TRAFFIC LESS THAN LAST YEAR

October, Feb. 17.—In the house of Commons yesterday, in reply to a question from Mr. Emmerson as to reasons for discontinuing the Ocean Limited, hon. Frank Cochrane stated that the train had been run last year throughout the winter at a very great loss. The traffic was less this year than last and therefore the department had come to the conclusion that it was not in the interests of the road to run the train. Moreover, the I. C. R. was short of rolling stock and if the Ocean Limited were continued throughout the winter, there would be no opportunity to clean up and put the cars in good condition for next year's traffic. In reference to other trains, the Minister indicated that he would take of his Southern Empire between Windsor and Halifax and the express between Halifax and Bedford, leaving passenger running on these lines. One train would be taken off between St. John and Hampton. One train between Point du Chene and Falmouth. One train between Campbellton and St. Flavie. One train between Fredericton and Moncton. One train between St. John and Dartmouth.

In an editorial note the Transcript says:—

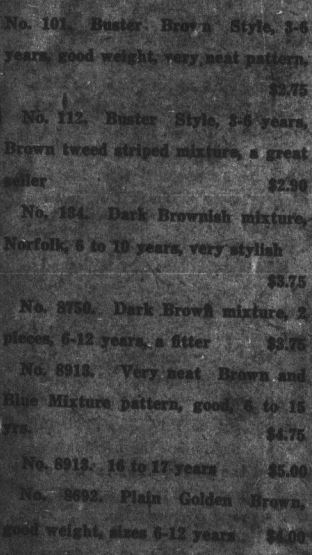

Mr. Cochrane, as Minister of Railways, ought to have the sincerest sympathy of the general public. Above all, he announces that one train will be taken off between Paisley and Pontefract, but that it will be taken off at Chesham, but as a matter of fact, two were put on on Monday. Who is running the railway anyway, Mr. Gutelius or Mr. Cochrane? Neither one of them seems to know much about it.

consistent men, throughout all their careers. Marysville were defeated by Chatham on Tuesday night, by 3 to 2, and Frederick defeated Chatham last night by 4 to 0.

There is no better rink in the province than our own for this decisive game and we would have the assurance of a square deal if the game were pulled off here. If, however, the game has to be played on neutral ice, and it happens to our lot to journey to Fredrickton, the Vics would be well advised to take over a detachment of the 73rd Regt., lest more of their goods would be stolen as was the case with their sweaters on the occasion of their last visit.

We're looking after the little fellows in requirements this season with a most immense range of suits.

Here are a few prices:

There are a few to convey a slight idea of the unusually large equipment we have to handle in the big question this season. We have suits, all regular sizes and prices, $2.75, 3.75, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.50, 9.00 and 9.00, in the selling shades.

Campbellton therefore, won the trophy game. The play was thus:

In addition to this a long article has appeared in the Frederickian Gleaner, making many malicious and false representations regarding Campbellton, all of which has appeared in print because Frederickian with its team of "bullies and bums" were not able to defeat Campbellton at Hockey, and have made a show of themselves by the poorest display of sportsmanship ever yet exhibited.

Apart from the hockey stand point, the articles are reflections on the town of Campbellton which no citizen will allow to go unchallenged. It is not only a reflection on the town, but on its hospitality and sportsmanship. Campbellton stands at a very high place, whether it be in hockey, baseball, curling or any other sport, and no stranger who conducts himself in a fitting manner has ever been denied the hospitality of our hotels and private homes. It is well-known that because of their atrocious conduct which they have committed in the public press, they were refused the hospitality of our hotels, and it fills the persons of their stamp who showed their inability to grasp even the first principles of common decency, to throw stones on a town which stands pre-eminent in the world of sport along the North Shore.

With regard to their statement "that the police on duty at the lock-up was asleep", we are informed by the department that the policeman went out at 5 in the morning and was not there when they said they tried to get in the jail, but could not make the officer on duty. It was a pity that Mr. S. W. Dimock was out of town or he would have assuredly arranged to give them lodgings when they broke his plate glass show-case, this no doubt would have been in the new cells of the police station, which yet might be their lot, as we understand Mr. Dimock has laid information against the redemption team for malicious damage and to doubt more will be heard of it.

THE LATEST STATEMENT OF THE MINISTERS

The latest piece of business that could ever emanate from people calling themselves hockey sports, and does more harm to themselves than to our boys here, who are known to be about the best aggregation of hockeyists who have ever travelled the North Shore.

TWO-HOURS MAZE OF WONDERFUL PICTUREST

FARMER'S WIFE ALMOST A WRECK

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Own Story.

London, Ont.—"I am a farmer's wife and a very busy woman. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back so bad that I could not get up or scarcely move without pain, and my periods were painful. My husband called in a good doctor and I was under his care for some time, but he did me little or no good.

One day a friend of mine told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had been greatly helped by it. I began taking it and soon got well, and my periods became natural again. Since then I have had perfect health. In fact I have never felt so well in my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine many women need. If you think this letter will help other women please publish it."

—Mrs. K. C. Young, Tambling's Corner, London, Ontario, Canada.

Women who suffer from those distressing ailments peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

PENALTIES AND COSTS AMOUNTING TO $65,000

London, Feb. 16.—Sir Stuart Mountague Samuel, Radical member of parliament for Whitechapel, was today ordered by Justice Sir Sydney Rowlatt of the King's Bench Division, to pay penalties and costs, amounting to $65,000, because he voted in the House of Commons while his firm had a contract to be paid to Dr. William Bird as a common informer.

