

GERMAN PLOT TO RETURN MONARCHY TO CONTROL SCOTCHED BY REPUBLIC

NORMAL SCHOOL UNVEILS TABLET TO THE MEMORY OF ITS WAR HEROES

Impressive Ceremony This Afternoon Participated in by Notable Visitors.

THE LESSONS OF WAR

Lieut.-Col. S. DeW. Pepper of Michigan, Former Normalite, the Principal Speaker.

To perpetuate the names of the students of the London Normal School, who during the war years, deserted their books to serve their country on Flanders field, a bronze tablet bearing 81 names was unveiled at the school this afternoon with impressive ceremony.

While several hundred people among whom were representatives of the city council, the board of education, Daughters of the Empire, the Women's Canadian Club, teachers, students and ex-students, looked on from the hallways, two great flags veiling the tablet were drawn aside by Miss Nellie Heffernan, registrar of the school, and Lieut.-Col. Samuel Pepper of Lansing, Mich., an ex-student, whose name graces the first page of the school register.

As the folds fell away a beautiful tablet of bronze carved with exquisite workmanship and reflecting the soft light that shone from above, was revealed. It hangs above the landing of the stairway that leads from the main hallway to the second floor. Decorating the top of the tablet is the school motto and inscription. The larger letters, standing out in relief are the words, "In honor of those from the London Normal School who served in the Great War and in loving memory of those among them who fell."

The Honor Roll.

Under a caption, "Their name liveth for evermore," and in bold type stood the names of those who had made the supreme sacrifice. Fourteen names are on the roll and they read: William J. Courtney, Fred Garrett, James A. Hare, S. Lewis Honey, G. Osborne, MacKenzie, George A. Metcalf, Thomas Whyte Miliken, Ralph W. Robinson, Clinton C. E. Thomson.

Then followed the service roll, containing 72 names, among which were named the names of four girls students who had served as nurses or V. A. D.'s. The list ran in four columns and was as follows: Anderson, Reuben Ardiell, Albert L. Baker, H. Cameron Bayne, Alexander Betteley, Wilfred Bisset, Russell Braddon, Frank L. Brown, Edward L. Gallagher, Wilfred A. Campbell, S. Stanley Chapman, Wm. Arthur Clark, John H. Clement, Roy Cunniff, Oliver M. Colhoun, Cyrus P. Day, Russell P. I. Dougal, C. Arthur Downie, Ross Ernest Doyle, Ernest E. Everingham, Mack C. Graham, Alexander C. Grant, William Goldwin Gray, William E. Hemstreet, Charles Herr, Allan Hogg, Charles R. Hubbell, R. Bruce Johnson, Archie Johnson, George McKay, Hugh E. McKellar, James A. McLaren, Harold C. Marshall, Joseph F. Martin, Stanley L. Mills, Harold L. Mitchell, N. Hilton Molloy, Clifford W. Mossey, Wm. Harvey Murray, Walter G. Myrick, W. Garret Noble, Clarence L. Norton, J. Archie Patterson, Samuel D. Peppers, A. Ramsay, Douglas R. Randolph, Bertram A. Rivers, Russell B. Robson, George E. Sands, Harry A. Second, Emerson M. Shier, H. C. Siddall, William R. Smilie, John A. Smith, Walter Springett, Walter H. Stephenson, Vance Stratton, Harold Taylor, John Taylor, Kenneth Totten, Harvey Bernard Trout, Frederick C. Ward, Matthew F. Watson, Robert Weir, Thomas Alfred Willis, Richard Wright, William Frank Young, Mildred Allen, Mary Crosbie, Ruby Pinfold, Rosabel Voaden.

The tablet was erected by fellow-students and the teachers of the school.

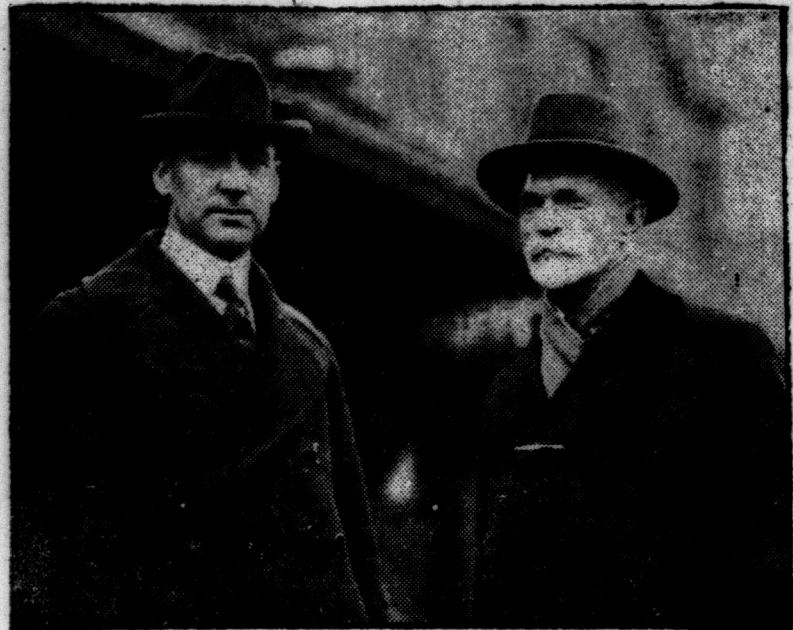

Prof. Dearness officiated, who was principal of the school during the trying years of the war, and who knew personally every student named on the memorial, dedicated the tablet to their honor and memory. He spoke of the splendid spirit of the hero students who, although knowing fully the horrors of the fray into which they were entering, cheerfully gave up the dreams and ambitions of their life to serve their country, and he spoke tenderly of those who had made the supreme sacrifice.

Mr. Dearness recalled an address that he had given in one of the city churches on a Peace Promotion day in the very week in which the Austrian archduke was assassinated at the Bosnian capital. To meet the suspicious rumors of German designs on the peace of Europe, he pictured the German of the Christian story, the German of the classic music hall, the German of the biologist and medical laboratories, and questioned the possibility that such people as a whole could be warmakers at heart's showed that Germany in the peaceful prosecution of trade should be satisfied with out-distinguishing even the proverbial nation of shopkeepers in the markets of the world, and further, that the Germans were shrewd enough to know that under modern conditions winners of wars are losers.

But there was another Germany that had given a glimpse of itself to those who were wise enough to see all the significance of the flash of Agadir. The Germany of the day, whose mailed fist had grasped the helm of state, a Frankenstein that scouted every right but might, a military autocracy that had devised and executed with consummate efficiency a policy to divert the current of every national activity—science, religion, education, commerce, etc.—to its ultimate purpose.

Teachers as peace-makers.

Teachers as a peace-maker to be played in the class with the late King Edward as peace-makers. Except soldiers and special students of military history they know, so far as reading and teaching them, the horrors of war better than most people, and yet in

On applying in this city at noon today Lieut.-Col. DeWitt Pepper of Lansing, Michigan, who was one of the first students to register at the London Normal School, was met by Prof. John Dearness, who was principal of the school from its foundation until a year or so ago. Both Col. Pepper and Prof. Dearness participated in the ceremony of unveiling of the war memorial tablet at the Normal School this afternoon. They were photographed at the Grand Trunk station by The Advertiser staff photographer.

the recent war nearly every militarily effective young man in the teacher-training classes in this Normal School was a voluntary enlistee. Two of the reasons that overcame their natural and acquired pacifism were the threatened destruction of our national liberty—they saw how Serbia was trampled under the feet of Hun war machines and their young manhood against the inhuman and conscienceless methods of Hun warfare. The first May-day in the war period dated the carrying out of the deliberately planned wholesale murder of men, women, and children—of friend, neighbor and foe—the news of which appalling tragedy was received with rejoicings and medal-striking by official Germany. That event, although at least in as beautiful and imperishable every heart, silenced the last extenuating word for warring Germany, and made every red-blooded freeman tighten his belt and, in some way or other, get into this struggle to the death.

A Work of Love.

To those of us, then, who could only pay and watch, or knit and pray, some one had to keep the home fires burning—to us who knew and loved those splendid youths from this school who laid down their very life itself in the issue, it has been a work of love no less than a duty to put on record, even if in a humble, at least in as beautiful and imperishable a manner as possible our appreciation of their incomparably greater service. No one else than those who have been related to them as fellow-student or teacher has been offered the opportunity of a share in erecting the tablet.

Associated Press Despatch.

White Plains, N.Y., March 23.—A carload of beer consigned from Montreal as potatoes, was seized today by prohibition agents. Exclusive of two sacks of potatoes found at the door, the consignment consisted of bottled beer containing 10 per cent alcohol. The shipment was taken to a warehouse in New York.

TAKE-STEP TOWARDS ISSUING DEBENTURES

The first step toward the issuing of debentures by the Public Utilities Commission for $70,000 to cover the cost of installing water meters in every home of the city was taken today, when a certificate was received from the Provincial Board of Health. The application for a permit from the health department was purely a matter of form.

Applications must now be made to the railway board and the city council.

Chain Store Founder Died of Hemorrhage of Brain

Body of Leonard R. Steel Arrives in Buffalo, en Route to Getzville Country Home.

Special to The Advertiser.

Buffalo, March 23.—The body of Leonard R. Steel, dead promoter of the $26,000,000 chain store bubble, arrived in Buffalo this morning on a New York Central train from Toledo, where the juggler of millions died suddenly of apoplexy in a Pullman car yesterday morning.

Friends of the dead promoter and his intimate business associates stood in the early morning mist at the Exchange Street Station and raised their hats reverently as the express truck bearing the body of Steel was loaded onto a hearse.

A small detail of police was on hand to guard against any possible demonstration, but nothing untoward occurred. In fact, only the friends and business associates of Steel,

DECLARES FUTURE OF THE UNION LINKED WITH U. S.

Colonel Pepper, London Old Boy, Pays Visit to City.

ASPIRATIONS BLEND

Refuses to Make Any Comment on "America's Splendid Isolation."

Canada's future is indissolubly linked up with that of the United States in many respects, according to Col. Samuel D. Pepper, London old boy, who paid a visit to the city for the purpose of unveiling the Normal School memorial this afternoon.

Col. Pepper is deputy attorney-general for the State of Michigan, with offices in Lansing. He graduated from the London Normal School, was born in Komoka, and has achieved prominence in Michigan state affairs.

Interviewed today, Col. Pepper said the United States and Canada must continue friendly relations for the sake of mutual prosperity. The contacts which come in the form of commerce owing to the proximity and similarity of language of fields two countries blend the aspirations and future of both nations as one.

One of the problems, which the two great neighbors had to solve was that of the bootlegger. Col. Pepper referred to the gigantic traffic said to be carried on between the Canadian border cities and American metropolises.

Severe Measures.

As long as prohibition exists there will be bootlegging in the form of bootleggers, he said. The only solution to the situation is more severe police measures. The prohibition law in the State of Michigan is considered as effective as is possible under the conditions that prevail. In Windsor alone, it is said that bootleggers have cleaned up, in some instances, a million dollars in a year.

Col. Pepper would not comment on the United States so-called "splendid isolation" from European problems and the League of Nations. He said any public utterance in that connection would "reap animosities" and would stir up trouble.

Since his last visit he has seen numerous changes for the better in London. Its progress has been steady and sure, and its possibilities as a great commercial center were extremely bright.

Asked whether he thought the United States offered greater opportunities to the expansion of Canadian than his own country, Col. Pepper replied in the negative. He believed the great industrial centers of America had more to offer to the youthful enterprise some years ago, and whether additional opportunities exist depends on the extent of America's industrial expansion.

Persons think Canada is the one country on the North American continent with a future, and the degree to which it is realized will determine the wisdom of young men and women remaining in Canada in the hope of being able to grasp big opportunities.

BREACH OF CONTRACT ACTION IS DISMISSED

Justice Masten Decides No Real Claim in Wray vs. Cummings.

Remarking that proper business methods had not been employed by either party, and ruling that no evidence had been submitted to show that plaintiff had a real claim, Mr. Justice Masten dismissed the Wray-Cummings breach of contract suit at this morning's session of the spring assizes. The plaintiff's claim was $5,000.

Through the testimony of Allan J. Goodall, Mr. Cummings' banker, the defendant's counsel sought to disprove the excuse alleged to have been made by the defendant that "he didn't have any money." In previous testimony, Mr. Wray claimed that the defendant refused to take 50 dozen overalls a week as per contract, claiming among other reasons that he wasn't financially able.

Mr. Goodall testified that from April 8, 1921, to April 8, 1922, the defendant had maintained a "warehousing" business and a savings account in the Imperial Bank of Canada. He went on to say that the bank had full confidence in the defendant's financial responsibility, and allowed him a liberal line of credit.

Mr. Cummings, he stated, had a savings balance of $3,000, and also had securities in the bank for safe-keeping.

BELIEVE U. S. FARMERS WILL LACK LABORERS

Special to The Advertiser.

Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—The American farmer first to be hit by the period of depression will be the last to obtain benefits of the present "better times."

Big business, riding the prosperity wave, is draining the labor market, and the farmer will be short of hired help for his spring work.

This was the farm-labor situation at the opening of spring, as summed up by George E. Tucker, field director of the United States Farm Labor Bureau, in an interview here today.

FIRMS IN ANNEX WILL FIGHT CITY ON TAX QUESTION

Definite Statement That Increased Assessment Must Go to Court.

ATTORNEYS READY

Representatives of Manufacturers Involved Prepared To Resist Attempt to Collect.

"Industries in the annexed districts of East London, all of whom will be affected by the increased assessment levied this year by the city council, will refuse to pay the same, and allow the city to fight the case out in the high courts."

This is the definite program as explained to The Advertiser today by attorneys, qualified, they state, to speak for certain of the firms in question.

It was further explained that the entire problem had been thoroughly considered quite recently when all the concerns conducting business in that district were of the one mind as to what policy to pursue.

Will Decline to Pay.

Questioned this morning representatives of the McCormick Manufacturing Company directed The Advertiser to secure the precise outline of the case to date from attorneys who have been handling the affair.

That the city council's move to collect additional school taxes from the factories, in defiance of the city's agreement with the people of that district, is strictly illegal, is the latter's contention, as they stress the point that the householders of that section will be exempted from the tax.

"What do you propose to do?" The Advertiser asked.

"We will merely decline to pay the increased tax," was the reply.

"And allow the matter to be threshed out in the courts then?"

"Yes, we believe that the city will be unable to collect," replied the representative of the East End firms.

Involves $15,000.

When the city council struck its 1923 tax rate, the additional revenue derived from the increased taxation, a matter of roughly $15,000 was included, it is reported.

During 1922, ex-Ald. H. B. Ashland introduced a similar movement in the council, but without success. He was opposed by Ald. Leonard Douglas, and his two Labor associates of that day, ex-Ald. John A. MacKay, and ex-Ald. F. G. Watkinson.

Also declined to support the measure.

A similar motion was introduced this year by Ald. Frank McKay, seconded by Ald. Leonard Douglas, and carried with little apparent opposition.

Two members of the council, who own property in the affected district, did not vote, of course—George Burdick and John Green.

Church Union Is "Soviet" Move

Charges Dr. Cyrus MacMillan Before Presbytery.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, March 23.—Describing the plan to bring about church union between Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist denominations as "Soviet method of conquest," and declaring that when parliament came to consider the matter they would not believe that a chain gang doing a lock-step can bring about the communion of saints," Dr. Cyrus MacMillan, addressing members of the Women's League of the Presbyterian Church Association here yesterday, denounced the methods being used to bring about church union in Canada.

Recognized Ability.

Sport writers throughout the country had recognized his ability. During his years on the big circuit he was often the subject of favorable comment in American papers.

Besides his widow, the late Mr. McEwen is survived by a sister, Mrs. McKenzie.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, 320 King street, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. D. C. MacGregor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will officiate. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Toronto To Sell Sunday Ice Cream

Police Commissioners Decide To Grant Permission.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 23.—Ice cream may be sold on Sunday in Toronto when it is consumed on the premises.

That is the decision of the board of police commissioners, who they had deliberated on the matter.

But if any dealer, licensed to sell ice cream, sells tobacco or cigars or cigarettes, or other goods of that sort on Sunday, such dealer will lose his license even to sell ice cream, announced Chief of Police Dixon today.

"This rule will be rigidly enforced."

Conspiracy Planned Complete Disavowal of Treaty of Versailles and Refusal To Pay Reparations or Disarm—Would Expel Inter-Allied Missions From Germany.

WOULD DEMAND ALLIES LEAVE THE RUHR

By GEORGE WITTE.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News, Copyright.

Berlin, March 23.—In the nick of time, the German authorities have found a widespread Pan-German plot to overthrow the republic, and establish a dictatorship, as an intermediate government, before the actual return to a monarchy.

The extent of this conspiracy became known today, following the arrest of more than sixty Pan-German leaders, chiefly former officers, in Berlin and other cities Thursday. The Nationalistic program was as follows:

1. Wholesale assassination of Socialist ministers and statesmen, and of "others who are responsible for Germany's misfortunes," including the present minister of interior, Herr Severin, ex-Chancellor Scheidemann, and the Communist deputy, Clara Zetkin.

