LIFE SAVING STATIONS FOR NOVA SCOTIA COAST

Estimates in Dominion Legislature Provide for New Stations at Victoria Beach and Parker's Cove.—Motor Boats to be Part of Equipment.—Uniformity of Distance Advisable.

Mr. Broder. There is an increase of $6,000 in this item for the purpose of building some new life saving stations. We intend to build several new stations, which will cost $20,000. Then we are going to ask for $25,000 for motor boats and for the purpose of putting motor engines into some of our existing boats. The estimated price of a motor is $720. We are including in this vote the sum of $12,000 for the purchase of the St. Paul and Sable Island stations, which are really life saving stations. These were formerly paid out of the vote for maintenance.

Mr. Crosby. Where will the new stations be? Mr. Broder. At Victoria Beach, Nova Scotia, Grosse Ile, Magdalen Islands, Wolfe Island, Parker's Cove, Amherst, Cranberry Head and Mud Island. It may be found advisable, when the commander has made his report, to make some changes.

Mr. Crosby. How far apart are Victoria Beach and Parker's Cove?

Mr. Broder. Ten miles.

Mr. Jameson. I would suggest that there should be another station further down on Digby Neck or that the minister should take one of those proposed and put it down there. I think there is a station at Westport, and a long stretch of 45 miles to Victoria Beach. It is but 10 miles to Parker's Cove from Victoria Beach, so that there is an inequality there. If it be desirable to have a continuity of service covering the whole coast, better make a more equitable distribution. There is a place called Centreville about 15 miles below Victoria Beach, which would make it about midway between Westport and Parker's Cove. It might be possible to get some place which would suit better, but Centreville would be very suitable. Only a few months ago some fishermen were blown out from their clear across the Bay of Fundy to N. B. coast, and were rescued only when in the last stages of exhaustion. A year or two ago several men were drowned there simply because life saving appliances were not at hand. If the minister is going to put up these stations along the coast, he should do so with some regard to uniformity so that the coast will be covered and the fishermen given a fair degree of protection. It will not do to have life-saving stations within 10 miles of each other and then have a long stretch of 45 miles without any protection.

Mr. Broder. We are not absolutely committed to these particular places, and I shall not fail to call attention of Commander Thompson to the representations made by my hon. friend.

Acadia Wins the Debate

Woolville, N.S., March 30.—Acadia's record of successive victories in debate remains unbroken, for before an immense audience this evening her trio defeated the representatives of the University of New Brunswick on the question of the ownership and operation of the Intercolonial railway by a private company.

The debate was close and exciting, the judges rendering the verdict that the U.N.B. had a slight advantage in argument, while Acadia had a substantial lead in delivery. Acadia, supporting private ownership, was represented by Arthur DeWitt Foster, of Hazelton, N.S.; J.S. Halsey, of Wick, and T.S. Hoy, of Newcastle.

The U.N.B. speakers, who argued for the continuance of the present system, were J.R. McNair, Clark and J.T. Hebert. The judges were Justice McLeod and Judge McKeown, of St. John, and Rev. G.R. Martell, of Windsor.

In the intermission which followed college songs were sung by the home students. The judges, after a prolonged absence, returned and through their chairman, Rev. Mr. Martell, rendered the decision in favor of Acadia by a margin of eleven points.

Amendment to Public Health Act

The Attorney-General has put a Bill before the Legislature, amending quite materially, "The Public Health Act of 1910."

County Boards of Health are to consist of not less than three or more than seven persons. One is to be appointed by each town in the county and the others by the Municipal Council.

This County Board has pretty drastic powers. It is to decide when disease is considered epidemic, and is to be a charge on the Municipality. It will control all disbursements relating to the suppression of disease, the employment of physicians, nurses, etc., will have supervision of all local boards in the County, carry out the Public Health Act in any town or district in which the local authorities have failed, charging expenses of the same up to this town or district, and make regulations for the proper working of the Board, these to be approved by the Governor-in-Council.

The compensation to members of the Board shall be the same as that given Municipal Councilors with travelling expenses.

Latest Returns on Reciprocity

GROWTH OF SENTIMENT IN FAVOR INDICATED.

(Canada, Chicago)

Sir Wilfred Laurier tabled in the house on Monday a return embodying the latest communications received by the government on the subject of reciprocity. In the main they indicate a growth of sentiment in favor of the agreement, but it was also to be observed that as regards the West the present arrangement is accepted as a first step towards free trade with the United States not only in natural products but in all the farmer has to purchase.

Thus D. D. McArthur, of Lander, Man., wrote expressing his approval of the agreement, declaring that there is diversity of opinion among the farmers of the West. "We are, however, agreed to stand by the present agreement with the hope that in the near future absolute free trade with the United States may be secured." Similar expressions of view were communicated by the Elmhurst branch of the Manitoba Grain Growers' association while the grain growers of Minnesota, Sask., asked approval of the agreement, the placing of agricultural implements on the free list and an increase in the British preference to fifty per cent at the present session.

On the other hand there are expressions of opinion that Hon. Clifford Sifton, as well as the Conservative members from the West who have opposed the agreement, are entirely out of accord with their constituents. Expressions to this effect come from associations in the constituencies represented by Mr. Glen Campbell, Dr. Shafer and Dr. Roche. The admission to the latter member comes from the secretary of the Disarthritis association, who wrote that "free trade would give the greatest impetus to Canada." In the constituency of Macdonald, Manitoba represented by Mr. W. D. Staples, the farmers of Cyprus river express their endorsement of the reciprocity agreement. Farmers of Sutherland admonish Mr. Sharp, of Ligon, that they also favor reciprocity.

The grain growers of Manitoba, Sask., passed a resolution praising the agreement and informing Mr. Frank Cockshutt, of Brantford, that "this matter will be remembered with pleasure among the agricultural people of Canada." Mr. Cockshutt, it will be recalled, expressed himself as in favor of the agreement.

The secretary of the Grain Growers' association of Canada, Manitoba, writes that Mr. Roblin's supporters in Dufferin regret that he has misinterpreted popular opinion and asserts that reciprocity will carry by five to one. The secretary of Roland, Manitoba, Grain Growers' association says that although Mr. Staples, M. P. for Macdonald announced that a prohibition of his constituency resulted in seventy-five per cent of the electors declaring against reciprocity, the association could not find one person, Liberal or Conservative, in that vicinity who had been asked to record his opinion.