This was the third suit brought against Sir Stuart Samuel under the law which gives any informer the right to claim penalties under similar circumstances. The first two suits against Stuart Samuel, who is one of the leading bankers, was compelled to vacate his seat in parliament by order of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council last year, because the firm to which he belonged had become purchasers of silver for the Indian government. The act of parliament, under whose terms he was condemned, says that a member of the House of Commons may not be even indirectly interested in such a transaction or any government contracts. After vacating his seat in parliament Sir Stuart Samuel was re-elected. He today gave notice of appeal from the judge's decision.

JACQUET RIVER.

Death has again visited our community and snatched away one of our very old residents, Mr. John King of Archibald Settlement, who was in his 86th year. He is survived by one brother Hugh of Sumas, Washington. The funeral was largely attended, interment taking place at Jacquet River.

Death of Well-Known Locomotive Engineer at Moncton on Monday Morning

Moncton, Feb. 16.—The death of Joseph McGuggan, the well-known I. C. R. locomotive engineer, occurred at his home in Moncton this morning. Deceased was a native of Ireland and about fifty-eight years of age. He entered the employ of the I. C. R. in April, 1876 (and was promoted to locomotive engineer in 1884). During the last three years he has been running on the C. P. R. express between Moncton and St. John. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Nellie McKenna, of Guelph, Ont., and is also survived by three brothers. Members of the local division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had made up a purse of some hundreds of dollars to be presented to him, within a few days had not death intervened.

MARITIME LATE

The Maritime express was 40 minutes and ten minutes late last Thursday arriving here from Campbellton at 2:35 last night. The official reason given for the delay is that other trains were stuck in the snow near St. Moise, Quebec, and this blocked the main line for some hours. The angles bringing the train down from St. Flavie to Campbellton also broke down at Millstream, and some more time was lost while the regular Campbellton to Moncton engine of the Maritime ran tender first the twenty-three miles back to Millstream to pick up the train.—Transcript.

Here is a message of love and good cheer from Mrs. C. J. Martin, Rose Mill, Va., who is the mother of eight children. Mrs. Martin was cured of stomach trouble and constipation by Chamberlain's Tablets after five years of suffering, and now recommends them to all who are troubled by all ailments.

DRINK HABIT
Dr. Richardson, Leading Alcohol Expert of the World, Says It Can Be Cured In Three Days

Dr. Richardson, in his Treatise on the Liquor Habit, says: "While the older methods for the Liquor Habit took one to three months or more, and were not satisfactory, the Gatlin is a scientific treatment which accomplishes this result in just three days. This is harmless, as even a child can take it, and there is not even one case on record where it has failed to cure. They have 67 institutes and have effected over 100,000 cures."

Not only is the poisonous alcohol taken from the system, and an abstinence given for all strong drink, but health and strength are soon restored, nerves steadied, sleep and appetite regained, and a man becomes a master of himself.

The Gatlin Institute has nothing whatever to do with any other Cure for the Liquor Habit, whether 3 Day Cure, or longer period, whatever.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE HAS TO CLIMB DOWN
Sends Commission to Canada to Agree Upon Bisle Conditions

London, Feb. 11.—The speech of Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, minister of Militia, last week regarding the new regulations issued by the army council excluding the use of aperture sights at Bisle, it is believed, has proved effective. The War Office is said to be moving in the matter as to the utility of sending a War Office official to Canada to discuss the whole matter.

They recognize that for Canadians to compete with sights they never used would be an unfair handicap on them. On the other hand they argue it would be equally unfair to permit them to use a kind of sight that was forbidden to others.

Although debarred from using the aperture sight in territorial competitions, Canadians would probably derive compensating advantage in the competitions "open to all comers."

McLELLAN CUP STAYS AT BATHURST
Fine Curling at Bathurst Rink Wednesday Afternoon and Evening.

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
Bathurst's first matches in defence of the McLellan Cup were played Wednesday afternoon and evening against three rinks of the pick of the Campbellton Curlers.

In the afternoon Skip Mackay outplayed his opponent Skip Wilson in fine style, rolling up a lead of ten points, which came in very conveniently when it turned out that both Bathurst rinks playing at night lost to their rivals by small scores. A great crowd thronged the rink both afternoon and evening, and the excitement continued intense to the very last end. Taken all through, the games were as fine an exhibition of the game as one could wish for. Skip McKendrick started well, having a lead of nine points at the fifth end, but Thibideau started to score at the sixth, and when the 18th end was played, the score stood even with thirteen to the credit of each rink. Luck seemed to be against Thibideau, and his men, for McKendrick got the 17th end with a count of one, and closed the 18th with an additional score of two. On the other side, Skip McIntosh made a good start, holding a good lead until the eighth end. Then Veteran Wran found the ice in good shape, and gradually crept up, finishing with seven-teen to McIntosh's sixteen.

The rinks were as follows:
CAMPBELLTON
F. E. Lockhart,
G. F. Miles,
J. P. Jardine,
J. H. Wilson, Skip, 13

E. A. LeGallais,
H. G. Millican,

SEVERAL CHANGES IN BRITISH CABINET SOON
Postmaster General Samuel to Succeed John Burns

London, Feb. 11.—Several changes in the cabinet are foreshadowed today by the Daily Chronicle and Daily News. It is stated that John Burns is to be transferred to the Board of Trade, in succession to Sydney Buxton, who has been chosen, though no official announcement has yet been made, for the governor generalship of South Africa.

