STAGE SET BY BOLD SPANISH SWINDLERS TO FLEECE LONDONER OF A LARGE SUM

"Advertiser" Shows Up Clever Attempt to Work "Bunco" Scheme.

ALL IN READINESS TO GO TO MADRID

Businessman Furnished With Details Whereby He Is to Make European Trip.

Should any brave young man, who is thirst for adventure, have a desire to do the soldier of fortune role in a thrilling little affair in Spain, The Advertiser is in a position to accommodate him. To those who say there is no real romance beyond the realms of fiction, it can be answered that right at elbow is a made-to-order mystery, which requires courage, a little money, and some tact. With these qualifications the hero will have little difficulty in procuring a passport, and the modern novelists provide for their valorous leading men.

In order to explain how the stage was set for this little drama, it is necessary to state that several weeks ago a number of London businessmen received a communication from Spain. The advertiser has permitted to examine the letter, which came from Mr. Robert Hueston, of Wellington street, and it will be remembered that it purported to come from the late Alexander Sadrowsky. The writer described himself as a Russian banker, who had been imprisoned in Madrid, after having absconded from Russia with the sum of $600,000.

Sadrowsky in Prison.

He stated that he had become involved in a quarrel with another Russian, and that he had shot him. The result was that Sadrowsky was sentenced to prison in Madrid. Upon his arrest his baggage was seized, and in his letter to Mr. Hueston and others he unfolded a scheme whereby he could regain possession of all of the money, excepting what was to be paid to the man who agreed to be a party to the scheme. In a postscript, he stated that he had a document which would bring about the recovery of the fortune. All that was required was that someone should come to Madrid, secure the postscript, and subsequently the money.

The advertiser, in instructions that in case it was decided to give assistance to Sadrowsky, a cablegram should be sent, which would be an intimation to the conspirators that "come-on" was ready to enter into the scheme, or at least to hear more about it. The Londoner was directed to cable an address in Valladolid, Spain, simply the one word, "Well."

Mr. Hueston, needless to say, had no objection to the scheme, and a communication, concluding that on the very face of it, it was an attempt to swindle.

The Cablegram Sent.

The advertiser was able to secure possession of the address at Valladolid, however, and in another of its chapters, a member of the staff answered the letter with a cable. Mr. Hueston's name being signed to it. Not only was this done with the idea of exposing what seems to be a certain swindle, but because of the interest that a great many citizens had shown in the case.

In the form of a bulky letter, the answer to the cablegram came on Saturday. It was found to contain no explicit instructions as to further procedure on the part of the intended victim, but several remarkable counterfeits of bank documents. Even the royal coat-of-arms and the seal of the city of Madrid are reproduced on the commitment to purchase Sadrowsky, which was obviously sent to make the unwary one believe that the case is genuine.

There are also letters from Sadrowsky, unfolding the scheme in minute detail, and calling into the play many niceties of diction and fine imagination. The scheme outlined for Mr. Hueston to secure $100,000 as his share of cash, 150,000 in bonds ($400,000), and the rest in real estate. It is written on the ruled paper in delicate handwriting, and must have required considerable time in composition. The letter is dated Madrid, Nov. 11, and reads as follows:

Dear Sir: With great pleasure I have received your cablegram, and I pass to explain you my circumstances as briefly as possible.

Before all I must say to you, as you will hereafter see, that the person aiding us in the matter is a jailer of the prison, which is a good man at all whose confidence I have obtained. The person to whom you have cabled in his brother-in-law, but without being sure about having yourself received my first letter, I have not deemed convenient to inform you about the name and quality of said good man, that is to say, the jailer.

The matter is the following: I was situated as a banker in St. Petersburg (Russia), and after some unfortunate speculations which would take too long to explain, I was about to be arrested for fraudulent bankruptcy, when I resolved to fly for shelter to another country. My downfall was mainly caused by the prolonged political revolutions in Russia, which caused me tremendous losses in the exchange, and as I was seriously implicated for almost a decade, and unable to pay interest to my depositors, I realized that I still had in cash, 150,000 rubles ($400,000), and I left Russia secretly as to assure my only daughter a fortune, and to save part of the fortune for which I had worked for so many years.

Enter the Beautiful Daughter.

I must not omit to mention that some 15 days before my flight I had

Exposing of Group of Daring Spanish Swindlers

A swindler, who claims to be Alexander Sadrowsky, a Russian banker who absconded, wants a London businessman to go to Madrid, Spain, and bring $3,000 in order that a hidden check for $600,000 may be secured. The Londoner is to share in the scheme to the extent of $100,000, the only consideration being that he bring his $3,000 in bank notes and not in the form of a check. How The Advertiser answered the swindlers and revealed the second chapter of the attempt to fleece a number of businessmen is told in the accompanying story. The machinery of the European crooks is of delicate construction, and the whole story reads more like fiction than fact.

DR. ROUTLEDGE IN LOCAL CHURCH

Preached Anniversary Sermons in the Colborne Street Methodist.

MORTGAGE IS REDUCED

Collection of About $1,000 Taken Up on Sunday Night—A Concert

Rev. Dr. Routledge, now of Wingham, formerly of this city, preached anniversary sermons twice on Sunday in the Colborne Street Methodist Church. His morning address was from the text, Matthew xxv, 27: "Thou oughtest, therefore, to have put my money to the exchequer, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury."

Church An Investment.

The question arises, "Is the church a good investment?" The church must pay interest on what has been invested in it. It should devote more attention to its social aspect. In the social reserve and aloofness of many of its members the work of the church suffers. The church needs greater evangelists, men who do not see themselves as being in the world, but who are in the world. Just as investments in the financial world frequently need increased investments to protect the money already in, so the church needs, in order to protect what it already has at stake, new and increased investments of money, soul and character.

Collection Taken Up.

The attendance at night was unusually large. The collections taken for the relief of the church to only a few hundred dollars. Under the pastorate of Rev. D. N. McCamus and the previous pastor, Rev. F. E. Malott, Colborne Street Church has made exceptional progress.

YOUTH IS CHARGED WITH STEALING CASH

H. Shay, a Tecumseh Bell Boy, is charged with stealing $35.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of H. Shay, a young man who has been acting as bell boy at the Tecumseh House for some time. He has not as yet been apprehended. On Saturday afternoon, before three o'clock, it is alleged, Shay was given $35 in bills by the clerk, Mr. William Freine, to go to the bank and have it changed into silver.

REV. ARCH. CULLENS HAS ACCEPTED CALL

Provincial Secretary of Y. M. C. A. is Going to Lanseville, Massachusetts.

