Select Literature, The Mysterious Widow.

During the summer of 1814 the British had not only laid claim to all that portion of the District of Maine lying east of the Penobscot.

It was a schooner that the Commodore commanded, but she was a heavy one, well armed and manned.

When the Commodore received the intelligence, his vessel was lying at one of the low wharves where he would have to wait two hours for the tide to set him off.

The schooner's keel had just cleared from the mud, and one of the men had been sent upon the wharf to cast off the bow line.

Commodore Tucker strode into the cabin walked up to the bank where his passenger lay, and grasping hold of the female dress, he dragged it wear-out upon the floor.

The fellow was assured that his whole plot had been discovered, and at length he owned that it had been his plan to turn out in course of the night, and get hold of the ball of twine, which he had left in a convenient place.

And I think you know, he continued with a wicked look, 'what would have followed, I shouldn't have been noticed in the face—I'd have got out of the way with the boat, and you'd all have been in the next world in short order.

It was with much difficulty that the Commodore prevented his men from killing the villain on the spot. He proved to be one of the enemy's officers, and he was to have a heavy reward if he succeeded in destroying the Commodore and his crew.

The prisoner was carried on deck and lashed to the main rigging, where he was told to remain until the vessel got in port.

'What a horrid death that villain meant for us,' uttered Carter.

'Yes, he did,' said Tucker, with a shudder.

He belongs to the same gang that's been robbing and burning the poor folks houses on the Eastern coast,' said one of the men.

'Well, well—I can't blame them. If the murderous villain's gone to death, he only met a fate which he richly deserved.

'Better far for him, than that my noble crew were now all in ocean's cold grave.'

BRIDGE TOWN, NOVEMBER 29, 1876.

THE INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.

The chief consideration which induced the delegates from the maritime provinces at the Quebec Conference in 1864, to give their assent to Confederation, was the construction of the Intercolonial Railway. It was alleged that an overland thoroughfare through British territory from the ocean to the Upper Provinces, was not only desirable as a great highway for travel and traffic, but was also essential to the consolidation of all the Provinces in British America, and to the maintenance and perpetuity of our Queen's sovereignty on this continent.

This great work was a gigantic undertaking, and the enormous outlay of capital in its building largely overruled the estimates of the engineers who were employed to survey the country through which it was to run, and to locate the line most advantageously. It was said and believed that its completion would insure immense prosperity to the Dominion, and especially to the sea-side Provinces. For some time this thoroughfare has been opened, but as yet the predicted tide of consequent prosperity has not swelled into very encouraging rapidity and volume. Instead of landing the Trans Atlantic mails to the Dominion at Halifax, they have been carried by land and put ashore at a Port in the United States. This round about a ragment for the transmission and landing of our European mails, seems to us very like sending mails from Canada to England, to be landed at Copenhagen, and forwarded thence to their destination.

There has been no small amount of agitation and discussion in the Press and otherwise in reference to the absurd system of forwarding the European mail-bags for the Dominion through a foreign route when there is a shorter and more direct thoroughfare open through British territory. The ventilation of this matter through the newspapers has been potent in exercising an effective influence upon the Dominion Government. We need not remind our posted-up readers that the authorities at Ottawa, under contract some years ago, employed Sir Hugh Allan, in consideration of a liberal subsidy, to bring and carry the Canadian mails across the Atlantic, and well has he performed the public service with his noble line of ocean steamers. In that contract, however, there is a provisory clause, which authorizes the Government, on the advice of his council, to order the landing of the mails at a British Port, instead of at Portland in the State of Maine. Recent despatches from Ottawa announce the fact that the Government is about to instruct Sir Hugh and his co-partners in business, to land the mails at Halifax, to be forwarded thence through British Territory to all other parts of the Dominion.