Herbert Samuel will retire from the post office to succeed John Burns at the Local Government Board, a department which is increasing in importance.

Mr. Samuel will be succeeded by Mr. Hobhouse, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

It is uncertain whether Mr. C. F. Masterman will be appointed to succeed Mr. Hobhouse.

By leaving the Board of Trade, Sydney Buxton will exchange a salary of £5,000 for one of £10,000. John Burns, by succeeding Mr. Buxton, receives no financial benefit, but Mr. Samuel by stepping into the vacancy at the Local Government Board, will get £5,000 instead of £2,500.

U. N. B. LADIES CAN PLAY HOCKEY

Beat Team of Campbellton Girls In Good Game By One Goal

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 13.—Campbellton ladies hockey team played the University of New Brunswick ladies team here last night and was beaten 1 to 0. The game was close throughout, U. N. B. ladies scored their only goal in the first period. During the balance of the game the defence of both teams was so good that there was no further scoring. A fair sized crowd saw the game. The Campbellton ladies outskated the College girls in the second and third periods and played better combination but could not score.

The teams were as follows:—
U. N. B. Campbellton.
Goal Miss Townsend
Point Miss Thurrott
Cover Miss McLennan
Miss Bliss
Rover Miss Nelson
Miss Crockett
Miss Palmer
Miss Anderson
Miss I. Murray
Miss C. Coleman
Referee, S. L. C. Coleman.

The Campbellton girls report having a most enjoyable time, and were handicapped by the College girls. The Campbellton Ladies scored one goal, but as the whistle had gone to banish a college "man" to the penalty bench they were done out their goal.

Messrs. W. G. Fenwick and J. G. Gumm, speeches were made by the visiting ships and a few good natured remarks by the Bathurst ships.

Your Oven Gains by Our Oven Test

Your oven becomes a certain producer of more bread and better bread. We can promise that. For from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. We grind it into flour. We bake the flour into bread. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it.

There is no guess-work about our promise of more bread and better bread from flour bearing this name.

WIRELESS PHONE. EXPERIMENTS GOOD
Commercial Installation Will Be Available Soon

New York, Feb. 11.—A London cable to the New York Times says: "The result of William Marconi's wireless telephony experiments are sufficiently encouraging," says the Times, "to warrant the belief that commercial installations will be available immediately. The first commercial installations will be on board ships, and Mr. Marconi hopes that some of these may be working within the next month or two. It is possible that the new Cunard line Aquitania, which will make her maiden voyage in June and which will be equipped with a wireless installation that will render possible constant communication with Great Britain and America, will also be fitted for wireless telephonic communication with other ships.

Should it be possible, even with the existing apparatus, to obtain a wireless telephone range at night or 200 or 300 miles, Mr. Marconi expresses the opinion that the apparatus at present available will limit the use of wireless telephony to communication between ships and between ships and shore, and in other cases where the advantage of speech over signals is clearly recognized.

For ordinary commercial work, wireless telegraphy will still, it is said, give better service. Attention has been given recently to increasing speed of transmission, and its tests between Chelmsford and Clifden a speed of 120 words a minute was attained. Wireless telephony cannot under the existing conditions, excel this rate of transmission."

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of your little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

DAMAGES FOR DEATH BY STRANGE MISHAP

New York, Feb. 17.—The tip of an open umbrella in the hands of William H. Heuscher touched a low-hanging electric lamp one night while he was walking through the rain to his home in Jamaica, L. I., and Heuscher was shocked to death by the current which passed down the steel umbrella rod. The New York and Queen's Electric Light & Power Company contended that Heuscher's death was due to his own carelessness, but a jury decided otherwise and awarded $7,000 damages to Heuscher's widow.

OBITUARY

The death of John Beckingham in his 87th year of his age, occurred at his home, Shannonvale, on Friday, the deceased was a native of Prince Edward Island, but he removed here some fifty years ago. Mr. Beckingham leaves to mourn a widow, one son Stewart of Eel River, and four daughters, Mrs. David McGarvie, Shannonvale, Mrs. John Windsor, Nigadoo, Mrs. James Hamilton, Eel River, and Mrs. Chas. McDonald, Vancouver, B.C.

JOHN J. FRASER

The death of John J. Fraser of Matapedia, took place, at his late residence on the 3rd of February 1914, at the age of 72 years. The funeral service was held at his late home, and was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Jenner, pastor of the Campbellton Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Matapedia. The pall-bearers were John Wyers, Harvey Calder, Geo. Stiles, Alex. Calder, Robert Babcock and Richard Aylett. Deceased left to mourn their loss, three sons and four daughters, besides one brother, David Fraser of this place. The sons are: John D. of Tide Head, N. B., Charles of Wisconsin, U. S., and Alex. at home. The daughters are Mrs. Wellington Dakins of Winnipeg; Mrs. Harvey Calder of Campbellton, N. B., Mrs. Robert Babcock of Runnymede, P. Q., and Viola at home.

