

HUSBAND SAVES WIFE

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headache. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. JAS. ROBERTSON, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE
IS A SKIN WHITENER
How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.
The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of cracked white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of cracked white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this creamy fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.
All in Uniform.

LARGEST LUMBER ORDER EVER GIVEN

Money Deposit When Notice of Wedding is Given.
For the building of cantonments the United States government placed the largest lumber order that has ever been given, involving the purchase of 775,000,000 feet of southern pine.

One of the British co-operative societies had paid over $2,000,000 in benefits to its members who are in war service.
It is officially estimated that every soldier of the British Army costs the nation between $1,250 and $1,500 a year.

THE SPEED OF ANIMALS.
He is "slow as an ox," as "fleet as a deer," as "as fast a horse," or as "swift as an antelope."
How many times have you heard these expressions, which bring to mind the question, "how fast do animals move?" Few know just how fast or slow they are, but an interesting computation by scientists is designed to throw light on the matter.
A riding horse covers forty inches while walking, while at a jog trot it covers eleven feet in a second. The two minute horse, forty four feet in a second. The leisurely ox moves over only two feet a second when hitched to a wagon and about twenty inches when attached to a plow.
The elephant, which can pull more than six horses, only about four and one-half feet a second, and running as rapidly as it can is able to travel eighteen feet a second.
The lion is claimed to run faster than the swiftest running horse, which is from 80 to 100 feet a second, according to the country through which it is compelled to travel.
Some claim a hare can travel at the rate of sixty feet a second while others claim it cannot travel more than half that distance. All deer are speedy animals. A roebuck has been known to cover seventy-four feet a second when pursued by dogs. The giraffe is said to pass over the ground at the rate of about fifty feet a second, while the kangaroo covers ten to fourteen feet a second. A tortoise five inches long makes about a half-inch a second.

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.
The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.
In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious kidney and bladder troubles; that it upsets the stomach, causes indigestion, loss of appetite and sleeplessness; that chronic rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rash, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-lives" are taken to correct constipation.
"Fruit-a-lives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

ARE NOT GIVEN TO MARRYING.

Rochester Post-Express.
A canvass to discover how many women are available for war work is said to show that there are practically no unmarried waitresses and few unwedded actresses; while scarcely any of the women glorified in circus posters as acrobats, wire walkers, and the like, are the misses or mademoiselles their poster names advertise them to be. On the other hand, so vast a majority of women teachers are spinsters that girls who choose that honorable and useful calling may also be said to leave matrimonial hopes behind them on entering the schoolhouse door.
It must, of course, be borne in mind that when young school-ma'tams marry they drop out of the profession and only the unremedied remain. But this does not alter the fact that school mistresses are either less vulnerable to Child's darts, or less exposed thereto than any other class of women workers.
Several reasons suggest themselves in explanations. Their vocation gives them position and financial independence. They come less in contact with males of marriageable age. They see as much of children as they wish to—sometimes more—and often become cynical of the virtues of masculinity, old or young. There are also women of good minds, too wise to be inveigled to jump with unreflecting haste from frying pans of single blessedness into conubial fires. Their occupation tends to make them creatures of routine, content with the grooves in which they run; and finally it may be noted that the authority they exercise and their habits of doing all the talking and much of the thinking for their pupils naturally tend to make them autocratic, uncomplaisant, indolent and often somewhat intractable, unamenable and austere.
Generally speaking, also, only the wise man really feels attracted to a woman wiser than himself; and as most men are not wise, and as many slender chances of the school mistress are slenderer than those of the waitress, the seamstress, the factory worker, the office ornament, the trapeze performer, the type writer, the actress, or the nurse.
It seems unfortunate for men who would find families that the women who are surpassing qualified to rear the tender and teach the young idea how to shoot find the sheltered life less alluring than pedagogical careers. But if the training of a child is a woman's wisdom, as we are told, the training of a roomful of them may be the more important work to which the cultivated woman of our age are called. In any event, the woman who prefers marriage to missions and credos to careers may know by statistics the vocations they should wisely choose.

TO KEEP OUT THE FLIES.
Any order pleading to man is offensive to the fly and vice versa, and will drive them away.
Take five cents' worth of oil of lavender, mix it with the same quantity of water, put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the room where flies are. In the dining room spray it lavishly even on the table linen. The odor is very disagreeable to flies but refreshing to most people.
Geranium, mignonette, heliotrope and white clover are offensive to flies. They especially dislike the odor of honeysuckle and hop blossoms.
According to a French scientist flies have intense hatred for the color blue. Rooms decorated in blue will help to keep out the flies.
To clear the house of flies, burn pyrethrum powder. This stupefies the flies, but they must be swept up and buried.

One of the battalions which took part in the recent capture of Jerusalem was the "Royal Scots". This regiment is probably the oldest line regiment in the world, and possesses the title of "Pontius Pilate's Body-Guard". The origin of this strange name is the legend that they are descended from a body of Scotchmen who were drafted into the Roman service and posted in Jerusalem at the time of the Crucifixion. And now history repeats itself and the regiment is to be found on duty in the Holy Land.

