Death of Rev. Dr. Kellogg, Canadian Missionary.

Statement of Losses of Cattle in Transit From Canada-Scheme to Placate the Transvaal.

London, May 4.-Ibrahim Ali, whom Lord Kitchener sent upon a mission to Ibrahim's uncle, the Sultan of Darfur, has returned to Cairo. Ibrahim Ali found, upon reaching Darfur, that his uncle had been dethroned by Ali Dinar. The latter, on the appearance of Ibrahim Ali, turned out with his troops and routed the escort of Gen. Lord Kitchener's envoy, numbering 150, of whom 120 were killed.

Word comes to Cape Town that a caravan, under the command of two Europeans, was recently attacked near the headwaters of the Revuma River, east of Lake Nyassa, the tribesmen killing 50 porters and capturing all the goods. The Europeans reached Chicala fort after wandering three days in the bush.

DEATH OF REV. DR. KELLOGG. A cablegram from Landour, India, announces the death of Rev.Dr. Samuel H. Kellogg, the world-famed mission-ary and religious writer, and pastor of St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto from 1886 to 1892. He went to India a year and a half ago. It was at the combined request of his fellow-missionaries on the field and the American board of local missions that Dr. Kellogg consented to leave Toronto and again take up the more tedious labors of the missionary. He was asked by the board of local missions to help translate the Old Testament into the language of the heathens, in order that the gospel might be taught to better

In the House of Commons, Mr. Walter Long, president of the Board of Trade, announced that 1,012 head of cattle had been lost in 1898 in transit from the United States and Canada, out of a total of 478,895 head, as com-pared with the loss of 5,271 out of 94,640 in transit from Argentina. onial wines. The agents-general of the different colonies have, since the chancellor of the exchequer's budget speech, been bringing strong pressure to bear upon the government to exclude colonial wines from the operation of the proposed increase in the duties, and it was thought that they had been successful. Sir Michael's statement proves the opposite to have been the case. INDEPENDENCE OF THE TRANS.

VAAL. A movement is under way to secure England's guarantee for the independence of the Transvaal, if President Kruger will make concessions to the Uitlanders in that country. This solution of the Transvaal problem is put forth as a check to the threatened crisis in Anglo-Boer relations by those who believe that armed coercion on England's part to secure burgher rights to English residents in the Transvaal would react to her detriment politically. Escort of Lord Kitchener's Envoy | Italian chamber of deputies yesterday, Gen. Pelleux, the premier and minister of the interior arose and said: "In consequence of interpellations touching the Chinese question, the government has been forced to consider the gravity of the situation. The effect of yesterday's debate showed a large minority in the chamber of deputies against our action in China, which would be supported by only a weak minority. The interruptions of yester-day united in disapproving the method followed by the government on this occassion. Therefore," the prime minister said, "there could be no useful result from further discussion. He wondered how a modest commercial initiation in China could justify fears of military expansion in Erythrea. The government," he said, "could not consent to withdraw Italian warships from the Yellow Sea, and therefore resigned." The prime minister's statement was greeted by loud murmurs from the Leftists. General Pelleux concluded by announcing the resigna-tion of the ministry, but the cabinet will remain in office for the dispatch of current business.

It is understood that the occupation of San Mun Bay, province of Che-Kiang, China, will take place immediately, thus making it un fait accompli for the incoming premier.

Mataafa, the Samoan rebel chieftain, has accepted an armistice. The Germans, however, declined to sign the proclamation.

It is rumored that as a mark of recognition of his eminent services, Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambas-sador to the United States, will be included among those upon whom birthday honors will be bestowed.

Americans Are Fighting for the Bridge and the Rebels Burning the Place-President McKinley Thinks the End of the War Is Near.

Manila, May 4-Noon.-Gen. Mac-Arthur is now assaulting the town of San Tomas, about five miles northwest of Calumpit. The Americans are fighting for the bridge, and the rebels are burning the town.

in the course of which one American soldier was killed and three wounded. The rebels scattered before Gen. Lawton and Gen. Hale. After the close of the conference with Gen. Otis, the Filipino envoys had a consultation with the United States Philipine commissioners. Mr. Schurman, president of the commission, expresses the opinion that the interviews accorded by Gen. Otis to the Filipino envoys will have a good moral effect, as tending to convince Aguinaldo's representatives that the American authorities mean to give the Filipinos a good government, and not one of the Spanish sort.

The exodus of natives from the insurgent lines continues. By filling in the roads where it was required, putting canoes on the river and plowing fields south of Malolos, the American army is in a fine position for the expected decisive blow. FROM GEN. OTIS. Washington, May 4.- The following cablegram has been received by the war department: "Manila, May 2.—Ad-jutant-general, Washington: Gen. Lawton's column passing westward from Norzagaray captured Balinag and villages in vicinity yesterday, scattering and pursuing 1,600 insurgent troops. His only casualties were two wounded; the insurgent loss was several killed; a large number were wounded and captured. Numbers not stated. Have opened communication with Lawton at Malolos by means of Hale's troops

THE END IN SIGHT. Acting Secretary Meiklejohn expects Gen. Otis will commence the return of volunteers to the United States about and detachments from city. OTIS.'

President McKinley expresses the opinion that the end is in sight, and says he believes the Filipinos will not hold out much longer. He regards the conditions as most hopeful. The fact that negotiations for peace are in pro-gress has stopped all talk of calling out the 35,000 additional volunteers.

His successful move-ment was attended with great diffi-culty because of the character of the country and the rain and heat. He now covers our railway communica-tion, and will be supplied from Malolos. MacArthur's column, concentrated, took up the advance on San Fernando at 6:30 this morning. Do not apprehend any sharp resistance on the part of the enemy, who will probably leave the railroad and retreat in a northeasterly direction to the north of Lawton. The destruction of the railroad car Calumpit necessitates dependence on wagon transportation. The enemy to the south and east of Manila numbers 9,000, opposed by a sufficient force under Overshine and Hall. His demonstrations thus far have been properly met by these officers with slight losses. Many requests have been received from outlying cities for protection against in-OTIS." surgent troops.

Rebels Lost Heavily by the Attack on Matasfa's Stronghold.

Inhabitants of Apia Dissatisfied With the Cessation of Hostilities, as it Gives a Great Advantage to the Auckland, N. Z., May 4.-Advices received here from Apia, Samoa, to April 27, state that the rebel loss by the shelling of the Mataafan stronghold at Vailima by the warships of Great Britain and the United States was quite heavy. Many of the rebels were wounded. The house in which the late Robt. Louis Stevenson lived was riddled with shot. On April 22 there was a sharp skirmish between the rebels and Lieut. R. A. Gaunt's brigade near the town of Vailima. In this engagement one Mat-aafan was killed. The friendlies were attacked in the darkness at two points, but none of them were killed. On April 23 there was some bush fighting. Lieut. Gaunt's brigade, numbering 900 men, advanced under a hot fire. The enemy lost several men, the bodies of the dead being dragged away. Of the friendlies one was killed and three were wounded. The British Lieuts. Innes, Hickman, Shuter and Heathcote, under Lieut. Gaunt, led the royalists.

The New Zealand Government steamer Tutaneki has arrived at Apia with dispatches announcing the request of the international peace commissioners that the inhabitants peacefully await their arrival from San Francisco. meeting of the three consuls, in view of this message, was held, but without justice of the peace. The groom result, the German consul dissenting weighs 89 pounds, while the bride tips from the propositions of the other two consuls.

