GULF BETWEEN ENGLAND AND INDIA.

(Blackwood's Magazine).

It is in India, moral and religious, that the rift between us and our British subjects is unbridgeable, impassable. Their estimate of virtues and vices is ours almost inverted, and in some respects improved—a fact not infrequently forgotten both in the civil and domestic government of India. The writer can remember the durwan, or lodgekeeper, of his daughter's home in Calcutta, a kindly and venerable man, who but for his clothes and color, might have been or seemed to be, an English clergyman. The durwan was disheveled when he heaped execrations on the head of an English nurse because she had plucked some blossoms from a peepul tree which overhung a little shrine in which he daily worshipped. When the girl, for whom he had a paternal fondness, asked him what she had done to offend him, he answered, "Wretched one, you have hurt my god."

This strange confusion of the material and the spiritual—strong enough in an educated durwan—seems strange or still in the native judge, a man of ability and culture, who, as Sir Alfred Lyall tells us in one of his striking essays on Indian life and thought, carried in his pocket five small pebbles, which he arranged in mysterious ways and worshipped with a devotion which none but a fool would ridicule. Can we imagine an English judge worshipping five pebbles in his room, however subtly he might distinguish the symbol from its meaning?

THE FISH MARKET.

The fish market for tomorrow promises to be well supplied and the prices are average. The Pisces fishermen have had rather a bad week, as the weather has been such that they could not go out with safety. Those that did venture out met with little success, some of the boats only getting one fish, while the biggest catch was not more than four or five, showing that the fish are scattering and the run is about over.

The retail prices for tomorrow are: Salmon, 14 to 20 cents per pound. Fresh Shad, 15 to 25 cents each. Cod and haddock, 5 cents per pound. Halibut, 10 to 15 cents per pound. Pinnhead, 7 cents per pound. Salt shad, 20 to 25 cents. Smelts, 8 cents per pound.

ASKED AND ANSWERED.

"I say, doctor," queried the man who was looking for free information, "can you tell me why liquor makes my nose red?"

"Sure thing," calmly replied the M. D. "Because you drink it."

POLICE COURT.

Quick Work This Morning—Heavy Fine for Resisting Police—

A Question of Veracity.

In the police court this morning, Acting Police Magistrate Henderson quickly disposed of the several police cases and got rid of the civil cases in equally rapid time, the docket in the latter not being a very heavy one.

Stephen Walsh was locked up by Officer McCallum for being drunk on Brunswick street. Walsh refused to go home with a friend when ordered to do so by the officer, and McCallum took him in hand and he resisted, striking McCallum. He was fined $5 or 30 days for drunkenness and $10 or two months for resistance.

Peter Johnston was arrested for wandering about the streets at a late hour. He explained that he came from Richibucto, intending to go to Gasperaux to visit his father, but missed his train and was just wandering about waiting for the early morning train. He was allowed to go.

Walter Sheraton was locked up by the I. C. R. police yesterday, on a charge of drunkenness. Sheraton pleaded not guilty this morning and Officer Henderson wrote him a ticket and swore that Sheraton was not only drunk at the time he was locked up, but that he was a nuisance to all about the depot and that frequent complaints had been made as to his conduct. As Sheraton wanted to call Fred E. Hargison as a witness the case was adjourned, Sheraton going to jail in the interim.

One common drunk received the usual dose.

EXHIBITION ATTRACTIONS.

Fine List Already Secured. Splendid Prize List Being Sent.

Fred G. Spencer has just returned from a most successful tour through the principal amusement centres on the continent where he has been justly and deservedly met by the very best available amusement specialists for the coming fair. His tour has been an unqualified success, having resulted in the engagement of what will undoubtedly prove the most interesting and profitable show ever brought here. As an indication of quality, it is merely necessary to mention that Adelaide's trained lions are included, and that where this feature has been shown it has always been the most popular item on the programme.

An additional arrangement was concluded yesterday with the Vitaphone Co., whereby a large assortment of pictures, including many battle scenes, will make their first appearance on the screen at the St. John exhibition.

H. W. Loney and Geo. H. Snider are now away on an extensive advertising tour throughout the provinces; and L. Gorbett will leave shortly for Prince Edward Island on the same mission.

The prize list is now being sent out and the managers are to be congratulated on its appearance. The book contains almost 100 pages, is of a reasonable size, so designed to fit the pocket, with a thumb index to the different classes and is printed on feather-weight paper, the association thereby saving about a hundred dollars in postage. The cover design is neat and the book is printed in several colors.

FUNERALS TODAY.

