FATHER DELORME INSISTENT ON QUICK ACTION

Demands That Attorney General Act to Clear Up Murder of Half Brother.

SAYS HE IS SUSPECTED OF INFAMOUS CRIME

Declares Evidence for or Against Him Should Have Been Produced Before Now

Montreal, Feb. 1.—According to a statement credited to him in the Montreal La Presse today, Rev. Father Delorme, in the course of a telephone conversation with Premier Taschereau on Sunday last, demanded that something be done by the Attorney-General's Department of the Province of Quebec to expedite the clearing up of the case of his half-brother, Adolphe Delorme, murdered in this city on Jan. 6 last.

Rev. Father Delorme made public today details of a telephone conversation with Premier Taschereau, who is also Attorney-General, as follows:

"It is Father Adolphe Delorme, of Montreal, half-brother of Rev. Adolphe Delorme, speaking. I take the liberty of telephoning you to inform you that I have been in the hands of officers of your department for three weeks and, under the fire of public opinion, I am most disgusted of something of the most infamous nature. It seems to me that evictions, either in my favor or against me, should have been produced before now. This is a request for justice that I am putting before you. I wish to claim the full severity of protection of the law as soon as possible on account of the suspicion that has been levelled at me. Furthermore, that justice should be done immediately.

"The inquest has been adjourned, but what is to become of my reputation in the meantime? Has the law the right to throw me on the screen of public opinion before a public which seems to reveal in sensationism. The public seems to associate a question of this crime with religion and morality.

"I insist that, in some way or other, the inquest be terminated without delay. I am quite satisfied with the conscientious work of your officers.

"Please get me cleared on all these points."

Father Delorme forcibly denied imputations which, he said, newspapers and levelled at him. "I deny that I committed the crime of Montreal."

He said, "to claim the aid of the archdiocesan authorities. I deny, just as emphatically, having appeared before Chief of Police Beauger and Chief of Detectives Lepage with these same authorities. I formally deny having had recourse to money to buy silence. I deny, also, all interviews with judges, advocates and magistrates. I am still carrying on the duties of my ministry."

In a despatch from Quebec to the Montreal Star, Premier Taschereau is quoted as saying the case was in his hands of the Coroner, and he could not interfere. He is quoted as having told Father Delorme this.

LOST MEMORY OF HOME AND ASSOCIATES

Sergt. William Ball in Sad Plight as Result of Beating Received.

REGAINED KNOWLEDGE IN SPANISH JAIL

C. W. V. A. Conducted Search Extending Over Two Years for the Man.

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—(Canadian Press)—Losing all memory of his Canadian home and associations, when beaten and robbed on the streets of Bordeaux, France, in April 1919, Company Quartermaster Sergeant William Ball, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, did not regain knowledge of his home and family until he found himself, a member of the Spanish foreign legion, in a jail in Rota, Morocco. Sergeant Ball declares he was struck over the head with a rifle butt, wielded by a Spaniard officer. He is now in Ottawa to report to the Dominion Headquarters of the Great War Veterans Association which has been conducting a search on behalf of his wife, for the past two and a half years. At the time of his disappearance, Ball was engaged in showing moving pictures to the troops on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. After his disappearance, he was declared a deserter. His home is in Port Hope, Ontario.

Seek Honorable Discharge

The talk of securing an honorable discharge for Sergeant Ball, was initiated this afternoon when C. G. MacNeil, G. W. V. A. Dominion Secretary, T. C. Lepp, editor of the Veteran, and R. E. Long, Port Hope, laid the case before General J. H. Binsley, at militia Headquarters. After the meeting the members of the delegation stated that all available evidence would be secured and placed before the authorities.

Mr. Long, who has been conducting the search in conjunction with the G. W. V. A., stated that when Sergeant Ball was in New Orleans knowledge of the fact was secured, but before he could be reached Ball had sailed for Spain.

WILL HOLD THEM RESPONSIBLE

Should Bolshevism Spread Throughout Nova Scotia, Says Resolution Adopted.

Sydney, N. S., Feb. 1.—If Bolshevism spreads throughout Nova Scotia, the blame will rest upon the shoulders of Premier King and Hon. James Murdoch, Minister of Labor, according to a fiery resolution promulgated by United Mine Workers at Glace Bay today.

"Unhappiness over the situation in Cape Breton coal fields is not being allayed by the increasing number of such resolutions which are being passed, unopposed, by the largest and most influential locals of the United Mine Workers. Today the Harbor local adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, Bolshevism is the effect only of oppression and tyranny on the part of those in control, as Bolshevism finds no soil to grow in a community of working people who have employment at an adequate wage; and

"Whereas, The British Empire Corporation and its servants, the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. James Murdoch, Minister of Labor and U. E. Gillen, are oppressing the mining population beyond the endurance of men to bear, the Harbor Local 458, hereby declares that if Bolshevism spreads and gets a firm hold in the mining regions of Nova Scotia, the blame can be directly placed upon Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, and upon the Minister of Labor, Hon. James Murdoch, because of their hostility to the welfare of the people of Canada in their servile obedience to the frenzied demands of the British Empire Steel Corporation."

