PREMIER RURER SPEAKER AT NOTRE DAME

Comments the Eucharist as the Fundamental Basis of the Catholic Faith—A Great Religious Gathering—Million May See Sunday's Parade.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—It now looks as if a quarter of a million strangers would be in the city on Sunday next. Whole parishes are buying tickets at the railway stations along the line of the C.P.R. and the G.T.R. and it may be that when the great procession starts there will be at least a million people in the city or thereabouts.

Indeed, the history of the congress is a history of crowds. To-night the great temple of Notre Dame, which seats 15,000, was turned for the nonce into a vast amphitheatre, given over to the speeches of the laity equally with that of the clergy.

Long before the hour appointed for the gathering at which it was announced that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and others would speak, one of the most tremendous crowds of the congress had assembled before the front gates.

Presently someone announced that those holding tickets would enter on the sides, and then the packed mass moved, the ticket-holders surged out to the sides, and the free ones followed, and moved up the main steps, in what was simply an impregnable, slow-blowing mass.

Within the interior, in all its magnificence of color and blaze of light, burst upon the surging thousands, the sanctuary for the time being was turned into an immense and gorgeous platform. The tabernacle and gilded altar, a cluster of handsome flags, the tri-color, Union Jack, and new French flag, twining one another lovingly.

Fully an hour was taken up in seating the assemblage, and at the close ground floor gallery and side aisles were packed. The speakers addressed their audience from a raised space flanked by a brass railing, and of chairs within the sanctuary accommodated the principals in the action of this long-to-be-remembered night.

All this one saw while waiting for the entrance of the cardinals, and when they entered words that describe the enthusiasm which greeted them. A triumphant peal from the organ announced the coming of the chain of bishops and archbishops who preceded the cardinal legate, who, as he moved along continually waved his hands, partly in blessing, partly in greeting.

For Presbyterians and Methodists.

The World, having no desire to promote religious controversy, has no present intention of publishing any of the many letters it has received since its article "A Word for Protestantism" appeared. But the letters show a wonderfully deep current of tense feeling.

Editor World: It was time that some one put in a word for Protestantism in this city, province and country, and I thank you for your timely and fair, outspoken article.

As a Presbyterian I have for years watched the sneaking desertion of The Globe from its old-time principles—worse than that, its betrayal of them. It has both deserted and betrayed; and yet allowed the inference to be made that it was still the exponent of those principles. It has become nothing but the commercial organ of an electric ring, the enemy of Adam Beck's policy, all done under the guise of professed friendship.

Indeed, the history of the congress is a history of crowds. To-night the great temple of Notre Dame, which seats 15,000, was turned for the nonce into a vast amphitheatre, given over to the speeches of the laity equally with that of the clergy.

AN INSANE WARD FOR CENTRAL PRISON

Coroner's Jury in Merkt Tragedy Suggests One for the New Institution at Guelph—Asylum Authorities Censured for Laxity That Allows Patients to Leave Grounds.

"That Mrs. Louisa Merkt came to her death, Aug. 29, as the result of gunshot injuries, and that she was foully killed and murdered by her husband, Gustave Merkt, was at the time a patient of Toronto Hospital for the Insane.

The jury found that the aforesaid Gustave Merkt, not being considered a dangerous lunatic by the asylum physicians, was allowed the privilege of parole thru the asylum grounds, and while enjoying that privilege, escaped and visited his friends in the city without the knowledge of the asylum physicians.

The jury consider that sufficient care was not exercised by the asylum authorities to prevent the aforesaid Gustave Merkt from leaving the grounds, and hereby censure the management for permitting a criminal insane patient to roam at large.

The jury strongly recommend that proper provision be made in connection with the new Central Prison at Guelph, now in course of erection, for the safe custody of the criminal insane.

Such is the finding of Coroner Young's jury, which last night concluded an inquiry into the double tragedy on Robert-street, in which Gustave Merkt shot and killed his wife and himself. The evidence of asylum officials, who maintained that Merkt gave no evidence of violent insanity, and of a daughter of the deceased couple, was heard.

Dr. Charles K. Clarke, asylum superintendent, said there were 900 patients, all of whom belonged to Toronto or York County. It was in May or June when Gustave Merkt was first brought to his notice, thru a report from Dr. Herriman to the effect that he was not seriously insane.

Further, there had been no insanity in the family, and one of his assistants had recommended Merkt's discharge. To Crown Attorney Baird, the witness stated Merkt had been on parole, but that his departure from the asylum was taken without authority from any of the attendants. It was easy enough for anyone on parole to leave the grounds, as it was difficult to watch the gates and besides it would be easy to scale the wall.

PARADE OF PRIZE CATTLE IN FRONT OF THE GRAND STAND YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

LAST DAY OF THE FAIR END WILL COME TO-NIGHT IN A BLAZE OF GLORY

An Increased Attendance of 75,000 Over Last Year's Total is Expected to Be Reached—Review of the Live Stock.

This is Citizens' Day—the last day of this year's Exhibition. It has been the biggest and best fair yet; it is deserving of a real record-smashing crowd. Labor Day would have broken last year's high mark of 142,000 had the weather been kind.

While the name of Review Day, by which Friday of the second week of the exhibition has long been known, has direct application to the parade of prize-winning cattle and horses, it has a deeper significance.

With only one day remaining before the exposition closes its gates, the management are in a mood to do some stocktaking, noting strong and weak points and planning for next year on a "bigger and better than ever" scale.

At to-day's concluding directors' luncheon there will be, following customary suggestions as to improvements. It is possible now to gauge the total attendance approximately, allowing for an elastic use of the word. Grand fair weather to-day, the grand total for the two weeks should reach something like 225,000, comparing with 75,000 last year, or a gain of nearly 75,000.

The gain of 1909 over the previous year was 100,000, but to refer again to an unpleasant subject, if it had not rained on Labor Day, probably at least 50,000 would have been added to the 1910 increase, bringing it to 125,000. As a director remarked, freaks of the weather may cause temporary gloom, but as DURAND, Mich., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—The coroner's jury sitting on the Grand Trunk wreck of Aug. 24, in which ten lives were lost, brought in a verdict charging brakeman George W. Graham of train No. 14 with gross negligence and laying on his shoulders the responsibility for the wreck.

