NEWS ABOUT HOME.

"A chief's amnye yu, takin notes. An' faith he'll print 'em."

TOWN TOPICS.

Ask for the "Bull Content" or "Olive" Godrich clip.
The lady who left the rubber coat in Victoria hall, Wednesday night, can have the same by going to F. GIABBI.

The weather can hardly be called settled, but F. & A. Pritham have settled down to a steady tailoring trade at Crab's block. If you want a nifty suit give them a call.

To all whom it may concern.—The undersigned begs leave to state to the people of Goderich that he is prepared to furnish them with the best wines and liquors at reasonable rates. W. L. Horton.

The best Christmas present that you can make to your friends this year is a pair of fancy slippers. But don't forget that lines of Kingston-st., is away ahead in that line. He will make them up for you in first class style.

George B. Robson is his name. Taking photos gained him fame. His cabinets are much admired. And studies well the human face. Call and see him. If you're willing. Your photograph will be "just killing."

FOUR FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE—(1) That G. N. Lewis has the largest stock of stoves in the County of Huron. (2) Also the largest assortment of stoves. (3) And Mr. W. S. Webster is one of the best workmen to set them up. (4) And will sell cheaper than the cheapest.

"Who is that man with the thing-majig unattractive way, that's Sallova, taking his popular views of Goderich." "Oh, I see. Does he also take photos of people?" "Well I should think so. His cabinets are much admired. Sallova is a right smart photographer, and don't you forget it."

The changeable weather makes no difference on the business of James Saunders & Co. Their sales of stoves continue, and all hands are busy—the result of the people's appreciation of low prices. Christmas stock arriving daily. Grand opening next month. "The cheapest house under the sun."

SINGING CLASS.—The first meeting of Mr. Ford's vocal class is announced for Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. Those who have a ready voice in their names, and those wishing to join, will meet in St. George's church on Monday evening.

George C. Robertson, East street, is giving great bargains in furniture. Bedsteads, $12.50, up; lounges, $15.00; ottoman frames, $20.00, up; and a large stock of all kinds of picture frames. Picture framing at bottom prices. All kinds of wreath frames made to order. All kinds of repairing done. Carpets taken up, cleaned and relaid. Christmas cards and albums.

Herac Martin, of Detroit, is in town. George Brooks has returned from Dakota. Mrs. Connolly has gone to Toronto to live.

H. I. Strag was in the Queen City last week.

A. G. Holweg, of Toronto, was in town last week.

John Morrison has sold the little fish tug Blanche Shelby.

Miss Macara left last week on a visit to London.

C. A. Hummer is home after an absence of a few months.

Mrs. Webster, of Blyth, spent a few days in Goderich last week.

Donald Straehan, is suffering from an acute attack of Bright's disease.

Mrs. Graham Moorhouse, is visiting her parents, Major and Mrs. Cooke.

E. Poole, son of Rev. W. H. Poole, is revisiting the scenes of his youth.

Sallova, the photographer, has been taking views around town during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Looney have gone to Toronto to spend a couple of weeks in the Queen City.

A hole was discovered in the bottom of the paddle steamer Manitoba, ashore at Southampton.

There was ice on the river on Friday last. Mild weather and rain have been our portion since.

The schooner Nenesis, it is said, is breaking up near Bayfield, where she was captured last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley have gone to reside in the house lately occupied by Miss Segemiller, Waterloo St.

Mrs. Marks, of Brucefield, who has been the guest of Major Cooke for a few weeks, left for home last week.

Miss Maggie Daly returned to her home at Brantford on Saturday last, accompanied by her cousin, Miss N. A. Dorn.

Samuel Platt, and his son William, left on Monday p.m. for Detroit with 2 carloads of cattle for the American market.

F. C. Macdonald, of Goderich, succeeded in carrying off the French prize at the Trinity College examination recently held.

The Misses Mills, of Seaford, and Miss Tidy, of Norwich, have been the guests of the Misses Dancy during the past week.

We regret to learn that Miss Moorhouse, who is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Jennings, in Michigan, is in rather poor health.

Mrs. Thomas, returned on Tuesday evening from Wingham, where she had been in attendance on her daughter, the late Mrs. John Bell.

The tug John Owen returned into port on Sunday afternoon and remained till Monday morning, when she left in search of the schooner Iowa.

Three St. Clair river, tugs were in the harbor on Sunday morning. Their names are the John Owen, Andrew J. Smith and the Kate Moffatt.

R. Vanstone, of Cameron, Holt & Cameron's law office, passed his first intermediate without an oral, at the law examination last week.

Hugh Bain returned last week from the Fishing Islands. He reports fish being plentiful, but much scarcity of barrels. The other members of the fishing fleet are expected home daily.

Thos. Beeroff, of Wawanosh, who is attending Goderich Model School, has been secured as teacher of S. S. No. 6, Turnberry, at a salary of $350.

Miss Mary Govenlock, of McKillop, has accepted the position of teacher of S. S. No. 4, Stanley, at a salary of $310.

We are pleased to learn that John McGillicuddy has captured a $50 scholarship, 4th year, at the recent examination at Toronto University. Good enough.

White, the old shoemaker who stabbed Brothman, the hotelkeeper, was, on Saturday last, sentenced by Judge Doyle to four years in the Provincial Penitentiary.

George Porter, formerly of Sheppard's bookstore, has returned from the North-west. He looks well, and intends to return to the Prairie province after Christmas.

We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. J. Bell, of Wingham, eldest sister of the Messrs. Thomas of town. She leaves one son and two daughters to deplore her loss.

R. H. Holmes, formerly a student in a Goderich law office, has passed his legal examination, and is opening offices in Wingham and Blyth. He was in town on Wednesday.

Rev. B. E. Keefer has been successful in his canvass in Goderich, and will organize a council of Royal Templars of Temperance this (Friday) evening in the Temperance hall.

The Holman English Opera company will appear in Victoria hall this evening in "The Mascot." Plan of hall at Sheppard's. The price of reserved seats has been placed at 50 cents.

W. B. Dickson of Garrow & Proudfoot's law office, was successful, we are pleased to learn, in passing his final examination in the Supreme Court of Judicature last week, without an oral.

An entertainment under the auspices of Knox Church S. S. will be held in the church some evening between Christmas and New Years. The programme will be furnished chiefly by the juveniles.

The Jane McLeod, Capt. Finlay McPherson, is in port for the winter. She came into port in the midst of a furious gale last week. She was well handled by her captain, and made the harbor in fine style.

Harvey Howell, of Colborne, left on Tuesday with three two year old colts, two stallions and a mare for Des Moines, Iowa. He was accompanied by Roland Papat as far as Chicago. Roly returns to Canada.

T. W. Smithson, a well-known Huron type, who some years ago removed to Michigan, and began his career as editor and publisher, is now running the Clio Star. The Star gives promise of being a tip-top local paper.

A. M. Kay, of Brussels postoffice, spent a week in town recently.—He got the full benefit of the recent gales, and thinks Goderich a breezy place in the late autumn. He is in an afloat time, and feels at home in a printing office. He likes Goderich.

By the old system there was just 5 hours 17 1/2 minutes difference between Goderich and English time. The result of the change is that the old minutes have been struck off, and the difference of 5 hours simply remains.

A meeting will be held in the room over THE SIGNAL office on Saturday evening, the 24th inst., at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a debating society, mock parliament, &c. All interested are requested to attend.

The tug Mocking Bird, on Friday afternoon got alongside of the J. C. Butts, the schooner that had been so long at anchor outside the harbour, and stayed with her till early morning when she started with her in tow for the river.

The tug, Kate Moffatt, arrived in Port on Sunday and left early on Monday for Southampton. She is engaged to take the Manitoba off the shore and tow her to Sarnia, and is equipped with steam pump, and other necessary wrecking appliances.

The storm last week did much injury to the elevated walk leading to the out-side range light on the north pier, several of the stanchions of the trestle work have been washed out by floating logs. The damage should be repaired at once by the government.

