Attacking a Force of 4,000 Russians.

Viceroy of Canton Orders Execution of 40 Pirates-Sir Claude McDonald's Dispatch From Pekin Dispels Doubts As to the Fate of the Envoys-Secretary Brodrick's Statement in the House of Commons.

Shanghai, Monday, July 30.-The Japanese have news that 10,000 Chinese are attacking New Chwang, with 4,000 Russians opposing them.

The Japanese minister has forwarded a letter to Tien Tsin, stating that the casualties at the Japanese legation in Pekin were Capt. Ando, Attache Mojime and five marines killed, and Secretary Naranara wounded.

FORTY PIRATES TO BE EXE-CUTED.

Hong Kong, July 30.—The acting viceroy of Canton, it is reported, is becoming more active and adopting a more vigorous policy.

It is announced that he has ordered the execution of 40 pirates. He says Li Hung Chang is not returning to Canton, where quiet prevails.

The British naval and military officials have taken careful observations of the Canton and Bogue defenses. The Bogue forts are crowded with troops, and the parapets are lined upon the approach of strangers.

But it should be borne in mind that the British minister may not be aware that all his previous dispatches have been suppressed. He may be under the impression that the government is fully posted regarding all recent occurrences. Apart from this dispatch there is practically no fresh news, although a special from Tien Tsin asserts that the British and American forces are geting ready to advance within 48 hours. Li Hung Chang remains at Shanghai. He says that the great heat has prevented him continuing the journey to

JAPAN'S POSITION.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, explained to parliament yesterday that the British Govrnment has incurred no financial liability to Japan sending a larger number of troops than she sent and at an earlier date, and the offer was not accepted by the Japanese Government.

LI'S PROPOSAL. Sir Chih Chen, Chinese minister in London, has been notified by telegraph that Li Hung Chang, conjointly with other viceroys and governors, has memorialized the throne to urge the immediate sending of the foreign representatives under escort to Tien Tsin or the restoration to them of free telegraphic communication with their governments. The Che Foo correspondent Daily Express, telegraphing July 25, received a dispatch "I have says: from Pekin, dated July 10, saying: 'All silent; bullets and shells occasionally fired from streets, causing but few casualties.' It is reported that 18 foreigners have been murdered at Tung Chou, on the Pei Ho."

CHINESE REPULSED.

A dispatch from Shanghai, dated Monday, says that according to the governor of Shan Tung, an imperial decree announces that all the ministers are safe. The rebels attacked the British legation on July 8, but were out on July 24 in the Catholic Cathed-LATE MESSAGE FROM PEKIN. London, July 31-3:05 a.m.-The admiralty has made public the following dispatch from Rear Admiral Bruce at Tien Tsin: "Following message from Pekin: British legation, June 20 to July 16, repeatedly attacked by Chinese troops on all sides, both rifle and artillery fire. Since July 16, an armistice, but a cordon is strictly drawn on both sides of the position. Chinese barricades close to ours. All women and children in the British legation. Casualties to date, 62 killed, including Capt. Strouts. A number of wounded in hospital, including Capt. Halliday; rest of legation all well, cept David Oliphant and Warren, killed on July 21. (Signed) McDonald."

MENT. London, July 31. - In the House of Commons, Parliamentary Secretary the ebbing season will be brought to Brodrick read a dispatch from the British consul at Tien Tsin saving that the foreign ministers at Pekin ciety will immediately be ordered into were safe July 22. Mr. Brodrick also read a dispatch in which the statement was made that a strong body of Hwang Sus, was around the legations, and that the Chinese were forced to block the river with sunken craft, with a breach on the left bank, in order to flood the country to the eastward. Mr. Brodrick added that the council should be guarded and managed by the incress of the dispatches. Owing to Russians. The government has informer Russia that it acquiesced, as the arrangement might be the most convenient, but that it must be clearly understood that the line would revert to its former management, i. e., the British, on the termination of hostilities. Mr. Brodrick added that he did not yet know who was to have supreme command. British troops would be available to co-operate with the allies, but no arrangement has been made to put them under command of foreign officers.

A JAPANESE DISPATCH.

New York, July 30. - The Japanese onsul at Tien Tsin sent a runner on July 15 to Pekin, and on the 19th the runner left Pekin, bringing a cipher telegram to the Japanese Government, says a Che Foo special to the Herald, dated July 27. It reads: "We are defending ourselves against the Chinese very well, but now the attack stopped. We will keep up to the last of the month, although it will be no The Japanese casualties easy task. Killed: Kozima, diplomatic atare: tache: captain and one student, and also a few marines. Wounded-Five or six. Slightly wounded—Very many."
The Che Foo consul says that nothing was written about the other ministers.

AS VIEWED AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, July 30.-The view which the Washington cabinet has taken from the beginning, that with the exception of Baron Von Ketteler, the legations at Pekin were alive after the date which was said to have marked their massacre, is being slowly but surely confirmed. The most important contribution in support of this position since the receipt of the Conger autograph letter, representing the foreign ministers to have been alive on July 4, came today from United States Consul Fowler, Che Foo. The letter referred to by the consul as coming from the German legation at Pekin is supposed here to have been an autographic let ter, and as such absolutely removed from the possibility of fraud. Japanese representative also is understood to have come down to the sea without having passed through Chinese hands. It was one of the first re-sults of the private messenger system inaugurated by the commander of the allied forces. Taken in conjunction the two reports submitted by Mr. Fowler added overwhelmingly to the weight of testimony in favor of the existence of the legationers.