Admiral Albert Kautz, U. S. N., and Capt. Stuart, of the British cruiser Tauranga, wrote and dispatched through a French priest a notice to Mataafa, ordering him to withdraw his forces outside of a line ten miles long and six miles broad. Mataafa replied deflantly, refusing to withdraw unless the German consul and the captain of the German cruiser Falke agreed. Admiral Kautz and Capt. Stuart thereupon sent an ultimatum to Mataafa threatening to compel the withdrawal of his forces. In support of this ultimatum a plan of action was decided

Being informed of these preparations Mataafa made prompt reply, agreeing to withdraw immediately. On April 25 an important meeting of the king and his chiefs was held. They were informed of the action that had been taken by the British and American naval commanders, and gave it general approval. Lieut. Gaunt's brigade is now patrolling the proscribed Hufnagel, the manager of the plantation upon which an attack was made on British and American sailors, resulting in the death of Lieut. Freeman, of the British navy; Lieut. Lansdale and Ensign John R. Monaghan, of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, and two others, is still detained on board the German cruiser Falke.

The gun carried from the Philadelphia, which was lost at the time of the engagement, has been recovered, but the gun is still in the hands of the Officials and leading residents Samoa who have been interviewed all ing her husband. unite in saying that the charges of inhumanity on the part of the British, which were made by a man named Laroch, are untrue. A majority of the nhabitants are highly dissatisfied with the cessation of hostilities. They say that Mataafa is beaten now, and that the trouble would all be ended in a week or ten days were the advantage pushed. The rebels are delighted at the delay, which will give them time to refill cartridge shells and build more forts. It is the general opinion that the islands will be uninhabitable except for Germans and Frenchmen, unless Mataafa and the rebel chiefs are severely punished. It is doubtful whether the English or American subjects will give much evidence before the international commission, owing to the fear that to express themselves candidly would interfere with trade relations. For this reason the evidence before the commission is likely to be one-sided.

The statement by the German minister for foreign affairs, Baron Von Buelow, that Mataafa was unanimously elected king of the Samoan Islands, is denied in Samoa. The rebels admit that the result of the battle at Vailima was the greatest reverse they have ever experiencd. Thy were astonished by the manner in which Gaunt's brigade sustained its position in the face of a continuous fire. They were also astonished at the final shelling of Vailima, by which many of the rebels were badly wound-

New York, May 4 .- Alexander Masterton, a director of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, aged 72 years, was shot and killed yesterday by James Neal Plumb in the Burlington Hotel, West Forty-sixth street. The murder was premeditated, as evidenced by the voluminous statements written in advance by Plumb and given out after his arrest. At present the real motive for the crime is unknown. He shot his victim five times and declared in his statement, issued "to the public," that he had been actuated to do the shooting because of a systematic hounding of him by Masterton, who had not only ruined him financially, but had attempted to alienate the affections of his

WOLVES IN CANADA

Alarm Caused Among Settlers, Lumbermen and Hunters by Their Increase.

Quebec, May 4.—An enormous increase in the number of wolves is reported from many parts of Canada. The most common variety in this country is the great gray wolf, and its re-appearance in the lumber districts of the upper Ottawa have created a good deal of alarm among settlers and lum-bermen in sparsely inhabited districts. A number of wolves have been destroyed by poison, and the skins and heads of several have been brought to the city. The only common poison found strong enough to kill them is strychnine. Aconite, atropine and corrosive sublimate have all provents of the strains ed ineffective. About two grains of strychnine is mixed with a little tallow, forming a small ball, and covered with a coating of grease. This is left with a portion of a deer's carcass or something of that kind.

Various reasons are given for the present increase in the number of wolves. One is undoubtedly the abolition of the bounty on their heads, paid some time ago by the Canadian Government. In the Yukon, where they are just now a source of great annoyance, to miners, the ferocious beasts have been apparently driven to follow the miners nearer to their demonstrates by the decreases. camps than heretofore, by the decrease in the number of moose and caribou, which are being killed off by the newcomers, thus depriving the wolves of their customary food. So dangerous have they become in the Klondike that the Government of Canada is now employing a part of the Northwest mounted police force in polsoning them. In other parts of the country, it is said to be the abundance of game that is answerable for the recent swarms of wolves in the neighborhood of civilization. The red deer, of which the wolves are particularly fond, and which fall an easy prey when overtaken by them, have multiplied exceedingly all over the Province of Quebec within the last year or two, so that in many parts of the country they have become a positive injury to farmers by feeding upon their crops. This increase in the natural food of the wolves, has doubtless had much to do with the augmentation of their own numbers. They follow the dear very frequently right out into the clearfrequently right out into the clearings, and unless they are destroyed will not take long to deplete the country of game. It is a well-known fact that much of the suffering and distress of the Montagnais Indians of Canada in the interior of Labrador and of the consequent decrease in their number has been due to the great havoc wrought by wolves among the caribou upon which they feed.

A Motion for a Canadian Railway Commission

To Enforce Regulations in the Public Interest-Opinions Pro and Con.

Ottawa, May 4.—Private members held sway in the house yesterday, and a large amount of business was transacted. The chief discussion was upon Mr. Rutherford's motion for the appointment of a railway commission, the debate on which was not concluded when the speaker left the chair. Just before adjournment Sir Hibbert Tup-per called attention to the "pin-prick" policy, as he termed it, of the United States officials in reference to the customs regulations respecting the Canadian' steamers plying to the Yukon. Sir Richard Cartwright, who was leading the house, promised that the matter would be looked into, and at the same time suggested that the authorities at Washington might not be responsible.

Mr. Sifton, replying to Mr. Marcotte, said that 4,072 Doukhobors, 162 Finlanders, 16 Mennonites and 1,494 Galicians have been brought to Canada; that the cost of the Doukhobors was $4 86 per head and the others cost £1 per head, paid to the agents at the booking office. The Doukhobors came at the instigation of a committee in Engiand, and no special arrangements were made for the others, beyond the efforts of foreign immigration agents of the government. PROPOSED RAILWAY COMMISSION Mr. Rutherford moved that the public interest demands that the railway companies of Canada should at the earliest possible moment be brought under the control of a board of railway commissioners, clothed with full power to enforce the provisions of the railway act, and to prescribe and enforce the observance of such regulations as may be necessary in the public interest. Speaking in support of his motion, Mr. Rutherford' said there is no doubt of the need of a railway commission, with adequate powers to control the railways. It had been contended that in government ownership of railways is to be found the solution of the transportation problem, so far as it can be solved, but even if that were so the accomplishment of that end is outside of the range of practical politics at present, owing to the great cost of acquiring the Canadian railways, which are some 16,870 miles in length, and have cost $55,244 per mile, or a total of $937,066,000, equal to $1,000 which every Canadian family would have to raise in order to acquire these railways. These figures, therefore, placed the present purchase of the railways out of the question. The returns also showed that whereas the cost of operating the railways in Canada had been $73,029,631, the earnings have only amounted to $64,510,650, leaving a considerable loss in operation. It had also been claimed that the roads to be constructed henceforth should be built by the government, but he had never taken this view, as in the case of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway he was satisfied that isolated railways would be of no value whatever to the people. During the past few months there had been an agitation for the purchase by the government of franchises and charters of the railways which are proposed to connect Fort William and Winnipeg. This purchase, if effected, would not be a remedy for the evils which exist. Discussing the question of the discrimination in rates in the Northwest, re referred to the refusal of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway Company to exchange traffic with the Northern Pacific Railway Company, the result of which was that the rate of freight over the Northern Pacific Railway to the head of the great lakes is 371/2 cents, or 11 cents more than it is by the Manitoba and Northwestern and the Canadian Pacific lines. The people of Portage la Prairie have the advantage of competing railways, but at Neepawa, not far away, which the Northern Pacific does not touch, they are deprived of this advantage, and the ownership of the road from the lakes to Winnipeg by the government would not help these people at all. These railways will not enter into any arrangements which will remove these difficulties unless there is a strong commission to compel one railway to hand over its freight in such cases, and it is in the interests of the people that this should be done. It is also in the interest of the people of Canada that the government mittee is not sufficient to enable it to do this, and, therefore, such a commission is necessary.

Mr. Rutherford and Dr. Macdonald, Liberals, and Hon. N. C. Wallace, Conservative, favored the motion. Mr. J. Ross Robertson, Conservative, op-posed it, and Mr. Richardson, Liberal, urged the state ownership of railways. The debate adjourned.

