PERJURY IN THE ARBUCKLE CASE?

Convinced of It Says State Official.

Important Witness is Missing—Movie Comedian Before Grand Jury Few Minutes—Formal Complaint Charging Murder.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—A statement expressing the conviction that perjury had been committed by one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution at the grand jury investigation of the death of Miss Rappe, was issued here early today by District Attorney Brady.

In his statement, District Attorney Brady charged that Miss Zey Provost, also known as Zey Pyron, had changed her testimony before the grand jury from what she had given previously to the police and officials of the district attorney's office, that Miss Rappe had told her Arbuckle had caused her injuries.

District Attorney Brady's statement follows:—"We have sent Miss Pyron home under surveillance. The girl changed her story completely before the grand jury. Whether or not we shall arrest her and charge her with perjury will depend on further developments. I am convinced, however, that perjury has been committed by her."

"I am convinced that undue influence and pressure of a sinister character has been brought to bear on her and other witnesses, one of whom, Alice Blake, has mysteriously disappeared since she came in Berkeley. We have been unable to find her."

Arbuckle, the last witness summoned by the grand jury during this morning session, was arrested on a charge of perjury about one o'clock this morning. He is reported to have declined to make any statement further than to explain that his lawyers had advised him to keep silent.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—The San Francisco county grand jury this morning concluded its examination of the testimony on which the district attorney is seeking an indictment charging Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle, motion picture star, with the murder of Virginia Rappe, an actress. The investigation will be resumed at a date convenient to Matthew Brady, district attorney.

Arbuckle was brought before the grand jury at one o'clock this morning, but remained only three minutes and then was led back to his cell. Five witnesses were summoned by him when the sessions were started last night. Mrs. B. M. Belmont, companion of Miss Rappe, was the first witness summoned before the grand jury.

Others who were called were Z. Provost, and Alice Blake, also guests at the party on last Monday, and Mrs. Jean Jameson, a nurse who attended Miss Rappe when she was dying.

After half an hour, Mrs. Bamba Maude Belmont emerged from the grand jury room, leaning heavily on the arm of Policewoman O'Connor. She was a friend of the dead actress. Mrs. Belmont had been ill, she said, and she had been induced by the death of her friend, Miss Rappe. She is under no restraint, police officials said, but is provided with a police guard to save her from annoyance as the star witness in the case.

Mrs. Belmont yesterday made formal complaint before Police Judge Daniel O'Brien yesterday charging against Arbuckle in connection with the death of Miss Rappe.

Arbuckle appeared in court to be arraigned on the charge sworn to by Mrs. Belmont. At the request of the district attorney the case was continued until Friday morning and Arbuckle was taken back to his cell.

Mrs. Belmont, in signed and sworn statements, gave the police many details of the party in Arbuckle's rooms. She attended the party and attended Miss Rappe after the alleged attack.

Plans for the campaign were announced by Mr. Gompers last night in an address at the twenty first convention of the United Textile Workers of America.

"We aim to accomplish our results day by day," he said, "not by a cataclysm of revolution, but by orderly processes. We wish to go in peace but if there is to be talk battle, we will not turn away from the battle imposed on us."

Mr. Gompers declared that since textile workers had accepted a 22 per cent wage cut a year ago, employers had "tried it again and again until they have driven the manhood and womanhood of the textile industry to desperation."

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I am not feeling well this morning."

"That's too bad," said Hiram. "Appetite gone."

"Not altogether," said the reporter. "I just feel tired—no snap—don't want to do anything."

"Well, sir," said Hiram, "I'll bring you in a bottle of Hiram's sarsaparilla bitters. She got the receipt from an Indian doctor, a long time ago. When I start feelin' right I take them bitters for a week or two and they're the best medicine I kin get—yes, sir."

"You remind me," said the reporter. "A long time ago I also had an interludic depuration of its elected public representatives put before Eamonn De Valera's objections to the Ulster parliament having jurisdiction over their municipality."

Londonderry's business relations, it was pointed out, are closer with County Donegal, in the southern area, than with the County of Londonderry, in the northern group, on the edge of which the city is situated.

QUEBEC LIQUOR LAW CRITICIZED

Sherbrooke City Council Calls on Premier and Commission for Remedy.

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 13.—The working of the new Quebec liquor laws came in for considerable criticism at a city council meeting last evening, and as a result the following resolution was passed by the aldermen and addressed to premier Taschereau and the Quebec liquor commission.

"The present requirement that permission must be obtained from the liquor commission before alcohol or liquor of any kind can be taken, and the delay necessary to obtain such permission is resulting in the act being absolutely non-operative, in as far as the imposition of penalties is concerned, in the case of practically all transients and in many other instances."

"As a result of this, and other provisions of the act, lawlessness and crime are greatly on the increase in this municipality, and we are finding it increasingly difficult to cope with the situation, and we do therefore respectfully petition your honorable body for a more rigid and rapid enforcement of the various penalties enumerated in the said act, and that greater powers for enforcement be given to municipalities."

FOR CO-OPERATIVE CATTLE SHIPPING

Western Move in View of a Probable Closing of U. S. Markets to Our Livestock.

Winnipeg, Sept. 13.—In anticipation of the probable closing of United States markets to Canadian cattle, the United Grain Growers' Limited have decided that it will be necessary to organize an "export cattle company," as a subsidiary to the parent company, says the Manitoba Free Press in an article written by Miss E. Core Hind, its commercial editor.

Regarding the continuance of this would take some time and it is highly important that something be done at once to meet the present acute situation in the livestock industry, it is proposed to conduct co-operative shipping as a department of the company's live stock business this fall. The cattle will be handled by the company from the shipper on a pool basis. The plan, which has been tentatively worked out, is very much like that employed by the Canada Wheat Board in handling the 1919 crop.

Bennett would be in the cabinet, but Ottawa now says that the Calgary orator will not be in the cabinet. Unfortunately nobody knows but the premier, and he is not expected to give his cabinet until tomorrow."

The first activity on the part of the Liberals was seen when a party of meeting province Liberals came to Ottawa. They were headed by John H. Sinclair, who won't be a candidate again. The swearing in of the new cabinet, which had been expected today or tomorrow, may not take place till towards the end of the week, but cabinet making is understood to be well in hand and there is every likelihood of an early announcement of the line up. This morning H. H. Stewart, who is expected to succeed Sir George E. Foster as minister of trade and commerce.

GEORGE WALSH SCORES A BIG SUCCESS AGAIN

George Walsh put over another smashing hit last night at the Unique Theatre, where he opened in his latest William Fox production, "Dynamite Allen," written by Thomas F. Fallon.

In his present vehicle Mr. Walsh has unlimited opportunity for the sort of action that suits him best - action that catches one's breath. "Dynamite Allen" is without question a thriller; but it is something more - a thoroughly desirable production in every respect. It is free from anything objectionable, it has cleverly conceived dramatic situations, and individual characterizations interpreted.

A cast of marked excellence includes such well-known names as Edna Murphy, Dorothy Allen, Byron Douglas and J. Thornton Boston. Dell Henderson directed the picture. "Dynamite Allen" is a production to be recommended most highly, both to those who seek dramatic action and those who wish a charming love story.

Life in the mining regions of Pennsylvania is the subject of the romance, which is developed with much literary skill and pictorial charm.

GUARANTEE SEAT FOR ANY SHOW

New York Theatre Ticket Agency Creates a Furore Among Theatrical Managers.

New York, Sept. 10 (Associated Press by mail) Announcement by a theatre ticket agency that it would guarantee seats in the first eight rows of popular Broadway productions upon payment of yearly amounts ranging from $100 to $500, created a furore among theatrical managers and indignation among theatre lovers who perennially are disappointed in attempts to get good seats at the box office.

Some of the theatre managers promptly said the scheme could not be carried out because there were not enough seats in the first eight rows of any theatre housing a success to go around. They said they had not entered into any such arrangement with the agency, and furthermore, would not give such a privilege to any agency.

Sam H. Harris, president of the Theatre Managers' Protective Association, said: "It is well understood that the brokerage office my seats outright in large numbers for the highly successful plays and for the more doubtful plays on memorandum, that is, with the privilege of returning them. I don't like the system and have always opposed it, but it is my experience that the speculators are able to get the seats they want anyway."

The agency's scheme proposes to sell for a cash in advance premium a guarantee of delivery of seats in the first eight rows of the subscriber each week may designate. This premium payment is in addition to the box office price of the seats, plus the regular cents per seat. FIELD DAY FOR GAR, BUS AND TRICYCLE MEN

Traffic Cases Give the Police Magistrate a Busy Morning.

Old laws, new laws, and, in the opinion of some of the defendants, blue laws were quoted and refuted this morning before the magistrate. One defendant contended that the new ordinance covering the operation of jitneys was just passed to please some of the big fellows. Another announced flatly that he would not pay his fine and that was all there was to it. Drivers of jitneys, drivers of street cars and drivers of trucks all appeared in answer to summonses for various infractions of one or more of the city by-laws. Fines of $10 were imposed in most cases, though some were stood over for further witnesses.