A discrepancy appears upon a comparison of the German and the Japan-ese advices. The German report says the attack stopped on the 12th. The Ja-panese report places the cessation of firing on the 17th. The state department officials believe the Japanese advice to be based on the Chinese calenwhich is about five days ahead of the Gregorian calendar, and this would account for the apparent discrepancy.

SAD SURPRISE

Death of Queen Victoria's Second Son, Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha, Formerly Duke of Edinbugh.

London, July 31 .- The news of the death of the Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha, second son of Queen Victoria, has created a sensation in London. It was totally unexpected. There were many callers at Clarence and Marlborough Houses, and the lord chamberlain's office. Flags were half-masted. The Queen was deeply affected.

It is stated that the body of the late duke will be embalmed and brought to England for interment, and that it will lie in state at Windsor.

London, July 30.—A Pretoria dispatch says: "A leader of a Pretoria commando has been captured by the British east of Derdepoort. He tired to escape, but was covered by six rifles at close quarters, whereupon he threw down his arms. He was on the opposite side of the river from those who held him under their guns, but it was impossible for the latter to cross over and get him. They held him, however, until a sergeant of Roberts' Horse, who knew a drift further down, came along. The sergeant did not use the lower drift, but, swimming his horse across the river, brought the prisoner back with him. Later it was found that the Boers were holding the lower drift in force.

BOER LOSSES. Gen. Hickman's column found the Boers in force at the Crocodile River, twenty miles from here. Owing to the swollen condition of the stream the British found it difficult to cross. The Boers tried to lure them on by showing small parties, the others remaining concealed. The plan did not work. Gen. Hickman shelled them, and also used his pom-poms. At night the Boers attacked the British outposts, but the latter were alert, and drove them back with a heavy rifle fire. The burghers' loss is said to have been considerable. ILL-TREATMENT OF BRITISH PRI-SONERS.

'Dr. Von Garnet, a Russian, who acted as medical officer to the British prisoners at Waterval, has made a report to the chairman of the committee of British at Pretoria, who subscribed money for the assistance of the prisoners. He strongly condemns the inhumanity displayed towards the captives. When he first took charge he found a number of victims of enteric fever lying on the bare ground. They had no blankets, only their worm uni-forms, which were all full of vermin. They had but little food and no medicine or attendants. Dr. Von Garnet was appointed by the Transvaal Government on Feb. 19. It is believed that his report is unbiased. All the papers in connection with the prisoners' fund are being mailed to Lord Rothschild, of the Red Cross Society.

[Halifax Recorder.]

The exposure in last evening's Recorder of the despicable disparagement attempted of the late Lieut. Borden (from Tory sources in the Commons at Ottawa), merely because he was the son of a cabinet minister, caused much indignation, and many Conservatives then, Salamis, Rinalde, Quiz II., and expressed regret and shame that such an episode should have occurred in the name of party. Perhaps the position will be seen more clearly when we subjoin two officially-verified utterances: From Hansard report of speech of Mr.

Sproule, Tory, in the Commons, June The honorable minister has endeavored to excuse himself by saying that cannot send an avalanche of cables, but he was not asked to do that. He also adds that he has not received any word from his own son, who is out there, since April 14. That does not show any great anxiety on his part as to what his son is doing, but I am told that his son is not in any place where he is likely to be injured, except by sickness. * * * I can tell the honorable gentleman that I saw the statement in the press that his son was in no danger, and I said we had never heard that he had been in an engage-

This is in the Hansard report (among the other hundreds of columns of "rot" talked by the opposition during the session).

Now, listen to this, from the great general of the forces in South Africa. It is well that there should be no mistake—the page in Hansard wherein Sproule figured as above should have this dispatch interleaved:

London, July 18.-In a dispatch dated today, Lord Roberts pays a tribute to Lieuts. Borden and Birch. He says: "They were killed while gallantly leading their men in a counter attack on the enemy's flank at a critical juncture of their assault on our position. Borden was twice before brought to my notice in dispatches for gallant and intrepid conduct."

We call upon our contemporaries everywhere to see that justice (by the widest publicity of the juxtapositions above) is done to the memory of the gallant Borden; and the blot we have adverted to on the pages of Hansard should not be allowed to go down to history without the complete vindication interleaved where it appears.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is safe, reliable and effectual, because of the stimulating action which it exerts over the nerves and vital powers of the body, adding tone to the one and inciting to renewed and increased vigor the slumbering vitality of the physical structure, and through this healthful stimulation and increased action the cause of the PAIN is driven away, and a natural condition restored. It is thus that the READY RELIEF is so admirably adapted for the CURE OF PAIN and without the risk of injury which is sure to result from the use of many of the so-called pain remedies of the day.

It is highly important that every family keep a supply of DADWAY'S

The Returning Soldiers.

Already some of Canada's "boys" have returned from the battle field and received a hearty welcome from friends and fellow-citizens at home. They have suffered from the terrible enteric fever or from wounds received while doing their duty, and can tell of "hair-breadth escapes by flood and field;" but careful nursing and a wholesome sea voyage have helped to put them in pretty good trim. It seems but yesterday since they went away, and now the war is practically over, though the enemy is still able to play some nasty tricks.

It has been a strange year for the Empire, full of trial and unrest, but we trust that the lessons that have been taught will not be carelessly thrown away. At any rate, without indulging in idle or foolish pride, Canada can say that they, her sons, have not done her any discredit, and that they have played a great part in helping to weld together the scattered families of the British Empire.