But the Intercolonial Railway can be utilized for far more important purposes than that of affording a ready and safe route for the conveyance of the mails.—The promotion of mercantile interests are of vastly more moment than are the mail and postal arrangements that are about being made. The opening of a mutually profitable interchange of home-produced commodities between the several confederated Provinces, is engaging the grave and aroused attention of commercial men, and action is being taken by the traders to open the channels of traffic between the principal business centres in various parts of the Dominion. Halifax is one of the best Water ports on the North American Coast; and both European mails and merchandise will be landed there, and thence into New Brunswick, by the Intercolonial Railway, which is thus made an iron band or ligature, to bind together the interests of British America.

GROWING COLD. The last Summer was unusually hot and dry; but it gradually merged into the finest Autumn that we have ever known; and now we are on the threshold of a long, cold, stormy and dreary Winter. The songs of birds that enlivened the gardens and groves only a few weeks ago, are no longer heard. The music of Summer's feathered minstrels is now hushed—the flowers of the fields are faded—the forests are left of their verdure—and the process of vegetation has ceased.—An aspect of desolation rests on every landscape which only a short time ago was clothed with brightness and beauty. There is something chilly in the mere thought of Winter. The condition of the people in this country during the stern season of frost is far better than that of the Laplanders and the Esquimaux. We have warm habitations, abundance of fuel, comfortable clothing, and a sufficiency of food. Some of us have read with shuddering interest accounts of explorers who were vainly endeavoring to reach the North Pole. For three-fourths of year, looked for in the ice, they never home and never hearing the sound of a living thing, without the howling of the polar bear, or the growling of the polar bear, these hardy voyagers suffered intensely. During tedious months after being buried and left to rot in the ice, they did not rise above the horizon.

In Nova Scotia, however, we have much to ameliorate the rigors of Winter. In our dwellings, despite of the icy storms without, we can create an artificial Summer within. The warmth and glow of our firesides and the blossoming house-plants beguile us into a half-belief that January is almost as delightful as July. Domestic and social enjoyments are more thoroughly appreciated and highly prized in the season of frost than in the time of flowers. Books are more relished and read when the cold keeps us within doors. When all is warm, pleasant and delightful without, we are more intent upon studying the book of Nature than in pursuing printed folios; and Winter is the period when literature is most heartily enjoyed.

Moreover, the sternness and severity of our Winters are sometimes softened by "spells" of fine warm weather. And then, too, sleigh-riding, and other outdoor sports make us forget the prevailing dreariness. Every season of the year brings with it its pleasures and its drawbacks; and it is cheerful, as well as philosophical, to make the best of every climatic phase as it comes.

We have been requested to publish the following letter of condolence from the members of "Loyal," Orange Lodge, of Westville, Pictou Co., to the widow of the late Rev. Albert DesBrisay, as a token of their regard for him as a brother.—

Mrs. DesBrisay.—Dear Madam,—I am requested by the members of "Loyal," Orange Lodge, of Westville, to tender to you their sincere condolence and sympathy in the distressing bereavement you have sustained in the loss of your late husband; and to assure you of the high esteem in which he was held by its members and the Community generally, to whom he was known as an able Preacher and an eloquent Lecturer.

From respect to his memory, they deviated from their usual course of holding a public celebration on their anniversary; and held a social meeting instead. At the close of the entertainment they made up, and have handed to me the endorsed sum of money $100 which you will please accept as a small token of their esteem and friendship. I may say that the sum would have been much larger, but for the most total failure of one of the mines, and emigration of the membership, owing to this and the deep season of the Coal trade generally.

In Southern Utah, from a silver mine of considerable depth, petrified wood is taken worth nearly $1000 a ton. The formation is sandstone, out of which horn-silver is taken. This shows that the deposit of the silver was made subsequent to the strata of the wood by the sand that afterwards became the sandstone.

NEW HISTORY OF THE DOMINION.