2. The overthrow of the Ebert government, the establishment of Nationalistic dictatorship, and the re-election of the monarchy in all the federal German states.

3. The complete disavowal of the Treaty of Versailles, and refusal to pay reparations, or to disarm.

4. Four—Expulsion from Germany of the inter-allied missions of control.

Ultimatum to Allies.

Five—Ultimatum to France to withdraw from the Ruhr district and to Great Britain, France and Belgium to evacuate the Rhineland.

Six—A constructive policy in the east with a view to getting back upper Silesia, Posen, Danzig and the Polish corridor.

Though this program seems fantastic to the Pan-Germans would have tried to carry it out point by point, and Germany once more would have been exposed not only to the danger of civil war but to a renewal of hostilities both in the west and in the east.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, March 23.—The French treaty with Russia will be reinforced by 20,000 men within a few days. War Minister Maginot announced today in the chamber of deputies.

Wild confusion prevailed in the chamber today when Premier Poincaré, angered by Communist insinuations, that he was controlled by Deputy Leon Daudet, the Royalist leader called Communist Deputy Andre Berthoin an "abominable scoundrel."

Deputy Landry, who was presiding, put on his hat as a signal that the session was adjourned, but no one seemed to pay any attention to him.

Condemns Communists.

The scene followed a demand by Deputy Berthoin for immediate discussion of the government's request for supplemental credits for the Ruhr occupation. The premier said he would give the finance commission next week the information it has asked for, and that the chamber then could fix a date for discussion.

The premier scathingly condemned the Communists for their attitude toward the French action in the Ruhr. Then, addressing Vallant-Couturier, one of the Communist leaders, he said: "You will give an account before the bar of justice for your abominable articles."

During the tumult that followed, the premier said afterwards he heard M. Berthoin say to him: "You are a prisoner of Daudet. What blackmail holds you and on you?"

M. Poincaré demanded that the accusation remain in the official record "to the shame of him who pronounced it."

Great Disorder.

There was considerable disorder at this point. Deputies of various political complexion, calling each other "fool," "imbecile," "black-maller," "German agent," and other names. When this tumult was quieted, M. Berthoin interjected another question asking: "Why do Poincaré and his ministers submit to the insupportable dictation of Daudet?"

It was then M. Poincaré heard M. Berthoin's alleged accusation and the premier feared publication of certain evidence which Berthoin later denied uttering, but which many deputies assented to and overheard.

Andre Maginot, the minister of war, replaced M. Poincaré when the premier left the tribune during a momentary calm, and said: "I am not a prisoner of Daudet. I am a prisoner of the French people."

"Do you deny saying that evidence existed against M. Poincaré and his family?"

When Berthoin denied, the war minister exclaimed: "Well, then, you have lied."

The session broke up in confusion, with M. Maginot repeating his denunciation of Berthoin, and the latter retorting with his denials. The two men stood face to face, waving their arms violently.

DENY SIR ADAM BECK IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Relatives Report the Hydro Knight Has Shown Great Improvement.

Rumors from Toronto that Sir Adam Beck was seriously ill, and that Queen City physicians were journeying to London to attend him, are without foundation, according to relatives of the family.

Sir Adam suffered from a severe cold some weeks ago, and was ordered to bed. Last night one of his associates stated he was greatly improved, and has not been confined to bed for some time.

In recent years, the hydro knight has had two attacks of pneumonia, and a possible repetition of the affliction this year was feared by those who knew of his greater care as soon as his present cold was contracted.

KNOLLWOOD PARK BUS SERVICE CUT; MEETING CALLED

Condition of Quebec Street Causes Curtailment to C. P. R. Tracks.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Whole Transportation Problem Likely To Be Attacked
Again Monday Night.

London's transportation battle opens anew with a general informal meeting of the city council Monday night. Mayor Wenig gave instructions early this afternoon for this special meeting.

"The time for action has arrived," he asserted, as he learned that the London Street Railway Company had curtailed its bus service to Knollwood Park, by reason, it is explained, of the condition of Quebec street.

"The street railway company must furnish service to the people," said the mayor. "How they do it remains their problem. Let them extend their tracks if they find it necessary. We must have adequate service for Knollwood Park."

The mayor maintains that the council on Monday next should direct the city engineer to notify the company that the pavement of Stanley street and other thoroughfares must be commenced without further delay. The council has not long since ruled to this effect, but the mayor claims that no apparent action has resulted.

Ald. George Burdick, Ward Four, stated that numerous complaints have been registered with him during the past few days, indicating that the people of that district are not satisfied with the service maintained by the company.

Railway authorities informed The Advertiser this afternoon that the bus was still in operation.

James Reardon, grocer, Knollwood Park, explained later that the bus was in operation as far as the C. P.
R. tracks, and was not transporting passengers directly to the park. He stated further that a meeting called for tonight in his store had been since cancelled.

WILL HOLD CONFERENCE ON PINE LAWN TANGLE

The Pine Lawn tangle is more or less "in statu quo" this afternoon, following the ultimatum from the housing commissioners that the contractors, Hayman & Willis, should commence operations by 1 p.m. today.
G. N. Westcott, attorney for the commission, explains that a conference will be held between the contractors and D. J. Tallant, chairman, before any further action is contemplated.

The contractors are quite willing to proceed with the re-roofing of the city houses at Pine Lawn, but they desire to wait until the warmer weather, when they can salvage the old, discarded ones.

Are These Ideas Helpful For Industrial Peace?

An American weekly publication has for some time past invited opinions from its readers regarding "a platform for industrial peace." From these opinions has been composed a summary of ten clauses for the regulation of industrial relations:

I. Service.
The main working rule for those who engage in any basic business must be Service. The people who maintain the market for all goods, energy, and skill, must have a continuous supply of every essential of life. Service must be defined as the successful effort continuously to keep up supply, raise quality, and reduce cost. In the long run, profits and wages are earned and should be received by any of us only in the measure that we serve.

II. Reward.
To serve the community a business must produce and distribute in such volume and at fair prices, as to be able to take care of its own people.
It must earn money to pay its workers wages which will support life.
It must provide continuous conditions of work under healthful conditions, free the creative energies of all workers, and offer incentives to improvement of production.

III. Capital.
To provide means by which its workers can earn their living, a business must have capital. This money and property must be hired, paid for, as work is paid for. Capital is saved by many, not looted by few, and that service of saving must be rewarded. In the interest of workers and the people, every basic business must earn its way, pay a return on needed capital, meet its debts when due, and build strongly for the future.

IV. Management.
Earnings, through service, is the job of management. When a business does not pay fair wages for work done, for capital, the fault is usually with management—the in the factory, the office, in sales, or in finance. If management is hampered by rules of government or labor, this is a condition which must be met and dealt with, not an excuse for failure. We must respect and reward the task and service of management.

V. Leadership.
Owners, and leaders, are usually responsible for management, whether good or bad, and must be the first to pay in reduced earnings, the penalty for its mistakes. The public must not be asked to pay higher prices, nor workers to take lower wages, until all possible has been done to lower costs, better methods, stop gambling, improve merchandising, and thus increase earnings as based on service.

VI. Operation.
Management must keep the business going, and not shut down to gamble in prices or wages. It must plan the entire business—financing.

of qualifications to Dr. Merchant and myself and wrote his name near the top of the first page of the London Normal School register. I trust that he has found the course that he completed here with first class honors prove useful to him not only in the schools which he taught and as a wider field to which he was called by the legislature of Michigan as attorney-general of that state, but also to the achievements that stand to his credit in winning the war and for which the United States government has awarded him its Distinguished Service Medal.

Those Who Died.
On the withdrawing of the covering flags Mr. DeWitt Pepper read a sketch of the service of each of the nine soldier-students who had made the supreme sacrifice: William James Courtney, Fred Garrett, James A.
Hare, Lewis Honey, Osmer Mac-Kenzie, George A. Metcalfe, Thomas W. Milliken, Ralph W. Robinson, and Clinton Thomson.

The names of students who had enlisted, but proved to have some physical disqualification for soldier-life, and of those who were in training when the need for recruits ceased and consequently did not go overseas, are not engraved in bronze, but their record will be preserved in a memorial book to be made for the Normal School library.

During the unveiling of the tablet and the dedicatory address the crowd stood silently, and then on an instruction from William Prendergast, principal of the school, who acted as chairman, they adjourned to the auditorium of the school on the floor above, filing past the glistening table.

Speeches recalling at once the glory and the horror of the battlefields were delivered by Lieut.-Col. Pepper and by Rev. Col. Beattie of this city.

Lieut.-Col. Pepper stands out among the many ex-students of the Normal School, who have carved their names in the hall of fame. He is the deputy crown attorney for the State of Michigan, and during the war he distinguished himself while serving with the American army.

He spoke of the earliest days of the school, when with a mere handful of other would-be teachers he studied in the London Normal school, even Pepper said that as a graduate of the London Normal School, he confessed to a feeling of sentiment that the days when he trod the corridors of the normal as a student were far away.

"Then there were no such beautiful surroundings as one sees today, for the very ground which is now your campus was but a dishevelled field, treeless, shrubless and flowerless," Col. Pepper said. "But the thing for which the school was built, and to which it was dedicated, was there the spirit of education, patriotism, and the spirit of inquiry and progress."

buying, manufacturing, and selling —two that goods pass from raw materials to the consumer continuously at steady prices based on service. Management must strive for higher quality of a constantly better use of machines and men, a constantly better organization of the field and of the industry. It should never be allowed to combine when it ought to compete, nor forced to compete when it ought to combine.

VII. Work.
Workers, whether or not in labor organizations, must help increase production and promote good feeling within the business served by each trade. All working rules should increase output, harmonize and educate fellow workers, and strengthen the human desire to serve. Such rules should make for the increasing of real wages earned by work done and service given on the job.

VIII. Co-operation.
Workers and managers must know and have faith in one another. In each plant, district, or other unit of basic industry, there should be a council, works committee, or other body of representatives, chosen by and from the workers in each such unit, to meet with the managers.
These councils should confer on questions as to wages, working conditions and production.

IX. Knowledge.
The main facts as to the life, growth, and progress of every basic business, whose service is essential to all the people, must be made public and available to the rank and file of workers, and to the people who look to the industry for service, as well as the stockholders, directors, and managers. For example:

Balance sheet, principal items in detail, and explained.
Routine report of expenses, profits, and operating facts.
Funds held by labor, by employers, and by civic bodies concerned with the industry.
Grievances, remedies proposed,
and agreements.

Wage and salary scales, hours of labor, and working rules.

X. Peace.
The best arbitration is to need none. (See VII, VIII, and IX above.) Government must not make arbitration compulsory, deny the right to work or to stop work, or decide issues arbitrarily by injunction. Workers and managers in the units of basic industry should plan in advance to submit to arbitration any differences which their own councils may be unable to settle. These agreements should name the chosen arbitrators and the facts, so that appeal may be made to public opinion. Public opinion, informed and organized, is the one force which will build justice and peace in all our basic industries.

"As I again recall the purpose of this gathering today, I cannot help recollecting that this college began its notable career during a period of great national fervor, for the South African war was then in progress.
From these desks we heard the bells of London peel out the tidings of the relief of Ladysmith, the breaking point of the war. From here, also, no doubt, you heard the glad news of the armistice in 1918, the end of the most terrible war in all history."

Part School Played.
"We have come here today in recognition of the part this school played in that great war, and in a broader sense the part education played through the power of education, the power of trained minds, whether of the great leaders or the simplest soldier of the field."

"When a whole world devotes itself to the solution of a terrifying problem, it means that master minds are created, and that even the sleeping sluggard is awakened and vivified to thought. From 1914 to 1918 men and women thought deeply, struggled with the awful crisis, sifted, experimented, dug and delved into the secrets of nature, elevated themselves to the heavens, cast themselves into the abysses of the unknown, in the process of discovering the way out of that terrible problem."

Col. Pepper outlined the influence of war on education, illustrating the benefits by its insistence on highly trained and properly-schooled leaders and forces. The war was a great school, he said. After the armistice, the countries of the Allies established schools for returned soldiers awaiting return to civilian life.
Thousands were sent to the universities of England, Scotland and France
—a tribute to the spirit of those great schools, as well as to the higher consciousness of free and enlightened governments.

Education An Asset.
"Who can say that educational work thus carried on has not or will not be a great asset to the nations involved?" the speaker continued. "I believe it to be true that the very cause of education has achieved a notable triumph in the war period, and that it has been given an unequalled stimulus for the future. Not that I glorify war—on the contrary war is a horror in itself, and a thing to be avoided by all honorable means, but we can extract at least that much sunshine from the gloom of the last war, that it has not retarded education nor the means of education."

"The part education played in the war is typified in the college under whose roof we stand today. The men and women it has sent forth to battle for education from year to year have made a glorious part in the conflict.
We especially honor those from this school who gave up their lives in the war, for their was a sacrifice greater than that of those who served and yet whose lives were spared."

"We meet here today to unveil a simple memorial tablet, upon whose face are recorded the names of graduates from this school who volunteered for service and who served in the Allied forces in the great conflict.
This tablet should be an inspiration for those who now and hereafter come to this school, and be trained in the great profession of teaching. As you read the names here inscribed, it will remind you of what may always be expected of the worthy children of a free country—a willingness to give the best that is in you to advance its highest interests, to do your duty as citizens and, if necessary, to give up life itself as a final sacrifice to sustain its principles of freedom and to assure it a future of glory and honor."

S. SILVERSTEIN IS NOT CONVICTED ON O. T. A. CHARGE

Inspector Lucas Is Sole Witness in Bathurst Street House Case.

FLASK IS PRODUCED

Containing Teaspoonful of Liquid.

Talk of whiskey fumes and production of the sealed top of a bottle in one case, and the production of a one drop in the bottle in another, fallen to move Magistrate A. H. M.
Graydon, when a conviction under the O. T. A. in police court today.

In the case of S. Silverstein of 603 Bathurst street, charged with keeping liquor for sale and with having liquor illegally, Inspector Thomas Lucas was the sole witness.

On Friday, March 9, he stated, he and four other officers visited Silverstein's house. They saw Silverstein 40 feet from the house. Another man in the house ahead of him.
The officers found all doors locked and were forced to break in the rear door to gain entrance.

Inspector Lucas testified that he smelled a strong odor of liquor under the tap. The water was running.
Mrs. Silverstein carried the pail to another part of the house. When an officer took the pail from her, it was partly filled with water, and also contained a broken bottle. The cork had not been drawn from the top, which was sealed.

Accepted Story as True.
J. M. McEvoy, K.C., counsel for the defense, asked no questions of Inspector Lucas, stating that he accepted his story as true, and would agree with the other officers if they corroborated the inspector's statements.

Silverstein was not called.
Mr. McEvoy pointed out that no liquor was produced, and said that when a search warrant was executed in a case of this kind the requisite evidence in court was to produce the liquor.

"They haven't even got the fumes here," he said.
The case was dismissed.
Officers had visited a North End home a week ago and laid disorderly charges against the tenant and some visitors.

One of the visitors, the officers stated, had produced a flask in the house. When the police entered they found one member of the party intoxicated and discovered that others had been drinking. One flask was produced in court, it contained less than a teaspoonful of a liquid.

Howard Cluff, defense counsel, declined to call his clients.
"Why shouldn't we convict them?"
Magistrate Graydon asked.

Onus on Police.
Mr. Cluff stated the onus was on the police to prove the flask contained liquor. He said his clients had not admitted it. He denied the authorities to analyze the liquid, stating there was not sufficient in the bottle for that purpose, and quoted a case which Hon. Mr.
Justice Middleton had decided as his authority.

Magistrate Graydon dismissed the case.
Frank Healy, who was charged with trespassing on the C. P. R., was apparently too sleepy to answer questions properly, and was remanded for three days to get some sleep.

His name was called, but he did not answer for a few moments.
Then he stood up slowly and drawled:
"I guess that's my last word."

As he waited for further questions he yawned and stretched his arms.
As Frank's interest in the case was apparently lacking, the remand was ordered.

The arrival of Sir Henry Thornton to participate in a large get-together meeting of Canadian National organizations, and the division of the eagerly looked forward to by C. N.
R. employees of London and adjacent points.

Owing to pressing administrative matters it has heretofore been impossible for Sir Henry to set a date for his visit but it is confidently expected that it will take place shortly after April 1.

The program so far as can be learned, it includes inspection of the system, yards and offices, and a banquet and get-together meeting at the Masonic Temple.

A dance will be arranged at the Winter Gardens for the employees and their friends and will take place on the evening of Sir Henry's visit.

City Treasurer James Bell is swinging another deal this afternoon involving the sale of city of London debentures, to the value of $10,- 772.41, that should mean a substantial saving.

"The deal should be consummated before long," Mr. Bell stated this afternoon. "I have the consent of the mayor and other authorities, and it is safe to say that I will sell at the prices offered to me today."
"London will then be receiving the best price since the war. These are bonds that have been carried along by short term loans since 1918, are watered down electrically and London and Port Stanley Railway debentures."

It is these bonds that the council not long since changed from 6 per cent, as originally intended, to 5 per cent.

