LINE DOWN.

The through telegraph line to Vancouver has been down today and has thereby cut off communication to the outside world again. The line to Skagway is still in working order and the telegraphic dispatches printed in this issue of the paper were sent in by the Nugget's correspondent at the latter place.

ANCIENT RELICS.

Nome, Sept. 22, via Skagway, Oct. 9.—Miners on Gold Run creek have uncovered ancient stone dams on bedrock. Sluices and other evidences of ancient mining have also been discovered. It is supposed that the work was done by Russians two hundred years ago.

THIEVES AT SKAG.

Skagway, Oct. 9.—Much petty thieving is going on here at present, the supposed perpetrators being bad characters lately arrived from Dawson.

REPAIRING CABLE.

Skagway, Oct. 9.—The Juneau cable is being repaired by contract. It has been out of working order for a month.

Died Yesterday Evening.

George Pendegast, a well known miner, resident of the Klondike for several years, succumbed to an attack of typhoid fever, breathing his last at St. Mary's hospital yesterday evening. The deceased was about 28 years of age and was well liked by all who knew him.

Deceased came here early in '98 and spent that summer in the Eagle and Seventymile districts, coming to the Klondike that fall. He owned valuable property here, having claims on Glacier, Hunker, Dominion and Fonanza. He has one brother at Nome and brothers and sisters in Boston. He was a native of Prince Edward Island. The funeral will be held from St. Mary's Hospital tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Only best brands of case goods served. Drinks and cigars 25c. Pete McDonald, Bank saloon.

SMALL GRIP WAS STOLEN

Thief Supposed It Contained a Large Amount of Dust.

Indications are coming to light which point to the fact that would-be gold dust thieves are not operating exclusively on the creeks. Mr. J. M. Poitras of 16 Eldorado is the latest victim of the sneak thief's operations, although his loss fortunately is very slight. Mr. Poitras drove down from the creek night before last, bringing with him a small grip, which has been used for carrying gold dust. On this occasion, however, its contents consisted principally of a small pocket book containing accounts and papers of value to no one but the owner.

Mr. Poitras drove to his cabin on Second ave., hitched his horse in front while he removed the robes and grip to the house. Returning, he drove the horse to the stable only a short distance away.

When he came back the grip had disappeared from the table on which it had been placed.

Yesterday morning the pocket book was found in the street with the papers intact. It was brought to the Nugget office and this morning reclaimed by the owner.

Mr. Poitras' theory of the affair is that the thief knew of his return from the creek and believed that the grip contained gold dust. When he discovered his mistake he threw away the pocket book, upon which the owner's name was market in ink. Mr. Poitras hopes that grip, also, was discarded by the thief, and that some one will find it and restore it to him.

Eschwege Released.

Having served a sentence of three years in the Yukon penitentiary, on conviction of having uttered worthless paper upon which he obtained money, Michael Eschwege is now a free man, his credits for good behavior while a prisoner lessening his time very materially.

LOST.—Lady's small poke containing few dollars in dust. Reward if returned to Nugget office.—D. H. R. T.

WANTED.—By a competent woman, position as cook or housekeeper. Best of references. Inquire at Nugget office.

FOUND.—Pocketbook belonging to J. M. Poitras. Owner can have by calling at this office and paying charges.

ANOTHER HIPPODROME

Kelly and Caribou Meet and Police Stop the Go.

Last night at the Orpheum theater, Caribou Sinclair and Kelly of Nome met in deadly combat in what purported to be a 20-round go. The bout was advertised for 9:30 sharp but the champions refused to appear, claiming that the expenses of the night was over $175, and that there was not sufficient money in the house to warrant them showing their siffae. Spielers were put out on the street after waiting impatiently one hour, and a few stragglers having been induced to enter, the contestants glared fiercely at Kelly and Kelly reproached in kind. Waterfront Brown acted as referee.

At the end of the fourth round the go was stopped by the police as Brown claimed Kelly fouled Caribou. Such, however, was not the case, as Kelly punched Caribou when in a clinch but with both arms free. Brown himself prior to the commencement of hostilities stating to the on-lookers that the principals had agreed upon that style of fighting. His decision met with jeers and hisses, the police entered the ring and the fight was declared off. The people who paid admission were again mulcted of their coin and pugilism in Dawson given its final knockout. Neither man showed any degree of skill, both being slow and uninteresting.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

The Ora passed Five Fingers at 7 o'clock this morning and will arrive tomorrow, leaving the day following. The Flora and Nora will be in early next week. All three are scheduled for another trip, and the Ora may make two more.

