[Special to The Advertiser.]

Durand, Mich., Aug. 25.—Eight to twelve persons were killed and three or four injured last night shortly after 11 o'clock, when Grand Trunk passenger train No. 4, bound east, crashed into the rear end of train No. 14, on the main line track, four miles east, near Durand.
No. 14 stopped for repairs, and No. 4 in charge of Conductor Swap and Engineer Spencer, plowed its way part through the rear Pullman of No. 14.
About twenty passengers were asleep in the car, and all are reported dead, injured or missing.
The wreckage caught fire soon after the collision, and the shrieks of the wounded, pinned in their berths, unable to escape the flames, could be heard afar.
The torso of a man taken from the ashes was brought here.
At least three were burned beyond recognition.
The work of rescue was difficult, the rescuers, some sent from here, being kept away from the ill-fated coaches by the flames.

AGED WOMAN PERISHED.

Among the passengers were Clinton A. Davis, 226 Stanley street, Montreal, his invalid mother and a trained nurse, who were en route home from Fargo, N.D., where Mrs. Davis had been for her health.
Davis, who was brought to Durand only slightly injured soon after the collision, says his mother and her attendant perished in the flames.
Engineer Spencer, when he saw his train bearing down on No. 14, and that a collision was inevitable, jumped. His fireman, Nelson, was badly scalded.
Nelson was brought here. Spencer said he heard one torpedo explode, but did not see rear signal lights on the train ahead.
G. N. Graham, of Detroit, brakeman on the rear of No. 14, says that when his train was halted he put out signals as ordered. He refused to commit himself as to whether the tail lights on his train were burning. He claims that he set a red light to warn the following train.
It is reported that the crews of both trains, except the engine crews, were strikebreakers, held over from the recent strike.

SOME NARROW ESCAPES.

J. H. Studymire, colored porter of the Nebraska, the car that was in the front end when the crash came, says he was thrown through the aisle, but escaped serious injury. He was unable to say how many passengers he had.
Bert Mitchell, engineer of No. 14, was under his engine making repairs when the train was struck. He was caught in the wheels and badly injured. No. 14 consisted of nine coaches, and No. 4 of seven. Both trains were carrying a heavy load, and were bound from Chicago to Toronto.
Physicians have been sent from here to the scene of the wreck.
Three victims of the wreck were taken to the Hurley Hospital at Flint. One, a Chicago woman, is not expected to live the day out; the other two, an unknown man and woman, the doctors say will live.
The bodies of six others, two of them women, were brought to Durand. They were burned beyond recognition.
Railroad officials estimate that fourteen passengers in the ill-fated coach cannot be accounted for.
Mrs. Lester Dochler, Tavistock, Ontario, Canada, aged 74, suffered a fractured leg and bruises. She is in the Hurley Hospital, at Flint.
Among the injured is A. B. Watt, aged 33, Edmonton, Alberta, face and body badly scalded; will probably die.

CHICAGO PEOPLE IN WRECK.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Frederick T. Haskell, vice-president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, his wife and six other Chicagoans, had reservations on train No. 14, wrecked at Durand, Mich.
A telegram received here from Mr. Haskell tells of his escape and that of his wife.
The full names of the other Chicagoans on the train are not given in the Pullman car books of the company here. As given the names are: Mrs. Sunderson, —, Dochler, —, Jeffers, —, Leutscher, —, Sheldon, —, Montague.

BREWERY EMPLOYEE WAS BADLY CRUSHED

A Serious Accident to Mr. L. Decker at Carling's Yesterday.

Mr. L. Decker, an employee of Carling's brewery, had a very close call from being crushed to death yesterday afternoon beneath a heavily-loaded elevator, which descended on him as he was scrubbing out the flooring at the bottom of the shaft.
As soon as he was struck, Decker started to shout, and the men who were on the elevator at once reversed.
When taken out it was found that Decker was badly crushed, and Dr. Becker, who was called, found that the cartilages about the joints had been displaced, and that his chest was crushed.
Dr. Becker does not think Decker sustained internal injuries. Decker is at present at his home, where he is progressing favorably.

SHOT THROUGH THE FOOT AT THE COVE RANGES

Charles Simmons, of Edward Street, Another Victim of a Stray Bullet.

Charles Simmons, a 14-year-old, Edward street boy, was shot through the foot while in bathing at the Cove ranges yesterday afternoon. Although he was swimming immediately behind the butts, it was not a bullet from a rifle that struck him, but a revolver bullet.
Just who fired it is not known, but it is thought that some boys who were further down on the far bank were shooting at frogs. Young Simmons was hurried to the care of Dr. Ferguson, where the wound was dressed and the bullet extracted. He is doing nicely, and no serious effects are anticipated.

AUTOISTS ARE SAID TO SPEED MACHINES

But It Is Also Charged That Drivers of Horses Do Not Keep to Rules of Road.

Several residents of London Township, in the vicinity of the Proof Line road, have complained to the county police that automobilists reverse that thoroughfare at an excessive rate of speed. The county authorities are now on the lookout and will summon any offenders.

However, the road is in a very bad state at present, and the fact that an autoist who speeds there takes his life in his hands will probably do more than the constables to slow things down.
The road is badly rutted and is not being used very extensively. Many drivers of machines claim that the farmers are not the only people who have grievances. The rules of the road are being violated in all parts of the district, and very few men or women in charge of horse-drawn vehicles trouble themselves about which side of the road they are on when passing a motor car.

WOOD PULP TESTING PLANT

To Be Established at Wausau, Wis., by U. S. Government.

Wausau, Wis., Aug. 25.—Contracts have been filed here for the building in this city of a Government experimental station for testing wood pulp. As soon as such machinery is installed the work of testing Wisconsin wood for paper making will begin.
The Government will spend $40,000 on this plant during the first fiscal year. The forestry service believes that this testing plant will develop methods and material for making paper which heretofore have been unknown.
This will be the only plant of its kind in the United States.

The work of rescue was made difficult by the fast running tide and darkness.
Mary Kops and David Sunes were drowned.

Who Is to Blame for the Wreck?

According to local officials, the operator who allowed Express No. 4 to leave Lansing before he had word that Express No. 14 had left Durand, was as much to blame as anybody for the disastrous wreck on the Grand Trunk last night.

Local officials state that there have been absolutely no inquiries regarding London people, and there is no reason to believe that there were any on the train that was wrecked.
The wreck occurred about three miles west of Durand, and when the train was within about five minutes of pulling in, Durand is situated about 50 miles west of Detroit, and is one of the most important railway junctions in the district. It is essentially a railroad town, and a great many branch lines run through it.

PASSENGERS OF GRAND TRUNK TRAIN TELL OF THE HORRORS OF THE WRECK AT DURAND

A Sleeper Caught Fire and a Fight for Many Lives Followed—Colored Porter Made Heroic Rescue of a Woman—An Awful Scene at Midnight Catastrophe.

Passengers on G. T. R. express No. 4, which was in the wreck at Durand, Mich., last night, when seen by The Advertiser this morning when the express went through at 9:40, told thrilling stories of the affair, and of the fire which followed immediately.
S. L. Blake, of Chicago, said he was sitting in the smoker in the third coach, talking to another passenger, when he had a sudden premonition that something was going to happen.
"We are going to have trouble of some kind," he said. "I can feel it. I am certain we will be in a wreck."
Hurled From Seats.
"Nonsense," said the friend. He had hardly spoken when the air brakes were thrown on, and both men were hurled from their seats.
"We picked ourselves up and went out," said Mr. Blake. "The first thing I found was the fireman lying beside the track. He was fearfully scalded. We carried him into the car, and women tore up their skirts to make bandages for the poor fellow, who was in terrible pain."
"There was only one doctor on the train, and he was so busy with those who were injured that he could not attend to our man for some time. We did what we could to make him comfortable though."
"I went out to try and get some oil or grease to put on the burns. This would perhaps be five minutes after we found the man, and the Pullman on No. 14 was blazing fiercely."
The Sleeper Afire.
"I will never forget the sights I saw. A man named Davis, who was travelling with his mother and a nurse, was looking everywhere for the women. He said their berths were Continued on Page Eight.

CRIPPEN AND HIS AFFINITY ARE KEPT TO THEMSELVES

[Associated Press.]
London, Aug. 25.—The London morning newspapers print wireless dispatches from the White Star steamship Megantic, which say that Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Helen Leveque on the voyage from Quebec to Liverpool kept in complete seclusion from the other passengers. It is understood that the passengers will be landed secretly either at Holy Head or by a private tug in the Mersey. The customary permits to board the Megantic at Liverpool, when she arrives, have been withdrawn.

EAST LONDON BOY WAS SHOT IN LEG BY A STRAY RIFLE BULLET

Ivan Hunter, of 196 Rectory Street, Wounded While Standing on Bank of the South Branch of the River Where He Had Been Bathing.

Ivan Hunter, son of Mr. W. A. Hunter, of 196 Rectory street, was shot through the leg by a wild rifle shot fired by some unknown person, while he was bathing in the Thames River on Wednesday afternoon.
Young Hunter, accompanied by other boys, had gone swimming at a point known as the Rapids, situated between Adelaide and Exeter streets. About 3:30 p.m. the boys decided to go home, and while dressing on the north bank of the river, Hunter was struck by a rifle shot, which evidently came from the south side of the river, although no one with firearms was noticed in the vicinity.
The lad was taken by men working on the hydro-electric line to Dr. Spencer, who dressed the wound, after which he was removed to his home. The wound is not dangerous, but will require rest and careful treatment for a week or longer.

DOG-SHIPING ORDINANCE EXTENDED THREE MONTHS

But It Is Taken for Granted That the Muzzling Order Will Come to an End On the 7th of September—P. M. Love Says the Order Should Be Cancelled.