BRITAIN IS ARMED OVER FRENCH AIR SUPERIORITY

MR. SUPERIORITY OF FRANCE CAUSES ALARM IN BRITAIN

Birkenhead Asks Against Whom Preparations Are Made.

BEATTY IS WORRIED

Famous Admiral Says Ship Scrapping "Makes Heart Bleed."

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

London, March 23.—With the Anglo-French Entente virtually in abeyance pending the outcome of the Ruhr experiment, the Washington naval limitations pact is getting a very lukewarm reception in Paris and a steady expansion across the thirty-mile wide English Channel of an aerial war-making machine into what its builders avowedly hope will soon be the world's greatest air force, Great Britain today is taking a thoughtful inventory of its own resources for resisting possible aggression from the clouds.

The subject got a thorough airing in both houses of parliament Wednesday, and yesterday the papers were full of what they call England's perilous position. The facts are that Great Britain has only 371 service aeroplanes, while France has 1,260. Two-thirds of the British aircraft are now in Egypt and the Near East, but only one-fourth of France's are away from home. Lord Birkenhead, who took a prominent part in the Lord's discussion of the subject Wednesday night, in an interview yesterday said:

Could Destroy London.

France could, if she wished, destroy London, and what we want to know is against whom are these prodigious air reparations on the part of France being made?

It is significant that quarters whence the loudest cries lately have been made for the curbing of public funds join wholeheartedly in advocacy of bolstering up the British air defence. Some time ago there was a show of warmth here to suggestions that the great powers might be convoked in an aircraft limitations conference to preclude the outpouring of public funds in an aircraft building competition, but its advocates have been silenced by the attitude of the French respecting the Heligoland move to end the armaments race in the shipyards.

Teach Open Warfare.

Another straw which shows the drift of British opinion was the announcement of the under secretary of state for war that "the chief of the imperial general staff has definitely laid down that training at the moment is to be directed towards teaching open, and not trench warfare."

Great Britain has scrapped so many warships that Admiral Beatty declares the very thought of it "makes my heart bleed. She has looked off segments and battalions of soldiers by wholesale and now, while taking every occasion to recognize the importance of continued Anglo-French unity, wishes the sky above her to be so opened—or that the English Channel were many miles wider.

DEFENDS EXPENDITURE FOR CHIPPAWA CANAL

H. J. Acres Declares Project Constructed To Last for Centuries.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 23.—H. J. Acres, chief hydraulic engineer of the Ontario Hydro Commission, testified this morning before the Gregory Commission investigating the cost of the Chippawa Power Canal. He declared that hanging would have been proper punishment for him if he had "skipped" the work of the canal.

"The canal had to be built for generations, and it would have been a crime if any part of it were built of inferior material or in an inferior way. The capital cost would be wiped out long before the canal was finished with its work."

He had been sent to Chippawa, he said, to take summary of the canal and did things which were not reported to the commission until, because, he was trusted to do them. The 1919 estimate was $27,000,000. He said, explaining the difference in the two amounts, that he did not see that labor was to increase in price, and stated that he had expected labor to go back to 1917 or even 1914 levels.

The task was unprecedented in construction work, and that made estimated costs more difficult. W. W. Pope, secretary of the Hydro Commission, was also examined as to documents on the Chippawa work.

FINISH UNION GOLF COURSE BEFORE MONTH OF JUNE

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 23.—Stanley Thompson, the well-known golf course builder, was in the city on Thursday morning when he went over the new course at Union, which he designed. He was accompanied by several of his directors.

Mr. Thompson stated that he was very much pleased with its condition, and felt that by getting to work on the finishing up as soon as possible the course could be open or play sometime in June.

Mr. Sheraton, one of the Thompson Company's foremen is expected here next week to get the work under way.

Little Vessel Ready To Begin Labrador Gold Search

Hardy Ship Petrel Will Leave Halifax For Bleak Northland With Twenty Prominent Prospectors.

Special to The Advertiser.

Halifax, N.S., March 23.—With everything set for a quick run to the bleak coast of Labrador, the saucy little Petrel, under command of Captain Horrocks, and bearing a party of twenty well-known Upper Canada prospectors, is practically ready to set sail on her quest for gold in the Labrador fields.

This will be the first voyage made out of Halifax for the gold fields of Labrador. The Petrel is fitted with six months' provisions and bears an apparatus for extracting gold from the sands of the river and stream banks. She carries light draft motor-boats to navigate the shallow streams and to afford landing where the Petrel cannot reach shore. She also carries skills, tobaccos and snowshoes.

The party is in charge of C. W. Berry of Montreal and includes engineers, assayers, geologists and workers. It also includes a doctor.

FRENCH PLACE FORCES ON RHINE-HERNE CANAL

All Locks and Bridges Are Guarded and Traffic Is Carefully Watched.

By A. R. DECKER.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Essen, March 23.—Strong French forces have spread along both sides of the Rhine-Herne canal from the Rhine to Datteln. All the locks and bridges are guarded, and the traffic is being carefully watched. Trains are halted and passengers searched. The canal feeders have been placed under guard.

The French are attaching much importance to the canal, for it is simpler, easier and cheaper to operate against passive resistance obstacles for the removal of coke.

The sunken barges that carried the German military stores have been removed and the damaged lock has been repaired. The canal is open for traffic far enough into the river to reach a large number of coal and coke dumps, where the fuel has been piled high in the last two months.

The French claim that they are to get, and it is doubtful if the coke shipments to France will increase enough to meet the furnace needs.

The French claim that they have plenty of barges from the Rhine all along, and that sailors and tugboat crews have been brought from France.

However, if the barges are to be operated on a paying basis, they must return to France loaded with iron ore and German industrial plants must be permitted to operate.

DENIES CANADA LABOR EMIGRATING TO U. S.

Employment Service Official Claims No Skilled Workmen Leaving Country.

Windsor, March 23.—Reports that skilled Canadian labor is immigrating in droves to Detroit and other cities in the United States are unfounded, A. J. Cooper, superintendent of the Canadian government's employment service, said in Windsor yesterday.

"Unskilled labor may be going to the United States, but not skilled workers," declared Cooper.

"Industry in Canada is good, and throughout Canada are good. The report that big wages in the spring here lures workers has no basis. There is no shortage of skilled labor here. Plants are advertising for men."

Alexander Black, Windsor assessment commissioner, said today Windsor will have the greatest building boom in its history in the spring. He pointed out that Windsor's population is now 55,000, as compared with 12,000 ten years ago.

"There are not enough houses, so we must build them," Black said.

GIVES BIRTH TO A BOY WEIGHING 14 1-2 POUNDS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Port Arthur, March 23.—A baby boy weighing 14 1/2 pounds was born at St. Joseph's General Hospital last evening to Mrs. William Dwyer of Atikokan. The hospital does not keep records, but attendants say this is about four pounds above any previous record. Mother and baby are fine.

Thornton Issues Confidential Message To Employees of Canadian National

Special to The Advertiser.

Montreal, March 23.—Sir Henry Thornton issued yesterday the following message to all employees of the Canadian National Railways: The organization for administering the Canadian National Railways system as one complete unit has been decided, operation regions, districts and divisions have been determined, the necessary officers have been selected and their duties prescribed. We have embarked upon a mutual enterprise of great difficulty and of vast importance to ourselves, both as employees of the company and as citizens of the Dominion. If we make a success of our undertaking we shall advance and prosper, both as an individual welfare and as a nation as a railroad men, but we shall have performed a fine and patriotic service which will reflect itself in the advancement and prosperity of our country in which we will all share.

But our success will depend upon the skill, energy and high principles with which the property is administered and upon the fidelity, loyalty and vigilance which actuate every employee in the performance of his daily duties.

Technical ability alone will not win the battle, only by enthusiasm and constant teamwork on the part of the great army of our men can we hope to win. I am sure that every man in the service ardently wishes our experiment to succeed, and it will if each one tries to live up to these simple rules:

1. Be courteous and helpful to everyone, especially the public. We need their business.

2. Try to make a friend a day for the company.

3. Try to influence all the freight and passengers you can see. You may think that is the job of the transportation department. So it is, but you and I and all of us, first, last and always, belong to that department.

4. Do all you can to stop waste, try to save something each day for the company.

5. Remember you are working for a company you may be proud of, and make it so. Hold up your head and smile, smile, smile.

ASK AUTOMATIC CONTROL ON M. C. R. CANADIAN LINES

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 23.—According to statements made here Thursday, the operation of trains by automatic control on the local division of the M. C. R. will be experimented with much sooner than was at first expected.

About six months ago the U. S. government passed legislation ordering 49 railroads of the U. S., including that of the M. C. R., to test the new system by 1925.

It is expected that whatever the M. C. R. does in the U. S. it will also carry out in Canada.

ANOTHER FATHER MISSING AT WESTMINSTER

William Sullivan of Strathroy Finds "Jordan Smith" Is Not His Son.

VEIL NOT RAISED

Wilfred Vernon Sullivan Was Reported Missing After Arras Drive.

The veil of mystery, which has shrouded the identity of the strange soldier known to the official of Westminster Hospital, where he is an inmate, as "Jordan Smith," has not been lifted, although another sorrowing father, in company with a representative of The Advertiser, visited the hospital yesterday afternoon in the forlorn hope that the mystery man might prove to be his son.

The father was William Sullivan, custodian of the cemetery in Strathroy, who struck by apparent similarity between the description of the mystery man and his own son, Wilfred Vernon Sullivan, he went to the hospital especially to visit the hospital and see if by any chance he could recognize the unfortunate. As already stated, Mr. Sullivan's mission was fruitless.

Wilfred Vernon Sullivan, who was a school teacher when the call to arms came, enlisted in the 15th Battalion, and went overseas, to be transferred to the 19th.

For months he wrote regularly to his parents, chatty, descriptive letters, eagerly read by his friends and many in the Strathroy paper. Suddenly these letters ceased. He was reported to have been received by his father arriving on Aug. 26, 1918, when the Canadians formed the spear head of the drive at Arras. The following day an official communication from Ottawa listed Wilfred Vernon Sullivan as "wounded and missing." He has since been reported as having been taken to a hospital in England, and his father has been looking for him ever since.

At last, as a drowning man clutching a straw, Mr. Sullivan, who read in The Advertiser about "Westminster's mystery man," determined to come to the city and see for himself. He was identified by his failure to establish a record in the hospital, but he was more than one chance in about one hundred that he was his son.

The lieutenant-governor has been studying the documents, and his decision is expected at any moment. In the event of his being identified, the conclusion that Abbe Delorme is sane, formalities will be completed under the direct control of the police authorities.

It is expected, however, in any event, that the mystery man would not come to trial until the June sessions in Montreal.

PHILADELPHIA BANKER CHARGED WITH MURDER

Killed Three People As They Alighted From a Street Car.

Special to The Advertiser.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 23.—Henry G. Brock, 1712 Walnut street, society leader and banker, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury for murder and involuntary manslaughter.

His automobile killed three persons as they alighted from a trolley car at Forty-Fifth street and Lancaster avenue on March 2.

The return of the findings of the two grand juries, during the sessions, court, by George H. Porter, a former associate of Brock, was given the contract for the plates.

The figure at which they tendered was considerably in advance of that put in by Brock.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works, stated that the superior quality of the Color Type Company's product justified the higher price.

PROF. EINSTEIN QUILTS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Famous "Relativity" Theorist Claims Special Body Ineffective.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Zurich, March 23.—The League of Nations is a failure as far as Professor Albert Einstein is concerned. The man with the celebrated theory, who is stopping here on his return from Japan, announced yesterday that he has severed all connection with the league by resigning from its committee on intellectual co-operation.

In his letter to the secretary of that commission, Professor Einstein stated that he had recently become convinced that "the league is neither the force nor goodwill necessary for accomplishment of its task."

He added that, inasmuch as he is a confirmed pacifist, he wished to have no relations whatever with the League of Nations.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 23.—According to statements made here Thursday, the operation of trains by automatic control on the local division of the M. C. R. will be experimented with much sooner than was at first expected.

About six months ago the U. S. government passed legislation ordering 49 railroads of the U. S., including that of the M. C. R., to test the new system by 1925.

It is expected that whatever the M. C. R. does in the U. S. it will also carry out in Canada.

Associated Press Despatch.

Buer, March 23.—Sixty persons are reported to have been arrested by Belgian patrols in Ghent and Brabant and imprisoned on charges of having in their possession copies of newspapers published in unoccupied Germany. The charges of the arrested persons are the Ruhr question.

German semi-official quarters it is stated that the arrests are in pursuance of a new order by the French authorities, which provides for the arrest of any person selling or possessing a copy of certain German newspapers.

Boy Wanted To See World, Is Found Dying by Father

George Hollock, 17, Camden, Removed To Hospital Stricken by Typhoid On First Voyage As Sailor.

Special to The Advertiser.

Camden, N.J., March 23.—While "the boy who wouldn't stay at home" in his delirium on a white coat in St. Agnes' Hospital yesterday, a father and mother, weakened by many nights of sleepless vigil, pray silently that reason will return before death takes its toll.

A month ago, tired of routine, George William Hollock, 17 years old, 2983 Tuckahoe road, more familiarly known as "Bill," announced to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hollock, that he was going to "see the world." "You may go," his father told him. "I was once a sailor, and I know what sort of a feeling you have."

On the day of his departure, his father and mother, weakened by many nights of sleepless vigil, pray silently that reason will return before death takes its toll.

When the spring assizes of the supreme court of Ontario, presided over by Mr. Justice Maheux, adjourned yesterday afternoon at 6:30, the Wray-Cummings breach of contract suit, in which the plaintiff is suing for $5,000, was still before the court. The case will be resumed this morning.

R. W. Wray of Wray & Co. claims that on April 28, 1921, he entered into an agreement with E. W. Cummings, Richmond street clothier, to supply him with 50 dozen overalls a week for one year, and that the defendant failed to live up to the agreement.

Mr. Wray was the first witness called to the stand.

He asserted that during the first week following the signing of the contract, defendant had placed with him orders for 13 or 15 dozen overalls. He contracted, witness asserted, to supply Cummings with a minimum quantity of 50 dozen overalls a week.

Verbal Agreement.

The plaintiff stated further that he verbally agreed with Mr. Cummings on July 12 for the defendant to take 75 dozen overalls for three months, and if the defendant failed to do so, he was to pay the difference in the number of garments taken and the number ordered.

During the three months following the verbal agreement, defendant averaged 47 dozen overalls a week, Mr. Wray declared that his net loss through the alleged failure of the defendant to comply with the agreement is $2,265.72.

Hilda M. Graves, the next witness called by counsel for the plaintiff, stated that she was employed by the plaintiff as stenographer and bookkeeper from April to October, 1921.

Witness was positive that the defendant had not ordered 50 dozen overalls a week while she was in Mr. Wray's employ.

Witness further stated that when requested by Mr. Wray to enlarge his orders the defendant refused to do so, on the grounds that he did not have enough room for the garments, and that he had not the money.

Herbert Noble, customs clerk, rendered records of the goods cleared by Mr. Wray during the past two years. The plaintiff has paid his duties and taxes up to date, Mr. Noble said.

The defendant claimed further that all the allegations of the plaintiff, and declared that he was not supplied with the minimum order of 50 dozen overalls a week, because the defendant did not have the material with which to make the garments when ordered.

He denied the plaintiff's claim that he had not the money, and that his orders were never delivered on time. This resulted in the loss of customers on the defendant's part, he asserted.

GERMANS REACHING FOR TRADE IN TURKEY

Hugo Stinnes Seeks To Exploit Nationalist Mines.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Constantinople, March 23.—There are various indications that Germany is trying to regain an economic foothold in Turkey. Representatives of Hugo Stinnes are reported to have arrived at Ankara, and to be seeking concessions to exploit mines and establish banking facilities in Turkey.

Before Ankara began governing Constantinople the allies kept the lid on German business in Turkey, but now German goods are beginning to fill the Turkish stores.

Aside from this limited success, which is due to the exchange, allowing the Germans to undersell the allies, the Germans are not making much headway as Germany's political prestige is gone, and there is much anti-German feeling among the Turks. The allies have not yet allowed Germany to resume diplomatic relations with Turkey.

Turkey's relations with Russia are getting worse, Ankara now refusing to recognize the Soviet government, and a delegation in Constantinople, which was installed here two years ago, and was accredited to the allied supreme command, was expelled. German ministers are ordering that all Russian transactions shall be handled through the Soviet legation at Ankara.

FARM STRIKE PROGRESSES IN NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, March 23.—Milkmaids acting as strikebreakers, policemen feeding sheep, and early dining of striking farm hands—these were some of the features today of the biggest farm strike in English history, which has tied up all Norfolk and Suffolk. Clashes between union farm hands and imported strikebreakers also marked the close of the first week of the strike. Ten thousand Norfolk farm workers closed work last Friday after refusing to accept rationing of wages. The farmers simultaneously declaring a lock-out.

