SOLDIERS MAKE FURTHER CALLS FOR AUSTRILIANS

Visit Munition Plant and Take Five Men From Work.

EAT OUT RESTAURANT

Called at Lunch Counter of Man Who Claims to Be Swiss.

An aftermath of Thursday night's disturbance at Child's restaurant occurred last night when over 200 soldiers from Exhibition Camp visited the Russell Motor Car Co., corner Dufferin and Queen streets, interviewed the manager, there, gained his consent to search the plant for alien enemies, and brought forth five men who are claimed to be Austrians. The men were not taken to the police station but were carried along in the custody of the soldiers, who, after warning them not to return to work, let them go.

The crowd that called in at Monger's restaurant, corner Grove avenue and Queen street, where they ate up all the pies and cakes in sight, but without damaging the store. Monger is believed by the soldiers to be an alien enemy. Monger claims he is a Swiss.

The next place of call was at Zuber's pork store, 1518 West Queen street. Mr. Zuber and his family were in bed when the soldiers arrived, but some of the visitors climbed thru a window, went upstairs and aroused the proprietor, made him descend to the store, light up, and show his naturalization papers, which he claimed to have. He satisfied them on that point, and they left the store without more ado.

About 10:30 word was received by Capt. Sinclair, provost marshal of Toronto, who was stationed with his men at Court street police station, that a number of the soldiers were heading for the Fairbanks-Morse plant, West Bloor street. Immediately Capt. Sinclair placed himself at the head of 30 men and sped in a military motor truck to intercept the invaders.

Another detachment was rushed from Exhibition camp, and the band was founded up before attaining its object. Mounted police guards and plainclothesmen from the police divisions adjacent to the various municipal plants thruout the city, patrolled the different sections to render effective aid in case of trouble.

In answer to a communication received by Chief of Police Graessert from Mayor Church in regard to Thursday night's disturbance downtown, the chief remarked that the agitation against alien enemies had been released from internment camps to cope with the shortage of labor. Two soldiers were arrested as participants in Thursday's proceedings and are confined to barracks. To avoid a repetition of the disturbance, military detachments were brought in motor trucks to the various police stations last night and pickets patrolled the downtown streets.

German Crown Prince Heads Centre Army Groups in West

Amsterdam, April 13.—Via London.—The German crown prince now commands the German centre army groups on the western front, according to The Frankfurter Zeitung. On the crown prince's right is Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, and on his left Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg, who previously commanded the German crown prince had been sent home to Berlin in disgrace.

Lieut. Robinson, Flying Hero, Shot Down in Aerial Fight

London, April 13.—Lieut. Wm. Lewis Robinson, according to a German official statement received here, was shot down on April 5, by a German battle airplane.

THIRTEEN THOUSAND PRISONERS ARE TAKEN IN BRITISH ADVANCE

Canadians Alone Take More Than 4000, With 166 Guns—Nine-Mile Section Between Cambrai and St. Quentin is Captured and Fierce Fighting for St. Quentin Now Proceeds—Enemy is Being Driven From Arras in Desperate Straits and British Attacks at So Many Points May Cause Break-down of German General Staff

LONDON, April 14.—The far-reaching, important and sweeping success of the battle of Arras is being revealed in successive chapters to the British public, which hardly realizes yet that it is the most effective and decisive event to the credit of the British army during the war. It may well rank with the battle of the Marne, which turned back the German invasion directed against Paris, and may prove the turning point of the whole war in the west and change the balance of the world war.

Field Marshal Haig's bulletin brought giving the number of guns captured as 166 and the aggregate of prisoners as 13,000, and the details of the victory gained for France as a great victory. But the significant statement from Field Marshal Haig is that the British are "astride" the Hindenburg line.

The famous Hindenburg line had been proclaimed by its author as well as by German experts as a sort of a great wall of China, which would be as impregnable to assaults as that one of the seven wonders of the world, which was so long an adamant barrier for an ancient Chinese dynasty. German experts have been even firmer in their faith in Field Marshal Haig's "eight wonder of the world," than they were a few months ago that Vimy ridge was unconquerable. The German belief in the Von Hindenburg-Buddha has even served to hypnotize part of the British public and some prominent writers who have been disposed to accept the German theory expounded in German papers that everything which has occurred on the western front has gone according to Von Hindenburg's plans and as foreseen by him.

A number of European military writers have taken the view that the Hindenburg line was a myth painted to hearten the German people. But the British general staff for some time has known that there is a definite Hindenburg line upon which the German staff was basing its defense and has known exactly where that line was drawn.

If the British army can break thru a vital or important sector, the next chapter may be a further extensive German retreat if, indeed, the Germans are able to retreat in order, with Field Marshal Haig's army pressing them as closely as it is doing now.

