Robichaud Speaks

by DAN CROZIER
News Editor

"Move forward with me. The best is yet to come". These were the words used by Premier Louis J. Robichaud during his Convocation Address as he described the youthful vitality of Lord Beaverbrook; and these words not only echoed throughout the Lady Beaverbrook Rink, but from every corner of the campus as well.

The convocation ceremony was opened last Wednesday afternoon by a few introductory remarks from the President of the University, Dr. Colin B. Mackay. In his brief speech Dr. Mackay outlined the history of the university and its development through the years. He emphasized the roles played by the founders in obtaining the first charter. He went on to say how the governors of the province aided immensely in its development and expressed his hope that the Premier takes a justifiable pride in the present state of his University of New Brunswick. President Mackay assured the Premier that by surrounding him with such distinguished scholars as Mrs. F. M. Ross, Msgr. Irene Lussier, and Dr. A. L. Rowse, all recipients of honorary degrees, this did not constitute a conscious attempt on his part to influence his views.

The President in concluding his introductory remarks, expressed his wish for continued expansion of the university in size and complexity, but not to the extent where the student is thrust to the background. He pointed out, finally, that in many ways the hopes, dreams and ideal of Thomas Carleton, the founder of the university, have been fulfilled in great measure by Lord Beaverbrook.

The highlights of the ceremony followed the conferring of the Bachelors and Masters degrees in course. At this point the honorary degrees were conferred on the four distinguished recipients. Receiving a Doctor of Laws degree were Msgr. Irene Lussier, Rector of the University of Montreal, Dr. Phyllis G. Ross and Premier Louis J. Robichaud. An honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law was conferred on Dr. A. L. Rowse, of Oxford.

Immediately after receiving his Doctor of Laws degree, Premier Robichaud gave the Convocation Address. The youthful premier expressed the honor he felt at being placed in the company of such distinguished figures as Senator John Kennedy, a presidential candidate in the U.S., and John G. Diefenbaker, the Prime Minister of Canada. He went on to congratulate his fellow recipients of honors, and expressed his pleasure of his association with them. In a short digression he urged the teachers of New Brunswick, in view of their many sacrifices in better equipping themselves, to request the Federal Government an income tax exemption, such as those to which other professions are subject.

Carnival Talent Announced

It has been finally announced. The news that the student carnival body has been waiting for concerning Winter Carnival.

The Brothers Four and the Limelighters will headline the Winter Carnival entertainment. This announcement was released by the Winter Carnival Publicity co-chairmen, Syd Grant and Dave Wilson.

The Limelighters are composed of three "singing Instrumentalists" who offer a refreshingly different blend of vocal and instrumental music plus a rare breed of hilarity which they describe as "institutional satire".

The Limelighters are composed of three men, all veteran performers in their own right.

Lou Gotlieb does most of the arranging and composing of the group and also acts as their comic spokesman. His constant companion on stage is the string bass.

Alex Hassilev speaks and sings numerous languages in his rich baritone voice. His versatility on stage is seen by the excessive ease in which he switches from guitar to five-string banjo.

Glen Yarbrough is an Electra record artist with three LP's to

Receives Degree

The Right Honourable Lord Beaverbrook, Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick, congratulates Premier Robichaud on his receipt of an honorary degree at the Convocation ceremonies on Wednesday. The Premier was then called upon by the university president, Dr. Colin B. Mackay, to give the Convocation Address.

Immediately following Convocation the scene of activity moved to the front of the Thomas Carleton Hall where its official opening took place.

President Colin B. Mackay opened the proceedings by remarking on the contribution played by Sir Thomas Carleton in the founding and the early development of the liberal arts college that became the University of New Brunswick. As Governor of the province he was instrumental in the founding of the university in 1785 and its maintenance during the early years of its existence.

The President then went on to point out that the building's purpose was to meet an ever increasing need in this rapidly expanding university. In it is found practically the entire Arts faculty which now relieves the strain placed on other building on the campus and permits them to be again used for the purpose for which they were originally intended.