Port Tied Up, Vessels Being Neither Able to Get in or Out.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 1.—Four steamers, bound for this port, tried to break the ice blockade today but failed to break through. The little coastal steamer Glencoe, equipped with a moderately strong ice breaker, made the biggest impression on the barrier, to miles south of St. John's yesterday. She had only thirty tons of coal left. Today she tried to come here to replenish her fuel supply but was forced to give up the attempt.

Arriving yesterday from Halifax at Trespasser on the southern coast of the great peninsula on which this city is located and some sixty miles in an air line from St. John's, the Canadian Sapper tried her luck with the ice today. After a few hours she gave it up and went back to Trespasser Harbor.

BIBLE STUDY IN SCHOOLS CHAMPIONED

JUDGE FORBES SPEAKS HIS MIND

Spoke Strongly on Matter of Bible Reading in the Public Schools.

Moncton, N. B., Feb. 1.—The one hundred and third annual meeting of the N. B. Auxiliary of the Canadian Bible Society met in the First Baptist church, Moncton, this afternoon and evening, Hon. Judge Forbes in the chair, Rev. R. A. Robinson secretary pro tem.

The secretary, G. A. Henderson, being absent, Field Secretary Rev. F. S. Porter gave an abstract of the proceedings of last annual meeting. The report of Rev. F. S. Porter, field secretary of District No. 1, Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, to Provincial Secretary G. A. Henderson, was read. Reports of the Bible women, Misses Henderson and Wesley, and Rev. Dr. Heine were read and adopted.

Animated discussion on Bible reading in the schools took place. Judge Forbes spoke strongly on the matter of Bible reading in the public schools, which he characterized as most important and urgent. The laymen and clergymen equally must take this matter in hand and compel the Bible in the schools to be read. The Bible is not read in our public schools as it should be.

Rev. H. D. Raymond, fraternal delegate from Prince Edward Island, said that no opportunity should be lost to have Bible reading in the schools.

Religious Instruction

J. S. Armstrong, of Fredericton, moved that a committee with full powers of action, be appointed to take up the matter of religious instruction.

Principal Oulton, of Moncton, said that it was a very sweeping charge to say that the Bible was excluded from the schools. He had read the Bible in Moncton schools for twenty-seven years, and other teachers did likewise.

Rev. H. A. Goodwin, of St. John's, moved, seconded by Dr. G. J. Oulton, that we earnestly recommend to school teachers and to our people generally the advisability of having the Bible read in the public schools daily.

Rev. Mr. Goodwin's motion passed unanimously.

Archdeacon Newham said that the Joint Protestant committee were working in union endeavoring to impress upon the board of education the necessity of religious instruction of the Bible used as a text book in the schools.

Mr. Armstrong moved that this Bible Society send a committee to wait upon the Joint Committee to urge them to increased action. This was seconded by Rev. Mr. MacLean and carried.

FIXED RATIO OF CAPITAL SHIPS IS ESTABLISHED

Washington Negotiations for Limitation of Armament Concluded.

EASTERN PROBLEMS NEARER SETTLEMENT

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Washington negotiations for limitation of armament reached their consummation today when a Plenary Session of the Arms Conference gave definite and public approval to the two treaties limiting navies, and restricting the use of new agencies of warfare.

One of the covenants thus sealed, after eleven weeks of debate, establishes a fixed ratio of capital ship strength between the five great powers, and the other pledges them against unrestricted submarine warfare and the use of poison gas.

Within a day or two the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, will formally affix their signatures.

At the same session, the Far Eastern wing of the Conference moved forward toward completion of its tasks by announcing, officially, the terms of the Shantung settlement, and by giving final approval to nine of the resolutions adopted in Committee in regard to Chinese problems.

The agreement on Shantung already has been put into a draft treaty between Japan and China, and the other Far Eastern settlements are to be embodied in at least two general conventions, which will come before the Conference shortly.

France Spells Agreement

As soon as Japan's intention to withdraw from Shantung has been definitely stated, the British announced formally, for the first time, that their Government was ready to hand back to China the leasehold of Wei-Hai-Wei.

The French let it be known tonight, however, that they expected to treat directly with China over possible reversion from their leased territory to Kwang Chow Wan, a decision which appeared to spoil the prospect of any general conference agreement regarding the Chinese leased territories.

Two other conference projects, one relating to the Chinese Eastern Railway and the other to the prohibition of importation of arms into China, also encountered serious obstacles when the Committee work of the delegates was resumed today.

