Canadian "Wee Frees"

With the memory of '43 and the example of "Wee Frees" to inspire him, Rev. Dr. Campbell is leading a section of the Presbyterian Church against the movement to unite the Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches into one body. It is usually the very old and conservative men who balk at reforms and advances. Dr. Campbell is one of the venerable fathers of his church and ought to know better, but he evidently values the form of Presbyterianism more highly than the spirit of Christianity.

Nearly all opposition to progress and reform and development comes from devotion to the form and the letter rather than the life and the spirit. It is a pity that the Presbyterian body had not been unanimous in carrying the motion for union, but compromise does not belong to the nature of those who stand up against a measure of this kind. It is a form of idolatry, and the idolaters have always been known as stubborn and stiff-necked.

Dr. Campbell insists on the property rights of his minority. He does not think that there should be a pro ratio division of the property, but claims the whole of the property of the Presbyterian Church for his supporters. This is thorely in the spirit of the "Wee Frees," and undoubtedly Dr. Campbell would have been a "Wee Free" had he belonged to Scotland instead of Canada. To depart without purse or scrip does not enter into the "Wee Free" policy. The pity is the greater since in other matters than the letter and the form these men show gifts of charity and devotion, which lead one, as we say, to think that they ought to know better.

Public Ownership in New Zealand

New Zealand has always been the most progressive of the overseas British dominions. If Canada had the laws and the policies of New Zealand it is not too much to say that the citizens of this country would be without taxes, or the need of them. A great boon is made of the revenue derived by Ontario from her lumber resources and from her mines, but if New Zealand's plan were adopted all the lumber and all the mines and all the other resources would be owned by the people and developed for the people by themselves. Perhaps we are not as smart as the New Zealander, or perhaps some of us are too smart for the rest. At any rate we all pay taxes.

The latest enterprise of the New Zealanders is the development of 750,000 acres of Kauri gum territory, and the lower grade quality in making linoleum. In 1914 $2,000,000 worth was exported, and Germany before the war used to take $300,000,000 a year. The acreage is valued at $900,000,000, as each acre yields about $1200 worth of gum. It is found three or four feet below the ground in the Auckland district, and 5000 men are employed in getting it out.

Shall Judges Rule?

R. M. Wanamaker, who was elected to the Ontario Supreme Court bench on the Bull Moose ticket in 1912, would deny the court's power to declare laws to be unconstitutional. He asserts that the framers of the U. S. constitution never intended to place in the hands of the judges the power to nullify laws duly passed by the representatives of the people. In short, he argues that under a federated government, such as prevails in the United States or Canada, national and state legislatures alike possess the omnipotence of the British Parliament.

The trouble with this argument is that it proves too much. If there is an omnipotent body at Ottawa, there cannot be another omnipotent body at Toronto. If the Congress at Washington be omnipotent then surely the state legislature at Columbus, Ohio, cannot also be omnipotent. The most we can say is that each legislature should be omnipotent in its own sphere.

But who shall define the sphere of each? If this sphere be defined by a written constitution then that constitution must be interpreted and enforced by some independent tribunal when the national legislature and a local legislature clash. No man has yet devised a plan to federate autonomous states into a single nation without resort to a written constitution.

If you have a written constitution a supreme court seems to be inevitable. If we agree with Sir Herbert Ames that Canada should occupy the same relation to an Imperial Parliament as the Province of Ontario occupies to the Dominion Parliament, we would still be jealous of national rights as Ontario has been jealous of provincial rights. Of what avail to Ontario would be the guarantee of the constitution, if the parliament at Ottawa could override that constitution? In the United States laws have been nullified not so much by the federal judges, who are appointed for life, as by state judges elected for short terms by popular vote, and therefore more apt to be politicians than lawyers.

Germany After Lost Trade

That German manufacturers are making ready to flood the markets of America and elsewhere at the conclusion of the war is the warning issued by The Philadelphia Bourse. Germany is very well aware of the efforts being made to capture all the trade which she had built up during the last quarter of a century. To offset this her manufacturers are storing up all kinds of manufactured goods which they hope to rush into the markets of the west with cut prices, in the double expectation of recapturing the lost trade and getting quick cash returns for their depleted coffers.

Organized action is being taken in Germany among groups of producers of instruments, electrical machinery, ready-made clothing, underclothing and toys. Factories are also standardizing, and instead of turning out two classes of goods are specializing in one. Canadian manufacturers have as much need to take note of this program as any one else. Forewarned is forearmed.

Why Gasoline is High

The inquiry into the high price of gasoline just concluded by the U. S. Trade Commission, at Washington, results in the conviction that the speculative rise in price has been arbitrary and extortionate, and that the responsibility therefor rests with the Standard Oil Company. That gigantic trust was dissolved into its component parts some time ago, but these component parts at once coalesced and are working in perfect harmony. Instead of one great corporation we have a number of companies, but they are all of them substantially owned by the same people. The Standard Oil Company, of Indiana, for example, does not compete with the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

When, on the outbreak of war, there was a sharp advance in the price of gasoline no one complained. There was apparently an unexpected and almost insatiable demand from the allies, and the public naturally supposed that it would take the Standard Oil some time to so increase production as to make the price again normal. When, however, the price continued to climb, the authorities at Washington decided to investigate. They found there was a falling off in the export of gasoline and also a falling off in the production of crude petroleum. The high price therefore resulted not from an uncontrollable increase in consumption, but from artificially restricted production.

