to withdraw my services entirely from it.

"The congregation in Bathurst were contemplating the raising funds for the building of a parsonage as well as for procuring an organ; I therefore did not demand of them the usual contributions for the Diocesan Church Society for the year, knowing how limited is their ability to give.

"I trust that the Society, and all interested in the Church's welfare, will aid us in the building of the parsonage, for so long as there is none, there will always be great difficulty and uncertainty respecting the Missionary's maintenance. Collections amount to £2 10s."

BLACKVILLE AND NELSON.—Rev. W. Cruden reports £9 5s. 6d. as contributions from this Mission.

BUCTOUCHE.—Rev. Alfred H. Weeks has made a report with reference to his duties up to 1st June, 1860, which will be found in the abstract of the returns of the missionaries.

CAMPOBELLO.—Rev. J. S. Williams has enclosed returns as follows:—For Schools, £10; general purposes, £7 10s. 3d.; total, £17 10s. 3d.

Bishop was present, and gave a very good account of Missions, Home and Foreign.

"Having been long absent, there is not much for me to communicate; but I may say that the Church has never been shut, my valued parishioner, Mr. Byron, having always officiated as lay reader, when no clergyman was present. In September last, the Bishop made some stay on the Island, and while here I baptised one adult and confirmed four persons. I returned to my Mission, by God's blessing, on the 11th May, and have been able to perform the Sunday and Festival Services since that time, but have not felt strong enough to resume the daily services. The Bishop has just been here with us, and confirmed three more persons."

CAMBRIDGE, GRAND LAKE.—Rev. A. Wood has forwarded a list of subscribers to the amount of £7.

CANTERBURY, HOWARD SETTLEMENT.—Rev. T. Hartin has inclosed a list of subscribers amounting to £6 2s. 11d.

CARLETON.—Rev. F. Coster reports that the contributions from this Committee will exceed £12.

CHATHAM.—Rev. S. Bacon reports that the annual meeting of the Local Committee was held on Ascension Day, when the following resolutions were adopted:—

1. That this Committee feel a lively sense of gratitude to Almighty God for the rapidly increasing prosperity of the Diocesan Church Society; and it is their firm conviction, that if the first object of the present constitution be vigorously supported, no better institution could be devised as an endowment fund.

2. That this Committee are decidedly of opinion, that it is the imperative duty of every faithful member of the Church to double his donations and annual contributions, and assist with his fervent prayers a continuation of the Divine blessing upon a Society which promises to be the main support of the Colonial Church.

3. That this Committee do respectfully suggest that the Rural Deans do bring this subject prominently forward during their quarterly meetings in all the various parishes within their Deanery districts.

4. That this Committee return their grateful thanks for the grants of books annually made to the Chatham Parochial and Sunday School Library, which are duly appreciated; and they trust to be again remembered in the next appropriation.

The contributions amount to £35 8s. 9d.

DOUGLAS.—The Rev. G. G. Roberts writes as follows:—

"The services during the past year and five months, whether on Sundays or week days, in Churches or Stations, have been well attended. Several additions have been made to the number of communicants. Besides forty-three children, two adults have been baptized, and quite a number of others are preparing for baptism. Indeed I have good reason to hope that the number of baptisms, during the remainder of the year, will be at least three times as great as during the first five months of it; and I trust also that the number of communicants will be considerably increased after the approaching confirmation.

"I am thankful to say that I have a cheering account to give of the progress of the Tay Creek Church. I do not mean merely the external building, though that is almost completed, and is certainly very neat and pretty; but I mean also that the Church is being built up, through God's blessing, in the hearts of many of the settlers, and that I have a good hope of seeing our little sanctuary, after its consecration, pretty well filled up with zealous and attached members of our Communion. During several days which I lately spent in the Settlement, a deep interest was shown by young and old with regard to the doctrines of our holy faith; and the sincerity of this interest was proved by increased contributions to the Diocesan Church Society, and also by the number of candidates for confirmation. Thirteen have already presented themselves, almost all of whom seemingly desire in sincerity and truth to dedicate themselves to the service of their Saviour. This is a larger number than I could have expected in so small a Settlement.

"At the meeting of the Local Committee, our thankfulness was expressed to the Diocesan Church Society for its liberal aid to the Parish, and a continuance thereof respectfully requested. Assistance was requested towards the new Church at Tay Creek.

"The collections are not yet completed, but I feel quite confident they will be at least as large as any former year."

FREDERICTON.—Rev. C. Lee reports contributions to the amount of £194 9s. 5d.

GAGETOWN.—Rev. J. Neales reports £22 12s. 6d. "I was in hopes," he writes, "that it would have amounted to more, but still it is satisfactory to have the amount increasing; and I believe the sum is larger than has been subscribed for the Diocesan Church Society in this Parish before. I am sorry I shall not be with you at the Meetings; but my ministerial duties will keep me in my Parish this year."

GLENELG.—Rev. J. Hudson expresses regret that it is not in his power to state the exact amount of contributions from his district, owing, as he believes, to the present very great scarcity of money; but he is satisfied that the gifts from his people in Glenelg, Newcastle and other places, will not be less than the amount transmitted last year. He now forwards £10 for the Society's general purposes, and hopes shortly to send more.

Mr. Hudson adds that the Endowment Fund for the Church in Newcastle is slowly increasing, and that it would be a matter of unmixed satisfaction to the pastor and little flock of this place, if the Diocesan Church Society would lend a "helping hand" towards promoting this charitable work. Perhaps the Society, after due consideration, would adopt, as one of its objects, "aid to the Endowment Funds in poor Parishes," and be induced to assign grants of one third of the amount of the local contributions.

GRAND MANAN.—Rev. G. T. Carey inclosed in December last £5 as the contributions to the Society for 1859, with a request for a grant of Prayer Books and New Testaments.

HAMPTON.—Rev. W. Walker writes "I have to report collections and subscriptions to the amount of £36, less by far than I could have wished, and less than it would have been had I not been so unceasingly engaged in Parochial duty. I hope, however, to add something more before your report is printed."

HARVEY AND HOPEWELL.—Rev. H. B. Nichols reports that at the annual meeting of his Local Committee, resolutions were passed thanking the Society for its liberal grants, and asking for further assistance in aid of the Church being erected in the Mission.

on Sunday, the 1st of July, on which occasion more than one hundred and fifty persons were present, and a collection was taken up towards the building fund amounting to £8 12s. It is a plain but handsome village Church, and the people are, I am happy to say, very much pleased with it. It has cost, including the land, £386; and after receiving the grants from the Society, will be still in debt £180. This I have assumed, trusting to the continued liberality of the people, to further help from the Society, and to the charity of the Church at large. Contributions to the Society are £11.

"During the past year, I have kept up Services at Hopewell Hill, Harvey, Salmon River, New Ireland, and at Hillsboro'. In the past six months, in the absence of the Rector, I have held monthly services at Moncton, by the invitation of the parishioners, and with the consent of the Bishop."

KINGSCLEAR.—Rev. J. Black reports £14 18s. 7d.

KINGSTON.—Rev. W. E. Scovil has forwarded a list of contributions amounting to £50 11s.

LANCASTER.—Rev. J. Armstrong has written with regard to this Mission as follows:—

"During the winter I have performed Divine Service at Musquash twice every other Sunday, together with any occasional duties required, without reference to remuneration. Since the first of the present month, I have consented at the particular request of the Church Wardens and Vestry, to take a more general charge of the Parish, with remuneration, during the summer months, or until Mr. Smith accepts the Rectorship of it. There have been some unpleasant disputes between the parishioners, but which, I am happy to say, have been satisfactorily adjusted; and if only a suitable clergyman be appointed to take the permanent charge of the Parish, the pastoral affairs of it will, I have no doubt, go on harmoniously and prosperously. The only difficulty is the number of Churches to be served, and their distance apart from each other; but this is an evil of so general a kind in the Diocese, that, at present, I suppose there is no remedy for it."

H. Garbutt, Esq., reports that the contributions will amount to £28 9s. 7d., including a contribution of £10 from himself.

MAUGERVILLE AND BURTON.—Rev. A. V. G. Wiggins, D. D., reports from Maugerville, £11 11s. 1½d.; and from Burton, £10 16s. 7d.; total, £22 7s. 9d.

MONCTON.—Mr. E. W. Cowling, Secretary of this Local Committee, has included the following resolution, passed at a meeting of the Committee held on the 25th inst.:—

"Resolved, That the delegates be authorised to apply to his Lordship the Bishop for a re-appropriation of the sum of £15, granted for missionary purposes to the Parish at Moncton, for the year ending July 1st, 1860, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of missionary visits during the absence of the Rector for the past year."

Mr. Cowling also writes, that he is requested by Mr. Binny, Church Warden, to state that he will forward to the Treasurer collections made in behalf of the Society, to the amount of £10 18s. 10d.

NORTON.—Rev. E. A. Warneford reports that the contributions from this Committee amount to £25 18s. 8d.

