Play P. A. right across the boards!

You lay an odds-on bet that Prince Albert is the best pipe and cigarette smoke any man ever put a match to. You'll cash in before you clean out your first tidy red tin.

Here's tobacco that's got real red-blooded man punch, but it can't bite your tongue and it can't parch your throat. That's thrown into the discard by a patented process owned exclusively by the manufacturers. You stick a pin here—no other tobacco can be like Prince Albert; nor has P. A. any "near" relatives! Follow the thought?

Just put it right up to yourself for a test-out. Try a tin of Prince Albert and get tipped off from the home plate as to how close to case cards this talk is.

You get wise to that P. A. flavor and fragrance. Because it's just one of those little things in life that smooth out ruffles and wrinkles in the day's work and send you along right cheerful like.

Prince Albert is the largest seller in the United States. It is now being imported into Newfoundland and is sold by all of the leading dealers. In one-eighth-pound tidy red tins.

A Great Intrigue, OR, THE Mistress of Darracourt.

CHAPTER II.

"I a few days the county families will call upon you. There are some nice people in the neighborhood." He ran over the names of some of them, all strangers to Lucille, of course. "Lady Farnley, of the Grange, leads the fashion here—or did, I should say; she was the principal lady in the place until you came."

"And will remain so, I should think," said Lucille, smiling. He shook his head.

"The mistress of Darracourt must rule in Darracourt, as a matter of course," he responded.

He led her under a tall archway of stone and into the stables. Everything was as clean and orderly as a barrack yard, the stone facings to the red-bricked buildings as white as snow, every door and window glistening with fresh paint. A dozen dogs ran out to meet them, and surrounded Lucille, yapping and jumping up at her.

At this moment the ringing sound of a firm, quick step was heard on the flagged court, accompanied by a melodious whistle. Lucille half turned and saw Harry Herne striding toward them.

In an instant, as if they had been pulled by a string, the dogs left Lucille, and came with crouching, but friendly, servility to his feet.

"Good-morning, Herne!" said Mr. Head, coldly. "I have brought Miss Darracourt to see the stables, but your dogs have stopped further progress."

"They are all Court dogs, excepting this one," he said, pointing with his whip to the dog which had followed him into the yard.

"Then I should advise Miss Darracourt to lessen their number," said Mr. Head.

"Oh, no," exclaimed Lucille; "they are all very handsome. I am fond of dogs."

Harry Herne did not look at her, and yet she felt as if he had. With a crack of his whip, he strode to one of the doors, and, opening it, signed to the dogs to go in. They went in at once, and without a note.

He came back, hesitated a moment, then said:

"I know all the horses here; shall I show them to Miss Darracourt?" He addressed Mr. Head, but his glance rested on Lucille.

Once more Lucille was the slave of an impulse.

"I will see them after breakfast," she said.

He swung round, and stood bare-headed, as if she had uttered some important command.

"Yes, miss," he said, and the tone was so softened, compared with that in which he had addressed Mr. Head, that that gentleman stared.

"There is the bell," he said, and they turned and went out under the arch; the servants standing like soldiers, with their hands to their foreheads.

As he opened the door for her to pass in, Marie Verner came toward them, her sharp eyes glancing from one to the other.

"Have you two early birds caught plenty of worms?" she said, with her ready laugh.

"We have been to the stables," said Lucille.

"I know that, dear. My room overlooks them. You weren't there long. By the way, who was that tall young man with the air of a disguised prince—the one with the whip?"

"Oh, Harry Herne, you mean!" Mr. Head responded, carelessly.

"And who is Harry Herne?" she asked, quickly.

Mr. Head smiled.

"Nobody of any consequence," he answered.

Marie Verner looked from one to the other.

"Isn't he? Then he ought to be, if appearances deserve anything. I don't think I have ever seen a handsomer man; have you, Lucille?"

"I have seen so few," said Lucille, carelessly, and gilded past her.

CHAPTER III.

An hour later the Marquis of Merle entered his study. The sun was pouring through the latticed windows, and most men would have thrown them open, and allowed the fresh, pure air and sunlight to flood in unimpeded; but Lord Merle went to the window and drew down the blinds, as if the sunlight was something to be shut out. This made the room, which was rather dark and dingy, assume a dismal aspect, and as he stood, with one hand resting upon the table, his thin figure, dressed in its dark-colored morning clothes, which seemed to hang loosely upon him, there was something so suggestive of a funeral, that anyone looking in at him would have been justified in inquiring for the whereabouts of the corpse.

If there had been a dash of color in Lord Merle's face, it might have claimed to be handsome, but it was so pale and cold, notwithstanding that he had just risen, that it looked like the plaster masks which the antique actors wore when they played tragedy in the theatre at Athens.

For a minute or two he stood like a statue, looking down at his writing materials, his long, white fingers pressed against the edge of the table, his thin lips compressed into a straight line.

Then he took up a letter which lay open before him, and read it slowly, thinking between the lines. As he refolded it and dropped it on the table, a servant in dark livery knocked at the door, and said:

"Mr. Slake, my lord."

The marquis, who never spoke unless compelled, nodded, and the footman stood aside, and allowed a gentleman to enter.

"Good-morning, my lord," he said, bowing respectfully, and blinking a little at the sudden change from the sunlight outside to the semi-darkness of the room.

"Good-morning," returned his lordship. "Be seated, Mr. Slake. You received my telegram, I see?"

"Came down by the night mail, my lord," said Mr. Slake, suavely.

"This is bad news," said the marquis, touching the letter with his white forefinger, his voice cold and measured, his face utterly impassive and stonelike.