Charges of stopping within fifty feet of a white pole were preferred against Cecil Carlin, James Pitt, Ernest Hagerman, John McGraw, A. L. Kennick, Arthur Wakeham, Roy Carvell, and Wilfred Akreley. Fines of $10 were imposed. Charges of stopping at the intersection of streets were laid against Edward Murtha, Wilfred Akreley, George Scott, Cecil McLean, Charles Campbell, Charles G. Thomas Crawford, James Benkin, George Buskin, William Sands, Roswell is a street car conductor, and he was charged with racing with William Sands. Sands denied that his jitney had been at the place named in the charge at the time stated. These two cases were adjourned until Friday morning.

FOR YOU.
If you enjoy a piece of good bread and butter, then you will surely enjoy bread made from "Regal" Flour. It was because of the quality and quantity of bread which "Regal" makes that people came to speak of it as "The big value in flour." We think it can be said that no other flour in the world gives more loaves to the barrel and that no flour has ever surpassed it in the quality of bread produced. We should like to see this "big value in flour" in use in every household in New Brunswick, for just as bread is the staff of life, so among flours does "Regal" stand in the very front as a bread maker. St. John house-keepers when ordering flour from their grocer should express a desire to be supplied with "Regal." If the grocer has not "Regal," he can easily get a supply from C. H. Peters, Sons, Limited.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs
(The Modern Beauty)
There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums
Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhoea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.
Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.
Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhoea.
They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.
So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhoea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.
And in preventing Pyorrhoea—it guards against other ills.
Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.
If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

You, yes You can save 50c to $10 on every gown you make
PERHAPS you have made simple summer frocks but have never attempted a winter dress. Winter materials are so expensive that you dread the thought of making a costly mistake.
Yet this winter you can plan to make your winter wardrobe as confidently as you would proceed with summer dressmaking. You can make each frock successfully of less material than such a frock ever required before. You can cut into rich divetyn with as much assurance as you would run your scissors through a length of gingham. You can select even the most intricate styles—and interpret them as would the cleverest modiste of Paris!
Yet these wonderful clothes will actually cost less than any you have ever possessed—not only because you can make them yourself, but because of an additional saving—a saving made possible by the same marvelous invention that brings Paris to your needlepoint—the Deltor!

The DELTOR
Saves 50c to $10
IN three simple steps, the Deltor guides you to economy, turns hours of sewing into minutes and brings you the charm of Paris itself!

- The Deltor gives you an individual layout chart (yes, individual chart—not just a general chart but one for your exact size and for each suitable width of material). You lay out your pattern—the expert's way. You buy 1/4 to 1 3/4 yards less, a saving of 50c to $10.00 material for every frock!
- You save time—there's never an instant or hesitation as you follow the picture-and-word putting-together story of the original Paris creator. Guided by the simple explanations especially planned for your very own frock, you almost unknowingly achieve the perfection, the sophisticated simplicity that stamps a real creation of Paris!
- And finally, those all-important touches of finish! You embody in your frock every piquant detail, every exclusive little idea of a Parisian modiste. Your finished frock in every stitch—in every line—in every detail—is Paris itself!

FOR—
Fashioners fresh from Paris, that you can interpret with true Parisian smartness, the Deltor way—
FOR—
Fiction by the best authors, economy in the home and authoritative articles on the care of children.

GO to the Butterick pattern counter. Select from the newest Parisian fashions, remembering that the Deltor suggests the correct materials and simplifies the making of the most intricate gown. It saves you 50c to $10 because it specifies less material than would be possible without the Deltor.

SIR LOMER GOULIN.

The Montreal Gazette believes it probable that Sir Lomer Goulin will be a candidate in St. Hyacinthe, and says much interest attaches to what he may say at the Liberal banquet to Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux on Sept. 22. A staff correspondent of the Toronto Globe, writing from Montreal, gives this curious rumor:

"The general impression appears to be that those Liberals of Quebec whose sentiments, while indubitably 'rouge', are at the same time susceptible to the alarms and excursions which are being so assiduously sounded by the high protection party, are being rounded up with a view to making a solid block within a block. The outer container will be the ever-faithful Liberal block of Quebec within that will be the smaller—much smaller—protectionist Liberal block pledged to follow as the faithful moment—some time later than the general election—the rumor runs, this smaller block will emphasize its position as the last small weight needed to tip the balance one way or the other. The one way is understood to be a continuation of the support of Hon. Mackenzie King and his party in return for pledges against extreme revisions of the tariff, while the other alternative would be a crossing of the floor to throw in weight with Mr. Meighen and his rump of a party, pledged to the combating at any cost of a revision downward of the customs tariff."

In view of these rumors, the interest in what Sir Lomer may say becomes a matter of very keen and widespread interest. He has been out of politics for some time, but is a very powerful factor in Quebec politics if he chooses to exert his influence. It would be very difficult, moreover, to persuade anybody to believe that a party supported by him would be headed for free trade, and this would be a severe handicap for the Conservative press, which is trying to create the impression that both Liberals and Progressives are headed that way. Sir Lomer himself has not yet spoken.

A VANISHING HOPE?

The American Congress is not at all regardless of the feelings of the Canadian Conservatives. It has not yet passed the Fordney tariff bill, and a headline in a New York paper says the chances of getting it through this year are slim. The headline is based on a Washington letter which points out that the taxation measure will be debated for a long time and that Congress will rise on Dec. 5, and adds that "the better guess is that there will not be any new tariff this year."

The New York Evening Post directs attention to the fact that Postmaster General Hays, in a speech last week in Cleveland said:

"It has been thought by many that we could overcome these handicaps (of cost of manufacture and the exchange situation) by a device which we called American valuation. Looking carefully into this, it has been thought that this device might not overcome the handicap, and further, might have a boomerang effect on our own interests."

Surely, as a result of the Fordney bill, and it quotes Mr. Hays as saying further that "conditions throughout the world are too chaotic to be able to forecast exactly what is needed." The Evening Post regards the remarks of the postmaster general as a hint that in the opinion of the government it may be inadvisable to attempt to write a permanent tariff, and that Washington has been hearing from that country:

"Of course there is the emergency tariff, but in what direction may it be changed next year when the country has been heard from still more? One thing is clear, and it is that the Canadian Conservatives are not getting the help they hoped for from the American Congress in their appeal for a higher tariff in Canada."

But even if the United States adopts permanently a high tariff it will not be a new experience for Canada. This country has found other markets in times past when the market south of the border was closed by high duties, and it can do so again. The thing to guard against is so high a cost of production and transportation and such heavy taxation as would discourage industry. Canada needs an era of economy and a scientific tariff which will fit the tariff duties to conditions and circumstances in relation to each industry, and this cannot be hoped for under the Meighen government.

Everybody is giving prohibition a kick. The last to do so is Prof. J. D. McMurrich, professor of anatomy, who told the Canadian Embalmers' Association in Toronto last week that "great difficulty was being experienced in securing bodies for the dissecting room at the university." He attributed the fact at least in part, to prohibition, as he "had found that men who formerly might have died through indulgence in liquor now possessed an estate at their death and their remains were interred at the expense of 'this estate'."

Chinese is built up from 214 ko-yow-words. But these, by combination, form 27,000 different words—spoken in twenty different dialects. For instance, ask a Chinese laundryman or waiter about the word "chou." He won't pronounce it. He'll sing it. According to the tone, it can mean book, tree, heat, relate, North-east Lights, accustomed, losing a bet, etc.

At a noonday luncheon at the National Exhibition in Toronto last week, Mr. W. S. Fisher of St. John, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, made some observations that will be heartily approved in the maritime provinces. The Globe report says: "Mr. Fisher exhorted his manufacturing friends and others who produce to insist that Canadian railways carry the production for export to Canadian ports and that Canadian products be carried in Canadian ships. 'See to it as far as you can that your trade is routed where it will give employment to Canadian workmen. It is an east-and-west movement we require. We are on the route. Let us have full advantage of it.'"

Mr. J. K. Pinder, Hon. J. A. Murray and other lights of the Conservative party have been in conference in this city. Whether there were any fireworks or not is not revealed, but their communion would no doubt develop the fact that they had a good deal to say to each other. The Standard does not appear to have been represented, if one may judge from its news columns today, unless it meant to signalize the occasion by a well considered leader entitled "The Value of Money."

Monetizing Transcript: "Editorially referring to the cabinet of all the talents which Mr. Meighen gathered together to undertake the great work of reconstruction the St. John Standard said that some of the ministers had outlived their usefulness, while some others never had any apparent use. In the latter connection was the Standard by any chance thinking of Hon. Rupert Wigmore, New Brunswick's representative in the government?"

All whose names should be on the lists for the coming plebiscite on prohibition of the importation of liquor into New Brunswick should see that they are there. It is desirable that the vote be large, and that it should leave no doubt regarding public sentiment on this question of such vital importance to the welfare of the community. Prohibition cannot be effectively enforced until the importation of liquor is placed under the ban of the law.

The Quebec liquor laws are held up by some persons as a model. The city council of Quebec should know something about them, and it has just adopted a resolution which reads that as a result of provisions of the act it is non-operative and "lawlessness and crime are greatly on the increase." There is only one way to deal with this evil, and that is to enforce complete prohibition. The next parliament should attend to that for all Canada.

