Aubrey's Revenge.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The young lady laughed with genuine amusement, as she replied: "Why, how surprised you seem, but I hope you are glad to see me, all the same?"

"I am more than surprised," answered Carroll, struggling desperately for self-control. "I left you in New Orleans not a month ago—"

"And now you find me here," supplemented Aubrey. "I see nothing wonderful in that. Mrs. van Cortlandt invited me to spend the winter at Van Cortlandt Place, and I came. She is my aunt, you know?"

"What?" Aubrey laughed softly. "Dear me, everything seems to surprise you to-night," she said. "I fancied you knew all about it."

"You have never even hinted at your relationship to Mrs. van Cortlandt before," said the young man stiffly.

"Why, I was sure I had told you, but no matter. I am glad to find that you and Mrs. van Cortlandt are such excellent friends; but we are keeping the dinner waiting. Here comes Howard to announce you."

She turned away, but Carroll caught at her sleeve, tearing the costly lace.

"Aubrey," he said, his voice hoarse and his lips white, "Aubrey, wait one second. You don't intend to betray our secret, do you?"

"That depends on yourself," she answered him boldly, a dangerous light in her sombre eyes.

He caught her wrist, holding it with a cruel force that caused the bracelet she wore to cut deep into the tender flesh.

"Do it at your peril," he said, in a sibilant whisper. "You silly, reckless, credulous fool, haven't you found out yet that all my promises were lies, and our marriage a mere sham? Now dare to betray me, and you shall die!"

A drop of blood trickled from Aubrey's wrist as he flung it from him with brutal force, but she did not wince or cry out.

"I'm glad we understand each other at last, my dear Carroll," she said quietly, "but, really, it will never do to keep the dinner waiting a moment longer. Au revoir!"

So saying, with a backward glance that made the young man's blood run cold in his veins, she threw open a door on the left side of the grand hall, and disappeared.

Meanwhile a servant came up to conduct the delinquent guest to the drawing-room, and, pulling himself together by a desperate effort, Carroll followed him.

If Catarrh Keeps You Hawking Use 'Catarrhzone'—The Quickest Cure

NOTHING KNOWN SO SURE FOR THROAT WEAKNESS, BRONCHIAL TROUBLES, ETC.

No doctor attempts to-day to cure a genuine case of catarrh or bronchitis except by the inhalation method. Stomach dosing has been discarded because useless medicine so taken affects only the stomach—never reaches the seat of catarrh.

The advanced physician recognizes that only air can be sent into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Fill this air with healing medicaments and you solve the problem. No combination of antiseptics is so successful as Catarrhzone. It contains the richest pine-balsams and the greatest healers known.

One breath of Catarrhzone instantly circulates over the area that is afflicted with catarrh. Relief is instant—suffering stops at once—germs are destroyed—every taint of disease is removed. Think it over seriously. Here is a remedy that clears the throat, relieves hoarseness, coughing and bad breath. Irritating phlegm is cleared out, inflamed bronchial tubes are healed, throat and voice are strengthened. Catarrhzone is pleasant and certain. You breathe Catarrhzone—you don't take it. Large $1.50 size is guaranteed; smaller size 50c., and trial size 25c. at all dealers everywhere.

peated, "it is such a pleasant surprise."

"You see, dear," added Aubrey, turning to Kelpie, "Carroll and I are old cronies, and I haven't seen him for quite an age. But I mustn't detain him an instant longer; he takes you to dinner, I believe?"

"That is the arrangement," answered Kelpie, quietly. "Mr. Fitzhugh, I am quite ready."

Carroll offered her his arm, with a profound bow, and Aubrey ran away to join her escort in another part of the room.

"Kelpie, how could you make such a fool of me?" said Carroll reproachfully, as they crossed the drawing-room.

"I only told you the truth," she answered, with dancing eyes. "I am Mrs. van Cortlandt's daughter and companion all in one."

The young man had no time to reply; they had reached the dining room by this time.

As they took their seats, the clock struck eight. Kelpie half rose to her feet with a cry of dismay. For the first time she had failed to keep her promise to Tom.

CHAPTER XXV.

If Kelpie had acted upon the impulse of the moment she would have rushed from the dining-room and sought refuge in her own chamber, leaving the guests to draw their own conclusions.

But respect for the feelings of her so-called mother, and an aversion to making herself noticeable, restrained her, and with admirable self-control she mastered her emotion and took her seat.

"What was it that disturbed you so?" said Carroll Fitzhugh, in a low voice, as he seated himself beside her.

"I suddenly remembered that I had broken a promise, and I quite lost my head for a moment."