Petrolia, May 4.—At a largely-attended meeting on Tuesday evening it was decided to reorganize the baseball club for the coming season. The following officers were elected: J. L. AT ST. THOMAS. St. Thomas Times: Prospects for the season seem roseate. Salaries will undoubtedly be lower than last year and patronage should be better. It certainly cannot be as bad as in Chatham, Stratford and Guelph in the early part of the season as it was in Saginaw, Bay City and Port Huron up to the time the old International went to pieces on July 9 last year.

The baseball players are beginning to arrive at St. Thomas. Infielder George Rust arrived from Little Falls, N. Y., and Alex. Hardy, pitcher, from Toronto. Pete Tibald came in from Detroit, and Busse from New Orleans. Glen Kellogg and Jack Sullivan, the new battery, arrived from Chicago. The diamond at Atlantic Park has been rolled with the steam roller, and is as smooth as a billiard ball. Being a skindiamond, it was always fast, but now it is faster than ever, and infielders will have to be lively or else the ball will be away out in the meadow before they get near it.

FOR THE FANS. The Buffalo papers predict the downfall of the Eastern League within tendance of 26,000 people. Toronto has never relinquished the lead, and today holds the premier position in the Eastern League race. Manager Irwin, of the Washington club, says he released Pitcher Frank Killen for no other reason than that Killen was receiving more salary than Washington club was able to pay a pitcher—$2,400.

Von de Ahe's complaint against Robison and others did not contain enough facts to hold water, and will be thrown out unless he supplies some substantial cause within ten days.

"Ball players are training for a contest that lasts but six months, not an hour, such as boxing contests, and that's the reason I believe that the exercise for six months' work should be confined to afternoon practice after the season is under way," ways Capt. Duffy, of the Bostons.

In Tuesday's game at Pittsburg, Gardner's hand was split; Bowerman was put out for wrangling with the umpire; O'Connor was escorted to the street by the coppers; several players caught small fines for talking back, and all this came with a ten-inning struggle

ON WOODBINE TRACK. The Ontario Jockey Club will have to erect a tent or resort to some other extreme measure to shelter the horses that are coming every day. For the past five years the stabling accommodation has been insufficient, and this year it is being felt more than ever. Belcourt, Nathaniel Dyment's plater, the only real likely-looking rival of the Seagram candidates, on her first appearance on the Woodbine yesterday created a furore by her thoroughly racy appearance. ### A Cheerful Briton.

Mr. Balfour's speech at the great Primrose League rally in old London | Advertiser takes note of the expanding on April 19, was notable for its cheer- enterprise of this capable firm as somefulness. It was in refreshing contrast thing that speaks well for London, and who take pleasure in decrying Great Britain because their selfish theories are confounded by British progress under free trade. Mr. Balfour alluded to a correspondence in 1845 between Sir Robert Peel, then Prime Minister, and the Duke of Wellington, then Commander-in-Chief. It was the opinion of the Duke that Great Britain at that date could not defend her own shores; that even a small landing of foreign troops to beleaguer British arsenals or to attack the Thames could not be successfully resisted, and that the ides of defending the colonies was practically hopeless. Sir Robert Peel was more confident than the Duke about Great Britain's capacity for home defense, but he frankly admitted that it was beyond her power to protect her colonies. The debt was then nearly £800,000,000, and though there had been 80 years of peace, little had been done to diminish it. The condition of the finances, Sir Robert wrote, was such as to absolutely prohibit the complete scheme of internal and external defense desired by the Duke. In this the Duke concurred. "Now, compare 1845 with 1899!" said Mr. Balfour. "I think we may say that not only are our shores above menace from any hostile power, but that our capacity to defend our colonies is equal to our will." This declaration was received with cheers.

Mr. Balfour pointed out that since Sir Robert Peel wrote that letter, the country had paid off all the financial obligations imposed by the Crimean War, and had, in addition, canceled £200,000,000 of debt-a legacy from generations now long gone by. The annual interest on the debt had diminished by more than £8,000,000 and the condition of every class in the community-most of all the working class—had improved by every test it was possible to apply. We quote Mr. Balfour in full:

"It is proved by the rate of wages, it is proved by the consumption per head of luxuries and of necessaries; it u proved by all the statistics which we can acquire with regard to the housing of the working classes; it is proved above all, by the diminution of pauperism. (Cheers.) Therefore, I say that we may, with confidence, consider that, vast as is the expenditure we are sked to bear to maintain the load of mpire, that expenditure is well within our resources, and in moments of stress and strain could, without difficulty, be augmented sufficiently to meet any conceivable emergency. (Cheers.) I say this, Heaven knows, in he spirit of boastfulness. My conin he spirit of boastfuiness. My con-fidence in the future is based upon a consideration of our past; it is based upon a view of the steady progress in wealth, in education, in population, which has gone on from year to year. It is based upon the diminution of our public charges, upon the great masses of the community. (Cheers.) I know no reason why these happy symptoms should change, why this serene sky hould in future be overcast; but, if evil times are to come, I am certain that we may look forward to the public spirit of the country rising to meet each danger as it comes upon us. (Cheers.) Let us, then, not under-rate the burden of empire; let us not prethat our expenditure is otherwise and courage to the ability of this country, morally and financially, to bear any load of responsibility which the future may have in store. (Loud cheers.)" cheers.)"

The Asphalt Pavement.

The City Council, at Ald. Parnell's suggestion, has instructed the city clerk to ascertain from other large municipalities their methods of treating asphalt pavements. The pavement here is not in satisfactory shape, the top layer being worn through in spots, exposing the concrete bed. The Barber Company are under contract to keep it in repair for a term of years, at the expiration of which they are obliged to hand it over to the city in first-class condition. They attribute its present defects to the practice of continually saturating it. The surface is hardly ever dry in the daytime, and it is claimed the water soaks into and rots the asphalt. If this is so, the company are quite within their rights in protesting against the use of the street sprinkler. When the asphalt pavement was first haid here it was pronounced by experts to be of the highest grade, and there is no reason to doubt the statement. In fact, the Barber Company appear to have given special attention to the work in London, as they had future contracts in view. It is unfair to them and to the property owners who are paying for the pavement, if it is being deliberately destroyed by the present mode of drowning it several times a day. In Buffalo, where there is nearly 150 miles of asphalt, the usual plan is to wash and scour it every night, and then go over it with brooms. The watering cart is not used at all. Further information on this point will probably be forthcoming in reply to the queries sent out by the city clerk.

Creditable to London.

An illustration of the progress of London, the capital of Western Ontario, is to be found in the magnificent store of Messrs. Smallman & Ingram, whose well-written advertisements in this paper have made their name a household word. The store was spacious and handsome, even before its enlargement by taking in the large premises to the east. But now it looks truly metropolitan in its dimensions and appointments. It is not only spacious, but cheerful-looking, being flooded with light. This splendid business has not grown up by accident, but is the result of hard work, painstaking care, skill in buying, and the inculcation of alertness and unvarying courtesy behind every counter. Messrs. Smallman & Ingram not only have attractive goods, but, as experts and believers in advertising, they have always had the art of presenting their announcements in cheerful and attractive form. The mistic croaking of those is of interest to every part of Western

The new Conservative organizer undertook to run the Montreal bar elections on party lines, with the result that all the candidates elected were Liberals excepting one. There is now moaning at the bar, but it comes from one section.

This is the day Mr. Foster is compelled to attack the budget. Mr. Foster, when he was Finance Minister, had the art of dressing up a weak budget, but he never had so hopeless a task as he has today in dressing down a strong

The British Government will grant no preference to the colonies in the matter of the wine duties. If the Australian wine-producing colonies had treated the mother country as fairly as Canada has done we venture to say the British Government would have given them different answer.