The Clifford Sifton arrived at White Horse yesterday at 1 o'clock and leaves today on her last down trip. She returns up river Sunday, and after discharging at White Horse will at once go into winter quarters.

OUTLOOK FOR NEWS

At Police Court Presents Most Discouraging Aspect.

Can it be that Dawson is threatened with dissolution and that the good old days when a reporter could enmesh himself in an obscure corner of the police court room and in one hour's time take sufficient notes to make a column of "hot stuff" have passed away never more to return? It looked that way this morning when a reporter entered the court room and was the only being in it. The front row of benches that, in former days was wont to be occupied by those who the night before had owned the earth, and who then were holding seances with old H. E. Morse, was empty and cold looking; the subtle spider was weaving his web across the entrance to the lonesome box and the silent, desolate air of the place plainly indicated that a story would have to be looked for elsewhere.

It may be that a moral atmosphere pervades Dawson, or, while the wind may blow from the same quarter as of yore, it may be that less strychnine is being put in the hooch. The fact remains that something radical exists, and if it is not in the wind it must be in the hooch.

BILL TO PROTECT MINERS

Introduced by Councilman Arthur Wilson at Yesterday's Meeting Is Broad and Comprehensive—Passed the First and Second Readings—Bill Was Referred.

Councilman Wilson at the meeting of the Yukon council yesterday afternoon introduced a bill entitled "An ordinance for the protection of miners," which if it succeeds in passing after its third reading will be of immeasurable benefit to every man, woman and child in the Yukon territory, whether actively employed about a mine or not. The bill was given its first and second reading, and will doubtless receive its final hearing at the next meeting of the council, and that it will pass, perhaps with some slight modification, is the earnest wish of everyone familiar with its provisions. As matters now stand he who delves in the earth with pick and shovel has but little protection other than that which he himself is taught by his own instincts. Some mines are timbered and some are not, in some the ventilation is so bad that before descending a shaft after a fire has been put in it is necessary to lower a lighted candle in order to ascertain if there is enough oxygen in the air at the bottom of the shaft to sustain life; drifts cave in because they have not been properly supported; buckets fall off the windlass rope and perhaps crush in the skull of the man below; people have been known to fall in abandoned shafts simply because they were neither fenced nor covered up, and the protection afforded is as infinitesimal as the proverbial mote. Mining inspectors there are in plenty, but they either can not, will not, or do not inspect as they should, and the result is an occasional life lost, perhaps a broken leg or a fractured skull. The accident is recorded in the daily papers, the injured man goes to the hospital and perhaps he recovers; maybe he dies, and if he does he is soon forgotten, there are others anxious to take his place, and thus the sacrifice of human life goes merrily on.

Mr. Wilson's bill, which it is hoped will greatly ameliorate the condition of the working miner, is quite lengthy covering twenty-four sheets of paper closely typewritten. In hearing it read for the first time one is impressed with the care that has evidently been bestowed in compiling it, the intent plainly being to reduce to the smallest possible chance any injury to the life and limb of the miner. The bill's application is very broad, and included every mine of whatever description within the Yukon territory. The interpretation of the term "mine" is equally as elastic and includes every shaft in the course of being sunk, every level and incline, the works, machinery, tramways, railways and sidings, both below and above ground. The "shaft" includes the pit and slope. The term "owner" applies to any person or body corporate who is the proprietor, lessee or occupier of any mine, or any part thereof, and does not include a person who merely receives a royalty or rental from a mine, or is merely the proprietor subject to any lease or grant for the working thereof, or is merely the owner of the soil and not interested in the minerals of the mine; but any contractor for the working of any mine or any part thereof shall be subject to the ordinance in like manner as if he was an owner, but so as not to exempt the owner from any liability.

The commissioner is empowered from time to time to appoint competent and practical persons to act as inspectors and may define the limits of each district within which such inspectors shall act. It shall be the duty of every inspector to visit and inspect from time to time every mine within his district; to ascertain that the provisions of this ordinance are complied with and that the mines are worked with all regard to the safety and protection of the persons employed therein; to investigate every case where loss of life or any personal injury occurs by reason of any explosion or any accident whatever, and to report such information regarding such loss of life or injury to the commissioner.