One Tank Alone Takes Villages

By William Philip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent.

With the British Armies Ahead, April 13.—One lone, lumbering British tank practically alone took Wancourt and Heninel for the British troops.

With all the excitement at the front in the continued progress of the British advance today, this one exploit stood out as absolutely unique in present day fighting. But the feat of this lone tank was only part of the British thrust. More important in scope and which pushed the British fighting front one mile nearer Cambrai, in the region of Goussau-court. Here the Tommies forged a

Tank Ravages Along

Here is the story of the tank: Thick and ponderous, it trudged along toward the Boches. Behind, British machine guns speeded its departure with rattling volleys toward the enemy. The tank pushed along, steadily blasting off all German wire and machine gun fire and crumpling under its enormous caterpillar assembly the powerful barbed wire defences intricately woven by the enemy.

It disappeared from the sight of those who had laid it farewell. And for forty hours this single destructive monster raved up and down the German line. At least a thousand yards of entanglements it flattened as it picked its lumbering way up and down the vaunted Hindenburg line.

Then it majestically picked its way into the villages of Wancourt and Heninel—both five miles equidistant from Arras to the southeast.

The steel-bound monster belched forth gunfire and spread terror in its course. Then it lumbered back to the line.

It was an easy task for British forces to complete the acquisition of the villages.

Canadians Treat Prisoners Well

By Stewart Lyon.

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, April 13.—There has been a remarkable change in the demeanor of the prisoners recently taken by the Canadian corps, as compared with those taken in the Somme offensive last season, so Canadians who were engaged in "tagging" the German prisoners then and again the past few days say. The most notable difference is an increase of anti-dynastic sentiment. Our prisoners are chiefly Bavarians, with Prussian officers. The latter still retain the pride of caste with an admixture of insolence. One of these told his captors condescendingly that if the assault on Vimy ridge had not been made with such a rush the whole top of the ridge would have been blown off by an explosion of mines provided for that very purpose. His hint was useful to the other than he intended.

The captives are glad to be out of it. Among them, Bavarians and Prussians alike, the brawling spirit is no longer evident. One non-commissioned officer surprised his captors by breaking out in bitter epithets against the Hohenzollerns and Junkers, in consequence of his country's misfortunes. In response to questioning he said this feeling was becoming far more general in the enemy's ranks than even a few months ago, the considerate treatment of the German wounded by the British doing much to prove to Fritz that Great Britain is not seeking the destruction of the German people.

After the recent battles I saw motor lorries deliver at the ambulance stations mixed loads of British and German wounded. They were packed in side by side, all stained with mud and blood—men who an hour before had been doing their best to kill one another. Our men waited their turn patiently. If badly hurt Fritz was permitted to be ahead in the line, and our men seemed to bear no animosity. Their attitude was that of kindly toleration, even while they turned the full resources of the English language to describe in vivid description of their captives. This consideration has led to humane results. A wet and weary chaplain, with no place to lay his head, was called upon by a wounded officer prisoner to provide him with a second blanket because the hospital was cold, and said the chaplain, "I would have been soft enough to give him it if I had a blanket to my name."

When the people in Canada read what appear to be authentic stories about the cruel treatment, even by the German women, of the British wounded, it is worth while knowing that the Canadians at the front, no less than the tolerant British Tommy, refuse to descend in the treatment of wounded prisoners to the enemy level. But Fritz must work and earn his keep on the roads when unwounded.

Top Dogs at Last Says a Canadian

By R. T. Small, Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.

With the British Armies in France, April 13, via London.—From the Vimy ridge late today fires could be seen burning in the German lines and Canadian patrols had advanced beyond the outskirts of Ghenvichy.

Canadians Hard On Heels of Enemy

By Stewart Lyon.

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, April 13.—The full fruits of the battle of Vimy is ours tonight. The Germans are in full retreat and the Canadians, advancing as rapidly as the mined and wrecked roads permit, are hard upon their heels. Ghenvichy, Pett-Vimy, Vimy itself, Farbus and Willerval are ours. Lens is on fire, together with the adjacent villages, and it is believed that it will be evacuated before morning.

All morning our artillery had been dropping shells on the German lines, especially on the village of Vimy, and the response was feeble and spasmodic. This afternoon there was a series of violent explosions in the mining villages around Lens and Levin, where heavy charges were being used to destroy the shafts and overhead structures of the mines. The sound washed the whole front into life. Our infantry pushed down into Vimy and Ghenvichy, where they came into touch with the enemy's rearguard.

At this hour they continue to go forward meeting little resistance. The spoils will be great, and the advantage resulting from possession of Lens-Levin mining district tremendous.

The Hun is at last headed for home, and going strong. Vimy has helped.

New Front Grows Stronger Every Hour

By Stewart Lyon.