The late Mr. Fraser was a son of the late Alex. Fraser, was born at Guyaroc, N. S., and came to the Estigouche with his parents when he was three years old, and has lived here ever since. He was quite a successful lumberman and farmer. He was a constant member of the Campbellton Baptist church, and contributed freely thereto. Deceased was well known in this part of the country, and his death will be deplored by his many friends.

three in the lead. The evening score was a tie.
The evening play was witnessed by a large number of local and visiting curlers and interested spectators. Much interest was manifested as Chatham had a big lead on one side, while Campbellton had a corresponding lead on the other, both rinks finishing with the same score 18 to 7. On the final and in the Snowball-Mowatt contest it looked as though the local club would win, as skip Snowball was laying throughout Skip Mowatt's last stone cut out Chatham's shot, which was unguarded, and won the North Shore Cup for Campbellton.

President Mowatt was immediately seized by Campbellton admirers and bounced amid the cheers of the crowd.

On Thursday night, after the games were over, the visiting curlers were entertained at supper by the Chatham Club in the Hotel Touraine. Everything was arranged in first class style, and the members of the different clubs spent a very pleasant time together until early in the morning. Mayor Burns, the President of the North Shore Curling Association, made a fine speech in answer to the toast proposed to that organization.

The supper was served in courses, including chicken soup, fresh salmon, boiled ham, mayonnaise of chicken, roast turkey, vegetables, pastry, ice cream, tea and coffee.

The Campbellton curlers celebrated the victory after the game and until an early hour Saturday morning, the Touraine Hotel rang with song and jest.

It was decided while on the Miramichi, to play a friendly game with the Newcastle curlers, and the curlers drove up to Newcastle, Saturday morning, playing afternoon and evening, being beaten by the Newcastle curlers. After the games, the visitors were entertained at the Miramichi to a substantial luncheon, after which they took the belated Maritime express, arriving home at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, tired out, but all voting it the best trip of their curling experience.

CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL

The Children's Carnival held last Saturday was a most interesting affair for the young folks. Many pretty costumes were seen on the ice, and a good crowd of spectators were present. The prize winners were Miss Mary McNichol as "Queen of the Roses", Master Francis Matheson as "Perriot", Eddie St. Onge as Victoria Hockey Club. The judges were Mrs. H. C. Sprague, Messrs. J. E. Doiron, M. E. Keith and R. L. Sullivan.

BOYS' HOCKEY CLUB

The Campbellton Boys' Club played a return game at Dalhousie on Saturday last, and won by a score of 5-2. The game was one of the most exciting ever played in Dalhousie. In the first period, McNeill scored for Dalhousie. Then Burgess for Campbellton scored on a long shot from centre line. Thomas scored twice in succession for Campbellton, and P. Brown once for Dalhousie. Second Period: Henderson scored and then Burgess. In this period P. Brown received a bad cut over the left eye and had to retire from the game.

The Sable Lorcha

By Horace Hazeltin

"It she suspected eavesdroppers," the girl argued, "she said too much. If she didn't fear being overheard, why couldn't she tell us all she knew?"

For want of a better answer I said: "Perhaps the letter will solve the enigma," and plucking it from my pocket with thumb and forefinger I began carefully to unfold it.

The interior of the vehicle was brilliantly alight, and though we were already far beyond the Chateau, some and the chance observation of any lurking spies, I nevertheless chose discreetly to draw the shades prior to outspreading the written page.

Before the sheet with its network of crosses was quite fattened, Evelyn, who was bending attentively near, exclaimed in surprise, "It is her own handwriting! See, it is written by Miss Clement herself!"

Already absorbed, I made no response. Aridly my eyes were racing over the lines; speedily, my brain was digesting them.

"Findings of the cruel murder of Ling Po have just reached me. When you see, as I know you will, I shall not dare to speak what I have written, and which is all that the poor boy ever told me. Already there are spies about me, and your visit is a risk to us both. I would have prevented it, if I could."

"Three weeks ago, according to Ling Po, a white man was abducted by order of the Six Companies, and shipped as China for punishment, aboard a tramp steamer. Ling Po would not give me the white man's name or any of the particulars, save that sixteen years ago he had committed a crime, known to every Chinaman in America as 'The Crime of the Sable Lorcha,' or 'Black funeral ship,' by which nearly one hundred Chinese coolies lost their lives."

"It seems now that this man, who they thought was on the ocean, suddenly reappeared in New York, a few nights ago. He was recognized and set upon by two Chinamen, but he escaped, and the Six Companies and all the tongs are in a ferment over the mystery."

Evelyn's hand was on my arm as I read, her face close to mine, reading with me. Having finished, I held the sheet for a moment, waiting for her to signify that she, too, had reached the end. And in that moment the brown skin came to a sudden halt. Before either of us could voice a word the door on my side was wrenched violently open, and the blue steel muzzle of a revolver covered me.

CHAPTER XXI.

When the Doors Parted.

What immediately followed must have occupied a second or two at most. Yet it seemed to me that for many minutes I sat mute and motionless, staring at the leveled weapon and at the rude black mask behind it; for my brain was superactive and my thoughts were racing.

Instantly comprehended all that had happened, and the situation, climaxing in our peril, was as clear to me as though I had witnessed the whole chain of events from inception to final execution. The assassination of Ling Po was to be succeeded by the abduction, perhaps the murder, of Evelyn and myself. Already while we were conversing with Miss Clement our driver had been spirited from the box and one of the enemy mounted in his place. In the rush of my recollection I recalled that in hurrying Evelyn into the brougham, anxious to be started, and away, I had not cast even a glance as a glance towards the man in front. At first, in our absorption, and late behind lowered silken shades, we had made no effort to trace our course. Our present location was mind-deniably unguessable. We might be far on the East side or far on the West, or we might merely have circled back to within a block or less of the Mission from which we started.