The Japanese made some technical objections to the Chinese Eastern proposal which, coupled with Chinese and French opposition to some features, resulted in appointment of a Japanese-French-Chinese sub-committee to consider a compromise.

The Italians and Japanese presented such pertinent resolutions to the arm importation resolution that it was virtually decided not to press it for adoption.

The Five Power Naval Limitation treaty, whose text was made public for the first time with its submission to today's Plenary Session, contained no surprises, and was approved by the Conference without general discussion. Its terms, which had been completely forecasted by published accounts of the negotiations, provide for a 5-5-3-1. 61.8 capital ship ratio for the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, respectively, impose various restrictions on the size and armament of other types of war craft, and establish a fortification "status quo" in the Pacific.

In the separate submarine and poison gas treaty an attempt is made to outlaw submarines as commerce destroyers and to prohibit chemical warfare altogether.

IRELAND IS DISTURBED BY UNEMPLOYED

Sporadic Outlaw Rail Strike Isolates Cork and Paralyses South.

TRAINS STOP AT MALLOW

Men of Republican Army Now Without Food and Lodging.

Dublin, Feb. 1.—Ireland is up against the unemployment problem. She is just now emerging from war conditions, and her fighting men, as well as those who kept at work for patriotic reasons, find themselves hard put in the general economic depression. Despite the successful efforts of the provisional Government to postpone the general railway strike a sporadic outlaw strike is now paralyzing much of the south of Ireland. Cork being practically isolated. No trains are running from Dublin south of Mallow. Communications from England are still maintained by way of Rosslare and the sea.

The Dublin Corporation this afternoon, following a strong appeal by a deputation representing unemployed members of the Dublin City Brigade of the Irish Republican Army, promised to find work for as many as possible through committees employing men on city work. The spokesman for the men declared more than 600 of them have had no work since hostilities ceased.

"They won the fight and should now be helped earn their daily bread," he declared. "We cannot let these men go to the workhouse, as the British Government allowed men of their army after they had fought for the rights of small nations."

These men, while irregularly paid during "active" service, were always provided with some place to sleep and with something to eat, and now they are without even these necessities. It is not doubted here that some of these men are responsible for many of the automobile and other robberies which have occurred. The fact that they are kept idle also is responsible for the first real attacks on British private soldiers. Last week several British soldiers were seized, beaten and robbed of their overcoats and tanks, and sent back to their barracks in their own cars. In many cases these attacks were just for spite, as the clothing taken from the soldiers was thrown in the Liffey or hung on railings about the city.

Gen. Sir Nevill Macready, who commanded the British forces in Ireland, held a long conference with Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, in the City Hall today. It is believed they discussed the question of delay in connection with the British evacuation, which has been held up by the railway strikes, many troops having been cancelled. It is believed that Mr. Collins may desire the co-operation of the remaining British forces in Ireland in re-establishing order.

Final Services For Late Pope Benedict Very Impressive

In Addition to Cardinals, Entire Diplomatic Corps Was Present, and Roman Aristocracy.

Rome, Feb. 1.—The final funeral services for the late Pope Benedict, held this forenoon, were even more impressive than the solemn ceremonies that had preceded it. All the forty-eight cardinals of the Sacred College now in Rome occupied places along specially prepared benches in the Sixtine Chapel. Prominent among them as participants in the administration of absolution, were the aged, white-haired Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims and the stately Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines. The celebrant of the mass was Cardinal Grillo, while those imparting absolution, in addition to Cardinal Mercier and Lucon, were Cardinals Gasparri and Luadi.

The entire diplomatic corps was present, together with a large number of the members of the Roman aristocracy.

Fix Responsibility For Collapse of The Knickerbocker Roof

Washington, Feb. 1.—Bad engineering, coupled with cheap and faulty construction, was held responsible for the collapse of the roof of the Knickerbocker Theatre and the loss of nearly a hundred lives, by Senator Capper, of Kansas, in a statement issued today after an investigation of the ruins of the ill-fated structure.

Senator Capper, as a member of the Senate District of Columbia Committee, introduced a resolution providing for Senate probe of the disaster.

CONSERVATION OF CANADIAN WOOD SUPPLY THE IMPORTANT PROBLEM FACING THE COUNTRY

Pertinent Facts on Canadian Forest Depletion, and Methods for Protecting and Restoring Growths Given by Mr. Barnjum of Annapolis Royal.

It has been recently brought to my attention that some foreign buyers of Canadian wood, who are trying to camouflage their own operations, are making the statement that my efforts to conserve Canadian wood for Canadian industries is not an unselfish campaign, as an embargo on wood being shipped out of the country would materially increase the value of lands which they claim to own in the United States.

I do not own an acre of land in the United States or a dollar's worth of property of any nature in that country. Even my own relatives who have small land holdings in Maine have not been asked to contribute to the campaign on the same, leaving them with but a small supply of wood for their own mill, so that they are in the same boat with other pulp and paper manufacturers in the United States.