Dr. J. H. Tennent, inspector for the Dominion Government, was notified by J. G. Rutherford, of Ottawa, yesterday, that the order for Canada, today, that the order restricting the shipping of dogs in the areas affected by the muzzling order will not expire on Sept. 7, but has been extended three months from that date.
It is believed, however, that it is not the intention of the department to extend the muzzling order itself.
This will be welcome news to thousands of people throughout the Province, and will be more welcome to the canines, which, for the last few months have had their faces caged up in steel wire.
Ten citizens who appeared before Magistrate Love in the police court this morning, charged with allowing their dogs to be at large without muzzles, were all allowed to go without paying any fine, as the court accepted their excuses, which were reasonable.
The Muzzling Order.
Asked if he thought the muzzling order would expire on Sept. 7, the magistrate said he thought it most certainly would.
"If it doesn't," he said, "it ought to. There is no need for it now. There has been a case of rabies reported here for months."
The extension of the order preventing the shipping of dogs out of the restricted districts will not affect anyone very seriously. It means that any dogs that may be sent from Montreal or outside points east of Toronto cannot be returned.
Inside the district, however, dogs can be sent to any points, and the London Dog Show promises to be greater than ever this year, as many persons have dogs which, while they could not beat some of the expensive thoroughbreds from Montreal, are good enough to win under ordinary circumstances, and will show them.

RECEIVED 11,000 VOLTS

Painter Killed by Touching Power Wire at Cobalt.

Cobalt, Ont., Aug.—A. Lefebvre, a French-Canadian painter, bent over the high voltage wires at the Trethewey transformer house yesterday and received 11,000 volts through his body.
An eyewitness of the accident says that the man reached over the main line, bringing the whole of the power to the mill. His body touched one of the wires. Almost instantly he fell, without a cry, across all three wires. Blue flames flickered all around the body before the eyes of spectators.
The current could not be turned off, as the painter had fallen where the voltage was highest and there

TORONTO MAN THINKS HIS BOY WAS KILLED BY FOUL MEANS

Alex. Stewart, Sen., Wants the Police to Investigate the Death of His Son, Whose Body Was Found Floating in the St. Clair River.

[By Our Own Man.]
Sarnia, Aug. 25.—Alex. Stewart, Sen., of 426 Clinton street, Toronto, accompanied by his son John, arrived in this city last night to take possession of the remains of his son, Alex. Stewart, Jun., whose body was found in the St. Clair yesterday.
To the London Advertiser, Mr. Stewart stated that he is of the opinion that his boy was murdered, though why anyone should kill him he does not know. The young man left Toronto a week ago, and promised to return inside the week. His brother accompanied him to the Union depot, and Alex. appeared to be in the best of spirits.
He left for Sarnia with the intention of taking a job as locomotive fireman on the G. T. R.
Young Stewart did not have any amount of money with him to speak of, but he was well dressed. The police are to be asked to probe the matter.
The body which it was thought for a time was that of Stewart's brother, proved to be that of George Frailek, the blacksmith, who was drowned on Sunday. The remains were forwarded to Toronto this morning from Sarnia.
A Pitiful Scene.

These words were sobbed by Mrs. Alexander Stewart. A pitiful scene

NO ROMANCE IN THE LIFE OF MOIR, THE MURDERER

He thanked the London Board of Trade for their kind invitation to be their guest.
The board hopes that Hon. Mr. Pugsley will be in London in the near future, and that they will have the opportunity of having him as their guest, and presenting the claims of London for improvements at Port Stanley.

Cruelly Abused a Livery Horse—Animal Laid Up for Over a Week.

He was remanded for another week for sentence, as the police expect to arrest the other fellow, who was with him on the night when he abused the horse.
"You certainly ought to be ashamed of yourself," the court told Kemp today. I am surprised at your treating a poor, dumb animal in such a manner.

VATICAN FAVORS.

Rome, Aug. 25.—Cardinal Rampolla, directing the fight of the Vatican in the clash with Spain, has decided upon a waiting policy. This was made clear today, semi-officially. At the same time, the church is preparing for a great struggle. Its hope is that the Canalejas ministry will fall. In the event of a change of ministry without a radical alteration of Spain's attitude, the Vatican will then present its ultimatum.
It is believed here that the action of Cardinal Aguirre, of Toledo, primate of Spain, in authorizing plans for Catholic demonstrations in Spain, was in pursuance of specific orders from Rome.

BIG LUMBER CUT IN COMING WINTER

Recent Extensive Forest Fires and Demand for Railway Ties the Cause.

Fort William, Aug. 24.—Incidental to the devastation of timber this summer by what are conceded to be the most extensive and destructive forest fires that ever visited this part of the country, the lumberjack, after an almost total absence of two years, is to have another innings in Western Ontario—the biggest, in fact, that the section has ever known.

Men in touch with the situation declare that the cut between the eastern boundary of Manitoba and the north shore of Lake Superior during the coming season will be by far the largest in the history of the district.

The reasons, they say, are obvious. There is an increased demand for railroad ties, and the price will be as good or better than the best before.

Throughout the hundreds of thousands of acres in the burned area, the ties must be taken out this winter if the raw product is not to be rendered worthless by the elements and worms.

To avoid a considerable loss, the Provincial Government has been forced to subject to tenders vast tracts which were designed for conservation prior to the visitation of the flames.

The Government has committed to the tendering of ties, and will revise the tender, submitted before the fires raged. Under the old form of tender, the contractor paid for the lumber taken out, and posted a deposit as a guarantee of responsibility.

If the contractor does not take out more than the value of his deposit, that is all the Government can collect for, and the deposit is supposed to represent only a per cent of the actual value of the timber in the claim.

Now the Government will offer special inducements to the contractors to clear their claims this year. It is likely that arrangements will be made to finance the holding over of the ties if the railway builders attempt to pull out of the contract on account of the necessity for an immediate cut.

J. T. Horne, of Graham & Horne, one of the best known lumbering firms in this section, told the Mail and Empire today that the increased demand for ties will more than offset the increased cut. He said that both the price and the cut are bound to eclipse all former records.

NEW RIDEAU HALL FOR GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Dominion Government to Acquire Property On Bluff Overlooking Ottawa River.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Now that the Duke of Connaught is coming to Canada as governor-general, it is reported on good authority that the Government has decided that the present residence of the Governor-General in Ottawa has about outlived its usefulness and that the plans are already under way for the erection of a new Rideau Hall on a new site.

The site of the new residence is declared to be the high bluff along the Ottawa River. These properties constitute some 40 acres of land and the situation is one of the finest in Canada. A magnificent view of the country for miles around may be obtained from the crest and altogether the site is an ideal one for an executive residence. The owners of the properties are already aware of the intention of the Government to acquire the site, but no intimation of the appropriation has, it is said, yet been made officially to them.

Just how much land may be taken in to complete the new Rideau Hall grounds is variously estimated. One report is to the effect that all the trees and buildings will be taken. The other practically wipe out the village of Rockcliffe as regards population, and mean the expenditure of a very large sum, as several splendid residences have been erected during the last year or two within this area.

The whole scheme has been discussed by the department, and previous to the departure of the Governor-General, Sir Wilfrid Laurier approved of the idea as regards the appropriation of the high bluff overlooking the Ottawa.

The present Rideau Hall, formerly the home of Hon. Thomas McKay, has been an expensive item for many years. Nearly a million dollars have been expended on repairs, additions and improvements and the end is not yet. For years the expense account of the hall has been the subject of caustic comment, and it has evidently come to be regarded as uneconomical to get rid of the structure altogether and erect a modern executive residence.

MACKENZIE & MANN GET AN IRON FIELD

Outbid United States Steel Trust For Property on the Mattagami.

Cobalt, Aug. 25.—Mackenzie & Mann have closed an option for the purchase of over 4,000 acres of iron land at Grand Rapids, on Mattagami. Both the owners of the Canadian Northern Railway and the United States Steel Corporation were interested in the new field on the coastal plain of Hudson Bay. Representatives of the big steel corporation were not prepared to hazard as much on the proposition as Mackenzie & Mann, and consequently the latter got the option.

The purchase includes practically all the area of ore yet exposed on the Grand Rapids field. There are the three syndicates, Shields, of Sudbury, Flaherty, of Cobalt, and Ladouce, of Cobalt and Halloway, and another. In all 110 claims of 40 acres each are under option. By it the purchasers are bound to put at least five diamond drills at work at once and in the event of its proving up the final sum paid will be high.

As the ore is unquestionably of the best grade in Canada today, and the option covers all of it exposed so far, it is of the utmost importance.

RADIAL LINE ROUTE THROUGH STRATFORD

Prospecting for Bridges—Installing New Industry in Classic City.

Stratford, Aug. 25.—Ald. Williams, of Stratford, has been invited to accompany a party of the Stratford Railway Company, which has recently obtained a franchise for a street railway in Stratford, to St. Marys, on Friday or Saturday next. The object of the visit is to examine and decide upon one of three sites for a bridge across the Thames River, about three miles outside of the town. An engineer will be taken along to explain technicalities in connection with the different routes. The route of the proposed radial line between Stratford and the Thames River, it has been ascertained, will pass close to Avonbank, at or near which a station will be located.

The machinery for the Kilgour Cough Company, of London, which company has recently leased a portion of the factory of the Imperial Rattan Company, has arrived in the city, and several hands are busy installing the same in its new quarters. The company will employ some 30 or 40 hands as soon as everything is in readiness to commence operations.

THE MOIR CASE.

A less ingenious man than Moir might have escaped from a more secure place of detention than the Hamilton Asylum, in the same circumstances.