"Oh, is that all?" said Carroll, secretly amused. "I am not prepared to make any such statement; indeed, to tell the truth, I think some promises are better broken than made good."

"I am pleased to make your acquaintance, Mr. Fitzhugh," said Kelpie demurely, offering the young man her hand.

Fitzhugh did not take it, however, but stood, staring and speechless, like a man who had been suddenly bereft of his senses.

"My dear Carroll," said Mrs. van Cortlandt, breaking the embarrassing silence, "you will take Marion to dinner."

Carroll made no reply, but stood staring like a man in a dream, while his hostess sailed away, chuckling to herself with immense satisfaction: "I said he'd fall in love with her at first sight, and so he has."

It was Aubrey, Mrs. van Cortlandt's niece, who brought the young man somewhat sharply to his senses.

"Why, how do you do, Carroll?" she cried, approaching him with extended hand. "I'm really delighted to see you. Aunt van Cortlandt didn't tell me you would be one of her guests. How long have you been in the city?"

Carroll Fitzhugh prided himself on being equal to any emergency, but he came within an ace of losing his head at that moment.

With Kelpie, radiant in her rose-colored gown, regarding him with eyes brimful of mischief on one hand, and Aubrey, standing like an avenging Nemesis on the other, a desperate impulse to save himself by flight almost mastered him.

The touch of Aubrey's cold fingers as she grasped his hand brought him to his senses.

"I'm so glad to see you," she repeated.

ache pierced her heart like a thorn and there was 'one sharp regret underlying all other emotions.

"I have broken my promise to Tom. Oh, I wonder if he knows?"

The dinner party was a success, and Mrs. van Cortlandt the most exultant of mortals. The Vancouver had always snubbed and slighted her, but thanks to her beautiful daughter, she had eclipsed them at last.

"The dinner was simply perfect," said Mrs. Vancouver, in an aside to her daughter, as they were leaving the table, "and one seldom sees such silver and china. The girl, too, is a beauty, and wholly thoroughbred. Wouldn't she make a charming wife for Alec?"

Miss Vancouver, whose extreme plainness was her misfortune, turned up her pug nose ungraciously. "You forget, mamma, that the girl was raised in a lighthouse," she said.

"No, I don't, but that doesn't count at all when there is a fortune of three millions at stake. I've set my heart on the match, and I shall give Alec a hint at once."

Then the lady sailed away, and, slipping her hand within the arm of her hostess, as she led the way to the drawing room, leaving the gentlemen to enjoy the rare old wines and choice cigars, she said, with a great show of affection:

"My dear Mrs. van Cortlandt, I could scarcely wait until dinner was over to offer my congratulations. Your daughter is charming, and such a beauty. Where in the world have you been keeping her hidden all these years?"

"Oh, that is my secret," laughed the lady, good-humoredly. "Shut up in some enchanted castle like a second sleeping beauty, perhaps," suggested the other lady, with fine irony. "You purpose introducing her into society at once, I presume?"

"I haven't quite decided yet, dear Mrs. Vancouver," replied the happy mother, looking after her daughter with fond, beaming, admiring eyes, "as she crossed the room on Carroll Fitzhugh's arm. 'I shall let the dear child do just as she pleases about everything.'"

"A very good idea, my dear. Your laughter is pretty enough and wealthy enough—if reports are true—to please her own sweet self in everything. She'll be choosing a husband the next thing, I suppose?"

"Oh, I trust not," said Mrs. van Cortlandt, with a pretty show of motherly love. "I hope to keep the dear child to myself for a long time."

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement. Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Don't worry about the ink stain on the rug. If you can possibly shift the rug so that the sun will shine on the spot for a part of each day, the ink will fade out.

UNCLE SAM — INTERNATIONAL ORDER.

By GEORGE FITCH.

many when the John Bull boys aren't. It is to be hoped that the farmer will plant plenty of wheat and other things this spring. Uncle Sam's grocery business is larger than ever before.

Most European nations will be too busy fighting this year to monkey with the plow to any extent. They will have to go down to the corner grocery store a great deal next winter as they have this year. Uncle Sam keeps the largest and most reliable grocery on the globe. He has been selling flour and feed for many years, but of late he has had to put in many new lines to satisfy the trade.

Uncle Sam is an exceedingly busy man just now. When he isn't slicing bacon for France, he is wrapping up beans for Great Britain, taking down a telephone order for canned goods for Russia and trying to get the neighbor boy to slip a sack of flour into Germany.

And then he has to let the paying trade wait around while he loads a wheelbarrow full of potatoes and bread for poor Belgium which was burned last summer and hasn't had a job since. Uncle Sam gives away more groceries than anyone else in the business. This is because he is so fond of the dollar that he always has one on hand to give away when necessary.