The Greeks, who went so jauntily into war with the Turks are finding it a good deal tougher proposition than they had anticipated. Their losses have been considerable and their task is far from being finished, while the winter season is approaching. Greece would have been well advised at the outset to listen to the counsel of her allies in the great war, and not to attempt playing a lone hand.

The leaders in Ulster keep reminding Mr. Lloyd George and the Sinn Fein that there is a third party to negotiations in Ireland. The general outlook for peace, however, appears to be improving. The Quebec Irishmen who demand an Irish republic are not helping any, and might be much better employed.

A wave of crime has passed over this province during the last year and has caused some timid folk to grow dependent in regard to the future. It should rather stimulate them to labor for the removal of some of the causes of crime in their midst.

Volcanic mountains are not always a merely destructive force. A recent news item has referred to a 30,000 horsepower steam turbine installation in Italy which derives its energy from steam issuing from vents in the side of a volcano.

Ottawa despatches continue to mention Hon. Mr. Baxter as a possible choice for minister from New Brunswick. What provision would be made in that case for Hon. Mr. Wigmore?

Premier Meighen thanks the Lord there is one man who does not want a senatorship. Why conceal the name of this extraordinary body? But perhaps he wants something better.

The death of Senator Power of Halifax creates another vacancy for Nova Scotia in the senate. Senator Power was a distinguished citizen of Halifax with a notable record of valuable service to the city and province.

AUCTIONEER "ZERO"
Philanthropist Cannot Support Wife, Who is Prostitute.

Boston, Sept. 13.—While Urgan Le-doux, the mystery philanthropist, who recently launched a "jobless" hotel at 31 Howard street, dispensing largess to hundreds of Boston's unemployed, Mrs. Carmeline Ledoux, the philanthropist's wife, says she works eight hours daily as a prostitute in a struggle to support herself, her son and daughter, unaided by Ledoux.

The present home of the little family at 119 Essex street, Mrs. Ledoux has lived there for about two months, maintaining a modest apartment of four rooms. She says "Zero" as Ledoux is commonly known, in no way contributes to the maintenance of herself, their children or the home.

Mr. Ledoux while confirming the truth of these assertions, gave as his excuse for leaving the care of the small home to his wife, the belief that his "larger family" of the hundreds of unemployed in Boston, was of the greater importance in his life.

"I've got a bigger family than that one," he said, meaning that he jobs were all important in his efforts.

Mrs. Ledoux leaves home every morning shortly after 6 o'clock, going to her work in a downtown publishing concern, where she is employed. She is home again at 5 o'clock each night, and from then until around 10 o'clock in the evening she kept busy attending to domestic duties.

With the young daughter, who recently found a position as a typewriter, she frays all expenses of her home.

The interests of the wife and of the philanthropist were wholly dissimilar, Mrs. Ledoux also made clear.

"His problems are entirely different from mine," she said.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION
(Toronto Globe).

Except the spokesmen of the government, nobody is in hysterics. The Liberal and Progressive parties are working hard and quietly, confidently awaiting the verdict of the electors. Whatever that verdict may be, they feel that the country is safe, that neither British connection, fiscal independence nor industrial stability is in danger. They trust the people of Canada, of course, ignoring the fact that there are serious problems to be solved. There is a very large public debt, there is need of a large revenue to meet the interest, the deficits on the railways, the pensions and other obligations arising out of the war, and the regular services of the country. A revision of the tariff is long overdue, and must be made with care and skill and with due regard to changed conditions. The problem of the national railways must be faced with courage and patience, in the knowledge that increased rural population and settlement of the land will eventually place the railways on a paying basis. Remedies must be sought for unemployment, and provision must be made especially against hardship and distress in the coming winter. The new government and parliament must be prepared to settle down to a programme of hard work. But a recognition of the magnitude of the task ought to be stimulating, while exaggerated alarm, bordering on despair, would paralyze energy.

The key to the situation is the Liberal principle of confidence in the people. The suggestion of fear that need of a history. Men of this generation have conversed with older men who remember how the Reform Bill of 1832 was described as a revolutionary measure which would shake the foundations of the Throne and the constitution, and how responsible government in Canada was resisted as leading the way to separation from Great Britain. In more recent years the tariff revision made in 1897 was the occasion of diabolical predictions of industrial ruin. All these predictions were falsified, as predictions based upon fear of progress and distrust of the people usually are falsified, as the bird walks about on the ground.

WILD DUCKS SUFFER FROM LEAD POISON

Swallow Shot Deposited from Guns of Hunters, and Paralysis Results—The Pellets Buried in Mud.

(New York Times)
Lead poisoning in various species of wild ducks and other waterfowl has recently attracted attention among persons interested in game birds in the United States. Already it is causing the loss of a considerable number of waterfowl each year. Lead poisoning in waterfowl has its origin in the large quantity of expended shot that from year to year is deposited in the mud about shooting points and blinds in marshes, shallow bays and lakes. Birds find and swallow these leaden pellets while searching for food, and many are seriously affected by the poison thus taken.

At various times during past years," says Alexander Wetmore, in a bulletin of the Bureau of Biological Survey, "there has been discussion in sporting magazines regarding the presence of shot in the stomachs of wild ducks. More recently attention was called to lead poisoning in ducks by J. H. Bowles in 1908. On the Nisqually flats, a large marsh area in the Puget Sound district, Washington, a number of mallards had been found sick or dead. Examination of three of these revealed a quantity of shot still held in the gizzard. The Nisqually flats have been famous ducking grounds since early settlement in the State, so that it may be supposed that shot are present in the mud in abundance.

Lead poisoning was reported in 1908 also among canvas backs on Lake Surprise, Texas, and an account of it was published by W. L. McAtee of the Biological Survey. Lead poisoning in this locality apparently had been known for several years. It was stated that canvas backs resorted to Lake Surprise in November each year and affected birds appeared in the rushes alongshore about the first of January, while as the season advanced these sick birds died and appeared. From all accounts, no other species of wild ducks were affected here.

Whistling Swans Suffer.
"Examination of several whistling swans from Back Bay, Virginia, sent to the Biological Survey during January, 1915, showed that these birds were suffering from lead poisoning. From twenty-two to forty-five shot pellets were found in the gizzard of each. On inquiry it was learned that since swans were found in January every year and that the trouble among them continued until March. The mallards, known locally as the 'keels,' was said to be suffering from lead poisoning as well as swans.

"During the summers of 1915 and 1916, while working in the marshes formed in the Bear River delta at the northern end of Great Salt Lake, Utah, the writer handled many ducks suffering from lead poisoning. Here the species affected were mallards and pintails, the majority being males. Birds sick from poisoning were found from June to September. From all accounts, the trouble was considerable, though insignificant when compared with the numbers destroyed here by other diseases.

"Examination of sick ducks in other localities in the United States seem to indicate lead poisoning as the causative agent, but material has not as yet been available to substantiate this. It is believed that the trouble is more or less prevalent throughout the country. The list of species of birds at present known to have been poisoned by eating shot is small, but it will undoubtedly be increased when the facts are better known. In the following list all but one species—the canvas-back—are included from personal observations of the writer: Mallard, pintail, canvas-back, whistling swan, marbled godwit.

"Lead poisoning is a common affliction in all these except the marbled godwit. Only one specimen of this bird that had been poisoned by shot has been examined. In these species and in other shore birds lead poisoning is probably rare. Geese and several species of ducks in addition to those listed above are said to have been affected in various localities, in particular on Back Bay, Virginia, but these reports have not as yet been verified.

Shot Taken While Feeding.
"As has been stated, the shot secured are taken while feeding. Pintails and mallards delight in working in shallow water, where they dig away the mud to a depth of six to eighteen inches, in search of succulent roots and tubers. In this manner they work over extensive areas, forming 'duck holes' from one to four feet in diameter. Some feed in much the same manner, but with their long necks are enabled to work in deeper water. The canvas-back is a diver, and constantly digs constantly in the bottom mud and frequently feeds at a considerable depth. With all these certain quantities of gravel or grit of some kind are necessary for the proper grinding, or trituration, of food in the gizzard. In the mud of marshes and lowland lakes little gravel is present, and to secure this needed element the birds in feeding develop a tendency to swallow any small hard object they encounter. In this way the shot that has accumulated about shooting points are swallowed one by one. The bird may be several days or even longer in securing a large number of pellets at one time. In either case the shot are held in the gizzard, to be slowly ground away, only small particles of lead poisoning passing on into the intestine.

"The symptoms of lead poisoning as observed in waterfowl are similar in many ways to those found in mammals. A prominent indication of this malady is a paralysis of important muscles, which increases steadily as the aliment progresses. This paralysis seems first to affect the nerves supplying the great pectoral muscles of the breast, and in a very short time the birds are unable to follow the wing. The wings float droop from the sides. In many cases the extensor muscles supporting the wing tip, that portion of the fore limb homologous with the hand, are seriously affected, and the wing hangs from the carpal joint, a symptom strikingly like the 'wing drop' found in many cases of lead poisoning in man. The wings float loosely on the surface when the affected birds are in the water, and in severe cases the tips of the primaries may droop as the bird walks about on the ground.

