WITNESSES REQUEST SPECIALS Do Jury in Rookwood Case BEARABLE FOR FATALITY

President, Directors and General Manager Held to be Culpably Negligent for State of Affairs Making Tragedy Possible—Motorman Dean Declared to Have Been Insufficiently Experienced.

THE VERDICT.

The jury sworn to make inquiries as to how Cyrus O. Rookwood came by his death, and that said Cyrus O. Rookwood was killed by a street car run at too great a speed.

The car was not safely or properly equipped.

The automatic sander was not in proper working order and condition.

The rails and curves were defective.

Motorman John Dean was not sufficiently experienced and held to be culpably negligent for state of affairs making tragedy possible thereby responsible for the death.

This was the verdict handed in by the foreman at a quarter to one this morning at the inquest held in the city hall by Coroner R. B. Orr. The proceedings had lasted from 8 o'clock this morning to the afternoon.

Robert J. Park, consulting electrical engineer of Toronto, was in the witness box for an hour and a half. He informed the court that he had inspected the spot at the corner of Broadview and Queen-streets, and that apparently the rails were not in the condition to keep a car from leaving the tracks if it were going at anything above a low speed. Hence he considered that the rails were insufficiently strong to support a car of the kind that, in his opinion, caused the accident. The witness testified that he had made the rails at 11.30 on the morning of the accident. He did not think it possible for the car to skid. He considered that the moment of the accident correspond to a force of about 425 h.p.

Experts Disagree.

Other expert witnesses were C. K. Horner, electrical engineer of the Ontario Power Company, who called by William Laidlaw, lawyer, who examined the rails at that identical spot and found them in good condition. He was accompanied by the late Queen and McCaul-streets yesterday by H. Keating, Greene thought the rails were just as they laid down—perhaps they were a little better.

H. E. Keating, formerly engineer to the railway company, concurred with Greene in that view. A car, he added, was likely to leave the track if the rails were a little worn.

"We have an idea in Toronto," said Crown Attorney Drayton, "that a properly constructed rail is never so good as it is in the country."

William Laidlaw retorted that common sense should tell one of the correctness of the theory.

N. A. Pratt, a railway company's employee, who starts the cars at the Dundas-street station, said that the duty of the motorman was to see that the wheels were well filled. No other person inspected them.

Story of the Ride.

Sandwiched in between the highly technical evidence was some "comic relief," given by a youth named unconsciously by a youth named "Bob" who had been in the car on Concord-avenue. Shortly afterwards, as he dived into the jury, he realized that he was hustling along at a very rapid pace.

"It was one of the swiftest rides I ever had in my life," he said. "I never dreamed of the car taking a trip like this. I was sitting on the back seat and had a tendency along for the last part of the ride. I looked at the clock and said, 'Ore, I'm late.'"

There was laughter, but witness received a rebuke from Mr. Laidlaw, who said that he was light in the way he gave his evidence.

"That is what I thought," said T. C. Robinson, K.C., who added that the witness had talked like a writer on a humorous weekly. Somewhat after the manner of a comedian.

No serious witness said that Motorman Dean had his hands on the controls. He was heard the going at intervals.

Dean in Box Again.

Motorman Dean on the initiative of Mr. Robinson appeared in the box to answer any questions of the jury. He repeated that he had tried the automatic sander and found it would not work. His instructor had told him not to use the automatic sander. He had been on a car where they had used one. Towards the end of his summary, Coroner Orr made some remarks concerning Crown Attorney Curry.

"He thought it," said the coroner to the jury, "to take this matter entirely out of your hands and to bring it before the police court and have it settled there before the coroner's inquest. Why Mr. Curry did that I do not know. But it looks as if he had not sufficient confidence in the jury of this court. He would not have known that the motorman would not disappear, and there was no reason why he should not have left the case in your hands and taken it up afterward."

TRAFFIC PARALYZED MOSCOW IN BAD PLIGHT

Tie-up on Railways is Complete—Meat Supply for Week Only.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—(3.40 a.m.)—The strike situation has now entered on a highly serious phase. The movement is spreading rapidly to all the railways of the empire, and apparently cannot be stopped, while in many cities it is communicating itself to the mill and factory employes. The general strike in all branches of labor, which the Socialists planned for the end of this year, is seemingly bursting forth of its own volition.

Minister of Finance Kokovoff yesterday received a telegram from the government committee of Moscow, which said the continuation of the strike for a week longer would force every factory in the Moscow region to shut down, owing to lack of coal, whether or not the factory hands took part in the strike. The same condition of paralysis threatens all the trades and industries of Russia unless the strike speedily is settled.