Mr. Slake shook his head, sympathetically.

"Awful bad, my lord! Couldn't be worse, in fact."

"I suppose not. Is there no way of meeting this demand?"

Mr. Slake pursed up his lips, and shook his head again.

"I don't see any, my lord. You see we didn't think this mortgage would be called in, or we wouldn't have advised you to speculate with the money raised on it."

"And this mortgage is called in at six months hence. Can no money be raised?"

"Every acre you've got, every barn is mortgaged up to the chimney-pots, my lord."

Some men would have frowned at this blunt speaking; the marquis opened his thin lips, and smiled. It was an unpleasant smile.

"In a word, Mr. Slake, you have come to repeat what your letter told me: that I am ruined. Have you any advice to offer?"

Mr. Slake pondered.

"There's a way out of the fire, my lord!" he said. "Marry Miss Darracourt!"

The marquis looked up with a smile that was almost sweet.

"I intend to!" he said.

"Then—then, why did you send for me?" demanded Mr. Slake, not un-naturally.

"Because I wanted some more money."

"More money!" echoed Mr. Slake.

"Yes. And as I did not desire to put down on paper the security I intended offering, I sent for you. I must have two thousand pounds, Mr. Slake. For that sum I will give you a bill for three thousand, due at six months from now."

"Three thousand," murmured Mr. Slake.

"It is good interest, and should satisfy even you, I think," said his lordship, with the suggestion of a sneer.

"It's good interest enough, my lord; but the security—the security!" said Mr. Slake.

The marquis rose and drew up the blind.

"The security is there," he said, pointing his finger at the Court. "In six months Darracourt will be mine."

"You should have the money, my lord. I wouldn't do it for any other man, but, by Heaven! I think you'll do what you say."

"I think so, too," said the marquis; and there was something so deadly in the determined smile of the thin lips and the cold tint of the steely eyes that even Mr. Slake recoiled, and felt that he would have shuddered if he had known how.

All breakfast time while Marie Verner chattered to Mr. Head in the light, open-hearted fashion of hers, which made people who had heard her say what a frank, pleasant girl she was to be sure, Lucille thought of the promise she had made to Harry Herne.

War News.

GERMANS WILL DEFEND KIAO CHOW.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The Germans have taken Brussels. The official announcement of the German victory of Brussels did not mention the casualties of either side. The French official advisers state that Dutchman in Alsace has been captured by the French from Germans, who were said to be retreating on Rhine, but in Lorraine it was admitted the Germans had forced the French to fall back on their base. Confirmation was received last night of the report that Emperor William had ordered resistance of any Japanese effort to seize Kiao Chow.

GERMAN WARSHIPS EXPECTED.

VANCOUVER, To-day.
The following despatch arrived from Prince Rupert, B. C. late yesterday. All banks have been notified by Hazen, the Canadian Minister of Marine, of the near approach of German warships, stated to be coming to obtain coal. The authorities have been notified not to give aid to enemy even under threat of bombardment of the city.

LONG WAR EXPECTED.

PARIS, To-day.
Discussing the possible length of the war, the Times says it may be taken for granted that Germany will fight to the bitter end and quotes M. Pichon, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, who said the war will be long and hard and will involve enormous loss, with victories and reverses. France will be finally victor. The Temps also quotes General Von Bernhardi, German military writer, who concedes success to the side which can hold out longest. The following expression of opinion is given by General Langlois: "The war will be long and victory belongs to the most tenacious."

GERMANS BURN VILLAGES.

LONDON, To-day.
A despatch to Central News from Brussels says that one long line of burning villages marked the German advance. Telegraphing from Copenhagen, the correspondent of the Daily Mail says that a third list of German casualties, aggregating about 1,000 men killed or wounded, mainly infantry men, has been published in Berlin. The correspondent adds the Gazette confirms the report that Prince Frederick William of Lippe was killed before Liege.

Commandeered Automobiles.

Newcastle, Aug. 21.—A despatch from Belgium stating that all automobiles seized for army service must have serviceable tyres and recommending that Reclaim Tyres (the new process of putting one tyre over another), which have proved puncture proof and run over six thousand miles, be used, would pass the censors. They are quarter the price and double the wear of new tyres. All sizes. Phone Tessler & Co.—aug21,tf

Capital Bill at Rossley's.

There is an all new programme at Rossley's to-night, a very laughable sketch and some of the best pictures that can be had, and though Rossley's do not claim that every picture they show is the best on earth, yet they can honestly claim that they are as good as the best, as there is no one special factory for certain films, as the same factories and moving picture firms send out their pictures broadcast. What Rossley's claims is the pictures he is getting from the European markets is better in condition than those he got from the States, for the simple reason that in England the pictures are not run from moon till night, therefore not so scratched.

Rev. Geo. Hewitt, M.A.,

VOLUNTEERS AS NAVAL CHAPLAIN

Rev. John Hewitt of Petty Harbor has just received a letter from his son, Rev. George Hewitt, M.A., senior curate of St. Thomas' Parish, that he had volunteered as navy chaplain. The letter was sent from his uncle's home in England, when he was enjoying a holiday. It is dated August 14. When the British ultimatum had been sent to Germany and just before was declared that night. He says he does not know where he will be sent, whether to hospital work ashore or to serve afloat. He says he regrets any sorrow his offer may cause his parents, but at his country's call he feels that family ties must give way, and that it is his duty to serve as best he may. His father, in writing him back tells him he approves of his action, and that he has done what his father and mother expected him to do, though not without a twinge of sorrow at the necessity of it. The reverend volunteer has obtained permission from the Bishop of Newfoundland, who has supplied him with the necessary papers. It is understood he was sent to Devonport, but where he is now is not known. The reverend gentleman is an old Fieldian and went to Oxford as a Fulbright scholar from Bishop Field College. He was always a keen athlete, as he is now a devoted priest, and a working son of Newfoundland.