The Reform association of Crowland, Willand county, record an almost unanimous resolution against Mr. W. W. Gorman's stand in opposition to reciprocity. The Allied Trades and Labor association of Ottawa forward a strong resolution in favor of the reciprocity agreement.

The Edmonton board of trade and the board of trade of Frobisher, Sask., also endorsed reciprocity, but the Liberal association of Sanich R. C. regarded the proposal for reciprocity with the United States with such disgust that it decided to dissolve and forego its allegiance to the party. The board of trade of Ingersoll, Ont., also passed a strong resolution in opposition to the proposed reciprocity pact.

To Raise Mink and Muskrats in Alberta

Fur Farm to be Started in June With Five Hundred Mink and Five Thousand Rats.

Spokane, Wash., March 30.—Two thousand acres of land in the lake district, north of Athabaska Landing, in the province of Alberta, has been leased for a term of years by Dr. T. J. Burgen of Spokane and his associates in eastern Washington, who purpose operating a mink and muskrat farm as a commercial enterprise. The work of preparing the farm and stocking it with animals will be begun early in June. Dr. Burgen says of the project:

"I do not recall having heard of a similar experiment anywhere in Canada, but I have devoted all of my spare time during the last seven years to careful investigation and I am thoroughly convinced that the undertaking will be a big financial success."

"It was over the ground recently and chose the location. We are arranging to place 5,000 rats into the lake, which is well stocked already. Dark rats will be used, as the pelts are a higher commercial value than the lighter varieties."

"The rats require no food other than what they can get themselves in annual cases. We shall prepare for emergencies by growing carrots, which will be fed to the animals if necessary. The muskrat pelts are worth from fifty cents to one dollar each."

"It is a much more difficult problem to handle mink, as special pens are necessary and the nesting sink deep into the ground so they will not escape. We shall secure five hundred animals when we begin operations in June and should have several thousand for commercial purposes a year from next winter. The mink will be fed on fish, which are abundant on our lease. We shall also handle some cattle horses and dogs in connection with this fur farm."

Dr. Burgen says that expert trappers will assist in the work, and protection will be given by the Northwest Mounted Police.

Sight Restored to Young Shelburne Man

A Boston dispatch says:—A young man from Shelburne, N. S., Clarence M. MacLeod, has been practically cured of blindness—caused from an operation performed by one of the best eye specialists in Boston. This operation was performed in a private hospital and was considered the most wonderful operation ever performed in Boston of its kind. It was a form of extract on the inner eye, this being removed with the lens and an artificial lens replaced. The boy has perfect sight now. He says:—"I can read the finest print two feet away; I see things I never saw before. I can hardly believe that people could ever see like this."

True Here Also

"No fewer than seven life insurance men were guests at a leading hotel in town, one night this week. They were all vying with each other for business, and not one of them residents of the town. If some of our local insurance hustlers advertised their plans in the local press, the latter might be constrained to speak special words for them on occasions of outside invasion."

The above from the Eastern Chronicle of New Glasgow is pregnant with good common sense. Thousands of dollars of insurance is yearly lost to Truro insurance men for the same reason as the above. No better method of reaching the practical man who realizes the importance of insurance can be found than through the local press. We surely have enough public spirit in Truro to insure with local agents. A glib-tongued "gent" from some outside city represents no stronger company than your own friend, the local agent, living right here in town.—Colchester Sun.

To Harness our Water Powers.

(Hants Journal)

The Colchester Sun says: "there is a story abroad that the company that is harnessing the Gaspeau River water power will furnish electric power to towns in the Valley, Windsor and Truro. The company is headed by Sir Frederick Borden, but it remains to be seen if even he can get legislation from the government of Nova Scotia to override the blanket charter of the Chambers Electric Light and Power Company; and even were this accomplished it is not yet made plain that the people would not be jumping out of the plan into the fire."

This news of obtaining power from the Gaspeau River is getting to be an old story, for it has been spoken of for some time past. We do not know just what is meant by the blanket charter of the Chambers Electric Light and Power Co., or what its powers, but we do know that legislation HAS been passed incorporating the company in which Sir Frederick Borden is interested, and that the Act is to be amended at a present session. At a recent meeting of the Windsor Board of Trade, the matter of securing cheaper electric power was discussed, and it was then stated that in all probability the Gaspeau Company would be able to supply power all along the Valley to Halifax in a year or two, and the annual rates quoted per horse power were generally reasonable, somewhere in the vicinity of $28.00. With such a power similar to that now enjoyed at Liverpool, Milton, and other points on the river Mersey, the question of town ownership of an electric lighting plant would soon be settled. From the power derived from the Falls, some three or four miles above Milton, electric power and lighting is furnished at very moderate rates. Homeholders and other patrons can get a flat rate of about $3.00 per light per annum, and no meters are needed, for the supply is unlimited, greatly in excess of the demand.

We need such electrical power in Windsor for many purposes, and the hope is frequently expressed that the company will get to work without delay, and give fresh impetus to the wheels of industry, from Annapolis to Halifax. This is what will aid materially in establishing industries all along the Valley, the great drawback now being the high cost of fuel for the production of steam power.

Fruit Growing Possibilities

Some lack of the possibilities of this yet undeveloped industry may be gained by a visit to the small sections known as Lakeville and Woodville at the base of the North Mountain range.

At Lakeville, Rupert Bligh, who recently purchased the Algre property adjoining his own has now sixty-five acres of orchard, mostly in bearing. George Chas. has forty acres. J. A. Kinsman forty acres, Downey Morton about forty acres. At Woodville, Howard Bligh has seventy acres, W.B. Burgess sixty acres and planting more this season. Frank Farris forty acres, George McLean thirty-five acres, Hartley Foote thirty acres, Maynard Porter thirty-five acres, Harry Clarke thirty acres, John Armstrong twenty-five acres, E.K. Clarke fifteen acres and many others with orchards equally as large as the average of the above. Of the crop of 1909 Ray Clarke of Lakeville sold about 3,100 barrels, Harry Clarke, Woodville, sold 2,300 bbls., E. K. Clarke 2,000, and John Armstrong 1,300 barrels.—W. Chronicle.

AMERICAN FARMERS OPPOSED TO RECIPROcity.