NEW MARYLAND.—Rev. C. Medley reports contributions from this Mission £4 5s. 8½d.; and from the South Stream of the Rusigornis, £1 7s. 7d.; in all, £5 12s. 10½d.

PRINCE WILLIAM, DUMFRIES, MAGUNDY, &c.—Rev. Philip Wood Loosemore writes as follows:—

"You will be pleased to find that the contributions from this Mission have not fallen short of the usual sum, but have exceeded any amount ever returned from this Mission; and as the subscriptions have been collected so closely after the returns for 1859, the amount now forwarded may be taken as an evidence of continued interest in the Society, as the handmaid in this Diocese for the support of the Church.

"I may hope also that the 'good works' of the subscribers are the 'fruit of a lively faith.'

"The services of the Church have been regular, and the congregations constant in their attendance."

Contributions amount to £25 5s.

PORTLAND.—The Rev. W. Harrison reports the sum of £43 16s. 6d. as collected in his Parish for the general purposes of the Society.

QUEENSBURY.—Rev. W. H. Tippet writes as follows:—

"I have much pleasure in sending you a larger subscription list from this parish than in any preceding year. It proceeds, I think, partly from the season being more favourable for collecting than the winter; but I hope also much more from the increasing estimation in which the Society is held, and a higher sense of the obligation to contribute to its objects.

"The baptisms in the Parish since my last annual report have been 7; burials 3; marriages 1; and the services have been much the same as in former years.

"I have brought to completion during the year a neat church in the lower Caverhill Settlement, where it was much needed. It was consecrated on the 9th of October last; and I am happy and thankful to say that it is well filled every Sunday by an attentive congregation. Although about thirteen miles from the Parsonage, I am able to supply it every other Sunday; and I am thankful to say that only on one occasion has the weather prevented my attendance. I have had during the summer months a Sunday School after the afternoon service; it is quite a new thing in the Settlement, and I humbly pray for the Divine blessing upon the instruction given.

"I have now three small Sunday Schools in operation in the Mission, attended by between fifty and sixty children. We do not make quite as much stir as some of our dissenting brethren in our operations; but I hope real and permanent good is done.

"The last Church consecrated, makes three built during my occupancy of the Mission, besides the Parsonage; and I am thankful that this amount of necessary work has been accomplished.

"Another small Church would supply sufficiently all the wants of the Church of England in this Parish. My congregations in the three older Stations have remained much as in former years, with one exception; and there, owing to causes over which I had no control, there has been a slight falling off. On the other hand, twice the number attend the ministry of God's word in the fourth Station, where our new Church is built, the accommodation being so much better than we formerly had."

Contributions are £16 8s. 9d.

RICHIBUCTO.—Rev. N. A. Coster has forwarded to the Treasurer £35 9s. 11d. "I am happy," he writes, "in being able to say that it is the largest amount yet collected in this Parish. Considering that Mr. Weldon has left this place, and that death has carried off several of our good friends during the last year; also that the failure of the large establishment at reduced success."

SACKVILLE AND DORCHESTER.—Rev. T. N. Dewolf reports contributions from Sackville, £10 18s. 0½d.; and from Dorchester, £14 5s.; total, £24 18s. 0½d.

ST. ANDREWS.—G. D. Street, Esq., Secretary of this Committee, reports contributions to the amount of £47.

The people of Chamcook having recently been called upon to contribute a considerable sum for the repairs of the Church, were unable to subscribe generally this year to the Society. L. Donaldson, Esq., has since given £10 to the Widows and Orphans' Fund, making in all from this Parish £57.

ST. GEORGE AND PENNFIELD.—Rev. J. McGivern reports the following contributions:—St. George, £21 12s. 9½d.; Pennfield and Popo Logan, £5 7s. 7½d.; Rourke Settlement, £1 16s. 3d.; total, £28 16s. 8d.; and also that the following resolutions were passed at a meeting of the Local Committee:—

1. That as on former occasions, so at present, our confidence in the Society, and the wise application of its funds to Missionary objects continue unchanged, and that in the opinion of this branch every year's experience seems but to strengthen the conviction more and more, that under God, the future support and prosperity of our Church must depend upon the zeal, self-denial, and steady co-operation of all classes of churchmen throughout the Diocese.

2. That our best thanks are due, and humbly given, for the last grants of books to the Church Libraries in this Mission, and that grants to the amount of £5 be requested the present year for the same purpose.

Mr. McGivern writes that he is satisfied of the beneficial effects of the change in the time of holding the meetings of the Society. "We are nearly," he says, "seven pounds in advance of last year; and this I attribute principally to summer work."

"I do say with much pleasure and thankfulness, that the people here have 'given willingly,' which is no less a duty than a high privilege in such a cause."

ST. DAVID AND ST. PATRICK.—Rev. J. S. Thomson reports £10 as the amount of contributions from this Mission. Mr. Thomson writes:—

"I have pleasure in reporting that the affairs of my Mission appear, and I trust really are, in a prosperous condition. I have but one church edifice at present for public worship (until the new building at Saint Patrick is completed), and three stations, distant respectively from my residence five, nine, and eleven miles. In all of these the services of the Church are regularly held, and numerous attended. I have in the course of the last 14 months baptized thirteen adults in the Parish Church of St. David, several of them heads of families, and one of them a venerable and much respected man; they were nearly all brought up in other denominations; but after serious deliberation and due preparation, have now united themselves with our Apostolic Church. A number of them availed themselves of the Bishop's late visit, to ratify their baptismal vows in the rite of confirmation.

"I have also baptized twenty five children during the last year, many of them during service. Marriages have been seven; burials eleven.

"We have a monthly Communion in St. David. The number of communicants, in the whole Mission, is seventy-one.

"The Church at Saint Patrick is now externally finished; and we hope to obtain twenty-five or thirty pounds to assist us in completing the interior. It will require a large sum to finish the whole; and I do not feel able again personally to call upon those liberal and benevolent Churchmen of the United States and this Province, who have so often and so kindly aided in this and similar undertakings. They will have their reward.

"The amount of Ten Pounds which I have to report will, I feel confident, be much increased before my list is completed.

"The grateful thanks of my people and myself are offered for past kindnesses in the annual grants; and we respectfully beg a continuance of them."

ST. JAMES—ST. JOHN.—H. W. Frith, Esq., reports contributions to the amount of £90.

ST. MARKS—ST. JOHN.—C. H. Fairweather, Esq., Secretary of this Committee, reports contributions to the amount of £117 10s. 4d.

ST. MARY'S.—Rev. W. Jaffrey writes as follows:—

"I have been able to forward to the Treasurer the usual amount of collections and subscriptions from my Mission, which I take to be a fair indication that my parishioners have lost none of the interest which they have heretofore manifested in behalf of the Society.

"During the past year my labours have been eminently blessed in all parts of my Mission, except one, where their fruits seemed so small that I was induced to place the Station under the charge of a Catechist, Mr. Rogers, who is very acceptable to the people, and likely to be of much benefit to the Church.

"At present I have seven Stations, where I hold regular periodical Services; and it will be gratifying to the Society to know that at all these Stations my congregations have very much increased, that the offertory collections have nearly doubled those of former years, and that many of my hearers are taking a much more lively interest in the cause of Christ than heretofore.

"Inclosed I send you a check for £50, which I would have the Society accept as my first instalment to the Clergy Endowment Fund, hoping that when the matter is brought prominently before my parishioners, they may also be induced to do something towards so good a cause."

The contributions are in all £15 15s. 6d.; £5 of which is limited to Schools.

ST. PAUL'S—PORTLAND.—Rev. W. H. DeVeber reports contributions to the amount of £80.

ST. STEPHEN AND ST. JAMES.—Rev. S. Thomson, LL. D., reports that at the annual meeting of this Committee, a number of resolutions were unanimously passed expressive of a deep sense of gratitude for the long continued fostering care of the two great Church Societies of their Father Land; their opinion that the wide and daily widening field of labour opening to these great Societies (notwithstanding the increasing means furnished them by the christian benevolence of the Churchmen in the mother country) must necessarily absorb so much both of their pecuniary means and superintending care, that this and other old colonies must look to their own exertions henceforth, for the support and advancement of the Apostolic Church, and that therefore Churchmen of this Province should be up and doing.

The Meeting also expressed a conviction that the Diocesan Church Society was, under God, the most efficient instrument for uniting the energies of Churchmen in this pious work, and their confidence in the wisdom and measure of this Society, and their hope that more would be done in this Mission for its support, than on former occasions.

The Sunday School, now held in the new school house adjoining the Church, has greatly increased, and numbers more than eighty scholars.

At the Confirmation held by the Lord Bishop on July 17th, 21 persons were confirmed.

Contributions amount to about £25.

SHEDIAC.—Rev. George S. Jarvis, D. D., reports an increased amount of contributions—viz: £12 5s.