I have become thoroughly imbued with the critical situation that is facing this continent with regard to its wood and timber supply that I am withdrawing from business as rapidly as possible so as to be in a position to devote my whole time to what I consider is the most important problem facing Canada, namely, the conservation of her wood supply.

It has been frequently stated that the bud worm has passed over New Brunswick and departed, but from a recent cruise on the Acadia coast it was discovered that 35 per cent of the soft wood trees were defoliated by this pest the past summer.

An owner of some 250,000 acres of land in Maine advised me last week that after a careful cruise of his lands the investigators found the fir was all dead, and from 45 to 52 per cent of the spruce as well.

I have seen another recent report on a large area in Northern Maine which shows 64 per cent spruce and fir dead. The whole situation looks very serious to me. It would seem as if man and insect were fighting for control of the earth, as, without trees, human life could not exist.

The time is approaching when we shall be forced, for the very preservation of our lives, to burn all logging slash and debris left in the woods. Dr. J. M. Swaine "the garbage of the forest." It is just as much a menace to our tree growth as a breeding place for insect life which threatens the destruction of our forests as the garbage of a city is to human life.

The Canadian pulp and paper companies should:

- (1)—Reduce the cut on their own lands as near an embargo as possible.
- (2)—Insist on an embargo or an export tax of not less than $10.00 per cord on fire wood, so as to save for the mills of Canada the large amount of wood that is now being shipped out of the country, and with the immense amount of capital invested in Canada in the pulp and paper industry this is imperative.
- (3)—Insist on more and better fire protection.
- (4)—Insist on the burning of all slash.
- (5)—Insist on the utilization of every inch of the tree that is cut down.
- (6)—Improve present wasteful logging methods.

CHILDREN FOUND ASLEEP IN RUINS WITH THE DEAD

Three Little Girls Discovered Hours After the Crash, One of Them Seated Between the Bodies of Women Who Had Been Killed.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(Associated Press).—Gleaming neonately beneath the debris in the wrecked Katakaber Theatre, two little girls, about 4 and 8 years old, were found early today by rescuers, ten hours after the playhouse roof had fallen in. Apparently neither of the children was badly hurt. They were taken to a hospital without identification. Four hours earlier a five-year-old girl was found unharmed, seated between the bodies of two women. Her life evidently had been saved by her falling between the seats and the protection given to her by the bodies of the two women who were killed beside her.

WONDERFUL 'GOIL' IS THE FLAPPER

She Tantalizes Us by the Simplicity of Her Artfulness—And Grabs Joy.

Berkeley, Calif., Feb. 1.—Approximately 2,000 "flappers" are on the University of California student rolls, Miss Mary Mc Bentley, former secretary of the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Association, declared in an address here. "Flappers," Miss Bentley said, "usually are girls who believe personally is physical, who consider all advice as abstract, who love continual change, who converse in generalities and who are in many higher institutions of learning."
"To present a picture of the normal girl as she exists today is a daring venture," Miss Bentley added. "She has no average, she has no group tie. She is a stranger to herself—sometimes especially to members of her own family—and cannot be compared with her kind of a previous age."
"We are tempted to think of her as living in a spirit of masquerade so rapidly and completely can she assume different and difficult roles of accomplishment."
"She tantalizes us by the simplicity of her artfulness and yet realism. We find her light-hearted, which is the privilege of youth. She believes with Stevenson that 'to have missed the joy is to have missed it all.' We fear her harboring secrets and imbedded emotions which are her hidden treasure in the mysterious discovery of herself as a private individual. If we do not understand these symptoms we call it temperament and try to dispose of the girl as difficult or as 'needing discipline.'"

British Colonial Policy Outlined By Churchill

Rhodes Idea of Equal Rights to All Will Dominate Policy in Africa.

London, Jan. 31.—Winston Churchill speaking at a dinner in connection with Kenya Colony and Uganda, said that like other holders of the seals of the Colonial Office he did his best to take a warm interest in all the great spheres of material development. Among all their possessions and protectorates those of Kenya and Uganda presented themselves with exceptional vividness to his mental eye. Mr. Churchill recalled his last visit to the colonies and said one always thought of two men above all others in connection with Uganda, Sir Frederick Lugard and Lord Rosebery who, when the time came for someone to say something in the Cabinet, said: "Uganda is reserved for me."
So, Mr. Churchill continued, this wonderful country was acquired which, in 50 or 100 years hence, would be regarded as an economic asset in material of various kinds of the very first order in the whole structure and composition of the British commercial organization.