WHY PROTECTION IS ESSENTIAL TO CANADA

Why the National Policy Was Created, and What It Has Accomplished—Its Principles More Necessary Now Than Even in 1879—A Survey of Present Conditions.

(Third Article). Free traders have an easy way of evading the difficulty of explaining why countries like the United States and Germany have thriven so well under protection. These nations, they affirm, would have been just as great and prosperous and have exhibited as remarkable a growth in trade, industry and commerce had they from the outset adopted a free trade policy.

An assertion of this kind is not an argument in any sense of that word and is simply on a par with the affirmation of fiscal reformers that Britain would have been more prosperous and had fewer paupers and less unemployment if a measure of protection in the home market had been afforded the British workman.

The special circumstances of Great Britain as these developed after the close of the Napoleonic wars resulted in the repeal of the Corn Laws, and this in turn prepared the way for the ultimate acceptance of free trade on the lines framed by Gladstone in his famous budgets of the early sixties.

But at that date, and during the anterior part of the 19th century, Britain's industrial predominance as an exporting country was supreme and unchallenged. Her industries had been built up under protection, she had become dependent on foreign imports of food and raw material and her workmen were untried in skill.

Not only so, but it was the general belief, assiduously fostered by Cobden and his colleagues, that free trade would rapidly become universal and Britain's industrial position placed upon an impregnable foundation.

A Bursted Bubble. This conviction, no doubt sincerely held, time has entirely disproved. It failed to take into account the strength of national spirit in foreign countries and their determination to achieve industrial independence.

Their statesmen saw clearly that the creation of national industries in the face of unrestricted British competition, if not impossible, would be difficult and prolonged. Nor was there the slightest chance that British manufacturers, enjoying the benefit of open markets, would either migrate themselves or establish branch manufacturing in the foreign field. Protection was the only remedy, and the benefit of the system was immediately apparent. The United States first and Germany later both went ahead industrially by leaps and bounds, and are challenging Britain's position as the largest international trader, for the Britain has not ceased to advance, her rivals are increasing their foreign trade in greater ratio.

Men's Fur-Lined Coats

This is one of the most important branches of our business. We have made a study of the wants of this department for many years and we think it is safe to say that we give better value in Men's Fur-lined Coats to-day than anywhere else in Canada. We buy the muskrat that is used in the lining direct from the trappers. The otter skins are got in the same way. We import the cloths that are in the shells from the manufacturers in England. The shells are made by our own tailors, so that the public are only paying one advance--there are no middleman's profits.

Men's Fur-lined Coats, shells of English beaver cloth, lined with good natural dark muskrat to the bottom, 50 inches long, with good natural otter or Persian lamb collar, price $50.00.

Extra fine beaver shell, 50 inches long, lined with muskrat and otter collar, $65.00.

Men's Fur-lined Coats, with dark Russian rat linings, extra choice otter collar, either shawl or notched, price $125.00.

Mail orders for any of these Coats will receive prompt attention. Money can be remitted by post office or express order. Express charges prepaid.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS
WILL SEEK A SITE FOR CHILDREN'S SHELTER

Arguments of Children's Aid Society Satisfactory to Hamilton Board of Control.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the special committee, appointed by the board of control to secure information about the children's shelter, tonight, the replies to the questions sent by the Children's Aid Society were considered. The society outlined again the arguments its representatives made to the city council, and these were found by the committee to be satisfactory. The society made no suggestion as to a site, and the committee appointed a sub-committee to look over sites, with or without buildings, of a value of $5000, such sub-committee to report as soon as possible.

At the executive meeting of the Hamilton Rowing Club to-night the proposition that the club should enter a senior team in the C.R.F.U. was brought up and discussed. All the rowers were heartily in favor of the idea. Another meeting will be held to-morrow to come to a decision on the matter.

The death took place this evening of George B. McBride, son of Daniel McBride, John and Simcoe-streets. The deceased was twenty-three years of age.

Alex. Thompson, East Flamboro, passed away to-day. He was a life-long resident of this county, and was 81 years of age. He had been sick a long time, as the result of a fall. He is survived by a wife and two children.

The Dominion Government to-day prosecuted Van Camp, a magician, appearing in vaudeville theatres in this country, on a charge of smuggling a pig into Canada. Van Camp uses his animal in his act. He was fined $20.

The hot weather of the latter part of last, and the early part of this week has brought about an increase in the number of cases of poliomyelitis, and it is said that the situation in this city is more serious to-day than it has been since the terrible disease made its first appearance a few weeks ago in the form of a mild epidemic. WHY PROTECTION IS ESSENTIAL TO CANADA

trial rank her choice of a policy of moderate protection was wise. Certainly, if practical results are to be the gauge, it has been fully justified.

When this test is applied to Canada, the value attaching to the National Policy can hardly be underestimated. Canada's progress along every line of national life and work has been phenomenal, and in none more remarkable than in her industrial expansion. According to the statistics of industries given in The Canadian Year Book for 1909 the total value of articles produced were: In 1881, $309,676,068; in 1891, $469,847,836; in 1901, $481,053,275, and in 1908, $718,352,602.

In 1908, the last for which figures are available, the number of establishments was 15,796; the capital employed, $846,585,023; the wage-earners numbered 356,024, and the wages paid for labor totaled $134,375,925. The last Canadian census, taken in 1900, showed that the value of manufactured goods, excluding factories employing less than five hands, produced in that year ($481,053,275.00) was only $30,000,000 less than the combined value of the production of the agricultural, mineral, forest and fishing industries of the Dominion. Looking to the way in which the natural resources of the country have been opened up in more recent years, the advance in Canadian manufacturing industries must be even more extraordinary. Manifestly any interference with this vast industrial fabric, holding within itself so much potential growth, would be ill-advised and must necessarily be followed by serious and widespread depression.

The Cause and Effect. When the National Policy was laid before the country its success did not depend on the industrial, but on the agricultural, population. In the seventies the farmers of Canada were themselves suffering from foreign competition, and as the United States had closed its markets by refusing to renew the reciprocity agreement, they were ready to support a proposal that promised to develop and protect their home market.