The prisoner showed that he had a good deal of native cunning when, after his crime in this city, he covered up his tracks for weeks in the most thickly-populated part of the Province. It was an easy task to get out of a place which had not the safeguards of a well-kept prison, when he had aid from the inside. He had no need of outside help. The story of an "extra-mural" conspiracy, in which a mysterious midnight automobile and sentimental women confederates figured, appears to be merely decorative. The confession of one of the attendants explains the whole affair.

There are two or three points that should be cleared up by a thorough inquiry. There was no night guard, and it is said that Dr. English's request for one was refused. He had protested that there was no possibility of the safe detention of desperate criminals, but this representation was also ignored. The fact that Moir's letter, soliciting help from London, was sent from Toronto to the London asylum, instead of the Hamilton asylum, shows that some individual in the Provincial Secretary's department was careless or incompetent, or that the system is loose. The dereliction of duty wasn't all at Hamilton.

GROWTH OF AMERICAN CITIES.

The latest United States census bulletin is giving the larger cities something to talk about. One surprise is the relative growth of the city of Detroit. In ten years the population has increased from 285,704 to 465,766, or 63 per cent. Ten years ago Buffalo had a lead of 70,000, and Cleveland 96,000, over Detroit. Today Detroit leads them both.

What are the causes of Detroit's gain? It is not more favorably situated than Buffalo or Cleveland. Buffalo is a greater railway and shipping centre; it is the funnel of the grain traffic from the west. Cleveland has great steel and iron industries; the lake carriers bring their cargoes of ore to its docks. The Cleveland and Buffalo papers ascribe Detroit's ascendancy to the spirit of its citizens, and their well-organized efforts at booming. Perhaps this is one factor. Too, Detroit has an element of luck in it, too. Detroit has almost monopolized the automobile industry, through what seems to be chance. If the automobile is only a fleeting fad, Detroit will be hard hit some day.

WORK FOR ROOSEVELT.

The American political drama began to be sensational when Roosevelt reappeared on the stage. In the latest act, Vice-President Sherman figures as the villain. When he put himself up against Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship of the New York Republican state convention, it was generally assumed that he was acting for President Taft, and that the administration had thrown down the gage to "Teddy." Mr. Taft disposes of this notion by a letter in which he says that he knew nothing of Sherman's candidacy until he read of it in the newspapers; that previously he had suggested that a conference of the state leaders with Roosevelt was desirable; and that when Sherman informed him there was a proposal to oppose Roosevelt, he had protested against it, and "peremptorily declined to be drawn into a fight against Mr. Roosevelt."

Sherman is placed by his superior in an uncomfortable position. It looks as though he had been used by, or had been willing to use, the Republican machine in New York in an attempt to squelch Roosevelt as a factor in the state elections. But the machine has badly blundered. It has placed Roosevelt squarely on the side of the insurgents, and he announces that he is going into the convention to carry on the fight. The machine may win the convention, but if it does it will probably lose the state.

THE CHOLERA.

The cholera epidemic in Russia has spread to Italy, and is becoming an international menace. It has become necessary to strictly watch all ships entering Canadian and United States ports.

Cholera is a disease of filth. It spreads in consequence of the disregard of certain simple sanitary rules. One case leads to another, and to hundreds more, by direct process, if precautions are not taken to destroy the elements of the disease. The ignorant dwellers in India are especially susceptible to the plague, for they not only do not know of its real nature, but when told that they must do certain things to avoid the pestilence, they remain indifferent, supported by a fatalistic philosophy against which it is well-nigh futile to contend with the arguments of western civilization.

Whether the outbreaks in Russia and Italy are from a common origin or the latter has resulted from the former is unknown. It is difficult to trace these disease developments. In former times, when the great religious pilgrimages to the eastern sacred cities were permitted without supervision or regulation, terrible scourges swept Europe from time to time. Now the sanitary laws are more rigorously enforced against even the holy places, and quarantines have done much to lessen this grave evil. Still, with cholera always more or less prevalent in the east, and commercial communications continuing without interruption, it is remarkable that Europe escapes as it does.

The summer resorters are beginning to come home for a rest. President Taft says he "peremptorily declines to be drawn into a fight against Mr. Roosevelt." This is sane, and also safe.

Laurier has begun his return trip from the west. This will relieve the fearful strain on the Toronto Mail, the Toronto News, and the London Free Press.

Korea will be formally annexed to Japan on Saturday. Is this a case of "peaceful penetration," or "benevolent assimilation"? Or is it Rob Roy's "simple plan"?

The Pope has a word of rebuke for prevailing women's fashions. An encyclical against dresses that button up the back would be cheerfully welcomed by husbands of all creeds.

Rev. Dr. Carman has been re-elected for eight years by the general conference. This is a great tribute to a great man, but it doesn't necessarily mean that he is to be allowed to finish his work against the higher critics.

SONG OF THE TINKER.

I am a man of pot and pan,
I am a lad of mettle;
My tent I pitch by wayside ditch
To mend your car and kettle;
While town-bred folks bear a year-long yoke
Among their feeble fellows,
I look for an on the mug and loaf,
And blow my morning bellows.
I loved a lass with hair like brass,
And eyes like a brazer glowing;
But the female crew, what they will do,
I swear is past all knowing!
She flung her cap at a plowman chap,
And a fool I needs must think her,
Who left for an on the mug and loaf,
And the snug little tent of a tinker.

But, clank and clank, let women go hang,
And who shall care for a fardel?
With the soldier strong of a laugh and a song
I'll mend your car and kettle;
My mind I'll heal and harden,
And I'll mend your car and kettle;
For gaffer and for gammer,
And drive my cart with a careless heart,
And sit by the road and hammer!

BULLY TIME.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"How's vacation, Johnnie?"
"Bully!" Fell off a shed, most got drowned, tipped over a beehive, was hooked by a cow, Jim Spindles licked me twice, and I got two stone bruises and a stiff neck!"
[A REAL TOWN.
[Youth's Companion.]
"And what sort of a town is yours—I didn't catch the name?" said the polite stranger on the train to the man who had been patiently listening to a long description of a Wisconsin lumbering city.
"Bates," said the other promptly, "and as a matter of fact, it's a good band soap factory and more English sparrows than can sit on the telegraph wire! Oh, Bates is the real thing!"

THEN THEY ALL WROTE.

[Chicago News.]
"Didn't you find it very difficult to get into communication with all your relatives?" I asked the man who had just finished writing his family history.
"No," he answered. "It is as easy as calling chickens; but I fear the method I employed was not strictly aboveboard."
"What did you do?" I asked, with amused curiosity.
"I got the papers to publish a notice that I had died a millionaire without kin," he replied.

A SUCCESSFUL QUEST.

[Harper's Weekly.]
"Well, Bill, how did you come out with the trust company?"
"Fine."
"They accepted your offer, did they?"
"Yep."
"What kind of a job did they give you?"
"Didn't give me any."
"Then how did they accept your proposition?"
"I offered them the refusal of my services, and they accepted it—refused 'em right off the handle."

PERFECTLY PROPER.

[Tribune.]
"It's wrong of me to take this food," said the tramp, as he reached out for the pie in the window, "but," he added, reflectively, "I've had repeated inquiries for it from the department of the interior, and I shall now deliver the goods."

THE HOBBLE SKIRT.

"The hobble skirt, the jupe entravée, is a very pretty and graceful new fashion, but is rather inconvenient," said Miss Elbel Barrymore at a dinner in Bristol, R. I.

"This skirt is exceedingly tight from the knees down, but for that matter it is tight all over. A young woman in one of these hobble skirts came out of Sherry's on a spring afternoon and proceeded with some difficulty to enter her motor car."
"What do you think of that skirt?" a man who was passing said to his companion.
"It reminds me," the other answered, "of the bridge train in the hash house. Standing room only, and very little of that."

COULDN'T COME BACK.

[Chicago Post.]
Enoch Arden crept softly up to the window and peered in.
The former Mrs. Arden sat talking sternly to Enoch's successor.
"Do as you like," she was saying. "But remember this, it's just as I told Enoch when he got to thinking he was boss of the house. You may go away, but you can't come back."
Fortunately Mr. Tennynson learned of the incident before the eminent literary of the pricing got to it.

HIS PHILOSOPHY.

[Boston Herald.]
Hank Stubbs—Ambition ain't hardly worth while.
Blige Miller—Why not?
Hank Stubbs—Well, if you are behind the procession you hatter keep bumpin' into somebody, an' if you git ahead you're liable to git tetter-scoped.

WHO KNOWS THAT?

[Washington Herald.]
"Yes, maw?"
"Yes, son."
"Where do the mumps and measles go when I haven't got 'em?"

HIS JOB.

[Washington Star.]
"So you are writing stories?" said the friend.
"Not exactly," answered the cynical litterateur. "I'm furnishing a certain amount of text to keep the illustrations from running into one another."

WAY IT GOES.

[Washington Herald.]
"Could you give a starving woman work?"
"Yes; I need a girl to scrub."
"Too bad; this girl's a parlor maid."

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES.
[Chicago News.]
Mamma—Bessie, did you scratch your little brother's nose?
Bessie—"Cause his nose stuck out, an' his eyes didn't."

INSTRUCTION IN HONESTY.
[Salt Lake Herald.]
A few years ago there was a shifthead colored boy named Ransom Blake, who, after being caught in a number of petty delinquencies, was at last sentenced to a short term in the penitentiary, where he was sent to learn a trade. On the day of his return home he met a friendly white acquaintance, who asked:

"Well, what did they put you in for in the prison, Rans?"
"Dey started in to make an hones' boy outen me, sah."
"That's good, Rans, and I hope they succeeded."
"Dey did, sah."
"And how did they teach you to be honest?"
"Dey done put me in a shoe shop, sah, nallin' pasteboard outer shoes for leather soles, sah!"