The inevitable result of monopoly, as Lord Coke pointed out three centuries ago, is to limit production and enhance prices to the consumer. The Standard Oil companies had of course some competition to overcome, but they seem to have whipsawed the independent jobbers and refiners to the same old way. The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, for example, fixed a price high enough to attract the crude petroleum from Texas and Oklahoma. If the local refiner bought at all, he paid a pretty good figure, but when he went to sell he found the Standard Oil Company of Indiana quoting a price for gasoline to the consumer against which he could not compete. Hence the wide fluctuations in price in different localities. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana might lose a little money for a time, but when the independent refiner went to the wall, the Standard Oil Company of Ohio came along, fixed the retail price for that locality and reaped a golden harvest.

The same interest owning the stock in both companies reaped a big profit. Some producers and some consumers benefited for a time by the operation. They played as usual into the hands of the big trust and helped kill off competition.

The Standard Oil under its many aliases will play the same role in Canada as in the United States. It never lacks apologists and defenders in high places. There are a lot of public men and journalists that have blind eyes, but no doubt honest men are sometimes deceived by specious arguments, and are influenced unconsciously. At the last session of parliament it was seriously argued that the phenomenal rise in the price of gasoline was due to causes largely beyond the control of the Standard Oil Company. We can only hope that the Dominion Government has been watching the inquiry at Washington. We ventured to suggest when the inquiry was first ordered that it might be a good thing for our government to keep a wide awake man at Washington to follow and report upon such investigations.

MAKE SWIFT DRIVE AGAINST BUKOWINA

Russians Advance in South With Astonishing Rapidity.

TRY TO CUT OFF FOE

Progress in North Against Kovel Still Meets With Delay.

Germany After Lost Trade

LONDON, June 15.—A dispatch from The Daily Chronicle from Petrograd says: "In Bukowina the Russians are progressing with lightning rapidity, which is particularly astonishing when one recalls the slow and stubborn fighting which they approached Czernowitz during the December offensive last year. The Russians already hold the right bank of the Pruth from their own frontier up to Nepokokouts, 16 miles beyond Czernowitz, on the main railway from the Bukovina capital to Kolomea. "As to Czernowitz itself the Austrians are defending it desperately, probably not with any hope of preventing the advance of the Russian army, but in order to gain time to secure the retirement of their terribly battered army. Whether this army can be saved seems highly problematical, since the Russians are not only advancing along the Pruth but along the lower Styr, in the direction of Dnestro at several points, have taken the important bridgehead at Zaleszczyki and advanced along the Zaleszczyky-Kolomea railway as far as Horodena, twenty-three miles from Kolomea. Even now General Plianzer's Bukovina army is apparently cut off from the main Austrian force in Galicia and the only way of retreat open is down through Bukowina and over the high Carpathians. "Delayed in Volhynia. "In Volhynia the Russians are not rushing on with such amazing speed as in Bukowina, but they are making steady and rapid progress. Forcing back the Germans, they have advanced from Rostische to the River Stokhod, and thence to the junction of the railway leading to Brest and Cholm, and serves as the main link between the Austrian and German fronts in Russia. In view of the great importance of Kovel the Germans are defending it with energy and there is fierce fighting on the Stokhod railway line. "On the road to Vladimir-Volynski the Russians have advanced 31 miles from Torchin, and from Dubno they have swept on to the city of Lutsk. "The right column has reached respectively Uumbura on June 8, is continuing its march toward Kitega. In the centre two columns have reached respectively Lusaraki and Kasima, the latter locality being about 125 miles east of Memburg. The left column has reached Kitega on June 10 and approaches to Lake Tanganyika. "Aviator Lieuts. Behaghe and Colden flew over the German fort Kigoma in a seaplane on June 10 and dropped bombs on the gunboat Graf Von Goetzen. Two bombs hit and considerably damaged the vessel."

SMUTS MAKES HEADWAY

LONDON, June 15.—The British column which is advancing into German East Africa along the seaboard has captured several more towns. A report from Gen. Smuts, the British commander, says that on June 13 the force reached Makuyuni. Wilhelmstal has been occupied and Tanganyika cleared of opposing forces.

DEMANDS OF EMPLOYES REFUSED BY RAILWAYS

Big U. S. Systems Give Final Answer After Two Weeks' Discussion.

OFFERED TO ARBITRATE But Men Refused and Strike Vote Will Now Be Taken.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The railroad managers today notified the heads of the four railroad brotherhoods of employees that they could not meet their demands for an eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime work. The proposed arbitration by the federal arbitration board as a solution of their difficulties, or submission of the dispute to the interstate commerce commission.