The National Policy was designed frankly in the interests of Canada. It proposed to create an industrial population that would give the farmer a market at his own door and to expand the agricultural population that would in turn buy the products of Canadian industries. It has done both, and not only this, but it has compelled United States manufacturers to come to the Dominion and to assist in its industrial expansion.

Canada has been prosperous and is prospering under the National Policy, and all who have a care that the country shall continue to develop all its industrial and manufacturing resources which it is naturally fitted, should hesitate to disturb a system productive of so many great benefits.

The reasons for the continuance of the National Policy are even stronger to-day than they were in 1859. At that time, and for years, the United States produced more food products than it needed and exported the surplus, a situation that constantly told against the Canadian agriculturist. Its manufacturers did no more than keep pace with the increased demand caused by its enlarging population, and it had not begun to compete seriously in foreign markets. But a complete change has come with the 20th century. The United States will no longer be able to export grain that is required for home consumption, while, on the other hand, it must find a market for its surplus manufactures. And, as Mr. Thurber, president of the United States Export Association, frankly stated before the industrial commission: "Our problem is to keep our labor and capital continuously and remuneratively employed by preserving our home market and reaching out for a place to dump our surplus. We sell abroad for any price we can get."

Dumping Ground for U. S. The Dominion is the natural and most convenient dumping ground for the United States surplus products and United States manufacturers are ready to sell at any price that will enable them to force an entrance. Some protection against this unfair competition is supplied by the moderate Canadian tariff now in force, and by the dumping provision which enables an excess duty to be imposed in cases where goods are sold at less prices than are current in the United States. To remove the protection of the tariff or to reduce it to a point which enables United States manufacturers to destroy the profit of the Canadian producer, plainly means disaster to Canadian industries.

Nor will the United States manufacturer be inclined to manufacture in Canada when he can enter the Canadian market without going to that trouble and expense. It is the prospect of being able to buy agricultural implements at lower price that is luring the western grain growers to agitate for free trade, and they accuse Canadian manufacturers of selfishness because these oppose this demand. But are the grain growers themselves free from the reproach of unpatriotism when they calmly urge that Canadian industries be sacrificed or injured to enhance their profits a trifle in the year?

As Sir John Macdonald remarked: "No country is great with only one industry. Agriculture is our most important, but it cannot be our only staple." Canada a nation is only possible when not the good of one section alone is considered, but the good of all sections. At great cost and pains the Canadian people rescued themselves from industrial bondage to the United States. They stand now free, independent, patriotic, self-sustaining and laying the foundations wide and deep and stable of a magnificent agricultural and industrial fabric, beneficial to the whole state. Why tamper with the policy that has made this possible and will make it a reality?

IMPORTED STRIKE-BREAKERS
Got $300 Fine or Three Months for Illegally Aiding Immigrants.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Morris Lendenak, Hamilton, was given the alternative of paying a $300 fine or spending three months in jail at hard labor by Magistrate Fraser to-day, upon conviction on a charge of aiding immigrants to enter Canada illegally. Three men he attempted to bring in, Sam Greenburg, Henry Handelsmann and William Schmittmann were dismissed. Later they were charged with attempting to gain an entrance to the country after having been rejected by the immigration officials yesterday.

Lendenak swore that he had been sent from Hamilton yesterday to bring men into the country to act as strike breakers for the Copley Company of Hamilton, whose employees are now out on strike with the garment workers.

Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of lands, forests and mines, yesterday heard argument in the appeal of L. O'Connor against D. D. Mann. Mr. O'Connor claims to have sold Mr. Mann an option on an iron ore claim in the Shining Tree district, and alleges that Mr. Mann abandoned the option and had his agents stake the claim for himself on the grounds that Mr. O'Connor's title was not valid.

The minister reserved his decision, and requested McGregor Young, K.C., who represented Mr. Mann, to put in a statement showing what work has been done on the property. Mr. O'Connor's interests were presented by Robert McKays.

Hundred Cases in Hamilton—New Case in Toronto.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—The dread epidemic infantile paralysis, which is spreading over Ontario, is growing in Hamilton, and it is estimated that there are over a hundred cases here.

Yesterday the disease claimed another adult, and to-day two more adult cases were reported.

At Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 9.—Considerable concern is being felt in this city regarding the outbreak of what is diagnosed to be infantile paralysis. A number of cases have developed, and not only children but older persons are attacked. This disease has appeared in the New England States.

Another case of infant paralysis, that of a child three years old, was reported yesterday.

Medical men are reporting all forms of infant paralysis to me," said Dr. Sheard. "These may be regarded as mainly affection of the spinal cord. There is no occasion for alarm; no indications of any contagious disease have been discovered. The form of the disease in Toronto is quite different from that existing in Hamilton."

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a breakdown, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its cause (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—VIGOUR—VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY.

Autumn Display of Blouses, Underskirts and Young Women's Suits

The accession of Autumn in the realm of clothes will be on Monday accorded formal recognition in the sections devoted respectively to Women's Blouses and Petticoats, and to Young Women's Suits and Coats. The occasion will be marked by a general display of the season's new and novel offerings in the various phases of feminine attire represented in these departments.

Paisley, Dresden, Persian and Metallic Effects Featured in an Exquisite Display

As will be seen by the array of models from Paris and other places of authority, Fashion has touched the fancy blouse with a gentle hand. No radical changes have been wrought in its previous form; it has only been softened in substance, simplified in line and which seems a paradox—livened by a greater strength of color and a tendency towards heavier embroidering and odd metallic effects in the nets and bandings used by way of ornamentation. The veiling of silk, net and lace, with chiffon and other transparent fabrics, continues in vogue, and Paisley, Dresden and Persian are still expressions to conjure with, their bright tints reaching a climax in a unique peacock feather design, which appears in both silk and crepe. The seamless shoulder and the two-piece sleeve—which consists of one sleeve capped by another to the elbow—are prominent features.

