GLIMPSES OF THE PAST

Through the favor of Mrs. Bethuel Loverin of Athens, the Reporter has access to copies of "The Plough Boy" published at Albanv, N.Y., in July, 1819, and the "Evangelical Magazine," published at Utica, N.Y., in 1834. In the "Magazine" of Nov. 8 we find these items of interest to people in Leeds County:—

MARRIAGES
At Remsen, Oneida county, N.Y., on Monday, the 27th ult., by Rev. Isaac Pierce, of Trenton Falls, Mr. Daniel H. Richards, of Brockville, U. C., to Miss Eliza Ann Dana, of the former place.

At Rem-on, on the 27 ult., by the same, Mr. Alonzo B. Dana, to Miss Mary O'Neill, both of Brockville.

DEATHS
In Farmersville, on the 4th ult., after an illness of twelve days, Warren Adams, aged 19 years and ten months. He lived respected and died lamented by all who knew him. His aged parents, three brothers, one sister and numerous friends will long lament their bereavement. The cause of Universalism has lost one who promised fair to be its ornament and advocate. The funeral was attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends, to whom Dr. Orrin Marsh tendered the consolation of the Gospel in a discourse from 1 Cor. XV: 55.

Considerable space in The Plough Boy is devoted by the editor to advocating the formation of agricultural societies, and, as a further means of educating the farmers, teachers and preachers are urged to instruct the people in regard to the scientific features of tilling the soil. Those were the days of the fat hog, and several weighing as high as 900 lbs. are recorded.

A "National Lottery," under authority of congress, is advertised, the total cash prizes of which amounted to $900,000. The gambling instinct was strong in those days, for while the par value of the tickets was $30 they were selling at $32.

It was stated that "Bonaparte was well at St. Helena on the 8th of May." Racial strife was not unknown at that early day, and this fact is recorded: "A few days since in Philadelphia three white women were committed for stoning a black woman to death." Back in 1819 the editor fared sump tuously. The notice of a wedding usually ended this way: "The parties will please accept our thanks for the liberal portion of excellent wedding cake which accompanied the above." These prices current are quoted: Beef, $10.25 per barrel; pork, $14.75 per barrel; butter, 15c; cheese, 6c; flour, $5.87 per barrel; lard, 11c; ham, 9c; honey 15c.

THE ATHENIAN FORUM

A magistrate's court possessed of some peculiar features was held in the council chamber on Saturday last at 2 p.m. by Mr. S. Boddy, J. P.

As recorded in the Reporter last week, the principals in the fight that took place in Athens on the evening of the 18th were both fined. One endured the pangs of remorse during Sunday and early on Monday morning went before Magistrate Holmes, pleaded guilty to a charge that was entered against him, and was fined, in accordance with the village by laws, $2 and costs, a total of $3.50.

Magistrate Boddy, in ignorance of this conviction, sent the Athens Chief of Police out to Plum Hollow to serve the same individual with a summons to appear before him. In the face of the defendant's protest, the magistrate persisted in trying him for the offence for which he had been already convicted.

This was the trial that took place on Saturday afternoon. On the opening of court, Magistrate Holmes presented a certificate of the prior conviction, but the trial proceeded notwithstanding.

The defendant accepted the magistrate's invitation to testify and gave particulars relative to the case. Other witnesses followed and all agreed that the defendant had been goaded into striking his tormentor. As one witness put it, "The other fellow got what was coming to him, and he'd have got it a lot sooner if he'd been dealing with me."

Magistrate Holmes again protested against this trial as illegal, but the presiding magistrate said there was a shadow in his mind regarding the former trial, and he intended to proceed with the case. He cited the fact that the offender appearing before Mr. Holmes had been called upon to pay a fine and costs of only about $3 while the other party to the fight had been by himself fined a total of $9.75. He then read a letter from the County Town Attorney declaring that a man could not be placed on trial a second time for the same offence unless an evasion of the law had been practiced in the first trial. The reading of this letter was followed by a general laugh by the audience, which was quickly suppressed by the Chief.

Another witness was then called, and failing to respond, the court was declared adjourned for one week.

APIARY INSPECTION

Reference was made in our last issue to the appointment by the Ontario Legislature of an Inspector of Apiaries for Lennox and Addington, Frontenac, Leeds and Grenville, Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell, Carleton, Lanark, and Renfrew, described as Div. No. 1.

We learn further that the department wishes by this means to ascertain if the disease known as "Foul Brood" exists in the counties named and to provide means for its cure. This contagious disease has worked havoc and destruction in many bee-yards in western Ontario, and is specially dreaded by bee-keepers, who have had experience with it. Any bee-keeper in above named counties who believes that disease exists in his own or his neighbor's apiary may mail a request for inspection to P. W. Hodgetts, Department of Agriculture, Parliament Bldgs., Toronto, or to M. B. Holmes, Athens, Ont., Inspector of Apiaries, Division No. 1, and attention will be given without cost to the applicant.

Substantial Improvements

These are busy days for Mr. I. C. Alguire, his whole time and attention being occupied in superintending and supplying the force of men he has engaged in carrying out the work he has undertaken. At his residence the granolithic walk approaching, running along the south side, and at the rear of the house has been completed, and has the neat, solid appearance presented by all the cement walks laid by the Dolans. The colonial veranda has been advanced to a point where its spacious dimensions and simple elegance may be appreciated and admired.

Just now a large staff of men is engaged in constructing the granolithic walk in front of Mr. Alguire's property, from Central to Main streets. We read occasionally of cement sidewalks being built at a low cost per foot, but a glance at this walk will serve to convince any person that this is not one of the "low-cost" walks. At some places it will be 18 inches in depth. First a compact layer of large stones is put in; all interstices are then filled with ordinary macadam and this is finished with fine gravel, sand and cement. The sand which is of excellent quality, was brought from the farm of Mr. Tackaberry on the Oak Leaf road. The gravel was brought from Webster's Bay, Charleston Lake, and is pronounced by the experts engaged as being among the very best for the purpose that they ever used.

A close tab is being kept on the cost of this walk, and while it is necessarily much more expensive than it would be in many other parts of the village, a close approximate estimate of the cost of granolithic walks in Athens may be figured out from this.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

A special meeting of the village council was held at the residence of A. W. Blanchard on May 29th, at 10 a.m. All present.

LESSON XII—JUNE 23, 1907.

Review—Read Psalm 105: 1-12.

