GUELPH, Sept. 26.-A. C. Bucham, and ladies' dress goods merchant, who has done business here for some years, has been of late unable to meet his debts. for a mere trifle, undoubtedly much below cost. Half of the women in Guelph accordingly besieged his store, and for a day or two he did an immense business, selling for cash only. Bucham's Toronto creditors heard of how the goods were being slaughtered and realized that if the sale, were allowed to go on there would be hothing left in his store when the notes fell due. They asked and were granted an execution and their lawyer arrived here Thursday. Bucham, in the meantime, had got wind of their proceedings and made an assignment, in trust about five minutes before the lawyer's arrival. The latter sent a sheriff's office to seize the stock. The officer and the trustee met in the store, which was much crowded, at the same time. The sheriff's officer ordered the men to stop selling and told the oustomers to leave. He also took all the oash in the till. The trustee claimed that he was in possession, and insisted on his rights. The two still hold the fort, and are awaiting further developments. Bucham's principal Toronto creditors are James Brayley & Co., between $10,000 and $11,000; and McKinnon, Proctor & Co., $2000. The latter are secured to the amount of $800.

The chief did acounty constable to take up the case, and on information supplied by the reporters of the city papers the scandal was removed. The police would do nothing because the chief was notified by the crown attorney.

The due administration of law and preservation of order rests as much on the crown attorney as on the police and unless the former has detectives and policemen to work up cases there will be a weak vindication of the law.

It is simply outrageous that bread should stick at the old prices when wheat is at the lowest notch it has seen for thirty years. Never before, perhaps, have we wheat and dear bread. People will want reasons for grumbling. In Montreal the bakers have conceded something, but here

A London paper says that it is nothing short of a public scandal that the price of it actually is. bread should be so high when the selling price of wheat is exceedingly low. How is it that the baker is always to have the lion's share of the profit? He risks little, is at all times ready to advance the price of bread-sometimes when the facts do not warrant it—and when he is compelled to reduce the price of this necessary article it is always by infinitesimal amounts. The farmer is the one who has always to risk most, and he very often loses largely; while when he does make a profit it bears no sort of proportion to that taken by the baker. A correspondent points out that farmers are panic-stricken at the ruinously low prices of wheat at the present moment in England. It is a fact that wheat has been produced recently at a five to thirty per cent., whilst the baker is probably getting from twenty-five to forty over, which is some ten or twelve times a year. The bakers have offered no satisactory answer to these charges. They make their own prices virtually, and there is no one to say them nay. A means of meeting the monopoly has just been explained by a Scottish gentleman resident at Birmingham, and it seems well worthy of imitation. So says our English con-

It was a modest venture, the shares being only 10s. each, but the promoters were all men of business, and so deeply interested in the undertaking that they gave their services in its management for nothing. Their modus operandi was very simple. Having taken suitable premises, engaged expert bakers, and nurchased a sufficiency of the very best materials, they opened shop at prices varying from 4d, to id. below the market rate. This at once brought plenty of customers, and the excellent quality of the bread retained them even after the other bakers had lowered their prices. The company has paid cent, per cent, dividends from the very first up to the present date, although spending a large sum on more expensive premises and improved plant.

Flour, such as bakers use, from $4.65 to $4.87 per barrel. The fault is not with the millers; flour is cheap enough in comparison with wheat. We have before spoken of cheap wheat and dear bread, but we must now change the expression: cheap flour (by wholesale) and dear bread is the fact to which we would now direct public attention. When you buy flour by retail, always remember that the bakers buy wholesale.

The Globe thinks it a singular thing that in the midst of depression the imports of woollens and worsteds should increase. It appears that the customs returns for August, 1884, show a slight increase over the same month in 1883. There is nothing signal about it, not even the Globe's ignorance of commercial facts, which is customary. The particular worsteds and woollens which swell the import for last customary. The particular worsteds and woollens which swell the import for last month are composed of goods which are not made in Canada at all. Meantime the

The World has earned the grati tude of all true friends of progress and enlightenment for the stand taken in yesterday's issue in behalf of the young women whom Dr. Wilson is unjustly seeking to exclude from university college. As you say, 30 to 51-Twenty two fine coin silver several of them recently sent in their fees and stated their intention, having complied with the regulations, of attending lectures during the ensuing academical year. A few days since, however, their fees were returned, and these young women were given to understand that they would not be permitted to attend. This high-handed step must have been taken under the an must have been taken under the austep must have been taken under the authority of Dr. Wilson alone, as the college council does not hold its first meeting of the year for some days yet. Why the president should thus, in such an important matter, take upon himself the functions of the whole council, is a point which he should find some means of explaining to the public satisfaction. I might be permitted to suggest that the true reason for this assumption of autocratic power is that Dr. Wilson is perchance afraid to bring the matter before the full council, knowing well as he does that he stands almost enwell as he does that he stands almost en-tirely alone among the professors in his ob-stinate refusal of the privileges of the college to young women. Yet it seems as if he would fain have the world believe that he would fain have the world believe that his conduct meets with the approval and support of the council. For it is only a short time since Professor Young felt called upon to protest against Dr. Wilsen's attempt in the name of the council to foist upon the public his own irrational object. upon the public his own irrational objec-tions to the admission of women to the

at Glasgow the workmen employed in the great manufacturing establishments of the district bore a conspicuous part. A feature of the occasion was the carrying of banners bearing mottoes appropriate to the various trades, some of which we copy:

