Scribblings of Youth Startling Art World

PAINTING MADE BY HERTA ZUCKERMANN, 15 YEARS OLD. (By Josephine Van de Grift.) New York.—Remember those scribbles you used to make on old cracker boxes and the kitchen wall and the barn door?

Maybe if anybody had taken the trouble to preserve them they would have carried a valuable lesson on to posterity, for children possess an unconscious art that is priceless and that is as worthy of preservation as the works of Rembrandt, Holbein and all the rest.

So says Professor Frans Cizek of Vienna, and to prove it he is sending to this country hundreds of pictures, paintings and wood cuts made by the children of Austria.

Almost all of the drawings were made by youngsters under 15 years of age. And not one of them ever had what ordinarily termed an art lesson.

Miss Frances M. Wilson, an English woman who "discovered" Professor Cizek and who is accompanying the exhibition to this country, tells of how these tiny Viennese children, many of them under-nourished and ragged, forged their way through the streets with their paint pots and brushes.

"Perhaps 10 children," she says, "are turned loose in a room at once. The room is filled with drawing paper, pencils, paint, colored paper, modeling clay, blocks of wood and carving implements."

"Nobody tells the children what to do, for Professor Cizek believes that each child will select what is best suited to his temperament."

"NEWBY" LALONDE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Is Said to Have Attacked "Red" McCusker of Regina. Regina, Jan. 2.—Despite heated arguments between Regina and Saskatoon professional hockey teams, the Saskatchewan Capitals will play their regular scheduled game here tonight.

Wes Champ, owner of the Capitals, last night said he would stand by his team on the ice, but will refuse to play again in Saskatoon unless official action is taken against "Newby" Lalonde, who is accused of having attacked "Red" McCusker, the Regina captain, in Saskatoon Tuesday night.

McCusker, swathed in bandages, will guard the Regina net tonight. National Hockey League Standing. Ottawa 10 14 10 St. Patricks 8 14 10

WEDDINGS

Douthright-Hamilton

The wedding of Miss Hazel Gladys Hamilton, youngest daughter of Mrs. George Hamilton, 100 Adelaide street, to Clifford Arthur Douthright, son of Stephen Douthright of Moncton, was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Albert Leyden, by Rev. G. B. McDonald, pastor of Victoria street Baptist church. The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. B. McDonald as the bride, leaning on her mother's arm, entered the room, which was tastefully decorated with ferns and potted plants. The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of white Georgette with bridal veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations. Miss Elva Hamilton, niece of the bride, as flower girl, wore a pretty dress of pink organdie and carried a basket of carnations. Immediately after the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. The bride received many useful presents, among them a handsome rocker from the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Douthright left on the evening train for a trip through the province. Going away, the bride wore a suit of navy blue tulle and sand colored hat and seal scarf. The groom's present to the bride was a substantial check. Mr. and Mrs. Douthright will reside in Adelaide street.

Thompson-Bennett

A wedding of much interest to many in St. John was solemnized in Montreal on December 15, at the home of the bride, when Miss Orpha Bennett was united in marriage to Lyman A. Thompson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Thompson, of West St. John. Many handsome and valuable presents were received by the bride, among them a substantial check from the parents of the groom. Their many friends join in wishing a long and happy married life. They will reside in Montreal.

Spragg-Parise

The marriage of Miss Maggie Loretta Parise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Parise, of the Narrows, Queens county, and Eldon Jones Spragg, of St. John, was solemnized at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev.

A. L. Tedford, 187 Waterloo street. The bride wore a handsome gown of resida canton crepe trimmed with beads and a hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Spragg are leaving on the morning train for Moncton where they will make a short visit before returning to their home in Springfield, where the groom is a prosperous farmer. The bride was formerly a school teacher. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pearl necklace.

Babcock-Lund.

A pretty home wedding took place in Cookville, N. B., Dec. 28 at the home of Mrs. William Polley, when her daughter, Miss Bessie V. Lund, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis Babcock, of Upper Sackville. Rev. David Price, pastor of Middle Sackville Baptist church, performed the ceremony. The bridal party entered the parlor at 5 o'clock where only the immediate relatives and friends had gathered to witness the ceremony. The bride was gown in French blue silk with georgette and iridescent bead trimming. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Archie Estabrook, of Sackville, and also her niece, little Reba Estabrook. Mr. Roland Babcock, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After congratulations, a dainty luncheon was served.