SIMONDS.—Rev. G. Schofield reports £13 10s. 11d. as the amount of contributions already paid. A further sum is expected. "During the year," he writes, "I have maintained the regular services at Loch Lomond, Black River, and Quaco Road. The church at Black River is generally full. At Quaco Road the attendance has varied from thirty in winter to sixty in summer. Loch Lomond is the least encouraging Station, though I have a service there every Sabbath afternoon.

"During the year I have baptised 22 children; and on Friday next expect to present 18 candidates for confirmation. At our last Communion there were 5 communicants at Loch Lomond, 10 at Quaco Road, and 19 at Black River.

"As Mr. Disbrow still retains the Chaplaincy of the Penitentiary, I have been able to devote all my time to the Mission. This has been a gain to the Parish, but a pecuniary loss to me.

"The Sunday Schools at Black River and Quaco Road, which had been discontinued during the winter, have been recommenced; and I have been gratified with the improvement of the scholars.

"There is a small library at each Church, and the books are read and valued, especially by the young people.

"I am thankful for the harmony and good feeling which pervaded the congregations, and pray God ever to send us peace and prosperity."

SPRINGFIELD.—Rev. C. P. Bliss writes that this Local Committee, at its meeting, thanked the Society for the liberal grants hitherto made to the Mission, which they trusted would be continued. The change in the time of holding the meetings has had an injurious effect in getting in the contributions. It also hinders the attendance of the lay delegates from the country.

"I think," Mr. Bliss continues, "I can with truth say that this Mission, in some respects, is in a satisfactory state. I have performed services 187 different times, and officiated at 26 funerals, preaching on each occasion. How trying and fatiguing this is at times, you may imagine, when I tell you as one instance out of many in this parish, that from Saturday, 23d June, to Sunday last, I preached nine times, paid eight visits to five sick persons, administering the Sacrament twice, and travelling 170 miles.

"I have much pleasure in informing the Society that eight have been added to the list of communicants. The congregations are large at all the different Stations; and, if any thing, on the increase.

"The Society can count upon £17 2s. 8d. from Springfield."

SUSSEX.—Rev. T. McGhee writes that owing to unavoidable hindrances, the collections are not yet completed; but he thinks they will not be less than in former years.

UPHAM.—Rev. J. S. Hanford writes as follows:—

"Mr. DeVeber having left this Mission, I was transferred from Andover to Upham, which Mission you will remember embraces the Parishes of Upham, Hammond, and St. Martins, with four Churches to be regularly served, besides four Stations without church buildings, where I hold stated Services. Hence you will see there is ground enough and to spare for the occupation of any one man.

"I am happy to find the people manifest a good feeling towards the Society, and that they consider it an agency of great importance for the christian welfare of the people. May they long continue to do so!

"The contributions for the year, I am thankful to find, will still exceed those of the preceding year, and amount in the whole to £34 9s. 7d. (of which £2 17s. 6d. is for the second object.)

"I may also add that the people of Hammond have of themselves undertaken, and will soon have completed, repairs on the Church which will cost £40 or upwards.

"On behalf of this Mission generally, I thank the Society for the books granted last year, and hope to be again remembered this year; for I am still of opinion that great good may be done, especially in our extensive Missions, by the silent yet powerfully working agency of books. We have sometimes paid too little attention to this subject. Books of all kinds, religious as well as secular, are sold or distributed about the country, and most people think they must buy some of them, when they are brought to their very doors, and often know not what they are getting; and one cannot but regret to see how few publications of strictly Church principles are to be found on the tables of our Church people themselves."

TRINITY—ST. JOHN.—A. W. Savary, Esq., has inclosed the subscriptions, amounting to £180 11s. 10d., to which are to be added the two collections in Church, £29 13s. 10d., making in all, £210 5s. 8d.

"There is nothing," Mr. Savary writes, "I fear, on which to congratulate the Society, connected with the amount of these subscriptions, as there is apparently a falling off. There is this disadvantage in collecting at the present season, that many of the parties are out of town, and therefore we miss their usual contributions. I cannot believe that there is really any, the slightest diminution in the interest felt by our people in the Society, on which the Church is so mainly to depend for its pecuniary support among us in all time to come."

WESTFIELD, GREENWICH AND PETERSVILLE.—Rev. E. S. Woodman reports the following contributions for the general purposes of the Society:—Westfield, £15 7s.; Greenwich, £8 19s. 7½d.; Petersville, £10 6s. 9½d.; total, £34 13s. 4d.

"I can testify," Mr. Woodman writes, "to the general readiness of the people to give to the Society, and had the extent of my circuit permitted, I could have called on many families I have been compelled to pass by, and increased the amount I now send."

At the meeting of the Local Committees, resolutions were passed thanking the Society for former grants of books, &c., and entertaining hopes of being again remembered in their appropriations. The Committee at Greenwich request aid in paying the debt on the new Parsonage, which is now completed.

"Owing," Mr. Woodman adds, "to the extent of my Mission, and the short period I have had charge, it is almost impossible to judge of the progress the Church is making. I trust we are holding our own, which is perhaps as much as we can expect, with only one missionary to attend five Churches and several Stations. All these Parishes, however, present promising fields for labour, were there but labourers for the work. May the Lord of the harvest send forth more labourers into His fields, for the harvest truly is plentiful, but the labourers are few."

WESTMORLAND.—Rev. Donald M. Bliss reports contributions to the amount of £15 10s.

WOODSTOCK.—Rev. S. D. Lee Street writes that at a meeting of this Local Committee, the following resolutions were passed:—

1st. That this Committee beg to return sincere thanks for the grant of books to this Mission, at the last annual meeting of the Society, and hope to be again remembered in the same way.

2nd. That this Committee continue to entertain the most lively interest in the welfare of the Society, and hope by the blessing of God, that its usefulness in promoting the cause of religion and extension of Christ's Church, may continue to increase.

3d. That this Committee have endeavoured to redeem the pledge given at the last annual meeting, of increased exertions in behalf of the Diocesan Church Society, and many have, in consequence, increased their contributions, and in some instances doubled the amount of last year. But in consequence of the late disastrous fire, which has greatly reduced the circumstances of many, this Committee regret that the amount from this Mission will not be as large as they anticipated.

4th. That this Committee desire to call the attention of the Society to the vast extent of country between the Woodstock Mission and the Canada Boundary, with extensive and populous settlements on both sides of the river, and but one missionary, whose greatest exertions can but inadequately supply the wants of a very small portion of this extensive field. This Committee would therefore again urge upon the Society the importance of employing travelling missionaries, where occasional visits to such destitute places would have a tendency, not only to advance the cause of religion and keep the doctrines of the Church alive in the minds of those at present deprived of her Services, but would also be preparing the way for resident missionaries among them.

5th. That William F. Dibblee, Esq., and John M. Robinson, Esq., be the Lay Delegates to attend at the annual meeting.

Contributions amount to £70 13s. 6½d.

WOODSTOCK, RICHMOND AND JACKSONTOWN.—Rev. W. S. Covert, who is curate of Woodstock, and also missionary at Richmond, at which place he resides, writes that he received his appointment on the 1st of August last. He has forwarded a report of his duties; and he states the subscriptions for the resident missionary at Richmond amount to about £60.

"A large portion of my time," he writes, "is consumed in travelling over this extensive Mission, and attending the various Stations. But, although the labour is considerable, there seems much ground for encouragement and thankfulness."

The Treasurer received by "J. M." through the Post Office, £50 for the general purposes of the Society.

It appears, therefore, that the following sums have been contributed to the Society. For the 2nd object, £2 17s. 6d.; 3d, £15; 4th, £10; general purposes, £1,584 6s. 8d. Total, £1,612 4s. 2d.

Taking everything into consideration, there is, perhaps, less ground for discouragement than for hope. If larger contributions have been anticipated, it must be remembered that a great proportion was received at the half yearly meeting, while the scarcity of money and the depressed condition of trade in many localities, proved a real hindrance.

It should be clearly understood that the contributions may be made at any season of the year, most suitable to the various parishes—either in the winter or summer. The Society only requires that the returns be made in time for the annual report.

The time is close at hand, when, unless other means are provided, the calls upon the funds of the Society will be much greater than at present. At every vacancy by death, or removal, either the whole or a large proportion of the allowance from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, is liable to be withdrawn.

From the proceedings of the General Committee it will be seen that this venerable Society, to which we are all so deeply indebted, has made a proposal, through the Lord Bishop, to the Church in this Diocese, and that steps have been taken to carry on and to conclude negociations upon this most important subject.

