Bonaparte Divorce Case Settled.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Bonaparte divorce case came up again in the Divorce Court to-day, when the petition of Prince Louis Clovis Bonaparte to declare null the marriage contracted by him in the Isle of Man, on the ground that the respondent, Mrs. Megon, had a husband living at the time of his marriage to her, was granted.

Drags Collide—Four Killed.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Two closely-packed drags collided on the way home from the races. The horses became unmanageable and threw one drag down an embankment into the gutter. All the occupants of the drag were thrown out and two horses rolled down the embankment with them. Four men were killed and several men and women were severely injured.

Gladstone to His Supporters.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Mr. Gladstone, in the circular to his Parliamentary supporters which was issued to-day, urges them to attend the election for Speaker of the House of Commons on Thursday, and especially impressed upon them the necessity of being present on Monday next, when the address is moved in reply to the speech from the throne.

Will He Be Counted In?

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A petition has been granted against the return of Arthur Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Conservative leader in the House of Commons, as member of Parliament for East Manchester, on the ground that his election was obained by bribery and illegal voting, by the wholesale treating of voters and the hiring of vehicles to carry them to the polls.

A Much Divided House.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Sir Joseph Pease fights the Barnard Castle division of Durham as a Gladstonian, but his brother fights the contiguous borough of Darlington as a Unionist, his opponent, Mr. Theodore Fry, being the son-in-law of the late John Pease. Sir Joseph's two sons fight at York and at Tyneside as Gladstonians, but the younger, Mr. J. A. Pease, member for Tyneside, is the son-in-law of Sir H. Havelock-Allan, the defeated Unionist candidate for Southeast Durham. Yet another Mr. Pease was a leading supporter of Mr. Hamond, the Unionist member for Newcastle.

Paderewski Has Cut His Hair.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Now comes the news that Paderewski has cut his hair, and the trademark he enjoyed during his American tour, and which was intringed upon by so many actors and musicians in that country, he has forever dispensed with. That this great attribute of art—the very strength and evidence of talent, so to speak—should be cast aside for any cause is bad enough in itself, but that it should be dispensed with on account of love weakens one's faith in these inspired personages. Paderewski has cut off his hair because a certain wealthy lady whom he is about to marry declared she would not have him otherwise, and, thanks to her excellent judgment, the artist has taken on more the looks of a man since his decapitation and e as the appearance of a window brush.

Aunt Martha at Windsor.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Though Queen Victoria has received many a valuable token of her subjects loyalty, not one, perhaps, ever afforded her more gratification than one she has just received. Such a touching instance of the reverence in which she is held by faraway peoples has, in all likelihood, never before been given. England was the first nation to abolish slavery throughout her dominions, as she was to stamp it upon the United States. In her palace at Windsor she received an old Liberian lady, formerly a slave, whose one wish for more than 20 years had been to visit the Queen in England. "For more than 50 years," said the old lady, "I wanted to come to England and see Queen Victoria. I fell in love with her when she was crowned. We heard of it out in Liberia, and I saw her picture, and we read how good she was to all her subjects, the black ones as well as the white ones. From that time I wished to come and see her, and now I have been."

For many years Mrs. Ricks, or Aunt Martha, as she is familiarly called, had been saving up her money, animated by the one thought of seeing the Queen before she died. There in the wilds of West Africa, on her lonely coffee plantation, the old negro woman of three score years and ten had sat, year after year, and stitched with hands horny with the honest toil of many a long day, a green coffee tree on a white satin quilt, as a humble thank-offering on the day for which she had waited half a century, when she shall have crossed the great water and seen with her own eyes the "mussy," the "dread woman" of the land.

Aunt Martha was accompanied by Dr. Blyden, the Liberian Minister, and his wife, and together they went to Windsor by special invitation. Aunt Martha thus describes her visit:

"At Windsor two carriages fetched us at the station, and 4 o'clock Queen Victoria came and saw me. It was in a golden room; everything was beautiful, and there were pictures of all the kings and queens, and I did not know where to look to see it all. I never heard Queen Victoria come in, but all at once they told me she was there, and they were all coming toward us. I cannot tell you what Queen Victoria said to me, she speaks so softly, but she smiled, and her voice was sweet, and she shook hands with me, only with me. They told me she never shook hands with people, no queens did; she never shakes hands with Dr. Blyden, though he is the Liberian Minister; but Queen Victoria really shook hands with me. And Queen Victoria looked just as I always thought she would look, only a little older. She stoops, and I don't stoop, though I am older than she is. I am 76. But she has had troubles, great troubles; no wonder her shoulders are bent. We were taken all over Queen Victoria's house.

"I brought the Queen a little present. How could I come to see her and not do so? I made it all myself, every stitch of it. It was a quilt nine feet square, of white satin. And on it I had embroidered a coffee tree in green satin, with branches and leaves and with berries, some red and some green, and there was a man gathering the coffee, and a border of passion flowers.

"I meant to stay in England until October, but it will be too cold. It is not very cold now, as long as the wind does not blow. But when the wind blows it is as if I were being shot with a ball. So I must go home sooner. And why should I not go? What I looked forward to almost all my life has now come true; now I am ready. I shall work on my farm so long as I can, and when the call comes to go then there is nothing to keep me. The sooner it comes the better. All my friends are gone; I have only two stepsons, and those help me on my farm. And I have seen Queen Victoria."

Honored by the Queen.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The Queen has knighted the Lord Mayor of London, conferring upon him the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Result of Despotism.

ST. PETERSBURG Aug. 2.—A secret national printing press has been discovered in Warsaw. Three hundred arrests have been made in connection with the discovery.

Freedom of the Press.

SOFIA, Aug. 2.—The Bulgarian Government will issue a decree on the 13th inst. restoring the liberty of the press. This decision indicates the strength of the Government and is a prelude to further popular concessions.

Gladstone Better.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Mr. Gladstone's condition was so greatly improved this morning that he arose from bed at 11 o'clock and joined his secretary in his study. Acting under his physician's advice, however, Mr. Gladstone will remain indoors today.

The Ill-Fated Canal.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—The concessions and assets of the Panama Canal Company have been acquired by a syndicate headed by M. Hickerd, vice-president of the Paris Chamber of Commerce, and a new Panama Canal company will shortly be launched. Shares of the old company have risen seven points.

The Emperor at the Races.

COWES, Aug. 2.—Emperor William boarded his yacht, the Meteor, early this morning, and at 10 o'clock the yachts entering for the Queen's cup started in the race, which is to be sailed over the old Queen's course. The yachts made a flying start and the Meteor was first to cross the line. The wind is light and it is considered unlikely the race will be completed until late in the day.

Parliament Opens on Thursday.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—According to the form of procedure for the opening of Parliament, which takes place on Thursday next, the clerk of the Crown first hands a list of the members elected to the clerk of the House of Commons. Then the clerk of the House, standing at the entrance of the House of Commons, verifies the members entering. The House then proceeds to elect the Speaker, who, after his election, first makes oath. Then the swearing in of members begins. It is done by separating the members into detachments by twenty each, and will be completed by Saturday.

A Meddlesome Minister.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The Chronicle says that the report is not true that the British Minister at Stockholm assisted the King to intimidate the Norwegians, who were asking for a separate consular service from that of Sweden by telling the King that Lord Salisbury considered it impossible to deal with separate consuls. Swedish court organs assert that the King's obstinate resistance to Norway's demand was due to the action of the British Minister, who thinks that his staff would be overworked and worried by a duplex consular service. The Chronicle recalls the Sackville-West affair as a parallel case, and urges Lord Salisbury to order the Minister at Stockholm to publicly deny the report.

The Emperor at Cowes.

COWES, Eng., Aug. 2.—The Emperor William had a splendid reception when he arrived here in the German flotilla. He was received on board the royal yacht Alberta by the Duke of Connaught, who wore the uniform of a British general. After warm greetings and hearty hand-shakes had been exchanged, the Emperor and the Duke disembarked and were driven to Osborne House in an open carriage drawn by the Queen's four grays. These animals are used only on special occasions. During the ride the Duke of Connaught occupied a seat by the side of the Emperor. They were met at the entrance to Osborne House by a guard of honor composed of a detachment of the Rifle Brigade.

Sensational Charges.

DUBLIN, Aug. 2.—Fashionable society in the Irish capital is very much agitated over the trial of Canon Smith, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, in the diocesan court, on a charge preferred by Col. Grant, that the canon has erected a brass cross on the altar of St. Bartholemew's Church, of which he is incumbent. This is claimed by the colonel to be against the laws of the Irish Church. Many members have, it is stated, been offended by the canon's action, and have withdrawn from the church on account of it. The ritualistic battle is convulsing swelldom, and the trial was attended to-day by pretty nearly everybody of prominence in Dublin. The defendant claims that the archbishop sanctioned his use of the brass cross.

A WAR ROUTE TO THE LAKES.

England Urges Canada to Hurry the Deepening of Her Canals.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—Increased activity may be looked for shortly in connection with the work of deepening the St. Lawrence canals to a four-foot draught. One of the Government engineers stated yesterday that the British Government was urging the Government of Canada to hurry the work of deepening the canals through by the end of 1894, that they might be available for the passage of British gunboats in the event of their being required for lake service. The Government engineers estimate that it will require at least $12,000,000 to secure a uniform depth throughout the canals of fourteen feet from the head of navigation to tidewater.

THE QUESTION OF CANAL TOLLS.

United States Secretary of State Foster and Mr. Herbert Discuss the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Secretary of State Foster had a conference to-day with Mr. Herbert, British charge, over the question of tolls on the Canadian canals in connection with the retaliation passed by Congress. It is said that Mr. Herbert intimated that the discriminating tolls charged against American vessels for using the Canadian canals, while within the letter of the treaty between the two countries respecting the navigation of the canals and the St. Lawrence, was not in accordance with the spirit of the document. He disclaimed any knowledge of an intention on the part of the Dominion Government or that of the mother country to enter upon or to authorize a series of reprisals against the United States in case President Harrison acts under the terms of the new law. He probably recognized, if he did not admit, the futility of such a course, as it would at once lead to the entire suspension of a great part, if not the greater part, of the traffic of the Canadian trans-continental line.

Operations at the Champion iron mine, Marquette, Mich., have been suspended for an indefinite period, and the entire force of 600 employes are discharged. The Champion mine if the third in size of the mines in the Marquette iron range.