The inspectors shall have the power to enter, examine and inspect any mine at any time, day or night, its general condition as to safety, its ventilation and all other matters pertaining to the welfare of the persons employed in or about the mine. He should find any mine to be dangerous or defective so as to endanger the life of those employed therein he shall forthwith give notice in writing to the owner, agent or manager of the mine, pointing out such defects and require them to be remedied at once. If such owner, agent or manager fails to comply with said notice within ten days he is guilty of an offense.

The manner of providing for a formal investigation of an accident in any mine where such is considered expedient, is by the commissioner directing the inspector to hold such investigation, to whom is given the power to enter and inspect any mine or building where such accident has taken place; to summons witnesses, and to administer oaths. Persons failing to comply with a summons upon such investigation are liable to a penalty of $400 or imprisonment for 30 days.

Provisions are also made for holding coroner's inquests upon the bodies of those killed in any accident in any mine. At such inquest the inspector or any person appointed by the coroner of the mine at which the accident has occurred shall be at liberty to examine any witness, subject, however, to the order of the coroner. Persons having a personal interest in any mine where an accident occurred, or any relative of the deceased, shall not be eligible for duty on such coroner's jury. If in the opinion of the inspector it will lead to a more thorough investigation and will be more conducive to the ends of justice.

THE METHOD OF ASSESSMENT

The system upon which the local assessment rolls have been based for the present year is much more satisfactory than was the "turn over" plan which was followed a year ago. Under the present method, the assessment is levied upon the absolute value of the property involved and without reference to the amount of business transacted.

A WORK OF ART

Goetzman Produces a Picture of Dawson Six Feet Long.

Goetzman, the photographer, has completed a bird's-eye view of Dawson which is the most remarkable picture in this country and which it is safe to say has never been excelled in similar work anywhere. The picture gives a panoramic view of the city from the bluff above Moosehide to and beyond Klondike City. It is six feet long and one foot high. The negatives for the work were taken by a new lens recently imported by Mr. Goetzman which cost $1200. To make the same required four months constant labor at the factory.

Enjoyable Entertainment.

The entertainment given at Rev. A. E. Heatherington's church, the Methodist, last night, was one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of its character in the history of Dawson. The program was a diversified one, embracing vocal and instrumental music, readings and recitations.

Reorganizing Choir.

The choir of St. Mary's church is undergoing the process of reorganization and the request is made for all singers who have a desire to study high class music to join. A rehearsal will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and all who can are invited to attend.

Public opinion will support every precaution taken by the Yukon Council for the prevention of fires.

Washington, Thursday, Sept. 26.—The Schley court of inquiry began its session today with the intention of holding one sitting, having decided to forego the forenoon session in order to permit the members of the counsel and court to attend the funeral of Judge Wilson.

The counsel for the navy department today continued their efforts to show that Admiral Schley had information of Admiral Cervera and his fleet in the harbor of Santiago and introduced for this purpose additional officers of the auxiliary cruisers which were at the time doing duty as scout boats in West Indian waters.

The King's birthday is to be observed hereafter just as was Queen Victoria's during her lifetime. As his Majesty's birthday occurs on Nov. 9, any celebration which takes place in Dawson will need to be held in doors, unless it takes the form of a football game or something similar.

He had from 15 to 20 Dawson howlers with him which he purchased at prices ranging from $10 to $25, all of which goes to show that dog flesh is worth $1 and more per pound, as was the case in the early mining history of the Klondike. The Tanana freighter expects to operate from Circle, being a good winter dog trail to that place to the diggings. It is said that fully 100 men will work on Tanana this winter.

may summons as jurymen, not more than three working men employed at any other mine than that at which the accident has occurred. No boy of or above the age of 12 years and under 16 shall be employed in or about any mine for more than 54 hours in one week, a week to be considered from midnight on Saturday night to midnight on the succeeding Saturday night, or for more than 10 hours in any one day. No boy of the foregoing age shall be permitted to work in or about a mine unless he is able to read and write, and is familiar with the rules of arithmetic as far as including division. The inspector is empowered to make such examination of any boy desiring employment, and if he is found entitled to the same he will issue him a certificate permitting him to work.