ITS ADVANTAGE.

[Chicago News.]
Miffins—What is the main advantage of Ruff's new shaving soap?
Settled—Well, it smartens the face so much that the pain caused by the dullest razor can't be felt.

A HARD SAYING.

[Baltimore American.]
Belle—I wonder why that good-looking doctor avoids me so and is so cool to me when we meet?
Nell—I think it is because Ned thought less of him what you said about him.
Belle—What did I say that he didn't like?
Nell—You said, don't you remember, that he had such killing ways.

LOVELY WOMAN.

[Harper's Bazar.]
Smith—She makes her boy wear long curls.
Jones—But she makes her husband get up to cut the grass before he catches the flies.

Queen Mary and Her Characteristics

"Queen Mary may be a very different woman from the shy, retiring Princess of Wales or Duchess of York. Those who have seen her since her accession note already a certain change in her demeanor, a quickened sense of the right of initiative, the disappearance of the ever-fertile presence of King Edward and his court.

So runs a passage in a character sketch of Queen Mary which appears in the Review of Reviews for August, and which deals with the life of her majesty as child, woman and consort. The writer points out how great a part of the Queen's character is derived both by inheritance and training, from her mother, the late Duchess of Teck. "Even at Kensington Palace, when she was a mere child, she was broken in to philistine propriety. Her mother was extremely charitable, and did a great deal of good among the poor in the back streets near the palace."

Queen Mary grew up a healthy, energetic girl. In Richmond or Kingston there are many who can remember the young princess, her fair hair streaming in the wind, galloping free and joyous on her favorite pony down avenue and bridge path. As often as not she would be alone. Sometimes her father, the late Duke of Teck, would be with her, but there was not any formal escort. Curiously enough, her favorite gallop was down what was then—and still is—known as 'the Queen's Ride'—the noble grass avenue leading from the west front of White Lodge to Sawyer's Hill.

In languages the Queen is proficient. Italian, French, German and English are all alike to her. She can converse easily in any one of these languages. On her book-shelves as a girl it was said, "You will find no uncut and dusty books, but neatly cut edges and well-turned pages. Her favorite authors before her marriage were Tennyson, Carlyle, Emerson and George Eliot. As princess she valued highly all presentation copies. The works of Macaulay, Proude, Lamb, John Morley, Motley, Motley, Goethe, Dante, occupied prominent positions on her book-shelves at White Lodge. Her method was to read something every day, even if it were only a page, and the note discussion what she had read with her companion, governess she talked French and German, and, according to arrangement, the discussion took place in either one language or the other."

With regard to the lamented death of the Duke of Clarence the writer says: "The princess, who, in the opinion of Queen Victoria and Edward VII., was fittest of all women to be queen of England, was not allowed to escape that destiny merely because the first-born, to whom she had been betrothed, had not lived to make her his bride. It was said that she should ascend the throne, if not as the wife of one brother, then as the wife of the other. The importance of this from high reasons of state was pressed upon her somewhat importunately by newspaperers as serious as the Spectator. The Queen resented the interference of these importunate matchmakers, who would not even allow the funeral baked meat to cool before they hurried on the wedding feast."

The tender affection between Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra is referred to by the writer of the sketch, who thinks that Queen Mary may "yet win a place in history not less distinguished than that of her husband's mother or of the great Victoria herself."

TWO "HOBBLED" GIRLS HELPLESS IN WATER.

One Tried to Jump From Boat to Pier—The Other Fell Out of Canoe.

New Rochelle, Aug. 24.—Although when juxtaposed to a facade of a triangular tall building on a March day the hobble skirt possesses advantages not to be denied, it is the opinion of persons who saw a double hobble skirt event at the boat landing here last night that when skirts of that pattern approach bodies of water their logical place is on the hickory limb.

Miss Ruth Gullies, of Locust avenue, and a young person in peach rajah, both wearing hobble skirts attracted public notice by falling overboard about the same time here last night. Miss Gullies was in a canoe, and the girl in peach rajah was on the arm of a young man, and had not both been expert at swimming, it is believed that there would be mourning in New Rochelle today.

The young person in peach was tall, fair, and with a complexion to match her gown. It is believed that she lives somewhere in the Bronx, but at all events, after making an initial appearance at the Oakland Beach boat landing in the morning, she was seen again by persons on the pier when the boat returned from the beach soon after 8 o'clock at night.

She and her escort stood at the steamboat's rail, and as the vessel was being warped in, decided that they were in a great hurry to get ashore. The young man cleared the distance between the boat and pier at a bound and called to his companion to follow him. She leaped for the pier, but reckoned without her skirt and entered the water with a scream and a splash.

The next act of the young man was a public confession of his belief that this young woman was worth while. He plunged in after her, and as the crowd began crying that they would inevitably be beaten down by the paddlers, he came up smiling, announcing in an untruffled voice that if someone would send him a rope he would send his companion to safety and then follow himself. Cries of "Save the lady!" and "gallant young man!" It was seen that the young woman was swimming as to her arm, but otherwise as helpless as though she were tied. Both were saved.

Almost the same instant Miss Gullies fell out of a canoe less than 200 yards from the steamboat, and was saved by men in a rowboat. She announced afterward that she will never wear a hobble skirt in a canoe again.

CARICATURES OF IRISH.

Ancient Order of Hibernians Ask to Have Objectionable Postcards Stopped.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 24.—At today's session of the A. O. H. convention the time was given over to receiving of the work of the Hibernians. The most encouraging, showing good increase in work.

President Walsh, of Toronto, in his annual report, paid a warm tribute to the work of the Hibernians. While the work has only been carried on successfully in a few places in America, it had taken hold of the Irish people. One great opportunity before the organization was the part of the Irish history taught to the children. The work had been somewhat neglected. The speaker hoped that in the near future some method would be adopted which would give this dream of many years to a reality.

The president referred to the "most disgusting method" of caricaturing of the Irish race, with the picture postcards, and suggested that the work had been somewhat neglected. The speaker hoped that in the near future some method would be adopted which would give this dream of many years to a reality.

GUARD RESIDED IN STRATFORD

't Is Said, Fred McCullough Was Once a Resident of the Classic City.

WHO MADE THE KEYS?

Chief Smith, of Hamilton, Does Not Care Who Made Them for Moir—The Latest Developments.

[By Our Own Man.]
Stratford, Aug. 24.—There is reason to believe that Fred McCullough, the guard of the Hamilton Asylum who confessed to aiding Moir and Taggart's escape, previously resided in Stratford. Pictures of the guard have been examined, and bear a close resemblance to a man of the same name, who resided here a short time ago. McCullough in question was engaged as a tripper in the local G. T. R. shops and lived on Bay street. He left for Hamilton a few months ago.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 25.—It was learned on good authority this morning that the keys which aided Moir and Taggart in their escape were made by one of the city's best-known locksmiths. The name of the man the police would not divulge, but it is reported that his place of business is on King William street, and that he had done work for the local asylum on various occasions. It is also said that the locksmith referred to was this morning on a Beach car heard to say, "I may have made them."
When asked this morning, the man who has charge of the lock department of the store in question said that he could not tell whether or not he had made the keys. He said, however, that it was not he who gave the police information regarding the keys. He had said he was making keys for the asylum for a long time, but could not say that he had made the duplicates which are alleged to have been supplied to Moir. In the course of conversation the man admitted that he knew McCullough, but said he did not remember Taggart.

The Keys.

Chief Smith, when spoken to about the matter, said: "Who cares who made the keys? No one wants to know."
"Then you do not care to talk on the matter?" said the reporter.
The chief proceeded to talk about another matter, and would not confirm the rumor as to the maker of the keys.

He was then asked if he thought that the men who aided Moir were liberally compensated for their work, and replied that he was of the opinion that they were not, but had merely assisted him for sympathetic reasons. They might have received a little cash, but they did not receive enough to pay them for the chance they took and for the predicament in which they now find themselves.

Who Is William E. Cox?
A dispatch to the Spectator from Buffalo today says that a boy of 15 years of age, giving the name of Wm. E. Cox, was arrested in Buffalo, and it is thought that he is wanted by the Hamilton asylum authorities. That there is something in the story is shown by the fact that the Buffalo police were asked to locate him. Dr. English said this morning that he could not tell whether the boy was ever an inmate of the local asylum or not, unless the records were gone over, and he could not spare the time to look over the records today.

Moir Had Money.
T. J. Stewart, M. P., when speaking of the Moir case today, made a startling statement which may help to solve some of the mystery surrounding the escape of Moir and Taggart. Mr. Stewart said that he had been told that Moir at the time he was admitted to the asylum had in his possession $500, which he had saved. He was allowed full possession of the money and at times loaned money to several of the attendants, and Mr. Stewart says probably when they could not pay it back he seized the opportunity to force the guards to allow him to escape or they would be shown the guards realizing their predicament, consented to help Moir in his escape.

The above statement, given by Mr. Stewart, does not help, however, to clear up the circumstances attending the escape of Taggart. It has been suggested that Taggart had learned of the plans and in order to keep him quiet, he was allowed to go on with Moir. The theory of outside assistance also holds good, and some of the $500 may have been supplied by the alleged woman.

Mr. Stewart also said he thought Moir should be removed to Kingston, where he would be allowed to walk about the corridors and be able to exercise himself. He said that with a view of having the man removed from the local institution he was going to bring the matter before the House and also make application to the Attorney-General's department.

Detective Miller in the City.

Detective John Miller, the provincial officer, was in town yesterday about 9 o'clock, and going directly to the asylum, where he held lengthy consultation with Dr. English. The doctor refused to give out any facts regarding the conference, but it is said that the first steps in connection with the investigation have been taken.