PAINT IN SEPTEMBER
If you have any building that needs painting, now is the best time to do it, because at no other time of year are wood surfaces in better condition to receive paint, for the summer sun has dried it out thoroughly, and another thing—rough winter weather is coming along, and your property should be protected with a good coat of paint. A small investment now will save expensive repairs and deterioration that is sure to result if your buildings are left to the mercies of the elements.
We shall be glad to help you choose good color combinations.

Other muscles are affected as well. When the bird is standing the breast is depressed and the tail droops.
"After a few days birds often experience difficulty in walking and may fall as they attempt to turn around. This paralysis of the legs grows until the birds can no longer be supported, and in moving about the birds slide along on the breast. This loss of function in the muscles is not always hysterical; in several cases muscles on the left side were more severely affected than on the right."

Dr. Patterson reports that while he was on a tour through the west, from which he has just returned, a thief broke into the church in Chestnut street and made off with the manuscripts of half a dozen pulp addresses. The pastor's only comment was an expression of the hope that the dishonest one may profit by reading one or more of the sermons and being brought, perhaps, to see the error of his ways.

BISHOP HORNER DIES IN HARNESS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Kingston, Ont., Sept. 12.—A telegram announcing the sudden death at Ivanhoe, Hastings county, where he was taking part in a camp meeting, of Bishop Horner, founder of the Holiness Movement, and the present Standard Church, was received here this afternoon. Death came at 4 o'clock this morning, the message said, and though Bishop Horner has not been in good health of late, his death was unexpected. The body will be sent to Ottawa for interment.

Bishop Ralph Cecil Horner was born in Clarendon township, Pontiac county (Que.) on Dec. 22, 1854. He became a Methodist minister, but was suspended from the Methodist church for choosing to do evangelistic rather than pastoral work in 1895.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Hughes-Wardell
At 216 Duke street, last evening, Abraham Hughes was united in marriage to Mrs. Rosina A. Wardell. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Neil McLaughlin in the presence of a goodly company of friends and relatives. The bride received a large number of valuable gifts. Following the marriage a supper was served and the evening pleasantly spent.

Lord-Wilson

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. John (Stone) church yesterday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, when Rev. A. L. Fleming, united in marriage, Anna Mildred, daughter of Mrs. E. C. Wilson, Sydney street, and John I. Lord, of this city. The bride, who was unattended, wore a travelling suit of reindeer suede velvet with hat to correspond and carried a bouquet of roses. Many beautiful gifts were received, including an electric coffee percolator from the staff of the divisional freight office, Canadian Pacific Railway, where the groom is employed. Immediately after the ceremony the happy party left on the Montreal train for a trip to upper Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. George F. Matthews will leave early in October for New York where they will make their home with their son, Dr. W. F. Matthews. They will be missed by a large circle of friends who were very sorry to hear of their impending departure.

Dr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask. writes: "About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 126 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

The Autumn Exposition of Fashion

Revealing New Modes as Interpreted
For the Coming Season

The most notable feature pervading the entire new Autumn mode, is perhaps the delightful wearableness of all manner of garments. The fantastic and extreme have vanished to a great extent and in their place are charming things of true beauty which are adapted to all types and tastes. Suits, Coats, Frocks, Hats, and Blouses show a distinctly new and interesting mode which appeals equally to good judgment and a sense of the beautiful.

You Are Invited to View These
New Modes on Wednesday

Autumn Frocks

To Suit the Mood of the Moment

Smartly tailored coat frocks of cloth, frequently heavily embroidered, are much in favor for autumn wear, seconded ably and beautifully by tunic and chemise and dresses of simple lines and spirited or subdued color. In gracious contrast to these tailored types are afternoon frocks of soft crepes and satins. These incline toward the free use of draperies on skirts, irregular hems, pleats and panels. Dance Frocks are in wonderfully lovely colors; many are very plain and achieve their rich appearance through loveliness of fabric.

Cloth Coats

Show Marvelous
Tailoring

Women who prefer coats of the dressy type will find here ample room for individual choice. Even some of the big coats designed for utility purposes carry a dressy note in touches of self embroidery, novel belts, unusual convertible collars of self material or contrasting fur, and elaborate sleeve lines. All shades of brown from light sand to dark African are strongly in favor and such soft cloths as Bolivias, Velours, Duvelins and Blankets are in popular demand. For the greater part, coats are along wrappy lines with full backs, free hanging or loosely belted.

New Blouses

Are exquisite in details of making. Crepe-de-chines and Georgettes with frilly fronts or in delightfully new embroidered and tailored styles display altogether different charms.

Skirts Are in Stripes

Many are pleated with Stripes of contrasting color showing between pleats. Colors are quiet or bright as one may choose.

Tailored Suits

These display the grace of long lines and are fashioned from materials and colors especially suitable and becoming for Autumn and Winter wear.

Baltimore Women Physicians See Sex Freer Since War.

Baltimore, Sept. 8.—That women who do not wear corsets are far better insured risks than those who do, is the opinion of women doctors in Baltimore.

Not only did women physicians think that life is prolonged by women who discard corsets, but many were of the opinion that women are developing endurance and muscular activity almost equal to men's by discarding their waist armor.

Dr. Anna S. Abercrombie, who is industrial physician to a number of large enterprises employing many women in Baltimore, and who was in charge of a recent summer camp for women and girls, said that the difference in activity and endurance between women who do and those who do not wear corsets was marked.

"In choosing women employes at the concern in which I am the attending physician, we are very careful in selecting from the physical point of view. We never pass a woman who is tightly laced," said Dr. Abercrombie.

Dr. Mary Mead Dean joined with Dr. Abercrombie in her denunciation of corsets.

"While I have not made any great study as to whether women who do not wear corsets make better insurance risks, I believe that it is true," said Dr. Dean. "There is no question that corsets retard the circulation of the blood, decrease the lung capacity and cause the muscles of the abdomen to lose their tone."

The corsets that most women wear today, however, are not much more than girdles and are infinitely superior to the old-fashioned kind.

OPPOSE BUSINESS KNICKERS.

Baltimore Employers Fear Male Clerks' Work Would Lag.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 13.—It's thumbs down in Baltimore on the business girl attired in knickers. Unlike the Chicago employer, who is reported as much pleased with the tailored suit in which knickerbockers are substituted for the skirt, Baltimore employers, without exception, insist that they would not employ girls wearing knickers.

Not that they think them immodest, for among the large number of employers interviewed not one failed to say that for sports wear he thought knickers just the thing.

Baltimore employers, however, think that knickers in the office would keep all the male clerks from their work. If the offices had plate-glass windows, they opine that the crowds which would gather before them would result in a hurry call for the police reserves.

One of the officials of a local savings bank, which has employed only women clerks since the war, while stating emphatically that he would not engage a woman clerk who applied for a position wearing knickers, added that in his judgment the time would come when the wearer of skirts would be the exception rather than the rule.

RENT PROFIETEERS WILL HAVE TOUGH TIME THIS WINTER

New York Tenants Protected by Newly Enacted Laws—Only Three Reasons for Eviction—Better Conditions Soon.

New York, Sept. 13.—(By Associated Press)—The housing situation in New York, which has been a chronic and economic illness with social complications since 1917, is expected to reach its annual crisis October 1.

That is the date on which thousands are in the habit of packing up the furniture and moving.

If many folk are compelled to move this year, authorities fear that lots of them will be like the person who didn't know where he was going but was on his way. Prospects were similarly checkered last year until the legislature enacted laws that enabled thousands of renters to stick with the old apartment in spite of landlords and high rentals.

These laws, which have resulted in much additional work for attorneys and magistrates, provided the landlords could not recover their property by dispossessing tenants except for one of four reasons. One of these was that the person holding on to his apartment was objectionable. That always was a recognized excuse for eviction and not infrequently tenants seemed unable to break themselves of the habit of being objectionable every time an outsider offered their landlord more rent than they were willing to pay.

But under the new laws it is up to the judge, not the landlord, to decide whether a tenant is objectionable. The only other recognized reasons for evicting tenants are for the landlord to want the property for immediate occupancy by himself or family, to demolish the building to make way for a new structure, or to turn over the apartment to a person who owns it under the co-operative system.

Great numbers and not infrequently September 30, and landlords have sent out stacks of notices to vacate. In some instances, they already have signed contracts with other tenants effective October 1, but this year the contracts do not guarantee delivery of the property on that day.

For the tenants, protected by few legislative, are expected to give up without a struggle. Many of them are sure to take the matter to court or to the mayor's committee on rent control.

This committee has heard 45,000 wrangles over homes, and has arbitrated 13,000 landlord-tenant squabbles. Still the warnings it has sent out in the impending crisis bear a cheerful, optimistic tone.

Almost everybody here seems interested in the housing situation for nearly all New York is divided into three classes—landlords, tenants and those who sleep in the parks.

Many in the great army of rent-payers believe they see better housing conditions in the near future because of the spurt that construction work has taken since the recent passage of an ordinance exempting dwellings and tenements planned this year from taxation over a 50-year period.

Since February 25, when the ordinance passed, plans for 12,389 one and two-family dwelling houses and 737 apartment houses or tenement structures have been filed by prospective builders in the greater city. In the same period last year the plans filed embraced 5,104 dwelling projects and 75 tenement house plans were recorded.

In 1920 not a single dwelling was added in Manhattan. For three years prior to the tax exemption ordinance not a tenement had been enacted in Queens borough.

