NEGLECT OF CHILD CHARGED IN COURT

Montreal Man and Wife Defendants — Orphan Girl Gives Evidence.

Voluntary statement will take place on next Friday.

In the house Mark Twain built at Hartford directly over the fireplace, where one would naturally look for a chimney, there was a great plate glass window looking out of doors. Mark said he had the window put there because it showed sometimes in Hartford and he liked to sit with his feet to the fire and look at the storm, so that he could enjoy the thought of not being out in it.

RECENT DEATHS

The death took place at Boston (Mass.), on April 24, of John Edward Hughes, formerly well known in this city. He had been associated in business here for a number of years with the late Adam Young, and afterwards conducted a mantle and hardware establishment in Prince William street. Thirty-eight years ago he removed to Boston, and for the last eight years had been totally blind. While in this city he was a prominent Odd Fellow. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Irving.

The oldest Salvationist in the world died recently in Toronto. She was known in Salvation Army circles as "Granny" Beaver. She was born May 9, 1816, and joined the Salvation Army at St. Catharines (Ont.), thirty-five years ago. By her own request she was buried in her army bonnet.

Mrs. Edwin G. Ray.
Digby, N.S., April 30.—Word has been received of the death in Vancouver (B.C.) of Lita, wife of Edwin G. Ray, of paralysis, leaving a husband and little son, also her mother, Elizabeth Binyag of Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. Louis Reilly of Prince Rupert, and Mrs. Charles E. Smith of Barton. Mrs. Ray was a daughter of the late Captain James Binyag of Barton (N.S.).

The death of Miss Annie A. Doherty occurred recently at Gagetown, N. B. She resided in St. John at one time, but removed to Gagetown some thirty years ago. Miss Doherty, who was in her seventy-eighth year, was a sister of the late H. A. Doherty of the Royal Hotel in this city.

The death of Isaac Gould Pickett took place on February 17 at East Selkirk, Man., aged eighty-four years. He was a former resident of Kars, Kings, N. B.

Bridgewater, N. S., April 30.—Captain Edward Walters, aged seventy-two, was drowned. In the company of his son, they were in a sail boat, on their way to their home at Middle Lake, where a squall of wind came up and Mr. Walters, Sr. was struck by the boom and knocked overboard. The son could not bring the boat around in time to rescue him. The body was recovered.

NEW HAMPSHIRE PAINTER GETS FIRST HONORS

Few Canadian Exhibits in International Art Exhibition at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, May 1.—American painters ranked high in the international art exhibition, which was opened formally in the galleries of the Carnegie Institute here, the first since the outbreak of the world war. Announcement of honors was made at the founder's day exercises, as follows:

1. Abbott H. Thayer, Monadnock, N. H., "Young Woman in Olive Plush," Gold medal and $1,500.
2. Algeron Talmadge, London, Eng., "By the Cornish Sea," Silver medal and $100.
3. Walter Ufer, Chicago, Ill., "Suzanna and Her Sisters," bronze medal and $500.
Honorable mention—Robert Spencer, New Hope, Pa., "The White Mill"; Frederic Bosley, Boston, "Looking at Prints"; George J. Coates, London, Eng., "The Spanish Dancer."

The exhibition contains 373 paintings. Of this number America contributed 198, while England sent 83 and France 53. The remainder came from the studios of Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Spain, Norway, Russia, Belgium, Switzerland and a few from Canada.

The founders' day exercises of the institute were largely the work of artists and scientists. The principal address was delivered by Maurice Francis Egan, ex-minister to Denmark, who spoke on "America in the Diplomatic World."

At the close of the exercises the audience was admitted to the museum where two additions to the permanent exhibit were shown for the first time—groups of African rhinoceroses shot by the late Theodore Roosevelt and Childs Frick.

CHARGE AGAINST A POLICEMAN

Montreal Constable Accused of Inciting Attack on Prohibition Officers.

Montreal, May 1.—Chief of Police Belanger has before him a case where a policeman in uniform is accused of having incited a gang of men in a Dorchester street restaurant to attack and badly beat a provincial revenue officer and a friend who was accompanying him. The case will be investigated by the chief.

