A BUSY DAY IN POLICE COURT.

The Littlejohn Prize-fighting Case Again Postponed.

Deaf Mute Charged With Threatened Murder—Another Sheffield St. Frequenter

There was a big docket in the police court this morning and the cases that promise the most interest were remanded for further hearing.
John Carr, was accused by Officer Merrick of fighting on Main street. John said that some one had hit him and knocked him down and that he was arrested while trying to get up. As the officer's evidence was not quite in a line with that of Carr, the case stands over till tomorrow morning.

Two drunks were fined four dollars. Thomas Rudledge, a sailor, was arrested Saturday night by Officer Marshall on Brittain street, charged with being drunk. Charles McCarthy was also arrested by the same officer a few minutes later, charged with interfering. Rudledge denied the charge and McCarthy said that while the man had evidently had a few drinks, he was certainly not drunk and perfectly able to look after himself. In the case against McCarthy Marshall swore that he saw McCarthy in a fight with Carr and that McCarthy was the aggressor. McCarthy denied under oath, and as the evidence was highly contradictory, the case goes over till tomorrow that further witnesses may be heard. Rudledge was allowed to go, but was requested to be on hand tomorrow in case he is wanted as a witness.

John English, who belongs to Amherst, was arrested by Officer Ward about two o'clock Sunday morning for wandering about the streets and not giving a satisfactory account of himself. He explained to his honor that he had been watching the fire and that he had been locked out of his hotel and had started to walk to a farm on the road where he had engaged to go to work. He was remanded, the officer's evidence showing that he had acted in a very suspicious manner.

Joseph Neaves is fifteen years of age and came from Nova Scotia some years ago. He was arrested about two o'clock Sunday morning for wandering about the streets and not giving a satisfactory account of himself. He explained to his honor that he had been watching the fire and that he had been locked out of his hotel and had started to walk to a farm on the road where he had engaged to go to work. He was remanded, the officer's evidence showing that he had acted in a very suspicious manner.

Robert Small was arrested by Officers Scott and Marshall Sunday morning in a yard off Sheffield street, and was also charged with being a habitual frequenter of the streets. Small volunteered an explanation as to why he was in the yard and said that he had gone to the house to see Celia Grant's man about some fishing tackle. The evidence of the police was to the effect that he kept company with a colored girl named Celia Grant, who was an inmate of Celia Grant's abode, that he had been frequently seen in her company in the house and on the street, and that his reputation was bad. He was remanded.

William Bailey, who is deaf and dumb, and resides in Carleton, was arrested Saturday night by Officer Ward in consequence of a complaint made that he had threatened to take the life of Miss Annie Crawford, a young lady to whom he paid marked attention and whom he asked to be his wife. The couple had been quite friendly for years, but the lady's friends did not approve and the companionship was broken off. Bailey persisted in his attentions and Saturday night met the lady on Charlotte street. She tried to get clear of him and it is said he drew a revolver and threatened to kill her. When arrested a revolver was found on his person. The case will be taken up later.

The case against Dan Littlejohn for prize fighting was then called. Sergeant Campbell testified as to the proceedings the night of the alleged fight, after which the case was postponed.

MURDERERS DIE QUIETLY.
Two Men Meet Death in the Electoral Chair Without Any Display of Emotion.

OSSENING, June 13.—Albert Koeppling, who murdered John Martin in Fort Jarvis, and Oscar Bergstrom, who killed his wife in Mount Isaacs, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison this morning. The executions were carried through without a hitch, and twenty-four minutes after the first man was led to the chair, the second was pronounced dead. Koeppling, the younger of the two, was the first executed. Both went to their deaths without displaying any emotion.
Koeppling was only 22 years old. He murdered John Martin in Fort Jarvis, 1903, after having been elected for non-payment of his board bill. Previously he had served six months in prison for robbing a woman with whom he eloped from New York. Bergstrom, a Swedish gardener, murdered his wife by cutting her throat in a jealous rage at their home in Mount Isaacs.

RUSSIANS TRAPPED;
800 KILLED BY JAPS.