The only way to get turnip flavor out of milk is to heat the milk in a water bath to 135 to 140 degrees immediately after milking. This will completely eradicate the turnip flavor and the milk will make good, sweet butter. This heating of the milk will also cause the cream more perfectly to rise if set in shallow pans, and will thus increase the amount of butter. The taint of milk from sour or mouldy ensilage is removed by heating it to 130 degrees.

A FLAMING DELUGE.

Whole Towns and Their Inhabitants Blotted Out of Existence.

Earth Yawns and Swallows People by the Hundred.

Ten Thousand Lives Lost, It Is Thought, at a Moderate Estimate—The Noise of the Explosions at the Crater Heard Hundreds of Miles—Entire Districts Buried Under Hot Ashes.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 2.—The steamer Empress of India, just arrived from Japan, brings additional details of the disastrous volcanic eruption on Great Sangir Island. Without any warning signal, without any sign whatever of impending disturbance, the Gunong Aroo volcano blazed forth on June 7, and within 24 hours the whole of the prosperous surrounding country was devastated. The western coast of Great Sangir Island is washed by the Celebes Sea, with the Molucca passage on the southeast. The island is one of a chain of islands near the Philippines. The first report of the eruption was heard about 6 o'clock in the morning, and for four hours there was one continual stream of fire and ashes belching forth. After a slight relaxation a flood of fire again began, continuing two days, heavy rumblings being heard in the mountains.

TOROANA BURIED.

The town of Toroana, on the southern side of the island suffered then. Dwellings and other structures crumbled under their heavy load of dust and ashes, the inhabitants fleeing for safety, while many perished in the ruins. The cocoanut plantations, which covered the whole mountain side, were completely destroyed. Terrific thunder storms had followed each earthquake. Hot streams of mud and lava running down the mountain side rendered traveling unsafe, and those who were overtaken in their flight perished. Reports from all over the island indicate the most disastrous consequences. Whole villages are submerged and cocoa and nutmeg plantations everywhere are ruined. In the northern part of the island lava streams were running with terrific force. Among other villages completely obliterated was that of Tokekam, famed for its beauty and wealth.

FRIGHTFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

The loss of life is something frightful, but no accurate estimate of it can yet be made. Some place it as high as 10,000. A thousand bodies have been picked up on the shore and many were found floating in the sea. The alarm reached Ternate and the Netherlands warship Zeemruw was immediately dispatched, while from Mendena the British steamer Hecuba was also sent to render assistance and carry supplies. The whole island is completely devastated, and although the violent eruption has ceased volumes of smoke are rising, accompanied by steam and ashes. The lower lands and valleys are covered with lava, which is still pouring down, while cracks in the mountain have opened, emptying volleys of steam, stones and mud. Further outbreaks were feared, and as fast as steamers and vessels could be obtained the inhabitants still alive were fleeing.

ENORMOUS LOSS OF PROPERTY.

Property worth millions upon millions is destroyed forever. For many years the inhabitants of Sangir Island, living within the shadows of a dormant crater, had tilled the soil and prospered, their chief industry being the growing of nutmegs, cocoanuts and grapes, the product being regularly shipped abroad. Their life was a romantic one, favored by Providence with a climate equaling, if not surpassing, that of Italy, and a soil needing little cultivation to make it profitable. With no political or national disturbances the semi-savage natives were gradually becoming civilized. The villages and towns were well built, and had schools and churches.

VILLAGES AND INHABITANTS SWALLOWED UP.

Earthquakes began June 9. Village after village was engulfed, hundreds of people dropped into the great cracks in the earth.

The whole country is under a layer of mud, ashes and stones. All vegetation is either burned up by the awful heat of the volcanic fires or has been destroyed by dense showers of ashes and dust. The country around Gunong Aroo and the sides of the hills were still steaming and smoking on June 25, numerous volcanic jets throwing up columns of mud and stones which fell in showers over the district, forming into hot streams, which, in their downward course, carried everything before them. The district on the north side of the island is utterly destroyed, nutmeg and cocoa plantations being laid in ruins, and in many cases completely buried under the ashes, mud and lava from the crater.

A SCENE OF DESOLATION.

Among others who saw the island after the outbreak was Capt. J. Gray, of the steamship Norway, which had been sent with a cargo of rice from Mendanao to relieve the sufferers. He says the whole island, viewed from the westward, presented a most forlorn appearance. There was no sign of life anywhere. Volumes of smoke could be seen issuing from the volcano accompanied by fine ashes, which spread like a cloud over the island and fell thickly everywhere. Small jets of steam, smoke and stones were pouring out from the mountain sides, completely covering the lower valleys and lands. The entire topography of the island was changed. On the night of the outbreak two Norwegian barks, the Primepa and the Fashion, were in Toroana Bay, but got to sea without damage. In a pretty harbor on the northeast side of the island the Dutch ships Terbekla and Grippa were loading nutmegs. They, too, sustained little injury fortunately, because there was no tidal wave. The report of the first explosion was heard at Ternate, Gorontalo and Mandanao, which are respectively 210, 240 and 216 miles distant. The lava streams were confined to the northern slopes of the mountain. In the Tobookan district not a single village remains, while thousands of the inhabitants were killed in the overflow. The village of Lorena, on the south side of the mountain, protected by a ridge of hills, some of them 1,800 feet high, is covered by ashes. Many of the houses were crushed by the accumulated weight of ashes, dust and stones. Cocoanut plantations on both sides of Lorena Bay are destroyed, but in the town itself there was comparatively little loss of life. To the westward of the town, after passing the foot of the ridge, the scene is one of complete desolation and and devastation. The suffering among those who escaped with their lives has been most acute. All the food on the island was destroyed, and but for the prompt assistance of the neighboring islands many would have starved. "The whole of the island," says one writer, "is a mass of smoldering ruins. The people who have lived and prospered there have lost all they ever had, and now the only thing for them to do is to leave for another and more favored spot or stay there and die."

TERRIFIC NAPHTHA EXPLOSION.

Three Men Fatally Burned and Many Injured.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 2.—While the debris of the great wreck on the Big Four railroad was burning at Cold Springs last evening, the flames reached a naphtha tank. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, and the naphtha tank was in pieces. John Haner, Ernest Wilson, Thomas Harris and Wm. Creamer were fatally burned. Sixteen others were more or less seriously burned.

THE NEW MANITOBAN M.P.P.S.

A number of the new M.P.P.s elected in Manitoba last week are well known in this district. The Tribune gives biographical sketches of them.

Hon. Robert Watson was born in Elora, April 30, 1853, and is consequently in his 39th year. He was educated at the public school, Salem, in the county of Wellington. He married, July 15, 1880, Isabel, daughter of Duncan Brown, of Lobo, Ont. He is a millwright by trade, and has devoted much of his attention to milling and the grain trade since his advent to Manitoba in 1876. Mr. Watson, in the Dominion House, championed the anti-disallowance cause singlehanded; receiving neither the vote nor voice of a single representative west of Lake Superior. Mr. Watson, in his political career, has had one end in view, the settlement and development of this western country.

R. Hill Myers, M.P.P., of Minnedosa, was born in Oxford county, Ont., in March, 1856. He lived in Stratford from 1864 to 1882 and was educated in the public schools and the Collegiate Institute of that classic city. He began to study law in 1875, and was admitted as an attorney and solicitor and called to the Ontario bar in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, at Michaelmas term, 1880. Mr. Myers was instrumental in starting a Young Men's Liberal Club in Stratford and was its first secretary and took a prominent part in politics. He came to Manitoba in the spring of 1882 and settled in Minnedosa, forming a law partnership with John Crerar.

As expected Mr. David McNaught, V.S., will write M. P. P. after his name. He is now 53 years old. He came to Canada when 7 years of age, going to Fergus, county of Wellington, where his father engaged in farming. After seven years his father removed to Brantford, where he was associated with Mellish, Morrell, Whitehead & Co., who built the first railroad into Brantford, the Kirby House and other large works. His father then bought a farm near Mitchell, county of Huron. He carried on the blacksmith and carriage business in Seaforth for eighteen years. He was in the town council for eight years. In 1870 he went to the veterinary college in Toronto, studied two years and graduated with honors in 1872. Was appointed one of the examiners of that institution, which position he retained until his removal to Manitoba in 1881. He has carried on farming and attended to his profession ever since near Rapid City.

J. F. Frame, member-elect for Dennis, is one of the prominent business men of Virden, having been engaged in the hardware business for many years. He formerly resided in Collingwood, Ont.

J. A. Davidson, Opposition member-elect for Beautiful Plains, resides in Neepawa. He was born at Thamesford, Ont., Aug., 1852. He is a merchant; came to Manitoba in 1872; first elected to the Manitoba Legislature in 1881, and re-elected in 1883. He was defeated in 1886, and again in 1888 by Capt. Crawford, but on July 23, 1892 he got there at last.

William Alexander Macdonald, member-elect for Brandon City, was born in the city of St. Catharines, Ont., on June 7, 1860, and is the third son of Mr. F. F. W. Macdonald, master in chancery of that place.

Mr. V. Winkler, M.P.P. for Rhineland, is an Ontarioite, and was born in Neustadt, county Grey, on the 18th day of March, 1864, so he is now 28 years of age. He came to Manitoba in 1879. Since then he has been in the lumber business.

Dr. Rutherford, M.P.P., came to Canada in 1875, attended the agricultural college at Guelph, where he graduated with honors. He attended the Ontaria Veterinary College and matriculated in 1877. Returning to the old country, he attended lectures in Edinburgh and London, then came back to Canada and graduated from the Ontario College in 1879, taking the gold medal for the best general examination. He practiced in Woodstock for a time.

The Windsor Tragedy.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 2.—Florence Smith, who was so badly burned in the fire which burned her home on Sunday morning, lies dead. The condition of Mrs. Smith and the other daughter Alice remains unchanged, and it is thought they will now pull through all right.

A Child Takes a Fatal Drink.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 2.—The little 2-year-old son of David Hanna, while out playing in the yard this afternoon, came upon a pile of old bottles. Seeing one partially filled he drank its contents, and fifteen minutes later died. The bottle contained a preparation for cleaning clothes. It was principally made up from benzine.

Another Warrant for Criminal Libel.