In silk and satin underskirts the introduction of silk fringe, lace edging and ribbon rosettes as a medium of trimming is the most notable innovation, not forgetting, of course, the presence of the regulation petticoat for the hobble skirt. The stock of taffeta, satin and English moire underskirts is the largest ever carried. The designs illustrated are worthy specimens of the showing:

The Vogue in Young Women's Coats and Dresses as Exemplified by the Most Elaborate Fall Display We Ever Presented in this Section

All that is natty, trim and deftly tailored is represented in the interesting provision of Fall raiment for the young miss who demands what is newest, best approved and best in accord with the needs of her home, school or business life. The showing is a comprehensive one, covering the whole broad field of coat and skirt suits, full length coats, separate skirts and dresses.

In the latter the weight of attention has been given to the useful one-piece cloth frock, many of the most attractive of which are smartly brightened with a touch of Parisian trimming, with yoke and undersleeves of the metallic net so prominently in vogue.

The Combination of Quality and Low Price

Most noteworthy is the showing, for we've almost double the stock of previous years, and we've never before shown such a big range of materials. The suits in the above illustration demonstrate the moderation of price that accompanies the prevailing good style and employment of good materials.

Very Low-priced as an "Opening Day" Special at $12.75

The design on the right is developed in fine all-wool serge, in brown, green, grey, navy or black; the coat cut in the popular three-button, single-breasted style, and the skirt exploiting the desirable straight line effect by means of a stitched band confining the series of pleats at the foot. The sizes obtainable are: bust, 32, 34 and 36; skirt lengths, 35 to 38.

Another Specially Priced Suit For Monday Morning $18.50

The suit on the left is of the strictly plain tailored order, carried out in a two-toned all-wool hopsacking—a material eminently new and pleasing—the cuffs and skirt finished with band, smartly piped with black satin and ornamented with handsome buttons, and the coat being lined with good quality silk. In a wide range of the season's best shades, the suit presents all the elements of up-to-date attractiveness at moderate price. It is procurable in sizes of bust 32, 34 and 36, and skirt lengths 35 to 38.

CASTLE OF WINDSOR

King George V. Contemplates Fresh Alterations in Many Parts.

Before King George and Queen Mary take up their residence at Windsor Castle certain alterations and rearrangements of the private apartments, which are never open to public, are situated on the east and south sides of the grand quadrangle and are connected by a corridor over 500 feet in length.

Many thousands of pounds were spent on the royal rooms when King Edward came to the throne, in order to bring the palace more in accord with modern requirements, and a special sum was voted by parliament for the purpose. When King George was staying recently at Frogmore he spent several hours going over the private apartments, but His Majesty and Queen Mary are to pay another visit before any definite instructions are given.

Very few structural alterations are necessary after the work that has been carried out by the lord chamberlain's department during the past year, but rearrangement of the furniture and contents of the rooms will be effected. All the personal property of King Edward and Queen Alexandra will be removed to Sandringham, where it would become the property of the crown. When this is done the rooms will be refurbished to suit the taste of their Majesties.

It will be necessary to provide additional accommodation for the children of the King and Queen. The suite of rooms in the Chester Tower has been set aside for the younger Prince and Princess, and a schoolroom has been fitted up, with kitchen and every other convenience, and a special staff of servants will be devoted to the welfare of the children. These rooms were used by Princess Henry of Battenberg's children, and adjoin the Victoria Tower.

For the convenience of the Queen Victoria's family, The common parlour view of the Long Walk and Windsor Forest. There could hardly be a more ideal spot for children. The rooms are airy and bright, and a window can be seen a magnificent stretch of beautiful woodland scenery.

Just below the castle toward Frogmore, a spacious kitchen, pantry, and a small pavilion, which was constructed on the instructions of the late King for the use of his grandchildren. The pavilion, which has been a practice of dealing with local trades as far as possible.

FUTURE OF CANADA

Earl Grey Has Great Hopes—Convinced of Dominion's Greatness.

The Standard of Empire Supplement of the London Standard prints an interesting statement of Earl Grey's views on the future of Canada.

"Working strongly in the minds of the Canadian people," says the popular governor-general, "growing steadily from Atlantic to Pacific, with the material growth and development which indicate its ultimate justification, is the profound and inspiring conviction that the greatest America of the future lies to the northward of the line between Canada and the United States." "To the northward of that line, the greatest of the problems of the great republic to the southward have no existence, and probably never will have any existence, and in the character and nation-building standpoint, nature favors Canada. No climate in the world is better calculated to produce the great and enduring up of strenuous workers, of strong, brave men, good mothers, healthy children, sane social life, and far-reaching industrial and agricultural progress."

"Canada's land, apart from cities and industrial centres, could support the population of the British Isles with ease. Her natural resources in minerals, timber, water and electrical power, raw material of every kind, and above all her agriculture, are simply boundless, and unlike the southern lands, Canada is a white man's country, a country for British men, women and children in every acre of its vast territory. The people of Canada are a sane, sober, strenuous, earnest people, a patriotic and invincibly industrious people, who will not be content with a will-o'-the-wisp, but steadily, surely and with their eyes wide open, alike to opportunity and to danger, bring up between the Atlantic and the Pacific, the greatest nation that has ever been within the greatest empire that has ever been. Canada is a woman, and no better fate than I can see can befall any British boy or girl man or woman, than to become good citizens of the Dominion of the Dominion's great forward march, the most wonderful process in all this wonderful age of ours."

Lord Grey strongly favors the emigration of young children to Canada. Looking around upon the working of the poor laws in Britain, he is struck by the fact that pauperism makes for the perpetuation of pauperism; that the system makes for perambulation in a vicious circle; that the child who is reared under the poor laws is inevitably handicapped by conditions and a half mark which lead that child again into pauperism as an adult. This is one of the greatest tragedies of our social system in crowded England. But if the poor law children could be settled singly in rural Canadian homes long before they have learned to be conscious of the existence of poor laws; if they could grow up (not in poor law groups, but singly) in the free air and sunshine of the open country, and if from them other would make of them, practically with certainty, that not a single one of them all would ever in his or her after life come into contact with any form of pauperism. The girls would almost certainly become happy, useful wives and mothers; the boys—with free homesteads or other means—would become independent, self-respecting farmers. They would grow up good country Canadians, that which is the great desideratum of our Empire, and other would be a useful destiny could be conceived and when that prospect is compared with the prospect before the average poor law child in one of the great cities of the Empire, it is not hard to see that it is not only to fill the heart and inspire the mind of the social reformer to any effort, to any sacrifice, if only so splendid a result can be achieved. And it can quite easily be achieved, if set about in the right way. Volunteer committees in Canada—Daughters of the Empire and others—would visit the great homes at regular intervals to make sure that the children were wisely and properly cared for. Determination and careful organization is that which is required in this matter to relieve Great Britain of a huge and growing burden; to confer an inestimable boon, in the shape of a sporting chance of independence and a cleanly, self-re-

FIVE BOYS IN THE TOILS ON BURGLARY CHARGES

Three Cases of Shop Breaking Chalked Up Against Quintet—Detective Taylor's Capture.