United Action.

We are glad to find that the Government issued last night, as we foresaw they must do, a proclamation calling the Legislature together. Parliament will meet on September 2nd, eleven days hence, and it is hoped that the Government will be ready with their proposals. The Opposition has offered to consider, in advance of the meeting of the Legislature, the main principles of any measures, which the Government may deem desirable to submit to them with a view to their introduction into the Legislature. They have also intimated their intention of supporting certain measures named, in order to arm the Government with authority to exercise powers, similar to those which have been conferred on the British and Canadian Governments, by their respective Parliaments, should the Government need to use them, with a view to aid the Empire, insure peace and most distress. It was immediately after the receipt of this message from the official leader of the Opposition, on behalf of both sections of the Opposition, Liberal and Union, that the Government issued the Gazette Extraordinary calling the Legislature together. Our readers will have observed that we have for a week or more insisted on the necessity of the Legislature being called together, and intimated to the Government that the Opposition were prepared to work with the Government, if the Government would only confide in the Opposition. This led to the Prime Minister, Sir Edward Morris on Tuesday evening seeking the advice of the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Kent, as to the calling of the House, with the result we mentioned yesterday. The matter was talked over by Mr. Kent and the Liberal members and Mr. Coaker and the Union members available, and an official communication expressing the unanimous opinion of the Opposition sent to the Premier. It foresaw a truce to local politics and a joint effort during the truce to safeguard imperial and local interest which are so intimately and closely interwoven.

It was with the deepest regret we heard of the death of Grand Falls on the 12th inst. of Rev. J. Munn Allan, after a short illness. Mr. Allan was a man beloved by all, and the sympathy he showed to all in trouble or distress won for him the love of all who knew him. The remains were conveyed from Grand Falls to his home at Curling, Bay of Islands, and rested in his little church all night, where crowds of people of all denominations came to have a last look at this faithful servant of God. His two sisters Miss Allan and Mrs. Holt were with him when the spirit peacefully as a baby breathing, passed away to receive the reward, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Silent Hatred Replaces Songs.

Arion, Belgium, August 14.—It is strange that I have not heard one note of military music in Namur, nor in the great French fort Drenth. Along the southern frontier, where the French army is marching, along the Luxemburg border with its German legions and along the front with the Belgian field army I have not heard even "un roulement de tambours," but everywhere I have felt something more thrilling than life and drum—the anger of two nations. Not wild anger that strikes blindly and at random, but anger that burns with fierce flame under a cold and calm surface.

Cities are clamorous armies. The two nations are silent, and their calmness fills one with awe, for it is the calmness preceding a duel certain to be fatal for one of the two sides.

After cleaning brass or nickel-plated bells or doorknobs, rub them over with a little vasoline with a woolen cloth. This will keep them bright for a long time.

The Newfoundland Regiment.

Preliminaries Finalized at Last Night's Meeting.

The Patriotic Committee again met at the C. L. B. Armoury last night, His Excellency the Governor presiding. On the platform with His Excellency were Sir Joseph Outerbridge, the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, and the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. James M. Kent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Dr. V. P. Burke, and confirmed. The minutes included offers of free transportation to Outpost Volunteers by the Reid Newfoundland Co., Bowring Bros. Ltd. and the Newfoundland Produce Co.

On motion of His Excellency a hearty vote of thanks was passed, which will be tendered these firms for their generous offers.

The object of the meeting was to receive the reports of the various Committees appointed to deal with the formation of a Newfoundland Regiment.

Mr. J. A. Clift, on behalf of the Nominating Committee, reported that messages had been sent to all the Magistrates throughout the country acquainting them of the formation of the Patriotic Committee, and requesting them to co-operate by calling public meetings, and forming branch committees, to be named after each electoral district.

Hon. E. R. Bowring, on behalf of the Finance Committee, reported that they had received assurances from the Government that the necessary funds would be forthcoming. As the work of the Committee would entail a considerable amount of work it was necessary that they appoint a Secretary. He nominated Hon. P. T. McGrath for the position, which recommendation was endorsed, and the nominee, who will give his services gratuitously was thereupon appointed. The Committee further recommended that the Canadian precedent be adhered to, and that the Regimental pay be $1.00 per day from the time of enlistment. Of this amount it was also recommended that 40c. a day be paid the men at the front, and the balance to be retained for the use of the families of dependents, or to accumulate for their own benefit. The Government's offer was confirmed by the following letters from the Colonial Secretary:-

Dept. Colonial Secretary,
August 20, 1914.

Sir, I have the honour to inform you that the Executive Government have decided to pay for the equipment, transportation and other expenses in connection with the Newfoundland Regiment, and also to pay the men composing the same, who go to the front, the sum of $1 per day.

The Government have decided not to ask the British Government to contribute anything towards the cost of this Regiment while on service.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,
JOHN R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.

Hon. E. R. Bowring,
Chairman Finance Committee,
Patriotic Committee.

Dept. Colonial Secretary,
August 20, 1914.

Referring to my letter addressed to you this afternoon, I would add, that payment of the amounts required in connection with the expenses and maintenance of the Newfoundland Regiment will be made by the Government to the Finance Committee from time to time as required, the administration of the said funds being in the hands of the Finance Committee subject to the audit of the Auditor-General for the Colony.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,
JOHN R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.