The Argentine is also doing a corner grocery business, but it is a new place and off the main street. Uncle Sam has most of the trade and if business increases, a lot of his own children will have to merge breakfasts, dinners and suppers this year to save stock.

Uncle Sam will sell almost a billion dollars' worth of groceries this year and give away a lot besides. Some people think that if he ate them himself and shut off business the wars would stop for want of food to carry them on. But Europe can raise enough food to feed its soldiers. Only the women and children would starve if we shut up shop and they do not seem to be important enough to stop anything—at least a modern, civilized war.

Belated Vessels Arrive Here and There.

DOROTHY BAIRD.
The schr. Dorothy Baird, Capt. Keeling, 53 days out from Macdo, reached port this morning in ballast to Jas. Baird, Ltd. The vessel was first detained by strong head winds on reaching this coast, then heavy ice was encountered and she was forced to put into Burin, where she was held for ten days. When the ice loosened a bit and drove off from the shore the vessel came along. Shortly before last midnight she had a narrow escape from going ashore at Cape Spear owing to the wind changing and the ice coming in again. The vessel was forced to within a few yards of the shore. It was only through the careful and skilful management of Capt. Keeling that the mishap was avoided.

DUNURE.
Bowring's barg. Dunure, Capt. Connelly, also entered port to-day. She was 60 days out from Bahia and ice principally was the cause of the delay. The Dunure was on this coast for several weeks, making little or no progress. Four weeks ago she got jammed in the ice off Placentia Bay, and when she got clear put into Placentia, where she remained several days. On resuming, Capt. Connelly kept dodging the ice and nursed his vessel along until he reached Cape Broyle, where he harbored and awaited a change of wind to drive the ice off. The Dunure came in ballast.

The Exclusion of Local Contractors.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found some comments of "Theobald" on the exclusion of local contractors from tendering for the erection of the new building of the Bank of Nova Scotia. It seems local contractors were asked to figure on the pulling down of the old premises, but they were not invited to tender for the erection of the new building, and the contract for both has been given to a Toronto firm. "Theobald" thinks this is unfair treatment of our local builders and so do we. In talking over the matter with a local builder, he told us that he was given to understand that local and outside contractors would be invited to tender, and that acting on that information, he asked the head-office for a copy of the specifications, but he was unable to get a copy, and the next thing he knew was that the contract had been assigned to a Toronto firm, without giving him and other local contractors a chance to make an offer. The local manager of the Bank must be aware of the capacity of our builders to undertake such work, and under the circumstances we can only conclude the headquarters of the Bank overruled any advice from local sources. Our contractors do not ask for any favors or concessions, but they do resent any advice from the favor of outsiders. They do not contend that outside contractors should be excluded, but they do ask that they shall have a chance of competing with outside firms. They do ask that they should get local contracts when they show a capacity to build according to the specifications laid down, and offer to do the work as cheaply as outside men. The dividends earned in the capital put into the building, as well as that put into the local banking will be earned out of local business, and the exclusion of local contractors is a poor return offered by the headquarters of the Bank of Nova Scotia. In view of this treatment of local contractors, the Government and the Legislature should take some steps to protect our local men. At present we understand that an outside firm can bring in his building plant, such as concrete mixers, derricks, hoists, etc., and all he is called upon to do is to put up 35 or 40 p.c. on the value of the HIRE. In other words the value of the plant is estimated, and then an estimate is made on what it would cost to hire plant of that value, and the outsider pays 25 or 40 p.c. of the estimated cost of hiring. In cases where our contractors are absolutely excluded from tendering or unfairly treated, the Government should be empowered to levy the duty on the value of the plant brought in, just as they would levy it on the value of a plant imported by a local builder. This matter should be taken up by the Finance Minister at the next session of the Legislature.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, McNamara, Bradshaw, Jackson, Mulvey, Anderson, Morris and Withers were present at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission. The Colonial Secretary wrote saying that the Government would guarantee a loan of $70,000 at 6 per cent. to be used for water extension only. As soon as the Governor has signed the Minutes in Council, approving the same, notification will be given the Bank. H. W. Stirling complained of charge being made for replacing water pipe for the breaking of which he was not responsible. The engineer will report. S. G. Collier applied for water service, and complained of sewerage conditions near his store on George Street, which matters were referred to the Engineer. Mr. Collier also reported the unsanitary conditions existing at the West End of Brazil's Field, which is used as a dumping ground. The Sanitary Inspector will be asked to report, and a letter will be written thanking Mr. Collier for his timely suggestions.

This Date in History.