Napanee is rejoiced at the escape of the self-confessed criminals, Pare and Holden. It is another proof that the abstract principles of law and justice are often outweighed in the popular mind by some fleeting sentiment or prejudice. Under other circumstances the town of Napanee might rejoice to see Pare and Holden hanged for the same offense.

The Montreal Witness says that the new fourteen-foot channel by the St. Lawrence route should be tested during at least one season before the Government undertakes to assist rival routes of transportation. The Witness is right. The deepening of some of the harbors on the lakes and the Georgian Bay is all the Government can reasonably be expected to do in Ontario this year towards the great scheme of transportation, apart from the canal work not

In 1896 our national debt increased $3,041,163; in 1897 the increase was $2,417,802, and this year the increase will be $1,700,000. Henceforth we may look for a reduction of the debt. Seeing that the average annual increase was $6,000,000 under Conservative rule the charge of extravagance against the present Administration cannot be made by a modest opponent.

Exports of Canadian flour to Britain have been almost annihilated; while, as is well known, our Dominion trade is largely disturbed by American imports despite the 60 cents per barrel protection.-London Free Press.

This is sheer misrepresentation. The increase in the exports of Canadian flour last year was one of the most remarkable features of our foreign trade. In 1898 we sold abroad 1,249,438 barrels valued at $5,425,760. In 1897 our sales were only 421,758 barrels, valued at $1 .-540,851. These figures refer exclusively to Canadian-made flour. Great Britain last year took $3,954,049 worth of Canadian flour, as against $809,434 worth in 1897. There is no ground here for urging an increase of the duty on flour.

The full horror of the Georgia crime was not brought out in the dispatches. Accounts by eye-witnesses, published in the southern papers, are almost too awful for belief. The Charleston Evening Post describes the scene which followed the burning of the negro Hose as follows:

"Before the body was cool it was cut to pieces, the bones were crushed into small bits, and even the tree upon which the wretch met his fate was torn up and disposed of as souvenirs. The negro's heart was cut in several pieces, as was also his liver. Those unable to obtain these ghastly relics direct paid their more fortunate possessors extravagant sums for them. Small pieces of bone went for 25 cents and a bit of the liver crisply cooked for 10 cents. The crowd fought for places about the smouldering tree, and with knives secured such pieces of his carcass as did not fall to pieces. The chain was severed by hammers, the tree chopped down, and with such pieces of the firewood as had not burned, were carried away as souvenirs."

Observations.

Rev. J. A. R. Dickson, now of Galt, is more than a successful preacher and pastor-though that is a good deal to say of any man-but he has the distinction of having written a book which is now circulated more or less all over the

"Working for Jesus" was written by Dr. Dickson 28 years ago or more, while he was pastor of the London Congregational Church. It originated in a very simple way. He had been asked to prepare a paper for a ministerial assoclation, and he took up this suggestive theme. The paper when read was highly approved of, and the opinion was expressed by all who were there that it ought to be printed. Mr. F. E. Grafton, of Montreal, arranged to have it published by Partridge & Co., of London, England as a fournenny book. When it was issued it had not a few typographical errors. Dr. Dickson corrected these and offered it to the Religious Tract Society of London, who accepted it, and purchased the copyright. It was shortly after published by the American Tract Society. That was over 26 years ago.

When it had been so long on the market, a living book still, the author thought of revising and slightly enlarging it, and dedicating it to the host of Christian Endeavorers, in whose ranks he had all along been an active worker. He did this, and offered the revised work to the American Tract Society.

And they accepted it, and gave him handsome consideration for his revicion. Shortly after this, when the same society was issuing another book written by Dr. Dickson, entitled,"The Truth That Saves, and How to Present It,' Dr. Rand, the secretary of the society, wrote to him saying that the committee had awarded him the George Wood premium, for the tract or book best illustrating the glory of Christ, the Son of God, the Saviour of sinners." When this was received it was found to be $50 in cash and a handsome gold medal valued at $40, bearing on one side this inscription: "The George Wood Medal, for the Premium Tract on the Glory of Christ;" and on the other side, "Awarded to Rev. J. A. R. Dickson, Ph. D., Galt, Ont, author of Breckinridge, Col., May 3.—Railroads are blocked as a result of a week's snowstorm. No train or mail has arrived since last Saturday.

Duluth, Minn., May 3. — The fleet began to arrive at midnight, and today the Senator, Selwyn Eddy, Rosedale, America, Fayette Brown, Mohawk, Superior City and Chile are lined up in the ice field, two miles from the harbor. The ice and wind show no change from yesterday. The steamer Troy is still fast in the ice field, but two tugs are cutting a way for her, and the big boat will be brought into the harbor before night. The steamer Gilbert tried to get out of natural en-try, but stuck fast, and is there yet.

A Montreal Broking Firm Makes $118, 000 on a Clerk's Error.

Mistakes often come high, but there was one made in L. J. Forget & Co.'s office in Montreal, which resulted in making a fortune. It is in connection with the recent boom in Anaconda shares.

It seems a client of the firm went into the office and left an order to buy 500 shares of Anaconda in London. The order was entered by one of the clerks, and in making out the cable the order was given for 5,000 shares instead of 500. The stock was purchased. Mr. Forget was naturally not a little astonished when he found out the mistake in the returns which were made to him.

He received a cable to the effect that 4,500 shares had been realized in London, and that the profit placed to his credit was just $113,000. The stock had almost a continuous advance from the time the shares were bought, and the sale was made at pretty close to the #### Local Market.

Today's market was an especially inactive one, very few buyers being in attendance, and offerings light. Prices for green stuffs remained about the same. Green onions were very scarce and in good demand. The price charged was 5c straight a bunch. There was considerable demand for poultry, but no offerings. Butter sold freely at 12e to 14c, and eggs from 10e to 11c. Hay came in freely, but sales were slow. Some twenty loads were offered. Prices ranged about the same as on Tuesday. Little meat was offered, and prices were unchanged. Grain of-ferings were small. Baled hay is a very scarce article.

Worn Out Women

FIND HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Women are more and more coming to recognize Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as their greatest friend and bene-From girlhood to old age, through all the trying times of a woman's life they are her standby. To pale, thin bloodless cheeks they bring the rich red hue of health. To tired out, weak, worn, rundown girls and women, they give strength and energy and revive their drooping spirits. They banish head-aches, backaches, sideaches, nervous spells, heart fluttering and palpitation and make life worth living.

Mrs. Clara J Dupay, St. Anthony, Kent Co., N.B., recently made the following statement for publication: "I had been troubled with palpitation and weak-ness of the heart for some time, till at last I could by drag myself about.
"I heard tiburn's Heart and Nerve Pills curing many that I thought I would try them. "I must say that they did me good from the outset, and have so improved my health in every way that I feel like a new woman. I do not know what I would have done had it not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which cured me when I was in a serious condition."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists.

TOOT YOUR HORN. If Crawford, Nordyke and Conklin continue that batting gait, the grounds will have to be enlarged. Wonder what they'd have done in that eigar box at St. Thomas.—Chatham Planet. When they tackle the Saints they will have enough trouble getting the ball out-side the diamond. Winning an exhibition game is not beating all the clubs in the Canadian League. Don't blow too soon.-St. Thomas Times. THE STRATFORD TEAM.

Manager Popkay and eight other members of the Stratford baseball team arrived at Stratford last night from Detroit. The management are still looking for a shortstop, a spare pitcher, and a spare catcher. Following are the players who reported last night. Habel, a Grand Rapids, Mich., southpaw, who last year pitched for Port Huron. Bert Miller, spare pitcher, a good, fast man, with Youngstown, of the Interstate League last season.

Frank Spranger, catcher, was with Saginaw, Interstate League, in 1896 and 1897, and with Detroit Athletics last year.

"Chub" Gallagher, left fielder, with St. Joe and Chatham last season. Jack Handieber, third base, Washington, O., last year. Frank Hemphill, right fielder, was with Saginaw last season.

Fred Eddy, Rochester, will play center field, while the reliable Ed Egan will be on deck at second base. THE INVINCIBLES.