It is plain, however, that whatever be the result of these negociations, there will be yearly an increasing demand upon the resources of the Church in this Diocese, and that the requisite amount cannot be afforded from the ordinary income of the Society, unless it is greatly increased. Now, by the blessing of God, there is already a large amount in legacies to the Society, which must before many years become available, and there is an increasing fund at interest for missionary and other purposes. If this matter in all its vital importance were set before the several members of the Church throughout the Diocese, it surely may not be impossible, while providing for the present staff of missionaries, to carry out the project for an Endowment Fund. The attention of the members of the Church throughout the Diocese will shortly be called to this subject, and, in dependence upon the blessing of the great Head of the Church, it is hoped that the proposed effort will be crowned with success. The stipends allowed by the Society to each of the missionaries on its list is, it must be admitted, very limited—very disproportionate to the services required and the necessary expenses incurred. The outfit itself absorbs a large portion of the first year's income; and this is often a source of future embarrassment. Now, there are very few instances in which more might not be done in the various Missions in the way of local support. The returns, for the most part, show a very small item under this head. With regard to this matter it is difficult for the Society to make any positive stipulation; but certainly when a large proportion of the missionary's salary is provided from its funds, the people who receive the benefit should do all in their power for the comfort and convenience of the clergyman. It should also be understood that when local means of support increase, the Society should be so far relieved, as to be enabled to turn its attention to other places of greater spiritual destitution.

These considerations, and there are many others in connection with this Society, must press themselves upon the attention of every thoughtful member of the Church of Christ, and shew the increasing importance of the work we have undertaken to do. Upon this very work, and the way in which it is performed must, under God, mainly depend the future condition of the Church in this Province. The thought, then, of this, may well give a solemn tone to all our proceedings—to all our endeavours, involving as they do, the highest interests of so many through time and throughout eternity.

Mr. C. H. Fairweather laid before the meeting the Treasurer's Accounts, with the report of the Auditors thereon, as follows:—

"The Auditors beg to report that the above accounts of the Treasurer, made up according to the prepared form, have been examined by them, and found to exhibit correctly the present state of the finances of the Society: vouchers for the several payments accompany the accounts, agreeing with the same.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Gray, seconded by Rev. Dr. Wiggins—Resolved, That the Auditors' Report be accepted, and that the Treasurer be directed in future to pay no drafts for salaries, from the Missionaries, but those which are drawn according to the printed form, which has already been furnished by the Secretary of the Society for that purpose.

Read by the Lord Bishop, the missionary schedule for the current year,—whereupon,

On motion of the Rev. F. Coster, seconded by Mr. W. Carman—Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to confer with the Lord Bishop with reference to the missionary schedule, and also to report to-morrow evening on the present available funds of the Society, and on the several applications for grants to this Committee; and on motion—Resolved, That the Rev. F. Coster, the Officers of the Society, and Mr. W. Carman, do compose the said Committee.

The Lord Bishop made a statement with reference to a proposal of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, to pay to the Diocesan Church Society the amount granted by that Society in a block sum, subject to certain conditions.

On motion—Resolved, that a Committee consisting of the Rev. Dr. Gray, the Provincial Treasurer, and Mr. W. Wright, be requested to confer with his Lordship, and to report upon the subject to-morrow evening.

The Committee adjourned till to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock.

That while the Society ought to offer the most devout manent endowment for the maintenance of the clergy.

Moved by the Rev. Henry Pollard, seconded by Mr. H.
W. Frith, and Resolved, unanimously, That whereas the missionary work is the great object of this Society, and "the harvest is plenteous yet the laborers are few," while it should form the subject of constant prayer to "the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest," the Society ought by every means in its power to further an object of such vast importance.

Moved by Mr. W. Wright, seconded by the Rev. Charles Lee, and unanimously Resolved, That the best thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Officers of the Society for their efficient services during the past year. And further,

Mr. Harrison—Resolved, unanimously, That the cordial thanks of the Society be offered to the Rev. the Rector, and to the Church Wardens of Trinity Church, for the use of their School ROOM for the Meetings of the Society, and for their uniform courtesies and kind attention.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR THE PAST YEAR.

The Minutes of the Meeting held at Fredericton on the 8th of July last, will be found in the 24th Report (p. 27.)

The next Meeting was held at St. John on the 5th Oct.

The account of Barnes & Co. for printing the Report, amounting to £28 7s. 6d., was ordered to be paid.

A statement of the Treasurer's Accounts was laid before the Committee.

A Committee, consisting of the Rev. F. Coster, Mr. F. A. Wiggins, W. Jack, and the Auditors, was appointed to provide printed forms, in blank, for the Treasurer's accounts.

On the report of Mr. Carman with reference to certain securities in the hands of Mr. Dibblee, a Select Committee was appointed to request Mr. Dibblee to hand over the same to the Chairman of the Loan Committee, and to pay any proper charge against the Society, not exceeding the sum of £6.

An account of the Secretary for postage and travelling expenses, amounting to £2 7s. 1d., was ordered to be paid.

It was ordered that twenty copies of the last Reports, from A. D. 1850, be bound and placed in the Book Depositories for sale.

The Rev. I. W. D. Gray, D. D., from the Committee appointed at the late visitation of the clergy, presented a report, which he read, and, on motion, it was resolved that the same be received and filed.

There was no business transacted at the meeting of the Committee at Fredericton in January, a quorum not being in attendance.

The Committee met at St. John on the 7th of March. A statement of the Treasurer's accounts was submitted, made up to the 1st inst.

The following report was submitted from the Loan Committee, which was received and entered upon the Minutes :

The Loan Committee beg leave to report, that since the last meeting of the Society they have invested the sum of £600 in the St. John Water debentures, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable half yearly, on the 1st May and 1st November in each year. Your Committee, after mature deliberation, having come to the conclusion that the above mode of investment was in many respects preferable to the ordinary security by bond and mortgage, and finding that two debentures of £300 each were offered to public competition in August last, determined to tender for the same at 2 per cent. premium, that being the lowest rate at which, from the existing state of the money market, they could reasonably expect to obtain them. The tender so made was successful, and your Committee have learned with satisfaction that the rate of premium has since risen to 5 per cent., showing the good opinion entertained by capitalists of this species of security.

The total amount of premium and interest on the debentures to time of investment, was £26 2s. 1d., which your Committee advanced in September last, and have since been repaid by the coupons falling due 1st May and 1st November last, leaving the sum of £6 17s. 11d. to the credit of the Society, and which amount your Committee have paid into the Bank of New Brunswick to the Treasurer's account.

The interest paid to the Treasurer on outstanding loans since the last report of the Society is stated by him as follows:—

Rev. F. Coster, from the Committee appointed in October last, with reference to blank forms for the Treasurer's accounts, presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and entered upon the Minutes:—

The Committee appointed at the October Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Diocesan Church Society to consider "whether a printed form in blank could be provided for the Treasurer's Accounts, which would render them more easy of reference, and more intelligible to the members of the Society, with authority to provide for the same, should they deem it expedient," beg to report that they have provided a printed form which they think will answer the purpose, and now submit it for the adoption of the Committee. The cost of providing the same has been £3: of this sum they request an order for the payment.

While the Committee had the Society's Accounts under their consideration, some things suggested themselves to them, which they desire to bring under the notice of the General and Executive Committees of the Society.

1. The Subscriptions and Collections.—It is very desirable that the Clergy and others who kindly interest themselves in making collections for the Society should distinctly understand, that the Society are compelled to regard a subscription list when sent in, as an acknowledgment on the part of the person sending it in, that he has in his hands money belonging to the Society, to the amount of the list so sent in: and that the Society must require him to account for this sum. If, therefore, he allows the names of any persons to appear in that list, who have not paid their subscriptions, he must understand that he does so at the risk of being called upon to make good the deficiency that will ensue at his own expense. This is a principle from which the Society never can depart. Their estimates of expenditure and investment are made upon an estimate of their income, formed upon the lists of contributions so sent in. If these lists are realized only in part, the estimates of the Society will of course exceed their means, and difficulties will be sure to arise.

2. Missionary Salaries.—The accounts of the Society are very much complicated by its being impossible, under the present system, to close the missionary schedule within the year in which it is granted. At each Annual Meeting (except the last) it has been the practice to provide for four quarters' salaries, viz., April, July, October and January. The three first appear in the accounts of the year, but the fourth stands over for the next year's accounts, and forms what is commonly called a "fifth quarter." This source of confusion may easily be removed, by making the July quarter not payable until after the Annual Meeting shall have been held. The day fixed by the Constitution for the Meeting, is the first Thursday in July, the General Committee must therefore meet before the 5th of the month. The quarters to be provided for then, will be July, October, January and April, all of which will be paid within the fiscal year, and will appear in the accounts of the year, which are in future to be closed on the 1st May. Thus the missionary schedule will be closed within the year for which it is granted, and this will greatly simplify the Society's accounts.

It should be made to appear distinctly that all grants for missionary salaries, and the like, together with all sums placed at the Bishop's disposal, are for the service of the year in which the grants are made respectively, and expire with it.

The Committee recommend the adoption of a printed form for the missionary schedule which is usually submitted by the Bishop to the General Committee.

