BRITISH ARMY MUST RECOGNIZE CIVIL POWER'S ABSOLUTE SWAY ASQUITH FACES ISSUE SQUARELY

Doctrine of Party Foes Has Struck at Root of Democratic Government—Premier Foreshadows Ultimate Adoption of Some Form of Federal System.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(Via Reuters's Ottawa Agency.)—The army in this country is not, I pray, to become a political instrument. It has no place and no voice in framing our policy or moulding our laws," said Premier Asquith at Ladybank, opening his by-election campaign in East Fife on Saturday.

A brilliant spring day and notable scenes of enthusiasm at Ladybank marked the occasion. The meeting took place in the village assembly room, and was opened by the usual formal business, including the adoption of the prime minister as the Liberal candidate. Mr. Asquith, Mrs. Asquith and their daughter, were given a rousing welcome.

Sir James Scott, who presided, welcomed the premier amid cheers, as the greatest parliamentarian they had known. Mr. Asquith returned thanks for his adoption as the Liberal candidate. He said it was a novel experience, contesting a by-election, but they lived in strange times, and in no respect were they more strange than in the way in which credulity dogged the heels of invention and invention strove, and strove in vain, to keep pace with truth.

The true doctrine of army administration, he said, was laid down by the elder William Pitt, and was no worse for having been laid down 170 years ago.

The prime minister said it was his duty in the post which he had assumed, by searching personal inquiry, and with the co-operation upon which he could count, to see that the army was fit, in every shifting condition, for its present and future duties.

Mr. Turner was prominent in local musical circles.

FOUND STARVING BOY ON CITY OUTSKIRTS

Arthur Bradfield Has Run Away Twice Within Month and Says He is Ill-treated at Home—Union Official Arrested for Shortage in Accounts.

With pinched cheeks and hollow eyes, clothed in dirty rags and starving, a boy was discovered shortly before 8 o'clock on Saturday night by Officer 453, in the neighborhood of St. John's road and Dundas street. He was so nearly exhausted that he could only tell the officer his name before he collapsed. He received a little in the Keeler street station, where he was taken.

Here it was found he was Arthur Bradfield, 9, of 34 Helena avenue, the same youngster who was discovered over a month ago by County Constable Belton in a deserted shed in the county, with both feet frozen and nearly perishing from exposure and hunger. His father, William Bradfield, and Mrs. Bradfield, stated that they had been searching for him for several days. They claimed the boy and promised to look after him in future.

This time the boy has been away from home for four days, during which time he has had practically nothing to eat and has slept in sheds and lanes in whatever shelter he could find. His condition on Saturday night was such that he could not speak, and appeared so serious, that after he was taken to the hospital, it was feared he would not survive.

FORM NEW UNION ON BASIS OF SOCIALISM

General Workers Organized Yesterday in the Face of Opposition From Trades and Labor Council—Struggle Between Two Great Branches of Organized Labor is Imminent.

The first step in the organization of the unorganized workers of Toronto was taken yesterday afternoon, when about 150 men joined or signified their intention of joining the General Workers' Union, at a meeting held in the Labor Temple.

The formation of this union, which is affiliated with no International or National organization, will according to some of the speakers at the meeting, be the cause of a great fight in the labor world, and will tend to weaken the labor movement in Toronto generally, because the new organization will welcome men who belong to crafts already represented in organized labor, but who have failed to identify themselves with existing unions. It was pointed out that the new organization will be unable to take any effective action, for the reason that their fellow workers who are affiliated with another union will not be willing to go out on strike or to otherwise assist them.

RACIAL FEELING DEEPLY ROUSED BY MURDER

Bitterness Toward Orientals is at Dangerous Pitch Following Disclosure of Slaying of Vancouver Woman by Chinese Boy—Full Confession of Guilt.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 5.—The shocking murder of Mrs. Charles Millard, the young wife of the chief ticket agent of the C.P.R. at the terminal depot in this city, has stirred the city profoundly. Aside from the question of the crime itself, the fact that she was killed by her Chinese servant, who for five years had lived in the Millard household, has brought the whole burning oriental question to the fore here. Last night the police took special precautions to prevent the slightest chance of a riot in Chinatown, and the night passed quietly enough there. Uptown, however, when a slightly inebriated citizen began to attack every oriental he met he soon drew a crowd. The police took no chances, but whisked him off in the patrol.

Scores of Chinese servants have been dismissed from residences, especially in the west end and Shaughnessy Heights. Downtown restaurants and hotels are being warned personally by customers and by personal messages that they must get rid of their Chinese or lose business. Never before has there been such a general outpouring of bitterness toward the Chinese.

Official Inquiry Into Disaster Will Begin at St. John's Today

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 5.—The government has ordered a full enquiry into all the circumstances attending the sealing disaster. The investigation will begin tomorrow. Meanwhile the Southern Cross is more than five days overdue, and is believed to have foundered. The steamer Kyle, searching yesterday and today, reports no sign of her, but will continue the search tomorrow and get in touch with the American revenue cutter Seneca, which also engaged in the search.