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, April 13.—No serious attempt has yet been made by the enemy to counter-attack our new front, which hourly grows in strength. If the Germans return in force they will be met with some of their own guns, as well as their machine guns which have been found in good condition and will now be brought into service against their former owners. The subterranean galleries which were hastily abandoned by the Germans continue to yield much material, especially machine

One officer who has specialized in exploration found five machine guns, all in good condition. During the night of Tuesday the enemy sent forward patrols and occasional encounters took place in which there was distinct advantage to the Canadians.

A remarkable incident is reported as having befallen the official Canadian photographer. He found a body of sixty Germans and two enemy officers in "No Man's Land" who, while a battle was in progress, had surrendered, but there was no one with them to conduct them to the rear and they were crouching in a large shellhole to escape the German barrage. There the cinema man photographed them, after which he sent them on "lame as sheep," he said.

French Capture More Positions

Paris, April 13.—The war office communication issued tonight says: "The battle continues in front of the positions our troops captured this morning to the south of St. Quentin. The enemy is offering stubborn resistance.

"Our artillery has violently bombarded German organizations between the Somme and the Oise. To the south of the Oise and to the north of the Ailette we carried out with success some detailed operations in the course of which we brought back about 40 prisoners.

"An artillery struggle is reported in the region of the Aisne and in Champagne.

"Belgian communication: The Belgian lines to the south of the ferry-roads were violently bombarded during the night. The Belgian artillery replied with energy. During the day reciprocal actions were reported.

This afternoon's French official statement follows: "Between the Somme and the Oise our troops this morning attacked German positions south of St. Quentin. Notwithstanding the desperate resistance of the enemy we carried several lines of trenches between the Somme and the St. Quentin railway. We brought back prisoners and a number of machine guns.

"South of the Oise our advanced troops made progress east of Coucy-Léville and took prisoners and material. There was artillery fighting in the region of the Aisne and in the Champagne. Near Verdun two surprise attacks were made by the enemy. They were broken up by our fire. The night was calm on the remainder of the front."

Greatest One-Day Bag of Prisoners

By Stewart Lyon.

Canadian Headquarters in France, April 13, via London.—Amazingly unseasonable weather has retarded the progress of the Canadians on the eastern slope of Vimy Ridge. For the third day in succession there has been a heavy fall of snow, which turns the sticky mud and chalk in this area into a great obstacle in the moving up of our guns and supplies. If this has placed us at some disadvantage, the enemy's serious losses in artillery is a much greater disadvantage for him.

It is stated by German prisoners that several of their big calibre guns captured by us are new weapons, sent down from Lille only two days before the attack began. The enemy's losses of all sorts of material are sufficient to explain why there has been as yet no attempt at a counter-attack, de-

Look on Plain of Douai. From the top of Vimy ridge the British now look down on the plain of Douai and toward the great industrial sections of France, which so long have been in enemy hands.

"We are the top dogs at last," said a Canadian officer to the Associated Press correspondent today. "We have the Germans on the down hill and once they are started you may be sure they will go back fast."

In the continuous hail of shells which is going over and upon the Germans, many are their own thrown from their own abandoned field pieces. They are tasting what a British Tommy calls "the joys of some of their own devilish explosives."

The Germans are also getting a better peering from hundreds of their own machine guns.

Plan Reprisals for Sinking of Hospital Ships

Life of Von Tirpitz's Son May Pay Forfeit for Crimes.

FIFTY-TWO VICTIMS

Torpedoing of Gloucester Castle and Salta Causes Strong Feeling.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

London, April 13.—The unwarranted sinking of the British hospital ship Gloucester Castle by a German submarine, announced tonight, aroused the British nation to bitter talk of reprisals. On the heels of the Gloucester Castle announcement came word of the death of 53 persons on board the hospital ship Salta, sunk by a mine in the channel on April 10. Nine of those aboard were nursing sisters. The wounded aboard the Gloucester Castle were luckily all removed.

There were 30 wounded aboard the Salta, says the admiralty statement. The fifty-two victims included nine nursing sisters, five medical officers and 38 members of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The Salta was a steel steamer of 7,354 tons and was registered at London. The Gloucester Castle was a steel steamer of 7,999 tons and was under London registry.

Van Tirpitz as Heavase. Foremost in the suggestions for reprisals against Germany's torpedoing of hospital vessels circulate was one concerning some form of punishment to be meted out to the son of Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, foremost exemplar of German sea ruthlessness.

Young Von Tirpitz has been a British prisoner of war for nearly a year. That he should be held hostage for Germany's future observance of the Red Cross flag on vessels and should pay with his life for any future violations of the Geneva convention was a suggestion gaining favor everywhere.