3. Grants for Churches.—To prevent the accumulation of uncertain claims and balances, it is desirable that the Resolution of 1841 should be rescinded, viz., "That all future grants for any purpose may be re-appropriated as the Society shall think fit, if not claimed within three years from the date of the respective grants." And that in lieu therefore it should be enacted that every grant which is not claimed and paid within the fiscal year in which it is made, shall be void. No practical inconvenience would arise from the adoption of such a regulation, because any grant which it is desirable to retain can be renewed at the next Annual Meeting. Some considerable advantage will accrue from it. It will prevent the accumulation of balances which must every year be brought forward: (in the 24th Report, two pages of the Auditors' Report are almost entirely taken up with such balances), and the accounts will be greatly simplified by the omission of such items.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK COSTER,
F. A. WIGGINS,
C. H. FAIRWEATHER,
W. JACK,
W. H. SCOVIL.

St. John, Feb. 23, 1860.

On motion of the Rev. F. Coster, the following resolutions were passed:

1. That Avery's bill for printing the forms for the Treasurer's accounts, amounting to £3, be paid.

2. That it be intimated to the Clergy and others, who kindly interest themselves in making collections for the Society, that in future the Society will consider any list of subscribers which may be sent in, as an acknowledgment on the part of the person sending it, that he has in his hand, or has had, money belonging to the Society to the amount of the list so sent in, for which the Society will require him to account.

3. That the General Committee be requested at the next Meeting of the Society in July, with a view to carrying out the second suggestion of the Committee, to make provision for only three quarters' payment of missionary salaries, to be payable on the 1st Oct., 1860, and the 1st Jan. and the 1st April, 1861, and at all subsequent Meetings, for four quarterly payments to be payable at the next ensuing 10th July, 1st Oct., 1st January, and 1st April.

4. That the General Committee be requested to state that all grants for missionary salaries, and all sums placed at the disposal of the Lord Bishop, are for the services of the fiscal year in which the grants are made respectively, and expire with it.

5. That the General Committee be requested to make it a condition on which their grants for building churches are made, that the grant shall be void unless it be claimed and paid within the fiscal year in which it is granted, that is before the 1st May.

6. That the Society be moved at the next annual Meeting to repeal the resolution passed in 1841, as follows—viz: "That all future grants for any purpose may be appropriated as the Society shall think fit, if not claimed within three years from the date of the respective grants."

APPENDIX.

DIOCESAN CHURCH SOCIETY OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

The Anniversary Meeting of the Diocesan Church Society of New Brunswick, took place at Trinity Church Sunday School House in the City of Saint John, on Thursday, the 5th July, 1860. The Chair was taken by the Lord Bishop of Fredericton.

A hymn—"Jesus shall reign," &c., was sung, and prayer offered, when His Lordship rose and made a few preliminary remarks, as to the objects of the meeting, and then called upon the Secretary, the Rev. W. Q. Ketchum, to read the Annual Report.

After the minutes of the several Committees were read His Lordship the Bishop called upon the Rev. John Armstrong, who rose and moved the following Resolution:—

That the Report be adopted, and printed under the directions of the Executive Committee.

We live in stirring times. The whole continent of Europe is in a state of agitation and distrust; no two nations of that vast country having any confidence in each other; even that power which in former days ruled and reigned over every other power in the more civilized part of the world, is crumbling to pieces and passing away; and should the torch of war be kindled in Europe, there is no saying what may be the result of such a conflict. A deep interest, of course, is taken in every rumour, and in the latest intelligence put into circulation; and the means of communicating information has now reached to an excess of velocity never before known, insomuch that a message from the throne, or a speech from the Secretary of State, is wafted to the most distant parts as quickly as they are delivered. The sentences are conveyed from the very lips of the speakers to the electric wires, by which they are carried at lightning speed to the most eastern parts of the British dominions. The proceedings of mercantile associations, of scientific societies, and of philosophical transactions, are circulated far and wide with equal swiftness. But there is another kingdom with which we have to do; I mean that kingdom which is not of this world; that kingdom for the increase and prosperity of which we daily pray, when we say, "Thy kingdom come," that kingdom which, we are told, cometh not of observation," and yet not entirely without observation—for the proceedings of the church and its coadjutors, the great religious societies which adorn the present age, excite the interest and attention even of those who are principally concerned in the affairs of the kingdoms of this world, princes and rulers, senators and statesmen; but those proceedings attract the notice of a higher order of beings than those who inhabit this earth. The angels of heaven are deeply concerned in all the movements and transactions of this heavenly kingdom. There are the two elder societies, the handmaids of the Church, which have so essentially sowed its interests in these Provinces and the adjoining States: and, as one standing in the foremost rank of all others, I name next, the noble "British and Foreign Bible Society;" the Bible Society. Most happy should I be, my lord, if your Lordship could be induced to sanction, to patronize, and to support that noble institution; yea, if the Diocesan Church Society of New Brunswick would thrive and prosper all the better too. There are our Missionary Societies, our Pastoral Aid Societies, our Educational Societies, our Society for the Conversion of the Jews, and many others too numerous to mention, the proceedings and transactions of which, as being helpers to the church, are carried on as on the wings of angels into the heavenly kingdom, where they are communicated from one celestial being to another with all possible celerity. And who can wonder at this? For what is the object of such proceedings, but to promote the welfare of the kingdom referred to that kingdom of which Christ is the Head, which he purchased with his own precious blood, which he redeemed by his own death on the Cross, and which he has promised to preserve throughout all ages. What is the object, my Christian friends; an object of which we do not think highly enough, an object not half dear enough to us, an object in which all our happiness centres, an object in which every human being in the world might well rejoice, as it produces joy in the presence of the angels of heaven. In the promotion of this kingdom, the kingdom of Christ upon earth, we want men—men who will preach Christ, and his mediation and intercession, as the only efficacious means of bringing salvation to sinful man, men who determine not to know anything among the people save Jesus Christ, and him crucified—men of earnest minds, of intense sincerity of heart; with such men the ministry will be honored, the people of God will be edified and the Church will prosper, and the kingdom of heaven upon earth will come and increase, until it fill the earth itself with the glory and knowledge of God. But means are also required. His Lordship, the Bishop, my Christian friends, has congratulated you on your generosity, as it appears in the increase of the funds of the Society for the past year. But I am by no means satisfied that you have done what you could; neither do I think that there is one present who would say that he had done what he could. In the Levitical dispensation, the head of every family was required to give a tenth to the ministering tribe of Levi, a second tenth to the support of the temple; and every third year another tenth to the poor, beside the costly journeys to the temple, trespass offerings, and other religious taxes imposed or sanctioned; and in addition to these were free-will offerings. Put these together, and it becomes evident, beyond question, that every head was required to give away one-fifth, probably one-third of all he received, year by year. Some, perhaps, may say, we have been delivered from these burdensome rites and expensive impositions of the Mosaic law. Be it so, but have you been delivered therefrom, free of all cost? If you have paid nothing, has it not cost dear to you, surety? Did not Christ purchase that deliverance for you at an incalculable price? And are you under no obligations to him for such deliverance? If a man in business should, through misfortune or misconduct, fall into pecuniary difficulties, and some friend came forward to secure to his creditors, to see all his obligations to them discharged, and afterwards found himself under the necessity of discharging the self, would not the debtor consider that he was bound if possible to reimburse his friend for all that he had so paid on his behalf? I remember to have read of a person having applied to an excellent woman, requesting her husband to become bound for an amount which, if ever handed, would sweep away all his property. On her replying, "My band will attend, sir, whenever you may appoint," a bystander asked "Do you know what you are engaging to do, and perhaps this may be the means of leaving you destitute?" She replied, "Yes, I do; that gentleman found us in the greatest distress, and by his kindness we are surrounded with comforts: now, should such an event take place, he will only leave us where he found us." Our Divine Surety, Christian friends, looks for large returns from us for having discharged us from our obligations to the law, though incur what risk we may, make what sacrifice we may, he will never leave us in the situation which he found us. O that we were sensible of our infinite obligations to Him! Give what we may, we can never repay him for what has been done for us; there can be no comparison between his gifts and returns. Let gratitude have its due influence upon our hearts, and past offerings will bear no comparison with our future gifts to the treasury of the sanctuary. Let me mention another instance of liberality which we may well imitate on similar occasions. Two Sundays ago at a village not twenty miles from this city, a small Roman Catholic chapel was opened, I think, for the second time, and a collection made, I want to know what think you was the amount of it? I happened to be present when a gentleman asked us to guess how much it was? Knowing that I usually did more in such cases than ourselves, I replied, "Fifty pounds." Another person observed, "O no, that was too much." I am nearer the mark, however, for it amounted to seventy-five pounds! Now, when there is a new country church to be opened of our own, is the sum ever gathered from the congregation? And wherefore? Is it because we are poorer, and less able to contribute than our Roman Catholic countrymen? I believe not. O let us not be outdone by any, but of all by those from whose Church we have long departed. Our board of charity requires to be greatly raised; it has not half reached that, as Christians, is required of us. Thousands say they give all that they can spare, but they first supply their own wants, not according to their reasonable necessities, but according to their own wishes and notions, which, for the most part, come little short of extravagance, when they have scarcely anything at all to spare. We are not required to give all that we can spare, but to give unsparingly. Our gifts should be the first fruits, not the dregs of an unchristian expenditure. What did the law command, and it is only what may be most reasonably expected of us—that our gifts should be the first fruits of our gains and earnings. "Ye shall eat neither bread nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the self-same day that ye have brought an offering to your God; it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations in all your dwellings." Thus shall we "honor the Lord with our substance, and with the first fruits of all our increase."