In the matter of the payment of wages, the bill expressly provides that no wages shall be paid to any person employed in or about any mine at any public house or saloon wherein is sold any spirituous or fermented liquor. Any person contracting the foregoing provision is liable to a heavy penalty.

In mines wherein a single shaft is used the owner, agent or manager shall not employ any person in the mine unless certain conditions respecting shafts or outlets are complied with. Proper apparatus for raising and lowering persons at every shaft shall be kept at the works belonging to the mine; all buckets, tubs and other vessels in which goods and materials and other things are lowered into or raised from the mine shall be safely attached to the rope, cable or other means by which the same are lowered or raised so as to obviate all danger to persons underneath. The crown prosecutor may prohibit by injunction proceedings the working of any mine whose owner or manager fails to comply with the foregoing provisions.

When an accident occurs at any mine resulting either in the loss of life or serious personal injury, the owner or manager shall within 24 hours send a written detailed account of the same to both the inspector and the commissioner.

Whenever any change occurs in the name of the owner, agent or manager of any mine, or any working is commenced for the purpose of opening any such mine, or any mine is abandoned or the working thereof discontinued, notice of such change, commencement, discontinuance or recommencement shall be given the commissioner within two months from the date thereof.

When any mine has been abandoned, or the working thereof discontinued, the owner, manager or any other such person interested in the mineral of said mine shall cause the top of each shaft or side entrance from the surface to be kept securely fenced for the prevention of accidents.

An adequate amount of ventilation shall be constantly produced in every mine to dilute and render harmless noxious gases to such an extent that the working places and shaft levels shall be in a fit state.

All entrances to any place in a mine not in actual use or course of opening shall be properly fenced.

Any time it is found by the foreman or any other man for the time being in charge of any mine that by reason of noxious gases prevailing or any other cause whatever the mine is unsafe and dangerous, every working shall be withdrawn from said mine or such portion thereof as is considered dangerous, and no one shall be permitted to enter the mine for the purpose of making such repairs until such danger has been removed.

Explosives shall not be stored in any mine not taken into any mine except when in a secure case or container containing not more than six pounds. No more than one such case or container shall be allowed in a mine at any one time.

Signal bells must be provided in every underground plane on which persons travel which is self-acting or worked by an engine, windlass or gin of exceeding 30 yards in length; they shall also be provided with sufficient line holes for places of refuge every 30 yards, every back or counter balance used for raising or lowering minerals, if exceeding 30 yards in length, shall be provided with some proper means of communicating distinct and definite signals between the lower end and the main entrance.

Every road on which persons travel underground where the product of the mine in transit exceeds 10 tons an hour shall be provided where there is no standing room of at least two feet at intervals of not more than 25 feet with sufficient man holes. Where the load is drawn by machinery and there is not standing room of at least two feet, the intervals between man holes shall not exceed 15 yards.

Every man hole and every place of refuge shall be kept constantly clear. The top of every shaft which for the time being is out of use or used only as an air shaft, shall be kept securely fenced.

Where the natural stratas are unsafe every working or pumping shaft shall be securely cased, lined or otherwise made secure.

The roof and sides of every traveling road and working place shall be made secure, and no one shall be allowed in such road or working place unless the same is secure.

Every working shaft if exceeding 50 yards in length shall be provided with guides and some proper means of communicating distinct and definite signals from the bottom of the shaft to the surface.

A sufficient cover over head shall be used for every cage or tub employed in lowering or raising persons in any shaft, except where the cage or tub is worked by a windlass.

Single linked chain shall not be used for lowering or raising persons in any working shaft except for the short coupling chain attached to the cage or load.

Drums on machines used for raising and lowering persons must have flanges or horns; if such machine is worked by steam, water or other mechanical power an adequate brake and a proper indicator must be used.

All exposed and dangerous parts of the machinery must be kept securely fenced.

Steam boilers must be provided with proper steam and water gauges.

Ladders used for the descent and ascent of workmen shall not be fixed in a vertical position, but shall be inclined at the most convenient angle which the space in which the ladder is fixed allows; every such ladder shall have substantial platforms at intervals of not more than 20 yards.

If more than 12 persons are ordinarily employed in any mine underground, sufficient accommodation shall be provided above ground near the main entrance to the mine and not in the engine or boiler room, for enabling the persons employed in the mine to conveniently and with comfort dry and change their clothing.