The Nashville, Tennessee, Advocate says: "The Patrons of Husbandry, a farmers' organization with a membership of 1,000,000 is making a fight against the reciprocity agreement with Canada. They claim that by terms of the treaty the farmers are being discriminated against, inasmuch as every article that he buys is protected by a tariff, while he is obliged to compete with free trade prices everywhere he has to sell. A committee has been appointed to oppose the agreement in Washington, and to arouse sentiment against it among the farmers all over the country."

GRANVILLE MAN SIXTY YEARS IN ACTIVE BUSINESS

S.S. Hall, of Hall & Fairweather, Has a Record of Which He May Well Be Proud.—Remembers When Hall Stoves Were Considered Great Luxuries, and Tally Sticks Were Used.—No Storm Windows Then.—The Inspection of Flour.

(St. John Telegraph)

Sixty years of active business life in St. John is a record of which any man might well be proud. Stephen S. Hall, of Hall & Fairweather, (a native of Granville) is perhaps the only man in St. John who has such a distinction. Mr. Hall came to this city from Middleton (N. S.), in 1851. In 1851 he started in the wholesale grocery line on the South wharf, entering into partnership with C. H. Fairweather in 1854. The premises of the firm have never been located very far from the South wharf. They opened in their present building in Ward street in 1882 and expect to move into the Perkins block, recently purchased by them next month.

Since opening to St. John Mr. Hall has seen almost everything connected with the daily life of the community revolutionized. At that time there were no railroads anywhere in lower Canada. What is now the Dominion was then a group of provinces having little in common, and maintaining tariff walls against each other. The only way in which flour could be imported from upper Canada then was to bring it in bond from New York in schooners. For some reason it sometimes happened that when the flour reached St. John it was found to be sour. Sometimes after the vessel's hatches had been taken off and the air began to circulate in the hold the cargo turned sour. In such cases the importer always stood to lose on his venture. In process of time, however, the bakers discovered that they could mix a proportion of this flour with that which was sweet without any harmful effect. It was also found that soda would sweeten it, and so the loss was not so heavy as it would have been.

INSPECTION OF FLOUR.

In those days all flour imported into the city had to be inspected. The official would go to the schooner side and examine each barrel, boring into it and extracting a pound or two which he carried away in a pail. If the flour was bad from any cause the word "Bad" was written on the top of the barrel in large letters.

All this held good while the old reciprocity treaty with the United States was in force. The Americans, however, repealed the treaty and the bonding privilege so that for many years the only flour brought into St. John was American. As time went on and the means of transportation became better the necessity for this disappeared, and with the opening of the railways it became possible to import flour cheaper from Ontario than from the States. These old days, however, were very

LITTLE WILLIE'S EXCUSE

A kindergarten teacher tells us a good joke on herself, according to the Columbus Dispatch. She had been very strict in requiring written excuses from the mothers, in case of absence.

The morning of the big snow storm only a few of the babies made their appearance. The next day they all came with written excuses except one, named Willie.

When asked for his, he said: "I did not go."

He was cautioned to bring it the next day.

The next morning he arrived all right with the cold and handed the teacher his excuse. It read:

"Dear Mrs. C.—Little Willie's legs are fourteen inches long. The snow was two feet deep. Very truly yours, Mrs. J."

FELT GUILTY.

A smart-looking gentleman carrying a bag was accosted by a boy near a London railway station.

"Carry your bag, sir?"

"No, thank you."

"Carry it to the station for five cents, sir."

The gentleman replied again:

"No thank you."

"Carry it for two cents, sir?"

Again the reply came:

"No thank you."

When the youngster got into the road, and shouted at the top of his voice three or four times:

"You ought to be ashamed of your self to ask me to carry that heavy bag to the station for a cent."

And the grateful glance of the crowd made the gentleman feel quite guilty.

AN EDUCATION.

"I want to be well-informed," said the ambitious girl. "I want to know what's going on."

"Well, answered Miss Cayenne, "I would suggest that you get one of those telephones that will put you on a line with five or six other subscribers."

"Papa," said five-year-old Johnny, "please give me a dime to buy a toy monkey."

"You don't need a toy monkey," answered his mother. "You are a monkey yourself."

"Well," continued the little fellow, "then give me a dime to buy peanuts for the monkey."

"Dear teacher," wrote little Johnny's mother, "kindly excuse John's absence from school yesterday afternoon, as he fell in the mud. By doing the same you will greatly oblige his mother."

First Physician—"Can you make anything out of the patient's trouble?"

Second Ditto—"I think if we manage right we can make about five hundred aples out of it."

She—"They say that an apple will keep the doctor away."

He—"Why keep there? An onion a day will keep everybody away."

"Won't you try a piece of my wife's angel cake?" "Will it make an angel of me?" "That will depend on the kind of a life you have led."

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

When the secret of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body.

The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I had decided to try some medicine that would accomplish this."

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they were one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They also have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

While Country Will Benefit Says Prominent Ontario Manufacturer.

Not Only Will Reciprocity be the Making of the Farming and Lumbering Industries, But Will Add Fifty per cent. to the Country's Business All Around.

Mr. A. J. H. Eckhardt, of Toronto, Proprietor of the National Casket Company, the National Silver Plate Company, and the National Plating & Woodworking Company, believes that the proposed reciprocity agreement is not only going to be the making of the farming and lumbering industries, but will also increase the prosperity and the general business and professional interests of Canada fifty per cent. within the next twelve months.

Mr. Eckhardt differentiates between reciprocity on natural products and on manufactured goods, and bases his estimate on the fact that the agreement affects only natural products.

A SHREWD BARGAIN.

This, he considers Mr. Eckhardt, is a shrewd bargain with the United States, and one in which Canada has not decidedly the better of the deal. The United States needs to make use of Canada's natural products, and Canada needs to get rid of her surplus.

"Surely," says this common-sense manufacturer, "we who are protected on an average by a 25 per cent duty, should realize that it is time the farmer and the lumberman benefited by our trade relations with the United States. If the Canadian manufacturer protected as he is, cannot compete with the manufacturers in the United or in England, the sooner he goes out of business and gives way to a more enterprising man the better for Canada. Most business men the world over would consider 25 per cent. a handsome profit."

Mr. Eckhardt considers that Sir James Whitney and his friends in the Ontario Legislature are just taking a hand in the game to "take their friends at Ottawa out of a bad mess."

WORLD COUNTRY WILL BENEFIT.