Crushing Defeat for Army Attempting to Relieve Port Arthur—Jap Strategy Did It

NEW CHWANG, Sunday, June 13. (Midnight).—Information was received here at 10 o'clock tonight through the Russian relief channels that part of the Japanese left at Pulan Tien to checkmate the Russians southward advance to relieve Port Arthur, was attacked southeast of Shungmao yesterday. After slight fighting the Japanese made a flank movement, catching the Russians in a trap. The Russian losses are placed at 800 men. They then fell back on Kalchou and began to retreat along the Dal-nai Tanchou road. About two thousand Russian infantry from Kai Chou passed through New Chwang this morning, accompanied by a large supply and hospital train. Several carts contained bandaged men.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—Relief is felt in military circles at the removal of the Russian army from the front. It is understood that the sole responsibility devolves upon General Kuro-patkin and that no serious attempt will be made to relieve Port Arthur. It is reported that the Vladivostok squadron now consists of three cruisers and four ironclads. It is therefore presumed that the squadron has effected a junction with some of the Port Arthur vessels. The newspapers report that there is great distress in Vladivostok arising from the lack of foodstuffs and fuel. It is feared that the stock of petroleum and candles is giving out. Twelve trains are arriving daily at Liao Yang with reinforcements.

WONDERS OF BIRD MIGRATION.
What Becomes of the Chimney-Swift in the Winter Months?
(Saturday Evening Post.)
Who will solve the mystery of the chimney-swift? It is one of the most familiar and most numerous of our birds, but when it leaves the gulf coast on its annual migration it disappears apparently from the face of the earth and no man knows whether it goes to the south, to the north, to the west, or to the east. The Department of Agriculture, 1903, tells how the chimney-swifts, with their wings of velvet and their bodies of lead, lodge by night in tall chimneys. They join with other birds, until the time the gulf coast is reached, they have become an innumerable host. Then they disappear—drop absolutely out of sight. If they hibernated in mud, as was formerly believed, their obliteration could not be more complete. In the last week of March a few of the birds are seen in the state of New York, and by August they are in Labrador, where it is said that they are actually eaten by the dark purple juice. From Nova Scotia it strikes out to sea, and takes a direct course for the West Indies, 1,600 miles away, finally reaching northern Brazil and the prairies of Argentina. Sixteen thousand miles does it traverse in order to spend ten weeks on the Arctic coast!

RUSSIANS CONFIDENT.
ST. PETERSBURG, June 13.—Michael Davitt, who is now in St. Petersburg investigating the labor and industrial conditions of Russia, but interviewed today with the correspondent of the Associated Press said: "Aside from the immediate object of my visit, I have been greatly interested in the attitude of the masses in Russia toward the war. Their attitude is of great import, in view of the theories published abroad that the war is unpopular and that the country is on the verge of rebellion. I have visited every working quarter of St. Petersburg, the extensive Solomonovskoe region, the Narvskoe district and such places as the Potiloff Company's locomotive and steel works, employing 10,000 men. I interviewed the workers outside the factories, in the churches, parks and places of public entertainment, but failed to find anything except quiet confidence that Russia is bound to win in the end. The government is decidedly frank in its dissemination of news. Official bulletins are posted everywhere and they are read attentively by small groups. Frequently soldiers and sailors are among them. The news is discussed among the workers, but always quietly. There is no trace of excitement. In fact the war seems to arouse less public interest than the news received during the South African war. One reason may be the distance of the actual fighting from the workers' centres. Everywhere business is proceeding in the ordinary routine. The only restraint is the fifth that Russia ultimately will win. The stories published abroad that 600 persons were executed in Moscow recently, that wholesale sentences have been handed at Moscow, and that sanguinary conflicts have occurred at Odesa, are all, so far as my inquiries show, pure inventions deliberately set

WATER MAINS BURST.
Saturday afternoon about two o'clock the water main on the south side of Haymarket Square just west of the railway crossing burst and threw up a regular volcano of water, mud and stones. Word was at once sent to the office and the superintendent, but before the men could get there and turn off the water the street and square were a shabby little red sea and girls and boys were having a good time. All except one little lad who by some of his companions was pushed into the crater formed by the eruption of water. He sank out of sight and when he scrambled out appeared a sorry appearance. A gang of men worked all night effecting repairs.
Last year on a Saturday and at the same hour and almost the same spot there was a similar break.