DECISION HELD UP IN SMALL CASE

Judge Coatsworth Defers Decision in Small Appeal

Counsel For Sisters of Missing Millionaire Claims Wife Should Wait Seven Years Before Legal Declaration of Death Is Asked.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—After listening for three days to evidence concerning the disappearance on December 2, 1919, of Ambrose J. Small, the Toronto millionaire, Judge Coatsworth announced late yesterday, after counsel had summed up, that he would reserve judgment on the application of Mrs. Small for a declaration of legal presumption that her husband is dead, which declaration is sought in order that the will, leaving the $2,000,000 estate to herself, may be probated.

A. G. Slaght, K.C., counsel for the sisters of the missing man, who are attacking the validity of the will, cited numerous cases in which the courts had insisted upon full seven years' interval after disappearance before giving legal approval to the presumption of death and distribution of the estate.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for Mrs. Small, argued that the seven years' rule might be quite proper in a case of mere disappearance, but in the case of Small there was plenty of circumstantial evidence that he had not with foul play. He submitted that death occurred no December 2, 1919, the day he was last seen in his theater. He had on that day received a million dollars on payment of his theater.

Claims Foul Play.
"We find Doughty takes bonds, goes to Montreal, returns, sees Mrs. Small and leaves, and he is not heard of again for some time, when he is run down," said Mr. Tilley.

"All this points to possibility of something untoward happening to Mr. Small," further, counsel argued, Mrs. Small had put large sums of her own money into the estate and was therefore directly interested in the proper administration of the property.

Reviewing the evidence in support of his contention that the estate should not now be turned over to Mrs. Small, Mr. Slaght said:

"I propose to invoke the principle of the equitable principle—that one who comes into equity must come with clean hands."

with entirely clean hands. That is a principle as old as the Blackstone," he declared.

Mr. Slaght then reviewed Mrs. Small's evidence. Between the 2nd and 7th of December she knew he was away, he said, and yet when Mr. Flock called her up she said she thought he was away with her husband in Montreal.

Counsel said the appellant had taken no steps to telephone to London or to Montreal to obtain information during that period. Why did she not confirm the facts that the missing man was in either of these two cities, as she had supposed? he asked.

On December 16 she gives Detective Mitchell false impressions in regard to what was her belief as to what had happened, said Mr. Slaght, concerning Mrs. Small's talk with Mitchell at the first interview. Then enough had said that the next day he got "enough to clear up the facts or lack of facts of the day before."

Mail and Empire, she stated: "I know where my husband is. He is in a sanitarium, he is safe; he is going to return to his place of business."

Counsel said the claimant declared that she told Mr. Flock that in her opinion her husband was voluntarily absent.

Mr. Flock was not quite sure what happened, but confronted with a letter over his signature and dated December 30, in which he said:

"Mrs. Small expressed her opinion to me that her husband was voluntarily absent."

Flock had admitted in the witness box, "Yes, I did make that statement, because Mrs. Small asked me to."

Would Let 7 Years Elapse.

Referring to Flock's letter to James Cowan, stating that Mrs. Small seemed to be of the opinion that her husband was voluntarily absenting himself, Mr. Slaght said: "She was putting forward, through Flock, and with his co-operation, a statement that wasn't true, and which she knew was not true."

Then, said Mr. Slaght, there were Mrs. Small's conflicting statements about the date she learned of her husband's deposit of his million-dollar check in the bank. She said in court proceedings that she knew of the deposit on Dec. 2. In her affidavit to the master-in-chambers she had said: "I have since learned that it was made on Dec. 2, 1919." It was difficult to reconcile these two statements.

"Mrs. Small says positively that she requested James Cowan to inform the police for her. She admits that she did not do so herself. She does not suggest that she called up the police, and in regard to her statement regarding Mr. Cowan, he says Mrs. Small is mistaken. 'She neither asked me to go to the police,' he said, 'nor did I discuss the matter with her.' Mr. Cowan said he went to the police at his own initiative and on Mr. Flynn's suggestion."

"If Mrs. Small now desires this court to pronounce that he is dead and omitted to take the matter to the police while the thing was hot, whose fault is it if there is not reliable police evidence?" asked Mr. Slaght, who suggested it was not "visiting her with severe results" to ask her to wait for the elapse of the seven-year period before declaring her husband dead."

Arguing the disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, theatrical millionaire, was a world-famous case and the news of it had spread all over the globe, yet with no real clue as to his whereabouts or his fate, despite the long and patient search of the police, W. N. Tilley, K.C., began his plea to Judge Coatsworth in the surrogate court today for a declaration of the court that Small may be presumed to be dead, so that his wife, Mrs. Theresa Small, might proceed to administer the estate.

Mr. Tilley further told the judge that the allowance of Mrs. Small from the estate had been cut off. The affairs of the estate were not in a satisfactory state. The absentee act was not working properly under the circumstances, and they were coming to the court for relief. Mr. Justice Meredith had suggested the probating of the will, and this was a preliminary step.

Death Certain.

He cited the opinion of Austin Mitchell, sergeant of detectives, who had conducted the search for Small, as being in itself sufficient foundation for a declaration that Small was now dead, and that he had come to his death on or about December 2, 1919.

Mrs. Ambrose Small, who is asking the Toronto courts to declare her husband, missing since December, 1919, dead, and to grant probate of his million-dollar estate.

The case is nearing its close. Evidence was all in by noon today and then the argument of the counsel began. Mr. Tilley for Mrs. Small, leading off, and A. G. Slaght, K.C., for the Misses Small, who are fighting the application, following.

The evidence given at this morning's hearing of the surrogate case was largely a cross-examination of some of yesterday's witnesses and the examination of minor witnesses, whose statements have already been published.

Nathan Sabine, a news vendor, reiterated previous statements that he sold Ambrose Small a New York newspaper at 7:10 p.m. on the evening of the day he disappeared. This was on the corner near the theatre.

Barber Testifies.
Arthur Weatherup, the barber who shaved Small the day he disappeared, testified that the photograph of Small on the police circular showed him with a drooping moustache, whereas the ends had been trimmed a year before. Witness was questioned closely as to a certain watch Small had with him that day. Small had promised him "two cases" if the theatre deal went through. He never got the "cases."

Tom Flynn, the friend of the missing man, on being recalled today denied stating to the police that Small wore a tweed suit the last time he saw him. Small wore his overcoat that day, according to Flynn.

Bert Keyser, one of Weatherup's fellow barbers, gave evidence corroborative of Weatherup's statements. Judge Coatsworth sustained objection of counsel to the questioning of an official of the Capital Trust Company as to what Mrs. Small had drawn from the estate. Before adjournment for luncheon, the judge arranged to visit the Grand Opera House and go over the ground mentioned as appertaining to the Small movements on the last day he was seen there.

CONSERVATIVES MEET TO NAME CANDIDATE

South Essex Members To Gather At Leamington For Decision.

Windsor, March 23.—Members of the Conservative party in South Essex are to meet at Leamington Friday to select a candidate for the provincial elections this year. They may decide whether it is advisable to advocate a beer and wine plank for the party platform, prominent members of the party said yesterday.

In the last election, when the vote was taken on the prohibition issue, South Essex voted strongly against modification of the Ontario temperance act, but Conservatives believe they say, an amendment to the existing liquor laws will be demanded by party leaders when they announce their policies for the campaign.

R. M. Selkirk, mayor of Leamington, A. C. Awrey, barrister at Leamington and Arthur Brown of Kingsville, are mentioned prominently as probable candidates for the nomination at the convention Friday.

The Best Medicine For Women

When Mr. Myers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine he had in his store for woman's ills, it is a wonder that he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. K. Myers, in writing of it, says: "It had been weak, running down, and had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I could not do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time so I was able to do all of my housework, including washing and ironing, and now I feel fine all the time. As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 98 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.—Adv.

AWARD JOHN COOK M. S. GRACE PRIZE IN ORAL CONTEST

Catholic Students Display Versatility in Public Speaking At St. Peter's Hall.

SHOW REAL ABILITY

Audience Appreciates Singing of Chancel Choir Under Direction of Brother Stephen.

London, the birthplace and former home of the master painter Paul Peel, whose works are known the world over may, in a few years, be able to boast that she has produced some of the outstanding public speakers in the Dominion.

Judging by the oratorical ability displayed by five pupils of the De La Salle School at the oratorical and musical entertainment held in St. Peter's Hall last night, the Forest City will soon have the opportunity of proudly proclaiming that no only one but two, three and even more of her boys have won a name for themselves as orators.

In the first address John Donohue handled his subject, "Daniel O'Connell," in a manner that would have done credit to a man. The youthful speaker showed in his whole delivery that he was thoroughly conversant with his subject, and that he was not too timid to speak in a forcible manner.

Life of Henry Grattan. Wilfrid O'Rourke reviewed the life of Henry Grattan, the famous Irish statesman and orator. His speech was extremely interesting and his

If Babies' Brains You Will Not Mock Better Give Up Silly, Childish Talk

Chicago, March 23.—Baby talk, defined as "an expression of self-vigilance with parenthood," is condemned as a dangerous and ludicrous practice by Miss Marian Lanphier, Ph.D., instructor in essentials of speaking at the National Kindergarten and Elementary College.

Exhorting young fathers and mothers to "ware of 'tita darlin'" and "wittle wambkins" and kindred terms of parental endearment, Miss Lanphier points out that every six out of every ten children escape detrimental impressions "from the absurd language of their parents' affections." Says Miss Lanphier:

"Woe to the child who has been a hit weak in language development, and who has had in his ears incorrect auditory imagery from early infancy to the primary grade periods. There is constant danger that this child may be either weak in his language development or so precocious in some other development that the language process, not weak in itself, is simply retarded before the stronger growth, mentally or physically. In either case the practice of baby talk is a distinct danger. Furthermore, baby talk is frequently groundwork for a development stammering, a handicap which may continue throughout life."

entire entertainment was under the direction of the Christian Brothers, and the performance of the pupils of De La Salle School last night reflects well on their ability and painstaking efforts in dealing with boys. Announce Prize Winners. Prizes and medals won by the pupils were awarded as follows: A medal for general proficiency in the entrance examination, 1922, donated by the Dromgole family, in memory of the late Judge Dromgole, and awarded to Martin Burns; a medal for Christian doctrine, donated by R. M. Burns, and awarded to Justin Collins; a shield for musical proficiency, donated by Messrs. William McPhillips & Sons, and awarded to Thomas Quirk; prize for St. Patrick's Day oratorical contest, donated by M. S. Grace, and awarded to John Cook; pennant for school hockey championship, awarded to second year O's, William O'Brien, captain.

APPLAUD CHANCEL CHOIR. Vocal selections by the St. Peter's chancel choir were thoroughly appreciated, and more than one favorable comment was made on the exceptionally clear and melodious voices of the chancel boys. Every number received encore after encore, and the audience would not be satisfied until a repeat was given. The numbers included: "O Canada," "Ave Verum," "Ere, You're Wearin' a Wonderful Smile," and "Eileen Allannah." For a boy, J. Cook gave a splendid recitation of "The Cremation of Sam McGee," by Robert Service, one of the best known of Canadian poets. The

Carl Was Hunter In Jungles Wild And As a Hubby Was None Too Mild

Chicago, March 23.—Carl Akeley, mighty jungle hunter, naturalist and explorer, yesterday was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Della G. Akeley, an intrepid huntress, who characterized him as a "cave man." She charged he had beaten her and once attempted to take her life. The divorce was granted on her amended cross bill, charging cruelty. Mr. Akeley did not contest the suit. Four times Mrs. Akeley accompanied her husband into the old world jungles, braving death by his side. She it was who was credited with shooting the largest elephant ever taken in Africa. On the fifth trip she did not go with his party. Mrs. Akeley declared her husband choked her in December, 1917, and a week later tied her to a bed and turned on the gas.

CHARGE ST. THOMAS MEN WITH BREAKING BYLAWS

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 23.—Charles Abdelh and Elias Abdelh, fruit merchants at 566 Talbot street, appeared in police court yesterday on the charge of an infraction of the city bylaw, relating to the unloading of merchandise into stores or other buildings from Talbot street. A. A. Ingram represented the defendants. He submitted that his clients were unable to unload from the rear of their place of business without trespassing on other people's property in getting to and from their unloading platform.

As a result the hearing was adjourned for a week to make it possible for Magistrate Maxwell, Chief Armstrong and City Solicitor W. B. Doherty to inspect the premises. The inspection was made immediately after the opening of the case.

FARMERS TO DISCUSS BETTERMENT OF CITY

Leaders of Rural Clubs To Address Agricultural Section of Chamber of Commerce.

A special meeting of the agricultural sections of the London Chamber of Commerce will be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock in the rooms of the chamber, at which W. H. Porter, chairman and president, will give an address on the purpose of the section.

There will also be the annual election of officers at this meeting.

The question, "What obstacles, from your point of view, or from that of the organization or branch of industry you represent, are met in dealing with the City of London generally, and what suggestions do you offer for the improvement of existing conditions?" will be discussed by Mrs. W. J. Smith, London Junction, director of United Farm Women's Organization; Mrs. George Edwards, Komoka, president of Women's Institutes of Ontario; J. T. Taylor, London, president of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club; N. T. Sanderson, Byron, of the Vegetable Growers' Association; Harry Shore, R. R. 4, London, of the Fruit Growers' Association; and W. R. Bogue, Byron, of the Milk Producers' Association.

Mayor Wenize and members of the city council, members of the agricultural committee of the county council, representatives of the London Chamber of Commerce and Local Council of Women are being invited to attend.

POLICE COURT ASSISTANT WRITES OUT OWN SUMMONS

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, March 23.—Lloyd Wilson, assistant police court clerk, yesterday made out a complaint against himself, charging him with failing to have a light on the rear of his automobile. "Even police court officials can slip sometimes," Wilson said, as he filled in his name in the complaint blank. He will plead guilty, being unable to deny the charge.

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion.

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illness and of the greatest proportion of deaths. They are constipation and colds.

Many doctors believe that colds, tonsillitis, a touch of malaria will cause constipation, instead of constipation being their cause. The fact remains that you usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. At the first sign of a cold,

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that moves the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address, Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 23 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

at the first few warning sneezes, take a teaspoonful of Laxative Syrup Pepsin and the congestion will be gone in a few hours. Don't wait until the cold has a grip on you. Mr. R. H. Powell, of Gilbert Plains, Man., considers Laxative Syrup Pepsin the best laxative ever used, and Mrs. Chas. Lewis, of Winnipeg, Man., uses it effectively for all the small ills of her family, such as constipation, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it. Before you again resort to cold remedies containing narcotics try a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1923.

Mr. Fielding and the Senate.

Hon. W. S. Fielding has put before the Canadian Parliament a plan for Senate reform. The present senators would be left alone; when they get to be 75 they can retire on two-thirds of their present pay as a pension. This would automatically create a pension list in the present Senate, and for a number of seats would mean one senator at $4,000 and a pensioner at about $2,700 per year.

The provincial governments would name half the senators and the Dominion government the other half. Thus there would be federal and provincial senators.

Mr. Fielding holds that the Senate is not functioning properly, because there are long seasons when it has nothing to do.

He holds, though, that some such body is necessary to act as a brake on hasty legislation from the Commons. Senators are supposed to be more mature in thought, and in some cases to have almost a second eyesight to pick out flaws that the hot-blooded commoners would thrust upon the statute books of the nation.

That is, perhaps, the one argument that can be put up against abolishing the Senate entirely.

A Tragic Ending.

The sudden death of Leonard R. Steel, following upon the crash of the colossal business he aimed to set up in United States and Canada, is a coincidence as strange as it is tragic.

It sets to one side the old idea that what has been done can be done again, or that what a man can do one place he can repeat in another. L. R. Steel knew intimately the business and methods of the Woolworth, the Knox and S. S. Kresge chain stores. They are big money-makers doing a tremendous business. Here are the earnings of two of these establishments, Woolworth and Kresge, the amount being based on one share of common stock:

Year.	Woolworth.	Kresge.
1912	$8.73	$11.51
1913	10.82	14.68
1914	10.87	20.43
1915	13.19	23.34
1916	15.57	19.92
1917	16.72	17.21
1918	9.96	15.61
1919	17.11	21.40
1920	13.87	26.14
1921	20.04	20.25
1922	27.11	35.52

Small wonder that a man, working in the midst of such dividends, and being in a position where he to a large extent shared in the direction of some of these concerns, should get the idea of setting up a new system of his own and becoming the head and directing spirit of the whole organization.

Steel has not lived to view the wreck he made. Unfortunately he will be remembered for a short time as a failure. He dived in a field where others were taking out their millions, and the outcome has been a hurry-up call for the creditors and receivers to see what they can salvage from the wreck.

No Canadians Here.

Statements on population issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, show people of British origin as constituting 55.40 of Canada's population in 1921.

In 1921 English made up 28.96 per cent of the population, Irish 12.60 per cent, Scottish 13.36, French 27.91 and other European races 8.59.

Interesting and illuminating, no doubt. But not half so interesting or illuminating as the bald fact that in all these figures there is no reference to such a being as a Canadian living in Canada.

All of which causes the Winnipeg Free Press to ask the pointed question: "If there are no Canadians, why a Canada?"

Evidently a Good Joke.