Isaac sends Jacob to Haran to obtain a wife. Jacob has a vision near Luz. Jacob makes a vow to God. Jacob remains in Haran with Laban, his uncle, for twenty years and then takes his large family and starts for Canaan. He wrestles with the angel of God and prevails and meets his brother Esau in peace. Joseph is hated by his brothers and by them is sold into Egypt. Joseph, while a slave in Potiphar's house, is falsely accused of sin and cast into prison. God is with him in the prison. He interprets the dreams of the butler and baker, and later interprets Pharaoh's dreams, after which he is made ruler of Egypt. He gathers much corn during the seven years of plenty. Soon after the famine begins Joseph's brothers come to Egypt to buy corn. After testing them he makes himself known and sends for his father. Joseph gives the land of Goshen to his father and brethren. Joseph forgives his brothers the great wrong they did him in selling him as a slave. After the death of Joseph the Israelites become slaves to the Egyptians. God raises up Moses to lead the Israelites out of bondage. He is educated in Pharaoh's court and then spends forty years in Arabia, after which God calls him to deliver his people. Moses consents with much reluctance, and God gives him his brother Aaron as his assistant. Ten plagues are brought on the Egyptians after which Pharaoh thrusts them out. At the time of their departure the Passover is instituted. The Israelites pass through the Red Sea in safety, but the Egyptians are drowned. Thus God delivers his people from the power of their oppressors.

During the quarter our lessons have led us into four lands: 1. Canaan, where Isaac lived, from which Jacob fled, where Joseph was sold, 2. Mesopotamia, where Jacob fled, 3. Egypt, where the nation was raised up, 4. Arabia, the land to which Moses fled and where he received his call to deliver Israel. We have studied the lives and the characters of three great men: 1. Jacob, a man of prayer and faith, who gained a signal victory and received a great blessing, 2. Joseph, a man of integrity, who became great, 3. Moses, Study (1) the training, (2) the character, (3) the influence and power, and (4) the success of Moses.

PRACTICAL TEACHINGS.

A heart that is reaching out after God will surely find him. When God changes one's name there is a significance in it. The evil designs of enemies often work in a direction opposite to the one intended. Faithfulness even in prison is not unappreciated. Man could not so well have managed the affairs of Pharaoh and Jacob as did God even against man's devices. No wrong against man is too great to be forgiven. God's people fall into difficulties but he promises them grace to stand. God knew where to find the "proper child" to train for the peculiar service that was demanded. There is safety in faith and obedience. If we have God's presence with us we can attend to great things for Him. Had there been no oppression there could have been no deliverance. God permits His people to be brought into difficult places at times that He may show His love and power.

Illustrations.

Prisons have been among the most profitable places for God's people. Bunyan while in prison wrote his "Pilgrim's Progress." Samuel Rutherford used to date his letters, "Christ's Palace, Aberdeen jail."—Illustrative Notes. A fine example of reverence for God is found in the conduct of a great scientist as related by Hodge. He says: "When a boy in Princeton College it was my inestimable privilege to be the pupil-assistant of Professor Joseph Henry, the illustrious Christian Scientist, in his original experiments. When for the first time electric signals were sent from point to point by earth itself being used for the return current, Professor Henry put me at one end of the circuit, while he stood directing the experiments at the other. I can well remember with what care he arranged all his principal experiments; when he approached the solution, the experiment was repeated over and over again. Then he called upon me to uncover my head and worship in silence. 'Because,' he said, 'God is here. I am about to ask God a question.'"

Practical Applications.

Three names stand out prominently in the lessons of this quarter, and from their characters and acts some practical truths may be drawn.

I. Jacob. 1. A warning. The condition of Jacob on this journey was brought about by his selfish and deceitful conduct toward his brother. Here is a picture of one, through divine promise entitled to the blessings of a first-born, fleeing in fear from the one whom he had wronged. He had introduced so much of human scheming into the affair, that he came to feel its bitter effects; while if he had implicitly trusted God, he would have escaped the humiliation. It is altogether better to let God work out the problems that belong to him than to introduce our own schemes. 2. A revelation. God is so merciful that he does not leave us in the pit into which we have fallen, though it may have been dug by our own hands, if we have a genuine desire to get out. Jacob saw more during that night at Bethel than he had ever seen before. He saw himself in a new light, and he caught a glimpse of the glorious resources of heaven. When a human heart reaches that stage where he becomes sick of selfish ambition and desires God, he will receive a revelation that will be at once astonishing, abundant and satisfying. 3. A new name. Although Jacob had succeeded from a social and financial standpoint, a crisis came when he realized that he must receive a blessing which as yet was not his. He prevailed and became a "prince." This same blessing is in store for every one who will prevail as Jacob did.

II. Joseph. 1. Sincerity. This is one of the most noticeable qualities of this unstained character. He may have erred in telling so freely the dreams that he had, but if so he did it out of his heart, less simplicity. One of his brothers had dreamed the same dreams and told them as freely as Joseph did, but Joseph would have been too sincere and innocent to be unfavorably affected by them. Men vary in sincerity naturally, but the impartation of divine grace will make us all sincere. 2. Patience. The conditions of life that Satan imposes upon us with a view to our destruction will, through the power of divine grace according to our faith, work in us a degree of patience that will qualify us for life's noblest work. 3. Honor. It was not Judah nor Simeon that attained to honor in Pharaoh's court, but it was Joseph, their victim. The character that Joseph possessed would bring honor to him anywhere. Those who seek honor among men fail to secure the honor that comes from God only. Those who honor God with their thoughts, their words and their acts will receive honor from Him. Joseph took the course he did, not to secure the honor that came to him later, but because he chose to obey God.

III. Moses. 1. Preservation. From first to last Moses was the man of the hour. It would be idle to attribute his being kept alive to accident. God's providence set a train of events in motion that gave to Egypt and Israel a Moses. Pharaoh had one thing in mind; the training of Moses, but God had a very different one. 2. Choice. He chose "rather to suffer affliction...than to enjoy the pleasures of sin." We have inducements presented to us again and again to be identified with the world. We have to choose between the reproach of Christ and the pleasures of sin, between the joys of salvation and the empty joys of earth, between the riches of God's grace and the uncertain riches of this world. We are encouraged by the choice that Moses made to make a similar one. 3. Discipline. The choice was immediately followed by forty years of discipline. He was constantly comforted by the consciousness of having made the right choice, and was in a position to endure the things that befell him. Moses at the end of his life was a man of prayer and faith, who gained a signal victory and received a great blessing, 2. Joseph, a man of integrity, who became great, 3. Moses, Study (1) the training, (2) the character, (3) the influence and power, and (4) the success of Moses.

CHURCH DOORS ARE LOCKED.

Difficulty in Woodstock Over the Appointment of a Priest.

Woodstock, Ont., despatch: The doors of St. Mary's Church are locked to-day, and it is said that when they are opened again a new pastor will be in charge. Two priests from London were in the city to-day, and were at the church this morning. The doors had been open daily before their arrival, but they were closed and locked upon their departure. It is stated emphatically that there will be no service in the church, or else Father Stanley, the appointee to the position, will be in charge.

Last spring Father Cook, who has been in charge in Woodstock parish for some time, was transferred to Raleigh, a country parish in the neighborhood of Chatham. Father Stanley was appointed to Woodstock. Father Cook was to have taken charge in June, but he appealed from the decision and it is understood the appeal was carried to Rome.