This was the final answer given by the railroads to the men after nearly two weeks of discussion in joint conference with the brotherhoods of heads and means that a strike vote of the employees will be taken.

A. B. Garretson, head of the conductors' association, said the arbitration proposition was not acceptable, and that the interstate commerce commission was disqualified to act because of its fundamental powers in the making of rates, a question which is deeply involved in the details of wages.

The companies said that the granting of the demands would increase the wages paid by the railways about $100,000,000 annually, and that there was nothing in the demands of the men to warrant such a heavy additional outlay.

BELGIANS GAINING IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

Control of Entire Northwest Section of Colony Now Claimed.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Gen. Tombeur's Army is Continuing Pursuit of the Enemy.

HAVRE, via Paris, June 15.—Substantial progress for the Belgian forces invading German East Africa, giving them control of the entire northwest section of the colony, is claimed in an official statement issued by the Belgian office today. The statement follows: "The German forces, having effected a retreat to the south, seem to be concentrating in the Kitega region. General Tombeur's army, continuing the pursuit of the enemy has reached the main highway joining the Lakes of Victoria Nyansa and Tanganyika at three points. "The right column after occupying Uumbura on June 8, is continuing its march toward Kitega. In the centre two columns have reached respectively Lusaraki and Kasima, the latter locality being about 125 miles east of Memburg. The left column has reached Kitega on June 10 and approaches to Lake Tanganyika. "Aviator Lieuts. Behaghe and Colden flew over the German fort Kigoma in a seaplane on June 10 and dropped bombs on the gunboat Graf Von Goetzen. Two bombs hit and considerably damaged the vessel."

ENEMY SURPRISED BY RUSSIAN DRIVE

Major Morah Taken Aback by Sudden Muscovite Irruption.

U. S. AND JAPS BLAMED

New Prolongation of Fighting Caused by Arm Sales.

BERLIN, June 15.—Major Morah in The Tageblatt writes as follows concerning the Russian offensive: "That the Russians newly collected forces would be so numerous as to carry on a general offensive along a front of four hundred kilometers was hardly to have been expected. We must therefore recognize an extraordinary energy in this gathering together of forces."

"If we are optimistic we can say that Russia is taking her last great effort. If we would judge that carefully, we must bear in mind that the Russian army, however, is not a new one, but that this new prolongation of the fighting in the east is mainly due to the furnishing of guns and ammunition by America and Japan. "The Russian March offensive against Von Hindenburg, which was smothered in 'blood and mud,' was undertaken by about fourteen divisions. Judging from the extent and ferocity of the present fighting, we see that the German army, which has been here and there, and that the enemy's southwestern army has hurried at least 600,000 men, not counting reserves, against our defensive positions between the bend of the Styr and Czartorysk and the zone of Czernowitz. Instantly the struggle as Germans in the region west of Szovno, as far as the army of Count Bothmer, this last named army, and the army of Gen. Plianzer, has been broken up. "All will be forced to struggle hard, but at present we need not give credence to the Russian reports. That the general situation of the war forces us to see the impulse for the Russian attack in agreements reached at the Paris conference. The purpose of the Russian offensive from the standpoint of great strategy would be attained if the armies of the central powers were forced to stop their own offensives and weaken their forces. This, however, is not noticeable, nor will it ever be achieved by the Russian attack. "For a short time the Russian spring offensive against Von Hindenburg showed some success. Four weeks later it ended in defeat. We hope the same thing will happen to the Russian offensive in the south."

IRISH SETTLEMENT IS APPARENTLY FAR OFF

Negotiations at Critical Stage and Little Optimism is Shown.

NEW YORK, June 15.—A special cable to The World from London says: "Negotiations for a settlement of the Irish question have reached a highly critical stage and there is little optimism among those engaged in them. In the first place the Ulster Unionists demand that the proposal settlement shall be definite and final, as far as the exclusion of six Ulster counties is concerned. This attitude, if persisted in, will destroy all hopes of agreement, as the purely provincial character of the proposed arrangement is only an offset offered to the Nationalists in Ulster and the other provinces for the exclusion of six Ulster counties. "John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, has met the Catholic bishops of Ulster and Cardinal Logue at Armagh to urge acceptance of Lloyd George's scheme. "Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, was engaged at the same time in reasoning with his Orangist followers to induce them to accept a provisional scheme."

AUSTRIANS' TRENCHES CAPTURED BY ITALIANS

Surprise Attack Gains Positions East of Monfalcone.

ROME, June 15.—A surprise attack was made yesterday on Austrian positions east of Monfalcone, the official statement of today announces that Italian troops captured Austrian trenches after a severe engagement, taking several hundred prisoners and seven machine guns. "The communication follows: "After intense artillery preparation yesterday evening a gallant Naples brigade, supported by dismounted cavalry detachments, in a surprise attack penetrated enemy lines east of Monfalcone. The trenches remained in our possession after a severe struggle. We captured 10 officers, 488 men and seven machine guns."

BRITISH START TO MOVE ALONG TIGRIS RIVER?