Hon. E. R. Bowring,
Chairman Finance Committee,
Patriotic Committee.

The Finance Committee's report was adopted. It was suggested by His Excellency that the pay of non-commissioned officers would be slightly higher—Corporals and Lance-Corps receiving $1.10, and Sergeants $1.25 per day.

the sending of eligible men from the outposts. They also suggested that each recruit be quartered in a military camp, and supplied with underclothing. The reports and recommendations were approved.

His Excellency suggested that provision should be made for the oath of allegiance, the reading of the articles of war, and the selection of officers. For the latter purpose he nominated the four Commanding Officers of the Brigades, Sir Joseph Outerbridge, Hon. J. R. Bennett and Dr. Burke, and would also go on the committee himself. The suggestion was approved. Mr. Gosling, Chairman of the Civic Commission, read a letter he had received from Mr. Allan W. Mallum, of Heart's Content, volunteering for service abroad. Mr. Mallum had served several years in the U. S. Army. Mr. Gosling expressed his appreciation of the spirit which prompted the offer, and took it as an evidence of the spirit prevailing amongst our young men. He added that he had referred the applicant to the Recruiting Committee.

Hon. John Harvey, on behalf of the Proclamation Committee, presented a draft Proclamation calling for volunteers, which was approved and passed over to the Colonial Secretary.

The Quartermasters' Committee reported through Mr. H. Outerbridge that they were of opinion that no distinctive uniforms should be used, and suggested that the troops be supplied with Service Kit, and further that the Government should telegraph to England for the necessary arms and equipment and have same shipped here by the Pomeranian, sailing on August 29th.

He further suggested that the troops should go under canvas as soon as they are pronounced medically fit and that a Quartermaster who will go with the troops be appointed at once. A cablegram has been forwarded to the Director of Equipment and stores, London, asking for prices of complete outfits, and samples of uniforms and coats. The report was adopted.

Mr. W. H. Rennie on behalf of the Musketry Committee, reported that they were indebted to Captain H. Ballantine Dykes of the Officers Reserves, who is here on a fishing trip, for much valuable help and advice. The committee hoped that Captain Dykes may be retained here, as his services would prove invaluable.

The Committee made recommendations for drill, and a course of training at the Rifle Range, and also the appointment of qualified instructors. As an initial step they suggested they appointed Mr. Joseph Moore who has had 21 years service in the Army. This Committee also suggested that it would be of assistance if rifle practice were permitted on Sunday afternoons in view of the short time at our disposal. The Territorials in Great Britain practice at the ranges on Sunday. The report was approved.

All the doctors throughout the Island have been appointed members of the General Patriotic Committee and will be notified of this immediately.

With regard to enquiries concerning the height demanded for the volunteers, it was decided that 5 ft. 4 ins. be the minimum height with a chest expansion of 35 inches and weight of not less than 140 pounds. The age limit may be raised to 40 instead of 35.

Hon. E. R. Bowring on behalf of the Finance Committee, enquired what further business they had before them, and suggested that a public appeal be made for the assistance of the volunteers' dependents. He was requested to prepare a suitable form of appeal to the people.

Before the close of the meeting His Excellency read the following despatch which he was sending to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and hoped the same would meet with approval:-

Secretary of State,
London:-
"With reference to my telegram of August 18th, Newfoundland Regiment, my Ministers desire me to state that the Newfoundland Government will meet the full cost of the contingent of 500 men. This contingent will leave at end of September. It is my earnest request that they may be sent to the Guards Depot and attached to the Foot Guards. The rank and file are specially selected men, hardy and healthy, enduring and disciplined, and crack shots. The officers with local rank of captains, lieutenants and sub-lieutenants, hope to be granted substantive rank for the period of war."

LESS MEAT

Advice of Family Physician.
Formerly people thought meat necessary for strength and muscular vigor.

The man who worked hard was supposed to require meat two or three times a day. Science has found out differently.

It is now a common thing for the family physician to order less meat, as in the following letter from an Eastern man:

"I had suffered for years with dyspepsia and nervousness. My physician advised me to eat less meat and greasy foods generally. I tried several things to take the place of my usual breakfast of chops, fried potatoes, etc., but got no relief until I tried Grape-Nuts food.

"After using Grape-Nuts for the cereal part of my meals for two years, I am now a well man. Grape-Nuts benefited my health far more than the medicine I had taken before.

"My wife and children are healthier than they had been for years, and we are a very happy family, largely due to Grape-Nuts.

"We have been so much benefited by Grape-Nuts that it would be ungrateful not to acknowledge it." Name given by Canadian Postman, Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Something New Under the Sun.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The other day I expressed a wish that someone would invent an ink absorbing outfit—that is, something to take the place of the slow and inefficient eraser some solution which could be applied with a brush to the word or letter which you wish to remove and which would quickly absorb it without leaving a mark. If there were any danger of corroding the paper another solution which would neutralize this action could be promptly applied.

Having sketched this apparently feasible idea, I waited for applause. Instead I was promptly assured, "If it could have been done someone would have done it long ago."

I wonder how many centuries conservatives have been saying that to restless folks who had new ideas.

I wonder if there ever was a great inventor whose invention was not discredited by wisacres who told him that the thing couldn't possibly be done because, if it could, someone would have done it long ago.

Mind you, I'm not defending my suggestion. For aught I know it may be utterly impracticable. But what I object to is the grounds on which I was put down.

Suppose the people of a hundred years ago had gone on the assumption that it was no use attempting to do any new thing because anything worth thinking of must have been thought of by the millions who lived in the nineteenth century since Christ and the goodness knows how many years before.