Johnston-Semple.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. V. Morish, B. A., in Sussex, N. B., on New Year's Eve, when Miss Mary Marguerite Semple, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Semple, of 44 Paradise row, was united in marriage to Charles W. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, of Sussex. After spending a few days in Sussex, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will return to St. John where they will reside.

Whipple-McLeod.

Rev. W. A. Robbins, B. A., pastor of the Ludlow street Baptist church, West St. John, was the officiating clergyman at the marriage of Miss Catherine May McLeod and Joseph Benedict Whipple, both of West St. John. The ceremony was solemnized at the parsonage on New Year's Eve. The bride and groom were unattended. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue polart twill and hat to match. They will reside in West St. John.

Edgett-Harpell.

A pretty wedding took place at the Baptist church, Wallace Bridge, N. S., Dec. 20, when Miss Muriel A. Harpell, daughter of Mrs. Robert Rhnde, of Wallace, was united in marriage to Charles N. Edgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Edgett, of Sackville, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Hamilton in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

Morrison-Mawhinney

Maces Bay, Jan. 2.—(Special)—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Dec. 31, by Rev. N. P. Fairweather in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Mawhinney when their daughter Florence Crewdon, was united in marriage to Alexander R. Morrison, of Glasgow, Scotland. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Ray Mawhinney while the bridal party entered the room. The bride wore a dress of white crepe de chine and radium lace with veil and orange blossoms, and carried an exquisite shower bouquet of roses and fern. The groom was supported by H. H. Mawhinney, brother of the bride. Mrs. Mawhinney acted as matron of honor and little Miss Betty as flower girl. After the ceremony, which took place under a pretty arch of white and silver festoons centered with a large white bell, the guests, about twenty in number, repaired to the dining room where supper was served. The bride had served eight years on the N. B. teaching staff, and the groom has a three years record of overseas service with the 104th Battalion. Many beautiful gifts attested to the popularity of the

Joe Justice, Bowery Philosopher, Now Wealthy, Assists "Down-and-Outers"

By BOB DORMAN.

New York — Thirty years ago a Russian Jew, anarchistic in his beliefs, without education or knowledge, at odds with government that he could not understand, fleeing before the nightsticks of cops breaking up a "red" meeting—today, wealthy, educated by his own keen wits, a loyal citizen, a Christian, yet not a sectarian, extending a helping hand without discrimination as to race, color or creed—that is Joe Justice, friend of all the Bowery, where "Joe, the Jew" is greeted on every hand by all who pass.

"HARKEN."

Thus Speareth "Joe" Justice. Blessed is the man who maketh a short speech, for verily he shall be called on to speak again. It is more blessed to give the rag to thy neighbor than to chew it thyself. Plenty of wind is a blessing to a windmill, but a calamity to a Gospel meeting. Some people's silence is the best sermon they could preach. The supply of dry and long-winded speakers is always greater than the demand.

JOE JUSTICE.

Salvation Army, by which I was made a man. "That a man may be down, but he's never out." From the gutter of the Bowery, Joe Justice has fought his way to comparative wealth. After his conversion by the Salvation Army, he married a Lassie of the Army, and with money loaned to him by the Army, he went into the laundry business. Days he hunted soiled linen. Nights he washed it. No Chinaman ever worked harder. The struggle was a hard one. Gentiles wouldn't patronize him because he was a Jew. Jews wouldn't give him work because he had forsaken his faith. But Joe persevered. Today he has all the work of practically every theatre on Broadway. No stage door-keeper stops him. They all know "Joe." With his neatly wrapped packages he goes to the chorus girls' dressing rooms. "I've another new song for you, girls," says Joe as the ladies of the chorus check over their laundry. "I don't suppose you can sing it out front, but I want you to learn it anyhow. I wrote it all, the words and music." And Joe hands around copies of his song, "In Chinatown," the second verse of which runs: "Her days of bloom and youth are over The Broadway Belle has run her race; Gone are the merry days of pleasure And want has taken splendour's place. Alone she sits, the past bewailing, Her tears drop on the tattered gown; But who cares for faded roses, For drunken Nell in Chinatown?"