Turks Claim They Check British Attack Near Felahie.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 15.—Today's official statement says: "Iraq front: Near Felahie, during an engagement with a British squadron advancing on the right bank of the Tigris, the British were defeated and forced to retreat. "The Persian volunteers have been attacking the Russian forces since the recent Russian defeat, inflicting heavy losses upon the enemy. In the Euphrates sector a detachment of 400 British were annihilated by our volunteers. "On the left wing an enemy night attack against one of our advanced positions failed. "On June 11 our airplanes attacked the British camp on the Suez Canal, near Herman and Kantara."

PARIS, June 15.—Following the example of England, Germany, Italy and the Scandinavian countries, all clocks in France were put forward one hour at 11 o'clock last night in accordance with the daylight saving bill. The new method of calculating time will be continued until Oct. 1.

BRITISH WAIT ON JOFFRE'S ORDERS

Army in Flanders Stands Ready to Attack the Enemy.

WEST DRIVE TO BEGIN

Paris Supposes Allies in France Will Soon Smash Enemy.

PARIS, June 15.—Great interest has been aroused here by a statement made by Bonar Law to The Matin that the British army, completely in accord with General Joffre, was prepared to move whenever the French headquarters staff saw fit. The statement is accepted as a sufficient answer to the charge of British indifference to the French losses before Verdun. The press expresses much satisfaction over Bonar Law's frank statement. From the outset the military authorities here have insisted that it would be playing Germany's game to move before the psychological moment and have scouted anti-British rumors as idle or malicious gossip. Bonar Law's statement will go far to reassure the people here.

There is reason to believe that in addition to the great Russian offensive order way against the Austrians and another already begun against the Germans on the northern part of that line, a third is about to be launched by the British in the west, if this last is not now under way. "For weeks there have been unmistakable signs of a great British offensive impending when the Germans before the British line had been reduced to a minimum and propitious offensives had begun by the allies in other quarters. "The British front formerly extended from the Belgian front, which ends about ten miles north of Ypres, for about thirty-two miles down to about the same distance from Arras. In the last week in March the British replaced the French as far as the Royo Railway, south of the Somme, and thus occupied a front of about ninety miles. In March the British retook the French position in the southern sector, the French going, it is believed, to Verdun. The advance was made without any offensive on the part of the Germans. "Keep Few Men in Front. "From the latest evidence of Sir Douglas Haig's report of May 19, the British have 450,000 on the line and the Germans 500,000. It is well known that the Germans keep the bulk of their forces on the firing line, while the French and English, unless attacked, do not have more than a third of their forces exposed to the normal condition of a dormant front. They depend on the vigilance of their officers on the first line to notice signs of a severe engagement and then send reserves to meet the advance of the enemy, when they thus save thousands of lives during the daily artillery duel. "In these circumstances, the British force under Sir Douglas Haig should be about 1,800,000. Opposite him there are forty German divisions, exclusive of cavalry, or 800,000 men of all ranks. This aggregate, according to a British military expert, "may represent in combatants 500,000 rifles and over 800,000 men. It is an accountable concentration, and we must further assume that the drafts to make good losses are in the field depots behind the German lines."

PERLEY IS NOMINATED.

He Will Represent Canada in Imperial Institute.

LONDON, June 15.—The Dominion Government has nominated Sir George Perley for the executive council of the Imperial Institute. The fall statement made when the institution opened in 1893, caused a rapid decline in public interest, but with the transference of the colonial office, and reconstitution of management, it is hoped it will come fully into its own. The most pressing need for energies in the way of coordinating resources of the empire for trade after the war.

RALLY IN NINTH NOSED OUT ROYALS

Loosely Played Game Goes to Leafs After Staging Swat-fest in Closing Round.

MONTREAL, June 15.—The Toronto Leafs looked like a very bad baseball team for eight innings today, but for eight innings the Royals looked like champions. Unfortunately for the Leafs, in the ninth inning the Royals looked like the champions and the Leafs like the tailenders. When the ninth inning came the crowd started to go home. The Royals had a 4 to 2 lead and the game looked to be packed away. But after playing some very mediocre ball in the earlier innings the Leafs seized this final frame for a spectacular rally, and during five runs scored today and the game swung up almost before the dazed spectators could realize it. The final was 7 to 6 for Toronto.

WAR BONDS DECLINE

Canadian Railway Issues Showed Only Activity in Rails.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The market was in the doldrums during the greater part of today's irregular session.

Prices received their initial reversal in the forenoon when extensive offerings of Anglo-French war bonds caused a decline of a substantial fraction of a point. It was regarded as being not unlikely that liquidation of these bonds was being effected to an extent by the belief that other and probably more attractive foreign loans are soon to be offered here.

ROSE DAY A SUCCESS IN SPITE OF THE RAIN

Army of Pretty Workers Report Splendid Returns in Aid of Children's Institutions.

SCHOOLS RESPOND WELL

Pupils Throat the City Heartily Co-operate and Contributions Were Large.

Because of the rain Rose Day sales were practically confined to the morning hours, yet the sellers have secured a total of $13,867.07 for the kiddies, with 23 schools still to send in their returns.