The result of the appeal is not known. According to prominent Catholics, Father Stanley is expected in the city immediately to take over the work of the parish, and is expected to conduct his first services on Sunday.

A THIEF'S HIDE.

Clothes and Bottles and Jewelry Found Beneath a Toronto Verandah.

Toronto, May 27.—The "boot ylide" of a "cellar thief," who for seven months operated with great success in the northwestern part of the city, was discovered beneath the verandah of Mr. C. R. S. Dimnick's residence at 72 Kendall avenue. The "hide" was found by John Bannerman, a gardener, who was planting some flowers. The police were notified, and Detective Geo. Guthrie and Policemen McKinnay and McMillan were sworn on the scene. Detective Guthrie crawled under the verandah and handed the stuff out to the policemen, who piled it up outside.

It consisted of four dozen milk bottles stolen from milk boxes in the rear of houses, three dozen empty fruit cans, a quantity of carpenter's tools, some kitchen utensils, a quantity of old clothes and some jewellery, a lady's eight-teen-care gold ring, set with three diamonds and two pearls; a sterling silver jewel case, a lady's gold watch chain and a silver match safe initialed "C. F. C."

CHICAGO MAN SEEKS IN DEATH TO FIND WOMAN HE LOVED.

Hoping to Rejoin Kate Lamont, Former Chatham Girl, Horace Lechler Suicides.

Chicago, May 27.—In the hope of rejoining Kate Lamont, who was shot and killed recently, Horace A. Lechler, 45 years of age, committed suicide yesterday in his room at 248 East Ohio street. He was found lying dead from asphyxiation, a picture of the woman before him. The shooting occurred on April 13, in a saloon at 103 North Clark street. Prior to that time Miss Lamont had been living with Lechler, who was a bartender in the saloon. She was shot by a rival suitor, Charles A. Moore, former treasurer of the North Chicago City Railway, and later connected with a Board of trade firm. Moore is in jail charged with the murder. Lechler had written the bullet for Lechler, it is supposed.

The body of Kate Lechler was taken back to Chatham, Ont., the town she left twelve years ago the happy bride of Hugh Crabbe, at that time a Chicago traction official. In Chatham, the place of her birth, she had grown to be the belle of the town. Her parents were well-to-do and respected.

For the last two years of her life she had been known as the "beauty of the north side levee." But the rapid decline down the social scale that followed the death of her parents was overlooked by her former friends. The leading people of Chatham received the body and buried it near her parents' graves.

The evidence at the coroner's inquest over Lechler's body, held in the afternoon at Lavins' undertakings rooms, 226 North Clark street, proved beyond question that he committed suicide because of grief over the killing of Kate Lamont.

When Moore, who is awaiting trial without bond in the county jail, heard of Lechler's death he showed great concern.

NEW CHAPTER.

IRISH BILL'S REJECTION MAY NECESSITATE CHANGE IN POLICY.

T. P. O'Connor Discusses Question Before United Irish League—Home Rule Not Retarded for One Hour.

Dublin, May 27.—T. P. O'Connor, M. P., in a speech before the United Irish League of Great Britain, which met here to-day, said that the political situation created by the convention's rejection of the Irish bill yesterday imposed upon all new and large duties, and may necessitate some change of policy. He added: "Instead of reaching the point of the chapter of Irish misgovernment we have to open a new chapter. I believe the House of Lords was determined to destroy the Irish bill in any case, but if it had been satisfactory the bill would have marked the close of a certain chapter in Irish history. Now we have to recommence the work, as we have done many times before. There is now imposed on the Irish race the obligation of making a stronger, sterner and more energetic struggle than it has ever made before. I believe that the rejection of the bill has not retarded for a single hour the erection in Ireland of a great Assembly to make the laws of Ireland on Irish soil."

Mr. O'Connor was re-elected President of the league.

A UNIONIST VICTORY.

Mr. Leverton Harris Elected for Stepney Division.

London, May 27.—The by-election in Stepney division of Tower Hamlets to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Sir William Evans Gordon resulted in a victory for Mr. Leverton Harris, the Unionist and tariff reform candidate, who secured a majority of more than nine hundred over Mr. Ben Cooper, the Liberal and Labor candidate.

A good number of workers connected with the Cigar-makers' Union, of which Mr. Cooper is an official, rendered active service on his behalf, but the voters' Social and Political Union urged voters not to support Mr. Cooper.

APPOINTMENTS OF MISSIONARIES.

Where Canadian Methodists in China Are Stationed.

Toronto, May 27.—News of the appointments of Methodist missionaries in China has just been received by Rev. T. E. Shore. The following have been in the field for some years, but in many cases their stations have been changed.

Rev. Dr. O. L. Kilborn and Rev. J. L. Stewart, to the educational work in Chentu. Rev. James Heave has been transferred from the printing work to take charge of the church in Chentu.

Rev. J. Endicott is still in charge of cern. Lechler had been active in aiding Assistant State's Attorney Underwood in preparing to prosecute Moore. Lechler had told many friends that he would "reap vengeance" on Moore.

"Well, it's all a sad affair," reflected Moore. "Everyone knows that I never intended shooting Kate Lamont. Lechler himself admitted that. But he finally got what was coming to him. Perhaps some day the world will realize the truth. My friends know that my only motive in following Kate Lamont to the same depth that she sank was to try to save her from just such an ignominious end as she met."

"Why, I knew Kate Lamont when she was well-to-do, a woman of society. I found her after many years a character of the red light district. Lechler was responsible for her downfall."

Mrs. Mead testified that Lechler told her that he was baptized Sunday, P. J. Gavin, an undertaker, testified that Lechler told him two days ago he intended ending his life, and jokingly referred to it as "a job for the undertaker."

Barney Cole, a policeman, testified that of late Lechler frequently referred to the death of the Lamont woman, and declared he was tired of life.

"I saw him last Sunday evening," said Cole. "He told me he had been baptized. He said he went to a preacher and asked what were the chances of meeting Miss Lamont in the next world. The preacher told him he could find her all right if he'd reform. He asked the preacher how he would go about it, and he said he would go about it as a preacher. He said he would go about it as a preacher. He said he would go about it as a preacher."

Those who went out last fall have been stationed as follows: Rev. W. W. Willaig, Rev. H. D. Robertson and Rev. E. C. Carson, at Chentu; Rev. W. E. Sibley, Rev. C. E. W. Morgan, at Kiating; Rev. N. E. Bowles, at Ren Shou; Rev. C. J. Joliffe and Rev. R. McAmmond, at Yuin Hsien; Rev. F. Allan, at Pen Hsien.

LOTTERY TO FILL CHURCH.

Priest Gives Ticket to Each Worshipper Who Attends Early Mass.

Paris, May 27.—A spirit of rivalry for originality seems to animate the French dispossessing clergy. After devising all sorts of means for getting a living, they have now turned their attention to a lottery to fill a church. A bright idea, to every person who attends early morning mass on Sundays he gives a ticket for a lottery to be drawn the same day after vespers. The prizes comprise comestibles and groceries, such as two pounds of beef, a leg of mutton, a cake, a large loaf of bread, etc.