Judging by the general comment in a number of papers, the Canadian Parliament laughed at the wrong time when they snickered at the suggestion of Mr. Harry Leader, the Progressive member from Portage la Prairie, that the indemnity of members of the House should be reduced by 12 1/2 per cent.

The position that $4,000 is not too much for the session, considering the high cost of living, and the inconvenience and loss following on being away from home, hardly enters into the question at all, because it was never discussed from that or any other angle.

The very idea of reducing the amount paid to the members themselves just struck the whole House as being ridiculous, so they had a good laugh over it.

And no doubt the senators would also have a little laugh when they heard about it.

So, all in all, it seems that Mr.

Leader must have sprung the very best joke of the season at Ottawa. And there are many men all over the country who, at the risk of being considered a little dense, have yet failed to see what there was to laugh about.

A man who has sense and courage enough to put forward an unpopular view deserves something better than the snickers of the Canadian Parliament.

Britain and France.

Britain has gone far in keeping the spirit of the Washington conference on disarmament. Since that meeting she has scrapped warships totaling 1,600,000 tons. Put into terms of vessels, it means 35 battleships, 83 cruisers, 283 destroyers, 95 torpedo boats and 101 submarines.

Britain is making an effort to cut down even to the point of danger. In the meantime, France goes on with her military expenditure. In air forces now she is vastly superior to anything Britain can show.

France spends money on her army and on air equipment, pouring it out like a drunken sailor. At the same time France owes Britain enormous sums of money from the amount advanced her during the war, and France seems to have no visible idea of getting down to the serious business of paying off her debts.

The war may be over in Europe, but old man Mars has a number of his agents doing a full day's work at present.

Yes-No-No-Yes.

Well, well. And now they do tell us they may build a city hall in London this year.

When the twelvemonth was young it was even rumored that plans were being drawn for this civic structure.

Then we were told that the money could not be secured, and finally the civic buster-punchers were asked to spade up the place and let's have a few sweet-scented geraniums, some peonies for button-hole bouquets and an odd asar tree.

This looked like holding a decoration day service on the site of the city's fondest hopes.

So now there may be a city hall started this year. Yes, sir, it may be started, and bricks and mortar may take the place of sweet peas and civic tulip beds.

Judged by the 1923 performance, this city can be financially strong and busted in turns about as fast as any place on the North American continent.

Note and Comment.

An optimist is a man who thinks the inheritance tax may yet have a chance to hit his earnings.

The civil service may not be an overpaid branch, but there were 110,000 applications in a year to be taken on.

A Toronto man, out of work for over a year, bought a ticket on an English horse race, and won $10,000. Considering the setting of the case, we haven't the heart to preach one of our anti-betting sermons.

Thieves have a new way of operating now. At Niagara this week they pulled up outside a store with a truck and nearly cleaned out the stock of a general store. The next step will be to take the store too.

The Montreal Gazette says the cook-book has the greatest influence on a man's life. The Montreal man is a coward because he didn't say whether the influence was for good or for torture.

Farm hands in England are out on strike in several sections. If farmers in this land would go out on strike the general public might get it drilled into their theory-filled heads that agriculture is positively our basic industry.

A few years ago a shoe-shine parlor was an oddity. Five cents did the trick. Today it is ten cents, and the man who doesn't leave the same amount as a tip is considered a piker. What a pace—and yet, come to think it over, we're setting it ourselves.

An Ottawa story states that some of the Conservatives are looking around for a leader to replace Hon. Arthur Meighen. Little Arthur led the party to a grand trouncing in 1921, and could probably do the same thing again. He should certainly be given the opportunity.

The Chatham News is going to get into trouble. Here it is discussing whether a man's second marriage is a compliment or otherwise to his first wife. The man who throws out dynamite on the kitchen stove is playing safe in comparison to what that Chatham editor is tinkering with.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

The Drawback.

"My dear, he's fabulously rich, and he's crazy about you. Why don't you marry him?"

"His age is so inconvenient. If he were thirty years either younger or older, I wouldn't hesitate."

The Imperfect Looking Glass.

Man—"What became of that mirror I bought for my wife?"

Wife—"The missus made me take it back, sir. She said it didn't do her justice."

Heartless Man.

"Daddy," said his weeping little daughter, "a naughty man broke my new sled with his automobile."

"Did he?" cried her father, jumping up. "Where is he?"

"Oh, you'll easily catch him, daddy," said the little one. "Two men just carried him into a drug store."

DIBS AND DABS

—BY HARRY MOYER

TO THE EDITOR

A PEACE THAT IS POSSIBLE.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir—One part of the church is bound to have union, another part is bound not to. Though these two parts fall short of making up the whole church, each has been striving to control the whole. Both can not have it their way, and neither will yield to the other. It looks as if peace did not lie along that road, the road of party strife. It looks as if we should have to peace, the peace of separating into two parts, not in anger, or impatience, or mutual railing, but as partners whom a business situation forces to dissolve partnership would arrange terms between them. They would face the dissolution of former relations regretfully but calmly; they would arrange fair terms so that neither might have a grievance afterwards. If the Presbyterian Church has any sense, it should have reason to hang out its head; but we ought nevertheless to prepare for future goodwill and helpfulness by arranging matters now so fairly that no root of bitterness may be left.

If we keep our eye on the years ahead of us we shall do our best to secure legislation that is fair to all, legislation that is not fitted to violate anyone's natural sentiments. No person ought to be carried into the united church if he is determined to stay out; no congregation ought to be in the united church, even for a few weeks, if it does not propose to remain there. The new Presbyterian church ought not to receive its share of the common property from the united church, nor even have a share determined for it by a commission. Methodists and Congregationalists have a say in the matter. Legislation in these matters has to respect a man's sentiments as well as guard men's property.

I am aware that in the Presbyterian Church there is a subordination of interests and that the individual member is a man under authority. I am aware that individual likes and dislikes have to be kept under if one accepts so great a heritage as the Presbyterian system. I am aware that the constitutional action of the church binds synods, presbyteries, congregations and members. Such a curtailment of individual liberty of action is the price we pay for being Presbyterians.

At the same time there is no government but is anxious to avoid the very appearance of wrong. Let the unionists and the anti-unionists and also those who have not been into the union join in demanding of their legal counsel a scheme of legislation that will not only hold for each man his fair share of property, but avoid giving offence to each man's reasonable sentiments.

To be specific: We have a church to divide, men and property. Let us do the dividing in the old house before we move into the new one. Let the assembly make arrangements for the congregations that will not go into union to detach themselves in time; let the assembly make arrangements for these congregations to be organized with presbytery, synod, assembly. Let these two bodies appoint a commission to arrange the common property. Then let union come about one part with all its congregations, its people and its common property would go into the union at the same moment the other part would step out on its own path with its congregations, its people and its share of the common property. The group that is jealous of exclusively Presbyterian connection would not have that connection interrupted; the other group would carry all its Presbyterian heritage into the new relations, also without a break in the continuity of its life. This plan puts the legal date of consummation at the end of the process; the proposed legislation puts it at the beginning. Put it at the end and you give both new churches a fair start.

So much would be good. But there is more in the basket of goodwill and good hope. We have unionists and anti-unionists and others alike—been fostering a policy of co-operation with the Methodist and Congregational Churches. None of us, whether we are in the new Presbyterian Church or in the united church, will be disposed to reverse that policy. I think we may count on quite as much co-operation between the two new churches. We will not duplicate either home or foreign missionary enterprise, we will not duplicate the publication of Sunday school helps. We shall want our colleges to work together then as much as now, and perhaps more. I, for one, am unwilling to think that our classes will not continue to be united classes. We have in our hands today the makings of the good relations of the future. A few months' patience and restraint of temper and speech will rob of his booty the evil spirit of division.

With calmness and goodwill we will not encourage a new congregation to be formed where one has been serving the community. We will say to a handful of Presbyterians in a place where there is a united church: "We would like you to go to that church," and we will say to a handful of united church people in another place: "We would like you to go to that Presbyterian church at your doors."

Nor will we let a congregation in a town or city be disrupted if we can prevent it. Almost every congregation is a natural unit, bound together by neighborhood, acquaintance, friendship, a habit of worshipping and working together, with church building and other equipment to match its common life. It is a grave responsibility to take on oneself to countenance division in a congregation and useful a unit. I fear that everyone who talks division within a congregation is playing with fire. Is it not the interests of all concerned that the integrity of every congregation should be preserved? Let us continue to the end to encourage our people who are outwitted in a congregation to stay by the majority, unionists staying out of union and anti-unionists going in. Surely I am not wrong in believing that in general a man's most useful connection both for himself and his church is with that congregation where he has found his religious home.

It might be a minister's duty to do the same; he might yield up his preference for his own church. If the relations are happy and the work prospering, perhaps a minister should stay by his congregation. We may reasonably expect that in matters of either church would be eligible from the beginning to be called to the other church.

The high unity and peace we all desire seems to be beyond our reach. Let us grasp a peace that is possible, a peace that we can make within half a year if we are willing. It is a peace-making work to plan for peace and co-operation.

RICHARD DAVIDSON.

Your Health

WHAT YOU OUGHT TO KNOW ABOUT YOUR WATER SUPPLY.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

No community is desirable as a place of residence unless it has an abundant supply of pure water. Pure water, pure milk, proper disposal of garbage and sewage, proper drainage and good schools—these are essentials of a healthy community which any community is a civic failure.

"Pure water" is a term meant to describe water that is free from ingredients capable of causing disease. More specifically, it refers to water free from the germs of disease, agreeable to taste and smell and without chemical ingredients harmful to the human body.

It is rare indeed to find a water supply without its particular flavor and without one or another chemical element in unusual proportions. Perhaps the most conspicuous content of many pure water supplies is an excess of lime. If you fill the water from your finger-tips upon a glass pitcher there will be left a white deposit while each drop rises to the teakettle and all the pots and pans may become encrusted with the lime. This condition is not particularly serious so far as health is concerned. Boiling does much to remove the excess of lime, causing it to precipitate on the bottom of the vessel. It is better, of course, to make use of a drinking water less concentrated, because this particular ingredient may bear some relation to the development of cataract and hardening of the arteries. But these dangers are remote and hypothetical at best, so they may be disregarded until science gives us fuller information. Fine particles of clay or silt and certain gases may make the water turbid when it is first drawn, but this disappears quickly, and is not a condition to cause concern.

should exercise daily in the open air and should also practice deep breathing. Also watch the stools for the presence of worms.

J. O. Q.—I am having considerable trouble with my head. The bones around my eyes and the sides of my temples are painful. Will you please tell me what this is and what to do for it?

A.—I am inclined to believe that you have sinus trouble. An examination by a nose specialist will determine just what the trouble is. Have this examination made without delay.

A. B. C. Q.—My eyelashes have fallen out in several places. Will you kindly tell me what to do for this.

A.—Apply 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury to your eyelids at night. If this does not improve your condition have your eyes examined for a possible point of infection.

D. C. Q.—I am a boy 18 years old, and would like to increase my height. Will you please tell me how I can do it?

A.—To increase your height you should take daily outdoor exercise and practice deep breathing and stretching exercises. Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, cream and eggs. Bathe frequently and get regular hours of sleep in a well-ventilated room. You need not worry about your height, as you have several years yet in which to grow.

J. N. Q.—After I eat my lunch my face seems to become very red. Will you kindly tell me what causes this?

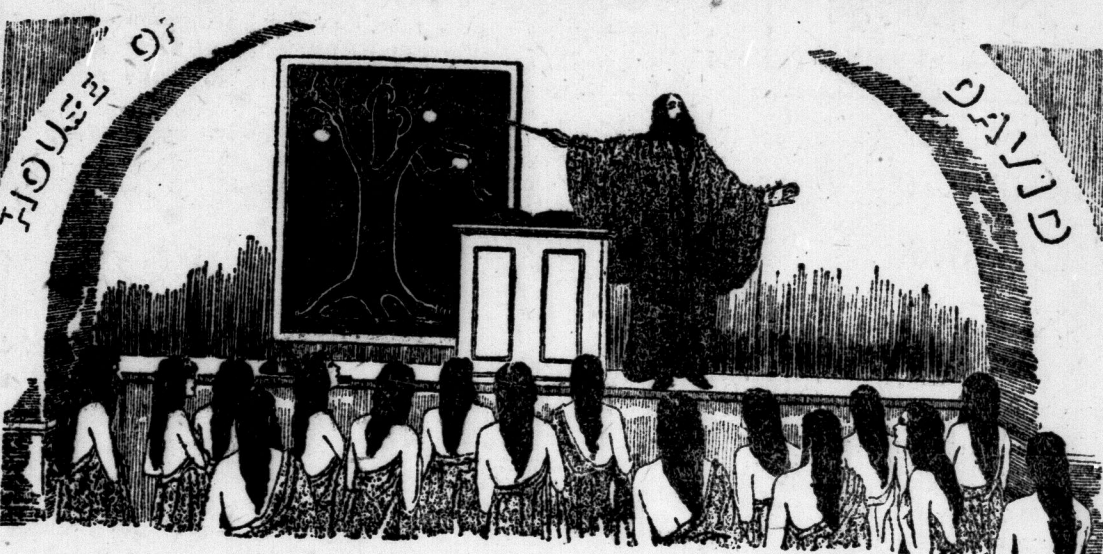

A.—This condition is probably due to a food poisoning. You should watch your food to determine which food or foods may be causing this trouble and avoid them.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks be- lieve, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydro- chloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food to ferment; then our meals sour like gar- bage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which irritate the stom- ach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all diges- tive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to con- tinue this for one week. While re- lief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure dig- estive juices.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are often- times surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many every- day ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some think, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestion is needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try taking aside all digestive aids and in- stead get from any drug store a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after meals. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, in- sensitive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

CLAIMS LIBERALS NEED NOT STIFLE AIMS OF PARTY

Wellington Hay Addresses
Meeting of West Durham Reform Association.

RENOMINATE BRAGG
Leader Declares Organization Stands Entirely For Progressiveness.

Special to The Advertiser.

Bowmanville, March 23.—Wellington Hay, Liberal leader in the provin- cial legislature, addressed a meeting of the West Durham Reform Association here yesterday on the occasion of their annual convention. The opportunity was taken to re-nominate Mr. W. J. Bragg, sitting member for the West Durham constituency, as Liberal candidate in the forth- coming election. President John A. Holgate of the Reform Association was in the chair.

Recalls Early Days.
Mr. Hay said his visit recalled early recollections of Bowmanville. His father came to Canada 70 years ago as a blacksmith and learnt his trade in Bowmanville. "Politics are not my business, but I have a responsibility to my fellow citizens and it is that which brings me here today."

Mr. Hay congratulated the members of the association for their selection of Mr. Bragg as their candidate. He felt sure that as he had redeemed the constituency so would he retain it. "The responsibilities we bear to com- munities in which we live, extends beyond our own household. During the war period the people of the provin- ce rose to the occasion inspired by the one idea. I am not a politician, my time is spent in my business and must be until the time comes that Mr. Bragg and I sit on the treasury bench; then our stipends will be a little more substantial."

"The Liberal party stands for pro- gressiveness. We do not object to free open discussion of all problems. We do not need to sink our aims and the party who left the Lib- eral party are welcome to return, and we could co-operate heartily with them in any new field of activity. When and wherever the Conserva- tive party have been in power for ten years or more dissatisfaction has arisen and a new party sprung up. This was why in 1908 people left our party. In 1912 the policies enun- ciated by the Drury party were practi- cally the policies that had been enun- ciated by the Liberal party. There- fore, the Liberal party gave their support to such measures of the Drury party as they could conscien- tiously do."

Speaks as Businessman.
Mr. Hay referred to Hon. Edward Blake, who represented Bowmanville both in the Dominion and provincial houses. It will be unfortunate if we have three-cornered contests and let in Conservative candidates by split- ting the Progressive vote. I prefer to speak as one engaged in business. I have no political ambition as a politician. Only as a businessman can I hope to be of some service to the country.

Caldwell Indians Ask Government For Land Grant On St. Anne Island

Windsor, March 23.—Windsor and Border Cities residents, who were preparing last June for possible emergency when the Caldwell tribe of Indians threatened to take forcible possession of Point Pelee, are relieved by the news that the tribe is asking the government for a grant on St. Anne Island.

At a big pow wow on the reser- vation at Kent Center, near Wal- laceburg, Archie Dodge, who was the moving spirit in last summer's con- struction, was re-elected chief of the tribe. It was also decided at the meeting to ask the Ontario gov- ernment for 900 bushels of corn in rental for Pelee Island for the past 150 years—six bushels rental per year.

DRURY DEFENDS PROPOSED CHANGE IN SCHOOL ACT

Protests of Ottawa Or-

JOYNT CRITICIZES
North Huron Member Scores
Morrison's "Blue Ruin" Talk.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—The debate on the budget was continued in the Leg- islature yesterday by John Joynt (Conservative, North Huron) and H. H. Dewar (Liberal, Southwest Tor- onto). Before the debate was reach- ed there was an echo of the school attendance act debate of the night before. H. P. Hill (West Ottawa) read a telegram protesting against the amendment suggested in the ad- dressment to the minister of edu- cation which would stop it going into effect in rural schools. The telegram was from the president of the Trades and Labor organization in Ottawa and referred to the legislation as "the most vicious, reactionary class legis- lation ever introduced in the Ontario Legislature."