We have just received the first part of the new History of the Dominion of Nova Scotia, by Professor Charles R. Tuttle of Nova Scotia. The work when complete will consist of two large quarto volumes of over 800 pages each, and embracing together about 2000 pages of text, wood and stone engravings. It is far the most magnificent work ever produced in the Dominion. The author has already established a high reputation as a historical writer. His many works already published in the United States are classed among the standard literary productions of that country. With his exacting qualifications for the task, and his local determination of producing a work that shall give the citizens of the Dominion the much needed intelligence regarding the general progress of the nation, as also to present to the United States and the mother country such a record of Canadian advancement in all its industries, arts and science of civilization, we have a right to expect at his hand a work of great public value. The work is extensively illustrated with steel, stone and wood engravings which embrace Dominion cities and scenery and the portraits of the distinguished men of the past and present. It is prominently a work of high art and monument of honor to the author and his country. The publishers have gone to great expense, and their efforts will no doubt meet with cordial encouragement. The work is a necessity to every family and at the rate of 50 cents a month, at which price it is delivered by agents, no one can afford to be without it.

The work is published in 40 equal parts, at fifty cents a part, so that, although expensive it is brought within the reach of all who can read.

Each part will contain two full-page steel engravings of natural scenery and cities, of the highest quality, thus constituting it a most valuable work. Each part will contain not less than two other full-page engravings on wood and stone; and 48 pages including letter press and engravings. The work will be delivered in parts, neatly bound, with a handsome cover, one each month, by our regularly appointed agents; therefore each subscriber will have a grand and a month's worth to receive and pay for it; but he may receive it in a shorter time if desired. The author informs us, that the work will never be on sale at the rate of 50 cents a part, but that he will receive for the whole the sum of $1000, and that he will receive for the whole the sum of $1000, and that he will receive for the whole the sum of $1000.

FRUIT AT PHILADELPHIA EXHIBITION.

The New York Tribune has the following interesting article on the exhibition of fruit at Philadelphia. It may be truly said of the show on the Centennial Ground, that with last days were their best days. At no time was there more or finer fruit on the table than at the close, excepting of course during the week of the Pomological Exhibition in the annex devoted to its use. For the interest felt in this department Canada deserves most praise; not only was she among the first to send on her fruit, but she persistently followed it by consignments after another, and always with the quality of the highest order of merit. Hereafter it will hardly do to speak slightly of Canada's Arctic climate as opposed to horticultural pursuits, her gardeners having given us too many practical proofs of her ability to produce as good fruits as any other portion of North America; that is, of the hatter and more valuable varieties, such as the apple, pear, grape, and plum. The many kinds of crab apples in this collection, kinds that we deem of little value, showed how highly they were prized in their northern home. The desire of a gardener in a cold climate than our own is to produce a class of apples with the hardness and vigor of these crabs, combined with excellent quality and flavor. The far distant when their wish will be gratified, Nova Scotia also made an attractive display of apples of fine size and toothsome appearance. Indeed, one wonderful specimen was a large handsome specimen from Nova Scotia's Bellefleur, Northern Spy, Tompkins County King, Alexander, and Cayuga Red Struck. The Bellefleur was a beautiful specimen, being golden yellow with bright red stripes and a showy, bluish cheek. Michigan, as formerly, was strong in winter sorts of apples, native grapes, excellent state of preservation, and a few miscellaneous fruits. She, too, nobly sustained her portion of the great show—we wish we could say the same of our own state, possibly however our fruit-growers are not visiting the Exhibition that they had little time for assisting it with their products.

The "Scientific Press" reports that in March last, Dr. H. G. Huggins, assisted by two gentlemen, resolved to make a number of experiments with regard to spontaneous combustion. Their first took a piece of cotton cloth, which once formed part of a garment, and which had been covered with paint and oil, and saturated it with boiled linseed oil. An old chest was placed in the loft of a store-room, back of a store under it, and then the chest filled with paper and rags, and this particular piece of cloth placed in the centre. Although the room was not a light one, and the weather cold, in eight days there was such a small fire about the trunk, and the chances were so good for a conflagration within, that the contents were emptied. An examination showed the fibres of the cloth to be charred and shrivelled up, and that the rag looked as if it had been laid to rest on a hot blaze. In April, when the rays of the sun were stronger, a pair of painter's overalls, literally covered with paint and oil, were rolled up, a handful of pine shavings placed inside, and these were placed next to the roof boards of the loft. The experiment was not a week old when, during one warm afternoon, a smell of smoke alarmed a workman in the next room. He found the overalls burning. During the hot weather of August, a handful of old cotton rags, in which were two matches, but which were not smeared with oil or other matter, were shut up in a tin box, and hung up in the loft, a window allowing the afternoon sun to shine directly on it for several hours. On the 4th day the box was taken down to see how the experiment was progressing, and the contents were found to consist of nothing but a puff of black smoke, the old chest being again filled, this time with the contents of a rag bag, some portions of them being smeared with benzine. The trunk was placed in an old house. One day the family came home to find a few shavings marking the place where the trunk stood, while the bricks above and around were badly stained with smoke.—Insurance Standard.