Detective Taylor ran across Lewis Tiche, 12 years, 288 Yonge-street, Morris Males, 11 years, and Henry Malos, 9 years, of 17 Edward-street, selling Robert Simpson Co. pencils, and they could not explain how they came to have them. Therefore, he took them in, and later they confessed to the theft of the pencils and a number of compasses. After their statement Taylor went out and brought in Joseph Elond, 18 years, of West Gerrard-street, and Alfred Nixon, 12 years, 11 Ann-street.

All are charged with shopbreaking on three successive Sundays. Last Sunday the premises of the William Wrigley Jr. Company, "Spearmint" gum, 7 Scott-street, were entered, and a quantity of gum taken; the Sunday before it was Williams' fruit store at 52 1-2 Yonge-street, that was entered, and John Debe's fruit store at 67 Colborne-street, the week before that.

MOTORMAN SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Otherwise He'd Have Been Killed by a Car.

Nine-year-old Samuel Irwin, 759 West Queen-street, owes his life to the skill and presence of mind of Motorman J. Lyles, 67 Oshawa-avenue, in front of whose westbound car he walked on Markham and Queen-streets yesterday afternoon.

The little fellow was crossing the street, and was only three yards ahead of the car when he stepped onto the track. Lyles applied the brake and dropped his fender, which picked up the boy and carried him one and a half car lengths, before it could be brought to a stop. He was taken from the fender none the worse for his experience, save for a slight bruise on his forehead.

Those who saw the accident are loud in their praises of the motorman's promptness.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.

Our esteemed but, in matters political and fiscal, inaccurate and irresponsible contemporary, The Globe, professes to discover an irreparable breach in the ranks of the Conservatism over a high protection policy in Canada. It includes in the soft penmanship our humble selves, who affirm we are always prepared to break lance for that cause. In so far as it means the defence of the national life, which has had the support of the political parties since its inception in 1870, The World has no reason to regret its attitude. But it does vigorously challenge the attempt to justify the national policy with high protection and it leads no chorus that seeks to reverse or alter the present system, that has been productive so many and great advantages for the whole Dominion.

The World's attitude is substantially identical with that adopted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his speech at Red Deer, Alberta. The prime minister has adjusted himself when occasion required to the temper of his auditors, but on that occasion he expressed views that must commend themselves to every patriotic Canadian. He then declared that the interests of the farmers and manufacturers were not at variance, and he described the tariff of 1897, that for which he was responsible, as deliberately and carefully designed to balance interests and to help forward every phase of development, with the natural sequence that the people of the Dominion had prospered exceedingly. Wilfrid added that there would be tinkering with the Canadian tariff no risky experimenting with the product of the country's commercial development.

The Globe over the tariff question is perfect Laodicean, blowing with assumed indifference hot and cold out the same mouth. Professionally it is a believer in absolute free trade, other-times it repudiates the theory far as Canada is concerned. In truth its kaleidoscopic changes are simply a matter of expediency to be all things to all sections of its party. Chameleon, it takes its color from those to whom it appeals. The World stands as always stood by the national policy of qualified protection for those industries that Canadian national resources are fitted to maintain, because it believes that in this way national wealth can be fostered and national prosperity encouraged and maintained. The Globe seriously expects its campaign for free trade to prevail in it has itself declared that the tariff is the best that either traders or protectionists have ever had.

PORTUNITIES IN NEW ONTARIO

New Ontario is only beginning to reveal its secrets. Instead of this vast lot of land, whose six districts, Niagara, Sudbury, Algoma, Thunder Bay, Rainy River and Kenora cover an area of 140,000 square miles, 20,000 are miles larger than the British Isles, presenting, in its western section, an inhospitable area severing the rest from the west of the Dominion. This section is now known to be among the most valuable and richest in prominence that the province holds. In the words of a pamphlet on New Ontario, prepared by direction of the Hon. Jas. Duff, provincial minister of agriculture, "this territory is largely covered by valuable forests; is rich in minerals, especially silver, nickel, copper and iron, abundantly watered with lakes and rivers, and has great spaces of fertile land, one in particular of sixteen millions of acres." Railroads already in course of construction, or in contemplation, are opening up the country for settlement, public highways have been made and are under construction, schools and churches are being built up and the unsurpassed facilities offered for sport, recreation and health are attracting increasing numbers of tourists and sportsmen every year.

The best evidence of the agricultural advantages of New Ontario is afforded by the reports of the settlers who have taken up farms in this part of the province. These reports are highly commendable and make it plain that the opportunities offered by New Ontario are unequalled in any of the western territories. This is particularly the case in the Cochrane and Timiskaming districts, about which experts write enthusiastically. Further westward through Huron, Algoma, Thunder Bay, Rainy River and Kenora, there are also many millions of fertile land, immense forests, ample waterpowers and considerable areas of free agricultural land, are every industrious man has the chance to establish a comfortable and independent home. From the western sections also favorable reports have come of successful settlement. There is, in fact, no need to go beyond New Ontario in search of the fairest possibilities and that on terms even more attractive than prevail in the western Dominion. Full information regarding the agricultural lands available throughout Ontario are given in the pamphlet which has been printed by order of the legislative assembly. Lots can be obtained either by purchase or free grant and convenient government agencies have been established for all districts.

IS EDISON'S LATEST INVENTION A REVOLUTION?