"The clear we get into commercial contact with that great country to the south of us, the more we shall help on the development of our country," he says. "Our natural products should hold their own, and it will not hurt us if we have two markets for them instead of one. It will mean better prices for our wheat and our lumber, which represent such a large part of the Dominion's resources, and the whole country—banking, commerce, and laboring interests—will benefit."

"Some of the general manufacturers and business men do not want the unbounded prosperity that they have secured by holding their own, and will not hurt us if we have two markets for them instead of one. It will mean better prices for our wheat and our lumber, which represent such a large part of the Dominion's resources, and the whole country—banking, commerce, and laboring interests—will benefit."

"I think this reciprocity agreement will mean the building up of the largest papermaking industry in the world, for the Canadian-made paper will be exported to the States cheaper than the lumber can be sent across and manufactured there, and it is better to turn our spruce wood into gold dollars than to let it rot or be burnt."

"Who are the men that are making such an outcry against this reciprocity agreement? They are mostly disappointed office-seekers or men whose pockets are touched. The matter, it is said, to be leader of the conservative party, another one made the statement that he would sooner live in a hotel on one meal a day than have anything to do with the United States; another is so busy saving the Union Jack that he thinks Canada should trade only with the Mother Country, to the exclusion of every other nation."

"This agreement is going to benefit the country as a whole—the fishermen of the east, the farmers and the lumbermen of Ontario and Quebec, and the wheat-growers and stock-raisers of the west. It will help and not hinder the manufacturers. It will benefit the professional men. The class that will not be benefited is a very small one, and its interests must be considered after those of the country generally."

Provincial Report

SECRETARY FOR AGRICULTURE, PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA FOR 1910.

The report of the Secretary for Agriculture was placed on the table of the House of Assembly by the Provincial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. Murray, on Monday, March 27th last.

The report contains an outline of the various activities of the Department, and gives evidence of the continued aggressive policy of this Department. In addition to a statement of the routine work the report contains a series of articles on "Fruit Growing and Gardening in Nova Scotia," which should prove of great interest to the farmers generally and the fruit growers, in particular, of the province.

While the present series of articles deals most largely with the fruit growing as carried on in the Valley yet there are a number of articles dealing with fruit growing in other parts of the province, and also with such subjects as strawberry, tomato growing, vegetable gardening, cranberry culture, etc., as adapted to all parts of the province.

In the main body of the report are presented interesting facts in regard to the general work of the Department. The report of the College shows a marked advance for the year. There is an increase in attendance in all courses, and a most marked increase in the regular courses, amounting to forty-four per cent. over last year. The particulars given in regard to the various varieties of crops, vegetables, fruits, etc., contained in the reports of the Parks Superintendent and Horticultural instructor, make valuable reading. The live stock will, with interest, study the picture of some of the best known horses and cattle owned on the College Farm, and also the reports of production of the high class herd of dairy cows. Equally valuable information is given in regard to poultry raising, insect pests, and plant diseases, as well as many other interesting points.

There is reported an increase of eight agricultural societies as compared with last year, a most successful series of county exhibitions, detailed figures in regard to which are tabulated. The work of the grainage machine is outlined and a copy of the "Timber and Drainage Act" passed last year, is printed. The names of the winners in the Field Crops Competition are given in detail and an announcement is made in regard to the extension of this competition for the season of 1911.

WILL BOOST PAPERMAKING

"I think this reciprocity agreement will mean the building up of the largest papermaking industry in the world, for the Canadian-made paper will be exported to the States cheaper than the lumber can be sent across and manufactured there, and it is better to turn our spruce wood into gold dollars than to let it rot or be burnt."

"Who are the men that are making such an outcry against this reciprocity agreement? They are mostly disappointed office-seekers or men whose pockets are touched. The matter, it is said, to be leader of the conservative party, another one made the statement that he would sooner live in a hotel on one meal a day than have anything to do with the United States; another is so busy saving the Union Jack that he thinks Canada should trade only with the Mother Country, to the exclusion of every other nation."

"This agreement is going to benefit the country as a whole—the fishermen of the east, the farmers and the lumbermen of Ontario and Quebec, and the wheat-growers and stock-raisers of the west. It will help and not hinder the manufacturers. It will benefit the professional men. The class that will not be benefited is a very small one, and its interests must be considered after those of the country generally."

If you have trouble in getting rid of your cold you may know that you are not treating it properly. There is no reason why a cold should hang on for weeks and it will not if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

One of the most striking features brought up in the report is the increase in butter and cheese manufactured in 1910, there being eighteen per cent. more cheese and fifty per cent more butter than in the previous year.

Altogether the report is a comprehensive, interesting, and valuable one. It will be sent to the officers of agricultural societies, to the members of county associations, and to all who apply by letter to the Secretary for Agriculture, at Truro.

The above is a resume of the report of the Secretary for Agriculture, and as he has received a large number of inquiries in respect thereto, should be of interest to our readers.

RAGING HEADACHE STOPPED AT ONCE

When He Took "Fruit-a-lives"

SHARON, Ont., Sept. 24th, 1910.

"You certainly have the secret of a good headache cure. I tried it the week before 'Fruit-a-lives' came before the public. I suffered for four or five days with a headache caused by a cold. It was so bad that I had to go to bed every night when I had a headache and I had to take a couple of boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives' to get me out of it."

"I had to see any person coming into the store (much less a commercial traveler) and I told him very early that I had a headache but he insisted on my trying 'Fruit-a-lives'."

"I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health. I was 65 years old yesterday and have been a general store keeper at the above address for twenty-five years."

As Mr. Pitt says "Fruit-a-lives" is the greatest headache cure in the world. Dealers everywhere have "Fruit-a-lives" at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size 50c. or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

THE CHILDREN WERE PREPARED

A member of a certain school board was a crank on the subject of dress, and when visiting a school, invariably limited his remarks to asking the pupils what they would do in case the building caught fire. Knowing this little peculiarity, the teacher coached his pupils as to the answer which they should give. This was the result: A government inspector made his usual official visit. "You boys are listened so attentively to your master's remarks," he said, "that I wonder what you would do if I were to make a little speech?"

To the consternation of the master a hundred voices shouted in unison: "Form a line and march down stairs!"