Rev. Arch. Cullens, of this city, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Congregational Church of Lanseville, Mass., and will assume his duties on Dec. 1 next. For the past four years he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work as provincial secretary, but through ill-health, he was compelled to give up. He has now regained his health, and is ready for active ministerial work.

Mr. Cullens and family will be greatly missed from New St. James' Presbyterian Church, with which they have been identified for the past four years as active workers in church and Sabbath school. The First Congregational Church in this city extended him a call, which he was unable to accept. The good wishes of a host of friends accompany him and his family to his new field of labor.

SIR WILFRID HALE AND HEARTY ON SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY

Telegrams and Cable Messages of Congratulation Are Pouring In On the Liberal Chieftain From All Quarters of the Earth—Will Lead Debate Today.

(Special to The Advertiser.) Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, hale, hearty, and hopeful, is celebrating his 70th birthday today. Telegrams and cable messages are pouring in upon him from all parts of the earth, again calling to the fact that he is still one of the outstanding figures of the world. He is celebrating the event by making an attack upon the Borden Government. It is expected that the speech will be an important one, and that the speech he made when the Speaker was elected will be found to have been only a mild preliminary to the real attack which will be delivered today.

MIDLAND'S NEW PROPOSITION MEETS WITH MUCH APPROVAL

$25,000 for Company To Be Applied to a New Depot for Radials, Etc., Seems To Be in Favor With the Man on the Street.

The proposition to grant $25,000 to the North Midland Railway for a joint station, where all radial lines may enter, is meeting with much support throughout the city, and it is expected that it will carry. Of course, the London Street Railway Company will have to be reckoned with before the whole question is definitely settled, and a delay in the working out of the company's plans may follow.

Justice Middleton was confronted with a list of but six or seven cases after the actions for settlement and postponement had been eliminated, and the opening of the non-jury sessions of the high court, which commenced at the courthouse this afternoon. These which it is considered practically certain will be decided by the court are:

No. 1—Parsons vs. the City of London and the Royal Bank.
No. 2—John Clark vs. C. B. Keenleyside.
No. 3—Melvin O'Neill vs. Township of London and T. Clatworthy.
No. 4—Joseph H. Wood vs. James Cattanach.
No. 5—George D. Binder vs. William Mahon, et al.
No. 6—O. C. Holmes vs. Richard and Amelia Pincombe.
No. 7—Vanderhoof & Co. of Windsor, Mills vs. Free, of West Nisour, and Oiler Wade vs. John Mensor, have all been definitely postponed by consent.

May Be Settlement.

There is a possibility of a settlement in the action for damages brought by William Holloway of the north end, against the City of London. The litigation is the result of injuries to Holloway's infant daughter, who was permanently injured by falling off a sidewalk over an embankment on Wellington street, near St. James street. The action for damages was brought by the plaintiff's father, Mr. W. G. Winnet, acting for the plaintiff, and City Solicitor Meredith for the corporation.

EARLY WINTER WILL HIT FARMERS HARD

All Through the District Much Work Remains To Be Done.

Chatham, Nov. 20.—Thousands of dollars will be lost to the farmers of Kent County through the immense acreage of sugar beets which were left in the fields in the midst of the harvest. It is estimated that some five hundred acres of sugar beets were left in the fields in Kent County and all around Chatham there are hundreds of acres still in the ground which may be a total loss. Buyers for the various sugar companies state that fully 20 per cent of this year's crop has been frozen in the ground.

THOMAS C. DUNCAN TO GO TO WINNIPEG?

Story Says Assistant Postmaster Will Make Way for W. H. Skinner.

According to a story in circulation today, Mr. T. C. Duncan, assistant postmaster here, will be transferred to Winnipeg, and Mr. W. H. Skinner, who is now performing his duties, will be appointed to the position. The transfer will take place at New Year's.

HOLLOWAY CASE MAY BE SETTLED

Providing that the ratification of the city council can be obtained, a settlement arrived at between the solicitors in the action of Holloway vs. the City of London for $200 damages, will render trial of the suit at the non-jury sessions now in progress unnecessary. Mr. Holloway, who sued on behalf of his infant daughter, has agreed to accept that amount, each party to pay its own legal expenses. If the city council is willing to dispose of the matter in this way the court will then give its consent.

LEADER ROWELL IN N. OXFORD HOLDS TWO FINE MEETINGS

Addresses Two Large Gatherings at Plattsville and Drumbo, Liberal Chief Exposes Whitney Blunders and Outlines Remedies as Adopted in Party Platform.

Plattsville, Nov. 19.—North Oxford is the constituency in which Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., is seeking election to the Legislature, and he met the first gathering of his future constituents in North Blenheim on Saturday afternoon at Plattsville, the largest village in the township. The town hall was well filled in spite of the day and hour of meeting and of stormy weather. Mr. James Baird was chairman.

Dr. Andrew MacKay, who resigned his seat to open this riding for Mr. Rowell, explained the circumstances of Hon. A. G. MacKay's resignation, the choice of Mr. Rowell as leader of the Liberal party, and his own stepping out to make way for the new leader. It was not, he said, of his solicitation; he was not tired of representing North Oxford, but when the matter was presented to him by Mr. Rowell, the Liberal whip, he had placed himself in the hands of the executive committee and the convention of Liberals. The seat was not his but theirs to give, and he had willingly vacated it in the interests of the Liberal party throughout the province to give Mr. Rowell a safe seat, hoping the Liberals of North Oxford would continue to stand together.

Splendid Reception. Mr. Rowell was given a splendid reception. He expressed at the outset his deep appreciation of Dr. MacKay's generous action in making the sacrifice he was called upon to make in order to open the party to the choice of his own leader that he was selected as leader of the Liberal party in Ontario to run for the north riding of Oxford. Had he chosen otherwise, he would have chosen North Oxford, deeming it an honor to represent the constituency which had been so worthily represented by such men as Sir Oliver Mowat, Mr. Andrew Pattullo, Hon. George Brown and Sir Francis Hincks.

Whitney Blunders. That the Government had mixed and muddled the educational system so it was now in a worse condition than when it took charge was shown by Mr. Rowell, particularly with regard to closing model schools. Of what value, he asked, were cheap text-books and good school buildings if we had not what was vital to all good teachers? He gave credit to the Whitney Government for one good thing—putting the university on a better financial basis and giving it a better organization. They had had the good judgment to choose good men to constitute a university commission and investigated the whole matter. The commission framed a constitution for the university, and the Government had wisdom enough to accept these men's recommendations without trying to meddle with them. Mr. Rowell pointed out the need of measures to greatly increase the number of male teachers to leave a robust, manly stamp on boys, and characterized Sir James' proposal to withhold certificates from teachers for a year to prevent their leaving the province as not the remedy of a statesman or an educator. "I should not have much respect," he said, "for teachers who are kept in the province by force, and not because they wanted to stay."