Germany formally announced to the world on January 31, that she would sink all hospital ships on sight. Her excuses was the charge that the British had misused the Geneva flag and had transported munitions and supplies as well as troops on alleged hospital ships. Premier Lloyd George made spirited and indignant denial to the charge, and at that time announced, "certain reprisals were under consideration."

CANADIAN BATTALIONS ADJUDGED WASTEFUL

Restrictions Are Necessary for Cookhouses and More Careful Work Ordered.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

London, April 13.—The Canadian Press understands that rigid economy has been enjoined on Canadian cook-houses. An order issued for the proper preparation of food and the saving of refuse is essential. The order points out that recent inspections of the statement of imperial authorities that the Canadians are unduly wasteful. This wastage must cease. From April 1, Canadian reinforcements proceeding overseas, have been supplied with Canadian pattern boots.

Kaiser Bound for Castle Near Border of Holland. London, April 13.—According to an unconfirmed report received at The Hague Emperor William either has arrived or is expected at the Castle of Middachten, near Arnheim, Holland, says a despatch to The Times from the Dutch capital.

AGED LEADER MAY RETURN TO RUSSIA

Prince Kropotkin, Socialistic Idol, Would Help Unite All Parties in War.

London, April 13.—Friends of Russia were planning to day to urge that the new provisional government invite Prince Kropotkin, the aged revolutionist leader, exiled in London for a quarter of a century, back to Russia. It was believed Kropotkin, an idol of the socialistic and peasant classes in Russia, and thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the allies through his long residence in France and England, would be able to reconcile all classes in Russia and unite them in new determination to throw all of Russia's resources into the war. Prince Kropotkin has lived in Brighton, near London, for nearly 25 years.

Socialist Paper Says Germany Must Tell the People the Truth

Amsterdam, April 13.—The Socialist newspaper Vorwarts of Berlin says editorially: "The German Government must have the courage to tell the German people the whole truth, which is simply that it is impossible to dictate terms of peace to a world of enemies."

Germans Claim Balancing of Successes by Counter-Attacks.

Berlin, April 13.—Via London.—On the northern wing of the Arras battlefield, says the official statement, issued today by the German army headquarters staff, preliminary successes of strong British attacks against Andre and Giverny on Gohelle were balanced by German counter-attacks from the Arras-Gavrelle road to the Scarpe River. The German statement adds that on the roads from Peronne to Cambrai and Le Cateau, minor engagements occurred yesterday between Goussencourt and Hargicourt. Lively artillery fire against St. Quentin and adjoining lines to the southwest of the city was continued, the German statement says, preparatory to French attacks this morning

AMERICANS ENLISTING IN CANADA LOSE AMERICAN NATIONALITY

Special to The Toronto World. Kingston, April 13.—American Consul F. T. S. Johnson received from the secretary of state at Washington a definite and final decision on the much-discussed question as to whether an American loses his American nationality when he enlists in the Canadian expeditionary force. He does. Every American who has enlisted in the C.E.F. and signed the British attestation papers which are made out on his enlistment becomes a British subject, losing his American citizenship. If he wishes to return and take up residence across the border after the war he will have to be naturalized in the usual manner.

THE MARY BAKER MEMORIAL

The memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, erected in Mt. Auburn Cemetery at Cambridge, Mass., was turned over to the Christian Science board of directors by Albert S. Barlow of New York, who had charge of its construction.

The memorial is of Bethel white granite, and consists of an open carved colonnade of eight columns fifteen feet in height surmounted by a cornice and cresting. The space inside the colonnade is to be filled with growing flowers. The columns rest on a stylobate of three steps, which also rest, on one side, on a broad platform of Portland granite and, on the other, which is about five feet lower, on a double flight of circular steps.

Interviewed regarding the memorial, the architect, Egbert Swartwout of New York, said: "The site is singularly pleasing; in fact, I question whether a finer site could anywhere be found. It can be seen from all sides equally well, close at hand from the cemetery road, and from a quarter of a mile away across the lake. Indeed, it is this body of water which forms the chief beauty of the site. There is a drop of approximately 10 feet from the level of the road to the level of the lake, there being a natural terrace on the axis of the plot which lends itself admirably to the architectural development of the memorial. The lake is unusually still, and has a mirror-like quality which reflects admirably the white granite of which the memorial is made.

"As to the memorial, I think it can be said without contradiction that leaving aside entirely any artistic excellence, such perfection and delicacy have never been attained before in this unyielding and enduring material. There is certainly nothing in modern times that can approach it, nor, as far as I know, in any of the monuments of antiquity."

FATAL ACCIDENT MARKS DEPARTURE Children, Watching Troop Trains Leaving, Are Struck By Passing Engine.