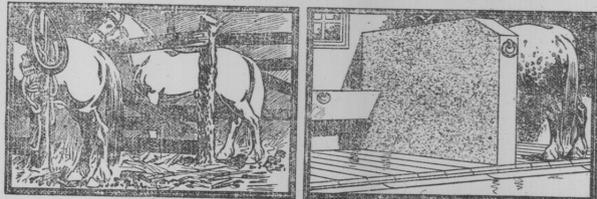

FLEADED CASE ON MERIT.

A man travelling westward on a through express, one day last week, left his seat in the crowded dining car just after he had ordered luncheon. He went to get something he had forgotten in the Pullman.

When he returned, in spite of the fact that he left a magazine on the chair in the dining car, he found a handsomely dressed woman in his place. He protested, but all the waitresses he could muster, but the woman turned on him with flashing eyes.

"Sir," she remarked haughtily, "do you know that I am one of the director's wives?"

"My dear madam," he responded, "if you were the director's only wife, I should still ask for my chair."

Fishermen Should Save Cod Oil

The Coast Guard sees no reason why our fishermen cannot add to their income in this way.

(Coast Guard.) In a large portion of Nova Scotia, and the most productive at that, since fishermen began selling fresh fish to local buyers, they have not saved cod livers, as they formerly did. It strikes us as a rather wasteful habit which there is no excuse for. It may be said, however, that the price of the oil obtained from these livers, dried out by the sun for technical purposes, has for many years run extremely low, hardly repaying the pains for caring for it, and besides, the catches were partly dressed while coming to land, and all entrails thrown away as a saving of time. But the market for cod oil with cod fish, has gradually grown firmer, and some new buyers having entered the field, the prospect is extremely fair for that kind of fish product. The quotations in Halifax now are forty-two cents per imperial gallon, and there is not likely to be a decline for a long time to come. The fishermen, therefore, are strongly advised to prepare for saving fish livers the coming season. A few bottles or tins are all the space and outfit. It is no bother to put the livers in buckets while gutting the fish. When emptied in the final receptacle, they require no further tending. The rest is a natural process, and cannot fail to pay. We shall have something more shortly to say concerning market and prices. Meanwhile the fishermen should give this matter due attention.

TRADE CATALOGUES AND PRICE LISTS. Collectors of Customs have been notified that an Order in Council has been passed, which reads as follows:— That the regulations heretofore established for the free delivery of certain catalogues and price lists for wholesale trade only, be repealed, and instead thereof that remission of duty is authorized in respect of household trade catalogues, and price lists not designed to advertise the sale of goods by any person in Canada, when sent into Canada in single copies addressed to merchants therein, and not exceeding one copy to any merchant for his own use, but not for distribution. This customs order permits American merchants to send their literature to the merchants of Canada but not to the consumers. Mailed direct to outposts and stations.

Notice to this effect was sent out yesterday to the principal commercial establishments. It would appear from the warning that the counterfeiters are of the series number 229,707.

Says Eight Hour Day Not Necessary

Senators Question the Constitutionality of the Bill.

Ottawa, March 24.—In the Senate yesterday on motion for a second reading of Commons Bills respecting an eight-hour day on public buildings Senator Power declared that the work of the carpenter, mason and bricklayer was practically one of healthy exercise, and the demands of health did not require an eight-hour day. Senator Beique agreed that the Bill was unconstitutional since under the British North America Act questions of contract were under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Province. The Government could secure the end in view by amplifying the fair wage clause in public contracts.

How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. Ninety-eight per cent of the people need a hair tonic. Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shriveled, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if it is to be saved. We promise that it will not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, to tighten the hair already in the head and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, W. A. Warren, Queen Street.

CHINA SLOW IN COMPLYING WITH DEMAND. St. Petersburg, March 25.—An official despatch to the Government from Peking today, states that China remains obstinate regarding the question of the freedom of Russian trade in Mongolia, maintaining that Russia is entitled merely to import non-Chinese goods and export local products. The despatch adds that apparently the Chinese Government intends to prolong the negotiations in the hope that Russia will back down.

NEW YORK BANISHES PUBLIC DRINKING CUP.

New York, March 24.—After October 1st, it will be unlawful to have a "common drinking cup" in any park, public building, factory, theatre, school, railroad station or ferry house, in this city. This follows a health board investigation in which bacteriological examination was made of moisture adhering to the edges of public drinking cups from various places in the city. The results fully demonstrated the danger of transmission of disease in this manner.

By One Box of GIN PILLS

YARMOUTH, N.S. "I have been bothered with Rheumatism for by past years and have taken a good many different kinds of medicine and found no relief for it. One day a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS, and after taking one box of them, I felt like a new man. SUGAR CANE AND BAMBOO IN USE FOR MAKING PAPER

Washington, D.C., Mar. 20.—A substance from which paper may be manufactured has been discovered by a manager of a sugar estate in Trinidad, according to the United States consul in that place. The new substance is ground sugar cane, to which is added bamboo fibres. The combination of these two, the discoverer believes, produces a substance of which fibre is the right length to make a cheap and excellent paper. He has made paper by this process without the use of chemicals. The quality of the paper, according to the report can command the market against any wood paper now being manufactured.

HELFUL HINTS ON HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

For a sick headache try in a wine-glass of water as much carbonate of soda as will lie on a sixpence. Grapes and pineapples are a blessing in the sickroom. The juice of either alloyed with water and sweetened with sugar is refreshing. Many defects of the figure are caused by bad postures. Learn to stand tall, let your muscles hold you up. Hold the head high and you will soon acquire a graceful bearing, especially of height. Those whose work tends to bring the shoulders forward and cramp the chest must counteract this tendency by conscious effort until proper positions, both when sitting and walking, become an established habit.

Should Britain see fit to break with Japan, she would be able to come to a direct understanding with Uncle Sam—still be in position to control the Pacific. That is all the advantage England now enjoys from her Japanese relations. Britain and the United States together could exercise a policing influence over the Pacific that would build more for peace, progress and prosperity than is possible so long as the greedy cocky Jap has to be kept in hand and held in check with the other.

France would be inclined to ally herself with Britain and America for making Russia because of Germany. France, England and the United States, were an arbitration agreement perfected, would be able virtually to preserve the peace of the world, for none but the most powerful alliance could hope to oppose their desire.