OFFICERS ELECTED BY BAPTIST CHURCH

Ludlow street Baptist church was opened last night but the business was not completed and adjournment was made. Much interest captured around the election of the two deacons. The and Andrew Harned were returned. Mr. Harned declined and on the second ballot Ernest F. Campbell was elected. The deacons are as follows: John F. Ring, Everett J. Ring, William Fulton, E. W. Christopher, George T. Ring, R. H. Parsons and Ernest F. Campbell. Rev. W. A. Robbins, the pastor presided. In the election of officers, two women were named for the trustee and finance committee, a departure from previous custom. The election of officers resulted as follows: Clerk, Roy C. Makenny; assistant clerk, E. F. Ring; treasurer, E. W. Christopher; associate treasurer, R. J. Rupert; financial secretary, Ernest F. Campbell; assistant financial secretary, to be appointed; trustees and finance committee, R. J. Anderson, R. H. Parsons, Frank Cheyne, R. U. Rupert, George Belyea, A. D. Makenny, Thomas Brown, E. W. Christopher, George T. Ring, William Harned, R. C. Makenny, Mrs. C. E. Belyea and Mrs. Judson E. Rupert.

Competing With Noah. Greenwich, Eng.—Twenty dogs, two parrots and 18 chickens were removed from the home of an elderly spinster after her death here recently. The woman, widely known for her kindness and had slept in a basement room. Seven feathered creatures, lost her life when her clothing was ignited by a flame from a coal-oil lamp. For years she pups shared the quarters with her.

COMMISSIONER THINKS FISHERMEN PLANNED TO AVOID COMPETITION

Legals sale on Tuesday were $875. They were above $4,000 last year and have gone above $18,000. The report of the committee of the whole, recommending that Commissioner Thornton be given permission to purchase a horse for the fire department and that a contract be entered into with G. Murdoch to complete the city survey at cost not to exceed $8,000, was adopted. An application from Charles C. Purinton to be appointed as city constable was referred to the Mayor with power to act. An application from A. Paradis for permission to erect an electric sign at 20 St. John street, west, was referred to the commissioner of public works, city engineer and city electrician, with power to act. On motion of Commissioner Frink the following credits were ordered passed against the appropriation for 1924: Fire, $8,000; police, $8,000; streets, $20,000; sewerage, $5,000; ferries, $10,000; lights, $11,000; hydrants, $1,500; schools, one-twelfth of the 1923 warrant; hospital, one-twelfth of 90 per cent of the 1923 warrant. On motion of Commissioner Wigmore, the Mayor was authorized to name a committee to attend the conference with Premier Veniot on the Workmen's Compensation Act, to be held in the Board of Trade rooms on Wednesday, Jan. 9, and His Worship named Commissioners Wigmore, Frink and Thornton to attend. Commissioner Bullock was given authority to call for tenders for advertising privileges in the ferry boats. If Commissioner Frink would be possible to have the reading room and reference library at the Free Public Library open on Sunday afternoon from Nov. 1 to May 1 and Commissioner Thornton agreed to take the matter up with the board of commissioners of the library. World Buy Property. One result of the appeal of R. deH. Carrite from his 1923 assessment was the suggestion by Commissioner Frink that the city purchase this property and that of the Lawton estate and so extend their holdings up to the McAvity wharf. E. M. Olive, chairman of the Board of Assessors, said that all the land westers side of the street was valued at $2 per square foot. This had resulted in an increase of $18,000 in the valuation of Mr. Carrite, all on land no increase having been made on the buildings. All the waterfront properties in Water street were assessed on the same valuation. Mr. Carrite said he felt that as he had no deep water wharf the valuation should not be the same as properties which had. They were willing to sell the property for $20,000; in fact they had been trying for a year and a half to sell it at that figure. After Mr. Carrite had withdrawn Commissioner Frink said in 1907 he had been a committee of one to try to purchase the Lawton property and had offered $38,000, which was refused. Commissioner Bullock said the Lawton property was now under option to himself, acting for the city, for $20,000 but he had not gone any further in the matter as he found the city would have to buy the brick building on the wharf before they could erect warehouse and this would cost $15,000. Commissioner Frink expressed the opinion that if the Carrite and Lawton properties could be bought for $40,000 the city had better get busy and buy if necessary the building on the Lawton wharf could be expropriated. Further consideration of the appeal was deferred.