SOUTHERN CROSS HAS PROBABLY FOUNDERED

Little Hope Felt for Safety of Steamer With Large Crew—Vessel Was Heavily Laden and in No Condition to Withstand Storm.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 5.—Anxiety deepened tonight for the 170 men on the sealing steamer Southern Cross, which has been missing since Tuesday's blizzard. She was not reported either by incoming vessels of the coast, the fleet or by the government to search for her. By sunset tomorrow if she is not heard from she will be officially posted as lost with all on board. Disaster to her, following so closely on the loss of 77 men of the sealer Newfoundland, would bring upon the colony the greatest tragedy in its history, depriving whole settlements of their bread-winners and rendering one thousand women and children dependent upon charity.

As the public learned today from the Newfoundland's survivors, who were landed yesterday, the details of the two days' blizzard and the condition in which it caught the Southern Cross, the first hopes based on the stoutness of the ship faded. Captain Daniel Martin of the sealer Erik, and Captain William Barlett of the Terranova, which arrived with full catches, were dubious regarding the safety of the missing ship. Neither had seen her within a week.

Heavily Laden With Seals. Captain Martin said he parted company from her a week ago Thursday, when the Southern Cross turned homeward with 17,000 seals. She was so deeply laden that all her provisions and part of her bunker coal, were stored on deck, so that every available space below could be filled with her catch.

Captain Barlett of the Terranova said the last he saw of the Southern Cross was a week ago Friday, when she was wallowing slowly down the coast. Other ships of the fleet sighted the steamer driving before the gale last Thursday morning. She has not been reported since, and the skippers of the fleet who came thru the gale and the storm of equal severity later in the week, say every chance was against a vessel so deep in the water as the Southern Cross.

PREACHER COLLAPSED IN COURSE OF SERVICE. Rev. H. R. Pickup Will Take Holiday to Regain His Strength.

While preaching the sermon at College Street Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, Rev. H. R. Pickup, the pastor, was seized by an attack of weakness and collapsed in the pulpit. He was escorted to the vestry and thence to his home. When interviewed by The World last night, he stated that his sudden seizure was due very probably to the pressure of work during the past month, and he intended taking a short vacation in order to regain his strength. He was feeling much better last night, but was still rather weak.

The service in the morning was conducted by Rev. Alex. Gilray, who also conducted the evening service.

DEBT OF CANADA NOT GREATLY INCREASED

Addition, Less Than Twenty Millions, Made Up Entirely by Subsidies to C. N. R. and G. T. P.—Shrinkage in Income About Three Millions.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 5.—There was a total increase in the national debt of Canada during the fiscal year, 1913-14, which has just closed, of $17,481,192, according to the monthly statement issued by the finance department of the government. As usual, however, at the end of every fiscal year, there are still some accounts open and these have to be taken into consideration but the amounts are not large, so that when Hon. W. T. White delivers his budget speech tomorrow it is certain that he will be able to announce that the increase in the national debt will be less than $20,000,000.

This is regarded as highly satisfactory in view of the special loans and subsidies which were paid to the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. during the past fiscal year. In fact notwithstanding the financial stringency which has been upon this country for nearly two years the public debt is still less than when the Conservatives assumed office.

Subsidies Responsible. Another important fact to be considered is that although the present financial stringency has been of such long duration the increase in the national debt is less than twenty millions, while in the year after the short financial stringency of 1907 there was an increase in the national debt of forty-six millions. It is evident the special subsidies to the C. N. R. and G. T. P. are entirely responsible for the increase this year in the public debt. These amount during the year to $15,036,235. The policy of financing and subsidizing two transcontinental systems was initiated about a decade ago.

Revenue Shrinkage Small. There is an increase of about eight and a half millions in expenditures on public works generally. The revenue for the twelve months was $160,488,538, but this will be added to slightly. However, the total revenue will be less than the previous year by two or three million dollars. There is a decrease of eight and a half millions in customs alone.

BLAME MILITANTS FOR EXPLOSION IN CHURCH. Pews and Stained Window Damaged by Contents of Canister.

LONDON, April 5.—An explosion in St. Martin's Church, Trafalgar Square, yesterday, did considerable damage to the pews and a stained window in the south aisle. A canister, supposed to have contained the explosive, was found. The outrage is attributed to militant suffragettes.

Bellaventure Met on Arrival by Thousands of Citizens, Including Many Relatives of Newfoundland's Crew—Bodies Were Removed to Grenfell Institute, Which Was Improvised Morgue.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 4.—Amid a scene like a funeral hush the sealing steamer Bellaventure steamed slowly up the harbor at dusk today bearing 69 of the dead and fifty of the crippled survivors of the disaster that overtook the hunters of the steamer Newfoundland on the ice floes near Belle Isle Straits in last Tuesday's blizzard.