N. S. Solution of the Fishes Question Urged

To the Editor of The Chronicle:—

Sir—The question of free access to our streams and lakes for red fishing has now become a live and practical one, thanks to the efforts of Mr. A. W. Redden and other correspondents in the Press and to Mr. Hall of Liverpool who introduced the Bill now before the Legislature. It is owing to the limited time at the disposal of any speaker before the Committee of the House it is scarcely possible to deal with the question exhaustively there, and I think that some further or supplementary proposals might assist in bringing about a fair solution of the problem, for I think everyone will freely admit that there is a problem connected with it and at least the majority of those interested will agree that the Bill in its present form does not offer an entirely satisfactory solution by any means.

That there should be some form of compensation provided for is a simple matter of justice, as it is not essential that individual rights in property should be preserved as that the rights of the people to take and use the fish that swim in our rivers and streams should be maintained.

In principle the Bill is sound and it is perfectly just in providing that any person shall have the right to pass over any wild lands in order to reach the banks and streams and rivers for the purpose of red fishing. In fact this must be the fundamental principle in any legislation that may be enacted and must be enacted if this Bill does not pass in its present form.

The people have been aroused and they will not rest until this legislation is secured. Against this right of the people the policy of the Province of New Brunswick was urged during the discussion before the Committee, but there is one fact to be remembered in this connection and that is New Brunswick has sold the birthright of the people for "a mess of pottage." In order to raise a little much needed revenue this birthright was sold to individuals and clubs of Americans and others, and the people have been deprived of what was a naturally and reasonably their right as the air they breathe, only not quite essential to life.

For from this becoming a precedent for Nova Scotia it should be a warning for our Province which the Government and Legislature would do well to heed. So far, it has not been the policy in this Province to grant leases of this kind, but the demand for them is beginning to manifest itself, and this is just one of the things which should be settled by such legislation as is proposed, before it fastens itself upon us.

Yet this legislation should not be enacted hastily and without careful consideration for the consequences. It is just one of the things which should be settled by such legislation as is proposed, before it fastens itself upon us. Every fair minded man who will sit down and read this Bill carefully and then think over it for an hour or more will come to the conclusion that it falls a short of meeting the situation and that there must be provision—and most carefully drafted provision—for compensation.

I do not mean compensation for the mere use of wild lands for the purpose of walking over them, nor compensation for any increase in the quantity of fish owing to spawn having been put in the rivers, which was supplied free by the Dominion Government, nor compensation for the removal of obstructions in rivers (unless there was some extraordinary expense in connection therewith), for those who did anything of this kind have been reaping the benefit right along and CAN CONTINUE TO HAVE THEIR FULL SHARE OF IT. And it should be remembered in this connection that the Government fish hatcheries are not maintained for the benefit of a few owners of land surrounding fishing pools but for THE WHOLE PEOPLE.

But yet there should be compensation and just what form it should take calls for more thought than the preparation of a thousand provisions covering merely general principles such as this Bill consists of.

This legislation should assert the right of any person to pass over any wild lands lying along our rivers or lakes for the purpose of red fishing. But it should provide absolute safeguards against any disturbance or annoyance or injury to the owners or lessees of said lands. In addition to merely providing against damage by fire, etc., it should make public picnic grounds of such lands.

Further than this, and what is much more important, it should provide that, in the event of any owners or lessees of such lands preferring to part with the same rather than submit to a c. legislation, the Government might purchase or take over the same on such portions as might be necessary to meet the requirements of the Act and compensate the owners or lessees therefor. There should also be provisions for appropriation to meet certain cases.

But what are the provisions of this kind in the Bill before the Legislature? It must be clear to everybody that a private member cannot bring in a Bill that will meet the case at all, and it is equally clear that to pass a Bill practically sweeping away vested property rights without redress will injure the cause in the end for more than it could possibly help it.

It is not only the individuals and clubs who are affected and to be considered, but hundreds of farmers throughout the Province whose woodlands extend along our lakes and rivers. In fact the clubs are a mere bagatelle, a very small portion indeed, of those affected.

Let us hope that this matter will not be taken up in a mere partisan spirit which would prevent the united effort necessary to secure the real object in view.

You know the "know-it-alls." Suspicious of everybody and everything. They promised well at one time in their career, then they seemed to come to a full stop. Just because of that unhappy distrust, that suspicion that won for them the same attitude in return, that made every one distrust and dislike them, now you're not a "know-it-all." Only about one per cent. of the people are.

We feel sure that you have an open receptive mind—one that is anxious to learn more, to advance. And to you we say that you owe it to your own best judgment to try Psychine.

Every now and then we come to a certain epoch in medicine when we think advance or improvement impossible. Then some one comes along and the whole school of medicine is overturned, new and apparently indisputable theories, all good, all progressive. In the progress of medicine we sometimes discover new valleys in old things. One of these is in the efficacy of certain herbs to cure disease. And the reason they cure is that they increase and strengthen the white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes—the scavengers of the body, devouring every germ and disease that gains entrance to the body. A third of a century ago, Psychine was compounded of certain herbs. Since that time it has cured hundreds of thousands.

And all because it contained those herbs that science now knows build up and strengthen the white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes.

If you have any of these ailments don't be a "know-it-all," it won't pay you. Learn something at our expense, fill out the Coupon and mail to us. The Rev. A. S. Bott, of Horden, Sunningland, England, who is to conduct the coming "Parochial Mission" in St. James' church, is expected to arrive on Monday next. Mr. Bott will conduct special services on Mission nights each evening next week, but the general Mission will commence on Good Friday evening, the parish being formally handed over to the Missioner. Mr. Bott will be accompanied by his wife and a friend. The visit will be of special interest to the Rector of St. James' and Mrs. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Bott being old friends of theirs.

The Choice of a Loving Heart

"The human heart is like heaven, the more the angels the more the room"

Long long afterwards Grannie rose, and, lifting the lamp carefully, carried it into the bedroom. It was just midnight, and for three long hours Grannie had sat staring into the dark, musing, turning and twisting the problem every way in her poor, overworked brain, and even now she seemed no nearer the solution.

She set the lamp down by the bedside, shading it so that the light might not wake baby. Such a dear, fat, sleeping baby girl; her looks certainly contradicted Grannie's statements that they were not properly fed; one dimpled arm was flung outwards across the pillow, and the other curled above her curly head. Oh! no, not the thing was not possible; she could not part with the youngest and dearest of them all. Why, she had belonged to Grannie ever since the hour when she had stepped unwavering into the world, and the pale-faced mother had slipped out of it.