Drury Defends Amendment.
The prime minister said the inten- tion of the amendment was not to encourage child labor on farms. "It is for the benefit of the farm home, and I think the criticism in the tele- gram is a livid dream."

Thomas Marshall, Liberal whip, in the absence of Mr. Hay, Liberal leader, replied to a statement reported to have been made by Charles Steele at a Conservative meeting in Well- ness. Mr. Steele declared that Mr. Hay had stated that after the next elections the Conservatives would be in power. "If the public knew the type of parliamentarian Mr. Steele is they would place no credence in his statement, but as the public do not know him I must declare that there is no foundation for his statement at all."

Criticism Morrison.
Mr. Joynt, speaking on the budget, expressed approval of the proposal of the government to retire the provin- cial debt in 40 years by establishing a sinking fund. He severely criticized J. J. Morrison for his "blue ruin" talk, and declared that although in many Ontario counties many farmers had moved out they were not lost to Can- ada, for they had gone to the west and established new farms. He de- clared that the Ontario temperance act was improving conditions. "I am not in favor of touching it until the people vote that they want a change." He said that the attorney- general had enforced the act better in 1922 than in 1921. Mr. Joynt said that the government should see that hydro light and power was available to the rural districts.

Kitchener, March 23.—City Clerk Lypps announced yesterday that as a result of misrepresentation and mis- understanding, the city of Kitchener was being recorded as in favor of the move for legislation to permit of the election of police commissioners.

He declared that the council had distinctly put itself on record as op- posed to the movement, and an- nounced that neither by deputa- tion nor resolution would the city of Kitchener make any expression in favor of the project. The clerk stated that owing to the erroneous impression that seems to have prevailed in municipal circles with respect to Kitchener's attitude, the attention of Clerk Baker of London is being called to the fact that Kitchener is opposed to the movement to change the present character of police commissions.

REV. R. E. KNOWLES DIVORCED BY WIFE ON CRUELTY CLAIM

OHIO COURT AWARD
Former Galt Minister Cites Instances To Disprove Accusation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 23.—Rev. R. E. Knowles, widely-known Canadian pulpit orator, author and journalist, and for 17 years the minister of Knox Church, Galt, Ontario, has been di- vorced from his wife, Emma Katherine Knowles, upon the petition of the latter to the court of common pleas of Franklin County, Ohio, of which state she is a resident. The decree of divorce was issued on March 16, in Columbus, Ohio, by Hon. Justice Kin- kead. The judgment was given by default, the defendant, R. E. Knowles, making no defence or opposition to the petition of the plaintiff.

Alleged Extreme Cruelty.
The plea on which Mrs. Knowles petitioned for divorce from her hus- band was that of "extreme cruelty," alleging that this had existed "over- since the intermarriage of the plain- tiff and defendant," and to such a degree that she stood "in mortal fear and anguish of him." The plaintiff testified that Mr. Knowles was pos- sessed of estate to the value of $80,000, but no demand for alimony was made. The marriage of plaintiff and defend- ant was solemnized in Newburn, North Carolina, on April 22, 1896. Two children, Elizabeth Knox, now Mrs. Rodman, Guilford, N.C., and Robert Edward, Jun., a student of Toronto University, are the issue of the mar- riage.

Mr. Knowles has issued the fol- lowing statement in connection with the decree:

"I have received a certified copy of the decree issued by the Ohio court. It expressly states, however, that the judgment is given in de- fault. I made no opposition what- ever. I also note that the decree is given as extreme cruelty, and fur- ther, that this has gone on ever since the intermarriage of myself and my late wife. I am glad of this. Those who knew me will not take long to make up their minds as to my ex- treme cruelty. I have no disposition to say anything that will reflect upon

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES
APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Men-tho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fervent eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Borden's Men-tho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Advt.

HER THREE CHILDREN HAD WHOOPIING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but it is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphetheria, and is more common in female than male children.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. H. W. Mahar, Kentville, N.
S., writes: "My three children had whooping cough. I tried every medicine I could think of until an old gentleman told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Before they had one bottle taken the cough seemed better, and after two bottles they were about well. It loosened the cough and relieved them of that hard, distressing and straining feeling that goes with it."

Cocoanut Oil Makes
A Splendid Shampoo

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, and fluffy wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens up and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time.
She used it to keep her hair beautiful dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or straggled appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advt.

How To Avoid The Pitfalls of Prosperity

There is universal agreement that America is out of the slough of industrial depression and is again climbing the heights toward prosperity. Admitting this condition, it is of the utmost importance to every merchant, manufacturer, and, in fact, to every man and woman to know if the United States, as a nation, is standing on firm, level, high ground or is making a perilous ascent, from which business must almost inevitably fall headlong, perhaps, with another "buyers' strike," and plunge downward again into the depths of depression, unemployment and epidemics of bankruptcy.

As one financial writer sees it, American business is at a "cross-roads," where it may choose between a safe path to continued prosperity or the more tempting climb to the dizzy heights of inflation and the inevitable downward crash.

That LITERARY DIGEST readers may know just where the country stands and that they may know how to choose the safer path, the leading article in that magazine this week presents expert opinion upon present and future business conditions. This news-feature, coming at this time, and because of its compre- hensive scope, will be read carefully.

Canned Foods Much Better Than Those Partially Ripe

Experts Declare That Canada Can Produce Canned Foods That Rival the Quality of the Best in the World.

Canned foods supply the vitamins as abundantly as the same foods cooked in the ordinary way. This is an assurance given to the housewife in connection with the Canadian Canned Foods Week, March 24 to March 31, and based upon a bulletin prepared by Dr. E. F. Kohman.

"The vitamin content is the greatest when foods are at the proper stage of maturity for consumption, and decreases when foods are held for a period of time," Dr. Kohman reports.

"The fact that canned foods are prepared in their prime and must be in this condition for canning is in favor of the canned product. Although the first canning is popularly supposed to have been done in France, the Canadian Canned Foods Week is being conducted in support of the claim that Canadian canned foods now rival the world in quality.

The Health-Giving Vitamins.

In view of the general discussion of vitamins and what they actually are, their function as outlined to the campaign participants is interesting.

"They supply the body with neither energy nor tissue-building substances. They may be likened to a spark plug. The energy produced in the spark plug does not aid in propelling the engine. Nor is the fuel of any account in running the engine so long as it remains in the form of gasoline.

The spark plug, however, ignites it, producing some change whereby it does become useful as a source of energy. By some means, still unknown to us, the vitamins enable the body to utilize the energy-producing and tissue-building components of our foods, which would be useless to us without the vitamins. They play a part in addition to the role of the spark plug, in that they have something to do with the control of the engine; that is they regulate the assimilation of the tissue-building portions of the diet.

Resemble Spark Plugs. "Vitamins are active in extremely minute quantities. In this respect they bear about the same relation to the rest of our food as the energy produced by the spark plug bears to that generated by the gasoline."

trary to the universal belief among physiologists and students of nutrition. Those foods which can be eaten raw should always be so eaten as far as possible, when they can be obtained in the fresh state at reasonable cost. When they are out of season, inconvenient or uneconomical, their place can well be taken by canned products, as evidence shows that canned foods are as nutritious as ordinary cooked foods."

Dr. Kohman said in conclusion: "A consideration of all the recent experimental evidence convinces one that it is possible to select a diet entirely of Canadian canned foods, which is complete and adequate for long-continued nutrition; a diet in which all the known vitamins are represented in sufficient amounts, having such a variety of proteins that no amino acid will be slighted, and supplying all the necessary mineral salts."

Directions For Opening.

Incidental to Dr. Kohman's report on the vitamin contents of canned foods, and as a part of the week's campaign, the following directions for can-opening have been issued: "Just remove the label from the side of the can, until you can see the seam, which was made in forming the body of the can."

"Lay the can on its side and puncture the can next to the seam with the point of the can opener, and next to the top of the can. Then set the can in an upright position; insert the opener in the hole already made on the 'side' of the can—working away from the seam until you have cut around the can."

"You will then be able to turn back the entire top (or bottom). If the can be held firmly, any ordinary can opener will answer. By this method, there is no risk in cutting the hand, and you will have a smooth edge, over which the entire contents will pass without being cut or broken."

KITCHENER O.H.A. KICKS OFF TARTARS IN MANITOBA COLLEGIANS

U. OF MANITOBA DEFEATS KITCHENER JUNIORS 7-3

Outplay heavier Green and Whites At Every Turn—Run in Five Goals in Second Frame—Watson and Murdoch Star.

Associated Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 22.—Superior speed and courage, unannounced checking and resourcefulness enabled the University of Manitoba junior team to defeat Kitchener in the first of the O. H. A. Memorial Cup games tonight. The Westerners won the game in the second period, when they ran in five straight goals without an answering tally from the Green and Whites. The final score of 7 to 3 is a fair indication of the advantage shown by the winners.

The Kitchener players were far heavier than their opponents, but they did not know how to use their weight legitimately, and were at all times baffled by the great speed shown by the boys from the West. In the pinches the collegians were trickier than the O. H. A. champions, who were sluggish and ineffective after the ultimate winners ran in the goals in the second session.

Watson and Murdoch Clever.
In Watson and Murdoch, University of Manitoba presents two players who will make a name for themselves in senior hockey. Fast, clever and possessing all kinds of ability, these stars made life miserable for the O. H. A. tide-runners. Watson checked Mollor to a standstill, and with this sharp shooter bottled up, the Kitchener attack fell down. Werner Schnarr could not hold Murdoch, and the latter, who is captain of the college team, scored four goals in row.

It has been a long time since two better players than Murdoch and Watson appeared on the ice. The Westerners did not attempt to body-check, and they depended almost solely on their nifty checking to stop the Kitchener attacks. In this they were highly successful.

Manitoba opened the scoring three minutes and a half after the first face-off, when Wise and Watson combined, the latter scoring. One minute later Maurice Schnarr tied the count when his long shot evaded Puttee. Then Siebert got one after tricking the defense and that settled Kitchener until the final period. Before the intermission at great rush by Johnson gave the collegians the equalizer.

Manitoba Runs Wild.
It was all varsity in the second period. Mitchell scored early in the period, when he went in fast to drive the puck in after it had rebounded on Watson's shot, and then Murdoch swung into action. He scored four goals in a row, and got one of them when he battered the puck off Siebert's stick into the net as the Kitchener winger was passing in on the wing.

The Westerners weakened badly in the last period, but they had enough left to hold Kitchener pretty well in subjection. The only counter of the session was Watson's snarl and Johnson on a long shot from the wing.

The teams:
Kitchener—Goal, Fries; defense, Gross and White; center, W. Schnarr; wing, Siebert and Mollor; sub, Ziegler and Johnson.

Varsity—Goal, Puttee; defense, Chapman and Mollor; center, Watson; wing, Watson and Mitchell; sub, Wise and Moulden.

Referee—Lionel Conacher.

GERMANY AMUSED AT BRITISH ALARM OVER AIR POWER

"Is the Commons Debate Fore-runner of a New War?" Asks Press.

SHOULD BE ROUSED

"It Is High Time Britain Should Realize Her Danger," Says Military Critic.

By GEORGE WITTE.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, Berlin, March 23.—Germany's ex-general and ex-admirals are chuckling at the British alarm over the French air argument. They think it is a good joke that Great Britain, after having crushed the German menace to her supremacy at sea, should now become alarmed over French supremacy in the air.

"Is the debate in the House of Commons the forerunner of a new European war?" asked one newspaper. Several experts declare that Great Britain's fleet will do her no good in case the French should attack the British Isles, and that if the French air force should continue to surpass that of Great Britain in the same proportion, as was indicated by Lord Birkenhead, the British would be defeated.

"It is high time that Britain should realize the danger to which she is exposed by having permitted the French to build up a powerful air fleet without having done the same herself," writes a military critic in the Vossische Zeitung.

At present the ratio is 4 to 1 in favor of France. It will take Britain quite a while to catch up, but she cannot escape having to do it. "The world in the next few years will see the same sort of rivalry in the air between Great Britain and France as it witnessed in the decade preceding the world war between Germany and Great Britain on the high seas. Britain would race on the sea, and it is a fairly safe bet that she will also win the race in the air."

Labor Party May Protest Cut in Wages On L. and P. S.

Reduction of Two Cents an Hour to Trackmen Not Sanctioned by Commissioners, Says Mayor.

Representative members of the London Labor party today questioned the fairness of the recent "two-cent-an-hour" wage reduction for the trackmen employed by the London and Port Stanley Railway.

While no official protest has been taken, the Advertiser was informed that this is now contemplated. That the members of the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission "would not stand for the cut" was the opinion voiced by Ald. John Colbert, one of Labor's two representatives in the city council. Ald. Colbert characterized the reduced wage as a positive disgrace for the city.

"It is certainly not to the credit of London," declared Ald. Frank McKay, another prominent member of the London Labor party. "Here we have the management of a public-owned road pointing to private corporation and stating that wages have been reduced there and should therefore be reduced on the city road."

"As I have stated upon other occasions with regard to other city salaries, London should take the lead and should be pointed to, and not pointed at."

It is Ald. McKay's further belief that the commissioners should have some say about the wage question. Donald Wright, member of the commission, and prominently identified with the Labor movement, stated that while he had nothing to announce at this time, there would be something official for publication soon.

J. G. Richards, general manager, explains that in the past the commissioners have left the question of wages "pretty much to the management," although "not in every case."

At noon today Mayor Wenig stated that he had conferred with other members of the L. and P. S. Commission and had ascertained that the recent reduction was not sanctioned at the last session of the commissioners.

"We had nothing to do with it," he explained. "The management did this upon its own initiative."

COAL SYNDICATE IN GERMANY GETS BIG STATE CREDIT

Four Hundred Billion Marks Granted To Aid in Passive Ruhr Fight.

CALL STRIKE APRIL 1

Cuno Says Rhine Conflict Will End Only by Evacuation.

Associated Press Despatch. Essen, March 23.—A credit of 400,000,000 marks has been granted the German coal syndicate by the Berlin government to aid in the continuance of the passive resistance in Ruhr, according to a French announcement today.

Additional credits, running into hundreds of billions, likewise have been arranged by the central government for the Ruhr industrialists generally, it was asserted.

A general strike for one month beginning April 1, as a protest against the Ruhr occupation has been called in the Hagen region, just outside the occupied territory. The posters announcing the strike say the Ruhr group to keep a question before the House, and a filibustering speech by C. A. Tanner, Labor member for Kildonan and St. Andrews, which started in a spirit of revenge on the government for applying the closure, lasted for an hour and a half, and had not been finished when Mr. Hamell announced the adjournment of the session.

Other unusual incidents were application of closure by the government to attempts by W. H. Spinks, member for Cypress, to raise the membership of the legislature from 55 to 40. The motion being subsequently defeated by a vote of 40 to 7.

Carrying on the filibuster instituted late yesterday afternoon, William Ivens, Labor member for Winnipeg, who commenced to speak at 1:30 a.m., still had the floor at 8 a.m. today. Mr. Ivens followed P. J. Dixon, leader of the Labor group, in the battle to "vindicate the rights of free speech and justice."

Extraordinary scenes were witnessed during the session, featured by friendly games of checkers.

Referring to the recent Brussels conference between Premier Poincaré and the U. S. Herr Cuno expressed opinion that these conversations suggested no progress towards a solution of the Ruhr question. The official communiqué issued after the conference failed. In the chancellor's opinion, to dissipate the suspicion that France annex territory.

More recent readings of the Brussels discussions Herr Cuno asserted, have demonstrated that the officials of the Ruhr group, who aimed at a complete overthrow of the Versailles treaty.

Special to The Advertiser. Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—"The Kamelia," a national organization of women, founded on the lines of the Ku Klux Klan, will be launched soon, William Joseph Simmons, imperial emperor of the K. K. K., announced here today.

The organization, which, according to the announcement, will function "alongside of the Ku Klux Klan," is the result of a nation-wide appeal from women, Simmons said.

Native-born white, Protestant women of America, above the age of 18 years, will be admitted to the order, according to Simmons, who declared he will organize the ritualistic work of the organization within a short time.

MOUTH ORGAN MUSIC ENDS HOUSE SESSION

Lusty-Lunged Member From St. Rose Supplies Closing Feature.

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, March 23.—After an all-night session, during which Labor members carried on a filibuster, the provincial legislature adjourned at 10 o'clock this morning. The blockade was broken on a technicality.

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, March 23.—Mouth organ music played by the lusty-lunged member from St. Rose, Joseph Hamelin, brought to a close yesterday afternoon one of the most extraordinary sessions in the history of the Manitoba legislature.

FRENCH NAVAL MEASURE REDUCED BELOW 1914

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, March 23.—The text of the naval statute bill, embodying the government's naval program, which was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies on March 8 by M. Raboult, minister of marine, was distributed among the deputies yesterday. The bill does not provide for the execution of any particular measures, but establishes the theoretic or ideal constitution of the fleet. The bill represents a considerable reduction of the fleet as compared with the French naval forces in August, 1914.