British at Their Best.
When They Are Fighting With Backs to the Wall.
THE British have reached the strategic position in which their enemies have ever found them the most dangerous, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, in a notable tribute to British valor.
"With our backs to the wall," says Italy.
"With our backs to the wall," said Wellington at Torres Vedras. Overwhelmingly outnumbered, with all Spain in the hands of his enemies, with four armies confronting his single and isolated force, he fought them off and finally drove them, battle by battle, over the Pyrenees. From Torres Vedras the British soldiers fought their way, triumphant, to Lisbon, meeting and beating the most famous generals of their time, the marshals of Napoleon. But their splendid push to Madrid and onward did not really begin until they had reached their backs against the famous "wall" of Torres Vedras. "With our backs to the wall," said Dr. H. Hawkins and "Lord Howe" when the Spanish Armada came riding into sight and interrupted—never commanded, and never can command, such odds against the English.
"Counting by tonnage, these intrepid sailors stood on the cliffs of England and saw the command of the sea already lost. The hammer-strokes of vastly superior strength poised above them, ready to shatter what was then almost the only citadel of liberty in the world. But these unconquerable British, who never knew when they are beaten, had their "backs to the wall," a fatal attitude for their foes to find them in. They put to sea in the spirit of Sir Richard Grenville and his little "Revenge," who had just fought "the fight of the one and the sixty-three," and faced these "great sea galleons heaving on the weather bow. History records the sequel. By all human reckoning the British should have been beaten. But—but—well, their backs were to the wall, where a Briton is unbeatable. That is British character. We know it in this country for it was John Paul Jones, a sailor whom we borrowed from Scotland, who, when things looked black enough with him, sent the message over to his antagonist: "I have just begun to fight."
We know it on this continent; for it was the Canadians of British origin who held the line for hours after the villainous gas attack at Ypres—held it with a few lean companies whom the Germans could have easily overwhelmed by sheer weight of numbers if they had dreamed that these astonished Britons from overseas would stick so stubbornly over heavy reserves in support. The Canadians did the same thing at the River in South Africa, bringing—bringing until the last man lay wounded. That was the spirit of the Boer message:
"Every position must be held to the last man." Waterloo was a battle fought by the British army with its backs to the wall. That Waterloo campaign is worth thinking of for a moment in these anxious hours as we wait for the news from this colossal "Waterloo" whose Titanic vestments may well shake the earth of that is earlier in history. The British and the British had much the same problem set them at Quatre Bras and Ligny. But they solved it differently. The Germans retreated from Ligny while the British held stubbornly the square Braine and British only withdrew to Waterloo because the Germans had failed to hold the Ligny at Waterloo, the British held again; and if they had not held, the Germans would only have come up to fall into a trap.
The Haig message has not only stiffened the wearied ranks of his hard-bested army but it has sounded like a trumpet-call across the allied world to heaven the watching millions who knew so well that they each personally have at stake in this terrible struggle. The British armies stand as the bulwark of democratic liberty. We all know only too surely in what a tragic position the defenders of democracy would be if the Anglo-French armies found themselves unable to date back this repulsed Teuton tide. To say—as our writers so often repeat—that as much is at stake today as hung in the balance at the battle of the Marne is surely to underestimate the unparalleled importance of this struggle. But the very fact that British generals like Haig and Maurico are employing great Britain and appealing to their men to "die where they stand rather than give way"—the heroic resolve of this universal message of inspiring leadership—encourages us all with the sure knowledge that the two great fighting races in the world—the Anglo-Saxon and the French—have risen to the sublime pitch of valor and will not let them "pass." We record our confidence that two such armies—two such nations—cannot be beaten.

Glances and Banquets.
The near-sighted hummer happened to bump a pedestrian who had a grocer. The pedestrian growled, "Take off them glasses and I'll punch your face for you," he cried. "But my dear sir," said the hummer calmly, "it is quite against the custom you know. Whoever heard of ordering off the glasses before the punch was served?"

ALL ALCOHOL SEIZED TO BE RECLAIMED

Chief Inspector Wilson Makes Arrangements for Carrying Out Process.

Fredericton, N. B. July 29.—W. D. Wilson, of this city, chief inspector under the provincial prohibition act, while in Ottawa recently made representation to the federal authorities which resulted in authority being given him to reclaim alcohol from all liquors seized by himself or his deputies under the Intoxicating Liquors Act 1916. Mr. Wilson states that the reclamation will be carried on in this province, the officials of the inland revenue department having supervision of it.

Prior to making the application at Ottawa, Chief Inspector Wilson had a number of experiments made with samples of liquor which had been seized. One sample showed alcohol of 93 per cent. A second sample showed 88 per cent. A third, which had been seized at Minto, showed only 78 per cent. In many cases the liquor which is seized by the inspectors cannot be designated by name, it being merely liquor with intoxicating qualities. The alcohol, when reclaimed, can be used for commercial purposes or for external application.