Thirty-two of the living were removed to the hospital in a critical condition. Several others were seriously ill and all but one of the remainder bore the scars of their 48-hour exposure to the arctic gale. This unfortunated steamer was stricken blind after being picked up, but it is expected he will recover his sight.

Five thousand persons, many of them relatives of the victims, had lined every vantage point along the harbor front all day waiting for the Bellaventure's arrival and for some news from the missing sealer Southern Cross, carrying 170 men. Not a word has been heard from the latter vessel since she was seen driving before the storm Tuesday morning.

May Not Be Lost. There is still faith in many quarters that the Southern Cross, a stout steamer that Lieut. Shackleton, the British explorer, used on one of his Antarctic expeditions, weathered the blizzard. No wreckage had been reported anywhere along the coast.

It is pointed out that the Southern Cross is a very slow ship, and that only five knots an hour under the best conditions, and if driven far by the gale it would take her some time to work back into communication with the rest of the fleet.

Owing to the absence of Gov. Davidson and Premier Morris, the acting premier, Mr. Bennett, directed the work of caring for the dead and injured. A physician and nurse in the city volunteered for service. The new Grenfell Institute was turned into a morgue. The disaster which overtook the Newfoundland's hunters was unusual according to Captain Randall of the Bellaventure. Tuesday dawned somewhat overcast, but with no hint of unusual conditions, he said, so that it was quite permissible to put men on the ice after seals. Four ships were within sight of him, the Newfoundland, Stephano, Florizel and Bonaventure. These had a total of a thousand men on the ice.

Given Little Warning. The storm broke with unusual Arctic suddenness. The hunters from the Bonaventure and the Florizel were fortunate enough to reach their ships safely. The Stephano's men, being nearer the Florizel than their own vessel, hurried on board her. The Stephano meanwhile steamed towards the spot where her crew had been before the snow shut in. This took her away from the Newfoundland's group, who were far from their own ship. As soon as the Stephano had been notified by the Florizel's wireless of the safety of her own men, she headed back into the storm to pick up the Newfoundland's hunters.

It was impossible to see a ship's length ahead into the snow curtain, and when the Stephano's captain thought he was within a mile of the straggling hunters, he lay to and kept his whistle going in the hope that they might be guided towards him.

Fatal Lack of Wireless. As hours passed and not a man reported, he concluded all had reached their own ships. But the Newfoundland had no wireless and all that day and all Wednesday the fleet remained in ignorance of the fate of the 150 men marooned on the floes.

On Thursday the weather cleared and the Bellaventure was making ready to start her men after seals again, when a lookout reported men on the ice. Captain Randall immediately ordered every available man from the ship to the rescue. The main party of castaways were four miles away, over a broken field of ice. The Bellaventure was driven toward them with all possible speed, but so bad were the ice conditions that it required nine hours to cover the four miles.

In the meantime his men had reached the castaways. Only a few of the hardest were conscious and able to help themselves. Many were in a stupor. Some were raving, others had been stricken with ice blindness. Many bodies were found frozen so fast in the ice that dissection was necessary to chop them out. Two of the survivors were nearly mad from their own sufferings and from grief. Each had watched a brother die in his arms.

Thirty Reached Ship. By good fortune thirty of the Newfoundland's hunters, who had not strayed far from the vessel, had been able to reach their ship, else the death roll would undoubtedly have been greater. In the meantime the Stephano had been able to work within striking distance, and was able to pick up a few of the survivors and recover a few bodies. The scene as the Bellaventure docked was heartrending. dead were identified they were placed on a special train to be sent to Bonaventure Bay, in the vicinity of which most of the victims lived. Many families have lost their only breadwinners. If the Southern Cross has met disaster, whole settlements will be without wage-earners.

Plans were under way tonight for some sort of public memorial in this city on Monday. Business will be suspended for the entire day. On Tuesday a public meeting will be held to discuss relief measures for the families of the victims.

Fancies of Fashion New Bodices Mere Wisps of Chiffon

By MADGE MARVEL

IF the diaphanous bodices of winter made onlookers fear for the chilliness of the wearer, those of the summer will make them sympathetic for sunburn. They are mere wisps of very lovely chiffon vanity. And they make even the ones who will eventually wear them gasp, they seem so little to fulfill the accepted demands of clothing. It is really difficult to see how they could be any less and be in the back to quite an alarming depth. As for the bodices of the evening gown, with the lack of back and the frank openness of the front, and the slipping off of the shoulders, they seem almost too little of nothing, even to the woman who is not absurdly conservative.

There is this much comfort, they can't possibly grow any less and the pendulum will have to swing back, and then we shall probably go to the other extreme and wear stiff-boned bodices with choker collars. If the styles didn't change, what a very dull world this would be! And if women didn't wear things that are daring, what a waste field there would be for busy talkers.

