In the quietest election ever held in South Bruce Dr. R. E. Clapp of Mildmay was defeated on Monday by 75 votes. In spite of the seeming indifference manifested, however, a good big vote was polled in nearly all the polling places. Walkerton, which last year gave Mr. Truax 24 of a majority on Monday gave its man 150 majority over Dr. Clapp, and the two Formosa polls which were favorable to Dr. Clapp last election were just the opposite this year.

Dr. Clapp's majority in Carrick, however, was 217, as against 229 at the previous election. No. 1 Carrick gave a Conservative majority of 56, and No. 2, a majority of 85, and almost all the available votes were polled. Dr. Clapp held Culross and Kinloss pretty well, making slight gains since last election.

The following are the results of the Carrick polls:

THE ONLY SHADY SPOT.

A very stout old lady, bustling through the park on a sweltering hot day, became aware that she was being followed by a rough-looking tramp.

"What do you mean by following me in this manner?" she indignantly demanded. The tramp slunk back a little. But when the stout lady resumed her walk he again took up his position directly behind her.

"See here," she exclaimed, wheeling angrily, "if you don't go away at once I shall call a policeman!"

The unfortunate man looked up at her appealingly.

"For Heaven's sake, kind lady, have mercy an' don't call a policeman; ye're the only shady spot in the whole park."

The Rev. Robert Walker, prison chaplain, tells of a pathetic interview which he had with a prisoner. The man was a hardened criminal of the worst type and had spent many years in confinement. Mr. Walker went to him one day and asked: "What have you learned in prison?" "That every minute has got sixty seconds," replied the man.

A scientist has proved, to his own satisfaction at least, that the innocent little buttercup flower is laden with virulent poisons of various kinds, and is responsible for cancer, and many other forms of disease, and even death. The dandelion, which is a relative of the buttercup, will now be regarded with suspicion akin to dread, though it has long been regarded possessing virtues medicinal by many people. The flower of the dandelion has been concocted into a household stimulant from time untold and the dried roots have been considered a cure for all dyspeptics and other imaginary invalids.

The Western Fair of London, Ontario will be held this year Sept. 11-19. Those who have been in the habit of attending this exhibition in the past will scarcely recognize the grounds and buildings this year. Over Seven Thousand Dollars have been expended on new building and additions, and the whole of them have been painted white, making a very beautiful appearance, being a complete "White City." More accommodation has been provided for Horses; Grand Stands have been built, and other building extended and enlarged, so that although it is expected this coming Exhibition will eclipse all others in entries there will be ample room for all Exhibits. All information regarding the Exhibition may be obtained from the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ontario.

GET PROPER VENTILATION

DR. GLOVER LYON TELLS HOW TO SECURE IT.

The Importance of Fresh Air—New System of Baffle Plates Perfected.

"With plenty of good, pure air in our dwelling rooms we should all live longer and double our enjoyment of life. Artificial ventilation should be draughtless, variable and equally distributed—a combination of qualities hardly ever met with."

These are the principles which Dr. Glover Lyon, physician to the City of London Hospital for Diseases of the Chest, has made the basis of experiments extending over more than twenty years. He is a recognized expert on ventilation. "At the House of Commons," he remarked during a recent interview, "fresh air ascends through the floor, after being very carefully filtered and heated. The same process which filters out the dust thins the air and gives it a curious dead quality, and, in any case, air should not enter a room through the floor."

"Nothing can be more absurd than, as at St. Stephen's and the New Bailey, to conduct air from a height into a basement and then force it through long flues into the various parts of the building. There is enormous waste of power and great risk of contaminating the air. To supply any single part of a building it is necessary to put all the plant in operation."

HOW TO IMPROVE APPETITE.

"The only really effective method is to supply each room with air directly from the adjoining atmosphere, and provide a special fan for exhausting the foul air as well as that for supplying it."

When air is supplied through holes near the top of a room and removed through holes near the floor the best air in a room is constantly being withdrawn, for the best is always found near the floor, while the fresh air supplied is fouled as it enters the room, for the bad air naturally tends to rise. By a system of 'baffle plates,' which distribute fresh air through the room at a moderate height and remove foul air in the same way, I believe I have solved the problem. There is a slow sweep of air across the room, without draught.

"If restaurant proprietors realized as I do, the difference pure air in a dining room makes to the appetite they would very quickly remedy the defects one so constantly meets with. I have proved that in a room ventilated to my satisfaction the average person eats and drinks a third more than usual. Every particle is tasted properly, and the odor of one course cannot mar the next."

"It ought not to be possible to find courts of justice so oppressive that judges, counsel and jury all protest. I am convinced that the science of ventilation has not yet received from engineers and architects one-half the attention it deserves."

AN HISTORIC NEWSPAPER.

The London Times Was First Published in 1788.

The recent reported sale of the "Times" of London, has aroused interest throughout the whole world.

The Times made its first appearance in 1785 as "The Daily Universal Register," which was published by John Walter in Printing House square. In 1788 its title was changed to the present one. The founder, Mr. Walter, was an underwriter at Lloyd's, a man of extreme energy and business capacity. The early career of the paper was chequered. It attacked the Duke of York, George III's son, as the result of which Walter was ordered to be imprisoned for a year, to stand in the pillory for an hour, and to pay a fine of £50. Further attacks on the Royal Family led to an increase of the fine and the term of imprisonment.

THE SECOND JOHN WALTER.

In 1803 John Walter the second, the son of the older Walter, took over the control, and distinguished himself by organizing the system of foreign correspondence for which "The Times" has been during the past century, so remarkable. His successes were famous. The first news of the surrender of Flushing and of the battle of Waterloo appeared in the columns of his journal. In 1814 he printed "The Times" by steam, and introduced the art of printing, which revolutionized the art of printing. From 1816 to 1841 Mr. Barnes was the editor of "The Times"; in 1841 he was succeeded by the more famous Delane, whose reign only ended in 1877.

In 1847 the third John Walter succeeded to the proprietorship, and carried out with great skill and energy the changes necessitated by the advent of the telegraph and the spread of railways. Delane went everywhere and knew everyone. He secured such prestige for his journal that it was constantly used as a channel of communication with the public by the British and foreign Governments. In 1877 he retired, and was succeeded by Prof. Chenery, to whom, again, succeeded in 1884 the present editor, Mr. George Buckle, then only in his thirtieth year. In 1894, the present, or fourth John Walter succeeded to the control of "The Times," and under his administration its standpoint has been moderate and independent Unionism.

CURED ITCHING PILES
Mr. C. V. Mutart is a Customs Broker and Insurance Agent at St. Catharines, Ont. He writes the Zam-Buk Co. as follows: "I have been a sufferer for years with itching piles. I have spent many dollars on advertised remedies for Piles but got no relief. A friend of mine advised me to try Zam-Buk. I had but little faith in any remedy to cure me, but tried one box and I got relief at once. I have used four boxes and am completely cured. I cannot thank you enough for such a wonderful curative salve. I have recommended Zam-Buk to my friends and they too were cured."