There are many who believe that all this new construction will not help matters much. It will take many times this number of houses to comfortably shelter the overcrowded millions in New York, they believe. And the city continues to grow every day.

CITY OF HULL HAS OTHER NAME

But it is Too Long for Common Usage—Name of River Has Been Appropriated.

"The City of Hull doesn't officially exist," says a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society, dealing with the history of England near which the United States Navy's giant dirigible balloon exploded.

"Hull" has nearly 250,000 inhabitants. It is almost twenty miles wide. The river estuary is almost universally known merely as "Hull."

Great Port of Artificial Basins. "Hull has nearly 250,000 inhabitants. It is almost twenty miles wide. The river estuary is almost universally known merely as 'Hull.'"

"Hull was at one time the headquarters of the North Sea fishing industry. The more important centre, now is Grimsby, on the other side of the Humber, and about ten miles nearer the sea.

But even now, Hull holds second place, being the home port of the largest single fleet of steam trawlers in Great Britain. It owes its importance in this respect to its situation, close at once to coal mines and to the western and the famous Dogger Banks, which are the fisherman of England what the Newfoundland banks are to those of America.

German Raids City. "In other industries besides fishing, Hull is tied closely to the sea. It builds ships, and manufactures salted fish, ropes, and chains. As a general freight and passenger shipping point it is one of the principal ports to and from northern Europe, especially the Scandinavian countries. The name may be a poetic justice in this, for it was up the Humber that most of the Scandinavian raids into Britain were conducted in the ninth and tenth centuries.

"Located opposite the German coast, the mouth of the Humber, too, was the entrance point for numerous raids conducted by the Germans during the World War. Only one of the raids—that of March, 1918—occasioned any considerable loss of life or destruction of property in Hull itself, but the sweep of great Zeppelins across the sky and the whir of their engines became constant sights and sounds to the dwellers of the city.

"In an age of reforms Hull is known to many as the birthplace and home of William Wilberforce, member of Parliament and philanthropist, who brought about the abolition of the British slave trade and organized one of the first societies whose aim was to compel the stricter general observance of Sunday. 200 IN BALTIMORE "SALE" Jobs Ask Permit for Auction of Services to Public There.

Baltimore, Sept. 13.—Robert Johnson of Galveston, Texas, a chauffeur; John McDonald of Concord, N. H., and Harry Crawford of San Francisco, said they were members of a group living from hand to mouth in and about the Anchorage here, followed up their announced determination to "sell" their permit to auction of themselves and about 200 other seamen in public in the business section of the city.

"They said Monday or Tuesday had been suggested as the day for the auction, if the city authorities would grant the permit. Today Johnson got in touch with John F. Meyers, a local auctioneer, and made arrangements for a conference early next week.

The auctioneer, who has sold at one time or other nearly every form of saleable commodity, says that it will be the first time he has ever put human beings under the hammer, but that he will cooperate in order to help out these two hundred or more men who are stranded here by the ship strike.

Many of the men have families in other cities, but are unable to go home because they lack the cost of transportation. They eat wherever they can get a meal and they sleep in any place that offers during the warm weather. Some have been cared for by the anchorage charity for nearly six months.

All these men assert that they are able, and willing to work, if they get a chance, but rather than endure any longer the uncertainty of the past months, they will sell themselves at the highest bidder for the assurance of board and lodging.

They will strip to the waist on the day of the sale, to show the bidders their physical condition.

The determination of the men to sell themselves for board and lodging was made following the report of men in Boston offering themselves in Boston Commons to the highest bidder.

SOUTHERN WOMEN FIGHT LYNCHING Committee in Atlanta Finds No Extension for Crime or Mob Violence—Deny It Protects Them.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 13.—"We find in our hearts no extension for crime, be it violation of womanhood, mob violence, or the illegal taking of human life," declares a statement just issued by a special section of the Georgia State Committee on Inter-Racial Co-operation, composed entirely of women, which has just been organized here to banish all groups which would take into their own hands the execution of justice to set up a single standard of morals both in the white and the colored races.

"This appeal condemns the protection of womanhood by criminals methods, asserting, 'if there is any crime more dangerous than another, it is that crime that strikes at the root of and undermines constitutional authority, breaks all laws and restraints of civilization, substitutes mob violence and masked irresponsibility for established justice and deprives society of a sense of protection against barbarism.'"

Resolutions adopted at the organization meeting outlined the scope of the committee's activities and acknowledge the responsibility of sharing with all good citizens "the duty of emphasizing and perpetuating the ideals of our fathers in the founding of this commonwealth in wisdom, justice and moderation."

"Then follows the appeal to the public at large to uphold public officials in the discharge of their duties, 'to recognize the forces which are undermining our life, and especially to banish self-constituted groups and agencies which presume to usurp authority, set aside the dignity of the law and constitute themselves the executors, jurors, judges and executors of suspected criminals.'"

"We have a deep sense of appreciation for the chivalry of men who would give their lives for the purity and safety of women," they declare. "Yet we feel constrained to declare our convictions concerning the methods sometimes employed in this supposed protection. We find in our hearts no extension for crime, be it violation of womanhood, mob violence or the illegal taking of human life."

"We are convinced that if there is any one crime more dangerous than other, it is that crime which strikes at the root of, and undermines constituted authority, breaks all laws and restraints of civilization, substitutes mob violence and masked irresponsibility for established justice and deprives society of a sense of protection against barbarism."

"Therefore, we believe that false appeal can be made to southern manhood that mob violence is necessary for the protection of womanhood, or that the brutal practice of lynching and burning of human being is an expression of chivalry. We believe that these methods are no protection to anything or anybody, but that they jeopardize every right and every security that we possess."

"The double standard of morals which society passively permits is rapidly becoming a national disgrace. The future integrity of our national life and we are persuaded that this problem can never be solved as long as there is a double standard for men and women of any race. We appeal for the creation of a public sentiment which will no longer submit to this condition and declare

AND ST. JOHN HAS THREE IDLE GRAIN ELEVATORS (Toronto Globe.) Congestion at the port of Montreal continues. All the elevators are now in action, but the flood of American grain pressing for ocean shipment by the Canadian route, because of more favorable rates than are available at Atlantic ports in the United States, has become so great as to interrupt and hamper the marketing of our own western wheat.

It is of great importance that the congestion shall be relieved at the earliest possible moment. Already the cost of freight wheat from the head of the lakes to Georgian Bay ports has been raised because of the delays experienced in obtaining prompt discharge. Unless the spout at Montreal is enlarged the shipments of Canadian grain to Europe during the autumn will not reach the hoped-for dimensions.

This will be the more regrettable because the railways in the west are cooperating most efficiently in the marketing of the crop. The Canadian Pacific has already hauled more than seven million bushels of new wheat to Winnipeg. The National lines are handling an equal, if not a greater volume, for the northern area served by them have raised a very fine crop this year and harvesting has been much earlier than usual.

The two great railway systems should be able to move to the head of the lakes not less than a million bushels daily from now till the close of navigation. There is plenty of shipping available to carry that quantity to ocean ports or to Buffalo, which is getting some compensation for the diversion of American grain to Montreal by providing prompt facilities for the discharge of Canadian grain en route to New York for export.

Meanwhile Quebec, which, under the National Transcontinental plans, was to be used in the transshipment of grain, has elevators that are practically idle and that could be used to very great advantage. There may be some unexplained factor that hinders vessels engaged in the Atlantic grain trade from using Quebec's facilities, but so far as grain carried by rail from Georgian Bay ports to Montreal is concerned, there would appear to be no very serious additional cost involved in its carriage to Quebec. Vessels which use grain as a partial cargo and find in Montreal the variety of freight they desire to complete their lading might be at a disadvantage, but there are many tramps in the St. Lawrence trade at present that are loaded entirely with grain or other forms of produce that could be shipped from Quebec as readily as from Montreal.

The interior of the west and of Ontario in the prompt loading of grain at ocean ports is not academic. The business revival—signs of which appear on the horizon—will be stimulated greatly by the export of ninety or a hundred million bushels of Canadian wheat to Europe before the close of navigation. Every Canadian who can help in any way to increase industrial activity and lessen unemployment during the coming winter should be up on his toes. That is why we in Ontario would be glad to hear that the port of Quebec had been pressed into service in the shipment of export grain.

The chapter met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Frank Tilton, in Deschamps Street, West End, with Mrs. W. I. Penton, the regent, presiding. The educational secretary, Mrs. Herbert Mayes, reported that the chapter had presented a prize for history to William Gordon McDiarmid of the Albert school at the school closing. On motion it was decided that a member of the chapter should join the Navy League this year. Preliminary arrangements were made for the hallo'ween tea and sale that is to be held in the T. S. FOR FIRST TIME
HIGH SCHOOL BOYS
OUTNUMBER GIRLS

The attendance at the High school this year has been far greater than was expected and may necessitate the opening of an additional classroom in the trustees' building, where accommodation for one new classroom is now being made. Reports on the enrollment for the current year were given at the meeting of the school board last night when Dr. Bridges, superintendent of schools, said that there were now more boys than girls in the High school. At the meeting much business was dealt with.