The Hon. J. A. Street then rose and said :—

MY LORD, AND LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—I have great pleasure in attending the Resolution just moved by the Rev. Mr. Armstrong, though I feel that I can add little to what has been said by the venerable and reverend mover; yet I will venture to remark, that when we meet that the present is the 25th Anniversary of the Society, and then pects of the Church in this Diocese demand renewed efforts, both to increase the annual contributions and also to provide in part a permanent endowment for the maintenance of the clergy.

and addressed the meeting as follows:—

MY LORD, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—Monotonies are not, in general, pleasing; but there is one, to which we have been accustomed to listen from year to year, which we have heard from our Secretary this evening, which has been repeated by the preceding speakers, and is reiterated in the resolution entrusted to me, which always gives us pleasure, and that is the statement that the interest felt for this Society, and the funds contributed to it, are on the increase. And we have the greater reason to be thankful for this, because there has been, during the past year, another monotonous sound, which we have never any pleasure in listening to, and that is the old complaint that trade is dull and money scarce. The resolution which I have just read to you recognizes the continued success of this Society, and traces it to its true source, the blessing of the Almighty. I trust that, while rejoicing in our prosperity, you shall never forget the hand that ministers it, never be elated beyond due bounds, or be constrained upon a reverse in our affairs, to confess, that in our prosperity we said we should never be moved. As long as we work for the honor of God, and pursue our work in the spirit of prayer, so long we may confidently expect that God will further our efforts; that whether the times be, in other respects, prosperous or adverse, whether the fig tree blossoms or blossoms not, whether the olive, and the olive, and the flock flourish or fail, we shall be able to rejoice in the Lord and joy in the God of our salvation. Vigorous effort leads to success, and success ought to lead to still more vigorous effort. The resolution entrusted to me affirms, and it points our efforts to two special objects, viz., the increase of the annual contributions to this Society, and the providing a permanent endowment for our Church in this Diocese. The latter I take to be the main object of the resolution; and, as this subject is new to the greater part of the persons present, I shall confine my remarks to this point. Here, however, permit me to say that, in consenting to move a resolution of this nature, I do not undertake the task as a mere matter of form; it is not for the sake of making a speech, or even testing the sense of this meeting in regard to it, but earnestly to recommend it to you, as an object, for the accomplishment of which, a cordial, united and vigorous effort ought to be made, and made at once. In saying this, I am quite aware that some, whose opinions are entitled to respect, think differently upon this point; but, after carefully weighing the reasons they assign for so thinking, my own opinion remains unchanged. But why, it may be asked, moot the question at present? Why introduce it at this particular crisis? Because we are now formally apprised of the design of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel to withdraw from us the grant which they have hitherto extended to us, a grant amounting to upwards of £4000 per year, out of which the salaries of the greater part of our missionaries have been paid. The grounds upon which they have come to this decision are not unreasonable. They say that we have enjoyed it a long time, and that now, other lands more distant and more destitute have a stronger claim to it. They propose, however, to withdraw it, not all at once, but by a gradual process, by giving us, at this time, a stock sum equivalent to their present grant, and then diminishing that sum, at the rate of £100 stg. per annum, until the whole sum is withdrawn. Now looking forward to the expiration of that period, we shall have lost the use of a capital amounting to £40,000 stg.; and the question is, how can we meet this emergency? How are we to supply the deficiency, which the withdrawal of this amount will produce? Can the different parishes in the Diocese sustain themselves? Can each parish support its own clergy? Impossible at present. It is admitted on all hands that they cannot, that at least two-thirds, I might almost say, three-fourths of them are not self-sustaining. Now, this being admitted, the only alternative that presents itself is this, either to close our Churches in two-thirds of our present missions, depriving the members of our communion of the ordinances in which they and their forefathers have delighted, and silencing through successive generations, as far as we are concerned, the tidings of the everlasting Gospel among them, or else to make a united and vigorous effort to meet the emergency, by supplying, to a certain extent at all events, the deficiency of which we have heard. Which side of the alternative shall we choso? I am satisfied, my Christian friends, that there is not a Church of England person in this room to night, who would be willing, who would tolerate for a moment, the idea of closing our Churches and depriving the members of them and their children after them, of the ministrations of the Gospel. I have a right therefore to conclude that you agree with me at least in this, that in some way or other an effort ought to be made to avert this evil, and maintain the integrity of our Church. But the question is How? In what way? Shall it be by raising at once a moderate sum, (say £20,000), and investing it as a partial endowment? Or shall it be by an appeal to the voluntary principle from year to year, as every fresh emergency arises? There are some to whose judgments the latter expedient commends itself as the more desirable. Let us use our best exertions, they say, to increase our contributions towards the Diocesan Church Society. Yes, let us do so. To this sentiment I most cordially respond. Let us carry forward these contributions, from year to year, to the utmost possible extent. But, when you have done this, and there is no question but what it ought to be done, you will not meet the emergency before you. There is a great difficulty in keeping up a constant pressure for increased contributions to a voluntary association; and, keep it up as vigorously as you may, there are times when it will fail to accomplish its object; and, if you fail to accomplish its object in any single year, the pay of your missionaries must, to the same extent, be suspended. And how can you expect a missionary establishment to be vigorously sustained, upon a basis attended with so much uncertainty? Some think, indeed, that such an uncertainty would be useful, that it would be better for the interests of the Church, that clergymen should feel themselves dependent upon the good feeling of their parishioners. Now this is true to a certain extent, but not to the extent which is here assumed. Clergymen ought to feel that their usefulness in some measure depends upon the estimation in which they are held by their parishioners, and that their comforts, to a certain extent, are also dependent upon them. But, if you make them utterly dependent, so dependent that the offence which may be given by a faithful ministry, may, at any moment, deprive them and their families of bread, you present a strong temptation in their way to become pleasers of men, instead of pleasers of God; and, to the same extent, deprive their people of the security for a faithful ministry. Some men, indeed, have strength of principle enough to become martyrs in a good cause. But, in a quiescent state of the church, the spirit of martyrdom is not common. It is given in the abnormal rather than in the ordinary condition of affairs. And, such being the case, it is not reasonable, if not common justice to expect, that young men of talents, who might succeed in other professions, will incur the expense of a classical and theological education, and then devote themselves to the arduous work of the ministry in a Province like this, where the remuneration for their labour is a mere pittance, barely sufficient to support them as single men; and where the tenure of that diminutive sum is only the tenure of a single year. I repeat it; it is not fair, it is not just, it is not reasonable, to expect this. We have high authority to appeal to in this matter. We have something like a precedent sketched out for us in that economy where the temporal as well as spiritual concerns of the ministers of Religion, were defined by Divine Wisdom with minute precision. And what is that precedent? The voluntary principle? Just the reverse! The Priest and Levite had their cities, and their tenths set apart and secured to them by the Divine Law. They were as much their right as any other inheritance. They constituted, in fact, a permanent endowment, for the support of that religion which God had sanctioned. And when the dispensation of Christ superseded that of the Jews, it was found expedient, not indeed for the planting, but for the permanence of religion, in the different countries where it was introduced, to adopt the same system. That the endowment of the Church in England, has proved, under God, a means of security to it, and made it a bulwark to Christianity in our nation, is obvious. That the want of such an endowment is a check to its progress in the United States, is equally apparent. In addressing our General Committee, two evenings ago, his Lordship referred to the striking fact, that, the three contiguous States of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, just bordering on us, and where the population is quadruple that of our Province, the number of Episcopal clergymen is only equal to the number that we have in this Diocese; and to the further fact that in the State of Maine, which contains at least thrice our population, the few Episcopal clergy that are there, are all situated in the towns, because in the country parts there is no means of subsistence for them. The truth is, that the voluntary principle is an admirable auxiliary, where you have something more fixed and stable to fall back upon; but, it is too variable and uncertain in its operations, to give that steady and permanent support to the Church which it ought to receive.