New "Petties" Attract

There is a creeping back to acceptance of the long-banished petticoat. It has won recognition because of its sheer levelness. And there may be two meanings given "sheer," for the new "petties" are very slimy bits of wearing apparel, and correspondingly exquisite. Chiffon and crepe de chine and lace make the most lovely ones.

There are plenty of women all over the world who never feel their wardrobes are quite complete. This season they have been generously remembered by the makers of silks. The new foulards are fascinating both in color and design. Fresh bouquets of posies or single blossoms are scattered on backgrounds which show an indefinite tulle or gauze effect as an apparent support for the flowers.

By the time the sun begins to give hint of real summer I predict the bigger hat and I am sure it will be wreathed in flowers.

Also I am told the cape will be the favorite wrap of the summer.

There are the most charming old-time peleries of taffeta, the biggest and most comely new version of the golf cape, and some frothy chiffon wraps. Faquin showed the revival of the cape. There was one of Lincoln green, long and enveloping, the magnificence catching one and throwing it over her shoulders in jaunty fashion. There was also a cape of white with a black velvet collar which was attached at an angle which made one think it had slipped to the left shoulder.

Spring Veils Varicolored

And there was the most wonderful wrap of gold and red brocade, which sent a shiver of admiration rippling through the audience.

At another exhibition of gowns there was displayed a long shawl-like wrap of tulle with chiffon nooses. The point of the shawl came to the hem of the gown in the back and the sides showed up over the arms exactly like a shawl, and then there were pointed and ruffled ends to the feet in front. The color was a changeable rose and green, and the tulle or gauze catching one and throwing it over her shoulders in jaunty fashion.

There is a fancy just at the moment for brown veils. They give a charming tone to the complexion, and brown is one of the very much liked shades of the spring. The veil with the insect, butterfly or bug crawling on one cheek is seen at every turn. So, too, is the thin white veil with the black velvet beauty spot. If this spot is rightly applied it is quite bewitching, but it has a ludicrous habit of getting located in some corner of the face where it makes a caricature of even the prettiest woman. The barem veil is well liked. The lower part has heavy dots or a shadow design, and the upper is the thinnest of net, so thin at a distance no veil shows. The heavy part is supposed to end just below the eyes.

Taking No Chances

"Yes, he knows how, but he says he has a friend whose wife eloped with his chauffeur."

He Expected Trouble

Shylock had demanded his pound of flesh and Portia had hoodwinked him out of it.

"I expected trouble when I saw her," said Shylock. "I had rather deal with the servants whom I give commissions than with the mistresses."

A HARD DAY'S SHOPPING

By Michelson

NOTICE the little package. Think of the brave efforts summed up in this result of an arduous day. The girl herself is utterly fagged—she would have a lot of pretty well battered wares to describe that elken weariness of hers. Isn't shopping DREADFUL?—hovering over all that litter when you don't know what you DO want, and when you are less sure the more you look.

Probably the girls behind the counters in the shops are tired, too. Isn't it an odd world? For some of us so much trouble earning and saving money; for some others of us so much trouble earning and saving it. The worst of it is, we don't always like the stuff in our package after all. That is a tragedy. Better not form THAT habit. Discontent with YOUR share is a good way to be unhappy.

The Fascination of American Accents

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

MME. SLAVKE GROUTICH says that the American girl would be the greatest sort of social success in Europe, if it were not for her accent.

Mme. Slavke Grouitch is the wife of the Serbian minister to the court of St. James. Before she was married her name was Dunlap, and she came from West Virginia, in which locality we learn from song and poetry that the inhabitants "nevaht tire."

She ought to know what she is talking about. I wonder if she does.

"Here's one of the things she says: 'It seems to me that for this drawback there is no excuse; every girl ought to be brought up to speak pure English—and not a colloquial dialect.' Quite true, Mme. Grouitch, quite true.

And who shall be the one to teach the American girl a pure accent—somebody from West Virginia, where they say "gyardian" for garden and tell somebody "telling" things when they mean carry?

There's nothing in the world so sweet as the cultivated voice of a cultivated British woman, whether she comes from Ireland and says something that sounds like "cheer" for chair, or from Scotland and says "tsocht" when she means thought, or from England and says "gell" for girl—provided that the accent is natural and not affected.

There's only one thing sweeter in the world than the voice of an educated English woman, and that's the voice of an Irish woman, educated or not. It's pure cream gurgling out of a silver jug into a clear glass of crystal, and there's that smoke in the air and the shamrock springs green under foot, and all the lakes of Killarney laugh blue under the sunshine—in that voice.

Which Accent is Preferable?

The American voice is the most outrageous voice in the world. It is a shriek and a crow of defiance and a cackle of acid mirth; it is raw with the adolescence of a nation—that's what's the matter with the American speech, not the American accent.

Why should an American girl want anything but an American accent, and what accent should she choose to take the place of her natural one? Do tell us, Mme. Grouitch: Shall it be Serbian, or would you prefer that of the lower Mediterranean?