NEW ZEALAND BY-ELECTION IS MASSEY-WARD CONFLICT

Associated Press Despatch. Tauranga, N. Z., March 23.—The by-election in New Zealand, in which ex-Premier Sir Joseph Ward, is a candidate, has become a personal conflict between Ward and Premier Massey. The premier follows Sir Joseph around in the constituency and severely criticizes his policy. Sir Joseph Ward's principal plank is the completion of the railway system at an outlay of $25,000,000. Massey ridicules this policy as "freezing finance," and urges the necessity of continued economy to secure a further reduction of taxation.

Outfit Little Ship "Petrel" For Long Gold Hunting Trip

Geologists, Engineers and Prospectors for Labrador Voyage Arrive at Halifax Within a Few Days.

Special to The Advertiser. Halifax, S. S. March 23.—The decision of the prospectors in Halifax to outfit the Petrel with a wireless and to provide electric lighting throughout the boat, has delayed the departure of the stately little steamer on her gold hunting expedition to the Labrador coast. Today the Petrel is getting ready to move out of the dockyard to a downtown pier, where it will be more easily reached by workmen and the construction of a wireless is to be begun at once.

The expedition, which will have charge of the boat, arrived in Halifax last evening, and inspected the craft, which will be the first to sail to the Labrador coast in the hunt for gold.

The Petrel was built in 1918 as a government patrol boat, and she is undergoing some changes in order to fit her for her work in the icy straits of the cold lands. Information obtained since his arrival in Halifax, and which Mr. Berry did not wish disclosed, have changed the plans of the gold seekers, in so far as their departure from Halifax has been delayed for several days.

Will Venture Further. It is now believed that the Petrel will venture further into the fastnesses of the Labrador coast than was originally intended.

The expedition was planned to leave Newfoundland early in November, and was to have been made by a specially constructed small, frigate plane.

which was fitted with skis for landing on the snow. Lieutenant Cotton was to have been the aviator, but on a trout spin, the plane crashed and was abandoned.

The rest of the party, geologists, engineers and prospectors, will arrive in Halifax in a day or two. There has been great interest shown in the Petrel and many have visited the vicinity to view the steamer, as no visitors are allowed inside the dockyard, the curious are compelled to view the Petrel from adjoining wharves and from the water front.

Paris, March 23.—Veiled scandal that has long surrounded the crash of the Industrial Bank of China will be exposed in the chamber of deputies next Friday, according to the Matin, which says Senator Andre Berthelot is to be present on charges of corrupting his brother Philippe, former secretary to the general ministry of foreign affairs.

Andre Berthelot is charged, according to the Matin, with making an explained payment of 3,500,000 francs to his brother. The chamber will discuss an interpellation on the subject March 30.

CONFIRMATION CLASSIN ALL SAINTS CHURCH

Bishop Williams Preaches Eloquent Sermon; Class of 23 Confirmed.

Twenty-three candidates for confirmation were received into the church last night at the service held in All Saints. Rev. A. A. Bice is the rector.
Bishop Williams, who preached the confirmation sermon, took as his text the second petition of the Lord's Prayer, "Thy kingdom come," showing that this petition so familiarly used by all Christians, is very often one of the least understood. When he said, anyone prays for the coming of the Kingdom of God, he is also asking that he himself might become a more fitting temple for the Spirit of God, and that the kingdom of the church might be strengthened and increased all over the world. The Christians of Bible times looked forward with the greatest joy to the coming of Christ, while today, he said, the average man regards with horror any suggestion of this kind.
The bishop was assisted by Rev. A.
A. Bice in the service, and he congratulated the church on the large class that presented itself for confirmation, and the rector for his thorough work in the parish.
The following were the candidates confirmed: Clara Neida McBride, Florence Velma Barnes, Phyllis Gwendolyn Barnes, Hazel Ross Garman, Irene May Fox, Nellie Scott, Marjorie Lydia Hills, Lillian Ivory,
Mrs. Lulu McCallis, Mrs. Annie Beel, Edmund Cecil Thompson, Mark R.
Williams, Wilfred Pope, Harold Powell, Charles A. Shaw, Albert C. Bice, Thomas E. Hogg, William M. Barnes,

Young, Fred G. Marshall.

Can Guard Girl Traveling; Joy Ride Is Graver Menace

Provincial Travelers' Aid Superintendent Impresses Upon Local W.C.T.U. Need of Arming Young With Knowledge, Character.

According to Dr. Sarah Detwiler, superintendent of Travelers' Aid for the Ontario Provincial W. C. T. U., the greatest dangers which beset girls are not encountered when traveling on trains and at railway stations, but through a new menace which has arisen, that of the automobile.

Addressing a meeting last evening of the London executive and members at the headquarters, Clarence street, Dr. Detwiler emphasized the grave need which has increased in recent years for education of girls to take care of themselves, education of all young people to value the sacredness of life, both of their own and of others.

Another point specially stressed was that of rural co-operation in W. C. T. U. travelers' aid.

Further, with regard to the automobile, "We can protect the girls to a great extent in traveling on trains and boats and at railway stations," she said. "The unfortunates of travelers' aid would not be adequate to guard the girls against the menace of the automobile. It is our duty to safeguard them from outside we must build up the character within the girls which will be an armor of protection."

"The speaker dwelt upon the responsibilities of parents in the homes, the need for fathers and mothers first to learn the best way to tell to their sons and daughters life truths and then faithfully to do their duty in this respect."

She would be opposed to multiplying organizations for doing this work when churches and societies such as the W. C. T. U. and others already exist.

Concerning rural co-operation, Dr.

Detwiler referred to the fact that travelers' aid is most successfully carried on in London and a number of other towns and cities by the Y. W. C. A.

"We make it a point," she said, "never to interfere or overlap. There is quite enough work to be done for all."

Years ago the most experienced leaders realized that the most effective work can only be done through co-operation between city and country.

"So far as the city is concerned, the work is largely service to newcomers in the community and those passing through. In the country it is for the outgoing of the community."

"The service of the W. C. T. U. lies in awakening the parents to the dangers which are outside for their children the importance of having these young people forewarned and forearmed."

"In addition we have a directory of all travelers' aid agencies in Canada and the United States. We are thus able to see that the young people arriving as strangers are announced in advance and looked after."

"An important phase of our work is investigating positions through co-operation. Positions advertised are sometimes only traps, as poor victims have discovered."

"Again, through our travelers' aid connection we are able to investigate boarding houses and to see that they are quite safe."

The speaker mentioned that the W. C. T. U. has travelers' aid workers in Fort William and Port Arthur, in Stratford, Brantford, and seven engaged in Toronto, Windsor, she stated, had W. C. T. U. travelers' aid unit a month ago, when an independent organization was formed for extension of the work.

Can't Begin To Teach Prayer Too Soon, Speaker Tells Children's Work Board

Rev. J. N. Norton of the Sunday school board of the Baptist Church and Miss Bertha Laine, provincial superintendent of children's work, were interesting speakers at the meeting of the Children's Work Board yesterday afternoon at Knox Presbyterian Church. In the afternoon the meeting was held especially for mothers of young children, and in the evening the teachers were invited to a banquet, following which Miss Laine again spoke.

"The Prayer Life of a Child" was the subject of Mr. Norton's inspiring address. "All children are capable of being instructed regarding God, as soon as they are capable of being instructed regarding their parents," he stated. "But there are many persons," he continued, "who do not believe that a child has such an experience as a prayer life."

"The prayer life of a child begins in the cradle, but should commence even before this time," he asserted. "The environment of the life in the cradle ought to be one of prayer. We cannot commence to teach the child prayers too early in life."

Rev. Norton strongly recommended family prayers and the family altar. In conclusion he stated that the prayer life of the child should be made more attractive. "We cannot realize," he said, "of what great value this prayer life may mean to the child in later years."

"It is very important that the home and Sunday schools work hand in hand," stated Miss Laine in opening her address, which was followed by a round table talk. "The great task of religious education rests on the home, not on the Sunday school. Each child has as much right to receive religious training in its home as it has to receive physical care. We should first learn our task and know what religious education means, and then bring the child to God at every stage of its growing, developing life."

Continuing she drew attention to three relationships that work should be based on: Right knowledge towards God, and right feelings and conduct towards Him. Miss Laine recommended good pictures and songs in the home as well as in Sunday school, "as the child has religious feeling long before he is capable of religious thought."

As a conclusion to her address at the afternoon session she urged the teachers and parents to hold a conference to discuss the following subject: "Weekly Expression of Sunday Impressions."

Tea was served in the afternoon, and a supper meeting in charge of the Ladies' Aid of Knox Church was held, at which Miss Laine gave many valuable suggestions for the Easter program in the schools.

Mothers and Their Children

Watching Children's Reading. I have made it a rule to read every book I give my children, or which has been given them by someone else, before I turn it over to them, even if it is only a picture book with jingles. Many times I have known mothers to give their children books to read just because the books seemed to have attractive pictures.

WAS JUST LITTLE SLIP ON W.C.T.U. CALENDAR

But Links Up Bootlegging and Refreshments Suspiciously For Reception Meeting.

March 27—Evening Meeting—Address, Rev. C. T. Scott, "Bootlegging"—Refreshments.

The foregoing is the attention-arresting announcement which appears on the 1923 calendar of the London Women's Christian Temperance Union. No, it wasn't intended as a practical joke on the union or the pastor of Parkdale Methodist Church, Toronto, formerly of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, this city. The W. C. T. U. is Caesar's wife in the matter of being above suspicion. The blame for arrangement of the announcement cannot even be laid at the door of printer's devil pranks. The program committee of the W. C. T. U. did it with characteristic seriousness and earnestness. And nobody laughed more heartily than did the convenor when questioned every stage of its growing, developing life."

In addition to dealing with the evil of bootlegging in the address, he came to give next Tuesday evening, under W. C. T. U. auspices, in the old church, Dundas Centre, Mr. Scott, it is stated, will give a resume of the temperance situation as it exists today, federal and provincial.

During the term of his pastorate in London he was regarded as a leader among temperance workers here and a most able and authoritative speaker.

The honorary members of the union, by the way, are especially invited to be present on this occasion.

A reception will be held following the address in honor of between 75 and 100 enrolled during the grand membership crusade which marked the observance of the world's week of prayer in London in February.

This is where the "refreshments" will figure, but both Mrs. H. W. Padell, the president of the local union,

The Salem Women's Institute held the March meeting at the home of Mrs. Vernon O'Brien. Twenty-two members and friends spent an enjoyable hour. The roll call was answered with the name of one Canadian woman prominent in public life.

New York, March 22.—Whether the sun shines or not on Easter Sunday morning, observers on the great parade grounds of fashions throughout the United States will be dazzled with the hues of a desert sunset. One color note, as always, will be predominant. It has a dozen names—brigue, tiger, coral, Egyptian red, and others, but none of them fits it.

What it really is is a tan, the color of the dun sands of the desert, with an underlying note of orange, like the last rays of a setting sun darting through the desert dust. Blended with it will be an underlying note of Lavender green, as cold and shimmering as moonlight on ice, or the now nearly extinct creme de menthe fad.

Sunset and moonshine each will be interpreted in silks of every known weave and crinkle, draped in long lines at the front, and in nine cases out of ten with drapery caught at the hip by some flashing ornament, which will break the fabric into graceful folds.

Frings Is Out.

And do not forget that frings is out, as thoroughly out as a discarded line on a Cohan show; ruffles and tucks and rolls are in. Skirts are covered with ruffles, and braided, ribboned or puffed rolls of self-material mark the hip and neck lines of the smartest frocks.

Second only in importance to tucks and ruffles are cuffs, large flaring cuffs, of organza or brocade, which flare back from the wrist for inches, and which might serve to do up the entire repertoire of tricks of any magician. Sleeves are not a necessary concomitant to the cuffs. In some instances they flare back from the bare arm, but sleeve or no sleeve, they are there.

And what will they wear over all this gorgeousness on a chilly Easter morning? The strict follower of the styles has three choices, the long, straight, slightly draped coat of Poiret (will, the long cape of crepe of straight lines and no sleeve effects, with a deep collar gathered on, or a short cape of similar material which is designed along straight lines which falls only to the hip.

That Capelike Coat.

Lenore Ulrich, who as Kiki has made fame for herself and money for Belasco, appeared on Fifth avenue today in a coat of dark blue poiret (will) of long, straight lines, looped up slightly at one side, with a deep collar of crepe and cuffs of the same fur, which flared widely back from the wrists. Of course, few people care whether she has a coat to her back or not. She has that kind of a back.

Many of the capes are interlined and so designed that this conception to the spring breeze may be removed as the season advances.

The color and patterns developed from the Egyptian vogue grow more daring and unconventional day by day. One patron of a smart Fifth avenue shop was shown a flaring, printed crepe with Egyptian figures surrounded by a border of hieroglyphics.

"What do these hieroglyphics mean?" she asked the saleswoman. "Madame," he replied, "for all I know, it may be King Tut's will."

If that were the case, all the long-dead monarchs left the purchaser as a bad taste in dress.

ENTERTAINING STUDY CLASS. Mrs. S. L. Taylor, Princess avenue, opened her home Tuesday afternoon to the members of the W. M. S. study class of the First Methodist Church. There was an attendance of 20, all of whom were much interested in learning of the wonderful work being done by the general missionary in non-Christian lands.

Mrs. J. S. Barnard gave an outline of the sketch to be presented by the study class members at the auxiliary annual meeting in May. Mrs. Taylor served tea, and was assisted by Mrs. Rogers, who poured, and Miss Winifred Taylor, Mrs. Mara, sen., will be the class hostess in April.

"HAPPY-GO-LUCKY'S MEET." Kent Bridge Happy-Go-Lucky Club was entertained at the home of Miss Jessie Wilson this week. Plans were made for the next meeting at the home of Miss Ethel Kiefer, when the "Merry Maids," the Northwood Girls' Club, will be guests of the afternoon, and will furnish the program. Miss Mary Langford, Miss Mary Moorehouse, Miss Donalda Lewis, Miss Mary Shaw and Miss Elda McKim were appointed a committee to arrange for the entertainment to be given the Junior Farmers' Club Easter Tuesday. The program read an interesting paper on "A Sunday in Kaifengfu," by Mrs. Goforth. A splendid reading was given by Mrs. Davis.

The ladies made plans for a social evening to be held at the church March 27, supper to be served cafeteria style. "Resurrection" will be the text word for the April meeting. The hostess served afternoon tea at the conclusion of the meeting.

EMBRO Y. P. S. BANQUET. Toasts to king, country, church and Young People's Society were proposed in clever little speeches, and ably responded to, at the annual banquet of Knox Church, Embro, Y. P. S. held this week. Amongst those who took part in the miscellaneous program were the following: Frank Smith, Fred Peat, John McDonald, R. J. Murray, Jas. Thomson, Miss Helen Ross.

GET READY FOR EASTER. The Busy Bee Mission Band members of Embro are busily engaged practicing for the Easter Thanksgiving meeting they intend holding Easter Sunday afternoon.

SAYS LIGHT BULB IMPORTANT FACTOR IN MODERN LIFE

Sweatman of Canadian General Electric Company Speaks
At McClarys.

DESCRIBES PROGRESS Accompanies Lecture With Moving Pictures, Showing Process of Manufacture.

"The most important electrical accessory in the world today is the electric light bulb," said William Sweatman of the Canadian General Electric Company, speaking of the manufacture and use of the electric light bulb, before an audience last night in the McClarys dining-room.

The lecture opened with a two-reel film showing the process of manufacturing the bulbs, and concluded with another film shown by E. V. Buchanan, on behalf of the public utilities commission, depicting the development of work on the great Chippewa hydro scheme.

In 1879 Edison made the first really successful electric lamp from a commercial point of view. It was a carbon lamp and by 1882 he had improved this lamp up to the pitch of efficiency that made it practically the same as the lamp we use today.

By 1907, the electric lamp industry was able to produce the first metalized filament lamp, and in 1909 the tungsten filament was introduced into the electric bulb.

This last development included a pressed tungsten filament which was exceedingly brittle, and easily broken. The fact that tungsten could be fused by electricity into a ductile wire filament was discovered in 1911 and was, the speaker said, the greatest single advance in the history of the industry.

Use Gas-Filled Bulbs.
Another advance occurred, when in 1913, the theory that the filament would burn brighter and give more light in a gas-filled bulb than in a vacuum bulb for the amount of current, was promulgated by the scientists, who were by this time part of the organization of the manufacturers of these bulbs, and when put into practice was found to give better results than any previous arrangement.

The gas used in the bulb had to fill certain conditions, among which was that it should be non-conducting. Nitrogen was found to comply with this condition better than any other gas, and all fine bulbs in use today are filled with it. In the smallest lamps it was found that argon was more efficient than nitrogen, though in all bulbs under 75 watts the ordinary vacuum lamp was declared by experts to be the most effective. The light from the dazzling lamp is whiter and more brilliant than that from the vacuum lamp, and for this reason Mr. Sweatman advised the vacuum bulbs for use as reading lamps.