But is it practicable, you ask, to raise £20,000 for this object? Practicable? Where lies the difficulty? Suppose our population, in the Province, to be 300,000, and the members of the Church of England to one-seventh of that population, i. e., about 40,000 persons. Is it to be imagined that among 40,000 members of the Church of England, £20,000 cannot be raised for the endowment of our Church? Surely we have ten men of our communion that could give us £500 apiece, and there you have one-fourth of the sum at once; and is it credible that, among the 39,990, we cannot collect the residue? But why collect it at once, another asks; is it not being too generous? Why not let charity take care of themselves? Suppose our predecessors in the other Country had reasoned thus; where, I ask, would our Church, were our ordinances, where our missionaries, have been at this hour? I answer, that by collecting it at once, you gain some special advantages. You gain the large contributions of wealthy men, who are long now, but who, a little time hence, may have passed away; and you will never give you these large contributions if you only propose to raise a small annual amount. Still further—by raising £20,000 at once, you gain a large amount of interest; for you will not only have enough to meet every emergency, as it arises, for the next ten years, but have, at that time an accumulation of interest amounting to upwards of £5,000, to add to the principal of your endowment. But, admitting all this, another object that there are preliminary questions that ought first to be settled. Who, for instance, are to be the Trustees of the fund? And who is to exercise the patronage of it? Now, I grant that these are important questions, that they ought to be settled, settled after mature consideration, settled upon a firm, and to all parties as far as possible, satisfactory basis. But, if so, give that consideration to them at once. Settle them without delay. But do not make these matters of detail, the adjustment of which you have in your own hands, an excuse for sitting down and doing nothing. If we must choose between evils, it is better, in a case like this, to be a little over zealous, than to be forever hesitating, doubting, vacillating, seeing a lion in the way, which only exists, perhaps, in our own imagination. It is not the less true, because a poet has said it, that "our doubts are traitors, and make us lose the good we oft might win." Better to take as our motto in this cause, what another poet has said, "Nil desperandum," and proceed forthwith to lay our plans for carrying out this desirable object.

The motion was seconded by the Hon. Judge Parker, and unanimously adopted.

The Rev. H. Pollard moved the third resolution, as follows :

Whereas the missionary work is the great object of this Society, and "the harvest is plentiful, yet the laborers are few," while it should form the subject of constant prayer to the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into the harvest, the Society ought by every means in its power to further an object of such vast importance.

MY LORD, L. DIES AND GENTLEMEN—If I were addressing an audience in the Mother Country, I should be afraid lest the word missionary would be misunderstood. To minds in my native land, it would suggest thoughts of heathen nations where, a door for the gospel is now opening, but forms the particular sphere of that great Society the Church Missionary Society. They would naturally revert to Japan, where Providence seems making a way for the Word of Truth; or to China, where internal disturbances are paving the way for the Gospel of Peace; or to India, where the mutiny, with all its horrors, so fresh in our minds, seems to tell us that we have not used that vast country as God would have us use it, for the promotion of the truths of Christianity; or to Borneo, where the devoted missionaries know not what a day may bring forth; the embers of insurrection continually breaking forth, showing that a great fire smoulders beneath; or to New Zealand, from which the last mails have brought us news of fresh troubles and dangers; or to Africa, with the noble mission, headed by the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. Such would be the ideas connected with the word missionary in England; but there is scarcely any fear of being misunderstood in this diocese, the work of the clergy is so strictly missionary. It is true that we are not sent to the heathen, but we are sent to those who have been accustomed to worship God, for the most part, in the same way as we have in the homes of their fathers; they once were able to offer up their devotions in the Churches of the Mother Country, but now are deprived of these privileges, and are in danger of sinking into a state of practical heathenism. I remember an incident which came under my own notice a short time ago. I was driving in a sleigh to a station about twenty miles from St. Stephen, where we occasionally hold service, and about six miles from my destination, took up a person who wished to be present; a little further on, a boy of about six even years old jumped upon the runner of the sleigh, and thus accompanied us a little way. Some hundred yards before us, I saw a horse drawing a load of hay leaving a yard, driven by another lad; when my young companion saw them moving, he uttered the most horrid curses and imprecations, that I looked upon him with the greatest amazement, and turned to my other companion for an explanation: "Oh, said he, just over there (pointing to some houses), live some families, who are a bad set; they never keep Sunday, never go to any place of worship, but are infidels, 'without any fear of God.'" How, with such an instance before us, and I doubt not every clergyman could tell of similar, or even worse instances, may we not say that the work in this Province is really missionary. You, my friends, who live in this place, and have weekly or daily opportunities of serving God in his house, where continually the church bell summons you to the house of prayer, where you may walk with your fellows in the house of God as friends, and enjoy all the consolations of our holy religion; you cannot realize what it is to be deprived of all these blessings. There are many parts of this Province where the people are never summoned to join in the services of the Church; others, who have but very seldom opportunities of worshipping God as they used to do; and all this in spite of the greatest efforts of the small band of clergy, who are often taxed beyond their powers, and who are obliged to leave much undone that they would thankfully see done, because it is impossible for the present number of clergy to supply the spiritual wants of the diocese. For though, since his Lordship has presided over it, the number has been increased, yet it has been very slowly, and now each year some four or five only are ordained, little more than enough to supply the places of those who are taken away in the natural course of events. I am one of those who believe that if the men were forthcoming, the money would be also forthcoming; I cannot believe, that Churchmen in our large towns would suffer the ministers of the gospel to want the necessaries of life, if their wants were made known to them. Let us get the men, and the money would be ready also. And why is it so few do come forward to take upon themselves the ministry of the gospel? Our army and navy can always be supplied with volunteers, who are willing to spend their lives on what is called the field of glory; but how few are willing to enroll themselves under the banner of Christ, and fight in His behalf against the spiritual enemies. It is true, the service does not offer them any pecuniary advantages; but if they seek that, let them stay away, we do not want such amongst the number of clergy; they must be willing to spend and be spent in the service of the Lord, and for the salvation of souls. Why do I see so few young men before me this evening? Is it because they have no interest in the matter, or have no souls to be saved. It cannot be so; it must be, because they have not been taught to look upon religion as the chief end of life, and upon the service of Christ as the noblest object, because the matter has not been brought sufficiently before them. I believe that if in our schools a thoroughly Christian education were given, and the children brought up with a proper sense of their responsibility as members of Christ's Church, and the subject of the Christian ministry brought prominently before their notice; if there were any disposition in them, fitting them for the ministry, it would be brought out, and the ranks of the clergy more numerously supplied with good men and true.

In this way, the subject is being taken up in England. The service of God in the ministry is now kept before pupils in the Grammar and other public Schools. I may mention an instance of the exertion now made to supply the want of clergy, in the city of Canterbury. They have there a Clergy Orphan School, where sons of the clergy are educated in a manner befitting their position. Then there is a fund raised to maintain and educate such young men as desire to devote themselves to the service of God from the time they leave the school till they are old enough to enter the Missionary College of Saint Augustine—from 16 to 20 years of age; and we are interested in this movement, because doubtless some of them will join us in this diocese.

In conclusion, I will allude to one other point in this resolution. It speaks of the necessity of fervent prayers for the clergy in their work. My Lord, I fear that but few comparatively do pray for the clergy. Do they expect that a blessing will descend upon the labours of these ministers, except it be given by the Lord of the harvest. Do they expect that their own strength is sufficient for their work? They may plant, they may water, but God alone giveth the increase; it is the duty, therefore, of every one to offer up continual prayers to God, that the efforts of the clergy might be blessed. and that the scantiness of numbers might be made up by the efficiency of those who now are labourers in the Lord's vineyard of souls.

Mr. H. W. Frith, in seconding the resolution, said :

I have been requested, my Lord, to second and support the resolution which has just been moved, and if, in rising to comply with the request, I experience any feeling other than that of pleasure, it arises only from my consciousness of inability to do justice to a subject of such "vast importance." Believing, as I do, that if not the very existence, at least the growth and advancement of our Church in this Province depends on the success of this Society, and that our Church, while it is one of the most scriptural branches of the Church of Christ, contains in itself the best means of spreading the gospel, I can sincerely say, that whether it be as a local collector of its funds, as a member of a business committee, or thus to advocate its claims in public, this Society can always command my services.