Tax Reform. Dealing in considerable minuteness with his land taxation proposal, Mr. Rowell declared the Liberal policy to be to give every municipality the right, if it chooses, to tax improve-ments at a less rate than they tax land in order to encourage men to improve their lands and not hold them idle. "Is that common sense," he asked, "shouldn't you give every encouragement and inducement to men to improve their property? We are all affected by these things. Sir James is opposed to this, we advocate it, choose which you will. I know what your choice will be. This is no new thing. The bulk of the Conservative newspapers in this province if they could frankly express their mind would come out and say, 'That's right; we approve your position.'"

Mr. Rowell dealt also with the matters of encouraging the agriculture and fruit industries and temperance reform, and appealed to the electors, though he was unable to spend much time with them at present, if they approved of his being called to the leadership, to give him one of the largest majorities ever given to a Liberal in North Oxford. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and cheers for Mr. Rowell and Dr. MacKay.

COMMANDER MACDONALD GETS BACK HIS SWORD

Court-martial on Niobe Stranding Finds Him Guiltless and Honorably Acquits.

Halifax, Nov. 20.—The court-martial on the Niobe on Saturday afternoon concluded the series of three trials which have engaged the attention of the commandant of the court, Commander Commander W. B. Macdonald, of the Canadian cruiser, was not proven. The president of the court, in rendering his judgment and handing back his sword to the commandant, stated that it gave him a great pleasure to state that Commander Macdonald was honorably acquitted. It came out in the defence of Commander Macdonald that the court-martial had been personally asked for by him.

UNION. Union, Nov. 20.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the church at yesterday's service and the reception service was also held. A large congregation attended. It has been decided to hold the annual Christmas entertainment of the Sunday school on Friday evening, Dec. 22, and practice for the event will commence at once.

to publish all campaign contributions they receive from whatever source.

Among his proposals to aid the fruit industry, he advocated Provincial inspectors to guard against San Jose scale and other pests, and packing schools such as the British Columbia Government maintains, and a National Apple Show in Ontario. This province the speaker would produce the best apples of any country in the world. He would invite other provinces and counties to compete in such an exhibition.

Dr. Andrew MacKay, of Woodstock, and Mr. E. W. Nesbitt, M. P., made brief speeches, the former correcting some mistaken impressions as to Hon. A. G. MacKay's attitude with reference to the succession duties as part of the province's contribution to the university. Mr. Nesbitt introduced Mr. Rowell to the audience as "absolutely clean and capable," and whom leading lawyers in Toronto, Conservative as well as Liberal, declared to be "in the first light" of lawyers in the city.

As Mr. Rowell took his place on the platform he was greeted by the flowers by a little girl, Dorothy Binkley, and bouquets were presented to Mrs. Rowell, Mrs. George Law, who accompanied her, and Dr. Andrew MacKay by Mary Baxter and Helen Mitchell. Mr. James Wilson was chairman. Music was provided by Messrs. Alexander and Curry, and "O Canada" was sung by a chorus of young people under the direction of Miss Law. The choir was decorated by a committee headed by Mrs. Law.

Quite a large number of ladies were present. The Liberal party was enthusiastically carried on motion of Messrs. Walter Murray, George Law and Thomas Pratt. Cheers were given for the King, Mr. and Mrs. Rowell and Mr. Nesbitt.

A FRENCH MAIL TRAIN FLOODED OF JEWELS GOING TO DURBAR

Bags in Three Cars Rifled and Gems and Christmas Gifts for India to the Value of Six Hundred Thousand Dollars Carried Off by Daring Thieves.

Paris, Nov. 19.—The Marseilles special mail train that reached Macon Station on Saturday morning, where the mails for Switzerland and Germany are transferred to another line, was robbed. Three sealed cars, containing India and China mails, totaling 150 bags, had been tampered with, and eighteen of the bags had been ripped. The empty bags were the most important on the train, representing the heaviest India and China mails for the year, including packages of jewelry for use at the Durbar, as well as Christmas packages being forwarded to the East. The officials were dumfounded.

Thieves Vanish. The police have no clue, as the thieves have utterly vanished. The theory is that men boarded the train as it was leaving Paris, broke the locks of the cars, and the boxes of confederates along the line. The loot is estimated at $600,000.

The state is responsible for the losses, as the railroad only contracted to supply transport.

PERSIA APPEALS TO BRITAIN TO BE SAVED FROM RUSSIA

London, Monday, Nov. 20.—The Times' dispatches from Teheran say that Persia has appealed to Great Britain to mediate in her behalf with Russia. The Persian ambassador to the foreign office, has informed Sir G. H. Barclay, the British envoy, that Persia's delay in replying to Russia's ultimatum is due entirely to the prolonged cabinet crisis, and that a reply will be sent shortly.

If the reply be negative, says the correspondent, things will take their course. It is probable, however, that Persia will be inclined to "force" matters, and that the Legislature may not assume the proportions of a "raison d'etre," the minister, in behalf of the Government, has asked Barclay to try to procure a suspension of Russian measures until a cabinet can be formed.

Would Fall in a Faint

WHEN SHE ATTEMPTED TO WORK, SO EXHAUSTED WAS THE NERVOUS SYSTEM.

THE FEEBLE, WASTED NERVES WERE RESTORED AND REVITALIZED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Nervous prostration is a terrible disease to all who understand its symptoms. At times the sufferer feels comparatively well, but with slight exertion the dreadful helplessness returns and all strength and vitality seems to leave the system. This letter from Mrs. Martin very well describes the terrible condition in which many a sufferer finds herself. She also tells how she regained health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after all other treatments had failed.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Chief, Que., writes: "Before I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I was in a state of nervous exhaustion and prostration. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall dead to the floor. The weakness was so great that I could not so much as sweep the floor without fainting, but the nerve food helped me after the doctors failed. It has done wonders in helping me up my nervous system. I can do my own housework now and washing, and feel that no great medicine has been given to me. I think it is the best of medicines."