ON THE ROAD TO MANDALAY.

Once Forbidden Burma Now a Resort of Tourists—Thebaw's Palace.

Burma, once forbidden, has become attractive to tourists. Steamships from Liverpool run direct to Rangoon, the great city of the country, and a book has been published for the use of travellers for pleasure. There is much to see that is novel in Burma and visitors have only to plan their journey for the cooler months between November and March to have a good time.

Travellers are cautioned not to make personal remarks about the Burmans they may meet. The more intelligent natives probably understand English, and in any case they are very sensitive to ridicule.

The women of the country are very charming at a distance, but do not bear close inspection. They are quite as naive as the Japanese and far more free in their ways, but they greatly resent familiarity. They are the merchants of the market places, and the traveller must have his wit about him or he will be over-reached in trade. The Government has found it necessary to warn all white comers against the "intelligence and business capacity" of these women merchants.

You may travel by rail or steamboat up the majestic Irrawadi to Mandalay, the capital of Upper Burma, in the heart of the country. You may steam up that river to Bhamo, far above Mandalay, on the splendid steamers that ply from Rangoon to the head of navigation.

Rangoon has become a great commercial city, as much European as Burmese, so that it does not offer the surprises that are found further inland, though its pagodas are among the most magnificent in Asia. For massive grandeur the Shwe Dagon Pagoda, with its huge dome overlaid with gold leaf, has few equals in the world, and the Burmese take special pride in it.

For 350 miles up the river from Rangoon the country may be said to be one vast rice field. Burma is the largest producer of rice, and for several months during the shipping season tourists see at every railroad and steamboat station long lines of rice bags piled up eight feet high awaiting transport to the rice mills and the docks of Rangoon.

The greatest objects of interest at Mandalay are King Thebaw's palaces, where lived that weak ruler and his handsome queen, who controlled him and incited the bloody deeds that made him infamous. The palaces stand in a walled enclosure four miles square, pierced with guard gates and surrounded by a moat. Thebaw and his queen now live in India, prisoners of the British Government.

To-day there is not an article of the furniture in any of the palaces. A part of the queen's palace was used for a while as a club for Europeans, but Lord Curzon ordered it to be given up, as all the buildings are of teak and a fire might easily destroy everything.

Nearly every building has its curious history. One of the structures is a watch tower of solid wood, started and completed in one day by Thebaw's father, who told the builder that unless he completed the structure in twenty-four hours it would be beheaded.

All visitors have a talk with Capt. Redman, who was imprisoned with other Europeans by Thebaw. For a week he and the other whites were led out every day to be beheaded, but for some reason were remanded to prison. They were all released when the British forces came up, but the strain was too great for one of the unfortunates, who went mad in that week.

It was Thebaw who, incited by his wife, put to death under circumstances of great brutality between seventy and eighty princes, princesses and high officials in February, 1879. The outburst of horror and indignation which these massacres caused led soon after to the overthrow of Thebaw and the occupation of his country by the British.

NEVER TOO OLD.

"Then you really don't believe that a man is ever too old to learn?"
"Certainly not. I've known men to get married at the age of 75 or more."

A peasant insured his house against fire. When he got the policy he asked the clerk: "What should I get if my house were burnt down to-morrow?"
"Three or four years' imprisonment," was the prompt answer.

SACRIFICE 40,000 ELEPHANTS.

Each Year Over 800 Tons of Ivory are Brought to London.

London is the ivory market of the world. Each year there is brought to that city over 800 tons of ivory, which means the sacrifice of 40,000 elephants.

This, however, does not mean that that number of animals was killed the year before, for ivory has for years been the measure of wealth in many parts of Africa, and there exist huge stores of tusks, the accumulations of scores of years. These tusks the chiefs who own them are gradually selling to traders, so that a tusk, brought to London this year may have belonged to an elephant that lived centuries ago.

At present the London docks hold, it is estimated, ivory worth $750,000. At a single sale recently a third of this amount was disposed of.

Most of the world's supply of ivory comes from Africa, with small quantities from Ceylon and India. That from Africa, however, is the most valuable on account of its size and quality.

A pair of tusks from Uganda were 10 feet long, weighed 140 pounds each and brought $1,500. The record weight for a tusk is 180 pounds.

Another Modern Miracle

Paralysis Permanently Cured

The Sufferer Paralyzed From Waist to Feet—Encased in Plaster of Paris for Nine Months—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure After Four Doctors Had Failed—The Cure Vouched for by a Well known Clergyman.

Paralysis, no matter how slight, is a terrible affliction, but to be paralyzed from waist to the feet, to be a helpless cripple, totally dependent upon what others do for you, is a condition as wretched as man could possibly bear. Such was the state of Mr. Allan J. McDonald, of Rice Point, P.E.I. For over a year he was a helpless invalid. He was paralyzed from his waist to his feet and for nine months lay in bed encased in a plaster or paris cast. Four of the best doctors in Prince Edward Island were unable to help him and he seemed doomed to a life of misery and despair. But hope came to him when he read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for other sufferers from paralysis. He procured a supply of the Pills and began taking them. Gradually they broke the chains of disease that bound him, and filled his whole body with new blood, life and vigor. Mr. McDonald says: "I am a farmer and in consequence have a great deal of hard work to do. One day while about my work I injured my back, but at the time I paid little attention to the injury and continued my work. As time went on, though, the pain became more severe and I soon found myself unable to lift anything no matter how light. It was not long before I had to stop work altogether and consult a doctor. He treated me but his treatment did not help me and I rapidly grew worse. I had to take to my bed, and in the hope that my spine might receive strength I was encased in plaster of paris cast. This did not help me and I could feel the paralysis slowly creeping over me till I was totally paralyzed from my waist to my feet. I lost all control over my bowels and bladder and my legs had no more feeling than if they were made of wood. Three other doctors strived to cure me, but their treatment also was a failure, and for over eleven months I lay in bed unable to move. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were then advised and I was shown testimonials of others who had been cured of paralysis through them. I bought a supply and in less than three months they made a remarkable change in me. I was able to get out of bed and crawl along the floor on my hands and knees. Gradually my limbs became stronger. Soon I could walk with the aid of a cane and inside of nine months after I had begun the use of the Pills I was totally cured, and once more able to do light work. Now I am as strong as ever I was and can do my work about the farm without the least trouble. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are without an equal, for, besides my own case, I know of two other cases of paralysis cured by them. Two young girls who had been crippled and whom I advised to try the Pills."

In corroboration of what Mr. McDonald says, the Rev. D. MacLaren of Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "I visited Mr. McDonald many times during his illness. He was attended by three or more doctors and put in plaster paris, and everything imaginable which might be of benefit was done for him without success. He had lost all power of his body from his waist down, and I think he was nearly a year under treatment before he began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was with him the day he first moved his big toe and from that time on he gradually improved and for the last few years he has been perfectly well. I can vouch for the cure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effected in his case."