Spooks Infest The Little Valley of Caledonia Mills

Lather Up the Horses, Turn Cattle Loose and Raise Old "Nick," Say Reports.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 1.—Nothing has been heard of the sea serpent since it was reported frozen in the St. Lawrence River by the Nova Scotia Herald. Nova Scotia has been vastly interested in a tale of the performances of alleged spooks coming from Caledonia Mills in Antigonish County, N. S. There a farmer named Alexander MacDonald and his family. But, recently according to reports he has told his neighbors, he has developed a habit of riding his horses by night, returning them to the stable before dawn in a lather, while other reports claim that he has driven his barn and drove them over the landscape, and occasionally trampled the tails of his horses. At the same time mysterious fire licks began to infest his house, and little fires appeared in all sorts of unexpected places. According to reports, the family was kept busy putting out fires, which for some reason appear to have done no damage. But, so the story goes, the mysterious manifestations finally got on the nerves of Mr. MacDonald and he boarded up his house and moved his family away.

ST. JOHN, N. S., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1933

THE BISHOP OF ROME.

When the College of Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church meet in conclave today to elect the successor to Pope Benedict XV, the College will proceed to choose the Bishop of Rome, and not, except indirectly, the chief pastor of the Church.

The Bishop of the Roman See is the supreme head of the Church, but he does not become bishop by virtue of his having been elected Pope, he becomes Pope because the Roman clergy have elected him the bishop of their diocese.

Thus an election to the Papacy becomes primarily the election of a local bishop. The right to elect a bishop belongs to the members of the Church, but in accordance with the rules, in ecclesiastical affairs, it is always for the hierarchy to guide the decisions of the flock.

The rules governing the election of the Bishop of Rome have been fixed to meet situations and conditions that have arisen in the past. They have been fixed arbitrarily and little or nothing has been left to the discretion of the electors.

It is required that the Cardinals wait ten days before the assembling of the conclave to give their minds free time to meet with them. That time expired, they must proceed to election, whether all are present or not.

Until the conclave has completed its duties, the Cardinals are secluded from the outside world. They must meet in the place where the death of the Pope has taken place, or if that is impossible, in the nearest suitable place not under interdict, at the house of the Bishop or some suitable place.

All are compelled to assemble in a single room, without partition of hanging, and live in common. This room and another in which they may go freely are so closed that no one may go in or out unobserved.

confidence which existed between France and ourselves for so many years. The Supreme Council, he added, had lately been faced to a French grimoire, and his successor apparently desired not to have as much to do with it.

It would be necessary therefore for the Comptroller-General to make any reference to the wages paid to the chauffeurs of the cars of Government-owned automobiles that were used in the interests of the Liberal candidates in the Dominion election on December 15th, not as to who paid for the 275 gallons of gasoline that those cars used up when running around the country carrying Liberal speakers to campaign meetings and voters to the polls.

It is said by Liberal correspondents that Mr. Fielding is going to reduce Government expenses in many ways. The Civil Service now costs $86,000,000, and many reforms in the interest of economy can be made.

The New York World says Hearst is "an active, ingenious, unscrupulous demagogue." That, thinks the Ottawa Journal, should hold him for a couple of days.

It is said that New York water has a peculiar flavor, and the fact is laid to some kind of bug found in it. We would think it more likely that what they have to leave out of it is what makes it taste so strange.

Brangeline Booth says that women have no right to fool the world by being comely and powder. Where did the idea get the idea that they are fooling anyone?

WHAT OTHERS SAY

A Man of Power. (Sydney Post-Standard.) Mr. George will go to the Godes conference with the goal with the wish of Germany, Lenin, of Russia, and Bonomi of Italy, a strange assemblage of countries, interests, and power.

The question that would be put to the British Government is whether the defeated leader of a defeated party should be invited to the cabinet, and if so, on what terms.

SAVE YOUR EYES. You can easily preserve good sight. Just as surely as the years advance, the structure of the eye changes making vision less keen. This is a natural process which can be stopped, but the effect on sight can be counteracted by wearing properly fitted glasses. This is a mechanical aid to restore clear vision and protect eyes. The eye has a print to see quite as much as it used to be—that you hold your book or paper farther from your eyes than formerly. Then it is time for you to come to us for the glasses which will improve, protect and preserve your sight. L. L. SHARPE & SON, Jewelers and Opticians, 21 King St., St. John, N. S.

FRANCO-BRITISH REGARDING Germany in One and Russia Asia Minor Provides A George and Poincare. By Col. W. M. HOUSE, in the Boston Transcript. Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—There is wide interest in the contest now in progress between France and Great Britain, as represented by Lloyd George on the one hand and Poincare on the other. The French and British are still at odds on the issue of the League of Nations and the League of Nations is still at odds on the issue of the League of Nations. The French and British are still at odds on the issue of the League of Nations and the League of Nations is still at odds on the issue of the League of Nations.

Positions Really Wide Apart. As a matter of fact, they are wide apart in their positions, and this will become clear when Germany fails to meet her payments and conditions are proposed to enforce them. This will mean the real trial of strength between the spokesman of France and Great Britain. Poincare's position will mean the real trial of strength between the spokesman of France and Great Britain. Poincare's position will mean the real trial of strength between the spokesman of France and Great Britain.