Not one thing was certain; nothing but force would ever make Grannie part with baby.

She crossed to the bed where Molly and little Teddy lay together. Yes, undoubtedly Teddy must be the one to go; it was only fair to give the boy every chance that life offered; he was only six years old, and in the novelty of the voyage and new scenes and faces he would soon forget them all, and not likely to fret.

Yes, undoubtedly it was best that it should be the boy. She could struggle along with the two little girls, but boys were so expensive; even now her hand would rest on baby's sunny curls, and again it would be thrown protesting across Teddy as though 'letting all the world to take him away from her, and once restless Molly half sat up, and called 'Grannie,' and in less time than it takes to tell Grannie's arms were around her, and she clucked lying against the firm young one.

Oh, if someone would only solve the problem for her, if only the father had come and taken one of them away, instead of leaving her to make the choice.

"Oh, Molly, Teddy, baby," she cried in her misery. "Oh, dear God help me to choose," and she looked at the laws of the land; she would part with none of them, none of them, and in the placidness of the sudden decision Grannie almost laughed aloud.

The next morning, the kitchen and wrote a letter, perhaps the longest and most difficult letter she had ever written in her life, and when she slipped in into the envelope the dove-point note went in with it. When it was sealed and addressed, Grannie treated a sigh of relief, then went to the door and took a great breath at the pure night air, a great weight was lifted from her heart, and quite suddenly she felt younger.

Somehow in the distance she heard the faint sound of the laughing of a jacks, the first bird of morning and far away in the east, a pale yellow light told her that the dawn was breaking.

"I want to give them up," she cried. "If he wants them he will have to come and fetch them, and I don't believe he'll ever bother to do that. Oh, dear God, it is hard enough to keep them, but it would be ten thousand times harder to lose them."

Had Grannie been a reader of the poets she would have known that "There are nettles everywhere, But smooth, green grasses are more common still; The Muse of heaven is larger than the cloud."

But although Grannie was not a poet she was a philosopher, and something made her smile when, at last, she slipped into bed beside baby; the danger was over, at any rate, for the present, and the children were still her own.

Yet Grannie had lost a whole night of much-needed sleep, and by this time a whole chorus of jacksaws were telling her that it was morning; but when, an hour later, the sun looked into the windows of the little bush-dwelling, he travelled across the forms of three sleeping children, that was a usual sight for him, but he passed in surprise and lingered longest of all upon the form of the tired, old woman, who was smiling, oh, so peacefully, in her sleep.—Australian

To Give Trade to Every Boy

Plan to Reduce Ranks of Unskilled Laborers.

London, March 28.—A resolution favoring the institution of a system of compulsory industrial training for all children immediately on leaving school was passed by a large majority at a conference on industrial training, held under the presidency of the lord mayor, at the Guildhall.

In opening the conference the lord mayor said he had received the following message from the King, through Sir Arthur Briggs: "I am commanded by the King to convey to you an expression of his sympathy with the objects which your conference desires to secure."

His majesty believes that further development of industrial training will be of inestimable benefit for the nation, and he hopes that your conference may have the effect of stimulating and educating public opinion in favor of this branch of education.

"This conference desires," continued the lord mayor, "to broaden and deepen the foundations of national prosperity by training children in useful avocations. Under the present conditions children get employment for small wages, and they are afterwards thrown on the world not fit to earn their own living."

In conclusion the lord mayor said he had received messages from Mr. Balfour and Mr. Asquith. The former said: "I desire to express my great sympathy with the movement. A very great deal has been done to organize the machinery of education throughout the country. The expending it involves is great and sometimes lavish. Whether we always direct it in precisely the right direction is another question, and I do not think that any one who has watched educational and industrial progress at home and abroad can be without some misgivings."

Mr. Asquith in his message said: "I believe this question to be one of the highest importance to the national well-being, and I should welcome any suggestion that would lead to its solution."

Lord Brassey moved a resolution urging the government to provide, by legislation, free to all scholars, "a national system of industrial, professional and commercial training, to which the children shall pass as a matter of course (unless the parents are prepared to undertake their future training) and without interval, for a definite period, to be thoroughly trained for entry to the particular calling for which they are best fitted, each training to be under fully qualified instructors."

"We have too many unskilled workers," he said, "and it is among these that the unemployed will be found. It is to reduce the number of unskilled workers and increase the number of skilled workers that

BABIES SORES

Every mother should realize that the skin of her baby is so tender that the secretions of the body often lead to rashes, eruptions, etc., all of which may be removed by Zam-Buk and the use of Zam-Buk Soap. Sores of restless crying babies, upon examination, are found to be suffering from some form of skin irritation or "heat." Use Zam-Buk Soap for the bath and apply Zam-Buk ointment to the sores, and trouble will soon vanish.

Mrs. L. Hood, of 425 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, writes: "Some many sores broke out on my baby's mouth, and despite all the preparations used, they refused to heal. I took him to St. Boniface Hospital and he remained there for two weeks. At the end of that time he was no better, and we again took him home. I was then advised to try Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. The effect of the first few applications was very surprising and I continued with the use of the ointment. A little more was required in a complete cure."

Zam-Buk Soap is sold by all Druggists at 25c per tablet and Zam-Buk Ointment at 25c per tin. The Zam-Buk treatment quickly cures eczema, ulcers, sores, impetigo, eruptions, rashes, heat, rashes, piles, cuts, burns and all skin injuries or diseases.

Sir John Gorst seconded, declaring that he particularly agreed with the part of the resolution relating to compulsion. "There are three obstacles to be overcome," he said. "First, the reluctance of the parents; second, the reluctance of the employers."

Sir Squire Smith moved an amendment suggesting the government should give financial aid to enable educational authority to provide facilities for the practical and industrial training of boys, and for practical training for all girls—household work and domestic economy; that all boys and girls after leaving the day schools should be required during a portion of each year, until the age of eighteen to attend evening continuation or technical schools.

He contended that they could do all they wanted by the means already at their disposal. He thought it was only necessary to get the government to substitute "shall" for "may" and they would do enormous good which would work a revolution in the country.

THE HOME

FOR THE INVALID'S TRAY.

It is when one is convalescing and food is imperative that thought must be put into the daily meals. The capricious appetite of an invalid must be tempted.

The tray must be dainty. The most appetizing foods, when badly served, fail to please. Have a special tray with a deep rim for use in sickness. For this keep some cloths, with scalloped edge, that fit exactly.