SOCIALISM;
NOT UNIONS.

The Cause of the Trouble in Colorado.

The Miners Unions are in Control of Anarchists, Who Hesitate at No Crime

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 13.—General Bell has given out a statement concerning his action in deporting strikers and the causes leading up to the same. He attributes the recent troubles growing out of the miners' strike and the strike itself to the socialist element in the Western Federation of Miners, who, he says, captured the organization two years ago. He declares that the federation has made a unionism a secondary consideration and that the organization, root and branch is being made a vehicle for the promotion of socialism. The leaders, he asserts, have not hesitated to cause "weak and willing members to commit any crime to strike terror to property owners or working men who refuse to abide their dictates."
The murder of non-union men by blowing up the Independence station, he charges as being "perpetrated with the aid and advice of the Federation leaders and by men in their employ." The only hope for peace and security of life and property was "the extermination of the federation from the camp."
"As the head of the state militia responsible only to the governor," the general continues, "it became my duty to effect this result. The arrest of every man in the district belonging to the federation was ordered. Unless they were able to show a clean bill of health, they were placed in the bull pen and held or deported. The deportation of Federation men," General Bell declares, "is a military necessity."
They are not being deported because they are union men, or to destroy unionism, but because it is believed they are a menace to the peace and welfare of the district.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Mrs. Nan Patterson, the Actress, Must Stand Her Trial on the Capital Charge.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Mrs. Nan Patterson, the actress, who was with Caesar Young, the bookmaker, in a cab on June 4, when he was shot and killed, was today indicted for murder in the first degree.
Young, who had been a close friend of Mrs. Patterson for several years, met her by appointment a couple of hours before the time set for the sailing of the steamship which he was to sail on with his wife for Europe. They had spent much of the previous evening in conference over the impending separation and it is understood that this farewell meeting had been arranged for the transfer to Young of certain letters in the possession of Mrs. Patterson. Conflicting stories have been told of the happenings in the cab and Mrs. Patterson has refused to give the details of the shooting except to say that Young shot himself and that after the shooting she had picked up the revolver and placed it in Young's right hand pocket. One eye witness has presented himself and his testimony was to the effect that Young had shot himself.

WOMAN IN JUDGESHIP.

The fashionable idea that woman's economic independence is, if not achieved, at least well assured, is combated with convincing argument by Mrs. Flora McDonald Thompson, in a recent article in the North American Review.

Mrs. McDonald quotes figures to show that, though women wage earners today form 17.22 per cent of the whole industrial population, this numerical strength is constantly depleted by market forces. The woman in industry is not a permanent livelihood, but merely a makeshift pending marriage. She thus tends always to the lower levels of labor, unskilled, the worth of which is reckoned, not according to its power, but according to the stifling stress of the necessities of the laborer. Considering also the fact that as women engage in men's work they not only lower the level of wages by competition, but by withdrawing an indispensable force from household production, they increase the cost of living. And while she increases living expenses and diminishes the efficiency of labor, the wages she earns effect no diminution of men's responsibility. The man remains liable for the support of the family even though the competition of his wife and daughter should lower his wages to the starvation point.

Mrs. Thompson's summing up is as follows: "Woman, labor is an economic element as abnormal as convict labor, and it is equally pernicious, for the reason that legitimate labor is taxed for its support. It has secured the woman a competence averaging less than one dollar a day. It has undermined her health. It has trained her in the work of a machine, and made her unskilled in all the labor which supplements the office of wife and mother in the family. It has taken her out of the home. The reproductive organs in particular are injured by the strain of men's work, and the human race deteriorates in consequence of woman's physical and mental ability to perform the material function. Now, in the design of nature, which neither university courses nor political emancipation can overthrow, the destiny of woman is wifehood, maternity. Abstract these offices from any calculation concerning the sex, and we have the end of the world. It is axiomatic that the first thing, indispensable to even the progress of woman is the continuance of the human species."

INCENDIARISM.
There is little room for doubt that Saturday night's disastrous fire and some of the smaller fires that have been terrifying the North End of the city recently have been the work of incendiaries. The indications are that three or more men are mixed-up in the devilish business. Their motive is incomprehensible, as in almost every case the fires have been started in the poorer districts, where there was no chance of plunder and great danger of loss of life.