Malcolm McGillicuddy is about to start on a tour through the county giving a series of lectures on music. Last year he taught the old notation, but he intends to explain the tonic-sol-fa system this season. Mr. McGillicuddy, we have no doubt, will be able to clearly put this method of reading music at sight.

TO INTERESTED SUBSCRIBERS.—Back numbers of THE SIGNAL, containing the editor chapters of our new and very popular story, can be had by new subscribers who will send in their names and money before the 1st of December. Don't fail to avail yourself of this offer if you are not now a regular subscriber.

We have received the British Columbia Directory for 1883, a large, handsome volume of 400 pages. It contains a large amount of statistical and descriptive information concerning the Pacific Province of the Dominion. Those desirous of obtaining accurate knowledge of the country, its climate, resources, institutions, in a concise, intelligible form should consult this directory. Besides a well executed map, it contains many illustrations of public buildings, scenery, etc. It is published by K. T. Williams, Victoria, B. C.

An exchange says some schemer is mailing circulars all over the Province from Blyth, offering to sell $1,000 in bogus money for $100. In the second letter he mails after he has got an answer—he offers to forward $100 worth for a ten dollar bill—just as a sample. That is the last the "sucker" will ever see of his ten dollar bill if he sends it.

Hon. Edward Blake and Hon. Alex. Mackenzie arrived in Goderich on the 3:15 p.m. train on Thursday en route for the Reform convention to be held in Brucefield to-day (Friday). They were driven to the residence of M. C. Cameron, M.P. and were the guests of that gentleman during their stay in Goderich.

Mrs. Ashley recently disposed of her property on corner of Palmerston and Raglan streets, to Mr. Williams, of Palmerston street. She left on Monday for her future home, Allomosa Colorado, where her brother, Wesley McLellan, now resides. She was much respected, and will be missed by her many friends in town.

On Friday evening the usual fortnightly meeting of the H. S. L. S. took place, when the following programme was presented: Solo, Miss Harrison; Reading, Miss Tighe; Duett, Misses Yates and Eiler; Reading, Miss Cameron; Solo, Miss Trainer; Reading, Miss Williams; Reading, Mr. Halls; Dialogue, Messrs. Horton and Wilson.

The Stratford Literary and Musical Society are issuing a neat little bi-monthly paper called THE SCHOOL. It is well edited, and the notes are spicy and full of interest to the students of Stratford. The first number contains a cut of the High School. We wonder if our diminutive cotera hadn't better get a fighting editor on its staff.

C. O. F.—At the last regular meeting of Court Goderich, No. 32, C. O. of F., the following officers were duly installed:—R. R. Symmonds, C.R.; D. Standart, V.C.R.; T. Sneyd, F.S.; W. McCresth, R.S.; C. Crabb, T.; C. Gittle, S. W.; W. Pennington, J. W.; E. Simons, S. B.; T. Gibbs, J. B.; C. McKenzie, Chaplain. No. 32 is growing fast, there being seven gentlemen for initiation at the next meeting.

The gentleman referred to in the following item is a son of Rev. D. Allan, and a brother of A. McD. Allan, of Goderich: "At the dinner held on Tuesday night by 'A' Company, Q. O. R. at the Amoury Hotel, West Market street, the members of the company presented Major Allan with a handsome gold watch and chain, accompanied by an appropriate address." The Major appears to be very popular with his entire regiment.

The School Board met at 8 p.m. on Monday and received the resignation of the Principal, Mr. W. R. Miller. On motion it was ordered that advertisements be inserted in the Clio and Star for a Principal, and for a head teacher for St. David's Ward School. An application from Mr. McLeod of Lucknow, for the position of Principal, was laid over for future consideration. Testimonials were granted to all retiring teachers, after which the Board adjourned.

On Wednesday evening last a few of the friends of Geo. Armour assembled at the residence of C. F. Straubel, the occasion being an oyster supper given to Geo. by his employer, previous to his departure from amongst us. After having partaken plentifully of the delicious bivalves and other courses, expressions of friendship and regret at his departure were indulged in, both by employer and friends, after which the company separated, having spent an enjoyable evening. Mr. Armour leaves on Monday to take a position with a former employer, in whose service he had been for about nine years.

PROVINCIAL S. S. ASSOCIATION WORK.—T. McGillicuddy, in Knox church lecture room on Wednesday evening, gave a sketch of the proceedings of the 13th annual convention of the Provincial S. S. Association, held at Colburn last month. He briefly described the personal characteristics of some of the leading workers, and gave a few of the most striking sayings of the occasion. The work of the convention was rapidly traced in a connected manner, session by session. The audience, owing to the heavy snow,

A Pleasant Visit to the Sandwich Islands.

The Pacific Not so pacific—Sea-sickness—The Hawaiian Islands—Beautiful scenery—A Live City—Dusky Damsels—The "Dutch Bowl"—A Native Editor—Leprosy—The Volcano—Off for Auckland.

The traveller knocking about, seeing new and strange sights every day, will find none more interesting or touching than those connected with the departure of an Australian steamer, leaving Frisco once a month on its voyage of over seven thousand miles. Hundreds have come to the wharf to bid their outward-bound friends, in many cases, a last farewell, and as the steamer is slowly backed away from her mooring many sorrowful, sobbing "good byes" are exchanged, and good wishes expressed, amidst a sea of waving handkerchiefs and sad faces. Our vessel is turned in the right direction, the signal gun is fired, and away we steam on a four weeks' voyage. As we pass out of the bay we have a good opportunity of observing a beautiful and rare combination of city, island, mountain and plain.

THE "GOLDEN GATE." proper is a strait about five miles in length and nearly a mile wide, and strongly fortified along the whole length of the passage. On the left are Goat and Angel islands, both military reserves; in the rear is the city of Oakland and other suburbs, with a range of mountains in the background. To the south we have a grand view of the bay, a sheet of water large enough to float the navies of the whole world; and in whatever direction we look we seem to be shut in by mountains. As the faint outline of Columbia's shores disappeared from sight, there came up before us the unhappy realization of where we were and how we felt. We had never been more than thirty or forty miles from a "cow's tail." In fact our experience on the water had only covered a trip from Goderich to an opposite port, and from Milwaukee to Chicago, both of which were attended with the inevitable mal de mer. Soon we might have been seen attentively

GAZING INTO THE SEA in a staring, expectant attitude, or bending affectionately over the ship's railing bestowing the burden of our troubles on the not very placid bosom of the watery waste, while all around us were others giving vent to their pent up feelings by piteous lamentations and sighs too sacred to be paraded before the public. We have read somewhere that sickness is the mother of modesty, serving to keep us in mind of our mortality, and while we drive on heedlessly in the full career of pomp and jollity she kindly pulls us up by the ears to bring us to a proper sense of our duty. We can fully bear out the assertion that it puts us in mind of our mortality, for we were tempted at sundry times as far as practicable to do as the good man in the scripture did, who laid down

UNDER A JUNIPER TREE and cried, "It is enough, let me not live," but there was no juniper tree handy, and we found out our prayers at that particular time were not answered, so it was all an empty delusive mockery and ended in a disappointment to us. There are many of our fellow beings in this world who think that to be good is to be grim, quiet and melancholy, and our thoughts to be wholesome must be moulded in the form of a coffin. If that be the acme of goodness and sound thinking, we attained that degree and maintained it from the Golden Gate to the Sandwich Islands, our troubles being trooped up by every passing breeze, rendering the state of our stomach such that it deck a veil over the guilty of our hearts, and made it dangerous for anyone to suggest the singing of some of the little sea-ditties we were wont to warble sweetly to ourselves before our experience at sea gave us such a disgust at everything savoring of salt water. Such songs as "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," "What are the Wild Waves Saying?" "A Life on the Ocean Wave," &c., we have sworn of singing. On the morning of the eighth day after leaving Frisco, we sighted the HAWAIIAN OR SANDWICH ISLANDS, and nothing was more pleasing as we drew near the Honolulu harbor than the anticipation of spending a day in this little paradise. On passing around "Diamond Head," a gorgeously picturesque view opens before us which cannot be easily forgotten by the stranger. The city, almost buried in tropical vegetation, the shipping, the neat white cottages dotting the shore, a lofty background of serrated mountains their tops enveloped in clouds, the slopes broken by enormous gulches filled with ferns and the richest summer foliage, groups of cocoanut palms fringing the white coral shores, and the curling breakers playing around the bay, presented the most delightful picture imaginable. Attractive as this scene was, our attention was called to the novel sight presented by the people on the wharf. In fact, it was from nearly every nation under the sun—a Babel jargon of Chinese, Kanaka (native), French, Dutch, Portuguese and English languages, making a nice medley, and the variety of gaily dress, from spotless white to crimson, with a profusion of gay flower wreaths, bouquets and bright ribbons, made a nice subject for a painter. But we are not a knight of the case, and we even go so far as to doubt if a Hogarth or an Angelo could do the subject the justice it merits.