PLA CIG. Great Britain and France differ in policy not only as to Germany, but as to Russia also.

ANGLO-FRENCH PACT FIRST AND THEN FOR GENOA

Lord Curzon Begins Effort to Frame Alliance on Poincare's Plan.

London, Jan. 30.—Lord Curzon, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, began conversations with Comte de Saint Aulaire, French Ambassador to Great Britain, this evening in an effort to frame an Anglo-French pact by means of Premier Poincare's method of diplomacy with a "fundamental divergence" still existing.

Extreme pressure has been brought to bear on both sides to expedite the negotiations since it became known that America's answer to the Genoa conference invitation was not likely to arrive until a decision as to the pact had been arrived at. No hint of a postponement of the Genoa conference here emanated from here, but both sides agree that Genoa must remain in the background while the treaty with all its diplomatic economic and militaristic aspects is under discussion.

It was definitely established today that the French will not publish Premier Poincare's instructions, since they did not come in the form of a note. Speculation as to the differences here are based chiefly on Poincare's reports and the French proposal is regarded as saving of militarism rather than of an international peace program, which the British officials insist is their aim.

The duration of the pact is considered to be a minor matter as is also the reciprocal pledge from France that she will aid Great Britain, which is expected to raise no difficulty, although nobody here feels the need of such a pledge. The New York Herald correspondent has been informed that Great Britain is not disposed to put a new interpretation on the clause of the Versailles treaty regarding the Rhine occupation. Nor is it thought wise to permit any two power pact to operate against Germany in a manner that would strengthen their grip on Germany.

Some circles here declare that the French conception of policing the Rhine is diametrically opposed to the British idea and defies compromise. The Government here is unambiguously against the French position in regarding Europe as a vast military ring and this is one of Lord Curzon's strongest arguments. Great Britain is backed up by the tremendous prestige of the American limitation of armament achievements and wants a pact that will further this. Therefore she hesitates to give any elastic guarantee other than those of a purely defensive nature.

The Foreign Office points out that the spirit of the two nations appears to be exactly opposite. The reason that prompted Premier Lord George's resignation was not only to meet the request of France, but the pact was intended to remove the nightmare of future warfare from the French mind, bring an atmosphere of peace to European nations, alleviate the burden and danger of armament, restore the shattered economic conditions and relieve business stagnation. The aim of the pact, as expressed here, was merely as a step toward the Genoa conference.

These aims will be amplified during the present negotiations with the hope of lining up France for a European application of the Washington spirit. The conversations will not be binding on the respective Governments and are described as merely a "pleasant voyage of discovery." Officials here believe that America's influence will make itself felt, for they now regard President Harding's reported objection to accepting the Genoa invitation as "the sharpest rebuke France has ever received from her sister republic."

U. S. Government Warns of Ice Fields

Boston, Feb. 1.—Warning of North Atlantic ice fields seven miles wide and 135 miles long moving south, with miles past Cape Race, was sent out today by the hydrographic office. The fields, which are the first to be reported this year, are not considered a menace to trans-Atlantic shipping at present.

NON-MANUAL LABOR SLOWLY WORKING INTO ORGANIZATIONS

Movement Among So-Called Intellectual Workers of the World is Spreading Despite Recent Temporary Setbacks.

London, Feb. 1.—The International Labor Bureau recently had occasion to consider the "International Protection of Intellectual Workers." It is a description to which violent exceptions might be taken, for the term "intellectual" in the present instance embraces quite a number of workers whose functions in society demand no more technical knowledge than numbers of others regarded as purely manual workers.

It is a difficult and delicate task to differentiate, the Labor Party, handicapped as it is in its appeals for support from the middle class, and workers to surmount the difficulty by insisting that Labor means anyone "who works, whether by hand or brain." The skilled craftsmen's organizations affiliated with the Labor Party, were they so disposed, could quarrel even with that definition, for a craftsman these days must combine technical knowledge and theory with the skill at his fingers' ends.

It is but a very few years ago that the social reformer threw up his hands in despair of ever being able to include in the ranks of the workers to organize in the sense that the engineers or railway workers were organized; and doubtless their pessimism might have been strengthened with the strike of time but for the vast changes following the Armageddon started in 1914, with the tremendous rise in the cost of living and an appalling indiscriminate in a sense of values.

Does Real Crisis Exist? Before proceeding to discuss the international relationship of the intellectual worker—the relationship which he stands out to another in his desire for protection—the Labor office at Geneva first expressed the desirability of ascertaining whether the "crisis" of which the intellectual workers complained exists. The bureau has accumulated a mass of statistics comparing the wages of intellectual workers with that of "butchers, bakers and candlestick makers," and elicited the opinions of the leaders of the intellectual workers themselves. The result that, in regard to the actual existence of what is termed the crisis, as the parliamentary would say, "the answer is in the affirmative."