It is thought that the detective left the city at noon, for inquiries at the hotels and from several friends failed to disclose his whereabouts.

A SERENADE.

Look out upon the stars, my love,
And shun them with thine eyes,
On which, than on the lights above,
There hang more destinies.

Night's beauty is the harmony
Of blending shades and light;
Then, lady, up—look out, and be
A sister of the night.

TALES FROM ARABIAN NIGHTS

The Second Voyage of Sindbad the Sailor.

My second voyage proved a great deal more exciting than my first. For some days all was very peaceful and quiet. One evening we passed close to an island that was covered with fair streams and with wonderful fruits and flowers. We decided to disembark for a few hours and enjoy ourselves. I, being of an exploring turn of mind, followed the course of one of the streams. When I returned, I found the ship had sailed away without me. I climbed a tall tree and looked about. At some distance I saw a big white something. I hastened towards it, and found it to be a great white dome, very smooth and shiny. As I was regarding it, a cloud seemed to come over the sun, and, on looking up, I saw a bird of enormous size flying towards me. Then I remembered that I had often heard of some strange bird call the roc, and I realized that the dome was its egg. During the night I tied myself securely to the leg of the bird, hoping that next day the roc would carry me away from this desert island. In the morning my hopes were fulfilled; I was carried through the air so swiftly that I almost lost my senses, and as soon as I found the roc had settled on the earth I cut myself loose and let myself roll down a little hill. Round about me were mountains that seemed sky high, and the valley where I found myself was one mass of steep rocks. As I walked through the valley I discovered that it was strewn with diamonds, some of them of remarkable size. I took much pleasure in picking them up and observing their lights, until I suddenly noticed that near to me were many serpents, each big enough to have swallowed an elephant. Night was coming on, so I hastened to cave, hid myself therein, and covered the entrance with a large stone. I could not sleep well, however, for the serpents hissed about me all the night. With daylight they went back into their caves and I came forth from mine, trembling. I walked on diamonds whatever way I turned and began picking up some of the largest of them and putting them in my turban.

As I was busied with this something fell beside me with a loud thud. It was a large piece of raw meat, and while I was looking at it I heard several others dropping around me.

(Tomorrow we will tell you how meat happened to be dropped into such a queer place, and we will find that Sindbad was very glad it had been dropped there.)

Games For Children

There are many games with which young people and children may beguile spare moments at the holiday hours. Beginning with the favorite old pastime of blowing soap bubbles, if a little glycerin be added to the water the bubbles will assume most beautiful colors.

Rural Spellings.

For this game, collect a number of long straws and stand them up to meet at the top and spread out like a haystack at the bottom. Now get two good little sticks, and make a hook at the end of each and the game begins. Each player takes a hook in turn, and tries to remove a straw without shaking or throwing down any of the other ones.

The one who cleverly succeeds in moving a straw under these conditions scores one; and he or she who gets most straws wins the game.

Sometimes the straws are marked to count two or three, or four, and are called king, queen, or bishop. The king removed counts four, the queen three, the bishop two. The straws thus removed should be larger than the rest, or have a tiny flower stuck in.

May Dew.

For this game the children divide into two parties, one party being called the roses, the other the dew seekers. The children on one side are provided each with a leaf, and advance singing:

Here we come gathering May dew,
May dew, May dew,
Here we come gathering May dew,
Early in the morning.

The roses reply:

Our pretty cups are full of dew,
Full of dew, full of dew.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Leamington, Aug. 20.

Dear Miss Grey: Please answer these questions as soon as possible:

(1) My knuckles are very large, and as I play the piano a great deal I wish you could tell me something I might do to make them smaller. Surely, if I raise my fingers 10 or 15 times daily will make the knuckles smaller, there is some physical exercise that will make the knuckles smaller.

(2) My hair is short and very curly. How can I care for it, and what hair dressing can I use to make it grow long and curly?

(3) Which of the two will be more popular this winter—suits or long coats?

(4) I am sixteen, and am very short. Shall I grow any more, do you think? Is there anything I can do to make myself grow taller?

(5) Is rowing good exercise for girls?

A.—(1) Leave your knuckles alone. Your hands will likely grow plumper and conceal the enlarged knuckles. (2) Massage your hair every night, rubbing the scalp with the tips of your fingers. Persevere in this, you will find it helpful. (3) Suits and long coats will both be much worn. The long coat should be becoming to you. (4) You will likely grow for the next two years. Advise you to go in for physical exercises. (5) Rowing is excellent. It brings every muscle into play.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it wrong for a young man to go with a girl who is his third cousin? C. D. A.

A.—No; if there is no objection from the parents.

Dear Miss Grey: Please answer these questions as soon as possible:

(1) What is the proper length of skirt for a girl of 14 who will be 15 in the winter?

Which we will gladly give to you Early in the morning.

The roses then all bow their heads. The leader touches one with a leaf, and the two then take hands, and try which can pull her over to the other side. If the dew gatherer succeeds in pulling the rose over to her side, she joins that party, and the game begins again in the same words.

The party which draws the greater number wins.

The Danish Game of Barr.

Someone in the garden cries out: "To the barrel game!" A medium-sized barrel is then suspended to a bough or between two posts. The barrel is filled with sweets, nuts, oranges, apples and funny little gifts—all unbreakable ones. The guests are placed in file, and each one bears a small club. The one who knocks off the first hoop gets the prize, but he who breaks the barrel itself receives the chief prize—that of the barrel king. As soon as the contents are scattered on the grass a general scramble ensues.

The Flower-Pot Game.

Set up a row of flower pots on a garden wall and weight the pots. Mark a number on each, that counts so much in the game. Let each player hit at the flower pots along the line with a bag of beans. He who hits the greatest number, according to the value marked on the pot, wins. He who breaks a pot, or by chance sends it over the wall, forfeits his game.

Guarding the Balloon.

Get an air balloon and inflate it. Let one player guard it, whilst the rest of the players go after it, each hitting it with a knotted handkerchief. The one who ursts it wins, but if the guardian succeeds in warding off the players the game is his.

would you suggest for same?

(3) This girl has only a small amount of hair, so little that it seems mockery to let it hang down her back; it is slightly curly. How would you suggest doing it up? Also what will make it grow thick and long? It is very fine.

Thanking you in advance, I remain, MOTHER S.

A.—(1) Almost to the shoe tops. (2) A girl of 14 should have a coat the length of her dress. (3) Massage the hair regularly for 10 or 15 minutes each night. If continued you will find this successful. Roll the hair softly back off the face and tie with a large bow at the back.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) How should a girl of 14 wear her hair? (2) What will make the hands white? (3) Are pumps worn as much as they were last winter and summer? GLADYS.

A.—(1) Part the hair, roll softly back from the face, tie with large bow at the back. If long enough braid and tie ends with another bow. (2) Rub well into the hands for about five minutes a small handful of oatmeal and olive oil. It will whiten, soften and cleanse. (3) Pumps are still much worn, but on dull leather instead of patent.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Please give me a recipe for removing watermelon stains from a colored silk dress? (2) I am a young girl, 18 years old; my young gentleman friend is very religious, but I am fond of dancing and playing cards. He will not keep company with me any longer if I do not give these things up. Would you advise me to give up all these? ISABELLA.

A.—(1) Try gasoline or a little soap and water. Anything else would be likely to take the color out of the silk. (2) If you care enough for your friend you will be willing to abide by his wishes.

THE ADVERTISER'S NEW STORY

The Advertiser will on Monday begin the publication of Mrs. Rinehart's famous story, "When a Man Marries." With two books Mrs. Rinehart made herself the most popular living writer of mystery stories. She put something new in them—humor. Now she has gone a step further, a big step. She has written a humorous story with a spice of mystery. In "When a Man Marries" her rapid, rollicking, irresistible sense of fun for the first time gets free chance and full chance. The result is a clever, snappy, sprightly, most delicious, ludicrous comedy novel.

To recount the plot would only state its perfect freshness. To mention the characters would only dull their complete spontaneity. To hint at the nature of the fun would only take the edge off the glorious gaiety. "When a Man Marries" is a frolic, a thing of hilarious joy, a most egregious lark, an iridescent bubble of love and laughter.

HILMA

William Tillinghast Eldridge.

As Barnsmurk disappeared a cry went up from the stairs, and Heinrich's men rushed down, driving our forces back by sheer weight.

Then I saw Heinrich at one side, fighting with some poor devil who was no match for him.

Some one blocked my way, and I was forced to fight and beat the man down before I could pass.

By then our men had driven the others back, and a cry went up from Karl, who I saw in the front of the fight, that we had won.

"Aye! Won! Won! Won!" I shouted, and made for Heinrich.

He saw me coming, but at the same instant realized his men were beaten and that the few left were taking to their heels. I could pass.

As I made for him he raised his pistol and fired. The bullet went wild and I was myself with no better luck and then rushed on, my sword drawn.

"Once again!" I cried, "and this time no table."

He glanced about, and seeing he had lost, called down the hall.

"He called to him to stand, and he turned and waited for me. A smile was on his face, his sword held ready, but as our blades met he jumped back quickly, and with an oath flung his empty pistol straight into my face.

For an instant I held my feet. I saw him turn, wave his hand at me and call out:

"If I had another bullet—!" Then he disappeared into a doorway on the right, while I, staggering under the blow, followed him. I half-dozed steps, clutched at the empty air, and pitched forward upon the floor.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The Grand Dukes Decide.

When I came to a realizing sense of myself, I hesitated before opening my eyes.

I knew I was in a bed, that a cool bandage was drawn tightly across my forehead; that the softness of the pillow was a relief, and the cool sheets were pulled up under my chin.