Your Health By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

Physicians and practical observers have come to the conclusion that 85 per cent of contact infection is by means of the hands. The physician or nurse is careful to thoroughly sterilize every article of instrument with which the hands, in treating a patient, come in contact. Think, then, how great the real danger is among the general public by hand contact and carelessness. We do not know among those we meet just who is infected and who is not. We do not think anything about it, as a rule. Five per cent of persons are careful, the other 95 per cent are careless, and are raising health and happiness by promiscuous hand-shaking. It is true kissing is a more direct means of contact, but it is not so common as the hand-shake, and is also confined to the exchange of nasal or oral discharges. Outside sources, such as contaminated clothing, handling of animal pets, handles of doors, tools, or articles in common use, make the danger from hand infection great. The general public is slow to break away from custom and habit. But a gradual training against the common greeting by hand-shaking is possible. It is one of the things given special emphasis in the great programme for public health. It will surely reduce the danger of disease-transfer and infection in the long run. Persons with cuts, carry danger in their hand-shake from handkerchief contamination. In the case of influenza, hand-shaking must be abolished. Careless and unclean persons are more dangerous in their hand-shake than from any other source of infection. The cheery smile, combined with the military salute, is a suitable substitute for the infectious hand-shake.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS By Olive Roberts Barton

Everybody was happy on account of the big party that Jack and Jill were giving in the house that Jack built. When it came half past six o'clock every dish in Daddy Gander Land was wiped and put away and all the kitchen swept out. When it came seven o'clock every necktie was tied and every sash was smoothed out and every shoe was buckled. And you could hear doors slamming and keys turning everywhere as this, that, and the other family started off for Jack's house. Mister Piper, Tom's father, was to play the music for dancing, so he got there first in order to tune up his pipes and have them ready so he wouldn't keep things back. Bobby Shafter called for Bo Peep, wearing the fine silver buckles handed down to him from his greatest grandfather. George Porgie, who was a fine young fellow in spite of the silly nickname about him, called for Miss Muffet. And Jack Horner took Margery Daw. Nancy and Nick went with the Sprats. Nancy called up Daddy Gander on the telephone at supper time and told him she couldn't go to a party very well in her everyday clothes, or Nick either, so he told them to look in the doll bureau in their Christmas-tree house and help themselves. Nancy had found a lovely pale blue satin dress trimmed in rosettes and Nick had found a George Washington suit—wide silk stockings and all. So you may imagine how fine they looked as they rang Jack's doorbell. Everybody was glad to see them, but everybody was glad to see everybody else for that matter. It was the jolly party ever! The house wasn't very big and every one in awhile it shook dreadfully. Once when the Fat Man and Misses Sprat were dancing, three bricks fell out of the chimney onto the roof and almost broke through. But nothing serious happened and after while Jack's mother and Jill went to the kitchen to cut the pumpkin and mince pie and pour the cider and serve the ice cream and cake. But suddenly they came rushing back. "Everitt's gone!" they screamed. "There isn't a cookie left! Somebody had been here and run off with all the refreshments. They were right in this cupboard. Oh, who could it be? Who can it be?" "Count noses at once," commanded Daddy Gander. Mother Goose's husband. "It can't be anybody here. So it must be somebody who isn't here!" "It's Taffy the Welshman!" cried Jack's mother. "I invited him but he sent word that he would be busy to-night and couldn't come." "Well, he told part of the truth, anyway," said Daddy Gander sternly. "He's seen very busy, it seems. We must go after him at once." (To be continued.)

SAYS HE FAILED TO CURE DRINKING

Millionaire Lawrence, of Cleveland, Charges Wife With Intoxication.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 3.—He tried everything that mortal man could think of in an effort to persuade his wife to listen to reason—and behave herself.

All this, according to Paul T. Lawrence, millionaire vice-president of the Lawrence Publishing Co., 1000 Oregon avenue, led to divorce petition which he has filed in Common Pleas Court against Mrs. Bertha Louise Lawrence, former actress, now a New York resident.