So far as Africa is concerned, it makes none too good an impression on Canadians. Its barren, shadeless land, and its streams polluted with dead Boers or dead horses were not specially inviting to men who came from the land of the maple. There may be a number of soldiers settle there as sentinels of the Empire, but it does not seem likely that many of them will be Canadians. We note with pleasure that the Canadian soldiers speak well of the hospital arrangements, and the way in which they were treated when sick or wounded. Some of them were robbed by the orderlies, and that is a wretched business, but on the whole they do not complain. There may be much truth in Burdette-Coutts' statements, and it will be well if there can be an honest investigation to find out if the very best that could be done was done in such a vital matter, but we are glad to note that so few complaints have been uttered by our own soldiers. We may be sure that they are not connected with any military or medical clique, and speak of things exactly as they saw them.

This war has been altogether a sad will come out of the part that Canada of help when the Empire was attackturn deserve a hearty welcome. They will long remember their experiences, and the country will long remember their services.

Gold and Silver Coinage in

An Egmondville correspondent sends us a number of queries with regard to gold and silver coinage in this country. Our replies may be of interest to others besides him.

We have no gold coinage in Canada, but occasionally gold coins from Great Britain and the United States find their way into the country. Our silver coinage is minted in England. There for the establishment of a mint in the Dominion, but the reply has always been that it is more profitable to have our coin produced at the imperial mint in London. No United States silver coin was ever minted into Canadian silver. It is not necessary for Canada to make an appropriation to renew our silver coinage. Silver is ordered, as law and order in these United States required, under 34 Vic., Chap. 4, and since 1869 the amount so obtained has been over $7,500,000. Defaced coins are, of course, not lawful currency, and any one endeavoring to pass such money is liable to a severe penalty; but there is never any objection to any one converting coin into jewelry or putting them to any purpose that entirely takes them out of the denomination of coin. This is a fact of which many people are not cognizant. We remember, when the fashion for silver bangles was all the rage, a generally well informe citzen expressed indignation because of ed States; nowadays, it is in Canada, this "destruction of money." He took another view when it was shown to him that for every dollar's worth of silver minted there was a profit to the country of some 20 cents. Therefore the more five or ten cent pieces used up in providing ornaments, necessitating the issuing of a new coinage to take their place, the more profit is earned by the issuers in the government of the day.

The Hot Wave.

Man is a creature that has considerable power of adaptation to changing circumstances. He manages to dwell in all parts of the earth and put up with all kinds of climates. But that which seems to disturb the comfort and dignity of civilized man most completely is the occasional hot wave, such as the one which recently struck the Atlantic. In Canada there does not seem to have been any great cause for complaint, but we hear of numbers dying in New York of the prostration which is caused by a sudden increase of heat, and even on the shore, where thousands go to seek coolness it was for a time intensely hot. In England, too, we are told the heat had powerul effect, especially in making fahonable people modify the conventional summer costume and dress in ways more becoming to the tropical charges outside of the House.

At the Aldershot maneuvers several men were actually killed by the heat, and in consequence Tommy Atkins has been provided with a sum- Biographical Sketch of the Late King mer hat which is said to look neat and cool. Well, It appears that when King Humif there are those who increase the miseries of the poor by raising the price of ice, we can only hope that the hot wave found them in a very crime was committed and the reveal hot place and inflicted a merited punishment. There would be at least poetic justice in that. The clown in the hot wave is only one of many

An Unknown Land.

China, the country about which we are now likely to hear so much, is to most people practically an unknown country. We have heard something from missionaries and travelers, read something in books and magazines, and we see the silent Chinaman with the age of centuries on his face walking through our streets, and yet we feel that we know little of that great populous land. After this it is likely that we shall know more of China, and China will know more of the great world from which she has so carefully shut herself off. Yet China has been known to the West for a long time. Vasca da Gama found the way round the Cape to India in 1497, and we are told that "Sixteen years later the Portuguese had acclimated the ring-necked pheasant in the island of St. Helena," where probably Mr. Conje will have the pleasure of eating descendants of the birds then "planted," for they thrive greatly. When the Elizabethan explorer, Cavendish, visited the island in business, but we feel sure that good 1585, he found there ring-necked pheasants in great abundance. "Recently has taken. She gave her small share the same bird has almost ousted our common pheasant. America has also ed, and so proved to the world the imported it, a form of Chinese immiunity of the British race. "For numbers and perhaps variety no waterfowl equal those of China. The air is simply black with them over the rivers and marshes near the coast at flight time. Ornament, even in these ornamental birds, is carried to the extreme in some of these Chinese varieties. The mandarin teal is the gayest as well as the most fancifully plumed of all ducks." The gold fish brought from China used to be called China fish. While the world is waiting for news of the Chinese doings, news which may make many hearts sad, and decide the fate of the Celestial kingdom for some time to come, varied other kinds of information are being furnished concerning has, from time to time, been agitation | the Flowery Land, and it is to be hoped that the land will become more accessible and civilized without losing any of its wonderful charms.

Cape Nome has turned out a fraud as a gold field, but it has given rise to a big number of murders and suicides. How little respect is paid for communities compared with that compelled by the Canadian Government and its officers within the limits of the

The latest immigrants to the Western prairies of Canada embrace many Scandinavians from Minnesota and adjoining states. They will make excellent settlers, every one of them being a good farmer. While he was in Scotland, Hon. J. I. Tarte was the guest, at Haddo House, of Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who had a large number of leading men of the north to meet the Canadian statesman. Lady Aberdeen, by the way, has resumed her association with the Women's Liberal Association of Great Britain. She was welcomed to the late conference of that body by Lady Carlisle, who presided, and warmly cheered by the great asemblage. The Countess of Aberdeen has the faculty, in a marked degree, of inspiring enthusiasm in her associates in whatsoever she undertakes.