The alarm which the suspicion of incendiariism had aroused has been greatly increased by its practical confirmation, and it is the responsibility of the city officials to immediately allay that alarm. The temporary increase of the night police patrol might be of some effect, though to be preventative the guards would have to equal in number the matter is possessed by some means of securing evidence which should be immediately resorted to in the offer of a substantial reward. If more than one are actually concerned in the starting of the fires, as seems probable, it is fairly certain that knowledge concerning the matter is possessed by some one directly connected with the crime, with whom the hope of largely increased finances might have influence.

According to the Star of Saturday Lord Minto's successor to the governor-generalship of Canada was to be Henry, third Lord Grey, who was born in 1802, and died after a distinguished career, in 1884. Probably the noble lord, were he properly embalmed, would fill the position with as much dignity and usefulness as any who could be selected, but, disappointingly for those who would like to see the experiment, the Star was told that he was just opening it. As it swung back the venerable warden asked the name of the new arrival, and proceeded to look up his record in a great book. Then he said "Enter."

The Marylander hesitated. He looked all around him and straightened his head, but he did not advance toward the open gate.
"Way do you hesitate?" asked the warden.
"Well, I hope it's all right," said the other fellow slowly, "but I do wish I could have a word with Gorman before taking so important a step."

FIREBUGS AGAIN AT WORK.

Disastrous and Dangerous Fire on Mill Street—Men Seen Setting Fire to Barn.

The police and firemen are well satisfied that there is a gang of fire bugs at work, and their successful operations in the vicinity of York Point lately culminated Saturday night in the greatest triumph of all, when they destroyed five large buildings on east side of Mill street, entailing a loss in real estate and personal property of fully $25,000.

The places burned are: Miss McCarthy, milliner, insurance. Duncan Brown, shoemaker, partially covered. Edward Corbett, flat rented, none. George Friars, flat rented, none. Edward J. Healt, Hygienic bakery, $2,500. Fook Wah, Oriental store, none. Robt. J. Jenkins, confectionery, none. Charles Brager & Son, ladies' clothing, none. Wong Sam, laundry, none. Peter Ward, residence, $1,000. Arthur Martin, flat rented, none. J. F. Martin, flat rented, none. James Quinn, tavern and flat, none. Robert Moore, flat, none.

THE FIRE'S ORIGIN.
It was nearly nine o'clock when the alarm was sent in by Policeman William White. Some say the fire was discovered in the partition of wall of James Quinn's barn, to the rear of Quinn's house, situated in the centre of the burned district, while others say it started in the washman's place. Access to these properties is gained by a large alley, running from Paradise row, next to the Mission Church school, to the I. C. R. tracks in front of the elevator. Several people were present when the flames were first seen. When they gave the alarm the Quinn barn was completely filled with smoke, making it impossible to ascertain exactly how the fire commenced, and when the large door was burst in the draught thus created so increased the fury of the flames that investigation was entirely out of the question. Taking the buildings on the fire-swept side of the street, the fire spread in the following order: The Central Store was not damaged by the fire, but the stock resulted in water, although about all the stock was collected and piled up, ready to be moved out a minute later. The next building, at No. 124, which is owned by David Corkery, got a bad scorched, although it was not damaged. The lower floor was occupied by Michael T. Cohan, as a tailor shop. He succeeded in getting out his stock, which was only slightly damaged. Mr. Cohan carried $100 insurance. I. Komensky with his family lived in the two upper floors, and also kept lodgers. He met with considerable loss to his furniture and household effects, which he lost in the fire. Every direction, in the frantic attempts to save them from the flames. He had no insurance.

The building adjoining this one, which is also owned by David Corkery, was badly gutted by the fire. The water, on the ground floor, was situated the store of Miss Hannah A. McCarthy, milliner, which was completely destroyed, and the shoe store of D. Brown. Most of Miss McCarthy's stock, however, was taken out and put up in the street, and the shop of Charles O'Hara, her brother-in-law. Miss McCarthy said yesterday morning that the fire was started by the flames, and was not in a position to say just how much, or to what extent she had suffered. Brown's store was also flooded, but little damage was done by fire. The partition at the back was burned and several windows were broken. The rest of the damage both to stock and store resulting from water. Brown's store was not a very large one, was mostly saved.