BULLET THROUGH HIS HEART.

British Columbia Express Employee Found Lying in His Home.

Ashcroft, B. C., May 27.—William Walker, employed for years by the British Columbia Express Company, was found lying on the floor of his house at Sixty-one Mile House in a pool of blood. His rifle lay near. On examination it was found that the bullet had gone through his body near the heart, causing death two hours after wounds. Walker had been suffering from heart trouble some time. He was born in Seaforth, Ont., and was about 50 years of age.

Los Angeles, May 27.—Train No. 20, one of the Southern Pacific's coast flyers, due at 9 o'clock last night, was wrecked at West Glendale, near here, at 12:30 o'clock this morning. The wreck was the deliberate work of train wreckers. One man, who was stealing a ride, was killed, and twenty-two other persons injured, three probably fatally. At a point on a trestle over the Arroyo Seco the fish plates and bolts of two connecting rails of the southbound track had been removed, and in the apertures whence the bolts were taken strands of heavy wire were fastened at the end of each rail. From the appearance of the track after the wreck it was evident that some persons hidden on a hillside close to the trestle had pulled the wire as the train approached and spread the rails outward toward the edge of the trestle.

TRIAL FOR LIFE

"Doctor, you are a Christian gentleman—you believe in effectual prayer and in providential guidance. Go home and reflect on all that I have told you. Put away all worldly thoughts and conventional ideas. Think only of justice and mercy. Pray to the Lord for freedom; and to-morrow, when you visit Cassinove, you will know what to say and do," replied Laura Elmer, with sweet gravity, and she arose as if to close the interview.

part of a Sister of Charity to a lonely prisoner so zealously as to leave her no time to bestow upon her friends," said Cassinove, regretfully. "Something like that, indeed. But I consider such duties as sacred as fully to exonerate Miss Elmer. I fully expected to find her here, and I am glad to have found her."

"Then, madam, will you be so good as to let me give you my name," said the officer, taking out his tablet. "You need not give yourself that trouble. I am the wife of Ferdinand Cassinove, and therefore incapacitated from giving evidence on his trial," said Laura, gently.

PLANTING A FOREST.

ON EASILY WORKED SOIL—"HEEL-ING IN"—HOW TO DO IT.

In planting trees in a forest plantation, three things absolutely necessary to attend to are: 1. Keep the roots of the trees moist. 2. Spread the roots well when placing the trees in the ground. 3. Tramp the earth firmly around the roots. In order to keep the roots of the trees from drying, they are carried in baskets and covered over with moss; or they can be carried in pails, partly filled with water, or, better still, very thin mud.

If the trees arrive at a time when they cannot be planted immediately, they should be "heeled in." For this purpose select a shaded spot which the sun and the wind cannot get at, and here dig a V-shaped trench, with the sides sloping at quite an angle. Now take a pair or other vessel and in it put water and earth, so as to form a thick mud, and pour some water in it. Take the seedlings and dip them in this thin mud, then place them in the trench, crowding them pretty closely (but not too close), throw the earth back over the seedlings and tramp it down. Another row of seedlings, and so on. The seedlings will keep all right in this condition for two weeks or more; but it is not wise to keep them thus for a longer time, on account of the danger of injury to the roots when they are finally moved.

If the ground is soft and easily worked, the planting may be done with a spade. A spadeful of earth is taken out, and in the hole thus made a tree taken from the basket or pail is placed. The roots of this tree should be well spread. Then the earth is put back and well tramped down. The tree should be placed in the earth about an inch deeper than it was in the nursery bed, in order to allow for heaving of the soil by frost, etc.

Some prefer to plough furrows as far apart as the rows of trees are intended to stand. Then the planters go along the furrows and at the required distances put down the tree, hold it in position and throw some loose earth about the roots, then tramp this earth down thoroughly, and then on to the next tree. The earth may be thrown back into place by another furrow ploughed alongside of the first one.

The rate of planting will vary a great deal in easily worked soil six men ought, after some practice, to be able to plant about five thousand trees per day. It is best to have some men do the actual planting, while others carry trees to them. One man or boy can often carry trees to supply two men planting. The number of plants per acre will depend on the spacing. Planting four feet by four feet, 2,725 trees will be necessary; for planting five feet by five feet, 1,750 trees, and for planting six feet by six feet, 1,210 trees.

principles of the Samlag are summarized as follows: The elimination of private profit and securing the monopoly value for the public; insuring the highest quality of liquors sold; reduction of the number of licenses; the easy enforcement of the law; the destruction of the power of all progressive measures of reform. The allotment of the profits in Norway at present are as follows: To the state, 65 per cent.; to the municipality in lieu of larger license duties now abolished, 15 per cent., and to objects of public utility not being charged on the rates but operating as counter attractions to the public houses in towns, 10 per cent., and in the surrounding districts, 10 per cent.

The combined capital of all the Samlags in Norway in 1904 amounted to $155,000, and it has never been more than $100,000. The profits of the trade under these restrictions have contributed since the establishment of the system during the past eight years, the proportion according to the state has been increased and an apart till 1910 to form the nucleus of an old age pension fund, which now amounts to $2,500,000.

The most remarkable fact in the history of Norway sobriety is that while the population increased by about 60 per cent. during the period 1851-1906 and the imports per inhabitant by about 300 per cent., and the exports by about 200 per cent., the consumption of alcohol per inhabitant decreased by about 4 per cent. The decrease in the consumption of alcohol per inhabitant was most marked between the years 1871 and 1905, during the Samlag period.

DRUGGING CHILDREN.

All so-called "soothing" syrups and most of the powders advertised to cure childhood elements contain poisonous opiates, and an overdose may kill the child. When the mother uses Baby's Own Tablets she has the guarantee of a Government analyst that this medicine contains no opiate or narcotic. They can be given with absolute safety to a newborn baby. They cure indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, and the other minor ailments of children. Mrs. G. Collins, Hirkokola, Man., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are the most satisfactory medicine I have ever used for the minor ailments of children. I always keep the Tablets in the house." Sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

SEED TIME.

IT IS SOMETIMES LATE, BUT WE ALWAYS HAVE HARVEST.