Chief Inspector Wilson announces that the province of New Brunswick is now entirely under prohibition, the proclamation "cancelling the Canada Temperance Act in Albert county and automatically putting the Intoxicating Liquors Act, 1916, into effect being issued at Ottawa, Friday. Albert was the last county in which the provincial act went into force.

WANTS PEACE AND WANTS IT NOW

Resolution Offered in Austrian Lower House by Leader of Czech League—Continuation of War Useless

Amsterdam, July 29.—A resolution declaring in favor of an immediate peace without annexations and indemnities was offered in the Austrian lower house Saturday by Deputy Stanek on behalf of the Czech league. The resolution declared that a continuation of the war is useless from the standpoint of both humanity and political utility. It asserted that all people should have the right to self-determination and asked that the house demand that Austria-Hungary oppose the annexationist and imperialistic policy which had gained the upper hand in Germany and try itself to find a way to find a democratic peace.

The house says a Vienna despatch to the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, which reports the incident, rejected the resolution as inadmissible for submission to a vote.

Private Jones put in for a special leave in order to dig up his allotment. A few days later he was summoned to appear before his commanding officer, so after the usual formalities, the officer started to question him on the subject.

"I guess you will be surprised to hear that I have made an inquiry as to the truth of your statement, and I find that you do not possess any allotment. What have you to say for yourself?"

"Well, sir," replied Jones, "I don't know who went to see but if, it isn't there somebody must have pushed it off the window-sill."

A little taffy injudiciously applied makes a humbled man stuck up.

75,000 YANKEES LANDED IN DAY

Transports Carrying 20,000 Men Leave Port Three Hours After Arrival.

The German official, communiques have been anxious to inform the world that the great Marne battle is going very well for the Germans. This is based on the supposition that Foch has failed if he doesn't achieve a complete break through and meanwhile is using up his reserves. As a matter of fact, that is not the case, though, if it were Foch's reserves would stand a good deal of using up.

In one port in France 52,000 Americans were landed last week and in another transports carrying 20,000 men arrived one morning and left, unloaded, three hours later.

However, the forlorn German apologists explain that all this does not matter, nor does the allied gain of ground, because Ludendorff is withdrawing his troops according to plan.

THE COLONIAL TROOPS RAID ENEMY'S LINES IN NO MAN'S LAND.

July 28.—Our men have been making a number of small raids into the German trenches. Discovering the enemy's strength and dispositions and doing as much damage as possible in the short time. English, Australian, Canadian and New Zealand troops have all been taking a share in these grim adventures and nearly every raiding party brought back a few prisoners. In these hours of darkness, when our men crawl out into No Man's Land, dropping into the wet mud of shell craters, lying doggo when the white glare of German rockets makes every strand of barbed wire a black etching against the incandescent light, so that a crouching man feels monstrously visible among the old sandbags and slime. There are intense emotions which some men dread and some men like, according to their state of nerves and mental reactions.

"Nobody writes about that side of the war," said a Canadian officer one day, "though it has been written now and then, nobody describes what it feels like when one drags one's body through mud with a German machine gun a few yards away, and a German sentry pacing up and down a bit of the trench and stopping to listen to some bricks that one sends clattering down by careless movement, and a dead body, a long time dead outside the German wire which one grabs in the darkness before the last pounce forward. That is war, but not as one reads."

Canadian Officer's Experience.

This Canadian officer had a queer experience a little while ago, and during the last few days others had the same. He went with a raiding party into the German outpost lines and stayed for two hours in the German trenches without seeing a living soul. In some parts of the line especially in those parts where No Man's Land is wide, the enemy holds the forward system very thinly, with posts here and there and the trenches behind it, so it happens sometimes, though rarely, of course, that, as the other night, our raiding parties find themselves alone within German lines between one post and another.

The Tide Has Turned.

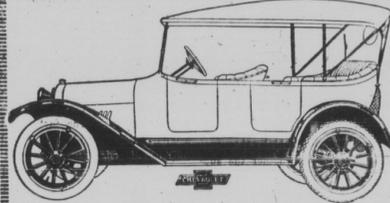

All those little things help break the monotony of trench life and form gossip of dugouts, have no more importance than individual experience in a war where only massed battles count. Towards the end they are counting down south on the ground between the Aisne and the Marne, where the armies of the Crown Prince are in slow but steady retreat, revealing to their own people the greatness of the disaster that has overtaken them and it will need a lot of explaining in Germany, for not all the lies of their general staff can give the turning of that tide. On the British front our men stand waiting and watching for the next move of Prince Rupprecht's armies, which are ready for an attack, but bewildering in their purpose by events that altered their whole scheme of things. It may be they will never carry out the attack that is planned, but from now until the end of the war will fight on the defence in great rear-guard actions which Germany will fight when the initiative is ours, and until there is peace.

The rain storms that flooded all the low lying ground ought to delay any offensive action of Rupprecht's reserves, whatever may be intended

SAVE FOOD

In a time needing food economy many people are not getting all the nourishment they might from their food. It is not how much you eat, but much you assimilate, that does you good.

The addition of a small teaspoonful of Bovril to the diet as a peptogenic before meals leads to more thorough digestion and assimilation and thus saves food, for you need less.