Sir Hibbert Tupper's only remaining American friend in the Yukon had to flee from the country to elude the hand of justice which would have punished him for criminally libeling Mr. E. C. Senkler. The impulsive member for Pictou might have had to "git" to Nome, too, if he had made some of his Ferdinand of Genoa, brother of King Victor Emmanuel. A son was born at Naples, on Nov. 11, 1869, who received the name of Victor Emmanuel Ferdinand Mary Januarius, and the title of Prince of Naples. After the occupation of Rome by the Italian troops in 1870 Prince Humbert and the Princess Marguerite took up their residence in the Eternal City. He succeeded to the throne on the death of his father, Jan.

A PREVIOUS ATTACK. As he was entering Naples on Nov. 1878, a man named Giovanni Passanante, approached the royal carriage, and attempted with a poinard to assassinate his majesty. The king escaped with a slight scratch, but Signor Cairolli, the prime minister, was wounded rather badly in the Passanante was condemned to death, but the punishment was commuted to penal servitude for life. King Humbert received the Order of the Garter by the hands of the Duke of Abercorn, at the Quirinal, March 2, 1878. He was Chevalier of the Order of the Black Eagle, and of the Austrian Order of the Gold-

No special precautions had been taken. police were in attendance, and only a small guard of soldiers was keeping the way for the carriage. The king, amid the cheers of the crowd, came out smiling, accompanied by his aide-de-Gen. Ponzio Vaglia. He had entered the carriage, and was just driv ing off, when the revolver shots were fired in quick succession. The first shot wounded the king in the neck; the second, the fatal one, pierced his heart and the third broke the arm of the already dying sovereign. The crowd was stunned by the unexpected scene, but speedily a rush was made toward the assassin. He did not attempt to escape, and was roughly treated until the carbineers formed a cordon and secured him from the fury of the people.

THE QUEEN. When Queen Margherita arived at the villa it was still hoped that the king would survive, and when the truth was broken to her a heartrending scene ensued. Bursting into tears, she exclaimed: "It is the greatest crime of the century. Humbert was crime of the century. Humbert was good and faithful. No person could have loved his people more. He was one who bore ill will to none." When she exclaimed: the queen's mother arrived there was another affecting scene.

The queen herslf placed a wreath on fuses to quit the death chamber.

IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT. London, July 31.-Lord Salisbury in the House of Lords, and Mr. A. J. Bal-four in the House of Commons, gave notice that they intend to move to address to the Queen, conveying an expression of the indignation and deep concern with which parliament had learned of the assassination of her majesty's ally, the King of Italy, and praying that her majesty convey an expression to the present king on be-half of the lords and commons of their deep abhorrence of the crime, and their sympathy with the royal family and people of Italy.

The entire European press utters a cry of indignation and horror at the Monza crime, and expresses sympathy for Italy and Queen Margherita.

The Berliner Tageblatt reminds its readers of its news from Grantz on June 19, when an Italian received a letter from his son, saying that the lot had fallen on the latter to assassinate the King of Italy, and adding that four other princes were doomed.

Exercise makes the muscles hungry If they get muscle-building food they will grow, otherwise all will be fatiguing and exhausting instead of benefi-cial. Cheese, beans, peas, beef, and oatmeal in the order named, are the best muscle-builders. Wheat flour, used by most bakers, has had the musclebuilding part removed. It will fatten but not strengthen. Soups and beef essences are stimulants, and have absolutely no value as muscle-builders.

THE MARKETS

Local Market.

London, Tuesday, July 31. The market was fairly well attended this morning, and except in one or two lines trade was by no means dull. Sevfarmers were talking the results that are being shown by the threshing throughout the country, and the opinion seemed to be general that the crop would largely exceed expecta-In several districts in London township it is much better than it was thought to be. A few days ago Bow-man Bros. threshed nearly 700 bushels the crop from 18 acres-on the farm of Moran Nichols, lot 30, con. 15, London township.

There were no changes in the prices of provisions today. The offerings of butter were quite adequate for the requirements. The demand for eggs was the supply fair and prices un-

Very little trade was done today in poultry. The demand is becoming stronger. Chickens sold for 45c to 60c

The offerings of fruit have diminished materially. Red raspberries were selling for 7c to 9c, the black ones for 5c to 7c; black currants went for 10c per quart and the red ones for 5c and American Markets.

CHICAGO, July 30 .- An apparent revival of the export demand for American wheat pulled the market out of the slough of lower cables and favorable Northwest weather today, the September option closing but a shade lower, though selling at one time at a decline of %c. Corn was fairly strong on small country acceptances, and closed %c higher. Oats were weak on liquidation, and declined %c. Provisions showed but little closing change. Primary receipts were 1,313,-000 bu, compared with 972,000 bu a year ago. Chicago receipts were 249 cars, 27 of contract grade, World's shipments were moderate, 5,860,000 bu, but there was an increase on passage of 736,000 bu. Estimated receipts on Tuesday: Wheat, 345 cars; corn 650 cars; oats,

She went out to the west end of the barn with Gerald, and he showed her how the accident happened. Gerald said he guilt and gloried in his crime that his had been up knocking off boards, and his father said: "I don't want my boards split that way; come down."
His father then went up, and while knowling of the boards over beleved knocking off the boards over-balanced himself. Gerald said the board came ed. Witness gathered that her brother since he left me, and it was only three he fell, as there was not room to stand on the upper beam. Gerald said he was working elsewhere around the barn, and that Herbert was doing the agitation these facts were got by deher brother's room once when she was in there, and said: "Doesn't that hurt you, aunt?" She said "No," and he said: "It does me," and then went out. Once she placed her hand on his foot, and he gave a nervous twitch with his leg.