A competent person shall at least once in every 24 hours inspect and examine the external parts of the machinery, ropes, chains and other works of the mine which are in actual use, at least once a week the shafts shall be examined.

Persons employed in a mine may appoint two of their own number to inspect the mine at their own cost, the result of such inspection to be recorded in a book kept at the mine for the purpose.

The majority of the workmen at any mine may appoint a person to examine the seat of any accident resulting in the death or injury of any person.

The bill also provides for special rules which may from time to time be enacted and penalties for the infringement or contravention of the provisions of this ordinance. Every owner, agent or manager who is guilty of an offense against this ordinance shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $200; a further continuance of such offense after due notice thereof given by the inspector renders the offender liable to a further penalty of $25 for each day thereafter. Other persons guilty of an offense against this ordinance are liable to a penalty of $50.

Fines and penalties imposed in pursuance of this ordinance shall be paid into the territorial treasury.

Carnegie's Rule.

The conspicuous part played by the Carnegie Steel Company in the newspapers recently calls attention to an important condition that has helped to bring about the wonderful development of this concern. The company is probably the only one in the world in which "influence" and "pull" are not permitted to affect promotions. A hard and fast rule is laid down that all promotions must come from the ranks, and that every body in the employ of the concern must stand on his own merits. Neither relationship nor any other claim is recognized, either in obtaining employment or in getting ahead after a place is won. That this is not mere idle talk was forcibly brought home not a great while ago, to a Pittsburger.

This man, after a successful business career, recently met with a series of commercial reverses that left him practically without a dollar in the world. There was, however, nothing to reflect on his probity or on his business acumen, his misfortunes being due to circumstances over which he had no control. As he was in excellent health, looking and feeling at least ten years younger than he really was, the disaster did not break his spirit. He determined that he would begin all over again, and make a new fortune. As a preliminary he went to Andrew Carnegie, whom he had known intimately all his life, having been with him a member of the Duquesne Club and of other organizations. He explained his situation and asked for a position in the works commensurate with his position and training.

"I cannot give you a position," said Mr. Carnegie. "You cannot—why?" "Simply because I haven't the power."

"But you are the chief owner?" "Yes, I am, but it is a rule in the Carnegie Company that everybody must begin at the bottom and work up, and neither I nor anyone else can change that rule. If I should give an order to put you in such a position as you ask, even if there were a vacancy, no attention would be paid to it—not the slightest. In fact, if I should give you any sort of a letter of recommendation it would only do you more harm than good. In the first place, it would not get you a place such as you ask, and in the second place, if you did succeed in getting in at the bottom, the very fact that I had recommended you would make everybody in the establishment watch you like a hawk. That is the way influence works in our concern."

The Pittsburger went away and got work elsewhere, but he regrets that he did not start earlier in life in an enterprise where merit is so absolutely the test. Whether the same rule will be maintained under the great consolidation is a question that interests many people.—EY.

ROBBERY AT NOME

Family Loses $6000 in Dust and Cash Left in Tent.

Over $6000 in gold dust, bills and silver were stolen by a clever thief from the tent house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Murray at the Log Cabin restaurant in Sullivan City on the night of September 5th. The time and occasion for committing the robbery was well chosen—one or more men who were well posted on the situation of affairs and knew that the Murrays had this large amount of money on hand.

Thursday evening, Sept. 5th, Mr. and Mrs. Murray gave a free dance for the benefit of the miners not working on the night shifts, and about 100 persons were in attendance. The affair was over about 1 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 6th, and when Mr. and Mrs. Murray retired to their tent they found everything turned topsy-turvy, trunks opened and contents scattered about, and a large slit in the back of the tent, showing how the thieves made their entrance and exit.

Suspicion rests on several parties who are being watched and arrests may follow in a few days.—Nome News, Sept. 12.

NORTHERN COMMERCIAL COMPANY

TWO GOOD PLAYS THIS WEEK

Standard and New Savoy Furnish Grand Entertainment.

Woes of Timothy Tollman at Standard—"Dr. Bill" Holds Forth at New Savoy—Big Audiences.