According to Henry Murgel, who is today around his South End home, spent tonight in jail, charged with the murder of Patrolman Daniel McShane, the policeman shot the negro from a window of his stronghold, died at a hospital at noon. Two hundred shots are estimated to have been fired from Murgel's position. He was taken to the hospital and placed under guard.

William Jackson, a negro who lives next door to Murgel, was in the hospital tonight suffering from bullet wounds. On the injured list also was Murgel's old baby-sitter from the upper room of the Murgel house. The fire, which nearly consumed the mattress, is believed to have been caused by powder flashes from Murgel's revolver.

The trouble started when a woman lodger left the house after midnight to tell the police that Murgel had threatened to shoot her. She found Murgel and three other patrolmen, who accompanied her back to the residence. When the policeman appeared before the court, he found it hard to believe that Murgel had threatened to shoot him. He was arrested and dropped to the sidewalk with a bullet in his abdomen.

McShane's comrades promptly summoned a patrolman to the scene. The patrolman found Murgel in the street and directed the dispatch of two patrolmen to Murgel's barricaded dwelling. Meantime, the fire department had been summoned and was prepared to bring down the house by the use of high pressure nozzle.

Guarding the house on the front and rear the police fired several volleys. Murgel refused to come out. Two shots through the window found him in the attic and brought him down stairs. When the officers appeared in the doorway with their prisoners, Murgel crouched behind a door and threatened Murgel. There was a rush in his direction and it was with difficulty he was landed in the patrol wagon.

At the station Murgel told the police that he had saved one bullet for himself and another for his wife, at her request, but that when they got into the attic his courage failed him. When arraigned for the murder of Patrolman McShane, Murgel exclaimed: "Murder! Who did I kill? I didn't know that McShane was dead."

GERMANS RESORT TO THEIR USE OF STALLING

Avoid Direct Answer on Reparations, Fearing Allies Would Build on Proposals.

Berlin, Feb. 1.—Germany handed her answer to the Reparations Commission representative here today on the last day of grace and avoided at that answering the commission's demand for definite proposals on a programme of payments for 1922 conforming instead to the figures under discussion at Cannes before Mr. Briand's departure, viz., 750,000,000 cash, 1,460,000,000 gold marks in kind as the maximum, from which it was hoped the commission would abate a large share.

The German tactics in this matter are the same as on previous occasions, the German representatives believing in the mention of any definite figure might induce the Entente experts to build up from them. The German note evades the question of the amount of the reparations which the German representatives believe to be the wisest solution would be for Germany to pay nothing at all this year and thus give the country a breathing space to put its finances in order, but admits that political reasons make this impossible.

Political reasons also have played a large part in fixing the programme for taxation which is submitted as an answer to the Reparations Commission's request for information as to where and what Germany proposes to do to put her finances in order and wipe out her deficit.

The note declares the new taxes are not what economic experts would have advised as they bear too heavily on capital and do not bring certain indirect taxes, such as sugar and excise up to the level of some of the Entente countries as demanded by Entente experts. But this adjustment between direct and indirect taxes and the adoption of the compulsory loan as an additional burden upon property were essential but salesmen of highest integrity and ability only need apply to ROSS-SHELTON, LIMITED, Creators of Distinctive Calendar Advertising, Winnipeg, Man.

Unemployment Dole Eliminated. The note, as forecast in these despatches, declares the postal and railway deficits are eliminated by the new rates, prompt adjustment between direct and indirect taxes and the adoption of the compulsory loan as an additional burden upon property were essential but salesmen of highest integrity and ability only need apply to ROSS-SHELTON, LIMITED, Creators of Distinctive Calendar Advertising, Winnipeg, Man.

The amount of the latter sum will be a large revenue to the Government. The Government hopes to worry through further the next harvest with only a 500,000,000 mark deficit. The contribution in addition to the 22,500,000,000 marks already devoted to harvest subsidies during the current harvest year.

The Government's hopes of being able to balance the domestic budget and provide a small surplus for reparations also depends on the work of the factor as well as its ability to hold in check the present wage movement among officials and employees in the Government service, and the postal. It must depend for reparations payments almost entirely upon the bill of exchange to be raised by the forced loan, the interest on which the domestic budget being only 16,000,000,000 paper. The difference between this and 22,000,000,000 marks, proposed by the Entente—must be provided by the note process.

Paris, Feb. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Discussion of the German reply on the reparations question was taken up this morning and the work of preparing the note with which the commission to the Allies was begun. The expected draft of the forwarding note would be completed before night. There are about 100 pages or more of annexes, statistics, texts and laws, etc., submitted by the German Government in explanation of how they propose to explain out financial and other reforms in connection with the reparations settlement.