Downhearted, did you say? Little you know the women and girls—the Daughters of the Empire who sold roses on the streets of Toronto yesterday when you said that question. It takes more than a few beads of rain to dismay the lives and spirits of the women who have seen months in the trenches. No when Ole Roi hid his face and gave way to the vile of Plutus, the vendors of roses just scurried to the big doorways, from the protection when you said that question. MAYONNAISE READY FOR HEAVY SALADS

Dressing That is Always Appropriate for Meat and Fish Dishes.

HOW TO HAVE IT NICE

Some Suggestions and Rules to Govern Housekeeper in Preparing for Supper.

For every meat salad and many fish salads, in fact, for every heavy salad, mayonnaise dressing is appropriate. Few people know that there is more than one kind of mayonnaise, however; and even with the sort most frequently made one must coo with the difficulty of curdling. This is usually a very simply overcome. In the first place, the eggs must be fresh, and in the second place, the oil must be at about the temperature of the room in which it is to be served. Thirdly, the oil must not be added too rapidly at the start. Never use congealed oil; even too cold an oil is apt to produce curdling. Again, one must guard against an excess of oil in proportion to the number of yolks of eggs. The right proportion is two and a half ounces of oil to each egg. One may use three ounces of oil if the dressing is served immediately.

An immense tent has been erected for this concert, which is being held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the battalion.

UNION OPPONENTS TO KEEP UP FIGHT

Legal Struggle Over Possession of Presbyterian Property in Prospect.

TO MEET IN TORONTO

Rev. Dr. Winchester Says Assembly's Vote Hasn't Settled Issue.

WINNIPEG, June 15.—About fifty of the opponents of church union from among the delegates to the Presbyterian General Assembly held a meeting this morning and made preliminary plans for their continuation as the Presbyterian Church of Canada. They took the ground, it is understood, that the majority of the assembly had voted themselves out of the church. The minority decided to organize a committee for each province, to keep in touch with a central committee to fight church union. Each provincial committee will engage legal advice to fight the legislation and that is necessary to consummate union.

SOLDIERS' COMFORTS SENT TO TRENCHES

At the executive committee meeting of the Women's Conservative Club it was reported that the shipment made for soldiers at the front in the past ten days consisted of the following: 2484 pairs of socks, 300 gauze undershirts, 14 pairs pillow slips, 6 pairs blankets, 4 quilts, some sets woolen underwear, magazines, wash cloths, playing cards, tobacco, etc.

It was further reported that the above shipments were sent for distribution thru the Canadian War Contingents Association, the Canadian Field Comforts Commission, and thru various other ways.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

"I think we ought to have some one in to cut up that old tree for logs," said the wife.

"None sense!" replied the husband. "I'll be fine exercise for me. I'll go out and see the logs myself."

For half an hour he persisted. The tree was two logs, a broken saw, a pair of trousers scorched by saw. It was at this point that he went indoors and said: "My dear, after all, I think at this time of the year the logging gardeners will need work. I'll ask a man to come round and finish the job."

INTERESTING WRAPS OF PRETTY SILKS

"Cool Evening" Scarfs Are Lovely Affairs of Lace and Silk.

Another garment which Fashion recently launched is the quaint wrap of taffeta, recalling those worn about 30 years ago. It is ample proportions and is ornamented with fringed or pinked ruchings of the silk. Corded shirtings are also favored for trimming these charming mantles, which are to be had in plain colors or changeable weaves. These fashions from the past are duplicated with such perfect taste that they seem to be taken intact from the lavender-scented chests wherein they were stored for so long a time.

Outing Neckwear

As THIS is the season when sports are taking up most of one's time, clothes are planned with this in view, and neckwear is no exception to the general rule. Even when not actually used as sports accessories, it is desired to give that air to the tailor-made suit or the traveling costume. Separate collars are best, as they admit of freshening up a blouse as well as brightening the suit, and with them come separate cuffs and sometimes waistcoats. Pique is perhaps the most popular material, and the best sets are perfectly plain except, perhaps, the extra adornment of buttoned collars. Plain embroidery, however, is sometimes used.

Large collars of shantung silk, natural color, are made along sailor lines, striped silks in sports colors are also used, the whole collar being made of the material or just an edge of it used around a plain colored silk. In the more elaborate styles hand-embroidery is introduced.

Striped borders and trimmings are also used on white batista and organdie collars which are to be worn with striped dresses. Ties to match are affected.

With the tailored navy blue suit you may have a fine linen collar in the natural creamy shade or else one of French gray. Either of these is becoming with the blue, the latter especially forming neutral background for color effects.

Breathlessly a wild-eyed individual rushed into a Cincinatti hair shop, hat collar and tie were off in a flash, and he sprang into the chair of the barber.

"I want a shave and a hair cut, and I have only fifteen minutes to spare. Old Hans stopped to consider. "Which do you want the most?" he asked the flapping customer.

"A shave!"

"A shave?"

As Hans took about fifteen minutes to shave the man, the purpose of his visit to the barber's was explained.