GODERICH, Aug. 1.—A warrant was today issued for the arrest of W. F. McLean, proprietor of the Toronto World, for publishing, on July 29, a criminal libel on M. C. Cameron, of this town. It is also understood further criminal proceedings are on foot for making his journal a vehicle for the dissemination of fallacious literature.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

Both loops of the new Grand Trunk belt line around Toronto are now open, and are a great convenience.

General Manager Van Horne denies that his company has bought the Springhill, N. S., coal mines. The company will go on with the Parry Sound extension, and keep ahead of any new line entering that territory.

The five great national orders of railroad employes will probably federate at St. Louis this week.

Fargo is boycotting the Northern Pacific because it doesn't put up a new station and a $20,000 hotel.

The National, the American, the Canadian and the Grand Trunk Companies are negotiating at Montreal for a consolidation of their express interests.

J. B. Morford, ex-superintendent Canada division M. C. R., wife and daughter, have left for Asbury Park, N. J., for a month's stay there. It is understood Mr. Morford will resume railroading.

BURNED OUT.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 1.—Lightning striking the wires leading from the plant which lights the State Insane Asylum here to the building set fire to the west wing of the structure at an early hour this morning, and that portion of the building devoted to female patients was destroyed.

Seeking a New Trial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Father Dent, who some time ago sued Bishop Ryan, of Buffalo, for $100,000 for alleged slander, and who lost the suit, has applied for a new trial. To-day he was granted an order by Judge Bartlett in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, requiring Bishop Ryan's lawyers to show cause why they should not file their amendments immediately in the argument against the new trial. The order is returnable next Monday.

Horns Locked for Seven Days.

ASHFORD, Conn., Aug. 1.—Stephen D. Curtis and Anson G. Barlow are owners of land adjoining this town, where their cattle are allowed to run. On the same day each missed a cow. Seven days later they were found in the woods with their horns so locked that it was impossible to extricate themselves. One of the horns was sawed off in order to release them. They had become very poor and weak from being unable to obtain food.

A $12,500 Haul.

PANAMA, Aug. 1.—The steamship San Pose, of the Pacific Mail Steamship Line, arrived here last night. She left San Francisco July 15 for Panama by way of Acapulco. The passengers were not allowed to land at Acapulco on July 22, and there was considerable excitement on the steamship when it was learned that the restriction was made owing to a report of the theft of money and jewelry. One of the passengers, it appears, intrusted several bags containing money and gems, amounting in value to $12,500, to the purser, who has been 32 years in the service of the Pacific Mail Company, and whose integrity is regarded as above suspicion. The money and valuables were stolen on the passage, but by whom is a mystery. The police boarded the vessel and made a search among both passengers and crew, but without satisfactory result.

This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

An order was left by Dr. Stewart, of Palmerston, with Mr. Moyer, of the button factory, Port Elgin, a few days ago, for the immediate manufacture of 10,000 bone vaccine points. Dr. Stewart is overwhelmed with orders at his vaccine farm just now, pressing requests arriving each day from British Columbia, including one heavy order from the Local Government of the Pacific Province. The doctor has made the production of vaccine a special study and suddenly a great demand has arisen for it all over the country.

Some time ago at Windsor I. B. Cornwall had Drake & Joyce, the undertakers, before Justice McWhinney, charged with driving through the gravel road tollgate with a hearse and not paying toll. The defendants claimed that they were exempt either going or coming from a funeral, but the justice held otherwise and they were fined. They appealed and the case came up before Judge Horne. He decided that from now on they were exempt, but they must pay all costs. This amount in itself will not fall short of $100.

Remi Primeau and John Bertrand went out to Felix Bertrand's slaughter house, Amherstburg, to kill cattle. When they were trying to catch a 4-year-old heifer the animal ran for John and gored him in the arm, tearing his shirt and scratching the arm badly. It then knocked him down, continuing to gore him, and before Remi could get the animal away it had gored John in the left leg, tearing his clothes and inflicting several bad wounds, from which he is very sore.

The closing visit of the travelling dairy to East Elgin was to Mr. C. Saywell's, Yarmouth, two miles from St. Thomas, Friday evening. The attendance was small, but Mr. Hume's practical butter making was watched, and Mr. Linfield's address on dairying listened to with interest. This week will be spent in West Elgin—Lawrence station, Tuesday; Iona, Wednesday; Dutton, Thursday; West Lorne, Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Arkell, of Helena, Mont. formerly of Aylmer, has died.

A Lawrence correspondent of the St. Thomas Times says: Some parties tried to get into Robert Miller's house by raising the window. His wife heard them and got up, and they made a hasty retreat. On the same night they went to Geo. Carroll's house and got in by raising the window. Carroll heard them and got up, when they made through the house, out of the window and ran away. There has been a young man named Richard Lapeer, of Montreal, working for several farmers here and sleeping in their barns while those robberies were committed. At Hamilton's on the back street, some time ago two watches were taken. At Mr. Blue's place, near Wallacetown, watches were also taken, and this same man worked there some time before, and at the time Mr. Blue's watches were stolen he was working at Mr. Campbell's, near Lawrence. He is still in the woods around here. It is said he had watches and revolvers when here.

At the residence of Richard Breen, on Broadway, this city, on Thursday, a happy matrimonial event took place. The contracting parties were E. A. Graves, of Clearwater, to Miss Mary Catherine Bateman, daughter of George Bateman, of Muncey, Ont. WATERLOO.

The remains of a newly-born child were found on a sidewalk in Berlin Saturday morning. No marks of violence were found on the body.

Eighty-four years ago Saturday the first white baby was born on the spot where the thrifty town of Berlin now stands. It was the late Isaac Eby, who was born one year after his parents came over from Pennsylvania with the United Empire Loyalists.

Mr. Biggs, of Preston, was drawing his furniture to the depot to ship to Burlington, having his little son Willie sitting on a table at the back. In going up the hill in front of the bank, the table slipped off, throwing the boy to the ground, the washing machine striking him on the head, cutting an ugly gash eight inches long on the top of his head, and tearing the scalp entirely from one side of the skull. The wound is a serious one, but the boy may recover.

Mrs. Cant, Galt, who has been ailing so long, took a turn for the worse Sunday, and grew gradually weaker, until she passed away Monday morning at 3 o'clock. The deceased leaves a family of three—Hugh A. Cant, Galt, Mrs. T. Gibson, Galt, and Miss Agnes Cant.

A LABOR LEADER'S HOME.

A bright, cheerful and charmingly furnished home is that of Hugh O'Donnell, who gained such wide fame as the leader of the Homestead men. He owns one of the larger cottages. It has ten rooms. And there is about it the plot of grass with the flower gardens. All the houses seem to have a little patch of lawn that is carefully cared for.

The dining-room of the young leader's house is the coolest one and it is made the living-room in summer. A good many people would find it rather too neat for comfort. The writing-desk is covered with letters these days and the books are not opened much. Neither has the table, with its soft chenille table-cloth, been set regularly. But everything is ready and the silver of the sideboard is as bright as ever. Mrs. O'Donnell is one of the pretty women of Homestead. She is a rounded little woman, with a face that would attract attention anywhere.

It is rather a strong face for a woman, but the smiling mouth and the clear blue eyes rob it of any suggestion of severity. The wife of the leader, who is a skilled mechanic in the mills, reads French and German as easily as she does English, and she is famed all over town for her skill in cooking and housewifery. Does not that strike you as a curious combination for the wife of a workman?

The people in town say that no one's heart is kinder than hers, and that no one is more modest or better dressed. If anyone is in trouble Mrs. O'Donnell's advice is sought. If any woman is in doubt about styles or a recipe she goes to see Mrs. O'Donnell, but she herself rarely leaves home unless it is with her husband. She is very proud of him and very devoted. Her hair is prematurely gray, which of course makes her look all the more charming and interesting. Hugh says that it is worrying over him that makes her gray.

"I wish it were all over," she said. "We are in with our husbands always because we believe in them. But the sight of bloodshed is horrible. I do not care if Hugh never goes back in the mill again. I do not like to leave Homestead, but if we must I will not say anything. We can starve cheerfully if we have to, only I don't want to see the men sufer.

"I knew that Hugh was counseling peace, but the thought that he might be shot down drives me almost wild with anxiety. I don't think that any one but a wife can understand the feeling that her husband may be killed by men who come to kill. You cannot make any woman in Homestead believe that the men can be wrong in this fight against the mill owners. We believe too much in our husbands for that. We know that their cause is just. That is why we are so ready to bear any hardship that comes."

Not all the workmen in Homestead own houses. Good building lots are worth from $2,000 to $3,000, and then there is the house to put up. Of the houses it may be said that the exteriors are not attractive as a rule, but they are comfortable.

It there is any person to whom you feel a dislike, that is the person of whom you ought never to speak.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

The Stock Yard.

—A pig may be taught to hunt—for a living.

—Allow no hogs around the stock watering tank.

—Some grow peas and let the fattening pigs harvest them.

—The cheapest pork is made by using the clover pasture.

—A well-fed pig ought to make at least a pound of gain a day.

—The pig has a small stomach and therefore requires condensed food.

—Many weed pests may be destroyed by giving the hogs a chance at them.

—Water without shade looses half its value to the hogs; both are necessary in the pasture in the summer.

The Flower Garden.

—Thank God for the flowers—
That blossom so sweetly and fair;
They garnish the strange life of ours
And brighten our path everywhere.

—Roses can be successfully budded on peach trees, according to a Santa Clara, Cal., correspondent of Vick's Monthly. He says: "I have seen a 3 and 4 year old peach tree bloom as nature would have it on some branches early in April; then from May to August hang thick with branches of white, pink and yellow roses—a perfect wonder to passers-by."

—Flowers may be kept fresh for a long time by putting a pinch of soda into the water in which they are held. They should not be gathered while the sun is shining upon them, but early in the morning or after the sun has been down for an hour. To revive wilted flowers plunge the stems to about one-third of their length in boiling water. This will drive the sap back into the flowers, causing them to become fresh. Then cut away the third of the stem, which has been heated, and place the flowers in cold water.

The Apiary.

Said Mrs. Wasp to Mrs. Bee,
"Will you a favor do me?
There's something I can't understand,
Please, ma'am, explain it to me.