As the demands of the men are purely political, it seems impossible to satisfy them by economic concessions. Prince Hilkoft, the minister of railways, yesterday vainly appealed to the Moscow strikers on the basis of his own experience in England and the United States, but he spoke to deaf ears. The men talked of nothing but their political rights, which, of course, the prince was powerless to grant.

The situation is apparently at a deadlock from which agreement can be had only by the surrender of one side or, perhaps, the proclamation of martial law on the railroads. A flood of despatches yesterday from Simbirsk, Saratov, Vyazma, Poltava, Nizhni Novgorod, Khar'kov, Smolensk, Kieff, Elizabethgrad, Kazan and other railroad centres, all ever Russia announced the complete tying up of transportation. The last link that bound Moscow, the commercial center of the empire, with the outer world, was broken yesterday when the men on the Nifodai road, connecting Moscow with St. Petersburg, went on strike. The engineers shut off steam in their engines, and Prince Hilkoft had great difficulty in obtaining a crew for the special train which brought him to St. Petersburg at midnight.

St. Petersburg has now only one link to the frontier, and the employes of this line held a meeting late last night to decide whether they should participate in the strike movement.

Railroad trains are now running only to the border regions of the empire. Patriotic scenes are reported from Moscow, where thousands of the poorer inhabitants of the adjoining provinces have been waiting for four days for trains to take them home. They are camping out near the railroad stations, and many of them are without money and the necessities of life.

WITTE IS IN FAVOR AGAIN AND MAY BECOME PREMIER

St. Petersburg Hears That Appointment is Already Made—Reception at Court of Countess Witte.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—It was persistently reported in the clubs and government circles late at night that the emperor yesterday had appointed Count Witte premier with the portfolio of minister of finance. All the papers this morning gave prominence to the report.

Count Witte, it now seems, has definitely come into imperial favor, and the shrewdest observers consider it certain that he will shortly be in active direction of the government as premier and head of a responsible cabinet. Since his return from the United States, Count Witte has boldly ranged himself on the side of the Liberals, and has not only advocated complete liberty of speech, of the press, and of assembly as a necessary corollary of the constitution, but has urged the extension of the powers of the Duma along the lines demanded by the reformers as well as a broader franchise, so as to admit of fuller representation from the ranks of the "middle class."

Czar sympathizer.

The emperor, to whom the count personally testified his views, displayed much sympathy with them, and, it is learned, favored a number of ministers suggested by the count, including Gen. Treppoff, assistant minister of the interior, who now ranks as one of the most broad-minded of his majesty's counselors, and who is understood to be working harmoniously with Count Witte.

The question of appointing a cabinet with a responsible premier, to which a factious in the ministerial ranks has been offering stubborn opposition in special conferences, is likely to be decided Wednesday next. The newly formulated statute governing the rights of the Duma was generally recognized as promulgation and the Solsky reform commission is now at work on a more liberal draft.

Countess Received.

The reception of the Countess Witte by the emperor today is considered a singular evidence of the emperor's determination to confer his fortunes on the hands of Count Witte. No other interpretation is placed upon it at court circles, where the reception of the countess created a tremendous sensation. The countess is a Jewess of ordinary birth, but had married the emperor's minister in the nineties, the emperor was reported to have said to him: "Remember you are not married."

The fixing of his wife's social status, which has been one of Count Witte's ambitions, must rank as one of the triumphs of his life.

The decrease of influence of the grand dukes, perhaps, made it easier for his majesty to turn to Count Witte. The resignation of Grand Duke Vladimir, the emperor's uncle, as commander-in-chief of the military district of St. Petersburg, however, has not yet been accepted.

Hogue Tells His Story As If He Enjoyed His Role Crisis Will Come To-day

St. Petersburg has now only one link to the frontier, and the employes of this line held a meeting late last night to decide whether they should participate in the strike movement.

Railroad trains are now running only to the border regions of the empire. Patriotic scenes are reported from Moscow, where thousands of the poorer inhabitants of the adjoining provinces have been waiting for four days for trains to take them home. They are camping out near the railroad stations, and many of them are without money and the necessities of life.

Cross-Examination by Mr. Johnston This Morning—Hogue Enlarges on Details Which he Mentioned in the Affidavit—Puddy, McNab and Pegg Also Give Evidence.

The civil investigation has reached an apparent crisis. Unless Crown Attorney Drayton has some trump cards concealed up his flowing legal sleeves, the case against Hogue, Lynd, and McNab is made out so far as possible with the story told by Hogue, who occupied the stand yesterday afternoon. Hugh Hogue, agent of an apparently somewhat slipshod business concern, and blackmailer by his own statement, a central figure in the civic drama being enacted, and the man whose massive and thin white hair made almost to appear to border on benignity. It was the face of the typical Yankee business manipulator, and so was his manner of speech. Hogue seemed quite at home and told his long story, interrupted only now and again by a question from Mr. Drayton.