The play at the Standard this week is a light, frothy piece of comedy, scarcely up to the standard of excellence which has been the characteristic of the productions of the past few months. It relates of a muchly henpecked husband, Timothy Tollman (All Layne) his ancient and shrewish wife (Daisy D'Avara) a lawyer who is likewise a liar by name of Robert Rackett (Harry Sedley) and his wife, both kittenish and devilish (Lucy Lovell.) Billy Mullen, good in any part to which he is assigned, portrays the old uncle of Robert, Obadiah, who has been buncoed out of his bride by the prevaricating and ingenious nephew. The old man falls in love with a photograph, lacks the nerve to make love to the original when he has located her, writes her parents a proposal of marriage and sends his nephew to complete negotiations and see if the object of his adoration is as beautiful as the photo. The nephew when he calls upon Clarice finds her a dream of beauty, falls in love with her himself and makes hay on his own account, finally marrying her. To square matters with his uncle he writes that she who was to be his bride is as homely as they make 'em and is everything other than such as he desired her to be. When he receives this letter he has a fit of disgust and leaves at once for Japan.

The play opens with the uncle returning on a visit unexpectedly and the efforts of the nephew to keep him from seeing his wife and the latter from learning of the letter he had written his uncle concerning her charms furnishes a number of amusing scenes and much of the comedy. To get rid of his wife the nephew persuades her to go to the theatre with Tollman. They do so, have a supper, Timothy gets jagged and loses Clarice in the shuffle, comes home the next day with a big head and has a scene with his antique and extremely jealous wife. In the third act the muddle and misunderstandings are straightened out and everything ends happily with general forgiveness passed around. Specialties by Annie Merrill, Carrie Winchell, Dollie Mitchell, Katherine Krieg and the Dulcie Sisters are introduced in the second and third acts. The latter appear for the first time in operatic duets. Next week will be produced "The Silver King," a play that had a wonderful run of popularity twenty years ago.

The new Savoy theatre opened its doors to the Dawson public for the first time as a playhouse Monday night. If the entertainment provided is to be a criterion of the class of entertainments to be produced throughout the winter the success of Mr. Jackson's venture is assured, as this house is sure to remain very popular.

Although this theatre building is very narrow its length, the two balconies and the boxes give it an immense seating capacity, and by the time the curtain went up for the first act every seat in the house was occupied and standing room was at a premium.

The New Savoy Theatre Stock Co., under the direction of Ralph E. Cummings, presented for the first time in Dawson the farce comedy "Dr. Bill." This play is one bubbling over with humor, replete with funny situations and comical dialogue, and keeps the audience in convulsions throughout. Included in the cast are a number of familiar faces among whom are Ralph E. Cummings who, as Dr. Bill, shows his genius throughout the play; Fred C. Lewis, as Mr. Firman, causes considerable disturbance in two house-holds; Robt. Lawrence, as the Chief of Police; Mr. Horton; Harry F. Cummings, as George Webster; Vivian, as Louisa Brown, wife of Dr. Bill, displays her usual cleverness in her part; Leota Howard, as Mrs. Horton, adds strength to the cast; Cecil Marion displays considerable ability as Jennie Firman; Thomas Rooney and Jessie Forrester made their first appearance and scored a hit. Rooney takes the part of Baggs, Dr. Bill's servant, and Miss Forrester takes the part of Mrs. Firman. Other characters are taken by Lillian Milton as Ellen, and Pamela Cordero as Miss Fauntleroy.

During acts one and two Noel, introduced as a character impersonator, introduces song and dance specialties in which, he shows himself to be a master. Miss Annie Merrill pleases the audience with her serio-comic specialties between acts two and three.

Included in the specialties which are produced after the play is Miss Bessie Pierce, the wonderful contortionist who has baffled the medical specialists by her celebrated neck dislocation act.

One of the best features of the entertainment is clever Carroll, well styled the "King of the slack wire," as he is without question the cleverest performer on the slack wire which ever came to Dawson, and is undoubtedly the best in the country. Rooney and Forrester score a second hit in their negro impersonations.

Roy Southard, a minstrel singer of renown, is playing a special engagement, and scored rounds of applause. The big entertainment closed with Del Adelpia, the great magician, who mystified the audience by his clever tricks.

Notwithstanding the fact that the entertainment lasted until after one o'clock, everyone was so pleased that not one left the theatre until the final drop of the curtain.