All this, I say, flashed through my brain with inconceivable swiftness as I sat rigid, with eyes on the revolver barrel and the masked face of the shadowy, sinister creature that held it. All this, and more. For in that brief space I considered one possible course of action after another, groping desperately for a plan of rescue and escape.

In that passing second or two there had been no sound—no word from him at the door; no whisper even from her at my side, who, like myself, sat dumb and inert, stricken to stone by the suddenness of the attack. But for a second or two only this silence and inertia lasted.

That which ensued was coincident. As though the step had been prearranged, the three actors moved in concert. The hand which held the weapon advanced a dozen inches or more. Simultaneously my foot, lifted with all the accuracy and power of my undergraduate football days, met the intruding revolver and sent it spinning against the vehicle's upholstered top. Simultaneously, Evelyn screamed, and even as her voice rang out, high and shrill; even as that lethal object of shell-hardened steel spun upward, the light was switched suddenly off and we were in profound darkness.

It was she who, pressing the button at her side, had dropped over us this mantle of invisibility no less obscuring than the fabled Hel Kephlay; and it was she, too, who now opened the other door of the brougham, and with a murmured: "Come! Hurry!" drew me after her into the dread uncertainty of an environment of which we knew nothing.

The gloom without was scarcely less thick than that within. Of my five senses, therefore, all keenly alert, that or sight told me nothing; but my ears and nostrils, alert and abetted by my perception of sudden planking beneath my feet, informed me that we had alighted in a stable. The sound of pounding hoofs echoed from near by stalls and unmistakable equine odors were strongly pervasive.

Upon my hearing there fell, too, as we fed, the high-pitched nasal cackle of excited and perplexed celestials, whose eyes, dazzled by the brougham's lamps, failed to follow us into that obscurity which lay in the wake of the conveyance, and through which, hand in hand, Evelyn and I crept crouchingly toward the street, our hearts hammering but our breathing smothered lest it betray our whereabouts and precipitate pursuit.

If in our fond fancy we expected an unimpeded way, however, our expectations were not realized. Where the darkness was densest there rose an obstruction. From out of the black a pair of arms sprang up—a pair of arms, long, sinewy and muscular, which tightened about me with a sudden vice-like pressure, holding me powerless. My hold of Evelyn's hand was a vain thing, and she, too, was seized. She could not see, she sensed the encounter. Once more she screamed. High and shrill her young voice rose above the noise of the stamping horses and the quality of the chattering of the confused Mongolians. It was not so much a mere cry of fright as it was an appeal for help. And it met with surprisingly prompt response.

Before its echo had died, the double sinewy arms which separated me from the stable dungeon, from the sidewalk were swept swiftly apart, admitting the revealing gleam from a street lamp across the way, and admitting, too, the husky, commanding figure of a white man, who, followed by a mob of neighborhood denizens attracted by the unusual and excited by the girl's penetrating vociferation. Quickly as I had been seized, even more quickly was I released. The encircling arms, snatching me up, and the ghost who had held me turned with an oath of defiance and confronted the invaders. In both oath and attitude there was a reminder of something heard and seen before; and treading of reminder of reminder came recognition. It was Philletus Murphy, red and burly, who now towered menacingly above our armed savior. It was Philletus Murphy who, swinging violently for his adversary's jaw, staggered back the same instant, his arm dropping and a bullet in his shoulder.

For a moment following the shot there was dead silence. Then came pandemonium. The mob, already augmented from a score to a hundred, surged into the stable as a spring flood surges over broken dams. With Evelyn in a corner behind me I fought off the crowding, bellowing throng, while Murphy lay groaning at my feet, and his assailant, who, when once his face met the light, I discovered was O'Hara, my own detective, smashed heads right and left with the butt of his revolver, and hoarsely commanded room for his fallen enemy.

What might have happened, what fatalities might have ensued, had it not been for the fortuitous arrival of three uniformed members of the metropolitan police force I shall not attempt to conjecture. Their clubs, I know, did good service; and a shot or two fired over the heads of the rioting crowd had a wonderfully pacifying effect.

Poor Evelyn, in spite of an heroically stubborn insistence to be courageous, was as thoroughly frightened as I have ever seen her. When, at length, the stable was cleared, and lamps were lighted, she was still pale as marble, and her lip quivered with an obstinacy that no restraining teeth nor hiding hand could disguise. "Oh! Wasn't it exciting!" she exclaimed, with an effort at nonchalance that was almost pathetic. "I wouldn't have missed this experience for anything in the world." And then, discovering a little trickle of blood on my cheek, which a dimly piled handkerchief had not fully succeeded in keeping out of sight, she was at once all solicitude. "Oh! Philip!" she cried, with wide eyes, swimming. "You're hurt! It was awful. It was beastly! I wish we had never dared. Who did it? Do you know? Was it a knife cut? Was it?" And so she rattled on, her own life swallowed up at length in her anxiety over my insignificant injury.

I OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

They Did Me More Good Than All Other Treatments Combined

Mrs. H. S. Williams

PALMERSTON, ONT., June 20th, 1913.