MARCH 27.
Full Moon—31st.
Days Past—35. To Come—279.
SIR GILBERT SCOTTY died 1878, aged 67. English architect and a foremost representative of the Gothic School. He designed our noble C. of E. Cathedral, one of the finest ecclesiastical buildings on this side.
JOHN BRIGHT died 1889, aged 73. English orator and statesman, who devoted himself heart and soul to the movement which led to the repeal of the Corn laws.
JAMES I. died 1625. He was the son of Mary, Queen of Scots and Lord Darnley. He ascended the throne after Elizabeth and was the first sovereign of the Stuart line. During his reign a new translation of the Bible was issued. James was possessed of some amount of learning, and used it in so vain a manner as to earn the title of "the wisest fool in Christendom."
Rising merit will buoy up at last. —Pope.

MARCH 28.
Palm Sunday.
Days Past—36. To Come—278.
SIR RALPH ABERCROMBIE died 1891, aged 67. "This was the result of a wound received at the Battle of Aboukir. His memory will be recorded in the annals of war, will be sacred to every British soldier, and embalmed in the recollection of a grateful posterity."
Alexander Mercer and others employed at the stone crusher in the West End asked for an increase in wages. The matter was referred to the Board Committee.
George Lambert applied for position as Park Constable; application will be filed.
The Sutherland Construction Co., Ltd., submitted plans of the proposed new Bank of Nova Scotia, which were passed, subject to the approval of the Engineer.
Permission was given W. Harris to make repairs to the City Club Building.
It was ordered that new water pipes be laid on Carter's Hill and Wickford Street, and that a branch from Carter's Hill be extended to James' Street. Where conditions permit the work will be undertaken immediately.
Three houses on Lime Street were reported unfit for habitation. Mr. Jackson suggested that the owners be notified that it was decided that the Solicitor be consulted as to the legality of having the Engineer take steps for the removal of the buildings. The removal of a house on Duckworth Street, and a dilapidated building near the public wharf on the South Side will also be considered.
The Health Officer reported on the unsanitary condition of a house in William's Lane. This is a "house divided" where the joint owners are at variance. This matter was referred to the Solicitor as to the proper action to be taken.
The motion of Mr. I. C. Morris, that the Commission report progress, and ask the Government leave to continue in office, was read. After a deathlike stillness of about three minutes, during which the ticking of the clock seemed to divide the time into two broken by the Chairman's calm announcement, "Next business, please." The signs of relief were most audible.

Wrongful Dealing Costs Woman $10.75.

The attention of the Magistrate Court was occupied the greater part of the forenoon in the hearing of a case between Constable Tobin and a woman, who conducts a second hand clothing store in the city. The latter was charged with having in her possession stolen goods, which she received from two boys, who were arrested before Court recently. From the evidence disclosed it appears that the two youths broke into the residence of a prominent public man and stole a pair of rubbers, valued at $1.75, and sold them to the woman for 25 cents. The store of the defendant was searched and the rubbers, corresponding with the description the police had, were found. As a result of the unlawful transaction the woman was fined $10 and costs, or $10.75 altogether. The rubbers were returned to their former owners.

LORD KITCHENER as BOOTH-BLACK.

A story about Lord Kitchener and Lord Roberts, illustrating the admiration with which the younger General regarded the elder, was told by a distinguished officer who fell in the Boer War. Before Kitchener had won his fame, he said to this officer, who was starting with some messages for Roberts during one of the Indian campaigns, "Tell Roberts I want a billet under him, and if there is nothing else open, I'll black his boots." Long afterwards, when the victor of Khartoum was the idol of the British people the officer met him again, and reminded him of his message. "I remember it," said Lord Kitchener, "and it still stands. You can take it to him again."

LONDON, March 26.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
OFFICIAL.
The Admiralty has good reason to believe that the German submarine U-29 has been sunk with all hands.
The Dutch steamer Medea has been sunk by gun fire by a German submarine off Beachy Head.
The French Government reports German attacks repulsed at various points.
The Russian Government reports decisive success near Lupkow Pass in the Carpathians, where an important Austrian position on the crest of Beskid mountains was captured, and nearly 8,000 prisoners and several machine guns taken.