It was all so smooth sailing for him, as there were no answers from either Puddy, McNab, or Lynd's counselors. He was not playing the role of the witness, but that of the easy raconteur. What was listened to was that which the jury heard in the intention of contesting Peace River as a provincial rights candidate, but has now defected to enemy, and Fence-River will therefore go Liberal by default. While in Winnipeg recently Dubuc, whose father is a Manitoba chief justice, announced his intention of supporting Bennett, but since his return influences have been brought to bear on him. Conservatives will also let Athabasca go by default, but these remote constituencies will probably hinge largely after the election, as the intention of managers declare that no possibility could write issued in these farthest north divisions to comply with law.

Liberals generally express their confidence in winning if out of 25 seats, and if money can do it they will doubtless succeed.

HOIST THE BLACK FLAG.

Editorial in The New York Outlook, October 21.

Recent disclosures of low moral standards, cheap deals and callous indifference to the rights of others on the part of men of financial and business prominence have sorely hurt those who long for a decent world to live in; for an unclean world is as intolerable to morally sensitive people as is an unclean house to physically sensitive people. No American who loves his country and remembers Emerson's definition of its mission to breed superior men and women can fail to hang his head in shame over the continuous revelation of lack of principle and cheapness of character in men who have been greatly trusted and have proved grossly untrustworthy. The shame of the United States senate, and several members who have been under indictment or known to be unscrupulous corruptors; of department officers of high station selling information as if it were produce; of men entrusted with vast funds for purposes which ought to make their custody a sacred charge, greedily using the money of other people for their own benefit—these things are ominous and menacing in the last degree.

Americans are not more dishonest than other men; but they sin against a greater light, for in this country all enterprises of a public character are supposed to be carried on for the public benefit. Our politicians are never weary of talking about the "sacred rights of the people," although there is no country in which these rights are more flagrantly violated. Our offenses are rank and smell to heaven because we profess so much; our infidelities are the more damnable because we profess such a lofty faith. The time has come for frankness with ourselves and the world; if we cannot be decent, let us at least be truthful. Let us purge ourselves of dishonesty and hypocrisy and be what we pretend to be; let us preach squarely the doctrine of good and success without scruples and keep on doing what we are now doing. Let United States senators stop talking about national ideals, or let them cease to disgrace the country by corrupting legislatures, dividing their trade with legislators, and accepting from corporations salaries which they have not earned; let them for them to make their choice; the country is in no mood to stand further hypocrisy. It demands that the thieves take their hands off the sacred things of the nation; let them ply their trade if they must, but let them forbear to touch with polluted speech the ideals, the aspirations and the hopes of the nation; they have done their best to destroy these things.

And it is high time for the officers of some life insurance companies to cease talking about the duty of providing for the family, the solemn obligation of a man to think of the welfare of his children after he is gone, the beauty of present self-denial for the sake of the dear ones dependent on one's exertions. If the gentlemen whose dealings with the vast funds committed to their care have recently come to light have any sense of business, they will put an end to the sham philanthropy which they have preached for business purposes, and make their appeals for patronage with many frankness. If they cannot be honest, let them at least drop the mask of honor and deal squarely with the public. Let them make an end to all the sentimental nonsense about widows and orphans, and say bluntly: "We want your money; pay us the largest possible premiums and we will give you the smallest possible returns. We will accept your money as a trust and administer it for our own advantage; we will pay you for employing as much of our money as you like, but we will not be contributing to campaign funds." If this policy of frankness is adopted, the country will respect the courage if it cannot trust the honesty of the men whom it now holds to be not only betrayers of its honor, but hypocrites as well.

It is high time for plain dealing; the country is weary of scandals in high places; men of reputation who are suddenly discovered to be without character; of moral sham and humbug among the eminently respectable. There are too many pious schemers, far too many well-to-do money-makers. If we cannot be honest, we can at least stop pretending to be what we are not. Let us hoist the black flag and stop sailing as a missionary ship.

Mrs. David Hobbs Reimburses C.P.R. and Government Treasuries—Hobbs' Previous Record.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. David Hobbs, wife of the defaulting customs officer, came forward to-day and paid over the sum of $25,000 to the Canadian Pacific and the federal treasury.

Early to-day Mrs. Hobbs called upon Davidson and Wainwright, who had represented the government, and intimated her desire to recoup the parties who had suffered loss on account of her husband's departure. The amount handed over was $25,000, consisting of $22,000 in cash and $3,000 in bonds, and a receipt was given to the effect that the amount was to be applied to the loss sustained by the government of the C.P.R. or both.