"I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors' bills. I was so sick and worn out that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuance of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me. Today, I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, 'I am taking Fruit-a-tives'. He said, 'Well, if 'Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can'."

Mrs. H. S. WILLIAMS.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all druggists at 50c a box, 5 for $2.50. Trial size 25c. Current catalogue of prices by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CONSERVATION REPORT

The following is an extract from the report of the Canadian Conservation Commission, 1912. Mr. Jones, the Commissioner's Fur Expert said:

Before receiving my present assignment from the Commission, I had been in correspondence with Mr. Vladimir Genereoff, an agent in the United States of the Russian Department of Agriculture, whose Government was interested in fur farming. Later, after receiving this appointment, permission was obtained from the Secretary to assist Mr. Genereoff with all possible information of our work in this line. Mr. Genereoff arrived in September and was greatly impressed. His full report has not yet been reported to his government, but his preliminary report, sent in at once, is believed to have resulted in the sale of six pairs of Prince Edward Island Silver Foxes of the 1913 litter. The extension of the market for breeding foxes into Russia will probably result in more sales of breeding stock at satisfactory prices and bring considerable wealth to Canadian producers.

A great change has taken place in the fur trade during the past twenty years. There is a tremendous increase in the demand for all furs and a large decrease in the supply of high priced furs. It is probable that certain species will never sell as cheap again and that others, such as skunk, muskrat and mink, considered of little value ten years ago, will remain permanently valuable. With the remotest hunting ground of the earth exploited by trappers, something must be done to increase the quantity of fur, or, stated in another way, the rising prices of certain skins make the discovery of methods of breeding a practical problem. Few, if any, of the fur-bearers, except silver fox, would have been remunerative if bred in confinement twenty years ago; but if the advance in prices continues, almost every Canadian fur-bearer will soon pay for its keep.

In 1910, the Silver or Black Fox was first sold for breeding purposes to the general public, when prices of $3,000 to $4,000 a pair were received, or an amount about equal to their skin value. In 1911 the prices rose to $5,000 a pair, and in 1912 the range was from $3,000 to $12,000. All these quotations are for September, October, and November delivery of unproved breeders. In the winter of 1912, one pair of proved breeders was sold to an association for $20,000, and the offspring of this pair of proved breeders was sold in September, 1912, for $20,000. At the present time, several companies are freely selling stock in selected breeding boxes capitalised at from $25,000 to $31,000 a pair.

Again, stated in general terms, fur has become scarce because less is produced and more is used than ever before. The remarkable increase in the demand for costly furs in the past twenty years is due to a combination of causes. The population is growing. The relative number of people in the wealthy classes is increasing. The habits of travelling extensively and living in metropolitan centres are rapidly increasing. Commerce and more efficient salesmanship have introduced furs all over the world so that their summers and more are multiplied. Dame Fashion, whose influence is predominant everywhere, is responsible for the very heavy demand for certain kinds and only the best and rarest are in favor with her. Then, too, are growing cities, which multiply the opportunities for gatherings, and, of course, especially of the well-to-do classes, engender competitive habits of choosing personal adornment.

The growing use of the automobile and the more general habit of living out of doors, have made furs almost a necessity. In America alone the value of automobiles is now over 1800 million dollars, and a proper equipment for the luxurious vehicles and their occupants necessitates the use of many millions of dollars worth of furs. Better roads, more extensive travel and cheaper automobiles are important factors in determining the growing demand for furs and pelts generally.

10 CENT "CASCARETS"
IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Bloating Sides and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is terrible and nauseating. A Cascares would give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

$3.00 THE EVERYMAN ENCYCLOPAEDIA $3.00 IN TWELVE VOLUMES

In producing this work, the Publishers have been influenced by a desire to add to the Reference Section of "Everyman's Library," a work which shall be specially adapted for the use of these readers, particular attention having been paid to literary subjects and historical data. All new and recent developments in Science, Arts, and Industries, together with those of Politics and all other branches of thought and action, are fully described in its pages.

The work will be published in Twelve Volumes, of about 640 pages each. The type has been specially arranged so that each page will contain about 900 words, and yet be clear and legible.

The format is uniform with that of "EVERYMAN'S LIBRARY," but the paper is especially opaque, and of a pure colour, which will have the effect of making the comparatively small type unusually clear.

This fine Encyclopaedia is just off the press, and is not a cheap reprint American edition as offered by other papers, but a genuine up-to-date work from the well known English publishing house of J. M. Dent & Co., London. We are offering a limited number to paid in advance Graphic subscribers at

Dusting, Cleaning and Polishing
All at One Time

THE old way to clean a hardwood floor was to dust it, then clean it, then oil and polish it. A half-day's task—lots of back-breaking work—and even then the result was not always satisfactory.

But the new way—with the O-Cedar Polish Mop—you dust, clean and polish all at once. Easy, quick and satisfactory. No stooping or bending. No hard rubbing. You simply pass the mop over the floor—all the dust and dirt is collected and held and the floor is given a hard, durable, lasting polish. A few minutes easy work and the result is always satisfactory.

O-Cedar Polish Mop

For cleaning and shining everywhere—not only the floors, but the tops of doors, the sides and bottoms, etc. Everywhere, all the hard-to-reach places. You don't have to move the beds and heavy furniture, you can reach under them easily, for the handle of the mop is 54 inches long.