THE NATIVES are a fairly intelligent people, speaking English and engaging in various trades and pursuits side by side with their fellows. The foreigners, principally English and Americans, and termed "Hovers" by the natives. The total population of the islands is in the neighborhood of fifty thousand, all natives, with the exception of about a thousand. They are governed by King Kalakaua, a portly, well fed Kanaka, who does nothing but draw his $50,000 a year, and is attended with the same pomp and ceremony as the Czar of Russia or Shah of Persia. His kingdom is approximately styled the "Pinhead Kingdom," for the entire area of would form a square whose side would be but seventy-five miles in length. These islands are of volcanic origin, the highest mountain peak rising nearly three miles above the level of the ocean, and they all possess the characteristics of the tropical groups—charming scenery and perfection of climate. Honolulu, or Oahu island, is the capital of the kingdom, the residence of his majesty, and the commercial metropolis of the Hawaiian group. It is so situated that the trade between China and America, and Australia and America passes through her harbor, giving the city an advantage that many places of greater pretensions cannot boast. The population is nearly twenty thousand, about one fourth foreigners. The public buildings and principal business places are built of coral stone or brick, and in size and appearance will compare favorably with those of any city of its size on the continent. The streets are well

PAVED WITH CORAL AND BLACK LAVA, are well kept and smooth, and away from the business centre are shady and inviting. Trees, of countless varieties that we had never seen before, the beauties of whose foliage, flowers and fruit was a constant source of attraction, and the neat gardens with their shrubbery and pretty flower beds filling the air with sweet perfume, made our ramble through the outskirts of the city most enjoyable. The cocoanut palm, the bread fruit, the native apple and the kukui or candlenut tree, are indigenous to the country; the eucalyptus of Australia, pine, bamboo, mango, fig, date, spice, banana, palm and many others have been introduced from foreign lands, and grow here luxuriously. The flora of nearly every country in the world is met with in this little conservatory, and a very notable feature is the countless varieties of brilliantly colored creepers, almost hiding from sight some of the native cottages. After a walk through the grounds surrounding the king's new palace, and a visit to the parliament buildings, we determined to try

THE ASCENT OF THE "DUTCH BOWL," an extinct volcano at the rear of the town. It is about six or eight hundred feet in height, which occasioned considerable puffing and blowing to reach the summit, and coupling with the fact that the ascent was not just at that particular epoch of our humble existence in the best physical state of body, not yet having regained our land equilibrium, we recovered from the effects of our sea-sickness, and with a scorching sun beating down on us, climbing mountains was not the most pleasing undertaking. But what with hands and knees, creeping and walking, and the encouraging voice of our companion—a "brave" Scotchman, who had spent many a day climbing the rugged heights of his native highlands, and who like the mountain goat, seemed quite at home on a mountain side—we managed to reach the summit, and were then

FULLY REPAID FOR OUR TOIL. This position commands the whole panorama below. Weariness is forgotten; language fails; we are spell-bound. A clear atmosphere, a sky cloudless and "deeply, darkly, beautifully, blue," at our feet the smooth ocean stretching upward till it meets the horizon on an apparent level with the point on which we stand, the city like a myriad of pigeon-houses nestling almost out of sight among the rich tropical foliage; to the west a plain dotted with sugar plantations, to the east Diamond Head, an extinct volcano, grand in its rugged outlines, and to the north, numerous little valleys leading up to the "wall" a precipice among the remarkable wonders of the world, six miles behind Honolulu—all these in one view seemed almost the realization of some of the fanciful visions of fairyland, and made up a picture not easily forgotten. Leaving the "Dutch Bowl" we visited the office of

THE NATIVE NEWSPAPER, the "Ko Hawaii Paeania," in quest of a sample copy or two as a curiosity. The editor, a fair specimen of Kanaka intelligence, was pleased to meet a native of such a frigid climate as we hailed from, and expressed astonishment in very bad English when we tried to deceive him in his unmistakable belief that we Canadians are part and parcel of the Esquimaux. This mistake seems quite universal in these warm countries, the people associating Canadians and anything Canadian with interminable winter, perpetual snow and ice, thermometer continually registering zero, and a never-ending season of furs and woollens and consumption of fatty matter to keep the poor inhabitants alive. We never before had these facts brought so forcibly before us. An endless winter! A halcyon of rich furs lovely in its simplicity! A varied subsistence on train oil, dried seal and fish! But we did not wish the "clearest" were our dividing plane. No, we boldly proclaimed that happiest spot our own, and were happy. We are proud.

AN EXTRACT FROM THE "PAEANIA," giving an idea of the musical language of the natives. We refrain from translating, syllabifying or accentuating, knowing that we are out of reach of our readers.—"Papa honohonohe oka Hukaki Hodewa oka Mea Kiekie ruta Kehohokani. Mahi i Honekankauia e Lakou Kua Mahi i Hou." In dress the native women are not quite up to the standard. The goddess of fashion is kept at a respectful distance, and dress with them is a matter of convenience and not of art. The purple current of air, and the organs of respiration, are not retarded by laces, steel, whalebone &c. No, a loose sack-like calico wrapper fitting their expensively formed persons as neatly as a bed-tick would, a large wide straw hat with a bright colored ribbon, and

THEY ARE AS MUCH ADMIRER AND FAN OF THEIR BEARS AS ARE THE AMERICAN BELLES who most obsessively obey the tyrannical dictum of fashion. And to see a troop of these fair ones riding bare-backed astride their ponies or mules, better shelter, regular a la Bombay through the streets, was a sight somewhat removed from the ordinary conventional observance of riding etiquette. In appearance the natives are pleasant and good-natured, and not at all indicating that partially for boiled sailor.

or baked Chinaman, evinced by their fathers but a few years ago. Nor could our imagination lead us to believe that these simple offensive people, now justling one another in that all-important worldly pursuit, money-getting, are probably the children of those who participated in the murder of the great circumnavigator and discoverer, Captain Cook, so quickly have they taken up civilization. But under the wretched affliction of a kind of leprosy, and the evils introduced by civilization, they are rapidly dying off, and if they decrease with the same rapidity as has marked the last twenty years, fifty years from now the Sandwich Islanders will be a people of the past. The poor unfortunates

AFFECTED WITH LEPROSY are separated from their more favored fellow-beings, secluded in a distant part of one of the islands, and kept at the public expense. They are said to be tolerably contented, live well, and their spiritual wants are ministered to by a devout priest who cut himself away from the outer-world and voluntarily entered into a never-ending quarantine, sacrificed all but life to contribute to the good of a few hundred pestilent exiles. No doubt he believes in the doctrine "A man's true wealth hereafter, is the good he does in this world to his fellow-men."