Yesterday afternoon, while watching the departure of the 21st Bantam and 24th Battalions at Riverdale Station, Malcolm J. Poyner, 17 years of age, was killed; Edward F. Schoeneweiss, 109 Wardell avenue, and Melville George, 17 Wilby street, were perhaps fatally injured when struck by the Midland local train. Poyner's engine No. 227, in charge of Engineer Eugene J. Johnson and Fireman W. H. Gordon, was struck by the engine of the Bantam train, which was carrying 75 feet along the track, while Schoeneweiss has a fractured skull and broken arm, and George has a fractured skull and badly-crushed leg.

The condition of the two boys is critical, according to the authorities at the hospital for Sick Children, where the injured boys were conveyed in the police ambulance.

In accordance with the edict of the railway authorities, the train was stopped at the Union Station accident, in which Col. Macdonald was killed and several soldiers were injured, as a result of the entraining of troops, to the effect that they would not allow any more departures from the various downtown stations, until the broken-down engine and train were removed.

in a thrilling tale, some of the scenes having been taken in a real prison.

EMPIRE TOURS

Darkest Africa, with its glorious colorings, its strange natives, its queer customs, its great rivers, its unnumbered wild animals, full of the spirit of the jungle, was brought right to Toronto last night by Julian B. Arnold, in the second of his "Empire Tours." A most beautiful collection of pictures, and a throbbing discourse that even without illustrations would have held the audience throut, made the completed travelogue something to be remembered.

Saturday afternoon a trip up the Nile, thru Egypt, one of the most interesting lands of the whole world, and the birth place of so many great religions, the largest and richest empires, was brought to the city of the six as well as metaphorically the jewel of the crown.

In these days the nationality of a concert artist has something to do with her success, and when Tilly Keonen came in the city of the Dutch, Grand Rapids, Mich., she found the hall decorated with the flag of Holland, she says she will never forget the moment of her reception. Her reception in Toronto at the symphony concert on April 25 will be quite equal to that occasion. On her last appearance in Toronto with the symphony orchestra she made her greatest hit with a group of children's Dutch songs.

THIRTEEN THOUSAND PRISONERS ARE TAKEN IN BRITISH ADVANCE

Official Report of British Gains

London, April 13.—The British official communication issued this evening announces that the total prisoners taken in the offensive begun last Monday morning now aggregate more than 13,000. Guns to the number of 166 also have been taken.

On a twelve-mile front from north of the River Scarpe to south of Loos, British troops today pressed back the Germans all along the line and captured six villages. Field Marshal Haig's men, the official communication from British headquarters in France tonight adds, also have gained a footing in German trenches northeast of Lens. Prisoners and guns also were taken in the advance.

Southeast of Arras, the statement adds, the British also made progress and are now astride the Hindenburg line as far as a point seven miles south-east of Arras.

The villages seized by the British are all east and north of the Vimy Ridge. They are Baillieu, Willeval, Vimy, Petit Vimy, Givenchy-en-Gohelle and Angres.

The text of the statement reads: "The area of active operations extended today toward the north. East and north of the Vimy Ridge our troops pressed back the enemy on our whole front from north of the River Scarpe to south of Loos.

"We have seized the villages of Baillieu, Willeval, Vimy, Petit Vimy, Givenchy-en-Gohelle and Angres and have gained a footing in the enemy's trenches northeast of Lens. In this area we have captured prisoners and guns.

"South of the Arras-Cambrai road we have captured Wancourt Tower on a spur east of Wancourt Village and have advanced astride the Hindenburg line as far as a point seven miles southeast of Arras.

"We have also made further progress on the high ground east of Le Verquier and in Havincourt Wood (northwest of St. Quentin).

"Much useful work was done by our aeroplanes yesterday, altho the weather continued unfavorable for flying. The only hostile formation encountered was severely handled by one of our patrols, which drove down four enemy machines out of control. One other hostile aeroplane was destroyed by us during the day. Three of our machines are missing.

"The number of prisoners taken since the commencement of our operations now exceeds 13,000, including 285 officers. We have also captured 166 guns, including eight 8-inch howitzers, twenty-eight 5-inch howitzers, eighty-four trench mortars and 250 machine guns, in addition to a considerable number of guns, trench mortars and machine guns which were demolished or buried by shellfire and cannot be enumerated.

"Many of the captured guns have been turned upon the enemy by us with good effect."

Petit Vimy, Givenchy-en-Gohelle and Angres," the statement continues, in describing the advance.

"We gained a footing in the enemy's trenches northeast of Lens.

"South of the Arras-Cambrai road we captured Wancourt Tower.

"Eastward of the village we advanced astride the Hindenburg line to a point seven miles southeast of Arras.

"We further progressed on the high ground east of Le Verquier and Havincourt Wood.

Straighten Lines.