In that case we should not have had the flying machine and the steam engine and the steam boat and the sewing machine and the telephone and the telegraph, to take a few of the best known examples and leave ten thousand others in obscurity.

Of course my suggestion was extremely obvious but we do not always see the things we look at every day, and the obvious things often remain undone partly for this reason, and partly because everyone thinks someone else would have done them if they were feasible.

For instance in many modern houses they are building bathtubs flush with the floor—an excellent plan since it saves the labor of cleaning under them. Why wasn't that done fifty years ago? For no reason except that it was too obvious.

Again, we had automobiles for several years before a device was put on the market by which the tire could be pumped up by power from the engine. Yet one would think that would be one of the first ideas to occur to manufacturers of automobile accessories.

I have always hated that saying, "There is nothing new under the sun." That's a treadmill man's point of view. Of course there is no new matter under the sun but there are a billion possible combinations of existing matter. If you ever studied permutation and combination you remember that, with a hundred factors, tens of thousands of combinations are possible. Consider, then, the infinite possibilities in a world in which the factors for combination are measured by the million.

Because a thing has not been done is no reason whatever that it can't be done. It is simply a challenge to find out why it hasn't been done and if the reasons are not sufficient and the thing is worth doing, to do it.

Trusting that the Committee will devise some other means of doing their business in this respect and refrain from hurting the bereaved feelings of all persons interested.

A Day of Features at the Nickel.

BIG SHOW DELIGHTS PATRONS.

The programme at the Nickel Theatre yesterday, was admirably arranged, and the hundreds of ladies and gentlemen who were in attendance during the afternoon and evening were delighted with the show. There were two reel feature pictures. One was "From Out the Storm," and the other "Beauty Unadorned." While both were exceptionally good they were entirely different in style. James Morrison and the ever popular Clara Kimball Young played brilliantly in "Beauty Unadorned." The other pictures were also high class. This evening the programme will be repeated and as this will be the last opportunity of seeing these wonderful films, we advise all our readers who have not seen them to attend.

A Request.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Permit me space to publicly ask the gentlemen who form the Committee of Belvidere Cemetery to alter their mode of procedure re the issuing permits for "interments." The custom now prevailing is that you are compelled to visit the Department of Public Charities in order to procure the necessary permission to have a grave opened for a gentleman employed there. Who is responsible for this custom, I know not. The idea of being forced to visit such a department as above named is to my mind, casting a slur on the shareholders of the grounds of "God's Acre."

Trusting that the Committee will devise some other means of doing their business in this respect and refrain from hurting the bereaved feelings of all persons interested.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out!

Here is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleaning Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the day-time, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's PILLS, 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or post-paid from The Catarthozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

RING-IVEY.

The R. C. Cathedral was the scene of a very quiet and pretty wedding on the 17th inst. when Miss Frances M. Ivey and Mr. Thomas J. Ring were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rt. Rev. Mons. Roche. The wedding took place at 3 p.m. The bride looked very pretty in white silk with over-lace dress and hat to match and was assisted by her sisters the Misses Annie and Bride Ivey who wore cream silk and pale blue hats. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. Ring, assisted by Mr. J. Kavanagh. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future residence on Gower Street, where the reception was held and the health of the bride and groom proposed. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents. After the reception the happy couple left by the evening's express for Brigus, where the honeymoon will be spent. Congratulations.

Gifts of Canada to be Changed in some cases

Ottawa, August 14.—With regard to Lord Roberts' proposal for an Imperial Light Horse, not much is known here, but less than two hundred mounted infantry will be taken. The decision to take a very light number is due to instructions from the War Office. In consequence Calgary's offer of a mounted brigade has not been accepted, and a machine battery is suggested. The regiment which the Government of Manitoba offered to raise is likewise not needed, and Sir Rodman Roblin is on his way here to confer how the money may otherwise be applied. Similar action may be taken in regard to the New Brunswick offer.

The Bowring Park Films.

Locally Photographed Subject is Capable Presentation.

The first of the films actually taken, developed and finished in Newfoundland, will shortly be presented at the Nickel. This is the "Bowring Park" series, showing the presentation of that charming rural spot to the City by Hon. E. R. Bowring; the official opening by H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, and the attendant ceremonies in which so many of our prominent townsmen participated.

The film is an accurate photographic record of a very interesting event of the Park, in all the beauties of its artistically laid out and natural scenic investments will commend itself to all lovers of nature studies.

At this time of year it is a good idea to look over the old blankets and cut out the best parts of those that are most worn. These pieces wash and sew together to make the desired thickness. Then cover with silkoline or satin, and they make splendid warm covers.

Traps Taken In

Fish Scarce, No Bail.

As the trapping season is closed all the fishermen at the North Battery have taken their traps ashore, an average voyage being on for the remainder of the season with hook and line. No fish practically have been taken on the local grounds for a week past or more, due to lack of bait. Squid are later striking in this year by every section of the Island than ever before.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headaches. I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing." "I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a feeling of suffocation and a difficulty of again getting to sleep. Meadows Lays a Plot

Bear with me for a bit of retrospection. On the day following Jack Meadows' offer to lend Marian money, which she promptly refused to listen to, he repaired to the office of Norman Ransom, editor of The Cliff Dweller, and made that gentleman a rather unprecedented proposition.

"I'm going to ask a favor of you that's got to be granted," began the rich young man.

"Proceed," said the editor. "You are nothing if not original. I'll do my best not to disappoint you, old chap."