BANDS CAN PARADE IF CARRY THE FLAG

Uniform May Be Worn in Any Kind of a Procession, Says Militia Minister.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 18.—That military bands in uniform may play in any parade where they can make an honest dollar, provided they carry the British flag, is the opinion expressed this morning by Col. Samuel Hughes, minister of militia.

The statement was made during a discussion on bands at the military conference, which is being held with the leading officers of the various arms of the service from all parts of Canada.

In the past, in Ottawa, as in other cities, there has been a great deal of criticism as to the military bands in uniform marching in national, religious and political parades, and it was contrary to regulations.

The Minister of Militia, however, has come out flatfooted with the statement that regimental bands, in uniform, according to his view, may march in parades on the Twelfth of July, St. Jean Baptiste Day, St. Patrick's Day, or any other day in which they can make an honest dollar, provided the British flag is carried at their head.

LONDON, MONDAY, NOV. 20.

"MIXED AND MUDDLED."

Mr. Rowell made two speeches on Saturday to the electors of North Oxford, whose suffrages he is seeking. He made no mistake in laying emphasis upon the defects of the educational administration of the province. "Mixed and Muddled" was his apt qualifying phrase.

The scarcity of teachers has closed the schools in many districts, condemning the children to idleness and to loss of opportunities which can never be regained. In addition there are over 800 teachers who have no certificates of qualification. These appalling conditions are largely due to the sudden abolition of the model schools. The department was warned by the Opposition that if these schools were wiped out at one stroke there would inevitably be a dearth of qualified teachers. Having decided upon the multiplication of Normal Schools, the department ought at any rate to have provided for the transition stage between the old system and the new. But the total and immediate annihilation of the model schools before the Normal Schools could take care of the work, left a hiatus, in attempting to fill which the department has had to resort to the melancholy expedient of using special permits to unqualified teachers. The former minister of education, Hon. Richard Harcourt, strongly pleaded for at least a "survival of the fittest" of the model schools, but his successor, Dr. Pyne, ridiculed his misgivings, and went ahead with this policy of blind destruction. In a speech in January last Mr. Mackay, then leader of the Opposition, made the assertion that the five rural rural schools vacant in his own riding, North Grey. In the united counties of Durham and Northumberland at the same time there were nineteen rural schools being taught by teachers with no professional training. These conditions are not singular, as every school inspector in Ontario knows. The Government has been compelled to re-open some of the model schools, but it refuses to take adequate measures to overcome the crisis. The proposal of Sir James Whitney to refuse certificates to qualified teachers for a year, in order to keep them in Ontario, is ridiculous futile, and offensive. Ontario teachers have a right to reap the fullest rewards of their abilities and hard-earned equipment in any part of Canada. Does Sir James imagine that a western school board would refuse to engage a fully-qualified Ontario teacher because the Ontario Government had been mean enough to refuse him or her a piece of parchment?
His suggestion is quite in keeping with the amateurish principles which have governed the department in the past seven years.

THE REJUVENATION OF OXFORD.

A few years ago Oxford University was by many thought of as a weedy reservoir of ancientness, exclusiveness and even stagnation. Nowadays such a notion of the "home of lost causes" cannot be so widely entertained. First came along the will of Cecil Rhodes, which has injected a wealth of new blood into the student body; and the arrival of numbers of the best men from the Dominions and from the United States could not help but spur up to a more modern policy.

Next, the Murray's Oxford Dictionary came out in a great degree for spelling reform; the Pyne-Seath regime took notice. Now a movement is launched to make the London "Settlements" of the university a more vital work of the students.

Sir W. Anson, Premier Asquith, Lord Curzon, Canon Scott Holland, Lord Milner, and others, men of varying status and politics, have signed a circular calling attention to the growing importance of social studies and urging Oxford men to take part in the settlements. The circular suggests that "personal experience of settlements should be looked upon as a normal rather than an abnormal part of an Oxford education, and that the true question which everyone should ask himself is not, 'Have I any clear reason for going?' but, 'Have I any clear reason for staying?' Especially is this true for men, of whom there are so many at Oxford, who entertain some purpose of serving their country in public life, the actual contact with the poorer people which settlements afford must be invaluable. Those who give some time to the work go back to their regular college classes "with that knowledge and insight which not all the Blue Books in the world can give. Those who have no personal experience of this kind miss a very important part of what an Oxford education should be."

Such an appeal is an evidence of the new spirit that has come over British university and public life. Oxford men of widely differing political opinion agree that the university of the "humanities" should be so in a modern as well as in an ancient sense.
"Nothing human I hold foreign to my interest," they have been saying in Terence's Latin; why not act it in practical human study and effort?
They have been looking through a glass darkly, through the history and drama of Greece and Rome, through studies of medieval and early modern society, at the destinies and needs of men. The next thing, we shall hear of these studies being supplemented by compulsory experimental "humanities" in the laboratory of the social settlements.

There is, of course, something amusing in the thought of Balfours, Curzons, lords and dukes, squirearchs and plutarchs, doing time in such a laboratory, and earning grades by attendance, work and examinations. But it would have been a good thing for Mr. Balfour and even Lord Curzon perhaps. We need not be surprised at anything that may happen in the new, progressive Oxford.

THE TRIPOLI MASSACRES.

The British papers agree in their versions of the massacre around Tripoli and the operations leading up to it.

Having occupied the city, the Italians extended their lines, with the result that a number of Arabs, who had surrendered and were within the Italian lines, took the first opportunity of revolting. The Italians, who were stationed in cases outside the city, were caught between the fires of the Turks in the front and the Arabs in the rear.
They took revenge by an indiscriminate massacre of the Arabs, sparing neither sex or age. The correspondents of Reuters, of the London Morning Post, the London Daily Mirror, the Westminster Gazette, the New York World, and the Berlin Lokalanzeiger, who were with the Italian forces, resigned in a body as a protest, and jointly issued a statement which has profoundly shocked the moral sense of Europe. Mr. McCullough, of the Westminster Gazette, declares that 400 women and children were shot, and 4,000 men, whereof not a hundred were guilty. "Cripples and blind beggars have been deliberately shot," he says;
"sick people whose houses were burned were left on the ground and refused even a drop of water. There has not been the faintest pretence of justice."

An attempt was made to raise the question in the British House of Commons, but Sir Edward Grey coldly replied that he accepted the explanation of the Italian Government in their hands Arabs taken with arms in their hands or convicted by court-martial or flighting after surrendering, had been shot.