HARCOURT.
ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.
PARIS, March 26.
In Champagne there were yesterday artillery contents quite violent in the neighborhood of Hill 196, we repulsed three German attacks. In Argonne a German attack near Fontaine Madame failed. On the remainder of the front, nothing to report.
The day passed calmly with only a German attack at Notre Dame de Lorette, which was repulsed. According to a cable from Tenedos, the Dardanelles Forts replied but weakly to the bombardment by the allied ships, which have restarted a violent cannonading near the gut. Some of the Forts which replied to the allied shells when the squadron began action, ceased their fire after a few shots. Bombardment by Anglo-French squadron continues. Two destroyers passed near the Turkish forts at the entrance of the gut and went a little further than Killd Bahr. These destroyers were conveyors to an Anglo-French squadron which entered the Channel and bombarded the forts at long range. At their return the Turkish batteries opened fire on them, but none of them were hit. Their observations confirmed those given by aviators reporting that the forts suffered heavily from last week's bombardment. Turks requested the U. S. envoy to negotiate for peace. The allied fleets have silenced the Dardanelles forts on the Asiatic side. M. Desclaux, former secretary to M. Caillaux, who was accused of embezzlement of warstuffs, has been condemned to seven years' imprisonment.

WILL SUE FOR PEACE.
Athens, March 26.
Athens newspapers publish to-day what they declare are reliable private advices from Constantinople, stating that the Turkish Government has broken with its German advisers and is going to sue for peace.

OPERATIONS IN DARDANELLES.
LONDON, March 26.
The British battleships Queen Elizabeth and Agamemnon and the cruiser Cornwall, entered the Dardanelles Straits on Wednesday night to protect mine sweepers, according to a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from the Island of Tenedos, dated Thursday. The Turkish artillery at Erenkui fired five shells, and the forts at Killd Bahr also fired on the British vessels, which replied with twenty rounds. To this the Turks made no reply. From midnight until morning the sweepers continued their work without disturbance, the correspondent says, with very satisfactory results.

ANOTHER STEAMER SUNK.
LONDON, March 26.
The steamer Delmira has been sunk by a German submarine off Boulogne, in the English Channel. The members of the crew were given ten minutes to leave the vessel. Subsequently they landed on the Isle of Wight. The Delmira, a British steamer of 2,011 tons net, was engaged in trans-Atlantic trade, and arrived at Havre from St. John, N.B., on March 14th.

GERMANY'S SUBMARINES.
LONDON, March 26.
Admiralty officials assert that Germany's fleet of submarines about the British Isles is being shattered. It is predicted that the campaign against English merchant shipping would soon be ended, by the recall of the underwater craft from the task assigned to them.

AMERICAN SUBMARINE DISAPPEARS.
HONOLULU, March 26.
The U. S. submarine F-4, which submerged during target practice early yesterday, has not been heard from since. Tugs dragging are believed to have located her at a depth of 35 fathoms. It is believed all the crew are dead.

Things That Depress One.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I like to live on the north side of the city because the station into which the trains from that direction came was a distressingly ugly and gloomy structure. He said it would start the day wrong for him to come into that station every morning. Moreover he wasn't a poet or an artist, but a business man and a highly successful one, too.

I can sympathize with him, for I once lived in a very pleasant place which could only be reached by passing through a thoroughly ugly part of the town. When I didn't happen to be feeling particularly cheerful, these rows of desolate looking houses in their setting of intended yards depressed me to the verge of melancholia.

Their Misfortune and Other People's Fault.
But, you remind me, it is the misfortune and not the fault of such people and such houses that they are depressing, and it must be infinitely more depressing to have to wear unattractive clothes and live in a desolate house.

True, my friend, most sadly true. But that does not make them any less depressing to look at. You think I'm hard hearted? I hope not. I'm just thinking of what Bernard Shaw said about the socialists being the man whose artistic senses weren't satisfied to have his own home beautiful. He didn't want ugliness anywhere, he wanted the other fellow's home beautiful, too. Sometimes I suspect that I'm a socialist.

In Milady's Boudoir.

By GWEN SEARS.

GWEN SEARS

It matters not how many charms or how few you possess, every woman should cultivate her individual type; giving each detail its due consideration, with special attention awarded to those features of superior value.

How often do we observe that frankly homely men and women present a most attractive, even magnetic, personality. If you study these people, it soon becomes evident that not a little of their charm lies in their well-groomed appearance. Their hair may be coarse and straight, but it is healthy in appearance and becomingly arranged, their hands large, but nicely manicured; their complexion clear and unblemished; and while their eyes may be small, they are clear and expressive and the brows thin delicate arches.

Just to give a certain amount of time to details of the toilet each day not only encourages real beauty, but preserves it as well. A little painstaking experimenting will convince the most skeptical woman of this statement, for no woman ever lived who is genuinely indifferent to her personal appearance and to the compliments or criticisms it provokes, regardless of all protests to the contrary.

It is not enough that the tangles be taken out of the hair in the morning and at night. The hair should be thoroughly brushed in order to remove the accumulated dust from the hair shafts and scalp. It should be ventilated for five or ten minutes every day and during this interval may be massaged with the finger tips to keep the functions of the skin in good condition.