Special china is desirable. An individual chocolate or coffee pot, with cup and cream and sugar to match, need not cost much to be attractive. Use thin glass and a dainty dish for dessert.

Overlook the tray before it is sent up. Its frets a sick person to wait while some one runs to the kitchen for forgotten salt or butter. Do not so fill glasses or cups that they will spill on the tray cover. Never overload the tray. Nothing is more annoying to a sick person than to face quantities of food.

Even more important than service is the quality of food for an invalid. Only the freshest fruits, the best cuts of meat, and the purest broths should be used.

Have the dessert made into special moulds for the tray. A custard in a dainty cup will be eaten when the same custard in a saucer might be scorned.

Tongs form a big part of invalid cookery and it must be well made. Cut the bread thin, remove the crust, toast a piece at a time over the open flame, and butter lightly while hot.

A nourishing cream toast is made by buttering hot toast on both sides, then putting cold cream on it, and setting it in the oven until most of the moisture is absorbed. Sprinkle with salt.

In boiling eggs for an invalid, break the eggs into the cup and boil the water around it. This makes it more delicate. If cooked in the shell, put in cold water, and when the water comes to a boil the eggs are cooked enough. Or, pour on boiling water, remove to the back of the stove and let stand five or six minutes. Eggs cooked this way are called "coddled eggs" and are much more delicate and easier to digest than if boiled in the usual way.

Do not serve unbuttered bread on an invalid's tray. Cut it as for party sandwiches, removing the crust. Make the slices thin.

The ravages of the moth must be carefully guarded against as regards blankets. These which are not in use should have small pieces of thoroughly dried yellow soap scattered liberally in the folds when they are put away.

Ink stains on white muslin can be successfully removed by the application of turpentine, if no time is lost in treating the stained article after the accident has occurred. This spirit has its advantages over many other ink eliminators, in that it does not spoil the delicate fabric. In fact, many washer-women believe in the efficacy of turpentine in whitening clothes, and a tablespoonful should be added to the boilerful of water before the garments are placed in it.

White ostrich feather ruffles can be cleaned by diluting them in ordinary starch. It should be slightly biased, so that the tips do not acquire the yellowish tinge which is so often the result when cleaning ostrich plumes at home.

The starch does not stiffen the fronds, but merely dries in the form of a cake of paste, which, when hard, will shake off in the form of a powder.

On entering the dining room, arrived in time to see, but not prevent, her maid from pulling, instead of pushing the extension table, and as it separated in the middle several pieces of valuable cut glass, which had been placed there during the cleaning time fell through with a crash to the floor. It seemed a hopeless accident, but, a race-bowl was cut down from a decenter, following the pattern near the neck which had been broken off, a small violet-holder was cut down from a tall vase, a tiny sugar-bowl from a ringar-tac, and a small bon-bon-dish was saved from a large cut-glass bowl.

MOTHER'S PRESENCE OF MIND SAVES CHILD.

(Sheburne Gazette.) Clark, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Muir, had a narrow escape from death last Friday afternoon. The little fellow was coasting in his father's yard. His mother thought she would go out and see if the lad was all right and as she did so caught sight of him dropping through a hole in the ice of a brook which runs along the side of Mr. Muir's property. With a mother's haste in such a time she proceeded to the hole but there was no trace of the harbor. With great presence of mind she rushed to another hole twenty feet further down the brook and was just in time to grab the lad as he was floating rapidly down towards the harbor. It took almost five minutes before she could get the lad to the hole just in the nick of time to save him. Her gas brought several to the scene, the first being Robert Edgington, who gave his assistance in getting the lad to shore who was little the worse for his experience.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Overstresses to Match the Crown-Look Rings on the Little Finger. High buttoned shoes of white velvet are the latest fad of Dame Fashion. Dainty and pretty they are, but how difficult to keep clean! It is now the fashion to wear over-shoes of the same color as the dress. The coat and hat, too, should be of the same color as the over-shoes and dress. One firm is now marketing a fortune lining rubber, and the thing now is to send a piece of your gown to the bootmaker. He matches it in rubbers and in spats. The newest fad for luck is to wear a ring on the little finger. The heads of mythological beings are carved on Fashion Predictions For Spring From a Very Reliable Source. A fashion prediction from a reliable source for early spring is as follows: "High waist lines will be the mark of all dresses, and not a few coats will be long and rather directive in cut with wide revers and waist bands, and some will be made in striped materials. The skirts will be still short and not wide.

Canadians Eat Eggs from Many Countries

We bought over Nine Million Eggs from the United States Last Year and Large Quantities from China

Canada imported 883,224 dozen eggs during the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1910. From the United States alone 757,316 dozen eggs came to Canada. China sent us 87,075 dozen, and Hong Kong 41,245 dozen, while small quantities came from Great Britain, France and Japan.

Our egg exports amounted to 164,835 dozen, but only 39,917 dozen went from Canada to the United States, so that we bought from the Americans 717,399 dozen more eggs than we sold to them. Canada sold 33,465 dozen eggs to Great Britain, 20,947 dozen to Newfoundland, 16,700 dozen to Bermuda, 2,196 dozen to the British West Indies, 44,100 dozen to Cuba, 12,555 to St. Pierre and a few dozen to British Guiana, Mexico and China.

Deducting our total exports of eggs from our total imports of eggs it will be found that Canadians consumed 728,489 dozen more eggs than the total production of eggs in Canada.

The duty on eggs coming into Canada is three cents per dozen. If the Reciprocity Agreement goes into effect this duty will be removed and the importations of eggs will greatly increase.

A board of tariff experts recently appointed by the United States Government to compare Canadian and American prices, has reported on the price of eggs at Buffalo, Toronto, Burlington, Vt., Montreal, Lancaster, N. H., Sherbrooke, Que., Ogdensburg, N. Y., Prescott, Ont., Bangor, Eastport and Calais, in Maine, and St. Stephen, N.B.

Reciprocity will give Canadian farmers the privilege of selling their eggs in the United States at lower prices than they can get for them in Canada and it will give farmers of Australia, the United States and twelve other foreign countries the right to send eggs into Canada free of duty.

The report of the United States Government experts deals with the prices of other farm products in the two countries. The Canadian Century will publish the figures in future issues and those who read them will be convinced that Canadian farmers have nothing to gain by reciprocity with the United States.