This case comes as a climax to other attacks which have been made on revenue officers who are charged with the task of enforcing the prohibition law and as a result there is a probability that in future such officers will be armed.

A WARNING

Mayor Hayes said yesterday afternoon that he had received several complaints from people who had to undergo the necessary nuisance of moving that some teamsters were holding them up for exorbitant rates for transporting their household effects from one place to another. He said that he had made a note of the people complained against and if there were any further complaints, the teamsters would run the risk of having their licenses cancelled.

Why Wait to Swat?

Brockville Recorder: The season for swatting the fly is not yet here. The season is here for preventing the breeding of flies, which is far simpler and easier business than chasing them after they have become numerous. The automobile has reduced the fly population of American cities more than all the fly swatters to the vanishing point, and stables are the favorite places for fly propagation. When they cannot find stables they seek garbage and refuse. Keep it covered. Clean up all the refuse. Leave the fly no place to live in comfort. Make being a fly a joyless existence and he will die off without progeny.

VETERANS ASK CITY FOR MORE HIGH POSITIONS

Big Deputation Waits on Mayor of Toronto, Controllers and Aldermen in City Hall.

Several hundred returned soldiers, headed by officials of various soldier organizations, gathered in Queen's Park, Toronto, the other day, and marched to the city hall, where they met Mayor Church, members of the board of control and a scattering of aldermen, to urge upon their fabled consideration of the policy of giving positions to soldiers had been carried out to some extent, but had been applied chiefly to minor positions, and asked for a review of all positions filled since the war began, for wide publicity of vacant positions, and for more than an equal chance to the returned man in considering the question of qualifications.

The meeting between the officials of the city and the soldier organizations took place in the front corridor of the city hall. The spokesman of the soldiers and Mayor Church, who replied, spoke from the main stairway, while the members of the deputation crowded the main floor.

As regards appointments by the provincial government, Mr. Conroy said that the soldier citizens of Toronto looked to the city council to take action to safeguard their interests. No protest had been made to the provincial government, board of education nor police commissioners for having appointed men who had not seen service to positions applied for by returned men. There had been well-qualified returned soldiers who had not seen service to positions applied for by returned men. There had been well-qualified returned soldiers who had not seen service to positions applied for by returned men.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN
EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE

Three Stores Close Together

A job washing bottles at $5 a week, with a place to sleep thrown in for answering night telephone calls, has grown to the ownership of three drug stores by Harry Dockum, druggist extraordinary, of Wichita, Kans.

For, besides being a pharmacist himself and a good salesman, Dockum specializes in efficiency and writing advertisements that are different. He is full of ideas, and works them successfully in his business.

Dockum was told when he established three drug stores all within a block a half of each other that he was wish and that one store would take the trade already established at the other. But Dockum went ahead, and making good money despite the pretensions.

Dockum runs a beauty shop in each of three drug stores. He employs three people in each shop. They are all beauty parlor, too, where all kinds of beauty treatments are given by experts. As trade pullers they rank out as high as anything Dockum has. What's more, Dockum has three of the best kitchens in Wichita, and they cook what is becoming famous for noon luncheons. Each kitchen is 25 by 25, and is fully equipped with all the modern utensils. Three to four persons are employed in each. Only the best foodstuffs are used, and a special deal of emphasis is placed on the service which goes with the meals. The food is served piping hot and quickly. The kodak department, which is a bugbear to many druggists, especially the finishing department, has been turned into a money maker and business getter by Dockum because he put efficiency into it and into its management. Each store carries a complete line of kodaks and supplies. One big finishing plant, employing seven or eight people, is operated. These people do nothing but finish kodak prints and enlargements, and they are kept busy all the time.

Dockum writes advertisements which are unique. They have nothing to say about the store to speak of. They are like having a little talk with him at the store or on the street corner, where he would likely tell you something interesting that had happened or that some one you both knew had done. They run every Sunday morning and occupy four to six inches, double column of space. Dockum says they have done more than most anything else to keep people thinking about his store. The ads are filled with human interest stuff, gossip, compliments to some other merchant who had done something worth while, a suggestion for the betterment of the city, a little heart-throb story or something entirely personal, like an experience he has had while on a trip. Merchandise and prices are not mentioned.