"Time friend, don't ever again ask a barber to cut your hair and shave you in fifteen minutes, you might find a barber dot would do it."

What Is Really "Junk"?

HOUSEHOLD HELPS By ISOBEL BRANDS

It is a difficult matter sometimes to make a quick decision as to what is "junk" and what is worth saving.

There is one over-ecological household policy never to "throw out" anything. To throw away the oldest little dress or bit of furniture or waste, and the counts it a virtue to save everything regardless. As a consequence, part of the high rental of her modern apartment goes for storage space to accommodate old articles which she intends to donate to some charity on some day, but most of which will never be used by anyone.

On the other hand, it is a characteristic of the younger housekeepers to throw away everything immediately. The particular article is partly out of commission, or "out of fashion," or "slightly worn so that it almost seems shabby."

Before deciding the fate of any object that has passed its first era of usefulness, apply these three tests:

Can I use this for anything else?
Can anyone else find a practical use for it?
Will it cost anything to save it for possible later use?

Sometimes there seems no immediate use for some object, and we are torn between the conflicting temptation to get it out of the way quickly and the desire to "save it" because some day we may need it. The point to consider then is, will it cost anything to save it?

If you have space in some storage closet or cellar where the articles will not be spoiled, you run no risk in saving it for possible use. On the other hand, if you are in an apartment where space is at a premium, you are likely to pay for the material in order to accommodate a few articles which are not paying anything for their keep in the way of immediate service!

But if you have decided that the article is most fit for usefulness, that nobody else can use it and that it is unnecessary to keep it, don't just throw it away so that it will be burned up and utterly wasted. So much that we consider "junk" to be burned up has some possible use of which we don't know. For example, a bundle of old clothes that are in rags should never be burned up or thrown out carelessly, for these have many possible good uses. Rags make some necessary cheap carpets, and fine-roofing material, and, most important of all—paper.

I say most important, because we are told this country is threatened with a serious shortage of paper. In fact, we have been compelled to import from a considerable quantity of rags that are needed to manufacture paper. It's getting to be almost a patriotic duty to save your old clothes and rags for the ragman, who will see that they are turned again into the useful channels of industry.

Quantities of paper, too, should not wantonly be burned. Old newspapers can be used over again by the paper manufacturers, and in some neighborhoods hundreds of pounds of paper are burned and so utterly wasted each month.

Whenever you decide about your "old junk," don't throw it away uselessly. It may be useless to you, and useless to any one else in its present form. But you should remember to start with the old clothes man it will surely get a new lease of life somewhere, and perhaps emerge, butterfly fashion, out of its worn-out old caterpillarized coat!

Diary of a Well-Dressed Girl

By SYLVIA GERARD

Solving the Problem of a Practical Coat for All-Round Summer Wear.

When I had spread all of my new clothes about the room for Clara Wentworth to see, I thought that I had about as complete an outfit as any girl in moderate circumstances. Everything was in good taste, and while I couldn't boast of a single frock that was extravagantly elaborate, they were all good-looking and becoming.

While Clara examined this or that, I tried on that, I turned over in my mind what she had said to me at the foolishly small amount. I also picked up to begin. Gladly or unwillingly, some being out of the way—she school closes the end of May and she will be "traged out" as usual.

Two days before I had my clothes in the closets, a letter came inviting me to a luncheon followed by a bridge. I picked up to begin. Gladly or unwillingly, some being out of the way—she school closes the end of May and she will be "traged out" as usual.

THE AMATEUR GARDENER

Hope certainly springs eternal when it comes to gardening. Every spring I resolve that my garden shall exceed all previous ones, and every fall I realize that it has been a disappointment. The amateur gardener has much with which to contend, and nature's everyday work is not the least of her trials. According to Mr. Warner, our relations with nature might be more peaceful if we would let her make the garden according to her own notions. She appears to content us at every step of the way and reinforced herself with a variety of bugs, worms and weeds that were unknown to the savage state, in order to make war upon the things of our planting.

In doing my garden work I am hampered not a little by two faithful companions—my dog and my cat. No matter where I leave them, they invariably find me out and appear on the scene soon after I am there myself. "Sunny" the cat, hides among the foliage of the hollyhocks and peonies and makes unexpected sallies just as I am ready to sow seed. "Bobby Burns," the Scotch terrier, curls up on a nap upon the bed I have planted and I leave him there in the hope that he may warm the soil.

An observation of Mr. Warner concerning the garden will make whenever one is absent for a week or so awakens memories of similar experiences. Nothing appears to change while one watches and coddles a garden, but as soon as one goes away and the plants are left to their own devices they simply seem to jump, and the weeds, too.

Never have I been absent in summer without noticing this fact on my return. It was more noticeable when the children were small and we migrated to the seashore for a month or so. The change that I discovered on the place when we came home was fairly startling. The lawn, untrampled by little feet, was green and soft; the ferns around the piazza stood up in tall, even rows, with no bent or broken fronds; everywhere I noticed the same order, the same luxuriant growth that comes when things are left alone. It was always a surprise to me, and the change that came later, and usually in less than a day after the children's return, was equally astonishing!