The editor of the St. Louis Globe incidentally mentions the editor of the Times of that city as a few times, complimentary and characteristic dead-beat, Bar and lawyer.

NOTICE.

Our Mr. Sancton will call upon the subscribers of this paper during the month of December, and we most earnestly ask that each one called upon will do what they can for us. We are owing for the material &c. which we have been using during the summer and the parties want and must have their pay. A great many of our subscribers are far in arrears, and we hope that if they are not at home themselves when we call, that they will leave some part, if not all of what they owe us, with their wives for us to obtain when called for. All who can do so, will greatly oblige by calling at our office, and pay without giving us the trouble and expense of calling upon them.

ROBBER.—An Indian named Peter Bares, who had the misfortune to be burned out at Shubenacadie some weeks ago, alleges that he was robbed, while in this city last week, of some money which he had collected from the charitable disposed.—Halifax Herald.

LARGE TURNIP.—We were shown on Saturday last, by R. Randolph Esq., a turnip of the Green Top, Swedish variety, which was raised on the farm of Thomas H. Chipman, Esq., Round Hill. It was planted on the 20th of June, and when pulled girthed 35 lbs. weight, 19 pounds. Mr. C. planted two acres from which he gathered 1000 bushels.

FIRE.—The dwelling house and two barns owned by James Thompson, Wallace Bay, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday the 21st ult. The fire was caused by a defective flue. It first caught the roof of the dwelling, and the wind blowing on the barns they could not be saved. The furniture was saved from the house, but all in the barns, including the hay of two seasons, was consumed. No insurance.—Amherst Sentinel.

Our readers already know that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has been on a lecturing and preaching visit to the good people of St. John, N. B. We have read with much pleasure in the columns of the "Telegraph" his lecture on "Hard Times." He discussed his subject with much clearness and mastery ability. The views he enunciated, however, have been floating (perhaps crudely) through the minds of thousands during the last two or three years.

The Baltimore Bulletin says that a young man of that city, who was wasting away with consumption, and who has been reduced in weight to 120 pounds, was induced to try the drink of bullock's blood as a remedy, and now shows unmistakable signs of improvement. He has gained 13 pounds in weight, and his distressing symptoms have been greatly alleviated. In New York a large number of consumptives call daily at Manhattan Market for cups of fresh blood.

The Times concludes a leading article on the Eastern question with the following statement:—"We enter the Conference of the powers with something more than hope of peace. For the attainment of peace we shall support any proposals that offer a guarantee of orderly government of the insurgent provinces without reviving a recalculation of the international frontier. If our labors are fruitless we shall not throw ourselves on the side of either contestant, but shall watch what the future may bring forth."

We have heard complaints that the rates on apples over the Windsor and Annapolis Railway were unduly high, and pressed heavily on farmers in these hard times, and with the poor markets ruling this season. We are happy to note that the manager, who is always ready to meet the reasonable demands of the public, has considerably reduced the rates on apples in ear loads, and also on small quantities to St. John, and on potatoes. We should bear one or two burdens in times like these, and this step on the part of the Railway authorities is in the right direction.