If you are sick and the treatment you are now taking does not help you, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They have cured thousands after doctors and other medical treatment had hopelessly failed. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood, feed the starved nerves and bring health and strength to every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such apparently hopeless cases as Mr. McDonald's, and it is why they have cured thousands and thousands of sick, discouraged people in every part of the world. So by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE ELDER SISTER.

There is no character in the home circle more useful and beautiful than a devoted elder sister who stands side by side with the toiling mother, lightening all her cares and burdens. How beautiful the household machinery moves on with such efficient help! Now she presides at the table in her mother's absence, always so neatly attired that it is with pride the father introduces her to his guest as "our oldest daughter." Now she takes a little troop into the garden with her and amuses them, so mother may not be disturbed in her work or her rest. Now she helps the boys with their hard lessons or reads father's paper aloud to rest his tired eyes. If mother can run away for a few days' recreation she leaves home without any anxiety, for Mary will guide her house wifely and happily in her absence. But in the sick room her presence is an especial blessing. Her hand is next to mother's own in gentleness and skill. Her sweet music can charm any pain, and brighten the weariest hours. There are elder sisters whose presence is not such a blessing in the home. Their own selfish ends and aims are the main pursuits in life, and anything that stands in the way of these is regarded with great impatience. Such daughters are no comfort to a mother's heart. Which kind of an elder sister are you in the household?

FIELD OF WATERLOO.

To be Acquired by Belgian Government.

A question relative to the preservation of the land of Waterloo in its present state having been asked in the Belgian Chamber, the Government of that country have just replied that the subject is under consideration. There is an idea (mooted, it is believed, by those having property on the field) that it would be a good thing to buy up the historic plain and keep it in its present condition, the various farms, etc., being secured and preserved.

It is difficult to see exactly what good purpose can be served by such an action, for the field itself has been entirely changed since the battle was fought, and the Duke of Wellington exclaimed, when, some time after the erection of the great mound, he looked forth over the country which had seen such great deeds on all sides, "They have changed all my battlefields."

It would seem that a certain group of persons have bought up, or have secured promise of possession of, many of the Waterloo farms, and they are, therefore, financially interested in the preservation of the field of Waterloo as it is, since this would mean expropriation at their own prices. That this is so would seem to be proved by the fact that the movers are principally Belgians. English people are apparently but little concerned about the matter. They feel, perhaps, that the preservation of the nation's battlefields all over the world would be a rather onerous undertaking, and probably consider that while Hougomont, with its splendid memories, remains untouched—and, as this belongs to one of the leading Belgian families, there is small fear of its

VERY DIFFERENT.

Proud Father—"Never, child, never! The idea of the daughter of a rich banker throwing herself away on a poor man! You must marry wealth, or not at all."

Pleading Daughter—"But, pa, Alphonso is not poor."

"Not poor? How can he be otherwise? Break off the engagement without delay."

"But he is wealthy—very wealthy, pa."

"How can an hotel proprietor be wealthy after such a season as this? I'll warrant he hasn't got five pounds to his name."

"But, pa, he is not an hotel proprietor."

"Nonsense! He himself admits it. Here is his card, 'Alphonso de Blank, Whitecap Hotel.'"

"I know; but he is not the proprietor."

"What is he, then?"

"The head waiter."

"Oh, that is different. Bless you, my child!"

SOUND HEALTH FOR ALL CHILDREN

Disease attacks the little ones through the digestive organs. Baby's Own Tablets are the best thing in the world for all stomach and bowel troubles of children. They act quickly and are absolutely safe. If necessary the Tablets can be crushed to a powder or dissolved in water. Mrs. Wm. F. Gay, St. Eleanor, P. E. I., says:—"I know of nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets for the cure of stomach and bowel troubles. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine and do not feel safe without a box of Tablets in the house." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ON THE MIGHTY DEEP.

The great ocean liner rolled and pitched.

"Henry," faltered the young bride, "do you still love me?"

"More than ever, darling," was Henry's fervent answer.

Then there was a eloquent silence.

"Henry," she gasped, turning her pale, ghastly face away, "I thought that would make me feel better, but it doesn't!"

MONEY SAVED IS MONEY EARNED.

Just now when money is scarce, it is well for every one to look around and see where they can obtain their home and personal needs at the lowest cost. The W. H. Scroggie, Limited, Department W., Montreal, Que., are fast making an enviable reputation for themselves as "Universal Providers," and the people of Canada are not slow to take advantage of the splendid money saving offers this firm makes to customers not residing in Montreal. This firm has just issued a splendid large beautifully illustrated Catalogue which is mailed free to anyone who asks for it. Better send for one to-day. We understand that while these prices are exceptionally low they also pay transportation charges on the goods they sell, something which no other firm of this kind in Canada does. They are a thoroughly reliable house and readily exchange anything which does not give absolute satisfaction—or you can get your money back if you prefer it.

SOCIETY NOTE.

It sounds pretty in a report of a social affair to say that the house was illuminated with candles, but it means a lot of grease.

In Nature's Storehouse There are Cures.—Med cal experiments have shown conclusively that there are medicinal virtues in even ordinary plants growing up around us which give them a value that cannot be estimated. It is held by some that Nature provides a cure for every disease which neglect and ignorance have visited upon man. However, this may be, it is well known that Par-melee's Vegetable Pills, distilled from roots and herbs, are a sovereign remedy in curing all disorders of the digestion.

CHILDREN AS ASSETS.

Are Much Sought for by Spanish Beggars.

Quite a flourishing trade is done by the poorer classes of Madrid, who let out their children to beggars at so much per hour.

The intending hirer applies to the parents of a likely child, the price is agreed upon, a small amount paid down as a guarantee for the return of the little one, and the beggar forthwith sets out with his human implement of trade to implore the public charity.

The children whose task it is to soften the hearts of the passers-by are required to possess special qualifications. They must have hungry-looking faces, be first-rate criers and not very ugly. For a good-looking child is more likely to earn extra pimes on account of its pretty face than a less favored competitor.

While the professional beggar and his hapless charge wearily walk the streets of Spain's capital, the father of the child, comfortably seated in a tavern hard by his home, proudly remarks to his better half, as he contentedly sips his wine:—"What a splendid career our Joey has before him! He is hardly three years old and is already a bone of contention between the one-eyed man of Veneras street and the wooden-legged one of Arlabanal! As soon as he grows up we'll make a beggar of him!"

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

Goodwin, the American actor, described at a recent dinner a Turkish bath that he once took in Mexico. "My rubber," said Mr. Goodwin, "was a strong man, a very strong man. He laid me on the slab and prodded and kneaded and punched and hammered me in a most emphatic way. At the end, after I had got up, he came behind me before my sheet was adjusted, and gave me on the bare back four resounding whacks with the palm of his enormous hand. "What on earth did you do that for?" I panted. "No offense, boss," said the man; "it was only to let the office know I was ready for the next corner. Yee see, the bell's out of order in this room."