The impotence of The Hague Tribunal at this juncture is a sore trial.
The governments of the great European powers are indisposed to give opinion to Italy, and without their moral support the Tribunal appears to have no initiative in the matter. The bearing of international law upon this phase of warfare has not been clearly defined by the Tribunal itself. The uprising of the Arabs in occupied territories exposed them to judicial punishment, but the charge is that the Italians took reprisals by slaughtering the guilty and the innocent alike, without a pretence of trial in most cases.

Reprisals are not recognized by international law. In fact The Hague conventions of 1899 and 1907 declared that while the people of an occupied territory had not the rights of belligerents they should be treated in any circumstances according to "the laws of humanity and the requirements of the public conscience." The unofficial voice of Great Britain is now lifted in a demand that there shall be official action to bring Italy to the bar of The Hague or to provide machinery by which the Tribunal shall deal automatically with such cases in future.

REV. DR. ROSS
ON CHURCH UNION
Reasons for Supporting the Move and the Objections
to It.

Methodists, Congregationalists and Presbyterians Should Join Hands in One Protestant Denomination.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday Rev. Dr. Ross preached on church union, morning and evening. In his first sermon he urged his reasons for supporting the union of three church bodies—the Methodist, Congregationalist and Presbyterian—and in the evening he dealt with the objections to it. There were large congregations at both services. The Presbyterians will vote on the question shortly, the ballot papers to be handed into the committee by the third Sunday in December.

In the morning Dr. Ross gave three arguments in favor of church union.
The first was the historical argument.
The church was once united. In the early days it was one. Grace did not divide it. The thought of all the best men through the ages was that somehow, somewhere, the church would again become united, become one.

The second argument was the providential argument. It was based on the way that the world has been ruled since any enterpriser received the reception in a similar entertainment in this city that was accorded to Mr.
Easton in the character of "Widow Easton." For several entire minutes there was one continuous round of applause from the delighted audience.
In "The Town Marshal," the Town Marshal, the shrewd Yankee, as nowhere else, is commingled pathos and humor, its blending of the tensely dramatic with the ludicrous, mark it as

"The Town Marshal."
A new Parker production in four acts, entitled "The Town Marshal," appears at the Grand tomorrow night, one night only. The story tells how Squire Moore, the shrewd Yankee, assumes the responsibility for a crime and in straightening out the tangled love affair of Bill Stebbins. "The Town Marshal" is commingled pathos and humor, its blending of the tensely dramatic with the ludicrous, mark it as one of the most entertaining, as well as exciting plays. Popular prices.

"The Gamblers." London theatregoers are certain to welcome with enthusiasm Charles Klein's notably successful new American play, "The Gamblers," which the Authors' Producing Company will present at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night.

"I might deny that point blank" said Dr. Ross, "but I am not myself or other minister preach to you from this pulpit?
St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church may not be a denomination, but why insist on the adjective? I never do even now. The stress should not be laid on demoni-cism, but on the great work which we are engaged. We will insist on St. Andrew's—holding that which we have in common with all denominations, not on what we hold as a separate denomination."

Everything that Presbyterianism ever stood for has been preserved in the union. The name is not worth the trouble of retaining. Relations with other bodies will be broadened. The church was not an idol to be worshiped, but an instrument with

THE LONDON ADVERTISER.

which to do the Master's work. The calling and settlement of ministers would be much improved by the union.

Another Denomination.
The second objection was that the union would add another denomination to the number already existing. There was a threat in this, that some of the members of the church after union would be similar to those existing in Scotland when the Free Church was started. Dr.
Ross pointed out that if there was a large minority vote against church union, it would not take place. There was no idea of forcing it upon any person. Those in favor would merely proceed with their campaigns of education, confident that at some future time union would come. Death would change the complexion of things. The Scottish churches in Canada, united in 1875, and the men behind the present union have the experience of that body to guide them. There were many considerations opposed to the union then.
The Free Church in Scotland, united in 1846, and the men behind the present
union have the experience of that body
to guide them. There were many considerations opposed to the union then.

The third objection was that it would be impossible to bring down agreements to unite, particularly in the rural sections. Dr. Ross thought it would bring them together. The church would not be so much and any other such aggregations as in the past, but would utilize it in spreading the Gospel through the rural sections.

The fourth objection was that the people would not give so much to a large body as they would to a small one. This argument was not so tenable to the church, as it insinuated that the people gave, not for Christ's sake, but for reasons of expediency. The missionary movement would overcome that, and a more generous Christianity would be the result.

A Main Objection.
Federation, not organic union, was advocated by many, and was urged as the best method of union. This argument is advanced as a solution of the problem," said Dr. Ross. "It is given in the method of presenting overlapping, accomplishing all the union would accomplish in that regard.
It is merely a device to get around the scant by opponents of union. It has been tried in Alberta, and it has not proved a success. Organic union is the only real method of union. Federation will not be satisfactory. Federation may have accomplished something in the past, but it is not a permanent method parallel with those in Europe, and the same results would not follow."

The objection that the policy of the basis would threaten the liberty of the people was also dealt with. The committee had carefully gone into the whole question and were unanimously of the opinion that the basis of union was best suited to suit conditions of the present time.

Is Still Incomplete.
The criticism that the basis of union was not yet settled, but they would do it as they went along, was also dealt with. The questions of method and patience of the church would solve all such problems. There was some objection to the fact that the basis of union was not included in the plan of union. Both had been invited to join but had refused.

Music and Drama
An Excellent Concert.

The best concert on the Y. M. C. A.
Lyceum course so far this year, and one of the very best in several seasons was given by the Francis Fifth Concert Company in the Auditorium on Saturday evening.

The concert was enthusiastically received by a large audience of both new and old friends. He possesses a rich baritone voice of a fine quality, and especially beautiful and impressive was his rendering of the prologue from "Pagliacci" and "The Garden of My Heart." His "singing" compositions, was a favorite number, and "Your Song Shall Be My Throne," another of his songs, was sung with Mr. Firsh from "The Travellers" of Verdi the company. Her rendering of Bevignani's "Flower Girl" was exceptionally charming. A duo by Miss Jackson and Mr. Firsh from "The Travellers" of Verdi was a number that very few lyric programmes could equal. In S. Homer Eaton, the company includes a price of $100,000. It is a number that very few since any enterpriser received the reception in a similar entertainment in this city that was accorded to Mr.
Easton in the character of "Widow Easton." For several entire minutes
there was one continuous round of applause from the delighted audience.

MARKET LANE WILL

Only One Property Owner Willing to Pay Something Toward the Cost.

There does not seem to be any likelihood that the Market Lane will be continued to Carling street, now that the work must be done as a local improvement, and the expense charged up to the property benefited.