Crowd More Into the Busy Day

THE CHEVROLET 490 is an investment, not an expense of luxury. Doctors, business men, farmers, salesmen and all should use the Chevrolet Four-Ninety and crowd more energy, activity and business into the busy day.

The Four-Ninety stands unchallenged in its price class. The electric starting and lighting equipment is most efficient. The car is powerful, roomy, comfortable and economical. The time gained by operating a Chevrolet more than pays for the cost.

Speeding Up Things.

The nobility and gentry of Little Ploverborough were recently gathered in the village school-room to enjoy some tableaux vivants by local performers. The curtain had just fallen on a really creditable picture of the death of Nelson, shown to music.

"Keep your seats, please," said the stage manager. "We're much obliged for your kind applause, ladies and gentlemen, and we're going to give you the death of Nelson over again."

"Oh, are yer?" came from a friend of the man who was playing the chief part. "Then, if you'll tell Nelson 'is kitchen chimney's afore and 'is wife jest had a couple o' fits, 'praps 'e won't lie so blessed lingerin'."

Appointed Chief Engineer

Mr. J. M. R. Fairbairn has been appointed chief engineer of the C. P. R. system replacing Mr. J. G. Sullivan, chief engineer, who is retiring to enter private practice. It is the announcement by special circular issued by Sir George Bury, Vice-President, and approved by Lord Shaughnessy, the President.

J. M. R. FAIRBAIRN.

Mr. Fairbairn has been a short private practice in British Columbia. Mr. Fairbairn joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in June, 1892, in the Engineering Department and became Assistant Engineer at Montreal, August, 1901, and Resident Engineer at Ottawa 13 months later. After three years in the Ottawa Division, he returned to Montreal as Division Engineer, and was transferred to Toronto some months later, from which place he returned to Montreal in November, 1907, in a similar capacity. It was in October, 1909, that Mr. Fairbairn was made Principal Assistant at Montreal, two years later being promoted to Engineer of Maintenance of Way, and in June, 1911, was made Chief Engineer of Eastern Lines, a position he occupied up to the time of his present promotion, which is the highest railway position attainable.

DRAGGING THE ROAD.

The person who does any travelling over New Brunswick highways soon comes to recognize whether the supervisor of the various sections of roadways they journey upon are believers in the split log drag or not. The sections which give one all the delightful sensations of a sea voyage without extra charge for steamship tickets are under the care of men who do not understand the correct use of the drag, while those sections which allow autos and teams to howl merrily along with a boulevard-like smoothness are carefully cared for by supervisors who believe in the frequent use of the drag.

For, given the same class of road with the same ditching and crowning the one that is dragged after every rain is by far and away the better road. It is certainly twice as good and yet instead of costing twice as much, it will not cost more than the road not dragged when a perol of several years duration is taken into account.

A new law should be: Supervisors who don't drag their roads properly should get the axe.—Chatham Gazette.

DOGS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

An official enumeration reported to have been recently taken of dogs in Great Britain revealed the fact that there were 2,126,000 of these animals in that country, but as it was publicly known that the enumerators were on the trail rounding them up, a large number of the "Pets" (or rather the public nuisances) were hidden away for the time being, fearing of course that an extra tax was to be imposed on the owner. A rough estimate however of the dogs actually kept in that country places the number at 4,600,000. To feed these animals, on even a limited diet, will require about 4,000,000 pounds of meat per day, which at 23 cents per pound will cost about $1,000,000 per day.

Is it any wonder then that there is such a demand for Canadian and American meat in that country. There are of course not nearly that many dogs in Campbellton but there are certainly a few hundred too many.

HOTEL DIEU HOSPITAL WORK

Cares For All that Can Be Accommodated Whether Able to Pay or Not.

To the Editor of the Graphic:
 At a meeting of the Town Council last week, was read a communication from the "L. O. L." protesting against an annual grant for the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

The framers of this protest are residents of our Town, who should be better informed than to be exposed to make the mis-statements contained in their memorial. The fact that they are not, leads one to believe that there may be many others who are still unacquainted with even the most elementary facts concerning the Hotel Dieu Hospital, which for thirty years has been quietly and unostentatiously carrying on its work of charity and beneficence in our midst.

To enlighten the unprejudiced among our citizens we shall deal with the two statements made as to the supposed grounds for protest.

1. "THIS HOSPITAL IS NOT A PUBLIC INSTITUTION, BUT UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE CHURCH OF OUR LADY OF THE SNOWS."

The Church of Our Lady of the Snows exercises NO supervision either directly or indirectly, over the Hotel Dieu Hospital. This Hospital is entirely under the control and administration of the Sisters in charge. The Clergy of the Church of Our Lady of the Snows have the same liberty as is accorded to the Pastors of the other Churches in the town to visit the members of their respective flocks, who are patients in the Institute.

2. "EVERY PATIENT OF THE PROTESTANT DENOMINATION ADMITTED FOR TREATMENT IS REQUIRED BY THE INSTITUTE TO PAY ALL THEIR OWN EXPENSES, AND THAT IN ADVANCE."