Why do they build for you a house,
And coax you to go in it,
While me—your cousin—they'll not let
Stay near them for a minute?

I have a sting, I do confess,
And should not like to lose it;
But so have you, and when you're vexed
I'm very sure you use it."

"Well," said the bee, "to you no doubt,
It does seem rather funny;
But people soon forget the stings
Of those who give them honey."

Don't wait until a honey flow is rapidly passing or gone, before you have your bees and surplus cases ready for business, then curse the bees or profession for being a delusion. Be on time always.

Don't fail to cut out all excess of drone comb, for drones are heavy consumers, and bring nothing in. A few hundreds instead of thousands, will serve a large apiary. It costs as much to keep one drone as it does six workers.

Don't fail to have plenty of water, salt and pure, so arranged that the bees can get at it without drowning. Bees must have water in their breeding season, no matter what the cost is to them. Be merciful unto them, always.

Don't be rough in handling your bees, for that kind of treatment will make the gentlest bees on earth cross, sooner or later. Always be gentle to them.

Don't cultivate a slack system of management in the apiary. It has never been known to pay, but has cost the keeper many dimes, and hours of fearful suspense.

Don't fail to always have plenty of bees when the honey flow is on hand. If you can never do this, the less money and time you waste the better for you.

Don't think for a moment that there may be no difference in the race of bees for business, beauty, prolificness and gentleness, as there is, and, if ignored, you make a sad mistake.

Don't under-estimate the great value of worker-combs. They are a great agency in building up new colonies, extracting, etc.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

—[BROWNING.

London, Tuesday, August 2.

TAKING the census of manufactures, recently issued, for its guide, the Montreal Gazette has discovered that the oil refining business is practically conducted to-day without profit to the proprietors. But who is there that puts any reliance upon these census returns?

HENRY M. STANLEY says he will never come to this continent again because of the offensive allusions which the newspapers of America made regarding his late canvass for a seat in the British House of Commons. If Stanley goes off into the sulks over such a small matter as that, we shall be compelled to regard him as a very common place man instead of the hero which he makes himself out to be in his books and lectures. Stanley's boycott, however, will be his own loss, not ours.

THEY are in doubts in Toronto as to whether or not newspaper offices should be regarded as factories. There need be no misgivings on that fact. The Factory Act expressly provides that printing offices shall be regarded as factories for the purposes of that measure, and even if it did not is there not daily evidence that the newspaper is a manufactured article, in the completion of which a large number of hands are employed? The ADVERTISER, for example, is one of the largest employers of labor in London.

LADY ABERDEEN and the Countess of Carlisle are said to be the best women canvassers in Great Britain. They gave a powerful impetus to Liberal principles in the districts where they operated. We have seen no place yet selected for Lord Aberdeen in the new Liberal Ministry. Under Gladstone's last Government Lord Aberdeen was Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and a better viceroy Ireland never had But it is understood that Earl Spencer is booked for Dublin Castle in the coming. Administration. Can it be that Lord Aberdeen is reserved for the Governor-Generalship of Canada? He and his noble lady will have a warm welcome if such should prove to be the case.

THERE seems to be no end to the experiments for the treatment of pneumonia. The latest novel operation has just been performed in the Philadelphia City Hospital. It consisted in a patient who was recovering from the disease being bled and his blood being infused into the arm of the sufferer. The patient on whom the operation was performed was a white man who had been brought in by the district surgeons. The convalescent from whom blood was extracted was a colored man. An incision was made in the white man's upper arm, and one of the veins was isolated for about half an inch. After it had been bound and the natural flow of blood stooped, a slit was made in it and a glass tube with a wide aperture was inserted. Then about a pint of blood, extracted from the arm of the colored man, was poured in. Gravity carried it into the veins, and soon the blood was coursing through the man's body. In order that the body should not be supercharged with blood a similar amount was extracted previous to the operation. This was black and unhealthy looking, while the blood infused was of a bright red color. After the operation the man's temperature rose, and symptoms similar to those that were noticed after the Koch lymph injections followed. In a few hours, however, a change for the better set in, and next morning the man's temperature was normal and apparently he is a well man. According to the theory acted upon, the system of a convalescent is full of the pneumonia bacteria antidote, and when the blood charged with this is infused into a sufferer it works a cure immediately.

WAGES.

The claim is sometimes made that the policy of high taxation is necessary in Canada in order that wages may be maintained at a higher rate than is paid in Great Britain. What the monopolists ask the workingmen to believe is that but for the tariff their wages would be reduced. The pretense is a sham and a fraud. It has been established beyond contradiction that wages on this continent are regulated by supply and demand, and are higher here than they are in Great Britain because this is a new country. There are more opportunities to make a living than are open in an old country of the small dimensions of Britain. Here it is an easy thing for a man in a business that becomes overcrowded to go upon the land and make a living. In the old world land monopoly prevents that. All the land worth having has been appropriated and can only be purchased at a very high price. Then we live side by side of a country possessing a greater freedom of trade within itself than any country on the face of the earth enjoys. The Belleville Intelligencer, after printing our summary of the remarkable progress which the United States has made in the last ten years, despite her high tariff, professes to be amused because the ADVERTISER, a believer in the greatest possible free trade, has been "glorifying the highest protective tariff in the world." In pointing out the facts regarding our neighbors, the ADVERTISER does not glorify their tariff; it can truthfully say that the United States has prospered in spite of its system of taxation. And well it may. Who would not say that Europe would prosper to-day if it had no standing army, and no tax on trade within a zone extending from the far-off Russian steppes to the eastern confines of the Atlantic? The United States is such a land; but neither within its borders nor in Canada is a system of high taxation necessary to the prosperity of the people. Indeed, in both countries the workingmen have found the tariff-pampered industries the first to feel depression in trade and their owners the first to reduce wages. Witness, the experience of the cotton workers and of the Hamilton molders.

But if high tariffs are wage-raisers why are their effects not equally marked in every country where they are enforced? Germany has a "protective" tariff, passed, according to its promoters, to provide employment at high wages. How it has worked we gather from the experience of workers in one staple industry—the manufacture of woolens. A correspondent gives an interesting though pathetic description of the phases of life in the factories of Berlin. Some of the faces are illiads of pain, and the physical misery and industrial servitude is appalling. A girl at the loom weaves 60 yards of cloth and gets $1 25; it takes her three days. It takes the beauty from her young womanhood, the grace from her form and an inch from her stature. Spinning girls average $2 50; in the dirty, greasy work of the carding room toilers make $2 75. The women who sort the rags grow yellow as parchment and slowly choke to death from the dusty atmosphere in which they work. These poor old hags in their mop caps and wooden sandals are pictures for the "Cave of Despair." Some of them have been in the mill 40 years, growing feebler and more resigned all the time. One old creature had served heroically 52 long years. Time, the arch traitor, had left one lickerish tooth in her mouth for hunger to mock at, palsied her claw-like hands, put a crack in her voice and bent her almost double. She made $1 25 with her shears, and by lodging a couple of mill girls, in whom she saw her past and whose future she reflected, she managed to live. The hours were from 6 a.m. until 6:30 p.m.; there was half an hour for "second breakfast," an hour for dinner and one quarter of an hour's rest in the afternoon. The men looked like ghosts, the girls like hags and the women like mummies. These caste ridden, tradition cursed people are born in the mill and they die in it. They have no chance to find their humanity. Their patience is enduring, their industry tireless, and their lives are filled with the elements that heroism is made of. Pitiless want puts the crushing load on very tender shoulders and the boys are stunted and the girls begin to fade almost before maturity. In a mill where shoddy cloths and yarns are made the earnings of 400 hands averaged 62½ cents the year through. This is in "protectionist" Germany. Pray, if it is "protection" that keeps wages high, why is it powerless in the German Empire? And why is it necessary for skilled mechanics in Canada to go on strike in order to secure living wages? No intelligent workingman can surely be deluded by the assumption that the more money which is collected by the Government—oftentimes squandered—in the process of international trade, the better off he will be. It is, as we have demonstrated, a delusion.

THE PINKERTONS.

A correspondent asks for some information regarding the Pinkerton agents, the operations of whom caused so much disaster at Homestead, Pa., recently.

The Pinkertons began business in the United States, some 25 years since, as private detectives. For a time, their operations were conducted in a humble, unpretentious manner, but in recent years the business has enormously increased. It has been a comparatively easy thing for the Pinkertons to extend their ramifications from a merely private detective business to defensive work, and in that capacity they have been used while strikes have been in progress in various parts of the United States. The employment of an irregular, guerilla-like force of this description to overawe one party to a labor dispute has had the reverse of a conciliatory effect in the majority of cases, and the climax was reached when the Carnegie Company hired some 300 Pinkerton agents, at $5 a day, to take shot-gun and revolver control of their works at Homestead.

We are asked if we have any such force in Canada, and if we believe the Pinkerton business to be a legitimate one. We have no organization analagous to the Pinkertons in Canada, though Pinkerton men have operated in this country as private detectives again and again. There can be no objection to their so doing; indeed, they have done excellent work in unearthing crime in all parts of the country, though local detectives if given the same scope and pretty generous financial encouragement, could be trusted to establish a record equally good. There has been and there will always be an objection to sending the Pinkertons around the country as an armed force. We in Canada would never tolerate the operations of such an organization, and it is now apparent that the end of the system in the United States is at hand The Canadian method of keeping the peace is decidedly better. When the ordinary police force is unable to cope with lawlessness, we do not permit irregularly organized men to be gathered up and armed to defend either life or property. Our civil authorities in these circumstances are empowered to call out the militia, and to re-establish order by such force as is deemed prudent. It must be evident to everybody that the Canadian way is the preferable, though even in operating it there has sometimes been friction.

WHERE DID THE SUBSIDY GO?

[Ottawa Free Press.]

The utter folly of the present system of subsidizing railways by the Fedral Government was never better illustrated than in the case of the Buctouche and Moncton Railway, which is located in Westmoreland county, N. B. That road has received federal subsidies amounting to $.02,400, yet it was sold at a sheriff's sale the other day for just $1 50, the equipment fetching $1,000. What has become of the subsidy?

SALVATION IN FAVORITISM.

[Seaforth Expositor.]

