GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

IMPERIAL'S PROGRAMME MONDAY

Barney Bernard, the famous Hebrew comedian of Polish the Perlmutter fame, who won his way to the hearts of St. John picture lovers a short time ago at the Imperial, in the Vitagraph production "Phantom Fortunes," will be the star at the Keith house again on Monday in the second production of his series, entitled "A Prince in a Pawnshop." This is not so much comedy as it is a human document dealing with Hebrew life in the city of New York with Mr. Bernard playing the role of David Solomon, philanthropist, philosopher, banker and pawnbroker. His ingenious method of making the rich pay for the poor, appears amusing yet logical and a fine moral lesson is taught throughout the splendid live reels. The picture has a pronounced strain of domestic life running through it and contains an unusual heart-punch that will make it most appealing to every watcher. Barney Bernard is one of the great men in moving pictures today and his fame as a comedian in the United States is widespread. The remainder of the Imperial's programme on Monday will consist of "The Climbers," that famous creation of a famous play writer, is one of the best comedy-dramas that has visited the bigger cities.

"THE CLIMBERS"

Next Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon is the time; the Opera House is the place; the presentation of "The Climbers" is the occasion. This play will be the big patriotic entertainment for next week and it promises to be the best amateur performance seen in St. John for some years. "The Climbers," that famous creation of a famous play writer, is one of the best comedy-dramas that has visited the bigger cities. It will be presented under the auspices of Brunswick Chapter, I.O.D.E. and the personal direction of Mrs. A. G. Wilson and will be played by the best troop of amateurs yet got together on a local stage. Secure your tickets now. Monday is exclusive at the local box office for the exchange of advance tickets. Next Thursday evening the first performance of "The Climbers" will be "Governor's Night" and Friday will be known as "Military Night."

FIRST SHOW AT THE UNIQUE TONIGHT, 6.45

In order to accommodate the large number who wish to see Charlie Chaplin in "The Pawn Shop," the first show at the Unique this evening will begin at 6.45. The comedy will show four times. Be sure you see it.

SPECIAL SHOW ALL NEXT WEEK

On Wednesday and Thursday, Robert Edson, one of the greatest screen favorites, will be seen in "Man's Prerogative," a special Reliance feature. Helen Holmes will be shown next Friday and Saturday in the tenth chapter of "The Girl and the Game."

SEE THIS PROGRAMME AT THE GEM TONIGHT

Genuine Surprise. The tragedian boasted that nature was his only teacher. "That expression of surprise that you assume in the second act of your latest play—is that copied from nature, too?" an admirer asked.

"It is," said the tragedian. "But I had no end of trouble in getting it. To secure that expression I asked an intimate friend to lend me $25. He refused. That caused me no surprise. I tried several other friends. They refused. Still I was not surprised. Finally I asked one who was willing to oblige me, and as he handed me the money I studied in a glass the expression of my own face. I saw surprise there, but it was not what I wanted; it was alloyed with the suspicion that the money might be counterfeit. I was in despair. Where should I find genuine surprise?"

"Well," said his admirer, "where did you get it?" "Then an idea struck me," the tragedian said. "I resolved upon a desperate course. I returned the $25 to my friend the next day, and on his astounded countenance I saw the expression I was in search of."

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "Fruit Laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, headache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Peeling the Skin is Better Than Bleaching

Ever since the discovery that mercurized wax would absorb and remove a discolored complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for bleaching creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficent cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quite apparent, and ladies who have been paying high prices for "special waxes" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercurized wax outranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all drug stores, who have it in their original one-ounce packages. The best way of using it is to apply it like cold cream, before retiring, and to rub it in the morning.

The salicylic lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. Its outer powder makes it dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect in erasing wrinkles and improving contour.

Does Total Abstinence Pay?

During the past thirty years, The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company has maintained two separate Departments known as the Abstinence Section and the General Section, thereby classifying Total Abstainers and Non-Abstainers.

The result has been that the Abstainer has shown himself a much superior risk to the Non-Abstainer, and our statistics in this regard are considered the most authentic of their kind on the continent.

Appreciating the superiority of the Abstainer as a Life Insurance risk, we give three eligible for insurance in this class the benefit of special plans and rates. Our statistics prove they are deserving of them. Why not ascertain what we have to offer before placing your insurance?

Upon receipt of your name and address, we shall be pleased to send you our little booklet "Total Abstainers vs. Moderate Drinkers." Insurance issued to women on these special plans as well as to men.

MISS KATHLEEN BURKE PAID VISIT TO VERDUN
 She Met Gen. Joffre, Nivelle and Dubois and Watched an Artillery Duel; Charming Letter From French Commander

(Ottawa Citizen.)
 Miss Kathleen Burke, honorary organizing secretary of the Scottish Women's Hospital for Foreign Service, addressed an open meeting at the Russell Theatre last evening in behalf of that noble organization, under the joint auspices of the Canadian Club, and the Ottawa chapters of the Daughters of the Empire. This gifted young woman described her remarkable experiences during a recent visit to the French front at Verdun. Miss Burke was introduced by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, and the address was one of the greatest interest owing to its sincerity and freshness of material. In an interview on her Verdun experience, Miss Burke said:

"We left Paris one morning, slept the night at Vitry-le-Francois, went all over the battlefields of the Marne, and then went to find General Petain, to see where we might go and where we might not, further on. General Petain, you know, is the original commander of Verdun. He now commands the army of the Marne and the army of Verdun is under General Nivelle."

"I asked permission to go to Verdun. He explained in a most fatherly way, that there would be great dangers, but when he saw that I really wanted to go he telephoned for permission from General Nivelle."

Near Bursting Shell.
 "We stayed for some time at Verdun watching an artillery duel. Of course, the noise was appalling, but somehow the sound of fifty or sixty guns going off at once doesn't worry me as much as one alone. The most exciting moment was when a shell burst some two hundred feet from our car. That acted as a most excellent shaper for our appetites, and I decided to go into a restaurant and have lunch."