"If the city could have done this work out of the general rate, or issued debentures, there would have been little or no objection," said Ald.
Sickert. "I am convinced that it would be a great benefit to the citizens generally, and would benefit all the property down town."

Garbage Debentures.
The finance committee recommended to the council that the debentures for the $20,000 garbage incinerator run 20 years instead of 25 years, as now proposed. It was pointed out by Ald. Richter that the expense of carrying the debt over 25 years would amount to $2,000, as compared with $5,000 for the 20-year term. It will be necessary to obtain the sanction of the Legislature to the change, and a petition to that effect will be included in the city of London bill.

A bill from Graydon & Graydon was received, containing a list of the witnesses summoned by Ward Foreman Patrick Mulholland in connection with the investigation into the conduct of the duties. The opinion of City Solicitor Merchid was given to the effect that the council had power only to pay the witness fees of those who were called by the council. As a result, the committee had no power to recommend the payment of any witnesses for Mulholland.
The communication was filed.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL
FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Gertrude Patterson Placed on Trial, Charged With Murdering Her Husband.

WOMAN SOLD FOR CASH Tragic Case of Love, Greed and Hate Which a Chicago Millionsaire Plays Part.

Chicago against her former admirer for alienation of her affections.
On Sept. 25 last, Mrs. Patterson, who had been living in town, went to a sanatorium in the suburbs, at which her husband was a patient, to talk matters over with him. The two strolled down the street together. A quarrel arose, in which Mrs. Patterson says, she attempted to shoot her husband. She shot him, two bullets lodging in his body and killing him almost instantly. Screaming that her husband had shot himself, Mrs. Patterson ran into the house in front of which the shooting had occurred. Later she admitted having fired the shots, claiming self-defence.

This will be her plea.
Against this, the state expects to show by an eye-witness to the shooting that Mrs. Patterson fired the second shot at Patterson lay on the ground begging for mercy, and that after the shooting she placed the revolver under his body. By letters written by Patterson to her husband in Chicago it will be shown that Mrs.
Patterson had threatened him with death if he did not drop his alliance with her. It is also stated that the shooting resulted from his final refusal to do so.

Denver, Col. Nov. 20.—Cardinal elements of human nature, love and hate, lust and greed, each playing its part in a tragedy that has brought a young and beautiful woman of more than usual refinement and attractiveness before the jury to fight for her life, are such favorable material for a playwright. The peculiar interest in the trial of Gertrude Gibson Patterson, accused of the murder of her husband, for which selection of a jury began here today before Judge Allen the district court.

In the course of the trial, attorneys for the defence say there will be unfolded the story of a sixteen-year-old girl whose beauty attracted the attention of a Chicago millionaire, who, declaring his intention to wed her, sent her to Paris to be educated, and five months later brought her back to Chicago, where she was married to him. The millionaire established relations which continued for five years, during which they were thought by the family and friends of both to be man and wife. How the millionsaire, finally tiring of the girl, arranged with Charles A. Patterson, a young Chicago broker, that she should become Patterson's wife, for which Mrs. Patterson declares she afterwards learned that her husband had received $150,000, will be told the jury by the defendant, her attorneys say.

She'll tell, it is declared, how, after returning from a trip abroad with her wealthy admirer, a trip, she says, made at her husband's urgent demand, her time after her marriage to Patterson, their dear leader.

No reference was made to Mrs. Dowie, of Dr. Dowie. Then he brought forth a tentively. The scene was in one of the many of the members of the congregation

many times he had been heard.
There was not a sound in the room with the exception of the photograph, and many of the members of the congregation were weeping as they listened to the voice of their former leader.

DRAWING ROOM AT RIDEAU HALL

The Vice-Regal Reception Most Brilliant Social Affair in Many Years.

WHAT DUCHESS WORE

Over Three Thousand Met the Duke and Duchess of Connaught—Some of the Dresses.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Never before in the history of vice-regal drawing-rooms has the Senate chamber at Ottawa been graced with so brilliant an assemblage as that present on Saturday night at the first drawing-room held by their royal highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. Between 9 o'clock and 11:20 nearly three thousand made their bows and courtesies to royalty, beginning with Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Gibson, the Premier and Mrs. Borden, and ending with a long and brilliant line of military officers. The gold and scarlet decorations of the Senate, the dresses of shimmering silks, surmounted by the conventional feathers and feathers, the sparkle of jewels and of bright eyes, the hundreds of costly uniforms of three hundred military and naval officers, the gay-colored and brave men, all combined to make a scene positively dazzling in its magnificence.

The value of this year's product of hay and clover and other crops is $2,608,000. The quality of all the crops this year is 90 per cent and over, which is less than last year's value of $2,608,000. CITY HALL. SPANISH SWINDLERS.

Thereafter I embarked for America, landed in New York and proceeded to Chicago, where through the medium of the London Mexico Bank, I deposited $480,000 gold, and obtained for same a check payable to bearer, keeping 600,000 francs in reserve for my daughter's expenses.

Afterward I hid said check in the bottom of a secret pocket of a portmanteau made for the purpose an embassy agent in Europe met me in Madrid, and her companion in Madrid.

Having arrived in Madrid, under my assumed name I lived in an hotel, but I had always trusted the young lady referred to with regard to my daughter's money, and I had no doubt that she would return to me with my daughter's money.

After having been searching for her all over the city, to my great surprise I encountered her brother, who had returned to the city, and I was informed by him that she had returned to the city, and I was informed by him that she had returned to the city.

When the extradition formalities were finished I was told that I was to be taken to Spain and my travel for the purpose of the extradition was to be paid by the Spanish Government.

When my arrestation took place, ordered by the Spanish Government in London, my baggage in the Hotel was seized and searched in my presence, but the secret was not discovered.

When I recovered the portmanteau necessary the day of the auction, as otherwise the bidders by too frequent examination would have discovered the secret.

Under the circumstances, as you may be clearly seen, I was in a most unfortunate position, and without money, I beg of you to come here to pay the costs and expenses, which I must confess to be a heavy one.

My name has been known to me as follows: Same has been given to me by a gentleman subject of your country, who is detained in this prison.

I have no relations, and I cannot trust in any of my old Russian friends, because I do not know their real names, and I cannot trust in any of my old Russian friends.

DOMINION BANK.

HEAD OFFICE: TORONTO. E. S. OSLER, M. P., President. W. D. MATTHEWS, Vice-President. Reserve, $5,700,000. Capital, $4,700,000. Total Assets, $69,000,000.