Then I moved my right hand and my left, and finding them still intact, opened my eyes.

I was in my own room at the inn, Karl was leaning against the door, staring at the pile of logs on the andirons.

His head was bandaged, as it had been when he rode up to the castle. "Hallo!" I said.

"He turned with a glad cry and sprang across the room.

"Thank Heaven, John, you're alive!" "Alive!" I echoed. "Of course I am. Thank Heaven!" he said again, staying at me as if I were a ghost. "The doctor said you would wake true as a die."

"What day is it?" I demanded.

"Today."

"Yes, it was yesterday. Does it seem so long ago?"

"And Hil—her Highness?"

"Safe! thanks to the bravest man in the world."

"A lot of good I did, shut up there in the tower, but you and Barnsmurk. How did you come out from that scrap in the garden?"

"With this lump on the head, Barnsmurk had a bullet in his shoulder."

"Hilma didn't get you then?"

"No. The people from the inn scared them away or they would have."

"We nearly died with impudence until you raised the princess' flag."

"I was at the castle, and I raised the one in answer."

"Yes, Hilma was in?"

"Yes, Hilma was in?"

"Yes, Hilma was in?"

"Yes, Hilma was in?"

"Yes, Hilma was in?"

grand dukes met to formally approve of the one to be crowned on the morrow.

"What time is it?" I demanded.

Karl looked at his watch.

"Three o'clock."

"What time do the grand dukes meet?"

"Three o'clock."

"Then what in Heaven's name are you doing here? Isn't her Highness going before them to press her claim?"

"Yes," he replied, turning to the open window.

"Well, your place is there, isn't it?" I demanded.

"I was staying with you."

"Why?"

"Why?" Karl asked in some surprise.

"Yes, why? Because I need watching? Are you afraid to trust me, or why is it you hang over me as a guard?"

I dare say I was a bit off my head or I would not have spoken as I did. The poor fellow looked hurt at my words, and I've no doubt he was, for they were uncalculated for and unjust.

"You're a bit wild yet from your wounds. You'd better sleep," Karl said.

"I don't want to sleep," I said. "I'm here. I'm all right. You go—hurry! Your place is with her. Go—hurry!"

For a minute he hesitated and shook his head.

"Go!" I ordered.

"Go, and say I sent you!"

"If I've got to stay here in bed, I can do it as well alone as with you."

"But—"

"Go, and be damned to you. You're late now."

the envelope. By God, the documents! The evidence!" I shouted.

For the first time since tearing them from Heinrich's pocket had I remembered them. Like one possessed, I began to search my rooms for the coat I had worn the day before. At last I found it in a corner of my bedroom, where it had been thrown down, and in the inside pocket lay the envelope.

A glance sufficed to assure me that its contents were intact, and then with the thought that perhaps already the grand dukes had cast their vote against her Highness, I began pulling on my clothes.

"You're not going out, sir?" the poor landlord shrieked. "The doctor forbade it, and Count von Meider—he—"

"To the devil with advice!" I cried. "Order me a horse quick! Do you hear me? It's the only way to save her."

"Save who, sir?" he questioned.

"Her Highness! If I don't get to the castle with these papers in five minutes Joachim will be accepted by the dukes."

"Why, sir, of course, sir! I fear you are mistaken, sir," he muttered. "Of course it will be his Highness, Prince Joachim."

"I slam!" I said, steadying my voice, for I saw I must convince the fellow. I was in my right mind, "her Highness is going to demand the right before Joachim. These documents will place her Highness on the throne, at me a horse."

One instant he looked at me in doubt, and then, seeming to read sanity in my face, flew out of the room.

How I dressed myself I do not know. The strength that I thought was mine fled and only the excitement bore me up. At last I pulled on my boots, threw a coat over my shirt, and with the envelope in one pocket, my revolver in another, I rushed through the halls, out the door and flung myself into the saddle.

I through the park and down the avenue I thundered, and as I rode into the square, my horse waltz with sweat, my whip still cutting his flanks, the clock in the cathedral chimed four.

Details narrow and with that ride, and my entrance into the castle, for it was all one jumble in my head then and now.

Healthy Happy Children

AS everyday food for growing children, good bread and butter is much more wholesome than meat. It is lighter in the stomach, more easy to digest and furnishes every element of health and strength necessary for the growing child, provided the flour is rich in that fine quality of high grade gluten which distinguishes Ogilvie's

Royal Household Flour.

It is this rich nourishing element which makes children grow fat and happy when given plenty of bread made from this finest of all flours. Children thrive on it. It puts flesh on their bones and brings the rosy flush of health to their cheeks.

This is not so with bread made from inferior flours. It falls very far short of being whole food and fails to build up strong, vigorous growth. For the children's sake buy the best flour—Ogilvie's Royal Household. It counts for health and happiness. Best and most nutritious for pastry as well as for bread.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook," with 125 pages of recipes that have been tried and tested, will be sent free if you will send us your address and mention the name of your dealer.

MANAGER KING WANTS
POWER BY KILOWATT*Says Peak Load System Would Be Unfair to Street Railway.

The London Street Railway Company have received no second offer from the hydro-electric commission regarding power.

It will be remembered that some time ago the commission offered power to the company at $31 per horse power on the peak load basis. Manager King, after making several tests, refused to accept the offer, as picnic days and holidays would be too much of a handicap to purchase power on that basis.

Since that time the commission have been looking into the question, and it was expected that a second offer would be made before this. The latest rumor at the city hall is that the commission will sell power on the average load for the month. The power used during the whole period would be added together, and the amount divided by the number of days used to obtain the daily load.

What is wanted. Manager King, in conversation with The Advertiser, stated that he had not heard from the commission, and he expected that a second offer would be made the company.

"The best and most equitable method of selling power to us, would be to sell it on our lines of operation, to hour basis," said Manager King. "That would mean that we would pay exactly for what we used. The worst feature of it is that we lose from 15 to 20 per cent in transforming the power. If power were delivered to us as I suggest, it would be eminently fair for both parties."

MAY YOHE PARALYZEDCollapses While Singing in a San Francisco Cafe.

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—May Yohe (Lady Hope) suddenly collapsed while singing in a cafe, where she had been engaged several weeks ago. Physicians announced that she is suffering from temporary paralysis affecting one side of her body, and it is feared her public career is ended. The collapse came while Miss Yohe was in the middle of her song and when the place was crowded.

THREE BLIND SISTERSThe Trio Helped by Delicate Surgical Operation.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 25.—According to an announcement made from St. Mary's Hospital, Monday, the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Braden, of Tuscola County, who are lying side by side in this city, suffering from operations made, the relief of blindness since birth, will live and, will at least have a partial gift of sight. The children, aged 2, 4 and 6 years, were operated upon last week, and it will be at least a week before the results can be known. Only one eye in each child has been touched so far, and if the operations are successful the other eyes will be treated. The mother is in constant attendance.

WRECK OF THE TYSONIdentity of Vessel That Did the Damage Known to Authorities.

Amherstburg, Aug. 25.—The identity of the vessel which broke the speed of the lighter Tyson was cast upon the wharf and ruined, is known to the authorities.

There are reports that the matter will be dropped when a settlement for which negotiations are now under way has been completed.

The Tyson will be hauled from the shore today and taken to Detroit for repairs. Most of its cargo of coal has been recovered by a lighter. The two boilers and the two hoisting engines of the Tyson have been located.

BIG COAL BUSINESSRecord-Breaking Handling of Coal at Fort William.

Fort William, Aug. 25.—More coal has been unloaded at this port since the opening of navigation than in any previous similar period last year. The total is greater than that of any other Canadian port, and is exceeded by only Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Superior and Duluth.

Some 615,000 tons were handled at the C. P. R. dock alone, an amount greater than ever before, and equal to any single dock in North America in an equal period of time.

Orders placed in Cleveland and Buffalo will bring the coal receipts at Fort William up to about 1,250,000 tons for the season. About 90 per cent of the anthracite is for western distribution; much of the bituminous also is for the west, and the remainder will be used by the railways.

BOYS BUY COCAINE.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—After months of work, the police have trapped a druggist in the open sale of cocaine. They arrested on Sunday two boys who had cocaine on them, and who gave the name of the druggist. The police went in plain clothes, and while the boys came in and got the drug, telling the proprietor that the police were "all right," and they were sold cocaine also.

Trieste, Italy, Aug. 25.—During the convention, under which Korea, the "Hermit Kingdom," is annexed to Japan, was communicated at 11 o'clock yesterday to the representatives of the powers. The document, which according to now established facts, was signed Aug. 22, will be effective when officially promulgated. This will occur, according to some of the ministers, Aug. 29 or Aug. 30, when the independent existence of the little kingdom, the struggle for whose control started the Russo-Japanese war, will cease.

Baron Bira, minister of the interior, summoned the proprietors of all the Japanese newspapers to his cabinet today and requested them to publish no unauthorized information regarding the situation in Korea. He pointed out that such publication under existing conditions would only make the task of the Japanese government in carrying out the annexation more difficult.

To this the newspapers agreed, and only official statements will be published here before the publication of the promulgation of the convention. The Japanese Government, which has a large number of representatives already in Korea, will be prepared to take over the machinery of administration in Korea, without delay. Considerable uneasiness is reported at Seoul owing to the circulation of threats of disorder following the annexation. These emanate, according to the view taken here, from malcontents who have not received the consideration they are due in provision made by the convention for the future of the Korean royal family, nobles and officials. Sporadic outbreaks in protest against the absorption of Korea by Japan are anticipated, but serious rioting or even widespread objection from the Koreans to the annexation are not expected.