The amount also provides for the $25,000 for which Charles Menninger, the customs cashier, was responsible.

It has also been reported that Hobbs had opened an account with a broker in his wife's name, and that when he skipped out the sum of $20,000 remitted to his credit. It also came out to-day that Daniel Hobbs had already served a term of eight years in Scotland before coming to Canada.

As a result of Mr. Stair's visit the idea has it on good authority that a deal for a new up-to-date theatre was practically completed.

Mr. Small was seen last night, but when asked about the reported deal, refused to either confirm or deny it.

RAILWAY SUPERSTRUCTURE EXEMPT COURT OF REVISION SO DECLARES

Gives a Basis for City to Appeal to the Higher Courts—Chairman Proctor to Retire at End of This Year.

Assessment figures are not of exceeding interest to the outside public, save to the parties at issue, but those in the court of revision were an exception to the rule.

James Fullerton, K.C., and M. K. Cowan, K.C., were friendly combatants. It appears that in the first five wards of the city, the assessors made no assessments on the G.T.R. and the C.P.R. in respect of superstructures on their rights of way. On November 16, the railway companies are appealing. The question at variance is to what the assessors in the whole of the six wards should be made. The companies had never before been assessed. It was thought that they were not assessable in this way.

Our opinion is," said Chairman Proctor, "that you cannot assess these superstructures."

"We ask," said A. H. Frankland, "the court to find that we are correct in making the assessment in Ward Six and to order that additional assessments be made in the cases of the other five wards."

Mr. Cowan's Oratory.

M. K. Cowan, K.C., the assistant solicitor of the G.T.R., argued against the assessment, and read his speech, perfect in literary diction and in oratorical expression, that relieved the proceedings. There he sat at the table, looking searchingly at the assessors.

Chairman Proctor said that the assessors of the Dominion. In none of these decisions, said he, had the assessors pronounced that railway companies should be assessed upon these superstructures, which he had never been assessable since Ontario had had an Assessment Act of its own. Twenty-one assessors had given decisions, and he had appeared before fifteen of them. "It seems," he added, "that the assessors' commissioners are going a long way when they ask the court to upset the decisions."

James Fullerton sought to tear these arguments to tatters. He jocularly remarked that his friend had often argued to him that the assessors "old the tale." He had taken one of the assessors to court, and the judge's decision had let others go on to do the same. He then proceeded to urge that superstructures were definitely intended to be assessed. The fact that telephone poles and telegraph wires were exempt tended to show that exceptions had specially been made in these cases. Superstructures came under the heading of real property.

Cannot be Assessed.

"Our ruling," said Chairman Proctor, "is that you cannot assess them. Our object is to give the final decision of the court of appeal," said counsel.

George Walker appeared on behalf of the C.P.R. He subsequently paid a compliment to the assessment officials for the way in which they had carried out their work.

"I do not think," he added, "that taking it all in all the assessment of the City of Toronto has ever been as well made as it has been this year. He praised Assessment Commissioner Forman and A. H. Frankland, Chairman of the Board, and announced that it was likely that next year he would not officiate.

Assessment Commissioner Forman acknowledged the compliment and said he was sorry to think that Chairman Proctor was thinking of giving up the office.

HAMILTON WOOD DEALERS MUST GET CIVIC STAMP

Aldermen Decide That Wagon Boxes Must Be Duly Measured Every Three Months.

Hamilton, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the city, the assessors this evening, Ald. Main stated that the by-law fixing salaries, according to the report of the special salaries committee, would come up at the meeting of the council next Monday evening. The result of the inspectors' work in measuring the wagon boxes of wood and coal merchants revealed the fact that a couple of dealers were using boxes that measured about ten cubic feet less than the by-law call for. These were the only flagrant violations reported. In the future all dealers who have to have their boxes measured will be stamped once every three months, and will have to report to the wood market for the inspection.

Robert and Mrs. Robson were appointed caretakers of the market convenience, at a salary of $50 a month. The place will be ready in about a week, and will be closed at 11 o'clock in the evening.

Accidental Death.

A coroner's jury decided to-night that there was nothing suspicious about the death of Kavanagh, who fell into the bay from Mackay's dock early last Tuesday and was drowned.

Superintendent Fisher of the T.H. & B. says that the Vanderbilt system will control the market. An improved service will be put on the M.C.R. T.H. & B. and C.P.R., between Toronto and Buffalo. A completely new equipment of rolling stock has been purchased for the line. The fact that telephone poles and telegraph wires were exempt tended to show that exceptions had specially been made in these cases. Superstructures came under the heading of real property.