Seeding operations in some portions of the Northwest have been delayed by cold weather. From private sources it is learned that some of the farmers can only sow in the afternoon when the sun has thawed the ground. The frost at night and during the forepart of the day is too severe to permit of sowing. However, a good deal of sowing has been done in the afternoons, and the prospects are that the crop will be all right. The following table, taken from the official figures at the Experimental Farm, at Brandon, Man., gives the date of the beginning of seeding and harvesting, and the yield per acre in the several years of the period 1895-1906:

1895—Sown April 10, ripened August 27; yield 49 bushels. 1896—Sown May 8, ripened September 4; yield 26 bushels, 40 lbs. 1897—Sown April 26, ripened August 19; yield 35 bushels, 30 lbs. 1898—Sown April 20, ripened August 25; yield 35 bush., 20 lbs. 1899—Sown May 1, ripened August 28; yield 38 bush., 30 lbs. 1900—Sown April 10, ripened August 21; yield 21 bush., 20 lbs. 1901—Sown March 5, ripened August 22; yield 36 bush., 40 lbs. 1902—Sown March 4, ripened August 28; yield 31 bush. 1903—Sown April 24, ripened August 22; yield 24 bush., 20 lbs. 1904—Sown March 4, ripened September 7; yield 36 bush., 40 lbs. 1905—Sown April 10, ripened August 20; yield 30 bush., 40 lbs. 1906—Sown April 10, ripened August 17; yield 35 bush., 20 lbs.

A RHEUMATIC WRECK.

After Hospital Treatment Failed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him. "I suffered the greatest agony from rheumatism. Leading physicians prescribed many medicines, but with unsatisfactory results. I was compelled to go to a hospital, but even the treatment there failed. Then I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and to-day I am a well man."

These words were spoken by Clifford L. Forbes when interviewed at his home in Fort Maitland, N.S. Mr. Forbes, a factory man, has always been very healthy, until some three years ago while fishing off Newfoundland he was seized with a very severe attack of rheumatism. In his own words he says: "I was fishing on the Grand Banks in the spring of 1903, when I was stricken with rheumatism. I could not work or sleep, and the pain was almost unbearable. My case became so serious that I had to be landed and for weeks I lay in a Cape Breton hospital as helpless as a cripple. The hospital doctors prescribed different remedies, but they did not cure me. I then left the hospital and was taken home with rheumatism apparently completely fastened upon me. Day and night I suffered. Nothing I did for the trouble seemed to help me and I became despondent and down-hearted. Then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was skeptical, but my friend praised the pills so highly that I determined to try them, with the result you see to-day. I am fully cured and have not since had even a twinge of that dread affliction. I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I urge all rheumatic sufferers to try them."

NORWAY AND LIQUOR TRADE.

The Samlag system in Norway gives power to municipalities to grant all the retail spirit licenses which it deems necessary to a company which would bind itself to carry on the traffic in the interests of the community with a fixed annual return of not more than 5 per cent. on its paid-up capital. In establishing the system the question of compensation does not appear to have, pre-lag was introduced two kinds of licenses or for a term not exceeding five years. The first no compensation whatever was paid to those dispossessed of their annuity equal to the average yearly profits for the three years preceding the suppression of the license. This provision is still in force.

Sir Walter Raleigh the Founder of Virginia.

Sir Walter Raleigh caught the enthusiasm, and he organized the costly series of expeditions to that section of the Spaniards vaguely bounded "flowery land" which he christened Virginia. For a time there was a likelihood that the Elizabethans whom Raleigh sent thither might plant their seeds of an English empire. But the settlers were unable to hold their own. Those who voyaged forth to dwell there disappeared and eluded all efforts to rescue them. Thus far the Spanish lesson had been learned: to maintain the spirit of his countrymen in their Virginia endeavors, Hakluyt rendered into English a Spanish volume which he significantly named "Virginia richly valued, by the description of the mainland of Florida, her next neighbor." The book was a full description of the Spanish discovery of Florida and of "the commodities of the said country," according to Spanish testimony.

Sir Walter Raleigh, the virtual founder of Virginia, is the presiding genius of the embryonic English empire on American shores. Politically he was Spain's relentless foe. He was ambitious for his own country to share, if not to crush, Spanish dominion of the New World. The indifference of his fellow-countrymen to the opportunities which America offered them roused in him an angry disdain. Raleigh's nature was a mingled intellect and a lawless passion. A genuine love of learning and speculation kept his powerful prejudices within bounds. Jealousy of Spanish power and of Spanish wealth never blinded him to the significance of Spanish methods in the sphere of exploration and colonization.

At the meeting of Brockville Dairy-men's Board of Trade on Saturday 18th the following resolution was unanimously passed:—

Moved by D. Derbysire, seconded by Major Redmond, that this Dairy-men's Board of Trade has learned with feelings of profound regret that it has pleased an All-wise Providence to remove from the scene of earthly usefulness a distinguished member of this board in the person of the late Thos. H. Percival, of Plum Hollow. Be it resolved that this board places on record its appreciation of the sterling and upright qualities that characterized the deceased in all his transactions, zealous, energetic and enterprising, laboring at all times to advance the interests of this section. Farmers Won't Pay

Consolidated schools is one of the dreams of the educational faddists in Ontario, but it is apparently likely to end in a dream. Four of the five rural townships near Guelph have refused to contribute to the Consolidated School. It was $1,200 between five sections. The extra expense over the old way of individual schools meant two mills on the dollar and this amount the ratepayers refused to pay. The idea that farmers can be easily separated from their hard earned cash in order that fads and fancies may be exploited has received a couple of hard jolts lately.

Death of Dr. Lewis

Dr. Fred W. K. Lewis, M.P.P., of Orangeville died in the Queen's hotel, Toronto, on Friday last. He had been ill for a few days, but in the end death came suddenly. His brother Mr. W. A. Lewis and wife of Brockville were with him when he died.

The Recorder gives this obituary notice:—

Deceased was the eldest son of the late Wellington Lewis and was born near Addison fifty-two years ago last March. He was a graduate of Queen's and had been practising his profession in Orangeville for the past twenty-seven years. His wife was Miss Arkins of Orangeville, who survives with six children, his eldest a young man of 22, being teller in the Bank of Hamilton eastern branch at Toronto. His brothers and sisters are Mrs. Moore of London, Eng.; Charles Walter, of Troy, N.Y., and Wm. A. of this town. Geo. T. Lewis, of this town; Mrs. R. H. Field, Ottawa, and L. S. Lewis, of Newboro, are first cousins.

The late Dr. Lewis was elected to the Legislature at the last election for Dufferin, and during the three sessions he had occupied his seat had proved himself a worthy representative in the Government ranks.

IMPORTANT CATTLE SALE

A large attendance was attracted to the fair grounds, Brockville, Thursday, by the breeders' consignment auction sale of Holstein-Friesian cattle from the herds of G. A. and C. J. Gilroy, Glen Buell, and Gordon H. Manhard, Fairfield. In all about 300 persons were present, including many from distant points in Ontario, Quebec and Northern New York.

The bidding on the whole was brisk, especially for prize winning animals, some going as high as $250 and $300 each. Calves sold fairly well; one having a reserved bid of $200 was, however, sold at $190, as the auctioneer clear forgot his instructions. This particular one was a bull calf from the herd of G. A. Gilroy, born Jan., 1907, from his cow having an A. R. O. butter record for seven days net time. Others brought good figures also, though one dropped off to Mr. Stagg of Brockville at $11.