"Then write down this name and address," said Jack, giving the other Marian Winthrop's. "Good. Eh bien mon ami. En avant. This young lady is engaged in an heroic struggle to eke out a living with her pen. She writes good stuff. That's one reason why it doesn't sell to amount to anything. You editors insist upon a certain variety of popular, or supposedly popular gush written for the most part by established writers whose names look good on the magazine covers."

"Thank you," observed the editor pleasantly.

"Far be it from me, of course, to try to reform, convert, or otherwise interfere with your policy. I'm here to ask you to buy stories regularly from Miss Winthrop."

"If she can deliver the goods, we'll be glad to do so," yawned the editor.

"Whether or not she can deliver the goods is not the point at all, answered Jack. "I want you to buy a certain amount of her work regularly every month—say one hundred dollars worth. That will keep her in funds and insure her against want."

"But you forget that this magazine is not exactly an organized form of charity!" smiled the editor.

"I forget nothing," replied the other. He whipped out his check book and rapidly wrote a check for $600. "Here," he added, "is a check for $600. Use this money to buy Miss Winthrop's stories. Buy $100 worth every month. If you can publish her stories, fine business. If you can't use them, file them away somewhere, and make any excuses you like to the lady. If I am still in funds when this money is used up, I'll remit some more. Will you do this for me?"

The editor laughed long and heartily. "It's a trifle out of my line," he said, "but I appreciate what you're driving at, and shall be glad to be of assistance to you."

"Good," said Meadows. "You've taken a load off my mind. I've been trying to devise a way to help this girl a bit without making myself offensive. She's got loads of pride and insists upon standing on her own feet. If you can help steer her right in her work, I'll be additionally grateful to you, old man."

Jack Meadows took his departure with the feeling that he had done a good day's work.

To-morrow—More Masculine Loneliness.

Collegians Win From C. E. I.

In Fast Game.—Championship Still Undecided.

After a spirited contest last evening between the Collegians and C. E. I., the former won out by a score of two goals to nil.

Before the match the consensus of opinion was that victory would perch on the crests of the Institute boys because they had defeated the Stars, which team got the decision over the Collegians. Anticipations were very much astray, however, though the result is not an exact indication of how the match went. In the early stage of the game, the C. E. I. who had honours in their favour, scored a goal through Harris, but off-side was the ruling of the referee, though this decision was questioned, yet no goal was awarded. Continuing, the Collegians spurred. Noonan captured the ball at mid-field, made a brilliant run and by a well directed shot, lodged the leather in the twines, registering the first goal for his team. Resuming, the C. E. I. pressed hard. Several attacks were made on the Collegians goal, but without success. Bad judgment in shooting was responsible for the Institute boys not scoring, as repeatedly the ball was driven over the bar; besides their luck was against them. The teams crossed at half time with the Collegians in the lead.

The next half opened lively and a fast exhibition was given by both sides. The C. E. I. paid many visits to Quick, the Collegian goal keeper, who saved well. The Collegian backs put up an excellent defence and cleared many dangerous situations, especially the three corner kicks awarded the C. E. I. About five minutes before full time the Collegian forwards made a bold dash and Coultas notched up the second goal. The teams and players were:

Collegians—Quick, goal; Barrett, Ayre, backs; E. Barnes, H. Barnes, Pike, halves; Coultas, Quick Jr., Noonan, Maddock, Hutchings, forwards.

C. E. I.—Viosey, goal; Hussey, L. Stick, backs; R. Stick, Drover, Fox, halves; Hunt, Harris, Evans, E. Churchill, M. Churchill, forwards.

Mr. Bert Tait refereed.

The Collegians are now in the same running with the Stars for the Championship. The Stars and C. E. I. will meet on next Monday evening. Why do you coddle Corns?

Why soak them and pare them? It brings only brief relief.

Blue-jay will stop the pain instantly. It will end the corn completely, and in 48 hours. It is doing that to a million corns a month.

The chemist who invented Blue-jay solved the whole corn problem. Apply it, and the corn is forgotten. It will never pain again. Gently the Blue-jay then loosens the corn, and in two days the corn comes out.

No pain, no soreness, no annoyance. And that corn will never need treatment again.

Old-time methods will not do this. Let no one claim they will. But Blue-jay does it, and has done it for sixty million corns.

Prove this, to-night.

Banker Was Leaking.

The banker Elizabeth, which went ashore on "Pancake" while beating in the Narrows, as referred to yesterday, was towed off last evening by the tug Ingraham, after considerable difficulty. The vessel came in for repairs, having sprung a leak a few days ago while fishing off the Virgin Rocks. When being towed into deep water yesterday the Elizabeth began to make water rapidly and the pumps had to be kept going.

BAD FISHERY AT QUIDI VIDI.—This season's trap fishery at Quidi Vidi is the worst for many years. Two traps only got 50 quintals each while the highest catch did not exceed 150 quintals. Nothing has been done yet by the haddiners owing to the absence of squid.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—As certain members of the Association are continually circulating deliberate untruths regarding the standing of "Davidson" Lodge and its members in connection with the L. O. B. A., we wish through your columns to refute such statements as wilful prevarications of the truth, and to verify our assertion we append copy of official circular letter from the highest authority of the Order, viz., the M. W. Grand Mistress and Grand Secretary of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of the L. O. B. A., of British America, which is sufficient proof that the reports so freely circulated were untruthful, and only done to injure "Davidson" Lodge.

Thanking you for space, we are, Yours truly,

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Fishery Reports.