Dr. Mackay went on to outline the expansion of the Arts faculty from the sum total of 10 professors and 109 students of 1938 to the present day total of 52 faculty members and 350 arts students, this does not include the Physical Education or Business Administration students. The President mentioned in particular the work of Dr. A. G. Bailey in reviving the interest and pursuit of the liberal arts on the campus.

In conclusion of his talk, the President welcomed Msgr. Irene Lussier to the campus and invited him to say a few words.

Finally, Lord Beaverbrook stepped forward and unveiled the plaque, thus declaring the building officially opened. Then, following a few words from the Chancellor, the crowd was invited to inspect the building after which another invitation was extended them to attend a tea in the Memorial Student Centre.

Discipline

"If it is proven that any university student exceeded the bounds of decent human behaviour, the university could and would take disciplinary action".

This statement issued by B. F. Macaulay, administrative vice-president of the University of New Brunswick is very significant. It refers directly to the incidents involving UNB students and soldiers from Camp Gagetown last weekend but it also applies generally to all incidents of alcohol-numbed or witless student conduct.

The administration of this university has become extremely concerned over student conduct in past weeks. Abusive use of liquor is the basic cause behind the acts of vandalism and rowdy behaviour.

The Students' Representative Council and the Student Disciplinary Committee are fully aware of the situation. Several students arrested by Fredericton City Police last weekend on minor liquor charges will be subjected to further action by the SDC.

An example should be made of these students if subsequent investigation proves their guilt beyond all possible doubt. It is a regretful but vital necessity. Continuation of immature and foolish conduct must not be allowed support.

A stolen mirror and a broken window in the Student Centre, a citizen's automobile door kicked in, windows broken in an apartment house, were some of the incidents that occurred on one weekend.

Three years ago at this university, a wave of rowdiness broke out, on and off campus. Most of the perpetrators were caught and slapped with heavy penalties. The rowdiness ended as fast as it had started and very little trouble has occurred again until the present time.

Take heed. Conviction of charges pressed by the SDC result in heavy fines, loss of student privileges and possible expulsion from school.

Is it worth it?

Pre-Med Club Offers Invitation

The UNB Pre-Med Club cordially invites all Pre-Med and Pre-Dent. students, nurses and all those interested, to participate in its activities. By talks, lectures, tours and demonstrations the Pre-Med Club attempts to familiarize its members with the "world of medicine" and its related fields.

The Club intends to highlight the 1960 Fall term with a visit to the Medical School of Dalhousie University in Halifax. Throughout the year guest speakers will address the Club on a wide variety of topics of interest to all.

In Nov. it will again sponsor a Blood Donor Clinic, when it will endeavor to bring to the campus the Dominion Intercol-

Fall Formal November 18

The UNB Fall Formal, the largest social event on campus, has been set for November 18th. This dance is being held in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium and is free to all UNB students, faculty members and their escorts. Outside guests and members of the alumni will be able to obtain tickets prior to the dance.

Last year, despite the fact that the Fall Formal was held on Friday the 13th, the dance was extremely successful, with total attendance mounting to over 1000 people.

Similar to last year, the word "Formal" is being stressed. This, being directed at those students who do have a more formal attire, it is hoped that they will appear at the dance dressed accordingly. The Social Committee was pleased with the fine response of the students to this plea last year and feels that it did improve the caliber of the formal.

The chairmanship of the UNB Social Committee this year is being shared by two seniors, Jean McCutcheon and Carol Ann Brewer. The running of a dance this size involves many hours of planning and work, and therefore it is hoped that just as many students as possible will volunteer to "lend a hand."

All those interested in helping are asked to please get in touch with either co-chairman soon.

An added reminder that the position of Social Committee chairman for the campus will open next year. It is hoped that those wishing to apply for the position will be eager to gain experience for the job and will volunteer their assistance.

legiate Corpuscule Cup, presently held by Mount Allison University.

The Pre-Med Club meets semi-monthly on Mon. at 6:30 p.m. On Mon., Oct. 24, the second meeting of the term will be held in the Tartan Room of the Student Centre. Guest speaker will be Dr. A. M. Edington, radiologist at the Victoria Public Hospital, Fredericton. Dr. Edington will speak on The Merits of Entering the Field of Medicine.