Wrestling Match. Joe Burns and L. M. Murphy, wrestlers, are booked to appear at the Old Savoy theater next Friday night. Burns agrees to throw Murphy four times in one hour, catch-as-catch-can. Burns is 34 years old, Murphy 33 and both tip the scales at 135 pounds. Burns has met Max Luttbeg, the world's champion in Cincinnati in '95 and made a draw, the purse being $1000. Murphy is a well known man on the coast and has contested in many matches. General admission, $1; reserved seats, $2.

REGULATING LAW PRACTICE

Councilman Dugas Introduced Blanket Ordinance Before the Yukon Council at Yesterday's Meeting Which Was Passed—Other Bills Presented and Considered.

The Yukon Council met yesterday afternoon in the old court house, after an idleness of over two months, made necessary by the enforced absence from the territory of Governor Ross during that period.

There were present: Commissioner Ross, Mr. Justice Dugas, Gold Commissioner Senkler, Registrar Girouard, Councilman Arthur Wilson and Councilman A. J. Prudhomme—all the members excepting Major Wood, Acting Crown Prosecutor Congdon, formerly legal adviser to the council, was likewise present, but took no part in the proceedings save in the matter of making certain explanations from time to time during the reading of new bills.

Quite an amount of business had accumulated during the commissioner's absence, which was gone through with no little expedition. Probably the most important bill presented was that relating to the protection of miners, which was fathered by Mr. Wilson, a detailed account of which will be found elsewhere in these columns.

Mr. Justice Dugas presented an ordinance respecting the legal profession. It was quite lengthy and concerns not only the present members of the territorial bar, but also students who may desire admission to the bar and articulated clerks. By its provisions the list of those persons which may be added from time to time shall constitute what is known as the "Barristers and Solicitors' Roll." The roll is open to the inspection of anyone upon the payment of 50 cents. A copy of the roll shall be kept on file with the clerk of the territorial court.

Admission to the roll is upon the following conditions: The person must be a British subject, 21 years of age or upward, of good moral character and must be a member of the bar of England, Scotland or Ireland, or has been duly called to the bar of any of his Majesty's superior courts in any of his Majesty's provinces or territories of the Dominion of Canada, or has served under articles of clerkship for a period of three years with a duly qualified barrister and has passed the necessary examinations; or, has been called to the bar of other of his Majesty's dominions or colonies, or has passed the preliminary or final examinations prescribed and served three years as an articulated clerk. A fee of $50 is required before any person shall be enrolled. Any person who has become an articulated clerk shall be entitled to be enrolled as a barrister upon completing his term of service and passing the examinations. All persons becoming enrolled are required to take in open court the oath prescribed in the schedule. Every barrister and solicitor practicing in the Yukon territory shall pay an annual fee of $25 to the controller of the territory on or before June 30 of each year. The penalty to which any barrister is liable for not having paid his fee and becoming enrolled is $100 and disqualification from practice after June 30.

An examination shall be held annually of any persons desiring to be enrolled as articulated clerks or barristers, the examination to take place during the month of September. Articled clerks must pass an examination and be bound by written contract to serve as such clerk to only a duly qualified barrister practicing in the Yukon territory. The legal adviser shall be deemed a duly qualified barrister. No barrister shall have more than two clerks at any one time, nor shall he have any after he has discontinued practicing his profession. No barrister shall act as the professional agent of any person not duly enrolled and qualified to act as a barrister or suffer his name to be used in any such agency, nor shall any barrister enter into any partnership with any person not duly enrolled and qualified to act as a barrister.

Provisions are made by which the crown prosecutor shall discipline and punish barristers guilty of an offense against this ordinance. Barristers accused of unprofessional conduct, or for default by him in payment of monies received by him as a barrister shall be tried before the court and if found guilty, his name shall be struck off the roll and he shall be suspended from practicing for such period as may be considered proper. During his suspension he shall have no rights or privileges whatsoever as a barrister. Articled clerks may also be struck off the clerk's roll for conduct unbecoming a clerk.

Any person other than those duly qualified to act as barristers who shall act as such or practice in any court, or advise for fee or reward, directly or indirectly, in matters pertaining to law, or sue out any writ or process, carry on, or sue out or defend any action, or assume to act or hold himself out to the public as a person qualified to act as a barrister, or represent himself as a partner of any duly qualified barrister, shall pay a fine of $500 for the first offense. Subsequent offenses are liable to a penalty of $1,000.