Perhaps it is the English accent you like. Shall our girls say "het" for hat, and "raither" for rather, and shall her accent be from Devonshire or Cornwall, or do you prefer the London pronunciation?

Of course, there is a certain cultivated way of speech that tells the story of the speaker's education and family surrounding in any one country. The American girl brought up in a home where people say "haint" and "warn't" will learn to say "isn't" and "wasn't," while the English girl, whose grand-mother said "trime" for train, and "urry" for hurry, is just beginning to know there's something wrong about the way she talks and won't be quite sure what it is.

Where the Tango Originated

There is nothing new in the step that has been taken in certain high circles, both at home and abroad, in regard to the tango as of the December of 1913.

As long ago as the December of 1837, the Archbishop of Buenos Ayres communicated one Senor de la Cueva y Benavides, governor of the city, for dancing the tango in public.

Even then the dance was anything but new. An authority in the Argentine states that the tango is named after a province in Indo-China, and that it originated there more than 2000 years ago.

It was the gypsies who took the dance to Spain, from whence it reached the Argentine.

One definition of the tango—given in a glossary of South American Spanish—is "Gathering dance of gypsies."

The dance has not been improved or modernized. As being danced by the up-country Argentines and the Spanish gypsies it is exceedingly graceful.

I've seen a girl from Iowa City, Ia., learn to say "Mothah" and "bath" in six months at boarding school in Boston, and I never could see the sense in the way the people in Iowa City laughed at her for doing it when she got back home. She went to Boston to learn what people outside of Iowa did. What's the use of sending her if she isn't going to learn?

One morning I called to her and said: "There's a door creaking somewhere; will you please shut it?"

"Yas'm," whined my dear, cosey, pretty little nurse; and she went from room to room looking for the door that creaked. She couldn't find it.

Presently the creaking began again.

"There," I said, "there it is again."

My little nurse came and stood in the door, her face a mixture of ruseful surprise and gentle amusement.

"Why," she whined, pleasantly, "that wasn't a door a-creaking; that was me a-calling Annie." And it was.

Our Distinct "Dialects."

I do not like the accent that is like the creaking of a door, but that may be a mere personal prejudice. To my neighbors' ears that creaking accent may be as the voice of a winged seraph. But all the other American accents I like, barbarian that I am. And I love to think that I can tell where a man is from the minute I hear him ask the conductor to let him off at such and such a street.

It is my delight of a moonshine night in the season of the year, the year or any other time, to get the man from New England to say something about going to "Bahhabab"—and if I can inveigle the courteous person from Virginia to pass some one a plate of cookies and say, "Eep yosef, honey," why, my cup of joy is full to the overflowing.

I've some friends whose name is Boyd; they went to live in a New York apartment house and, in the gas bill and the milk bill and the ice bill all came to Mr. Bird, and when my friend expostulated and asked who was this mysterious Bird person, they all said, "Why, how do you spell Boyd; isn't that the way?"

And out in San Francisco, where the weather is fair, the policemen on the beat will tell you to go over to "Foist" street, or "Thoid" and Kearny. It is a kind of city accent, apparently; and every human being born and bred in any of our big towns has it, and will show it in moments of excitement.

Don't you love to hear the girl from the Middle West call her chums "gi-r-r-ls" and talk about "teacher-r-r-?" Or would you rather hear the little Boston maid say "gulls" and "teachah?"

Do you love to hear the sweet thing from South Carolina ask you, "whah you are goin' this evenin'?"—honestly, now, doesn't it sound a great deal sweeter to you than as if she said it in plain English the way she should? I'm for the American accent, every American accent from Maine to California, and from "Nyawhins" to "Nyawk," and even to Boston, Massachusetts, with the O in Boston as the O in "hot."

Take away our nasal voice, Mme. Grouitch, but leave, oh, leave us our good old dyed in the wool American accents.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Baldness Is Common; How to Save Your Hair

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

THERE is a nodular condition of the hair, which occurs occasionally in girls, but chiefly in men. The beard, whiskers and mustache are more liable to attack than the hair of the head, but the hair of any part of the body may be affected.

Little bead-like swellings of a whitish appearance occur at regular intervals along the hair shafts. Like dandruff, circular bald patches, ringworm and many other hair troubles, this is a germ disease. The bacteria seem to settle in the "nodes," or joints, of which each single hair has several.

Shaving and vigorous X-ray treatment—even jerking the hair out sharply—are among the unpleasant remedies necessary to cure this disturbance.

True "alopecia," or in plain United States baldness, though women scarcely believe it, is really a masculine malady. No one has as yet come to explain why men are bald. Though girls and women constantly complain of falling hair, a truly feminine bald head is almost unknown.

Perhaps the delicate mould of a girl's skull, the absent constriction around the temples due to a man's hatband, less strenuous work, and the associated masculine poison called "the sweat of the brow," these, together with late hours and the glare of the theatre spotlight help to make baldness a masculine rather than a feminine malady.