"We lunch with General Dubois, the officer in command at Verdun, and 120 of his officers, and were feted and petted and generally spoiled. They made us the prettiest speeches, and I made a speech in return, beginning in English, as I found most of them understood it—and ending in French. It was quite a little festivity."

"It was extraordinary how pleased everyone was to see two women there. Our visit was clearly quite an event, and from the youngest Poilu up to the general they were one broad grin. Heads popped up out of the trenches as word went round that ladies were coming, and everybody began to take an interest in the best of his ability. Coats were slipped on, caps straightened, collars fastened and there was a general air of animation."

"The night was spent at Bois-le-Duc, where we lunched the following day with General Nivelle, and then passed on to the next general, who gave us permission to go into Rheims. Here we visited the cathedral and other public buildings, and saw everything that was to be seen, including the children at school in the champagne caves. Next we went on to General Joffre, to whom I brought a letter of introduction from a French general in New York."

From General Nivelle.

Miss Burke has since received the following letter from General Nivelle:

"Mademoiselle, I am most touched by your amiable letter and almost confused by your thanks, when it is really we who have to thank you for your devotion and the help you have given to our wounded."

"The work you are undertaking merits the sympathy of all the great civilized nations, and I am sure that America will respond more to your appeal."

"I am well aware of the sentiments of love and respect for France that you have expressed so often with such warmth of heart and with a talent that is now universally recognized. You have already done a great service for France and for our wounded."

"Once more, thanks for the interest you have taken in our men. It is one more link of sympathy between our two great nations, united now by an affection which has been sealed in the blood of the sons of Britain and of France."

"Receive, Mademoiselle, the expression of my homage and my respectful and devoted regards."

"GENERAL NIVELLE."

RHEUMATISM IN THE BLOOD
 It Can Only Be Cured by Thoroughly Enriching the Blood Supply.

Not so long ago rheumatism was looked upon as a pain in the muscles or joints brought on by exposure to dampness or bad weather. Now doctors know that it is rooted in the blood, and while exposure may start the pain, nothing but the removal of the poisonous acid from the blood will cure the trouble. It is a waste of both time and money to try to cure rheumatism with liniments, poultices or anything that only goes skin deep. Rubbing lotions into the skin may give temporary relief, but it actually helps to circulate the poisonous acid more freely and thus in the end increases the trouble, and perhaps leaves the sufferer permanently crippled. The one cure, the only cure for rheumatism is to drive the acid which causes the trouble out of the blood. To do this no other remedy can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which actually make new blood, sweep out the poisonous acids, loosen the stiffened, aching joints, and bring good health and comfort. Here is the proof. Mr. Joseph Crouse, of Ninevah, N. S., says: "For several years I was severely afflicted with rheumatism. The trouble seemed to locate in all the joints in my body, and my suffering at times was most intense, and the disease greatly interfered with my activity. I doctored steadily for a long time, but the trouble was obstinate and did not yield in the least to the doctor's treatment. One day a friend told me of some cures of rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and strongly advised me to try eight boxes completely cured me of the trouble, and I was as supple, active and free from pain, as ever I had been in my life. Better still, I have never felt a symptom of the trouble since."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRIPLETS BORN BY A CAESARIAN METHOD
 Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Georgiana Bergeron, wife of John Bergeron of Aldenville, has given birth to triplets in the Providence Hospital by a Caesarian operation performed by Dr. E. F. Sullivan. The triplets are a boy and two girls. The girls weigh six pounds each and the boy five and three quarter pounds. The mother and children were doing well. The children appear especially strong and healthy.

MANY NEGROES MOVE NORTH
 Washington, D.C., Nov. 4.—More than 10,000 men, mostly negroes, are said to have gone from Florida alone to northern points, particularly Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, to take employment offered them in block during the last two or three months, so the department of justice has been informed. Other Southern States have contributed to the exodus.

 For many years wearers of Neckties have noticed the defects due to the curling of the interlining, becomes bumpy and unsightly, so as to soon make the Tie unfit for use, yet a solution had never been found until Mr. Hey thought of using rubber for the lining; being non-creaseable, it preserves the shape of the Tie.

The Rubber-lined Necktie will wear longer and is consequently better value than any other.

THE WESTERN FARMERS MAY WORK ON SUNDAY

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg, has announced that arrangements had been made between the Ottawa government, the attorney-general of Alberta, whereby there would be no prosecutions for urgent work carried on in the provinces on Sunday in connection with threshing operations.

The Royal Northwest Mounted Police have been notified to act accordingly.

This action has been taken in view of the extraordinary conditions that exist in the two provinces. A great proportion of the crop has still to be threshed, and it is felt that at a time like this there is justification in the decision to allow the farmers to work on Sunday.

Regulations are being promulgated to prevent abuse of the new order. Only urgent work will be permitted.

THE SHIRKERS

A Round-up By Police in England

(Weekly Scotsman).

Raid by the police in search of eligible men for the army were made on Saturday at picture houses, theatres, a football ground, and at the seaside in England, with varying degrees of success.

At Ormskirk the raid was conducted at picture palaces in a novel way. On the screen appeared the words, "All men of military age please stand up." Then the lights were turned on, and all who stood were asked for exemption certificates.

Many were without, and they were taken to the recruiting office, and were to report themselves this morning.

A force of police and special constables at Colwyn Bay accosted men on the front and in the queues outside the places of amusement, and about 100 were unable to respond to the queries of the police in a satisfactory manner, and were escorted to the police station, where they were interrogated by military officers.

Among the number were three English sergeants who had dressed in overalls and were wearing flannels. The net result of the raid was that six men were found unable to account for their absence from the forces. They were informed that they would be called up within fourteen days.

stead of jerking it." The girls are also very clever at shaving and actually learn the art more quickly than men (says the Daily News). "The girls are nicer, nearer, cleaner and quicker, and don't annoy customers by stupid attempts to make conversation."