Aug. 15th. From R. Lawton (South Head of Keels to Knight's Cove Pt.)—The total catch is 1,130 qtls. and for last week about 80. All the traps have been taken in since the third day of this week. A few trawlers and nets are still fishing. Prospects are poor and there is no squid or caplin, only a few herring being secured for bait. No bankers or schooners from the grounds have arrived. Nothing was done with traps during the week and only a few quintals taken with trawls and nets.

Aug. 15th. From A. J. Pearce (Twillingate to Trump Island).—Prospects are much improved the past week. Bait is very scarce but the trap fishing is greatly improved all round. Two on one day got 40 and 50 qtls each and the others from 7 to 12. There is a little improvement with jiggers. No boats but 55 traps and 60 skiffs are fishing. The catch is 2,167 qtls. with 1,100 for last week.

Aug. 15th. From (Salmon Cove Point to Colliers North Point)—The fishermen are now taking up their traps after one of the poorest voyages on record. Prospects are discouraging and there is no bait except a little herring. The total catch is only 50 qtls., with 10 for last week. Hook and liners are doing practically nothing and there is no sign yet of squid.

The Leper's Coat—To-day's Feature.

Louis Webber, Phillips Smalley, Bob Leonard, Helen Case and the Rex Stars at the Crescent To-day.

Three dramas, a comedy and a very attractive song comprise the week-end programme at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day. The headline "The Leper's Coat," is a subject that is very interesting and exciting, featuring Louis Webber and Phillips Smalley. "Out of His Class" is a Frontier story; "By Fate's Decree," a strong emotional drama with Bob Leonard and Helen Case; "A Modern Romance" with Violet Horner and the I.M.P. all star combination. "The Leper's Coat" is an ideal presentation by the Rex players; Webber and Smalley were never seen to better advantage and the entire programme is the best for the week. Miss Alice Clark, the prima donna, has a treat in store for the patrons, when she renders the musical comedy hit "Paddy Did a Wonderful Thing," a song which is now enjoying much popularity in New York. To-morrow afternoon the special weekly matinee. See to-morrow's papers for Monday's programme.

War News.

BRUSSELS OCCUPIED BY THE GERMANS.

Special to Evening Telegram.
PARIS, this a.m.
The German cavalry have occupied Brussels. This official announcement was made last night. Strong columns are following up this movement. The Belgian army is retiring to Antwerp without having been engaged by the Germans. Along with the announcement of the fall of Brussels, the official statement says: "Our troops have met with brilliant success in Alsace, especially between Muelhausen and Altkirch. The Germans retreating on the Rhine left in our hands many prisoners and 24 guns six of which were captured after a sharp struggle by our infantry. In Dorraine the day was less fortunate for us. Our advance troops found themselves faced by exceptionally strong positions. They were forced by a counter attack to fall back in a body, which is strongly established on the Sella and along the Canal from Marne to the Rhine.

SUMMARY OF SITUATION.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.
The British Embassy here, to-day has received a summary of the naval and military situation to date. It is as follows:—

Since the declaration of war the fleet has been responsible for the safety of the Expeditionary Force, which completed its disembarkation in France on August 18th, in perfect order, and without casualty. The work of the Navy, on the Atlantic and elsewhere in safeguarding the Trade routes is best exemplified by the fact that at Lloyd's yesterday, the war risk fell to forty shillings per cent, for almost any voyages of British vessels, whereas the rate to insure freight on corresponding steamers from the United States is thirty shillings per cent. The German fleet, outside the Baltic is confined to harbors. English commerce is almost normal, whilst German commerce is paralyzed. The only casualty is the loss of the Cruiser Amphion, which was blown up by a mine after having sunk the German mine-layer Koenig in Lulse. One German submarine has been sunk in the North Sea.

The military position is as follows: The German forces at present extend from north of the neighborhood of Basel through Liege to a point in Belgium, east of Antwerp, near the Dutch frontier. The outstanding feature of the operations up to the present has been delay in the contemplated German offensive movements across the Meuse, by the defence of Liege, where the forts are still intact. This has permitted the orderly mobilization and concentration of the French Army, and of the British Expeditionary Force. The German troops have now crossed the Meuse below and above Liege, gaining some ground slowly westward, but their advance cavalry has been continually checked by the Belgians. In the South, where the Germans are apparently on the defensive, the French are advancing in a long line into Alsace and Lorraine, a great extent of which they now occupy, after driving back in several engagements, the opposing German troops.

THE FRENCH IN ALSACE.

PARIS, Aug. 20.
The re-occupation of Muelhausen, in Alsace, by French troops is officially announced here. The recapture of Muelhausen was preceded by a severe battle. French troops took one of the suburbs at the point of the bayonet, and also took, as a result of the victory, six German cannon and ammunition wagons. The official note says that the situation in the Vosges mountains is unchanged. In Lorraine the French line extends from north of Saarburg, passing Metz, to the Duchy of Luxemburg and Belgium is unchanged.

OFFICIAL BUREAU NEWS.

LONDON, Aug. 20.
The following information was given out by the Official Bureau this afternoon:—

The Belgian Army, confronted by superior numbers, has fallen back. The Belgian troops have admirably performed their duty in delaying the hostile advance, thus enabling the complete concentration of their allies.

NOVA SCOTIA'S WAR GIFT.

HALIFAX, Aug. 20.
The Nova Scotia Provincial Government has offered the Imperial authorities a hundred thousand tons of coal as a war contribution. The offer has been gratefully accepted.

GERMANS GAINING GROUND.

PARIS, Aug. 20.
An official communication received from Brussels says the Germans have gained ground on both banks of the Meuse and are in contact with the armies of the allies. The communication further says, "The enemy finding the routes to the southwest strongly held by the French and Belgians, discovered an opening to the north; this may entirely change the strategy on both sides."