A branch of this bank has been established in London, England, at 75 COBURNHILL, E. C. 4. This branch will issue letters of credit and drafts on all important points in the world, and will negotiate bills sent for collection, make telegraphic transfers, and transmit every description of banking matters.

Information will be furnished on all Canadian matters. A special department is provided for the use of visitors and bearers of our Letters of Credit. C. A. BOGERT, General Manager.

deliver you several papers and a sealed envelope, containing the check for $480,000. Please immediately open same and note the number of check, as I do not wish to be troubled with any personal satisfaction you may cable the Branch of the Bank at Chicago where said check is payable, as the check is for $480,000 payable to bearer at sight, and begging an immediate reply to your name at the Hotel where you shall reside.

You will then leave immediately with my daughter to Chicago, where you will cash said check, and you will send me an order from the bank for $150,000, and depositing the rest in safe Bonds at 3 or 4 per cent in my daughter's name. I will then send you $100,000 must be sent back with my daughter for the jailer, and that interest on the capital must be sent to Madrid.

Can Visit the Jail. However, I can explain all this later on your arrival here, as I shall be able to obtain an order from the judge to permit you to visit me in the visitation gallery, and in our interview you may satisfy yourself about everything of which I have enclosed a copy of a newspaper of this city, together with an official copy of my sentence, both translated into English, and which I have enclosed in a separate envelope, and which you may keep under seal.

When coming please bring with you these papers as same will be required for taking out my sentence in the sentence you will see that the expenses are 1,937 pesetas 40 centimos for the law-suit, and 12,000 pesetas for indemnity, which is the total amount which I must be paid for taking out my baggage, that is to say, for recovering my baggage. You will also note that the sentence being dated on the 25 September, the 30 days expire on the 24 December, 1911.

I cannot tell you to write directly to me because I fear that your letters may be intercepted, being our secret correspondence, and I am sure that for such a reason it will be the best to cable according to the direction which I give you.

My dear friend, you know the extent of my misfortunes and tribulations, and you can understand why I cannot trust myself to more than one person, as it would be dangerous to trust to more than one person, as it would be dangerous to trust to more than one person.

Trust me, you will faithfully carry out my instructions and hoping to see you soon. Believe me, yours ever sincerely, ALEXANDER SADOWSKY.

The Scheme's Weak Point. The glaring discrepancy in the whole letter to the "Sadowsky" states that he had written to only one person, having obtained the name from a companion in prison. It is a definite known fact that a dozen other London businessmen have received exactly the same letter as Mr. Hueston first received.

Another communication enclosed with the reply gives in detail instructions which will have to be followed in Spain, the manner in which the $2,000 must be handed over in American bank notes, and the addresses to which telegrams are to be sent while on the journey.

Sadowsky's Daughter. The daughter is "played up" as a beautiful creature with whom the victim might have every facility to reach the trap in comfort and speed.

The swindlers have the stage set perfectly. The name of the victim, who is to be played up, is given, and the name of the convent at which Sadowsky's daughter is to be met.

Sadowsky needs a translation of his commitment to prison, as well as the original, as well as another document describing the prisoner's effects, which mentions the portmanteau and the safe.

The swindlers evidently believe that their safety lies in the fact that in securing a victim, they implicate him in the commission of an unlawful act. He would have no chance to "run away" after he had explained his plight.

Another inclosure in the letter is a clipping from a Spanish paper which outlines the arrest of Sadowsky, and the details of the case, and the fact that a large amount of money the banker was known to have had.

The writer concludes the second letter with a warm expression of regard, stating that he is "awaiting anxious" the moment of shaking your hand, dear friend.

BLIND MAN IS DEAD AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

William Richards Was Found Paralyzed and Was Two Years in Local Home. William Richards, the little blind man, who for many years sold various small articles from house to house in London, and was widely known, died in the Home for Incurables Sunday morning. Richards had been ill for more than two years with paralysis.

He was found one morning lying on the floor of his room unable to move or speak. He was taken to Victoria Hospital, where everything possible was done to relieve and cure him, but he was unable to even feed himself, and some time ago was removed to the Home for Incurables.

While in the hospital a remarkable improvement sprang up between Richards and William King, a young man who was in the hospital Wheeler looked after him and cared for him ungrudgingly.

Richards was removed to the home Wheeler visited him regularly, and no one was more affected than Wheeler when his little friend died Sunday morning. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

(Continued from Page One.) what other countries were doing to solve these problems. To Select a Committee. Dr. McGee and Rev. Mr. Hason were appointed to select a committee, and they appointed the following: Rev. J. G. Inker, Rev. Dr. Manning, Rev. J. H. King, Rev. J. A. Kaplansky, and Secretary E. R. Wilson.

They will report at the December meeting, and as a result of the refusal of the present city council to appoint a child immorality commission, an independent investigation will be instigated. Aldermen, doctors and others will be asked to join the commission as individual units.

A resolution on the no temere decree will also be prepared for the December meeting. The Christian Endeavor movement addressed the meeting, Ontario and Quebec were also mentioned. A delegate from the continent where Christian Endeavor claimed less followers than twenty years ago. In the last two years, 10,000 new societies had been formed in America and the membership had been increased by 1,200,000 new members.

The falling off in Ontario and Quebec was largely due to the denominational tendency to child immorality commission, an independent investigation will be instigated. Aldermen, doctors and others will be asked to join the commission as individual units.

An "At Home." An informal "At Home" will be given in the Masonic Temple tonight by the Smallman & Ingram Benefit Association. It is expected that a very large number of friends of the employees will be present, making the event one of the best of the season.

Decision by Court of Southern Illinois Invalidates Many Marriages.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The prop of legality has been knocked down beneath thousands of marriages in Illinois through a sweeping decision of the appellate court of Southern Illinois. The remarriage of divorced persons within one year, even though the ceremony is performed in another state, is declared illegal. The principals in such marriages are declared guilty of a serious offence and liable to criminal prosecution should they return to Illinois to live following their second venture in matrimony.
The case that brought about this decision was that of John Nehring against Frances Nehring. Mrs. Nehring was divorced from her first husband in June. Two months later she accompanied Nehring to Wisconsin, where they were married. Then they returned to Mount Vernon to reside. Later Nehring sued for divorce, setting forth that his marriage was a violation of the Illinois laws and should be set aside. The divorce proceedings had been cited on both sides the court upheld his contention.
The immediate result of this decision Chicago lawyers assert, will be that every man and woman married under these circumstances will be compelled to be remarried at once, or live with the doubt of whether or not their marriage hanging over them.
Children born of such marriages would occupy the same position in court as those born out of wedlock. They would not be permitted to inherit property and this new decision is considered of great importance because of the fact that it is at variance with a decision made by Judge Willard McEwen, who, in 1907, held that such marriages were legal. Thousands of divorced persons have since taken advantage of this hope and, as a result, are confronted with a fresh complication.
Capt. Broepfner, attorney, who has made a careful study of laws governing divorce, said last night that this is one of the most far-reaching decisions ever handed down on the subject.
"Through this decision all marriages of divorced men and women in adjoining states are annulled," said he. "It is as if they never had been married the second time. The seriousness of such a situation, as it affects both the adults and their children, will be appreciated at once."