Lawrence charges her with intoxication, making this the main basis of the suit.

"In my efforts to make her behave, I've been lover, cave man and business man," Lawrence said. "I've pleaded with her, I've beaten her and I've offered her money to stop drinking. Now I know, connects my name with three or four women. That's an injustice to them. Any man with money is run after. But I prefer to do my own selecting."

A difference of opinion developed as to who was doing the suing. In Common Pleas Court records show Lawrence's petition is on file. Mrs. Lawrence, in New York, said she knew nothing about that, and insisted she had started the divorce action.

And Lawrence said he has heard nothing about such a move on her part. Sometimes laughing, sometimes in an irate tone, Mrs. Lawrence denied that she was guilty of intoxication, and charged in her husband's petition. In her luxurious uptown Broadway apartment in New York, she gave a vigorous shake to her bobbed head.

"I'm suing him," she declared at first. "He's not suing me—at least, I haven't heard of it. I'm suing him for divorce, charging him with cruelty."

But she didn't reveal any details of her own asserted action, and later admitted that Lawrence's attorneys had notified her that Lawrence had started a divorce action.

"Will you give him freedom?" asked if she would consent her husband's action, Lawrence exclaimed. "No, I'll give him his freedom."

But in another moment she intimated that she would fight for a share in the fortune which she said Lawrence would receive from the estate of his father, the late M. J. Lawrence, founder of the Ohio Farmer and similar publications in other states.

Mrs. Lawrence estimated this estate at $3,000,000. But Lawrence Thayer, who is the executor of the estate, said the estimate to $2,000,000, of which she receives half.

Mrs. Bertha Louise Lawrence is the second wife. They were married Feb. 1918, in Stamford, Conn., and immediately sailed for Europe. She formerly was Mrs. Ray D. Lillibridge, a city man, who she divorced in Reno. Mrs. Lawrence was at one time well known on the stage. Her maiden name was Weeks.

Divorced from First Wife. Before this marriage Lawrence was divorced from his first wife, who was Miss Clara Bryan, daughter of J. M. Bryan, Cleveland advertising man. She charged cruelty and neglect. At the time of the divorce it was said Lawrence made a $50,000 settlement.

The first Mrs. Lawrence charged that Lawrence reminded her that she was "spending his money" when she made purchases, that he nagged her and when she wept he asked her to cry more.

FRAUD IN PUBLIC WORKS CHARGED

Commissioner and Foreman Indicted—Public Funds, Private Work.

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Because it was alleged that employees of the Department of Public Works had been used in helping to build his home in Yonkers, the Westchester County Grand Jury today returned three indictments against Thomas A. Brogan, Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Yonkers, for violation of Section 1863 of the Penal Law.

This is the first time in the history of Westchester County that two officials have been indicted on such a charge. During the last election Mayor-elect Ulrich-Wiesendanger in his campaign speeches charged that Brogan had sent city employees to work on his own dwelling in violation of the law. Brogan is one of the Democratic leaders of Yonkers.

Each indictment set forth that Brogan and Bracken "wiffully and knowingly took part in the allowing of fraudulent claims against the city, especially payrolls of the Department of Public Works for the weeks ending Sept. 8, Oct. 7 and Nov. 25 and certified that these workmen had been working for the city." It is said the evidence before the Grand Jury showed that three Public Works laborers during these weeks were helping to build Mr. Brogan's house.

New Facts Disclosed At Mrs. Whiteside Murder Inquest

SAYS LADDER WAS SHIFTED IN ABSENCE

Brother of Dead Woman Gives New Evidence Before Coroner.

DEAD SOME TIME

Pathologist Tells Result of His Post-Mortem Examination.

The inquiry into the death of Mrs. Clara Whiteside, who was murdered in her home at East St. John, and whose body was found on Christmas evening, was continued in the Court House, German street, last evening before Coroner Horace A. Porter and jury.

Says Ladder Shifted

Dewitt Cairns, brother of the murdered woman, said that there had been a small step ladder lying on the top of the kitchen trap door on Christmas night when he entered the house and that it was not in that position on the day previous when he looked out the window of the kitchen.

John P. Gorman, millatio, testified as to his movements about the Whiteside home on Dec. 18 and went to work in a lumber camp at Swan Creek where he remained until Dec. 27.