This is a FALSE statement, pure and simple. The semblance of truth therein, is derived from the printed regulations regarding visiting hours, rates, etc., which are exposed in various places in the Hospital. At the end of the printed list is a hand written "note" (added within the last two years) which reads thus:—"Patients are required to pay ONE week in advance for Hospital Board.

In requesting payment for Board the howling noises they make every night, especially around everybody's residence except their own, is becoming unbearable. In some houses the occupants are kept awake most of the night, and where there are sick people it is more distressing.

one week in advance the administration has only adopted a business rule common now in ALL Hospitals. But be it said here that at Hotel Dieu, as probably in all like Institutions the rule is more honored in the breach, than in the observance. No Hospital is primarily a business venture; it is a philanthropic undertaking. For this reason it is that a business policy in dealing with patients is not rigidly adhered to; on the contrary, the business principle is at all times secondary to the philanthropic, and in many instances must be left out of consideration entirely. As a matter of fact as far as the Hotel Dieu Hospital is concerned, no patient keeps expenses ALL paid in advance, and few pay anything in advance. Many leave the Institution with all or the greater part of their account still due. And in this Category are included patients of ALL DENOMINATIONS.

Again, as in all Hospitals, so at Hotel Dieu, the entry Clerk or admitting Officer may as a matter of routine show a schedule of rates to an applicant for admission, and inquire, with a view to filling out the item, "TERMS" on admission-blank; but even should the applicant represent himself as unable to pay anything, he is not on that account refused admission. The public who are familiar with conditions at Hotel Dieu Hospital know that the poor and needy are the objects of special care and solicitude on the part of the Sisters.

There died at the Institution last week, a poor man who was an exemplification of the foregoing statement. Afflicted with an incurable cancer that was gradually eating away his face and throat, the sufferer found himself an outcast even by his own children. He was received into the Hospital and cared for tenderly and assiduously as can be testified by the numerous patients and visitors who were witnesses during the past eleven months, of the care bestowed upon the afflicted man. Let it not be said that he was a Catholic. It so happened; but a non-Catholic in the same plight would have received the same care. Neither let it be said by way of diminution, that at the request of some friends of the Hospital the town consented to pay four dollars per week for board and nursing.

But ask, HOW MANY OF THE BODY ENTERING THE PROTEST WOULD FOR FOUR DOLLARS HAVE DRESSED THE PATIENT'S REPULSIVE SORE EVEN ONE SINGLE TIME?—to say nothing of dressing it several times daily.

However, enough on this head. We shall only add that in soliciting financial aid from the town, the Hospital authorities were not influenced mainly by the monetary consideration,—they expect no fabulous amount,—they sought rather the moral support of the citizens implied in the accordance of even a small grant. They have carried on their work for thirty years without any pecuniary assistance from the Town Council, and IF their present request is not granted, they will not be greatly surprised nor anywise disturbed, neither will their charity and beneficence be in the least diminished, nor, we may add the worth and progress of their noble work impeded.

SHOPMEN TO GET $10,000,000 MORE

This Sum is Increase Over First Amount—McAdoo Schedule.

Wage increase amounting to $10,000,000 per annum will be paid to 300,000 Canadian railway shopmen following an official announcement from Washington of amendments to the McAdoo schedule, promised by the Canadian Railway War Board as applicable to Canadian shopmen. This sum represents a net increase over the amount originally contemplated by the new additions.

Details of the statement which was received by W. M. Neal, general secretary of the Canadian Railway War Board in Montreal, on Saturday evening, are awaited by the shopmen, who recently delayed their strike to see what the new United States amendments would be.

The original McAdoo schedule raised the wages of Canadian railway workers nearly $50,000,000; but this increase to the shopmen will boost the total to $60,000,000 more than the old scale for a year's pay roll.

The new increase, states Mr. Neal, will bring the total railway wage roll in Canada almost as high as the total wages paid to all the employees in the manufacturing industries of Canada, as listed in the last Dominion census.

DALHOUSIE.

Dalhousie, July 31—The patriotic entertainment given in the Opera House here on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Dalhousie Women's Institute for Red Cross work, was a grand success. A splendid audience patronized the affair.

The ladies who took part were Miss Wilkinson, Quebec; Miss Hilda Stewart, youngest daughter of Mayor James E. Stewart, who has just graduated in an American college, Miss Mary Coleman and the little Misses Bateman. Accompanists were: Mrs. H. Hubert, Miss Minnie Powell, Miss Jennie Bateman piano; Miss Mattie Cook, violin. A five reel picture, "A Hunting Some" was very much enjoyed and was followed by a two reel picture entitled "Love Chase."

The vocal solos by the ladies were loudly cheered and all responded to encores. Miss Wilkinson was given a great reception and responded to two encores.