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 18.—News of the murder of Capt. Broepfner, a German explorer, and the probable loss of his expedition in a hurricane on the coast of the Blar-marck archipelago, was brought by the steamer Marama, which arrived yesterday from Australia, and a party of four whites and twenty natives left Babaul to explore to the northward of Friedrich Wilhelmshafen. Coming down the coast Capt. Broepfner and another European were ashore to explore a river. They were in a small boat when set upon by natives. Capt. Broepfner was fatally wounded by a poisoned arrow.

A BROAD RELIGION TO APPEAL TO MEN

Large Audience Heard Dean Fiske, of Oberlin, Ohio, in the Auditorium.

CHURCH MUST KEEP PACE Sermon on the Mount is Coming Into Its Own, Says Eloquent Preacher From United States.

A large audience of men was addressed in the Auditorium in the afternoon by Professor Walter G. Fiske, Dean of Oberlin College, Ohio. Prof. Fiske delivered a powerful appeal to the men to take an interest in church work and religion. He related many of the conditions in the church that required a man's work and the interest of men. In opening he stated that men are naturally religious. A man is not only a social animal, but a religious one as well. A man's religion must be a broad religion that will appeal to his manhood. It must be a religion that is intellectually trustworthy, and appeals to his heart, for man has a heart and an emotional one at that.
A Genuine Appeal.
The genuine appeal always reaches a man's heart. It would be necessary for a man's religion to be one that does things. One that can regenerate itself, and not only prove its sincerity, but its fidelity as well. It must be faithful in the testing of all the temptations of a man's life. An ethical religion that determines the action of men's lives.
"I am convinced," continued Dean Fiske, "that there is nothing more interesting in this world today than a man's religion. It must be a religion that makes its own peculiar appeal, the appeal of Christianity."
The Old Doctrines.
The speaker then went on to relate the different revivals of the old doctrines down through the centuries to the present time. He stated that the message of the modern church must be a message that fits the age. We are living in a social age, and our lives are interwoven with each other. He also stated that the teaching of Jesus Christ were more especially applicable to an industrial age such as the present one. He spoke of the efficiency that had been reached, and the constant demand of efficiency that the world of today made. This modern age is the age in which success must be one to remedy them. The great advances in the past years were proofs of this.
Must Keep Pace.
The religion of the world must keep pace with this great advance. Canada is just beginning to enter into the problems that the United States had been dealing with for years, and if we would prevent ourselves from being behind, we must make an effort to unite in this great work of religion. The existing conditions in the United States were such that all Americans should be ashamed of. They were fast getting ashamed and were waking up to the fact that something must be done to remedy them. Men all over the United States were becoming interested in church work, and helping to light the conditions that the churches had to deal with.

Let All Unite.
"What is the use of holding out for any special ideal?" said Prof.
Fiske. "Let us unite. Let us and together battle for Christ. Let us assist that which is right; that if woman has to work, we will make it just as decent for her to work as the law allows. The day is coming when the church will be compelled to do this, the day of the social gospel when the Sermon on the Mount is coming into its own." Near the conclusion of his address, the professor, while passing through Niagara Falls, N. Y., on his way to this city, he noticed people living in houses that the laws of New York would not permit to be used for cow sheds. The laws of the state gave better protection to milk than to people because the milk went into the homes of the rich.
Mr. W. J. H. Malloch occupied the chair at the meeting, and Rev. Thomas Mangion, an attorney, presided. During the afternoon Mr. Francis Rivh, baritone, of Detroit, rendered several solos in excellent voice.

NEWTON W. ROWELL AS A SCHOOLBOY

Life of the Liberal Leader in London Years Ago as Told by Canadian Courier.

The Canadian Courier has the following to say about Newton W. Rowell, the leader of the Liberal party in Ontario.
"I met Newton W. Rowell in Middlesex County, a rather striking youth walked to a crossroads school in the afternoon he came home, helped his father with the dinner, and then he had a supper, studied a while, took off his heavy shoes and, leaving them in the kitchen, went to his room and studied. During the evening he dreamed there is uncertainly a year later, a sun-burned young chap of about 18 answered to the name of Newton W. Rowell. He was from the country and slightly timid and awkwardly self-conscious. The city boys of London took to him. He was an alert, but quiet, studious chap. In time he passed out of the collegiate with honors."
"What was he to do now? Back to the farm? Rowell decided that point by getting into the law. He knew practically nothing of the law, but he was in vogue among farmers' wives and what John Jones hired men preferred. He got a job with a lawyer, and he was pleasing. One day he asked Mr. D.
Fraser, a lawyer, to let him be a partner in his office. He became articled to Mr. Fraser. As a law student he was not only a diligent student, but a somewhat of a sportsman and currier; he did not neglect his law studies." Mr. Rowell has never sat in parliament.
In 1870 he tried for the Ontario House, but Mr. W. F. McLean, M.P., tribune of public works, was the man who had been so long associated with politicians and politics that both Conservative and Liberal candidates, he tried to things interesting at Queen's Park. That was the Liberal's first victory. In Wesley Rowell turns the battery of his aim, in the House of Commons, James Whitney, the press gallery will watch the battle of the rapier and the broadsword.

New York, Nov. 20.—To teach sois the novel work undertaken by Miss Mary L. Read, who has opened a school of mother craft for that pur-graduate of the teachers' college, and of the University of Chicago, and has specialized in domestic economy, and particularly on the branch of it which has to do with bettering the human race through the better care of children.

"The first six years of life are the most important to the race and to posterity," said Miss Read. "It is during those years that the morality is the greatest and it has been heretofore the most neglected part of life. Young girls have married without the least knowledge of the great responsibility that the bringing up of a man being in the world means. They have left their care of babies to servants and nurses and have shirked the gravest responsibility that comes to a human being."