"I am proud to say that my grandfather made his mark in the world," observed the conceited youth. "Well, I suppose he wasn't the only man in those days who couldn't write his name," replied his bored companion.

During courtship a man's word goes about seventeen times as far as it does after marriage.

Mr. Arthur Tennison, 85 London Street, Toronto, says: "For six or seven years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia. COUNTY AND DISTRICT.

James E. Anderson, public school inspector, of Brockville, was arrested in that town on Saturday on a charge of bigamy. He is 54 years of age, and while having a wife and nine children living, he married a Methodist minister's daughter, a beautiful and accomplished girl, last April. When brought before the police magistrate he pleaded guilty to the charge. He was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary.

A very mild North of England vicar had for some time been displeased with the quality of the milk served him. At length he determined to remonstrate with his milkman for supplying such weak stuff. He began mildly: "I've been wanting to see you in regard to the quality of milk with which you are serving me." "Yes, sir," unceasingly answered the tradesman. "I only wanted to say," continued the minister, "that I use the milk for dietary purposes exclusively, and not for christening."

A wizened little Irishman applied for a job loading a ship says Everybody's. At first they said he was too small, but he finally persuaded them to give him a trial. He seemed to be making good, and they gradually increased the size of his load until on the last trip he was carrying a 300 pound anvil under each arm. When he was half-way across the gang plank it broke and the Irishman fell in. With a splashing and spluttering he came to the surface. "Trow me a rope!" he shouted, and again sank. A second time he rose to the surface. "Trow me a rope, I say," he shouted again. One more he sank. A third time he rose struggling. "Say!" he spluttered angrily, "if one of you spalpeens don't hurry up an' t'row me a rope I'm going to drop one uv these damn t'ings!"

The beautiful season is now at hand which encourages a man to live outside. In the dreary winter there is nothing to look at or listen to, but now it is something like an ecstasy to see the sun rise, to listen to the warbling of the birds, to watch the buds and the first flowers and to watch the antics of the overjoyed children at their play. Men and women ought to drop their cares of the shop and the home, put on their best clothes, take a long stroll and forget for a few hours, anyway, their own being. For a time they ought to live the life of sheep and horses and delight in the glories of nature without the slightest discount on account of their own being and identity. Their superior intelligence make it possible for them to extract more pleasure from the objective life than the lower animals even. Away, then, and take a glad day off.

It is reported that a $25,000,000 Portland cement merger is being organized in Canada. Cement is one of the most active commodities in the commercial world, and where regarded in the building world a score of years ago as an experiment it is now one of the staples in all lines of construction work. The growth of the Portland cement trade in Canada has been phenomenal. In 1889 practically all the cement used was imported from England and Germany. The discovery of excellent deposits of marl and clay in different parts of the country gave an impulse to native production, and there are to-day 18 or 20 companies producing 10,000,000 barrels a year worth $15,000,000 wholesale.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever, usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by Jno. Coates.

CAUSE FOR ALARM.

EPIDEMIC INFLUENZA, GRIPPE, CATARRHAL TROUBLES, PNEUMONIA INCREASING

A marked increase in troubles of the breathing organs is noted in many localities. If you will only have Hyomei at hand to use with the first attack of Cold in the head, Pneumonia, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup, in fact any respiratory affection, the trouble will be quickly overcome.

If the attack is neglected and becomes severe, speedy relief will come in most cases and a persistent use of Hyomei will cure.

The directions for using it vary, but the principal is always the same, that of destroying all the germs in the air you breathe and having it reach the air passages with dry medication from the Pine and Eucalyptus forests.

Remember that liquids or moisture is barred from the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs. It's the dry air of Hyomei that reaches the spot. J. Coates guarantees it.

The death sentence of John Pearce, a young Englishman who murdered his employer, a Peel county farmer named Currie, last winter, has been commuted to life imprisonment. Pearce was to have been hanged this month. His sentence has been commuted on the ground of insanity.

The following lotion will prove very beneficial when the hands perspire too freely and become uncomfortable in consequence; Take ten grains of tannic acid, half an ounce of simale tincture of benzoin, two ounces of elder flower water, and three ounces of rose water.

The excessive heat in Perrins's factory, London, Ont., caused a cat to go mad, and in its violence it rushed into the chocolate dipping room of the factory and attacked two young women, Misses Edith Poulter and Louisa Kishel and inflicted a number of scratches before it was killed. The women were immediately cauterized. Hydrophobia has not yet developed, although there is yet thought to be some danger.

It was the first vaudeville performance the old colored lady had ever seen, and she was particularly excited over the marvellous feats of the magician. But when he covered a newspaper with a heavy flannel cloth, and read the print through it, she grew a little nervous. He then doubled the cloth and again read the letters accurately. This was more than she could stand, and, rising in her seat she said:—"I'm going home. This ain't no place for a lady in a thin calico dress!"

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I firmly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

JUNE 14, 1908.

The Risen Christ by the Sea of Galilee. John XXI: 1-25.

Golden Text—Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.—Matt. XXVIII: 20.

Verses 1-3—What had induced these men, who had consecrated their lives to the spiritual work of Jesus, to go back to their old business of fishing?

Where did the events of this lesson and the events of the previous lesson occur?

Did God cause their failure to catch any fish, so as to better prepare them for what was to follow?

When a true Christian fails in his business, has God anything to do with it, and, is it to him a better blessing than success would have been.

Verses 5-5—Did Jesus disguise himself, that they might not know him, or was it the dusk of the early morning that prevented them from seeing him clearly?

Does God sometimes purposely hide himself from his children, and what good does such hiding accomplish?

Did Jesus ask them if they had any meat, meaning to give him something to eat, or did he simply enquire as to whether they had any success in fishing?

Was their answer as respectful, or courteous, as it would have been if they had known him.

Will a truly good man be kind and courteous to everybody?

Verses 6—Does God always know where the business is, and direct to where it may be found, as Jesus did in this case?

Verses 7-8—Did Jesus love John better than he loved the other disciples, or was it an innocent delusion on John's part?

Which acted in the wiser manner of getting to the land, Peter or the other disciples?

Is it ever wise to act suddenly, upon impulse, without conscious thought or prayer?

Will a business man who is directed by God, always have success in business?

Verses 9-14—Does God, as a matter of fact, directly or indirectly spread our tables with food, day by day, or does it depend wholly upon ourselves?

Is the statement in verse 14 literally correct, that this was the third appearance of Jesus after his resurrection?

How many times did Jesus appear between his resurrection and his ascension and where and in what order?

Verses 15-17—Did Jesus love Peter, less or more, because of his denial of him?

Why did Jesus specially question Peter and not the other disciples?

Was Peter better or worse because of his fall?