Window Shades for Living Room

A pleasant summer living-room recently done-over, was treated to hangings, chair cushions and table-cover of a quaint chintz showing oval medallions of gay flowers laid at intervals against a background of soft gray stripes. When the curtains were hung, it was found that the holland shades were quite out of harmony with the chintz. The ingenious woman who had the problem in hand promptly had some new shades made of unbleached muslin, held taut with a small brass rod in the hem instead of the usual strip of wood. Just above the hem she applied several of the flowered medallions cut from the chintz. The light shining thru them gave a pretty effect, and the shades were a novel and consistent addition to the room.

Cauliflowers should be replanted once before they are planted permanently. Transplanted plants have the strongest root growth, and give the best heads of cauliflower.

ODD FACTS

The works of Charles Dickens contain 1425 different characters.

There are nearly 40 thorofores in London with unmistakably German names.

It is estimated that one seed of cotton, given the application of all possible care and skill, would produce forty thousand million seeds in six years.

From Russia we learn that an electrical process is being tried for the manufacture of gold leaf, heretofore made only by hand.

When seals are born they are snow-white, which makes them invisible on the ice on which they are born. Their eyes and noses are, however, black, and when the little ones are suddenly alarmed they close their eyes, bury their noses, and lie quite still. It is only when they grow over and over seek their own food that they become dark and sleek.

It has been shown that frogs survive a pressure of 300 atmospheres, but at 400 atmospheres their muscles become disorganized. Bacteria are killed by a pressure of 3000 atmospheres.

A very serviceable waterproof is the raincoat of Mitsumata paper made from the leaves and stems of a small shrub which grows in the mountains of Japan. Until a few years ago its existence was unknown to the outside world.

A small quantity of Epsom salts dissolved in a teacupful of water is said to provide a neat and efficient "headlight dimmer" for motor cars. The solution is used on the inside of the headlight glass, where it is allowed to evaporate. The result is a beautifully frosted lens, the frosting on which lasts for several months.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S STORY

By ROSE WILDER LANE. (Copyright, 1916)

CHAPTER XXIII.

In which he starts a promoter, dreams a great triumph, and is hit by scrapers and buffalo, and waits long for a message.

America! Fred Carno! The words went off like rockets in my mind, bursting into thousands of summer-ling ideas. Fred Carno, the biggest comedy producer in London, a man who could by a word make me a star, and who had been a comedian in Europe! I could already see the press notices: "Charles Chaplin, the great comedian, in the spectacular comedy production—'Fred Carno,' that strange country across the sea, where I had heard, men thought no more of half-New York, where they thought of splendence; then thirty floors high, and the light; Chicago, where the times meant came from, and, between vast plains covered with buffalo and wild forests, where, as the train plunged thru them at tremendous speed, I might see from the compartment window, the American red men around their camp. The man at my side was saying that there was a chance to go to America with Carno!

"Go, see him, old chap. Please do," the old comedian begged me. "Hill see you quick enough, he keeps me waiting in his offices like a dog. And say a word for me; just get me a chair to see him. I've put you onto a good thing, what you won't forget old friends, will you, now?"

"—certainly not, certainly not," I assured him, hotly. "Now I think of it, Freddie was mentioning to me the other day something about sending a company over to America. An extra shilling if you very next time, on my word—I'll mention your name. You can expect on the then, waving away his fervid thanks, and declining kindly his suggestion to have a glass of bitter, I hurriedly drove away, eager to be alone and think over the dazzling prospect. My own small success seemed flat enough beside it. America—Fred Carno! After all, why not? I asked myself. I could make money, and I could be a star again, and who could do it better. Just let me have a chance to show my stuff, and I'll be so excited that I could feel the blood beating in my temples, and every nerve quivering, as I hurriedly drove home with my cane and called the driver to take me to Carno's quick. "An extra shilling if you do it in five minutes!" I cried, and sat on the edge of the seat as the cab lurched and swayed, hoping only that I could get there before all the girls were gone.

I walked into Carno's offices with a quick, assured step, hiding my excitement and a great effort kept my hand from trembling as I gave my card to the office boy. He acknowledged it and called to mind all the press notices I had received up to two years with Casey's Circus while I waited trying to gain an assurance I did not feel, for Carno was a very big man, indeed. When the office boy returned and ushered me into the inner office I felt my knees unsteady, and I was waiting for my chair. "Ah, you got here quickly," Mr. Carno said, pleasantly, waving me to a chair, and this unexpected reception completed my confusion.

"Oh, yes, I was—I happened to be going by," I replied, dazed.

Mr. Carno leaned back in his chair, carefully fitting his finger into together and looked at me keenly, with his lips pursed up. I said nothing more, being doubtful just what to say, and after a minute he sat up very briskly and spoke.

"As I mentioned in my note," he began, and the office seemed to explode into fireworks about me. He had sent me a note. He wanted me, then. I could make my own terms. And perhaps I could use you for next season, he finished whatever he had said.

"Yes," I said, promptly. "In your American company?"