The sale was conducted under a large tent with Col. B. W. Kelly of Syracuse, N.Y., as auctioneer, who got the last dollar for owners every time an animal was put up. Of the 45 on the block, 40 were sold, realizing $5,009. The sale was so successful that the promoters announced another for next year. Following is a list of the purchasers:—

T R Beale, Athens, managed the financial part of the business with pleasure to all persons interested. Good records of individual animals did not cut much ice, as the people preferred neat, clean appearances, and a few choice cows sold lower than was expected.

There were no cappers allowed by the gentlemen consigning the stock. One cow for which $400 was offered last December was sold for $230.

The young men who managed the sale received congratulations from many who enjoyed the privilege of attending an up to date sale of fine dairy cattle. Every man and woman present had the privilege of a chair and a catalogue giving individual description.

DISTRICT MEETING

The annual meeting of the Brockville district convened into the Methodist Church, Prescott, on May 21st and 22nd, Rev. S. J. Hughes, M.A., chairman of the district, presiding.

It was unanimously recommended that Portland appointment be attached from Elgin circuit and attached to Delta, and that conference be requested to send two men to Delta, one of whom shall reside at Portland.

The lay electoral college reported through their secretary, J. T. Gallagher, the following persons chosen to attend conference, viz.: Messrs. Bissell, John Trenaman, W. G. Torriss, Dr. McLean, Robt. Poole, A. Blanchard, Wm. Bowen, Ziba Gile, Geo. Warren, J. T. Gallagher, F. W. Lockwood, Leonard Franklin, John Edwards, T. W. Ralph, J. Spicer, Wm. Render, Enos Soper, Wm. H. Gallagher and Geo. I. Mallory.

Delta was chosen as the place to hold the financial meeting and convention in September, and George street, Brockville, for the annual gathering next May.

Humors

Come to the surface in the spring as in no other season. It's a pity they don't run themselves all off that way; but in spite of pimples and other eruptions, they mostly remain in the system. That's bad.

Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them and cures all the painful and disfiguring troubles they cause. Nothing else cleanses the system and clears the complexion like Hood's.

Special Offer

The Weekly Mail and Empire and The Athens Reporter will be mailed to any address, postage paid in Canada or Great Britain until January 1st, 1908 for 75 cents.

Both publications for 7 months, the period mentioned, at regular rates, would cost $1.15. By accepting this offer new subscribers save 40 cents.

REMARKABLE INVENTION FOR THE CULTURE OF HAIR

THE EVANS VACUUM CAP is a practical invention constructed on scientific and hygienic principles by the simple means of which a free and normal circulation is restored throughout the scalp. The minute blood vessels are gently stimulated to activity, thus allowing the food supply which can only be derived from the blood, to be carried to the hair roots, the effects of which are quickly seen in a healthy, vigorous growth of hair. There is no rubbing, and as no drugs or chemicals of whatsoever kind are employed there is nothing to cause irritation. It is only necessary to wear the Cap three or four minutes daily.

60 DAYS' FREE TRIAL!
The Company's Guarantee

An EVANS VACUUM CAP will be sent you for sixty days' free trial. If you do not see a gradual development of a new growth of hair, and are not convinced that the Cap will completely restore your hair, you are at liberty to return the Cap with no expense whatever to yourself. It is requested, as an evidence of good faith, that the price of the Cap be deposited with the Chancery Lane Safe Deposit Company of London, the largest financial and business institution of the kind in the world, who will issue a receipt guaranteeing that the money will be returned in full, on demand without questions or comment, at any time during the trial period.

The eminent Dr. I. N. LOVE, in his address to the Medical Board on the subject of Alopecia (loss of hair) stated that if a means could be devised to bring nutrition to the hair follicles (hair roots), without resorting to any irritating process, the problem of hair growth would be solved. Later on when the EVANS VACUUM CAP was submitted to him for inspection, he remarked that the Cap would fulfil and confirm in practice the observations he had previously made before the Medical Board.

Dr. W. MOORE, referring to the invention says that the principle upon which the Evans Vacuum Cap is founded is absolutely correct and indisputable.

An illustrated and descriptive book of the Evans Vacuum Cap will be sent, post free, on application.

WHAT DOES IT COST YOU

A few days ago two farmers off the B & W. were seen comparing each others suits.—The taller man said, "You were beat out of $3.00. Why don't you try Semi-Ready?" The other replied that he was a personal friend of this other merchant and did not like to go past him.

His friendship cost him $3.00.—You say he was an easy mark, and so he was and yet the bush is full of such people.

Reader, if you buy your clothes at any old price because of friendship, you pay too much—the price is too high for what you get.

DELIBERATE CASE OF GRAVE-ROBBING

Remarkable Experience of Well-known Forest Citizen Vouched for by Baptist Minister and Local Druggist

(From Forest Free Press)

Forest, May 2nd, 1907.—The following facts, vouched for by Rev. C. E. Burrell, Baptist minister, and Ralph E. Scott, the well-known local druggist, is incontrovertible evidence that even when physicians have abandoned hope, there is still a way whereby the grave may be cheated of its prey.

John A. Galbraith is a well-to-do farmer, living in Plympton Township, about five miles from Forest. He is 5 feet 9 inches in height, and about 46 years of age. He enjoyed good health until early in 1906, when he had a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia, which apparently broke up his whole system.

In speaking of the case to the Forest Free Press, he said: "I did not seem able to gain any strength after the attack of pneumonia. A doctor said that tuberculosis had developed, that I could not recover, and advised me to settle all my affairs as quickly as possible. This was the condition I was in when my pastor, Rev. C. E. Burrell, of the Baptist Church, advised me to try Psychine, and procured for me a trial bottle. This was in May, 1906, and at that time I was reduced in weight to 120 pounds. The Psychine seemed to do good from the start, and I continued until I had used about $15 worth from Scott's Drug Store, Forest.

I gained in weight at the rate of half a pound a day until I went up to 150 pounds, steadily regaining my strength and feeling better. I actually had to have my clothes enlarged, not through any corpulence, but owing to a putting on of good solid flesh all over. I have resumed my work and have gone through this severe and sickly winter with nothing worse than an attack of grip, which my system was able to throw off without any serious results.

"I give this statement for the purpose of showing how Psychine has probably saved my life, and in the hope that others may be likewise benefited by its use.

"J. A. GALBRAITH."

"Mr. J. A. Galbraith is a prominent member of my church, trusted by his neighbors and very highly respected throughout the entire community. His case has attracted very considerable attention. His was a pitiable case, indeed; in the prime of life and with the brightest of prospects to be suddenly stricken down in the midst of it all. Visiting him after his physicians had pronounced his case hopeless (and, indeed, set the date at about which he would likely pass away), and observing pretty closely his condition, it occurred to me that Psychine, which I had used in my own family with wonderful results, might benefit him. I strongly recommended it to him, and he began its use. The result was truly wonderful. Almost immediately he began to improve and soon was able to be out again. He apparently regained his old health and was able to take up once again his old duties on his large farm and to perform them with comparative ease and comfort. The improvement was permanent. He is to-day apparently just as well as ever. He gives all the credit for his recovery, under God, to Psychine.