THE PRODUCTS OF THE ISLANDS are principally sugar cane, rice, tobacco and the tropical fruits. The yield of sugar is large, in some localities as much as 8,000 pounds per acre, and the largest in the group, is theagethro volcano of Kilauea (keeloo). The crater is nine miles in circumference and covers an area of six square miles, and in the centre is a continual SEETHING CALDEON OF MOLTEN LAVA. We were not permitted to view this little ventilator owing to limited time, and the stories we have heard about it smack so much of sulphur, brimstone, and their associations that we concluded the farther from it the better. Philologists have tried to prove that the pleasure and happiness we enjoy are in us and not in the objects offered for our amusements. Well, our thoughts on the question are only superficial, but we know when

THE TIME CAME TO RE-EMBAKE Honolulu and its beautiful surroundings afforded us no more pleasure. Whether the attractions of the island had grown beautifully less in a very short space of time, or whether the dark forebodings of another sea-sickness settled over us and snuffed out all feelings of pleasure and happiness, we are not prepared to say; but we are rather inclined to agree with the saying, "this world is what we make it," except in a case of seasickness, when it makes of us what it wishes. Having secured a collection of pictures and other souvenirs of our short visit, we embarked and shaped our course for Auckland, a distance of nearly 4,000 miles, whence we may be heard from again. D. E. M. C.

What Does It Mean. What is meant by "Secretions" in a medical sense? "The secretions" are the powers of certain glands and organs of the body to hold and distribute the various fluids of the system, such as bile from the liver, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates all the organs of the secretions to make pure blood.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 31, 1879. GENTLEMEN—Having been afflicted for a number of years with indigestion and general debility, by the advice of my doctor I used Hop Bitters, and must say they afforded me almost instant relief, I am glad to be able to testify in their behalf. THOS. G. KNOWLTON.

Nine Physicians Outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharriz, No. 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., is now in her sixtieth year, and states that she has suffered with Consumption for about ten years, was treated by nine physicians, all of them pronouncing her case hopeless. She had given up all hope of ever recovering. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and satisfy yourselves. Call at J. Wilson's drug store and get a free trial bottle.

Have You Thought About It? Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. A Failure in Crops.

A species of worm is eating all leaves from the chestnut and hickory nut trees in many sections, and the crop will be a failure. Worms that afflict children or adults will prove a failure if Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is used. It is a safe and sure cure for all worms that lurk in the human system, tape worms included.

WHITE RIVER, W. T., Oct. 21, 1881. Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.—Gentlemen,—My wife suffered for over twenty years with rheumatism in her hips and legs. On reading your almanac she positively believed that your Sarsaparilla would cure her. She has taken four bottles and is now as well as ever she was in her life. I feel it my duty to send you my sincere thanks.

MOTHERS DON'T KNOW.—How many children are punished for being uncouth, willful and indifferent to instructions or rewards, simply because they are out of health! An intelligent lady said of a child of this kind? "Mothers should know that if they would give the little ones moderate doses of Hop Bitters for two or three weeks, the children would be all the parent could desire."

Loss and Gain. CHAPTER I. "I was taken sick a year ago with bilious fever. My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad that I could not move. I shrunk! From 228 lbs to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign, but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life. R. FITZPATRICK. Dublin, June 6, '81.

How to Get Sick.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

AYER'S Sarsaparilla cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power. During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured. "AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE. Durham, N. C., March 2, 1882.

Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, which I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold and recommended your Sarsaparilla, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected, and the testimony offered me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS. River St., Boston, Mass., May 13, 1882.

Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before long I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and thank your Sarsaparilla for the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD. 52 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Itch, Sores, Sore Throat, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It cures the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

THE "MAIL" WAILS.

Some people have not a spark of gratitude in them. The Reformers begged the Conservatives not to run a candidate in opposition to the new Provincial Treasurer, and they did not plead in vain.

As usual, the Mail, in the above paragraph, is lying. There was no "begging" by the Reformers that Hon. A. M. Ross should not be opposed.

THE SIGNAL, with other Reform journals, in the Province, believed it would be a graceful act if the new Provincial Treasurer were elected by acclamation; but the Reform journals did not fear a contest.

With 300 or 400 of a majority at Hon. Mr. Ross' back, why need his friends fear the result? But what did the Tories? The Mail said if there were only two Conservatives in the Riding one should go to the hustings and nominate the other.

The president and secretary of the local Tory association called a convention, not to consider the situation, or the advisability of bringing out an opposition to Col. Ross, but "for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Local House."

The Tory Convention met at Smith's Hill, and the president howled about the "midnight attack;" Pat. Kelly raised his voice for opposition; George Hawkins struck an attitude, and said he would run himself rather than see the riding go by default; and Meredith, the defeated of North Middlesex, was selected as the lamb to be led to the slaughter.

But Meredith had been there before, and declined to run, for "cogent reasons." And now the Mail talks about the ingratitude of the Reformers. Oh dear, oh dear! Wouldn't it like us to get down on our marrow-bones, and tearfully acknowledge that that journal saved the riding of the turmoil of a contest—despite the little allegory about the two Conservatives?

And should not the Star be thanked for its efforts to keep the peace? And the Tory president and secretary—should they not receive a medal of praise? And the Smith's Hill convention—did it not assemble on purpose to clothe off a Tory candidate? Bah! The Mail talks like the organ of numbskulls.

Could any man have been found in West Huron fool enough to run in the Tory interest, a contest would have been had. The only reason the factionists did not bring on a contest was because they could not get a man to lead the forlorn hope.

SHOCKED MORALISTS.

The Tory organs, and some of the so-called independent papers, are terrible shocked because the Globe recently reproduced a portion of the evidence in the case of Roe vs. Snider, in which some of the blasphemous remarks of Roe about the Saviour and the Virgin Mary appear.

Roe's action against Snider was clearly a piece of bluff. His friends, had the evidence been suppressed, would have declared that Roe was no worse in his talk than any other doubter. The people of Ontario, in whose chamber of representatives Roe takes a seat, were anxious to know what this darling of the Conservative party really did say.

If they are shocked to learn his actual utterances, then let who a second time called attention to them by independently forcing a case into court is to blame. The Globe may have erred in reproducing the exact words of the wretched creature who represents the Tories of Lennox. But if the language used was too bad for a newspaper, what must it have been falling from the filthy lips of Roe, for whom the organs have little blame.

The election in Lennox for the House of Commons will be held on Monday next. The writ was issued on the 9th, just seventeen days before the election, the same number of days as were complained of by the Conservatives in West Huron. Mr. Allison's chances for election are said to be excellent, as Roe's usefulness is gone as a canvasser.

A COMMUNICATION from our local veteran, Mr. Thos. Kydd, bearing on the troublous times of '37, will appear next week.

THE STANDARD TIME.

"Look at the clock!" quoth Winnifred Price. As she opened the door to her husband's knock.

And paused to give him a bit of advice: "You intoxicated brute! You intoxicated block! Look at the clock, pray look at the clock!"

Many of our readers will be familiar with the story of Ingoldsbay's heroine, Winnifred Price, and how she came to her death through endeavoring to make her liege lord keep better hours. Well, if Winnifred (peace to her shade!) had been alive and well during the past week, she would have had occasion to loudly exclaim, "Look at the clock!" on more than one occasion.

In Goderich the standard time was inaugurated shortly before nine o'clock, p.m., at which time the caretaker of the clock took old Father Time by the forelock, and "yanked" him forward some 17 1/2 minutes.

When the clock struck nine, it took the majority of the pedestrians on the Square by surprise. The hired girl, who was making the round, looking for her beau, put on a "spurt," for the hour for wending her way homeward was nigh o'clock.

The young couple who had been "bidding" and "cooing" at the garden gate, separated hurriedly—she to go into the parlor to await the arrival of her "nine o'clock" beau, and he to see his "best girl." The butcher's boy and the driver of the grocer's delivering van began to lay on the whip for fear the limited time at their disposal would cause them to encroach upon the Sabbath.

The man who had been trying to gerrymander the Crook's act, replied, when questioned by his wife, "'s all right, m' dear; stand a minute faster'n old time, so's to get th' bidge on th' sun. O! Sol's bin runnin' th' show fer mor'n six thousan' years, an' has bin retired on superannuation. 's all right, old darl—'s all right!"