Guelph Herald: All teams look alike to those Columbia players. They easily defeated the Cincinnatis of the National League a couple of weeks ago, and their trip through the Southern and Interstate Leagues, has been a succession of triumphs. On Monday they beat the Grand Rapids team by a score of 15 to 2. It was a hard place Manager Black put his men into Tuesday. In the the pink of condition a Canadian League team has no business with the Columbias. A patched-up aggregation such as was presented Tuesday might well expected to merely constitute material for mirth for the lively colored men.

Charles VanGiesen, Pete Hagerty and Shorty Conwell have arrived in Hamilton and reported for duty. Congalton arrived yesterday from Guelph, where he has been practicing with the Maple Leafs. The only stragglers now are Pitchers McCann, Baker, Larison and Glassford.

Stratford's Canadian League team has been dubbed "the Poets."

THE BOUNDARY ABOUT SETTLED

Great Britain's Reply to U. S, Suggestions.

Bishop Sued for Slander-Charged Europeans in West Africa With Being Addicted to Drink-Rev. Dr. Kellogg's Death the Result of an Accident.

London, May 4.-Great Britain's reply to the suggestions of the American Government in regard to a provisional Alaskan boundary was dispatched to Washington last week. The provisional boundary was practically agreed to a year ago, with the exception of a few miles of the Dalton trail, at the end of the Chilkat Pass, from Pyramid Harbor. The Washington Government's suggestions relate to this strip of the Dalton trail.

Canada has agreed to the boundary with some minor modifications, and England has confirmed it. A settle-ment of the matter is expected, as it is not believed that the American Government will raise any difficulties over Canada's modifications.

BISHOP SUED FOR SLANDER. London, May 4.-A dispatch from Lagos, West Africa, says that the Europeans there are very indignant at the statement made by the Right Rev. ## THE JAPS

What They Eat and What They Wear -European Customs Prevailing.

A subscriber asks for information concerning the food and wearing apparel of the Japanese.

What a Japanese eats depends largely upon his tastes and circumstances, but the average Japanese has an excellent variety of foods to select from. Rice is the principal cereal, but beans, peas, potatoes, yams, lettuce, tomatoes and all the more substantial vegetables grown in this country flourish in Japan. Rice, millet and buckwheat are staple foods; maize and barley being also used to some extent. Of meats they use beef, mutton, venison, wild boar and monkey, which last has been a favorite dish from ancient times. Fish of various kinds are used. The chief fruits are the apple, pear, plum, apricot, peach, pomegranate, fig, orange, lemon, citron, but the grape is their best fruit. Strawberries grow wild, but are nearly tasteless. The orange is the control of the dinary dress of both sexes and all ranks is somewhat similar in form, differing chiefly in color, fineness and value of the materials. Those of the highest orders are of silk, and of the lower orders hemp and cotton cloth. Every class of Japanese is distinguished by certain peculiarities of dress. On the back and breast of the outer garment of the higher classes a family or clan crest is woven or worked. The sleeves are long and wide, and serve as pockets. The Japanese are tasty in their dress. The women wear brighter colors than the men, and ornament their robes with gay embroidery and gold.

On occasions of ceremony a hempen jacket, open at the sides, and projecting in wings at the shoulders, and wile trousers of the same material, together forming the "pamishimo," are worn.
The loose trousers, like a long kilt, are the distinguishing mark of the dress of a "Samurai." Within doors socks or foot mittens, having a compartment for the great toe, are worn. For outdoor use clogs, heavy blocks of wood or straw soles, are worn. Straw sandals are used by farmers, coolies and travelers. Usually neither men nor women wear head covering, except broad screens to shed the rain and keep off covering all but the eyes and nose, is worn. European dress, however, is becoming general, and government officials are compelled by law to wear it. Even the court costumes have been laid aside for black coats, white neckties and gloves, black pantaloons and LIFE SAVED-Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

At the police court this morning, Nellie Moran, of Carrothers avenue, West London, withdrew the charge of insulting language preferred against Agnes Reader, a neighbor, as Mrs. Reader had apologized for her statements. It would, of course, have been impossible for Mrs. Moran to have been the woman in question, as she was a mere child at the time, and, moreover, the woman who went away with Dr. Moore is still in Grand Rapids.

Wm. Nickson, a vagrant from New York, was ordered to leave the city.

Rev. Dr. Jordan, who was lately honored by Queen's University with the degree of D. The meeting was held in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, a large and representative audience being present. The chair was ably filled by Mayor Avery. Speeches were given by Revs. Fothergill, Gundy and Neelands, Sheriff Cameron, Inspector Johnston, Mr. L. H. Dampier, chairman of the collegiate institute board, Mr. John Folinsbee and Mr. Thomas Dunsmore, principal of the public schools, all of which were of a most complimentary character, showing how Mr. Jordan had assisted in many departments of work in the town, expressing regret that his duties necessitated his removal from them, and expressing the conviction that the honors were in n greater than he was justly entitled to.

In the early part of the evening the Rev. Dr. Jordan was called to the platform, when an address was read by Mr. J. E. Wetherell, Miss Arm-strong presenting him with a wellfilled purse. # SCHOOOL TEACHERS IN SESSION

Regular Convention of East Middlesex Instructors.

The regular spring meeting of the East Middlesex Teachers' Association was begun this morning in the county buildings, when over 100 school teachers gathered together. Miss F. Mc-Coll presided, and after Miss K. Mc-Kellar, the secretary, had submitted her report, Inspector Dearness ex-plained the principal amendments to the school law, made at the last meeting of the legislature. The one which is of most general interest is that which provides for the giving of part of the legislative grant for compliance with regulations respecting school premiums. 'Text Books' was the subject from which Mr. W. T. Amos, of Lieury, addressed the association. His 25 years' experience as a teacher enabled him to review the subject in a most practical way. He argued that several of the text books now in use bear abundant evidence of having been compiled by men who either had no experience in teaching or so long ago that they had forgotten. He took up the books seriatim, showing their strength and weakness, also what was advantageous and what could be omitted. The present text-books were illsuited to the purposes of teaching. Mr. J. Duncan criticised the tendency to teach arithmetic by a series of type solutions. For this tendency the text book was to blame. Discussion followed, in which Mr. Kennedy, Miss Glenn, Mr. Robson, Miss F. Mc-Coll, Mr. Colgrove, Miss M. B. Harrison, Miss J. Mills, Mr. Warren, and others took part.

Mr. Dearness asked that an expression of opinion be given on the use of those paper-bound note-books and "helps," that the pupils buy in such large numbers. Was the flood of these secondary books brought on by the inadequacy or unsuitability of text books? The reason should be discovered. The matter was referred to a committee.

Miss C. Blair, in an interesting paper, summed the pros and cons of "Monthly Reports." The weight of argument was in their favor. She exhibited eight different forms. The most approved one was quite simple. It showed attendance, times late, times left before dismission, conduct, progress, relative standing in class, signature of teacher and parent. The meeting adjourned at 12 o'clock for lunch.

AND A FORTUNE

London Adonis Answered a Detroit Matrimonial Advertisement.

Too Much Johnson for the 54 Other Applicants.

Didn't Ask How Much Money She Had -Mr. Johnson Wore a Red Rose and Yellow Burnsides-Was a Pattern Maker at McClary's, but Won't Have to Work Any More.

The marriage of a London mechanic and a wealthy widow of Detroit, Mich., is announced. The widow had 55 suitors, and fortune favored Mr. J. R. Johnson, a pattern fitter, employed for the past few months by the McClary Manufacturing Company. The marriage took place on Saturday, and the courtship began a few days previous. It was romantic, though brief.