"C. E. BURRELL,"

"Baptist Pastor."

"I have read the statements made by Mr. J. A. Galbraith and Rev. C. E. Burrell regarding the results of the use of Psychine. I know both gentlemen personally and can heartily endorse all that they have said. Mr. Galbraith obtained his supply of Psychine at my drug store, saying from time to time that it had done him good. I took an interest in his case, and noted a steady improvement. Altogether I sold him about $15.00 worth. Psychine is having a big run here, and so far as I know is always used with beneficial results.

ENVY

I envy the boys that are playing to-day In the fields and the woods and the street; They're playing to-day, as I used to play, In the dells of some sylvan retreat. As they play by the old picket fence, They know less of sorrow and far less of care, Nor the struggle for dollars and cents; And so, as I labor, I envy them there, As they play by the old picket fence.

I envy the boy that's gone fishing to-day With his bamboo rod and his worms; I hear the brook ripple and his laughter so gay, As the bullpout he lands writhes and squirms. He sits on the bank 'mid the tall waving grass, With his mind weaving some boyish dream, As he waits for the rise of a shiner or bass— Oh, I envy the boy by the stream.

I envy the boys that are swimming to-day In the old swimming hole by the mill; Though the water be dirty and full of blue clay, I'd "peel" and go in with a will. There's the old spring beard and the sod chinked dam That we built with such labor and care, 'Twas there, in days gone by, that I swam— Oh, I envy the boys that are there!

I envy the boys that are playing baseball In the yard by the old village school, There's little of science and the score is not small, For just "hit and run" is the rule. But there's lots of good spirits and lots of real fun, And what, friend of mine, equals that? They'll start in to-morrow as to-day was begun— Oh, I envy the boy with the bat!

I envy the boys that are boys to-day, I envy their freedom from strife, I envy the school-boy that knows only play, He's having the best days of his life; For after the boy there comes on the man, And the freedom of boyhood must go; So be a boy as long as you can, And don't envy the man with the hoe.

The Seat of Women's Troubles.

When you get all run-down, feel tired and out of sorts, it is pretty hard to tell just what part of your peculiar organism is going wrong, isn't it? That is why you can take so much medicine and still have it do you so little good. It doesn't reach the organ or organs that are going wrong. But supposing you could get a remedy that contains ingredients for every organ of your system, and especially those peculiar to your sex, you wouldn't need, then, to know just what is the matter with you, or just what organ is causing the trouble, would you?

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women.

Dr. Hugo's remedy contains something for every organ of the female system; something for the stomach to help indigestion—for the bowels to cure constipation—for the nervous system to tone up the nerves—for the liver and kidneys to make them active in carrying off impurities—something for the uterine system to stop all drains, allay inflammation and make women regular.

If there is anything wrong with you—if you don't feel as well as you used to—these tablets will give you the old time life and vigor. Don't wait till something serious develops. Take them now.

OCEAN CABLE CAUGHT WHALE.

FISH STORY SENT FROM CHILE TO THE AQUARIUM.

Cable Wouldn't Work—Repair Ship Sent Out Fishing—Dragged to Surface Whale With Three Turns of Cable Around Its Body and One in its Mouth.

In November last an officer of the General and South American Telegraph Company called on the director of the New York Aquarium with a letter from the electrical engineer of the company, who desired to know to what depth a whale could descend and whether an air breathing mammal could stand a water pressure of nearly half a ton to the square inch.

These inquiries were prompted by an interruption of the submarine cable between Iquique and Valparaiso, Chile, which occurred on Aug. 14 last and which was caused by a large whale that was afterwards drawn to the surface by the repair steamer Faraday from a depth of 400 fathoms.

The cable in which the whale was entangled weighed in air, while wet, 1,715 pounds, and was buoyed, and was being strained of 6,000 tons. The weight in salt water was 1,005 tons per nautical mile.

If the whale came to the surface to blow, he must have held two or three miles of cable in suspension. This, however, is unlikely, since it had four turns of the cable around its body, one being in its mouth.

When the trouble with the cable was discovered tests from Valparaiso and Iquique placed the break about thirteen miles from the latter place. On Aug. 16 the Faraday left Iquique for the position of the break and began grappling in 342 fathoms, with 600 fathoms of rope out.

The cable was hove up, cut and tested to Iquique. The end was buoyed, and the ship, grappling further out, picked up the cable, which came in badly twisted and with increasing strain.

A large whale was brought to the surface completely entangled in the cable. The stretch being unbreakable the cable was cut close to the whale and the vessel moved to windward.

Tests were made and Valparaiso spoken. The ship made four soundings in the vicinity which showed a depth of 415 fathoms, 2,490 feet nearly half a mile.

It is extremely doubtful whether an air breathing animal can go as deep as 400 fathoms, and as that depth is much below the limit of pelagic life, on which most whales feed, it is not likely that the whale would penetrate such a depth. Total darkness moreover, prevails in depths of 400 fathoms.

According to the records of whalemen whales have been known to stay under water more than an hour and after being harpooned to have carried out a mile of line before resurfacing at the surface, although this does not necessarily mean that the line was carried down vertically.

The Valparaiso-Iquique cable was laid on Jan. 27, 1906. At first sight it seems unlikely that the whale entangled in this cable could have remained eight months without complete disintegration or being gradually consumed by small forms of life on the bottom.

The deep sea, however, is intensely gold, the temperature being close to the freezing point of fresh water and the carcass, unless actively attacked by bottom life, might be expected to last longer than in the warmer surface waters.

Since, from what we know of air breathing animals, it is unlikely that the whale would descend 400 fathoms of its own accord, and as a deep sea cable is not laid very slack, it is doubtful that the whale could have fouled it at the bottom.

The logical conclusion is that it became entangled during the laying of the cable, eight months before, when there was a considerable length of it in suspension. The twisted condition of the stiff and heavy cable about the animal shows that the energy expended in the vain effort to free itself must have been enormous.

SAILORS LAUGH AT SUPERSTITION.

Many of the Romances of the Sea Have Vanished. Sailors are no longer superstitious. At any rate, it is difficult to find one who has any regard for the old sea lore about which a thousand and one fascinating stories have been told.

Whether the modern steamship has made sailors feel a little less fearful and more independent of the forces of nature, says a writer in T. B. I am scarcely prepared to say; but an old sea captain at Kothicribbe actually laughed when I asked him if he was afraid of carrying a cat on board or sneezing on the left side of the ship.

"They are good old yarns," he said, "but not even during my days as an A. B. and mate on a sailing ship did I ever hear a man object to having a cat on board the ship. We preferred pussy's company to that of the rats, who gnawed our tops and made holes in the grub. And as for not sneezing on the left side of the ship, why—here the captain shook with laughter as he pictured the spectacle of men holding a sneeze and running from one side of the vessel to the other, so that they should not arouse the elements and bring on bad weather—"I don't believe," he said, "one sailor in a hundred ever heard of the superstition."