Cannot be Assessed.

"Our ruling," said Chairman Proctor, "is that you cannot assess them. Our object is to give the final decision of the court of appeal," said counsel.

George Walker appeared on behalf of the C.P.R. He subsequently paid a compliment to the assessment officials for the way in which they had carried out their work.

The schooner was helpless, with rudder and sails gone.

Shortly after taking her in tow, the schooner's main-mast rolled out and carried a man overboard. TURKEY-LESS THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY COMING TOO SOON

Weather Too Warm and the Supply Too Short and Prices Have Gone Away Up.

The early date fixed by the government for the holding of Thanksgiving Day has given rise to many serious forebodings to those who regard the supply of that delicacy. For the industry of such the World yesterday called on a number of leading dealers and their replies leave little hope as to the plentifulness of fowl of any kind whatever on the local market. Turkey will be conspicuous by its absence, not alone by reason of the fact that the supply is so limited, but by the remarkable scarcity. Very few have yet come on the Toronto market. Geese and ducks are a trifle more plentiful, but the fact remains that the supply is so limited, and the price is too high. What few we have received are in good condition.

Joseph Tomlin, the St. Lawrence Market man, who handles tons upon tons of poultry in season, tells the same story.

W. J. Pennell, the north and wholesale poultry man, said: "The outlook is all toward high prices. We are afraid to quote figures for obvious reasons, but the fact remains that fowl of all kinds are scarce. The date is too soon, and the weather is too warm, and the supply is too limited, and the price is too high. What few we have received are in good condition."

Joseph Tomlin, the St. Lawrence Market man, who handles tons upon tons of poultry in season, tells the same story.

IS THERE TO BE AN INVESTIGATION? The Globe newspaper is still busy showing that life insurance is altogether too costly by reason of wasteful management. The public agrees with the Globe, but what cure does it propose? Evidently the first thing to do is to list the evils that actually exist, and in order that this may be arrived at there is another way than by forcing every company to give a detailed statement of its cost of management?

It is almost impossible to get out any information in Canada or to have any investigation in Canada. But they're having them in the States. In-quest by grand jury, by legislative committee (even when the house is not in session) are two of the methods now used by over there. What does the Globe suggest we do here besides newspaper talk?

The Globe: A similar condition [to that of the bicycle trade] has developed in life insurance. The change is out of proportion to the service rendered. The result is a wasteful struggle for business, with rebates, bonuses, excessive commissions, unreasonable salaries and other practices that eat up a huge part of the excessive profits. This is the least injurious of the results. The knowledge of inordinate profits makes the companies unable to do business on a normal basis, which would permit an open competition to round his insurance legislation. He attacks in some way the excessive profits of the companies. They must defend themselves by securing a compromise. Then the war ends by the tangled web of deception. The lobbyist's account cannot be ascertained. They cannot be asked for vouchers or receipts from the corrupted agents or intermediaries. All must be done surreptitiously. And the corruption naturally extends to the companies from the manipulations of presidents and directors to the petty operations of the purchasers of stationery. That Canadian companies have not followed the American along this road is due to an accidental combination of circumstances that may change at any time.

But why does the Globe wish to slip by with the statement that Canadian companies have not followed along the same road as the American companies? How does it know that this has not been done? How does it know that things in this country are not even worse than in the United States? The Globe is taking altogether too much for granted. What the Canadian policyholder must have is an investigation as well as a reform in the business, and there can be no proper reform effected unless there is first sufficient knowledge of the evils and their ramifications and of the men who are responsible for them. Detailed returns and a public investigation are essential. Are we to have them?

fraternize with those it classes as the enemies of reform. The speech of Lord Rosebery is an illustration of the danger of assuming that party names transferred to nations where they have no natural relationship continue to retain in its older sense an undebated and a potent force, not only in Britain, but in the empire, and in that sense the principles it represented are not peculiar to any political party in the outer world. All the daughter states of the empire are built upon a democratic foundation, and whatever parties have been found or may arise look to the people for strength and support. But for the true nature of these parties in themselves, an observer must look beyond the names to their real policies and methods. Judged by this, the only valuable test, the claim of the hypothetical Liberal party of Canada and the provinces to-day to be in any sense of the word a reforming party is ludicrous in the extreme. It is bound hand and foot to capitalists whose one aim it is to appropriate the public resources and franchises for their own benefit. The people are, however, getting alive to this interesting situation and will not let themselves be much longer duped and maneuvered for the profit of corporations and their political allies.