The funeral of Robert Watson took place this afternoon at half past two from his late residence, Coldbrook. A large number of persons from the city attended the funeral, leaving the King Square in coaches at two o'clock. The interment was made in Fernhill cemetery.

MORE BEAR GULCH TROUBLE.

Court Declared Company Bankrupt and Appointed Receiver—But Orders Have Been Set Aside.

A despatch from Helena, Mon., dated July 7, in the Anaconda Standard of Butte, Mon., says:—"The rumors that have been current several weeks respecting the affairs of the Kimberly-Montana Gold Mining company of Jardine, Park county, appear to have had some foundation, as involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been begun in the federal court against the company by several creditors. The court was petitioned to declare the company a bankrupt and to appoint a receiver. The petitioning creditors are the Blackfoot Milling company, the Anaconda Copper Mining company, A. J. Campbell, a Butte attorney, and L. H. Moss of Chicago.

Referees in Bankruptcy A. J. Frith of Butte and James T. Finley, who is interested in the Kimberly-Montana company, receiver, and he has been placed in charge by Deputy United States Marshal C. F. Gage.

A. H. Hannington, the legal representative of the local shareholders informed the Star this morning that it was true that, under false representations, a receiver had been appointed for the property, but that the order appointing him had already been set aside by the court and the mine was once more being operated under the control of the St. John shareholders.

The involuntary bankruptcy proceedings, he said, were taken for spite by some Chicago shareholders. Action was once taken to present the truth of the matter before the court and word was received last night that the order had been set aside and the receiver dismissed.

MANY TOURISTS COMING.

A Big Rush Expected From Now On—August will be the Big Month.

Now that the summer hot spell has resolutely set in along the New England coast, a great rush of tourists in the direction may be securely looked for. August is the big tourist travelling month and Mrs. R. E. Olive, secretary of the Tourist Association, says that the signs indicate a great incoming during that month of American city folk seeking respite from the sweltering heat of their own towns.

It is yet too early to attempt to estimate the possible number of tourists who will come to St. John and New Brunswick during the summer. So far the number of tourists who have stopped off at St. John has been fully as large as this time last year.

For the last two weeks hundreds have come by the Boston boats, but the majority passed through to Prince Edward Island.

A noticeable feature of the tourist travel so far this summer is that the tourists are generally people of means and with the intention of having the best that can be offered them and are prepared to pay. Summer hotel managers in St. Martins and along the river are recognizing this fact and are going to the expense of appointing their places with up-to-date conveniences.

This spirit of catering to the better class of tourists is expected to have the result of bringing that class this year in greater numbers. Many New Yorkers who came here last summer have written the last summer has been written their intention of returning this summer.

GEORGE GEE REPENTANT

Will Be Baptized Before He Is Hanged—Radcliffe Will Conduct the Execution.

Mr. and Mrs. Gee came down from Canaan on Saturday to see their son George, the prisoner condemned to death. George is in a happy frame of mind, says the Woodstock Despatch, and will apparently meet his death with the utmost alacrity. The father is apparently not deeply moved, but the mother gave way her grief and weeps bitterly when she visits her son.

George professes to have had a religious experience and will be baptized before his execution. He has heard that since his trial and sentence many of his family have had a change of heart and that this is entirely due to his unhappy fate he says God has used him as an instrument to convert them. He is content that it is so. He has requested that Rev. Mr. Dalbeck, Primitive Baptist minister, at Bath, stay with him the night previous to the execution and accompany him to the gallows. Mr. Dalbeck will comply with Gee's request.

It is now known definitely that, unless something unforeseen happens, Radcliffe will perform the execution.

MATE CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

This morning Sergt. Ross locked up Victor Holmgvist, mate of the bark Drynilda, now lying at Sand Point, on the complaint of two members of the crew, who say that Holmgvist assaulted and beat them. The Sergt. at once took his prisoner to the central station and as Sitting Magistrate Henderson was in the middle of the city court business the case was remanded. The mate was allowed to go on his own recognizance. The men who accuse him of assault then presented a sorry appearance.

Broke Out of the Lock-up Last Night and Eluded the Cops Today.

Jerry Daley was locked up yesterday morning and placed in the Water street lock-up. Jerry went to sleep and spent several hours very comfortably in a peaceful slumber. When he awoke he noticed unaccounted the nut from the bolt that held the bar on the door and walked out of his cell, an axe used for cutting kindling properly applied soon opened the door leading to the street and Jerry was free.

Nothing more was seen of him yesterday, but this morning he showed up on Water street and Officer Rankine started after him. Jerry saw the blue coat coming and made tracks. He got the cop by using a Water street store as a short cut, going in the front door and out the back.