WHY JAMES A. BRYCE RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

He Had a Pain in His Back For a Year Till He Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Pasie, Ont., March 26th. (Special).—"It gives me great pleasure to say a few words of praise for Dodd's Kidney Pills," so says Mr. Jas. A. Bryce, well known and highly respected in this neighbourhood.

"I had been troubled with a pain in my back for about a year," Mr. Bryce continues. "And when I was reading in Dodd's Almanac I learned from the Self-Examination Page that the Kidneys were the cause of my trouble."

"I sent at once for a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and before they were done I was feeling as well as ever. 'Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly were a great boon to me and I can recommend them highly to anyone suffering from Kidney Disease.'

If your disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They have been curing sick Kidneys in Canada for more than a score of years. That's why they're so popular.

Cleanses Your Hair; Makes It Beautiful

It becomes thick, wavy, lustrous and all dandruff disappears—Hair stops coming out.

Surely try a "Dandérine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Dandérine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Dandérine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Dandérine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandérine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

SERGEANT O'LEARY, V.C.

The parents of Sergeant O'Leary, who received the Victoria Cross for conspicuous bravery at Chulchey, have received the following letter from Captain Lord de Vesel, Adjutant of the Irish Guards:

The Lieut.-Colonel commanding the Irish Guards directs me to write and enclose you an extract from a letter from the front, which alludes to the gallant conduct of your son on February 1st, 1915, which he feels sure you would like to have in your possession. He directs me to congratulate you on your son's gallant behaviour and on his reward of the Victoria Cross.

I may add that Sergeant O'Leary is the first Irish Guardsman to earn this reward, and we all feel very proud of him, and I should like to offer you my own personal congratulations on your son's gallant conduct and best wishes for his future.

The extract which is as follows, is from a letter from the O.C. 1st Battalion Irish Guards:

At 10.5 a.m. the fiercest bombardment I have ever seen began and lasted for 10 minutes. Then the attack began, but stuck after it had passed a barricade held by Lieut. Innes and 14 men. The reason for this, I think, was that some of our shrapnel was falling rather short—the barricade to be captured being only about 40 yards ahead. Innes and his 14 men were ordered to charge, which they did most gallantly, and took the attack with them.

One man, Corporal O'Leary, Irish Guards, rushed forward up the railway embankment, and calmly shot down Germans behind the first barricade, five in all, and then rushed on to another barricade and shot three more and took two prisoners, all by himself.

I promoted Lance-Corporal O'Leary full sergeant, for gallantry in the field.—The Times.

THE SWEET SINGER.

WALT MASON

A flood of music rushes from robins and from thrushes, from nightingale and wren, high vocal triumphs tackling—but I prefer the cackling of my old Lehigh hen. All trills and warbles soaring she cackles in the morning, and does it all by ear; and evermore her singing to me fresh joy is bringing—I know an egg is near. The nightingale and robin have voices sweet and throbbin', but that is all you get; while my old hen, who carol emerges from a barrel, provides an omelet. My phonograph, on winding, good music will keep grinding, as sweet as that of wrens; it reproduces voices in which the world rejoices—but won't lay eggs like hens. My Lehigh hen is raising a song of humble phrasing, that Melba'd never dare; and shortly I will wander out to the stable yard, and find some henfruit there. The skylark is a dinger, the robin, as a singer, high recognition begs; but my old Lehigh's trilling, my breast with rapture's filling, because it means more eggs.

Absentee Landlords.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I notice that in the list of proposals by the Municipal Commissioners no word about Absentee Landlords.

There is scarcely a foot of property on the South Side of Water Street in this city owned by the occupier. All the property of Absentee Landlords who are sucking the life's blood of the city. Hundreds of thousands of dollars every year going to England to landlords who should have no right or title to land in this country. Lessees should be given a right of purchase.

We cannot realize what a terrible drawback it is to the advancement of our Municipality and the community at large. It is throwing away wealth that should be in circulation.

New Zealand and Australia rid themselves of the Absentee Landlord years ago, but we are satisfied to send away wealth enough every year to put sewerage throughout the whole city.

Hoping the matter will have the attention of those in authority.
I remain,
Yours truly,

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, March 2, 1915.
KING GEORGE AND ARMY DECORATIONS.