MOVING ON ANTWERP.

LONDON, Aug. 20.
The Brussels correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, telegraphing on Tuesday night, says, "The Germans seem to be moving in the direction of Antwerp. Any Belgian backward movement in that direction may therefore be explained as strategic movements which point to the early discomfiture of the enemy."

BELGIANS RETIRE.

PARIS, Aug. 20.
A portion of the Belgian Army has begun to retire in the direction of Antwerp, according to an official announcement this morning concerning the situation in Belgium. East of Namur the Germans have attained a line between Dinant and Neuchateau. Large German forces continue to cross the River Meuse between Liege and Namur. German outposts have occupied Dyle.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ADVANCING.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 20.
Russian troops have occupied Gumbinnen, twenty miles from the Russian frontier in East Prussia, capturing twelve German guns and a large number of prisoners.

How America Will Benefit.

It Can Work and Supply While Europe Wastes—It Can Resume Its Own Shares and Become the World's Money Centre.

An extremely interesting article in the Statist shows how overwhelmingly the United States are bound to benefit by the present folly of Europe.

The course of events in Europe has largely modified, if it has not altogether changed the economic situation in the United States. Until Austria decided to make war upon Serbia the trend of events was towards a contraction of credit in all parts of the world, greatly curtailed consumption in many countries, and a heavy fall in the prices of food and raw material.

Europe's Needs.

"The outbreak of war in Europe means practically the suspension of credit facilities in the young countries, and, as far as consumption is governed by good credit, a curtailment of trade in these countries is now more inevitable than it was before. On the other hand, however, the outbreak of a war which threatens to encompass almost the whole of Europe will mean the issue of great loans for the purposes of war, and an immense demand for all those things which nations require for war—arms and munitions of war, boots, clothing and canvas—as well as a great and urgent demand for foodstuffs in order that the various nations engaged in the conflict may run no danger of food shortage. Already the prices of wheat and of other foodstuffs have advanced. Consequently, countries possessing surplus supplies of food for sale in European markets will gain great advantage from the advance in prices.

Vantage to the States.

"In view of America's bumper crops in the current year, the maintenance of and probably recovery in the prices of foodstuffs is a factor of great importance. Furthermore, if war in Europe becomes general, there will probably be a great demand in the United States for munitions of war and for all those things needed by the mighty armies which are now being mobilized. From the standpoint of the immediate future, therefore, a great war in Europe would probably bring economic advantage to the people of the United States, as it would enable them to sell their great crops at prices which would give them a much greater income than they would have realized had there been no war or danger of war. The advantage of this condition of affairs will, of course, bring greater benefit to certain American industries than to others. But it is obvious that almost every industry will derive more or less advantage.

"Moreover, American investors and bankers should gain much profit from their ability to buy back from Europe great quantities of securities at attractive prices in payment for the foodstuffs, raw material, and even manufactured goods exported from the United States. Furthermore, with war prevalent in Europe, the sums expended abroad by American tourists and the sums of money remitted to friends will probably be unusually small, and this circumstance will increase the power of the United States to purchase securities from abroad without reducing the amount of capital available for employment at home.

"Great Britain (if involved) would not occupy the position it held in 1870 and 1871, but would have to devote its energies and its capital to providing for its own war expenditures, and its place would be taken by the United States, which, by reason of their great crops and their manufacturing capacity, would be able to supply the European countries with the food they needed at the same time that their factories were available for manufacturing goods for the rest of the world.

The World's Money Market.

"In view of their great crops, the United States should be in a position to supply the British people with a great part of the food they will need in such an exceptional period. But the part that the United States could play in world affairs at the present time is greater than the mere supply of food for Europe; it can become, as it has become this week, the world's greatest market for capital. In view of their abundant crops and the probable demand for them, and their diminished tourist expenditures, they will have a vast sum of capital for employment both at home and abroad, and if the American people rise to their opportunity they can do a great deal to mitigate the disastrous economic consequences in many countries which would otherwise result from a great European war.

"It is obvious that for the time being the money markets of Europe will be closed to the demands for new capital of Canada, of Brazil, of Argentina, of Mexico, and of other countries; and at such time the prestige of the United States would be immensely enhanced if it were to take the place of Europe and to meet the pressing needs of these borrowing countries.

"Indeed, it is possible that the United States may be able to do much more than this. It may participate in the great loans that will have to be raised in Europe if almost the whole Continent becomes engaged in war. Possibly its participation will be indirect rather than direct. To subscribe the great sums of money that may be needed for war purposes, European countries will doubtless desire to dispose of large amounts of American securities, both bonds and stocks; and the purchase of these securities by American investors would be America's contribution to the European loan."

The World Will Still Progress.

"For the United States to gain benefit from its position as the wealthiest nation in the world it is essential that American investors should not only have confidence in the future of their country, but should also believe that war or no war the world will continue to progress. The mischief and injury that a great European war will cause would be greatly minimized if American bankers and investors are as courageous as English bankers and investors have been in the past, and assist to provide the world with capital it will need at a time when it will not be possible to obtain supplies of capital from the countries which, under normal conditions are able and willing to supply it.

"In brief, a great war in Europe will give the United States the opportunity of assuming the post of world banker by supplying capital freely to countries and individuals in all parts of the globe who need it and can provide the required security. Should the American people take advantage of the golden opportunity that will be thus afforded to them, the outbreak of war in Europe will mean not diminished, but increased, prosperity for the people of the United States."

Adaptations of the old-time princess model are being shown among the new gowns.