The advance of the British between the River Scarpe and Lens served to straighten their line in this section. They thrust forward from a half-mile to two miles on a front of more than four miles. Baillieu is north of Athies, Neuilly and Pampoux, which the British already hold.

The crushing assaults made by the British, following elaborate artillery preparations, kept the Germans engaged on a front of nearly fifty miles. The French war office reports that fighting about St. Quentin continued before positions which were captured from the Germans during the morning.

Between the Somme and the Oise French artillery violently bombarded German organizations.

The German official statement tonight reported "strong fighting in the region of Bullecourt with artillery duels in progress in the Arras region, particularly north of Reims."

The point where the British are astride the Hindenburg line, as reported by General Haig, is approximately in the middle of the fifty-mile front along which the British are attacking.

Hindenburg Outdone.

It became increasingly evident to military experts tonight that Field Marshal Haig is "out-Hindenburging Hindenburg" in the matter of strategy on the western front. Right now he has forced the German army chief to keep a front of more than fifty miles constantly on the alert for British attacks. No one knows where Haig may try a smash next. He started out driving around Arras; he mixed this blow with one lower down to Cambrai; then came a punch far to the north, around Le Bassoe; and today, with a bewildering array of strength he struck simultaneous blows far to the north of Arras—around Le Bassoe and Loos; in the same way spot of the German line east of Vimy, and, again far to the south, toward Cambrai.

These tactics force the German army defenders to keep large forces of reserves constantly moved from place to place. They bewilder the German staff trying to figure out where the next blow may come from.

Push is Varied.

Field Marshal Haig varied the centre of his "push" today, and quickly shifting toward Cambrai, instead of around Vimy, succeeded in capturing enemy positions "on a wide front."

A total of 166 have been captured (including 84 trench mortars) and 250 machine guns.

At three widely separated points the British drove home their terrific smashes against the enemy. From the northern end of the line, in the region of Loos, thru to the vicinity of Cambrai, and on to St. Quentin, the battle was carried to the shell-making Germans.

In the meantime the French were striking a terrific blow in conjunction with the British.

Fight for St. Quentin.

The French official statement received here tonight from Paris reported the most violent battle still in progress south of St. Quentin.

"To the east and north of Vimy Ridge the enemy was pressed back along the whole front," Gen. Haig reported.

"From north of the River Scarpe, to the south of Loos we have seized the villages of Baillieu, Willeval, Vimy, the corps possible, and hope for a continuance of that success in the future."

The following cable has been sent by General Sir Sam Hughes to General Sir Julian Byng, commanding Canadians at the front:

"Canadians rejoice in recent successes of the allies, more especially of our own gallant boys. Canada's citizen soldiers have fully justified the faith, confidence and trust reposed in them. The trained freedom is ever the superior of the repressed. While joyous at the prospect of speedy triumph of democracy and overthrow of autocracy, yet the silver lining of the cloud is dimmed by the loss of so many of our best and bravest. Their memories will ever be preserved, fresh and bright, as symbols of human liberty. Kindly communicate to Canadians."

spite the bringing up of a part of the Prussian guard to strengthen the German defence. Official figures now available, but not yet complete, show that among the material taken in the Canadian corps area are thirty guns, seventy-four machine guns and forty-nine trench mortars. It will take the Germans some time to bring up their artillery, even if it was within a reasonable distance before.

The total number of prisoners taken is still more increased, and on this front will come close to 4,000. The total along the British front on Monday is now known as reaching almost 12,000, the greatest one-day bag of the war. The general in command of the Canadian corps has received congratulations in the name of the Canadian people on the success of Monday's operations.

It will be interesting to the people at home to know that in machine gun equipment the British army now is greatly superior to the German army, as is in artillery also.

Casualties Small But Many Wounded

By Stewart Lyon.

Canadian Headquarters in France, April 13, via London.—The final phase of the battle of Vimy proceeds, to use the words of the phrase-makers at Berlin, entirely in accordance with our intentions. This (Friday) afternoon the Canadian outposts are in close touch with Givenchy, Petit Vimy, Vimy, Furbus and other villages on the eastern slope of the ridge. While our guns are avoiding doing any damage to the many coal mines and industrial establishments in this neighborhood, they are destroying the enemy's defences as thoroughly as they did his trenches and wire entanglements this side of the crest before the assault on them by our troops. The situation has changed remarkably in the past week. When the British and Canadian guns opened the preparatory bombardment the entire eastern slope of Vimy Ridge, together with the crest and a strip of the west slope ranging from a thousand yards to a mile in width, were in the enemy's hands. From Hill 146 and other commanding points we could look down on Loreste Ridge, the shell-shattered hills of St. Julien, Albert, Carency, Villers au Bois, Neuville, La Targete and Mount St. Eloi, as well as Zouave Valley and Labyrinth. In this terrain our guns had to be placed to secure effective range. Some of them by careful use and owing to the conformation of the ground could be concealed, but many others had to take chances in the open, where every flash in their discharge, day or night, could be spotted from the ridge occupied by German observation officers, and the effect was their answering fire.