Oriental Potentate Opens Treasure Van

by CAROL MacPHERSON

The Sheik of Quispamsis invaded the UNB campus on Monday, October 17th, but only to officially open WUSC's 'Treasure Van'. On its annual visit, the handicraft display was welcomed by the oriental potentate, accompanied by four of his harem favorites. At two o'clock the Sheik accepted his sabre from the head wife and proceeded to slash the ribbon, admitting all to the 'Treasure Van' in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium.

Exotic Arabic music added to the international atmosphere, properly punctuated by Newfoundland folk songs and Safardi Jewish airs. Students and townspeople roamed from display to display, gazing at llama wool rugs from Peru, ceramics from Mexico, camel sticks from Jordan, and leather hassocks from Morocco.

Mr. Joseph Sullivan, guide and master of the 'Treasure Van', performed all necessary miracles. Representing numerous societies and residences of the campus were student salespeople. Faculty wives acted as hostesses.

UNB was the first stop of 'Treasure Van' on the Maritime circuit. Due to a misconception caused by the provincial liquor laws, the popular beer steins from Jugoslavia did not arrive in Fredericton. However, Mr. Sullivan assures us that a special sale of such will be possible in the near future. (Watch the Wee Want Ads of the Brunswickan for further information).

Although 'Treasure Van' was completely restocked for 1960, it is certain that the Fredericton area depleted the exciting features considerably. Consequently, many a 'pad' now boasts: one African spear, several Mexican cutlasses, a zebra-skin drum, and a pair of Peruvian alpaca slippers.

Meanwhile, life settles down to its Maritime normality. And the WUSC committee thanks all for the campus-wide co-operation and tireless enthusiasm that made 'Treasure Van' such a success.

Most of the proceeds go to WUSC's International Programme of Action. This division of the world-wide organization is concerned with self-help projects in underdeveloped countries. Also to be stressed is the fact that the people who make the handicrafts depend upon the sale of such to raise their standards of living. Consequently, the University of New Brunswick has started off the new term in the international swing of things..

WRESTLING

There will be a meeting of the UNB wrestling team on Monday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the trophy room of the gym. All students interested in wrestling are urged to attend. If anyone is interested in wrestling but cannot make this first meeting, phone Gr. 1-2741. No previous experience required.

Harvard plays Army. Yale plays Army. Now UNB plays Army! The only difference is that in the case of Harvard and Yale somebody wins; in our case everybody loses . . . and the tendency is to follow the fine old English custom of using a human head for a football. It's not very funny either . . . the police, the Provost Corps, the University administration, our Brunswickan editor and a few battered and scarred UNB Freshmen will testify to that.

You know the story of what happened . . . although it is more probable that you know one story of what happened. On Friday night after the Pep Rally a UNB student is alleged to have slit open a soldier's face and throat with a razor blade. If this is true, the Student Disciplinary Committee should make a whole-hearted investigation to find the guilty party and use their power to recommend his expulsion from the university. No matter what the circumstances, not matter how much he had to drink . . . the kind of person who would attack a man with a deadly weapon is not anyone we want here . . . he's in the wrong kind of institution.

Nor is this all that went on at the Pep Rally. Apartments were wrecked, windows broken, cars and other property were damaged, and considerable damage was caused in the Student Centre washroom. That's quite a price to pay for a pep rally, even though it was held with the best of intentions. The point is . . . School spirit cannot be created synthetically, the result is only mass hysteria; school spirit must be earned and developed. Naturally it will be low at the beginning of a year with a large Freshman Class, but it will grow . . . there was no need to hold any rally to create spirit at the end of last year's hockey season. But the events of last weekend did more 'harm' to our school spirit and our school 'reputation' than a hundred pep rallies could correct.

Saturday night came, and with it came the Army. The stories of that night are by now vastly exaggerated, but the fact remains that the soldiers had revenge on their minds and everyone in a red jacket was fair game. Fights broke out in various places around the city . . . albeit pretty one-sided fights; Freshmen are no match for soldiers. So whom do we blame? The soldiers blame the UNB students, the UNB students blame the soldiers, the Army commander attributes some blame to people who were neither. The real person who should be blamed is the one who is supposed to have started it all on Friday night. But how do we know for sure that it was a UNB student attack at all? There is a lot of blame due to the soldiers for their attacks on Saturday night. But then there is a lot of blame due to certain UNB types for their conduct on Friday night . . .