Try It at Our Risk

The price of the O-Cedar Polish Mop is only $1.50, and every cent of that money will be refunded if, after two days' trial, you do not find it satisfactory in every respect. The money will be refunded in full, and the mop will be yours to keep.

A. L. ALEXANDER & SON,

GASPE NOW WANTS BETTER SERVICE

Trains on the Atlantic and Quebec Railways Have been tied up for Number of Days

Gaspé, Que., Feb. 12.—Much dissatisfaction is being felt locally and along the Baie des Chaleurs owing to the very irregular operation of the Atlantic, Quebec & Western railway during the past week. On Saturday the 7th there was a small snowfall of about five or six inches, but this was sufficient to delay the Saturday night train five hours, and later things have become worse.

Most of the trouble is being experienced on account of the equipment with which the railway company is provided, the engines being old for the most part. It is very annoying to the travelling public to be held up in a few inches of snow for several hours at a time in a car with the mercury almost down to freezing point, and often not even a drink of water to be had on the car.

No train has reached here since Tuesday night and no mails have been delivered to the Intercolonial railway by this line since that time.

The last Montreal papers received here are dated Saturday, the 7th inst., and it is hinted that there may be a train through any day now.

A freight train has run off the track somewhere on the line, and that is now what is causing the delay. People here sincerely trust that favored people who are in touch with the outside world will earnestly pray that the government will soon see fit to take over this important railroad.

have not been encouraged and no facilities have been provided for them to learn their trade. I would urge upon my hon. friend the necessity for decentralizing the schools of navigation, so that our young men in the Maritime districts should be given a chance to become deep-sea captains as their fore-fathers were.

SCHOOLS PROMISED FOR NORTH SHORE

Matter Brought up in The House on Friday and Consideration is Promised

In the house of Commons on Friday the 12th inst. the matter of the supply for Ocean and River service, schools of navigation, and the need of such a school in the Baie des Chaleurs district was brought to the attention of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries by Messrs. Marcell Turgeon and Lemieux. During the course of the debate on the grant Mr. Marcell said:

I concur very heartily in the suggestions made by the hon. member for Guysborough, and would suggest that the minister apply them to the Baie des Chaleurs, around which there are five constituencies, Northumberland, Gloucester, West Gloucester, Bonaventure and Gaspé. In these constituencies no facilities are afforded to the young people to enable them to receive an education of this kind. In Gaspé and Bonaventure we are hundreds of miles from Quebec, St. John and Halifax. There are no facilities of any kind so far as instruction in navigation is concerned, and perhaps the Department of Marine and Fisheries might set a good example by making a start in navigation. We have a population consisting largely of seafaring men, and some educational facilities should be afforded them. During the long winter months in the Gaspé peninsula, aside from the lumbering operations, there is very little for the young people to do, and I am sorry to say that at present hundreds of them wander into the state of New York, the Ottawa River district, and elsewhere, to engage in lumbering. Those who do not go to the Ottawa River district go to the United States, and, in many cases, are lost to Canada. I submit that an opportunity is here afforded for the taking of steps by which these young persons may be kept at home and their time properly occupied during the winter months. A start might be made in one of the constituencies—say at Bonaventure River, in the constituency of Bonaventure, where we have a population of 2,500—by giving a course lasting, say, a month. The same might apply to Grand River, in the county of Gaspé, to Bathurst and to other points on the south shore of the Baie des Chaleurs. These points on the south shore are within easy access of St. John and Halifax, but such is not the case with points on the north shore. In winter the county of Gaspé is entirely deprived of railway communication, and only very difficult communication is afforded even with the county of Bonaventure. If the Minister came forward with a new departure in this respect it would meet with support from both sides of the House. I cheer in what the hon. member for Guysborough has said, and I hope the minister will apply his good intentions to the Baie des Chaleurs, and especially the north shore.

The thing has never been tried in the peninsula. Because it is so remote and difficult of access the conditions in the peninsula of Gaspé are quite different from those of the northern constituencies of Nova Scotia.

Mr. TURGEON: I would endorse what has been said by the hon. member for Bonaventure (Mr. Marcell) and by my hon. friend from Gloucester (Mr. Turgeon). I formerly represented one of the counties on the Baie des Chaleurs. The idea of my hon. friend to decentralize as much as possible the schools of navigation, is an excellent one. I remember, when I was member for the county of Gaspé, I used to receive every year a number of requests for passes over the Intercolonial railway for steamship companies, running down to Quebec, and some points on the coast of Gaspé, from sailors. These young men have to earn their daily bread and are not generally well off and when they have to travel quite a distance in order to try their examinations, they quit. And what is the result? From letters I have received this year from different priests in the county of Gaspé, I learn that this winter the parishes have been completely depleted of the young men. Their trail can be followed to the United States navy, or to the shanties in the state of Michigan, or the Upper Ottawa district, and many young men who go as sailors or to the lumbering camps, do not return. I have noticed that there is quite a colony of my old Gaspé electors in the city of Ottawa. I daresay there are almost 500 or 600 people here from the counties of Gaspé and Bonaventure. They have been lured by the city and they will not return to the deep sea fisheries.