The Woman Barber

Lady barbers are proving remarkably successful in the better class of West End hairdressing establishments in London. They have almost entirely supplanted the foreign assistants who were formerly the mainstay of the trade. "There are several reasons why I prefer to have my hair cut by a woman," said a man who had just emerged from a barber's shop near Russell Square. "She doesn't slip the brilliantine all over my head, in spite of protests, as nearly all the men do. She doesn't stuff the cotton wool violently between my neck and my collar, but inserts it gently with the points of her fingers. She also clips the comb through my hair in-

WILL PAY $10 FOR HAY.

Official announcement is made by the federal department of agriculture that a quantity of hay will be purchased in Carleton and Victoria counties this season for the British War Office. The department adds that the price for baled hay will be $10 a ton f. o. b. cars and also that the hay will be compressed at Woodstock. At least 60 per cent of the hay will be timothy, the balance to be clover or other tame grasses mixed, of good color, sound and well cured. The hay will be inspected at the railway stations in Carleton and Victoria counties.

The War Office has intimated that much less Canadian hay will be required for army use this season compared with last year, and farmers are warned against unnecessary expense in baling hay of a lower grade than is mentioned.

The attendance at the Boys' Club is larger than in any previous season.

SUCCESSFUL PIE SOCIAL
The True Blue pie social and dance in Orange Hall last evening was a great success. About $35 was realized to purchase boxes for boys at the front. Paul Holmes of the 165th was auctioneer, and men of the 180th Battalion were also present. Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. D. Cummings were the promoters of the affair, which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Cummings has one son, William, at the front, and the other son, Gordon, aged seventeen, has enlisted at Halifax as a chauffeur.

PRICES GO UP
At a well attended meeting of the St. John Stove and Sheet Metal Dealers' Association held in the Board of Trade rooms last evening, a general discussion took place regarding conditions arising from recent advances in metals. It was decided that there is an increase in price of galvanized and black sheet iron would take effect in the near future. Although many of the dealers were averse to advancing prices, the majority thought necessary and passed. Harold Wilson president and D. J. Barrett officiated as secretary.

MRS. FRANCIS MAHANEY
The death of Mrs. Eliza Mahaney, wife of Francis Mahaney, of 46 St. James street, occurred suddenly on Friday as the result of an attack of apoplexy. She was formerly Miss Eliza Burke of Newfoundland. For several years the family resided in Lunenburg, N. S., before removing to St. John, where they have lived for several years. Besides her husband, Mrs. Mahaney leaves four sons, John in the Canadian Northwest; Frank in Lunenburg, and Frederick and William in this city. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from her late residence, the service commencing at 2.30 o'clock.

DOUBLE NOVELTY SHOWER
A very interesting and pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Tait, Brookville, on last Tuesday, when she entertained in honor of two popular young ladies, Miss C. A. Ryan and Miss Edith Sutherland, who expect to take part in an event of some interest in the very near future. The entertainment was in the form of a novelty shower and the evening being Halloween, the fairies were at work and the gifts were mysteriously concealed in an exceptionally large pumpkin and guarded by a very fair witch. Both young brides-to-be are members of the Brookville branch of the S. C. C. C. While best wishes will follow them to their new homes, their severance of relations with the branch will be deeply regretted by the girls they leave behind.

U. S. SEEKS GERMAN SECRET
Washington, Nov. 4.—Naval experts are examining two pieces of metal taken from a German Zeppelin destroyed while raiding England. The metal will be analyzed with a view to determining its exact composition. It resembles aluminum, but is considerably heavier and much stronger. Reports from abroad some time ago stated that neither the British nor the French scientists had been able to determine the exact constituent parts of this German metal.

WHEAT TUMBLING
Chicago, Nov. 4.—Wheat prices weakened today, influenced by a fall of 7c in quotations at Buenos Ayres, where reports pointed to further beneficial rains for south and central Argentina. The opening, which ranged from 1c to 2 1/2c lower, with December at 18 1/2c and May at 18 3/4c to 18 1/2c, was followed by a moderate rally and then a sag lower than before.

GIRL'S NECK BROKEN BUT SHE RECOVERS
Brookton, Nov. 4.—Marie I. Hayes, aged 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin J. Hayes of Carleton Place, was discharged from a Boston hospital.

Her neck was broken last August, when she fell. She still wears a cast about her neck, but within a few weeks this will be removed. When she was admitted to the hospital it was said she could not live.

Lawyer is Shot
Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Waldo E. Gilbert, lawyer, was shot in his office and it is believed that an irate client, who afterwards escaped, shot him. Gilbert's wounds are serious.

Two shots were fired, each finding a mark.

ON OVERDOING IT

"The tendency of the age," says a modern philosopher, "is to overdo everything." The same thought has occurred to the writer many scores of times, when, after swallowing a very moderate allowance of some sauce, he has been left with a palate apparently given over to an endless stinging and burning sensation, calculated to make a man forego the use of any sauce whatever.