There is not much more to be said about the whole affair. It brings UNB down several notches in the eyes of the people of Fredericton, and it created bad blood between the Army camp and ourselves . . . we didn't use the "ounce of prevention", but "the pound of cure" is going to have to be administered over a long period of time.

ODDS 'n ENDS

—some people have expressed their surprise that The Column quoted the Bible recently. One person told me that perhaps I'd better read up on the story of Samson . . . He played around with some columns . . . and brought the roof down around his ears! So I ran, Sam, I ran . . .

—Among the many things that confuse people spending (literally) their first year at UNB is that some city taxi firms charge one rate and others charge 15 cents more.

—Mail with a Chicago postmark is being delivered to the LBR Clocktower. Could it be that John N. D. Jones is divulging his famed punch recipe to the rest of the Jones House Boys in time for the "Jones Boys" Formal?

—My room-mate claims that because he is an engineer he hasn't the time to find a girlfriend and he wants one. Any volunteers?

UNB Film Society Season Tickets Still Available

A showing of "Kermesse Heroique" was cheerfully received by the audience, at last Sunday's first presentation by the UNB Film Society.

This Sunday evening, another film, "Paths of Glory", starring Kirk Douglas dealing with some aspects of World War I and is especially interesting for its portrayal of the French High Command.

Some season tickets are still available and will be sold at the door before the performance. They cost $4.00 and thus, each film in the series has an admission price of approximately 30c. All students and faculty are eligible for membership. This Sunday evening's presentation will, as usual, begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Chemistry Auditorium.

CAMPUS POLICE

The Campus Police have been directed to enforce, more rigidly, existing regulations concerning student discipline. Campus police will no longer give warnings before laying charges against those found breaking regulations, in particular regarding drinking in public. Students are asked to cooperate, and heed this notice at all future events.

Prostitute's Episode Causes Expulsion

QUEBEC (CUP) Oct. 13 — The student's association of Laval University meets tonight to consider action following the expulsion yesterday of three student editors for allegedly permitting the publication of a literary article describing an episode in a prostitute's room.

It is rumored that the members of the Association Generale des Etudiants de Laval (AGEL) may resign unless an arbitration board is set up to reconsider the expulsion. AGEL still considers the three students as editors of Le Carabin, which is a committee of the association.

Asked by the university administration to leave were: Editor Pierre Mignault, a fourth-year medical student, and staff members Pierre Desrosiers, in third-year social science, and Andre Blanchet also in fourth-year medicine.

Msgr. Louis-Albert Vachon newly appointed rector of Laval, mentioned no specific article when he made the announcement but said a "painful" decision had been made to alleviate damage caused by any scandal from "certain articles."

However, Paul Boilard, public relations director of the AGEL said they were expelled for allegedly permitting the publication of "an immoral article."

An article "Je Suis Seule", published in the Oct. 6 issue, described in sensuous language the reactions of a prostitute to a visit from a university student. The issue was confiscated in the Faculty of Domestic Science and the page on which it was printed was torn out in the Faculty of Pedagogy, where many nuns study.

Referring to similar past occurrences deposed editor Mignault said today that "Student journalism at Laval is suicide." He added that the administration was perhaps disturbed over other articles, and that this article was used as a "pretext" for expulsion.

The article — written in metaphorical language — was apparently submitted by an immigrant French girl who is not a Laval student.

Jo Ann Carr Interviews Prof. Cogswell

Over coffee cups in the Student Centre, Prof. Fred Cogswell, a popular lecturer in the English Department, gave me a rough sketch of his work and observations during his leave of absence in the past year.