For a good many years the public have been waiting for Thomas Edison to make good with his storage battery. He has now done so. The goods are in town. True it has taken time, longer time than was expected, to complete everything and to get the factories going; but now the batteries are being turned out in large numbers and put into commercial use. How widespread their ramifications remain for time to show, but our guess is that it means a revolution almost equal to that of the incandescent light.

Already it has established itself as one of the best means of propelling a street vehicle, superior in some ways to the gasoline engine. The runabouts now on our streets driven by these Edison storage batteries are marvels of comfort, easy handling, reasonable speed, and low up-keep.

The street car run by stored electricity seems destined to go further than any one can predict at this moment. Every business, every big farm, has an extension into it from these rails; then every business and farm can have its own car and run it over the general tracks. Toronto can build independent lines in the new sections and without central plant or trolley wires, these storage battery-cars can run for less than a cent a mile for propulsion charges. Every municipality can establish a local system at small cost. No one can see where it is to end, but we again say it means a revolution and that it will begin forthwith to work itself out.

Any place where there is surplus power, electricity can be stored; small gas or steam engines, or waterpower can store electricity with only the first cost of the battery. But this, too, is only on the fringe of a great change. All we can do is to watch the ramifications as they appear, and they are appearing now, day by day.

FATHER VAUGHAN REBUKED.

Register-Extension, the leading organ of the English-speaking Catholics of Canada, will say editorially next week, under the caption, "An Offensive Phrase."

We feel somewhat that Father Vaughan's denunciation of Protestantism as a "southern religion" was a serious mistake. It is an offensive phrase and we have been objecting to offensive phrases. The expression means nothing and has merely served to stir up bad feeling and to create sentiments of resentment in the breasts of kindly and well-intentioned Protestants. Abuse never made a convert and we feel that Catholic truth can be unfolded without inflaming the prejudices of those who hold opposite views. The kindly, tactful words of His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi and the equally kindly, urbane and diplomatic message of His Eminence Cardinal Vannutelli were more in keeping with the true spirit of this great Eucharistic celebration. The Holy Father himself has been touched by the sympathetic attitude of Canada and the empire towards this splendid religious demonstration and has given public expression of his satisfaction and gratitude. This week there are thousands of Catholics praying for dear Protestant friends and we can well believe that there are many thousands of earnest Protestants looking wistfully to Montreal and wondering if their forefathers made a mistake. They are the heirs of the sad sixteenth century tragedy which divided the Christian world into two hostile camps; but to-day they are looking for proofs, not abuse. The case of the real presence in the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist is very strong. Luther believed it down to his dying hour as did Henry VIII., Queen Elizabeth, and a host of the early reformers. More than three-fourths of the Christian world believe in the real presence to-day, and as Mr. Birrell put it, a few years ago, "it is impossible to believe that a mystery, so tremendous, so profoundly attractive, and so intimately connected with the keystone of Christian faith, so vouchsafed by the testimony of the saints can be allowed to remain an open question." We believe we are right, and we think we can prove it, and as we have already said, our Protestant friends are looking for proofs, not abuse.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

Dr. Alex. McPhedran has written to the chairman of the board of education as follows:

"In view of the very great importance of the position of medical school inspector, I venture to address a note to you indicating several reasons for the appointment of Dr. Helen MacMurphy to that position. Her qualifications are such as no other physician in Toronto, or elsewhere in Canada, so far as I know, possesses. Besides gaining a close acquaintance with the needs of pupils during her long period of service in the Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute, she has for the last 10 years devoted special attention to the subject of school hygiene generally, and of the needs of children showing defects either mental or physical. She has made a study of the school systems, and of medical inspection of schools in London, Manchester, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cleveland. In these places she also studied the problem of the care necessary for the teaching of the feeble minded in special classes and schools. She has made several reports regarding the feeble minded children of Ontario to the government the last one being made this year. During this summer she spent some weeks in London, England, with the medical inspector, visiting the schools with him, and studying the methods, making a close study of the work as there carried on. Later she attended the conference on the subject of school hygiene in Paris. I think your board will agree that anyone who devotes so much time to this subject deserves recognition.

So far as I know, no one else in the province has taken so much pains to qualify in this department of work. "In the inauguration of the important work of school inspection it seems to me that the most capable person available should be placed in charge, so that the most perfect organization possible shall be made. This new department will do largely on the efficiency of its organization. It is, therefore, of the utmost importance that one of high ability, wide training, and special preparation for the work should be appointed to organize this important new department. Dr. MacMurphy is, as your board well knows, a woman of superior ability and wide training. She has all the qualifications in an eminent degree for such a position and if appointed would bring to bear a special training for the work such as no one else possesses. "The great interest I feel in this subject of medical school inspection is the reason of my writing you."

SOCIAL REFORM CONFERENCE AT OSGOODE HALL

Important Gatherings to Be Held in Toronto Sept. 19-24.

The Social and Moral Reform Conference, to be held in Elm Street Church, September 19 to 24, promises to be an epoch maker in regard to the methods of church operation in the down town sections. Some of the most prominent men in the Methodist Church are taking a deep interest in it. It is possible that a commission may be appointed to examine carefully the operation of the church in down town sections and suggest a comprehensive plan of reconstruction. Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., general superintendent of the Methodist Church, will act as chairman, and Rev. W. E. Wilson, D.D., as associate chairman. Secretary of the conference is P. J. Price, of Fred Victor Mission. The following speakers are on the program: Rev. S. W. Deah, superintendent of the City Missions; Rev. A. H. Burnett, president Students' Christian Social Union; Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., general superintendent of the Methodist Church; C. J. Atkinson, superintendent of the Broadview Boys' Institute; Rev. J. W. Aikens, field secretary of the Temperance and Moral Reform; Dr. A. D. Watson, president of Canadian Purty Education Association; Rev. P. B. Bryce, pastor of Earlecourt Methodist Church; Dr. Helen MacMurphy, J. Co., at their Canadian factory, at No. 11 Scott-street.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

It is the Fine Display Ad of "Spearmint" Gum.

Considerable attention has been drawn during the last few days, to the new display sign of the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co., at their Canadian factory, at No. 11 Scott-street.