Mrs. Hellmuth then began his cross- without mea examination, which was devoted mainly to showing that no one could have entered the room of Joseph Sifton during the afternoon without being observed. Mr. McEvoy also cross-examined the witness for a few minutes, and brought out the statements that Gerald said the boy was not present at the time of the accident, and that the natural way in which she expected her brother would knock off the boards would be to kneel on the collar-beam. Alfred Sifton, another brother of Joseph Sifton, then went on the stand. He went to the house about 2 p.m. on the day of his brother's injury. His evidence consisted mainly of an account of his movements in and out of the house that afternoon. Joseph died about 5:25 p.m., witness being with him the last half-hour, but a large portion of the afternoon he was not in the In describing the accident, room. Gerald said his father went up to show him how to knock off the boards, and that Gerald had just got half-way but Mr. Hellmuth objected strongly to Mr. Magee using cross-examination methods in an examination-in-chief, and asked for a ruling from the magistrate. The magistrate ruled in favor of the crown attorney, and Mr. Hellmuth expressed his strong dissatisfaction with the ruling. Witness then described Gerald's account of the accident well as he could remember. being now after 6 p.m., the court adjourned. Owing to Crown Attorney Magee having business in Stratford today, the next hearing was set for 10 a.m. on Wednesday.

BRESSI'S WIFE

Latter Glory in the Terrible Deed.

New York, July 31.-Gaetano Bressi, who assassinated Humbert of Italy, was a native of Tuscany, Italy, and came to the United States five years ican citizen, though his wife is of American birth. Bressi left Paterson, N. wife believed. Her face assumed a deathly pallor and she sank into a chair trembling. Then she exclaimed: "My God, can it be true. i cannot believe ft. It's hardly two months was standing on the lower beam when days ago that I got a letter from him telling me how happy he was and how soon he expected to be home." In her

Mrs. Bressi declared that she was without means, but that her husband had always been kind to her and continuing said: "If my husband was body of socialists or anarchists I know nothing of it. I have heard him tell of this young man Sparadino, murdered the foreman of Wideman's dye works, in Paterson, and then killed himself a few days ago, but as my husband never brought him to the house I do not think they were intl-

would have him do. It was not our instruction to Bressi to kill, but he has done what he knew to be right, and we will sustain him, and give him our sympathy. Humbert was a mon-arch, and all monarchs, according to our vows, must die.

"Let Nicholas of Russia tremble, and let the new King of Italy prepare for death. They are inhuman. It is a republic that we want, and it is a republic that the anarchists in every country will have." Then came an implied threat against high officials in this country, when the young woman shouted: run us out of Italy, where to have stayed would have been to have starv-We have come here. Things are no better here. We are treated like dogs in the mills. We will try to better this government by fair means. and if we can't succeed then we will resort to others methods."

EMILY CRAWFORD TALKS the assassination, the information in tells how she on two occasions met the king, and then says:

"Humbert's death is a mortal blow apparently to the triple alliance. He was the single mainstay of the Crispi-Bismarck policy. Crispi climbed to power by adopting Humbert's ideas, which were rooted in a passionate de-sire to recover Savoy, the cradle of his race and the burying-ground of his ancestors. He was liberal from a sense of honor, but traditional in his feelings. His mind little differed from that of the ancestral Humberts, the counts of Savoy. It was the mind of a feudal baron-narrow, direct, earnest, and even touched with fanaticism, but honorable.

BRESSI'S ANTECEDENTS. It can be stated on the best authorty that the French police are in posession of facts concerning the antecedents and associates of Bressi, the murderer of King Humbert, and that they are in communication with the Italian police on the subject, says a cable to the New York Times from Paris. While Italian Anarchist leaders who have found refuge in Paris declare publicly that there is no plot behind the assassination of King Humbert, the hands of the police shows exactly the reverse to be true. Bressi passed time in Paris. The object of his stay in America is declared to have been to collect funds for the Anarch

BRUTALLY FRANK. In an interview last night, Amiicar Cipriani, the great Italian revolution-ary leader, said with brutal frankness that he was glad to hear of the king's death, and considered the killing an admirable act. This shows the act had political significance. Besides Bressi five persons have been taken into custody at Monza.

MUCH TO EXPLAIN.

London, July 31 .- The brevity of the news from Pekin, leaving so much of importance unexplained, gives plenty of scope for speculation, but there is no further talk of memorial services at St. Paul's for massacred diplomatists. There is nothing to show why the attacks on the legations ceased on July 16, nor the state of the supplies, except a Japanese message, which mentions the end of the month (today) as the limit of resistance, nor why messages have been allowed to come freely. Probably the Chinese contention will be that the government has Mrs. Emily Crawford, cabling from not yet been able to gain the upper Paris, to the New York World, anent hand of the imperial troops who renot yet been able to gain the upper belled.

TUANITES HELD IN CHECK. The latest news seems to demonstrate that Gen. Yung Lu and the moderates, if unable to quite suppress the rising, were at last able to interpose between the ministers and the Tuanites so as to prevent the threatened destruction of the foreign colony. Should the existence of some such strong nucleus of orderly government be found, it is felt here that it will enormously simplify the problem.