The slow but steady drop, drop, drop of the comb-clung hairs is, however, decidedly worrisome to the feminine division, despite the assurance and conviction that lost hair is more readily to the male of the species.

The use by women of hair dyes and tonics has been accredited with an excellent purpose. It is said to kill off all the foolish women, and allow all others a sweet and charming old age. Be this as it may, there is always some need of sane scalp treatment to save the stubble and lustrous remnants.

If three people go to bed, one in love, one with the toothache, and one in worry about her falling hair, the one with the toothache will be asleep first, the one with the spectre of baldness before her last.

The secret to secure firmly upon your retund dome the fast escaping locks rests in the knowledge that the feeling, scalp-eating hair shafts are usually freed and at large because of microbes and loss of physiological balance inside your textures and outside on the skin have injured the hair roots.

One morning I called to her and said: "There's a door creaking somewhere; will you please shut it?"

"Yas'm," whined my dear, cosey, pretty little nurse; and she went from room to room looking for the door that creaked. She couldn't find it.

Presently the creaking began again.

"There," I said, "there it is again."

My little nurse came and stood in the door, her face a mixture of ruseful surprise and gentle amusement.

"Why," she whined, pleasantly, "that wasn't a door a-creaking; that was me a-calling Annie." And it was.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie—I have a very nice gentleman friend, but sometimes he makes me so mad I feel like hitting him over the head with my umbrella. For instance, the other night I was going to the theatre with him, and of course, we took the car. What do you think he did? He deliberately walked up to where two young ladies were sitting opposite and started to flirt with them.

I do not think he acted like a gentleman. Do you? What would I do?

INDIGNANT.

HE'S not a gentleman, and he doesn't even know how to pretend to be one, and that's pretty bad. Don't you think so, indignantly?

If I were you, do you know what I would have done with that young man? I would have picked out the best looking chap in the car and gazed soulfully at him.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

GOOD morning, Mister Possum," said Brer Rabbit one morning, as he hopped in front of Mister Possum's house.

"Good afternoon," replied Mister Possum.

"Why do you say 'afternoon'?" asked Brer Rabbit in surprise.

"Because I just woke up," replied Mr. Possum.

"You are too lazy for anything!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit.

"Yes," answered Mister Possum, "I am just like your front legs."

"What!" said Brer Rabbit, sitting up very straight.

"Yes," went on Mister Possum. "Everybody knows a rabbit's hind legs are the busiest things in the world and their front paws are too lazy for anything."

"Ahem!" went Brer Rabbit.

"I am a possum and as a possum I am lazy. If I were a rabbit, I would be a rabbit and not so lazy. I can't change myself. I don't want to."

"Ahem!" went Brer Rabbit.

"Now I wish you would jump away as a good rabbit and let me take a snooze. And remember that people do not like to be told disagreeable things. Now run along."

ARMY CONTROLLED BY CIVIL POWER

Asquith Dealt With Situation in Frank Manner on Saturday. SEDITIOUS DOCTRINE Party Opponents Would Disrupt Whole System of Government.

Responsibility for the preservation of domestic peace, continuing the prime minister, lay with the magistrates and the police. Under normal conditions, the army's aid could not and ought not to be invoked by the civil power.

Where did they lead to? They set a precedent which was capable of an infinite number of applications, and was much more dangerous in its consequences than the one which was before it.

T. & D. FIRST GAMES PLAYED ON GREASY FIELDS IN SNOWSTORM

Opening Fixtures Staged Under Adverse Conditions—Surprises the Rule—Newcomers in Winning Column—General Meeting Tonight.

Saturday saw the T. & D. initiate most of its teams into the game for the season of 1914, and despite the adverse circumstances and the many difficulties to overcome the games went off with little or no snow. A cold wind and a blinding snowstorm are not the best conditions for soccer under, and to add to this the fact that the turf was treacherous gives some idea of what the local enthusiasts are expected to contend with. In the first of two division games were played at Bayview Park. The game was a very close one, and the newcomers were unable to get their men away from the field to play, and the veterans found their field under water when they arrived there, and did not start, while the newcomers were also forced to play on the snow. Davenporters were just good enough to nose out Pioneers as also Baracas Parkviews. Old Country and Sunderland drew.

Hiawatha, Sons of England and Bank of Commerce furnished the surprises in the second division, especially the former. St. Giles, under their new name of Bankers, stopped their old rivals, St. Cuthberts, while Toronto Street Railway was unable to get their men away from the field under water when they arrived there, and did not start, while the newcomers were also forced to play on the snow. Davenporters were just good enough to nose out Pioneers as also Baracas Parkviews. Old Country and Sunderland drew.

TORONTO WELSH TEAMS PLAY DRAW

Strong Sides Line Up at Willowdale Park—Overseas Need More Forwards.