The Toronto Telegram says: "Give the Grits the advantage of power and three months at the Ottawa archives, with investigators of their own choosing, and the Conservatives would go the way of Mercier." There is no doubt about it. If the Governor-General was to take the Ottawa Government by the throat, as the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec took the Mercier Government, some who now carry very high heads would be fortunate if they would escape the penitentiary. But, there is not much danger of anything of that kind during Lord Stanley's time. The Quebec Lieutenant-Governor was a Tory while the Mercier Government was Grit. The Governor-General is a Tory and the Ottawa Government is Tory, too, and this makes a big difference all around. If Mercier had been accorded the same immunity that has been accorded the Ottawa authorities he would still be as strongly entrenched in power as they are. It makes a big difference some times how things are manœuvered. Bad as Mercier is, he is a babe in iniquity when compared with Thompson, Caron, Chapleau or Haggart.

When the Queen departed from Windsor Castle for Osborne, a few days ago, the royal standard was lowered and the Union Jack hoisted on the Round Tower. This is the resumption of an ancient custom which has been in desuetude for many years. Windsor Castle is in reality a fortress, and it is proper that the national flag should be displayed above it.

"German Syrup"

A Throat and Lung Specialty.

Those who have not used Boschee's German Syrup for some severe and chronic trouble of the Throat and Lungs can hardly appreciate what a truly wonderful medicine it is. The delicious sensations of healing, easing, clearing, strength-gathering and recovering are unknown joys. For German Syrup we do not ask easy cases. Sugar and water may smooth a throat or stop a tickling—for a while. This is as far as the ordinary cough medicine goes. Boschee's German Syrup is a discovery, a great Throat and Lung Specialty. Where for years there have been sensitiveness, pain, coughing, spitting, hemorrhage, voice failure, weakness, slipping down hill, where doctors and medicine and advice have been swallowed and followed to the gulf of despair, where there is the sickening conviction that all is over and the end is inevitable, there we place German Syrup. It cures. You are a live man yet if you take it.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 1.—The cricket tournament opened to-day in Halifax, being pitted against All-Philadelphia. The home team went first to bat and made the respectable record of 98. Philadelphia followed, and were all retired for 89, the highest score being 18 by Biddle, not out. Then Halifax went in for second, but succeeded in making only 66 runs, Philadelphia's new bowler being very destructive, taking 9 of 10 wickets. The visitors have to make 75 to win.

The City Council

Sanctions the School Board's Estimates,

Adopts the Installment Plan of Tax Collections,

And Permits Dogs to Go Unmuzzled.

A Lengthy Session Last Night—Street Railway Matters—A Special Meeting to be Held—Pertinent Inquiries—Other Civic Business.

Two big petitions were read at last night's meeting of the City Council protesting against the proposed muzzling of dogs during August. Talbot Macbeth, representing the petitioners, pointed out that nothing had been heard of hydrophobia, and that it would be cruelty to muzzle canines in this weather. The practice would tend to cause that which it aimed to prevent.

On Ald. Yates' motion the prayer of the petition was granted, and only dogs not registered according to law will be impounded.

STREET RAILWAY MATTERS.

The city solicitor submitted the result of the agreement between the city and the London Street Railway Company, by which Dundas street is to be put in its former condition, and the question of the company's right to make the proposed extensions is to be decided in October here.

A communication from the new street railway company informed the council that they had sought incorporation, but the Attorney-General desired that all applicants for a charter should furnish resolutions from the municipalities approving of the same. The company asked the council to favor them with such a resolution. On Ald. Hannah's motion the request was granted.

J. McMartin, et al.—Petitioned against a street railway on Talbot street, between Dundas and York, where the new company proposed to operate. The chief reason given was that it would interfere with business, as that portion is used for market purposes. Sent to No. 1.

COMMUNICATIONS.

J. B. Simpson—For remission of dog tax. Granted.

Jane Lloyd—For remission of taxes. No. 1.

Catherine Murphy—For remission of arrears of taxes. No. 1.

George Shoff—For remission of dog tax. No. 1.

Crawford Beckett—For remission of a fine imposed by the police magistrate. No. 1.

Frances Griffith—For damages for injury resulting from a fall into an open drain on Stanley street. No. 2.

Neil Cooper—Against construction of drain on part of Piccadilly street. No. 2.

A. O. Graydon—Asking to be made boulevard inspector. No. 2.

London Furniture Company—For construction of artificial stone walk in front of premises. No. 2.

C. E. Jarvis—Re condition of East End Hall. No. 2.

D. McDonald—Complaining of condition of Grosvenor street, Adelaide to Colborne, No. 2.

A. O. Graydon—Re planking on Victoria bridge and breakwater. No. 2, with power.

A. O. Graydon—Stating that he had notified Mr. Wm. Gray to take down a wooden building, but had been replied to that Chief Williams, when inspector, permitted the same to be built. No. 3.

Martin Gould—For permission to alter building within fire limits. No. 3.

From the city solicitor—Re amendment to the fire limits bylaw. No. 3.

City Clerk Kingston—For two or three weeks' holidays. Granted.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

Ald. Fitzgerald submitted No. 3 Committee's report. It recommended that George Heaman's tender for a street watering cart at $285 be accepted; and that bylaw 378 be amended so that the city engineer be made inspector of buildings within the city limits instead of fire limits. The first clause carried; the second was sent back to the committee.

THE BOARD OF WORKS.

The report of No. 2 Committee was read by Ald. Connor. Clause 1 recommended that the work of laying the Ussher artificial stone walk on Carling street be proceeded with at once. Gardner & Co., of Toronto, are the city contractors, but the petitioners asked that the Ussher walk be laid. Discussion took place, and some of the members thought it unfair to allow the Gardner Company to be deprived of the contract. The clause carried by a majority of one.

Clause 2—That the petition of T. Green et al. against construction of block pavement on Princess avenue between Victoria Park and William street be granted. Carried.

The third clause submitted the tenders of S. H. Craig and John Elliott for the erection of a bridge over the Wharncliffe road and an abutment at the foot of Richmond street. This was done because Mr. Elliott had not sent in the required check with his tender, while Mr. Craig had. The engineer explained that the printed specification did not call for a certified check, and he had inserted this proviso at the last moment. He did not blame Mr. Elliott.

Mr. Craig's figures were $2,484 96; Mr. Elliott's, $2,149. On motion Mr. Elliott's tender was accepted. The Richmond street abutment question was referred back to the committee. The tenders were: Mr. Craig's, $5,995 60; Mr. Elliott's, $5,744.

The opinion of the city solicitor on Benj. Johnson's claim re Victoria bridge breakwater contract, was also sent back.

W. H. Gauld's tender of $1,259 for block pavement on Adelaide street, between Dundas and King, was accepted. Mr. Cox was granted the contract for a drain on Thornton avenue and Oxford street at 36½ cents per foot; manholes and gully holes, $17 each.

A KICK OVER SCHOOL ESTIMATES.

The most important clauses in Ald. Gartshore's report from No. 1 Committee were those submitting the school estimates for adoption. The requirements for the current year were $19,356 for the Collegiate Institute, and $56,736 66 for public schools, an increase of $13,169 89 over 1891. The board also asked that $46,000 be raised by debentures for an addition to the institute and for new public schools.

The estimates were first considered. Mr. Dewar, chairman of the board, explained that the increase was caused by heating, new teachers for the institute, etc. In some cases there were more children in the junior forms than the law allowed

Ald. Parnell—This means an increase of 1 mill on the dollar.

Ald. Bartlett—It seems queer that the children increase to such an extent while the population is not increasing.

The clause carried, however.

The proposition to raise $6,000 by debentures caused more discussion.

Ald. Parnell moved that the question be submitted fo a vote of the people, seconded by Ald. W. Heaman.

School Trustee Jeffery urged its adoption. He named the schools in which the primary forms were overcrowded. The London Collegiate Institute now ranked third in the Province; four years ago it was 28th. It might attain first place if properly encouraged by the city.

Ald. W. Heaman—I hear the board was not unanimous as to the expenditure.

Mr. Jeffery—The only members who raised the slightest objection were those appointed by the council, not those responsible to the people.

Ald. Yates and Ald. Leonard strongly favored supporting the board.

Ald. O'Meara thought the School Board should levy its own rate.

Ald. Gartshore moved that the $20,000 required for the institute be granted and that the remaining $26,000 be voted on by the people.

Ald. Yates' motion to grant the board's request was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. Connor, John Heaman, Yates, Jeffery, Moule, Hannah, Leonard, Fitzgerald, Shaw—9.

Nays—Ald. O'Meara, Jones, Wm. Heaman, Garratt, Dreaney, Bartlett, Parnell—7.

Ald. Parnell's motion was lost, Ald. O'Meara, Jones, W. Heaman, Garratt, Dreaney and Parnell voting in its favor.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Ald. J. Heaman, chairman, submitted a report from the medical health officer on the drain between Mabel and Florence streets, recommending that a ditch be dug on the city and county lines. Referred to No. 2 for action.

THE QUESTION DRAWER.

Ald. Parnell—When are those drinking fountains to be put up?

Ald. Connor—The contracts have been let.

Ald. Moule—What is the London West amalgamation committee doing?

Ald. Yates—The London West Council was notified to appoint a committee to confer with us. We are ready.

Ald. Fitzgerald—Any information as to the L. and P. S. Railway?

Ald. Gartshore—No. 1 meets Wednesday night to consider the subject.

Ald. Parnell—When is the rate to be struck?

Ald. Gartshore—We have only got the estimates in now.

MOTIONS.

Ald. O'Meara moved that Mr. Van Horne be communicated with regarding the project of a branch road on the C. P. R. north to Wingham and other places. Carried.

Ald. Parnell—That this council urge its committees to keep within the estimates. Carried.

Ald. Yates—That the York street sewer extension from Ridout to Talbot be advertised. Carried.

Ald. J. Heaman—That stones be broken on places were needed. Carried.

Ald. Parnell asked when No. 1 intended taking up the street railway proposition.

Mr. Ivey, solicitor for the new company, said it could be taken up and dealt with at any time, as it would require perhaps a month or two of dickering.

The council will meet Monday evening next specially to consider it.

BYLAWS.

The bylaw for the laying of the Ussher stone walk on Carling street was laid over on Ald. Gartshore's objection.

The bylaw providing for the payment of taxes in two installments, commencing in 1892, passed its third reading. A bylaw for the making of drain connections by city labor was given a six months' hoist, and that conveying to Alex. Harvey a portion of the street on Talbot street north was also deferred.