ROOSEVELT IN DIXIE. The visit of President Roosevelt to the south has produced a series of ovations, and he was made to feel, The Atlanta Constitution remarks, and he undoubtedly did feel, that there was in this series of ovations not only respect for the great office he holds, but a real enthusiasm for the man, a distinguished grandson of the State of Georgia. President Roosevelt's speeches so far have been tactful. He evidenced his delight at being on Georgia soil in the capital of the state in which his mother spent her girlhood days, and in whose upbuilding his ancestors played such a prominent part.

Mr. Roosevelt has done wonders since assuming the high office of president in cementing the bonds between the north and south. He is the first republican president to visit the south since the war, and when his present tour has been completed he will have visited every state in the union over which he presides. It is not to be supposed, however, that Dixie will depart from her usual custom of supporting the Democratic candidate for president at the first opportunity that is presented.

WHY SIR WILLIAM RESIGNED. Le Canada, the French-Canadian organ in Montreal, St. Wilfrid Laurier, declares that the Laurier government is opposed to the nationalization of public services, and also denies that the retirement of Sir William Mulock is due to the fact that the corporations have forced him out because of his views in favor of public ownership. Notwithstanding all the denials that have been made, The World is of the opinion that Sir William has been forced out for this reason, and that the Bell Telephone Company, represented by the minister of justice, and Senator Macdougall, have taken a great deal of trouble to get Sir William out of Canada, and to get the Bell Telephone Company into the hands of private corporations, and the judge observes that it "could not be an improvement upon the present state of affairs to turn these mismanaged monopolies over to the city, while it would probably result in very great increased efficiency and economy."

ARRAIGNS PRIVATE MONOPOLY. Samuel Salebury, a justice of the New York City court, has written a valuable treatise on "municipal ownership and operation of public utilities in New York City." After describing the various municipal monopolies in the hands of private corporations, the judge observes that it "could not be an improvement upon the present state of affairs to turn these mismanaged monopolies over to the city, while it would probably result in very great increased efficiency and economy."

LE CANADA AND STATE INSURANCE. Le Canada of Montreal, from whose columns The World recently quoted an editorial in favor of the establishment of a system of state insurance in Quebec, is continuing its campaign. Reverting to the subject on Saturday it again expressed its belief that the best measure to adopt for the public interest would be the constitution of a state insurance by the province. This state insurance, it proceeds, would operate under the most economical conditions possible, and the province would have in its hands a marvelous instrument for compelling the companies to reduce their premiums.

In the public interests, Le Canada concludes, "we require the parliament of Quebec to take into consideration from the earliest days of the approaching session, whether it is not an opportune moment to increase to two per cent, or three per cent, the actual rate of one per cent, paid by the insurance companies to the provincial exchequer, and also to create a state system of insurance."

SOZODONT. Secretary of the Michigan Ind. Tel. Association Gives Canada a Word of Warning. Editor World: I am in receipt of an article issued by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, under the heading of "Telephone Talks," which in my judgment is intended to mislead the public and that contains statements which the writer must surely know to be false. In referring to statistics given to the special committee on telephone investigation, the said Bell article states as follows: "The figures do not represent conditions. Many of the companies have failed, others have been absorbed by the American Bell Telephone Company systems, and the great majority of those which still survive have been endeavoring to increase their rates in order to...

UNITED EMPIRE BANK OF CANADA. The immense growth in Canadian prosperity has led to the establishment of several new banks in recent years, and it is quite realized that a centralized banking institution conducted on sound principles there is still ample room in this rapidly growing country, and a most significant landmark in Canadian progress has been the material success of its bank. The growth of the trade and immigration from the mother country to Canada has been increasing very rapidly in the past few years, and along with the needs of the country is this feature which the latest banking institution that has been organized seeks to emphasize. The United Empire Bank of Canada is to be the name of the new bank, which has been initiated by George P. Reid, until very recently general manager of the Standard Bank. While most new banks are in the position of having to beg for new capital, it is a very peculiar instance of the sound policy of Canada held in England, that the United Empire Bank of Canada has been organized by the purchase of a large amount of capital from London financiers, but as it is the desire of the new bank to be a Canadian institution, under Canadian management and auspices, the name of the new bank, which has been organized, will be that while its head office will be in Canada it will have a branch in London, England, thus placing itself in a position to fill the purposes of its name. A very strong board of Canadian directors has been secured. In order to raise the charter of the Pacific Bank of Canada has been purchased, and it is proposed to have the application to the next session of parliament to change the name to the United Empire Bank of Canada, and to increase its capital to $5,000,000. Messrs. Du Verney, Jones, Ross and Ardagh are the solicitors for the new bank, and Messrs. Du Verney, Jones, Ross and Ardagh are the solicitors for the new bank, and Messrs. Du Verney, Jones, Ross and Ardagh are the solicitors for the new bank.