Our only way of learning what was the result of our bombardment on the crest and the eastern slope of the ridge was by aeroplane observation and photographs. This was no use at night or on dull days, when the sunners had "to go it blind," trusting to previous work of the observers. All this is completely altered now. It is the Germans who must shoot over the hill in the dark, trusting to their air service to reveal the damage. That air service is now having a hard time fighting and is entirely too busy to spot for the enemy guns on this side of the ridge, and the result of this artillery situation will be the speedy ejection of the Germans from the western part of the plain. The enemy knew what was coming. On March 30 a captured intelligence officer's report shows that the German higher command had been informed "that north of Arras, as part of the spring offensive, the British will be forced, according to the nature of the ground, to deliver a joint attack on the long narrow Vimy Ridge."

Then follows a statement that the Canadian troops hold this part of the front under circumstances pointing to a strong concentration. The enemy intelligence officer adds: "The Canadians are known to be good troops, well suited for assaulting. There are no deserters to be found among the Canadians." If not buried in the ruins of his dugout, as many Germans are known to be, the officer wrote, he would be able to say, "I told you so."

Heavy shells are now dropping into the village of Vimy at the rate of over one a minute. Few houses are left standing. By evening there was no shelter for the enemy. I am authorized to say that while the proportion of slightly wounded in the operations of this week to date are greater than usual, the casualties as a whole are less than anticipated.

British Astride Hindenburg Line

By Ed L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.

London, April 13.—England's rapidly advancing army is astride the famous "Hindenburg line."

In desperate fighting today the British forces thrust their lines forward over a wide front, captured five additional villages, and threw back the enemy over a wide area.

Upwards of twenty thousand prisoners have now been taken by the victorious forces of Sir Douglas Haig.

Since Monday 13,000 Germans have been captured, the official report of the British commander declares tonight. The prisoners include 285 officers, 166 trench mortars, 250 machine guns, 84 trench mortars and 250 machine guns.

At three widely separated points the British drove home their terrific smashes against the enemy. From the northern end of the line, in the region of Loos, thru to the vicinity of Cambrai, and on to St. Quentin, the battle was carried to the shell-making Germans.

In the meantime the French were striking a terrific blow in conjunction with the British.

Fight for St. Quentin.

The French official statement received here tonight from Paris reported the most violent battle still in progress south of St. Quentin.

"To the east and north of Vimy Ridge the enemy was pressed back along the whole front," Gen. Haig reported.

"From north of the River Scarpe, to the south of Loos we have seized the villages of Baillieu, Willeval, Vimy, Orilla, Ont., April 13.—There is an abundance of proof found right here in Orilla that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unrivaled as a means of forming new blood and building up the exhausted nervous system.

At this season almost everybody feels the need of restorative, tonic treatment to keep up vitality and ward off the tired, languid feelings. This letter will give you some idea of the splendid results to be obtained by using this great food cure:

"Mrs. Percy Moulding, 28 West street, Orilla, Ont., writes: "Some years ago my nerves got the better of me. I became so bad that on one occasion, during a thunderstorm, I had a severe attack of hysteria. Then I became anxious about my condition. It was sleeplessness and nervous debility that were my trouble. Some nights it would be 1 o'clock before I could get to sleep. Knowing the good results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I commenced a treatment. I took about seven boxes and gradually I could feel my nerves becoming steady. My appetite returned, I could sleep well, and stay alone without any difficulty. Some little time ago I commenced losing in weight, and I began using the Nerve Food again as a tonic. I used only two boxes, and recovered the weight I had lost. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and when I see anyone looking ill, or nervous I say, 'Get busy and use some Nerve Food.'"

Petit Vimy, Givenchy-en-Gohelle and Angres," the statement continues, in describing the advance.

"We gained a footing in the enemy's trenches northeast of Lens.

"South of the Arras-Cambrai road we captured Wancourt Tower.

"Eastward of the village we advanced astride the Hindenburg line to a point seven miles southeast of Arras.

"We further progressed on the high ground east of Le Verquier and Havincourt Wood.

Straighten Lines.

The advance of the British between the River Scarpe and Lens served to straighten their line in this section. They thrust forward from a half-mile to two miles on a front of more than four miles. Baillieu is north of Athies, Neuilly and Pampoux, which the British already hold.

The crushing assaults made by the British, following elaborate artillery preparations, kept the Germans engaged on a front of nearly fifty miles. The French war office reports that fighting about St. Quentin continued before positions which were captured from the Germans during the morning.