And our local Winnifred thought it wouldn't be prudent to prolong the scientific vapors of her liege lord. On Sunday the sun rose as usual, but for the second time in six thousand years he found himself behind. He tried, however, to look happy, and smiled benignly down upon all—including the caretaker of the town clock, who had taken such a mean advantage of him the night before.

The hired girl, who had been accustomed to rise at daylight, was ever a quarter of an hour late in lighting the fire, and as a consequence, breakfast was delayed for a few minutes, although she tried hard to make up for lost time. Then the milkman failed to connect. He had been down at the pump when the 17 1/2 minutes were blotted out by the caretaker of the clock the night before, and didn't hear the clock strike owing to the creaking of the pump handle.

After breakfast there was a regular race in every household so that church-time would be properly made. When the hour for the "assembling of the people" arrived, it was found that many of the congregation were behind the standard time, but most of them, fortunately, managed to put in a presence in time to meet the collection plate.

The Sunday school and evening service also suffered to some extent, but not anything like that of the morning service. The young man who went home with his Daleina from the evening devotional exercise never felt the evening pass so quickly, and when "The clock struck the hour for retiring," could not tell where the time had flown.

Monday was a "bad deal" on the employer. The employee had thought so much about the standard time during Sunday—it was his first thought at morning and his last at night—that, on awaking from his slumber on the first working day of the week, he looked upon the standard time as a horrid nightmare.

When the alarm rudely broke in upon his snores, he turned over like the sluggard of old, and asked again for "a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep." In consequence of which seven o'clock was upon him before he knew it, and the employer had the workman late at labor. All through the day little mishaps occurred, owing to the change in time.

The "schoolmarm" heard the school-bell ringing before her toilet was completed, and the urchins dropped in after nine o'clock, as the animals are reputed to have gone into the ark. The noon train failed to carry away a number of important letters, which the writers had not mailed in time. For the first time on record dinner hour came a quarter of an hour before the printer's devil's appetite was up to "concert pitch."

Later on in the day the farmer brought in his load of grain, and wishing to deposit in the bank the large amount derived from the great crop and high market price which he had been enabled to get under the N. P., was unable to do so, owing to the fact that when his chronometer ranged at 2.50 p.m. the standard time at the bank stood at 3.07, and the bars and bolts were down and the shutters up.

But space will not permit us to record at greater length the many other "aisid" ventures that befel our fellows through the changing of the time, and we will therefore close for the present, hoping that, after all, no serious loss was caused any of our readers by the putting forward of the hands of the clock.

DR. DOWLING, Reformer, of South Renfrew, was unseated on Monday.

South Huron Reformers meet at Brucefield to-day (Friday) to discuss the advisability of opening the constituency in the interests of the party.

The Mail says an oilcloth factory is to be started in Kingston shortly, right under Sir Richard Cartwright's nose. It must be a very small factory, for Sir Richard's nose must be phenomenally large.—Toronto World.

Is that all our sprightly cotem. nose about the matter? Why, what would Sir Richard's nose be without its factories—offshoots?

MR. MEREDITH has just expressed himself as of opinion that the issuing of licenses falls within the jurisdiction of the local governments. Sir John declares that it belongs to the Dominion government. Under which king, O ye Tories?

ACCOUNTS from Bayfield state that the mouth of the harbor has been choked with sand and driftwood, and the fishermen's shanties are in danger of being washed away. The townspeople are turning out to try and save the piers, etc. from being washed away.

THE duty on wheat is pinching the millers so hard that they, in convention assembled, have been constrained to appoint a committee to interview the Finance Minister so that an abatement be had. That means cheap bread. Now who will take the iniquitous coal tax question up.

THE farmers who sell their produce on the back streets lose from 5c. to 10c. a bushel every time. The buyers don't walk down to meet them near the bridge for the fun of the thing. They do it so that they can make on the deal. Any farmer who sells his produce without going to the market deserves to be nipped.

THE Ottawa Free Press puts in the following remark on the fuel question: "These biting cold days will remind people who have a hard struggle to make ends meet, that they have to pay 50 and 60 cents per ton extra on their coal to enable the government to squander millions on worthless jobs gotten up for purposes of bribery."

The following bit of literary criticism from the Saturday Review on a recent American book, will be amusing to our readers: "It is a great pity that in this English edition the American spelling should have been retained. 'Honor' is bad enough, 'humor' is worse, but 'armor' and 'neighbor' are intolerable, and on no plea of derivation or pronunciation can they be allowed to be correct."

THE editor of the Berlin News, we are happy to learn, is an exception to his brethren of the Tory press, for he comes out squarely on the Roe blasphemy case in the following sensible style:—We would not refuse to support even a so-called "free-thinker," if he kept his "thinking" to himself; but when he becomes a loud-mouthed, brazen-faced blasphemer, as Mr. Roe, of Napanee, was recently proved to be in a public court, we should most distinctly and emphatically do what we could to prevent him from becoming our representative in any shape or manner.

We pity the Christian Conservatives of Lennox if the choice is forced upon them of voting for such a man or one opposed to their political principles. The sooner the Conservative party gets rid of Roe, the better. Far better let the county of Lennox go to the Grits than have the whole Conservative party scandalized and disgraced by such an individual.

THE self-righteous little town of Dundas is seeking notoriety through its mayor and constable, who are trying to pose as Pentius Pilate and Caiaphas respectively, by arresting and prosecuting street preachers. On Sunday last a man named Mason (a former resident of Wingham) and a religious friend named Townsend, from Hamilton, were arrested and lodged in the lock-up by the officious constable for the heinous offence of preaching the gospel. The local Pilate offered to release the arrested men if they would promise him that they would not preach any more. The evangelists would not barter their independence for liberty, and the mayor will likely have to come down from his high position. If there is any place in Canada in need of street preaching, it is Dundas, if the present action of the chief men and rulers be taken as a pointer. In addition to that fact, it is well known that the town is overrun with "toughs" and thieves, who are allowed to go about free by the constable, who now wants to hinder men from telling God's truth. 'Twas ever thus! "Release Barrabas!"

The sentence of Maria McCabe, convicted of child murder, has been commuted to fourteen years imprisonment. An influential meeting of farmers, held at Portage la Prairie, has denounced the railway and milling monopolies of Manitoba. HON. A. M. ROSS.

What the Papers, of all shades, think of his appointment.

Below we give a few press opinions on the appointment of Hon. A. M. Ross to the position of Provincial Treasurer. They have been taken from our exchange, and of all shades of politics, and can be read upon as fair samples of public opinion.

MR. ROSS, the new Treasurer, has been a member of the House since 1875, and has taken a leading part in the debates, especially on financial questions. He has long held the position of County Treasurer and Manager of the Bank of Commerce at Goderich, and stands high as a business man.—[Galt Reformer.

HON. A. M. ROSS, the new Provincial Treasurer, on Saturday went back to his people, and they unanimously approved of his choice as a member of the Government, and at the same time endorsed the policy of that Government. Long before the nomination the Mail challenged out the course which its party should follow. It said the majority of 167, secured by Mr. Ross in the February election, was nothing of which any one should be scared, that with a hot opposition the figures would be on the other side of the end of a new political light, and that if that came, and two Tories in the constituency one should nominate the other and go to the polls. The electors of West Huron were not the tools the Mail took them to be. They could not see the hope of electing a local man, and so tendered the nomination to Mr. E. Meredith, a brother of the leader of the Opposition. But that worthy "cogent reasons" for declining the honor. And so Saturday came, and no one rose to object to Mr. Ross' re-election by acclamation. Such a circumstance does not indicate bravery on the part of Conservatives, nor does it give depth to the impression that "Mowat must go."—[Kingston Whig.

THE Conservatives of West Huron have done wisely in consenting to the unopposed election of Mr. Ross. It was next to impossible to beat him—under the circumstances, which are impossible. No one could have resisted from the contest. There surely the wise course was to save the trouble and expense of a contest, and to permit the new Treasurer to enter upon his duties with the pleasantest possible feelings toward his opponents and his constituents.—[Hamilton Spectator (Tory).