Why did Jesus ask Peter the same question three times?

What did Jesus mean by feeding his lambs and his sheep?

Under present conditions, with a view to the speediest conversion of the world, which is the more important, the conversion of children or of adults?

Verses 18-19—What did Jesus predict concerning Peter's death?

What does history say concerning the death of Peter?

Verses 20-25—What did Jesus mean by "that he tarry till I come," referring to the death of John?

How did John die?

Lesson for Sunday, June 21.—Review.

Sandflies are so numerous about the Hamilton bay shore and west end that the yard superintendent had to issue an order for engineers to slow down coming into the Grand Trunk yards. The rails were so slippery from the flies Sunday afternoon that a light engine got beyond control and crashed into another locomotive, damaging both.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.
TORONTO.

Receipts of live stock at the City Market were light, not more than 50 carloads composed of 700 cattle, 745 hogs, 550 sheep and lambs, and 300 calves.

The quality of fat cattle was about of the same class as for the past two weeks.

Trade was inclined to be strong at a little firmer quotations in the different classes, owing to light run.

Exporters—Prices for export steers ranged from $6 to $6.40; bulls, $4.90 to $5.25 per cwt.

Butchers—Choice picked lots sold at $5.75 to $5.90; loads of good at $5.50 to $5.75; medium, $5.20 to $5.40; common, $4.75 to $5.10; cows, $2.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers—Not many feeders and stockers are being offered and prices are quoted as unchanged.

Milkers and Springers—Trade in milkers and springers was inclined to be quiet. About 25 cows sold at $30 to $55 each.

Veal Calves—The market for veal calves was steady at $3 to $5.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs—Export ewes sold at $4 to $4.60; rams, $3.50 to $4 per cwt; spring lambs, $4 to $6 each.

Hogs—Mr. Harris reports hogs unchanged at last week's quotations, as follows: Selects, fed and watered, $6; lights, at $5.75 per cwt.

THE FISH PEDDLER.

He who would live a delightful semi-vagrant life, and breathe plenty of ozone and who would wish to visit the beauty spots scattered so thickly, but so quaintly hidden throughout the country, should become a fish peddler for the summer. The outlay is small and very satisfying. You need a horse—a ten-dollar horse, and reluctantly gives half the road to an automobile; a horse that won't shy at the cars—and that's all the motive power you require. His keep won't cost you anything; in the heat of the day, while you take a sun bath on a grassy slope or a sleep among the raspberry bushes and burdocks in a shady fence corner, he will browse luxuriantly by the roadside. Same at night; when under your cart, wrapped in your blanket you lie down on your rubber sheet, the old horse will feed till morning on the best in the land. I spoke about a cart. You want a covered cart with a padlocked door; a box big enough to hold, say fifty 25c whitefish, and room allowance for a chunk of ice. When I speak of 25c whitefish I mean the retail price—you won't get them for about 10c each wholesale, perhaps less; anyway, you won't pay much more; so you can figure out the profit on your load for yourself.

You will have a lovely summer of it, and you will be a new man ere the snow flies again. Driving through the quiet sidelings and concessions, through the little, drowsy, soundless hamlets and villages, loitering by cool woods, on the banks of rippling streams, on windy hill-tops, in breezy open places, watching the changing skies and fields and waters, indolent, happy, independent, always hungry, ever ready to sleep, and making a little money on the side just the same. The farmers' wives will learn the music of your trumpet as you sound it from the knoll, or from the edge of the echoing wood, and they, and the dogs, and the children will be down at the gate to welcome you. She will dicker for half an hour and turn over every fish before she parts with her twenty-five cents. You will get to know and love these people; they will get to know and love you, if you are the right kind of a man.—The Khan.

Most every day when I'm at school
The teacher tells us things
About the birds and animals
And the presidents and kings,
And then at night when I ask dad
If what she says is so,
He reads his paper right along
And says, "Oh, I don't know!"
One day she told us that the world
Is round, just like a ball,
And that there's nothing down below
It's standing on at all.
I asked dad if she told the truth,
He read his paper through,
And put his feet upon a chair
And said—"Oh, I don't know!"
And once the teacher said the sky
Ain't heaven's floor, and tried
To make us think no angels walk
Along the other side,
And that night I asked my dad,
And all he said was—"Oh,
Don't bother me about such things,
I'm busy—I dunno!"
I used to kind of think somehow
That my dad knew a lot—
But that was wrong, or if he did
I guess that he's forgot.
Since I've got started into school,
Most every day or so
I hear about a hundred things
Dad doesn't seem to know.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

PULLS SO HARD ON THE TUMMACH IT MUST HAVE HELP.

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country makes stomach troubles. Five people suffer to-day where one did ten years ago with sick headache, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms of indigestion. All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of three in Mildmay and other towns should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet effective; nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na.

So reliable is Mi-o-na that J. Coates, with every 50 cent box he sells, gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

To stop any pain, anywhere in 20 minutes, simply take just one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain tablets. Pain means congestion—blood pressure—that's all. Dr. Shoop's Headache—or Pink Pain Tablets—will quickly coax blood pressure away from pain centres. After that, pain is gone. Headache, Neuralgia, painful periods with women, etc., get instant help. 20 Tablets 25c. Sold by J. Coates.

THE UNPRODIGAL SON.

Otto E. Schaar, president of a club of New York waiters, said the other day of a parsimonious young man:

"He resembles a chap they tell about in Bucks County.
"This chap lived alone with his father. On the old man's death he would inherit the farm.
"Well, finally, the old man took sick. His end drew near. The son sat up with him a night or two, expecting him to pass away; but he lingered on.
"On the fifth or sixth night the son, instead of sitting up, put a lamp, turned very, very low, on a table by the bed, and went off to his own room with the caution:
"When you feel that it is all over with you, father, don't forget to blow out the lamp."

"When you feel that it is all over with you, father, don't forget to blow out the lamp."

RESULT OF JEALOUS RAGE

Jury Find Creighton's Crime Was a Case of Wilful Murder.

A despatch from Owen Sound says: Willful murder on the part of James Creighton is the effect of the jury's verdict on Wednesday night when the murder of Mrs. Creighton and her two daughters was under investigation.

The autopsy on the bodies only served to reveal a more atrocious attack than was thought at first. In each instance there were bullet wounds that would have caused instant death. Creighton had evidently emptied the six chambers of the revolver into his helpless victims and then mutilated them.

Dr. Dow read the statement of the post-mortem. One bullet in the body of the wife had gone in the right side of the head, above the ear, and penetrated the ear. Either the bullet wounds in the head or the gash in the throat would have caused death.

WOUNDS ON VICTIMS.

The bullet wound in the case of the elder girl entered the eye and extended into the brain, and it would have caused death. Another bullet found in the body entered the side, passed through the body and was found in the muscles of the back. The third entered at the side and passed downward. The gash in the neck would have caused death also.