BRITISH BLOCKADE DOING ITS WORK

Wails From Germany Tell Of Results

Peace Talk Growing

Rioting Indicates Revolutionary Temper of the People—Conditions Are Growing Worse

As the days go by it becomes clearer that Lloyd George's warning to the effect that the allies would not consider the well meaning offers of any mediator in the present war was well timed. From Germany come wails. Max Harden says it is time there was a change of Germany's policy. Muensterberg is talking about peace, and predicting a future alliance between Britain, Germany and the United States. It is hard to get the real truth about the situation in Germany, but from all sources we learn that the talk of peace is growing, and that the pressure exerted by the British blockade is becoming harder to bear. The Anglo-French successes on the Somme and the entry of Rumania into the war have had a discouraging effect upon the German people, although great official efforts are made to minimize the importance of these events, and Germany's desperate attempt to destroy Rumania's military strength is dictated as much by consideration of its effect upon political conditions at home as by military reasons. A barrister recently returned from Germany talks of the spread of revolutionary tendencies, according to a correspondent of the New York Herald. He says there has been rioting in Berlin and Cologne, that Berlin is under martial law and that in certain garrison towns troops are retained for the purpose of quelling riots. From an absolutely reliable source it is learned that a formidable riot occurred in Hamburg on August 25 and 26, and the editor of an important Socialist organ has received trustworthy information that Dresden was the scene during the last week of August of a big riot, in which 280 persons were killed and 160 wounded. A neutral minister who has been in Germany twice in the last six months found on the occasion of his second trip, at the end of July, that the situation had undergone a great change for the worse. He was especially surprised to discover how bad and scanty food was in Berlin; but later says the Berlin government is preoccupied with the internal situation and has to weigh carefully the probable effect on public opinion of any contemplated action. A Dane who has lived in Berlin for six or seven years declares that "the spirit of the people is sinking rapidly and the public begin to lose faith in final victory."

Bad State of Trade.

With respect to trade and industry, the intensity of the preparations being made in Germany to hasten the delivery of raw materials after the war is regarded as the best proof of how severely the present lack of those materials must be felt in many branches of industry. While substitutes are said to be probably in most cases of little practical value some of the inventions may prove of real use. In the case of the artificial production of nitrates for use as manure and for the production of explosives it is reported on the best expert authority that the German process is a really valuable commercial proposition, which might with advantage be imitated in other countries. Conditions in the textile and leather trades go from bad to worse. The supplies of cotton for public use are practically exhausted, wool is commandeered, raw silk is no longer so easily obtainable, and the fact crop cannot provide more than twenty per cent. of the requirements of the nation in the coming year. The stricter control established over every kind of raw hide and tanned leather indicates a growing shortage and augurs ill for the supply of boots for the civilian population. The entry of Rumania into the war deprives Germany of her principal source of supply of mineral oils, and none of the food difficulties appears to have been permanently and satisfactorily solved.

Harvest a Good Average. With regard to the harvest, the yield in general is a good average one. The prospects of the potato crop are not so good as last year, and they have been further depreciated by the serious miscalculations of the authorities in regard to the distributing of the early potatoes. In order to secure the highest prices the producers dug up their potatoes as fast as they were able, whether mature or not. They were piled into railway wagons still with wet earth, and delivered in enormous consignments in the various towns. At first there were scenes of rejoicing at the bonifidness of the crop, the rationing principle was suspended, and the local authorities vied with one another in placing orders far beyond their needs. The result was that potatoes began to rot, and in a few days the situation underwent a complete transformation, and an inadequate ration of one and a half pounds a day had to be re-introduced for the rest of the year. It is expected that conditions regarding food in Germany will grow worse instead of better. The British blockade is tighter than it was a year ago, and some neutral observers say that next spring there is likely to be a crisis in Germany if before that time the government is not able to improve the situation. But we must beware of supposing that the blockade can of itself end the war. The German armies are, apparently, sufficiently supplied. They are not fed and tended like the British army, but they have enough food to fight on, and it is the German armies, not the German civil population, that must be defeated before the war can end. Moreover, if the man civil population could believe that the German armies were winning, it would be satisfied to endure hunger and privation in the hope of a final victory. Our main object must be to send enough men to the front to deal with the German armies.

Unshrinkable UNDERWEAR

Owes its Comfort, Warmth and Wear to Detailed Care in the Making

Thorough "shaking" and washing of Stanfield's wool produces the cleanest, softest, fluffiest material possible to work with.

Stanfield's secret process takes the "shrink" out of the wool in the washing, before it goes to the knitting machines.

Expert cutters fit Stanfield's Combinations and Two-piece Suits as carefully as a tailor fits a high-priced suit. The finished garments are again thoroughly washed, and rinsed in distilled water.

Then, after every particle of "shrink" has been removed, each garment is checked for size on a standard frame, ensuring perfect fit.

Stanfield's Elastic Inset Shoulders prevent pulling or binding, and give delightful freedom.

Stanfield's special Smooth Seams—snug knitting Wrists and Ankles—extra deep reinforcement on fronts of Drawers—securely sewed buttons and Drawer Straps—these ensure lasting satisfaction.

ASSASSIN WAS REAL PATRIOT?

Would Be Here at End of The War

Martyr Not Murderer

Acted From Patriotic Motives and Not Mere Impulse—A Socialist and Advocate of Peace

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

If Fritz Adler's trial for the assassination of Premier Sturgis could be deferred until the end of the war he would be triumphantly acquitted, and his act would be regarded as comparable to that of Charlotte Corday. Whatever may be his immediate fate, it is certain that he will be remembered as a martyr rather than as a murderer. Adler acted from patriotic impulses, and not only from a mere impulse, but after long consideration and continued effort to remedy the condition which he considered monstrous. As a Socialist leader he wanted peace; he believed that if Austria summoned her parliament the end of the war would be brought appreciably nearer, for he insisted that the Austrian people wanted to make peace. The premier, however, refused to call parliament, because he feared to meet such diverse elements as the radicals, the Little Russians, the Bohemians, and Little Russians, the Italians and other groups which might have overthrown the government. It is to be noted that of all the great countries at war, Austria is the only one that has refused to hold a session of parliament since the beginning of the struggle.