At the West Huron nomination on Saturday the Hon. A. M. Ross, Treasurer of Ontario, was elected by acclamation. The Tory opposition tried hard, but could not get a man to oppose him. Even the brother of the local Tory leader, Mr. Meredith, declined the doubtful honor. This event may be accepted as a pretty clear indication of the popularity of the Mowat government in the West.—[Ottawa Free Press.

His successor as Treasurer is Col. A. M. Ross, M.P.P. for West Huron. Like Mr. Young, the new Treasurer has always given special attention to financial questions. As Treasurer of the large county of Huron and manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Goderich, he has enjoyed excellent training for the practical duties of his present position; and the Legislature and Province at large will unite in recognizing and endorsing the fitness of his appointment. Mr. Ross is also exceptionally familiar with municipal matters, in the discussion of which, while a member of the House, he has always taken a prominent part. He is, besides, an industrious man, an able debater, and personally popular, both in the House and out of it. In all respects the new Treasurer is admirably equipped for the efficient discharge of his important duties, and we confidently anticipate for him a successful official career.—[Rat Portage Argus.

MR. ROSS is one of the ablest financiers in the Province, is manager of the Bank of Commerce at Goderich, and has been Treasurer of Huron county for years. He is a gentleman of great ability, sterling honesty, and unimpeachable character. The selection of Mr. Ross is a wise one. Mr. Young resigned on account of ill health.—[Paisley Advocate.

Literary Notices. EXERCISES IN FALSE SYNTAX, by H. I. Strang, B.A., Head Master Goderich High School. It is with pleasure that we make mention of this handy little work. "Good goods are put up in small parcels," the old proverb says, and Mr. Strang's book is good and meaty, if small. The author has, among other things, shown great patience in his gradual collection of errors of speech, and much ingenuity in classifying them. The work is intended as a drill book in English. It groups in a very convenient manner ungrammatical phrases and ambiguous sentences, many of which are used daily by some who lay claim to a fair education. Nearly every form of grammatical blunder is represented in this interesting collection. About 1,400 examples are given, most of which have been jotted down by the author from actual utterance during the past twenty years. It is a book for teachers, but not for teachers only. Editors, public speakers, and others who wish to avoid popular errors of speech will find in Mr. Strang's book many useful hints. We hope to see a second edition of the book, and then we would like the author to add to its value and interest by some terse notes or comments on the various exercises. We congratulate Mr. Strang on the very creditable debt he has made as an author. We hope that his venture will be as successful financially as it is in a literary and educational way. The book should be a code mecum with every teacher, and an advanced pupil. It can be purchased at the book-stores.

Sir Hector Langevin is ambitious. He would, he hopes to be, leader of the Conservative party, and in all his moves, in all his acts that one end is kept steadily in view. He is cultivating the people of Ontario, he is strengthening himself in New Brunswick, and Quebec he hopes will be sold for him when the time arrives. Sir Leonard Tilley, if he ever becomes the leader, will fall into it—laying plans and plotting to that end in his mind. Sir Hector is working for it, watching for it, praying for it. [Toronto World.

A TUG BLOWN UP

The Boiler of the Erie Belle Explodes at Kincairdine.

Four Men Killed—No Trace of Their Bodies Left—Others Injured and Flying Overboard by the Explosion—A Terrible Experience.

SPECIAL TO THE SIGNAL. KINCAIRDINE, Nov. 21.—At 2:30 p.m. to-day, a glance down the lake, a mile to the south west, showed a wreck lying on the water, where a few minutes before the tug Erie Belle had been at work trying to pull off the stranded schooner, Carter. An explosion had occurred in the boiler room of the tug, and she was now a helpless wreck, with her hull partly turned over, about 60 yards from the shore. The life boat was immediately manned by Capt. Troy and his crew, and proceeded to pick up such of the tug's crew as had escaped death by the explosion.

The captain of the tug, John Tobin, and five of his men were thrown into the water, and three remained on the wreck until rescued. All were soon taken ashore by the lifeboat, and search was made, but fruitlessly, for the two engineers, one fireman and the cook. No trace of any of them remained. The first engineer, Wm. Osgeode, leaves a wife at Loain, Ohio, the second, Frank Eikenhurst, of St. Louis, was unmarried; Wm. Searles, fireman, Windsor, colored, and the cook, whose name we could not learn, were the missing men.

The names of the saved are as follows:—John Tobin, captain; W. Tobin, mate; Frank Conroy and Henry Pocock, wheelmen; Dan. Inaquin, watchman; Lewis Smith and Isaac Greenshaw, deckhands; Wm. John, fireman; and James Gardner.

When the accident occurred the tug was working at her utmost power to cut the Carter off that evening, if possible. She was originally the Hector, but was rebuilt in 1879, using the old engine and boiler, the latter having been repeatedly repaired, and she was the property of Odette & Wherry, of Windsor.

As to the cause of the accident, it is likely that little will ever be known, the two engineers having passed into eternity, and no one else having been in the engine-room for some time previous to the accident.

Dan Finlayson, the watchman, had retired to his bunk a short time before the explosion took place. He was picked up at a distance of over 200 feet from the shattered hull, and it is supposed that he was thrown that distance by the force of the explosion. His back is severely injured, and he now lies at the Royal hotel in a very low condition.

The Erie Belle was valued at $9,000.

Death of Mrs. Treadwell Walden. Many of our readers will remember Mrs. Treadwell Walden, who resided here a number of years ago, when her husband was curate of St. George's church. The following reference to her decease is from the Minneapolis Journal:—The wife of Rev. Treadwell Walden, rector of St. Paul's church, in this city, died last evening (Nov. 1st), a little after 9 o'clock. Mrs. Walden had been an invalid for years, being afflicted with a lung trouble, and one of the reasons which led her husband to accept the call to St. Paul's parish was the hope that the vivifying atmosphere of Minnesota would work an improvement in her condition. But this hope was disappointed. Mrs. Walden has been confined to the house, and for the most part to her bed, ever since her arrival. For the past few weeks her physician and friends could see that she was gradually failing, and last night she passed away quietly. While her family had scarcely dared hope that her life could be so much prolonged, the blow nevertheless fell suddenly and at the moment unexpectedly.

Mrs. Walden was a lady of many graces of mind and person. She has borne her long illness with Christian resignation and fortitude, retaining down to the last moment all her native vigor of mind, and calmly awaited the end. Her death is a sad blow to her husband and family, which consists of three sons, two of them grown to man's estate, and a charming daughter of eighteen. The funeral will occur to-morrow afternoon at 2:30, from the residence, 1,227 Hennepin avenue. The remains will be deposited in the receiving vault at Lakewood cemetery, and ultimately be buried in the old family burying ground, Laurel Hill, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Elizabeth Leighton Walden was born at Norwich, Connecticut. She came of an old and eminent New England family, being a daughter of the late Wm. H. Lowe, and a niece of Rt. Rev. Alfred Lee, bishop of Delaware.

The decorations of the late Mrs. Treadwell Walden to be placed from the rectory of St. Paul's church. The floral decorations were beautiful, one, a pillar of flowers on which was inscribed "Rest," being very handsome. An anchor and a cross were placed on either side of the foot of the casket, while around the room were a few choice bouquets and baskets of flowers. The services were opened by the quartet, choir of St. Paul's singing "Nearer My God to Thee," after which Rev. Dr. Wells, of St. Mark's, conducted the beautiful and impressive choir song "Rock of Ages." Both selections were sung by the request of the deceased. The vestry of the church consisting of C. L. Wells, G. K. Shaw, F. T. Peet, A. H. Kenyon, H. A. Towne, and F. A. Seymour, acted as pall bearers. The body was conveyed to Lakewood cemetery, where it was placed in the vault to remain until spring, when it will be taken to the Laurel Hill cemetery in Philadelphia for burial.

Thomas Sexton, the home rule M.P. for Sligo, while driving through London stopped at a public house in Seven Dials to get a brandy and soda. On returning to his cab he was assaulted by seven ruffians and relieved of a gold watch and chain. One of the thieves was caught and sentenced to fifteen months imprisonment.