Those soldiers whom the king has recently honored with various decorations would in normal times attend to receive these personally from him. As the great majority of them are, however, upon active service, this is impossible, though it is understood that as they come home on leave, they will be invited to present themselves at Buckingham Palace in order that His Majesty may congratulate them upon the deeds that earned his official recognition. Particularly will this be the case with the new wearers of the Victoria Cross. The Prince of Wales is acting for the King as far as possible in handing at the front the various decorations to those officers with whom His Royal Highness is able to get into touch. It is usual, too, for an officer to attend a levee at St. James' Palace upon receiving military promotion; but this is a formality that has likewise to be dispensed with. Indeed, it is not yet known whether any of these functions will take place this year, since His Majesty has so far not arrived at any decision in the matter.

ANOTHER ROYAL DEBUTANTE.

Another thing which would have been happening if times had been more normal would have been the entry into London society of Princess Victoria of Teck, niece to the Queen and eldest daughter of the Duke of Teck. It had been expected that Princess Victoria would have "put up her hair" and have been presented in the Royal circles at Court with her cousin Princess Mary, and there had war could have brought about. On the other hand, the liberality with which commissions are being given from the ranks for service in the field is producing a type of officer with very little affinity with those from whom the "officer class" used to be drawn almost exclusively. I know of a case of a road-sweeper in the employ of the Urban Council here who has two sons in France, one of whom has just received a commission and the other is a N.C.O., who is tolerably certain to get one if his luck in missing the enemy bullets holds out. There must be many such cases up and down the country, and there will be many more before the war is over. In the Navy the chances for promotion, for the seamen, at any rate, beyond warrant officer are much less. But even in this aristocratic service the principle of the open door to the higher rank is now conceded. It will be interesting to see, when things have settled down after peace, whether the former rigidity of the social system will be re-established. It will probably be found that we shall have taken a long step towards emancipating ourselves from class distinctions, and shall have arrived at a social equality not unlike that which prevails in the Dominions, where snobbery is almost unknown.

THE COMING OF THE AEROPLANE SHIP.

In the account of the Dardanelles bombardment we heard for the first time of "His Majesty's aeroplane ship Ark Royal" as "in attendance with a number of seaplanes and aeroplanes of the Naval Wing." This is the first public mention since the war began of a new type of vessel. She has been known in the service as the "mystery ship" and was constructed with something more than the usual care that the details of her design should not be generally known. The secret was so well kept that even the men who took part in her construction probably only those who had to do with her final equipment fully realized the kind of vessel they had in hand. There is now no longer any concealment of the fact that she was built not only to carry aeroplanes and seaplanes, but also to launch them and to receive them at sea—that she is, in effect, a mobile base for aircraft, with all that is required for the equipment and maintenance of an air flotilla. As the first of her type she was necessarily more or less in the nature of an experiment, and in the circumstances was to be accounted a success. It was speedily found, however, that in certain qualities indispensable to modern warfare she was capable of improvement, and other ships of her class will prove superior to her as the super-Dreadnought was to its original type. One or two of these deficiencies have no doubt now been made good in the Ark Royal herself, but their existence for a time presumably accounted for the fact that her name did not appear in the list of ships which took part in the Cuxhaven air-raid. This, it will be remembered, was carried out by light fast cruisers, with the assistance of submarines to await the more belated of the aircraft employed. She was apparently in readiness for use in connection with the Dogger Bank sea light, but her services were not required. Her despatch to join the fleet at the entrance of the Dardanelles was an excellent tactical decision on the part of the Admiralty. In the North Sea she was no longer indispensable, and she supplied an obvious need in the Mediterranean in circumstances in which her best qualities should have full scope.

WAR AND CLASS DISTINCTIONS.

Another thing which the war is doing is the setting up of a new standard of social values leading to a distinct weakening of old-time stereotyped and cramping class distinctions. We are now getting, for the first time in our history, a citizen army, with many men of birth and breeding, and some of wealth, serving in the ranks, quite content to be serving there, and indifferent whether or no the chances of war bring a commission. This has meant a fusion of classes in the Army which is quite new in our national life, and of a kind which nothing but ulation to a show even of gratitude for their well-meant efforts. The whole plan is so characteristically German in conception, however, that it is easy to believe how seriously the Germans are pursuing it, despite their failures in Ireland, India and South Africa.

THE PAPACY AND THE CENTRAL POWERS.

Relations between the Vatican and the Austro-Hungarian Embassy have become so strained that a rupture would occasion no surprise. As the result of the attitude of Germany towards the priesthood in Belgium and France the relations between the German Embassy (including the special envoy, Prince Bulow) and the Vatican have for some time been of a most distant kind, and it is generally considered that German influence is at the bottom of the growing trouble between the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and the Papal Conclave. Recent events in Belgium, and particularly the persistent interference with prelates in the execution of their accustomed duties, have deepened an unfavourable impression created upon Pope Benedict XV. by the manner in which the German authorities dealt with Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines.