A Brilliant Man

Inspired despatches from Berlin and Vienna suggest that Adler was insane, and it is said that a brother or a sister died in an asylum. Those who accept Lombroso's argument that the man of genius is closely akin to the man who is mentally deranged will not be disturbed at this exposure of Adler's family history. He himself is an extremely brilliant man, a writer, an organizer, a debater. He fills in Austria and has filled for some years the position that Bebel used to occupy in Germany. He was the acknowledged leader of the Austrian Socialist party, and ever since the beginning of the war has not ceased to criticize the government and to demand that parliament be called to consider the position. Being fearless himself and the leader of a group equally fearless, Adler has caused the Austrian government unusual annoyance. While his paper has been censored and at times suppressed, he has been able to give expression to his views through pamphlets which have been widely circulated, and which have had a powerful effect upon large numbers of Austrians. The Austrian Socialists may be no better than German Socialists, but at least there is not against their record the great betrayal of which the Germans with the exception of Liebknecht and one or two others were guilty. One may judge them charitably and assume that they were deceived at the beginning of the war and believed that Germany really was fighting its defence for her very existence. But this belief does not excuse them for sitting silent or applauding when Bethmann-Hollweg announced that Germany would not surrender the territory she had gained, that there would be a "new Belgium" after the war. The Imperial Chancellor probably knew the German Socialists, and calculated that as long as the German armies were victorious it would be safe enough to proclaim his purpose of territorial aggression. Adler and his followers, however, have never subscribed to this doctrine, probably because Austria has made few territorial gains even temporarily.

Defeat Better Than Victory?

Adler believed with Bebel that victory in war was not a good thing for the working classes. He contended that defeat was better, and quoted some memorable words of Bebel to the effect that it is worth noting that the German Socialists' paper Vorwarts, reproduced them with approval. In 1910 Bebel said: "My view is that defeat in war is rather advantageous than disadvantageous to a people in our unfree condition. Victories make a government stronger, and lead to a people arrogant and exacting. Defeat compels them to approach the people and to win their sympathy. This is the only way to bring about a change in the status quo ante." In the case of Austria, in the war of 1866, in the case of France by the war of 1870, and by the war with Russia in the war with Japan in 1904. History shows that when the Prussian people, with great sacrifice of life and property, overthrew the rule of the dynasty, the former forgot all its beautiful promises which in its hour of danger it gave to the people. Only after a long period of reaction did the year 1848 arrive, when the people were able to conquer what had been withheld from them for generations. Again, if Prussia had been defeated in 1866, Bismarck's ministry and the rule of the aristocracy, which weighs like a nightmare upon the people to this day, would have been swept away.

The Status Quo Ante

Adler knew, of course, that while Socialists might believe that defeat is better for the people than victory, they would not consent to their own defeat, and war once being declared would strive to win victory. His plan for bringing about peace was to agree to the restoration of the status quo ante. Whether the Entente powers would agree to any such arrangement is a question that he did not consider his business. His object was to put the Socialists of Austria right before the world, and to give the representatives of Austria a chance to consider the matter. The premier refused to call the parliament together, so Adler killed him, as the only thing he could do to his agitation was not to be wholly futile.

WINNERS OF THE VICTORIA CROSS

Not Unusual in Their Ordinary Life Work

Some Incurable as Boys

Little Stories of Big Deeds Which Have Won Fame For British Heroes

The story of the only man who ever won the Victoria Cross twice has been told recently, and a wonderful story it is. Yet there are many men in the army who have done as much as Lieut. Jacks, and have been given the trophy that British subjects value more highly than any other. Some of them died in the discharge of the duty that won them the V.C., others survive, but no longer able to fight, while many more are peering away in the army, hoping, maybe, that another opportunity will come to them, and that Lieut. Jacks' honor may not remain unique in the annals of that great bit of gummed award "For Valor." Not since Michael O'Leary in the early days of the war was his medal or perhaps his name mentioned in the Victoria Cross since Warfield destroyed the Zeppelin has any deed of heroism so moved England as that which was reported in Lieut. Jacks' account of the naval battle off Jutland. John Travers Cornwall, a 16-year-old boy on H. M. S. Chester, was mortally wounded, but he stood by his gun, surrounded by dead and dying mates, hour after hour. When asked why he did not go below he answered that he was thinking there "in case he might be needed."

"Faithful Unto Death"

His body was brought home and buried in London before Jellicoe's report was made public. Then a wave of emotion swept over the land. The coffin was disinterred and buried with honors in a new grave. Lord Charles Bessford and other great leaders in a movement which was called the "Faithful Unto Death" are the words engraved upon the lid of his coffin. A British soldier in the trenches has been looking over the official reports of some deeds that won the Victoria Cross is struck by the fact that so many of the men who have won it that English love of games in their character; and also that most of them were ordinary workmen or laborers before the war broke out.

Playing the Game

For instance, there was Pte. James Miller, of the Royal Lancashire Regiment. In time of peace he was a good football player, but in the trenches he was a different man. He was a "devil" or what we call fighting spirit, was a drawback. He was a paper mill laborer, quiet, hard-working. Ordered to take an important message to the front under heavy fire and bring back a reply at all costs, he succeeded, in spite of a gash wound in his forehead, which he compressed with his hand while he delivered the message. Then he dropped dead. Pte. James Turnbull, another Lancashire painter and paperhanger, and an enthusiastic cyclist, was called out by the trenches, but he did not let that deter him. He was sent to the front in the order that the king might speak to him. Writing home about the experience, he said: "I can't tell what passed. I trembled all over." Five days later in the midst of fierce fighting he remained with a lance officer for three hours under continuous fire from machine guns and bombs, and although at one time out of he held his ground and finally carried his officer to the British lines.

"Doing Well Among the Huns."

Several of the V. C. men were incurable boys at school. One of them was a Lancashire lad named James Hamilton. He was a "devil" at school. "If I could not get on very well at school," he remarked to his old master on a visit home, "and getting into a desperate trench fight on the Somme he killed seven Germans single-handed, and his objections to the rest of the several more being made prisoners. It is to be doubted if the Germans share his modest opinion as to how well he is getting on with them. He is a boy who ought to be long remembered is that of Pte. Albert Hill, another Lancashire boy, who won a V.C. on the Somme. It was related by his platoon sergeant now invalided home.