The Toronto Welsh Rugby Football Club players held a practice match, captain v. vice-captain at Willowdale Park on Saturday, this being their opening of the season, and, judging from the interest taken, the Welshmen will put out a very good class of the old country Rugby team. At half-time the vice-captain had an advantage of one goal, one try, to one try.

Early in the second half play was suspended for a short time, when twenty members of the club, who were the South of Wales, played in a sportsmanlike manner. The club are willing to teach any Canadians the game with the endeavor of making British Rugby universal sport. The club is under strict management, and will enforce hard and fast rules.

The Overseas British Rugby team had a splendid practice game on Saturday afternoon in High Park, when twenty members turned up. The men showed fine form, considering that some had been three or four years without any kind of practice. The three quarters were in particularly good shape, but the team appears to be in need of a few really good forwards to complete a satisfactory fifteen.

On Tuesday afternoon another trial game will be played, and anyone wishing to join the club, and also those who are at present members, are requested to turn up for the trial game at the Bloor street entrance of High Park at 5.30, and the team to play the first league game on Wednesday, April 8th, at 7.30. The game will be played at the Bloor street entrance of High Park at 5.30, and the team to play the first league game on Wednesday, April 8th, at 7.30.

SCOTLAND LEADS ENGLAND BY FIVE

Winning Saturday's Soccer International Before Enormous Attendance.

LONDON, April 4.—Whilst interest in the various league competitions in the old country remains unabated, all games today paled into insignificance before the great international at Glasgow, where Scotland defeated England by five goals to three. In previous games Scotland holds the lead in victories, having won seventeen to England's thirteen, whilst twelve have been drawn. Notwithstanding the fact that the championship of the nations has already been settled, Ireland having secured the honor a few weeks ago, it did not detract from the interest taken in Saturday's game, which was viewed by a crowd estimated at 130,000, a record for any exhibition in the annals of sport, and thousands turned away with Victory Deserved.

Opening with great promise, the English side held for a time the better of matters, and it was well that Brownlie and the two Celtic backs were at the top of form, for the English sharpshooters were on the target every time. After ten minutes of severe pressure on their goal, the Scottish defence brought relief to their side, and the forwards got an innings. They used to much advantage, and Thomson, the Scottish captain, fixing on a ball cleared from a corner kick, let drive, and Hardy was unable to stop it as it found its way into the net. There was great excitement over this Scottish success, and hardly had the cheer subsided when Scotland's Fleming, after some nice passing between the English forwards, beat Brownlie with an unsaveable shot and he equalized the game.

Play continued to be of a very even character subsequent to this, each side making strenuous efforts to increase its score. On occasions the English forwards experienced hard lines, but they failed to combine in their usual way, and the Scottish halves tackling in forceful fashion all the time, were able to checkmate every attempt to pierce Brownlie's charge. The interval arrived with the teams still on level terms and the excitement higher than ever.

A Bad Finish. The game had not long been resumed when McMenamy, the Scots' inside right, after a clever movement, beat Brownlie for the second time, and playing now with increased confidence, the Scots had the pull. The English backs were none too reliable, and this gave the opposing forwards every opportunity to endanger their opponents' goal. Ten minutes after he had scored the second goal, the Celtic half-back and successor to Bobbie Walker, scored a third point, and the joy of the home supporters knew no bounds. After the second goal, the Celtic half-back, who had appeared in all descriptions, the winning players being carried shoulder high to the pavilion.

Without turning my head, wife, I can tell you're taking a lead off second base.

How your left hand is up in the air and you're wiggling your feet. Thanks, wife, that's all.

Wife, I think I've solved it. I'll see.

Forbes-Robertson's Farewell

FOR his farewell appearance in Toronto at the Royal Alexandra Theatre the next two weeks, Forbes-Robertson has selected six plays that show his genius in widely diverse parts.

Bird of Paradise

THE Bird of Paradise, which will again be seen at the Alexandra Theatre week of April 20, is a story of the land where Robert Louis Stevenson found "the most pleasant and manly interest."

The Quaker Girl

THE Quaker Girl, which charmed Toronto theatre-goers the early part of this season, returns to the Princess this week for its regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The Common Law

THE fact that a woman struggles against the conventions of modern law and society, yet suffers the heartaches of a love given to a man of different caste, is incident enough to build up a wonderful and interesting story.

Mendelssohn Choir Trip

THE Toronto Mendelssohn Choir's European fund has now reached a total of nearly $5,000, leaving somewhat more than $10,000 still to be raised in order to place the movement on a firm basis.

The New Henrietta

THE most interesting experiment of the current season has just proved to be one of the absolute hits of the year as shown in the enthusiastic reception of William H. Crane, Douglas Fairbanks, Amelia Bingham and Patricia Collings as stars of "The New Henrietta" at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York city.

Sweethearts

WHEN "Sweethearts," the new comic opera success of the present season, was heard in Chicago recently, The Chicago News reported it as follows:

There was an almost sensational triumph for Victor Herbert's pretty opera, "The Happy Widows," at the Grand this week.