Roland W. Boyden, American representative with the commission, who has been at Weisbaden, was expected to arrive in Paris in time to attend the later afternoon deliberations of the commission today.

Home For Various Women's Societies

Those Interested in Proposed Building Received Valuable Advice Yesterday from Miss Mabel Jamieson.

The proposed Y.W.C.A. building and home for the women's societies of the city received a boost yesterday, and those interested in this project obtained much encouragement from the optimistic message of Miss Mabel Jamieson, who in discussing the matter with the executive of the Y.W.C.A. at the home of Mrs. J. A. McAlister, gave them many helpful hints on how to go about the work of securing the needed money and arousing the active support of the community in the task of erecting a suitable home for the various women's organizations, as well as for the Y.W.C.A. work.

Miss Jamieson said she thought the local "Y" had taken the first step toward their new building when they had secured the services of Miss MacKenzie as secretary. She had been the moving force in the erection of the Hamilton building, and could, she felt, do the same here. The first thing to be considered was the question of when to build. It was no use to wait for a suitable time, for that would never come. The time to build was when the people behind the movement realized the need and made up their minds to go out and get the money, and if would always come when the stage had been reached. That had been the history of the movement in Montreal.

Another necessity was that the movers in the matter should really sense the need; have a vision of the requirements, and be able to interpret the need to the public. It was also vital to the success of the movement that the business elite of the city be interested in the campaign. They were a powerful group and had more influence with the business men than any other class, when it came to the getting of the money. To prove this point she instanced the case of a Montreal man who had asked the committee of ladies but had given to a business girl $1,000 for the building, being influenced by her businesslike way of presenting the subject.

They must be prepared with facts and figures when they approach the business men of the city, and put them up to them in such a way that they would grip and hold their interest over other appeals, for this would only be one of many which was coming before them from day to day. Then before they started out they must make up their minds what was to be the object toward which they were to aim; how big a building they wanted and what the cost was to be. This would naturally be governed by the size of the city and the amount which it was possible to collect from the citizens.

She suggested that a small, but strong committee of men who would get behind the campaign and see it through, be first organized and a large committee of women to do the work of canvassing. Then she would have the girls organizing with their own chairman to work along with the other committee. In connection with the public meeting to be held on February 10th, she suggested that definite committees be prepared for submission to the gathering. Put a general outline of the project before them and an estimate of the probable cost. For the carrying on of the work after the building had been completed, Miss Jamieson suggested an advisory committee of men to act with the women's committee.

The connection with the needs of a building it was stated the present one was in a bad state of repair, there were no lockers and the 470 girls who patronized the gymnasium needed a swimming pool, was also among the pressing needs. At the conclusion of the conference tea was served, Miss Taylor presiding at the tea table, Mrs. MacKenzie and Miss Selva serving.

Lord Shaughnessy Schooner Senator Turned Turtle

Here Yesterday Vessel Bound to St. John from Boston Sprang a Leak — Captain and Crew Were Saved.

Another of the thrilling experiences which beset mariners at sea, was told by the master of the ill-fated tern schooner Senator, Captain John White, who arrived in the city yesterday after having been forced to abandon the vessel which she turned turtle four miles off Dipper Harbor about midnight on Tuesday. The Senator left Boston a week ago Friday for this port with a cargo of olives for Montreal. Two days out from Boston she encountered one of the raging seas which have been playing havoc along the Atlantic seaboard, sprang a leak. By superhuman efforts at the pumps, the crew managed to keep the vessel afloat until Tuesday night, when the water gained and the schooner listed on one side.

About 11:30 o'clock all hope of saving the vessel was abandoned and the mate launched the life boat. They had no sooner succeeded in clearing the schooner when she turned turtle, listing in the position of bottom up. When Captain White, the mate of the Senator, and the six men comprising the crew left the vessel, they were about four miles off Dipper Harbor. They succeeded in rowing ashore, where they were taken care of for the night, and yesterday morning, having procured a horse and sleigh at Musquash, came on to St. John.

The crew of six men were sent back to Boston yesterday afternoon by Henry S. Culver, American Consul at this port, and the captain and mate are all in the city awaiting instructions from the owners, G. Jarvis & Co., Boston. Word was received in the city last night from Chance Harbor that Captain White, Harding had procured a large power launch from Musquash and, with the aid of two smaller boats from Chance Harbor, had succeeded in towing the Senator to within a quarter of a mile of this place. It was expected that, when the tide came up, the schooner would be washed up on shore in the morning. A considerable amount of her cargo forced its way out of the hold and was seen floating around the bay.

In view of the trying experiences undergone, the captain and crew of the Senator were very fortunate that a good position to abandon the vessel and were not compelled to beat about a raging sea in a small boat at the peril of their lives. No word had been received last night as to the disposition of the schooner, but it is expected that instructions will be forwarded today from the owners and steps taken to estimate the loss sustained.