North Glencoe, July 30 .- The Glencoe Transcript has the following notice of the death of Duncan C. Graham; A familiar figure, and one who was widely known and highly respected throughout this community, passed away on Saturday at 1 o'clock, in the death of Mr. Duncan C. Graham. Three weeks ago Saturday Mr. Graham was taken ill with what appeared to be a mild attack of paralysis, while on his way to London by train. After reaching the city he transacted some business, and was able to return to his home, where, however, gradually grew worse, though at intervals he appeared to rally and gave hope for his ultimate recovery. Mr. Graham was born in Hamilton, Lennoxshire, Scotland, in 1831, and emigrated to this country with his parents when an infant. For the past 40 years he has been associated with the interests of the live stock trade in the country, and enjoyed the highest degree of confidence from the public in general. LETTER FROM SERGT. SIPP

Experience of Genial London Boy in the Land of the Boer-His Brigade Has a Record To Be Proud Of.

Following is a copy of a letter from Sergt. George R. B. Sippi, of B company, with the first Canadian contingent, now in South Africa:

"Elandsfontein, June 18, 1900.

"Since my last letter we have advanced into Pretoria, and had a grand march past. They did not leave us long in the city; we left on the 5th, and were shifted on the 7th, and do not know where we will wind up. At present we are at Elandsfontein, miles from Johannesburg. Had to alleged assault were that Simpson was march all the way back from Pretoria. sitting fishing in the river on the The mines here are very numerous, and a fine sight. They were working Club, of which Sparowhawk is janitor, them up to the time we took Johannes- The latter laid out a sprinkling hose since then Lord Roberts has burg: stopped them until things are settled. Pretoria is a very pretty city. If the had any sand in them they could have made a grand stand. The entire city is surrounded by better kopjes than any I have seen them take up their position on, and there are several fine forts on the top. I saw old Paul Kruger's house. It looks like Export demand slow; local dealers himself—about his own age and cover-quote $2 75, ordinary 30 per cent pated ed with plaster. We saw all the Enged with plaster. We saw all the English prisoners that were released by French. They passed through out lines, and quite a few stayed all night and got what little spare food we had. They looked half starved.

"There was a brief sketch published of what the nineteenth brigade accomplished on the march from start to finish at Pretoria. It came out in brigade orders, June 5, by Gen. Smith-I will copy it for you. It reads as follows:

"'Pretoria, June 5, 1900.—Extract from brigade orders: The nineteenth brigade has achieved a record of which any infantry might be proud. Since date it was formed (Feb. 12, 1900) it has marched 620 miles-often on half rations, and seldom on full. It has taken part in the capture of ten towns, fought in ten general actions, and on killed there while in the performance 27 other days. In one period of 30 days it fought on 21 of them, and marched 327 miles. Casualties, between 400 and defeats, nil.'

"I do not think there will be any more fighting, but if there is you will find us doing business at the same old stand. If Dewet don't stop his monkeywork we may get ourselves more to do, but I don't think he will be able to stand long. I have been very fortunate in the last march since leaving Bloemfontein for Pretoria. I never missed a day's march, nor a fight, and got a clear sheet all through. "I am very anxious to get mail. Not a word have we received since leaving Bloemfontein-nearly two months ago. Outside of what we have done ourselves we are 'dead to the world,' and never hear any news. I wish you would save me some old illustrated papers about the time of our advance. With the exception of fighting and marching we know very little of what has hap-

I trust you are both well and happy, and that in a very short time you will have your absent-minded son back to trouble you.

Mr. Murray did not return until noon, when they dined together in a social manner, after which he remarked that Louis could occupy his time as he chose until evening, as he had a business engagement that would employ him most of the afternoon.

CHAPTER X.

A couple of weeks passed, during which Mr. Murray was as kind and genial toward Louis as at first, giving him plenty of leisure and liberty, and often asking him to some place of amusement, while he was supplied with every comfort and luxury which an apparently full purse could procure.

But after a time, the noveley having worn off, Mr. Murray began to ask him to do little services about the house, such as attending the door and the gentlemen who were in the habit of coming there so much, carrying drinks and cigars to them as they lounged about a room in the second story, which seemed to be set apart for this pur-

Louis wondered at so many people coming and going, and secretly rebelled against serving liquors to them. He abhorred intoxicating drinks of all kinds, and he felt himself degraded by dealing them out to other people.

Upon two or three occasions he had een his father somewhat the worse for drink, and his respect for him had diminished considerably; yet he felt himself too much of a stranger as yet to expostulate with him, and so bore mortification in silence.

He went every day to recite to Mr. Allen, but that gentleman begun to notice a change in his pupil. He saw that he was growing very grave and thoughtful, while his interest in his studies seemed to diminish, and his recitations were often poor and unsatisfactory. One morning the boy came to him, looking very pale and greatly distress-Mr. Allen wondered what the cause of it could be, but did not like to question him, feeling sure that if he wished to confide in him he would do so He could not refrain from remarking, however, as Louis passed him his open book

"I am afraid you are not as well as usual today, Louis; pray do not feel obliged to recite if you are not able."

Louis lifted his heavy eyes to the friendly gaze of his teacher for an instant, then dropped them half-guiltily, and grew a burning crimson. All at once he burst out, desperate-

"Mr. Allen, I am perfectly wretch-

"I know it did seem very promising when I first left you; but everything is changed, and I cannot live so any long-"Live how?" queried Mr. Allen, more and more surprised. "I suppose I might as well make a clean breast of everything to you," he said, "for you can help me out of my trouble if any me can."