The purpose of his year in Great Britain was to do research for a book on John Galt, a Scottish novelist, dramatist and poet of the past century. Mr. Galt also had connections with Canada, in that he was a Colonizer (Canada Company 1826), and the father of Sir Alexander T. Galt, a noted Canadian statesman. Prof. Cogswell did research at the National Library of Scotland; Bodleian Library, Oxford; the Public Records Office and the British Museum, London; as well as publishing houses in both Edinburgh and London.

Speaking of university students in Great Britain and Canada, Prof. Cogswell said that the two groups were very similar, with differences being only the obvious differences in the university systems. For example, vacation periods are shorter in Great Britain and are used for study rather than wage-earning. One difference Prof. Cogswell did stress is the larger emphasis placed upon giving all students in Great Britain, with high matriculation standing, a chance for a university education. Government grants are much more extensive than in Canada. For example, 80% of the revenue of Glasgow University comes directly from the government. He felt that such a system in Canada would be advantageous, but that only time and a growth of public demand would bring it about.

He mentioned also, that the "Ban the Bomb" movement is a real force among students in Great Britain as well as the general public.

Prof. Cogswell's further comments on Scottish life, particularly, were that he is allergic to porridge and that he does not regard the kilt as a particularly masculine dress.

In speaking about Ireland, which he also visited, Prof. Cogswell said that the country is now extremely prosperous and that, while unification and resistance to British colonialism are still underlying issues, they are, for the moment, stilled by the prosperity. Great Britain is Ireland's principal market and many of the secondary industries are being supported by German capital.

As a whole he felt that society in Great Britain is undergoing a process of deterioration resulting in a "vulgar imitation of the United States". This materialistic rot is represented in a loss of dignity and extremism in the manners and dress of the younger generations.

Prof. Cogswell's views on UNB, with the perspective of a year's absence, is that it is a university passing through that uncomfortable period of being neither small nor large. About the new buildings, he felt Loring-Bailey Hall to be the most handsome on the inside and Carleton Hall most handsome on the outside. The interior of Carleton Hall, he added, gave one the impression of being in a penitentiary.

and students are invited to view the exhibition during the coming week.

Lecture Tonight At Art Centre

The Creative Arts Committee brings another interesting program to UNB tonight. A lecture entitled Public Architecture as Symbol will be given by Mr. Stephen Vickers, associate professor of Arts and Archeology at the University of Toronto and will take place at the Arts Centre, at 8:15 p.m. The talk, which will be illustrated by slides, is sponsored by the National Gallery.

The Committee urges all interested students, engineers in particular, to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this informative talk by Mr. Vickers, an authority in his field.

UNB Bus Ad Club Tours Industries

UNB's energetic Business Administration Club displayed its usual gusto Tuesday as it was led by President Ray Zerr through three Saint John industries. The group, numbering over forty of the Club's more active members, eagerly toured plants of Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., Irving Refining Limited, and last, but by no means least, Moosehead Breweries Limited.

The tour members were welcomed first to the sugar refinery and shown the stages of production from unloading raw Australian cane sugar at dockside to the loading of refined Lantic Sugar onto truck and rail transports. Irving Refining Limited was the scene of another eager tour, as the students were guided about the new $50 million establishment, said to be the most modern in Canada.

After a brief two-hour lunch stop, the tour arrived at the premises of Moosehead Breweries Limited. Here they were shown the stages of production from brewing to bottling. The visit was climaxed by sampling the famous product of this enterprise.

BRUNSWICKAN HOSTS REGIONAL CUP CONFERENCE

The Brunswickan will host the Maritime Regional Canadian University Press Conference being held at the University of New Brunswick this evening and tomorrow.

Delegates representing the Dalhousie Gazette, Saint Francis Xavierian, Acadia Atheneum, Memorial University Muse, Mount Allison Argosy and Saint Mary's University are expected to arrive in Fredericton today.

National CUP president Douglas Parkinson will arrive from Ottawa to sit in on the conference.

A banquet sponsored by the Brunswickan is being held tonight at the Kent Inn. Brig. Michael Wardell, publisher of the Fredericton Daily Gleaner and the Atlantic Advocate, is the guest speaker for the event.