ART AND THE ZEPPELIN.

From nearly all the London art galleries and museums some of the most precious things have been removed into strong-rooms and cellars. It is thought just as well not to take any risks, for a chance bomb falling through the glass roof of a gallery might cause a disastrous fire. A tour of London's museums and picture galleries nowadays puts one's knowledge of the masterpieces severely to the test. You see the marks of frames on the walls where the masterpieces used to be, but it is not so easy to remember what has gone. Still, at the National Gallery the most casual of gallery strollers feels dimly the absence of the eloquent back of the Rokeby Venus, the subtle eyes and hands of the Duchess of Milan. In every room there is a zinc bin of sand as an extra precaution against fire. The attendants are tired of explaining to visitors that the big glass cases round some of the walls have nothing to do with the war; they are relics of the dimly distant days of "Militancy." "And the suffragettes did more damage to the pictures than ever the Zeppelins will, in my opinion," says a door-keeper. You enter the galleries under a queer temporary ceiling over the stairs, which shuts out the light of day and gives an eerie feeling, increased by the few oil lamps lighting your way into the denuded galleries. At the British Museum the long Greek Gallery is closed and workmen are busy taking down the Parthenon frieze. The youth of Athens will ride on unseen in the darkness of a basement until the year is over. This is a sad case of deprivation, but from almost every gallery some object or group have been taken to safer quarters and before long probably the great bulls from Nineveh, which inspired Rossetti's great poem, will be hidden away. The precious things from an Elizabethan jeweller's shop, and the Chelsea and Bow china collection, are among the things put out of harm's way at the London Museum. At the National History Museum some of the rarest stuffed birds have gone to roost in the cellars, including the great auk and her colossal eggs. War-time has thinned the population of the galleries, for the soldier has taken the place of the tourist in our midst, and the British soldier as a rule does not spend his precious hours of leave in front of masterpieces of art. In Germany, as we know, from neutral observers, the picture galleries are filled with soldiers, wounded or on leave.

GERMAN MIXED POLICES IN BELGIUM.

Such indications of Germany's "domestic" policy in Belgium as have come out do not give the impression that the invaders' objects are likely to be attained. But I hear that the plan of conciliating one section of the community and ignoring the interests of the other (this latter phase being coupled with apparently organized methods of starvation) is being pursued with all the sedulous method of German politicians. So direct is the bid for the acquiescence of the Flemings in German rule that some Belgian observers now in this country are, I understand, inclined to doubt whether the less well-informed Belgian may entirely resist the influence. The German idea is, as precedents might have led us to expect, fairly crude and obvious. It is to take advantage of the long-standing and occasionally acute controversy between the two main racial divisions of the Belgian people. The pure Flemings have had aspirations towards a more characteristic infusion of the Flemish element in the representative life of the nation. The German proposal to set up two Flemish universities addressed itself to a particular grievance of which much was made in the old country. That is only one of the many measures taken by the Germans in their words of Flemish opinion. But there would have been more real cause for anxiety if the invaders had discriminated between different varieties of Belgians when they first overran the country, and so far they have not succeeded in bribing a desperate pop-

A Remarkable Tribute to Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

In February last, Mrs. J. P. J. Wedge of East Street, Summerside, P.E.I., wrote to a friend in Toronto and among other things said, "Gin Pills are the greatest of all Kidney remedies and a medicine which is at present doing me a world of good. They are worth their weight in gold to any sufferer." We asked permission, through a mutual friend, to publish the above extract and received the following testimonial to the great efficacy of Gin Pills.

Summerside, April 24th, 1914.
"Your letter of the 21st, to hand this evening, asking my permission to hand my letter to the National Drug & Chemical Co. You have my full permission to do so, and to them I give the liberty to publish and use my name if they wish, because Gin Pills have done for my husband and myself what no other remedy could do."

I have advised two other parties to use them; one being my Mother, who has been a great sufferer for upwards of 20 years and one box of Gin Pills cured her so as to enable her to sleep on her left side, something she could not do for many years. The doctors told her they could not cure her but could relieve her by an operation for a Flaming Kidney, but on account of her age they did not think it was advisable for her to undergo. Upon my advice, she tried Gin Pills which cured her and for which she is ever ready to speak in terms of praise."

Remember, you can TRY Gin Pills BEFORE you buy them. If the urine shows brick dust deposits or mucus—or is hot and scalding—if you have to urinate too frequently—if there is a burning in the bladder or pain in back—get Gin Pills at once and cure yourself. Gin Pills are sold by all dealers at 9c. a box, 6 for $2.50 and every box carries with it our spot cash guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Sold in U.S. under the name "GINO" Pills.