Killed Twenty Germans

He and Hill were alone, stealing out in No Man's Land. Suddenly two strapping Germans appeared. They were both dressed in German uniforms. Hill advanced as coolly as a boxer and ran them both through with his bayonet five feet three inches. Looking about they found themselves surrounded by 20 or 25 Germans. "Sergeant," says Hill, "we look like being taken prisoners," and after the reply: "They will not take us alive." Then Hill threw two bombs with astonishing accuracy at the advancing group, killing 10 and wounding 10, scattering the rest. Still, said the sergeant, he did not think he had done anything big, and went off to make a report. He heard that Captain Scales and a scout were lying wounded some distance beyond the lines. He at once volunteered to fetch them in, and succeeded in dragging back the captain, who, however, died. Then he started to return to his trench, but he was stopped on his way found two Germans whom he took prisoners. This was the only time he felt that he really had done something big.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic, and the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascaets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but more so in old age. Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a last can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascaets, and the cost only one penny per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

MUNSTERBERG SEES KULTUR WORLD-WIDE

Tells Audience no Nation Can Succeed Under Individualism

Earth To Be Germanized—Expects No Nation to be Shattered by War—Teutonic Ideals to Win on Their Merit

Professor Ugo Munsterberg of Harvard told the Public Forum in St. Paul's church, Hoboken, the other night that the one great result of the European war would be that German Kultur would conquer the world. He saw the great conflict of the doom of individualism and a new regime of worldwide nationalism which he called the essence of German Kultur. "For," said he, "without German Kultur no nation will be able to play the role in the great drama that is to take place after the war."

Professor Munsterberg said almost every one had got the wrong idea of German Kultur. He said that some Germans didn't understand it. He pictured it as "the consciousness of nationalism, the subordination of the individual to the national ideal." He said he had been asked before to speak on German Kultur, but that he had declined because he believed the time had not come for the world to understand it. "Peace will be with us very soon," he said. "Germany will be the one great power on an early understanding of the factors involved so that the period of reconstruction will not come to chaos and confusion. We are inclined to pay too much attention to external change. Most writers who give us pictures of the disintegration of the world are not aware of those technical conditions which come. They overlook that great changes in mankind are above mere material changes in things and mechanical."

Growth of Great Ideas

The speaker reviewed the growth and development of the power of great world ideas, citing those which came from Greece and which sprang from the French Revolution and from the civil war. Then he told of individualism. "Individualism is nothing but sentimentalism, the desire to be different. It opens the way for graft, waste, it will give way to nationalism. Whatever the great diplomats may settle upon after the war, the one great change will be that German Kultur will conquer the globe; that German Kultur will spread to all the countries of the world. German Kultur will be the distinctive stamp of the next century, and that will be the one conquest of which Germany will be proud. The German Kultur will be the greatest soul, for superior, far more valuable than the fantastic conquests which Germany has made in the past. German Kultur will spread its ideas as the ideas of the French Revolution spread all over the world. In the sense the term that Americanism is applied to those who come to the country, there will be a Germanization of the world."

Professor Munsterberg said that the decline of the Progressive party was not due to the mistakes of Theodore Roosevelt or because it had too many ideals, but because the other two parties possessed less of the spirit of individualism and more of the spirit of nationalism. He said that there was a great difference between Kultur and civilization; that the countries of South America had civilization, but not Kultur. He said that German Kultur would spread for the reason that nationalism would spread, must spread. "Nationalism," he declared, "has proved itself stronger than race or language. Race he called an "external materialistic conception."

Germans Admit Good in Others

"The strength of nationality is the belief in a common ideal into which are put the treasures of traditions and the noblest purpose that nations have in mind together. This belief is not in the sense that one nation is better than another. Nothing can be more un-German than to believe that the German is superior to men of other nations. The consciousness of nationality is not the belief that one nation is better than others, but the faithful belief that the nation had a unique mission, which cannot be replaced. Each nation has its mission and its message. Germany's role has nothing to do with any desire to feel ourselves superior to other nations, but only to do a service to mankind in the unique task that belongs to the nation's dearest soul and heart. It involves the desire to protect the nation. Every nation must see itself independent of other nations." Professor Munsterberg then said he

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR BELGIUM

View of Belgian Premier and War Minister

Germany Must Pay

Would Like Return of Free Trade Between Belgium and Great Britain

The Belgian prime minister, Baron de Broqueville, who is also minister of war, is described by a correspondent of the London Chronicle as one of the ablest statesmen in Europe, and continues: I have just had an opportunity of discussing questions arising out of the war, and the future of Belgium, with M. de Broqueville, who has taken his ministry to a small village near the frontier, so as to be in close touch with the headquarters of the army, the king, who is commander-in-chief, and the centres of military operations. The prime minister is a vigorous and forceful personality. He holds clear-cut and decided views about the conduct of the war and the future of his country.

I was interested to get M. de Broqueville's views on the economic future of Belgium—a matter which must always be thought of in our discussions of after-war conditions. The Belgian premier expects very much from the resolutions of the Paris conference—a barrier must be raised to protect Belgium while its factories are being rebuilt and its industries reorganized. No country was subjected so much to German commercial penetration before the war as Belgium. Germany has got a firm grip of many industries which were linked up with certain on the Rhine. It was in process of annexing Antwerp; it had its agents in banks, and its managers in business establishments; it was creating a close community of interests between the two countries which was undermining the commercial independence of Belgium. There was a great interchange of trade between Belgium and her neighbor, and Belgium also profited from the flow of German goods through Antwerp. The war will win back to Belgium commercial freedom, and Germany must be deprived of the opportunity of scrambling Belgium industry with goods made, probably by machinery and from material taken from Belgium during the German occupation.