A SAD AFFAIR.—A man by the name of Jesse Henshaw, who resides in the Township of Clements, near Bear River, received a sun stroke last Summer, which seriously affected his brain. On the night of the 20th instant, in a paroxysm of frenzy, he undertook to cut his wife's throat with a razor. He wounded her badly—but not fatally—and she succeeded in making her escape to a neighbor's. The alarmed neighbors rushed to the scene and saw the madman attempting to cut his own throat with a common table-knife. The wound he gave himself was fearful, but by the help of surgical skill, he will probably recover.

The Victoria Correspondent sends us the following:—Mr. F. P. Harris has given us a choice selection of readings of a very appropriate description, for which we feel under a great obligation to him. During the interval the Victoria Choir sang some excellent pieces, in a very creditable manner, so that every one present went away delighted, and pronounced the affair a thorough success. Mr. Harris was brought up in this place, and about four years ago, went to the States where he has been studying. He returns thence in a few days to complete his college course. May good luck attend him.

BANK CLERKS.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin says that the bank clerks of Boston are as capable, industrious, and faithful a set of bank officers as can be found in any city in the world. But after all, it states, the place to find an extensive army of well trained bank clerks is in the Bank of England. This institution, with its capital of ninety millions of dollars and dating back to 1694 employs 900 clerks. The building in which these clerks do their work covers five acres of ground. It has not a single window upon the street, the light of day being admitted only through open courts. It has a clock in the center of the bank, with fifty dials. The Bank of England is situated in the center of London; but it has one branch at the west end of the city, and many branches in the provinces. Though the Bank of England employs a very heavy force of clerks, it would seem from a glance at its business, that it ought to keep them well employed, and fairly remunerate them. Its sole work in its issue department is the interest received upon the $70,000,000 government debt and securities, which, at the rate of 4 per cent, is $2,800,000 a year. By its dealing in coin and bullion, it has the reputation of making $150,000 a year. The amount of Bank of England notes issued generally averages about $100,000,000. The deposits in the Bank of England, out of which it does a great deal of money, range from $60,000,000 to nearly twice that amount.

A COUNTERFEIT CONVICT.—The Boston Advertiser of Thursday says:—Millidge W. Johnson, of Yarmouth, N. S., who was convicted, yesterday, in the United States Court, of passing counterfeit money in this city in 1872, is considered a notoriously dangerous swindler and confidence man by the officers of the Government and the United States secret service officers. He has been on his track for several years, and is now in Chicago upon information furnished by Colonel Kent, secret service officer of this district, taken to Pittsburg, tried for passing a $1000 counterfeit United States bond, convicted, but got the verdict set aside. He was afterwards brought here. He will be sentenced to-day.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Supreme Court of South Carolina to-day entered judgement in the case of the Board of Canvassers, and all the Board of Canvassers will jail until released by order of the Court. What the result may be is uncertain.

The latest despatches from Europe simply affirm that the Russian army will rest on the River Pruth until the armistice ends.

New York, Nov. 27.—There is nothing new in regard to the political muddle in South Carolina. It is believed the Board of Canvassers will be released from jail by the Governor.

There is a snow storm in Washington to-day.

WE WANT reliable, energetic canvassing agents in every town in the Dominion for the new "Illustrated History of the Dominion of Canada." This work is truly magnificent, containing over 2,000 double column quarto pages, and over 900 superb full page engravings. The work is published in Paris, on a plan which insures its welcome to every English reading family. To energetic young men or ladies, who are willing to work, we will guarantee a permanent position for two years, and good pay! Don't fail to write for our private terms, sample pages, etc. This is a grand opportunity for school teachers to make more than double their salaries without interfering with their professional duties. The work is being manufactured at a cost of over $200,000 for the literary, artistic and mechanical work of producing the plates, by the old well-known, reliable Lovell Printing and Publishing Co. of Montreal. All letters from agents must be addressed to the Publishers general agents as follows:—

HAZEN B. BIGNÉY & CO., 28 and 30 St. Francis Xavier Street, MONTREAL, QUE.

At Dublin on Wednesday James Forrester, coal porter, was sentenced to 10 years penal servitude for kicking his wife to death.

Telegraphic News.