Applications for positions on the teaching staff were received from Miss Dora H. Jones and Miss Bernice J. Kenny. Miss Margaret R. Graham returns to the staff this year, and Miss A. McGuigan and W. L. McDiarmitt have been granted leave of absence.

Lon. Period of Service

Miss Kate A. Kerr, who has been on the teaching staff for forty-five years, tendered her resignation which was respectfully accepted and a letter of regret at her retirement and appreciation of her services was sent to Miss Kerr.

The common clerk of the city notified the board that, after considering the board's request that debentures for $400,000 be issued to cover the cost of two new schools, the city council had agreed that it would not oppose the issuing of bonds sufficient to cover the expenditures for one school house.

The Playground Association replied to a letter which had enclosed a petition calling for the closing of Centennial playgrounds. The association forwarded the report for Centennial playgrounds as evidence of the good work done there and of the good behavior of the children.

Miss K. C. Maher, Richmond street, wrote asking for payment of $60 or $70 repairs for damage to her property adjacent to Centennial grounds. Mr. Green suggested that the building referred to be brought to the attention of the board of health with a view to having it condemned. He thought a portion of Miss Maher's property should be purchased by the board. Mr. Nagle thought it might not be possible to purchase a small portion of Miss Maher's lot. The matter was referred to a committee of the visitors to the school, the chairman of the buildings committee and Dr. Bridges to report back.

The opening of the night schools next month was approved and it was agreed that if the enrollment was sufficient a night school should be opened in the Albert school as well as the King Edward and Centennial schools.

Mr. Green asked if the old synagogue building could not be closed and the class now meeting there be housed in the trustees' building. Dr. Bridges said that it would be necessary to use two rooms in the trustees' building, as well as the one in the synagogue building. He said the number of boys who had entered grade 9 was far greater than had been anticipated and that there were now more boys than girls in the high school. In Miss Corbett's room thirty-six pupils were now occupying space meant for only twenty-six pupils. This matter was referred to the visitors and the superintendent, with power to act.

On Mr. Day's motion it was agreed that the grand master of the Masonic order in the province, Colonel J. D. B. F. McKenzie, of Chatham, should be asked to lay the foundation stone of the new school in Newman street.

Mr. Smith moved that no repairs to buildings or equipment be made without authority having been given by the buildings committee or in the case of any emergency repairs without having the sanction of the chairman of the buildings committee. This motion carried. Mr. Smith then put the motion that all bills must be initiated by the chairman of the buildings committee before payment. This motion was the subject of warm discussion. Mr. Day thought it implied distrust of the visitors to the buildings. The motion finally carried with Mr. Day alone voting against it.

THE ORPHANAGES

Another conference of directors of the St. John Protestant Orphans Home and The Provincial Memorial Home, Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 12, was held in the offices of Dr. W. S. Morrison, managing-secretary of the older institution, in Carleton street, yesterday afternoon. There were present B. C. Clark, P. H. Estabrook, Dr. W. S. Morrison, William M. Campbell and W. H. Golding, representing the British street and West St. John Homes, and Dr. James Manning and H. Usher Miller, representing the Provincial Memorial institution.

A full discussion of the prospects of the St. John Protestant Orphanage took place. Tentative plans were suggested and a free and frank exchange of views given. The Memorial Home representatives were advised of the resolution passed at a late meeting of the older institution which expressed a willingness to take the children into their fold but also setting forth that the directors of the executive composed of representatives of various Protestant fraternities and church bodies, much like a parliament of co-workers with mandates from their various bodies.

The meeting, which was quite informal, was a rather exposition of the methods employed in both institutions in dealing with problematical cases as tending towards an intelligent understanding of what the proposed amalgamation of the institutions entailed. It was felt that a further step had been taken towards consolidating the Protestant orphanage situation by yesterday's session of leading workers. Dr. Manning and Mr. Miller will take back to their executive of the Provincial Memorial Home the resolution of the St. John Protestant Orphan Home directors and the next move will be a reply from the younger body. If the terms laid down by the older institution—children but not financial obligations—are acceptable, then rapid strides should be made in making plans for the transfer of the Wright street children.

Further steps would be organizing the province for stronger support, re-arranging the act of incorporation, and the grand ultimate scheme of a new centralized modern home on a scale large enough to anticipate the needs of the next twenty-five years.

The kid who will walk several miles to go into the swimming hole is scarcely able to walk upstairs to take a Saturday night bath.

EMOTIONAL STAR IN O. HENRY STORY

Pauline Frederick Splendid at the Imperial in "Roads of Destiny"—Edgar Comedy, Too.

Do you believe what you do makes any difference either in your life or in your final fate? Rose Merritt, (Pauline Frederick), in "Roads of Destiny," at the Imperial now, found that no matter what she did or where she went the same fate was in store for her. The play was made from Channing Pollock's dramatization of O. Henry's famous story of the same name. It is a Goldwyn picture of the highest class.

The simple and feel of life which O. Henry managed to impart to all of his stories have been caught with unusual vividness by the camera in this play. It has the pulse and rhythm of old Greek tragedy, but despite the unescapable fate which met Rose Merritt at every turn, there breathes a spirit of humanity which lifts the spectator to a mood of quiet satisfaction at the solution which her fate brings about. As the hapless Rose, Pauline Frederick has one of her best screen roles and one which gives scope for varied and resourceful action.

The Imperial caught large crowds of rainy-day folks yesterday and the programme they saw was of the most enjoyable character. The Frederick-Goldwyn feature was in itself a splendid treat but added to this was another of those truly delightful Booth Tarkington boy stories, the Edgar-series of comedy. Then the orchestra was as usual a strong factor in putting the programme on a pedestal of excellence.

This same bill is on again today and tomorrow afternoon, the third day being devoted to matinee only as the road show "French Leave" is to occupy the Imperial stage in the evening. The company arrives on the afternoon train from Halifax where it made a tremendous hit at The Majestic Theatre.

The resolution adopted says the conference, "speaking in the name and on behalf of 32,000,000 followers, declares without hesitation or reservation its belief in the absolute necessity for absolute disarmament and complete abolition of war."

THE PLEBISCITE LISTS.

The executive for the referendum campaign met in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last evening and, despite the unfavorable weather, was well attended. R. T. Hayes presided and the matter of qualifying as a voter was discussed. A committee consisting of Revs. W. D. Wilson and H. E. Thomas was appointed to make public the fact that the list to be used in this election was that of the recently held Dominion by-election; that names could be added to the list by persons appearing before Judge Armstrong from Sept. 19 to 24 inclusive. These facts with others were to be given publicity by the committee. The question of finance was considered and the following committee appointed to deal with the matter: L. W. Simms, G. E. "Lift Crusader" Makes Failing Market Pay.

The manager, the department head and the advertising manager of the O. A. Hale department store in San Jose, Calif., were a unit in the decision that prices should and must come down, the only question being, How can the store reap a substantial benefit from an apparent calamity? The result of the conference was reflected in a unique campaign inaugurated by the store.

This Idea Put Life in a Very Dull Season

An idea worked out and put into operation this summer is increasing sales in the men's clothing department of the Newman store in Emporia, Kan., during a season normally dull in clothing lines. Several large wardrobe trunks and a motor truck comprised the machinery needed by George Hale to put his idea across. He decided that there was a demand for men's and women's clothing in the small towns in Lyon county which did not have stores carrying those lines. He knew the farmers had no time for buying clothing because of the high prices, but that these farmers did not come to Emporia to trade and he would never be able to show them the merchandise or tell them about the lower prices.

FORD TO IMPROVE HIS ROAD. Says Business Will Pick Up When Manufacturers Take Losses.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Prospects of great future for the Detroit, Toledo & Trenton Railroad are seen by Henry Ford, its owner, who was here inspecting its local properties. Extensive development of the road is contemplated, Mr. Ford said. A hint that he may be contemplating entering the river shipping business was inferred from his statement that the Ohio River is navigable the year round and south by water. The use of water transportation is contemplated, he said, and will be developed more thoroughly in the future.

MYSTERY MURDER IN ROOMING HOUSE

Noise of Struggle is Heard, But Slayer Escapes Unseen Over a Roof—Victim Stabbed in Back.

(New York Times.) A mysterious murder was discovered in a rooming house at 11 Charles street at ten o'clock last night. The occupants of the house heard the sounds of a quarrel in a room on the third floor, occupied by two young men. Then there were quick footsteps on the stairs of a man coming down the top flight in his hand a knife. The footsteps stopped on the second floor, and the door of the bathroom on that floor was closed and locked with a bang. Next came a soft sizzling noise and a fall on the third floor. While this was happening several men and women in the lower part of the house were climbing the stairs to the top floor. They found the body of Joseph Swatt, also known as Joseph McNulty, lying face downward on the floor in the hall. He had been stabbed in the back and was dead.

No one was in the room which had been occupied by Swatt and his roommate, James Sanders, although the voices of two men had been heard in the room just before the murder, and there were visible signs of the room having been occupied by two persons last night. The remnants of a meal were found on the table.

On the floor was the stained eleven-inch butcher's knife with which the murderer had been done. Near it was a valise, partly packed, which shows that one of the two men who lived in the room was preparing to go away, and furnished the only possible clue to the motive.