"Initials, Please?" Gets The Full Name, Too.

Clothing salesmen in the McDonald & Campbell store, in Philadelphia, have a rather convincing way of proving their familiarity more often breaks business than contempt.

All clothing dealers impress upon their salesmen the importance of remembering the names of customers; but in a large store this is almost a Leviathan task, especially as one customer seldom buys more than a few suits a year at any one store. It is not very difficult for most salesmen to remember faces, but remembering names is quite another matter.

To get around this difficulty a salesman in this particular store who recalls that you have purchased before does not make any attempt to ask your name until you have made the purchase and are giving him the address. Then he will be clever enough to ask, "What are the initials?" Just as though he had remembered your name, but naturally not your initials.

I shall make a visit to my St. John Ice, Union Bank of Canada building, Market Square, Monday, May 3rd, Tuesday, May 4th, Wednesday, May 5th, Thursday, May 6th and Friday, May 7th. To all those that have failed to receive their glasses, have your eyes measured the Rand Special System, of looking the eyes and taking the exact measurements of the sight, without the use of es or letters hung on the wall. This is the highest form of fitting possible. Examination free for this visit, and eyes fitted at reasonable rates.

"Waste Space" That Made an Ideal Display Room.

When the proprietor of the Record Shop in Broadway took possession it had a back yard, or court, that seemed to be of no possible use to the business except as a place to store old packing cases and similar odds and ends. In less time than one would imagine possible, this space became an eyecore and a fire menace, for it was easier for clerks to throw rubbish into a rear court than to dispose of it systematically and promptly. Boxes, crates and old paper began to accumulate, until only a match was needed to start trouble.

Then, one day, a cousin of the proprietor returned from a western trip and began to spill new ideas all over the place.

"Look here, Jim," he said, "have you ever stopped to figure out the rental per square foot you are paying for this back yard?"

Jim had not looked at it that way. He knew the area of his store, but he always thought of the space in the rear as something thrown in. But when he came to figure out real estate values in his block he realized that he was paying a pretty steep rental for a catch-all and firetrap.

When he cleaned out the back yard he found out that he had about 25 by 30 feet of good available space. Then he repainted the high walls that surrounded it on three sides and replaced the broken boards and rubbish with shrubbery, flowers, gravel paths and comfortable benches. A few rough beams were extended overhead, forming a support for climbing vines and in the summer that garden is about the pleasantest place in town—cool, shady and quiet.

The proprietor sent out an attractive circular to the best families in town and to the highest class offices in the business section, inviting people to drop in any time and rest in his garden and hear some new records, for he had a phonograph near the back door. The way that customers responded to his invitation showed that they appreciated the novelty and as they had to pass close through the store to reach the garden,

Moving "Stickers" Via the Window Route.

Whenever they wish to increase the sale of an article, any one of the fifty departments of Evans' Drug Stores in Philadelphia, just single it out, construct a display around it and place the whole in their window. The result is an instantaneous jump that makes the sales records resemble the curve of a stock exchange chart during a "bull" drive.

During one week recently no fewer than three windows in as many Evans' stores registered phenomenal sales of slow-moving articles. Evans' windows probably are the liveliest and oftenest changed of any store in Philadelphia—a reputation that is constantly drawing increased patronage to their stores. Hardly at any time during business hours do their windows present an unobscured view, so many are the people who gather about them. And there's always a reason.

The windows in question were predicted on the assumption that if a certain article will interest a man, a similar article of corresponding usefulness will attract a woman. In this case it was a pocket knife for the mate and a pair of scissors for his partner. But each display was in a separate store—thus removing any possibility of a dash of interest.