In the instance of the daughter Clare the bullet wound entered at the right side and in its course would have caused death, while a stab over the heart severed all the blood vessels around the heart.

Dr. Cowper gave corroborative evidence as to the post-mortem. He then gave evidence as to Creighton's rationalism when he was found. Creighton asked for chloroform, but it was not administered. The man lying on the bed and in his conversation said that he had committed the murders at 4.40. He claimed that he had taken strychnine. Creighton said he had no intention of killing his wife when he went into the room. He went to the kitchen and got his revolver to kill himself, and then went to say good-bye to his wife. He thought it was too bad to leave her to bear the disgrace alone.

D. A. Christie told of the selling of the revolver, in which Creighton pretended that the weapon was for another person. He identified the revolver.

TRIED TO BUY POISON.

Mr. John Parker, druggist, gave evidence of having given the prisoner some chloroform tablets on Monday afternoon, and he came back for some strychnine, which he said he wanted to use to kill a dog. He was refused.

Dr. Horsey related the circumstances as to his visit to the house of the prisoner about six o'clock on the evening previous to the tragedy.

Mr. G. P. Creighton told of having received a letter from his brother after six o'clock on the evening of the tragedy. It was written on Monday afternoon at 4.30, and intimated that it would be all over before the letter was received, and stating that he wished his wife to go to her home and he would be in his last long home. The letter contained the will of his brother.

TAKEN TO THE JAIL.

A quick and quiet transfer of James Farish Creighton was effected on Thursday from the General and Marine Hospital to the county jail. The transfer was made in a closed cab, with Chief McAulay and P. C. Foster, and Creighton is now under close guard at the jail. His remorse over the tragedy is intense and the closest watch will be necessary to prevent him from accomplishing the suicide which he unsuccessfully attempted after the tragedy. The bullet wound seems not to trouble him greatly.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Two Engines Smashed to Pieces and Seven Persons Hurt.

Wm. Boskell, engineer, badly scalded about head and neck, and hand and arms injured seriously. M. Wilson, fireman, scalded on head and body and other injuries; serious. E. McCreary, conductor, badly shaken up and cut; not serious. H. Stone, baggage man, arm crushed seriously. W. V. Dockrill, express messenger, head cut and arm broken and other injuries; not serious. Mail Clerk Kearns, burns and cuts; not serious. Charles Munro, passenger, arm broken. John Batt tramp, badly shaken up and injuries serious.

A despatch from Owen Sound says: Such is the list of injured in the railway wreck that occurred at midnight on Thursday on the Canadian Pacific Railway at this point. The result, besides the injured, is the destruction of a big freight engine and the engine on the passenger train, the burning of the mail and express car and the wrecking of the baggage car and smoker.

The accident was a most peculiar one. Engine No. 1,490, which had just arrived with a freight train from Toronto, was run up on the roundhouse siding, and Engineer Griffith had left it and gone into the office. From some cause unknown the engine, of its own accord evidently, started to back up, and started down along the track at ever-increasing speed. The night passenger express, due here at 10 o'clock, was two hours late, and as it rounded the curve at Murray's Cut and came down the grade at full speed met the runaway engine in front of the Keenan Lumber Company's mills. The impact was terrific, resulting in the wrecking of the engine and tender of the passenger train and converting it into scrap; and the tender of the runaway locomotive, which rebounded and went flying back on the rails toward town. The tender of the passenger coach telescoped the mail and express car, which in turn splintered the baggage car back as far as the doorway.

In the mail car Mail Clerk Kearns was caught and held fast for a moment, while the flying parcels and boxes in the express car inflicted the injuries that Express Messenger Dockrill received. Harry Stone was pinned down under a pile of baggage, and his arm was broken in a number of places. Conductor McCreary was badly shaken up and his arm broken. Engineer Boskell is the most seriously injured. He was shot through a hole in the side of the cab, and held fast until released. Wilson, the fireman, was also got out with difficulty, and both were badly cut, bruised and scalded.

TWO MEN DEAD.

Owen Sound, May 31.—William Boskell, the engineer on the passenger train which collided with the runaway engine in the C. P. R. yards on Friday night, died from his injuries shortly after he was received at the hospital.

Another death occurred on Sunday morning Robert E. Curran, the mail clerk, collapsed very unexpectedly and succumbed to the injuries which at first seemed to be little more than a fractured collar bone. He complained of the shaking up that he had received, and for a few moments after the collision occurred he was quite dazed. It was not until a few hours before he died that any serious injury was detected, and death was the result of hemorrhage and compression of the brain. He leaves a widow, whom he married less than six months ago. He came from Tecumseh and was on the Toronto-Owen Sound run about a year and a half of his three years in the mail train service.

12,000 EGGS COOKED.

Fire Does Damage in Storehouse at Woodstock.

A despatch from Woodstock says: One thousand dozens of eggs were destroyed on Friday night in a fire at Angus Rose's egg store here. The building was packed from cellar to attic with boxes filled with eggs. There was little damage to the building. The eggs were not insured.

Toronto, June 2.—One load of very fancy steers brought as high a price as $6.35, and several others sold at over $6. Choice butchers' steers sold up to $5.90. The proportion of cows to the rest of the offerings was rather small, and the prices keep very strong. The best specimens still demand $4.75 to $5, and the common ones all the way down to $3.

Sheep and lambs are lower, as the offerings were large, and the demand is not so strong. Spring lambs are easier on larger offerings, but the prices are still high, as the quality of the majority of them is not up to the mark. A large proportion of what are offering have not been finished up properly. No less than 1,700 hogs were received and in spite of the large number, the market remained steady at $6 per cwt. fed and watered, Toronto.

Priceless ecclesiastical plate and other treasures have been stolen from the Cathedral of St. Etienne, Limoges, France.

A rocket, which a small boy had failed to set off, exploded in a store at Fernie, B. C., setting fire to the whole stock of fireworks and burning down the building.

DAM AT PORT ARTHUR BURST

Engine and Crew Plunged Into the Current River.

A despatch from Port Arthur, Ont., says: The worst disaster known in the history of this city occurred just before midnight Wednesday night, when a tidal wave of water rushed down the Current River, sweeping everything before it, causing an enormous amount of damage, and creating a wreckage which will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Five lives were lost by the wreck of a freight train which plunged into a washed out track at the Current River bridge. Another man is missing.

The disaster was caused by the breaking of the dam on the Current River, used for the generation of power, owing to the abnormal height of the river, caused by the heavy rains. All the buildings in the power house were carried away, and the power house was inundated. Two C.P.R. bridges went out with the flood, and about three-quarters of a mile of track was washed out.

When the flood was at its worst a freight train from the East came along and plunged into the swirl of waters from the bridge. The engine and several cars were engulfed, and five men went down to death. The dead are: Joseph Seaward, engineer, of Schreiner, married. James McBride, fireman, of Fort William, unmarried. Albert Inman, brakeman, Fort William. Two unknown men beating their way on the train. Conductor Rose was severely injured, but the other train hands escaped.