Escaped Through Window. When the police arrived they found that the door of the bathroom on the second floor, at which the mysterious footsteps after the murder had stopped, was still locked. No one answered their commands to open. Then they put their shoulders to it and smashed it off the hinges.

The room was empty. Apparently the man who had run down the stairs had climbed through the window, which was found open, dropped to an extension roof at the rear of the house and made his escape through the backyard. Some one told the police that just as the bathroom door slammed shut, the man inside was heard to throw something out of the window into the yard. This, it is believed, may have been his shoes.

The police were unable to find a motive for the crime. Emphasis was placed at once upon the fact that both Swatt and his room-mate were known by two names. The room-mate was known as James Darcy as well as James Sanders. What significance there might be in this fact, however, could not be established in the early hours of the investigation.

Detectives from the Home Bureau and the Charles street station, patrolmen from their beats and finger print experts who rushed to the scene in an automobile took possession of the house and examined all its occupants in the search for clues without great success. An immediate search was begun for the missing room-mate of course.

The house in which the murder took place is in the northwest part of Greenwhich village, and is a rooming house, managed by Mrs. Kurt Beyer, whose husband lives there with her.

1,000 BATHING GIRLS ON VIEW IN PAGEANT

150,000 See Picked Beauties in Atlantic City's Fall Event.

Atlantic City, Sept. 8.—Eight miles of rolling chairs and wheel floats passing before an assemblage of 150,000 along the Broadwalk; a review of more than 1,000 of the most beautiful bathing girls in America, most of them in one-piece bathing suits, and a Governor's ball, at which were men and women from a hundred cities, was the programme which completed the two days of Atlantic City's Fall pageant.

The celebration of the closing of the pageant began in mid-morning with the bathers' review on the beach, between the Garden and Steel Piers. Girls in the inter-city beauty contest, society beauties in the "matron" class, and stage and movie models of loveliness competed for the golden mermaid, a $2,000 trophy awarded to the most beautiful bathing girl in America. For the time being, the censor ban on bare necks and skin tight bathing suits was suspended and thousands of spectators gaped as they applauded the girls, who were judged on their shapeliness and carriage, as well as beauty of face, by Howard Chamberlain, a society leader and one of the most successful of artists from New York and other cities.

Judging of the bathing girls took place on the steel pier as 15,000 persons looked on. The contests were so close that the full prize award may not be decided by the judges until tomorrow. The rolling chair parade eclipsed any similar display ever given in America. It is calculated that $100,000 was spent by the great beach front hotels, business places and visitors in decorating the chairs, which were as solid masses of blossoms. Pretty girls added charm as occupants.

Flaunts in the parade represented Broad Walk amusements, civic exhibits, national advertisers and symbols. These were accompanied by floats chosen from among the pageant list for added attraction. Before the governors' ball on the steel pier was a great electrical display made by massing colored beams from thirty naval searchlights, lent by the United States Navy. It was the most brilliant social affair ever given here. Governors of various states, a score of mayors and other men in public life were among the guests of honor, occupying a stage of King Neptune, ruler of the pageant, when the long list of trophies awarded were presented. The parade was headed by a float which was impersonated through the two days of the carnival by Hudson Maxim, was made the occasion for a display of the guards' manned surf boats and escorted the departing sea god into the gloom of night.

AMERICAN WOMAN FINED 50,000 MARKS IN BERLIN Mrs. Moll, Held Since January in 'Charity' Imports Case, May Escape Further Jail Term.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(Associated Press)—Mrs. Virginia Moll, who was Miss Virginia Fairfax, a King's Cross, London, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment and fined 50,000 marks for evading the customs laws by importing salable commodities under the name of a German citizen, who was charged with the importation of 500 marks was imposed for illicit trading.

The sentence of six months' imprisonment was regarded as served already by her being detained for trial, Mrs. Moll having been arrested about Jan. 15 in case of non-payment of the fine, however, the sentence stipulates that she shall go to jail for twelve months.

Mrs. Moll, who was arrested in Berlin last January, was said to have gone to Germany nine years ago, as Miss Fairfax, and to have married a German. At the time of her arrest a Berlin dispatch quoted the police as saying that, under the pretext of organizing a food relief bureau with the aid of American funds, she and her accomplices a year previous had succeeded in gaining duty-free import licenses for more than 100 cases of foodstuffs.

Of these supplies thirty carloads were said at that time to have already entered Germany, and to have been transferred to private speculators.

"TOO MUCH NERVE TO DIE"

So Says Physicians of Flier Who Survived West Virginia Crash.

Montgomery, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Corporal Alexander C. Haselton, army aviator, who was the only one of five to escape death when the Martin bomber in which they were flying from Charleston to Langley Field, Va., crashed at Twenty Mile Creek, Nichols County, last Saturday, "has too much nerve to die," physicians who are attending him at a local hospital.

Haselton has recovered sufficiently to talk some of the details of the crash, and despite the terrible experience he endured appeared jolly and joked with the doctors and nurses.

Haselton has a dislocated hip and internal injuries. Physicians say his indomitable will power and remarkable nerve will be important factors in his recovery, which now is expected.

For two days Haselton hung head downward, unconscious, from the wrecked plane, until he was rescued by a farmer who found him and the bodies of his former flying companions. He expressed gratification today that he was not injured more severely, and that he was fortunate that he had not been killed.

CHESTNUTS COME FROM CORREZE

But Life There is a Constant Struggle—Peasants Worried by Chestnut Tax.

Correze, another "place where the nuts come from," is the subject of a National Geographic Society bulletin in connection with the reported anxiety of that department of France because a schedule in the new tariff doubles the duty on chestnuts.

"A region of chestnuts, walnuts, and elder apples may suggest a land of perpetual 'Hallowe'en,'" continues the bulletin. "But in reality the Department of Correze, in south central France, is a place where the struggle for existence has developed a serious, grim type of peasantry."

"The infrequent visitor to the basin of the Garonne will find families who diet in winter consists largely of chestnuts and potatoes and goat cheese—who eat their simple repast of fables with delicious hollowness from the wood to serve as plates, and have gravel floors in their tiny cottages. He may encounter them, with their invariable menus of yeast, buckwheat cakes, and potatoes, where he is supposed to furnish his own knife, a custom surviving from not more than a century ago, when the guest of a city-bred recruit in the A. E. F., who took the literacy of a southern mountaineer to be a measure of his intelligence."

"Correze has an area nearly equal to that of our own state of Delaware. It lies along the western edge of the great central plateau of France. It is corrugated by a series of hills and valleys, and is a fire-trap country."

EGGS EBING SPIRITS REVITALIZED BY "MONKEY GLANDS" TREATMENT

New York, Sept. 13.—Eggs may soon be given "monkey glands" treatment to revitalize their ebbing spirits, if members of the American Chemical Society, now in session at Columbia University, may be taken seriously. The egg is subject to all the human frailties, including the rheumatism, according to the chemists. The wise egg fulfills its mission, which is to hatch chickens, they say, while the unwise one ends up as an omelette or a wad of paralysis in cold storage. Experiments in the revitalizing of eggs, are soon to be undertaken under the auspices of the society, it was announced today. Melancholy eggs will be shot full of vitamins as a spur to motherhood. The hen, it is said, has nothing to do with this.

PASSING OF THE KISS

Angora, Aug. 18.—(Associated Press by mail)—The age-old custom of men publicly kissing other men as a mark of affection, esteem or reverence, is passing in Asia Minor.

As in the French army, higher officers or generals of the Turk Nationalist army publicly kiss their men, or decorate or wish to commend. General Ismet Pasha, in reviewing infantry often walks up to some stalwart soldier, slaps him on the shoulders and kisses him on both cheeks as a mark of public approval. The correspondent has seen a high officer kneel and kiss the hands of General Mouhlamine Bey, the former teacher of the younger officer.

In general, as a custom of the people, of friends meeting and embracing after long separation, kissing is a thing of the past.

Take It In Time!

Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

FLOCK STILL UPHOLDS
KANSAS BOXING PASTOR
Chanute Christian Church Again Rejects His Resignation and Offers to Increase His Salary

Chanute, Kan., Sept. 13—The Rev. Earl A. Blackman's annual resignation again has been rejected by the congregation of the Christian Church of Chanute.

Once a year, regularly, since the war, parishioners of the church, or wherever men congregate, if I continue to preach to the Christian Church of Chanute was the ultimatum contained in the minister's recent resignation.

Not only was the resignation rejected, but the congregation voted its pastor an increase in salary. This was amply paid, and that he earned something in addition to his salary by refereeing boxing bouts.

Mr. Blackman recently came to our house, he said, "If some person is to be paid for refereeing and I do the work satisfactorily, I ought to have the money to help support those twins."

Mr. Blackman's services as a referee are in much demand in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. His presence in the ring is regarded as a guarantee of a clean fight. His influence in making a popular sport has been felt throughout this section.

It was while he was chaplain of the 137th Infantry of the Thirty-fifth Division in France that the Rev. Mr. Blackman became a devotee of the fist-fighting sport. He is known as "the fighting parson of the Thirty-fifth," and justly so, for he not only supervised but engaged in many boxing bouts.

In his own church the Chanute minister has put into practice his theory that the church should sponsor both boxing and dancing.