Before Mr. Johnson plunged into his matrimonial venture he had not much time to meditate thereon. About the beginning of April he first knew of the existence of the lady who is now nis wife, and until Saturday last he was too busy earning $2 a day toiling with iron patterns to give her much thought. Then he went to Detroit, saw the lady for the first time, was married to her. and is now enjoying life as a gentleman of leisure. He has no more need to work, he says. Mrs. Johnson has made over to him the deed of their comfortable home, No. 12 Hecla avenue, in Detroit, and they have money enough to live on. Her fortune is estimated at $60,000. The initiative of the romance is to be credited to the rich widow. Her departed husband's insurance money was not sufficient to make up for her loss of a husband. So she advertised for a new one. The advertisement appeared in a Detroit evening newspaper about April 1 and caught the eve of the London Adonis. It also caught the eye of 54 others, not so Adonis-like, in various parts of the country. The widow, with rare ability and dispatch, continued for a month the correspondence begun by these 55 would-be suitors, and sounded each sentimental soul's depths as well as was possible by letter. But she wanted to see them. Therefore she invited them to come to Detroit. Mr. Johnson received his invitation last week. In it, as in everything else, the fair correspondent proved that she was systematic. He was to come by a certain train, dress in a certain way and wear a red rose in the lapel of his coat. She also described her costume, a black gown and picture hat, with red roses. These details were faithfully observed, and on Saturday morning Mr. Johnson was greeted at the station in Detroit by his future wife. But captivating as the appearance of the gentleman from London—who is about 45 years of age, tall, slight, has a darling black mustache, and yellow Burnsides, and wears glasses-it was not really a case of love at first sight. The diplomatic widow had one last test to make before his fate was sealed. Would he or would he not ask her how much money she had? The other suitors, a couple of score of whom were then waiting around town disconsolately, had all wrecked on this rock. But Mr. Johnson stood the test. He But Mr. Johnson stood the test. He didn't seem to care about the money name on the side of peace. if he could get the widow-and he got both. When Mr. Johnson returned to the city he was dressed like the man of wealth that he now is. He wore a silk hat and a neat black suit, and when taking leave of his comrades at the shop he said he wouldn't need to work any more, but he might do a little once in a while to keep his hand in.

Mr. Johnson's late fellow-employes at the McClary Manufacturing Company's works evidently thought the daring benedict might yet meet with some great set-back, for they considerately forwarded to him a handsome box containing a latest improved, indestructible bustle, well adapted to breaking a fall. They express the charwill not be needed.

Mrs. Oliver Writes Entertainingly to Her London Friends.

Her Share in the Peace Crusade-A Talk With Dr. Crozier.

World's End, London, Eng., April 17, 1899. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

One of the charms of Canadian life that I can never forget is the universal kindness to strangers, in such strong contrast to the necessary hardness and harshness of this over-populated land, and especially of London. Never will I forget the kindness of some who received me, a complete stranger in that town, where I lived so long, and who still write to me, and I to them. Besides these, I have some relatives in Hamilton, and more in Northern Ontario, from whom I hear occasionally, and, as I owe a good many letters, and sometimes write to you, and as this time I have a few things to tell that are of public interest, this letter to my friends will be none the worse if they have to read it in The Ad-

First, I must tell that I have had the honor to take a small part in the great peace crusade. Some of my friends in Canada will remember that I told them I had been a member of the peace society from a child, and never was more surprised and delighted than when I first read the message from the czar. And when soon afterwards I read that headquarters were established in the Strand, with Mr. W. T. Stead as leader, I went up and asked if I might have the privilege of doing something in this great work. The offer was accepted, and besides being appointed a delegate to represent Chelsea, was commissioned to ask for signatures to memorials to the czar and Lord Salisbury. My work was in Chelsea, Fulham and Richmond. I asked all sorts and conditions of men and women, and was exceedingly glad of the opportunities it gave me of defending the right. I had a good many battles to fight, sometimes long and earnest ones, with spiritual weapons, for our Lord, Mr. Stead, and the czar, and now and then gained a victory, when one who believed "that a little blood-letting now and then was good for every nation," was brought to

One thing I must record, that, although hundreds refused their names because opposed to the czar's proposals, in no instance did I meet rudeness or incivility. Regarding this question there is an impression abroad that needs correcting. Many seem to think that the czar is responsible for the many cruelties and inconsistencies that are going on in Russia. It is not so. Those who know best say and believe that the czar is sincere. It is those around him who are unjust and cruel, as will be proved in the approaching conference. Let us hope that this will be a turning point in the world's history towards a new and better way.

The past week will be memorable, be-Itable hope, however, that the bustle cause of the centenary commemoration of the Church Missionary Society, as you will read in the papers. I attended some of the great meetings in company with a lady from St. John's, West Chelsea, the church to which I belong. Among many noble speeches was one by Viscount Cranborne, the son of the prime minister, that deserves to be repeated over and over again in all quarters of the Queen's dominions. He indorsed the Bishop of Minnesota's appeal for unity, but said he regarded the interest that was now being taken in religious subjects as a sign of strength. The peculiar privileges and opportunities which were being granted to this country he looked upon as a divine call to a larger and bolder spirit of Christian imperialism, and he elicited repeated rounds of enthusiastic what else you may do, what government you establish, what colleges you found and the like, unless you carry with these institutions the definite teaching of Christianity, you have done nothing at all."

Now and again I have the privilege of conversing with Dr. Clifford, the well-known Baptist minister. Not long ago he ask-ed me if I knew Dr. Crozier, of Galt. He had been reading his latest book, "My Inner Life," and was extremely interested in it. Dr. Crozier lived near, and attended his ministry and sometimes came to converse. I replied that I had never seen Dr. Crozier, only heard of him and had read one of his books, but that I would very much like to know him. Dr. Clifford gave me his address, and I called, but saw only Mrs. Crozier. He is such a busy man that he has very little time to spare. However, I tried again and was successful, and had a long conversation about Canada and other things. Those who, like Dr. Clifford, are watching all scientific discoveries from a Christian point of view, will be glad to note that leading agnostics are beginning to find the Creator in his works, and soon, we may hope, religion and science will go hand in hand for the regeneration and happiness of the world. Yours respect-MRS. A. M. OLIVER.

W.F.M.S. CONVENTION

Gratifying Reports and Interesting Addresses Heard.

Woodstock, Ont., May 4.-The sessions of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society convention continued yesterday, with over 200 delegates in attendance. The annual address by the president, Mrs. Mccaren, of Toronto, referred to the gratifying success of the Ewart Missionary Training Home, which during the year had shown a large increase in attendance.

An encouraging report from the board of management was read by Miss Craig, secretary pro tem., and Miss Shortreed, foreign secretary, told of great advances made in the fields of India, China and Japan. The excellent work done by the women's hospitals among the women of India was also commented upon. Mrs. Jefferson, secretary of Indian work in the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, read an exhaustive report, in which she said that there were now 21 missions in the Northwest Territories and 7 in British Columbia. The number of communicants was 300, and 300 children were enrolled in the industrial and boxing schools. The report denied the contention of some that it was useless to expend so much money on Indian missions, and claimed that the race was not dying out. On the contrary, there was just as great a demand on the society as ever.

In the afternoon prayer was offered for the Queen and Empire, and excellent missionary addresses were delivered by Miss Agnes Turnbull, M.D., Neemuch: Miss Duncan, Neemuch; Miss Calder, Mhow; Miss McLaren, Birtle; Miss Johnston, Alberni, B. C. The night session was devoted to an address by Rev. J. Wilkie, M.A., of Indore; Rev. Dr. Moore, convener of the general assembly's foreign mission committee, presiding.

on reaching Steinwood a servant, who had evidently been watching for his return, informed him that the Honorable Merton Gower was awaiting him in the library.

"What, so soon!" thought the son.
Well, perhaps it is wisest." Drawing himself, as it were together, entered.