The sign, which was built by the Connor-Ruddy Company, is seventy-three feet in length, and stands six feet high, the largest of its kind in the city. The design is made forcible by the fact that round, gold block letters, three feet in height, have been utilized, while the whole is embellished with a facsimile package of the famous "Spearmint" gum at either end of the sign.

The Connor-Ruddy Co. had a reputation to sustain in the construction of this piece of art. The work amply upholds the reputation which they have established.

Some idea of the amount of detail may be gathered when it is remarked that the sign took no less than two weeks to construct.

"PEASE ECONOMY" BOILER

California weather in every room the cold winter months

"Economy" Boilers combine comfort with low cost. They give out nothing but pure, clean heat, making every nook and corner of the home liveable and enjoyable. "Economy" Boilers put new life into old houses, and are the heart of the most modern heating system for new buildings. Easy and safe to operate, "Economy" Boilers embody special advantages which insure the greatest volume of heat from the smallest consumption of fuel. The firepot, being corrugated, has one-third more live heating surface than ordinary firepots. This also provides a continual draft, insuring lively combustion where coals lie dead under the ordinary smooth interior—another proof of the perfection of "Economy" construction. You should know more about "Economy" Boilers before investing in any heating system. Send today for free booklet—"Boiler" information.

GUARDS' BAND CONCERT MASSEY HALL PROGRAM

Famous British Regimental Organization to Be Heard on Monday Night in Selected Numbers.

Dr. Williams, the conductor of the Grenadier Guards' Band, has had a difficult task in selecting his program for the concert to be given by the Grenadier Guards on Monday night. The Royal Grenadiers of Toronto took advantage of the fact that the Guards would be in Toronto one night after the exhibition closed to secure a concert performance, and this will be given under the auspices of the local regiment.

Admirers of the band have been blessing Dr. Williams to repeat certain favorite numbers at the concert. Possibly the greatest interest will be the Greig Suite No. 1, from the Incidental Music to Peer Gynt. The program is as follows:

March—New Colors. Dr. A. Williams Selection—Il Trovatore. Verdi (a) Spinnelied—Lieder ohne Worte. Mendelssohn (b) Fruhlingslied—Lieder ohne Worte. Mendelssohn (c) Scherzo and March from Fourth Symphony. Tchaikowsky Grand Overture Soientelle—1812. Tchaikowsky Concert Solo—Jocelyn. Godard Solist—Musical A. Mayes. Selection—A Midsummer Night's Dream. Mendelssohn Suite No. 1, from the Incidental Music to Peer Gynt, Op. 46. The concert will begin at 8:15 and the sale already indicates that the Hall will open its season with an audience which will test its capacity.

NOVA SCOTIANS PLEASED

Hague Decision Will Prevent American Seiners in Bays Along Coast.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 9.—The fishing decision of the Hague is looked upon here as a striking vindication of the right of the colonial legislature to enact and enforce regulations for the prosecution of the fisheries in its own territorial waters, and the principle, it is thought, can be advantageously applied to Nova Scotia.

As to the fifth point, the tribunal has made authoritative pronouncement upon a much-contested question of territorial delimitation of bays and inlets. From Nova Scotia's point of view this was the most important question before the tribunal. The decision of the tribunal placed beyond dispute the right of Canada and Newfoundland to exercise territorial control over small bays and inlets on the coast. Americans will thus be excluded from prosecuting fishing operations inside the bays and inlets of Nova Scotia.

Ald. McCarthy Takes His Traction Relief Resolutions to Controllers and is Partly Successful.

For some unknown reason, capturing Chairman McCarthy and Ald. Maguire, the members of the special committee, appointed to investigate the cost of a tube and surface railway system, once again failed to respond to the call for a meeting yesterday morning. Mayor Geary appeared at 10:15, but retired fifteen minutes later, when Ald. McCarthy decided to submit his resolutions to the board of control. The resolutions call for the purchase of the street railway, a conference with the radial companies to extend the surface lines into newly annexed districts, the immediate construction of the Yonge-street subway "if no other relief can be obtained," and the appointment of a committee to manage the street railway system.

"I have discussed these resolutions with the members of the committee," said Ald. McCarthy, "and the majority have agreed, and are desirous of sending them on to the council. 'Don't you think it is an extraordinary thing to send forward resolutions which have not been considered in committee?'" asked Controller Ward.

It is likely that the city will take immediate action by ordering the Toronto Railway Co. to make the gap between the city and the Ontario Railway Board three months ago. City Council has held a conference with the Ontario Railway Board, and the latter says that matters will come to a head very soon. City Engineer Rust has been in constant communication with Manager Fleming, but has been unable to find any evidence that the company intends to carry out the orders of the board.

AT THE THEATRES

At the Princess. "My Man," a drama by Forrest Halsey, based on his novel entitled "The Quality of Mercy," is announced as the attraction at the Princess all next week.

Wall St. Makes No Headway Intensified Dulness Rules

New York Market Awaits Steel Statement for Something on Which To Frame Sentiments—Definite Firmness on Toronto Exchange.

World Office, Friday Evening, Sept. 9.

There was a continuance of speculative activity at the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day.

The whole market was firm and, as in the case of all upward movements, special stocks were favored on particular occasions. To-day attention was concentrated in Rio and Twin City, both making new high prices.

The demand for Twin did not develop until late in the day, when purchases were made, both here and in New York. It has been stated for some time that an increase in the dividend of Twin City would be made this year, but with the declaration of the ordinary dividend yesterday, there can be no change now until the next quarter. Whatever the incentive, however, the demand for the stock seemed to be imperative during the afternoon, the price advancing a full point in a very short time.

It has been known for several days that a good demand has occurred in London for such issues as Sao Paulo, Rio and the Mexican, and it is due to this buying that the market for these shares has shown such resiliency.

At Montreal the call loan rate to clients has been reduced one-half of one per cent. and no difficulty is experienced here in getting money wanted for stock market purposes.

Both speculative and investment buying has now invaded the Toronto market, and more attention is being paid to this exchange every day. The upward movement in prices is still quite virile and the market gives no indication of being at all toppy.