Between the Somme and the Oise French artillery violently bombarded German organizations.

The German official statement tonight reported "strong fighting in the region of Bullecourt with artillery duels in progress in the Arras region, particularly north of Reims."

The point where the British are astride the Hindenburg line, as reported by General Haig, is approximately in the middle of the fifty-mile front along which the British are attacking.

Hindenburg Outdone.

It became increasingly evident to military experts tonight that Field Marshal Haig is "out-Hindenburging Hindenburg" in the matter of strategy on the western front. Right now he has forced the German army chief to keep a front of more than fifty miles constantly on the alert for British attacks. No one knows where Haig may try a smash next. He started out driving around Arras; he mixed this blow with one lower down to Cambrai; then came a punch far to the north, around Le Bassoe; and today, with a bewildering array of strength he struck simultaneous blows far to the north of Arras—around Le Bassoe and Loos; in the same way spot of the German line east of Vimy, and, again far to the south, toward Cambrai.

These tactics force the German army defenders to keep large forces of reserves constantly moved from place to place. They bewilder the German staff trying to figure out where the next blow may come from.

Push is Varied.

A total of 166 have been captured (including 84 trench mortars) and 250 machine guns.

Lieut. M. McCallum, of the 210th Battalion, which left for an eastern point yesterday. Lieut. McCallum is one of the most popular officers in the battalion. He is especially well known in Toronto sports circles. For many years he was in the city engineer's department at the city hall, but went to the harbor commission as assistant secretary with Chief Engineer E. L. Cousins.

women who worked from one end of the country to the other carrying food, comfort and hope into the homes of the peasants. But the most pitiable feature of the Belgian situation, said Mrs. Kellogg, was the attitude of the middle class. They were too proud to receive help from the soup kitchens, and for days they went without food. If there was any real starving it was among this class of people.

The real story of suffering and heroism of Belgium would never be told, declared Mrs. Kellogg, and she thought that the little white flag of the commission, the sign of which brought cheer to every little child, and the goose step, ever with them, about summed up the whole situation.

She did not appeal to the audience in behalf of the Belgians, but asked them if they did not consider that their offering of the hand of help and friendship to these was worth while. Could they see the relief centres and the lines of two or three thousand men, women and children waiting outside the soup centres they could fully appreciate the suffering. Meantime a description brought a look of gladness to the faces of the hungry ones, and life was explained in the question, "How much fat is there in the soup?"

The women of Belgium had a genius for organization, the perfected systems that mean results. She had never seen, while working with the 45,000 workers, dirty relief centre in any part of Belgium. It was the fame of Cardinal Mercier that held them to that condition. He realized the tragedy of Belgium as a whole, but Belgium realized the tragedy of each individual.

His spirit was wonderful and unconquerable. She had heard him tell the people never to bow their heads to the conqueror, but to keep their faith in God and look to the day of their release. The work was divided into two sections, the caring and feeding of the destitute and obtaining employment for the women. Special care was being given the children, so that when the king and queen returned to Belgium they will receive a new generation, healthy in mind and body. Under sufferance, Mrs. Kellogg said, the women were carrying on little industries, and in the making of lace producing more than she ever did before the war.

Mr. Rickard stated that the relief work in Belgium was one of the greatest accomplishments of humane and philanthropic organization, and it was gratifying to know that all the food reaching Belgium was given the peo-

Winster, April 13.—Altho permission was given from Washington yesterday allowing members of the 241st (Highland) Battalion to enter Detroit in uniform, sanction of such plans was not received from Ottawa by the local command in time to permit the Highlanders taking part in the big military parade in Detroit today, given as a public send-off to the first of Michigan's contingent of naval militia to leave for a central training camp. It was planned that the local battalion would parade Detroit streets in full strength, when Mayor Motz of that city first sent an invitation to the battalion and then followed it up with getting permission from the military authorities to admit Canadian soldiers.

Spain is greatly angered over the news which reports that a growing number of German submarine ruffians, which she has been forced to sink, unarmed of the Spanish fleet. Spanish officials declared Premier Caspary and his cabinet had forwarded an extremely sharp note to Berlin, demanding full indemnity and apology for the submarine commando's act. The language of this note, it is reported, was such as to give hope to the hope that Spain might decide to cast her lot with the allied nations.

Kitchener, April 12.—Corp. Edgar Wacker, who enlisted Aug. 5, 1914, and was blown up by a shell at Langemark, and who has suffered paralysis of his left leg ever since, called upon a local physician yesterday who discovered his hip was dislocated. Upon the joint being adjusted the paralysis immediately left the limb and the soldier walked home without crutches. As soon as he can pass the medical board the corporal will again don the khaki.