The council adjourned at 11:15 p.m., the next regular meeting to be held on the first Monday in September. All were present except Ald. Judd.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Pierson tells of an Irish evangelist who had a way of always addressing his hearers as "dear souls," prefixing to the phrase the name of the town in which they lived. But he came to grief, when in addressing an audience in the city of Cork, he began by calling them "dear Cork souls."

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

"You often hear of the self-made man?" "Yes." "But you never hear of the self-made woman?" "That's true. Rather strange, isn't it? What is the reason, do you think?" "Well, when a woman is self-made she doesn't want anybody to know it."

Genuine cheerfulness is an almost certain index of a happy mind and a pure, good heart.

A Postal Crank.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 1.—For more than a month past a crank has been haunting the postoffice daily, writing postal cards to President Harrison. This is a specimen:

"Atlantic City, Court of St. Mark.

"Dear sir,—You will have to make a collection of food and clothing for sufferers at Homestead. By order,

Private Secretary Halford, whose attention was called to the matter, wrote from the executive mansion that no notice was taken of the communications, as he recognized that they came from an irresponsible person.

Fire Hazard.

Prof. Charles B. Gibson, of Chicago, in his special report to the insurance companies on the "Hazard of Steam Pipes" and upon "Coverings for Steam Pipes," says: "All organic matter, such as hair felt, becomes more or less charred by constant contact with hot steam pipes, even though the temperature be but a little above the boiling point of water; and by steam of 300° F. and above, so thoroughly scorched after a time as to become very fragile and to crumble away rapidly. It is noticeable that the dust formed from this charred material is very combustible and will flash like gunpowder when thrown into the fire. When steam of high temperature is used it is by far the safest to employ a covering wholly incombustible."

SCINTILLATIONS.

—Into most human lives there comes more of earthly cheer than came to Christ, but no human hero can be perfect without catching a ray of the light from his divinity.

—A deputation of farmers and manufacturers from Brant county waited upon Sir Oliver Mowat last week in Toronto and intimated to him the advisability of uniting his proposed Central Prison binder twine industry with a manufacturing establishment for twine and farm implements which they were anxious to establish, to some extent on the co-operative plan. Sir Oliver promised to consider the question.

—A remarkable article appeared in a late issue of the Shareholder, the banking financial journal which has for so many years been an outspoken advocate of the National Policy. The article asks the Government to withdraw protection from all industries except those which actually exist and are worthy of protection. It warns the manufacturer that there is a limit to protection, and tells them they cannot expect to have the paps of the Government breast forever between their lips, but must undergo the weaning process.

—The latest information from Pittsburg, Pa., is that all the manufacturers except Carnegie are anxious to sign the scale of wages approved by the Amalgamated Association, but they fear to do so lest Carnegie should succeed in his fight against unionism, as in that case they would be handicapped and forced to shut down. The outside manufacturers are willing to assist the Homestead strikers if assistance is needed. This is proved by the amicable daily sessions of the wage conference between the Amalgamated and the manufacturers. They meet, confer, advise and propose arbitration with an eye all the time to their mutual interests.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: English wheats were in favor of buyers. Good reports have been received in regard to the crops, although the harvest generally is likely to be late. Foreign wheats were quiet, but a decrease in the quantity on passage assisted in steadying prices. Flours have been firm. Barleys have ruled stronger, grinding being quoted at an advance of 6d. Indian corn has been firmly held at 6d to 9d rise. Beans and peas have been in fair demand. Oats have been 3d dearer.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

Parties leaving the city on their holi days can have the Daily ADVERTISER mailed to any address in Canada or the United States for 40 cents per month.

—The dog pound is now ready for use, and owners of canines had better have them provided with tags.

—Chief Williams yesterday sold his pretty team of ponies and the wagonette to Ex-Mayor Brown, of Stratford, for a handsome figure.

—The additional matches for the Forest City Quoiting Club medal have been played, as follows: James Lewis, 41; Scott Murry, champion heavyweight, 39; Wm. Wylie, 41; Oliver Ellwood, 21.

—Capt. Foster's pleasure boat, the "Thames," was carrying a good load of passengers down the river this afternoon and when about 100 yards from the dock she grounded. They had to return on account of the low water. The river will be dredged at once.

—Anything under the patronage of Kilwinning Lodge is invariably a success. On Tuesday next an excursion will be run to Toronto and return, good for two days, at at very low rate. The monotony of the railroad journey will be pleasantly broken, as the excursionists will be conveyed from Hamilton to the Queen City by the magnificent Clyde-built steamers the Macassa and Modjeska.

Honor to Whom Honor Is Due.

The parents and friends of little Theresa Dewan, who fell into the River Thames on Friday evening last, take this mode of returning their heartfelt thanks to Mr. Nixon, of London South, who so kindly and promptly rescued her from the water.

He Was a Hard One.

John C. Nichol, farmer, Westminster, denies the truthfulness of the story told to the police of this city by Jesse R. Brunton, one of the Macpherson Home immigrant boys. Mr. Nichol says that he only had the boy on a month's trial. He found him so difficult to manage that he intended to send him back to the home at the end of that brief period, but at the end of two and a half weeks he cleared out, and the next that Mr. Nichol heard of him was his yarn to the police. "That was manufactured out of whole cloth," says Mr. Nichol. "He was never thrashed by me, though he well deserved it. The swelling of his face was from a bad tooth. He fell off a milk wagon, with a can on the top of him, and may have been bruised in that way."

A London Novelist.

Mr. Bernard Allen, a graduate of the ADVERTISER office, who is now a prosperous citizen of Hartford, Conn., is winning fame as a novelist, though he has not yet made novel-writing a chief occupation. Some time ago he wrote "Nearly Doomed," and recently there was published for him by J. S. Ogilvie, the New York publisher, a new and entertaining story, entitled "His One Desire." There has been an immense demand for this book, and it has been hard to get a copy, but doubtless the London booksellers will soon have an ample supply. The story is well told, and proves that its author is a man of keen observation and much literary ability. Mr. Allen, who is a son of Mr. T. Allen, of this city, writes under the nom de plume of "Milton Nella."

The Seventh Called Out.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening two redcoats rode through the streets blowing bugles. It was the signal for the Seventh Battalion to turn out as if for active service. The volunteers could be seen hurrying to and fro, and promptly at 8 o'clock the battalion was marched off under Col. Payne, and with band and bugle band and ambulance corps passed up Wellington street, down Dundas and Richmond to York street, thence to Police Magistrate Parke's flats. Here Companies 1 and 2 were sent out as skirmishers, with Companies 3 and 4 as supports, the remainder acting as reserve. The enemy were soon engaged, and the supports were brought up, and after some heavy firing by sections and companies in volley, etc., the foe was completely annihilated, and the Seventh then gave three rousing cheers and returned to headquarters. The ambulance corps did good work in bringing home the wounded. The officers of the Seventh Battalion feel thankful to Police Magistrate Parke for the loan of his grounds.

Darch-Pitt.

A happy event occurred this morning, the occasion being the marriage of two of London's popular young people, namely, Mr. Fred J. Darch and Miss Mamie V. Pitt. The wedding, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents on King street, was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives being present. Rev. Dr. Antliff was the officiating clergyman. The bride was handsomely attired in a gray traveling gown. Conspicuous among the wedding gifts was that of the groom to the bride, being a very handsome brooch of diamonds. After the wedding breakfast had been served the young couple took the express to Toronto, from whence they will visit Rochester and other points east. After Sept. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Darch will be at home to their friends at 571 Dundas street. Their many friends will wish them a long and happy life.

Help for St. Johns Methodist College.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Ministers' Association of this city, which was held in Wesley Hall on Aug. 1, Rev. G. P. Storey, of Newfoundland, addressed the meeting at some length, representing the severe loss which Newfoundland Methodism had met with in the extinction of their college buildings by fire, and soliciting such aid toward the re-erection of their building as London Methodism might be disposed to give. Mr. Storey said: "Our college was the center of Methodist education in the colony and had been erected by supreme effort. Connected with it were the training school for our pupil-teachers and the boarding home, where, besides the general boarders, ministers' children received board at reduced rate while attending the school. Our position is briefly this: The buildings were worth $50,000; they were insured for $36,000, but had a debt upon them of $20,000. After paying off this, as you will see, we will have but $16,000 on hand to rebuild. We need $34,000 more. Our condition would not be so bad were it not that our principal supporters and givers are themselves burned out and heavy losers by the fire. Thus sadly crippled, we appeal to you for help." In response to his appeal the following resolution was unanimously carried: "That having heard from Rev. G. P. Storey, who is representing the interests of Newfoundland College in their unfortunate disaster in the destruction of their college buildings, we heartily sympathize with the Methodist people of Newfoundland in their great loss, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power to assist them by collections or otherwise as may be arranged"

THE MAGISTRATE'S DOCKET.

The Results of a Spree—A Youthful Offender—Fined $40 for Selling Liquor—Minor Offenses.

A young man named James Black, who at one time kept a livery stable on the corner of Colborne and York streets, got off on a spree early last evening, and was driving across the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets at an immoderate rate. Just as he had crossed the street car tracks he ran against a gladstone owned by Frank Harding, South London, and driven by his son Harry, then turned to go north and tore a hind wheel off Mr. Harding's rig. He attempted to make his escape but P. C. Birrel was too quick for him and caught the horse. Both were taken to the police station and cared for. At the Police Court this morning he was ordered to pay Mr. Harding $5 for damage done.

A lad about 14 years of age, named Delaney, was arrested by P. C. Woolway yesterday on a charge of breaking into Marcel Hoehn's barber shop on Sunday and stealing a quantity of pipes, tobacco, cigars and cigar holders. Some of the stolen property was found on him, and he admitted the charge. The magistrate remanded him for a week.

Michael Kelly was remanded until Aug. 9 and Daniel McKeiver was sent down for fourteen days on a charge of vagrancy.

Chas. Walker was fined $2 for trespassing on the property of the Old Men's Home, in course of erection on the corner of Richmond and Victoria streets, and also for damaging the building.

James McDonald, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Carling street, was fined $40 and costs for a breach of the liquor License Act.

John Hooper and Frank Kattanbach were taxed $2 each for disorderly conduct and fighting on the streets.