WALL STREET POINTERS

Freight rate enquiry continues.

General market in London dull and featureless.

Americans in London irregular with small changes.

Reports on James R. Keene's health conflicting, but condition considered serious.

Over 25,000 employers on first day of Pennsylvania's Long Island tubes.

Government crop report assures largest corn crop on record and materially better spring wheat crop than had been hoped for.

St. Paul annual report shows $1,000,000 loss in net earnings, in spite of an increase for year of 8 per cent. in gross.

Pittsburg iron trade authorities report better western buying.

U. S. Steel orders in hand expected to show a heavy falling-off. Some encouragement drawn from decrease in stocks of copper in August.

Joseph says: On Monday next Union Pacific will sell ex-dividend. Buy early this week.

Reports of movement of currency this week to Chicago indicate loss in cash held by banks of $2,387,000, most of which was by the sub-treasury. Feature of the movement was falling off in shipments to the interior.

Steel, Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central, St. Paul, Atchafalaya, Smelting and Amalgamated still show some support. Inactive industries by showing weakness, as expected, may drag down the list temporarily.—Financial Bulletin.

Indications are that the prevailing dulness in the stock market will not continue much longer. While it would seem that no apprehension is felt over the political outlook and probability of a Democratic victory next fall, an been discounted does not seem reasonable. The steel business shows very little improvement, while the extraordinary copper producer figures are not taken seriously. Stocks showing are not at all moderate recoveries.—Town Topics.

Joseph says: On Monday next Union Pacific will sell ex-dividend. Buy early this week.

Reports of movement of currency this week to Chicago indicate loss in cash held by banks of $2,387,000, most of which was by the sub-treasury. Feature of the movement was falling off in shipments to the interior.

Steel, Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central, St. Paul, Atchafalaya, Smelting and Amalgamated still show some support. Inactive industries by showing weakness, as expected, may drag down the list temporarily.—Financial Bulletin.

Indications are that the prevailing dulness in the stock market will not continue much longer. While it would seem that no apprehension is felt over the political outlook and probability of a Democratic victory next fall, an been discounted does not seem reasonable. The steel business shows very little improvement, while the extraordinary copper producer figures are not taken seriously. Stocks showing are not at all moderate recoveries.—Town Topics.

New York Market Awaits Steel Statement for Something on Which To Frame Sentiments—Definite Firmness on Toronto Exchange.

World Office, Friday Evening, Sept. 9.

There was a continuance of speculative activity at the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day.

The whole market was firm and, as in the case of all upward movements, special stocks were favored on particular occasions. To-day attention was concentrated in Rio and Twin City, both making new high prices.

The demand for Twin did not develop until late in the day, when purchases were made, both here and in New York. It has been stated for some time that an increase in the dividend of Twin City would be made this year, but with the declaration of the ordinary dividend yesterday, there can be no change now until the next quarter. Whatever the incentive, however, the demand for the stock seemed to be imperative during the afternoon, the price advancing a full point in a very short time.

It has been known for several days that a good demand has occurred in London for such issues as Sao Paulo, Rio and the Mexican, and it is due to this buying that the market for these shares has shown such resiliency.

At Montreal the call loan rate to clients has been reduced one-half of one per cent. and no difficulty is experienced here in getting money wanted for stock market purposes.

Both speculative and investment buying has now invaded the Toronto market, and more attention is being paid to this exchange every day. The upward movement in prices is still quite virile and the market gives no indication of being at all toppy.

BUYING IN EXPECTATION OF A RISE.

World Office Friday Evening, Sept. 9.

A good volume of business was again in evidence on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Price changes were not material, but the selling had no effect on quotations; in fact, prices of some of the more speculative securities were higher than those of yesterday. The absolute inactivity of the New York market has compelled attention to domestic securities, and more business is being done on the Toronto Stock Exchange than for a long time. The retention of the 3 per cent discount rate by the Bank of England has further confirmed the opinion of many in regard to the future of the money market, and it is believed that prices are rising purely on the ground that stocks will be much more sought after in a few months than they are at the present time.

Black That is Not Mourning—

The art of the Modiste is vindicated by her treatment of Black. It's not difficult. Average ability and good taste will produce a successful gown or costume, provided you have the proper material.

Every worthy novelty in black fabrics, as well as every old-time favorite in weave and texture, is here. Fast black, firm weave, first quality, whether silk or wool, or a combination of both, these are essential before recognition can be obtained in our exhibition of the world's product in black for women's wear.

Size, variety and attractiveness make our department of black dress fabrics a veritable exhibition. Situated on the first floor, in the north-west angle, so that you have daylight from two sides, this department, elegantly carpeted and furnished, is itself a sight for visitors, while it caters to the good taste and good temper of the shopping public.

Oh, Listen to the Press Notices!

The two big hits of this Exhibition have been the Guards' Band and the Simpson Store Decorations.

The huge place of merchandises had been decorated with green and bloom as artistically that the visitor was almost beguiled into forgetting that he was in the very heart of a bustling city.—NEWS.

"It's more like a picnic and holiday vacation, than the serious business of shopping," was the verdict of the throngs that yesterday wandered through the woodland, and felt at ease in the soft glow of the myriads of colored lights.—WORLD.

The notes of praise sounded by every paper in Toronto are as impressive as the sonorous notes of the Band—Don't miss them!

Building Was Transformed on Labor Day and Should Be Seen By Every Visitor and Citizen—A Veritable Floral Forest.—GLOBE.

Makes one wonder at the taste as well as enterprises which modern storekeeping has enlisted in its service.—MAIL.

The whole main floor has been turned into a fairland of flowers. The massive columns have been clothed with verdure and bloom. The artist who wrought this change "into something rich and strange" has amplified the Corinthian capitals of these columns with flower baskets and fairy lights, hung daintily from gold brackets. It is a Midsummer Night's Dream in which to merchandise.—STAR.

Really, shopping under such conditions and surroundings must surely lose all its tedium and strain and become a pleasure, if not a pastime. It's not alone an attraction to visitors, though, it is bringing them in thousands; it's a credit to Toronto, and every citizen should see this decoration scheme without fail.—TELEGRAM.