AWAIT ACTION OF THE PRESIDENT ON REPRESENTATIVE

Washington, April 30.—Plans for the full diplomatic representation of Canada in Washington are now before President Wilson and until he has acted on them, it is not expected that any formal steps will be taken at Ottawa to forward the project. The extent of the functions of the proposed Canadian representative has not yet been defined, but the general understanding is that he will be limited to the treatment of matters of purely American-Canadian interest, leaving the questions involving general policies to be dealt with by the British Ambassador. As the State Department has now taken under consideration the securing of pulpwood from Canada for American use, it is believed that a decision on the question of Canadian diplomatic representation here will be hastened as this question is regarded as one peculiarly proper for direct negotiations between Canada and the United States.

LABOR LAWS.

Ottawa, April 30.—Dominion wide application of the principle of a minimum wage and a 48 hour working week for all women and girls, excepting those engaged in domestic or agricultural employment, was strongly favored by the royal commission on the unification of labor laws at the session here today. Other important items at today's session included the adoption of a motion that a committee of five be appointed to report upon the unification and harmonizing of law on industrial disputes within Canada, and a further recommendation that all laws at present existing in any province dealing with the improvement of sanitation and the protection of life should be made general to such other industries as may be possible throughout the dominion.

CONSTRUCTION OF ROADS COSTLY MATTER IN 1920

Augusta, Me., April 30.—The state highway commission is up against the labor problem this year for fair, in fact, the labor situation is more acute than ever. The situation is so acute that it will undoubtedly have a bearing on the amount of highway construction work to be done this year. At this juncture, the commission feels that it should have the benefit of the best thought of the people of the state as to what policy to pursue.
To this end, the following letter was sent out Wednesday by the state highway commission to members of the legislature, representative farmers, automobilists, manufacturers, merchants and public officials in all sections of the state to secure if possible their sentiments regarding road construction:
"You are undoubtedly aware from statements made by members of this commission at public meetings and from press reports of the same that we had planned to construct 150 miles of state highway during the coming season. Surveys for more than that mileage have been made and every effort has been made to have plans completed for this whole mileage in time for letting contracts. A considerable percentage of the jobs are now ready to take bids on and several of them have already advertised for bids.

"It is becoming increasingly apparent that the prices to be bid for highway work are to be high in comparison with anything we have ever known. In formulating our judgment as to what roads are worth to the taxpayers of our state, we would appreciate an expression of opinion on this matter.

"To this end, may we ask you to give careful consideration to the following questions and answer them so that they may be in our hands, Monday, May 3?"
"Question 1. The prices for highway construction during 1919 were from 10 to 125 per cent. higher than the prices of similar construction in 1914, 1915 and 1916. Are we warranted in paying more for improved roads this year than we did last year? If your answer is yes, what percentage of increase over 1919 prices do you think that state ought to pay?"
"Question 2. Wages for common labor on highways in 1919 ran from 35 cents to 50 cents per hour. What, in your judgment, should be the top price per hour for common labor this year?"

"Question 3. The wages for teams in 1919 were generally from $5 to $7.50 per day, usually $6.50 or $7 for nine hours. What, in your judgment, should be a top price for teams for nine hours' work during 1920?"
"This circular letter is being sent to a list of citizens who are known to be vitally interested in the highway programme of the state and we shall very much appreciate a prompt reply to those questions so that we may have the best judgment of the state in guiding us in formulating our policy for this season."
Answers to questions propounded in this letter will be welcome from any citizen of the state.

ZION LADIES HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Zion Methodist Church Ladies' Aid at its annual meeting made presentations to two of its valued members who are leaving the city to take up their residence elsewhere and also honored another member in conferring a life membership upon her. The retiring president, Mrs. S. Skidmore, presided and all reports submitted were gratifying in the extreme, showing the last year to have been the most prosperous and helpful of any in the history of the organization. Mrs. C. T. Jones on behalf of the members made the presentation to the two members about to leave the city. Mrs. S. Skidmore, who with her family leaves today to make her home in Toronto, was given a handsome silk umbrella and Mrs. T. A. E. MacFarlane who is leaving shortly for Boston to take up her residence there received a fine hand bag. Mrs. MacFarlane had been a member of the aid for about twenty years and had been unfailing in her efforts for its advancement. Miss Eliza Haggarty was made a life member as a token of appreciation of her splendid work on behalf of the aid. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. F. Hamall; vice-president, Mrs. H. Carr; treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Jones; secretary, Mrs. H. Tower and convener of visiting committee, Mrs. W. S. Potts.