The accident has completely crippled the city power plant, destroyed much property, and cut off the supply for the car system, as well as light and water. Temporary power for the local plants is being procured from the Canadian Northern, and it is expected assistance will be procured by connecting with the Kaministiquia lines at Fort William. The damage is estimated at about half a million dollars.

Passengers are being transferred across the flooded track in gasoline launches. Passenger trains are held up, including a special with steamship passengers.

MISSING MAN TURNS UP.

Long Lost Robert Orr Claims $6,000 Left By His Son.

A despatch from Cornwall says: Robert Orr and his wife separated when they lived in Cornwall some thirty years ago, and drifted apart, the wife keeping the children. Last fall the son, Charles Orr, died in Vancouver, B.C., leaving $6,000. This was claimed by the mother, Mrs. Alvira Orr, of 143 College avenue, Toronto, and on her affidavit the husband was declared legally dead, and a portion of the son's estate was turned over to her. Mr. Orr, however, is alive. He has been living at Ironton, Ohio, and is now in Cornwall to see his sister, Mrs. William Tackaberry, and other old friends, who easily identify him. He claims to be his son's legal heir, and is going after the money. He called at his wife's Toronto address with a view to a settlement, but she declined to see him.

DROWNED IN BAY LAKE.

Two Swedish Prospectors Upset From a Canoe.

A despatch from Cobalt says: A double drowning accident took place last week on Bay Lake, when two Swedish prospectors for Mr. Archie Gillies were drowned while out fishing in a canoe. They were Eric Helenjus, aged twenty-eight, and Otto Pyyikko, aged thirty-one. They were not long out when a squall suddenly arose and capsized their canoe. Both bodies were recovered from the lake shortly afterwards, and were taken in charge by Mr. Charles Campbell, undertaker, of Cobalt. Another Swedish prospector is missing in the Anama-Nipissing region, and it is thought, that he, too, has been drowned.

BLAZE AT PETERBOROUGH.

The Cereal Company's Mill Almost Wiped Out.

A despatch from Peterborough says: The factory of the Peterborough Cereal Company was badly gutted by fire which broke out about 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The loss is estimated at about $50,000 and the insurance amounts to $35,000. The part of the factory containing the machinery was completely ruined, but the firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the elevator. A large amount of flour and breakfast foods was destroyed. The part of the building destroyed was insured for $5,000 and the contents for $30,000.

A SILLY TRICK.

Young Woman Threw a Box at a Horse's Head.

A despatch from Montreal says: Two girls lie at the point of death and two young men are seriously injured as the result of a foolish trick on Wednesday night. The four were out driving, and the girls were eating chocolate. When the box was empty Miss May Lockerby threw the box at the horse's head, and the animal was scared and ran away, the animal up against a telegraph post and upsetting the buggy. Miss Lockerby and Miss Lizzie Hull had their skulls fractured, and had to be operated on at once, but there is little chance of saving their lives. Thos. Lockerby was driving and is not much hurt, but Leslie Cameron was badly cut about the head.

EIGHTEEN WERE DROWNED

Fishing Schooner Run Down in the Bay of Fundy.

A despatch from Halifax says: Of the twenty men aboard the fishing schooner 'Fame of Gloucester, Mass., only two escaped when the schooner went down on Tuesday night in collision with the Dominion Atlantic Railway's liner Boston in the Bay of Fundy. A thick fog which enveloped the schooner's lights was the cause of the disaster.

John Clark of St. John and Edward Pitts of Halifax are the survivors. The dead are—Captain Thomas Fay, Bernard Daley, Thomas Stapleton, Michael Welvina, Thomas Powers, sen., Thomas Powers, jun., Thomas Murphy, all of Newfoundland; William Fisher and John Roy of Nova Scotia; Michael Corner, William Bailey, Barney Cashino of Boston, and six men whose names are unknown.

The Boston was creeping along at half speed in the fog off Yarmouth, when the lights of the Fame suddenly pierced the darkness, two hundred feet from the liner's bow. When the hoarse shout of "Schooner dead ahead!" rang cut from the forecastle head, Captain Mackenzie sprang to the engineer's telegraph, and signalled for full speed astern, but it was too late. Before the engines had commenced to reverse, the Boston plunged into the low-lying schooner, just abaft the main-rigging, and cut her in two.

Lifeloa's were swung out from the steamer, but the wreck of the schooner had gone down within two minutes, and although the Boston cruised around the scene for over an hour, only Clark and Pitts were rescued.

Pitts rushed on deck, but the vessel sank under his feet instantly, and he was carried down in the vortex. Going down he clutched a piece of wreckage and on this finally came to the surface. He saw men dragged down all around him when the vessel sank, but when coming to the surface there were only four men left. They were all poor swimmers, and one by one they sank after half an hour from the time the schooner was hit.

CAPITAL OF THE FAR NORTH

Fort Churchill to Be Terminus of the Hudson's Bay Railway.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The first move in the direction of establishing a new outlet for western exports to the seaboard via the proposed Hudson's Bay route is now being made by the Government. A survey party, under the direction of Mr. Marrier, is being sent out by the Interior Department to lay out the townsite of Fort Churchill, the future metropolis of Hudson's Bay and the terminus of the proposed Hudson's Bay Railway. The future city will be located on the eastern side of the river, opposite the ruins of Old Fort Prince of Wales, and across the river from the Hudson's Bay Company trading post. Plans and drawings of the harbor are also being prepared under the direction of the department.

The present population of Fort Churchill consists of four half-breed families, a mounted policeman and one settler named William Beech. The latter is the only man whose home is pitched on the future townsite. He settled there with his wife before the area in question was reserved for settlement, and is, therefore, entitled to claim a free quarter section of 160 acres of city real estate.

It is expected that the Government measure providing for the construction of a railway to Hudson's Bay will be brought down in the Commons shortly.

A Broken Vow;

—OR—

BETTER THAN REVENGE.

CHAPTER XV.

It was a dull little house—No. 3, Greenways Gardens. To put it bluntly, it had settled back into the ordinary prosaic order of things—just the average everyday life that doesn't spell romance. After emerging in that glorious fashion from the common round of things, and touching the real beauties of a life that came from the world outside, it had dropped back again to commonplace, and was trying hard to forget.

First, as to Odley. You would scarcely have known her for the same Odley who had been so violently pursued in the past, and who had, according to her own showing, played the butterfly with such conspicuous success. For this new Odley was a tame one, who crept about through the house on necessary duties, and forgot to be cheerful; who looked with wistful eyes at that other shadow—Lucy Ewing—and wondered if things would ever come right again. Then as to Lucy herself. She had accepted what Odley had told her with a d. m. dull wonder; almost she saw that this thing they called love was a thing of disappointment and heart-breakings, just as the wonderful Odley had once suggested it must be. The weeks had gone by, and nothing had been heard of Christopher Dayne; he had vanished as completely as though Greenways Gardens had never known him. The world was just to wag on as it had done before, and everything else to be forgotten. Love had flitted once across Greenways Gardens, and in a manner of speaking, made a mistake, and called at the wrong house. And he had left without even an apology for his blunder.