"What about Mother Carey's chickens?" Very nice birds. Harbingers of bad weather, you say. Landmen say we think so, but we don't. If they were so we should always be fearful of bad weather; for petrels are to be seen every day when on a long voyage. We like to see them about the ship when no other life is visible."

Other sad disillusion awaited the T. B. man when he picked up a copy of the Nautical Magazine, in which a writer, talking of lost sea romances, says that "crossing the line" is remembered only on passenger ships, where its observance is expected; while whistling for a wind is gone, for the simple reason that few ships want any wind now-days, and a whistle won't mend a propeller shaft.

At one time when England was master and mistress of the seas too, no Dutchman dared to help himself out of a mess but he had the English and Yankees had "had their whack." Now it is first come first served, and the Englishman is lucky if he is there at all.

Useful Hints.

Be careful at each ironing to fold the table linens in a new way if possible, as it wears first at the folds. A good plan is to purchase an extra half yard of tablecloth and after a time cut off the extra length. This brings the creases in a new place.

If your wax has given out and the starch sticks to the irons, try kerosene. Put a little of the oil on a cloth and rub the hot iron over it a few times. This will keep the starch from sticking, and removes any dirt that may have collected on the bottom or side of the irons, which often soils the clothes. As so little oil is used, there is no danger.

In my grandmother's pocket," she remarked, as she pushed her handkerchief up her sleeve, "there reposed a pair of scissors in a leather sheath, a case of sticking plaster, a copy of 'Hervey's Meditations Among the Tombs,' two handkerchiefs and a silver smelling bottle. I have not so much as a place to put a note. Why should this grievance be inflicted upon us? Why should the possession of a sane and reasonable pocket be the sign manual of a dowdy, and its absence an evidence of smartness?"

For a piazza plant that needs no care beyond a liberal supply of water, the old-fashioned Wandering Jew or joint plant cannot be excelled. Fill a cheese box with rich earth, plant little cuttings of the plant and in a short time you will be rewarded by a great mass of thrifty green foliage.

Holds Himself in Check. (She watching clergyman on the golf links) "There's one thing I admire about Rev. Mr. Holdforth. He always says what he means. He—oh, no, he doesn't. When he misses the ball he generally just grits his teeth."

COINS AND FACES ON THEM.

Features of Rulers Abroad, in the States the Emblem of Liberty. Coins of most of the nations bear upon them the faces of their rulers. In the United States each coin has an emblem of Liberty.

The first coins struck after the formation of the federal union bore the face of George Washington. General Washington disapproved of the custom, and it was dropped. It has never been revived.

Portraits of prominent Americans appear upon postage stamps, internal revenue stamps and paper money, but never on coins. And it has been the custom to use no portraits of living men even on the currency and the stamps.

In England as soon as King Edward succeeded Queen Victoria the Queen's face gave way to that of Edward on all the coins and stamps in the British empire. The accession of a new ruler in most monarchies means an instant change in the designs of the coins.

But there is an exception to the rule of no portraits on American coins. The emblem of liberty on the 1-cent coin is the goddess in an American Indian head-dress, but the fact shows no characteristic of the North American aborigine. It is the face of a little girl, Sarah Longacre Keen, upon whose head was placed the feathered ornament of a Sioux Indian. Her father was an engraver, and he placed his daughter's head on the coin.

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend.

(T. Watson.) Most grateful Lord, to Thee All praise ascribed shall be In earth and heaven above With joy we own Thy sway, And praise Thy Name aloud For this great sacred day Which Thou has given.

When we from scenes of care Unto Thy house repair Thy word we heed Sweet is the Holy Psalm, And sweet the healing balm, While we in gladness find To Thee draw near.

To palace and to tent The smile of glad content Thee greet Thy bringings die, It moves the heart's desire; It fans devotion's fire, While from Thy holy spire Glad music rings.

In hope its morning breaks, Because the Rest Day makes The home complete. In glad households find The rest that is designed To be a heart and mind Exultantly sweet.

This day, O Lord, appear Thine aged ones to cheer; Their fears remove, May Thy rich rock on feel Thy power to help and heal; To all mankind reveal Thy boundless love. Kerdy, Oct. 1907.

Dramatic Criticism in Kansas.

"East Lynne" was in Oakley Monday night. It is our opinion that "East Lynne" is too far west. It ought to be in Arkansas. The Arkieks of the poor, deluded Isabel worked on a fellow's nerves like the scream of a Lincoln branch engine on a foggy day. Isabel's grief was so loud and labored and boisterous that the author of the book doubtless turned over in his grave and his shadow muttered something about there being no use to write a good book, as somebody who thinks he can act will come along and spoil it. The moral tone of the play was backed up nicely, too, by a bunch of cigarette smoking employees who insisted on being conspicuous all during the show.—Oakley Graphic.

The Usual "Furnished" Cottage. (Town and Country.) Nodd—I've just rented a cottage at the seashore and I must send my furniture down. Todd—Why, didn't you rent one furnished? Nodd—I did, but that doesn't make any difference.

Celluloid Starch needs no cooking—just cold water and it's ready. 'Twon't stick, yet gives a better gloss, with less iron-rusting, than any starch you know. Its price is little. Your dealer sells it. Try it this week. 25c

Celluloid Starch

The Little Voyager.

Oh, the ways are many to Drower Land, Some one, I know, would try them all. 'Tis he, to-night, for a big balloon, Big and round like a silver ball, Do through the dark it swings along, Blown by the night wind's rustling song.

slowly it sways and swings this way, Pointing at last, just overhead, When down drops a glimmering rope of light, An anchor it sets to a tiny bed; And climbing the ladder of silver beams, Some one embarks for the land of dreams.

All through the night, in the ehling time, Silent they fleet through the cool, sweet dark, Roads they dip in the foamy clouds, Where the summer lightnings gint and spark.

And meet and west, o'er the wind-swept sky, The twinkling, golden bubbles fly. Do you ask me how some one comes home again? When deep in the west dips the silver sphere?

Oh, never a thought do I give to that, Perhaps the sun is the charioteer. Flown each morning a golden head, —Pauline Frances Camp in New England Magazine for March.

Penalty for Trainwrecking.

(Hartford, Conn. Times.) In infernal maliciousness few crimes known to man surpass the offence of train-wrecking. The rascal who plots to wreck a train, whether his purpose is revenge or robbery, is an enemy of society. From his dastardly performance every body recoils with a shudder. The train-wrecker gambles with human life, and has no hesitations about instituting a slaughter of the innocents. He makes property, travel, human life unsafe. The penalty for train-wrecking should be precisely the same as the punishment for premeditated murder.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house. Up to the Sartorial Limit. "Gee, but Jones is a swell!" "Well dressed, is he?" "Well dressed? Say, he dresses almost as well as a villain in melodrama.—Cleveland Leader.