TO THE NORTH POLE
BY SKY ROUTE

Trendheim, Aug. 25.—The Nordenfjord Steamship Company's steamer, King Harold, which has returned from the Arctic, reports that she reached the pole in 100 days, 10 minutes. She met the Amundsen expedition on board the Fram at Spitzbergen. Amundsen reported that he had discovered a volcano and geyser at Wood Bay Beach, covered with lava. Count Zeppelin, who with Prince Henry of Prussia and others, who went to the Arctic to study conditions before an attempt is made to reach the pole in one of the Zeppelin airships, has taken possession of a tract of land on King's Bay, which he has named Zeppelinshafen.

A LOST LAUNCHSupposed to be the "Golden Girl" of Grand Rapids, With Woman
Lawyer and Son Aboard.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 25.—The boat which left Ludington harbor just before the tornado of Monday night and that was reported yesterday to be probably lost, is the Golden Girl, a gasoline launch in which Mrs. Elizabeth Gassfield and her son, of Grand Rapids, have been cruising the lake all summer, carrying a cargo of fruit or vegetables. The launch was reported to have been wrecked on the shore of Chicago with Mrs. Gassfield and son aboard, and it is believed to be impossible that such a tiny craft could survive the terrific storm. Nothing has yet been heard from it. Mrs. Gassfield is a woman attorney, who has practiced in Grand Rapids for many years.

HOT BLAZE IN OGDENSBURGElevator Burned and Steamer Damaged—Loss, $200,000.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A fire which burned the elevator of the Rutland Transit Company here yesterday, and a loss of $200,000, also burned off the hatch covers and woodwork of the steamer Bennington, tied up alongside the elevator. The steamer arrived from Chicago yesterday, and the elevator worked until after midnight unloading her. Three hours later the fire broke out, presumably from an over-heated journal. Burning debris fell across the hatch covers, and the steamer setting it ablaze. The elevator contained 100,000 bushels of corn and oats, and was insured for $120,000.

FIRE CHIEFS' HOLIDAY.

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The International Association of Fire Chiefs held no session today, but gave up the entire day to watching exhibitions of fire apparatus and tests of automobile fire engines. The election of officers will be held Friday. Chief John Thompson, of Toronto, Ont., is expected to be elected president. The chiefs are divided in opinion as to the use of automobile fire engines.

HURLED 50 FEET TO DEATH.

Hamilton, Aug. 25.—Marino Blanklin, 35 years of age, an Italian laborer, working with a gang near Waterdown, was struck by a Grand Trunk train and instantly killed yesterday morning.

He became confused by trains approaching from both directions, and stepped in front of a fast express, which hurled him 50 feet.

PARTING SHOTS
FOR EX-PRESIDENT*The Train That Took Defeated
Madriz Away Was Fired on
By Estrada's Men.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The final word telling of the passing into history of the Madriz Government at Managua was received at the state department yesterday in an official dispatch from United States Consul Olivares, stationed at Managua.

It told of the disorder that preceded the downfall of Madriz at Managua, the escape of the defeated president from the city as shots were fired at his train, and the assumption of the presidency and the command of the local troops by the brother of the revolutionary leader, General Juan Estrada.

Officials of the penitentiary at Managua, where 700 prisoners were confined, called at the United States consulate on Friday night, and voluntarily made affidavits to the effect that the commandant of the prison had hatched a plot to blow up the institution and its inmates in the event of the downfall of the Madriz faction. Prisoners from foreign nations were among those behind the bars.

The foreign consuls promptly laid the matter before Dr. Madriz, who undertook to look into the charges. The president dismissed the commandant of the prison. Before Madriz had abandoned his office, the prison left without guards, had emptied its inmates into the streets.

Many of them obtained rifles and roamed the streets, in some cases firing upon troops of the Madriz faction. As soon as Madriz left, General Aurelio Estrada, a brother of the revolutionary leader, took command of the local troops to police the city.

TOLL OF CHOLERA
IN ITALY GROWS*Numerous New Cases and Large Proportion of Deaths.

Tokio, Aug. 25.—The text of the past 24 hours there have been nine new cholera, and twelve deaths here from cholera. At Barietta, eight cases and seven deaths. At Margherita, Savoia, five cases and two deaths. At San Ferdinando, three cases and one death. At Trinitapoli, four cases and three deaths.

NO HELP FOR THE MENFashion Decries That Women's Big Hats Shall Be Bigger.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—There is no relief in sight for women, who have accepted the dictates of fashion and struggled under the unwhimsicality of hats of the slip-on or umbrella. That is the verdict of the National Association of Retail Milliners, which is holding its annual convention here.

Big hats are to be bigger, and small hats smaller than ever before. There are to be no medium-sized hats. The desire for extremes extends even to the coloring, according to Mme. Marie, president of the association. The more brilliant the coloring the more nearly to the ideal effect will the new hat conform.

New shades will include magnolia, a shade of orange, coral red, pompadour, a dead rose, heron, a light mahogany and a cajeu, a raisin color.

MRS. CUDAHY GETS
QUICK DIVORCE*Prenatal Affair, Only Ground Being Incompatibility.

Kansas City, Aug. 25.—Mrs. "Jack" Cudahy filed suit for divorce in James H. Slovers' court yesterday afternoon. The petition was on account of incompatibility. It had been agreed that the four children should be given to the care of Mr. Cudahy's father, Michael Cudahy, of Omaha.

Mrs. Cudahy's maid, Elizabeth Johnson, testified that she had heard Mr. Cudahy call his wife "improper names," and that he had used vulgar and abusive language to her. This was the extent of the witness's testimony. At 3:45 o'clock the decree was granted, fifteen minutes after the action was begun.

Mrs. Cudahy is free, but the only consideration named is $1. That the amount of alimony—and it is generally understood that there is alimony—the attorney refused to state. A friend of the family said this afternoon that Cudahy, Sen., had agreed to pay her $5,000 for the first year, and $3,000 per year thereafter as long as she remains single. She is to have the household furniture.

"She expects to go on the vaudeville stage, where she will sing two songs, playing her own accompaniment," this friend declared. "She has an offer of a 30-weeks' contract at $500 per week. The settlement has been arranged with Cudahy, Sen., by her father."

Mrs. Cudahy and her children left on a Milwaukee train immediately after her divorce, for Chicago. They will make a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Cudahy, parents of Jack Cudahy, with whom the children will be left.

CROP BETTER THAN EXPECTED.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Alexander Cavanagh, of the board of trade, was in receipt of a wire from Winnipeg today, which said that the export of Mesera, Finlay, Birrell & Co. reports from Portage la Prairie that farmers in that district were threshing 18 bushels of wheat, where only 10 bushels had been expected.

VETERAN TURFMAN DEAD.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Michael Hayes, 63 years old, veteran driver of harness racers, died last night at Reasburg, Wis., from injuries suffered in a race in that city on Aug. 10, when he was thrown from a sulky.

KAISER'S NAME LEFT OUT.

Christiania, Aug. 25.—According to M. Lovland, chairman of the Nobel committee, the fact that Emperor William's name was not proposed before Feb. 1, precludes his being awarded the Nobel peace prize this year.

MOIR MADE MISTAKE
IN TRAVELLING EASTWARD*Should Not Have Attempted to Cross at Niagara Says a Local Officer.

"Moir showed pretty poor judgment in going east of Hamilton," said a police officer to The Advertiser. "For one chance that he would have had to get across the river at Niagara, he would have had a thousand at Detroit. There are hundreds of boats all along the bank of the river that he could have rowed across into Michigan, and once there he would have been comparatively safe."

The police believe that the instigation made in certain Hamilton papers regarding a London lady assisting Moir to escape are utterly unfounded. "The lady hinted at," said an official today, "was one of the best of women, and anything she sent to Moir in the way of magazines, or reading matter was done out of the kindness of her heart. I am sure she never had anything whatever to do with the escape. She would not be a party to such an affair, and has a splendid record in every way."

"SULLY" DUPLICATES

[By Associated Press.] Washington, Aug. 25.—Catcher Billy Sullivan, of the Chicago Americans, today duplicated the feat of Catcher Charles Street, of the Washington Americans, last year, in catching a baseball thrown from a window at the top of Washington Monument, a perpendicular drop of 542 feet.

THRESHER KILLEDSeparator Broke Away From Engine—
Albert Moyer Crushed to Death.

Vineland, Aug. 25.—Albert Moyer, a thresher, while moving his threshing outfit from J. Rittenhouse's barn this morning, he was almost instantly killed. The engine and separator broke away from the engine, and the separator came forward, crushing Moyer against the engine and badly scalding him. Mr. Moyer was extricated within a few minutes, but life was extinct. A grown-up son survives him.

TO MOVE THE GRAINCanadian Northern Has Ten Thousand
Cars Stored in Its Yards.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 25.—In the various yards over the system of the Canadian Northern are 10,000 box cars and the officials of the road are awaiting the signal from the farmers to throw the mass of trains into action in the movement of the western wheat crop. The company recently added to their stock 15 new mogul engines to assist in the carrying of grain.

"We are ready and fully prepared to handle our share of the harvest, no matter how great or how small may be the need," declared General Sir, Cameron today. Later reports received by the C. N. R. are to the effect that thrashing is general throughout the three western provinces and a fortnight will see a great deal of the grain in the granaries.

TIGER TACKLED TRAINERNew York Man Was Badly Mauled in a New Jersey Park.

New York, Aug. 25.—Paul Niering, 33 years old, an animal trainer, of No. 286 South Columbia avenue, Mount Vernon, was badly clawed by the Bengal tiger Prince in the arena at Hillside Pleasure Park, Bellevue, N. J., in the presence of about 200 persons yesterday afternoon.