The conference is slated for Saturday morning in the Memorial Student Centre. Tentative items on the agenda are:

1. Success and future of the Atlantic Football Conference.
2. Admission of SMU to CUP.
3. Rising publishing costs, how to lower them or raise advertising.
4. Sending papers to high schools.
5. Picture exchange discussion.
6. Stronger unity within the region.

Bushmen's Ball

The Bushmen's Ball, sponsored by the UNB Forestry Association in conjunction with Forestry Week, is being held this evening at 9:00 p.m. in the Boxing Room of the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium.

Everybody is welcome and you can attend stag or with a partner. Admission to this singular social event is 75 cents a couple, or 50 cents if you are by yourself.

The music will be supplied by Bob Duke and his orchestra.

stressed the importance of the educated mind in everyday society and in world affairs. He regards university graduates as providing and strengthening the foundations of a responsible society. An educated mind, he went on, is required to recognize the major problems facing the world and co-operation in achieving a solution. He cited as an example the position of Red China and the refusal of the United Nations to admit that country to the organization. The Premier stressed the important role of the educators in instilling in youthful minds the basic principles on which we have stood for so long, and upon which our continued existence as free men must depend.

Premier Robichaud made it clear that he and his administration have an acute awareness and sympathetic appreciation of the problems confronting this university and the educational system in New Brunswick in general. He expressed his aim to demonstrate his awareness in a "more concrete fashion" in the future. The Federal Government, he went on, must provide the means for removing the economic barrier to higher education. A scheme of grants must be devised to achieve this end. The Premier then went on to outline the present problems confronting the secondary school level and the remedies the government has already undertaken. He stressed particular need for the guidance of the younger students embarking on their college careers. He pointed out that the strengthening and improvement of the educational system results in a strengthening of the whole economic structure not only of New Brunswick, but of Canada as well.

In conclusion of his speech Premier Robichaud paid tribute to our Chancellor, Lord Beaverbrook. He pointed out how His Lordship exudes more youth than both our comparatively young President and the Premier himself. The university, he continued, is singularly fortunate to have the continuing interest and guidance of Lord Beaverbrook in all its plans for improvement. The Premier then closed his speech by expressing his anticipation of the day when his grandchild will become the proud recipient of a Beaverbrook Scholarship, and receive a personal letter of commendation from his benefactor. This is not, he concluded, an impossibility.

WEEKEND IN SPORTS

Tennis

by DOADY ARMSTRONG

Saturday, October 22, King's College, Halifax, will be the scene of the Maritime Intercollegiate Tennis Championships. Ann Bishop will defend her singles crown and Winnie McPherson and Mary Jean McNichol will represent UNB in the doubles.

In the past five years UNB teams have come up with two championships, once for their prowess in singles and once in doubles. Dalhousie has won two championships, Mt. A one, and was co-champion twice.

Dalhousie holds the greatest threat to the UNB trio with Pam Dewis, top seeded in both Maritime singles and Canadian doubles, vying for her second singles victory. Mt. A has been consistently strong in the doubles while UNB varies from year to year. This year the team seems to be well balanced and should do well.

The team was determined by a single elimination tournament on October 1st and since then have been practicing regularly under their coach Miss Sylvia Shaw.

GOOD LUCK GIRLS.

Tomorrow will be an action-packed day for several of the UNB Varsity Squads. At college field, starting time 1.30, the RED BOMBERS meet St. Mary's University Huskies of Halifax.

St. Mary's will go into Saturday's tilt with a three loss record.

Two games with Stadacona Sailors saw narrow wins over the Huskies while in their first game, St. FX trounced them 42-0. UNB will be looking for their second win of the season, preferably at the expense of the Huskies. Dave Wilson, offensive centre for the Red Bombers will be out for the remainder of the season with a broken ankle suffered in the last game and Ed Browne will fill this slot. Up from the JV squad for this game is John Hayter who will double in as full back.

In Sackville, tomorrow afternoon, the Varsity Red Shirts will meet the Mount A soccer team in the first round of Collegiate competition. Both teams are on an equal basis ball wise, but the Redshirts will be at full strength for this game.

On the lower courts, Tennis will provide the local fans with a morning's entertainment. Top-flight matches are scheduled both in singles and doubles men's competition.