The same thing might be said with regard to the city of Montreal and possibly the city of Quebec. In Montreal, in Gaspé street, Hochelaga ward, there are at least from 1,000 to 1,200 natives of Gaspé, and we can trace the preponderance of Gaspé electors in that ward to the fact that no facilities were provided at home to enable them to learn seafaring. They have been lured by the cities and have stayed in the cities. In the counties of Gaspé, Gloucester and Bonaventure, there is a large population of French-Canadians and Jersey fishermen. The old fishing establishments of Robit and Colas, and Le Bouthillier and Co. have for over a century sent their ships to Italy and Spain, where the Canadian fish trade used to flourish. Some thirty years ago the trade began to go in another direction, and they sent their fish to the West Indies and to South America. At that time we had on the Labrador coast, and in Gloucester county and in Gaspé, deep-sea captains who had travelled all over the world, but to-day it is only by accident we meet one. The reason for this is that the young men who are born sailors coast must be different. My hon. friend to go to Charlottetown to pass the examinations.

Mr. HAZEN: No, I was just explaining to my hon. friend that our policy now is to send the examiner to the point that would be most convenient, and that last year in order to enable a number of young men on the Miramichi to take their examination, we sent the examiner of masters and mates to Chatham where the examination was conducted. We intend to follow that policy in future. I agree with my hon. friend that it would be very unfair if young men from places like Bathurst and Dalhousie had to go to Prince Edward Island or to St. John to pass the examinations.

Mr. LEMIEUX: I wish to emphasize what has been so well said by my hon. friend from Bonaventure (Mr. Marcell) and by my hon. friend from Gloucester (Mr. Turgeon). I formerly represented one of the counties on the Baie des Chaleurs. The idea of my hon. friend to decentralize as much as possible the schools of navigation, is an excellent one. I remember, when I was member for the county of Gaspé, I used to receive every year a number of requests for passes over the Intercolonial railway for steamship companies, running down to Quebec, and some points on the coast of Gaspé, from sailors. These young men have to earn their daily bread and are not generally well off and when they have to travel quite a distance in order to try their examinations, they quit. And what is the result? From letters I have received this year from different priests in the county of Gaspé, I learn that this winter the parishes have been completely depleted of the young men. Their trail can be followed to the United States navy, or to the shanties in the state of Michigan, or the Upper Ottawa district, and many young men who go as sailors or to the lumbering camps, do not return. I have noticed that there is quite a colony of my old Gaspé electors in the city of Ottawa. I daresay there are almost 500 or 600 people here from the counties of Gaspé and Bonaventure. They have been lured by the city and they will not return to the deep sea fisheries.

Mr. TURGEON: I would endorse what has been said by the hon. member for Bonaventure (Mr. Marcell) in reference to having schools in each of the constituencies of the north shore of New Brunswick and the Bay de Chaleurs. On the north shore there are many young men who cannot afford to go to St. John, Halifax or Charlottetown. Many times young men come out of superior schools with an aptitude for navigation but they are not able to attend these navigation schools. Only two years ago two young men coming from the county of Mr. Boudreau, from which many good seamen have come, wished to pass their examinations but they were not able to afford to go to one of the cities referred to for that purpose and they went into some other occupation. Until the minister can establish more schools he should have the examiners visit many more localities in order that young men desiring to pass their examinations may do so.

Hon. J. D. HAZEN: I may say to my hon. friend from Gloucester (Mr. Turgeon) that our policy now, is to send the examiners to definite points when any young man wish to be examined. I know what my hon. friend refers to: there was no examination of masters and mates last year in the province of New Brunswick, but we sent an examiner from Charlottetown to Chatham.

Mr. TURGEON: The young men had

BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

Many prosperous citizens have lost their valued possessions over night. Then they kicked themselves because an outlay of a few dollars on every thousand of valuation every few years would have left them protected and prosperous. Don't be foolhardy. Few things are as cheap as fire insurance in the beginning, and nothing may prove more costly in the end than its lack.

STRENUOUS WEATHER

Traffic is moving splendidly on the I. N. R. despite the heavy weather of the past week. On Friday last, a slight accident occurred at Richards Station, where a freight train which was being backed up, came in contact with an engine standing at the station. The tender of the engine and the rear box car on the train were but slightly damaged.

NEW PHOTO PLAY

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The Pasquali photo drama, "The Last Days of Pompeii" from Wallaces Theatre, New York, comes to the Opera House, Tuesday, Feb. 24th, for one night only.

It shows the great progress made in this style of entertainment. All the obvious mechanical effects have been eliminated and the film is shown in a manner that keeps one's mind entirely on the intensely interesting drama. In making the production, Mr. Pasquali followed Lord Balwer Lyttons famous novel, and all the important characters and incidents were put into the scenario. Glaucus, the Athenian and the beautiful lone tell their tale of love, which is extremely romantic. Nydia the blind daughter of a king is the same pathetic figure as in the book. Arbaces, the Egyptian priest, is an intriguing monster exactly as Lord Lytton drew the character. Burbo, the brutal inn-keeper, the brazen Julia and other characters are all portrayed in keeping with the story. There are more than one hundred scenes of massive grandeur that was the vogue in that period; the great Roman Amphitheatre showing 10,000 people; exciting Chariot races and the fighting Gladiators; the temple of Arbaces with its mammoth banquet hall. Pompeii, before, during and after the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius and a scene that sits one to the marrow, is where the heroic Glaucus is thrown into the arena and the hungry and ferocious lions turned upon him. It is at this point in the story when the volcano becomes active and pours a river of lava over the city, as though the GODS would no longer countenance the brutal overies and had decided to destroy Pompeii.