GIRL FREED; MAN HELD AT BEAR RIVER

Bertha Potter, 22, Prisoner in Lent's House for Five Years.

TIP COMES FROM U. S.

Halifax, Jan. 2.—Bertha Potter, an attractive woman of 22, walked out into the sunshine today for the first time in five years and told the authorities that she had lived that entire period in a potential dungeon a virtual prisoner in the hands of William Lent, 62, in the centre of the town of Bear River, Digby County, 150 miles from here.

The story of the girl's life, her incarceration and her ultimate release coincident with the arrest of the man in the case on a charge of seduction, bears all the marks of fiction but has been vouched for by special agents sent out by Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, Attorney-General for Nova Scotia.

HER DISAPPEARANCE

Bertha was taken from an almshouse at the age of three and given a home by Mrs. Potter, of Bear River, who also gave her her name. She lived with Mrs. Potter until she was 12 when she went out to work in a nearby village where she remained a year, leaving her occupation in February, 1918, to live with William Lent in Bear River, N. B.

FORCE WAY INTO HOUSE

The Attorney-General sent a special agent, accompanied by a police woman, to Bear River to conduct an investigation into the case of the girl who was held in the house and after some difficulty forced their way inside. They asked the man what he knew of Bertha's father and he replied: "I have not done away with her."

HE PRESSED FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

He finally called out the girl's name and she walked out of the adjoining room. He admitted that the girl had been detained against her will. No explanation was given regarding the delay in the authorities. The letter was sent to the sheriff of the county who sent the Attorney-General O'Hearn at Halifax.

HE PRESSED FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

It was noticed that the girl kept her face averted and that she appeared to be in the best of health. She had not been outside the doors of the almshouse since she was three years of age and her existence had been lived in the adjoining room in which the windows were boarded up.

HE PRESSED FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

Several Chinese are known to have been smuggled into Highlands, N. B., recently. The authorities asserted also that many more rum-runners were transporting narcotics to Trenton, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Trenton, Newark and other centers.

HEALTH BUDGET READY

At a special meeting in the Health Centre last night the programme for an annual meeting on Jan. 11 was drawn up and the drafting of the budget for the coming year was completed. The annual meeting is to be held in two sessions, with a business session in the afternoon and a public meeting in the evening.

FARMERS IN STATES ARE TOLD THAT CO-OPERATION WILL SOLVE TROUBLES

Agricultural Get-Together Has Grown in the Last Few Years.

(By Edward Nordman, Commissioner of Market for Wisconsin, written exclusively for United Press.)
Madison Wis., Jan. 3.—Agricultural co-operation has grown in the last few years with an unusual rapidity. It has come to stay and it is a very important reason for this is that the investigations of the official marketing agencies have furnished definite facts in regard to the existing marketing practices which enable farmers to form a fairly definite estimate as to the chances of success of their prospective co-operative associations.

One of the principal objects of co-operation is to replace inefficient methods of marketing by more efficient ones. The data that is available as a result of studies and investigations make it possible to judge whether a particular marketing function can be more efficiently performed by a co-operative organization or whether it should be left to the initiative of private middlemen. In this way many failures are avoided. Data is also available in regard to forms of organization and business practices, such as financing, storing and merchandising, and the information is spread and popularized by various official and unofficial educational agencies.

Big Business Done.
The result of all this is that the country is covered with a network of successful local co-operative associations and marketing federations. Census figures show that a business of $288,000,000 in co-operative marketing and buying was done through farmers' organizations in 1919. One farm out of every twelve in the United States marketed agricultural products through farmers' organizations, and one farm out of every twenty reported co-operative purchasing of supplies.

The total number of farms selling products through agricultural co-operative associations was 511,333. Sales through the farmers' marketing organizations ran up to $721,583,000, which is an average of $1,413 for each farm reporting. The most important products so marketed were grain, milk, cream, fruit, and truck crops. Since the census figures were published many more co-operative associations were organized, such as the great tobacco pools in the most important tobacco producing states. These pools control from 45 to 85 per cent of the tobacco raised in their respective states.