MILLER'S MISTAKE.

He Goes Down to Rat Portage to Conquer Ontario, and Falls in the Attempt.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—Attorney-General Miller left here for Rat Portage yesterday, and the rumor is spread that fresh developments in the Boundary dispute might immediately be anticipated. He is said to have boasted of his intention of taking possession of the Ontario soil and arresting the officials. To-day the following report of his proceedings has been received:—His first step was to have summoned Mr. McQuarrie, who holds Ontario licenses for selling liquor to attend the summons. Mr. Miller called a meeting of the Manitoba Council, at which the following resolution was introduced at his instance:—"Moved by councillor Galbois, seconded by councillor Alexander, that the Attorney-General be instructed to take no salary a-sion, under the advice of this Council, to prevent Messrs. Gladwin, Reeves, and Councillors Stubbs, MacQuarrie, Macdonald, and Baker from interfering with this Corporation and with the government and management of the town." By the casting vote of the Mayor the resolutions were carried. Nothing more occurred last night, but Judge Miller threatened vengeance against Mr. McQuarrie for not attending the summons. This morning things became exciting when the Chief of the Manitoba police in attempting to arrest Mr. McQuarrie was himself arrested by the Ontario police for assault and lodged in jail. The excitement increasing, Mr. Miller offered to let the case against McQuarrie stand over for nine months if he would apologise for disregarding the summons. He threatens to bring out the field battery if the people and the Ontario special constables stand strong for him. At half-past ten, when Mr. McQuarrie was being escorted to the Ontario Court House to give evidence against the Manitoba Chief of Police, he was pounced upon by the Manitoba constables who claimed him as their prisoner. The Manitoba constables were at once surrounded by the Ontario force and lodged in the Ontario jail amid the cheers of the crowd. They have since been bailed. The Manitoba Chief of Police remains in jail for a week. Miller left Rat Portage to return to Winnipeg this evening. Rumor has it that he is not satisfied with the conquest of Ontario.

The Cotton and Woollen Mills. Montreal, Nov. 18.—The Hudson cotton factory will resume manufacturing in December with a full staff of operatives. The prospects are considered cheering, as the manager has orders that will keep the mill going for four months. The Chamby factory company has reduced the wages of its operatives 10 per cent and will continue work right through the winter. The St. Anne cotton mill at Hochelaga, which is principally owned by the directors of the Hudson will re-commence on Nov. 26 with 100 hands, and shortly after have the full number employed. A woollen mill at Chamby has shut down for a few weeks, being over stocked at present with goods. It is likely that another at Sherbrooke will also close temporarily from the same cause.

THE WORLD OVER. Joseph Webster, of Pittsburg, has eaten forty quail in twenty days after great difficulty, earning thereby $500. Messrs. Sharpe and Brigham, of Seattle, have bought the right and interests of the St. James Hotel, Toronto, Mr. A. G. Hodge, the present proprietor retiring.

The most important and valuable stamp collection in the world belongs to a son of the duchess of Galliera. Though it is yet incomplete, the stamps alone have cost $300,000.

A case arising out of the alteration of time will probably be carried to the United States Supreme Court. A debtor was summoned to appear at Court at 10 o'clock, and he was there at 9:48 old time, but defaulted by the Court, which ruled that he had not appeared in due time.

Admiral Porter in his report to the secretary of the navy says Spain, the weakest of the maritime powers, could sweep United States commerce off the seas if she wished, and do almost irreparable damage to the coast cities. He says many other bitter things of the United States navy, and advocates the immediate building and fitting out of some decent vessels. He thinks Great Britain with her navy could simply paralyze the States. He suggests the building of ironclads on the lakes capable, in the event of war with Great Britain, of destroying the entrance to the Welland Canal.

The other day a young man went to Port Huron and purchased a pair of boots, which he put on and wore back to Sarnia, carrying the old ones under his arm, in the belief that the wearing of the new ones freed them from liability to duty. This erroneous idea was, however, soon dispelled upon landing in Sarnia, when he was compelled to pay the duty. He felt so confident that he was right that he declared his intention of seeking legal advice, but it is more likely that he thought better of it, or that he was advised that he was liable for the duty.

24 HOUR CLOCKS.

A New Timepiece that Does Away with the Old-fashioned A.M. and P.M.

New York, Nov. 17.—"There is some- thing new," said a down town clock manufacturer yesterday, as he pointed to a queer looking clock hanging near his door. "That is a twenty-four hour clock, and I think the first one in the city. It marks the hours from one up to twenty- four. It has just been finished, and is one of the kind which is soon to be adopt- ed by several railroads. "The most conspicuous innovations are in the marking of the dial and the move- ments of the wheels that drive the hands. The minute hand, instead of making twelve revolutions to every revolution of the hour hand, makes twenty-four revolutions while the hour hand passes around once. "The lettering on the dial is in Arabic instead of Roman numerals, and the spaces between the figures are only half as great as on the dial of an ordinary 12 hour clock. The minute hand marks half minutes and whole minutes. "This clock will do away with the 'a. m.' and 'p. m.' which sometimes prove very confusing to railroad passengers. "You would be surprised to see how people take to that clock. I have had any number of offers for it, but I do not care to sell it, as it is the only one I have, but I will be able to supply a small part of the demand within a day or two. By that time every manufacturer will be turning out these clocks. They are something new, and that is all that New York people want. Without a doubt these clocks will soon take the place of the old fashioned time- pieces."

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—A sad accident occurred to S. Pennebaker on Tuesday last week, while assisting at a thresh- ing on his own farm. One of the teams not showing an inclination to move on, he got down from his place on the horse- power, and led the animals around a number of times. On returning to his place, he missed his footing, and one of his feet was caught in the pinion. Joseph Cook, who was oiling the separator, was the first to see him, and gave the alarm. Mr. Pennebaker was quickly ex- tracted from his perilous position, and medical aid sent for. Upon examina- tion it was found that his foot had been so crushed, that amputation at a point about four inches above the ankle was necessary. Drs. Taylor and McLean performed the operation. Mr. Penne- baker has followed the business of threshing for nearly 20 years, and has the sympathy of all with whom he has come in contact (and they are many) in that time. He was doing well at last accounts.

Dunlop.

Very little damage was done here by the recent gale. Hay stacks were scap- ped, and fences blown down, but no seri- ous damage was done. The non-appearance of our regular correspondence has caused disappoint- ment here during the past fortnight. Our quill slinger at Dunlop is one of our most regular contributors, and the fail- ure of the news to appear was not on his account. Accident will happen. THE LATE JAMES JEWELL.—Our Dun- lop correspondent sends us the following additional reference to the late James Jewell, who died at his home here last week at the ripe age of 70. The deceas- ed was of a social temperament, and made many friends among both young and old. He was one of the most earnest supporters of the Bible Christian Mission, and was rewarded by seeing a church built here in 1875. His vacant seat reminds the church goers of the de- parture of one of their most earnest and venerable members. A large concourse attended his burial on Thursday. His funeral sermon will be preached in Zion church on Sunday next. A fearful story comes to us from Has- tings to the effect that a woman whose husband has gone to the shanties to work a few nights ago attempted to eat her youngest child. An elder child alarmed some neighbors in the night, but before they got to the house the mother had badly bitten the young one. The unfortunate woman was no doubt temporarily insane.

EPPE'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORT- ING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the nat- ural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well- selected Cocoa, Mr. Eppe has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle miasmas are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. AYER'S Hair Vigor restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured. It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume. MR. C. P. BRIDGER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

MR. ANGELO FAIRBAIN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbain Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 9, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give all very evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public." MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charleston, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "My hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the VIGOR, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

Mr. Denoon, of Lanesville, is going to leave that classic burg and start business in this village. There is room for a good business to be done here, and, if Mr. Denoon comes up to the character that precedes him, success will be sure to crown him.