THE YANKEE BOAT WON.

ADRISHAIG, Scotland, Aug. 2.—In the race yesterday under the Clyde-Corinthian Yacht Club's auspices the Yankee boat Wenonah won with five minutes in hand. Last year's champion, the Orsnay, was second, the Elma third and the Watson boat Lily fourth. In eleven starts the Yankee boat's record is ten firsts and one second.

Famous Appeal Dismissed.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The appeal in the case of the Bishop of Lincoln (Dr. King) who was placed on trial before the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1889, was to-day dismissed on all points. Bishop King was charged by an evangelical organization known as the Church Association, which acted by means of certain aggrieved parishioners, with contravention of the statutes of the Church of England with regard to certain observances. The charges were connected with the administration by him of the Holy Communion at St. Peter's Church, Goetz, and in Lincoln Cathedral in December, 1886.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

She had been out, watching the sun as he shed a golden mist over the dark mass of yonder hill, where it stands out boldly into the firth, a strong sentinel, keeping watch upon the sea; gleaming in the mid-waters of the estuary, gleaming in the wet sand and shining pools of the deep bay, and throwing out the sunless hillock at the river's mouth, with its little tower and quiet houses, in bold relief against the far-away mountain, and its mantle of streaming gold. The wonderful sky in the west, the broad bed of the firth, the sunset and its noble scene—there was an enjoyment in these to the delicate soul of Helen, which duller natures have not in the greatest personal blessings of the world.

And now, with her pale cheek resting on her hand, and leaning forward on the window-sill, Helen was lost in a reverie. What was it? only a mist of fair thoughts indefinitely woven together; scenes starting up here and there of the future and of the past, with fairy links of association drawing their strangely-varied hand together; old stories, old songs, and breath of music floating through all in gentle caprice—the sweet and pleasant gloaming of the mind. Mrs. Buchanan was out, doing some household business in Fendie, and Helen did not hear the footstep of Hope Oswald as she entered by the garden gate. These quiet houses are innocently insecure; where Hope's summons remained unanswered, she opened the door herself, and went in.

"Oh, Helen!" exclaimed Hope, as she precipitated herself upon her friend, dispersing in that nervous start all the fair visions of the evening dream. "How glad I am to be home again—how glad I am to see you! but I scarcely can see you either, because it's quite dark; and, Helen—you don't know how I used to weary in Edinburgh just to hear you speak again!"

"Thank you, Hope," said Helen. "I am very glad to see you; or rather to hear you speak, according to your own sensible distinction. Come, we will get a light and look at each other."

Mingling with the quick movement of surprise at first, there had been a deep blush and a temporary shrinking from William Oswald's sister; but another moment restored Hope to her own privileged place of favorite, and Helen rose, her young companion's eager arms clinging about her waist, to light the one candle on the little table.

The room was small and plainly furnished though its substantial mahogany chairs and sofa looked respectable in their declining years. On the carpet here and there were various spots of darning artistically done, which rather improved its appearance than otherwise. A large work-basket stood upon the table containing many miscellaneous pieces of sewing; shirts in every stage of progress, narrow strips of muslin, bearing marks of the painful initiation of very little pupils into the mysteries of the thoughtful craft, mingled here and there with scraps of humble "fancy" work, samplers, and the like—all of which the young school-mistress had to arrange and set to rights before the work of to-morrow commenced. A book lay beside the basket—a well-thumbed book from the library. Helen had been idling; for she sometimes did snatch the brief relaxation of a novel, though Maxwell Dickson, the librarian, had no great choice of literature.

"Oh, Helen," exclaimed Hope again, when the feeble light of the candle revealed to her the pale face of her friend, "I am so very glad to see you again!"

"Thank you, Hope," repeated Helen; "how you are growing—you will be above us all by and by. When did you come home?"

"Only yesterday," said Hope; "but are you sure you are quite well, Helen?"

"Quite sure—why?"

"Only because you look pale—paler than you used to do; and, Helen, what makes you sigh?"

"Did I sigh?" said Helen, her delicate wavering color gradually heightening beneath the girl's steady affectionate look. "I did not know of it, Hope—it must have been for nothing, you know, when I was not aware of it."

"Ah, but it was when you were sitting in the dark before you saw me," said Hope gravely, "and you must have been thinking of something."

Helen's color brightened more and more, yet she smiled.

"Are you going to be an inquisitor, Hope? Do you know people sometimes think very deeply, as you saw me to-night, about nothing? Ah, you shake your head and are very grave and wise, and experienced, I see. Come, I will show you what Cowper says about it."

"Oh, I know," said Hope. "I learned all to Miss Swinton because she likes Cowper; but, Helen, you are not so clever as one of our young ladies: it's Miss Mansfield, you know, that's going to Calcutta, and she's old—she is near eighteen, I am sure—and she sighs, but when Miss Swinton spoke to her about it, she said she was only drawing a long breath. I think," said Hope disconsolately, "that the people in Fendie are very dull and sad now; for everybody draws long breaths."

"Have you seen so many, Hope?" said Helen, with an uneasy flush upon her face, and with some evident interest in the question; those constantly moving features were sad tell-tales.

"I mean just the people I care about," said Hope; "there is poor William, I do not know what ails William—for he sat in the dark like you, last night, and will always lean his head upon his hands, and sigh—sigh—and my mother—I wish you would not all be so sad."

Helen Buchanan turned round to examine the contents of her work-basket. Her slender finger was very slightly drawn up; something almost imperceptible, like the faint touch of wind upon leaves, passed over her; you could not tell what it was, though you could read its swift expression as clearly as written words. Pride—sympathy—a consciousness that moved her heart and yet made it firmer; but Hope's piece of incidental information did not sadden the face of Helen.

Hope had a comprehension of—though she could by no means have explained how she comprehended—the silent language of Helen Buchanan's looks and motions; and she arrived at a pretty accurate conclusion in her own simple and shrewd reasonings on the subject. Mrs. Buchanan came in so soon that she could try no further experiments with Helen; but as she passed through the dim road, half-street, half-line, in which their house stood, and came into the quiet Main Street of Fendie, with its half-shut shops and groups of wayside talkers, great schemes began to germinate within the small head of Hope Oswald. If only that very unreasonable opposition of her father's could be overcome, Hope decided that William would be condemned to draw long breaths in the dark no longer. "Miss Swinton says I am sensible," mused Hope within herself, "and my father says I am clever. I don't know—I think it will turn out the right way some time, and we all shall be very happy, but just now—I will try!"

And immediately there flitted before the eyes of Hope, in the gentle darkness of the April night, a fairy appearance; we do not venture to say it was anything very ethereal. It was only a vision of a lilac satin frock like that famous one which Miss Adelaide Fendie, of Mount Fendie, wore at her sister's marriage, and very fascinating was the gleam which it shed about the young schemer as she lingered at her father's door. Hope Oswald was only fourteen.

CHAPTER V.

We must at first endure
The simple woe of knowing they are dead—
A soul-sick woe in which no comfort is—
And wish we were beside them in the dust?
That anguish dire cannot sustain itself,
But settles down into a grief that loves,
And finds relief in unreproved tears.
Then cometh sorrow, like a Sabbath!
Heaven
Sends resignation down and faith; and last
Of all there falls a kind oblivion
Over the going out of that sweet light
In which we had our being.
—Professor Wilson.

In the waning afternoon of another dim spring day the Laird of Mossgray entered the Cumberland valley, to which the letter of Lilias had directed him.

He had traversed the fair country beyond Carlisle, with its sloping glades, and belts of rich woodland, and now had reached a chiller and more hilly region, whose bleak inhospitable fells, still scarcely touched by the breath of spring, did yet reveal homelike glimpses, here and there, of sheltered glens and quiet houses, dwelling alone among the hills. He had to pass several of the pleasant towns of Cumberland before he reached the sequestered hamlet in which the last days of Lilias had been spent. It lay in a nook by itself, a scanty congregation of gray roofs, with the church "a gracious lady," as was the poet's church among the hills, serenely overlooking all, reigning over the living and the dead. From the end of the little glen you commanded the long range of a wider and more important valley, at the further end of which lay one of the most picturesque of those northern towns, its gray limestone buildings making a sheen in the distance, and a delicate cloud of smoke hovering about the points of its white spires, like something spiritual, marking where household hearths were gathered together in social amity. Not far away lay the consecrated country of the lakes; and everywhere around, bare, brown, scathed hill-tops stood out against the sky.

Mossgray proceeded to the church-yard first of all; all things beside were strange to him in the unknown village, but here he had a friend. After long search among the gray memorials of the fore fathers of the hamlet, he came upon a green mound marked by no name, where the soft, green turf was faintly speckled with the fragile blue of the forget-me-not; in the village church-yard, this alone and the daisy found a place—occupants more fit than the garish flowers with which modern taste has peopled the cities of the dead. The Laird of Mossgray turned aside to ask the name of the occupant of this grave. It was a Scottish widow—said the sexton—lately dead, whose name was Maxwell. The inquirer returned again, and seating himself on a hillock, covered his face with his hands. The old man never knew how long he lingered there. He was not an old man then; the fervid affection of his youth—the burning grief of his early trial, were in his heart passionate and strong as when they thrilled it first; and it was not until the night fell and the dew dropped gently on him, that the sacred sorrow which belongs to the dead, came down to still the stronger throbs of his solitary heart. When he looked up, the stars were shining again in the dim and dewy sky—the hills stood up like watching Titans, clothed in the shadowy unformed garments of the early earth, and ghost-like in the darkness rose ancient tombstones, gray with years, and the green mounds of yesterday. The great, silent, conscious world, tingling with the spiritual presence which over-brimmed its mighty precints—and the dead—solemn sleepers who have live, and do but wait to live again.

But there were the faint village lights close at hand, and the orphan to be sought for there, who was committed to his care. So the old man withdrew from the grave of Lilias to seek her child.

The bearing of the Laird of Mossgray had in it so much of the graceful olden courtesy of the gentleman born, that it never failed to bring deference and attention. The very little inn which stood in the center of the hamlet was not much frequented by strangers. Wandering pedestrian tourists of the student or artist class, to whom its humbleness was a recommendation, did sometimes refresh themselves in its well-sanded kitchen; but the ruddy landlady had scarcely ever welcomed such a guest as Mosagray under her homely roof. So she ushered him into a little boarded room, of dignity superior to the kitchen, though communicating with it, and dusted a hugh old-fashioned chair with her apron, and stood courtesying before him, waiting for his orders, and secretly cogitating whether there would be time to dress a fowl for supper, or if the universal ham and eggs would do.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

We all want a little more than we have, and it is for the good of our souls that we don't get it.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.