The tiger was taken out of its cage into the arena yesterday afternoon. Niering mounted its back and rode around amid the applause of the crowd. When he dismounted in forcing him into the arena at the horror of the spectators pinned him to the floor.

The tiger proceeded to claw Niering's back. It ripped his flesh from his neck to his thighs. The trainer, Irwin and McBride, two other trainers, by beating the animal over the head with iron forks, succeeded in forcing him into a corner long enough to allow Niering to crawl out of the cage.

DECEYED A DUKEAmerican Girl Soon to Marry the Duke of the Abruzzi.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Petit Parisien correspondent says Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins have been engaged unofficially for more than two years with the approval of King Victor Emmanuel, who stipulated that the official announcements should not be made until the duke had attained the rank of rear admiral, at the end of this year. The marriage of the couple, the correspondent added, will follow shortly upon that event.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Only one of the bricklayers charged by Mr. Lauer, secretary of the Builders' Exchange, with deserting their jobs has so far been arrested, and the other nine have barricaded themselves in the temple and defied the Thiel detectives, who are trying to serve the warrants.

The detectives cannot go into the Labor Temple to arrest the men, and the men are living inside the building, friendly members of the union bringing their meals into them.

A detective is watching the doors day and night.

BAKER'S TWIRLING
WINS FOR ASKINS

South Londoner Fanned Eight Men in a Match With the Dundas Centre Team.

LOSERS' ERRORS COSTLY

Shortstop Thomas Has List of Three Bubbles in His Record—Score, Four to Two.

By a score of 4 to 2, Ask Street boys won from the Dundas Centre club in the first game of the final series in the Methodist Baseball League at Queen's Park last evening.

The game was fast and interesting, and while Ask Street boys were playing on a strange diamond, it was quite evident that they made themselves at home.

Pitcher Baker, for Ask Street, is considered one of the best in the league, and last evening he struck out eight men, while for Dundas Centre "Rube" Johnson was not so far behind him, when it was considered that "Rube" had pitched three straight games in the succeeding nights, and necessarily felt the effects.

The Ask Street boys played together well, and few errors were credited to them.

Catcher Westman, for Dundas Centre, worked under difficulty in the strained ankle he is nursing. The score follows:

Ask Street.	Dundas Centre.
Smith, 2-2	0-1
Thomas, 1-1	0-1
Liddy, 1-2	0-2
Westman, 2-2	0-2
King, 2-2	0-2
Armstrong, 2-2	0-2
W. Vorn, 2-2	0-2
Johnson, 2-2	0-2
Total.	18-25

Errors—Westman, Thomas, Johnson, Shannon, Baker, Stolen bases—Hodgins, Struck out—By Johnson 5, by Baker 8. Base on balls—Hodgins, Left on bases—Askins 2. Umpires, Shannon and Crumney.

On Friday evening Dundas Centre plays Ask Street at the Dundas Centre diamond, at 6:30. The play-off is for the best three in five, instead of two in three.

Wasn't Good Enough For the Pirates
But Bransfield Made Fred Clarke Sorry

Several years ago Fred Clarke, manager of the Pirates, tin-canned "Kitty" Bransfield. Clarke said Bransfield was all in. "Kitty" went to the Phillies, played swell ball at first base, and waited for a chance to get even with Clarke.

Recently Bransfield had his chance, and he accepted it. The Phillies walloped the Pirates by a score of 18 to 0 and Bransfield figured in just eleven of the runs. "Kitty" scored three runs himself and hammered in eight more by pounding out two triples and three singles.

Incidentally, the Pirates have never had a real good season since the Bransfield left the team. When Clarke let this great player go it was reported that Wagner was the cause of the trouble. Rumor had it that Wagner missed the Pirates because he liked him, and then sukked until Clarke had to get rid of the Dutchman's conqueror.

BISHOP INGRAM SPENT A DELIGHTFUL HOLIDAY

Guest of Judge and Mrs. Ermattinger in St. Thomas on Wednesday.

[By Our Own Men.]

St. Thomas, Aug. 24.—Bishop Ingram spent a most delightful holiday here today, as the guest of Judge and Mrs. Ermattinger, at the Elgin Golf and Country Clubhouse, and a great many residents of St. Thomas were afforded the opportunity of not only watching the distinguished prelate play golf, but also of meeting him. The bishop arrived about 11 o'clock in the motor car of Mr. David Marshall, M. P., and was accompanied by Mr. Frederick Winnington Ingram, Mrs. Ingram and Miss Blanche Ingram. The party were entertained at luncheon by Judge and Mrs. Ermattinger, and the only guests present were Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon, Mrs. Pidgeon, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hood.

Played Singles.

During the morning, in order that the bishop might try the links, he and Judge Ermattinger played singles, and the scores resulted in a tie. It was decided to play five holes to settle the tie, and the bishop came out with two up. The game was watched with no little interest, and Bishop Ingram speedily demonstrated that he is an enthusiast at golf. He is an excellent driver, and plays the game to finish. In the afternoon a foursome was played, Bishop Ingram and Rev. E. L. Pidgeon being matched against Judge Ermattinger and Mr. Hood. The scores were as follows: Bishop Ingram 91, Rev. E. L. Pidgeon 82, Judge Ermattinger 91, Mr. Hood 82.

During the afternoon an informal tea was served on the verandah of the clubhouse, and a number of people were presented to Bishop Ingram, and a very happy time was spent. The bishop expressed himself as greatly pleased with the outing he had had. On Friday he goes to Niagara Falls, and later to Ottawa. It is thought that before he goes finally Bishop Ingram will give an address in Trinity Church, St. Thomas.

THE FIRE FIGHTERS ASSISTED BY SNOW

Idaho's Dead Estimated at 200—Names of Many Will Never Be Known.

Spokane, Aug. 24.—Forest fires have slain more than 200 persons, nearly all fire-fighters, in Idaho, according to figures compiled tonight from latest reports.

Superintendent Weigel, of the Coeur d'Alene National Forest, after receiving many reports of disaster to various parties of his 600 employees, posted a bulletin tonight in his office at Wallace, announcing the death of 114 of the men. He also expressed grave concern for the safety of Ranger Joseph B. Palm and 74 men, who were surrounded by fire on Saturday night in the forest on the Big Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River near where another party lost thirteen men.

The charred bodies of 25 fire-fighters were found yesterday on Setzer Creek in the St. Joe country.

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 24.—Today's developments in the forest fire situation in Montana were encouraging. For the first time in several days the sun shone through the pall of smoke that has hung over Missoula.

Men reported as missing were found. The intensity of the flames was greatly reduced by the rain of last night. All towns in the fire area are now out of danger.

There are now nine authentic cases of deaths in Montana. These include eight miners, the bullion mine near Borax, and one death at Taft. A few are still missing, but these are gradually diminishing as communication is restored. The day also brought a denial report that Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound train was hemmed in by a fire in Northern Idaho.

Two severely scorched Japanese druggists, themselves to Avery, Idaho, last night, at told of the death of their companions. The ten men, employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad, had gone on a night flight. They were surrounded by flames and only two men escaped. The number of deaths in Washington was today reduced to three, all in the Pen d'Oreille Valley, near Newport. One of these victims, Mrs. Ernest Reinhardt, wife of a rancher, is the only woman known to have been burned to death in any of the fires.

The names of many of the dead will never be known. The rangers employed all the men they could press into the service. When the groups of fire-fighters were overwhelmed the camps were also destroyed, the clothes were burned off the bodies of the men, and the bodies were often charred beyond that the searchers stopped on them, thinking they were burned logs.

TASK FOR OSLER

Noted Canadian Scientist Will Probe Infant Paralysis.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Dr. William Osler, the famous Canadian scientist, now of Oxford, was in Washington today for the purpose, it is said, of investigating the cause of infantile paralysis, which is epidemic here, and in Ontario, particularly in Hamilton. The Medical Association here has undertaken an extensive study of the infantile malady, which so far has baffled physicians in this country. The medical fraternity is divided on the elementary question as to whether infantile paralysis is contagious or infectious.

MORE RUSSELL CARS FOR YEAR OF 1911

$100,000 Addition to Factory and Output Doubled to Meet the Demand.

The Canada Cycle and Motor Company are expending $100,000 on an addition to their plant at West Toronto a four-story building 90x120 feet, in which expensive machinery will be installed. A large number of additional skilled mechanics will be required. This expansion is due to the success of the Russell-Knight Automobile. The Canadian company has nearly enough to supply the demand, and will be doubled for the 1911 season. The general manager states that half a million dollars has been invested in Knight motors alone for Russell-Knight 1911 cars, which will be much less than the demand calls for.

TOWN MUST PAY

Important Legal Decision in Connection With a Strike.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—An important case has just been decided against the town of Sault Ste. Marie, but affecting all other places.

Rioting occurred in the town in 1903 in connection with a strike, and as a result troops were sent up from the east. The amount of cost of maintenance, etc., of the soldiers, was $7,253, but this the town refused to pay.

DO YOU WANT TO SEE AN AIRSHIP?

One of the greatest aviators on the continent of America is Glenn H. Curtis, who has been a continuous student of airships for some years, and who has made some of the greatest flights that the air has ever been known. Since July, 1908, he has made six different flights that are now on record as being the longest and greatest known in the world.

On Tuesday next Curtis will attempt to make the longest flight over the water ever made, from Euclid Beach, Cleveland, Ohio, to Cedar Point, Ohio.

The Southwestern Traction Company and steamer Forest City will run extra special excursions to Cleveland for this event. The round trip is $1.50. Tickets are good going Saturday, Aug. 27, and Monday, Aug. 29, returning either Sunday or Tuesday. The excursions to Cleveland have been liberally patronized, and are economical in price. The last excursion was attended by a great crowd, and it is expected this one will be a little larger.