The diplomatist stood on the hearthg, waiting. His countenance was pale d calm, yet there was an expression it, that, though only a child when knew him, forcibly reminded Rownd of his grandfather. "Be seated," said the elder, coldly, though the interview need not be a ong one; a few words must decide it. short time back I met you in company with a person-

"Better she had let it perish, than aved it to be dishonored. You used saved it to be dishonored. You used ords respecting her, of which, as your Cather, I ask an explanation.' Sir, surely they explain themselves. I said we were troth-plighted, and that Gwyn Rebna, of all women alone, could be my wife. Despite his diplomatic frigidity and reserve, the parent was startled. Rowland, do you know what you say?" he inquired. Perfectly. I do not tell you, sir, how my heart is wrung at causing you distress, in thus acting contrary to what I know must be your wishes," said his son, respectfully. "I do not ask you to pardon, to wait until you are acquainted with Gwyn-when you would love her-for I feel it would be useless; it would irritate, but it would not move

"It would not. I would rather see you dead than contract such an alliance. What subtle arts could this girl have practiced to ensnare you, to make you forget your position-and mine?"

Those of noble impulses, sir, and woman's sweetest gift, pure, unselfish innocence. Father, nearer death than boat had capsized, even you-for my and, struck by an oar, the waters had closed over me-this courageous girl swam from the shore to my rescue; thus she won my gratitude. Her countenance, her gentie, superior na-ture, won my love. Did you know her, you would not be surprised. You are too world-conversant, though I do not say you would any the more readily forgive me." No. A fierce fight was going on within the Honorable Merton Gower's breast. He was a man who flattered himself on calm, sharp decision; on never losing his temper, or giving way to the vulgarity of passion or emotion.

Yet he found it difficult now.
"Have you," he abruptly proceeded,
"weighed well the result of this?"

"And the result?" That, sir, I have disappointed the bright hopes you had formed for my future, and—" morrow to decide. No further discussion is needed. Either renounce this girl or me. Now leave me."

Rowland, who knew his father well, had expected this; but he did not care thus to quit him in such bitter anger.

He would have spoken, but the elder imperiously motioned him to the door.
"Go," he said. "Until I find you "Go," he said. "Until I find you obedient, and my name is not to be dishonored, the sight of you is distasteful to me!" The son colored, bit his lip, and, without another word, bowing left the The next morning, to the surprise of all, Rowland Gower was found to have departed from Steinwood.

The Honorable Merton Gower's valet brought him a note left by his son.

'Dear Father,—I cannot, as a man of honor—a title I will never forfeit— renounce Gwyn Rebna; consequently, I will spare you the pain of again look-ing on me. Still, it is my prayer that, in the future, I may once more win your love, and yet make you proud of your affectionate son, ROWLAND." The father's muscles twitched, that was all. Tearing the letter into a thousand atoms, he proceeded with his dressing, and descended to breakfast apparently in better spirits than even ordinarily.

Early that morning, having sent his luggage on before to the ralway station, Rowland, flushed, excited, full of hope in the future, had entered Daniel Rebna's cottage.

They standing amazed, he told them all-how he loved their daughter Gwyn; how his father had disinherited him but how he was now going to fight for fortune and independence, that he might soon return and fetch their child

The old people were open-eyed, spellbound: Gwyn overwhelmed with grief and fear. Rowland tried to laugh gally, but he mistrusted his own powers. He wrung old Daniel's and the dame's hands; said they must be his parents now, for he had no other. Then, em-bracing Gwyn, and whispering her to

"If this be so," cried Daniel, "he should know—he ought to know. Dame, run after him, tell him."

But Gwrn, too, was helpless, kneeling on the ground, her face buried on her arms crossed on the table. She was weeping hysterically.

"There, it's no matter," said the old woman. "Mayhap it would make small difference. Mr. Rowland's father looks a rare proud 'un, my man. Besides, didn't the gentleman say he's to come back? Can't we tell him then?"

CHAPTER VIL

The Honorable Merton Gower was so good a diplomatist that even in personal matters he never let his countenance betray the secrets of his heart. He held that the expression of emotion, either of joy or sorrow, was derogatory to an intellectual, cultivated Hence, from his appearance on descending to the Steinwood breakfast table, no one would have guessed that father and son had parted that morning at enmity, and possibly forever.

The position, therefore, would have been awkward, had not the rest been apprised of what had occurred by Mr. Rylands, whose hospitable roof Rowland had not so rudely quitted without informing him of the cause.

Con-dolences would annoy him; and, by his appearance, he will never let you know whether he feels it or not. Hush!" His step-brother entering, the party round the table saw their host was right. The Honorable Meton Gower emed in excellent spirits; and, what is more, they did not appear forced. What marvelous self-control!" whispered Lil to Lady Mary.

"Marvelous, indeed!" rejoined her ladyship, dryly.

It was a phase in her guardian's character she did not admire. The morning meal passed off with outward pleasantness, though Rowland's chair stood vacant. At its conclusion Merton Gower was the first to rise. Standing a moment after doing so, he said quetly:

"Of course you all know what has occurred. You all, too, heard from my own son's lips his confession of a most humiliating attachment. I gave him until this morning to decide which he would renounce, this unworthy attachment or me. He has selected the latter. I thank you for not speaking to me of this matter. I ask as a favor that you will continue to be silent. For my part my son's name will never pass my lips again, unless he returns repentant and single. When a subject is disagreeable, it should be flung aside. The folly of a foolish boy has no right to affect the happiness of others. Arthur, may

"You stupid old goose," cried Lil, giving him a shake, though there was a glitter of fond approval in her eyes. "Call women romantic! Men are far more so. Don't you see Rowland has ruined all his bright prospects for ever-metaphorically committed sui-

"If to say Mr. Rowland was 'plucky' -I think that was the term, Captain Darnley?" smiled Lady Mary-"and manly to 'stick' to Gwyn, be romantic, I fear I must also plead guilty to the weakness. He should have been wiser and never done what he has done; but the fault of winning the girl's love having been committed, he would be a coward to desert her."
"Then," asked Marian, with a curl

Insurmountable Difficulties in His Pathway.

Mr. Kirk Tells Why Air Cannot Be Source of Energy at Practically No Cost.

A century ago it was said of the English public that they were disappointed if each morning paper did not bring intelligence of some recent victory for British arms. What was true of the English people during the great European war is now true of many newspaper patrons in the neighboring republic, who are inclined to censure their newsgatherers, if no triumph of mind over some one of nature's forces be recorded in each issue. Nor can this feeling occasion surprise, as any one of a dozen of the discoveries published during 1898 would have served to distinguish any year in a preceding Much interest has been excited of late by statements made by Mr. C. E. Tripler, that liquid air may be produced so abundantly as to be available as a source of power, and at practically no cost. Certainly if such be within the bounds of possibility, the vision of what the future has in store for us all is most inspiring. To be able to provide unlimited quantities of energy at no cost would emancipate more slaves, brute and human, than any abolition proclamation ever issued. To be able to abolish our wretched heating systems, and to substitute up-to-date contrivances—to consign to the scrap-heap our noisome gas and oil stoves, and to install electric ovens, with their freedom from smoke and foul gases-to have our streets as clean and as sanitary as they should be to give to the temperate zone the beauty and the verdure of the tropics without the countervailing disadvantages of the torrid zone-to make travel an agreeable pastime-to solve the problems of aerial navigation-to explore ocean depths-to have these numberless other marvels, would be to usher in the gold-

Every thoughtful person is grieved that Mr. Tripler's arrangements for producing ten gallons of liquid air by using three in his engine, had not been completed before he published his statements that such was a possibility. Extracting sunbeams from cucumbers and harnessing ethereal vapor-forces are painfully disappointing researches.