Light Have Many Uses.
In speaking of the many and varied uses to which the electric lamp is put today, he instanced ornamental lighting, house lighting, flash and pocket lights, and railway and steamship lighting.

The demands made by the railway industry, he described as the largest of any in the industry, and one that has done much to advance the size and power of the electric lamp.

"For instance," he said, "the railways demand locomotive headlights that will throw a beam of light 800 feet in front of the engine, and to meet this the manufacturers devised a 250-watt, 22-volt lamp that is more than equal to this standard, and that is now the recognized headlight on all American railroads."
In the film that preceded the address it was shown that the tungsten bar is drawn out time and again until it becomes a wire so fine that it takes 97 miles of it to weigh a pound, and that this averages about one-sixth the thickness of a human hair. In reply to a question from E. V. Buchanan, Mr. Sweatman stated that the life of an ordinary 75-watt lamp should be between 1,000 and 1,200 hours, and that any reputable manufacturer whose name was on the bulb produced a high quality of lamp and one that the average man in the street could buy with the assurance that he was getting the best in electric light bulbs.

J. McClary Moore was the chairman of the evening and the lecture was held under the auspices of the Science in Industry Committee of the chamber of commerce.

ADAM AND EVA
"Adam and Eva" proceeds with a great deal of smooth enjoyment at Loew's the rest of the week, in spite of the fact that T. Roy Barnes, who is co-starred with the charming Marion Davies, wavers awkwardly in his characterization between the gauche country bumpkin and the one hundred per cent American today.
The settings, Marion Davies, and "Mr. King," a plumply irate gentleman, who after an overdose of family and "nervous" prosperity, were the most things about "Adam and Eva," and so nice, indeed, were they, that the soft criticism to the hypersensitive and settled down to enjoyment.
Of course, if one wants to be critical, there are several pertinent questions which might be asked concerning the plot, but to all intents and purposes the director was in greater concern over the element of comedy than that of exactitude.
Mr. Barnes was our one objection to "Adam and Eva." The affection of the blatantly striped suit and the flaring ties were so overdone that they seemed nothing short of absurd, the more so since a few days later he attires himself in the last word for a New Yorker visiting on Long Island. Here one might have worked a little enthusiasm, but to cap the climax he manages the final few scenes in the costume and manner of the approved Charles Ray type of rustic.
The vaudeville confirmed the tendencies of improvement noted last Monday, and is the best for many moons.

SAYS FAIR SEX CANNOT RENDER EQUAL SERVICE

Oracle Club Asserts Women Should Not Get Same Pay As Men.

HEATED DISCUSSION
Major Kippen Claims Local Woman Purchasing Agent Is Highly Efficient.

Should women holding jobs similar to those of men be given the same wage? This question was settled for ever and anon last night by the Oracle Club in a sparkling debate. The club voted unanimously that women were generally unable to give the same quality of service as men and so should not receive the same wages.

Major W. H. Kippen and George Ellis staged a verbal battle over the respective merits of their sides. The former was a staunch advocate of equal remuneration for the feminine gender, while Mr. Ellis showed decisively that the other sex were not suited by nature for efficiency in industry.

Major Kippen presented interesting statistics regarding women's work. In the state of Indiana, he claimed, 78 per cent of women were wage earners, and a great majority of these were employed in the textile industry. He believed it an example of masculine injustice and commercial brutality for men to deny women their rightful remuneration.

As an instance, he cited the case of a local female purveyor, whose efficiency was unquestioned and whose loyalty had been of much benefit to the firm by whom she is employed. She, however, is paid but half the wage given to a male purchasing manager in another factory, whose record is incomparable with that of his contemporary.

He declared that women could often handle their jobs better than men, yet they were underpaid because of their sex.

Says Women Inferior.
Mr. Ellis, for the negative, said women were of a nature unsuited to masculine competition. Physically, as well as mentally, they were unequal to men. Their services during the war and after were eminently satisfactory, but their creative ability and initiative did not approach that of men. The ambition of men was to make a name for themselves, and after were eminently satisfactory, but their creative ability and initiative did not approach that of men.

He believed the comparative broad vision of business executives was not shared by women except in isolated cases. The ambition of men was to make a name for themselves, and after were eminently satisfactory, but their creative ability and initiative did not approach that of men.

Both speakers brought out the salient points of their subject, remarkably well. Following the debate a discussion ensued regarding the relative benefits of drama and comedy.

The club decided to hold its annual banquet at the Teutonic House on a date to be set in April. Outside speakers will be brought in and arrangements are being made for a dinner which will equal the success of that of last year. A. E. McGinley, A. Buckland and William Sharman were accepted as new members.

Following the debates Arthur Mitchell gave a comprehensive address on the history and evolution of life insurance, from the days of Joseph of Biblical note, to the present day.

HUMANE SOCIETY VOTES TO SHIELD DAY OLD CHICKS

Members Deplore Selling of Birds Born in Store Window Incubators.

PURCHASED AS PETS
Inspector Tustin Reports 167 Complaints of Cruelty Received in Month.

Wee baby chicks, brought into this world without ever knowing the warmth of a mother's wing, to be sold from a store window on the very first day of their lives, chiefly to those having children to amuse, are to be protected by the London Humane Society, if lawful means can be found.

The practice of selling day-old chicks in this manner was deplored by members of the Humane Society at their regular monthly meeting held last night. They could not see how the traffic could be conducted without inflicting considerable suffering on the young birds.

Lived Few Days.
It was pointed out by Inspector George Tustin that in many stores of the city the chicks in question were hatched in large incubators, and then placed in a window to attract passers-by. They were sold at so much apiece, and were usually purchased as pets. As a rule they lived only a few days.

Merchants who deal in chicks will be asked by the society to co-operate in putting a stop to the practice. Mr. Tustin reported that an old horse which was left uncared for taken to the hospital, was still a guest of the society. The animal, he reported, was eating "its head off" at the society's expense and was doing nothing to earn its board. It has been on the society's hands for most two weeks and its feed bills were running rather high.

It was decided that the owner should be visited and if possible his consent secured for the animal to be taken to a living. If the owner is unwilling the horse will be put to work to someone who will put it to work in return for food and board.

The society is so pleased with the general condition of animals in this city, especially the horses, that it was decided to hold a large parade in this time in the near future. In this parade all kinds of animals will march to prove to the people of London that dumb beasts are receiving careful attention.

It is the first time that such a parade has ever been considered in this city, and the society feels sure that it will attract considerable attention. The executive committee will hold a meeting next week to make preliminary plans. It is expected that school children of the city will be asked to aid in the work.

Reduce Annual Grant.
Considerable dissatisfaction was exhibited by the members of the society when it was made known that the Middlesex County Council had reduced its grant from $50 to $35. The reduction, it was claimed, will have a serious effect on the work of the officials. Hope was expressed that the grant would be supplemented later in the year.

Inspector Tustin reported that he experienced a very busy month. In that time, he said, 167 complaints of cruelty to animals were received by the society; 255 horses and 110 cattle were examined; 18 dogs were admitted to the society's kennels; 16 were destroyed, and 2 were still being treated; seven cats were destroyed, and 34 crates of poultry passing through the city had been examined.

He reported also that four warrants for arrest had been issued. One prosecution was carried out, and a conviction made, and one prosecution was pending.

A report from the annual meeting of the Provincial Humane Society, with which the London organization is affiliated, which was attended by Mrs. Clements, secretary of the local organization, was read.

Outstanding in the report was a recommendation adopted by the provincial body, that the federal government be asked to change the criminal code to provide more fitting punishment for persons convicted of cruelty to dumb animals. It was pointed out that a man could almost beat a horse to death, and then under the present law escape with a light fine.

Each body affiliated with the provincial organization will be invited to elect a member of the provincial board.

Local societies will be urged to enlist the aid of the various members of the Legislature to win for the Provincial Humane Society a larger annual grant.

It was reported also that the by-laws covering the jurisdiction duties of humane inspectors had been revised.

Mrs. Clements in report said that the work of the London and Middlesex Society had been highly lauded at the meeting.

Inspector Tustin took exception to a recommendation from the provincial body, urging the use of the electric collar in disposing of animals. He claimed that the system was far less humane than the gas chamber, for a certain amount of burning resulted from the use of electricity.

LIBRARIAN LONDON TELLS OF GETTYSBURG

Closing Address in Western University's Extension Lecture Course.

A graphic description of the battle of Gettysburg in 1863 by Frederick Landon at the public library last night closed this season's program of the Western University's extension lecture course.

From many standpoints, Gettysburg was probably the most important battle of the American Civil War, said the lecturer. It took place at a time when the Confederate army of the south had reached its highest point in numbers and morale, and when the northern army had to be defeated to check and offset its rapid growth. It is conceded by military historians to be the greatest battle of the 19th century, and has been used by English military schools as an example of tactical and strategic manoeuvres. Unquestionably it was the most important battle ever fought on the continent, and settled for all time the status of the African negro in the United States, in that it was the turning point in the fortunes of the northern army.

Lee, as commander of the army of the south, had been worried by the able manner in which Mead had taken over Gen. Hooker's command of the northern army, and anxious to strike a decisive blow before the north completed the reorganization of its forces, commenced to concentrate his whole strength in the neighborhood of the town of Gettysburg. At the same time, Mead completed his plans for forcing Lee to battle, and on the morning of July 1, 1863, Confederate cavalry patrol engaged in a skirmish with a handful of Union infantry. This soon developed into a hand-to-hand fight, in which, through the course of this first day, the northern forces were driven through Gettysburg, and took up their position in Cemetery Ridge, a slight elevation south of the town. The Confederate army withdrew at nightfall to a thickly wooded ridge paralleling the northern position and roughly one mile distant.

The second day of the battle was passed in bitter combat between the open country separating these two ridges, neither side claiming any decisive advantage.

It was on the third and last day of the battle, when, following a half-hour's concentration of their artillery fire against the northern positions, the Confederate army sent out a mass attack, involving 15,000 men. The northern artillery, scarcely injured by the fierce barrage that had preceded the attack, moved down between 5,000 and 6,000 Confederates in less than half an hour.

The following day Lee withdrew from Gettysburg, the turning point had been passed and was followed in time by the surrender of Lee and his army.

The lecture was amply illustrated by photos and maps thrown on the screen in the latter half of the discourse. Mr. Landon visited the field of Gettysburg, which fortunately has been preserved as a national park, and his discourse throughout was the excellent result of having studied the whole battle in retrospect while actually on the ground on which it took place.

Memorial Service At Coast For Former Dutton Resident

Friends Give Expression to Loss in the Death of Dr. Lorne B. Graham in Pacific Grove, California.

Dutton, March 22.—Friends in Pacific Grove, California, have forwarded to friends here the following account of a memorial service held in Pacific Grove in loving remembrance of Dr. Lorne B. Graham, a former resident of Dutton:

In the little Episcopal Church, St. Mary's-by-the-Sea, the rector, himself a Canadian, held a simple service. He spoke of the sorrow that had come to this community in the death of the promising young physician, dwelling upon the fine and endearing qualities of his nature, and the loving friendship in which he was held on the whole Monterey peninsula. The rector asked that while standing to recite in unison the creed, the congregation pause and think especially of Dr. Graham after repeating the words: "The communion of saints." Beautiful prayers were then read, followed by silent prayer. The service was held with a dignity and sweetness in tune with the loving thoughts in the minds of Dr. Graham's devoted friends who had gathered together for the occasion.

Memorial Window. In the chance of this little church there is a beautiful stained glass window, picturing the Virgin Mary seated upon a stone, beneath the overhanging branches of a Monterey cypress. Beyond the cypress and rocky shore stretch the blue waters of the bay, and at the feet of the virgin is the purple bloom of wild iris. On the altar, just beneath this window, in the soft and lovely light, two tall brass vases stand, and on this afternoon these were filled with graceful sprays of purple heather. Below the choir, to the right, in the nave of the church, is a little table, or altar, on which rests a splendid hand-wrought cross of brass, with umbra of silver. In the silver rays are four gold stars, and on the triple face of this cross are inscribed the names of all who went from here to serve in the world war. This is the war memorial given by hasn't asked him to accompany the police deputation to Toronto next Wednesday. W. S.

CITY HALL BRIEFS

Talk about the lambs mingling with the lions—did you notice how those enterprising aldermen from Ward Two hung on one another's necks as they voted for the West London school.

D. J. Tallant, housing commissioner, is on the verge of completing the Pine Lawn tangle into the municipal arena again, filling in the open date, as it were. The next investigation cannot be staged before Monday at the earliest.

The people will have to supply their own music, as the city council agents of the police probe dwindle into obscurity.

With $250 at their disposal, and arrangements already made for spending $40 of that amount, it looks as though the town planners will plan all night during 1923.

And Ald. Drake kept his word. He gave positive assurance that he was done with the police, and at the last session he stayed on the sidelines and kept very mum.

"Who's boss of the fire department?" is next on the city council agenda, as the police probe dwindle into obscurity.

Up or down?

With $250 at their disposal, and arrangements already made for spending $40 of that amount, it looks as though the town planners will plan all night during 1923.

Ald. Judd remarks that the mayor

the little parish of "St. Mary's-by-the-Sea." The four gold stars are for those who lost their lives overseas—but the written names below include all who went and came back. Dr. Graham's name is written there. Upon the little table hangs a beautiful silver service flag with four gold stars and many blue stars. Dr. Graham's star is there.

At either side of the war memorial, and under the service flag, on this afternoon, stood two small brass vases and two tall brass shells from the battlefields of France. These were filled with sweet, glowing, scented carnations and rosemary.

Beautiful Service. It was a sweet service, in the soft, afternoon light of that little church by the blue waters of Monterey Bay, given in memory of this young physician, dearly loved by many friends. So many stories could be told of his kindness and thought for others—himself in shattered health, due to the fearful service in the war just past, but thinking only to help others when something might be done to relieve suffering, never sparing himself. There are tender reminiscences whenever friends come together and talk of the doctor—it is not only so now, but has been so always. At the various hospitals where he has sought health since the war, his surgeons and nurses have done everything within human power to help him, and their stories are of his gratitude for the smallest service, and his valiant fight against such fearful odds with a courage that few can dream of.

From people everywhere, from all walks of life, all conditions, all ages, one hears the same—then, in the past years we have had them go before the police magistrate, and this year City Clerk Baker officiated, which is permissible under the act. "Furthermore, every member of the staff took the oath this morning, although it was only imperative that one of the temporary assessors be sworn in. I took this precaution just to be on the safe side, and just for such a contingency as this if any complaint was registered."

Inquiry by any citizen from the city clerk or any assessment commissioner will bear out the latter's contention.

CHATHAM CITY WATER WILL BE MADE PURER

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, March 23.—Chemists from the provincial laboratory are experimenting at the local water-works plant with the view of evolving a new system of treating the city water, made possible by the erection of the system of baffle walls in the sedimentation basin.

CHILD COURT QUARTERS LOCATED BY NEW JUDGE

They Must Be Approved by City Committee Before They Can Be Used.

Another step towards the establishment of the juvenile court in London is expected to be taken when No. 1 committee of the city council meets Wednesday, Rev. G. Quintin Warner, recently appointed judge of the court, told The Advertiser today.

Although premises for the court have been located, they must be approved by the committee, and this is expected will be done Wednesday. Even when this is done, for official confirmation of its establishment, and the appointment of the judge has to be announced in the Canada Gazette first. To date, no official confirmation, or intimation of confirmation, has been received in London.

ALL CITY ASSESSORS TOOK OATH OF OFFICE

Complaint of Irregular Procedure Investigated and Found Groundless.

Charges of "irregularity of procedure" at the city hall were investigated this morning and found lacking in foundation.

The claim was registered by an East London ratepayer that the new assessors were at work without having first taken the oath of office, for which there is a heavy penalty attached.

Assessment Commissioner Harry Bennett gave evidence that this impression is faulty. "All assessors took the necessary oath of office before they commenced their duties," he explained, "only in past years we have had them go before the police magistrate, and this year City Clerk Baker officiated, which is permissible under the act."

Furthermore, every member of the staff took the oath this morning, although it was only imperative that one of the temporary assessors be sworn in. I took this precaution just to be on the safe side, and just for such a contingency as this if any complaint was registered."

Inquiry by any citizen from the city clerk or any assessment commissioner will bear out the latter's contention.

MAYOR ASKS LENIENCY FOR O. T. A. VIOLATORS

Chief Magistrate Says Sarnia Has To Aid Families of Married Prisoners.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, March 23.—Mayor Thomas H. Cook and Alderman James F. Cox interviewed Police Magistrate Henry Gorman yesterday regarding the imposition of jail term penalties as well as fines on local men with families convicted of breaches of the inland revenue and Ontario temperance act, in view of the fact that recently the cost of supporting the families of two men in somewhat straitened circumstances, who were sent to jail, fell upon the indigent poor committee.

One of these cases would cost the city between $200 and $400 before the man was released and in a position to support his own family, according to a statement made by Alderman Cook at the last meeting of the city council.

The idea of the committee of two was to endeavor to have all possible relief shown in any future cases of this nature with a view to relieving the city from supporting such families.