We'll see who best can stand the brush. ignore that resolution entirely. This it is said that he will do on the pretension that the will of the people expressed by a resolution simply and not by a statute, has no significance for nim. Now what fatuity this is to be sure! It would be the part of a wise man to bend to public opinion before he is hopelessly broken by it. For I am authorized to inform Dr. Wilson positively that if a resolution had not been thought sufficient, a bill would speedily have been forthcoming, and further that it was solely out of respect for the college council that the matter was brought before the house in the form of a resolution recommending the admission of women to the college rather than of a bill to compel the ollege rather than of a bill to compel the president to admit them.

But Dr. Wilson is simply showing his stubborn capacity for attempting to carry out a course of action upon which he long since decided. For it is well-known that since decided. For it is well-known that he has repeatedly said that he would use his utmost endeavor to prevent the admission of women "so long as I am president of the college." But is the obstinacy of one man however pertinacious, to be permitted for a single day to stand in the way of a movement by the people of this province, and for the good of the people? Is Canada really a country for Canadians, or is it to be given up entirely to an antiquated Scotchman, whose only ideal of an quated Scotchman, whose only ideal of an academical policy is in his own words "to maintain unchanged the system which he found in operation?" Why, a Pacific islander could refuse to forego cannibalism for precisely the same reason! But Dr.
Wilson may rest perfectly assured that whether he remain president or not the young women of this country will avail My lords, beware, the franchise bill.

It is one of the minor consolations of life that the plain speech of everyday people is not seriously affected by the disagreeable slang that is properly termed "newspaper English." LOCOMOTIVE FIREMEN. Change of Name-Increasing the Insurance-The Constitution Revised. At the morning session of the grand lodge yesterday the name of the organization was changed from the "brotherhood of lecomotive firemen of the United States and Canada" to the "brotherhood of locomotive firemen of North America." Messages of congratulation were received from representativas of the order of railway conductors and the train despatchers' association. A motion was passed recommending the various roads to adopt a more uniform code of signals.

In the afternoon the consideration of the onstitution and bylaws was resumed.
The only alteration of importance was raising the insurance of members from $1000 to $1500.

$1000 to $1500.

It was expected that the convention would have been brought to a close last night but nothing was accomplished, save the revision of the constitution and bylaws. The proceedings will close to day with the election of grand officers and fixing the place of next year's meeting.

I nevertasted such milk in my life is the universal verdict of those who try a glass of Mary Anne of St. Lambert milk at the Oak ands Jersey Dairy.

The Createst Butter Test in the World. The claim of the Messrs. Fuller, of the "Oaklands Jersey Stock Farm," that their Jerseys are the best in the world, has again been demonstrated by a test of Ida of St. Lambert at Oaklands, when she made in the hands of a committee of the American Jersey Cattle Club the unparalleled amount of 30 lbs. 2 ez. of butter in seven days. The committee see the cow milked each time, they retain the milk and cream securely under locks, keys and seals until it is placed in the churn and remain at the churn until it is made into butter, washed, salted and weighed. This test is over 2 lbs. in excess of any cow in the world in seven days. Mary Anne of St. Lambert still stands the "Queen of all cows" on account of her great year's yield of 867 lbs. 142 oz. of butter in less than a year. A committee from the United States is now testing Mary Anne of St. Lambert in less than during the test "The Oakland Jersey Dairy" will be obliged to subtitute the milk of Ida of St. Lambert in selling it by the glass in place of Mary Anne of St. Lambert's milk. These two cows are sisters. The milk of Ida of St. Lambert is said to be equally as rich as that of Mary Anne, and we advise our readers who appreciate a good glass of milk to call at the "Oaklands Jersey Dairy," the Arcade, Yonge street, and invest 5c, in a glass of her milk. Somebody's Luggage -Years ago, when Charles Dickens, the greatest and best novelist the world ever knew, was in the prime of life he wrote a novelette entitled Somebody's Luggage. novelette entitled Somebody's laggage. His publishers kept the matter quiet, and the dead walls of London were all billed with the label Somebody's Luggage. The English metropolis became excited. No one knew the interpretation of the words which, like those of Belshazar's feast, had been so mysteriously placed on the wall.—DINEEN, THE HATCER, would be a good motern handbill to guide the public as to the "how whea and where" to buy a hat. The Clay felephone was tested at Buffalo this week. It is worked with a single battery, the whole arrangement, phone and battery being only about one and a half feet long. The transmitter is of pasteboard, not of Japanese iron, as in other phones, and a carbon beneil just back of the plate makes the electrical connection. The carbon revolves by the vibrations caused by talking, consequently a fresh point is touched by the wire at cach erd. In other instruments there is merely a stationary button of carbon.