Special Dispatches to the Morning Chronicle, BARRINGTON.

BARRINGTON, Nov. 24.—The steamer Alpha, Bennett master, from Boston for Summerside, P. E. I., with general cargo, is ashore at Cape Sable. She is owned in Summerside, P. E. I.

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—It is snowing heavily.

EUROPE.

London, Nov. 25.—The Times, reviewing the prospects of the Conference, says the specific proposals to come before it have been examined in every capital of Europe. The conclusion is universal that they present no insuperable obstacle to peace.

The Marquis of Salisbury arrives at Vienna yesterday. A Times despatch says the Marquis hardly thinks the serious difficulties of the situation diminished after his visit to Berlin, but has good hopes of ultimate success.

The Russian army of the Pruth has been furnished with clothing for the winter campaign. The commander-in-chief's staff, consisting of the commissariat, engineers, artillery, and other staffs of the army, have been formed.

London, Nov. 27.—The European iron trade is nearly all the furnaces are out of blast; thousands of men are consequently idle.

The coming conference on the Eastern question is the subject of much speculation. The despatch from Berlin says that while Russia does not interfere with German interests, Germany feels disposed to support Russia's claims, and would not object to the invasion of Bulgaria by Russia.

The attitude of the Porte, according to news from Constantinople, is not reassuring. The Porte openly favors the position on the 6th article of the treaty of Paris, which provides the powers shall not interfere in the internal affairs of the Turkish Empire.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—Subscriptions here and at Moscow to the new loan exceed the amount asked for by one hundred millions of rubles. One London firm subscribed five millions. [A rouble is equivalent to three shillings sterling.]

London, Nov. 27, p. m.—News from the East is not reassuring.

The Times openly favors the collective occupation of the Turkish provinces by all the powers, suggesting that the antipathy of the Porte may be allayed by the adoption of this military principle.

A Calcutta despatch to the Times states that the Russians are collecting troops on the Oxus for an advance on Meru in Afghanistan.

UNITED STATES.

IN WOODEN SHEDS, FOR SHINGLES ROOFS, RAILWAY SLEEPERS, SHIPS' BOTTOMS, DECKS and HOUSE TIMBERS, and GENERAL IRON and WOOD WORK.

THE SCIENTIFIC FARMER.

The amount of good done by chickens among fruit trees can hardly be estimated. We completely conquered the canker worm in two years' time by means of a flock of fifty chickens or one hundred in the case of orchards.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

RICE PUDDING.—Three pints of milk, two thirds of a cup of sugar, a tea-spoon of rice. Do not bake too fast and stir it when it boils. Add raisins, if you like.

TO MAKE CRACKERS.

Five pounds flour, ten ounces of lard, one pint water, one large tea-spoonful of salt. It requires to knead it.

HAIR WASH.

Half an ounce of gum camphor dissolved in quart of hot water, one ounce of glycerine, half an oz. of borax. Shake well and wash your hair.

STICED APPLES.

Two pounds of acid apples, and four pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, one oz. each of stick cinnamon and whole cloves. Boil the vinegar, sugar and spice together, then put in the apple and boil till tender.

CRANBERRY JELLY.

Cover the berries with cold water and boil them slowly 1 hour. Strain them through a sieve or fine cloth and pour back in the stew-pan. To every cup of juice add a cup of sugar and boil another hour.

TO PREVENT DUST RISING FROM A CARPET.

When being swept, sprinkle coarse dry salt over it. If the carpet is much soiled, rub the salt well into the fibres with the broom; then give a thorough sweeping, going over the work several times.

A SUGGESTION.

A well-to-do citizen of Detroit had the breath almost knocked out of him by the request of a ragged sidewalk tramp, who stopped him and asked: "Say, can't you lend me $10,000?"

THE STRANGER AT THE CENTENNIAL.

Many strangers at the Centennial are not yet aware that they can't get out even for a moment and get back on the same entrance fee. I saw an old man try it the other day. He says to the gateman: "I want to go out a minute. You'll know when I come back, won't you?"

Jokers' Corner.