HIGH-PRESSURE INSURANCE IN CANADA. St. John, N.B., Telegraph: The annual report of the superintendent of insurance of the Dominion of Canada is a fat and heavy bound volume, which, under ordinary circumstances, does not attract a tremendous amount of interest. Mr. Fitzgerald is one of those officials whose work is to a large extent taken for granted. He has given such complete satisfaction to both the elements with which he has to deal—the public and the companies—that few people except the insurance men themselves, who are interested in the state of the business, are aware of the particular holdings and relations of special companies, ever extended by any newspaper or magazine. It is safe to say that no part of it ever finds its way into the public press, and that the only people who are interested in the business are the insurance men themselves. Twenty years ago, in 1884, out of three hundred and thirty-two companies, only twenty-five were left. The independent movement has been the cause of the loss of many of the companies, and the result has been a large reduction in the quality of service, a large reduction in rates for service, but has enabled thousands upon thousands of people residing in country and village and city to have the benefit of the telephone, so that to-day in this country over three million people have independent telephones. Such a change in the telephone business is a change that is well known to all. It is a change that is well known to all. It is a change that is well known to all.

When life's autumn comes, women, worn with the burdens of motherhood, yet shrink from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever, without the loss of form, in feature, or personal attractiveness. Such a change produces in many women, not only a loss of form, but a loss of health, and a loss of vitality. It is a change that is well known to all. It is a change that is well known to all. It is a change that is well known to all.

THE GREAT FRENCH SINGER Begins Her American Tour in Toronto. Massey Hall will no doubt be crowded on Monday evening to hear the great Calve and her superb company. This will be the first concert on this tour, and it is a compliment to their musical inclination and discrimination that Toronto should be chosen for her first stop in Canada. The Canadian concert is under the direction of Mr. E. S. Suckling, formerly of Toronto, but now of New York. The sale of seats begins to-morrow morning at Massey Hall box office.

Little Desolation in Japan. Real desolation is rarely seen in Japan, and some of its inhabitants are very poor, yet all seem to be fairly well fed, clothed and housed, and are remarkably cheerful. Nearly all Japanese are of cleanly habits and rarely unduly.

BELL'S "TELEPHONE TALKS" MEET WITH CONTRADICTIONS.

Editor World: I am in receipt of an article issued by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, under the heading of "Telephone Talks," which in my judgment is intended to mislead the public and that contains statements which the writer must surely know to be false. In referring to statistics given to the special committee on telephone investigation, the said Bell article states as follows: "The figures do not represent conditions. Many of the companies have failed, others have been absorbed by the American Bell Telephone Company systems, and the great majority of those which still survive have been endeavoring to increase their rates in order to...

GERMANS OUST BRITISH IN FAR EASTERN TRADE. Or So an Officially Inspired Statement in German Press Leads One to Presume. London, Oct. 21.—According to articles from Berlin, the following article, which is published in all German and semi-official papers, has been inspired by the foreign office: "The remarkable developments in German commerce, and especially of the German shipping trade in the far east, has been the cause of great surprise to many foreigners, who still entertain the idea that England's supremacy in the field of activity was absolute. The time has gone by when British ships were the only means of communication between Europe and the far east. Germany now possesses a large number of mail steamships, which attract a large proportion of the British traveling public. The good service rendered by the German ships on account of their speed and punctuality causes the government to be desirous to entrust to them a third of the mails to and from India and the far east, and many British firms in Shanghai and Hongkong prefer to despatch their letters by German rather than by English or French mail steamships. The German Lloyd Company successfully competes with those of the celebrated British lines. The success of German trade in the east is due to the energy and adaptability of German merchants, and the British who formerly looked down with contempt upon their German competitors, have learned to be desirous to entrust to them a third of the mails to and from India and the far east, and many British firms in Shanghai and Hongkong prefer to despatch their letters by German rather than by English or French mail steamships. TYPHOID AND SMALLPOX INCREASE IN CASES

Death Record More Satisfactory—Scarlet Fever is Not So Prevalent—Consumption's Harvest.

The provincial board of health has issued the following report concerning the health of the province in September:

The returns from 761 division registrars for the month of September gave 2128 deaths from all causes, being 144 more than were reported for the same month last year, but the increase is largely due to the fact that 28 more division registrars made returns, making the death rate 12.1 in 1000.

The table of infectious diseases below shows a decrease in the number of deaths, and an increase of nearly one hundred in the number of cases, which would indicate that some of the diseases were of a milder type than in September a year ago.