"My American company? Well, no. That is still very indefinite," he replied. "But I can give you a good part with 'Repulse' in the provinces. Thirty weeks, at three pounds."

"No, I would not consider that," I answered, firmly. "I'll take a part in your American company, at six pounds."

"Six pounds!—that was an enormous salary, twice as much as I had ever received. I was aghast as I heard the words, but I said doggedly to myself that I would stand by them. I was a great comedian, Fred Carno himself had sent for me; I was worth six pounds."

"Six pounds! It's unheard of," I said, confidently, and Mr. Carno said, sharply: "Six pounds, not a farthing less," I insisted.

"In that case, I am afraid I can't use you. Good morning," he answered, and I said doggedly to myself that I would stand by them. I was a great comedian, Fred Carno himself had sent for me; I was worth six pounds."

FIRST EDNA GOODRICH PHOTOPLAY RELEASED

The Making of "Maddalena" Has Exceptionally Strong Cast.

The initial Edna Goodrich photoplay, to be released on the Paramount program, has been finished at the West Coast studios. "The Making of Maddalena" is the title of the next Morosco offering, and will be released June 8.

"The Making of Maddalena" is expected to score another triumph for its producers. Included in the cast are such players as Forrest Stanley, Howard Davies, John Burton, Mary Mersch, Juan de la Cruz and Colin Chase. Simultaneous with the completion of "The Making of Maddalena" another company has commenced work on Mme. Rita Jolivet's vehicle, "An International Marriage," by George Broadhurst. This is expected to be Mr. Broadhurst's initial subject for the Paramount program, as a result of his recent affiliation with the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company, and is planned for release in July.

RIDING HORSES DORIS PAWN'S BEST PASTIME

Fair-Haired Nebraska Maid Not Caught by Motor Car Craze.

If Doris Pawn has one hobby more than another it is horseback riding. She proves her ability to do this in the new western drama, "Blue Blood and Red." Unlike most filmland stars, she does not fancy the automobile, although those who see that picture will observe that she can drive a machine as well as a horse.

Miss Pawn comes honestly by her love of horseflesh. She was raised in a small town in Nebraska, where she rode much in her girlhood and learned to keep on top without "pulling leather" or committing any other cowboy disgraces. She is foremost among those motion picture actresses who have shown that they can do daring riding for the "public's camera."

"This little, golden-haired Fox star frequently forgoes her luncheon hour in order to take a canter between working periods. She is one of those few new arrivals who stick to the horse as against greater horsepower in machinery.

John Barrymore is credited with "great acting" in the part of the weak and undernourished clerk of John Galsworthy's notable play "Justice." This sensational masterpiece of Galsworthy's has made a profound impression in New York.

THRILLING PHOTODRAMA SEEN AT HIS MAJESTY'S

"Alien Souls" With Sessue Hayakawa is the Big Attraction.

How the ancient Japanese ceremony of betrothing children when they are hardly out of their cradles, influences the lives and destinies of two Americanized Nipponese, is graphically shown in the thrilling photodrama, "Alien Souls," the Laskey production which is being shown at His Majesty's Theatre today with Sessue Hayakawa in the stellar role. Mr. Hayakawa created such a furore by his wonderful performance with Fannie Ward in "The Cheat," that the public demanded he be given a starring vehicle. The Laskey Company accordingly commissioned Hector Turnbull, the noted dramatist, who was responsible for "The Cheat" to write a photodrama for the alien star. Mr. Hayakawa is supported by an all-star cast including such prominent artists as Earle Foxe, Florence Smythe, Robert Grey, Grace Benham and Isabelle Malone. It is a Paramount attraction.

SHE HOPES THAT HOOPS COME INTO VOGUE AGAIN

Jessie Stevens Has Quite a Time Trying to Keep Up With the Styles.

Jessie Stevens, whose cheerful countenance and attractive screen personality, combined with the many years that she has been in Edison pictures, has made her almost an institution in the silent drama, is feeling encouraged these days. Jessie, as her many admirers know, is decidedly plump and stout, and she has been worried by the styles has been almost too much for her in the past few years. Hobble skirts and other varieties of tight or clinging garments do not afford ideal raiment for Jessie, and feminine fancy has been persistent in keeping to such styles during the past few years.

But some of the latest styles, in which flaring skirts are very apparent, have encouraged her to hope that better times are coming. "There must be more than women than fat."

John Wycliffe completed the translation of the whole Bible for the first time into the language of the English people. He was born near Richmond, in Yorkshire, Eng., about 1524.

WILL APPEAR IN SECOND PICTURE

Madame Bertha Kalich, who is starring in the motion picture drama under the direction of William Fox, will shortly appear in her second photoplay under his management.

This will be in "Ambition," an even stronger play than "Slender," in which she made her first appearance. Mme. Kalich, believes that she will surpass her work in "Slender" in her next picture.

Nona Thomas, the Nymf ingenue, advances all young actresses to take dancing-lessons in order to acquire poise and grace of motion. She says it made a wonderful difference in her own acting and moreover gave her a confidence she otherwise could not have acquired as easily.