Miss Flora Ingram, who has been teaching successfully during the last six years in Winnipeg City school, is enjoying her holidays here the guest of her father Mr. Mat. Ingram. Interviewed by our correspondent Miss Ingram spoke about the patriotic work that had been done during recent months by the teachers of Winnipeg's forty-two public schools. A club known in Winnipeg as "The Women's Teachers Club" with 378 teachers as members, many of whom are New Brunswick girls, from Sept. 17th 1917 till June 18th, 1918 made 12,279 articles for the soldiers which included 3383 pairs of hand knitted socks. A large amount was realized by concerts, one entertainment having realized $1000.

Miss Ingram likes Winnipeg and will return shortly to resume her school work. With her as guests at the old McIntyre home in Dalhousie are Doctor Dan. McIntyre, Supt. of the City Schools of Winnipeg and Mrs. McIntyre. They always receive a very hearty welcome from their many friends in Restigouche.

Mr. C. C. Jenking, Westmount, P. Q. was in town to-day and was the guest of his niece the Misses Taylor in the Arran House. His son Herbert L. Jenking enlisted on Aug. 5th, 1914 in Winnipeg, the day after the war broke out. He was taken prisoner by the Germans on April 15th, 1916. He has been three years and three months in the Munster Reformatory Camp No. 39. In his letters to his father which carry the strict mark of the German Censor he states that thousands of hands are employed where he is and that five languages are spoken by the prisoners. Herbert L. Jenking, was for 15 years in the employ of James Costello & Co. Ltd. of Montreal. A second son Allan Jenking is in France.

Montgomery & Sons, Limited, New Richmond, P. Q. motored to Dalhousie, this week. He was the guest of Ex-Mayor W. S. Montgomery.

Miss Hazel McCatay, Supervisor of Women's Institute for New Brunswick has notified the Secretary of the Dalhousie Women's Institute, that Miss Elizabeth Nutter, graduate in Household Science from Acadia College, will address a meeting in Dalhousie, in the afternoon of Aug. 17th, 1918 at which she will demonstrate Wheat Substitution. Materials and utensils necessary for the demonstration will be placed at her disposal by the members of the Women's Institute here.

The dates for the holding of a Grand Banquet in the Annex of the Convent here have been fixed for the evenings of Aug. 12th, 14th, and 15th. During the last evening an entertainment will be held with a sale of 60 Miles-Montgomery, of the Arm of OLD ORLEANS. We of the Northland know all our butterflies and feathered friends, but to us the chameleon is an unknown quantity as a rule.

It was down in New Orleans at Mardi Gras that King Rex ingratiated himself into my affections. Hitherto I, too, had regarded these wriggling creatures as curiosities second only to worms and other crawling, creeping things that were not meant to be handled.

It is odd how we can change our views of life in the twinkling of an eye. Sitting in the patio of an old Creole mansion one evening, I espied a pair of chameleons flitting about in the bougainvillea vines nearby, like a pair of little love-birds. They were as green as the leaves upon which they perched at the end of each flight.

Mr. Ernest Steele returned on Monday evening from a trip to New Carlisle. Mr. Alton Fairservice and son for true to their chameleon nature they took on the same hue as the object upon which they rested. It often seemed that they enjoyed teasing us by hiding away in this fashion before our very eyes in order to surprise us later.

"Real Real Good Queen Mab, I'm lonesome to see you," I would exclaimingly call. One day when I did so they were nowhere in sight. I reached my hand expectantly upon a safrano rose bush beside me. Still there was no answer. Aware of their tricks I kept a sharp lookout.

Suddenly I espied them crawling along from one rose to the other, instead of leaping as was their custom, and they were exactly the color of the deep rich safrano rose. I kept perfectly still until Rex was within reach, then the palm of my hand closed upon him and it was his turn to be surprised.

Another scene the photographer coveted was the sparkling Giant's Steps in Paradise Valley. "I worked on that falls for two days and I had a man to help me. We cut down a tree that interfered with the camera and we titled it. I don't know how much rubbish."

Mr. Wilcox made his second visit with some college friends in 1908, and this time he brought a camera, a little 5 x 7, that laid the foundation for all his future reputations in the world of films and plates. In addition to the dexterity and correctness of his photography, Mr. Wilcox can claim to have taken the largest picture ever achieved in Canada at a height of 10,000 feet.

"You can't paint it," declared Mr. Wilcox this year, out of twenty-seven seasons knowledge of its dancing motions. "You get your clouds and your rock colors in. Then you try for the water. But the clouds you painted are gone and this lake is quite different in tone from the lake that went with your light effect. Sheep On Every Hill Side In New Brunswick

The New Brunswick Government through the Department of Agriculture has arranged with the Chartered Banks to help the Farmers—where assistance is needed—to buy Sheep.

The Department will not only arrange to buy Sheep FOR the Farmers, but will also buy good breeders FROM the Farmers—in other words, this branch of the Agricultural Department WILL SUPERVISE ALL PURCHASES AND SALES OF SHEEP.

IF A FARMER NEEDS CREDIT TO BUY SHEEP he should consult his local banker who has the necessary forms.

If you cannot buy sheep in your locality, inform the nearest banker who will notify the Agricultural Department, or, better still, notify the Department yourself and say how many Sheep you want.