Barn and Silo Roofed with Brantford Asphalt Roofing.

Resists Fire, Sheds Water, Wears Long

Flying sparks and embers from a burning building often cause roofs near by to catch fire, especially in a dry, hot season. Under like conditions, roofs covered with

are in no danger from flying embers, because any that fall on Brantford Asphalt Roofing die out harmlessly. Build a bonfire on a roof of Brantford Asphalt Roofing and the fire will not spread and the boards underneath the roofing will be protected in a surprising manner.

If a fire starts in the interior of a building Brantford Asphalt Roofing acts as a retardant and keeps the fire from spreading. Fire chiefs and insurance companies endorse its use in the most congested cities.

Brantford Asphalt Roofing does not absorb water, but sheds the heaviest rain with ease. Acid proof and alkali proof. Reliable, durable, economical. Three weights—60 lb., 70 lb., 80 lb. per square.

Brantford Rubber Roofing is the same quality as Brantford Asphalt, but has a smooth, rubbery surface instead of the sand. It is particularly suitable for veranda decks and floor coverings. Three weights—40 lb., 50 lb., and 60 lb. per square.

Child's Death Due To Carelessness And Reckless Driving

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in Case of Death of Virginia Garrett—Jury Makes Recommendations

The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Virginia G. Garrett, the eight-year-old daughter of Fred E. Garrett, who was fatally injured in a car accident at Renforth on Thursday night and died soon afterward, decided last evening that her death was due to being struck by an automobile, which was driven at an excessive rate of speed and in a careless manner. The coroner, Dr. O. R. Peters, convened the jury and held the inquest in the Renforth Outing Association club house and eleven witnesses were examined of whom four were among those in the car at the time of the accident. The evidence given by W. E. Gunter, owner of the car which struck the girl and that of Fred H. Trifts, who was driving towards the city at the time and whose lights were said to have blinded Harold Beverly, was slightly contradictory as regards the distance which a car takes to pull up when the gasoline is shut off and the hand brake applied. The former said that his car would take from seven to eight hundred feet to pull up and the latter said that he could pull up his car with the hand brake in about three lengths or about thirty or forty feet. The jury also brought in several recommendations, one limiting the speed of cars on the Rothesay road and the other advising that a policeman, on a motor cycle should patrol the road.

The Verdict

The verdict of the jury was as follows: "We, the jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Virginia G. Garrett, on the night of Thursday, April 29, after carefully considering the evidence, do find that she came to her death as the result of being struck by an automobile which was being driven at an excessive rate of speed and in a careless manner by Harold Beverly, who was accompanied by Ernest J. Wilkinson, Charles E. Ross, John Kennedy, Max Dean and Allan Currie. And, we do also recommend that the speed of motor vehicles on the Larrivert road between the one mile house (so called), and Rothesay post office, be limited to twenty-five miles per hour slowing down to twelve miles per hour when passing through a village, and thickly populated parts of the road, and that it be necessary for all cars to use prism or colored lenses instead of dimmers.

And we also recommend that all caravans and dangerous parts of the road shall be fenced, the fences to be painted white and that a motorcycle police patrol be provided to prevent exceeding the speed limit.

Signed, Harold E. Ellis (foreman), Alexander Fowler, Arthur Kennedy, W. E. Flewelling, John McInnes, E. Fairweather and J. H. Ferguson.