The curious thing had been in regard to the mysterious Aunt Phipps. She had been astounded to discover herself swept out of the house, as it were, at a moment's notice by that impetuous young man, Mr. Christopher Dayne. There had been no time for explanations; Christopher had been given notice to quit, and quite naturally and necessarily he took his aunt with him. All the scheming and the planning in the world could not have anticipated this; Olive Varney had thought to separate the lovers, and had been successful so; but incidentally she had robbed herself of that position in the house she had striven so hard to obtain. Chris went, in obedience to the demand of Odley; but he staggered Olive by requesting her to accompany him. And she dared not, of course, refuse.

From that point her difficulties had commenced. Hitherto the boy had been a mere cypher in the game she was playing; now he suddenly took the business into his own hands, and played the game for himself. He had borne her off to a hotel on that night of their sudden departure from Greenways Gardens, and he was evidently prepared to live in a style befitting his supposed new fortune. When, in some alarm, she suggested that a more modest establishment would be better, he told her with some bitterness that he had no need to be careful, seeing that there was no particular prospect of happiness for himself; and, in effect, that nothing mattered. And that again was quite unanswerable.

If Olive Varney had desired to spread ruin and disaster all about her, she could not have succeeded better. Chris had ceased work. His days were passed in idleness; it seemed impossible for him to settle to anything. Olive had to face the fact that, although she had succeeded in striking out that love-story from the girl's life, she had also injured this innocent boy, against whom she had no quarrel. And each day that she met him she came to recognize that, but for her, he would have been a bright, hard-working fellow, certain to make his way in the world. That dawning thing, her conscience, began to stir unpleasantly; for the first time she grew afraid.

The money was nothing; she did not count that. But the woman was, apart from what she had promised, essentially pure-minded; whatever had been stilled in her, there certainly never had been stilled that desire for something better and brighter than her own life had known. She touched it here for the first time; saw herself again in Lucy Ewing, and some dear impossible lover out of the past in the person of Chris. It was a glimpse into a strange world; and it was her fate to sweep through that world like a blight, spoiling everything.

So the time went by, and nothing happened, and she grew impatient. A bitter battle was being waged between her pride—and her loyalty to her dead father—and that growing conscience which taught her how vile a thing she had done; a sort of three-cornered duel. So that at last her reluctant feet took her back to Greenways Gardens.

Odley, looking out hopelessly over the Gardens, saw her coming, and fled to the deepest recesses of the house; for Odley was dreadfully afraid of what she had done. Thus it happened that Olive Varney presently found herself facing that timid enemy of hers, Lucy Ewing. And in the pale face of the girl was a great expectancy—and something of a dawning tenderness; for had not this wonderful Aunt Phipps been near the boy quite recently, and might she not bring a message from him.

"Well—what do you expect me to say?" asked Olive, in a low voice.

"Nothing that is not kind," said the girl, with a quivering lip. "You are a woman; you should understand. I've waited alone in this house for weeks past—never hearing a word. You don't bring any bad news, I hope?"

"No—my—my nephew is well—am happy. You needn't be surprised at that," she added, curtly—"anyone can be happy in this world who has money. What are you going to do?"

"Do? I don't understand you," said Lucy.

"I mean," went on Olive roughly—"I wonder if you're like most other women; will you go after him—and plead with him—and try to take your place in his life again? Don't you understand how pretty you are?—don't you see that if you went to him, with your eyes full of tears as they are now, he'd come to your feet at once. Only just a little matter of swallowing your pride. Besides, he's rich, you know; don't forget that."

She spoke perhaps more roughly than she had intended; for to her surprise she found it necessary to keep down a rising tenderness within herself. The girl looked so forlorn, and so young, and so weak; such poor sport it was, and yet so necessary, if Olive would keep her vow. But there was a new spirit in Lucy Ewing; it was to be a battle of pride against pride.

"I'm afraid you don't know very much about me, Mrs. Phipps," said the girl, "if you think that I should do that. I have not asked you to come here, and I don't see why you came. If, because I believed in him and loved him, that gives you the right to come and insult me, I am sorry. But if you come from him—"

"No—no—I don't do that," broke in Olive quickly.

"I hoped not," said Lucy. "Understand, then, that I wouldn't go back to him under any circumstances; understand that he has killed all the love I ever felt for him. You began that; if you hadn't come back here he would have worked hard, and we could have been happy. Fortunes were not for us; love makes its own fortunes, Mrs. Phipps."

Olive was silent; that curious feeling of shame was creeping over her again. She thought moodily of the father lying in his grave; of her promise; and of how poor and pitiful a thing it seemed to fight against this child. If the girl had wept and prayed, she might, temptuously enough, have had an idea of feeling about the matter; but this pride was a thing greater than her own, and it gained at least her respect.

"I didn't want to insult you," she said slowly. "Some day, perhaps, you'll understand better about it all. Were you?"—she hesitated, and tapped nervously on the floor with her foot—"were you fond of him?"

"You're no right—" began Lucy. "Why do you come here at all—can't you understand what you're doing? Have I ever done you any wrong? As you say you do not come from him—what right have you to say a word?"

"None, I suppose," said Olive, looking at her quietly. "That's another matter you'll understand better some day. I shan't trouble you again—at present," she added, as she walked out of the room.

On an impulse afterwards she came skilfully back and looked into the room again, perhaps with some intention to smooth away what she had said. She saw the girl seated by a table, with her arms flung out upon it, and her head buried on her arms. Olive softly came away again, and out of the house, and so into the streets. And it was a new Olive that trod the deserted pavements of Greenways Gardens.

She fell suddenly old, and very, very lonely. That scene at the death-bed of her father, which had at the time burnt itself so strongly into her remembrance, now seemed set far back in an age she had forgotten. Before her, as she walked through the streets was the homeless figure of this girl, whose life had been bright and happy before the disastrous shadow of Aunt Phipps had come into it. All about her seemed suddenly mean and sordid; she seemed to have crawled to her vengeance, in a fashion totally unfitted for her nature.

She had walked on without taking thought of where she was going, and had walked mechanically in the direction of Martin Blake's studio. She remembered, when she saw the name on the corner of the street, to have heard the address from Chris. Scarcely knowing why she did so, she went on to the studio itself, and knocked at the door. Perhaps in her mind was the thought that here at least was a strong, sane man who might help her.

Martin seemed a little surprised when he opened the door; but he stepped back and made way for her to enter. His palette was on his thumb, and he had obviously been at work on a picture then hanging on his easel; on hearing the knock he had apparently covered it up without saying anything himself. He stood idly balancing the palette and waiting for Olive to speak.