The announcement is made that "Sweethearts" will be heard here with the same production, even to the special orchestra, as during its long runs in the greater cities.

The Happy Widows

THE famous organization known as "The Happy Widows," a company comprising the best talent of the Columbia Circuit, will be the next attraction at the Gayety Theatre.

The Park Theatre

THRU an oversight in the display ad of the Park Theatre, two acts of vaudeville were not mentioned that will appear today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

The story of "Celluloid Sara" has to do with the hero of the pictures, who is an actual villain, and the villain of the movies, who, outside of the camera's focus, is a real hero.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

A New Discovery Thin men and women—that big, billowing dinner you ate last night, because of all the fat-producing element it contained? You haven't gained weight one ounce. That's because from your body like unburned fuel through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't burn and stick, and the plain truth is, you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of living. This is true of thin folks who are over your nutritive organs, and your system of assimilation are such that gear and need reconstruction.

CROP PROSPECTS OVERAWAY BULLS

Outlook for Exports to Europe Had No Effect on Wheat.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Bearish influence of the largest acreages and the finest condition of winter crop ever reported at this time of the year, held down today the price of wheat. The market, although firm at the close, was on the same level as last night, to 1-16 lower. In the other leading staples, there was a net decline...

meistic visible supply tended also to give more or less comfort to the bulls. Recovery in Corn. Corn, after having weakened with wheat, and because of the slowness of the shipping demand, made a recovery on account of an advance in ocean freight rates from Argentine. Nevertheless, Montreal was said to be offering Argentine corn to Chicago at 3-4c concession compared with yesterday.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Receipts of farm produce were fairly liberal. There were 400 bushels of grain, 7 loads of hay, and about 50 conveyances of one kind or another filled with all kinds of seasonal produce in the north market buildings, and a large delivery of butter and eggs, but a small delivery of poultry on the basket market. Trade was active and prices firm in all classes of produce, excepting eggs, which were plentiful and cheaper than at any time this year.

were not as many sales reported at 35c per pound as usual, and more at 35c to 36c per pound than at any time this season. Eggs.—Deliveries of eggs were large and prices lower than at any time this year. The highest price reported was 25c per dozen, retail, and 20c to 21c wholesale. The bulk of the eggs sold at 23c to 24c, retail. Poultry.—Receipts of first-class chickens were small, and prices were very high, selling all the way from 25c to 28c per pound retail, and 25c wholesale.

LOOSENING CHECK ON EMIGRATION

Great Increase in Unemployment in Galicia Resulted From Curb.

Canadian Press Dispatch. VIENNA, April 4.—The Austrian Government has temporarily suspended in Galicia the severe restrictions recently imposed against emigration.

This action has been taken, owing to the great increase in unemployment which has resulted in widespread destitution.

Great numbers both in town and country are on the verge of starvation. The efforts of the authorities to ameliorate the distress by means of public works have proved utterly inadequate.

The frontier gendarmerie have been instructed to exercise the utmost leniency in the examination of the passports of young men intent upon reaching America, even the military service has not been performed.

It is estimated that the normal emigration from Galicia has more than doubled this year.

The negotiations recently initiated by the ministry of commerce with the Austro-American and German shipping companies, with a view to drafting new regulations respecting emigration, have been suspended.

It is understood that several shipping companies will adhere to the agreement that has been reached, so that the new combination of an early date will include most of the shipping companies which are permitted to do business.

Norman Angell Speaks in Toronto Thursday. Will be Guest of Polity Club at Open Meeting in Convocation Hall.

Norman Angell, the world-known author of "The Great Illusion," is to speak in Toronto next Thursday evening, April 9, in Convocation Hall, under the auspices of the International Polity Club.

The members of the legislature, the board of trade, the Canadian Club, the Women's Canadian Club, the labor organizations, the Peace and Arbitration Society, the Canadian Defence League and the general public are invited.

Norman Angell will speak on "The Great Illusion and Canada." Since his first visit to Toronto last spring, Mr. Angell has been almost continually before the public eyes in this city.

He accepted, together with President Falconer, the honorary presidency of the International Polity Club. During the winter many discussions on his views and book, both in support and in opposition, have been conducted at various meetings and in the press.

Norman Angell believes that war is not only unnatural, but that it does not pay. His theory as outlined in "The Great Illusion" has been studied in every country in the world, and his book has been published in fifteen languages.

He is at present on a tour of special arrangement that he was brought to Toronto.

Attempts have been made to destroy the confidence of Peterson Lake shareholders, but these have failed, as they deserved to, and it is to be hoped that the maligners have lost money in their attempt to break the price.

Peterson Lake will be a dividend payer and as such the shares will command a much higher price. Investors are now ignoring industrial stocks and viewing mining shares as equally trustworthy with much larger speculative opportunities.

Our best judgment on the most promising purchases can be had for this stock.