Full Compensation

The Allies must not only protect Belgium from Germany after the war, but must see that Belgium gets compensation for the loss of trade which their economic policy, as outlined at the Paris conference, will involve. Whatever fiscal changes the allied countries may make the position of Belgium must not be worsened. Belgium should also have a fair chance of capturing some of the trade which Germany carried on with the allies before the war and which is barred from doing after the war.

Britain Gives Discharged Soldiers Official Badge of Honor.

Under the caption "Little Gold Stripes for British Soldiers as a Defense Against the Hun," the London Standard Bureau in London has issued a statement showing how men who have been discharged from the service as a result of wounds are often mistaken for "slackers" and before they can explain are decorated with a white badge.

"Silly Women at some of the British seaside resorts," the statement says, are still presenting white feathers to young Englishmen in civilian clothes who look as though they ought to be wearing khaki. There are hundreds of young Englishmen in civilian clothes who have very good reasons indeed for not being in khaki, and that men disabled in the war are being returned to civilian life, the number is growing rapidly.

To protect these heroes, the British government has decided to issue a badge of honor to all discharged soldiers in England of military age who have been wounded in the war. This badge is entitled to wear a thin gold stripe on his coat sleeve. One stripe is permitted for each action in which wounded, and another one for each action, no matter how many wounds may have been caused in the action. How necessary this measure upon our policy. He thinks that we should return to our traditions; we should regard Belgium, economically speaking, as one of the family. There is a treaty between us, under which Belgium was to have the same treatment within the British Empire as the Dominions, but it broke down when the Dominions introduced imperial preference.

You cannot cure constipation by violent methods. Violence is never effective against nature. That is why the use of morning salts and purgative pills so easily become a habit. Compare Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief. This great tonic laxative helps nature by strengthening the bowels, natural action is restored and a cure effected which is real and lasting.

TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THEIR CHIVALRY

Huns Depended on U. S. Navy To Save Lives

Lord Beresford's Position

Criticising the Americans in Submarine Controversy; Nothing Should Injure Friendly Relations

London, Nov. 3.—Lord Beresford, in interview today, replied to the criticism in American newspapers upon his comments on the U-53 incident. The Admiral wanted it made clear that he was not disposed to criticize the American government or suggest anything it might do in the situation, that is one essentially for Washington to handle in its own way.

"In what I have said about the U-53 incident," he said, "I made no criticism of the American navy, whose chivalry and courage are known to the world over. Nor have I intended to criticize the government at Washington. I have alluded to recent behavior of German submarines in American seas in the hope that some negotiations might be taken up between the American and British governments to avoid a repetition of the incident that might cause a misunderstanding between the two great English-speaking nations. Such a misunderstanding would be lamentable. It would be a curious situation if German submarines were to be allowed to sink ships in American seas while counting upon the American navy to pick up the survivors. There is danger ahead in such policy of the Germans and it is to avoid that danger that I have spoken.

Should Not Disagree. "Great Britain and America, in my opinion, should do nothing that might interfere with the good relations existing between them. What I wanted was to remove the slightest chance for a serious disagreement between the two countries on any point arising from German submarine methods. The purpose I have in mind is to bring about a definite understanding on any point that may be in controversy.

"Although it may be held that from the standpoint of international law there may have been nothing illegal in the German attacks in American seas, still the Germans have brought about a situation that has caused us in England to believe that some changes must be made in German methods, some changes by which they in their submarine piracy will not be allowed to take advantage of the chivalry of the American navy. Whether the American navy did or did not hear in advance that an attack was to be made by German submarines does not need to be considered. The point is, the Germans gave the appearance of utilizing the American navy in saving the passengers and crews of torpedoed vessels, the American government having stipulated that no ships should be torpedoed unless passengers and crews were assured an opportunity for safe escape. Escape in this incident was impossible, except for the chivalrous action and good seamanship of the American men-of-war.

"Here in England we have always remembered with pride the fact that when a superior German squadron was thought to be about to attack an inferior American squadron at Manila, the British captain, Chichester, said nothing, but he got his ship under way and anchored her in such a position that the German squadron would have had to fire through the British ships to hit the American vessels. No action in history has ever occurred more likely to promote the friendly feeling of two nations than that of Captain Chichester. It was spontaneous on his part and appreciated by the British nation thoroughly, as by the Americans.

A Debt to America.

"We owe to the gallantry and innate good feeling of the officers and men of the American navy that the lives of the passengers were saved after the British ships had been torpedoed by the U-53. The German submarine relied on it. While the incident will require very delicate handling, with the good feeling existing between the British and American governments, I am confident a way will be found to solve the difficulty. It would be deplorable if anything should occur to cause misunderstanding or irritation between the two countries."

Lord Beresford, in conclusion, roundly described international law, in so far as it goes at present with regard to submarines, as a "farce."

"The enemy, under international law, is to be understood before the submarine was invented," he said, "had a perfect right to enter a neutral port for twenty-four hours, to receive supplies, and possibly get information, but that referred only to above-water ships, which stood a chance of being met by the enemy outside of territorial waters and destroyed or captured. It is different with the submarine, which can go into a neutral port, derive all the advantages, get information and then submerge in territorial waters."

Paris, Nov. 3.—Important conclusions are drawn from the evacuation of Fort Vaux, northeast of Verdun, by the Germans. The chief of these is the expressed belief that the Germans, considering the west front as now of comparatively secondary importance, intend to reduce their operations on the Verdun front to a minimum, and will direct their main energy with a view to a successful campaign against the Roumanians.

Rome, via London, Nov. 3.—In the zone from Gorizia to the Adriatic Sea the Italians have captured additional points of vantage from the Austrians and taken 3,498 more prisoners and guns, machine guns and quantities of arms and ammunition, according to the official communication issued today.

Violent fighting continues to mark the Austro-German attempts to penetrate the plain of Romania south of Kronstadt and Hermannstadt and toward Bucharest. The stiff defense of the Roumanians is yielding slowly to the blows of Austro-German artillery and infantry about Predal, and Berlin announces further progress south of the border, for the time.