KEEP YOUR EWE LAMBS

Every Ewe Lamb, weighing 80 pounds and over and of reasonable quality, should be retained by farmers for breeding purposes. Sell the males and the inferior females for butcher purposes. If you have more ewe lambs than required, induce your neighbor to purchase.

THE VALUE OF WOOL

Unwashed Wool of the best quality brought 80 cents a pound this spring, or about $5.00 a fleece.

SIXTY MILLION SHEEP

Have been lost in Europe since the war started. Wool in enormous quantities is now required to clothe the soldiers, it will take an immense quantity to reclothe the returned men in civilian dress. Prices will likely be high for ten years.

New Brunswick has the pasture, hay, root and a climate suited to Sheep. Every farmer should consider investing in a small flock as a foundation. The first year will give approximately $4.00 worth of wool per sheep, the sheep will cost about $15.00. Is it not a good business proposition?

If you cannot purchase locally, place your order with your banker. Orders will be filled, if possible, in the order filed at this office through the banks.

The Widow Applebee's Surprise Party

"Rosaline! Rosaline! Where is that town office, and blacksmith shop, the girl? Run quick Rosaline! That's company, with a strong bias towards Mis' Talcott's ring. Be sure to clap your hand over the mousetrap; it's most time for the clock to strike. Mis' Peters did look so knowing the other day when she said, 'I hear your cloth strike so often lately, Mis' Applebee.' Guess I've heard hers strike, too. I know every clock on this line, as far as that goes."

"I de-clare, Rosaline! They're as be all through before you get there. If it wasn't for this bread—"and the widow raised her hands impatiently, with the soft dough clinging to her fingers.

She moved the pan cautiously, and gave soft pats instead of her usual vigorous thuds until the receiver was safely in place again.

"That must have been something interesting, the time it took," she said, as Rosaline turned towards her with a bewildered look on her heavy freckled face.

"Now don't be all day about it! Who was it and what did they say?"

"It was Mis' Tom Walker and somebody else."

"Who?"

"Some other woman. I don't know who."

"Don't know who? Another time I'll give you a fancy price for 'em and I hope you have a few pounds of that superlative butter of yours."

"Yes, I've got eight pounds and six dozen eggs out here on the stage. See that you give me what they're redden under the impatience of her aunt's tone.

"I couldn't understand what she said—half of it. She kept saying, 'You know' and 'what we were talking of yesterday' and (for pity's sake) 'don't let the widow get hold of it yet,' and—and, it's to be next Friday night."

All the quizzing, threatening and cross-questioning the Widow Applebee could summon to her assistance availed naught. Rosaline fled from the vials of her wrath, and Mrs. Applebee planted herself at the telephone, ready to solve the mystery if possible.

Not a message went over the wire that afternoon that she did not intercept, and every sentence was carefully analyzed for the light it might throw on the garbled message Rosaline had reported.

The minister's wife called up from the Centre: "Would Mrs. Talcott remain the Bangs Corner ladies of the chicken-pie supper Saturday night. We would expect eight pies from that neighbourhood."

"They'll never ask me for one," muttered the Widow Applebee, "and there isn't a woman in this county can make flakier crust than I can! Oh, well, it's all the same. The two chickens it would take for a pie will pay my telephone rent, and I do take a slight comfort since I've had it. Get news from everywhere. There that's Mrs. Talcott's ring. Now, I'll hear something more about that surprise!"

"Hello!"

"That you, Mis' Turner?"

"Yes."

"Well, I've invited 'em all, excepting as you advised. We'll go about seven o'clock Friday evening. They're all promised to bring things as requested, and give something towards a present besides. I hope to land—ahem—won't get hold of it. These telephones aren't safe, and I know it. I'll be somebody listening now. Good-by!"

"Good-by!"

The widow hung up the receiver with a half-baffled expression, until a sudden light seemed to break upon her.

"I see through it all!" she chuckled. "I'm the one they're going to surprise. She said they all knew about it. Goodness knows, it's my turn! I've helped surprise everyone else in the neighborhood enough times. I'll be ready for 'em."

"Let's see, this is Monday. This house has got to have a thorough cleaning before Friday, and one day I've got to have off to go to town. Rosaline! Rosaline! Where is that girl? Here I've saved her out of the poorhouse and slave for her day and night, and she's that stupid. 'Tain't usin' to do as well by her husband's folks, and him gone and left her, besides. Rosaline!"

When the rural telephone was installed at the Centre, as the New Englanders designate that part of their township which boasts the church,

BRITISH DOWNED 76 ENEMY PLANES

Aerial Fighting on the Western Battle Front During Week Has Been of a Violent Character.

London, July 26—Throughout the week the aerial fighting on the western battlefront has been of a violent character. From a trustworthy source it is learned that during the week the British downed seventy-six enemy machines and drove down fifteen out of control. Fifty-one British machines are missing.

One hundred and fifty-four tons of bombs were dropped during the week. The week's record for long distance bombing attacks was the heaviest of the war. Twenty-five separate raids were made into German territory. Thionville was bombed four times and the famous poison gas factory and munitions works at Mannheim twice. The blast furnaces at Burbach and the railway and factories at Offenbourg also came in for shelling twice.