Smallpox and diphtheria prevailed to about the same extent, the latter showing 21 fewer cases, but with the same number of deaths.

Scarlet fever reached a very low point, only 27 cases and one death occurring.

Typhoid fever was somewhat more prevalent through the province; the reports gave 278 cases and 48 deaths, while for the corresponding period last year 153 cases with 66 deaths were reported.

The apparent high case mortality in typhoid is no doubt due to a great many cases not being reported by the attending physicians, while the secretaries of the local boards made returns of all the deaths.

Of the 233 deaths from the different infectious diseases, consumption caused 150.

Comparative Table—1905 1904

Diseases. Cases. Deaths. Cases. Deaths.

Smallpox 12 1 102 7

Scarlet Fever 27 1 102 7

Diphtheria 142 19 163 19

Measles 23 1 12 2

Whooping Cough 97 13 31 7

Typhoid Fever 278 48 182 66

Consumption 150 152 155 217

742 233 651 245

The provincial board of health will meet Tuesday and Wednesday, this week.

Over Million and Half Will Be Made Up By Bank

Pittsburg, Oct. 23.—Fred Gwynner, president of the defunct Enterprise National Bank, when asked what the shortage of the Enterprise would amount to, said: "It will be very large, much larger, in fact, than we first supposed. From what I know now it will reach $1,500,000."

"The directors have determined, however, that no matter how great the shortage, it will be paid, and the bank ready for business. We hope before the month elapses it will be in operation again."

Long Drawn Out Metallic Roofing Case Being Heard.

That long drawn out action of the Metallic Roofing Company commenced in August, 1902, finally reached the assize court yesterday when Justice MacMahon and a jury were asked to award $10,000 damages to the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs are the Metallic Roofing Company, and those named as defendants are William Jones, Richard Russell & Co., C. C. Brake, J. S. Chapman, J. H. Kennedy, J. S. Annable, and James Gony, on behalf of the Sheet Metal Workers' International Association.

The statement of claim is that in 1902 plaintiffs were employing non-union labor. The defendants and other members of the union entered into a conspiracy to so harass, intimidate and annoy plaintiffs as to induce them to discontinue their business as a result of the defendants' actions.

The police, unable to maintain order, charged the crowd and killed ten persons and wounded hundreds.

The rioters destroyed street cars and smashed electric lights.

At 8 o'clock in the evening when the rioting was at its height, the defendants were called out to restore order.

The manager of Senator Ursmetta Errazquin Metallic Roofing Co. was conducting an "unfair" shop.

The case has been heard in various courts, where technical questions have been argued and decided.

Lee and O'Donoghue are representing the defendants and the case will be argued and decided.

Persons having horses, etc., to dispose of may enter them for sale at any time. Consignments solicited and special inducements to shippers.

WILLARD IN SOMBER PLAY ACTING IS MOST POWERFUL

Clever and Bright Production at Grand—Boy Paderewski at Shea's—Melodrama and Burlesque.

E. S. Willard, always a welcome visitor, opened his fortnight's engagement last night with "The Fool's Revenge," an old-fashioned but powerful and sombre tragedy.

"The Fool's Revenge" is essentially an actor's play. None but an accomplished actor could present the character of the quick transitions of character, the changes of feeling, the sharp contrasts which such a character as the jester necessarily requires.

Mr. Willard is supported by a very competent company. Miss Alice Lenon as the daughter played with much sweetness and charm.

hushed into effectual silence, a truer tribute than any which could be offered. "The Fool's Revenge" will be given the remainder of the evening performance this week.

During the second week of Mr. Willard's engagement the following plays will be given: Monday evening, "The Professor's Love Story," by J. K. Barrie; Tuesday evening and Wednesday matinee, "The Middleman," by Henry Arthur Jones; Wednesday evening, "Tom Pinch," by Charles Dickens; Thursday evening, "David Garrick," by T. W. Robertson; Friday evening and Saturday matinee, "The Brighter Side," a translation by Louis N. Parker of "Les Châtaignes," by Alfred Capus; Saturday evening, "Tom Pinch," by Charles Dickens.

Willie Eckstein, styled the Boy Paderewski, at Shea's this week, is an exceptionally clever piano-player for a child of eleven.

eccentric tumbling act, keep up the opening number of the bill. "No Mother to Guide Her"—Maestro Lillian Mortimer appears in her latest melodrama, "No Mother to Guide Her" at the Majestic this week.

"Alcazar Beauties"—Star of the week is just as good as the other shows. Manager Staff has been presenting to the patrons of his theatre this season, two laugh-provoking burlesques kept the audience in a continuous roar of merriment.