Any contravention of the preceding section shall constitute a contempt of court, and any person doing any of the acts prohibited by this section are barred from recovering any fee or reward on account thereof, and any sum paid to such person thereof may be recovered by the person paying the same.

The bill repeals the old ordinances affecting the legal profession. It was given its first and second readings, then Justice Dugas took the chair, the council resolving itself into a committee of the whole; it was read a third time and finally passed.

Another important measure which was taken up and which reached its final reading and passage was an ordinance relating to the civil jurisdiction of police magistrates. The bill provides that the clerk of the court and the sheriff shall each appoint a deputy at White Horse.

The jurisdiction of each of the police magistrates appointed under chapter 41 of the Dominion acts of 1901, shall be exercised so far as regards procedure and practice in the same manner as the jurisdiction of a judge of the territorial court of the Yukon territory, and the practice and procedure in all civil cases over which such magistrate has jurisdiction shall be regulated by chapter 21 of the consolidated ordinances of the Northwest Territory.

Every such case shall be commenced and proceeded with both before judgment and subsequently as if the same were a cause commenced in the territorial court.

All appeals from the police magistrate shall be heard by the judge of the territorial court sitting en banc.

An appeal shall not operate as a stay of execution or of proceedings under the decision appealed from except so far as the magistrate appealed from or the court orders.

Gold Commissioner Senkler introduced two bills, both of which reached their final reading and passed. One was an amendment to the ordinance respecting assessment, and consisted of inserting the words, "not later than" in lieu of the words "at least" between the words "appeal" and "fifteen days" in the notice of assessment in form "C."

The other bill introduced by Mr. Senkler was an amendment to the ordinance for the prevention of fires. It refers to thimbles and flues through which stovepipes pass. By the new ordinance it is required that there be an air chamber of not less than four and one-half inches in diameter between the outer and inner wings of metal contained in said thimble or flue.

Councilman Wilson presented a portion of a petition intended to be forwarded to Ottawa, asking for the appointment of a wholly elective council and two representatives in parliament and requested the indorsement of the council. The petition was received, but as it contained no signatures it was laid on the table. Mr. Wilson also presented another petition concerning the miners' lien ordinance, but as it was not drawn up in suitable language it was rejected.

Justice Dugas presented a petition from the Yukon Telephone Syndicate, praying for the ratification of the acts performed by it. Considerable work was indulged in by the different members relative to the position of many of the company's telephone poles, the height of their wires above the ground and other matters pertaining to the welfare of the public. Resolutions were finally passed ratifying the acts of the company in planting poles, carrying wires through various parts of the city, and granting permission for such extensions to be made from time to time as they may desire.

The incorporation ordinance was not ready for presentation, but will probably be brought up at the next meeting of the council.

Mr. Newlands, the newly appointed legal adviser, will be present at the next regular meeting of the council, which will be held on the first Thursday in November.

News Came Too Late. A Nome paper of September 12 just received says a brewery has just begun operation there with a capacity of 30 barrels daily. Nome managed to get one big stampede from Dawson but it will take more than a brewery of 30 barrels daily capacity to get another, beside, the announcement came too late in the season. However, if it was a 60 barrel brewery a number might change the trip in small boats before navigation closes in small boats before navigation closes.

WINDING UP CENSUS WORK

Little Now to Be Done But General Compilation.

Today will practically wind up the outside census work although the returns had not this forenoon been received from Gold Run, Sulphur and Dominion. Commissioner Major J. Woodside remarked this morning that the ground has been covered as carefully as it was possible to do and that the enumeration of the district has been very thorough. The bridge guards, however, have had a number of persons within the two days' who had not previously been interviewed, but by this evening the "untaken" will be few and difficult to find.

From now until the books are completed and ready to convey to Ottawa, Major Woodside and a group of skilled clerks will be busy with the work, all of which will be completed within three or four weeks. Many of the enumerators, especially those on undeveloped creeks in the person where roadhouses are few and far between, where accommodations are very meager and the population is much scattered, have labored under great difficulty in securing the information necessary in their work.

Case Dismissed. The case against T. G. Wilson obstructing the Third avenue sidewalk with baled hay was yesterday dismissed by Magistrate Macaulay with instructions that the hay be removed as early as possible.