This short sketch of the progress of agricultural co-operation proves that farmers are determined to have something to say regarding the conditions of the sale of their products and to leave it entirely to the discretion of the buyers, as has been the case in the past. The rapid growth of the co-operative idea heralds the coming of the time when all marketing will be conducted in an orderly manner.

Reduces Expenses.
Co-operation, by bringing the farmers together, enables them to market their products on a large scale, thus proportionally reducing operating expenses. Besides this advantage, co-operation develops common initiative and a spirit of solidarity whereby farmers get accustomed to working harmoniously toward the improving of their conditions. While co-operation is an invaluable factor so far as the improvement of the economic and social conditions of farmers is concerned it is far from being, as many people believe, a panacea for all farm ills. There are many forces at work in modern society thwarting the good effect of co-operation as well as all other legitimate business activities. Among these forces are various monopolies, such as the monopoly of land and other natural resources, which increase the farmer's cost of production and at the same time lower his income by decreasing the purchasing power of the consuming public.

Until farmers understand and apply the remedies that are needed to cure these basic evils they cannot hope to bring about a permanent improvement in the agricultural situation either through co-operative marketing or by any of the other means that are commonly advocated.

Honor Conferred On C. P. R. Captain

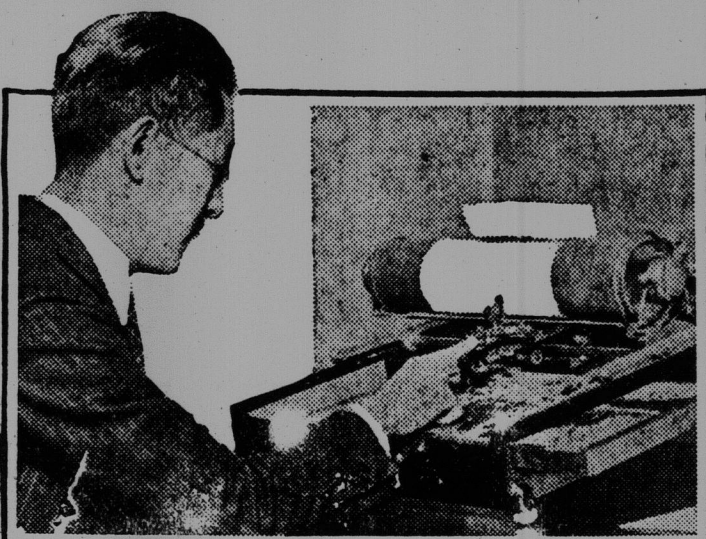

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Captain Samuel Robinson, R. N. R., hero of the Yokohama disaster, has been created a Commander of the Order of the British Empire in His Majesty's New Year honors, according to a dispatch received by G. M. Bosworth, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd.

Starting in 1905 as fifth officer on the S.S. Empress of Japan, Captain Robinson served on many ships of the company, including the Athmia, of which he was made commander in 1903; the Empress of China, Montevideo, Empress of India, and Empress of Asia. During the period of war, he commanded the Empress of Russia and in June, 1922, was appointed to the first command of the new Empress of Australia.

On the memorable voyage of this vessel from the Orient to Canada following the Japanese earthquake, Capt Robinson wrote an official report to the chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships. This report was published in three editions, being reviewed by the leading journals of the world, it was credited as being a work of literary genius as well as an exceptional document of marvellous facts. The popular skipper will command the S.S. Empress of Canada in her round-trip America and round-the-world cruises.

Must Wait for Organ.
London.—He can enter a church only during services. Otherwise, he'll go to jail. The man, a laborer, has a penchant for hymn books. It seems he always wants to know in advance just what the congregation will sing on Sunday. But witnesses told the magistrate in Chichester police court that the fellow forgets to bring back the books. So the judge decreed the sinner must confine his church going to the Sabbath Day.

Takes a Centipede to Run It

"lets in the little folks" as well as the rich. It has been copied in more than forty cities and is just getting under way in New York, where it is under the general direction of a group of trust companies. The Community Trust, he predicted, would prove to be a bigger factor in our life than the single endowed corporation.

End to Large Gifts.
Big individual gifts such as Rockefeller made to Chicago and Carnegie to Pittsburgh, in his opinion, were likely to end. Universities, he said, could raise funds through their alumni and other sources; public schools could resort to taxation, but there remained the third great field of adult education—"the out-of-the-classroom" field.