ELECTRIC FLASH KILLS
TWO ON GIBBUS TRAIN
Stamford, Conn., Sept. 13—A high tension overhead wire of the New Haven Railroad came in contact with something on top of the motor car of the Rubin and Cherry carnival circus train at Northington Saturday afternoon and killed two persons and injuring many others.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lewis, of Springfield, Mass., who sat in front of an open door of the motor car, which was next to the engine, either jumped or were knocked off of the car by the shock of the electric flash. Mrs. Lewis's neck was broken and she died in a few minutes.

COURT ANNULS
THE MARRIAGE
Montreal, Sept. 13—Judgment annulling the marriage of E. R. Sundquist and Loretta Chapman, alias Marie Laura Ambo Herbert, was given yesterday afternoon by Mr. Justice Bruneau in the Superior Court here. Evidence showed that they were married here in August, 1910, the woman representing herself to be a spinster. It subsequently became known to the husband that his wife, who is now dead, deserted him in 1915, was married in Ottawa in October, 1907, to E. M. Kervarec, who is still living. Judgment was based on sale in consideration of bigamy by the woman.

The woman did not appear. The petitioner said he had heard she had gone to Winnipeg and there married a third man.

TWO ARRESTS IN
NORRIS CASE
Edward O'Brien Said to Have Confessed, Implicated Thomas Spellman—Both Held.

Edward O'Brien, aged twenty-four, living in Erin street, and Thomas Spellman, aged twenty-eight, also a resident of the East End, were arrested yesterday afternoon in connection with the death of Albert Norris who died early in the morning of September 9 after having been found with a cut in his head and bleeding from the mouth, and ears in a deserted shipyard near the Marsh Bridge the previous evening.

O'Brien was arrested at his home yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock and Spellman was taken into custody at the C. N. R. roundhouse where he is employed as a wiper.

The thread of the story, as picked up from other sources, was to the effect that witnesses of the incident are alleged to have told that O'Brien was in a beer shop in Prince Edward street in the evening of the tragedy. Norris, who came in and requested a drink, is said to have shown signs of having been drinking and to have entered the shop.

When Norris left the beer shop, it is said, he was followed by O'Brien. Since that night O'Brien had not been seen in his habitual haunts and this fact coupled with the incidents related aroused suspicion.

In pursuing his investigations the detective determined that inquiries in the district and about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Sergeant Detective Power learned from the proprietor of an Erin street store that O'Brien and Spellman were seen together on the night of the tragedy.

The story as told by the storekeeper last night was to the effect that on the evening of September 8, about 9 o'clock, O'Brien and Spellman were walking in front of his store. He spoke to O'Brien and offered him a drink in exchange for a package of cigarettes. During the conversation O'Brien remarked that the bottle had cost his companion $7.

The woman did not appear. The petitioner said he had heard she had gone to Winnipeg and there married a third man.

MORNING NEWS
OVER THE WIRES
By arrangement with the attorney-general it has been decided to hold the trial of Charles Brown, charged with the murder of Victor Cahill at Point Wolfe, Albert county, early on Saturday morning last, on September 20, and the present session of the circuit court will be adjourned to that date.

It is understood that Senator George W. Fowler will defend Brown. Ligor is said to have been largely responsible for the trouble which resulted so fatally, and it is said that a charge will be laid against the man believed to be responsible for bringing the liquor into the place.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that the British authorities there have discovered a revolutionary plot of vast dimensions. It is said that the plot is organized and subsidized from Angora, the Turkish National headquarters, and that the intention was to spread disaffection among the loyal Indian troops and assassinate the allied officers.

Seventeen desperadoes were brought to Constantinople to carry out the assassinations. The British authorities have demanded the arrest of those implicated.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Victoria Hospital in Fredericton yesterday the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Samson as matron was accepted. A special meeting will be held to deal with the matter. The resignation was tendered some time ago.

STREET RAILWAY
WAGES MATTER
IN MONTREAL
Montreal, Sept. 13—Owing to the refusal of the Montreal Tramways Company to consent to a round table conference of the company, the union representatives and the members of the board of arbitration dealing with the wage situation in which arbitration of 12 1/2 per cent. is now pending through the board of arbitration, the proceedings of the board are being continued.

At yesterday's session of the board, held in private, evidence was continued by the union representatives, endeavoring to prove that the men's wages had been reduced in some cases more than 12 1/2 per cent., since this had been followed by a docking of hours ranging from one half day to one day.

Many useful gifts were received, among them being a beautiful reading lamp. The evening was spent in music and games. Refreshments were served.

ST. JOHN'S FAME.
"We would like to know why your city is so famous," writes a school boy of London, Ont., to the secretary of the board of trade. He says "We are starting a project in our school," hence his enquiry. If that project is to make the boys and girls of Ontario better acquainted with the maritime provinces, it is a good one and should be encouraged.

DID NAHUM REFER TO THE JINNEYS?

That the present transportation conditions in the city was forecasted in the old testament, was pointed out to a Times reporter by one of the officials at City Hall this morning. He referred particularly to the means of rapid transit adopted through the streets and the fact that occasional collisions between members of the competing factions had been reported. He referred to the reports to Nahum, Chapter 2, verse 8, which reads:

"The chariots shall rage in the streets they shall jostle against one another in the broad ways, they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightnings."

PRISONERS NOT ASKED TO PLEAD

Await Report of the Coroner's Jury.

O'Brien and Spellman Formally Charged With Murder of Albert Norris—Not Represented by Counsel This Morning.

Edward O'Brien and Thomas Spellman were arraigned in the police court this morning before Magistrate and for-magistrate expressed the opinion that nothing should be done in the case until after the coroner's jury had taken evidence and submitted a finding. A hushed silence fell like a mantle over the court room as the clerk read the charge.

"Edward O'Brien and Thomas Spellman, you are charged together, each abetting the other, and murdering Albert Norris in a yard off Erin street in the City of St. John on the night of September 8." The magistrate told them they would not be asked to plead at this juncture and remanded them.

Obviously ill at ease and feeling his position keenly, O'Brien listened with downcast eyes while the clerk read the words so full of meaning. He is a young man, only twenty-four years of age, fair of complexion and youthful in appearance with a pleasant expression. Spellman is very dark. He gave his age as twenty-six but looks several years older.

Following the reading of the formal charge of murder both men were taken into jail there to await the outcome of the inquest. They were not represented by counsel this morning.

Great interest is being taken in the case. The court room this morning was packed to the capacity with spectators, occupied points of vantage on the staircase ascending near the entrance to the court room. The magistrate made the large attendance an opportunity for taking up a collection for his "Down-and-Out" fund.

The inquest into the death of Mr. Norris will be held this evening in the court house in Germain street and will be conducted by Coroner F. L. Kenney. Mr. Norris was buried at his home in Barnesville on Sunday.

MRS. R. M. HAZEN DEAD

In the passing away of Mrs. R. M. Hazen on Monday evening, St. John loses one of its most highly respected residents. Mrs. Hazen was of Scotch and English descent, born at St. Andrews, where her father, the late Alexander Phillips, held the office of collector of customs under the imperial government.

She was educated in England, and spent many years of her life in the mother land, her husband, the late Robert Morris Hazen, Captain 60th Regiment of P. C. eldest son of Robert J. Hazen of St. John, being stationed there. Mrs. Hazen also spent some years in India, but returned to St. John soon after the death of Captain Hazen, which occurred in Burma.

For many years Mrs. Hazen's distinguished appearance and vigorous mind, keenly interested in the news of the world and the early history of this province, made her a notable and interesting personality. The news of her death was heard with sincere regret. Much sympathy is extended to her three surviving daughters, Mrs. C. C. Coster, Miss Marion A. Hain of London, England, and Miss Lillian Hazen. She also leaves two grand-daughters, Miss Geraldine Coster, Oxford, and Mrs. John Phillips of Wesley Hill, and a great grandson, Sydney Hazen Phillips.

BURIED TODAY.
The funeral of J. Edward McCrossin was held this morning from his parents' residence, 228 Pitt street to St. John Baptist church for high mass. A large number of his schoolmates attended the funeral. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful including: Gross, A. Alward; wreath, S. Hayward & Co.; wreath, S. C. Mortimer and staff; crescent, Misses Beatrice McGuigan, Vivian Raworth, Ethel Higgins; sheaf, Miss J. Lawlor, Fred McCarthy, Roy Molson, M. R. McGuigan, D. H. Ryan, Mr. Coughlan, Mrs. Burns and family, Mrs. Vincent Bailey; also many spiritual offerings. Interment was in the old Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Allen T. Bustin was held today from his late residence, Lake Latimer. Interment was in Fernhill.

The funeral of George Delaney, who died in Dartmouth, N. S., on September 11, was held today from Brennan's mortuary parlors to Cedar Hill. Rev. Neil McLaughlin conducted the service.

A SUGGESTION.
A recent post office department bulletin points out that in the city of New York 260,000 pieces of misdirected mail are handled every day. This means 127,500,000 pieces every year. The same is applicable to every post office in the United States and Canada. This means that a force of clerks must be maintained to handle this mail, who could otherwise be engaged in facilitating the general service. The people of St. John are asked to keep these facts in mind. Frequent mistakes noticed at the local post office are in addresses written in lead pencil and the failure to give street addresses.