Over these stores lived three families, George A. Friars, millman; Mrs. Sarah Friars, widow of the late Daber Friars, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Corbett. They all succeeded in getting out and the damage to their stock resulted chiefly from the smoke and water.

HYGIENIC BAKERY.
The real damage began at the Hygienic bakery, No. 124 to 128, where all that is left of that thriving industry is a mass of charred and blackened ruins. The whole plant, buildings, machinery, ovens and all were swept by the flames, and in a very few minutes from the time it caught the building was a total wreck. E. J. Healt, the proprietor, who lived upstairs over the bakery, is an Englishman and has been here for some years. Mr. Healt's three little children were saved with difficulty, being taken out in their night clothes. He had $2,500 insurance, but his loss is bad blow. Above these stores were flats occupied by two brothers, Joe and Arthur Mar-

POOK WAH.
Pook Wah, a Chinaman who ran an Oriental store, next to the Hygienic Bakery, was probably the worst sufferer of the fire. His loss is something like $5,000 without one cent of insurance. Only Saturday he had received a new lot of goods, consisting of oriental trinkets, direct from China, which he paid freight and duty to the amount of over $200. Pook Wah, who lived in a room over his store, feels his loss very keenly, and Sunday morning could be seen digging in the ruins for any remains of his own box which contained $250 in gold and bills. He succeeded in finding a roll of charred bills, which will probably be re-stored. The rest of his wealth was in stock. The next place visited by the flames was the clothing store of C. Brager & Son, in the building owned by Peter Ward. The firm had no insurance whatever and did not succeed in saving anything. They estimate their loss at $2,500. On the same flat was a Chinese laundry which was the Sam Wah stand, where the first Chinese laundry ever in St. John was situated. The present laundry is the Sam Wah stand, and there was no insurance. Considerable laundry belonging to private parties was destroyed. Above these stores were flats occupied by two brothers, Joe and Arthur Mar-

THORNE BROS., 93 KING STREET

SCOTTISH YARNS.

Of Garracladen House, a few miles from Glasgow, a story is told and generally believed to be true. A former proprietor, of boundless hospitality, was entertaining a large party of boon companions. The party was prolonged far into the morning, when one of the company, pointing to the laird at the head of the table, said to his neighbor,
"Iana Garracladen looking unco gash!"
"What is Garracladen doing?" "Yes, he's deaf," was the reply, "he has been with his maker for the last two hours." "What is Garracladen doing?" "Yes, he's deaf; I saw him die, but I didn't like to speak about it for fear of spoiling the company." One Alexander, manager of a Glasgow theatre, who was also a very bad actor, when he had become an old man was playing the part of Romeo one night, the Juliet being a young girl.
After availing of the poison he was lying dead, when the grotesqueness of the situation evoked applause from the gallery. Albeit (the name by which he was universally known) felt this was meant for mockery. Rising to stage and said: "You think I can't play Romeo. I have played it before" (mentioning some people of distinction) "and I shall play it again." He then laid down and died a second time.
A Scottish singer named Wilson was being trained for professional singing.
One day he sang a love song with exquisite quality of voice, but with insufficient passion and expression. His teacher told him he must put more feeling into it and sing as if he were really in love. "Oh, man," he replied,

"I can't do that and me a married man!"

BEER LICENSES.

Beer licenses are now being issued from the office of the liquor license inspector, J. B. Jones, but are not being too easily sought after. In consequence of the rush for liquor saloon licenses, it was found impossible to have the beer license ready on time, but they are now awaiting those who are in that business.
The percentage of alcohol allowed in soft beers has been fixed at 3 per cent, and all dealers are cautioned against handling any beverages with a greater percentage.
It is expected that about 150 licenses will be taken out.

POLICE REPORTS.

Sunday night a peddler was secured from the police to fasten the door of Wm. Caples' saloon, Water street.
The door of No. 7 Canterbury was found open Sunday night, as was the door of James Tully's warehouse, off Church street, on Saturday night.
Lewie's blacksmith shop door was also found open.
A box of fish found on Ward street can be had by the owner applying to the police.
A hat found on Main street awaits an owner at the North End police station.