The Evidence

The first witness was Miss Ada Finlay. She said that with the three children, she was walking down the road when she saw the car coming from town and she also noticed a team and an automobile coming from the direction of Rothesay. She and the children crossed the road and went to Colby's store. The automobile from the direction of the city first put out the right hand light and then the left hand one and then both and she was not sure but they might have been put on again. She placed Margaret, one of the little girls, with her back to the door and she said to the children, "We will stand here until the car goes by." The next thing she heard was a whir and then she found one of the girls (Margaret) at her feet and then one of the boys in the car, Charles Ross, came over and asked if anything was wrong. She thought he was under the influence of liquor. Mr. Garrett then came down the road and she told him to go inside and see what was wrong. She did not see Virginia in the ditch, but Mr. Colby picked up Margaret and carried her into the store, and Virginia was found in the culvert. When questioned by a jurymen she said that the car seemed to be acting peculiarly, especially the lights. The car from Rothesay stopped in front of the store and she recognised Mr. Trifts as the driver. Photographs of the scene were shown a drink and that they certainly were well able to take care of themselves. Detective Donahue gave corroborative evidence.

The Automobile Owner

William E. Gunter said that he had his car overhauled only two weeks ago and it was in perfect running order. He did not think his car would stop, when going at twenty miles an hour by merely applying the hand brake in 200 yards, but thought it would take about seven or eight hundred feet. It was not a high speed car and to get thirty-eight miles an hour they would have to put on the accelerator. Beverly had been the first person to tell him of the accident. Fred H. Trifts said that he was returning to the city from Rothesay in his large McLaughlin car. He had a spotlight on his car, and his headlights were bright, but he dimmed them when he saw the other car. When asked he said that the other car looked as if it might be going from fifteen to twenty miles an hour and he thought the car was being driven recklessly. He had noticed the dimmers being put on and off and this might happen with a man who was not sure of the switches. A car going anything more than fifteen miles an hour, he did not think was under perfect control. When questioned by Dr. Baxter he said that there was about four and a half or five feet between his car and the other when they passed, and he was well over to his side of the road, but Dr. Baxter said that he could not have been and had that much space between them. The only thing to do when one got the full glare of other lights was to stop.

H. Williston Dalton told of taking the car number and measuring the distance, 202 feet, from where the car left the macadam to the store. The tread of the tire was in a straight line. He had also examined the car afterwards. He had only been close to one of the occupants but he certainly had not been drinking.

B. A. Dennyson, told of picking up the little girl after she had been struck, saying that he was assisted by another man. He thought that Trifts' car had been on his own side of the road.

The coroner charged the jury saying that it was a very vital and important question and that they had many reckless drivers along that road because it was so good, and that the children had as much right to the road as the cars, and especially the joy-riders.

WOLFVILLE ENJOYS A BUILDING BOOM

Wolfville, April 30.—Building operations promise to be very brisk in Wolfville this summer, and houses are already under way. Work has been commenced on residences for George Munro, of the Bank of Montreal, and Dr. Elliott. A. G. Cowie has purchased a lot on the Randal property and will begin the erection of a house immediately. The college gymnasium on the campus, a fine stone building which will cost $120,000, is rapidly progressing. Real estate in the town is in keen demand and prices have at least doubled in the last two years. Wolfville apparently promises to become the favorite residential town of the province.

Acadia College and its kindred institutions will soon close by all odds the most prosperous year in their history. The total attendance at the university, academy and seminary now considerably exceeds 800. The college itself has nearly 350 students and this number will be largely increased next autumn. The university now possesses a large and well equipped girls' residence, common dining hall, where the "boys and girls" sit down together, a thoroughly up-to-date

An English Custom Becoming Quite Common in Canada

Every country has its national customs and habits. For instance, England has the custom of serving afternoon tea. English homes, stores, offices, factories, work shops, hotels and tea rooms serve afternoon tea. It is part of the national life of England. Our soldiers poked fun at it, but were not long in acquiring the habit. And they are not giving it up now that they are back home. They are influencing a more general adoption of afternoon tea in Canada. To-day this English custom is quite common in Canadian homes. It is spreading. New tea rooms are opening all over Canada. Hotels are making a specialty of afternoon tea. The habit is invading offices, stores and work shops. A few minutes rest in the afternoon with a cup of good tea is a wonderful reviver, giving new zest to the busy business man, stenographer, clerk and worker. Afternoon tea is a good business proposition. Easily and quickly made. Very inexpensive.