The pupils of our public school are preparing for a grand entertainment at the close of school. There are some light-fingered persons around this village at present. During the past few weeks quite a number of serious thefts have been committed. Chansey Brown had forty dollars stolen from his house some time ago. B. J. Crawford had a valuable Persian lamb cap stolen off his counter one evening last week, and he had a robe stolen out of his cutter one night since. The parties who took the cap would do well to return it as quietly as they took it, as they are well known. Mr. Crawford feels delicate about exposing them, his suspicions about the parties who took the robe are not quite so well founded, but he is not altogether without a clue.

Amborloy. The Ontario, a lumber-laden schooner, was driven ashore near Pine Point, during the terrific gale that swept over Lake Huron on the 11th inst. She was bound for Goderich, and when opposite Kingsbridge the elements conspired against her so furiously that her commander, captain McKay, considered it necessary to tack about and steer for Kitecarine. But with all their nautical skill, the tempestuous sea overcame them, and drove them to our hospitable shores about 10 o'clock on Sabbath night, where they remained till 4 o'clock next morning. They endured much hardship during that long and terrible night, and also experienced considerable difficulty in landing the crew in the morning. The schooner still remains here, together with the Honar Hine, which, being abandoned by her crew, floated ashore during a previous gale.

Quite a different scene was witnessed on the 13th inst. by many admiring spectators. When Mr. George Harries launched forth on the placid waters of the matrimonial sea, he took with him an amiable helpmate in the person of Miss Martha Armstrong, to bear him sweet company, and to console, comfort and cheer him during the various vicissitudes of a life-long voyage. Rev. Mr. McQueen, of Huron, set them afloat at their own request, and when the shades of night veiled the scene, a considerable number of their friends and neighbors whom they left behind in the gloomy valley of celibacy engaged in festivity and merry-making till the rays of old Sol dispelled the dusky shade, and announced the dawn of a new day.

Leoburn. McLaren & Co. were moving a house for Percy Stewart last week. What's ahead. The first Sunday in December will be sacramental Sunday in the Presbyterian church here. The late severe weather took some of the farmers by surprise as they were not very well prepared for it in getting up their root crops.

C. Jefferson, while patting his bees away for the winter, was badly stung on Monday last. The bees evidently had not shed their stings for the season. Mrs. E. Welleca, of Albion, N. Y., has been the guest of Mrs. James McManus, Lebe View Farm, for about a month. She enjoyed this, her first visit to Canada, very much.

During the gale a week ago last Sunday, a chimney on one of our houses took fire. Gavin Clutton, who was passing, put out the flames, assisted by some neighbors. Last week a tramp took up his lodging in the school house of section No. 5, kept up a good fire in the stove, and captured $1.50 by way of a scholarship from the teacher's desk. He lit out in the morning before roll call.

The Black Hawk steam threshers, Elliott Bros., paid their first visit to this section this season. They report the yield of grain better here than in the neighboring township. They make things hum when they get their machine going. The BEAVER.—The members and outsiders are taking quite an interest in our temperance holes. We have visitors night after night who are willing to pay an admission fee. We would like very much to see more of our young people joining us.

A Big Owl.—The frequent visits to our poultry yards of a large owl has caused much sorrow to our guides. Many a plump pullet and promising cockerel has been snatched by this ruthless plunderer of barn yards. But his visits are over. James McManus and Peter Stewart shot and killed it the other day. It measured 5 ft. 4 in. from tip to tip of wing, and was of a dark grey color. We understand that the grateful birdwives are going to present the successful birdmen with a suitable testimonial for the ridding them of this sanguinary transgressor.

The Rev. Father Agius says the Manitoba newspaper to have settled down for the winter in an unlicensed tavern, in which they are interested, and in which some of them serve behind the bar.

COMMUNICATIONS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents. Contributors to this department must confine themselves to public questions, and be brief.

It Hings Again.

To the Editor of The Signal. DEAR SIR,—I was much pleased to observe in your last issue that my few words of admonition to the unutterable of Amberly have produced the desired effect. Judging from the manner in which he squirms and howls lugubriously under the lash, his sensibilities are aroused to a sense of his error and the import of my few words. My purpose being now served,—exposing the traditions of female character—self respect forbids me to bandy words with a drivelier whose vocabulary is as void of decency as his utterances are of common sense. SARAH.

Ashfield, Nov. 19, 1883.

The Amberly Notes Matter.

A correspondent, signing himself "Honor," sends us the following: "DEAR SIR,—That we should have local correspondents to the various papers is desirable and necessary. That these correspondents should furnish wholesome material for instructive reading is also desirable. But when these reporters make themselves the medium of slander or insinuation, then their function is disgraced. Unfortunately for the cause of veracity, decorum and justice, a pragmatic swell has of late been furnishing THE SIGNAL with items from Amberly. He devotes considerable ink to the abuse of some of his lady neighbors, and by way of giving literary prominence to his items invites the aid of the muse. Judging from his production, the poor dude must have been grievously fooled. No doubt they considered it was throwing pearls before swine, and gave him mud instead. The hotel landlady of this place has of late come in for a share of abuse from this dauber in printer's ink. Perhaps she incurred his ire by refusing him "tick," or perhaps she consigned him to the sponger's apartment (street); or, it may be, a desire to attain the acme of his ambition by rushing into the press some obscure gossip constituted a noble incentive. In revenge this erratic domino circulates insinuations against the hostess of the Amberly hotel. She keeps a respectable house, and is patronized by a respectable public. Travellers say that she keeps one of the best hotels on the road. If, on the first opportunity, the hostess would take the brat over her knee and administer a proper castigation befitting his deserts, she would then have the approbation of the surrounding public. Rumor has it that he intends to be a preacher! Fancy the reverend comb preaching from the following: "He that backbiteth not with his tongue nor doeth evil to his neighbor nor taketh up reproach against his neighbor." [The remainder of "Honor's" letter is of too personal a character. The best points he makes are given in the above. A short reply from the first writer must close this angry controversy.—Ed.]

A CONDEMNED FENIAN.

Poole Found Guilty of the Murder of Kenny.—Sentence of Death Passed. Dublin, Nov. 20.—The jury found Poole guilty of the murder of Kenny after forty minutes' deliberation. The court sentenced the prisoner to death. He addressed the court and admitted he was a Fenian. He cursed England and called for "three cheers for the Irish republic." Lanie, brother-in-law of the prisoner, testified to-day that he at first thought Kenny had been an informer, but he now believed that revenge for the seduction of a girl led to the murder. Poole will be hanged Dec. 18. The judge in passing sentence was deeply affected. He said the evidence left the jury no alternative, and he quite endeared to their verdict of guilty. Before he was sentenced, Poole spoke at length, earnestly at times, and in excited tones. He emphatically denied that he murdered Kenny, but admitted he was a Fenian. He said he would be proud to go to the scaffold for being one of the Fenian Brotherhood, but he would not be hanged by a tyrannical rule. He acknowledged he was in Kenny's company the night of the murder, but declared he had no hand in striking him down. He was a member of the brotherhood from 18 years of age, but never belonged to the vigilance committee. His purpose was to wait until his countrymen were prepared to strike a blow for independence, when he would cooperate with them.

A SOMNAMBULIST.—A strange case of somnambulism occurred in Tecumseh on Thanksgiving night. Mr. John Groves, a school teacher in that vicinity, went to bed about 10:30 p.m., and sometime during the night walked out upon the verandah, where, imagining he was taking a near cut to school by crossing a ditch and climbing a fence, he got over the railing and fell to the sidewalk, a distance of about twelve feet. Here he is supposed to have remained in a semi-conscious state for about two hours, with nothing on him but his night-clothes. On coming to his senses he walked into the hotel, and was afterwards found lying at the foot of the stairs, being too much injured to get any farther without assistance. He was removed to his bed, and next evening taken to his home in Wingham. Medical assistance was at once obtained, when it was discovered that he was internally injured, and it will be some two or three weeks before he is able to attend to his school duties again.—(Wingham Advance.)

Enquiry into the charges alleged against Sheriff Ferguson, of Frontenac, was commenced at Kingston on Tuesday.