Less Willard says: Take Nuxated Iron

If you want plenty of 'stay there' Strength and Endurance and Health and muscles like mine.

A hitherto untold secret of his Great Victories over Jack Johnson and Frank Moran. Ordinary Nuxated Iron will often increase the strength and endurance of the delicate nervous folk 200 per cent. in two weeks' time.

SPECIAL NOTE—Dr. E. Sauer, a well-known physician who has studied widely in both this country and Europe, has been specially employed to make a thorough investigation into the real secret of the great strength, power and endurance of Jess Willard, and the marvelous value of nuxated iron as a strength builder.

NEW YORK—Upon being interviewed at his apartment in the Colonial Hotel, Mr. Willard said: "Yes, I have a chemist with me to study the value of different foods and products as to their power to produce great strength and endurance, both of which are so necessary in the prize ring. On his recommendation I have often taken nuxated iron and I have particularly advocated the free use of iron by all those who wish to obtain great physical and mental power. Without it I am sure that I should never have been able to whip Jack Johnson so completely and easily as I did and while training for my fight with Frank Moran, I regularly took nuxated iron, and I am certain that it was a most important factor in my winning the fight so easily."

Continuing, Dr. Sauer said: "Mr. Willard's case is only one of hundreds which I could cite from my own personal experience which proves conclusively the astonishing power of nuxated iron to restore strength and vitality even in most complicated chronic conditions."

Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old, and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man—in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron filled him with renewed life. At 80 he was in had health; at 40 careworn and nearly all in Now at 60 a mixture of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was away patent medicines and nauseous nothing more or less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk, or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were doing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance.

NOTE—Nuxated iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all cases of indigestion as well as for nervous run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 300 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Watson's Drug Store, and all other druggists.

CLOSING MEETINGS OF THE CONVENTION

Gordon Rogers, of Ottawa, secretary to Dr. F. Montisambert, C.G.M., director general of public health and sanitary advisor of the dominion government, was the principal speaker at the last session of the New Brunswick Women's Institutes, yesterday afternoon in the German street Baptist church rooms. Dr. R. B. Hagerman, of East Florenceville, also gave a very interesting and helpful address. Mr. Rogers had for his subject Home and School Sanitation, while Dr. Hagerman spoke of Dental Education as Applied to Women's Institutes. Mrs. Elise M. Fawcett, Upper Seckville, was the presiding officer in the afternoon. Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, who was to have spoken on "Women and War" was unable to be present on account of a death in the family. Mrs. H. B. Peck, who spoke on behalf of Mrs. George McAvity, the president, thanked the institute members for their assistance in the work of Soldiers Comfort Association, and invited them to visit the quarters of the association in German street. Mrs. Fawcett, speaking for Mrs. Powell, invited the delegates to visit the Soldiers' Club. On a motion from the floor, that was quickly seconded, a vote of thanks was extended to all officers, to those who had read papers, and assisted in any way in making the convention such a help and so successful. On behalf of a few members, Miss Celia Peck, of Hopewell Hill, presented Miss Hazel Winter, the supervisor of a bouquet of roses. Miss Winter responded very briefly, expressing her sincere thanks. Following this, questions taken from the question box were answered by members of the committee. The subjects dealt with a variety of matters, all the way from asking whether a stricken measure should be used for measuring with a ten quart pail to "how could oil paintings be cleaned." LABOR DELEGATES. At the meeting of the trades and labor council last night, three delegates were appointed to attend the proposed meeting regarding recruiting and national service, to be held in St. John, namely J. L. Sugrue, C. J. Harrison and Hugh Beck. A committee composed of C. H. Stevens, sr., J. Sugrue, and C. Gus Langbein was appointed to attend the public meetings to discuss the assessment commission report. The matter of holding a mid-winter carnival was deferred to a later meeting. J. L. Sugrue was selected as trades and labor organizer for St. John and vicinity. The council received having received no replies to communications sent to city hall.

Machine Guns the Worst; Canadian Describes the Thrill He Got When His Engine Balked Over the German Lines

London, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—"It's all right so long as you can see 'em, or hear 'em," said "Tommy" Brennan of the Royal Flying Corps.

"I'll never forget the first time they got close to me," declared "Boy" Tytle. "My only thought was that I would never shoot a phossifer again. I knew exactly how a bird must feel when a hunter opens fire."

Brennan was upon his left sleeve the gold stripes of the wounded. "Gill had been on the official list of the killed in action some weeks ago, but some how or other came back to life. When Brennan was 'hit' and finally came down safely within his own lines, it was found there were no less than eighty perforations in his wings."

man. "He goes 'woof, woof, woof.' He isn't comfortable to listen to, either, but its when you get down a little nearer to earth and the machine guns get to working that you feel you have got to do what you set out to do and get started to some quieter spot just as fast as the air will get you out of your way and let you through. You can't imagine how much that old atmosphere gets in your way when you are really in a hurry."

"When you get on speaking terms with a machine gun you know that it talks with a 'putt, putt, putt.' The ordinary hand rifle, which often takes a shot at you when you get too close to the trenches, goes 'crack, crack, crack,' just as every one expects a rifle to go."

Several of the young "wing" subalterns were waiting for the "Hickey-boos" to come over the other night when they fell into a discussion as to whether you would rather have a shell break right ahead of you, right beneath you or right over you. There were those who contended it was best to have it break right in front for then the explosion would spread the fragments and let you pass safely through the spot where "The Morning Post" came from.

The others contended that a shell breaking on the level with you indicated that "Archie" had his fuses timed just a bit too accurately for pleasure flying, and that it was safer to take chances from the fragments coming from beneath or above. This was one discussion in which the innocent bystander had no part. He learned, however, that shrapnel from an "Archie" jumps at you with a "bang"; that it looks like a white puff-ball as it breaks in daylight and like the starry shower of a rocket as it explodes by night.