Aerial attacks on German naval and submarine bases on the Belgian coast continued day and night. Upwards of twenty tons of explosives were dropped on Zebrugge and Ostend.

On the Italian front the air fighting resulted in the downing of nineteen enemy machines, without the loss of a single British aircraft.

Many a man's belief in his superior wisdom makes a fool of him.

and eggs, at her convenience. Then she got some bars of chocolate, some cheap lawn for Rosaline's gown, and climbed into the return stage, laden with an extra large bag of candy and all the gratitude Dick's tongue could express.

Thursday morning, poor Rosaline was driven hither and yon, and nothing was allowed to interrupt the belated preparations except devoted attendance on the friendly telephone.

Veiled references were occasionally heard of Friday evening's event and Mrs. Applebee fell to work with renewed energy.

Thursday afternoon, as she was hanging the new curtains and laying the new rug, to Rosaline's speechless amazement, she caught a glimpse of Mrs. Turner coming up the lane.

"Run and lock the door, quick, Rosaline! Draw all the blinds and keep as still as death. She's coming to spy and see if I suspect anything, and we just won't be home. Don't you dare sneeze nor nothin'!"

Stout Mrs. Turner creaked up the front steps, rapped repeatedly, tied the door, and placidly creaked down again.

"There!" ejaculated Mrs. Applebee, getting her breath once more. "Now, don't stand staring any longer, and whatever you do, keep your feet of that rug. It'll be a question who's going to be most surprised, me or my neighbors, tomorrow night. I'm thinking! Now get the suds and begin on the woodwork in the sitting room. We've to get all through that room by night, for tomorrow I'm going to make doughnuts and three chocolate-cakes, clean the cellar, the attic, and the wood-house. Then they may all over the premises and I'll feel safe."

It was at three o'clock on Friday afternoon, just as Mrs. Applebee was putting the last layer of icing on the third chocolate-cake, that she was startled by Mrs. Turner's voice at the window.

"Oh, here you are! I thought I never would find you, and somebody's got ahead of me and told you about the surprise on Mrs. Squire Tilden tonight, and you've got your cake all done. Did they tell you about the beautiful banquet lamp we're going to take her? I came here yesterday, and couldn't get in; you seemed to all locked up—Why, for land-massy! Rosaline! Come here quick, and let me in! Your aunt's had a fit or something, and fell over and smashed her cake and everything! What is the matter? I was just telling her about the surprise party on Mrs. Squire Tilden, and she tumbled right over. Run for the doctor and I'll hold her head."

"No," said Mrs. Turner to an interesting group at the party that evening, "the Widow Applebee won't be able to be out for a week. She was going on dreadful flighty to Rosaline when I came away, about being buried in the front room rug. I can't surmise what sent her off the handle so, unless it was our waiting till the last minute to tell her about the surprise, so she wouldn't go and tell. She always was excitable!"

REVIEW NUMBER 1

Patriotism is running rampant at the Opera House this week, where yesterday Dustin Farrow opened in a new William Fox production, "The Spy." If the production continues to "catch on" during the rest of its days' run as well as it did yesterday, the theatre walls will be bursting with applause.

"The Spy," is an expose of German methods of espionage in the United States. It combines a mass of thrills with a lack of unnecessary melodrama and it gives an entertainment that is well worth the price of admission. It is a war story without the superfluous battle scenes which producers are now trying to feed to the public.

Dustin Farrow, as usual, does sterling work. He gives to the character of Mark Quantance, the spy, a naive and wholesome good humor which are in marked contrast to the vivid dramatic scenes of the photoplay. He starts out as a young man of wealth and social standing, who enlists on a dangerous mission to Germany in the cause of his country.

After many hair-raising experiences, he gains possession of a list of Teutonic spies in the United States.

NO BAD HABITS.

The fussy old gentleman asked the chance travelling companion— "Have you any children, Sir?"

"Yes, Sir a son."

"Ah, indeed! Does he smoke?"

"No, Sir, he never so much as touched a cigarette."

"So much the better, Sir, the use of tobacco is a pernicious habit. Does he frequent clubs?"

"He has never put his foot in one."

"Allow me to congratulate you. Does he never come home late?"

"Never. He goes to bed directly after dinner."

"A model young man, Sir, a model young man. How old is he?"

"Just six months."

The Veteran.

A few months ago at Fort Slocum, N. Y., a new arrival was asked if he had any previous military experience, to which he replied in the affirmative.

"Federal Army," asked the clerk.

"No, Salvation Army," answered the recruit.

DO NOT NEGLECT YOUR EYES

We hear much of people who sacrifice everything to sartorial splendor. They would go without dinner every day for a new pair of shoes.

Sacrificing health for appearance is not good policy—it does not make for health a real happiness.

Not only do you squint and frown when you neglect your eyes, but you seriously injure your health.

Better have a careful examination made.

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

Because the shoes that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called frezone applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of frezone, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is an ether compound and dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Clip the out and pin on your wife's dresser.