The resolution assumes "that the missionary work is the great object of this Society," and the Rev. Gentleman who has just preceded me, has alluded to the popular sense of the word "Missionary," by which we usually understand a mission to the heathen. But in the fuller and more literal sense of the word not only is this Society Missionary—but the whole Christian Church—the Christian system. Indeed, to be missionary, or aggressive, is one of the peculiar and distinctive features of Christianity. Other religious systems have not been so, or not to the same extent. We all know that Judaism, the oldest system of divine origin, was content to hold its own amidst the nation to which it was revealed; that the ancient schools of philosophy made little effort to extend their teachings beyond the sphere immediately surrounding them; and that even the great apostacy of Mahomedanism, which at one time made such rapid and alarming progress, ceased to be aggressive when the triumphs and conquests of its sword were driven back. But not so Christianity. From the time when our Blessed Saviour gave the command to his disciples, and through them to his whole church, and to all who should call upon his name, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," from that time to the present, the Church of Christ has been a missionary, an aggressive church; and it can only cease to be so on one of two conditions—either that its object is accomplished, and the glorious consummation attained, when "the kingdoms of this world shall have become the kingdoms of

But the resolution assumes another proposition; which, if true, is one of the most sad and impressive that can be contemplated. It states "the harvest is plenteous, yet the laborers are few." Now, if the church be, as I have said, missionary in its character, what it most of all wants, is a harvest, in which to extend its labors. What then can be more sad than the assertion that such a harvest exists, but is in danger of being lost for want of laborers to gather it in. There is nothing, my Lord, more beautiful in the natural world than a rich harvest—what could be more delightful than to see the broad fields and fertile valleys of our own Province covered with waving corn, and groaning with the fruits of earth. But what can be imagined more affecting or distressing, than to be told that that harvest should never be reaped—that, for want of laborers, those rich fields of grain, on which we were depending for existence and for wealth, must fade where they have ripened, and fall and decay where they stand! And if this be true of the natural, how much more of the spiritual world. If there be, as no doubt there is peculiarly just now, when all religious questions are so much discussed, when every thing that relates to our future existence excites so much more concern than formerly—when there is so much ignorance to be taught, and so much knowledge to be guided aright; if there be, I say, such a harvest of immortal souls, inquiring, and no one to answer their inquiries; seeking information, and no one to satisfy their wants; such a vast harvest, and no one to gather it into the Church of Christ—I ask, my friends, if we can contemplate anything more painful, more deplorable. And are we not told by his Lordship, that four or five missions in this diocese are now vacant solely for want of men to fill them; that the money could be found, but the men cannot; while, if I may refer to a reverend and venerable gentleman who has addressed us this evening, it may not be known to many here, that although, some years since, feeling that his increasing years and infirmity would not permit him to fulfil his duties as he would wish, he resigned a Rectory in this City, where his zealous labors had endeared him to his parishioners, that gentleman has again volunteered his services to supply a mission not far from the City, and now for some time vacant, until a clergyman can be obtained to take charge of it. Does this not put us to shame?

What we want, then, are men and money. When I say this, I but repeat what almost every speaker this evening has said. But let me ask, how are we to get men. It cannot be expected—it is not in the nature of things, that those who are older, who have chosen and acquired a business or profession, who, perhaps, have families dependent on them, can or will turn now to labor as ministers in this harvest. No, it is to the youth of our country we must look to supply this need. But as youth is a period when other walks of life appear more tempting—when the path to wealth or fame is most likely to be sought and followed, we must look to you, my friends, who have children, to provide the men for this service. True, you may well feel that you can do better for them in other ways—but, is it not your duty to give some of them to the Lord—to train and lead their minds to feel that they should devote themselves to Him. I believe that there are many men, who, if in early life, their minds had thus been trained, would gladly have given themselves to the work of the ministry. And to young men, if there are any here, I would say—will not some of you volunteer for this work. Though it holds out to you no earthly rewards—is it no honour to belong to such an army? We are all now looking forward to one great event. I mean the visit of our gracious Sovereign's son—the Prince of Wales. Now, I will suppose, that in passing through this Province, he should take a fancy to some lad and say to him "Follow me, attach yourself to my train, and I will provide for you;" would that lad stop to ask, what shall be my duty—what my remuneration—shall I be well paid?—or would he not eagerly accept the invitation, trusting all that to his Prince?—And is the service of the Prince of Peace less honorable? Will you place less confidence in Him, or when he thus invites you to come and serve Him, will you doubt his power or will to provide for you? * * * * * It may be that you cannot acquire wealth—that you will not be able to furnish fine houses with fine furniture—but is it not infinitely better to be engaged in furnishing a Parish Church with living souls? You may not be able to travel about the world and to take your pleasure, as you might do if successful in a secular calling—but is there no pleasure in carrying the glad tidings of great joy to perishing sinners and winning souls to Christ?

We also want money. Now, my Lord, I consider it no reflection on human nature—no reflection on our Rev. Brethren, to say that the church cannot get on without money. I know that there are some, for I have met with them in collecting, who speak, I can hardly suppose they feel, as if the Church were some voracious cormorant, ready to suck up everything of which it could lay hold. But I ask, is there any institution of half the magnitude, or doing one hundredth part the good the Church is doing, for the same expenditure, with as small an amount of money? It is idle to discuss the question.

A previous speaker said that we should give our first fruits to God; but who does this? what one among all of us can say that he gives his first fruits to the cause of Christ? On the contrary, is there one of us, who, if he were laid low with illness, and had to call in the doctor, would not be glad to get off with him, for more than double of all his subscriptions to ecclesiastical purposes? Or should any of you have the misfortune to fall into the hands of one of my profession, in an expensive law-suit, would you not consider yourself well off, if you got out of them again for ten, or perhaps twenty times as much as all your contributions to all the charities you support? Or suppose again any one of you should pay a visit to the Great Ship, now lying at New York, and take one or two members of your family with you, can you do it for the sum total of all your yearly donations?

One remark more and I have done. It is as to the means to be employed to get what we so much want; various useful plans have been mentioned, and others will doubtless suggest themselves to you. But the resolution directs us to one all may use, and which cannot fail. It says it should form a subject of earnest prayer to "the Lord of the harvest to send more laborers into His harvest." This is but a quotation from Holy Writ—they are the words of our blessed Lord himself, the means which He has commanded us to use. It has been beautifully said of prayer, "that it moves the hand which moves the world." There is another saying which this calls to mind handed down in the annals of science. It is that of an ancient philosopher, who, when praising the power in Mechanics known as the lever, said, "Give me a place to stand, and a lever long enough, and I will move the earth." Prayer is that lever placed by God in the hands of the Christian, by which he may be said to move the world. But how must we pray? not in the cold and hurried manner, in which perhaps too many of us do pray; but earnestly, heartily, as if we desired to gain what we ask. We must pray as we should pray gathered, were no la powerful er we had no in such cas for our defe hope to ha Church do there is no been gather Pray as we certainly would do, if a powerful enemy were on our shores threatening us with invasion, and we had no men wherewith to repel him. How would we cry unto God in such cases to send us relief—to give us laborers for the harvest, men for our defence. And if we use this means, if thus we pray, we may hope to have our urgent wants supplied, and rest assured that if the Church do cease to be aggressive and missionary, it will only be because there is no longer a harvest to be reaped, but all the nations shall have been gathered into the treasury of our Lord.

When the motion was put by the Chair to the meeting, the Bishop made some further remarks on the subject of an Endowment Fund. After alluding to the remarks of the preceding speakers, his Lordship dwelt on the necessity of such endowment, arising from the following facts:—1. We see that it is only by the possession of an endowment that the parochial system has been carried out in every small village in England, and the ordinances of the Church have been supplied to thousands, who would have been wholly deprived of the Word of Life, had the Church been wholly dependant on the voluntary system. 2. We see that in the Dioceses nearest to our own in the United States, most resembling New Brunswick in the character of the population, but far exceeding it in the numerical amount of population, the voluntary system has wholly failed to spread the Gospel in the country villages; but the work of the Church is altogether confined to the towns, and until lately the clergy of those three united Dioceses did not exceed our own single Diocese. 3. The best proof that there can be no abstract objection to an Endowment Fund, is found in the acceptance of it for so many years at the hands of English Churchmen; for the aid of the venerable Society has been a temporary endowment. 4. It appears that there are thirty-four missions in this Province not self-sustaining, many of which will not become self-sustaining for a long period of time. These missions, without more aid than the Diocesan Church Society is likely to be able to give, must prove failures and be abandoned; and then all our work there will be undone; our schools will be abandoned, our churches will go to decay, and the whole work must be done over again, at greater expense—if, indeed, it can be done at all. 5. The objection that an Endowment Fund will tend to make the clergy too independent of their parishioners, is met at once by the consideration that even if the sum of £40,000 were raised at once, we should be no better off than we are now; and no clergyman in a country mission has an income so large as to render him independent of parochial aid. The clergy do not wish for luxuries, but necessaries, and these, even now, it is scarcely possible for some of them to obtain; under the voluntary system they would be starved out altogether. 6. It must be remembered that, though the present body of clergy would be the first to feel the loss of an endowment, the laity would ultimately be the real sufferers; neither clergy nor laity would send their sons into a profession where starvation was their portion, and the result must be, that no clergyman would be found to seek for ordination. Even now, the cry is in England and everywhere, that fewer and fewer clergymen are to be found; and in this Diocese at present there are four missions vacant, three of which cannot be supplied for want of clergy. If, therefore, the laity throughout the Province will not assist the clergy in raising some fund, and the Society at home continue to reduce their aid at the present ratio of reduction, (they have already reduced it £800, sterling, in about five years), many missions must become extinct, and the most serious consequences to the Church must ensue.

The mode in which this endowment should be raised and applied, should receive careful consideration; but the principle should be affirmed unanimously, and at once, by all who have the welfare of the Church at heart.

His Lordship then put the Resolution to the meeting, by which it was carried unanimously.

On motion of W. Wright, Esq., it was resolved—

That the thanks of this meeting be, and they are hereby tendered to the officers of the Society for their services during the past year.

A hymn was then sung, and the proceedings terminated by the Lord Bishop pronouncing the benediction.