The time spent in brooding over troubles if properly employed would enable you to surmount them.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Francis Parkman, the historian, has been partially blind for several years.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

William M. Rice went from Massachusetts to Texas in 1838. He has given the city of Houston $200,000 in cash, $40,000 in securities and 9,000 acres of good Texas farm land to found a college.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Samuel Sloane, the millionaire railroad president, has a dislike for typewriters, human and mechanical, and writes all his letters in autograph.

F. A. Channing, an American by birth and an nephew of the famous Unitarian preacher, William Ellery Channing, has been elected a member of the English Parliament.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Mr. J. P. Tansey, of this city, has been appointed an excise officer.

—By permission of Lieut.-Col. Payne and officers the band of the Seventh Fusiliers will give their usual concert in Victoria Park this (Tuesday) evening instead of Friday as stated.

—Thomas Boyd, of London township, comes up before Squire Owrey at Detective Allen's office this evening on a charge of having used obscene and grossly abusive language towards Napoleon Provost on July 13.

—Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, goes to Muskoka next week. He will rusticate for a week or two in Sundridge and vicinity. While he is gone his pulpit will be occupied by his brother, Mr. John Clark.

—C. McCallum, of the wholesale drug firm of C. McCallum & Co., yesterday afternoon purchased by auction the stock of that firm at 57 cents on the dollar. The firm went into liquidation a couple of weeks ago at the suit for about $27,000 of the Bank of British North America.

—Mr. Geo. McL. Brown, the popular ticket agent of the C. P. R., has received notice of his promotion to the position of general passenger agent for the western division and the States of Washington and Oregon. His many friends in the city are congratulating him on his advancement.—[Vancouver World. Mr. Brown is well known to many Londoners as the brother of Mrs. E. B. Smith, of this city.

New Orchard Beach Notes.

Miss Grace Nellis, of Mt. Clements, Mich., and Art Lyons, of Brantford, are visiting Mrs. E. N. Hunt at Idlewild, New Orchard Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Finch, of Queen's avenue, are among the new arrivals to go into a new house at the Beach.

The "Ys" have christened their new summer home at Orchard Beach "Summerholm."

By actual count there are 200 persons summering at New Orchard Beach. It is a charming place to be sure.

The Bachelors' Lawn Social.

A garden party and band concert was given last evening by the bachelors of Colborne Street Methodist Church on the pretty grounds surrounding the residence of Hon. John Carling. A fair crowd attended. Music was furnished by the Band of No. 1 Company, C. R. I., and the refreshment booths waited on by some of the bachelors were liberally patronized. The affair would have been more attractive had the grounds been lighted. Those present appeared to enjoy themselves.

To-Morrow's Big Picnic.

To-morrow (Wednesday), the great annual demonstration, under the joint auspices of the St. Andrew's Society, of London, and Clan Fraser, No. 43, O. S. C., takes place at Fort Stanley. Trains leave London at 9:30 and 10 a.m., and 2:50 and 4:15 p.m., returning 4:35, 5:30 and 9:30 p.m. Westminster and Glanworth people to go and return on regular trains. St. Thomas and Elgin county participants will join at St. Thomas. No fewer than 22 events are on the programme, including races of almost every description, tug-of-war, baby show, quoits, sword dances, Highland flings and hornpipes. It is expected that a large number of the picnickers will be in Highland costume. The band of "D" School accompanies the excursionists, who will, as usual, be heralded by their pipers, as well as by visiting pipers from St. Thomas, Woodstock and elsewhere. It will be a braw, braw day, not only for the sons and daughters of Scotia, but for the hundreds of other excursionists who have signified their desire to join in the festivities.

They Still Use It.

On July 1 the law which forbids the use or possession of tobacco by boys under 18 came into force. The weed still seems to be extensively used, however, by lads in the city. Some parties selling them the stuff are breaking the law and rendering themselves liable to a heavy penalty. The boys are also liable to prosecution if found using it in public.

The Electric Railway Offer.

Hamilton has secured and London is offered decidedly better conditions than the Ottawa Electric Street Railway Company gives the capital, and this is important to know in view of the application of the horse car company here to receive the same conditions as the electric company with the additional great consideration that both the horse car company and the electric company shall receive a 30 years' charter.—[Ottawa Journal.

Summer Advertising.

'Tis folly to drop out entirely during the dull season. 'Tis the time of the year this fallacy of not advertising during the dull season looms up.

It costs more to regain in the fall what one loses by not advertising than it does to keep it up all summer.

People read more in the summer, have more time to do so. They want to see what's going on at home (if away), so have their home papers sent to them and read them voraciously.

Summer is the time to educate people to the merits of your goods.

People get ready to buy—make up their minds in the summer and do the buying in the fall.—[Profitable Advertising.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 1—11 p.m.—There has been little change in the pressure from the lake region to the Maritime Provinces, and the weather has been generally fine with a few local showers, but in the Northwest Territories an important depression has formed accompanied by high winds and very warm weather.

Minimum and maximum temperatures: Calgary, 50°—84°; Medicine Hat, 46°—96°; Prince Albert, 48°—84°; Qu'Appelle, 52°—92°; Winnipeg, 46°—82°; Toronto, 56°—80°; Montreal, 64°—80°; Quebec, 62°—76°; Halifax, 54°—66°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Aug. 2—1 a.m.—The indications for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Light to moderate winds; fine and warm.

THEY TRIED HARD,

But Neither Got There—Clay Manville and Frank White Ride for Mr. Tune's Medal—White Loses by 52 Seconds —Mr. J. Lamb Injured.

Mr. J. A. Tune's medal is still in the possession of Mr. Tune. Frank White or Clay Manville failed to secure it last evening, and there will be less dispute about record-breaking for a while. Charlie and Frank White claimed to have made the distance on their wheels between London and St. Thomas in 57 minutes the other day. Clay Manville was announced to have lowered the record to 53½ minutes. The time was questioned, and Mr. Tune offered a medal to the rider who could deliver a message from the City Hall, London, to the City Hall, St. Thomas, in less than 57 minutes. The trial took place last evening. Manville and Frank White left here at 7:05:30 p.m., according to the watches of the timekeepers, Messrs. Lamb and Brebner. Meanwhile a crowd of over 100 interested persons took the train from here for the Railroad City to witness the finish. White arrived at 3 minutes and 22 seconds after 8, his time being 57 minutes and 52 seconds. Manville was distanced, coming about 3 minutes behind. J. Milne and Walter Mann were the St. Thomas timekeepers. Mr. J. Lamb started to beat time ten minutes after the others, but unfortunately ran into the toll gate about two miles from St. Thomas, damaging his wheel and injuring himself severely. This was greatly regretted, as Mr. Lamb was making splendid progress. As the distance is between 17 and 18 miles, the contestants did themselves credit. In justice to Messrs. White and Manville, it is altogether likely they did make the time they claim on previous occasions between certain portions of the two cities. The record made by Mr. White will stand as the established one until it is lowered.

NOTES.

The corporation men are "in it."

Old Sol kept pretty well hidden, and the weather was delightful.

The Seventh Band rendered several popular selections from the ring band stand during the afternoon.

There were about 5,000 people at the park, the grand stands being filled and many sauntering beneath the shady pines.

There were so many contestants in the races for girls and boys that they had to run in sections.

The go-as-you-please race for teams owned by corporation employes was one of the most exciting events of the afternoon. There were six teams drawing heavy wagons and the clouds of dust raised by the winners almost obscured from view the followers. One horse ran into the fence in the first heat, and its harness was almost completely torn off.

A wise selection was made in the choice of judges in the baby show. Messrs. Massey and Sherrift, two city bank clerks, were the honored ones. A score of youngsters were entered, and they were a very orderly lot. A number of bachelors amused themselves carrying the "dear little creatures" around.

The energetic committee that brought the affair to such a successful issue was composed of Messrs. Sidney Loveless, president; Geo. Leadbeater, vice-president; Thos. Carside, treasurer; H. O'Meara, secretary; John McLean, John Deacon, E. Cavanaugh, Dennis Connors, H. Wallace, Geo. Carrothers, John Shannon, A. O'Toole, James Cassie, Wm. McKnight, Wm. Fox, R. Quick and M. Coveney.

The judges' decisions were final in all cases—and so they might well have been, for they were perfectly straight. The judges were Ald. Bartlett, Shaw, Garratt, O'Meara, Jones, Connor and Dreaney, A. O. Graydon, R. Ironside, Harry Merritt and Dan. Ferguson.

FELL 3,000 FEET.

An Aeronaut Driven Ten Feet in the Ground—He Was Killed.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 1.—Five thousand people of Inver Grove, just south of this city, were the horrified spectators Saturday afternoon of a terrible fall to death of Prof. Hobe, the aeronaut. When the balloon reached the usual altitude Hobe could be seen tugging at the valve cord, which would not work. Before he could manipulate it the balloon was at least 3,000 feet above the earth. In the regular way he cut loose the parachute and shot rapidly earthward, but to the horror of the crowd the parachute did not expand, and the unfortunate aeronaut fell like a shot toward the ground. So great was the force of the fall that he was driven into the soft ground to a depth of ten feet and instantly killed. It required the work of an hour to reach the body, and death had occurred long before.

From his long experience and reputation as an accurate and careful dispenser he deserves the support of the public. The store is easily found, a large aquarium containing gold fish being prominent in one of the windows.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools they manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. y

ONE PRICE ONLY,
And that the Lowest that Can be Quoted; to All Customers Alike.
The above principle is carried into practice at the business carried on under the Molsons Bank and Ontario Loan Company's building, west corner Market Lane.
BOOT AND SHOE
This policy has made business boom with us during the past two months.
Value in footwear at 100 cents on the dollar is what we are giving, and the public appreciate our efforts to give customers the best value in the market. We do not advertise in coupon books and have two prices on our goods, charging our customers an extra 5 per cent. to pay for our speculation, and we do not ask $1 25 for goods that can be sold for $1.