"Things have seemed very queer to me," Louis continued, after a moment's pause, "ever since I went away from here. Mr. Murray was very kind to me at first, though I could not understand his derstand his having such a stream of company all the time, nor the way the house was managed. At last I stole away, thinking I would go to bed, and get away from the smoke and confusion. I must have been very absentminded, though, for I went up two flights of stairs instead of one, and did not discover the mistake until I tried the handle of the door of my room, as I supposed. I was astonished to find it locked; but what added to my surprise was that a small panel was slid one side as I stood there, and somebody's face appeared at the opening. I was asked what I wanted, and then the person within, seeming to recognize me, gave a short laugh and said:

Oh, it's you, is it, youngster? Guess you've made a slight mistake; you'd better go down another flight."

The teaching certificate of Principal T. C. Smith, of the Chatham central and model schools, has been suspended until Dec. 31 next, for irregularities in connection with the recent entrance examinations.

Word has been received at Chatham of the drowning of a young man named Currie at Rondeau. He was holidaying at the Eau, and in company with some companions went bathing. It is supposed that he was seized with a cramp and sank before his comrades could reach him.

A man giving his name as E. R. Coleman, and claiming to be a commercial traveler for a prominent Montreal house, was arrested in Walkerville Friday charged with cashing an alleged worthless check on Robert Montgomery, a Walkerville drygoods merchant. He was remanded until Tuesday.

While working with a section gang yesterday about one mile east of Chatham, John Montgomery, a Grand Trunk employe, was struck by a pass-ing train and so badly injured that he may die. One leg was crushed be-neath the wheels, and several ribs were broken. Besides, his head was severely cut and injured.

Rev. Messrs. Keith, of Leamington; Radford, of Blytheswood, and Mc-Gregor, of Comber, were appointed by the Chatham presbytery to make inquiry into the state of the Presby-terian cause in Kingsville on Monday afternoon. The result was that they have reported it advisable to close the mission for the present. It seems a pity, for under the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. McGregor, now of Comber, in connection with Harrow, flourished greatly.-Chatham Banner.

IS THE GROWTH

In the Trade of the Dominion During the Past Year.

Department of Agriculture Encouragmental Stations Being Established in Connection With the Same.

[From Our Ottawa Correspondent.] Ottawa, July 28.-A peaceful calm has settled on Parliament Hill, and after six months of weary talking our legislators have scattered to the four quarters of the earth, and the longest session since 1885 is a matter of history. The ministers have hastened to follow the rank and file, and the majority have left the capital for more or less extended periods; while, fol-lowing them the citizens generally, as under a punch worked by a strap, and far as they are able, are getting out of town, and the city has already taken on its regulation out-of-session aspect. Even the live and vital question of the date of the general elections fails to arouse any sustained excitement.

The figures given by Hon. Mr. Paterson in his speech the day before prorogation show an enormous increase in our trade, and are entitled to the attention of everyone interested in Can-ada's trade development. The total exports of Canada for the year ending June 30 last were $175,656,947, and of this amount the products of Canada, "Last night I was not feeling as well as usual. There had been a perfect stream of people in during the evenof $46,440,165 over 1896, which year showed an increase over 1878 of $40,-638,618. The 1900 items of Canadian products exported were not given by him, and are as follows: The products of the mine, $14,106,764; fisheries, $11,-303,028; forest, $30,050,018; animals, $55,-897,800; agriculture, $27,429,121; manufactures, $13,692,773; miscellaneous, $339,413. The figures for the same class of products in 1896 were: Mines, $8,-059,650; fisheries, $11,077,765; forest, $27,-175,686; animals, $36,507,641; agriculture, $14,083,361; manufactures, $9,365,384;

miscellaneous, $109,265. WHAT A CHANGE IN TWENTY

YEARS. In 1878 the figures were: Mines, $2, 816,347; fisheries, $6,854,000; forest, $19,-511,575; animals, $14,019,857; agriculture, $18,008,754; manufactures, $4,227,755; miscellaneous, $401,875. A comparison of the figures of 1896 and 1900 shows the greatest proportional increase to be in the agricultural products—over 95 per cent; in animals and their produets, 53 per cent; in manufactures, 47 per cent; and in no case has there been a decrease. A comparison with the figures of 1878 shows there has been a decrease between that year and 1896 in the exports of agricultural products. and that the exports of animals and their products are now nearly four times as great as in 1877.

Although the export of products of the fisheries has been nearly doubled since 1878, the importance of that branch has relatively declined, owing to the greater growth of mining and manufactures. In 1878 the export of A perfectly fitting ring is symbolic of fishery products was $6.854,000; manuwas over $11,000,000; mines over $8,000,-000; manufactures, $9,365,000. In 1900 the export of fisheries, though increased to $11,000,000, was less than manufactures, $13,692,000, and minerals, $14,-1878 has been nearly doubled, manu-

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY.

The department of agriculture is developing its policy of encouraging the industry of chicken fattening for the British market. Experimental stations are to be established in various parts of the Dominion for the purpose of illustrating the best methods of carrying on this enterprise, and an experienced chicken fancier, Mr. Hare, of Whitby, has been chosen to superintend the work. The department has for a year or two been making experiments in fattening chickens by special food, and shipping them to the British market, where they were sold at such a large profit that it is intended to introduce the methods generally among farmers, and Mr. Hare is being employed for this purpose. It is hoped that in time chicken fattening institutions will become as great a means of revenue to farmers as cheese factories now are, so that all the farmers need to do is to grow chickens. He need not fatten them. He can sell them to the fattening institutions, and they will do the rest. There is a hope, too, that in time the same methods will be introduced as to all barnyard fowls, as there is a large demand in Great Britain for such food, and many farmers there have been able to reap fortunes catering to it.