There are insurmountable difficulties in Mr. Tripler's pathway. He concedes that it requires a one horse power engine one hour to liquefy one pound of air, and as this is the utmost possible, the fact alone would destroy his theory, for by no method of using that pound of liquid air could he develop more than one-tenth of a pound per hour. He has plainly made a mistake in his calculations, and should have written: By using ten gallons of liquid air in an engine, by the help of solar heat I can liquefy one gallon hose parents talk Every liquid, in passing into a state a large amount of heat, called the latent heat of vaporization. The quantity which disappears during vaporization has been carefully measured by distinguished scholars, and it is a curious but interesting fact, that taking into account the volume of vapor produced, the quotient of the volume of gas produced divided by the calories of heat disappearing is a constant quantity. Thus, volume divided by calories equals a constant. Following the analogy of all other liquids, the latent heat of the vaporization of liquid air would be 248 calories, or 444 British thermal units. Mr. Tripler certainly can boil liquid air on a block of ice, and obtain heat from the air sufficient to vaporize a certain quantity of liquid air, but if he were to try to do so on a moderately large scale the case would be quite different. A few coals on a plate would contain heat sufficient to evaporate a small quantity of water, but their tem-perature would rapidly fall while doing so, and the process would soon

To derive sufficient heat from the air to drive a 50-horse power engine would reduce the temperature of the air over an acre to a height of forty feet from summer heat to freezing point in one hour, if the engine could be made to run as long as that. It would require all the hour, if the run as long as long as long as l quire all the heat which could be obtained from 182,000,000 cubic feet of air to run a train from London to Niagara Falls, 110 miles. If the heat neces-sary to do this were taken from water, there would be 35 tons of ice form-

The reason for the failure of Mr. Tripler's scheme rests on the fact that after a vapor has been reduced to the temperature of liquefaction & very large amount of heat still remains in it, and which must be removed before condensation occurs. To condense steam from 212°, Fahr., to water, at 212°, Fahr., requires the use of a large quantity of cold condensing waly enough large quantity of cold condensing wa-ter. The difficulty of removing this lat-ter. The difficulty of removing this lat-ter air from air, being liquefied, is specially great owing to its exceedingly low temperature. In practice, it is necessary to highly compress air, and when it has cooled, to permit a part of the air to escape against some resistance. The temperature of the remainder rapidly falls, and a small quantity is liquefied. However, it is quite impossible to use liquid air in a heat engine to liquid a greater quantity than was supplied to the engine, owing to the many losses and leakages which necessarily occur. So we are reluctantly led to the conclusion that our emancipation from much of the toll and the bitterness of life is not yet in sight, and that Mr. Tripler's liquid air motor is only another form of perpetual motion impossibility. British Newfoundland Squadron To Be Strengthened Beyond Precedent.

Quebec, May 4.—The British squadron in Newfoundland waters is to be strengthened to an extent never known there before. The composition of the squadron commissioned for the next three years' service has been finally decided upon. Owing to the recent action of the French admiralty in replacing vessels of old types in Newfoundland waters, with modern swift cruisers, the British admiralty has selected half a dozen of the flyers of its navy to head the new squadron. H. M. S. Blenheim, which is to be Admiral Bedford's flagship, has a speed of 22 knots. She is not altogether a stranger on this side of the Atlantic, having been sent here a few years ago to bring home to Canada the body of her late premier, Sir John Thompson, who died suddenly while dining with Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. The Blenheim is a first-class cruiser of 9,000 tons, and a complement of 672 men. All the vessels of the squadron are equipped with the very latest armament. The majority of them have been selected in consequence of their great speed, and five or six of them have a guaranteed speed of 20 knots. The first-class cruiser Europa has a crew of 710 men and a speed of 21 knots, and is of 11,000 tons burden. The 20-knot cruisers are the Talbot, of 5,600 tons and 450 men; the Indefatlgable, of 5,600 tons and 273 men; the Tribune of 3,600 tons and 273 men; the Psyche, of 2,135 tons and 225 men, and the Pearl, of the same tonnage and the same size of crew. The squadron will also contain the battleship Hotspur, 14 knots, 4,610 tons and 400 men; the torpedo boat destroyers Quall and Rocket, each of 300 tons, with a crew of 60 men and a speed of not less than 30 knots; the cruiser Comus, 2,380 tons; the guardship Terror, the cruisers Buzzard and Alert, besides two torpedo boats at Halifax and three at Bermuda.

SHOEMAKERS ON STRIKE

The Men at the Laidlaw & Watson Shoe Company's Factory Have Quit Work, Following the Action of the

Between 20 and 25 of the male employes of the Laidlaw-Watson Shoe Company quit work yesterday, following the example of the 15 girl employes, who went on strike on Friday last. The discharge of Annie McLeod was the cause of the trouble. The reason of the men's action, the company says, is explained by the fact that the striking girls joined the union on Monday, and no other course was left open to them.

The company states that one day last week, Miss McLeod, a piece-worker, had nothing to do for a while, and went over to talk to the day hands. The forewoman allowed her to remain for a time, and then told her if there was nothing to do she had better go home for the day and come down in the morning. The forewoman says she was then subjected to a tirade of abuse from the young woman, who kept right on talking to the day hands. For this she told her to get her money and not

On the following day the forewoman sent to Miss McLeod's home, and told her that if she would apologize she would be taken back. This Miss Mc-Leod would not do, and the other girls left in a body.

At a conference between the employes and the company, the latter agreed to take all the young women back with the exception of Miss McLeod. But the girls say they will not return unless Miss McLeod is reinstated.

A number of new hands have been secured, and the factory will be kept in operation. The company will secure men from other cities.

The president of the International Shoemakers' Union is expected to arrive in the city shortly.

Archbishop O'Connor Would Have Each Respect the Beliefs of Others. Archbishop O'Connor, replying to the address presented to him at Toronto. yesterday, said in part: "There are two or three things only that occur to me now as possible to interfere with that goodwill which ought to exist amongst citizens of the same place and the same country. We must not insist too much upon our own rights. We ought to know our own rights, and we ought to insist upon having them respected as far, of course, as is consistent with the general welfare of the place wherein we happen to be. We must all learn to bear and forbear, to bear our share in everything that tends to the well-being of our country, and at the same time to forbear, to be ready to sacrifice occasionally some of our rights, because by doing this we show how ready we are to produce the good which is expected from us. As it is proper, we ought to insist upon our rights: let us not forget that rights pushed too far become wrongs, grievous wrongs, and that will be my motive at all times, and my interest at all times, and every act and word of mine will tend that way, to make all facture of their celebrated 'the citizens feel that we desire their Flour" for the coming year.

success as well as our own. Another source of ill-will sometimes is political controversy. Though, of course, I take a very lively interest in the general welfare of our country, of which I am proud; yet let me say once for all I never interfere in matters political. I have my warm friends belonging to each of the political parties, and whilst I myself am no party man, I respect the feelings of others who prefer to serve their country in that way. But I cannot believe, nor do I believe, that government simply means the procuring of the greater good for the greatest number. We know God does not govern that way. He seeks always, and on all occasions to procure good for the whole number without exception; and every one in authority, let it be civil or religious authority, is bound by his faith to procure the good of the whole number over whom God has placed him, because if we have authority over people we hold it from God, and we are his trustees, and to exercise that authority in any other way than he would do it, would simply be to destroy the trust the Almighty has placed in our hands. Another source of ill-will is what is commonly called religious consions. troversy. That we believe firmly in the teachings of the Catholic Church must be unquestioned. I believe that the Catholic Church is the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. Because I believe that, I expect all others, no matter what their beliefs may be, to respect me in my belief. Now, just as I wish to be respected by others, I, too, respect all others, no matter what their beliefs may be, and don't see that the interests of religion are advanced in the slightest by quarreling about it. It is the duty of us all to seek what is the true religion, to find out what Jesus Christ taught. It is the duty of us all to submit with humility, and with love to the teachings of the Saviour, and then we promote the best interests of religion, and at the same time the very best interests of our country, because it is only in that country in which religion is respected, in which God always stands first, where there can be prosperity and the blessings of Almighty God. Hence it is our desire that in this nation we shall be united in doing our duty towards Almighty God, and surely to do that does not require that we quarrel amongst ourselves about the most sacred things. If we do not know, let us pray to him, the author of right, as well as of truth, and he will make us understand what we have to do in his best interests, as well as in the best interests of ourselves and of our neighbors."