The people, he pointed out, were just beginning to realize that they must go with their education after they have left the school and the university, citing the remarkable growth of University Extension as evidence of this trend. It was in this field of adult education, Mr. Keppel asserted, that the Trust Fund would in the new era be usefully employed. This is in the minds of the greatest men of England, and it is already in practice in Denmark. To formulate spheres of effort, to demonstrate what can be done and how to do it, would be the function, constructive and coordinating, of the Trust Fund. The growth of the correspondence school, the Chatauqua, and the Yreum he pointed to as further evidencing the demand for popular instruction. Museums such as the American Museum of Natural History and now in their infancy would, he predicted, be another important influence.

The Carnegie Corporation, he said, was now turning to library research, aiding libraries in extending and improving their service in the opening field of adult education. The modern endowment, he said, would be characterized by complete freedom of control, power and responsibility being vested in the trustees. Both the sustaining and the restraining influence, he declared, would be public opinion.

SAYS HEALING IS WORK FOR DOCTORS

Archbishop of Canterbury's Investigating Committee Has Prepared Report.

London, Jan. 3.—A committee of prominent clergymen and eminent medical authorities appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury after the Lambeth conference in 1920 to study the relationship of religion and healing has made a report in which it is understood to have stated that "no sick person must look to a clergyman to do what is a physician's or a surgeon's duty to do."

The report is to be published soon. The committee heard evidence on behalf of Christian Science, healing by faith, laying on of hands and blessing of the sick. It is understood the report is of a general character only, one of the committee men explaining that the subject had been found too vast, many-sided and difficult for any conclusions except vague ones. The Bishop of Oxford acted as chairman of the committee and the others included the Bishops of Southwark, St. Alban's and Liverpool, and physicians of such prominence as Sir Thomas Clifford Allbutt, Sir Robert Armstrong-Jones, Dr. William Brown, Dr. J. A. Hatfield and Dr. Jane Walker.

SEES END TO HUGE EDUCATION GIFTS

Carnegie Corporation President Speaks on New Era in Philanthropy.

New York, Jan. 3.—A new era of dawn in philanthropy, both in this country and Europe, Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, said at the annual holiday luncheon of the alumni of Columbia University. Huge benefactions to education like those of Rockefeller and Carnegie were, he thought, likely to end.

Group giving in the shape of the Community Trust was rapidly developing, he said, and may turn out to be the biggest form of endowment. Adult education he described as the field to which in the future the efforts of institutions like the Carnegie Corporation would be directed. Mr. Keppel, a former dean of Columbia College, and a member of the class of 1888, said that more than half a billion dollars was concentrated in endowments in New York city. In the reign of Henry the Eighth, he said, more than half the wealth of England was in endowments, mostly ecclesiastical, but was tied up by restrictions that were too severe.

The first real blow for freedom, he asserted, was struck by Russell Sage, who invested independence of control in the trustees of the Sage Foundation. Large scale endowments mentioned by him were the Rockefeller Foundation with a capital of $175,000,000 the General Education Board, also a Rockefeller institution, with $125,000,000; the Laura Spellman Memorial with $80,000,000, and the Carnegie Corporation with $123,000,000. In addition, there were the Commonwealth Fund and from fifty to a hundred other endowments. Since the war, Mr. Keppel said, endowment has developed in a new direction, beginning with the establishment by a banker in Cleveland, O., of the Community Trust. Mr. Keppel said he had been informed that this will now written in Cleveland more than $1,000,000 is bequeathed to the Community Trust. The Community Trust idea, he said,

Make Your Own Comparisons— But Compare The Furniture As Well As The Price. There's a wonderful satisfaction in having genuinely good furniture in the home. —because folks who visit you are also guests in many other homes, and comparisons are but natural. —and isn't it gratifying to see them regard the furnishings of your home with unaffected admiration? Fortunately it costs but a trifle more to make this good furniture, and it actually costs less to sell it. Therefore, where the desire for economy is to effect your choice, you will invariably buy good furniture if you make your own comparisons of both price and quality. And in Everett's immense stock you will find just the Good Furniture which we have described. Drop in and look around.