THE SPOILS SYSTEM.

Dealing with the acts of the new Conservative government in Manitoba, Mr. Greenway said in a recent speech: "These gentlemen have increased the salaries of their particular friends about the legislative buildings, and they have introduced something never introduced in any province or country under British institutions—the dis-missing of good and faithful men, and putting in their own friends, adopting the American system—To the victors belong the spoils. I think this improper, and on every platform I shall denounce it. The premier said he introduced it because the Dominion government did so, and he adds: 'You dismiss men also.' We did; but it was because their services were not required. The private secretary of the late John Norquay was my secretary for twelve years. I could bring other evidence to show that we did not believe in that kind of doctrine. But our old friend, Mr. John W. Sifton, than whom there is not a more honest straightforward man in Canada, a faithful public servant, who discharged his duties well, because his son was minister of the interior, was dismissed, at 64 years of age, without a day's notice, and a man without experience was put in his place and given $200 more salary. One official's salary increased from $1,600 to $1,900, and another's from $1,900 to $2,850. So for ordinary expenditure they have a larger estimate than we had in our last year. You will have more of it before you are done; you are not through with it."

The Western Mail newspaper, published in Cardiff, referred editorially the other day to the charge preferred against Hon. Clifford Sifton by some of his political opponents, and conthe complete and gratulated him on triumphant vindication he has receiv-The Cardiff journal's article concludes: "The friends—and they are many—which Mr. Sifton's manly personality and statesmanlike utterances made for him while in Cardiff will rejoice in the complete dissipation of the unworthy charges made against him."

THE COINS OF CHINA

Each of the Provinces in the Empire Has Its Own Mint System.

In all provincial governments there is a provincial mint turning out coinage according to the "taei" standard of the district, and Lord Charles Beresford suggests a uniform coinage as one of his cures for the sick man of the far east. When the mandarin gives up his "squeeze," then there may be a uniform coinage, but not before is unnecessary to demonstrate how ing the Poultry Industry-Experi- rich a harvest is provided for the subordinate official by the operations of the mint, akin to the old clippings and debasing tricks of the Stuart kings. At Nankin, which is the city of another viceregal administration, there was a delightful arrangement.

Until recently the Nankin mint was entirely in the hands of the natives, and in order to increase and equalize the "squeeze" as much as possible, the master refused to order any improved machines, and by adhering to the old principle of hand labor, the amount allowed for wages out of the provincial exchequer was kept at its original figure. For stamping the copper "cash," which is the current small coin of China, none but the simplest applito every strap there was a workman.

Unfortunately, in order to make up the official salary it was found impossible to engage more than a quarter of the men returned as employed in milling, so that when the annual inspection by a high-placed mandarin took place it was necessary to search out some of the coolies of the district in order to make a decent show.

At the exact moment when the mandarin entered every coolie pulled his strap, and all the copper was instantaneously stamped. To look at the output would have been beneath the dignity of the inspector, so he went away happy, the pay was drawn, and it was only the coin that suffered from being punched in so many unaccustomed spots. There is now an English assayer as "boss," and this gentleman has to be on his guard against the perverted ingenuity with which the coins are lightened and adulterated. As with Nankin, so with other pro-vincial exchequers. The coinage of China is a magnificent perquisite of the mandarins, against the loss of which they would struggle with far greater obstinacy than against the loss of the dynasty.-London Telegraph.

FACTS ABOUT WEDDING RINGS. Few people know the origin of the wedding ring. Fewer yet know of the numerous legends and superstitions attached to the simple gold band. There are many quaint customs connected with the betrothal and wedding ring which will be most interesting at the present time, when the call of friends to witness the ceremony of "I take thee" is so very frequent.

Many believe that the loss of a wedding ring means that the husband's love will be lost in turn. If the ring is broken, the husband will soon die. In Ireland it is a general belief that to rub a sore with a golden wedding ring will cause it to speedily heal. The wedding ring is supposed never to tarnish, and if it does become dim 'tis said to be a warning that love also is tarnished and dim.

A wedding ring should fit the finger If it is too large, it is a sign of shala perfectly harmonious union.

Every man may select the sentimen to be engraved on his wife's ring. The groom's initials and the bride's itials, followed by the wedding date, are most frequently the inscription. But there are many beautiful sentiments, and individuality and originality in regard to these mottoes are becoming very popular. The date is always engraved in the wedding ring.

An Ontario Mother's Statement.

I wish to state that 13 years ago my little daughter Farny was so very sick with summer complaint that I thought she was going to die. I hardly knew what to do for her when my sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Kay, of Norland, told me to procure a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as her husband always kept it in the house to use himself.

I got a bottle and started giving the medicine to my little girl. I have read of things being "worth their weight in gold," but never did I know of any medicine to which that expression could be truly applied but Dr. Fowler's Extract. It certainly worked wonders, and I eften tell people I don't believe Fanny would be alive to-day except for Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry and God's help.

I have a little baby, Hugh, five months old, and I always keep a bottle of the Strawold, and I always keep a bottle of the Straw-berry in the house ready to give him if he as ever. I shall never be without it in my consider we should be safe without it.
